PEACE AT PANMUNJOM

These drivers absorb a little sunshine on the hoods of their jeeps as they wait for delegates to the peace talks to end the session at Panmunjom, North Korea. Part of the tent city where negotiators are still snarled over terms of an armistice can be seen at left. The drivers are, left to right: Pfc. Laurice Brake, Sparta, Ga.; Pfc. Theodore Kornfeld, St. Louis, Mo.; and Pfc. Don M. Corey, Barbourville, Ky.

Truce Talkers Almost Agree On Entry Ports

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Allied spokesmen reported truce negotiations neared agreement today on the 10 ports of entry to be used during a Korean armistice.

United Nations negotiators proposed a compromise. The Communists promised to think it over. At the end of their 53-minute discussion, Col. Andrew J. Kinney said: "It appears that we are in agreement on the better part of the ports question."

Another group of staff officers met for only a few minutes because neither side could answer a series of questions asked previously by the other concerning exchange of prisoners.

Unverified rumors circulated around the truce village of Panmunjom that some new step was in the making to break the long deadlock over prisoners.

Communists newsmen, who often reflect the view of Red delegates, talked of a truce agreement in three or four weeks.

Three major disagreements stand in the way of an armistice. There has been no indication a solution was near on any. The key disputes:

1. Voluntary repatriation of prisoners as demanded by the Allies versus forced repatriation demanded by the Reds.

2. The question of whether Communists should be allowed to repair their damaged airfields during a truce.

3. Communist insistence on Soviet Russia as a neutral nation to supervise an armistice and U. N. refusal to consider it.

These neutrals would check on the flow of men and materials coming into Korea as replacements through the 10 ports of entry—five on each side.

Negotiators agreed yesterday on selection of three ports for each side. The U.N. compromise today was designed to eliminate dispute over selection of two others for each side.

Under the new Allied proposal the North Korean capital of Pyongyang with its airdromes would be incorporated with its port city of Chinnampo as a single Red entry port. Communists have objected to Pyongyang, asking for the more northerly town of Sinanju instead.

The plan would also designate the Hungnam-Hamhung area on the East Coast as a single port.

In South Korea the U.N. proposed Seoul with its nearby airfields be designated as a single point with its port city of Inchon. The Allies originally asked for Seoul and the Reds counter-proposed Inchon.

The Allied compromise plan insisted on the Southeast airdrome city of Taegu as an aerial entry point. The Reds want to substitute Suwon, in West Korea 20 miles south of Seoul.

"We are pretty close with regard to Inchon," said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official spokesman for the U.N. Command.

Last Minute Rush For GIs Wanting To Marry Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—Hundreds of American servicemen married Japanese girls today—just in time to beat the deadline for taking their petite brides home to the United States.

James B. Pilcher, U. S. consul general, estimated the last-day rush of civil ceremonies at six consular offices increased the number of servicemen legally married to Japanese to about 8,000.

An accurate count will not be available for days.

Servicemen had to be married by 2 p. m. today (midnight Tuesday, EST) to benefit from a law which enables them to take their Oriental brides to the U. S.

A few didn't make it.

Chizuko Fukimoto, a nicely dressed plain looking woman, waited at the front door of the Tokyo consulate until 2:15 p. m. for her sweetheart to arrive from Korea. He never got there.

Ninety-five soldiers, sailors and marines were married today at the Tokyo consulate. Similar numbers stood beside their fiancees at consular offices in Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe, Fukuoka and Sapporo and said, "I do" to this question:

"Do you solemnly swear that according to the laws of your state you are of legal marriageable age and there is no hindrance, legal or otherwise, to your uniting in marriage with this girl?"

That's all there was.

Some of the couples planned religious ceremonies later, but most did not.

Most of the bridegrooms were based in Japan. Some were on leave from Korea. A few came on furloughs from the U. S.

Air Force Cpl John W. Amerson of Olympia, Wash., and Teruko Maeoka were the last couple married at the Tokyo consulate.

Many of the couples brought children. Some were born out of wedlock but most were born with the benefit of a Japanese marriage ceremony.

"I have to register my baby here," Air Force Sgt. George Miller of Cincinnati, told a State Department clerk after his marriage to a pretty Japanese. "He isn't even registered with the Japanese government, yet. He's three months old. He could just get lost and nobody would know it.

"While we were getting married—down there at the other counter—I had to stop and change his pants."

No Contests In City Race

One man who was a candidate for city council in the only contested race in the April 1 city general election requested that his name be removed from the ballot yesterday, Mrs. Clara Jones, city secretary, said.

He is F. A. Karr, highway department employe, who had announced as a candidate for councilman for ward No. 1, North Snyder.

In a brief letter to Mrs. Jones, Karr said: "To whom it may concern:

"Would you please remove my name from the ballot for the city election of April 1." It was signed F. A. Karr.

With Karr's name removed from the ballot that leaves no contests for any of the five city offices to be filled in the election.

Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, dentist, was the only other candidate for the post which Karr was seeking.

Karr came to Snyder about four years ago. He was transfered here by the Texas Highway Department for which he has been employed a number of years. He moved here from Haskell.

TOKYO, March 19 (AP) — Government tax offices have been the targets of direct action in past few days.

Three Japanese tax offices were hit by home-made fire bombs.

Troops Head For Texas War

SHAW AIR FORCE BASE, S. C. March 19 (AP) — Combat-equipped troops of the 31st (Dixie) Infantry Division climbed into troop carrier planes early today, bound for war games in Texas.

The Air Force described the 1,000 mile air lift of 8,750 men and heavy equipment as the largest ever attempted.

The troops originally were scheduled to leave yesterday but bad weather forced a delay.

About five hours after leaving in pre-dawn darkness, the huge C-124 Globemaster and C-46 carrier planes were to land at Temple, Texas. Plans call for the lift to be completed Monday in ample time for the war games, dubbed "Exercise Long Horn," which begin March 25.

Divisional units totaling 4,000 men already have moved to Texas by motor transport. The 18th Air Force will move an entire regimental combat team during the air lift. The combat team is composed of an infantry regiment, a field artillery battalion and attached units. Except for tanks and heavy anti-aircraft weapons, all equipment will be airborne.

Farmer Won't Pay Fine For Over-Planting

CUERO, March 19 (AP)—A defiant DeWitt County tenant farmer, Johnnie Janssen, today said he was flatly refusing to pay a $1,207.76 penalty assessed by the Production Marketing Assn. for alleged over-planting of cotton in 1951.

He said it was a violation of his "constitutional" rights.

Janssen told the U. S. district attorney he could send a marshal to seize the cotton, now stored on Janssen's father's farm, if he wanted, but Janssen did not intend to pay the penalty.

"Almost two years after the penalty was levied on me by the PMA of Cuero," Janssen said, "the United States district attorney in Houston has requested me by letter to meet the fine.

"I was fined $1,207.76 for raising 25 bales of cotton on 70 acres of land."

Janssen said acreage allotments were determined by committeemen "supposedly elected by farmers of DeWitt County."

"Of approximately 3,000 farmers eligible to vote, only 296 participated in the election. This minority controlled the other 90 per cent," Janssen charged.

He said he was allotted 22 acres of cotton and two neighbors were allotted 70 acres.

"I planted 70 acres in defiance of the PMA upon the contention that the constitution of the United States gives all men the inalienable rights of equality."

He said that the constitution guarantees the right of trial by jury, the right to a judge and the right to hire a lawyer in suits at common law where the value in controversy exceeds $25.

"I was denied this right," he claimed, "when the order to pay the fine was signed by one of these PMA committeemen."

Claude Jennings, head of the Cuero PMA office, said the penalty was assessed purely on basis of the cotton allotment law, voted by the farmers themselves and the local office merely determined the excess acreage planted by Janssen.

Cleanup Man Asking For Income Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political bomb bursts rolled up and down Pennsylvania Avenue today as corruption probes within probes veered off in unpredictable directions.

These developments stood out in the bitter election-year struggle between the Truman administration and its critics:

1. Newbold Morris, President Truman's specially appointed corruption sleuth, called on Atty. Gen. McGrath (his own immediate superior) and 595 other top Justice Department officials to submit detailed data on the financial status of themselves and their immediate kin.

The questions asked ranged from stock market speculation and gambling to how many fur coats are now in the family compared with five years ago.

2. A House judiciary subcommittee set up in the wake of congressional disclosures of tax collection scandals asked Truman for a look at the income tax returns of McGrath and 19 of his aides.

3. The same committee asked McGrath to appear for questioning March 26 in connection with the committee's own investigation of Justice Department affairs. Republican presidential possibility Harold E. Stassen has suggested an inquiry into reports that McGrath has become a millionaire in his 21 years in public office.

4. The Senate Judiciary Committee rejected Truman's request that Morris be given power to subpoena witnesses and require the production of records from non-government sources.

Instead, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said his group had approved "a new approach" to the government cleanup problem. This would involve presidential appointment of a chief investigator and five assistants who-unlike Morris—would be subject to Senate confirmation.

Further, in sharp contrast to the Morris plan of operations, Congress would have access to all information gathered by these investigators, through subpoena powers or otherwise.

McCarran and other members of the committee made it amply clear that they did not have Morris in mind for the proposed chief investigator's post.

The Nevadan described Morris, former president of the New York City Council, as a man without "control of his own emotions." This was an obvious reference to Morris' outburst against the "diseased minds" of senators investigating his part in some surplus tanker deals.

Some Shows In New City Well

Drilling in a red clay formation below 250-feet deep was reported this morning from the test hole on the second try for another city water well.

The well is being drilled on Avenue Y between Twenty - fourth and Twenty - fifth Streets, W. J. Ramsey, city superintendent, said.

A show of water was discovered before the red clay formation was reached, but no test was made. The well is to test for possible water production below the red bed if the bottom of the red bed can be found without having to drill too deeply.

A similar test drilled on Thirty-seventh Street east of Noble Heights south of Snyder was a dry hole.

This well is the second of two authorized by the city council in an attempt to produce enough water to prevent a serious shortage here this summer.

The first of the wells tested 20 gallons per minute.

Judge Reams Bucking Parr

ALICE, March 19 (AP)—Judge Sam G. Reams of the 79th District Court yesterday announced his candidacy for re-election and coupled the announcement with an attack on County Judge George Parr of Duval County.

Reams said his political stand would be "unalterable opposed to George Parr's personal control of Duval County."

Duval County and Brooks, Jim Wells, and Starr Counties make up the 79th Judicial District.

The statement by Reams recalled the 1950 election when Duval County gave an almost unanimous write-in vote to Rep. A. J. Vale of Rio Grande City against Reams.

Vale declined the office and the state election board refused to count the Duval County vote in the judgeship race.

Reams' announcement statement yesterday continued:

"I cannot believe that any man should be dictator over the lives, property and freedom of the people of a county.

"Good people everywhere have been shocked by the nationwide notoriety that has come to the good citizenship of the Duval County area because of the political manipulations of George Parr."

Stassen Pushed Hard By Ike Who Is Write-In Candidate

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—With nearly two-thirds of the precincts reporting, Write-in Candidate Gen. Eisenhower had won an amazing 39 per cent of the Republican total in Minnesota's presidential primary election yesterday.

"Favorite Son" Harold E. Stassen, whose name was printed on the ballot, got about 42 per cent.

The drive for the write-in vote had been started by Minnesotans-for-Eisenhower Friday.

Voters took the trouble to run up an unprecedented write-in total for Eisenhower.

The election will not automatically mean any national convention delegates for Eisenhower. No delegate provision for write-in candidates is contained in the primary law. It appeared only court action or national or state convention maneuveing could get any Minnesota delegates for Eisenhower.

In the Democratic write-in voting, Sen. Kefauver had a heavy margin over President Truman. However, observers felt much of the Truman vote had gone to Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), whose name was the only one printed on the Democratic ballot. Humphrey had announced he would turn over his delegation to Mr. Truman should the President decide to run again.

No Minnesota campaign had been conducted for Truman, while a small but vocal group had talked up Kefauver.

With 2,412 of 3,769 precincts reporting, Eisenhower had 94,459 votes, compared with 103,311 for Stassen. Edward C. Slettedahl, a political unknown whose name was also printed on the GOP ballot, got 18,295 votes. Other Republican write in totals were 20,133 for Sen. Taft, 4,474 for Gov. Earl Warren, California, and 1,280 for Gen. MacArthur.

Humphrey — only Democratic ballot candidate — polled 84,497 votes. Kefauver had 16,589 write-ins and Truman 3,000 write-ins.

St. Paul, Duluth and three smaller cities used voting machines in the primary.

Eisenhower's name had been filed in the primary, but the Supreme Court found the filing petitions were defective. Names of Kefauver and MacArthur had also been filed, but they were permitted to withdraw.

Gen. Eisenhower learned of the vote in news agency dispatches delivered to his Paris headquarters. He made no comment.

A write-in campaign for Eisenhower began only last Friday, following a state attorney general's ruling that such votes should be counted.

The ruling turned an otherwise dull primary into a popularity contest for the nation's presidential timber.

Humphrey filed in the primary at the request of state and national Democratic leaders. The filing had the approval of President Truman. Humphrey has said he would turn over his delegation to President Truman if he decides to run again.

Tuesday's primary was to pick 25 of the state's 28 Republican delegates to the national convention and 23 of 26 Democratic delegates. Three more delegates for each party will be picked at state conventions.

All delegates are pledged to support their candidate until released by him or until his convention vote drops below ten per cent.

There is no provision in the primary law for write-in candidates' delegates. Even if Eisenhower's vote total was larger than Stassen's he would not automatically get any delegates. Apparently the only way he could get Minnesota delegates would be through court action or maneuvering at the state or national convention.

Leaders of the Eisenhower movement in Minnesota attributed his surprising write-in strength to "The magic of a great name and the wisdom of a great people."

"Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, facing the toughest political fight of our time—the need of winning write-in votes against a 'favorite son'—has received a magnificent expression in the belief that he should be our president," a statement said.

Stassen told a newsman last night "I am very well pleased with the returns thus far and I'm surprised Sen. Taft is running as weak as he is."

Women Golfers KilledByPlane

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 19 (AP) — Two women golfers were killed today by a Navy plane which crash-landed on Timuquana Golf Course.

A. C. Weller, who lives on Timuquana Road and was playing on the course, was a witness.

Weller said the engine was dead and he hadn't heard the plane coming down. He said a caddy, standing about 10 yards from the two women, was unhurt.

The plane cut down both golfers. "I've been in two wars but I never saw anything so ghastly," Weller said.

The women were identified as Mrs. Brady Johnson, prominent Jacksonville golfer and wife of an official of the Dinsmore Dairies, and Mrs. William Dempsey, wife of a Jacksonville contractor.

The plane was a Corsair Fighter. Its forced landing did not injure the pilot.

The Timuquana Club is next to the Naval Air Station about 10 miles south of Jacksonville.

Van Fleet Celebrates His 60th Birthday On Fairly Quiet Day

SEOUL, March 19 (AP) — Outnumbered American Sabre pilots damaged two Red MIG-15s today in a jet battle above the clouds of northwest Korea.

Eighteen Sabres fought 36 MIGS in a 15-minute afternoon battle that ranged from 7 to 2½ miles high.

Shooting Star pilots reported they started landslides with their 1,000 pound bombs, burying large sections of Red railway tracks under tons of dirt.

Rain storms grounded the planes during the morning and soaked the quiet battlefront.

But it was a bright day for Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander. He celebrated his 60th birthday with his son, an Air Force lieutenant he had not seen for 15 months.

James Jr. arrived in Korea Friday. He flew to Eighth Army headquarters at Seoul in one of the 30 all-weather planes to take the air this morning. He begins flying combat missions as pilot of a B-26 bomber next week.

Gen. Van Fleet told visiting newsmen that Red infantrymen could break through the United Nations lines if they wanted to pay the price in casualties—but the Allies would pinch off any such thrust. Then, he said, the Allies would follow up with a counter-offensive of their own.

The battleship Wisconsin and two American destroyers stood off the Eastern end of the 155-mile battle line Tuesday and hammered Red troops around the clock. The Navy reported the Wisconsin's 16-inch guns destroyed Red bunkers, ripped trenches, blasted artillery batteries and wrecked a boat yard.

The Communists increased their own artillery and mortar fire, shooting more than 2,000 rounds Tuesday. Most of it hit the Western Front.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said a delayed report indicated 50 Chinese were killed in a Western Front fight that began Monday night and extended into Tuesday morning. The Chinese loss was estimated by U.N. troops who reoccupied four positions northwest of Yonchon.

Only patrol clashes were reported Wdenesday morning, the longest fight lasting 40 minutes.

Volcano Forms Island In Middle Of Pacific

MANILA, March 19 (AP) — A submarine volcano coming to life after a 90-year sleep, pushed a moving mass of volcanic rock 250 feet above the surface of the Pacific today 315 miles north of Manila.

The turbulent pile of rocks incompassed at least five acres. For 15 acres around it, the ocean boiled and bubbled like a witch's brew.

A 10,000-foot column of smoke and sulphrous steam towered.

Huge black boulders, some of them five stories high, were tumbled about.

The new volcano island, is appearing at almost the identical spot where almost a century ago an undersea eruption pushed rocks 700 feet above the surface. That eruption lasted four years, ending 92 years ago.

Flowing Oil In Scurry Wildcat Is Developed

Flowing oil from a lower Permian lime, possibly the Strawn, has been developed by McAlester Fuel Corp. No. 1-A T. P. Allen, wildcat in Southwest Scurry County.

The flow came on a drillstem test at 7,447 - 7,462 feet. The tool was open 25 minutes. Gas surfaced in three minutes, and mud came to the top in 16 minutes with oil flowing in 20 minutes. The oil was run to pits for five minutes with the flow estimated at between 10 and 15 barrels per hour. There were no signs of formation water.

Recovery when all the drillpipe had been racked was 180 feet of 41.5 gravity oil with no water. Open flowing bottomhole pressure was between 1,320 - 1,680 pounds. Shutin bottomhole pressure after 15 minutes was 2,840 pounds.

The prospector then cut a core at 7,462 - 7,482 feet. That cutting is now being pulled.

The No. 1-A Allen had indicated possibilities of production from the Canyon reef above 7,346 feet. It had little shows of oil and gas and a large amount of salt water in the Canyon at 7,346-7,389 feet. Several interested geologists think the section which flowed the oil yesterday was Strawn, but no Strawn top has been reported.

The prospector is about 18 miles southwest of Snyder in section 75-20-LaVaca Navigation Survey.

SCURRY REPORTS

Humble Oil No. 1 James Davidson, Southeast Scurry wildcat, is preparing to take a drillstem test in the Permian from 4,922-4,952 feet.

Texaco No. 198 P. L. Fuller, Northeast - Central Scurry Strawn prospector, is preparing to perforate and test in the Strawn above 7,195 feet.

American Trading & Production No. 1 Elmer Howell, west offset to the Hermleigh - Ellenburger field, is waiting on a rotary rig.

KENT AND BORDEN

Sun Oil No. 24 Bilby Wallace, just outside production in the Clairemont field, swabbed and flowed 50 barrels of oil with no water in one hour. Operator is now preparing to wash open hole in the Pennsylvanian with 500 gallons of mud acid and treat with 500 gallons of regular acid before making more tests.

Superior Oil Co. No. 1-3 A. Wood Northwest Kent project, to at total depth of 6,251 feet in lime and waiting on cement on casing recovered theirs.

Superior Oil Co. No. 6-37 C.D. Jones, Northeast Borden wildcat, is drilling below 6,900 feet in lime.

Try To Stop Steel Strike Set Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 18-member Wage Stabilization Board goes into a marathon session today to frame recommendations for settling the big steel labor dispute.

The WSB, having already rejected an offer from its industry members to give the CIO United Steelworkers a 13.7-cent hourly raise in pay and other benefits, raced against time.

A walkout of 650,000 workers in the nation's basic steel industry is threatened for midnight Sunday. Many officials believed it would be headed off.

CIO President Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers union, was waiting to see the WSB's proposed solution before advising his 170-member policy committee at a meeting here tomorrow whether to postpone the walkout.

A steel strike would be "a first class national disaster," Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann said yesterday. In a statement to the New York Sales Executive Club, he said it would seriously impair the atomic energy and munitions programs.

The WSB has asked for a strike delay at least until April 8 to give the industry and union time to bargain on the basis of the board's findings.

A few firms, including U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones & Laughlin, said they might have to start closing down some complex operations tonight to prepare for a Sunday night strike. Generally the industry apparently was expecting a significant amount of layoffs shutdowns until the last moment.

Even if the WSB's recommendations are sweet enough to persuade Murray to delay the strike, they may be too bitter for the industry to accept, thus forcing a strike later on.

In this connection, a high government official told reporters privately that President Truman opposes any "trick deal" to boost steel prices to offset higher wages, fearing it will break the dikes against inflation."

The government appeared to be ready to allow a $2 increase in steel prices, now at about $110 a ton. But this would cover only costs to mid-1951, and steelmakers contend it would fail to compensate for new wage increases.

Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger told reporters the WSB's members —six each representing the public to actual voting on the labor issues this afternoon. He said they would remain in session until a final decision is reached.

Up to now the wage board members have been digging into the facts involved, and dickering among themselves.

It was at an informal meeting of industry and public members yesterday that the industry side suggested the 12.7-cent "package" settlement of main money issues. It was rejected as insufficient.

The steelworkers now averaging just under $2 an hour earnings including overtime, want an 18½-cent boost plus a batch of other contract improvements.

Another Man Spied On Reds

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Harry Owen Bartlett, Garrett County, Md., told a federal court jury he was expelled from the Communist Party after being a member 10 years because he was "too revolutionary."

Bartlett, testifying against six persons charged with conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government by force, said he "became disillusioned" with party policies in 1940, two years after he joined.

He sought the advice of Paul Fletcher, then a practicing lawyer and now state's attorney of Allegany County, and "Paul got me in touch with the FBI," he said. He then became "an informer for the FBI," Bartlett added.

Bartlett told the federal court jury of attending Communist meetings in Cumberland in 1941 where party members agitated for a strike at the Celanese Corp. plant there.

He said the strike, in which the CIO Textile Workers of America won additional benefits, was designed to entrench the party more firmly within the plant.

Fate Of Underground Water Districts At Stake, Man Says

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP) — Whether or not Texas' 1949 underground water conservation law will stand or fall on a court decision Friday or Saturday was in question today.

The dispute arose in the final arguments yesterday in the suit brought by the Colorado River Municipal Water District challenging validity of the Martin County Water Conservation District.

Judge Jack Roberts said he would decide the suit Friday or Saturday.

That the state's 1949 water law is under test was the argument of Asst. Atty. Gen. Burt Watson, representing the State Board of Water Engineers which designated the Martin County reservoir for creation of the district.

If this designation fails, "every other designation also fails," Watson contended.

Besides the Martin County District, similar districts have been created in Sheffman County and in the Plainview-Lubbock area under authority of the same 1949 law.

Atty. Victor Bouldin, representing the CRMWD, earlier said he could not agree validity of the law was being challenged. He argued instead the challenge applied only to action of the board in the specific creation of the Martin County District.

Watson also told the court the CRMWD had not been hurt by creation of the underground water subdivision, which CRMWD contends was created without sufficient evidence to define its boundaries.

"They have been hurt instead by the regulations," Watson said. "Yet they have come here asking you to throw out the subdivision — and with it, two other subdivisions — when they should have resorted to administrative remedy and should not be permitted in this court until they have."

Atty. Roger B. Tyler Jr., representing the state board, told the court the board did all it could to ascertain the facts before designating the subdivision. He also argued CRMWD was present at a public hearing and was given ample opportunity to voice objections and submit additional evidence but it never did either until the district passed regulations to which it objected.

Big Spring Atty. George Thomas, representing Martin County, told the court the county had moved as it did to prevent CRMWD from draining dry the water field under its land in a short period.

Regulations adopted by the Martin County District shut off much of the water supply of the county's wells which CRMWD had intended to use to supply water needs at Odessa and Big Spring pending filling of a new Colorado River reservoir.

Evidence shows that the city of Odessa is in desperate circumstances for want of water," Bouldin argued. "The lives, health and welfare of 80,000 people stand in the balance with people who own 15 per cent of the land overlying the water producing sands."

Texans Would Rather Vote For Democrat, AP Survey Indicates

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP) — The voter who says he "don't know" appears to be a big fellow in Texas this year.

This correspondent, trying to find out how early spring political winds are blowing, got the "don't know" or "won't say" answer often in asking folks how they would vote if the election were tomorrow.

That was true on a February tour of 32 Central, West and Northwest Texas counties. The proportion of such answers was about the same in a mid-March swing through 17 South Central, East and Southeast counties.

I asked 71 qualified voters what they would do if the election were tomorrow and the presidential candidates were President Truman and Sen. Taft. This was the score:

Truman — 32
Taft — 16
Dont know or won't say — 23.

If the candidates were Truman and Gen. Eisenhower:

Truman — 26
Eisenhower — 22
Don't know or won't say — 32.

If the candidates were Sen. Russell and Taft:

Russell — 47.
Taft — 12
Don't know or won't say — 12.

If the runners are Russell and Eisenhower:

Russell — 40
Eisenhower — 17
Don't know or won't say — 14.

Now, for the U. S. Senate race between Price Daniel and Tom Connally:

Connally — 20.
Daniel — 36
Don't know or won't say — 15.

Those figures are offered for exactly what they show on their face: They represent what 71 assorted voters think in the middle of March.

It represents the current views of 71 citizens, mostly long-time Democrats, qualified voters, from a wide variety of cultures and economic levels. Some were local political leaders or other persons this correspondent knew to have special interests. The majority were selected at random from rural areas, small towns, small cities and large cities.

These figures would seem to bear out the impression that most of the voters in a section of Texas from Austin south to the Gulf, east to the Sabine and as far north as Nacogdoches would like to stay with the Democratic party; many of them would reluctantly take Truman, but they would rather have some other Democrat as a candidate.

It also shows there are a great many who are waiting for somebody to help them make up their minds, both in presidential and senatorial races.

No Rush Yet For Car Tags

With the vehicle registration period more than two - thirds gone and with less than two weeks left to register motor vehicles without penalty, only about one - fourth the county's motorists have their 1952 tags.

The county's 13,580 sets of license plates went on sale Feb. 1 — seven weeks ago—and 3,400 of them have been issued. The deadline for registering vehicles without the 20 per cent penalty is March 31. In addition to the penalty, motorists are also subject to being fined if convicted of operating an unregistered vehicle.

At this time last year, about half the county's 8,510 sets of plates had been issued. Before March 31, last year, all had been issued, and the tax collector's office had started issuing from a second order of plates. In all, there were 13,000 vehicles registered last year, which was the basis for ordering the number available this year.

Venezuela Is Expanding Oil

CARACAS, March 19 (AP)—Venezuela is set for another record breaking oil production year in 1952. Expansion planned by oil companies will boost both crude and refined output.

At the close of last year, Venezuelan oil wells were pumping at a record rate of 1,776,381 barrels per day, raising the average for 1951 to 1,704,643. In 1950 the average daily crude output was 1,497,985 barrels.

Total Venezuelan crude production last year amounted to 622,194,695 barrels, compared to 546,767,000 the previous year.

During last December refineries were operating at a record rate of 353,390 barrels of oil per day and total refined production for the year reached 115,086,118 barrels, compared to 91,181,130 for 1950.

Spurred by the Korean War, the shutdown in Iran and Western rearmament demands, drilling activity last year was almost double that of 1950. In 1951, 1,216 wells were drilled, of which 1,087 were oil producing, eight gas and 121 dry holes. The previous year 673 wells were drilled, yielding 593 oil producers, five gas wells and 75 dry holes.

Recall Election In Borger Seen

BORGER, March 19 (AP) — A petition for a special election to decide on ousting Borger's city commission was on file today as result of a row over federal housing.

The election must be held in 20 to 40 days.

L. B. Nichols Jr., a businessman who circulated the petition, said it bore more than 500 names. At least 467 were needed under city charter provisions.

Nichols started collecting signatures earlier this month after the city-appointed Borger Housing Authority purchased land on which to build low-cost rental housing. The units will be federally financed.

Regular election procedures will be used for the special vote. Incumbents and new candidates are required to file for office individually.

Nichols did not say whether he would be one of the challenging candidates. Present commissioners include R. V. Latimer, mayor; L. D. Patton, mayor pro tem; and Commissioners Everett Thrams, Claude Harrington and L. B. West.

Work Starting On Directory

Canvassers began work today on compiling information for a new city and county directory, which will be published in about six months by the Salisbury Publishing Co. of Artesia, N. M.

Otis E. Sasser, general sales manager for the firm said that Al Woods, canvass crew manager, will have his team here for three months to gather information to go into the book. The crew will carry on a house-to-house canvass program to compile the information.

Sasser said the book will have five sections, the first an alphabetical listing of every resident over 16 years of age, giving name of resident, wife's given name, number of children under 16, occupation, street address, telephone number, and post office box or mailing address. Other sections include the street and avenue guide, listing of residents on rural routes, numerical telephone directory, and buyer's guide.

The sales manager said the book will have more than 200 pages and will be sold at $25.

No Absentee Ballots, So No Voting Yet

No absentee balloting in the April 5 county - wide liquor election has been done yet because the county does not have the absentee ballots.

Pat Johnston, county clerk, said today that the ballots had been ordered and should have arrived before now. He said cause of the delay was not known but added that he expected them to arrive today or tomorrow. They were ordered from Steck Printing Co., Austin.

The period during which absentee ballots could be cast was to have started last Saturday at midnight. The deadline for voting absentee is midnight April 1. This still leaves 11 days, excluding Sundays, in which voters may poll by absentee ballots, if the ballots should arrive tomorrow.

Johnston said a few persons had called for ballots. Any person who affirms that he intends to be out of the county on election day or is either ill or otherwise hindered by physical disability from voting at the polls may vote this way. Instructions, including an oath on the envelope, accompany the ballots and must be filled out, signed, and the ballots mailed or brought to the county clerk's office on or before April 1.

Pioneer Man Talks To Group

Procedure in hearings before Civil Areonautics Board was reviewed here last night for the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Robert Smith, Jr., executive vice-president of Pioneer Airlines, met with the group. Smith made recommendations concerning the presentation of Snyder's case at the first hearing on April 28. He suggested that only local men be used in presenting the case before the examiner at the first hearing.

Smith added that he did not believe it would be wise for Snyder representatives to push any particular airline, but to confine evidence presented to the need some sort of air service for the city.

It will be up to the airlines interested to show that they are "fit, willing and able" to serve Snyder, he said. He concluded by saying that Pioneer was prepared to show the CAB that it was just that.

Smith returned to Dallas last night.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Strange calls come in the taxi business. What seems routine to a taxi driver becomes amusing and sounds unusual to an outsider.

Just this week we were in a taxi in another town when a call came over the radio to deliver a dollar's worth of chicken feed to a certain address. This provoked a chuckle from us, but our driver calmly said, "That's nothing. Yesterday a woman gave me a dollar to carry off two cats and five kittens!"

R. T. BUZBEE, a Yellow Cab man here, says what seems unusual to anyone else is just routine with them. They chase buses often. C. O. LYLES, a driver, said he moved a woman completely yesterday, only to have her call from the bus station that she had changed her mind and wanted to go back home. "We haven't lost a race with the stork yet," Buzbee said.

Mrs. D. D. Shirl, dispatcher for Steve's Taxi, says last week a woman called in her complete grocery order, beans and all, then said not to forget to bring two newspapers.

Robert Browning is not the only advocate of old age, what with his "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be..." lines.

Miss Edyth Thornton McLeod, outstanding authority on charm and beauty, and writer of the syndicated column, "Beauty After Forty," spoke recently to some Texas club women.

"Maturity is the most exciting time in life—if you make it that way," she said. In her talk she listed three rules she considers vital to an exciting and productive life after forty:

1. Keep your sense of humor.
2. Be interested in yourself up to a point. That is, learn what clothes and colors do the most for you. Then forget yourself and be genuinely interested in others.
3. Watch your posture. Proper carriage makes every woman look younger regardless of her age.

She told the audience that forty is just a state of mind and certainly not a signpost pointing the way to old age.

"After all, if we live, we're bound to reach that age sooner or later. It's not as if being forty were some sort of disease!" she said.

She urged women to take full advantage of all the new beauty products, including the miracle ones in the harmone, ozone and wrinkle - removing lines.

"If you want to change the color of your hair do it if it's fun and exciting. If you don't like it, don't worry. It will grow out," she said.

Beware of diets she warned.

"We must be well nourished to look and feel well. If you want to reduce, simply eat smaller quantities of everything. The simplest and safest way is just to get up from the table when you're still hungry. Never go on a planned diet without consulting a doctor."

She advises hobbies and living in the present, not the past.

Doesn't make growing old sound so bad, does it?

Ignorance, Fear Responsible For Run-Away Federal Budget

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There is an agreeable story going around about a conscientious Congressman, a freshman in the House, who went home last summer and found that he could not explain to his constituents the fabulous billions which he had just voted to appropriate. He was much troubled. It was embarrassing to let the voters see that he knew so little about so much public money. But he is a good man, and concerned with more than the appearance of things. So he began to reproach himself that he had not worked hard enough at the job to which he had been elected. While he was feeling that way, he saw in the newspaper that the state university was offering a course in the federal budget. He was not too proud to learn, and so he enrolled and went back to school to find out from the professor what he had voted for in Washington.

• • •

There must be others, not only Congressman who must do the voting but also those who are expected to write and talk about the budget, lots of us that is to say, who are uneasy. On the one hand we feel that it ought to be possible somewhere in the stupendous sums to save some money. It just isn't likely that every last lieutenant (j. g.) and every colonel has foreseen and calculated accurately what is necessary to the military power of the United States. On the other hand, we are afraid to take the responsibility of cutting any particular item—lest it turn out later that the lieutenant (j.g) and the colonel were right and that for want of that item the battle was lost.

That is why the oyster forks, the ping pong balls, and the toe-nail clippers for dogs are such a Godsend to us all. We can work off on them our passion for economy, and never have to worry that we shall be accused of having disarmed the United States.

• • •

The most instructive lesson I ever had in the problem of economy was when the librarian of the university appeared before a board of which I was a member to explain why he needed to build a new wing to house the books. There was a hard-boiled member of the board present who decided to give the librarian a going over.

"You have several million books," he said sternly, "have you not?"

"Yes, sir, we have," replied the librarian.

"Can you deny, will you have the nerve to deny to this board, that two-thirds of the books are utterly worthless, and that no student, and not even the most crackpot of your professors, will ever open any of these millions of useless books on which you now want to spend millions of dollars?"

The librarian who seemed to be standing up better than one might have expected said meekly: "No, sir, at least two-thirds of our books are of no interest to anyone." Then he added: "But the trouble, sir, is that I cannot think of any way of deciding which are the books in our collection that are of no interest to anyone."

• • •

This story contains; I believe, the true explanation of why the military budget is so enormous—and of why it would not be safe, without more knowledge than anyone possesses now, to reduce it by any important sum.

The reason the military budgets have become so enormous is that the defense establishment is trying to prepare not for a particular kind of war but for many kinds of war. It is much cheaper to prepare for a particular kind of war in a particular place. What costs like all get-out is trying to have a navy that can fight all kinds of wars on the sea, under the sea, in the air, and on the land;—and also an air force that can by itself win any globalor local war that can be imagined,—and then besides all that, an army which can roll over and jump over and annihilate any army that might get in its way.

• • •

Ever since the President decided suddenly to alter the basic American strategy and to fight a land war in Asia, which we had expressly and deliberately decided we would not do, the Pentagon has been acting on the assumption that you never can tell, that it must be parpared for all kinds of wars. That is what is making the whole operation so very, very expensive.

It is like going out shopping to buy clothes for the winter, determined to be the well-dressed man no matter whether the little woman decides to spend the winter on the beach at Miami, or skiing in Norway, or hunting elephants in darkest Africa.

Little Irish Woman's Land Grew Right With Her Family

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—She stood, a small lady among many taller men, and in her heart she laughed because she knew she was taller than they were.

She was taller because she had more land. And in her heart she felt land was power, because she trusted acres more than people.

Sophistication and recognition were pretty much new to Susan Haughian, 64, when she came here on a visit from Monatana.

I am a local yokel and I sure did waylay this country girl on her first sustained visit to the Big City. She was fun to squire around, and this was her story:

She was one of 16 children born in Ireland, and naturally she settled here in a small cozy place like Montana. It reminded her of home—it was so much bigger. You have to know the people from the old country to understand her land hunger.

She and her man—Dan—started with 40 acres where that was an apology and a possibility.

There also were five sons and five daughters. Of course it is hard to pick among children. But I don't think Susan will ever forget her sixth child, now known also as Susan and no more her favorite than some of the others today.

Dan knew, of course, he couldn't get to a doctor—they are a long way off in Montana. Susan spread a rug on the cold floor when the pains came upon her and had a normal birth and a fine daughter all alone. Her other children waited in another room. She cut the cord of birth and blew warm breath upon the cold frame of her newborn babe.

The neighbor woman Dan brought said with the exultation of all women:

"I knew you would do it. I knew you would."

In 1931, Dan gave up his long struggle against the weather and the land and died. He left Susan a widow with 10 children and about $20,000 in debts.

"Nobody sent me a single bill," she recalls. "And, of course, they didn't really have to."

LOOKING FOR OIL

How about today? Well, the banker is ready to talk to Susan anytime. Shes got the bail money ready for her herders when they come into town after six months or so in the hills.

Oh, maybe there's 1,600 cattle or so now, and say 2,300 ewes and 1,400 lambs. But how about that spreading patch of Montana she controls?

"Well, of course now they are looking for oil that way out there," said Susan cautiously. "You know, I just have no respect for people who fib, I don't respect them at all. I suppose maybe we own or lease about 80,000 to 100,000 acres or more. And some beyond that."

"But it was Dan first and then the children who are responsible for—" said Susan, earnestly.

"Of course, the land here is more valuable," she said politely, looking around with no air of real conviction at the nearest skyscraper and added absent-mindedly:

"You know, I once saw a cow wrap her legs around her calf to keep it from freezing. I believe in nature. Take our sheep. I feel if we take care of our sheep they will take care of us."

New Electric Wristwatch Is Put On Market

CHICAGO (AP)—An electric wristwatch, hailed as keeping almost perfect time, was announced today.

It has a little electric motor in side, yet is no bigger than a conventional windup watch. It has no tick, no mainspring, no winding mechanism.

A main secret is a tiny amazing battery, only half an inch long and smaller around than a pencil. It runs the motor for more than a year. Cost of a new battery probably will be less than a quarter.

The battery delivers power at an absolutely constant rate. It takes only 1-100,000th of a watt to run the watch.

The wristwatch was demonstrated today at a press conference by Elgin National Watch Company. Only a laboratory model has been made, said J. G. Shennan, Elgin president.

Simultaneously in Paris, the Lip Watch Company of Besancon, France, announced an electric wristwatch. It differs in many mechanical and electrical respects, Shennan said. The two firms have exchanged information, but each did its own research separately.

Shennan said the electric watch keeps better time than windup ones.

The electric watch will cost more, for some years at least, Shennan said, but price was not estimated.

The battery, or energy capsule as Elgin named it, fits into a capsule the size of a big medical pill. It powers a synchronously controlled motor, replacing the usual mainspring and other parts.

Seeking Higher Price For Milk

DALLAS, March 19 (AP)—A hearing on milk prices in the North Texas milkshed continued today by the U. S. Production & Marketing Administration.

Yesterday, dairymen testified raw milk prices in the area, which includes 16 North Texas counties, were too high and some farmers sold dairy cattle because they were more valuable as beef.

PMA is holding the hearing because of dairy farmers' requests for higher prices. A federal milk marketing order holds the price to $6.68 per hundred pounds. The North Texas Producers Association wants to return to the pre-1952 price of $6.91.

O. B. White, official of the Lamar Creamery Co., Paris, told the hearing yesterday milk prices are too high. He said he had lost sales of 15,000 gallons of milk weekly to dairies in Lubbock, Waco, Wichita Falls, San Antonio and other cities because of the high prices.

White said dairy farmers' numbers have increased 20 per cent. "We are getting more milk," he said, "but our market is dwindling."

H. E. Drumwright, inspection chief for the Dallas Health Department, testified the number of dairy farmers selling to Dallas dairies had increased from 667 in 1945 to 1,800 in 1952.

Troy Kern, Cooper, said the farmers were in poor financial condition. Kern, for three years president of the North Texas Producers Association, said some farmers were having to cull cows that aren't giving enough milk to pay their feed bill. He said they got more money for the cows as beef cattle. Kern said such cows might ultimately make good milch cows if they were not slaughtered.

The hearing is expected to end today.

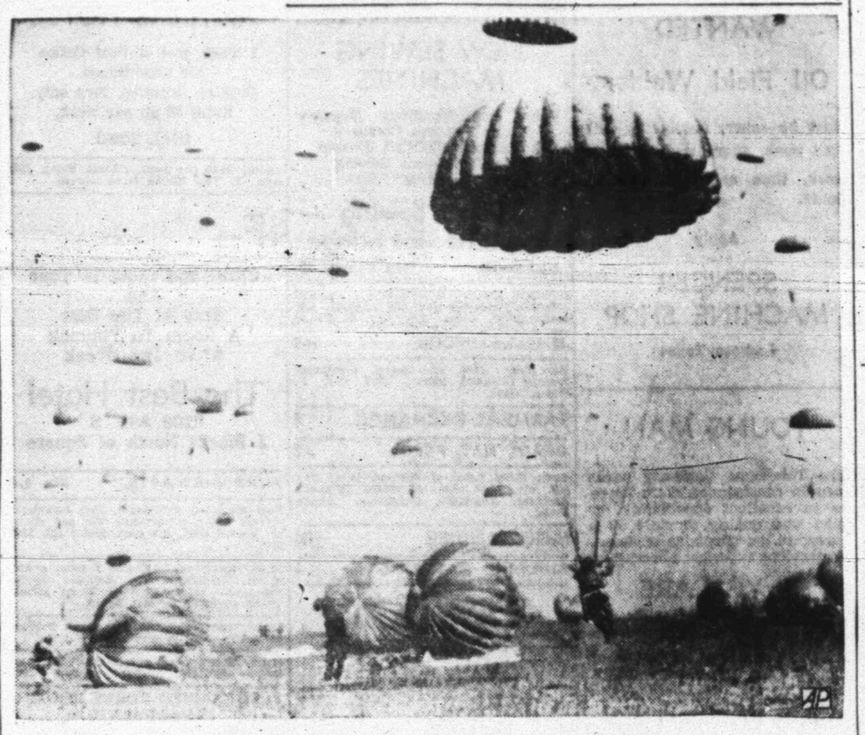

New Officers In WTCC

ABILENE, March 19 (AP) — West Texas Chamber of Commerce President Frank H. Kelley, Colorado City, said yesterday the 19-member board has 11 new members resulting from recent district elections and appointments.

Kelley announced appointment of the following directors-at-large: John A. Couch, Haskell; Roy S. Bourland, Pampa; R. Wright Armstrong, Fort Worth; W. O. Fortenberry, New Deal, and Price Campbell, Abilene.

Newly-elected vice presidents are Art Jordan, Amarillo; Homer D. Grant, Lubbock (reelected); C. E. McCutchen, Wichita Falls; J. Holford Russell, Denton (reelected); J. Carter King Jr., Albany; Bill Collyns, Midland; Charles Switzer, Monahans; E. L. Buelow, San Angelo (reelected); Joe B. Frey, Stephenville.

Other board members are: President Kelley; Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president and general manager; Ed S. Stewart Sr., Abilene, treasurer, and B. P. Bludworth, Brownwood, immediate past president.

PERFECT PARATROOP LANDING

This 82nd Airborn Division paratrooper makes a perfect "two-point" landing near San Saba, Texas, as 2,324 men jumped from 75 low-flying planes in a practice jump for Exercise Longhorn, the big joint Air Force-Army maneuver being held this month. Some of the troopers have already landed and others are already floating down.

Morris' Chances Of Cleanup Without Subpoena Power Slim

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — ewbold Morris, the New York lawyer who came down here at the President's request to look for curruption in the government, is like a pigeon with a wing clipped off.

He can still hop around but from now on he's a bird with a handicap. He made some angry noises at senators. They clipped him. They refused to approve subpeona powers for him. But he's had two strikes on him from the start.

As soon as it was announced early in February that Truman had persuaded this big balding socialite to dig around here there were hoots from the Capitol, where a Senate committee was investigating a ship-buying deal in which Morris's New York law firm was interested.

While he was still scurrying around, trying to pull an investigating staff together, he was called before the committee to testify. Some of the senators mussed his hair. He mussed theirs in one of the most sensational talking-back performances seen here in years. Among other things he said they had "diseased minds."

Whatever chance he had to get subpoena power from Congress went out the window right there. While senators sometimes criticize one another, and often rake a witness, they have little enthusiasm for a witness who does the same to them.

Ah, the emotional type, said some of the senators after Morris had had his say. Evidently not the kind of a man to be entrusted with subpoena power, they said.

No one, except a grand jury or congressional committee, can compel anyone, inside or outside the government, to testify by subpoena. Not even the President can do that.

Lacking such auuthority himself, the President can't give it to anyone else. Only Congress could give Morris subpoena power. So Trumna asked Congress to do that.

Yesterday Morris got his comeuppance. The Senate Judiciary Committee voted no.

If he had the subpoena power Morris could force any government official to appear before him and testify and produce records. And if an outsider was involved in some suspected shady deal with the official, he'd have to appear, too.

In that way Morris could make an investigation, first hand. Lacking subpoena power himself, any time he has evidence of wrongdoing he'll have to get a U. S. district attorney to take the case to a grand jury, which then could decide by itself to subpoena witnesses.

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's television receivers are increasing—at the rate of about 50,000 sets a year, Pravda indicated today.

The communist party organ reported a total of about 60,000 sets now are in use in the capital.

Alaska Club Is Boosting Ike

NOME, Alaska (AP)—The farthest north "Ike for President" club is whooping it up for the general, though its members couldn't vote for him even if he should get the nomination.

The Gen. Eisenhower boosters are Eskimos. But, as residents of Alaska, they couldn't vote in a presidential election even if they weren't.

Nevertheless, hoping to promote their favorite for the nomination, they organized the Ike for President Club of Shishmaref—which is about 125 miles across Bering Strait from Russian Siberia.

The general might be surprised if he heard what his Eskimo boosters are saying his election to the presidency would mean for Alaska and the Eskimos. It's down in black and white just as though the general had dropped in to break blubber at a week-end political clambake (which he hasn't).

The Eskimo Ike club ran a three-column advertisement in the Nome Nugget proposing more clubs and stating:

"Club membership should demand that Alaskan delegates to the Republican National Convention be instructed to vote for Ike."

Then it got down to these specifics:

"Ike, being President of the United States, means:

"1. A better and more adequate defense system of all Alaska. A large garrison at Nome. A submarine base in Alaska. A larger naval force at Kodiak.

"2. A highway from Fairbanks to Nome (that's roughly 500 miles of wilderness); from Nome to Teller, to Lost River, to Wales. (These would be extensions, but no road to Shishmaref is mentioned.)

"3. Maintenance of a federal judiciary court in Nome.

"4. Establishment of new industries for Eskimos so they can have all-year employment, better schools and new opportunities.

"5. That gold mine operators should have a gold bonus price above the present $35 per ounce."

There were some other points, but those hit the highlights.

Officers of the club are Vincent J. Tocktoo, president; Alex Weyiouanna, vice president; Charlie Okpowruk, secretary.

They cite Ike as virtually a kindred Arctic soul as an honorary member of Igloo No. 1, Pioneers of Alaska.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

Charles Osborne, 16-year-old junior on Mule Kayser's cinder squad, lifts the bar to attempt a higher jump. Osborne, Kayser's best bet for high jump honors this year, is now averaging 5 feet, 4 inches, and he's trying to lift higher to the 5 feet, 7 inches jumped by two boys last year in the district meet.

OPEN SEASON

By DALE WALTON

The high school district tract meet will be held here April 5, and Coach Mule Kayser will continue his rounds of practice this week by taking a group of cindermen to the Big Spring relays.

Although the squad made little gain in the San Angelo meet last Saurday, Kayser expects a better showing this week.

One of his best hopes is in Charles Osborne, a small junior high jumper, who can almost jump his own height. Osborne has been in constant practice, hurling himself over the bar for an easy 5-4 leap.

In last year's district meet here, two boys — Goodgame of Hamlin and Teaff of Merkel — leaped 5-7 to tie for individual high jump honors, and Osborne is attempting to surpass that mark.

The 16-year-old always wears his glasses during his jumps. Asked how he prevents breaking them, he answered "I don't land on my glasses."

Last year's district meet was won by Hamlin, followed by Merkel and Colorado City, while Snyder ran fourth. Snyder tracksters taking individual honors were John Gary on the 880 and N. J. Harrison on the 100.

* * *

Glynn Snyder, chairman of the Quarterback Club's city cage league, said the all-star squad will meet the Palmer Motor Co. of Loraine in a return match tonight in the high school gym. The all-stars defeated the Palmer squad 50-33 in a previous game.

* * *

Roland Davis, young professional rodeo performer from Snyder, is now at Gila Bend, Ariz., for bull riding events.

Davis won a second in averages in the bull riding at El Paso recently after taking a first in one round. He has also taken in shows in San Angelo and Tuscon. His next stop after Gila Bend will be Phoenix.

Texas Pro Team To Play Fourth Exhibition

DALLAS, March 19 (AP)—The Dallas Texans of the National Football League have arranged a fourth exhibition game, this one to be at Corpus Christi Aug. 23 against the star-studded Carswell Air Force Base team.

Carswell was undefeated in 1951 and beat Fort Jackson for the national service title.

The Texans previously had announced exhibition games at Odessa Aug. 29 against the Philadelphia Eagles, at San Antonio Sept. 5 against the Washington Redskins and Sept. 12 against Detroit at Dallas.

No-Hitters Are Pain In Back

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Ewell Blackwell, one of the three active National League pitchers who have hurled no-hit, no-run games, hopes he never pitches another.

The lean, lanky, Cincinnati righthander, who astounded the baseball world by reeling off 16 consecutive triumphs in 1947, blames all the bad luck that followed on the no-hitter he turned in that year.

After racking up 22 victories in '47, Blackie suffered arm trouble in '48 and his victory total dropped to seven. He underwent a kidney operation the following year and was able to win only five games.

Although he came back strong, winning 33 games during the next two seasons, he couldn't quite hit the 20-victory mark again.

"No more no-hitters for me if I can help it," moaned Blackie. "Call it superstition, if you like. But facts are facts. I got the sore arm and kidney trouble right after I pitched that darn no-hitter. For 26 years I never had the slightest trouble with my kidneys.

Houston Player Looking Good As St. Louis Cardinal Pitcher

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals long search for a righthanded pitcher of the caliber of Mort Cooper may be over.

Willard Schmidt, a pitcher not even on the Red Bird roster, looms as one of the finest righthanded pitching prospects the Cards have come up with since big Mort left the Mound City.

The hard-throwing rookie righthander has as much chance to stick as Vinegar Bend Mizell, the highly publicized lefthander.

Fred Saigh, Cardinal president, said recently, "Schmidt has a great chance to stay up because of his great poise, good control and the fact that he's faster than any pitcher except Mizell."

Schmidt has appeared in four games so far and hasn't yielded an earned run in 14 innings. He has allowed eight hits, walked only four and struck out 15. He is still on the Houston, Tex., roster.

Schmidt and lefty Cliff Chambers teamed up yesterday to pitch the Cards to an 11-0 four-hit victory over the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla. Schmidt allowed two hits in five innings, walked three and fanned six.

St. Louis pounded Ken Raffensberger for seven runs in five innings and nailed Joe Nuxhall, who broke into the majors as a 15-year-old against the Cards in 1944, for the other four.

The Boston Braves won a brilliant 14-inning 1-0 duel from the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. Negro rookies Bill Bruton and George Crowe doubled with two out in the 14th off Joe Ostrowski to break up the game.

Pittsburgh also grabbed an extra-inning decision, nosing out the New York Giants, 3-2, in 11 innings at San Bernardino, Calif. Bill Howerton broke up the game with a two-out, two-run pinch-hit triple. The game was scoreless until the top of the 11th.

Brilliant pitching also featured the Chicago White Sox' 2-1 triumph over Cleveland at Pasadena, Calif. and the Philadelphia Phils, 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators at Clearwater, Fla.

Righthander Art Houtteman allowed only four hits in seven innings as the Detroit Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics' "A" team, 3-1, at Lakeland, Fla.

The A's "B" team downed the Brooklyn "B" team, 3-2, at West Palm Beach, Fla.

The Chicago Cubs trounced the St. Louis Browns, 9-3, at Burbank, Calif.

Scoring Record In AAU Meet

DENVER, March 19 (AP) — San Francisco's defending champion Stewart Chevrolets set a new scoring record last night in leading 16 teams into today's second round of the National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) basketball tournament.

The Californians slaughtered Santa Fe, N. M., 109-45. The previous high of 103 points was set by Phillips 66ers, Bartlesville, Okla., against Roanoke, Va., in the 1947 tourney. The Virginians scored 26 points.

San Francisco's nifty debut against the team of New Mexico school teachers and ex-college players caused tournament observers to rate the Stewarts even with Phillips and Oakland, Calif., the pre-meet co-favorites, for the title.

The California club had been lightly regarded because of the loss of George Yardley, the 1951 tournament's most valuable player, and others who wheeled the Stewarts to the championship. Don Henriksen, former University of California star, flipped in 20 points in pacing San Francisco's well-balanced attack.

Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station doused Bedford, Ind., Kaler Kandy Kids, 91-71.

The Navy team plays Phillips, champion seven out of the last nine years, in one of the highlights of today's eight-game schedule.

Winners today go into tomorrow's quarter-finals. The quarter-final victors will qualify for the playoffs later this month in New York and Kansas City to select the team to represent the U. S. in the Olympics. Phillips was the 1948 representative.

All seeded teams have breezed through their opening games but competition toughens today. The Peoria, Ill., Caterpillar Diesels may have difficulty with the Denver Jussel Electrics, made up of Denver University regulars. The Denver team knocked out the Santa Maria, Calif., Golden Dukes, 68-55, in a mild surprise Monday.

C&S Making GoodComeback

C & S Sporting Goods, still on a comeback in the city basketball league's double elimination tourney after a loss to the Chuck Wagon downed the Jaycees last night 63-50.

The fast game remained close throughout the first three quarters, and the Jaycees threatened a number of times by taking the lead. At one time in the third period, the Jaycees led by seven points, but an offensive attack in the final quarter, led by Bill Voss, put C & S back in a winning pace.

Voss scored 27 points during the game, 11 of them in the last quarter. Doc Weaver made 13 for the C & S squad, while John Ingram sacked 12 for the losers, followed by the 11 each made by Ed Stahl, Jr., and Lewis LaBaume.

The loss was the second for the Jaycees, and it eliminated them from the tourney. Their first loss was to Pan American in the second round of play. Other teams already eliminated are Sunray and D & H Food.

Wade Pipkin Motors was scheduled to meet the National Guard last night, but the game was postponed until tonight. The two teams will play after the all-stars meet the Palmer Motor Co. of Loraine at 8 o'clock.

Hornsby Has Man Just Like Ty Cobb Of Old

BURBANK (AP)—Speaking as one of the fairly modern generation who did not see Ty Cobb at his best and has never understood how it was possible for a ball player to run the bases the way they say Ty did, we are looking forward to the coming season with something more than normal curiosity.

The reason is that Rogers Hornsby says he has a man who is the closet thing to a throwback to Cobb he has seen, a fellow who will have Hornsby's permission to run almost as he pleases, and who will prove to a lot of skeptics brought up in the era of the rabbit ball that the oldtimers aren't just dreaming.

If you've followed the sports pages at all this spring you know the player—Jim Rivera, a 30-year-old outfielder coming up to the St. Louis Browns from Seattle, where he helped Hornsby win a Pacific Coast League flag last year with a .352 sticking average and 33 stolen bases and just about every other honor that wasn't nailed down.

"He's the only player in the game today I'd pay my way into the park to see," Hornsby says seriously. "He's the only man since Cobb with the speed and the instinct to run a catcher ain an infield crazy. He's a little tight now. He's been reading them clippings about himself. But wait until he settles down. He'll show you base running like you never saw before."

"Maybe it doesn't make sense to you, but you'll see. Rivera will run, and he'll get away with it. What do you think they were using for throwing arms when Cobb was running?"

We said we often had wondered about that.

"Them catchers," Hornsby said, "could throw as good as any around today, and some of them a lot better. There was one rookie catcher, I remember, name of Kling. He told the newspaper boys that he was looking forward to seeing Cobb try to run against him. He was going to throw him out every time.
