GERMANS FIGHT DESPERATELY TO HOLD THEIR LINE

ALLIED FORCES, HOWEVER HOLD GAINS AND PREPARE TO ADVANCE WHEN RAINS STOP

WEATHER BIG HANDICAP

Storms Keep Airplanes Out Of Air Where Allies Have Established Clear Superiority

The Associated Press war summary today says: Germany is battling with a desperation probably unparalleled in the war, to hold her lines in Flanders against the combined Anglo-French attack. Notwithstanding the heavy handicap which the atrocious weather has imposed on them, however, the entente forces have made good their most important gains and apparently are only awaiting clearing conditions to blast their way further into the Teutonic front.

The boast of successful resistance to the entente thrusts that have come from the Berlin war office were based, as usual, on the assumption that an attempt had been made to break through and upon the fact that at one or two points the German reaction resulted in some of the far advance forces of the allies being pushed back.

Today, however, comes the announcement from London that despite the hampering rainfall, the British have negated the results of one of the German counter thrusts, completely re-establishing their line in the neighborhood of Roilers-Ypres railway, as the outcome of a night attack.

While there may be some inclination on the part of critics to regard with misgivings stress laid upon the bad weather by the official reports that indicate a holdup of the allies' advance, military observers at the front apparently are in entire agreement with the seriousness of the handicap.

The allies had established air superiority and the storm has prevented observation altogether, entailing inactivity of the big guns that are relied upon to blast a path for the advancing infantry. To the low visibility also has been attributed such success as the Germans were able to gain in their counter attacks.

Despite the hard fighting in Flanders, the Germans are continuing their pronounced activities on the French front. Paris reports two attacks on the French lines east and southeast of Rheims and in the Verdun sector and in the Apremont forest south of St. Mihiel. All of these were fruitless for the Germans.

Some important movement apparently is under way on the Russian northern front, which has been holding entirely firm while the southern end of the line was falling back. Now, however, the Russians are reported to have evacuated the Uskull bridgehead fifteen miles southeast of Riga, the Germans marching into the evacuated positions. The exact significance of this development is yet to be revealed.

PETROGRAD ANNOUNCES RUSSIAN RETIREMENT

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—Between the river Chocza on the Russo-Galician frontier and the Dniester river north-west of Kholm the Russians yesterday abandoned their positions, says the official statement issued today by the Russian war department.

The Russian forces also retired in an easterly direction between the Dniester and Pruth rivers. East of the Pruth river the Russians were thrust back. In the Moldavia region Russian troops took the offensive and drove back the enemy, capturing some prisoners.

TEUTONIC FORCES ADVANCE IN BUKOWINA

Berlin, August 2.—Austro-German troops have made further advances in Bukovina and now are standing before Kimpolung, says today's army headquarters announcement.

MAY INVESTIGATE BOTH GOVERNOR AND UNIVERSITY

INDICATIONS POINT TO ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS PROVIDING FOR INVESTIGATIONS

RESOLUTIONS UP TODAY

Also Reported That Governor May Ask Repeal of Laws Creating New Normal Schools

Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—In the House this afternoon there are two important matters to be taken up for consideration: the P. V. resolution providing that the House resolve itself into a committee of the whole to take up the Fuller impeachment charges against the Governor and the Tillotson resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee to investigate the affairs of the University. The adoption of the P. V. resolution means that the House will proceed to investigate the charges made against the Governor and indications are that the resolution will be adopted. There is also little doubt but that the Tillotson resolution will be adopted, consequently there will be two investigations in progress at the same time.

Several new members of the House arrived this morning and within the next day or so it is expected the entire membership will have reached here.

There was a report today that the Governor is to recommend to the Legislature the repeal of the laws creating the new state normals and also the act creating the new West Texas A. and M. The repeal of these laws will be strongly opposed.

HOUSE TO ACT ON PRO AMENDMENT DECEMBER TERM

By Associated Press.

Washington, Aug. 2.—National prohibition legislation is being considered in the House today by the prohibition leaders themselves. The resolution passed yesterday by the Senate was put out of the program for the present session and will not come up until the December session.

The Senate yesterday adopted Senator Sheppard's resolution for submission to the states of a prohibition amendment. The vote in the Senate was 65 to 20, eight more than the necessary two-thirds. As adopted by the Senate the states would be given six years in which to ratify or reject the amendment.

ACT CREATING NEW NORMAL SCHOOLS MAY BE REPEALED

IN VIEW OF BIG DEFICIT IN STATE TREASURY LEGISLATORS FAVOR SUCH ACTION

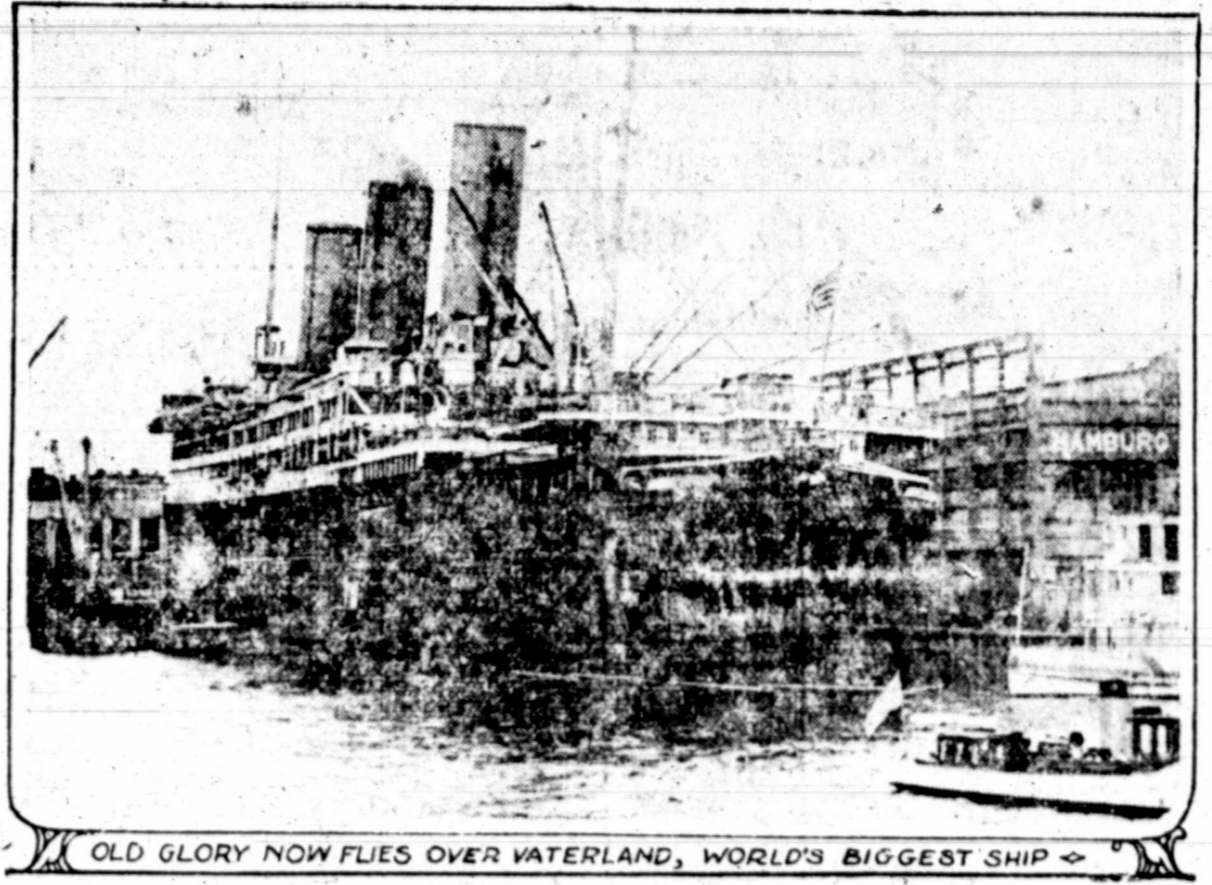

Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—In view of the deficit of possibly $2,500,000 which confronts the state treasury and in view of the controversies that have arisen over the location of schools created at a former session of the present legislature, there is a sentiment among some members of the legislature in favor of the repeal of the act creating the four new normals and the best of Texas A. and M. colleges. It is believed in some quarters to be likely that the Governor will submit to the legislature the question of repealing these acts. It is urged that the state normal schools have a capacity for hundreds of students in excess of those now enrolled.

On the subject of the location of the West Texas A. and M. college, Homer P. Wade of Stamford, who is here, gave out a statement in which he advocated the choice of an entirely new committee on the location in view of the animosities and prejudices arising out of the attempt to locate the college at Abilene, he said; the members of the present board would be governed to some extent by political or other ulterior considerations.

MARINES TAUGHT TO LIGHT FIRES WITHOUT MATCHES

Port Royal, S. C., August 2.—How to light a fire without matches is an important part of the training given to United States Marines at this station. The primitive flint and steel, used long ago by our forefathers, and the old "wood friction" method borrowed from the Indians have been revived so that the sea soldiers may dispense with matches when dampness renders them useless.

PRIDE OF GERMANY'S COMMERCE FLEET, WATERLAND, NOW FLIES STARS AND STRIPES

OLD GLORY NOW FLIES OVER WATERLAND, WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIP

Secretary Daniels officially announced that the Stars and Stripes were run up on the Hamburg-American liner, Waterland, at an Atlantic port, and that a naval crew took her over. She is the largest passenger ship in the world.

In making his announcement, the secretary added that fifteen more German ships will be ready for commission within the immediate future.

This means the engines which the German crews sought to destroy soon will be repaired and that the United States will have the use of this tonnage.

KAISER CALLS WAR COUNCIL TO MEET AT BRUSSELS

By Associated Press.

Amsterdam, Aug. 2.—Emperor William has called a war council of the high military and naval leaders in Germany to meet at Brussels, Belgium today. Field Marshal von Hindenburg, General von Ludendorff, the quartermaster general, the German crown prince, commander of the German forces in the Champagne, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, in command of the Belgian front, Grand Duke of Wurtemberg and Vice Admiral Eduard von Capelle, minister of the imperial navy, and others will be present.

BIDS FOR SUPPLIES OPENED AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Aug. 2.—Bids on enormous quantities of subsistence supplies for the national guard camps in Texas were opened at the office of the depot quartermaster, Ft. Sam Houston, today. The amounts are approximately: 100,000 pounds of beef for each of the cantonments; potatoes, 1,000,000 pounds to each; onions, 150,000 pounds; beans, 200,000 pounds; peas, 100,000 pounds; tomatoes, 100,000; sugar, 500,000 pounds; syrup, 24,000 gallons; butter, 30,000 pounds; coffee, 150,000 pounds; lard, 5,000,000 pounds.

Other supplies in smaller amounts include lard, corn meal, bacon, candy, cheese, crackers, ham, macaroni, fish, baking powder, hominy, blackberry jam, tea, vinegar, ginger ale, oatmeal and many others.

HOPE TO FIND GOOD POTASH DEPOSIT

Amarillo, Texas, Aug. 2.—Under good supervision the potash well at Cliffside, north of Amarillo, is already promising to make good.

Geologists making the survey made drilling followed and recently thick beds of salt have been penetrated. The drilling is being actively continued and it is thought that potassium salts will be encountered before very long.

McKAY SAYS ONLY FOLLOWED THE ESTABLISHED CUSTOM

Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—John C. McKay, former secretary of state, who is one of the officials indicted for misapplication of public funds, said today: "In the 22 years I have been in public life I have never taken one cent that did not belong to me."

PLANS FOR TAKING OVER SHIPPING ANNOUNCED

Washington, August 2.—Plans for taking over for operation all American going merchant ships will soon be announced by the shipping board. The program is preliminary to putting into operation an agreement between the American and British governments for the control of world shipping. It will give the shipping board control of ocean freight rates charged by American ships and a rate basis being worked out will be used for building an international rate schedule.

NEW ORLEANS SUPT. OF POLICE IS KILLED BY A PATROLMAN

New Orleans, Aug. 2.—James W. Reynolds, for six years superintendent of the New Orleans police department, was shot and killed this morning while sitting in his office by Patrolman J. Mullen, a patrolman. Captain of Police Gerry O'Mullen, who was in the superintendent's office at the time was shot twice in the chest and once in the back. The remaining three patrolmen were wounded. The superintendent, who sought to enter the room when the shooting began, received a wound in the head.

GERMANS TAKE BRIDGEHEAD 15 MILES FROM RIGA

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—German forces have occupied the Uskull bridgehead 15 miles southeast of Riga, according to reports received here from the battlefront. The position had been evacuated by the Russians.

ADVERSE REPORT ON SENATOR WEEKS RESOLUTION

Washington, Aug. 2.—The resolution by Senator Weeks for a congressional committee to supervise war expenditures similar to the provision in the food control bill eliminated because of the President's objections was adversely reported to the Senate today by the rules committee. Administration leaders are confident that the majority vote required to secure Senate consideration of the resolution can not be secured.

RAILROADS AND SHIPPERS DISCUSS CAR SITUATION

Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—About fifty Texas shippers and railway officials were here today at an informal meeting before the railroad commission held for the purpose of considering the car shortage situation in Texas which grows as the cotton season advances. The meeting turned principally to the discussion of raising demurrage rates as the means of facilitating the unloading of cars at the point of destination.

KORNILOFF NOW GENERALISSIMO RUSSIAN ARMIES

By Associated Press.

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—General Aleksandr Brusiloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies, has resigned. General L. G. Korniloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies on the southwestern front, has been appointed generalissimo. General Tcheremissoff, commander of the Eightieth Army, has been appointed to succeed General Korniloff on the southwestern front.

SAN ANTONIO BEING CLEANED BY GOVERNMENT AGENTS

San Antonio, Aug. 2.—San Antonio is facing the greatest "clean up" in its history, but probably the most extensive "clean up" ever attempted in any city in the United States.

Acting under authority given by the recent proclamation of President Wilson, Special Agent N. T. Needham of the department of justice today notified thirty-seven saloons to close their doors because of being within a one-half mile radius of the San Antonio arsenal.

Rooming houses again have been notified to close. The authorities expressed their disapproval of the saloons, who under the recent proclamation for the closing of saloons were ordered to federal authorities subject to a fine of $1000 or one year's imprisonment or both.

Work accomplished today on the task, officials declare, are approximately twenty more saloons with a number of prominent clubs, whole sale liquor houses and two and possibly three road houses will be notified tomorrow to close up.

OLD OFFICERS TO BE RETAINED IN SENATE

Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—When the Senate convened this morning twenty members entered the hall just one minute before the session. The Senate stood at least for fifteen minutes in hopes of securing a quorum but no additional senators arrived and a recess was taken until 11 o'clock this afternoon.

SCHÖNER JOHN HAYS MAMMOND IS SUNK

London, August 2.—The American schooner, John Hays Hammond, has sunk in the Gulf of Mexico. The schooner's crew were saved.

BRITISH WAR CHIEF SAYS RUSSIA'S DEFECTION MEANS PROLONGATION WAR AND MEANS GREATER BURDEN FOR U. S.

By Associated Press.

London, Aug. 2.—"Looking from the broadest aspect at the events of the past fortnight in Russia," said Mr. Lloyd George, "it will necessarily mean a prolongation of the war. We can not longer count on any great material assistance from Russia. This means a greater burden on the other side of the line and for the United States it means she must come into the field as soon as possible and with the greatest possible force."

mean a prolongation of the war. We can not longer count on any great material assistance from Russia. This means a greater burden on the other side of the line and for the United States it means she must come into the field as soon as possible and with the greatest possible force.

PEACE CONDITIONS UNCHANGED SAYS BRITISH PREMIER

By Associated Press.

London, Aug. 2.—James Henry Thomas, Labor member of the House of Commons, declared today that the peace conditions were unchanged by a refusal of passports to countries where it is proposed to hold the conference. It would be inviting the labor party to step in and force the government's hand. Lloyd George assured the House that the government had not in the least altered its view of the only possible conditions of peace consistent with the honor and security of the country.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Emperor William, according to an official statement today, telegraphed to Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria his congratulations of the great success of the German Fourth Army, July 21, whereby the Anglo-French attacks intended to conquer the coast of Flanders failed.

PERSHING SPENDS STRENUOUS DAY AT TRAINING CAMP

By Associated Press.

American Training Camp in France, Wednesday, August 1.—General Pershing gave the American expeditionary force an example of strenuous life by sweeping through nearly a dozen villages where the United States soldiers are living in France and visiting nearly all training centers which have been established from America's first concentration for the war for democracy.

It was not a cursory inspection. He went into many details all along the line, questioned private soldiers, company cooks and various other ranks as to how things were going and what, if anything, would be done to improve the situation. The general is also inspecting various places suggested for his field headquarters for he expects before very long to move to the troops in training.

THERE IS WORK FOR EVERY WILLING MAN OR WOMAN

QUESTION IS, ARE YOU ABLE TO DO IT?

There is a shortage of men and women in every line of work. Each year vacancies occur and there's vacant places must be filled with people possessing good health and able to fill the bill.
It is a certainty that any man or woman in good health is able to do this work. It is really intended for those who are creeping around with red, lazy bodies and languid brains unable to stand long hours and whose minds fall them at the psychological moment. Don't you want to go about your work with a "fatigue-proof" body and a keen mind? Don't you want to know that there is rich red blood surging through your system and spurting you on to accomplish big tasks?
You can't do it with an inactive liver! You can't do it with a poor blood supply! You can't do it by dragging around a lazy body!
Rejuvenate your whole system with something to correct these complaints. You are not so burdened with ills that you are past the stage for relief. Per Systemic Pills will make your blood active and furnish you with rich red blood. It will put a twinkle in your eye and obliterate the sallowness on your face. It will so change you that the mind will once again become keen and aid you to tackle big things and accomplish them in one-third less time.
Constipation, stomach trouble, nervousness, sleeplessness, malaria and a fagged out body can be relieved by taking a course of the pills today.

SUMMER BLOUSES AND SKIRTS FOR VACATION TIME

New York, Aug. 2.—Vacation time brings the need for more than the usual number of practical clothes. This, we all know by experience. Among other things, those who plan their vacation wardrobes with care should include a goodly number of separate waists and skirts. The waists may even be planned with a view to wearing them in the fall with the coat suit or with separate skirts.

A Smart Blouse and Skirt for Summer Wear.

It is worn with white or colored skirts. In the sheer blouses, voile, organdie and handkerchief linen are the materials most used, but this summer they are also wearing blouses of China silk, which material launders perfectly and is just as cool as possible. To accompany these, there are skirts of white tub satins and sports silks which are made up in pleated or gathered models. These soft wash skirts are especially practical in the gathered styles. They are shirred at the waist and sometimes finished with a heading and belt. A number of these have pretty gathered or shirred pockets which make them ever so much more attractive.

For service as well as smartness, there is nothing better than the white sardardine skirt, which has no fear of the tub. It is very much in demand this summer and sometimes comes with colored stripes or dots. Skirts of silk or wool jersey in white and colors are, of course, very smart this season. A new model developed in green wool jersey is shown in the accompanying sketch. It is made with a plain panel in front and the sides and back are slightly gathered. The novel feature of this skirt is the pocket section at the side. Many of the new skirts show this feature treated in various ways. In the design illustrated, the pointed ends of the lower section are buttoned to the upper section. One of the smart blouses of the season which would be a welcome addition to any woman's wardrobe is pictured with this skirt. It is of fine hankkerchief linen with an embroidered spray across the front, and collar and cuffs edged with a narrow checked lace. This is a blouse that slips over the head, and as it has no opening there is nothing to interfere with the embroidery, which spreads itself across the front. Laces and hand drawn work are other decorations used for summer blouses with charming effect.

Voile and Gingham.
The success of gingham has been quite amazing and it is interesting to follow the development of frocks of this material. The tigon frocks of gingham with white plique collars and cuffs have been exceedingly popular, and now those of voile and gingham combined seem to be making as strong an appeal to women as the former. The striking contrast of white voile with brightly colored plaids is apparently very much favored. In some models the waist is entirely of white and the skirt, collar and cuffs of the plaid gingham.

In other designs a section of the waist, as well as the skirt is illustrated. The model for misses illustrated here shows this effective development with collar, sleeves and sides of the dress of white voile and the main part of the dress of gingham. The draped skirt shown in this design is a feature which should be noted, for draperies of this kind are very prominent at present. This style of drapery is quite practical in tub frocks and is not limited only to silks. The side draperies on the skirts offer a very refreshing change from the straight lines, though they have by no means supplanted them. Draperies are not only placed about the hips but often fall as low as the knees and even a little lower at times. There are draped tunics, also, which are particularly pretty in soft evening dresses.

Organdie as a Trimming.
A dress of ruffled organdie or batiste is one of the smart things to have this summer. Organdie collars with rows of tiny hemstitched self ruffles have been very popular to go with dresses and suits used on summer frocks of batiste and mull. On a dress of deep rose colored mull, this ruffled organdie, in white, was used for a large collar which extended down to the waist and crossed in front. It was also used for the cuffs and fastened together at the ends. The ruffles in up-standing position. These tiny ruffles are about half an inch in width and placed close together, almost overlapping one another. Collar and cuffs sets in this style, of white or light blue, are worn with dark blue dresses, and sometimes fine lace takes the place of the organdie ruffles.

U. S. PROVIDES DIVERSION FOR SAILORS OF FLOTILLA.

Base American Flotillas in British Waters.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Authorization to spend all the money necessary properly to equip their new clubhouses, athletic apparatus and musical instruments has just been received by the American sailors to make the navy department in Washington. The news was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the men. It gives them what amounts to carte blanche in the matter of providing for their shore amusements over here.

The first step upon receipt of the welcome news was to dispatch an order to the United States for $1,000 worth of musical instruments to augment the string orchestra which entertains the men every Saturday night in their new club house. Their order also calls for a plentiful supply of the latest ragtime and other typical American music which has made a big hit with the native population.

The next order will be for athletic apparatus to equip the gymnasium feature of the club now nearing completion. This equipment will include wrestling mats, punching bags, boxing gloves, weight machines, bars, rowing machines and other fixtures essential to an up-to-date gymnasium floor. The gymnasium will be ready about August 15. Besides six shower baths there will be a tea room and a place where the men can purchase tobacco and light refreshments at pre-war prices.

The concert hall feature of the club has been playing moving pictures and concerts to crowded houses for a month. It is generally patronized not only by the men but their officers. The British Commanders of the flotilla as the honored guest at a show the other night the feature of which was a lecture on flying at the western battlefront delivered by a Canadian major in the Royal Flying Corps from Toronto. The major cut short his lecture tour in a nearby city to come over to entertain the American boys. His pictures took the bluejackets up and down the British and French lines in France.

The major's active service at the front was cut short last year by a drop from 12,500 feet. He was able to retain control of his machine when a severe shaking up. He is now lecturing for recruits to the flying corps and expects to shortly visit the United States to instruct young aviators.

MERCHANT'S WIFE ADVISES WICHITA FALLS WOMEN

"I had stomach trouble so bad I could eat nothing but toast, fruit and hot water. Everything else soured and omed gas. Dieting did no good. I was miserable until I tried Backhorn's bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka. ONE SPOONFUL benefited me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-ka empties BOTH large and small intestine it relieves ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICK-EST action of anything we ever sold. MEXICAN GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE PENSION CLAIMS

Mexico City.—The Department of War has determined to appoint a commission to investigate all claims for pensions due to soldiers or soldiers' families since 1910. Part of the duties of the commission will be to make a census of the men invalided from the army since the first Madero revolt.

SOCIETY

THE WOMAN'S PART.

The boys in their khaki go out to the front! What are the women to do? They say, "I must work, and women must work!" Is that all that's left for to do?

Don't believe it! The hardest part to play is that of the mothers and wives.

To give your own life is a little thing. We give our menfolk's lives—The baby you've born and suckled and put in his short frocks.

The boy that you've sooted when you washed him and darned his socks—We've bred them, and reared them, and loved them; and now it's the woman's part.

To send them to die for their country—with a rifle and broken heart.

And we'll do it! Oh, girls might trifle in the careless days of peace, With the boy of the seaside band—stare! his flannels without a seam.

We might flirt and kiss, and flutter—but the day war began, We women had done with the loafer—what we want today is a man!

The man that will shoulder a rifle, and go out where the bullets fly. With his head held high, and a song on his lips, and a smile when he says—"Good-bye."

We'll bid him good-bye and wish him luck, and tell him he's one of the best.

And he'll come back with his duty done, and a hero's cross on his breast.

There's no place for a girl in the fighting line—but let this be your woman's plan—If we can't wait for service, we can each of us send a man.

If he lags, wake him up with a scornful word: Let him feel the lash of shame!

Till we fire his soul to ardor and kindle his blood to flame! Let it be "Hands off!" for the slug-gard! For the nut and the flapper's joy.

No smile and no kiss for the shirker. Keep your lips for the soldier boy. Send your boy to the colors, Mother! Hand him his belt and his gun.

It's better to lose him nobly than to be ashamed of your son. When the work of the day is over, you can let yourself go and cry. In the gloom of the desolate fire-works—in the dark, when there's nobody by.

There isn't a sock wants darning; For the cigarette ash on the carpet—for the diners they let grow cold.

Their caps still hang on the hat stand—but there isn't a step on the stairs; There's no gay young voice calling "Mother," no sound for the boys aren't there.

That's the time you know the anguish of the waiting woman's part. In the hush of the lonesome home it's the silence that tears your heart. Night passes; we welcome the morning with a smile and a steadfast will.

If we haven't our boys to work for, we'll work for our country still. Be glad that our men were fighters for the shabby but sorry hours.

Is to have a coward man child, who hides behind women's skirts. Just clenches your teeth when you read the list of the wounded and the dead.

And if the names of the ones you love are there—be proud! And hold up your head. Don't cry! For they've climbed the pathway that heroes and martyrs trod; They sleep in the Rest of Heaven! They stand in the glory of God!" —E. N. GILSH.

RED CROSS KNITTERS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. PRIDDY

A pleasant departure from the regular Wednesday meetings of the Senior Knitting class of the Red Cross and one which was the more appreciated by the elderly patriots, "doing their bit," by reason of the thoughtfulness and sweet courtesy shown, was the hospitality extended to the knitters Wednesday by Mrs. W. M. Priddy, Mrs. Priddy assisted by Mrs. C. Y. McDowell, made the rounds of the homes and brought the members to the Priddy home in automobiles. The attractive home made a cool and delightful meeting place, the living room, library and sun parlor being opened together. While the nimble fingers flew and the knitting needles chirped—over—the bandages and sponges the workers were entertained with old time songs, which more than one of them had sung years ago when the country was in the throes of the Civil war. The sweet voices of Mrs. C. Y. Tully and the hostess gave charm to these much sung and well loved songs, then all sang "America." As this was a very special occasion Mrs. Priddy served refreshments of ice cream and cake. The members of the knitting class and a few other guests included Mesdames Thatcher, Mary Douglas, Kemp, Benoit, Colquhitt, Davis, Curry, Hartsook, Roberts, Hutton, Walker, D. P. Whitney, S. J. Naylor, John O'Donohoe, C. Y. Tully, C. J. C. McDowell and Miss Carrie Dent.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR DOLLAR DAY MONDAY, AUGUST 6TH

The merchants have almost completed their preparations for the Dollar Day to be held next Monday. It is reported that some of the most sensational bargains ever offered will be available on that day. One merchant is to sell a complete suit of clothes for a dollar to the first man who can wear it. Another is offering a lady's dress to the first eligible applicant. Pairs of shoes, hats, and wearing apparel of all kinds, and all taken out of regular stock are to be offered at these sales. It is of the greatest importance that all who intend to take advantage of this Dollar Day sale should watch the advertisements carefully, so as to acquaint themselves with the details of the sales. These advertisements will appear in the newspapers and will contain full details.

 Wichita Falls, Texas, August 2, 1917.

So far as can be learned from reports the Wichita County Exemption Board has made much further progress toward securing the county's quota for the draft than has any other county in the State. That is the Wichita way whether it is subscribing for the Liberty Loan, giving to the Red Cross, planting war gardens, enlisting in the National Guard, enrolling in the Hoover Pledge or any other movement furthering the country's war effort. Some of our men of large affairs have set a splendid example in this respect and the results have shown that the mass of the citizenship is ready to respond promptly in any patriotic movement. Come to Wichita Falls.

This much seems certain: The next man elected Governor of Texas is going to be forced to pay for his own chicken salad. The political ringsters have a row on among themselves down at Austin, and if the result will be to divide them up into two or more factions, the people who believe that the affairs of the State should be conducted along lines prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the State may have a tolerably fair chance of electing a Governor and a Legislature that will look after their interests, giving the State an efficient and economical administration without resorting to every means possible to run up the expense and expend the tax monies merely for the purpose of giving jobs to the faithful.

Mob law is anarchy and is universally condemned. The men who composed the mob that hung an I. W. W. agitator and leader up in Montana Wednesday night, no doubt will be condemned. For the sake of society and law and order, that must be done, but at the same time, if a jury composed of twelve men in the United States who denounce mob law so bitterly and ably were selected to try the members of this Montana mob our prediction is that their verdict will be the usual one: "Not guilty." This is no time for anarchistic agitators to be running at large, and the fate of the Arizona agitator who denounced the American government and referred to American soldiers as "scabs in uniform," predicting that if the demands of the I. W. W.'s were not met this country would not be able to send an army to France, should be fair warning to others of his kind. If America is good enough to live in, it is good enough to fight and work for. Those who will do neither, but prefer to go from place to place using their talents to urge others to make all the trouble possible for the government are enemies to the country and should be treated as such. And furthermore, if a mob gets to them before the law has a chance to act, the great majority of loyal American citizens are not caring a great deal whether the members of such a mob are brought to justice or not.

Dispatches a few days ago told us that the German emperor was in Galicia watching the progress of the German troops against the Russians. The kaiser is rich in taking what satisfaction and consolation he can in the success of the German troops against the disorganized Russians whom his own gold and his own agents have helped to disorganize. Nobody can blame the kaiser for getting as far away from the western front as he can. The further away he can get the better he will feel. There is small consolation for him over there where the French and British are periodically turning over from one to three lines of German trenches and where he could see, if he would, the gathering of the forces that will bring the downfall of autocracy and the freedom of the German people, and all people, from the vassalage in which the kaiser and his crowd have held them for more than half a century. Among these forces gathering on the western front the kaiser could see the first troops of the new American army. He could learn that their numbers were considerable, that their equipment was complete. He could learn of the landing of additional forces every day or so, he could hear of the selection of more than a half million men in America for the army; he could hear of billions of dollars voted by the American Congress for the support of these armies, he could hear and he might see, if he would, American aircraft in great numbers in European waters. He could see the growing fleet of American airplanes that will one day sweep devastation and confusion among his forces. The kaiser could hear too, if he would, the murmur of the gathering storm of the desire for democratic government among the German people that in the end will sweep autocracy from control. But the kaiser don't want to hear and see these things. He wants to see only the things that satisfy his desire and his vanity. Therefore he goes to the east front to witness the temporary and evanescent triumph of autocracy against a new born democracy that has not yet opened its eyes and which is still groping helplessly. There is none so blind as him who will not see. The kaiser, therefore, dangles at the east front.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?
 How long will the war last? Every body from the veterans of previous wars and the parents of soldiers and children, asks this question almost daily. How long will it take the United States to finish the job? The military men at Washington incline to the idea of three years, but they are probably allowing a margin of time to effect a new and unexpected development. The Wichita Daily Times predicts a two years' prolongation of the struggle, basing its opinion on the following:
 The war seems to resolve itself into a two-year deadlock, followed by a concentrated allied smash in such tremendous force, on land, by sea and in the air, as to crumple the kaiser's best and most formidable defenses, outpoint the U-boat offensive and re-take territory now held by the kaiser's armies.
 We sit here in a comparative quiet and talk of demolishing the kaiser's U-boat bases, his great gun mills, and of forcing a landing in Belgium, to turn the Zeppelin right and force a retreat beyond the Rhine. But as we talk of these tasks we pause to calculate the forces, the airplanes, the naval strength required for carrying out these worthy and necessary projects. And as we figure we begin to see how the element of time enters into the situation. We have got to provide clouds of airplanes, and we have got to provide myriad carrier ships, and we have got to fit and train our men in the use of these things. We have got to do all these things, which take time in the doing, as they now are. Until we attain absolute superiority, some two years hence, we are compelled to exert ourselves to maintain the existing deadlock. All this is forced on us with peculiar emphasis in recent days by the developments on the southeastern front, where retreating Russia shows signs of yielding priceless territory, supplies and harvests to the kaiser.

"The allies have shown they can hold the kaiser. Time is needed to demonstrate they can go in and get the U-boat land flanking armies and carry the fight to the Rhine and on toward Berlin. That's why it now looks as if two preparatory years might go by before the big drive to victory."
 But if one has a different opinion, it is just as likely to be the right one as any other. Nobody knows more than anybody else about when the war will end. All we can do is to prepare as if we expected it to last indefinitely.—Beaumont Enterprise.

WHY JAPAN IS NOT HELPING
 According to The Houston Post the premier of New South Wales is authority for the statement that 150,000,000 bushels of wheat is rotting in Australia for lack of steamships to carry it to England, where it would be worth $3 a bushel. Japan has hundreds of ocean freighters; Japan has hundreds of swift freighters of commerce. Why shouldn't she help?—Fort Worth Record.

Japan is not helping because the allies have not asked her to do so. Realize: The price demanded too high.

MISS PARKER RETURNS WITH GOSSARD DIPLOMA

Miss Sara Parker of the Perkins-Timberlake store has just returned from a special session at the Gossard Post-Graduate Training School in Dallas with her Gossard Diploma. This diploma is awarded only to saleswomen who attend this school and successfully pass a very rigid examination in fittings, advertising, turnover, merchandising, salesmanship and other important subjects pertaining to a modern Corset Department.
 It is very interesting to hear Miss Parker tell of the progress made in Gossard front-lacing corsets, especially the greatest interest now shown in this corset by physicians and trained nurses. Physicians at one time had nothing but condemnation for corsets of any kind. Since the advent of the Gossard some 15 years ago, however, their viewpoint has been materially changed.

HUMBLE OIL CO. GETS BIG WELL ON SERRIAN TRACT

The Humble Oil company, successor to the Schultz Oil company, a Houston corporation, is in the sand on the Serrian tract to the west of the Ruyke farm where the Harvey Oil company is operating. The well is showing for one of the biggest in that section of big wells. A report that the well was flowing eighty barrels an hour could not be confirmed this afternoon.
 The Harvey Oil company has not yet bailed its well on the Ruyke. The Art Drilling company started drilling last night on its test on Spy Mount on the Coleman ranch. This location is about twelve miles almost due south from Wichita Falls.

WALLER PARTY RETURNS FROM TRIP TO MOUNTAINS
 D. H. A. Waller returned today after an automobile trip through several states, spending most of the time in the Rocky Mountains. In his party were his brothers C. E. and H. H. Waller of Fort Worth and his son, Wesley.

They arrived this morning. They report rain all the way from America to a point several miles east of El Paso. The rainfall was extremely heavy. An arid hot the Waller party got an ahead of it and ran ahead of a sheet of rain all the way to Plainview, being overtaken by a drenching down-pour when within a few hundred yards of a garage in Plainview. They traveled in and all the way from Plainview to El Paso.

AMERICANS LEAVING OXFORD FOR MILITARY TRAINING
 Associated Press, Mail Correspondence.
 Oxford, England.—Most American Rhodes Scholars have obtained indefinite leave of absence and are either returning home for military training or are continuing their training in England, expecting to join the American forces in France. The majority already have had two months' training with the Oxford University officers' training corps.
 Virtually no Americans are expected to be in residence next year.

What This Diploma Means to the Women of Wichita Falls

First—It means that the women of Wichita Falls may receive, free of charge, authoritative advice from our graduate corsetiere.

Second—Our corsetiere is not only specially trained in all branches of corset fitting, but is able to give authentic style information regarding all branches of women's apparel.

Third—Being expertly trained, our corsetiere is able to discuss with the women of Wichita Falls the new SPRING fashions and the vital relation the new Gossard models bear to the successful attainment of the new silhouette.

Fourth—She will serve you in the Perkins-Timberlake Co.'s corset department; is competent to make medical fittings and will give most careful attention to any special needs which a physician might prescribe.

Fifth—This diploma means that the women of Wichita Falls may be assured they can get the correct corsets for their individual figure type from the standpoint of style, comfort and wearing service.

—We shall be glad for you to meet Miss Parker, our graduate corsetiere, who will be pleased to serve you at all times.

NEGRO WANTED AT HILLSBORO UNDER ARREST HERE

Leo Cook, a negro, is in jail on a vagrancy charge. He was arrested by Deputy Constables Stiller and Arrington after they had received reports that the negro had boasted that he had come to town to seek a job. After his arrest it was discovered that he answered the description of a negro wanted at Hillsboro. The Hillsboro authorities were notified and Constable Thompson on that place is expected to arrive tonight to take Cook back to Hillsboro.

MORE GERMANS AFIELD THAN A YEAR AGO

From the New York World. America must not leave no spark burning in this great world conflagration, or the flames will burst forth again in all their fury to destroy civilization and humanity. So said Col. Charles Bigelow, recently returned from England, to an audience that filled the Church of the Ascension one night recently. He spoke under the auspices of the National Security League, and as he described the horrors and heroism of the war women wept silently. "You are not fighting a nation," he continued, "but a vast array, loyal to a man, trained perfectly, and equipped that it is struggling for its very life. You can't start a war, and you can raise within 15 per cent of enough food to feed all her people. There is no hope for a revolution. The army is just one big fighting machine, and you may rest assured it will fight to the last soldier and the last dollar. And there are one million more Germans in the field today than there were a year ago. "Ruthlessness? Of course. Germany makes war a business, and considers ruthlessness war business of the most effective type. At one time, where babies have been carried upon bayonets as souvenirs of German victory. Many people in Germany regularly celebrate May 8, the anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania. Colonel Bigelow told of the courage of the women of France and England in giving up their husbands and sons uncomplainingly and bearing their loss unflinchingly. "Having seen these things, I am alarmed at conditions I find here," he said. "People do not ask me when we shall begin to fight, but always, 'When shall we have peace?' Many seem to look upon the war as a great moving picture show. Have you been kaiserized by the pro-Germans or Chinarized by the pacifists? England was indifferent once, but that is all changed now as it could be here had you suffered as England has suffered." Encouraging the work of the Red Cross, he said men in their hospitals never speak of peace, but always of some way to meet friends behind the sunset. "But have no fear, you mothers and wives," he added, "your boys are going to a great victory and a glorious peace. Their return will be upon a brighter day, and they will bring back with them a glory that shall be unending."

Belief in Jonahs. The belief in Jonahs is contrary to the order of the universe as man most slowly and painfully, by the use of all his spiritual faculties, has discovered that order. Whatever the explanation of extraordinary events may be, the supernatural explanation is not true. To entertain it for a moment is to enervate the mind and to misinterpret the universe. That may not be safely done even in trifles; for none of us is far enough away from the dark fears of the savage to take risks. We need to be almost superstitious in our fear of superstition, as a reformed drunkard needs to avoid wine.

COOP IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN RESERVE BANK STATEMENT

By Associated Press—Dallas, Texas, Aug. 2.—Probably the change of most importance in the business situation of this district since the first of July is the general improvement in crop conditions, says the monthly statement issued today by the federal reserve agent of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank.

The statement says, in due to July rains averaging from one-half to several inches, over practically all of the farming belt.

The war continues to affect many lines, but less talk is heard of it than formerly, the statement says.

The heavy government orders placed in this section have restricted the available extent of the restricted trade in other channels.

A conservative business and trade in all lines are well maintained and the volume of trade all that could be expected for the mid-summer season.

Speaking of crops, the statement says that "while conditions are not uniform, a very careful examination of the report to the information received justifies the statement that the small grain crop of the district is normal in amount and will exceed last year's crop.

The statement mentions that the government crop report for July estimates that the Texas wheat crop at 11,341,000 bushels, an increase of 48,000 bushels over the government's June estimate.

With reference to the cotton crop, the statement says that reports received are more optimistic than it is difficult to reconcile them, but ventures the opinion that unless some unexpected disaster overtakes the crop, it will not be below but may be above the average for the last ten years.

Reports indicate the condition of cotton has materially improved within the last few days.

As to banking conditions, the statement says the second installment of Liberty Loan bonds was made June 25, and the increase of 100,000,000 set. With the Liberty bond campaign behind them, banks of the district have resumed their normal activities and the banking situation continues quite satisfactory.

Clearings at Austin, Beaumont, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, and Wichita Falls for the month of July are reported over the same period last year.

Building operations show effects of the war and operations in July were by could be said to be normal, the statement says.

Postoffice receipts of the principal cities of the district for July are reported to be 10 per cent and one-half per cent over the same month last year.

Dallas led with receipts of $100,000 and Houston second with $55,000.

BLIND MAN ENTHUSIASTIC WHEN HE "SAW" BATTLEFRONT IN FRANCE

With the British Armies in France, Blind himself, and head of the British Red Cross, was filled to tears when he saw the battlefront in France.

Arthur Pearson, of London, was recently a most interesting visitor at the headquarters of the Red Cross in this city. He was accompanied by a group of sightless men at home new words of encouragement and praise for the work of the Red Cross.

Sir Arthur climbed the Vimy Ridge, and to his great delight some German shells broke so close they splashed him with mud and the war had to take temporary refuge in a dugout.

"A man doesn't have to see to know when to duck, does he," laughed Sir Arthur as he returned to the city.

"I also find," he added, "that it doesn't take long to know when they are going and when they are coming."

That is always a great source of entertainment to visitors in the fighting zone. At first the shells that are fired from some of the guns which swing along through the sullen air with a noise that is quite startling enough, but the sightless "fortunate" ones are not so easily scared.

"Our soldiers," he said, "go with a bang and a whiz, the Germans come over with a whiz and a bang. It all depends upon the position of the work of the guns.

He remained with some of the batteries for a long time and listened to their noisy meetings with a keen appreciation of all that was going on about him.

It was particularly delightful to hear above the reverberating echoes of the guns, the words of the men who were being by the soldiers on this front as their ever-cheerful companions of trench and battlefields.

Tracing the course of the older battlefields of the Somme, walking through the trenches, and standing in the higher places where the panorama of battle spread below him, Sir Arthur drank in the atmosphere of the war—the meaning of it all. He "saw" the "tanks" in repose and heard them at work, and he stood in the presence and vision of the rounded-shouldered German within the barbed wire barriers.

He asked a guard if any of the prisoners were still in the camp.

"Escapee, sir?" replied the old soldier, "why, sir, you couldn't drive 'em away; they like being prisoners, sir."

They do not always like to go to the ruined cities of the Somme, Bananue and Peronne, affected Sir Arthur deeply.

"The whole world—all but the Germans who already know what they have done—could come and see."

AMERICAN SECRET POLICE ARE VIGILANT

(From the Chicago Post.)

Washington, Aug. 2.—Uncle Sam doesn't make as much noise about his secret police agents as Kaiser Bill does about his Wilhelmianese, but the star-spangled sleuths get their just share of the biggest and most efficient secret police systems in the world.

The bureau of investigation, Department of Justice, headed by Bruce L. Leland, in peace times this organization hunted white slaves, anti-drug law violators and other offenders.

Now it hunts German spies and pro-issians.

The secret service, headed by Chief Flynn, its main duties are to catch counterfeiters for the Treasury Department, and to furnish the president a secret service squad.

Secret police systems of other government departments—such as postoffice inspectors, to nab mail law violators.

The army and navy have their own means of getting information of military value.

The biggest job right now is war work. The secret service throws its energies in every direction, feeding for plotters against the president. The bureau of investigation muzzles disciplinary schemes. The army and navy sleuths dig into enemy war plans.

In the hunt for anti-American agitators, Uncle Sam's secret police mingle with crowds, participate in mass meetings, use the telephone. If a mob gathers, the chances are a hundred to one that a member of Uncle Sam's police is among those present.

They include an ear to the ravings of pro-Germans and by mysterious methods become aware of what American's foes are doing in Berlin as well as in New York.

Through channels Sherlock Holmes could never discover reports come regularly into Washington and orders go out. Many Kaiser boosters, although stand in the grand squares of these cities as I did today," he exclaimed, "and see and feel the desolation and the wanton destruction. They are ghastly like, these cities of the dead. I know them on motor trips in other days, when they were alive and I could see and feel the picture of some today as if I were looking at a painting. The Germans will find, however, the day of reckoning is near in hand. I shall take back words of great cheer to the men at St. Dunstan's."

Entertained by officers of all ranks, Sir Arthur declared his day and night at the front had been filled with interesting and profitable work. He followed the workings of the vast British army machine with quicker, keener appreciation and understanding than he. He was glad to find in the army a similar interest and appreciation in the work at St. Dunstan's for the blinded soldiers and sailors.

Sir Arthur told of the resentment he felt when unthinking people referred to St. Dunstan's as a "home" for the blind as if the blind were to be segregated there for the rest of their days.

"It is not a home for the blind," he protested, "and I do not believe in 'homes' for the blind. St. Dunstan's is an institution where those who cannot see are helped to equip themselves to retake their places in the ordinary walks of life. Often dependent at first, they are set some simple task and when they find they can do it, done, a spirit of regeneration seems to come over them. They catch the spirit of accomplishment and thereafter nothing is too great for them to attempt."

"One of the most despondent men with whom we have had to deal was a blinded 'Tommy' who had been a sort of steamfitter or house heating expert. None of the ordinary trades appealed to him and he felt as if he were altogether done for. Suddenly I asked him how he would like to go back to his old job. He shook his head sadly. It couldn't be done, I told him we would see about that. I wrote his old firm and one of the partners came to see me. I asked if they would take 'Tommy' back. I was assured the firm would like to do so, but they could not see how a blind man could fill any post in the business. I obtained a promise, however, that if I could assist the soldier to such an extent that he felt he was entitled to a trial they would do so."

GLADYS HULETTE AT THE MAJESTIC FRIDAY

"The Cigarette Girl." Gladys Hulette's first Astra Picture to show at the Majestic Friday. It is a fast melodrama, which, however, gives this popular little actress ample opportunity to display her winning personality to a degree quite sufficient to satisfy her followers. The manner in which she, as the cigarette girl of a cabaret show, is led into a marriage for the man's convenience, and how she at length defeats the purposes of a pair of black-mailed men, who are after her fortune, makes a story that is thoroughly entertaining to the very last. There is a goodly number of scenes in which Miss Hulette registers some pleasing light comedy, while she supplements her work in this line by a convincing performance in the more dramatic scenes. The picture has been ideally produced under the direction of William Parke, who did such good work with Miss Hulette in the Thanhouser release, "The Shine Girl." The action is concise, rapid and full of intense moments, while the whole is laid in settings of unusual realism. The cabaret stuff is excellent, and affords a lively start to the story. The remaining settings are most appropriate.

"WOMANHOOD" PROVES EMOTION STIRRING PLAY

From 2 o'clock to midnight yesterday, the Empress Theatre was well filled with spectators of the great film play "Womanhood." It seemed to be the general opinion of the people that they had seen one of the greatest pictures of the picture world. The unusual quiet, and the infrequency of applause showed both the depth and the solemnity of the impressions made. At times the audience seemed breathless with anticipation—at others, men sat frankly wiped their eyes. This latter circumstance was especially noticeable in the scene of the execution of Jean Strong, which is one of the most gripping scenes ever conceived. The work of Naomi Childers here was superlative, consummate.

flawless. It is impossible to give any adequate description of the transcendent dignity and beauty of this scene. It is one of the outstanding features of a play crowded with marvels, indeed it is perhaps the one feature of the whole production. Mary Ward goes to her to comfort her at the moment of execution; but stands dumb with grief, unable to speak. It is Jean who comforts, putting her arms about her, and saying quietly, "Be brave—be patient, in this way I can serve my country best. Then she folds her hand, raising fearless eyes to the firing squad, and it is over.

The battle scenes at the end are on a truly gigantic scale. Tons of earth seem to leap into the air in the mining operations. Whole trenches are engulfed, batteries are torn from their foundations. Gas, liquid fire, incendiary bombs, trench mortars, and the whole field of modern war machinery is seen in action. Battleships are seen on fire, the engine room of a man-of-war is destroyed, and men plunge wildly about in the chaos of the burning sea. These scenes are stupendous, vital, breath taking.

A number of people in the audience last night had seen the play before—especially amongst the military. Many have declared their intention of seeing it again tonight. This is the second and last day of the showing of this colossal production.

The Gem

"Five Little Widows" a Nestor comedy with an entertaining tale to tell is showing at the Gem today. Eddie loves old Morgan's daughter Betty, but her father says he can't support her. Eddie tells the old man that he will go in business for himself and make a fortune. He sets up a broker's office, and waits for clients. Betty tells him that she overheard her father telling some one to buy B. V. & D. Eddie does so, and the bottom drops out of the market. Then Betty finds out that father was ordering "underwear" not stocks. But Eddie had forgotten that he had a wealthy uncle in Turkey. One day he received a letter from him, saying that he was sending his nephew his Turkish treasures, as he could no longer safely keep them there on account of the war. Of course, Eddie fell for the treasures, and so did Betty's father and mother when he told them of the news. A few days later they arrived in charge of Mogul Hassan. Eddie went to meet them, and was flabbergasted to find that they were five beautiful wives. They insisted upon being taken to Eddie's home, though he had invited Betty and her mother there, and was afraid to take five girls to meet them. But Hassan's formidable sword compelled him. The girls were delighted with what they saw, and insisted upon embracing Eddie, much to his embarrassment. Just then Betty and her mother came in, and Eddie hastened the girls into the bedroom. But one of them came running out, and Betty's mother was furious. She would listen to no explanation, but took Betty home. That night Eddie's engagement was to be announced at Betty's. He went home to dress, and found all the wives in his bed. He called Hassan and had them taken away, but he could dress for the party. They tried to go with him, but he escaped. They followed, however, and arrived in the midst of the party. A dinner had been given to explain that this was his uncle's harem. When Hassan opened the box he was carrying and showed all the jewels within, Betty and her mother were reconciled.

The Plaza

The destiny of Lucia, a little blind girl, is made the theme of "The Tell-Tale Step," an Edison photodrama featuring Shirley Mason in the stellar role, supported by the entire cast, on the Plaza program tonight.

Giovanni Pallazzi, who left Italy in order to escape "hounding" of the Society's just abolished banishment, himself in America with his blind daughter Lucia, when it is decreed by a "chief of the Society" and a band of counterfeiters, that his life must be forfeited. Giovanni is sought and killed by Dimitri who was chosen to perform "The Society's" mandate. The blind Lucia hears the assassin's footsteps, and the memory of it remains strong in her mind. Luigi, the chief, feigns a fatherly interest in Lucia when the Children's Society take the matter in hand, and he influences them to allow him to care for Lucia as he does his own family. Luigi immediately takes advantage of Lucia's ability to play the violin and sends her out on the streets to play. Hugh Graham, the district attorney, is allotted the case of the Giovanni murder for his consideration. He takes an extremely friendly interest in Lucia and has an operation performed on her eyes which restores sight to her. He then does all in his power to avenge the death of her father. When Dimitri, the murderer, is on trial, Lucia's eyes are bound, and she again unmistakably recognizes the footsteps of her father's assassin. Hugh's attention to Lucia arouses the suspicion and jealousy of his fiancée, Beverly, but she soon learns that her fear is unfounded when Hugh allows Pietro, who protected Lucia during their acquaintance, to accompany her to meetings with Lucia, and Hugh with Beverly watch with parental interest. Lucia and Pietro roam about the Graham farm fully appreciating the joys of life which had formerly been denied them.

WHY GERMANY CAN KEEP ON FIGHTING

Carl W. Ackerman in the Saturday Evening Post. "I want to know," says the impatient American today, "why Germany isn't exhausted. If England and France are 'shot to pieces,' as they say, why is Italy so fatigued? Economic problems, Russia by indecision, and China—yes, in the name of the Seven Seas, why Germany keeps on fighting?" How long can she hold out?

The answers are the names of four nations. They are: Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Holland and Germany would be doomed. She cannot harvest enough food, she cannot produce the necessary war munitions in her own land or in the occupied territory to feed and supply the army and people too. But as long as Germany can import billions of marks' worth of edibles and raw materials from these countries, as she has so far during the war, she will be able to fight the rest of the world—thrown upon her own resources.

Government authorities estimate that sufficient food is shipped into Germany from her four neutral neighbors to feed the entire German army, Denmark, as late as June, 1917, was exporting seven thousand head of cattle a week across the German frontier. Holland is sending smoked meats, butter, caviare, eggs, vegetables and fish by the carload every day. Whale oil, sardines, herring and soy food go from Norway. Sweden is selling millions of kronen's worth of war materials to Berlin. During the first three months of this year Sweden shipped nearly 17 million tons of iron ore to Germany.

These are the ways the belligerent neutrals supply our enemy. They are the chief reasons why Germany can keep going. But they are not entirely to blame. Without supplies from the United States some of these countries would be able to work for the Kaiser. Holland, Denmark and Sweden must have fodder and grain from the United States to fatten their live stock. All the neutrals must have our supplies to substitute for those exported to Germany.

When I was living in Berlin I had to go to Copenhagen frequently to get food for my household. I could purchase ham, bacon, eggs and butter, and take them to Berlin without difficulty. If I desired to eat the ham or bacon in Denmark it would cost about forty cents a pound, because it had been imported from Chicago. But if I wished to take smoked meat across the Baltic I had to buy it of S. Johansen & Co., the "court packer," who could grant export permission. He charged $1 found for Danish goods. The Copenhagen merchants through the Danish government had promised the allies that none of their supplies would be exported to Germany, but no pledges were given regarding food produced in Denmark. The result was that the Danes ate American food and sold everything they raised to the German food department for 100 per cent more than the American goods cost. The process required little effort and it paid enormous profits.

One time when the Allies tried to stop the shipment of pork from Holland into Germany, Von Koenig, German minister at The Hague, remarked to a caller that there could be no objection to this because "a Dutch pig is American maize on four legs."

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR RECEPTION OF ARMY OFFICERS

As announced in Tuesday's Times officers of the aviation section of the United States army will be here Sunday for an inspection of the proposed site for the aviation camp. A telegram has been received from Congressman Marvin Jones confirming the arrangements.

The officers who are coming are: Colonel Crabtree, Major Arnold and Captain Edgar. Preparations have been made to welcome these distinguished visitors, and to place before them the attractions of the site and the city. A dinner for the guests has been arranged for the evening, when J. A. Kemp, who has been the moving spirit of the entire campaign since the matter was first suggested last December, will be in charge. Plates will be laid for about thirty people, and representatives of every corporation and business organization will be present to tell the Federal officers just what they can do to further government interests here, and co-operate in every way possible.

Judge R. E. Huff, president of the Chamber of Commerce will speak on behalf of the Chamber, and will vouch for its earnest and intelligent work in the interests of the government. Judge Harvey Harris, and both the county and city attorneys will be present to tell of their intention to use the entire available machinery for the suppression of all conditions which would not be conducive to the welfare of the camp, and to pledge their assistance in the matter of controlling every untoward influence. Commissioner Jackson, J. A. Richtor, mayor pro tem, and many others will speak for themselves and for the bodies they represent, telling what each can do in the way of assistance. Jack Culbertson will offer the use of his trucks and machinery, F. N. Lawton will tell of the resources of the water and light companies. The Carpenters-Union has promised the services of fifty carpenters, and the Chamber of Commerce is securing the woods in every direction for yet other carpenters and mechanics needed in the construction work.

These are the plans of the Chamber of Commerce for the entertainment of the guests, and it is believed that they will be carried out in detail as above.

BARNARD HOME AFTER A BUYING TRIP TO EAST

C. J. Barnard and Miss Johanne Arnold of the P. B. M. Co. returned last night from their buying trip to the New York markets. Mrs. August South and Miss Ladsitter, buyers in the ladies ready to wear and millinery departments will remain in the metropolis for another week or so to pick up any later novelties that may be brought out. Mr. Barnard reports merchandise in all lines as much higher priced, and very scarce at that in all lines. The styles, however, are much more elaborate and the colors and patterns much more beautiful than in any previous years. Very big stripes of highly contrasting colors predominate in silks for ladies wear, which is also carried into fashions for men's shirts to a considerable extent. In ladies suits the coats will be somewhat longer than last year, with but very little change in the general styles.

Mr. Barnard, anticipating a heavy trade this fall, has bought very heavy coats in all lines, and will have some of the finest fashions shown in the East to offer. Speaking of war conditions, Mr. Barnard says there is much more excitement and talk in the Atlantic coast cities than is found in this section, due to the fact that soldiers are in parade or in transit through the cities all of the time, and the people therefore take a more lively interest in the nation's affairs.

The engine room was the first place visited—a most fascinating place, with a giant fly-wheel, nine feet in diameter, and weighing some 18,000 pounds—the heart of the mill. The bleaching machines came next under attention—an electrical device, where in the electric flames create a bleaching gas, and a chemical apparatus for the same purpose. The flour can go into these machines as a dusky brown, and come out as a ravishing blonde. Then came the laboratory and bakery. Here F. H. Loomis, the chemist, gave a short explanation of the different processes of testing wheat, flour and bread. Here, too, the welcome was warm—very. The party then ascended to the top floor to see the officers' numerous book-making machines, perhaps as near to perfect motion as it is possible to get. These machines cut the flour through many-sifting processes, and in fact, as they steadily for a time, they crystalized backed off the boards as the means of putting oneself into a trance, man reports showed clearly a large scale of operations was preparing. CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN LOCAL RECRUITING OFFICE
The following recruiting office changes have been made today:
Sergeant Thomas Watkins, retired, called to duty and ordered to take charge of the U. S. Army recruiting office in Wichita Falls. He came today from Austin. Thomas has served 23 years and got double time for seven, making it same as thirty years service.
Corporal Hensley who has been in charge of this office has been ordered to proceed to Vernon and take charge of the recruiting office there. He will leave tomorrow afternoon.
Corporal Martin, who has been attached to the recruiting office in Fort Worth, has been ordered to Cleburne on recruiting duty. He is succeeded by Sergeant Donley, retired, recalled to duty. Donley served 30 years.
COMPLAINTS AGAINST TWO MORE FOR FORGERY
Complaints have been filed against J. E. Wasson and Otto Starr charging them with "forgery and passing a forged instrument." The complaints were filed before Justice Jones. R. H. Chambers was charged with forgery yesterday. Deputy Sheriff Bob McFall filed the complaints.
