Hubbell Faces Lefty Gomez For Opener

Odds Are 3 To 2 That Gomez Will Defeat Carl; Fans On Hand Early To Grab Seats

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6—Barring further heavy showers, the first game of the World series between the New York Yankees and New York Giants will be played as scheduled at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, a spokesman for Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, said today.

After receiving reports that the Yankee stadium was in good and entirely playable condition despite a heavy overnight rain, the commissioner decided he would not make any pre-game inspection of the park. Decision on postponements rests entirely with the commissioner until a game starts. Thereafter the umpires control the situation.

Thousands On Hand

By 10 o'clock more than 5,000 fans already had passed through the gates and taken their places either in the bleachers or in the unreserved grandstand sections.

Betting continued to favor the Yankees at 2 to 5 to cop the fifth series between the metropolitan rivals. So far each team has beaten the other twice. Odds were 3 to 2 that Vernon Gomez, southpaw ace of the Yankee hurling corps, would gain a decision over lefthanded Carl Hubbell in today's game.

This is the gigantic day, barring fire or flood, when all normal activities traditionally cease for a couple of hours in the afternoon and the mortality rate among grandmothers leaps out of sight.

Weather Threatening

The weather has been threatening complications, just as it did last year, but the forecast today was for cloudy weather and showers in the morning, possibly clearing toward afternoon.

If the rain of last night should continue long today, however, the clubs' hopes for a record gate may be knocked into a cocked hat. Although practically all the reserved seats have been sold, the prospect of a sellout crowd of 70,000 depends entirely upon how many customers turn up to buy the unreserved grandstand seats at $3.30 and the bleacher places at $1.10.

Right down to the wire, the Yankees have been staunch favorites to win again, even though everybody, including Manager McCarthy of the Yankees, has admitted that the Giants are greatly improved over last season.

Giants Are Stronger

They are stronger at third base and at first gase, and they have a new left-handed pitcher in Cliff Melton, who might stand the Yankees on their collective heads. They are such a smart fielding team that an established slugger like Wally Berger can't even break into today's lineup because his throw-ins from center field leave something to be desired.

Yet if you think all that has made the slightest impression on either the Yankees or their followers, you haven't been reading your lessons. They worship the base hit, preferably the home-run, and they don't think that a carload of Hubbells and Meltons could fool Joe

TEXANS URGE FARM AID

Cost Of Feeding The Average Family Today 28.6 Per Cent More Than Five Years Ago

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—It costs exactly 28.6 per cent more to feed a family now than it did five years ago, the labor department said today.

Department statisticians reported meat prices led the increase, jumping 46.9 per cent over comparative figures for 1932.

They took the 1923-25 three-year average to get a comparison with normal times. With this average as 100, food prices rose generally from 66.7 on Sept. 15, 1932 to 85.8 last September 14. The butcher's charges leaped from 75.8 to 111.4.

General Level Hiked 7 Per Cent

In the last two years, dairy products rose 14.5 per cent and meat increased 8.5 per cent as the general level of foodstuffs increased 7 per cent.

The department's index of mid-September food prices showed:

	1937	1936	1932
All foods	85.8	80.1	66.7
Cereals, bakery products	95.1	92.7	74.3
Meats	111.4	102.6	75.8
Dairy products	83.9	73.3	65.4
Eggs	79.0	80.3	62.4
Fruits, vegetables	59.2	52.9	52.8
Beverages, chocolates	70.4	68.5	74.6
Fats and oils	78.4	87.4	51.3
Sugar and sweets	66.5	66.6	58.2

League Demands Quick Truce In China War

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Oct. 6.—The League of Nations assembly today warned Japan of the possibility of international action unless she agrees to a peaceful nine-power settlement of the China conflict.

The assembly unanimously approved resolutions containing the warning. Poland and Siam abstained from voting, but their attitude did not prevent the unanimity because states which abstain in voting are considered absent under Geneva practices.

CIO Wins In Detroit Vote

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 6—The Committee for Industrial Organization, successful in nominating its candidates for mayor and city councilmen in yesterday's non-partisan primary, claimed a "substantial victory" today in its first major political campaign.

CIO candidates did not lead the field, but its mayoralty candidate, Patrick H. O'Brien, former Democratic attorney general of the state, beat John W. Smith, present head of the city council who was endorsed by the American Federation of Labor. Richard W. Reading, present city clerk, was hign man in the field of five for the mayoralty nomination and will contest with O'Brien in the November 2 election.

Holds Withdrawal Card

Reading holds a withdrawal card from the typographical union.

Out of nearly 327,000 votes, the largest number ever cast in a Detroit city primary, Reading received 137,984; O'Brien 99,129 and Smith 68,827. Two other candidates divided the remainder of the mayoralty votes; Clarence J. McLeod, former Republican congressman, with 19,542, and Ralph A. Philbrook, an attorney, with 1,251.

Not only did the CIO succeed in nominating O'Brien but it placed its five candidates for the city council among the 18 who will run for the nine council seats in the November election.

Gaston Cobb's Case Is Given To Jury

A 88th district court jury at 11 o'clock this morning received for deliberation the case of Gaston Cobb, 22-year-old Lubbock man charged by indictment with burglary the night of Sept. 4 of Southern Trading company store at 911 Broadway. Cobb pleaded guilty.

State through Burton S. Burks, district attorney, asked the jury not to allow Cobb a suspension of sentence. Cobb had filed an affidavit through counsel Anderson V. Weaver swearing he had not been convicted of a felony in this or any other state. Reputation witnesses introduced by the state, Cap Moore, deputy sheriff, Don Reeder, chief of police, and Aubrey Cummings, city patrolman, had testified Cobb's reputation was bad.

W. C. Edwards, printer; H. H. Holmes, manager of the burglarized store, and Cummings testified for the state. Mrs. Fay Cobb, the defendant's mother for the defense.

The penalty carries no less than two nor more than 12 years.

Fifteenth Of Each Month To Be Payday For Old Folks

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The needy Texas old folks, accustomed to waiting for checks due them on the first of the month, today received assurance they would receive them soon after Oct. 15.

Acting Director W. A. Little said the 13th of each month hereafter would be "pay day."

One Killed And One Missing When Excavation Caves In

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 6 (AP)—A section of the excavation for the new state office building, adjoining the state capitol, caved in today, killing at least one workman.

Quantities of dirt crushed an unidentified negro to death. Another workman was missing. A third was rushed to a hospital.

House Asking President To Call Session

Recently Adopted Federal Plan Regarding Cotton Loans Said Difficult Of Operation

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 — The Texas house of representatives today appealed to President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress before Nov. 1 to relieve "serious" and "vexing" problems of the farmer due to low cotton prices.

It adopted a concurrent resolution to that effect by viva voce vote.

Lowest In Four Years

The resolution said the price of cotton was lower than it had been in four years and "approaching the low price established in the depth of depression," while price of manufactured products which farmers had to buy were increasing.

The recently adopted federal policy regarding cotton loans was criticized as "very difficult of operation."

Student Dead In Air Crash

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6 — Victims of a plane crash, David Murphy, jr., 21, was dead today and Tom L. Forehand, 21, of Houston, remained in a hospital here in serious condition. Physicians said Forehand had a broken jam and possibly a skull fracture. Murphy's body was taken to Mexia.

Both were students at Texas A. & M. college. Murphy a senior and Forehand a junior.

Plane Was Rented

Robert Putz of Bryan, flying instructor and owner of the plane, said Forehand rented the plane, virtually a new ship which he and Forehand had flown from Houston about three weeks ago. The boys told him they planned to take aerial photographs of a streamlined train passing the college campus.

Ten minutes later, from an altitude of about 300 feet, the plane went into a spin, struck the top of a gin on the agricultural experiment farm west of the campus and slid off the side of the building.

Two Gin Employes Painfully Injured In Tuesday Mishaps

Two gin employes injured in accidents in different towns Tuesday were in Lubbock sanitarium this morning, one with amputated fingers and the other with amputated arm.

The right arm of Layton Reeves, 27, of New Home community, was amputated near the wrist when it was caught in the saws of the cleaner of the New Home gin about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. His condition was reported satisfactory this morning at the sanitarium.

Walter Golden, 37, of Post, suffered amputation of all fingers of his right hand when the hand was caught in gin machinery at Post. He entered Lubbock sanitarium at 12:30 o'clock this morning. The fingers were amputated at the second joints, said sanitarium attaches.

Mary Pickford Says She May Head Studio In Hollywood

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP) Mary Pickford says she "may head a studio" in Hollywood.

Here to inspect a cosmetic factory, Miss Pickford said she would leave for the West Coast in about three weeks. She refused to elaborate on future plans but added that "this cooperative venture would have nothing but headliners."

Appeal For America To Stage Japanese Boycott Is Made

SHANGHAI, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dr. Alfred Sze, former Chinese ambassador to Washington, in a broadcast to the United States today urged an American boycott of Japan to aid China in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

"If you boycott Japan," Dr. Sze said, "you will find you have contributed to the greatest single step of progress in history. You will prove that might is not right, unless that might is backed by right."

EARTH TREMOR FELT

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—A moderate earth tremor at 3:47 a. m. rocked buildings, toppled over dishes and roused scores of the city's population from bed.

Extra Precautions Are Being Taken By Business Men And Special Officers On Duty

Several local mercantile establishments have employed special nightwatchmen to remain in their stores all night, supplementing the regular police force and the downtown special nightwatchman, it was learned today.

Heavy influx of questionable characters, some of criminal records, with the coming of thousands of cotton pickers, forced business men to take extra precautions. It is known that criminals always follow large crowds of workers into areas to harvest crops.

Several recent break-ins here, in addition to similar ones in other towns, gave impetus to the plan of special officers to guard the stores.

Men so far appointed have commissions from either Chief of Police Don Reeder or Sheriff Tom Abel.

Both officials explained that they would be glad to cooperate with business men who desire to employ a special officer. "I have issued several commissions as deputy sheriff," Sheriff Abel said. "I will be glad to cooperate in any way I can."

"As far as this department is concerned," said Chief Reeder, "we are anxious to cooperate in any way possible with merchants who desire to employ a special officer."

Both officials explained that they felt the situation demanded prompt handling, owing to the presence of a large crimi-

Federal Care Of Sick Is Sought By Labor

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Oct. 6 — Federal care of the sick as a part of the social security program was asked by the Brotherhood of Painters in a resolution prepared for introduction today at the American Federation of Labor convention.

Federation economists said a study of medical costs for families with incomes between $1,200 and $2,000 a year showed 218 of 1,000 families spent more than $100 for doctors' bills.

Would Face Hardships

"Practically no family with an income of less than $5,000 could bear the costs of a major illness without undergoing hardships," a report of these economists said.

They pointed out one of two methods for removing these "hardships" could be adopted:

(1) Health insurance, with employers, employees or government (or all three) paying the premiums. This insurance would pay benefits during illness.

In Federal Hands

(2) Placing all hospitals, clinics and dispensaries in the government's hands, with all physicians and surgeons on the government payroll.

The resolutions committee, it was learned, probably will propose a government study of health insurance and socialized medicine for the social security program.

Drive On Austin Cafes Being Staged And Action Is Taken

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The state health department had taken action today against two cafes near the University of Texas campus where, according to the charges, adulterated and putrid food was offered for sale.

In one place, it was alleged, dead crickets, flies and bugs were found in food. In another place the restauranteur paid a fine for having an employe who did not have a health certificate.

In an investigation prompted by a student newspaper, it was found that only one out of 40 places sterilized their dishes.

Mary Marjory Meredith Dies In City Tuesday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mary Marjory Meredith, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Meredith, 1809 Seventh street, who died in a local hospital at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, will be held in Sanders chapel at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

John T. Smith of the Broadway Church of Christ will officiate and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery, with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

Besides her parents she is survived by a sister, Hazel Elizabeth, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Meredith and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Griffin.

MUKDEN, Manchoukuo, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bandits who kidnaped the Rev. Father A. Donovan from the sacristy of the Roman Catholic church at North Fushun last night, demanded $50,000 ransom today.

Japanese authorities were taking action.

Use Of Gold In Treatment Of Tuberculosis Patients Told By Doctor; Warning Made

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS Oct. 6 — Gold, often charged with money as being "he root of all evil," was credited toady with curative effect in some cases of tuberculosis.

Fifteen of 26 tubercular patients who received an injection of prepared gold showed "fairly encouraging" improvement, Dr. Melvin Tess reported in the American Review of Tuberculosis.

In the same 18-month study, only four patients in a control group not receiving the gold injections improved. All those treated were advanced cases at Koch hospital, a sanatorium here.

He warned against use of the gold treatment by general practitioners, but added "I shall not hesitate to use gold in the future, subject to certain limitations."

CIO Organizer Beaten Again But Will Refuse To Leave

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 6 (AP)—A CIO organizer beaten for a second time on Memphis streets served notice from a hospital bed today that "no thugs are going to drive me from the city" and his union backed him with demands that his assailants be punished.

"If they kill me, there are 400,000 other auto workers who will take my place," said Norman Smith, St. Louis, 230-pound organizer for the United Automobile Workers of America.

Long-Range Unemployment Plan Is Considered By President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt may recommend to congress a long-range program for solving the unemployment problem, administration advisers said today.

Such a program, they said, would be based on results of the forthcoming unemployment census and would be a departure from the present year-to-year relief plans.

Individual Premium Checks To Fair Winners Being Prepared

Individual premium checks for the women's department at the Panhandle-South Plains fair of last week were being prepared this morning and will be placed in the mails not later than Thursday, officials of the fair association said thos morning.

The distribution will involve nearly $500 to more than 200 prize winners, some of whom were recipients of a dozen or more individual awards.

Final check also was being made today of individual events in the agricultural department with expectation that the task will be completed and all can be sent out before the end of the week.

Officials of the association said that it still remains a matter of guesswork as to what the final financial record of the fair will be, although there can be little doubt that it will show a profit. Outside estimates were that the profit margin might be as much as $500 or $600, with the possibility that it might be substantially lower than that

Opinions Over World Varied After Speech

Japan Flatly Refuses To Halt Campaign; China And Spain Are Jubilant At Attitude

(By The Associated Press)

A world fearful of widespread war looked today upon President Roosevelt's intimation that the United States is prepared to take active steps for peace both as a menace and a benefaction.

The German foreign office warned the president to remember the "shipwreck" of President Wilson when he sought to safeguard peace for all time through the League of Nations. Japan warned officially that peace may be "difficult to maintain" if demands of the nations which "have not" colonies and raw materials are ignored.

Names Are Asked

Speaking through the official mouthpiece, Deutsche Diplomatisch-politische Korrespondenz, the foreign office inquires sharply which nations Mr. Roosevelt was talking about in his Chicago speech.

"Mr. Roosevelt talked in very general terms about 'the sacredness of treaties' without distinguishing which treaties conform to international morality and which do not," the foreign office organ said.

Japan made a flat refusal to halt her military machine in China in deference to the world opinion.

One of Japan's highest naval officials, taking the president's Chicago speech as an obvious shaft at the Japanese military campaign in China, replied only with a promise the Japanese empire will throw all her resources into the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

To Speed Conclusion

"We can not stay our hands out of respect for a world opinion formed on the basis of dispatches rewritten by Chinese governmental officials," he declared.

"We believe the surest way to minimize suffering is to speed the conclusion. We will do everything possible to speed the end and bring the situation back to normal."

A foreign office spokesman, also replying directly to the American president's speech at Chicago, said: "the ideals of right as conceived by western peoples is incompatible to that of the orient."

Freedom Is Demanded

He added that Japan's demand was that the Japanese people be permitted "to enjoy the freedom of movemnt and happiness which is rightfully theirs."

Harking back to the Japanese exclusion law passed by the United States in 1924, the spokesman characterized it as 'one which is against the natural laws of mankind and is greatly deplored by the Japanese people."

"The world has been created for mankind," he said, and, therefore, all honest and industrious people have the right to live anywhere in pursuit of life, liberty and happiness.

Old Maxim Quoted

"But when, on the one hand, there is a group of people living in happiness with amassed fortunes and, on the other, there is a group

College Queen To Be Chosen

(Special To The Journal)

CANYON, Oct. 6 — The first candidate for queen of the Homecoming at West Texas State October 23 has just been certified to Mrs. Tommie Montfort of Canyon, chairman of the alumni homecoming committee.

Candidate No. 1 is titian-haired.

Miss Ruth Cantrell, who was graduated at Shamrock High school four years ago, is the Wheeler county candidate, having been selected at a county-wide meeting of Wheeler alumni of West Texas State. She attended the college as recently as the last summer term. At present she is teaching at Lelia.

Won Beauty Contest

Miss Cantrell has a fair complexion and blue eyes, and is of average weight and height. She won a county beauty contest in the summer. She was a popular student.

The Homecoming queen will be chosen by secret judges on the eve of Homecoming day when a carnival-program is held at Cousins hall, a girls' dormitory, at 8 o'clock October 22. The dining room of the hall will take the form of a night club, with kitchen service available; another part of the hall will be a fine arts room, with art exhibit, orchestra, and soloists; and the ballroom will have a western motif, featuring oldtime fiddling and square dancing. Admission will be free.

Queen To Be Honored

The queen of the homecoming will be honored, after her coronation Friday evening, October 22, at the public program in the chapel Saturday at 11 a. m., at the noon barbecue, and at the football game between the Buffaloes and Alva, Oklahoma, Teachers college eleven.

Ex-students of every county are being urged to meet and select their candidate for queen. Her name and her photograph are to be sent to Mrs. Tommie Montfort of Canyon, chairman of the alumni homecoming committee.

Japanese Push Said Blocked

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 6 — The Japanese advance on all China fronts from Shanghai to the far north was reported today to have been halted by stiffened Chinese resistance.

In the Shanghai sector, the repeated Japanese thrusts against the 25-mile line running northwest from the North Station were beaten back by sheer force of numbers in hand-to-hand combat.

Far to the north in the strategically more important operations in the rich provinces of Hopeh and Shantung, reliable foreign reports bore out the Chinese claim that Japan's punch had been stopped.

Capture Is Reported

In the eastern sector of the North China war zone, Japanese claimed that their strongly mechanized column had invaded Shantung province completed the capture of the walled city of Techow and was pressing on against Tsinanfu, the provincial capital.

Correspondents for the Associated Press, and other foreign observers at Tsinanfu reported, however, that a virogcus Chinese counter-attack had forced the Japanese to abandon their siege of Techow and retreat to the north.

City Not In Guinea Pig Line But This Boy Is Persistent

The city definitely is not in the guinea pig selling business, but exceptions are made sometimes for young business men.

One such, aged about 10, appeared at city laboratories several days ago to make an often heard request that he be given one of the pigs which are kept for laboratory purposes. Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist, explained the city requirement that a charge of $1 per guinea pig must be made for any sold. And, thought Miss Snyder, that was that. But it wasn't.

The youth was back this morning with a handful of of change.

"I sure had a hard time getting the money, but here it is," he said.

"Give me a girl guinea pig—one that is going to have some babies."

The order was filled and he departed with his guinea pig in a nicely padded box filled with cabbage leaves.

Miss Snyder recalled that less than six months ago, the city encountered difficulties in buy-

OES, Tech Women's Council, Graduate Nurses Have Sessions Tuesday

Annual Dinner Is Discussed

Plans for district and state conventions were discussed at meetings of two women's organizations Tuesday night. A third group, the council of Tech Women Graduates, met at the Hilton hotel to hear a review of "The Street of the Fishing Cat" (Jolan Foldes) given by Dr. A. B. Cunningham.

District 18 of the Texas Graduate Nurses association is to attend an annual institute here on December 10 at which time Miss A. Louise Dietrich of El Paso, general secretary of the state association, will be present. The meeting was discussed when 20 nurses, including several from Plainview, met at the Lubbock Sanitarium clinic lobby.

The group discussed a benefit dance.

Miss Adelia Anderson, district president, presided.

Twelve Go From Here

It was announced that at least 12 women from the local Order of the Eastern Star chapter will attend a Grand Chapter meeting in El Paso late this month when the organization attended an initiation and stated meeting at the Masonic hall Tuesday night. A special rate has been obtained on a chartered bus.

Mrs. France Baker, worthy matron, presided.

Mrs. Eva Watkins was initiated during a service which included songs by Mesdames Lottie Hilton and Kate James Lee, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Barclay.

The chapter's annual birthday dinner will be served on October 19 at the hall. Reservations may be made with Mesdames Baker or Rafe Nabors.

During a social hour refreshments were served to fifty women. Mrs. Mary F. Hinton is chairman of the refreshments committee.

Miss Scott Is Club Hostess Tuesday

Miss Marjorie Scott was hostess to Rendezvous bridge club members with a bridge supper Tuesday night at Lubbock hotel.

Mrs. J. D. Jenkins won high prize and Mrs. Sam Ainsworth, second high in the games.

Others attending were Mrs. Bernie Howell and Miss Jorga Barkham, special guests, and Mesdames Raymond Cone, Fraser McGuire, Misses Julia Blackwell, Winifred Hay, Willie Merle Sumner, Lalla D'Spain and Opal McMahon.

More Than 200 Persons Attend First Meeting Of Grange

More than 200 persons attended the first meeting this school year of the collegiate chapter of the National Grange and the Home Economics club Tuesday night in the stock judging pavilion on the Texas Technological college campus.

Frank Gray, lecturer, introduced Fred Day, master of the Grange chapter, who in turn introduced Raymond King, president of the Agricultural club.

Brief talks were made by Dr. Bradford Knapp, Tech president; A. H. Leidigh, dean of the department of agriculture; and Miss Vivian Johnson, head of the department of home economics education.

Vestel Askew spoke in connection with La Remuda, giving an outline of the program Saturday night. Music was by Alvis Tabor and Winfred Halcomb. Wilson Dixon presented a humorous number.

Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Williams of Midland visited Tuesday in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Privitt.

Miss Roberta Musteen, who has been visiting an aunt in Levelland, has returned to her home, 1413 Avenue G.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Ditto have returned to their home in Centerton, Ark., after a visit here.

SHALLOWATER, Oct. 6 (Special)—Meeting in a called business session Monday night at the school, members of the local parent-teacher association voted to spend $75 for books for the school library, Mrs. A. L. Malone, P.-T. A. president, appointed committees.

During a social hour games of forty-two were played and later refreshments were served by the home economics class to fifty persons.

Senior Girls To Be Honored By P.E.O.

Honoring girls of the senior class at Lubbock High school, members of the local P. E. O. will entertain Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a seated tea at Seaman hall.

The committee on arrangements consists of Mesdames Sam G. Dunn, J. T. Krueger and W. M. Craig.

Mrs. Ethel Terrell, dean of girls, will be a member of the receiving line.

One hundred girls had indicated this morning they plan to attend the entertainment.

State Baptist Prayer Week Is To Close Tonight

Annual state mission of season of prayer will be concluded by the First Baptist Women's Missionary society at a program directed by Miss Corinne Brown, young people's leader, at 7:45 o'clock tonight at the church.

Tuesday afternoon about 27 women met at the church to hear a program on "Self-Searching and Prayer," which was led by Mrs. W. C. Henley.

R. E. Stroup Speaker Today Before Texas Tech Class

R. E. Stroup, local agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, spoke on West Texas transportation problems before a class of business administration students of Texas Technological college this morning. The class is taught by Dr. J. O. Ellisworth, head of the department.

Stroup traced a car of wheat, loaded at a station near Lubbock, from this section to the port, to a mill for processing into flour and a car of flour back to this section. He also traced movements of a car of cotton to the port for export.

There are 65 juniors in the class studying marketing problems. Business men are from time to time addressing the group on their respective lines of business.

Littlefield Girl Recovering After Using Wrong Medicine

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 6. (Special)—Sunshine Burleson, 15, is recovering in the Payne-Shotwell hospital from injuries received when she used a strong disinfectant instead of a throat gargle.

According to her brother, Sunshine, getting the bottle in a dark room, did not discover her mistake before taking the disinfectant. She was rushed to the hospital, where she was in a serious condition three days.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burleson.

The Atlantic City auditorium contains the largest pipe organ in the world.

Miscellany Of Social Events Held By Women's Groups On Tuesday

Numerous women were interested in Tuesday afternoon meetings of study, needle and forty-two clubs and monthly socials of church classes.

Mrs. T. E. Hendrick was leader for a program on government at a meeting of the 1933 Study Club in the home of Mrs. Alex McDonald, 2221 Eighteenth street.

"American Government: Channels of Operation" was discussed by Mrs. Henry Turner. Mrs. A. W. Evans talked on "Handling Present Day Problems." Mrs. John R. Hall gave an interesting discussion of birds as a regular meeting feature on hobbies.

The club elected Mrs. McDonald treasurer to succeed Mrs. T. B. Smith whose resignation from that office was accepted. Eleven women were present.

Doctor Carter Talks

Dr. Allan L. Carter, head professor of English at Texas Technological college, discussed original Shakespearian theaters at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in room 210 Texas Technological college administration building. Mrs. O. A. Terry was program chairman and Mrs. John Wherry introduced the speaker.

Members brought guests.

Two Talks Made

Mrs. L. L. Kelso discussed "The Child and His Money", and Mrs. Roy Furr spoke on "Children Must Be Ready To Learn" at a meeting of the Lubbock circle of the Child Conservation league in the home of Mrs. W. G. Alderson, 2222 Seventeenth street.

The hostess served iced tea and ice box cookies.

Attending were Mesdames J. D. Hassell, Furr, C. E. Moreman, Kelso, H. H. Matejowsky, J. L. Holt, Marlin R. Smith, jr., Ethridge W. Eagan, Huddleston Wright, W. D. Benson, jr., Louis Feldman and W. E. Boyd.

The circle will meet at 3:15 p. m., October 19, with Mrs. Benson, 4101 Twenty-second street.

In Hay Home

Mrs. S. B. Hay, 1220 Tenth street, entertained the Happy Twelve Forty-Two club. The group decided to change the meeting dates to first and third Fridays, instead of Tuesday, of each month. The next meeting will be at 3 p. m. October 15 in the home of Mrs. R. R. Holmes, 2012 Eighth street.

After the games, Mrs. Hay served refreshments to Mesdames Holmes, I. S. Doak, J. G. Sims, George F. Kinyon, Houston Miller and Lilla Ford, members, and Mesdames B. L. Howard, B. A. Maddox, S. H. Bain, R. L. Goad and H. W. Sims, guests.

Mrs. Witt Entertains

Mrs. M. E. Witt, 1416 Avenue Q, entertained the Fit and Fashion club.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames C. C. Cox, W. B. Irvin, Erton Tate, E. M. Barnett, John Freeman, Floyd Honey, G. E. Dawson, Sam Leifeste and J. W. Reid.

The club will meet at 3 p. m., October 19, with Mrs. Dawson, 1902 Twenty-fourth street.

Monthly Meeting Held

Mesdames B. L. Williamson and C. S. Gaddis entertained the Asbury Methodist Awakened Wesleyan class in the Williamson home, 2122 Fourteenth street. The occasion was a monthly business and social meeting.

Mrs. B. B. Pullen was a guest. Members attending were Mesdames E. Greer, A. M. Dupree, W. D. Click, C. S. Rawlings, H. A. Thompson, J. C. Arnett, C. M. Nott, V. O. Jennings, E. D. Smallin and Paul Williams.

In White Home

Mrs. C. O. White, 2612 Locust street, was hostess for a meeting of the Arnett-Benson club. A short program in which Rufus Aylesworth played piano selections followed the business discussion.

The club planned a party to be given at 3 p. m. next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. B. Varner, 2148 Nineteenth street.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames H. H. Gore, C. A. Minor, Tom Morris, Bryan Landers, Forrest White, I. T. Weed, J. F. Eddleman, George May, J. W. Gollihugh, C. E. Martin, C. A. McLaurin, A. R. Pendley and Herbert Franke.

The club will meet October 19 with Mrs. Weed in the Arnett-Benson addition.

Needlers Entertained

Sew-A-While club members were entertained in the home of Mrs. Clyde Rogers, 2121 Ninth street. Rosebuds were given as plate favors when refreshments were served.

Attending were Mesdames Craig Bond, Vernon McCullough, Raymond Land, George Long and Homer Moss.

The club will meet at 3 p. m., October 19, with Mrs. Cliff Elliott, 1630 Seventh street.

Tryouts For Sock And Buskin Club To Be Staged Friday

Sock and Buskin club, which Tuesday night presented The Twelve-Pound Look, will conduct tryouts from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The dramatic organization offered the Sir James M. Barrie play at Texas Technological college. The cast, directed by Richard Flowers of the speech department, was made up of Rex Webster, Katherine Kersh, Eron Gafford, and Lee Byrd.

Seventy students will read lines or perform before a committee Friday. Bud Thompson of Lubbock is president of the organization.

W. W. Snodgrass of 2120 Thirteenth street will spend the weekend at Wichita Falls, Vernon and Quanah.

Mrs. Haynes Will Represent P-T Council At Convention

Mrs. S. B. Haynes, president of the City Parent-Teacher council, was elected delegate to the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers convention in Beaumont in November at a meeting of the local council Tuesday afternoon. Every parent-teacher unit in the city was represented at the meeting, which was conducted in the Senior High school building.

Miss Randolph Weds Rev. P. J. Ausmus

The marriage of Miss Mattie Randolph, daughter of Mrs. Stacy Randolph, 1410 Avenue Q, and the Rev. Perry J. Ausmus, pastor of the Primitive Baptist church at 1905 Texas avenue, took place at 11 o'clock this morning in Wingate with Elder E. C. Mahurin of the Primitive Baptist church there officiating.

After a trip to Fort Worth, Waco and Paris the couple will return here to be at home at 1510 Avenue J.

The bride is employed as assistant cashier at the First National bank.

Mrs. W. G. Loesel, 1920 Ninth street, a sister of the bride, entertained with a breakfast this morning honoring the couple. Only family members attended.

Tennessee's Mountain Folk Wake Up And Live To The Tune Of This Human Alarm Clock

By The AP Feature Service

BAXTER, Tenn., Oct. 6.—In this mountain town of 600 inhabitants there's only one alarm clock. It's Charlie Hughes.

For more than 13 years Charlie has been awakening folks here by sounding reveille on his bugle from a perch atop a 20-foot pole in his yard.

Forty-nine years old and unmarried, he lives on the outskirts of town near Mine Lick creek. His regular job is cutting stove wood and hauling it to folks in town.

Charlie has no explanation for his musical bent. He just learned to play the bugle at home—says he never had a lesson in his life.

1. Bed feels mighty comfortable but Charlie Hughes must be up and about his bugling. He has no alarm clock—just wakes up early by habit.

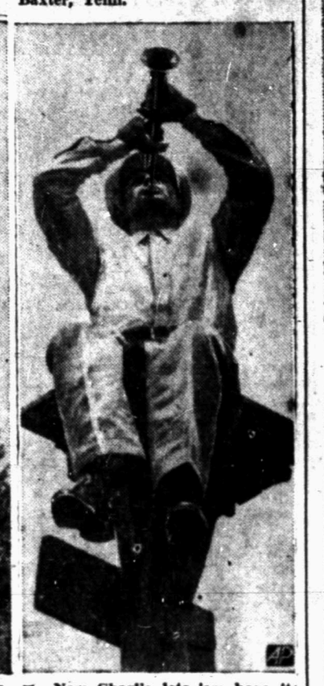

2. By sun-up—in winter it often is still dark—Charlie is out of his cabin and on his way to sound reveille for the 600 inhabitants of Baxter, Tenn.

3. No guess-work for Charlie. He checks with his watch before shattering his neighbors' slumber. In summer he toots at 5 o'clock, in winter at 6:00.

4. Up to his bugling perch he goes. To keep in practice, Charlie climbs a tree or a hill just before bedtime each evening.

5. Now Charlie lets 'em have it: "I can't get 'em up." But he does get 'em up, and has been getting 'em up for the last 13 years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sunk, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. Adv.

Base Blows Drown Punts

By Collier Parris

OH, ALL RIGHT, Elmer, if you insist. Thought maybe we'd sneak by this one without stickin' our neck out, but—well, Elmer, it looks like the Giants. On the other hand, it looks like the Yankees. The Giants, the Yanks; the Yanks the Giants; she loves me, she loves me not; Hubbell, DiMaggio, Melton, Gehrig, Gomez, Hubbell, Carl, Meeker, Okla., Giants, DiMaggio. . . . . .

To tell the truth, Elmer, twelve hours before the kick-off, the play-ball, as we tell you this, we know just as much about who's going to win the World Serious as our Cousin Maizie and Aunt Effie from Knox county, whom we have dispatched as our emissaries to the Series, and who are pictured here as they arrived at Yankee Stadium this morning. (Picture courtesy DeWitt Landis KFYO Radio-Phone-Carrier Pigeon Photo Service).

"Don't you give him a cent more, Maizie—everybody knows this is a Nickel Series."

It is now eleven hours before game time. We have just had a wire from Aunt Effie saying she is sure the Giants will win, because she overheard three "experts" agreeing on the Yankees. Her tip is good enough for us. Anyhow, the Giants have the best pitchers, each side having a total of two who are really capable of going in World Series time. The Giants' "meal ticket," aided and abetted by one Mr. Melton, should win about four games between them, which is sufficient.

The Yanks, it is true, have a fine disregard for pitchers, being somehow able to crash that apple no matter who is throwing it. When it comes to handling the hickory, the Yanks can swing it, but the melodies served up by Hubbell and his band may mean soft music for even such lusty swingsters as the McCarthy-men.

BUT WE'D RATHER give our baseball a dash of local flavor, and the opportunity presents itself with the homecoming of Samuel Filmore West, one of the better major league players who gets no closer to the World Series than the radio in his Lubbock drugstore on account of he ain't with the right team.

Why not a Cellar Series between the Browns and the Cincinnatis sometime? Then our Sammy wouldn't have to come home and go to work so soon.

Anyway, welcome home, Sam and Gracie, and a happy winter to ye.

West had a nice season at bat and afield for the Browns this season. He ended the semester's work with a batting average of .329, which is nice chopping in anybody's forest, especially in St. Louis where the hitters must face the best chunking in the league. Samuel played in 121 games, went to bat 456 times, clouted the pelota safely 150 times, including several doubles, a few triples and maybe a home run or two. He crossed the platter 67 times himself and drove in 56 more for the Browns, who didn't get a heckuvalot more than that all season.

Not a bad season at all. West already had a lifetime batting average of an even .300 over a ten-year stretch in the American League, and he added a few points this term.

Meanwhile, some of the boys around here are doing what they can to build up a bit of baseball, a plant and public interest, for Sam'l to take over when he grows too old to love the Big Time rigors.

The drugstore, incidentally, hasn't been without the West influence during Sam's absence this summer. Sam may be able to instruct young Pete West in the finer points of baseball, but it's doubtful if Sam can shove the sodas out like Pete. The latter, in case you hadn't heard, is by way of being an athlete, too. He'll "go out" for basketball at Texas Tech this winter. He has the makin's of a baseball player, too, as demonstrated in the tournament here. Won the prize for making the most putouts in the outfield. Played for Brownfield, which wound up in third place. Maybe Pete'll be out there for the Hubbers next season.

And speaking of Hubber hopes, we are informed that Pus Ballard, the veteran infielder and heavy hitsman, has settled down in Lubbock, for good, he hopes, and has promised his services for the Lubbock team next season.

You can find Ballard pursuing his out-of-season profession around at the Unique Barber-shop. So . . . . Pus deserted the Hubber ranks early this season, after making a start, but he plans to be here permanently now, due in a measure to the baseball enthusiasm of proprietors of the tonsorial parlor named.

It would be very nice if other business firms would look around their places and find a job or two that baseball players might fill. The Hubber bosses can get the players—but the players will need a bit of outside assistance.

THE WELCOME SIGN is out today, also, for our good friend Alfred Adolph Josef von Albert de LeRegardieux, the Grand Duke of Luxembourg, Dutch Mantell for short.

The Dutchman is here to add a touch of royalty to Sled Allen's "wrestle royal" at the Auditorium tonight. It should be "battle royal," because that's what it'll be when the two sailors, Watkins and Moran, and their playmates, Frank Wolff, Vic Weber, Buck Lipscomb and Tetsura Higami scramble each other in the six-man opener.

MANTELL

Mantell, who knows more about wrestling, the Bible, international politics, Shakespeare, mathematics, poetry and social security than any three men we've ever met, has passed his mat days and nights. He seldom enters the ring any more and then only to referee such a bout as tonight's. But do not mistake us. He's still as solid and hard and healthy as he was in his palmiest days, and only the fact that Sailor Moran kicked his teeth out keeps him from active participation.

It's a tough lineup, that card tonight, but not a man on it is as tough as the man who'll be in charge—and not a man on it will ever be the man Dutch Mantell is today.

Lubbock High Gridders Are Preparing For Next Tilt

Preparation for Friday night's game with Thomas A. Edison High school of San Antonio began in earnest for Lubbock High gridders yesterday.

Coach Weldon Chapman was somewhat disappointed in showing of his boys during scrimmage yesterday and warned them that they "will have to pep it up to stay in seeing distance of the San Antonio team." After their "surprising" play against Capitol Hill's heavy eleven the Westerners evidently are experiencing a let-down.

Injuries that stacked up on the squad are healing slowly but surely in most instances. Dutchy Cawthon is still unable to take much part in work-outs due to a misplaced rib.

With hopes of getting the team in its usual degree of morale, Coach Chapman will drill his gridders under the lights at Texas Tech field tonight.

Homer Peel Is Likely To Offer Resignation

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP) — Insiders say popular Homer Peel, Fort Worth manager, will tender his resignation unless some changes are made around the front office. . . . Peel, the Texas league's leading hitter, has been playing since July with a serious ailment that has slowed him down to a jog . . . He will enter a Temple sanitarium forthwith for a major operation.

Wee Jackie Reid, Fort Worth's 45-year-old hurler, may never hurl again. . . . His arm is very sore and anyway he has realized an ambition—that of playing in a Dixie series . . . He's almost certain to call it quits — Jangling cow bells, loud automobile horns and cowboys yells brought back baseball's "good old times" over at Fort Worth in the Dixie series.

Tabor Is Sensation

Lean Jim Tabor, sensational young Little Rock third sacker who made the series' choice fielding play when he made a diving stab of a hot grounder and threw out his man, is the youngster who swatted that spring training game homer off Bob Feller with the bases loaded . . . Little Rock played to 165,000 fans at home and topped that figure by 2,000 on their road trips.

Punts and passes: Husky Clyde Rogers, 220-pound Corpus Christi high tackle and kicking star, booted a 48-yard field goal recently against San Jacinto of Houston . . . It's no use scouts. Rogers is headed for Texas Christian next year . . . Bald-pated Ed Cherry, the Hardin-Simmons powerhouse, has averaged better than a first down every time he has lugged the ball to date . . . Not to mention five touchdowns he has packed across.

Hardin-Simmons will travel 7,000 miles and play five road games before they return to their Abilene ballwick Nov. 19. . . . Economically-built Ken Mills, brother of the old Aggie grid captain, Tommie, is the Aggie backfielder to watch now . . . Five weeks ago he was a third-stringer Coach Norton "wished" was on his first string because of his kicking and passing. . . . He has added all the missing links now and starred against Manhattan . . . Baylor's captain, bruising Carl Brazell, the fullback, didn't even letter as a sophomore. . . . Si Marchbanks, captain of the West Texas State Teachers college eleven, will watch his mates from the bench all season. . . . A knee injury that kept him out of action most of last year will make a non-playing captain of him again. . . .

Baylor's freshman Cubs will play three games against Lon Morris Jr. college, Texas Christian's Wogs and the Southern Methodist Colts. . . .

Proof Of His Luck On Big Hunting Trip To Be Shown In Films Thursday Night

W. G. "Bill" McMillan, local sportsman and photographer, Thursday night will show what he "shot" with his camera as proof of what he shot with his gun during a recent month-long hunting trip to Canada. Films will be shown publicly in the engineering auditorium at Texas Tech.

Accompanied by W. E. "Bill" Humphries and a corps of guides, the McMillan party traveled by train, automobile, pack train and on foot into some of the roughest country in Canada, seeking mountain sheep, goat, bear, moose, elk, deer and grouse. McMillan, while bagging some beautiful trophies, did a lot of "shooting" with his movie camera, and brought home nearly a thousand feet of fine pictures, most of them in natural color.

Showing of the picture is for the particular benefit of McMillan's friends, hunters and fishermen and other sportsmen of the locality, but the public is invited. The time is 8 o'clock.

AMBITION KILLED HER

1938 Chase Of Yanks, Jints Now Started

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Stalemated for the second year in a row by New York's pennant monopoly, 11 major league clubs have drafted 16 minor league players in preparation for the pursuit of the Yankees and Giants in 1938.

The Giants and Yankees with more important business at hand, didn't get a man at last night's draft meeting. The Boston Bees drafted three and the Phillies, Athletics and White Sox two each. The Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs took one apiece.

Some Are Veterans

Some of the players are veterans, like Ruppert Thompson, jaunty outfielder the Bees sent to San Diego with Jim Chaplin for Vince DiMaggio last spring. Thompson comes back to the White Sox with a .327 batting average and a collection of 16 home runs.

Three infielders went to the Bees: Robert Kahle of Indianapolis of the American association, Joe Walsh of Little Rock in the Southern association and Earl Maggert of Houston in the Texas league. The records show Maggert is the best hitter for 1937. He sports a .346 mark.

Others Are Drafted

Cincinnati and St. Louis Browns also got one man each. The Reds drafted Outfielder Anthony Bongiovanni from Portland in the Pacific coast league. He hit .336 with 11 home runs in 1937. George McQuinn of Newark goes to the Browns.

The Athletics took two pitchers, Nelson Potter of Columbus, American association champions, and Ralph Buxton of Oklahoma City in the Texas league. Potter won 11 games and Buxton 13 in 1937.

Other acquisitions included: Pittsburgh, Pitcher Robert Klinger, of Sacramento, Pacific coast league and Detroit, Pitcher Edward Selway, Fort Worth, Texas league.

Six Tough Customers To Enter Ring Tonight In Battle Royal

It's a battle royal for wrestling fans who gather at Sled Allen's Auditorium tonight.

Fans have often wondered what it would be like to have Sailor Moran, Sailor Watkins, Vic Weber, Frank Wolff and Buck Lipscomb in the ring at the same time. Tonight they see just that plus another, Tetsura Higami, exponent of the jui jitsu tangle.

And the time, remember, is 8 o'clock. Winter time starting time starts tonight, the curtain going up half an hour earlier than the custom followed through the "long days."

To ramrod tonight's feature, the battle royal, his nibs, Dutch Alfonso Mantell will be on hand as referee. A member of royalty himself, it is fitting that Mantell, the daddy of wrestling in these parts, should handle the heavy stick when six of his bad boys get together tonight.

It will be interesting to see who is "ganged" first in the battle royal. Perhaps it will be Buck Lipscomb, one of the most unpopular guys, with wrestlers as well as fans, ever to show here. Or maybe they'll work over Sailor Moran, who is not much more popular than Lipscomb. Or maybe the tougher boys will gang on Vic Weber, or the newcomer, a "real" Japanese wrestling artist who'll be showing some of the true jui jitsu around here before long.

Have A Battle Anyway

It really doesn't matter much who comes out of the six-man storm first, or who stays last. Any way you take 'em and match 'em, you've got a battle on your hands. Fans probably are secretly hoping that Sailor Moran and Buck Lipscomb are the survivors of the battle, so they can come back for the main event.

Patrons are advised that ringside tickets are on sale in advance at the Hotel Lubbock drugstore, and that to avoid the box office rush that is sure to be experienced tonight, they should take advantage of the pre-sale opportunity.

Tourney Field Will Be Cut

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 6. (AP)—Thirty-two aspirants to the National Women's golf title headed today into two rounds of matches from which only eight can emerge unbeaten.

Only Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J. veteran and 1936 finalist, was missing from the list of favorites who lined up for the morning matches.

She was the first round victim of Mrs. George Brantley of Jacksonville, Fla., who met the medalist, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., today.

Mrs. Page eliminated Marian Leachman of Berkeley, Calif., 3 and 2, yesterday.

Marion Miley Is Ill

There was a possibility Marion Miley, highly-rated entrant from Cincinnati, would be unable to continue competition. She defeated Virginia Fox of Hershey, Pa., 6 and 4, yesterday but entered a hospital a few hours later, suffering from a stomach ailment.

Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby, Southern champion, whose sub-par firing yesterday eliminated Mrs. Gaither Hatcher of Memphis, matched shots with long-knocking Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas.

The luck of the draw pitted two entrants today in a battle of the Jamesons—Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, and Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of Greenville, S. C.

Panthers Grab Final Battle By 9-0 Count

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6.—The Dixie series baseball pennant fluttered atop a familiar flagpole today—back in Fort Worth for the first time in seven years but for the seventh time since the classic started 17 years ago.

Almost as they pleased Fort Worth's Panthers, Texas league titlists, took an abbreviated series from Little Rock's Travelers, Southern association champions, winding up last night with a 9-0 victory that gave them a four-to-one edge in games.

Another Shutout

For the second time Ed Selway, husky young right hander who didn't find himself until late season, shut out the Travelers. It also marked a run of 39 innings in which he allowed but one earned run—and only one other unearned tally.

League officials announced 34,622 fans paid their way to see the five games, two of which were played in Little Rock. Last night's attendance fell off to 5,311.

Back in 1920 the series got off to an unofficial start when Fort Worth, Texas league winners, challenged Little Rock in a post-season series. It became an official, annual affair after that and Fort Worth, under the crafty guidance of Jakie Atz, battled in every series through 1925. They lost only once, to Mobile in 1922.

Atz Given Big Hand

A tremendous roar went up last night when Atz hobbled in on a cane and watched the Cats bring in another flag. He has given up active managerial duties.

Four shutouts were registered in the series, Little Rock blasting the Cats in the opener, 10-0; Fort Worth taking the second, 3-0; the third by a similar count; the fourth by 3-2, and last night's by 9-0.

Scout Course Is Complete

A leadership training course for the northwest district of the South Plains Boy Scout council was completed Tuesday night with a meeting in the Methodist church at Littlefield. The opening session was held Monday night, according to Earl M. McClure, executive.

A leadership training course will start tonight at Sudan for leaders at Sudan, Amherst and Muleshoe. Assisting Lyndon T. Grant, scout field executive, will be J. C. Hutchinson and H. B. Teal of Sudan.

Meeting Set Today

A meeting of the southwestern district committee will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Lamesa with W. K. Crawley, district chairman, in charge. Purpose is to discuss the sustaining membership drive and the organization of a new troop there sponsored by the Rotary club.

Leaders participating in the training schools at Littlefield and Sudan as well as leaders from Whiteface, Morton, and Levelland, will join in an over-night camp Saturday in Yellowstone Canyon.

Approximately 60 boys and their parents attended the southwestern district court of honor at Post Tuesday night. W. B. Barrett of Tahoka presided. Assisting him were G. E. Welch of Slaton, Rev. Geo. Bounds of Post, Victor Hudman of Post, George Redell of Tahoka, M. L. Penn and Clarence Lanotte, both of Post.

Boys Are Advanced

For advancement were Donald Simmons, Bryan J. Mathis, jr., and A. C. Surman of troop 16 of Post; Joe Turner, Wallace Cooper, Billy Lovelady, Herman Carruth, Charles Jobe, Maurice Middleton, and Shirley Butler, all of troop 28 of Slaton; and R. C. Hall of troop 29 at Slaton.

Troop 21 won the general attendance banner and troop 16 the mothers attendance banner. Troop 16 also won first on the court of honor ladder.

Next court of honor for that district will be held Nov. 8 at Slaton, it was announced.

vainly to stop Fort Worth in the finale, Bob Porter starting and giving way to Kola Sharpe and Lee Rogers in the late innings.

Moore's walk, Greenberg's sacrifice and McLeod's single scored the first Cat tally in the second while a hit batsman, Shelley's double and Stebbins' single brought in the fifth inning run.

Les Mallon singled home Moore after the latter opened with a triple in the sixth.

Two walks, three singles and a hit batsman accounted for four Fort Worth runs in the seventh and two singles and two errors put across the final two runs in the eighth.

At White House For Bridge

The first meeting in five years between James J. Tourists And Tramps Will Be Given Chance In Big Census

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Uncle Sam is going to give tourists and tramps, as well as stay-at-homes, an opportunity to register in his forthcoming unemployment census.

John D. Biggers, census administrator, told reporters today postmen would "try hard to reach everybody" with the registration blanks to be distributed November 16 and 17 and mailed back to local postoffices by midnight November 21.

Visit Trailer Camps

"They will visit every trailer camp, for instance," Biggers told reporters, "and leave registration forms in every trailer. They will go to shacks along the rivers and the railroads, where transients gather."

Samples of the registration blanks, made public today, bore a brief message from President Roosevelt "to every worker."

The message read:

"If you are unemployed or partly unemployed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

Important To All

"The congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest and accurate. If you give me the facts I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it."

After the cards are returned to local postoffices, they will be sorted and turned over to postmen again for checking.

"If a postman should notice five blanks from a house where he knew there was only one person out of work," Biggers explained, "he could stamp 'questionable' on all but one card. That will enable us to ascertain the margin of variation in the census."

Two Are Dead In Shooting

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Ordered by his estranged wife not to bother her at her cafe last night, Edward B. Allen, a deputy constable, 40, killed his wife, Mrs. Alice Kemper Allen, 38, scribbled a note, and then shot himself fatally.

A. B. Kemper, negro chef, told police he was standing just outside the kitchen door when Allen seated himself at a table at the rear of the place. Mrs. Allen stepped over to the table, Kemper said, and he overheard her tell Allen that she did not want him to come there any more. Kemper said he heard two shots before he had fled the place.

When Mrs. Allen fell to the floor, Allen grabbed a piece of paper and scribbled a note, then shot himself through the heart.

The note, as found by police, was almost illegible and read, "This is what love will do for man. I did not want to do it." It was unsigned.

Oil Leasing Activities Over Section Continue Briskly

Leases and assignments on a total of 1,400 acres of Lubbock county land were filed Tuesday with County Clerk Ed D. Allen, to increase to approximately 65,000 acres the area on which oil, gas and mineral rights have been conveyed since Jan. 1.

Rights were obtained, in most cases, by the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, a Texas corporation, or J. W. Champ, W. P. Soash, or W. R. Chancellor, active in the oil leasing movement in this area.

According to records filed at the clerk's office rights were transferred as follows:

George R. Bean and wife of Lubbock by lease to Soash who in turn transferred rights by assignment to M. B. Hanks on southeast quarter of section 42, block A, certificate 401, HE and WT railway company survey; J. S. Richards and wife of Lubbock county by lease to R. E. Erwin, Jr., west 120 acres of southwest section 53, block A, certificate 57; J. H. Green of Loco, Okla., by lease to Champ who assigned rights to Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company on the west half of section 74, block A; George R. Beach, trustee, to Soash who transferred rights by assignment to Chancellor and then to Texas Coal and Oil company, northwest quarter of section 44, block A, certificate 402, HE and WT company survey;

Effie Schoppa of Vernon by lease to Champ and by assignment to the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, southwest quarter of section 73, block A; Mrs. Ellen Anderson and husband of Comanche, Okla., to Champ by lease and then by assignment to Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, northeast quarter of section 64, block A; Perrin Bean and others by lease to Soash and by assignment to Chancellor and assigned again to Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, southwest quarter of section 44, block A, certificate 402, HE and WT RR company survey.

Chas. J. Wohlford obtained by mineral deed rights from Joe P. King on the northeast quarter of section 18, block D-6.

Slaton Exhibitors To Conduct Show

SLATON, Oct. 6. (Special)—Poultry fanciers of Slaton vicinity who recently formed an organization of their own have announced they will attempt to stage a poultry show in Slaton in December despite refusal of directors of the Texas Panhandle-Plains Poultry association to sponsor such an event this year.

The following officers were chosen to head the group: N. C. Dickson, president; W. T. Driver, first vice-president; Charles Splawn, second vice-president; A. J. Payne, secretary-treasurer.

A. C. Strickland, vocational agriculture teacher in the Slaton public schools, was elected general superintendent. Directors selected were: James Jernigan, B. H. Costin, C. Z. Fine, W. L. Muerer, Leo Kitten, Vic Cade, and Joe Allspaugh.

Strickland, Splawn and Payne were appointed to serve on a committee to direct bylaws and they are to make a report at the next meeting, Monday night.

The Two Types of Modern Mattresses

Spring-Air

Here is the Most Important Fact about Mattresses . . .

All Other Testimonials Are Trifling by Comparison!

There are two types of modern mattresses—Inner-spring and Outer-spring—each having advantages that can be explained to you by your dealer—without prejudice.

The right to make both types is shared by over three thousand bedding manufacturers in North America, many of whom do make the two types. Yet, of all Outer-spring mattresses in use throughout the continent, over 90% are Spring-Air!

WHY?

Because the records made by all competing spring units in this direct, out-in-the-open comparison show the unquestioned superiority of Spring-Air's guaranteed Karr Spring Unit!

Important as it is that the vital spring element in an Outer-spring mattress be right, it is even more important in the Inner-spring type where the spring unit is buried inside and hidden from inspection.

Every Spring-Air Mattress—Inner-spring or Outer-spring—contains the genuine Karr Spring Unit, fully guaranteed to you in writing. The only way to get this guarantee is to insist on buying a mattress with the Spring-Air label,—priced from $24.50 to $45.00.

LAREDO, Oct. 3. (By Mail')—In case you're at all interested, it is now easily possible to drive from Lubbock to Laredo, bustling border point and gateway to the Rio Grande Valley, in one day's daylight drive—thanks to that marvel of efficiency, the Texas Highway department.

Further than that, you can make the drive of around 535 miles, take out time for breakfast and luncheon and also waste a few minutes looking over various and sundry seaports such as Del Rio and Eagle Pass, en route.

On the way to make a more or less casual survey of the Magic Valley and later to prv around in New Orleans and other points of interest, The Plainsman and the Little Woman took occasion to stop here for a night and, incidentally, to gobble up a wild game dinner in Nuevo Laredo, just over the river. Like the rest of Texas, Laredo is going ahead, boasting an increase in population since the 1930 census and pointing proudly to several new buildings.

In addition to increased business from Mexico and the settling of some of its far-flung trade territory, Laredo has a gold mine now in the tourist business. It is not the tourist business of prohibition days, which largely was confined to great and frenzied migrations over the week-end and to conventions drawn here because of the proximity of dynamic refreshments. It is a nation-wide tourist business springing out of the completion last year of the paved highway to Mexico City. For if you're driving to the [illegible] capital—and who isn't these days?—you've gotta come [illegible] Laredo and the chances [illegible] will spend the night—and considerable dinero — on both the down and the return trip.

BUT we're getting ahead of our story.

On today's drive we have seen much of Texas; that is, a sample of much of Texas.

We have seen the sun rise over a portion of the Plains, the struggling campfires of innumerable groups of cotton pickers and the heavily laden cotton plants of portions of Lubbock, Lynn, Dawson and Howard counties.

We have seen the sky-studding oil derricks south of Big Spring, the sheen and goat herds of the San Angelo-Del Rio country and the cattle further along. And we've seen a sprinkling of palm trees, citrus groves and onion fields, as well as several outstanding towns and a number of smaller ones.

But we haven't seen anything yet in the class with Lubbock and the South Plains and we don't expect to see anything even close to that until, in a few days time, we reach Corpus Christi — another Texas wonder city—and its contributing territory.

Hands down the most interesting thing we've yet to encounter is the position of one Dr. John Brinkley in his adopted city, Del Rio, beautiful, placid capital of Val Verde county.

The Plainsman knows full well that there are only two opinions ever given of Doc Brinkley and that everyone holds one or the other opinion. But without attempting to say whether Brinkley is what his friends say he is—or what his enemies say he is—we'll say this about him:

He means more in a business way to Del Rio than any other one man means to any other one city we've ever heard of, including what Jesse Jones means to Houston.

* * *

CALL him a quack if you like. Call him a great surgeon, with a wonderful secret method of alleviating a trouble peculiar to men past their prime if you like. The Plainsman doesn't care.

But ask anybody in Del Rio from a neat, pert waitress in the town's best beanery to the leading citizen and you'll get the same answer:

"Doc brings a lot of people here and they all spend money. He's the biggest one thing we've got—or ever hope to have!"

"Goat Glander," or not, John Brinkley has taken over three floors in the beautifully appointed and very spacious Roswell hotel for his offices, operating rooms and patients' rooms.

There are only two other floors outside the ground one and they are kept fairly full of kinfolks who come down with Doc's patients. Why even the ten-foot flying fish mounted in the hotel lobby was caught by the Doc Brinkley off the fine yacht he usually keeps tied up at Galveston and to which he sometimes goes via his airplane!

Just outside Del Rio, halfway down the beautiful, meandering four-mile pike which connects that city with its Mexican neighbor, Villa Acuna, is located a palace set in the middle of an estate the equal of which The Plainsman has yet to see in Texas. In large letters on the three gates are incribed the three gates are inscribed the among stately palms, all sorts of cultivated shrubbery and flanked by hot houses and all the trimmings lives a man who has been called both mountebank and wizard.

The whole picture is astounding.

BUT enough of John Brinkley. The Plainsman knows nothing about the man, cares less and certainly is not drumming up trade for him in the face of opposing testimony which has come from the best medical men we know.

His position in Del Rio, however, is unique, to say the least, and in comparison with his business, the cow and sheep businesses and the Bar-B-Q racket—which apparently is thriving there—run him a bad second and third!

Just a word to the nimrods of the home country:

The Plainsman doesn't know anything about the dove and quail hunting laws—and who does since the big shakeup? — but the country from San Angelo to Laredo is full of both types of birds.

Especially from Eagle Pass on are the highways literally cluttered up with quail and there are actually thousands of doves in the country.

CHOP SUEY: We saw an armadillo—first in some years — waddling across Highway 9 between Big Spring and Sterling City. . . . Modernistic signs struggle with the staid and ancient border influence in all the towns along the Rio Grande. . . . Eagle Pass seems to have more vacant business buildings than the average Texas community of this day and time. . . . But the big irrigation project there, on which George Field, Lubbock engineer, has been the big shot for several months, is a whale of an affair. . . . There's practically no traffic after the traveler leaves San Angelo and one frequently drives for many miles without seeing a single soul. . . . Page Garbo! This is a country where she can be alone!

Don't be surprised at anything that happens. . . . A black cat—the blackest you ever saw—scooted across in front of us near Asherton and then crouched at the side of the road grinning balefully as we zipped by. . . . You hear much more Spanish talked in Laredo than English, which isn't surprising since about 60 per cent of the town's 34,000 souls are Mexican and practically all of the 30,000 across the river are, too. . . . Nuevo Laredo is one of the few Mexican cities which has erected no statue of Benito Juarez, "George Washington" of the neighboring republic. . . . The boys haven't failed altogether, however. . . .They've named a plaza for him! And, by the way, it wouldn't hurt us to copy some of that intense patriotism and more often honor our real Americans, past and present.

BLESS courageous little Carrizo Springs—population, 2171 — for its spunk. . . . It has a woman's club building situated in a nicely kept plot of ground which greets the visitor as he comes in from the north. . . . Catarina is a village so small that its population isn't mentioned on the road maps and apparently it is a town which has been or is being promoted by land salesmen. . . . But it does have a mile long boulevard with beautifully kept palm trees and handsome light standards down the middle! It's located between Laredo and Carrizo Springs in Dimmit county. . . . The Plainsman is taking off for Brownsville tomorrow and a several days first hand view of the Rio Grande Valley—the most serious competitor the South Plains has from a standpoint of agricultural supremacy and future growth and expansion. . . . We'll be seein' yuh!

Yesterday: Bob's suspicions are aroused when he meets Professor Bracey. He feels he has seen the fellow before.

CHAPTER V

The next Sunday Pat came tramping down the stairs, muttering under his breath. The Duchess was giving a cocktail party in her studio that afternoon and he had shifted every piece of furniture she owned not once but several times.

"Faith, and it's too auld I'm gittin' to be at the beck and call o' sich a woman," he told Schmatz as he went to open the outside door for him. "With all thim fool artists runnin' wild up there, spillin' stuff on the rugs, and shaking ashes over the whole place, I'll be cleanin' a week after. Why has she got to pull this party down here whin she's got a place to live in uptown?" But Schmatz only blinked his bright black eyes and looked expectantly at the door, then scampered out into the yard. "Anyway it's glad I am Miss Kathy ain't mixin' with thim folks." Pat shut the door. "Her and Bob McTavish maybe'll—"

Kathleen's door opening just then put an end to his speculations. "Good morning, Pat, going to be a nice day, isn't it?" she said. Then she added with an excited gleam in her eyes, "I'm awfully glad, because I'm actually going to a party. The Duchess asked me. Wasn't that nice of her? The first real party I will have attended since I came."

For a minute the little Irishman's ready tongue seemed tied and absentmindedly he tamped down the lighted tobacco in his pipe. Rubbing his burned finger on his pants, he began, "Now, Miss Kathy, ye ain't lost a thing up there. Mr. McTavish ain't goin' and—"

"But he is, Pat. She invited him too. Told him to bring Schmatz. She said her friends would love him because they aren't a bit formal or stiff."

"Right she is," Pat retorted. "It's me will be stiff now, sweepin' out after they get through. Better think agin, Miss Kathy, before you go talkin' up with thim artists."

Kathleen looked at him with a smile. "Pat, did you ever try to make rhymes all day long? Well, if you did, you'd be glad of something to break the monotony, too."

Pat couldn't think of any more arguments, so sent a sudden puff of smoke up from his pipe as though expressing his opinion of all artists and their goings-on.

But Kathleen did not let Pat's ideas about the party worry her. She was too much excited at the prospect. Thrilling new people, in interesting surroundings, and Bob among the guests, were quite enough to give her eyes an eager brightness and make her glow with anticipation as she put on her prettiest dress.

The Duchess' big studio was well filled with people when Kathleen timidly knocked at the door. Immediately she was swept into a gay laughing group, as the Duchess told them here was one of her dear little friends from a studio downstairs. A tall glass was thrust into her hands, and almost at once she found herself sitting on a love seat between the dark mysterious-looking Professor Bracey, and a pale, anemic-looking poet, who called her "darling" because the Duchess had failed to mention her name.

The room was extremely warm and close, and the women wore any sort of garb, from slacks and barefoot sandals to diaphanous evening gowns. To Kathleen's unaccustomed eyes they seemed startling to say the least.

She found herself agreeing with the janitor's opinion of the Duchess' guests, as she listened to the loud laughter and some of the remarks. A far cry from the dull jokes of Joe Williams and the staid Gloversville parties. What would Aunt Hattie think if she could see her now? She tried to focus her attention on what Professor Bracey was saying. His heavy-lidded black eyes had a strange piercing light in them that made her vaguely uneasy.

"I haven't seen you here before, my dear," he was saying in a purring voice.

"No," she answered. "You see I haven't known our hostess so very long. I don't go out much. It was so nice of her to ask me today."

He turned so he could look directly at her. "Not at all—not at all. The Duchess is always looking for new sensations, and you must be a very new one to her. You can see for yourself you're totally different from the others here. You have youth and beauty. You're like a lotus bud on a quiet lake, a high priestess of the Nile."

Kathleen jumped to her feet. She had just caught sight of Bob coming in, Schmatz at his heels. Murmuring something about seeing a friend, she made her way to them, glad to escape the professor and his outlandish comparisons.

"Hello there!" he cried as he took her hand. "I'm surely glad you're here. I was hoping you'd come. Let's find some place where we can sit down."

The Duchess came rushing up and took Bob's arm. "I do want you to see my latest picture," she told him. "It's over here." She did not include Kathleen, as she drew him away toward a secluded corner.

"But Miss O'Shan," Bob began.

"Oh, she'll find plenty of people to visit," said his hostess.

"I'll be back in a minute," Bob called over his shoulder, not knowing that he would not have a chance to talk to Kathleen for the rest of the afternoon.

"See, there it is. It's called 'Dream of Youth'." The Duchess pointed to a canvas. "I'm going to exhibit it in the spring. How is it for color, for feeling, for mood? See, I'll set it here on the floor, against the wall. Close your eyes a little when you look at it."

Bob lifted Schmatz in his arms and obediently stared at the conglomeration of flashing lines and chaotic angles. Finally he turned with a little laugh. "It's all right,

NOT CATASTROPHIC

Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese scholar, sojourning in San Francisco, has exposed the "military weaknesses of Japan." Dr. Hu sees the principal Japanese weakness in the fact that the invading power has "failed miserably" in the use of air power. The Chinese scholar contends that the bombing of Shanghai, Nanking and other cities has accomplished little in a military sense.

Here is how Dr. Hu puts it:

"All military strategists have long agreed that the opening move in the next world war must be a smashing, telling blow delivered from the air. Such has not been delivered against us. China has little concentration of force. She is neither centralized nor highly industrialized. Therefore, the bombings are unpleasant and unfortunate but not catastrophic."

So all the devastation dealt by Japanese air bombers is "unpleasant and unfortunate but not catastrophic." Dr. Hu seems to have something there—even if it only is some sort of championship as an optimist.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6—The days when young daredevils like Dick Grace were hired to crash airplanes for the movies are over. The studios fake the crashes now—and it's lots of fun to watch them do it.

Over at RKO, where Wheeler and Woolsey are making "High Flyers," the Special Camera Effects Department is busy with one of these crashes. Such sets are usually closed to visitors—the studios don't want it emphasized that the crashes aren't the McCoy—but your correspondent strolled over as if he belonged there and nobody said anything.

The set, representing a large park, was about 15 feet square. It contained trees, shrubs, hedges and so on, tiny but remarkably realistic; only on close examination could you see that they were all cut from scrub cedar. The smooth and velvety lawn, similarly inspected, proved to be granite sand, dyed green. Look at it through the camera finder and it looks absolutely authentic.

The plane that was to crash in this Lilliputian park was a model of Sikorsky amphibian, built to a one-inch scale. Three men from the art department spent three days measuring the real plane, so that they'd get everything exactly right. After they had it all done, they discovered that for $1.50 they could have bought a book giving exact specifications for every type plane ever built. Anyway it was a lovely model, with a 52-inch wing spread.

Bang-bang!

At a signal from the cameraman the plane came sliding down a wire. Just as it reached the middle of the stage it exploded, for no apparent reason, breaking the wings and throwing off the engine.

That was a miss-cue. A twig sticking up from one of the midget trees had set off the bombs which shouldn't have exploded until the ship hit the ground. There were three bombs in the plane, one in the nose and one in each wing. They were connected by wires to a small storage battery which was to set them off when the nose of the ship struck, exploding the fabric on the hinged wings of the plane and causing them to fold down, and at the same time causing a cloud of smoke.

After that first premature explosion, the destruction of the model plane looked complete, but within half an hour the men had drawn the hinged wings back into position, glued the fabric, and painted and lettered it so that the plane looked as good as new.

This time the cameraman called for a little more dust and asked a man to stand by with a fire extinguisher in case the explosion should ignite the trees.

"Okay, the plane's hot," shouted the electrician, meaning that the battery was connected and the trigger set. Again the cameroman yelled, "Let 'er go," and again the plane shot down the wire and crashed with a loud explosion, causing a great cloud of dust to envelop the set.

"Too much dust, I couldn't see the plane," shouted the cameraman. "We'll have to do it again."

All this was done with an old-fashioned silent camera, so the scunds which accompany a plane crash will have to be secured from the studio sound library and "dubbed in." But that's another story.

A Rabbit Fancier

Movie people can be interested in the strangest things. Helen Jepson, when not straining her vocal cords over Carmen and Aida, likes to raise show rabbits.

Not being well known to the movie fans of Hollywood, Miss Jepson can go practically anywhere without being recognized. Visiting the California Fair, she escaped attention until she reached the rabbit exhibit, where she was recognized and greeted warmly by fellow rabbit raisers.

Her rabbits are being shown throughout New York state, and she already has several blue ribbons.

Moving on to the goat exhibit, she was again greeted warmly, for she's also interested in prize goats. One of the goats—a prize Toggenberg—became so familiar that he reached over and bit off a lock of her hair. But he didn't ask for an autograph.

Speaking of hair and the way they do things in Hollywood—Andrea Leeds, who plays the feminine lead in "Goldwyn Follies," has naturally curly hair from which makeup artists are now trying to remove the wave, fortunately with only moderate success.

What won't those movie people think of next?

On the "Every Day's a Holiday" set all the stand-ins have been given nicknames. Mae West's stand-in is Miss East, Edmund Loew's is Mr. High, Walter Catlett's is Mr. Doglett, Charles Butterworth's is Mr. Buttermilk, and Roger Imhof's is Mr. Yourof. Catch on?

Custom Of Waging War And Not Declaring It An Old One And United States Guilty Too

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—The current widespread practice of waging war without declaring war is actually just an old-fashioned custom. The United States is still technically engaged in one such war, insofar as any treaty of peace or formal ending is concerned.

Dutcher

In July, 1816, U. S. troops invaded what was then the Spanish territory of Florida and blew up an old fort, killing 270 Indians and negroes with what would appear to have been as effective ferocity as lately has been demonstrated in China and Spain.

Later the Seminolt Indians managed to massacre a band of about 40 white men and women and you had the First Seminole war, with Andrew Jackson and his troops burning and killing through the Seminole country until a treaty was signed in 1818.

Second War Costly

The Second Seminole war, according to records here, was caused by refusal of the Indians to give up land guaranteed them by the treaty. It blazed up in 1835 and in six years 1500 U. S. soldiers were killed and $20,000,000 spent to annihilate Seminoles.

The army hunted the Indians with bloodhounds and violated flags of truce. Osceola died in prison and most tribal leaders were dragged out of the swamps, but there were always enough tribesmen left to resist and about 600 Seminoles are on a reservation in the Everglades there today. Some of the survivors, it's believed at the Indian Bureau here, never saw a white man. No treaty of peace was ever signed.

Some civilization has penetrated the swamps to the Seminoles, but old men still pass on stories of the white man's many broken promises. The Indians stopped raising cows some time ago, they say, because white men stole them.

An Indian Bureau agent recently penetrated the reservation to do various kinds of good for the Seminoles and had a hard time batting down rumors that he was there to take down names in a program of putting them all in a stockade and selling them into slavery. At last reports some of the more remote Seminoles were going to be shown their first movie by the bureau agent. The unsigned treaty of peace probably will go unsigned.

Mexico Invites Colonists

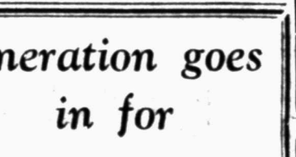

There are 1700 other Seminoles over in Oklahoma and a few of them are well off because of oil discoveries. Lately there has been some stir among them because it appears that President Cardenas has invited them to come to Mexico and settle there.

Some of the facts aren't any too clear, but it all dates back to the late 1840's when the forebears of these Seminoles went down, by invitation, to help the Mexican government of that day fight the Apaches. They received a promise that there would be land for them whenever they wanted to come and settle.

Recently a delegation of eight traveled to see President Cardenas. He is understood to have told them to go back and bring the rest of the 1700 to move into some fine ranch property—which turns out to be the subject of litigation by a San Antonio, Tex., family which claims it.

Just why Cardenas wants these Indians isn't clear. Perhaps because he only has about 8,000,000 Indians in his own country. Anyway, the Indian Bureau says the Oklahoma Seminoles, like the Florida Seminoles, don't want to move.

For distances of more than 200 miles, American and Canadian trains hold the speed records.

FDR's Address Hailed Abroad

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt's address in Chicago indicting aggressor nations was hailed in foreign countries last night as an important contribution to world peace.

British officials termed it "very significant" and in London it was regarded as certain that cabinet ministers in an important session Wednesday would discuss it at length.

To Reinforce Demand

Sources close to the British government said the American executive's speech tended to reinforce the British and French demand, at present in the hands of Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, for removal of foreign volunteers from Spain's civil war.

Comment in foreign capitals was restricted largely to general terms pending receipt by officials of the text of the address.

In Geneva, League of Nations' statesmen regarded the league's condemnation of Japan for the Sino-Japanese conflict as made especially forceful by President Roosevelt's declaration.

League circles interpreted the president's speech as indirect support of league action in the Far Eastern conflict.

In Paris, a foreign office spokesman characterized it as marking the "real entry of the great moral force of the United States" into the world's troubled affairs."

Loath To Comment

Officials in Berlin were loath to comment pending receipt of the full text but there was a tendency to assume the president referred principally to the Far Eastern situation.

In Rome, the peace motif in the president's address was emphasized. Italian officials called attention to Premier Mussolini's recent speech in Berlin in which he expressed belief peace would result from his meeting with Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Italy's willingness to further negotiations with Britain to settle differences between them, Italian observers pointed out, was a good indication that Italy does not want war.

Hailed In Buenos Aires

Authoritative sources in Buenos Aires, Argentina, hailed the president's words as backing for concerted action to preserve peace in the world.

Newspapers prominently displayed accounts of the speech.

In Berlin, reports of the speech were published in early Wednesday editions of the Berliner Lokalanzeiger and the Berliner Tageblatt but removed in later editions.

Points To Break

The Lokalanzeiger in its first edition said that the address in Chicago "points toward a break in America's present foreign policy."

"Roosevelt, especially during the last years, has enlivened the old thesis of the Monroe doctrine and given it the sense of a policy of isolation which sought to keep the American continent out of world conflicts.

"Now Roosevelt seems to have realized international anarchy would not halt before the doors of the United States."

Interpreting the president as referring to "Bolshevism," the Berlinger Tageblatt commented that it would be "welcomed here if the United States also would throw its full weight against trouble-makers in the world."

Guinea Pigs

ing a sufficient number of the pigs to be used for Wasserman tests required of food handlers. Nearly all were shipped in at a net cost of 1 each, and sometimes they were difficult to secure.

Then Luke Burdrant, city hall custodian, was given the additional job of head of the guinea pig maternity ward. The raising of guinea pigs had been tried before without success, but Bundrant got results. The city hasn't bought a single guinea pig in nearly six months, all laboratory requirements have been met and he now has more than 60 on hand. They aren't for sale, however, because the winter mortality rate is so high there is doubt as to whether the present supply will be sufficient until spring.

Warning On Enforcement Of City Ordinance Is Given

Cecil Casey, fire marshal, Tuesday issued sound warning that the ordinance passed by the City commission regulating gas piping, appliances, fixtures and apparatus in all buildings and structures would be enforced to the limit.

He reminded that this ordinance should be remembered when heating equipment for the winter is installed. It was explained that the ordinance applied to buildings in the fine limits.

In sounding the warning he quoted the ordinance: "In the fire limits no metal or rubber tubing will be permitted; all gas using appliances shall be connected up solid. Outside the fire limits the use of metal or rubber tubing will be permitted, provided no cut off is used between the appliance and the tubing except no metal or rubber tubing will be permitted in connecting appliances for cooking purposes or connecting water heaters."

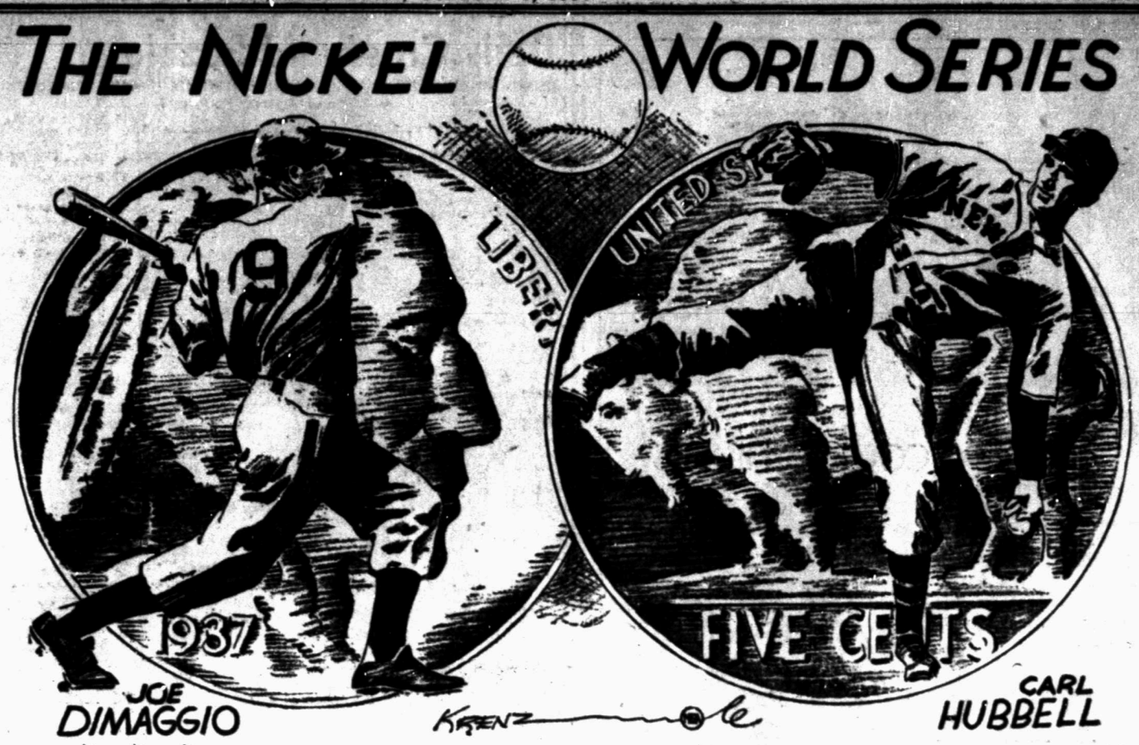

He pointed out the need for acquainting the public with the ordinance before installation of the stoves and heating appliances this fall.

DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, George Selkirk and the other mighty men for long—not for seven games, anyhow.

There's no use in trotting out columns of comparative figures against that brand of reasoning. For the Giants' supporters, it's simply a case of holding their breaths every time Hubbell or Melton or Hal Schumacher winds up. If they can puzzle the latest edition of "murderers' row," the Giants, naturally, have an excellent chance of winning. If they can't it's just too bad.

Nazi Warning

of people being denied such happiness, you have the Chinese maxim: 'when things are unbalanced the noise of friction arises.'"

The two capitals, Madrid and Nanking, that are fighting enemies on opposite sides of the world viewed the president's words as thrgats to their foes.

The socialist newspapers of Valencia, seat of the Spanish government, rang with praise for "this mighty opinion" and rejoiced at the weight they expected it would carry in Geneva.

Spread On Front Pages

Mr. Roosevelt's entire speech was spread on the front pages of Madrid newspapers without comment but with the headlines, "Americans want peace: Roosevelt energetically condemns policy of invasion and fascist blackmail;" "Roosevelt accuses provocative nations."

In Nanking a spokesman for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government declared the speech was "gratifying to China as evidence that America is emerging from Isolationism and neutrality."

"Especially welcome," he said, "is Mr. Roosevelt's implied condemnation of Japan when he said 'without warning or justification civilians are being ruthlessly murdered.'

"We understand why the United States desires to avoid this (Sino-Japanese) war but isolationism is not the way. China agrees with the president's statement that peace-loving nations must strive in concert to halt treaty violafors.

"But this must be done before it is too late. China hopes American public opinion soon will crystalize in some definite form, such as the enforcement of sanctions."

Legislature

November 15 has been mentioned as the likely date for a special session, should the president decide to call one. In order to give members of congress — some of whom are scattered from Europe to Hawaii — time to assemble, he would have to issue his call within a few days.

Crop Control Big Issue

The primary purpose of a special session would be to act on crop control legislation, which the president told an audience at Grand Forks, N. D., "ought to be passed at the earliest possible moment."

In his western speeches, the chief executive not only talked about crop control legislation, but also urged enactment of a wage-hour law. If he calls a special session, he undoubtedly will stress that almost equally with farm legislation.

Officials further explained that any margin must be used for the benefit of future fairs, but it is entirely too early to give thought to what might be done for that next year. The conditions prevailing the few months before it is held will determine whether permanent improvements can be made.

Crosbyton's Garden Club Is Working On Flower Project

CROSBYTON, Oct. 6, (Special)—The Crosbyton Garden club is sponsoring the collection of flower seed to be planted in the Silver Falls Park in Blanco Canyon. Lyle Paschall, park employe, asks all who have surplus flower seed of any kind to save them for planting in the canyon. Now is the best time to plant larkspur, hollyhawks, poppy, drumondi phlox, blue bonnets and other early blooming flowers.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 5 points down under mild liquidation, hedge selling, more favorable weather in the belt and a bearish private crop estimate.

Oct. opened at 8.24, Dec. 8.20; Jan. 8.08, March 8.06, May 8.09, July 8.12 and Oct (new) at 8.25.

Additional offerings were encountered and most positions slipped off to new lows for the season. Towards the end of the first half hour the general market was selling 2 to 8 points net lower.

At the same time a number of department stores, handling wide lines of merchandise, have employed special floor walkers to watch for possible thieves who attempt to steal merchandise. One store, it was said, had five such employed last Saturday.

House Backs Cathey In Nepotism Drive

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Rep. Ben F. Cathey of Quitman, arch foe of nepotism, thinks governmental expenses could be reduced by weeding from payrolls the relatives of legislators.

The house backed up his argument today to the extent of passing a resolution asking Governor James V. Allred to submit an "anti-kinfolks" rider to department appropriations. Senate concurrence was needed to make the resolution effective.

"We can't abolish useless bureaus, consolidate others and reduce appropriations to the remainder as long as they have relatives of legislators on their payrolls," he said.

Specifically, he charged, L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education and the liquor board, both "under fire" of some legislators had given jobs to wives and other relatives.

Demonstrations At Schools To Feature Fire Prevention

Demonstrations at schools and completion of downtown inspections by members of the fire department and a radio monologue over station KFYO by Edgar Yarbrough, high school student, at 7 o'clock tonight were features of today's observance here of fire prevention week.

Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, in an interview over KFYO last night, warned that at least 90 per cent of all fires are due to causes which ordinary precaution would remove.

Posters drawn by Junior High school pupils in a contest sponsored by Lubbock Insurance exchange were placed on display in downtown show windows Tuesday, to remain through Saturday.

These posters are on display in the following store windows: Hub Clothiers, G. R. Kinney Shoe Co., Citizens' National bank, Levines, Read and Bondurant, Guy McAfee, Inc., Montgomery and Ward, Freed's, Stephens, Watson Furniture Co., and J. C. Penney.

Call Goes Out For GOP Convention

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A call went out today for the Republican national committee to meet in Chicago November 5 to consider holding a mid-term national convention before the 1938 congressional elections.

The notice was issued from headquarters here as reports indicated former President Hoover in conferences with party leaders was gaining support for the proposal which he and others have advanced as a means of solidifying opposition to the Roosevelt administration.

After a conference in Chicago yesterday with Col. Frank Knox, 1936 vice presidential nominee, Hoover announced they had agreed on creation of a committee to "formulate a draft of fundamental principles to be submitted to a general conference of party leaders sometime in the spring."

Hoover conferred on Sunday with Alf M. Landon, 1936 presidential nominee, and former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. Subsequently Lowden announced they found they were "in agreement on every problem, both of the country and the party."

Domestic Allotment Plan Given Endorsement In Farm Session

MUNDAY, Oct. 6 (AP)—The domestic allotment plan was endorsed as federal farm legislation at a meeting here today of the executive committee of the farmers educational and cooperative unions of Texas.

Peter Loran of Rhineland, president of the organization, said the committee urged a minimum cotton price of 20 cents per pound and a wheat price of $1.50 per bushel.

J. E. McDonald, state agricultural commissioner, addressed the group, recommending the allotment plan.

Ralph W. Moore of Granger, president of the Texas State Grange, announced that his organization had endorsed the plan.

Love Gets A Lift

I guess, dear lady. You see my work doesn't make me exactly appreciate all this. Hey, what's the matter?" The terrier had given a low growl. "You must excuse the pup if he says he isn't used to this kind of art either."

"It isn't your picture, Duchess, but it's me the pesky little brute doesn't like," said Professor Bracey behind them. "Why do some people have to drag their snapping canines along with them everywhere they go?"

"Meaning just what, Professor?" Bob asked, jerking around and looking him squarely in the eye. His tone held a challenge.

Professor Bracey's thin lips showed a mirthless smile. "Oh, nothing of course, McTavish. Only it isn't safe to have dogs near such works of art, such lovely women. Who knows what minute he may take a notion to bite something."

The Duchess shrugged. "Now stop grouching about the dog and go on and tell Mr. McTavish about your old Egypt, if you must break up our tete-a-tete this way. I'll discuss—well, art, perhaps, with you some other time, Bob dear." She pouted up at him coquetishly and with a toss of her head walked away.

For a moment the two men eyed each other as though they were measuring swords, then Professor Bracey's glance fell, and Bob asked perfunctorily:

"You have been to Egypt then?"

"I am an Egyptologist," the professor answered, then added in a bored tone. "An authority, some people are kind enough to think."

Bob's eyes brightened with interest. "Then you must be interested in Dr. Gabra's work at Hermopolis?"

"It was fair," replied the professor evasively.

Bob looked at him in amazement.

"You've been there yourself?" Bracey asked.

"Yes, I've always been hept up about the work Peyron, Schwartz, and some of those men have done, so got a job with an expedition so I could go take a look-see myself. We worked near the Temple of Set. Uncovered an exceptional electrum scarab of the eighth and ninth dynasties, and a gold seal amulet of button form, very rare."

"Um," answered the professor. He glanced out over the room. "Sometime we must have a talk about it, though I don't usually discuss my work with amateurs. They can't appreciate it." He strolled away.

Bob looked after him with a sarcastic grin. "Says you! Schmatz, that guy didn't even know wha I was talking about, and I'll bet m last dollar on it. He wasn't sur whether on electrum scarab was pyramid or a buried temple. Bu if he's not a professor, what is he?

Texas Tech Band Leaves For Festival Scheduled At Altus

Three chartered buses left with 80 members of the Texas Technological college band and Director D. O. Wiley this morning for Altus, Okla., where the group will be featured at the band festival for southern Oklahoma and northern Texas high school bands.

The Tech band will present a concert at 8 o'clock tonight and one at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. It will return to Lubbock Thursday night.

Members of the "A" band are making the trip, said Wiley. The Tech band this year has more than 140 members, more than it ever before has had.

The best material used in making semi-transparent pipe stems is amber, the petrified sap of prehistoric pine trees found on the shores of the Baltic sea.

Ends Aching Sore Muscles

For longer lasting, quicker relief, use Ballard's Snow Liniment which contains active ingredients to give a more than local action, thus bringing a surge of warmed blood to scatter congestion and more quickly soothe away the pain from aching muscles, sprains, strains, backache and lumbago. Do You Know?

That poor lighting is one of the causes of near-sightedness.

That good lighting aids defective vision even more than it does normal eyes.

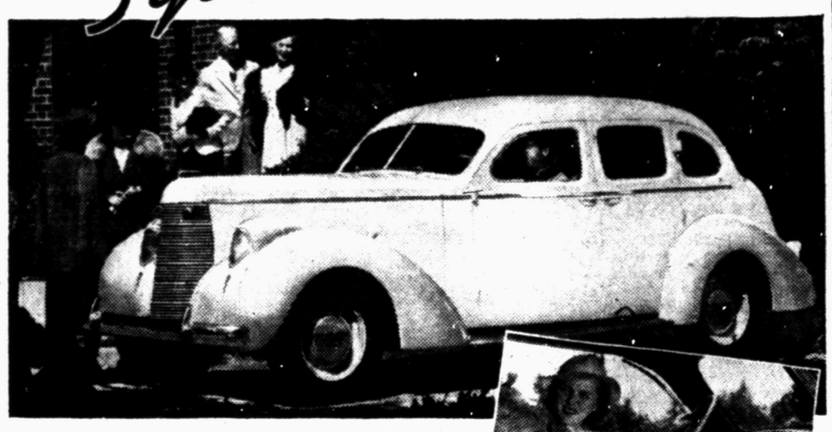

That sufficient light acts as a "magnifier." Read this paper under a brighter light and see how much larger the type appears to be.

That your eyes demand proper lighting. Be fair with the eyes of you and your family and give them an I. E. S. lamp.
