

COAL BILL TO CAUSE FIGHT IN THE SENATE

Measure Would Provide Reduced Seasonal Rates on Most Useful Fuel.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Senate factions today prepared for another battle next week over the Frelinghuysen coal bill.

Reports that certain senate elements planned to use the measure, which would provide reduced seasonal rates on coal, as a vehicle for many fundamental transportation amendments including repeal of the so-called rate guarantee bill, caused opposing forces to prepare for battle. Members of the unofficial agricultural "bloc" were said to be behind the amendment program.

Besides passing a proposal for repeal of the rates guarantee it was said that other amendments would strike at the interstate commerce commission's control of intrastate rates. This has been protested from many states. Another amendment reported in prospect is for reduction of freight rates, especially on agricultural products.

TEXAS RANKS SEVENTH AS PIG PRODUCER

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Just to prove that previous statements given out by the census bureau indicating that Texas has taken its place in the front rank of the country's wealthy states, comes the statement by the bureau announcing that the Lone Star state ranks seventh in the list of states of the pig-producing list.

Texas had in 1920 2,232,774 pigs, and slightly more, 2,336,363, in 1919. But as most of the states fell off to a much greater degree Texas has nothing to worry about.

Iowa, with more than 7,000,000 swine on its farms, is the biggest pig-state in the country. Ohio, Indiana and Missouri come next and then come states which exceed by only a few thousand Texas' total.

Texas' pig-family is made up as follows:

Pigs, six months old and under, 1,133,244; sows and gilts, six months old and over, used for breeding, 393,216; boars for breeding, six months old and over, 34,235; all other hogs, 692,479.

DRY FUNDS DEPLETED, LIQUOR BUSINESS IN DALLAS EXPANDING

DALLAS, June 18.—The lid is on of booze in Dallas so far as federal enforcement is concerned. Allen Bailey and his force are without funds to continue the enforcement work and the bootleggers are becoming bolder. It is said by police officials. It will probably be three months before funds are available for enforcement. During that time the enforcement will rest with city and county officials. It was said Friday that bonded booze is selling at $15 per quart, while corn whiskey could be bought for $5 per gallon. Officers declare more whiskey is now being sold in Dallas than at any time since the saloons were voted out.

GO TO DALLAS!

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 18.—Mrs. B. B. Woodward, who was bitten in the chin by a viper which was coiled in the seat of a chair upon which she had seated herself, probably will recover, attending physicians said, though the battle for her life had been hard, continuous one since Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Woodward said she felt something moving under her as she seated herself and believing she had sat down upon a pet kitten, moved forward and looked back over her shoulder just in time to receive the strike of the angry serpent, which was two feet nine inches long.

She killed the snake before calling a physician by telephone.

HARDING DECLINES EMPLOYEES REQUEST FOR HALF HOLIDAY

WASHINGTON, June 18.—President Harding declined to meet the request of government employees of the District of Columbia that they be given a half holiday on Saturday throughout the year. The explanation of the refusal of the president is understood, stated that the granting of such a holiday when the need of economy is paramount would not be in the interest of public service.

HARDING ON CRUISE.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—President Harding left here today aboard the yacht Mayflower for a week-end cruise on the Potomac in company with several guests.

Black Puffs Cigarette As Lynchers Apply The Match

By Associated Press.

MOULTREE, Ga., June 18.—John Henry Williams, negro slayer of Lorena Wilkes, 12-year-old white girl, was burned at the stake today by a mob after he had been convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to be hanged on July 8. The prisoner was taken from the courtroom and was rushed to the scene of his crime, where he was tied to the stump of a tree.

Williams calmly smoked a cigarette as the match was applied to the fuel around him and made but little outcry as the flames slowly burned him to death. It was reported that he made a confession.

The mob quietly dispersed after the lynching and thus far no arrests have been made.

MORE MONEY IS ADDED TO MILK AND ICE FUND

Mrs. W. R. Fleming, $5.
J. C. Kearby, $1.

Contributions Saturday to the milk and ice fund bring the total up to $85.50.

Hundreds of little children are being made happy through this medium. Considerable interest has been aroused among the citizens of Ranger since they have come to realize the importance of this philanthropic work. Let's keep the good work going.

COMET MISSED EARTH ONLY TEN MILLION MILES; WILL TRY IT AGAIN!

NEW YORK, June 17.—Winnecke's comet, hurtling and crashing through space with the speed of 100 express trains, missed the earth this week by a scant margin of 10,000,000 miles.

It passed unnoticed on Broadway, but caused a deal of excitement in the Ghetto quarters of the East Side, where it required the combined assurances of astronomers, police, rabbis and priests to persuade some of the older inhabitants that the danger was past.

Revival of age-old fears, deeprooted in tradition, raised the question of just what possibility there might be of a comet striking the earth and elicited the astonishing answer from a number of astronomical authorities that an eventual collision is not only possible but extremely probable and almost sure to come.

Some time the earth will be destroyed by a head-on collision with just such a fiery visitor as the one now rushing through the skies, as astronomers say.

The probability is that the devastating visitor, which the astronomers believe is sure to come within the next 100,000,000 years, neither will be the Winnecke comet nor any of the 40 others now known to be flying around the solar system. Yet it already may be on its way from some illimitable distance in outer space.

The Winnecke comet has been a frequent visitor since 1819, 100 years ago, when it was first discovered by a Frenchman named Ponce de Mar-sailles. After discovering the comet, however, he carelessly mislaid it, and it had to be discovered all over again by Winnecke a half century later. It comes back every five years.

LEWIS MORE LIKELY WILL OPPOSE GOMPERS AS LABOR'S LEADER

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 18.—In all probability John L. Lewis will oppose Samuel Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor, it was rumored here today by representatives of the various railroad labor organizations. Lewis will decide his candidacy Monday.

LEAGUE FINDS DANZIG MAKES MEXICO ARMS

Council Doesn't Like It, But in Doubt as to Action.

GENEVA, June 18.—The disclosure that 10,000 gun barrels are being laid by an arms factory in the free city of Danzig for Mexico, caused a mild sensation at the meeting of the council of the League of Nations today. M. Hanotaux, the French representative expressed in short terms his surprise that a municipality under the guardianship of the league was making war materials.

Herr Sahn, president of the free city, explained that the order had been received last October before the constitution was adopted. He said it was difficult to change the factory immediately for the manufacture of other articles.

THOROUGHbred IN RACE BREAKS LEG, IS GIVEN "COUP DE GRACE"

NEW YORK, June 18.—Broom-spun, one of the best 3-year-olds in the H. P. Whitney horse racing stable, broke a leg in the Carlton handicap at Aqueduct today and was put to death.

Playfellow, full brother to the noted thoroughbred Man O' War, bought by the Ramocas stable Friday night for a price said to be $115,000, finished second in the Carlton, four lengths behind his stable-mate, Knobbie, recently purchased for $25,000.

BIG RAID!

CHICAGO, June 18.—More than 500 men were arrested today in a series of raids on alleged gambling resorts by policemen under direction of the state's attorney's office. The raids were inspired, it was said by the determination to rid the city of gambling.

HUSBAND WHO SAID SHE "DOPED" HIM ON CANDY WEDS HER AGAIN

Not doped with "sleeping chocolate drops" this time, but with his eyes open and his own free will, Edward E. Ryan, 20 years old, of Chicago, is married again to Thelma Jesswein, 16 years old. Last October Ryan brought suit for annulment of the marriage, telling the court that after a brief acquaintance with Miss Jesswein, she induced him to eat some chocolates. He said he felt asleep and awoke a married man. The marriage was annulled. They were recently married for the second time at Minneapolis.

NEW COMMANDER OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Mich., who served as the national vice-commander of the American Legion, has succeeded the late Colonel Fred Galbraith as the commander. Mr. Emery, who is in the real estate business in Grand Rapids, entered the army as a captain of infantry and went overseas Nov. 27, 1917. He was discharged March 31, 1919. He is a member of the state executive committee of the American Legion and of the Military Order of Foreign Wars. He served on the special committee of the legion that drew up the four-fold plan of adjusted compensation that later was embodied in the Fordney bill. He is a member of the Carl A. Johnson post No. 2, of the department of Michigan.

DALLAS CLERICUS FLAYS PREVAILING MORALS OF YOUNG

FORT WORTH, June 18.—Detailed disclosures and reports by several priests regarding instances of immorality said to be the outcome of immodest dressing, jazz music, modern dancing and night riding in automobiles by unchaperoned youths are causing the Dallas clericus to flay the prevailing morals of young people.

GIRL STUDENT U. OF T. GOOD IN ADVERTISING

AUSTIN, June 18.—Evidence of the progress being made in college instruction in advertising is shown by the fact that a student in the University of Texas attended the convention of the Advertising Clubs of the world held in Atlanta, Ga., June 12-16. Miss Louise Gladney of Dallas was sent as a delegate to this meeting by Gamma Alpha Chi, the woman's honorary advertising fraternity in the university.

Miss Gladney is president of the university organization, and has been specializing in this phase of journalistic work. She has already had practical experience in advertising for one of the large newspapers of the state during the summer, and during the past school session was advertising manager of the Daily Texan. When she returns from the convention she will be engaged in newspaper work in San Antonio.

Gamma Alpha Chi was established in the university last year, and now has eight active members. The young women are all taking courses in advertising and intend to continue this line of work after they finish their education here. The society is affiliated with the National Association of Advertising Men.

Miss Gladney is also a member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional fraternity of journalistic women.

HEAT KILLS!

CHICAGO, June 18.—Several deaths and many prostrations from excessive heat were reported today, when the mercury touched 95 degrees for the second time in forty-eight hours. Showers which fell during the afternoon failed to bring any relief.

Man Who Answered 'Here' For Bergdoll Died In Battle

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States opened today a campaign against the proposed cash bonus for former service men, sending a statement of its position to the president, the cabinet, members of congress and 1,400 trade and commercial organizations.

While insisting on the physical and mental rehabilitation of physically unfit ex-service men, the organization seriously doubted benefits which might come from the cash payments to able bodied ex-soldiers.

HIGH PRICES OF SHOES DUE TO BIG PROFITS

Earnings of Manufacturers, Tanners and Dealers Out of All Proportion.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—High prices of footwear which obtained during 1918 and were increased in 1919 resulted from "abnormal conditions of supply and demand, both economical and psychological, arising from the war," the Federal Trade commission today reported to the representatives. The report was submitted in response to a resolution.

"Incident to these conditions," the report added, "were large margins of profit taken by tanners, shoe manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers," whose large earnings were declared to be "out of all proportion to the increase in their cost per unit."

The advance in the price of shoes finally was terminated by the "so-called buyers' strike" in the spring of 1920, according to the report.

Based on Actual Cost.

Failure of leather and shoe prices to decline as extensively as did hide prices after the "buyers' strike" was attributed by the commission to "a tendency to base selling prices on actual rather than replacement costs," and to the fact that other prices had not declined as much as had raw materials.

"In any event," the report concluded, "the present price of hides and skins and the condition existing in these phases of industry, justify an expectation of still further declines in the quoted prices of leather and shoes."

The report claims large profits on the part of the tanners, shoe manufacturers and wholesalers and retailers in 1918 and 1919. Earnings of 361 reporting shoe manufacturers representing 62 per cent of the 1919 production, averaged 16.2 per cent on their total investment, according to the commission's figures.

Selling Prices Increased Rapidly.

"These large earnings of tanners and shoe manufacturers," the report says, "were due primarily to the fact that their selling prices increased out of all proportion to the increases in their costs of production."

Earnings of 32 typical shoe wholesalers and jobbers averaged about 22 per cent on the investment in 1918 and about 31 per cent in 1919. Earnings of 46 typical shoe retailers averaged about 25 per cent in 1918 and about 32 per cent in 1919. These earnings, like those of the tanners and manufacturers, resulted from wide margins of profit taken on each shoe sold.

There was an important decrease in the supply of imported hides in 1918 and 1919, the commission said, but it could not subscribe to that as the reason why prices of shoes soared even after hide stocks were available in quantity and quotations lower.

The commission notes a change in the retail demand to a higher quality of shoes in spite of the greater prices exacted. This was in addition, according to the report, to a marked demand for shoes in 1919, but a slackening followed in 1920, when the "buyers' strike" took on nationwide scope.

PUEBLO'S NEEDS HAVE BEEN FULLY CARED FOR

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The needs of Pueblo have been fully met, it was announced here today by Livingston Farrand, chairman of the national Red Cross.

"Our executives were on the scene of the disaster working with the Pueblo Red Cross committee shortly after the waters engulfed the city," Farrand declared.

ALLEGED "BLUEBEARDESS" IS HELD WITHOUT BOND

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, June 18.—Mrs. Lydia Southard, held on a charge of murdering Edward F. Meyer, her fourth husband, today was denied liberty on bond by Judge O. P. Duval.

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The man who took Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's place when the convicted draft evader, now a fugitive in Germany, failed to appear, died a hero in the Argonne forest after being cited by the commanding general of his brigade for bravery in action in one of the most noteworthy battles of the world war. He was Russell C. Gross of this city, a private in Company E, Three Hundred and Twenty-eighth Infantry.

That was revealed tonight by the Overseas post of the American Legion, which has been making an investigation.

Gross, who was 23 years old, was the first man called by the draft board after Bergdoll failed to respond to the call.

VETS RESENT BEING IGNORED BY HARDING

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Republican congressmen are receiving protests because President Harding's executive order on postmaster examinations failed to provide for preference for ex-service men.

Former soldiers are complaining that the Republican seem more anxious to take care of party warriors than men who shouldered muskets in the world war. In the administration of the Wilson executive order former soldiers were given the preference.

The Harding administration, however, makes no such distinction and in addition the Republicans are ordering new examinations in places where former service men successfully passed examinations and are serving as acting postmasters.

Several of the complaints have asked if there is any connection between the failure to recognize former service men and the speech of Ambassador Harvey at London in which he said Americans fought because they were afraid not to fight. The Harvey speech has never been repudiated by President Harding.

BRITISH CONSIDER HOW TO STOP WAR BETWEEN GREEKS AND TURKS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, June 18.—The best and quickest way to prevent the impending war between Greece and the Turkish nationalists is engaging the attention of the British foreign minister, Lord Curzon, and Premier Briand, who held two conferences today at the foreign office. Count Bonin Longare, the Italian ambassador, participated in the afternoon conference.

Suggestions made by Lord Curzon included giving all of Anatolia to the Turks and making the village of Smyrna autonomous. Should the Turks refuse this arrangement it is declared that financial aid will be given the Greeks in their offensive.

"HARDING'S FOREIGN POLICY OF GREAT INFLUENCE"—COOLIDGE

By Associated Press.

NILES, Ohio, June 18.—President Harding's attitude in pacifying Europe has been of far greater influence than realized, not through entanglements but in holding a strictly American policy in well expressed notes to foreign governments, Vice-President Coolidge told an audience at the unveiling of a bust of President Harding here today at the McKinley memorial.

SPRINTER PADDOCK SMASHES MORE RECORDS

By Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., June 18.—Charles Paddock, University of Southern California sprinter, lowered the records for 90, 110, 130, 150 and 200 yards at tryouts for the national A. A. U. championships, according to official timing but injured a muscle in his right leg just before reaching the last mark. Paddock's time for the various distances follows: 90 yards, 8 4-5 seconds; 110 yards, 10 1-2 seconds; 130 yards, 12 2-5 seconds; 150 yards, 14 1-5 seconds; 200 yards, 19 seconds. He also tied the record for 100 yards at 9 3-5 seconds, the timers said.

The marks were made in the 110 and 220 yard dashes, three tapes being stretched in each case.

LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE HEAD IS RE-ELECTED

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 18.—Everett C. Brown of Chicago, was re-elected president of the National Livestock exchange at the closing session of the annual convention today. J. S. Boyd of Chicago, was re-elected secretary, and M. A. Moody of St. Louis was re-elected treasurer.

Kansas City was selected for the next annual convention.

HARDING AND M'KINLEY ARE SHOWN HONORS

Bust of Executive Incumbent Unveiled in Honor of Martyred Chief.

By Associated Press.

NILES, Ohio, June 18.—The nation's president and a martyred president, both Ohio's native sons, Warren G. Harding and William McKinley, were showered with equal praise here today at the unveiling of a bronze bust of the former in memory of the latter.

While Vice-President Coolidge, Secretary of Labor John D. Davis, Governor Davis of Ohio and Congressman Cooper of Youngstown, extolled the lives of the living and the dead presidents' from the shadow of the white marble building, the gigantic statue of the martyr gaze solemnly and majestically on the throng that gathered there, the sweltering sun to pay homage to his memory.

The similarity of character, purpose, ambitions, achievements and lives of the two were themes on which the speakers dwelt at length.

"McKinley set before the country not only an example of political wisdom," declared the secretary of labor, "but he gave it an example of moral fire. He touched the fainting moral strength of the people. He put the fire of his own will to theirs and they left off their foolish fears and went forward again with a new vim and prospered as never before."

"Now again we have before us a leader with the same sure faith, the same high confidence in the strength and purpose of our people. Already the hopeful, helpful reasoning spirit of President Harding is reflected back on the nation with a quickening effect. In his few short weeks in office President Harding has shown the good will of McKinley, the patience and forbearance of Lincoln and the drive of Roosevelt."

SOLON WOULD GIVE TEXAS 20 CONGRESSMEN

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Texas would be given twenty congressmen, instead of eighteen, as at present under the terms of a bill introduced by Representative Sweet of Iowa. The apportionment bill as passed by the house last year gave Texas sixteen congressmen, but it died when the senate failed to take action.

The bill which passed the house at the last session left the total house membership at 435. The Sweet bill would raise it to 460. Whether the total house membership will be increased as yet is uncertain, though there is much more sentiment for the increase than there was at the last session when more than one hundred members who were to retire voted.

There has been much dissatisfaction among Republicans at the delay of congressional action in springing about reapportionment. The state legislature generally went Republican by overwhelming majorities at the last election and Republican congressmen say there was never such a chance nor will there again be such a chance for legislatures to restrict in a manner that would keep congress Republican.

THREE MEN IN BOAT WILL CIRCLE GLOBE

By United Press.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A modern version of "Three Men in a Boat" will be presented by Captain Mimer Tønning and two companions, who will leave this month for a voyage around the world.

The trip will be made in an open lifeboat, equipped with a sail. The only shelter will be a canvas cover for the bunks. The boat will carry 14 weeks' provisions.

The route will be New York, England, Gibraltar, Suez canal, Sumatra, Philippines Island, Hawaii, California, Panama canal, and back to New York. They believe the voyage will require 16 to 18 months.

Tønning's companions are Othar Pettersen and Helge Westerling. All are members of the Norwegian Masters and Mates' association.

EASTLAND COUNTY'S TAX RENDITIONS TO SHOW BIG INCREASE

EASTLAND, June 17.—The county commissioners of Eastland county are this week sitting as a board of equalization straightening out the tangles and controversies in the tax assessor's rolls. Many of the property owners of the county have been summoned to appear before them and show cause why their taxes should not be raised.

The rolls show a large percentage of gain over the rolls of previous years, due to the diligence of Tax Assessor Collins and his deputies, and it is said the total renditions will approximate $75,000 this year as compared to $55,000,000 last year.

G. O. P. IS AFTER GARNER'S SCALP, REPORT SAYS

Draws Fire of Lobbyists in House While Kitchin Is Ill.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS, Times Washington Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, June 18.—The G. O. P. is after the scalp of Congressman John N. Garner of Uvalde, dean of the Texas congressional delegation, and who to all intents and purposes is the house Democratic leader, due to the illness of Minority Leader Claude Kitchin.
Whisperings about house lobbies for several weeks that the G. O. P. would "get" Garner have progressed to a stage where there is no longer any doubt of the intention.
Chairman Fess of the Republican congressional committee has recently written several letters to Republicans in the fourteenth Texas district, looking to the formation of an organization to defeat Garner. The candidate to try for the place has not yet been selected by the Republicans.
Garner has been a thorn in the Republican side ever since they gained control of the house two years ago. He has been especially troublesome to them during the tariff consideration at this session. It was Garner who charged that the Young emergency tariff bill was a cloak to create a domestic monopoly in chemical drugs and dye products through the application of the license system, which was a part of the emergency tariff bill now in operation. These charges are now being investigated by the senate judiciary committee.
First Blood.
The administration has already struck at Garner by removing T. A. Coleman, collector of customs at San Antonio, and Hugh R. Robertson, district attorney for the western district of Texas, before the term of either expired. Both Robertson and Coleman were appointed by the Wilson administration on recommendation of Congressman Garner. They are the only Texas Democratic office holders to be summarily removed.
The Republican political feeling toward Garner leaked out in a house debate in which Majority Leader Monrell referred to Garner as the most adroit man on the Democratic side.

Garner has been constantly in the proceedings at the house during the present session. His fight against special rules and other short cuts to gag the house has been the most notable feature of the session.
Constantly he has made the record show that the Republicans fear to operate under regular rules of procedure and bring in special rules, which prevent the body from going on record.
Garner's Reply.
He is openly charged with trying to drive a wedge between the older members of the house, and the new members. Garner's reply has been that he is only attempting to have the house operate under rules which will not require the new Republican members to stultify themselves.
It is admitted that no Texas member since Roger Q. Mills and David B. Culberson has occupied the position that Garner now occupies.
A peculiar feature of the situation is that despite the political fight being made on Garner he is personally very popular with the Republicans. A veteran Republican legislator summed the matter up as follows:
"Jack Garner is one of the most charming men in public life when he is outside of the house chamber. On the floor in debate he possesses all the qualities of his Socratic majesty. The Republican theory is that Garner's district believes in the protective tariff doctrine. They expect to line the livestock men up against him by asserting that he is a free trader. He believes that a tariff for revenue is the ideal tariff. Garner has said that he would place a revenue duty on every article coming into the United States."
Supported Tariff Bill.
Last fall when the emergency tariff bill was brought in he supported it on the theory that it might bring some relief to the sorely distressed farmer. He withdrew his support when the dye license, anti-dumping clause was added.
Garner declared in debate that every Republican tariff measure eventually emerges as a manufacturers' tariff.
This seems to be borne out by information that has come from the ways and means committee room, from which Democrats have been locked for weeks, while Republicans in star chamber session were trying to write a tariff bill.
The chemical schedule is virtually an embargo against foreign importation; the duty on earthenware and glassware is higher than in the Payne-Aldrich bill; in spite of protests of retail lumber dealers a 25 per cent ad valorem has been placed on lumber; raw material in flax, jute and hemp have been placed on the free list and increased protection given to manufacturers.

Wool raisers in the permanent bill lose a large part of the protection they had in the emergency bill. Duties on manufactured woolen goods are boosted substantially.
The greater protection given agricultural products in the emergency bill have been substantially cut down. Ordinary cotton, such as raised in the South is kept on the free list as are hides.
Taken as a whole the Fordney-Penrose bill affords little protection to raw materials, but takes care of the manufacturers handsomely.
NEW BRITISH MONOPLANE HAS ODD SLOTTED WINGS
LONDON, June 15.—The new Handley-Page monoplane, which is at present under construction, has been designed specially for slotted wing, and the slot will be capable of being opened and closed at will. Not much can be said regarding the machine at present.
The engine will probably be a 350-horsepower Rolls-Royce, and the speed is expected to be more than 100 miles per hour. The cabin is designed to seat ten or twelve passengers.

PARIS TAXI DRIVERS HAVE THEIR OWN SOVIET

PARIS, June 16.—Paris taxi drivers will not go to Moscow or become in any way affiliated with the Third International. They prefer to run their own little soviet in their own little way on the streets of Paris, where they delight in jostling fares and in generally making a trip round the city as uncomfortable as possible.
At a recent meeting to discuss adherence to the Third International the Communist drivers lost out by 862 votes against 596.

TORREADOR DIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED IN BULL RING

MADRID, June 18.—Ernesto Pastor, Mexican torreador, died today as a result of injuries sustained last Sunday, in the bull ring here.
The physicians in attendance had considered the hurts of Pastor unimportant, but blood poisoning set in.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17.—Five hundred thousand acres is the Canadian government estimate of the new land that will be placed under cultivation in Manitoba this year. This large increase is expected to make the present banner year of the province in farm production.

CAVEIN HOLDS UP OWENS NO. 1 AS BIT'S LOST

Lowered Drilling Costs Stimulate Activity in Region of Pecos.

Special to the Times.
PECOS, Texas, June 18.—An underground cave at 70 feet in the Owens No. 1 in Eastern Culberson county is delaying operations at that recently started well. When the tool first penetrated this underground opening the bit was lost from the drill stem, and an effort was made to find it with fishing tools. No sign of the bit was discovered and it has fallen over to the side. Tests and surveys are being made in an effort to determine what kind of a conductor can best be used in passing through this opening in order to insure a straight hole from that depth down. The cave is understood to be about twenty feet deep.
Recent rains have brought crews to the Gossett and the Consolidated Sulphur company's locations in Eastern Culberson county, and drilling operations have been resumed. The Gossett is the only core-cutting rotary rig in the field, and it had made 150 feet when compelled to stop operations because of lack of water late last fall. It is situated in the base of the Rustler hills. The Consolidated is located in the sulphur mining regions, and is regarded as a test of the sulphur formations as well as an oil wildcat.
Sixteen rigs are actively operating in the vicinity of Pecos at the present time, the lowered drilling costs enabling many operators to keep going with less strain on the strong box. The Trans-Pecos has had excellent showings in a runny sand at between 600 and 900 feet, but has been unable to handle it for production, due to the fact that the hole fills up rapidly when attempts are made to determine the production. However, as the evidences of oil are very plain, the drill is being sent down in search of a more favorable sand.

The deepest test in the field, the Toyah Bell, in southern Loving county, is operating below 3,200 feet in salt rock and lime, and according to geologists reports is nearing a break between the Permian and Pennsylvanian, in which many geologists expect to find the big oil of the Pecos territory. The River No. 1 of the Arthur Pitts company is drilling in a similar formation at 1,900 feet, and making good progress with some showings of migratory oil in the salt.

EL PASO.—H. C. Stewart, county farm demonstration agent for El Paso county has returned from Dona Ana county, New Mexico, where he inspected the work which was done in exterminating pocket gophers. All gophers in the county were exterminated, he reported, at a cost of only $3,500. The gophers caused a loss of $60,000 annually to the farmers, by causing seepage in irrigation ditches.

BRIDGE ACROSS SAN FRANCISCO BAY PLANNED

One Scheme Calls for Tube to Island Half Way to Mainland.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—San Francisco's "Chinese Wall," as some have called the waters of San Francisco bay which separates this peninsular city from the continental mainland of Alameda county, is to be crossed, according to plans announced here recently. All the plans call for a bridge across the bay, with one scheme proposing a tube to Yerba Buena Island, half way across, and a bridge the rest of the distance. Bridging the bay would, it is claimed, bring closer together the city of San Francisco with the cities of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and other points on the continental side of the metropolitan area. Daily, hundreds of thousands of people who live across the bay cross on the ferries and generally, on Sundays and holidays, the ferry systems cannot keep up with the crush of automobiles seeking passage across.

Engineers are discussing the type of bridge to be built. The proposal to utilize Yerba Buena island calls for a tube from the San Francisco side, a railroad around the island and a suspension bridge to the end of one long ferry pier already built. Another scheme is to cross the bay with a bridge over the shallow waters leading to the lower sections of the harbor.

Gustav Lindenthal, widely known eastern engineer, has drawn a set of plans for a proposed bridge. It was announced here, and A. J. Rich, San Francisco financier, had declared that the money for the bridge proposed by Lindenthal can be raised without difficulty.

Chambers of commerce on both sides of the bay, together with the San Francisco Motor Car Dealers' association, are supporting the proposals.

DR. MACCRACKEN REFUSES TO QUIT VASSAR FOR BUFFALO

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 18.—Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken announced at the Vassar college commencement exercises today that he will not accept the offer to become chancellor of Buffalo university, but will remain as president of Vassar.

Announcement was made that $1,000,951 has been raised toward the $3,000,000 salary endowment fund. Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pratt of Brooklyn gave $50,000.

New Yorkers Get Stiff Neck Vainly Trying to Locate 'Daylight' Comet

NEW YORK, June 18.—Traffic stopped in lower Manhattan and stayed stopped for the better part of the noon hour today while every neck south of Chambers street canted upward to look at the comet. The epidemic spread up the island, but with diminishing vigor.

The name of the first man to discover the Pons-Winnecke wanderer in the noon day sky has been lost to posterity. Whoever it was he passed the word along. The New Yorker's gnawing fear that he may be missing something did the rest. From two men looking upward at the corner of Fulton street and Broadway, two million were blinking skyward fifteen minutes later. Everybody and his stenographer, the traffic cops, and the dray horses froze in their tracks and tilted their chins.

"Like a Balloon." There it was! About 75 degrees above the horizon in the southwest sky. At first you couldn't see it. Then you looked longer and harder, and finally you saw it. "Like a little white balloon, only with a sort of tail," seems to have been the favorite description.

The weather bureau hopes every one had a pleasant lunch hour, and it wouldn't rain on the picnic for anything, but New York (perhaps not for the first time), was kidding itself.

"You don't want us." Forecaster James Scarr told a Globe reporter. "You want to talk to the pickpockets' union. They discovered the comet. I suspect. I don't know what the crowds were looking at. It is possible it may have been a planet, though I haven't looked that up. It may have been a toy balloon, but the probability is a strong one that it was nothing at all. And it is a certainty that it wasn't the comet."

In Northern Sky. It appears, according to the weather bureau, that the comet is in the northern sky, not the southwest; that its brightness is that of a sixth magnitude star such as only a keen eye can make out on a dark night, and that if all the near-sighted persons, who thought they saw a comet as close to the noon-day sun as the crowds were pointing today, really had seen one it would have been high time to stop business and take up hard lessons.

At Columbia University the astronomical department has shut down for the summer and nothing authentic could be added to this.

But the Standard News association, which supplies a news service to all New York papers, sent out the following warning to editors timed at 1:22 p. m.:

"Several hundred persons are congregated in groups in Park Row, and City Hall Park and are looking up. There may be an interesting story."

There was!

BEST TIME TO SEE COMET
IS AT TWO IN MORNING

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Those New Yorkers who are trying to see the comet will look in vain during the day or early hours of the night. "At this time of the day (2:30 p. m.)," said Prof. A. Hall, naval observatory expert on this comet, "the comet is below the horizon. About 2 tonight, twelve hours later, it will be faintly visible. There is no danger of any one receiving injury from the comet. About June 25 we go through the plane of the comet's orbit and will have some meteors from it, but the danger of personal harm to any one on this globe is very remote."

DIVISION COMMANDER SALVATION ARMY TO HOLD MEETING HERE

Lieutenant-Colonel George Wood, commander of the Southwestern division of the Salvation army, composed of the states of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, with headquarters at Dallas, Texas, accompanied by Adjutant H. G. Robb, young people's secretary of the same division, will be in Ranger Wednesday, June 22, and will conduct open air services, corner Main and Austin streets, at 7:30 p. m. and at 8:30 p. m. a big Salvation meeting at the army hall, 323 South Austin street. This is Colonel Wood's first series of meetings in Ranger, and everyone is invited to hear him. He is one of the most gifted of Salvation army officers and is said to be a speaker of much force. Captain and Mrs. Mullins, who are in charge of the local work, promise good music and good singing at the meeting.

EL PASO.—Remodeling of the federal building here is under way. An appropriation of $100,000 has been granted to put the building in better condition. The building houses the internal revenue, prohibition, customs, federal court and commissioners court offices.

ELKS' DANCE.
The Elks entertained with a dance at Shamrock park Wednesday evening. There were about fifty couples present and they followed the rounds of dances dictated by cleverly designed programs. The music was furnished by Kirkland's orchestra. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

SEWING CLUB FORMED.
For mutual benefit and pleasure, a number of girls met at the home of Mrs. Brookes on Stevens avenue Tuesday afternoon and organized a sewing club, with the intention of meeting once a week and accomplishing something worth while during summer vacation.

Miss Virginia Brookes gave several piano numbers. Kodak pictures were taken of the club and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Shipp. The club will meet next week with Misses Enalie and Mildred Wolf.

The following officers were elected—
President, Gladys Hanks; vice-president, Eulalie Wolf; secretary, Virginia Brookes; critic, Gladys Mad-docks.

HEJL-JONES.
Miss Lorena Jones and Mr. Will F. Hejl were married at noon Saturday, June 18, at the home of Rev. J. W. McKinney, 829 Blackwell road. After the ceremony they left on the Sunshine Special for Dallas and will be at home in a few days in the Greenwood apartments.

Mrs. Hejl is well known in Ranger and has recently been in the employ of the postoffice. Mr. Hejl is with the Prairie Oil & Gas company.

MRS. ERNST ENTERTAINS.
Mrs. Ernst entertained with four tables of bridge at her home Wednesday afternoon.

ORGANIZATION NOTES.
St. Mary's Episcopal Guild was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Burden on Friday afternoon. After the business was dispensed with, delicious refreshments were served and a musical treat was given by little Miss Guder on the violin, accompanied on the piano by her sister, Mrs. Wakefield.

The executive board of the 1920 club met in the club rooms of the public library on Friday, June 7. All left-over business was discussed with the exception of the New Year Book might go to press.

One hundred ladies enjoyed the hospitality of the Ranger Baseball club at the ball game Friday afternoon.

PERSONALS.
Mrs. Elsie Lehmann left Thursday for Menard, Texas.
Nelson Hemman has returned from a few weeks business and pleasure trip in El Paso and district points in New Mexico.
Mr. and Mrs. George Don O'Van of Ocean Park, Cal., have been guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Phillips.

Miss Martha Laster and her small niece, Annie Finley, arrived in the city Friday for an extended visit with the family of Miss Laster's sister, Mrs. George Hemmington.
Mayor John M. Gholson who has been in Colorado for the past two weeks on business returned home Friday night. He visited in Denver and other points.

Mrs. N. Sims who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George L. Pellerin, left Tuesday for Fort Worth, where she will visit her brother, W. M. Kent, before returning to her home in New Orleans.

Miss Mabel Sanderford has returned from Oak Cliff high school in Dallas, from which she graduated this year.
Misses Mary and Rebecca Sanderford have returned from the State university in Austin, Texas, and will spend the summer with their parents in Ranger.

Mrs. Robert Kendrick went to Eastland Tuesday to attend a bridge party at the home of Mrs. P. J. Coppedge.

Mrs. Willie Howard of Gordon is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Davenport.

Ben Thornburg, purchasing agent of Frick-Reid, is making a business trip through the fields and was in Ranger a few days during the past week.

A Davenport has returned from Mexico, Texas where he has been on a short business trip.

RANGER'S "SEA-SIDE."
A motor car was standing on the road to Sinclair Lake at dusk the other evening. Instead of using the one-way plank bridge, the car had run its nose down to the water's edge before stopping. At first it looked like an accident but soon the reason for the car's unusual position was discovered. Two gentlemen were serving old "Betsy" a drink of fresh spring water out of a dainty drinking cup. The unusual scene was made complete by the attire of the two gentlemen. They were most strangely clad.

They were entirely enveloped in bath robes, their hair straining down in wisps between their eyes and water dripping from all visible points. It was a strange sight to meet upon a road far from a busy thoroughfare of a congested city.

Strangers would no doubt have inquired if there were asylums in these parts. But to a native Rangerite these men, and also women, are a common sight. These two had only been doing what many others do every hot night—taking a little dip in Ranger's swimming holes.

In this respect Ranger is as much a summer resort as any of the fashionable sea side resorts. Every evening crowds of young folks gayly don their smart bathing suits and latest Newport bathing caps and hidden securely beneath the drapings of a dressing gown, they dash out to their favorite swimming pool.

They plunge into the cool passive waters of the Sinclair, Shamrock or any of the other assortment of lakes to be offered, with daily increasing fervor. After all it is the attitude of the mind that is all that is necessary to make a successful summer resort. The Rangerites have the right attitude about the matter and have now one of their own.

Their nightly dip, enjoyed with the refreshing breezes from the Texas plains rippling up the waters, improves their health as much as any amount of wave-jumping in the ocean could do. As in regular resorts, they visit the restaurants and delicatessens of the town after each nightly dip.

BAPTIST PICNIC WAS THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

The Baptist all-day picnic in the woods of Lake Massasoit Friday was entirely a success. It is true that the crowd was not as large as was expected but the pep of those who did come made up for the minus ones.

In some respects it was almost a kiddies' party. Many parents entrusted their children to the care of those grown-ups who were going and sent them alone. Besides the planned afternoon sports, swimming was indulged in to a great extent and many of the youngsters returned about 6 o'clock burned a dark brown.

As far as the eats are concerned, one can only judge how good they must have been from the words of one little fellow who respectfully sat down to the table with his parents upon returning from the picnic but who could not be induced to eat a mouthful. "I never saw so many big frosted cakes, fruit and good stuff to eat in all my life. I guess I've had enough to last a week!"

ALL ARE MAVERICKS THAT COME TO ELKS' JAMBOREE FRIDAY

Its maverick celebration to be held next Friday night at the Shamrock park will be the most elaborate affair the local order of Elks has ever staged. It is for Elks only and visitors are to be prepared for from every point in this district. The celebration will begin with a real feed at 6:30 p. m. After this is over many candidates will be fed the brand of paprika that is being prepared for them. All the order promises these is a free ride to the hospital if needed and flowers without charge provided weeping wreaths are found necessary. Five parties of candidates for five nearby cities will be given the Elks degrees.

All this however is said to be only preliminaries. After it is over there will be an entertainment. Just what form it will take the committee refuse to say. Their only comment is that it will be worth attending.

Only Elks of good standing and candidates will be admitted.

MUCH INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN NATIONAL CONTEST ON ESSAYS

Various government agencies and national organizations are announcing the 1921 good roads and highway transportation essay contest, which is open to all pupils of high school grade. The national prize is a four-year scholarship in the university or college chosen by the successful contestant, the scholarship being offered by Harvey S. Firestone, well known tire manufacturer of Akron, Ohio, and is valued at $4,000 which is sufficient to pay tuition and all expenses at the school.

Frost Motor company, local dealer, gives further details regarding the contest. He says the essay must contain no more than 500 words. The subject is "Good Roads and Highway Transportation," and all essays must be in the hands of the local committee by June 15. School superintendents will be glad to give prospective contestants all information desired.

"Last year Mr. Firestone's scholarship offer was responded to by nearly a quarter of a million students," says Mr. Frost, "the prize being won by Miss Katherine Butterfield of Weiser, Idaho. In addition to winning the scholarship, Miss Butterfield was recently paid the high honor of being called to Washington to receive her certificate at the hands of President Warren G. Harding."

"The idea of this contest is to bring before the pupils and their parents and everybody the urgent need for immediate improvement in the national highway system."

SEEKERS OF OIL IN AUSTRALIA LOSE HOPE

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 18.—Seekers of oil in Australia are beginning to regard their search as hopeless; it is said here. Although hundreds of thousands of pounds have been spent by the federal government and private firms in seeking oil in the commonwealth, nothing worth while has been found.

Money rewards, as well as riches in oil, await the successful. The commonwealth government has offered a reward of 25,000 pounds for oil in payable quantities and the N. S.

"PEGGY" JOYCE THE BARBER'S DAUGHTER

You probably couldn't guess who this is in any number of tries. It is the photograph taken—it would not be polite to say how long ago—of Peggy Joyce, beautiful actress, now suing her latest millionaire husband for a divorce. The picture was taken in Farmville, Va., where Peggy was raised. Her father, Sam Upton, is the village barber.

Jasper Decides to Invest in "Blinkers" After Gazing Too Long Toward the West on "Petticoat Lane" Saturday Afternoon

JASPER Jones and the reporter were standing frankly staring up Main street. In the west the sun was beginning to fall toward Eastland hill.

"I never weep for blind men," Jasper said, "until June comes and petticoats go out of style. It must be awful to know that the scenery on main street is of sheer beauty filled through gossamer threads, and not be able to view it. Poor blind men!"

Jasper's eyes were watering, but he was not weeping for those with sightless eyes. He had been gazing too

How Changed Are Thy Ways, Oh Purveyor of Small Talk, Under Modernity's Spell!

It has often been said and frequently noted that "the old order changeth." If we may believe the writers of twenty-five years ago, when a swain told his buddy of his latest conquest, he dwelt at length on the beauties of her eyes, her hair, and the wonderful sweetness of her smile. The same writers tell us that one girl would rave to her chum about how handsome and debaucher her newest lover was. His teeth and his beautiful manners would come in for a moment's praise.

It might have been that way twenty-five years ago but now. Yea, no.

Today the lasses' conversation runs something like this: "Listen, old kid, he is the swellest toddler that ever touched a shoe heel to a glazed floor. He is simply divine, and Mame, when the band plays one of those shaky squirmy things—you just never want to quit!"

The swain corners a friend and his conversation runs on this order: "Oh, boy! but that chicken has a pair—!" But a thought intrudes.

With a cold eye the editor of this paper recently said, "Young man," speaking to the writer; "if we must have jazz, let us have jazz with decency."

But Now!

government has a standing offer of 10,000 pounds for oil.

Many of the searchers have centered their activities in the neighboring territory of Papua, where in some sections oil is actually trickling from the earth at the rate of two or three gallons a week. Despite this, government engineers have been unable to find the oil in commercial quantities.

Oil is a tremendously important thing to this country of wide distances, for the motor, in cars and in airplanes, promises to solve many of Australia's most acute communication problems if only a cheap fuel for the motor can be found.

At present Australians are paying high prices for oil imported from other countries by big companies.

NEGRESS GIVEN DEGREE OF PH. D. AT UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—Miss Sadie Mossell, a young negro woman, will receive the degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Pennsylvania commencement tomorrow. She will be the first of her race in America to be honored with that degree. Miss Mossell lives at No. 2908 Diamond street and her graduation brings to a close a brilliant scholastic career.

She is the daughter of Aaron A. Mossell, the first negro to be graduated from the university law school, and a niece of Dr. N. F. Mossell of the Douglas hospital, who was the first negro to be admitted to the practice of medicine from the West Philadelphia college. She is a granddaughter of Bishop Benjamin P. Tanner of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

STILLMAN A LIBERTINE, SAYS WIFE, WHO DECLARES THAT "WALL STREET IS FILLED WITH SUCH MEN"

Says He's Abnormal and Tried to Destroy Their Home; Turned for Relaxation to "Poor Mrs. Leeds" and Filled Yacht With Women.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 18.—Mrs. Anne U. Stillman told of James A. Stillman today; calmly, with almost scientific dispassion, though in the telling she termed him "abnormal, Bolshevik and irresponsible home-wrecker."

She has broken her silence at last. Yes, she would discuss Stillman—she did not call him "Jimmie," no dignifying him with the conventional prefix. And she would discuss him not with "the petty bitterness of a disillusioned wife," but "with the understanding of an enlightened woman."

For two days she has been at the home of John E. Mack, legal guardian for Guy Stillman. Seated on the porch of the Mack home this afternoon she discussed the case.

Her Garb Described.
In dress she was a picture of contrasts. She wore coarse, brown sandals and yet above them showed white silk stockings. A brown vestee encased her bosom, and underneath was a white silk shirtwaist. Around her brown throat hung a heavy gold necklace and over her bobbed black hair was wrapped a blue and red bandana.

A rich, contralto voice that is incisive in its accents; tinkling laughter that revealed large, white even teeth; firm rounded chin; thoughtful blue eyes. All these the interviewer found hard to reconcile with her unusual attire.

There was, however, no contrast in her manner. She spoke with the assurance of one who has studied carefully the presented problem. Once the flash of her blue eyes disturbed this picture, but only for a moment. She was talking of her elder son, James, and his encounter with his father—when the son upbraided the financier for bringing the divorce suit. Then her voice rose, her long white fingers moved uncertainly.

"Wall Street Full of Such Men."

No better illustration of her attitude could be given than this generalization, spoken with her characteristic, cool emphasis: "I can appreciate the feelings of those Socialists and Anarchists persons who would stone us for permitting these things to be. Already we are pointing to us as people of big position and asking what is to become of the humanity if we can wreak our will upon the world."

"It is not of my doing, yet I could scarcely blame anyone who did attack us. Remember Stillman was not the only one. Wall street is full of such men."

When she had flung into her discourse, her method was almost academic. She would begin with Mr. Stillman, and then, classify him as "type." She talked to the effect of the "type" upon the world, upon civilization. She seemed much more interested in the sociological side of the divorce case, than the personal. Yet, when questions were asked about her children, about her contest for Guy, she brushed aside generalities, emphasized her determination "to fight until they bury me."

But even this, she said with a total lack of melodrama, even that which is commonly termed emotion.

Calls Husband Abnormal.
"Mr. Stillman," she said, "is a sick man. He ought to be in a hospital. He is abnormal."

But there was a pause, a searing desire to be scrupulously impartial. Then "He has admirable qualities."

Then came the generalization: "The fault seems to lie with the lives they lead down there in Wall street; the constant struggle for power; the eternal mania for making money—the power complex."

"In a moment of relaxation they turn away from equals to their inferiors. They don't want equals."

She paused, her eyes quietly introspective. Certainly one did not expect the next utterance, so calmly, almost gently given.

"So it was that Mr. Stillman turned to the poor Mrs. Leeds and filled his yacht with women."

And again, came the philosophical conclusion:

"Such women are mere phonographs for expression of certain emotions of these men."

"And—consider this: Mr. Stillman's eldest son refused to shake hands with the father after learning of his way of living. Think of this! It was then her voice rose for the moment, her eyes clouded almost imperceptibly.

"Doesn't it show that there was an abnormal condition of his mind. Surely this was not a normal condition. Stillman tried to destroy his own home, to fling the wreckage all over the world. I mean just that. I have letters from as far away as Japan, in which men and women expressed sympathy with me."

"Gone All Over the World."

Again, as if inevitable, came her conclusion.

"This is not a city or state affair, or even national. This thing has literally gone all over the world. It is not a beautiful thing to say but true. 'A man of great wealth and power to strike at the foundation of the home. What is to become of the state and civilization in this case, if I am not attaching too much importance to myself. Yet what I am passing through I think is a value to the world.'"

est. "They bored me to death," she said.

Later she left the limousine and sat upon a stone fence, while the photographers massed about her. To them she said:

"I don't know why it is, but pictures of me are bad. But, my baby Guy takes a wonderful picture, doesn't he?"

And several moments later she considered the attitude of the radicals who, as she expressed it, desired to stone the Stillmans. But again she emphasized: "Stillman was not the only person who indulged in such recklessness."

Not So Bad.
"No," she said, after a somewhat lengthy pause, "Stillman is not as bad a man as one of his advisors has made him out to be. This advisor is a woman hater. He does not believe in any woman. He would be glad to crush and kill me."

"He has complained I was always crawling out of holes in which he has tried to bury me. But I intend to keep on until they do bury me."

Her voice was quite matter-of-fact. But there was undeniable dignity in the firm, supple figure and the finely cut features, even in the hot sun, with the back-ground of a wheat field and the grey stone wall; the dignity one associates with drawing rooms.

And when she was seated in her limousine it was beside her chauffeur, hat discarded, bandanna fluttering in the wind. Then her eyes brightened, her lips softened into a smile. She was "having a good time."

Later she resumed her talk about woman haters:

"These men believe no woman has any right to life, happiness, least of all equality. Yet Stillman has real friends, who recognized the good qualities he possessed, and they have written me in sympathy."

"I firmly believe my case will teach a lesson to a certain type of Wall street men not easily forgotten. People of America will not tolerate it. American gentlemen, rich or poor, will not treat their families as Stillman has done."

She was asked whether her interest in the divorce suit was not centered on Guy. She replied:

"Well, I always loved children. I understood them, and they seem to understand me. I remember that even the younger people in society, used in the narrow sense, were my favorites. I tried to help them to have their rights recognized."

Rich Are Not Happy. She Says. "Rich men's children," she observed suddenly, "do not have so good a time because their parents are rich. They do not have the chance to develop like other children. No," she shook her head decisively. "The rich are not happy."

Sick of Riches.
"One sickens of riches, if one has any breath of understanding. I am an individualist. I think I have won my spurs as the equal of any one in my family."

And just as the interview ended, she was asked of the statement by her neighbors that she had been seen washing her own clothes that afternoon. She smiled, waved her arms, and said:

"Yes, indeed I love it, here in the open, washing away, and sitting on the porch for the sun to dry the clothes, and then the ironing in the kitchen. I love it."

Hearings in the divorce suit will be resumed here tomorrow before Referee John J. Gleason. Two new witnesses for Stillman are expected to testify. According to report, they are French Canadians who seek to link Mrs. Stillman with Fred Beauvais. Counsel for Mr. Stillman refused to divulge their identity or discuss their significance.

Dr. Hugh Russell, the Buffalo physician who testified previously Mrs. Stillman had confided in him that her husband was not the father of Guy, will continue in his direct examination and then submit to cross-examination. Mrs. Stillman's counsel will make every effort to shake the doctor's story.

Bernard Kelly, former overseer of the Stillman estate at Pocantico Hills, is another witness expected to include his testimony. Kelly has testified he identified letters alleged to have been written by Beauvais.

Mrs. Stillman's amended answer to her husband's complaint will include as co-respondent "Helen," said to be a woman of social standing intimately acquainted with the Stillman family. This would make a total of three named co-respondents—Mrs. Florence Leeds, "Clara" and "Helen."

MANY CHAMPIONS TO LOCK HORNS AT CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.—World national sectional champions from virtually all sections of the United States today were ready to compete in the "American Olympic," the National Collegiate Athletic association track and field meet at Stagg field, University of Chicago. Sixty-one colleges and universities represented by 240 athletes, each of whom won a championship title at conference meets this year or national meets last year. Many of them represented the United States at the Olympic games.

ALIEN WORKERS AT MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD TO BE FIRED

VALLEJO, June 18.—All aliens employed in the navy yard at Mare Island will be discharged as rapidly as citizens of the United States can be placed in their positions. Orders to this effect came from Secretary Denby today. The ruling will apply to all aliens, notwithstanding their rating at the yards. The temporary class will be the first to go, followed by the "permanent" and the "absolute."

It is estimated that 300 aliens will be affected by the order.

Protests to the navy department made by the Vallejo post of the American Legion resulted in the promulgation of the new order.

Recent reports state that Andrew Carnegie established 2,841 libraries.

FRANCE'S FUTURE MAY REST WITH FIGHT'S RESULT

Carpentier's Countrymen May Become Discouraged If He Loses, Expert Says.

By WEBB MILLER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS (By Mail.)—Whether he wins or loses Carpentier's fight with Dempsey eventually will be a big factor in the future military defense of France—and even her material prosperity.

This is the novel view taken by Gaston Vidal, under-secretary of technical instruction in physical culture and sports, the first official minister of sports to be appointed by any government in the world.

"After the enormous losses in the war it is a vital necessity for France to rebuild her depleted man-power if she is to effectively defend herself in any future wars of aggression. As you know, the birth-rate in France is not sufficiently above the death-rate to provide an inexhaustible supply of man-power. France's birth-rate is much lower than here neighbors—especially that of Germany.

"Therefore, it is necessary that France do her utmost to conserve the lives we have and keep the people in good health and physical fitness for service in our armies—if the need ever arises.

"Unfortunately France has always been far behind other nations—including Germany—in physical culture and sports which go to raise the average physical fitness of the nation. That is one reason the present ministry of sports was created.

"That the French people can become as adept as any other people in sports and physical culture has been effectively proved. I have only to cite Carpentier, Lenglen, Veremulen to illustrate that point.

"The problem remains to interest the French people as a whole in athletics. The rest will be automatic.
"Here is where the value of the fight of Georges Carpentier against Dempsey becomes apparent. The attention of France will be fixed in an unprecedented way upon physical attainments—that fight will plant the germ of interest which the ministry of sports hopes to develop. For this reason this single fight may have an incalculable effect upon the future physical development of France as a nation—and therefore her defense if it ever becomes necessary.

"As for the material prosperity of France—that is also affectable in this way. When the physical standards of the masses are raised it will not be necessary to keep young men in training in the army classes each year so long. That will permit men to go back to their normal employment months sooner and thus increase France's powers of production.

"We regard Carpentier as the flag-bearer of all French athletes and French physical culture.
The ministry of sports is already offering inducements for proficiency in athletics to encourage the growth of sports.

Just recently Mr. Pellerin's par-the room with flowers and in kind words tried to show their appreciation

PAPER BOY POPULAR AT LOCAL HOSPITALS

The most popular person at both hospitals is the newsboy. The nurses say so. The reason is because he always carries free copies of The Times

Nurses say their patients are no longer "patients" if the boy follows the usual custom of boys and does not appear on time.

The Times has been going to the Ranger General hospital for more than a year, without cost. The practice was begun with the Clinical hospital only recently.

PHILADELPHIA ADOPTS DRASTIC RULES FOR FIREWORKS ON FOURTH

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The most drastic restrictions ever issued in this city for Independence Day fireworks displays were announced today by the fire marshal.

Sales of fireworks is prohibited by ordinance of council, except by special permit.

The new regulations prohibit the use of bombs or any display within 200 feet of a house. In the application for permits the exact location must be given. The name of the association under whose direction the display is to be held and the name of the concern or individual who is to supervise the display also must be given.

Fireworks to be used must not be stored on any premises for more than twenty-four hours preceding the day the display is to take place.

NITROS WIN ANOTHER BALL GAME—BEAT ORPHANS, 9 TO 8

A Big Seventh, Mingled With Hits and Errors Put Nitros in Lead.

A winning streak at last!

With the help of Fatima, Billiken and the lesser gods, plus a fast infield, the Nitros got away with their second straight contest yesterday afternoon, 9 to 8. It was regular managerie sort of a game, filled with all sorts of things including occasional pitching by Red Hill. Red is just back from Emory, Texas, where he went for a few days' rest. While resting, he lost a 5 to 0, or so a piece in the paper said.

Anyway, Red had plenty of rest yesterday, while the outfielders were running down solid wallpops thence propelled by the Orphans' efforts with the stick. Thirteen safeties the homeless nine garnered during the entertainment, including a double, triple and homer, and how it was they garnered no more runs is a mystery for sleuths to worry about. And at that, they shouldn't have gotten quite all they are ticketed with.

Hop on Red.

Westfall's drive over the fence started the real bombardment of Red. It came in the third session, with no one on, there having been none up. Then in the fourth Flagg, led off with a perfect bunt down by first. It was a natural safety, though mishandled. Bratcher bunted, Red's throw and the runner arrived about the same time and the ball went on as Bratcher and Hamilton collided, Flagg making third. He counted when Earnshaw spanked a hot one past Hamilton, and Bratcher also scored through Ham taking Lovey's relay and becoming interested in a sign on the fence while holding the ball. The shouts of the hot polio around him, his throw was bad and the run counted. The bad throw hit Allen in the groin and laid him out for a few moments. Red's fast fielding of Brownings' bunt nipped Earnshaw at third, and Brownings also died at that base when he tried to take two bases on Brooks' single to right. The overtopped the ball accurately to Murphy and nailed Big Boy with a foot and a half to spare, in spite of his daring Brownings to run. Brownings had impudently turned his back on Lovey, though, and didn't see the dare. So he served him right. Brooks took second on the play and with the second when Westfall for the second time refused to respect Red's pitching.

That gave the Orphans a four-run lead, and the Nitros hadn't garnered a solitary safety off Cruse. So the crowd settled back to get whatever platoon enjoyed it could out of the game, in the manner to which it has become accustomed. This philosophical outlook on the fray continued until the sixth round, when without warning the Nitros hopped on Cruse and drove him from the box. Spuds took a hit in the preceding round and showed the Nitros how. Incidentally that hit allowed the head of the batting order to lead off. Also he it was who thumped out the blow that drove the tying run across.

A Big Inning.

Thirteen men faced Cruse in this inning. Clapp first up, walked. Jody Tate followed with a hard grounder which struck something and bounded over Flagg's shoulder, just in time to prevent a double killing. Singleton hit to center, driving first run across. Earnshaw messed up Hamilton's grounder and Tate counted. Lovey's drive against the right field fence scored Singleton and Murphy's hit through the box made the score four-all. Lovey was on second and Murphy on first when Etz dumped the ball down the base line. Cruse's throw glanced off "Heinie's" shoulder and both Lovey and Spuds chased across the plate. That finished Cruse. Earnshaw went into the box and the Orphans reshuffled themselves. For particulars, see box score. Ernie stopped the real rally, though Etz did across the plate on a close decision, when Flagg intercepted Clapp's high bouncer.

Hamilton and Lovelace both put the ball over the fence in the next round, making the standing 9-4. The game seemed safely in the ice box and the door locked.

But Murphy's miscue on a hard grounder opened it in the eighth, and before it could be closed again, a triple, double and two singles had chased four more runs across. The ninth was tense, but Red's pitching and the fast infield functioned at the same time and there were three outs in a row, though both Bratcher and Earnshaw hit the ball hard.

Fast fielding by Murphy and Etz and Lovey's throw which nipped Bratcher at third, were the headline fielding feats. Etz made up for yesterday's miscues by having a perfect day in spite of hard chances.

BEARCATS TAKE TENSE BATTLE FROM EAGLES

Special to the Times.

BALLINGER, Texas, June 18.—Sam Knight broke up an airtight tenning game today with a three-base crack that scored Liles. Baldridge started for Ballinger but was relieved in the sixth after he had walked three men. Liles went in with one down and the bases loaded and retired the Eagles scoreless. He weakened in the eighth, allowing them a run that tied the score.

John King featured with six great catches in center field. York's work at first also was a feature. Griesenbeck was ejected by Umpire Sorrels. Score by innings: R. H. E. BENNY LEONARD WON'T SEE BIG CHAMP FIGHT

By Associated Press.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., June 17.—Benny Leonard, world champion lightweight fighter, would rather see the Dempsey-Carpenter fight than make $15,000 for thirty minutes work, but Benny's manager, Billy Gibson, has decreed otherwise. So, Leonard instead of watching the fight, will do some fighting himself—more than a thousand miles from the heavyweight clash however.

Leonard will fight Sailor Freedman of Chicago here July 4 and will arrive two weeks earlier to begin training.

In a letter to a friend, Leonard says:

"I had my heart set on seeing Dempsey and Carpenter, but Billy—who is both pal and manager to me—thought I'd better go west and box this Freedman fellow. I don't care about the $15,000—what's that in my give any one chance to say I'm dodging them, so the Freedman fight for me.

"Incidentally, while I don't know much about this Freedman boy, I'm not going to take a chance like I did with Charley White. I'm going to be in condition this time, and the fight won't last long if I have my way."

Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons is gambling to the extent of $35,000 on the Leonard-Freedman fight, which comes two days after the heavyweight title clash. Leonard has been guaranteed $15,000 and Freedman's guarantee, with taxes and expenses will bring the total expenditure to about $35,000.

The arena where the fight will be held will seat 20,000 and the prices will range from $3 to $15.

FREIGHT ON MELONS

TO COLORADO REDUCED

Special to the Times.

HICO, Texas, June 16.—The local chamber of commerce has, through the efforts of the traffic department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, been successful in securing a reduction in freight rates on watermelons from this territory to Colorado points. This work has been accomplished during the past ninety days and the new rates will be effective July 1.

Babe Ruth Makes Baseball History With Record Hit

In a game with the Detroit Tigers at the Polo Grounds, New York, Babe Ruth, the home run king of all times, drove the ball to the center field bleachers for his twenty-third home run of the season. The ball landed 470 feet from the home plate, a drive never before equaled in the history of baseball. The "Babe" broke the record he had established on the previous day, when he clouted the ball into the stands for a distance of 460 feet. Another record he had established was driving out seven home runs in five consecutive days.

Boosters' Day!

Today is Boosters' Day at the ball park.

The Nitros leave on the Sunshine tonight for Ballinger, after having stopped their losing streak and showing signs of the old aggressiveness which kept them around the top of the column until bad luck hit them two weeks ago.

One shift has been made in the lineup which to all appearances makes it better than it was before. That is the Murphy-Tate move. That, it would seem from the two days' play, will be to the benefit of both players. Murphy is the rugged sort of cuss who seems fitted for holding the hot corner through sheer solidity. Also in the past two days he has shown an ability to start with the crack of the bat and cover a world of ground to his left.

Jody also has shown well at second. In the two games played there he has handled thirteen chances in perfect form and aside from a few traces of unfamiliarity with the position during the first day, has played it faultlessly. Jody should make a cracker-jack keystone guardian, as it is called, alert and fast and heaven's underhand. Manager Allen expects him to show even better than he has at third—and that is saying a lot.

Lines are out now for the few players needed to put the Nitros strictly in the running and keep them there. They probably will join the Nitros by the time they come home from the six-day trip to Ballinger and Sweetwater, and all will be set by July 1 for the Nitro hop into the lead and stay there or thereabouts until they bring home the bacon on Labor day and thereafter in the "world's series."

Meanwhile, the morale will be greatly improved if the fans show they are solidly behind the players in their farewell stay. The Nitros have felt very keenly—perhaps more so than the fans—the mishaps and miscues which cost them the first half of the pennant. They were disappointed because fortune had turned its back upon them. Now that they are on the upgrade again, it will hearten them still more, give them more of the enthusiasm that makes for victory, if the fans will pack the grandstand today to bid them farewell.

So today is booster day. It's unofficial, and there will be no ceremonies. But an overflowing grandstand will put new pep and zip into the players. They will know for sure the town is back of them. It's up to Mr. Fann and Miss Fanny.

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS NEEDING GOOD PITCHERS

Half Dozen Lack Hurling Staff to Give Them Part in World Series.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Lack of good pitching probably is costing half a dozen clubs in the two major leagues a chance to take part in the world series next fall, for of the sixteen teams, only four have more than one regular hurler able to win consistently at present. Several clubs have tremendous batting or scoring strength, and with effective pitchers any one of them apparently could make the pennant race a walkaway.

The two New York clubs, Cleveland in the American league, and Pittsburgh in the National league are the only teams able to boast of a pitching staff with as many as two effective regulars. Many clubs have several men on their staffs credited with more victories than defeats, but they are mostly players who have been in only one or two games and are not regulars.

The records show that there is not a club able to boast of the star pitching staffs of a few years ago such as Brown, Pfeister, Overall and Ruelbach of the Chicago Cubs, Mathewson, McGinnity Wiltse and Ames of the Giants; Bender, Waddell and Plank of the Athletics; Walsh, White and Al-trock of the White Sox, or James, Rudolph and Tyler of the Boston Braves' "miracle team."

The New York Giants have Benton, Toney, Nohf and Douglas to bear the brunt of the hurling and each of these has won more games than he has lost. Peritt and Barnes also have done their share, giving the Giants the best pitching staff in either league so far as the number of effective men is concerned.

Pittsburgh's Staff. Pittsburgh has Babe Adams, Wilbur Cooper and Earl Hamilton, three veterans, doing good work, with Glazner, a recruit, leading all of them in the percentage column and Zinn filling in.

For Brooklyn, Grimes has been the only steady winner. Mitchell, Mammox and Ruether have managed to break about even in their games, but their work has been erratic.

The rest of the National league clubs boast of little in pitching. Chicago's staff undoubtedly will improve later when Vaughn and Alexander return to form, but both are out now with lame arms. None of the other clubs has a pitcher who has been able to return more victories than defeats.

In the American league, Cleveland, the world's champion, has Goveleskie, considered one of the best in the circuit, Bagby, who won more games than any other hurler last season; Mails, the sensation of the closing days of the 1920 schedule, and Uhle, who seems at last to have found himself. Mails, however, has not been so effective as last year, and Uhle is not yet ranked as a top-notch.

Yankees' chances. The New York Yankees have had to depend almost entirely on Mays with Piercy, Ferguson and Hoyt, all recruits and Shawkey, a veteran, winning a majority of their games. Detroit's best work has been done by Sutherland, a recruit. St. Louis has only one man—Shocker—who can be said to have a fair chance of even lasting through a game, while Faber has been the only pitcher able to win consistently for the rebuilt White Sox. Sam Jones carries Boston's burden in the box while Zachary is the only man Washington can depend on with Walter Johnson on the shelf with a sore arm. Philadelphia has no one.

Thus, a majority of the clubs have only one man pitching staffs. Detroit with a powerful all around team

SWATTERS AND BRONCS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

Special to the Times.

SAN ANGELO, June 18.—Losing the first game to Sweetwater 3 to 2, but winning the second, a seven-inning affair, 5 to 4, the Broncs today increased their lead over both the Swatters and Abilene.

Fleaharty outpitched Burleson in the first game and his double in the eighth, scoring two men, decided the contest.

Lewis' double in the fifth inning of the second engagement, scoring three and tying the count at four-all, disposed of Richburg, and after Scoggins had sacrificed off Zaplack, who relieved Richburg, scoring Lewis for the winning run, Manager Smith toed the mound.

Score, first game— R. H. E. Sweetwater . . . 001 000 020—3 8 1 San Angelo . . . 000 001 100—2 4 1 Batteries—Fleaharty and Byers; Burleson and Kelly. Score, second game— R. H. E. Sweetwater . . . 011 110 0—4 5 1 San Angelo . . . 010 040 x—5 6 2 Batteries—Richburg, Zaplack, Smith and Byers; Billings and Kelly. Umpire, Price.

TWO TEAMS TO PLAY OUT OF TOWN GAMES

outside the box, would have an easy time winning the pennant, it is generally believed, if Ty Cobb could find a pitcher or two. The New York Yankees have a hitting team and a pitcher or two would put them in a fair way of winning. St. Louis, long a second division club, is generally able to pound out enough runs to win if only its own pitchers could hold the opposition. The White Sox look like world beaters with Faber in the box, but without him they are hopeless. And so on through the leagues. The records show more good base running clubs, more teams with powerful attacks and fewer good pitching staffs than in many years.

Two of Ranger's amateur nines—the Gulf and the Business Men—started out of town games today.

The Gulf team goes to Baird and all players are expected to catch the 1:02 westbound local.

The Business Men take on the strong Caddo team, which has mopped up about all opposition in these parts. Players will meet at Summers' market at 9 o'clock and it is desired to leave soon after that time.

EXISTING LABOR RULES WON'T BE CHANGED BY BOARD, IT DECLARES

CHICAGO, June 18.—Rules and working conditions governing the big four brotherhood will continue in effect until changed by the negotiations between the brotherhood and the railroad or by the railroad labor board, under rulings of the board today. The board's ruling was issued as an interpretation of its decision of April 14, abrogating the board's decision of July, 1920, that the national agreement will be continued pending hearings on the rules controversy by the board.

HOUN' DAWG VAMP HELPS HIS MASTER ROUND UP CANINES

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, June 17.—El Paso has an official "vampire" in the person of a hound dog. His is a fine art and he is proving himself valuable to Dan Dean, city dog catcher.

The dog is an old-fashioned hound with long floppish ears and a shambling gait. He sits on the front seat of the motor truck with Dean when he goes on a dog catching trip. The hound seems to be able to tell all at long range when another dog has on the proper tag, the dog catcher said.

The vampire's work begins when another dog is sighted. The hound jumps down from the seat and tries to play with the stranger. If the new acquaintance doesn't want to play, the hound will then start a fight. Both of these tricks are resorted to in order to give Dean a chance to arrive and lasso the fangless dog. The hound has been known to lure dogs out of their own yards to where they could be captured.

Heretofore the hound has not worn a muzzle, but the city council has ruled that not even a decoy dog was exempt.

FOUR-FOLD SNAKE, KILLED BY WARDEN, HAS 13 RATTLES

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 18.—Game Protector Weed, of Walker Valley, killed a rattlesnake at Glen-spey, Sullivan county, measuring four feet and four inches, including thirteen rattles. Inside the rattler was found a full grown skunk.

Cd residents say this is the largest rattler killed in Sullivan county in fifteen years.

CARPENTIER'S EXPERIENCE IN RING IS BEST

Frenchman Has Met Stiff Opponents in Battles All His Life.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 18.—Georges Carpentier, challenger of Jack Dempsey, is one of the most unusual boxers who ever competed for the heavyweight championship. In temperament and intelligence, there has been none like him among aspirants for heavyweight honors. He will be outweighed by Dempsey when they clash. Other physical measurements may also appear to be to the disadvantage of the Frenchman, but the essential item of courage will not be included in these shortcomings.

Carpentier, born in the coal mining district of Lens, France, fought as a youngster of 12 years, and progressed steadily through the various weight classes, meeting the best boxers of France, England and America until he now stands near the pinnacle in pugilistic sport.

Some of His Fights.
A survey of the opponents Carpentier has met in the ring and sketches of several battles in which he revived from a count of nine to outpoint or knock out his rivals in subsequent rounds convinces one of his ring courage. He has fought among others, Joe Jeannette, Frank Klaus, Billy Papke, Jeff Smith, Harry Lewis, Bombadier Wells, Joe Beckett and Gunboat Smith. Some of them he met when a youth in his late teens. His fights with Frank Klaus and Billy Papke when he was only 18 are declared to have been the most grilling in his career. In victory or defeat throughout his ring campaign, Carpentier has been guided by Francois Descamps toward the heavyweight championship goal which he will endeavor to reach at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City on July 2. The list of opponents Carpentier has met is more impressive than that of Jack Dempsey's rivals. In ring experience, Carpentier is far by the older.

Battle With Wells.
The first battle with Bombadier Wells at Chtet is declared to have been one of the most impressive exhibitions of courage by the young Frenchman, who was outweighed many pounds. He took the count of nine in the first round, to come back and knock out his opponent in the fourth. Before they met the second time, he predicted Wells might last one round but the Englishman was knocked out in less than one minute. Harry Lewis, in the fourth round of a bout, broke two bones in his right hand, hitting Carpentier on the cheek bone with a smash that cut a deep gash under the eye. Carpentier came back to outpoint Lewis in 20 rounds. When he lost a 15-round decision to Joe Jeannette, Carpentier was sent to the mat two or three times but refused to stay and dropped the negro twice for a count of nine.

Saw Army Service.
But this anomaly of the boxing game has done his most important fighting outside the ropes. The cockpit of an army combat plane has seen his most thrilling engagements and greatest demonstration of courage. Cited for heroism several times in the world war, Carpentier wears the Croix de Guerre and the Military Medal of all decorations the most prized by the French soldier.

Comrades of Carpentier relate how they had watched him thousands of feet in the air attacking an enemy or swooping low over a Boche camp or airbase while German anti-aircraft guns tried to make a sieve of his plane. Often, they say, they mournfully uttered good-byes to the youth, only to see him a few minutes later climbing out of the ship wearing the smile that spectators at Jersey City undoubtedly will see when he enters the ring to meet Dempsey.

RED STANLEY, FORMER RANGER BOY, NOW WITH ZIEGFELD FOLLIES

Red Stanley, Ranger boy, who formerly was the trombone artist at the Summer Garden has signed a contract with the Ziegfeld Follies of New York, according to information reaching his Ranger friends. The following press clipping is being exhibited by young Stanley's friends in Ranger:

Roscoe ("Red") Stanley, former solo trombonist of Chicago's Marigold gardens, and appearing at Loew's Lyceum this week with the Lindley Sextet, has received an offer to be featured in a new Broadway musical production when he returns to New York next week.

Stanley first gained recognition as a disciple of legitimate trombone jazz while appearing with John Schonberger, writer of "Whispering," when Schonberger gave the initial rendition of the number at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles, Cal. Since that time he has appeared in cities throughout the country from coast to coast, and has become known mainly through his unique rendition of this type of selection.

Besides having gained the reputation of being an unusual follower of jazz music, Stanley has collaborated on a number of selections which he plans to make use of in Gotham. Among these numbers are "Simple Simon," "Drifting" and "You'll Want to Come Back to Me." Publication of the songs has been withheld until their initial presentation on Broadway.

PUEBLO FLOOD CAUSE S GREAT DESTRUCTION

This, one of the first photographs of the disastrous flood in Pueblo, Colorado, shows a view of Main and Fourth streets, after the flood. One of the walls of the building in the rear collapsed. Note the stranded automobile, with water up to its hub. The loss of life, it is now said, will not exceed 300, and the property damage is estimated at $20,000,000.

THUMBNAILED SKETCHES.

JOHNSON-JEFFRIES BOUT WAS MOST THRILLING

By Associated Press.
In the long list of decisive ring battles through which the mantle worn by Sullivan has passed down the years to the bronzed shoulders of Jack Dempsey, there is no page to compare with that recounting the clash between Jack Johnson and Jim Jeffries in a sun-scorched arena at Reno on July 4, 1910.

Tex Rickard reared a great wooden snapper out on the plains of Nevada to accommodate the thousands who gathered from all over the country to see the tilt. He hung up a purse of $101,000, an unprecedented price in those days.

Jeffries had not fought in more than five years. In the days of his reign in the ring, none had been his master and he had retired voluntarily with no defeats recorded against him. He was 35 years old, an age often reckoned as dotage in the realm of sport. The attempt on his part to restore the championship to the white race was an effort to which he had been induced by a constant clamor from those who despaired of Johnson ever being beaten by the crown of white hopes then seeking matches with him.

It was a great throng that assembled for the battle. Fringed around the great packed arena were rows of "birds' nest," built to shelter the sweet sisterhood from the Reno divorce colony. To them the fight was a charming break in the monotony of serving time. Jeffries trained down to 225 pounds to meet the sleek opponent three years his junior and then in magnificent physical trim. There was vigorous fighting at the start, with Jeffries crouched into serious mein and his opponent erect, grinning and talking as usual.

In the fifth round Jeffries sent a stray left that rocked Johnson and momentarily wiped away his smile. But the worried look on the black face passed, big white teeth again gleamed, and through them came the admonition, "Don't rush, Mistah Jeff, doncha heah what a'm tellin' you?"

"Come on, Jeff, it's easy," he repeated often through the bitter rounds.

Age and five years of freedom from the rigors of training, told on Jeffries and the power of his blows grew less strong as the battle went on. In the 15th round—the last one—Johnson sent him to the ropes with a savage uppercut. Against the drooping head of the weary white man the black fighter then pounded away with one unpercut after another.

The challenger had tried and failed and he fell taking punishment. His

GYPSY MOTHERS SELL DAUGHTERS BUT THEY GO CHEAP TO YOUNG MEN WHO MAKE A HIT WITH PARENTS

By Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 17.—Although it is the custom among the gypsies to have the parents of the prospective bridegroom purchase a wife for their son, covetous wealthy candidates are not always successful when bidding large sums for the maiden's hand.

Such was the information gleaned by John D. Greathouse, a local attorney, who acted as counsel for a Chicago gypsy mother and father, when they came here in an attempt to take back their daughter whom they charged was kidnapped, while the mother of the groom-elect maintained she had paid $2,000 for the girl as a wife for her son.

"I have learned that when the mother of a girl among the gypsies takes a liking to a young man and considers him suitable for her daughter, a nominal price will always get the bride-to-be even though there are other offers much higher by men not so well liked," declared Mr. Greathouse.

The attorney said that under the traditional customs of the gypsies, the younger generation has no voice in determining their mates, and the matching is a matter for the parents only.

Buy 'Em Outright.
"Generally, the mother of a young man, usually around his nineteenth year, picks out a girl, dickers with her parents and buys her outright," the attorney said. "Then they are married according to gypsy law, after which the groom's parents, in almost every case, start him in business of some kind to make a livelihood."

In recent years, certain gypsy parents, after obtaining money for their daughters, have invoked the American law and had the daughters returned, just to resell them, according to Mr. Greathouse. In most cases, however, when the young suitor is thus outwitted his parents get their money returned by going before a gypsy tribunal, before which a trial is held, he said. A few of these cunning gypsies, however, fail to adhere to their native laws and the gypsy court's decisions, and with the aid of the American statutes, defraud parents of the suitor, he added. For such manager hopped into the ring to stop the slaughter whereupon Rickard held up Johnson's hand in signal of victory.

an act, however the gypsies are disowned by their people, the attorney said.

Mr. Greathouse said a settlement had been effected in the case with which he was connected, by having the money returned to the young man's parents and the girl returned with her parents to Chicago.

MICHIGAN TOWN VOTES AGAINST SUNDAY MOVIES

MARLETTE, Mich., June 18.—Strict observance of the Sabbath has been voted by citizens of this village in a referendum suggested by Harry Hobolth, proprietor of its only motion picture theatre. By a vote of 270 to 70 the electors placed the ban on Sunday movies.

The fight for and against Sunday closing had been going on for several months until Hobolth suggested a referendum, agreeing to abide by the decision. Virtually every citizen of voting age cast a ballot.

'JUNETEENTH' PARTY ENJOYED BY NEGROES; EATS WERE PLentiful

Juneteenth went off without a bogle yesterday. Ranger negroes enjoyed the day in characteristic manner. Before the big feed that was spread near Shamrock park, the negroes had a hand parade through the business district of the town. When it came time to eat, two tables were spread for the whites to enjoy the day and one for the colored.

One fellow at least got his money's worth. One of the brethren in reciting the facts said that he was the "hungeriest man he ever saw. Why, dat fella et five times and when the dinner was over he was still looking for somethin' else to eat."

Practically every dinky in the city who was not padlocked to his job was out and many were here from surrounding towns.

TORPEDO WAGON IS WINNER IN CLASH WITH HUMBLE FORD

A Ford and a torpedo wagon had a small collision on Pine street late yesterday afternoon. Perhaps due to its potential force the torpedo wagon came off with the honors. It almost wrenched a wheel from the Ford. The accident happened when the larger car attempted to pass around the smaller machine.

FORMER POLICEMAN HERE IS ILL IN THE HOSPITAL

HERE'S ONE MOTHER'S STORY

"He Seems Like a Different Baby"

It is such a relief to have a little time to myself again, after going through what I have with that boy. Why, actually, until a month ago I didn't have a minute to myself. It seemed as though my baby never had a restful moment and I had to be with him all the time.

I took him to several doctors but they didn't seem to be able to do anything for him. No one knew what was wrong. He didn't eat enough and was fretting or crying most of the time. He became such a care to me that at times, I almost wished I had never had any children and worried for hours wondering whether he was to grow up an invalid or a cripple. At last one of my neighbors urged me to try and so I decided to do so. Why I could see an improvement after a couple of adjustments. I took him to YOUR SIGNATURE and he never asked many questions, but started feeling along the baby's spine. He called it "nerve tracing" and told me he would locate the trouble in a jiffy. After a few minutes he discovered something and then gave the baby an adjustment. I was a little afraid because I always thought Chiropractors were rather rough, but he used just the least little pressure and the baby never moved or cried the whole time. He told me to come back every other day and in a week's time the baby began to gain weight.

Now he hardly ever troubles me. It is only when he gets a little sleepy that he cries and he is getting fatter and healthier every day. He hardly seems like the same baby any more. And my own health is improving also. The continual care and worry had brought me to the verge of a nervous breakdown, so I took some adjustments myself. Both the baby and myself have been wonderfully helped by Chiropractic and I should certainly recommend YOUR SIGNATURE to any mother for both herself and her baby.

SIDE-STEPPING TAX ON LUXURIES IN ROME IS BECOMING FINE ART

By Associated Press

ROME, June 18.—Ingenious methods are invented here to avoid paying the luxury tax. The tailor approaches one mysteriously when his suit is finished and asks if he wishes to have a bill when he pays for it, in which case he will have to add $30 luxury tax.

"If, however, you like to give me $200 here and now, I will give you the suit, and we will say no more about making out a bill," he adds.

A foreigner was buying some lace in a Roman shop which cost $25 and, to her surprise, the owner of the shop said: "Would you like me to make you a bill for $330 (the luxury tax begins on articles over $4) and then if you will give my little girl a present of $20, that will make things right. Why should we either of us pay money to the government that we are not obliged?"

Thursday—Benjamin B. Hampton production, all-star cast, "The Spenders," and Century comedy, "Leaping Lions and Jailbirds." Friday—Tom Moore in "Officer 6," and Mack Sennett comedy, "The Speak Easy." Saturday—Roy Stewart in "Law's Outlaw," and Sunshine comedy, "Roaring Lions on Parade."

MAJESTIC.
Manager Carroway of the Majestic takes great pleasure in announcing the engagement of the distinguished actor, Mr. Albert Taylor, and his stock company at the Majestic, beginning Friday. Mr. Taylor is known to the theatre-goers of this city to need any introduction or recommendations. His splendid career speaks for itself far more than words can express. For the past thirty years the name of "Albert Taylor" has been a household theatrical word, and it stands for high class, clean entertainment, as well as intellectual and finished art. For the engagement here Mr. Taylor brings with him a large and well selected company of ladies and gentlemen. Among the prominent people in his support are the Ferguson brothers (Albert and Edward), who have been stars at the head of their own company for the past several years; Miss Eileen Johnson, who plays some of the leading female parts, is a young lady of beauty and talent. She has been connected with some of the best theatrical organizations in this country. Mr. Taylor has several high class vaudeville features and a chorus of six pretty young ladies, who assist in the vaudeville introduced between the acts of the plays. The management has selected for Mr. Taylor's opening play a very beautiful comedy entitled "In Walked Jimmy," in which the star and his entire company appear to fine advantage.

TEMPLE.
Fatty Arbuckle in his latest picture for Paramount, "The Traveling Salesman," which will be the feature attraction at the Temple theatre today, Monday and Tuesday, maintains the same lively pace established in "Brewster's Millions" and "The Dollar a Year Man."

The picture is taken from the stage success, and it is ideally suited to Arbuckle's personality and will doubtless prove better entertainment than the original in which Frank McIntyre starred. It is a better adaptation and the comedy plots have been stressed to a better advantage.

The action gets off to a good start with some train incidents which place the traveling salesman in his true colors, and with the introductory reels the rotund star manages to score with some individual touches that certainly get over. Fatty is in his element throughout, and pretty Betty Ross Clarke, as leading lady helps him through the action in a pleasing and capable manner.

Fellow travelers with Fatty play a joke on him when he goes to sleep and call his station at the wrong place with the result that he makes a dash for the exit and then as the train pulls away discovers that he is stuck in a little old hick town where the trains seldom stop. It is a dismal storming night and the only refuge he sees is an old stone place upon which is tacked a sheriff's "For sale" sign. He makes the most of the night there and in the morning walks up into town where he learns that the owner of the place is a young girl, recently left an orphan and that it is about to be sold for taxes. He meets the girl and it is a case of love at first sight. The manner in which Fatty wins the girl, saves her property and plays the winning card against the villain makes a story full of fun.

LAMB.

Though the term "artist" can rightfully be used for any masterful actor of the stage or screen, it seems particularly fitting to a few. Jean Hersholt, the famous Danish stage actor and director, who for some time has been acting in American pictures, is one of the few whom it especially fits. Educated for the stage in the finest dramatic schools of Europe, a landscape painter of no mean ability, and the author of several plays in the Scandinavian language, Mr. Hersholt has a rare background for his present work in motion pictures.

In "The Man of the Forest," a Hodgkinson release made by Benj. B. Hampton from the great novel by Zane Grey, which is coming to the Lamb theatre today, Mr. Hersholt does some of the best work of his career. His role is that of the hotelkeeper, "Beasley," whose conspiracy to gain possession of a ranch forms one of the plot motifs of the story. If ever a characterization was perfect to the last minute detail, it is that of "Beasley," and the total picture Mr. Hersholt gives one of the man is an ensemble of character traits that one cannot soon forget.

Mr. Hersholt was born in Copenhagen, Denmark. His preliminary education was completed at the Jesuit College in Copenhagen, after which he devoted himself to study of the drama. For twelve years he was identified with the stage in Denmark, Sweden and Norway. He joined motion pictures shortly after his arrival in America. Mr. Hersholt's first appearance in "A Certain Rich Man," photoplay of the novel by William Allen White, a Benj. B. Hampton picture, in which he portrays the character, "Adrian Brownwell."

"SPLIT STEP" DANCE APPROVED IN PARIS ALONG WITH "SHIMMY"

PARIS, June 18.—The International congress of dancing masters with all the countries of Europe represented, has officially adopted the shimmy, the trot and the one-step and also pronounced themselves to be in favor of the "split-step," a new dance.

The "split-step" is a dance to slow music which is the rage in Paris. The partners dance an ordinary slow one-step for a few paces, then they stop and face each other, place their hands on each other's heads and slowly slide their feet apart until almost touching the floor. From this position they turn until one leg rests on the floor; then they interlace arms and rise in three jerks.

LET COMMUNISTS ALONE.

RIGA, June 18.—Soviet Russia, it is understood, has threatened drastic future action against Estonia and Latvia unless these countries cease their present system of strict prosecution of Communist agitators, many of whom are Russian citizens or who have signified their intention of becoming such.

In the last two months several small Communist plots have been bailed by both countries. In some cases there has been killing in street fights or in what the Baltic officials describe as attempts of prisoners to escape.

BEER SOON IS TO BE ON SALE UNDER NEW FEDERAL ORDERS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—New beer regulations, legalizing the manufacture and sale to the public of "medicinal" malt liquors, tonight awaited virtually only the signature of David H. Blair, revenue commissioner, and will be issued within a few days, officials declared tonight.

Threats of Congressman A. J. Volstead to rush his anti-beer bill through Congress before the government has time to put rules authorizing sale of beer into effect, will not deter the treasury or cause further delay, it was declared officially. Commissioner Blair, it was said, probably will give consideration on tomorrow to a revised draft of regulation, ordered by him after he came into office. He will confer with Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, before finally signing them, it was added.

Report of a row between Commissioner Blair and certain of his subordinates in the prohibition bureau were afloat tonight and apparently were true. Mr. Blair was irritated, it was said, by attempts made within the prohibition unit to rush through regulations of a tentative character, which contained provisions that appeared to ignore the opinion of Mitchell Palmer, former attorney-general, and to make new restrictions, which, officials say, are not legal under the Volstead law as it stands.

Commissioner Blair directed a speedy redrafting of the beer regulations, and in such form, he said, as to comply with the interpretation of the Volstead act given by Mr. Palmer. The new draft of regulations is expected to be signed immediately. Treasury officials stated that the Volstead bill would be held back. Word

SHOW KING LEAVES ESTATE TO ACTRESS, LEAVES WIFE OUT

NEW YORK, June 17.—The will of Al Hayman, theatrical manager, filed today for probate, made no mention of his widow, but after several specific bequests left the residue of his estate to Ann Murdock, actress living at a Fifth avenue address.

The specific bequests included one of $10,000 to Mrs. Teresa Coleman, of the same address at which Mr. Hayman also lived.

Mr. Hayman, who began his career on the Pacific coast, provided that $1,000 each should go to John Hyland and Peter Mason, employees of Charles Frohman, Inc., of which Mr. Hayman was a member. Corinne Bauman, of St. Louis, a niece, received $10,000.

Ann Murdock, who is Irene Coleman, is the daughter of Mrs. Teresa Coleman but does not live with her mother.

DISABLED VETERANS TO SUMMER ON MAINE COAST

By Associated Press

BOSTON, June 18.—The bracing breezes of the Maine coast will be resorted to this summer for the rehabilitation of nearly 200 disabled world war veterans, students under the federal board for vocational education. The Boston university summer camp and school at Ellsworth, Me., established last year as the first of its kind in the country, is to be conducted again. It will be twice the size of the school of a year ago. The first camp school was so successful that it is being used as a model for similar camps in other states, according to federal board officials.

The veterans, gathered from the New England states, will start July 4 for Ellsworth, a small city situated among rolling hills on the Union river, a few miles from the coast, and midway between Bangor and

BRAVO, EASTLAND HILL!

Whatever comes of the Eastland Hill "insurrection," one must certainly give the residents there credit for knowing what they want and going after it. Their action in hiring counsel to fight the routing of the Pleasant Grove road indicates that they mean business and do not propose to lose any decisions by forfeit.

The Times does not believe there has been any premeditated slighting of the Eastland Hill section. It quite possibly has not received the attention directed to improving other sections of the city. That is conceivable. But on the other hand, there probably is no one of the several outlying sections which will admit it has received more than it deserved.

The distribution of municipal conveniences has necessarily been a sort of piece-meal affair, meeting the situation which most pressingly demanded action, or so appeared, first. The building of streets, laying of water and sewer and gas lines, stretching of electric wires and all the multitudinous activities necessary to creating the complex network called urban utilities could not be attended to in a day. The providing of these utilities has naturally followed the lines of least resistance. Those sections which offered the most business and where construction expenses were the less were naturally attended to first. And it may be, without any prejudice existing, that some sections made their case stronger by putting their arguments up to the powers that be, while others waited hopefully, in the belief that city officials and public utility directors were all-seeing and didn't need to be told.

That view is erroneous. Sections of a city must advertise their advantages and requirements, just as one city must press for the things it needs if it is to obtain them before another which may also need them, but not as badly.

Whether the demands of the Eastland Hill folk are capable of fulfillment, the Times does not presume to say, but at least it is certain their insistence upon them will bring consideration that they otherwise would not have had, and will lead either to some improvement or to a fuller understanding by all parties, so there will be less resentment over conditions that apply at present if not actual relief.

Then when the Eastland Hill folk have shown that knowing what they want and going after it has brought results, or before that time, Ranger as a whole might well adopt the same policy. Pick out something that should be done, and go ahead and do it.

THEY WOULD ANYWAY.

Reformers are a consistent lot—not. The writer is fairly young, but he can remember quite well when up and down the land the reformers raged and prophesied that dire calamity would come to women for wearing corsets—sure, corsets.

Most women don't wear them any more. Then what happened? The spellbinders are howling about the ungodliness of women. They tear their hair and tell the world that corsetless womanhood is positively indecent.

So much for the reformers. They have to always be reforming something and by the time they get it done they turn around and undo it. However, the question of corsets is one of deep consideration for the women who have been employed in making them. Many of them are out of employment for the simple reason that hundreds of women, following fashion's decree, have discarded it as a means of helping to make them well dressed. Corsetmakers are seeing their business slowly drying up for the same reason. Of course all women have not followed the lead set by the fashion makers and probably never will, but the majority have and it may become a permanent mode.

One can easily remember when skirts swept the pavements. They don't any more. Women like 'em high and all the fashion makers in the world will never get them down, it is thought certain. And it is believed the corset is going the same way.

The writer of this piece never wore one of them, but from outward observation they must surpass a wool shirt for heat and be as uncomfortable as well, they must be fairly uncomfortable. And if the women want to go without them, why, let 'em, we say.

But, of course, being women they would, anyway.

MORE OIL INTERESTS TO BE PROTECTED.

Wherever it is produced, oil seems to pile up trouble for the state department. Just when Secretary Hughes is laboring with President Obregon to have the constitution of Mexico revised to suit American concession-holders, it is disturbing for them to pay a largely increased export tax on the product of their Mexican wells.

Naturally, they feel that it is a duty that the United States government owes them to protect at once, for all foreign taxes are hateful. But before the state department can move, the Oklahoma and Texas men are up in arms and protest against the protest. Mexican oil is admitted free of duty and comes into competition with the domestic product. What the Obregon government is doing by proposing an export tax is to render a service to the Oklahoma and Texas oil-well owners that Congress has neglected to perform, and they want to be assured that their plans will stand. Of course a high tariff on oil would be acceptable, but that is a matter for the future. The first thing is to make certain that Mexico taxes to the limit oil exported to this country.

If the state department were less concerned, it would make no great difference what policy Mexico adopts in raising revenue. But since Mesopotamia and Mexico have engaged so much of its attention, why may not Oklahoma and Texas also press their claims for protection? When President Obregon volunteers his help in building an addition to the American protective system, what excuse can the Harding administration have for objecting?—N. Y. World.

CLAIM THAT BATTLESHIPS ARE NO LONGER NATION'S CHIEF WEAPON OF DEFENSE WILL BE PUT TO TEST

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., June 18.—The claim of air craft advocates that battleships no longer form the nation's chief weapon of defense will be brought to a test next week off the Virginia Capes. Armed with bombs of every size, flocks of army and navy air ships will seek in a series of tests to destroy more than half a dozen former German warships and to find out how the radio-controlled battleship Iowa.

There will be no attempt to stimulate real battle conditions. The joint army and navy operations were arranged by the government to get at the facts as to the accuracy with which air men can drop bombs upon naval craft. The warships of necessity can not employ their guns to defend themselves, but will be merely, except in the case of the Iowa, anchored targets for the aviators.

The maneuvers also will determine the effectiveness of bombs that strike and explode upon the decks of armored ships. Previous tests with placed bombs have not satisfied naval authorities that capital craft would be in grave danger of destruction by air bombs even if struck.

The unique and one-sided contests had their origin in the controversy which followed the declaration before a congressional committee by Brigadier General Mitchell, of the air service, that the development of military aircraft was fast making the battleship obsolete. Navy officials led by former Secretary Daniels, took prompt exception to this claim and the verbal conflict of opinion raged so vigorously that the government found it advisable to attempt the actual demonstration of the power of aircraft, employing its most modern planes and bombs against obsolete or former German naval craft.

In preparation for the tests the army has concentrated at Langley Field, near here, the largest mobilization of military aircraft in the history of aviation in this country. More than 150 planes of all types, including giant Martin bombers capable of carrying the new 2,000 pound aerial bombs, smaller bombing planes and fast single-seat pursuit machines with a speed of 120 miles an hour, to be used for scouting and observation work, are included in the mobilization, as well as a number of dirigibles.

Pilots Practicing.
Scores of pilots, gathered from flying fields throughout the country, have been practicing daily for weeks in bombing and observation flights out to sea and up Chesapeake bay, dropping dummy and live bombs against targets over water and land. General Mitchell will have personal charge of the army's end of the tests and will lead the various flights of military aircraft.

At the Hampton Roads station the naval aircraft are mobilized, including a number of seaplanes of the N-C 4 type, the class that negotiated the first trans-Atlantic flight. At Langley field a number of marine corps, Martin bombers and DH-4's are gathered to operate with the naval planes during the tests.

The first test, scheduled for Tuesday, will be directed against the U-117, a modern submarine used by the German navy during the war. The submersible will be anchored fifty miles east of Cape Charles, Va., in an awash condition with concentric red, white and blue circles painted on its deck to distinguish it as the target and avoid the possibility of a mistake. The first expedition against the U-117 will take off in time so that the first division will arrive at the target by 9 o'clock. The flight will consist entirely of naval planes, including nine F-5-L type machines, each of which will drop four bombs, a torpedo plane division of five Martin bombers, each of which will drop six bombs, four NC type seaplanes, each of which will drop four bombs and a marine corps division of six DC planes to let go two bombs each. All of the bombs will be of the 163-pound type.

After the attack by the naval air detachment if the submarine has not been sunk, the army flyers will take off from Langley field. The army flight will consist of twelve big Martin bombers, each to launch six bombs and eleven DH-4's which will drop two bombs each, all of the 163-pound type. The aircraft will deliver the attack as the flight commanders choose without any restrictions as to altitude or speed.

It is expected that by the time the forty-seven aircraft engaged in the test have dropped their 183 bombs the U-117 will have disappeared beneath the surface of the water but should the vessel still be afloat it will be made the target of the guns of a division of destroyers on the following day, along with the former German submarines U-140, U-111 and UB-48.

Second Phase.
The second phase of the tests will take place on June 28. Officers of both services consider this the most important of all the experiments, as it will involve the double problem: of the ability of aircraft to find any enemy fleet somewhere in a wide area off the coast and to bomb the enemy ships after locating them. On that date the radio-controlled battleship Iowa will be somewhere between the Virginia Capes and Cape Henlopen, from fifty to 100 miles offshore. The Iowa will be maneuvered by radio from the battleship Ohio, five or six miles distant. The flyers will have only an approximate idea of the location of the Iowa and will be required to take off at a given signal, search the wide area involved and, if they find the vessel, bomb it with dummy bombs and get back to land safely. The control officer on the Ohio will be allowed to maneuver the Iowa as he pleases during the bombing, simulating as far as possible the moves a battleship might be expected to make in war to escape aerial attack.

The conditions involved are that the Iowa shall continue to steam in the general direction of the shore and the attacking planes stay at an altitude of at least 4,000 feet. Eight o'clock in the morning will be "zero hour."

In the test against the Iowa all available naval aircraft will be used, including at least four dirigibles. Under present plans the army will not use any land planes in this test, but the naval detachment will include four Martin bombers assigned to the marine corps. It is expected that more than 100 aircraft will take part in the search for and bombing of the Iowa. Dummy bombs ranging from 250 to 1,000 pounds each will be used. The army personnel involved will fly seaplanes.

As soon as contact is made by any of the scouting aircraft a radio signal will be sent out and reserve planes held at the Hampton Roads here, and at Langley Field will form in division and rush to the attack. Destroyers will be stationed in long lines along the coast in the general vicinity of the test to go to the rescue or planes forced down into the water.

Won't Use Live Bombs.
Live bombs will not be used in the experiment as the navy wishes to preserve the Iowa, the only radio-controlled battleship in existence, for the target practice with the Atlantic fleet next fall. The problem in the air tests is designed to furnish reliable data on the probable number of hits to be expected from air craft operating against a battleship at sea. Data on the damage to be expected from such an attack will be obtained in a later attack on the former German battle ship, Ostfriesland, a modern vessel.

The third of the series of bombing tests will take place on July 13, with the former German destroyer G-102 as the target. The army will make the first attack, using twelve Martin bombers and seven DH-4 machines and 250 pound bombs, 94 of which will be dropped. The conditions of the attack are left at the discretion of flight commanders. If the destroyer is not sunk by the army's attack the naval air detachment will attempt to sink the vessel. If the G-102 remains afloat then it will be sunk on the following day by gunfire by Atlantic fleet destroyers along with the former German destroyers S-132 and V-43. Should the destroyers fail to sink the vessels battleships will be assigned to the task.

An attack on the former German cruiser Frankfurt will be the fourth phase of the tests and is set for July 18. The vessel, completed in 1915, took a prominent part in the battle of Jutland and represents a good type of modern cruiser. She will be at anchor during the attack and the attacking air craft, consisting of army and navy planes, flying in formation, will use first 250 and 300 pound bombs and then 520 and 600 pound missiles. All types of aircraft will be used, the first attack to take place at 9 o'clock in the morning. If the vessel remains afloat after the final attack it will be sunk by destroyers at a range of 5,000 yards.

The final test in the series thus far arranged will be the bombing of the former German battleship Ostfriesland on July 20. The Ostfriesland is a dreadnaught of 22,800 tons, mounting 12-inch guns and was surrendered to the Allies at Scapa Flow. During the battle of Jutland she formed part of the German first battle squadron and was badly damaged by a mine.

The principal value of the Ostfriesland experiment is expected to be the resulting data regarding the amount of damage aerial bombs may be expected to inflict on a battleship. The vessel will be at anchor 50 miles off shore and will be attacked by army and navy aircraft. The conditions of the test require three hits each with 250 and 300-pound bombs, two hits with the 500 and 600-pound bombs and at least two hits with 1,000 or 2,000-pound projectiles. There will be provided for use in the attack 32 of the 1,000-pound bombs and three of the 2,000-pound type.

May Be Target.
If the Ostfriesland remains afloat after all the required hits have been made the vessel will be used as a target for the main battery of the battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, as all the German ships were turned over to the United States on condition that they be destroyed within a year.

Extensive arrangements have been completed for recording the data obtained during the bombing tests. Motion picture cameras will be used to permanently record the results and boards of officers stationed on tugs and other craft near the vessel attacked in each case will make notes. Captain DeLoach, of the dreadnaught Nevada, has been detailed as the senior member of the observing party. Among the duties with which the board of observers is charged are the following: Observe and report the number and type of bombs dropped, the number of hits, the actual damage to the vessels, bearing in mind the age and state of preservation of each ship attacked, the probable damage to personnel, anti-aircraft defenses and light equipment and structure exposed on the upper decks and damage to the main fighting equipment in the protected area, particularly the lighting, fire and ship control systems.

The board will be charged also with making deductions as to the probable damage to ships of various classes of new design and in a good state of preservation and recommending suitable changes in the equipment, design and construction of future vessels in the light of the results of the bombing tests.

Orders issued by the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Admiral H. B. Wilson, require the board, in addition to all other duties, to check the time of zero hour, the movements of planes in the air, the number of types of bombs carried by each plane, the time at which the first and last bomb is dropped during each attack, the total number of bombs dropped, the probability of destruction of aircraft by surface vessels, the probability of sinking the number of hits by maneuvering the ship attacked and the ability of aircraft to carry out a successful search and deliver an attack at a considerable distance off shore.

'CALF' WATCH NOW MAKES BOARD-WALK STROLLERS STARE WITH POP EYES

ATLANTIC, CITY, June 18.—Remember how the lads went goggle-eyed a few years ago when some actress or other flashed upon the world that bit of ornamentation known as the ankle-watch—a tiny timepiece attached to a band of precious metal encircling the silk stocking just above the slipper top?

The ankle-watch is now a part of the dim, modest past. The thing of today is the "calf-watch," to describe it in brutal English.

It came to light this afternoon on the Boardwalk. It was a square bit of aluminum attached to a slender circlet of the same metal, which circlet was fitted—well, very, very high up on the young wheel chair rider's hosiery—indeed, quite beyond its amplest point. As the young specimen of femininity was riding cross-legged, the visibility was perfect.

"Did you see that?" asked one of the lads in front of the Alamac.

"Did I SEE it? Say—when I miss anything like that, page the undertaker!"

The girl was apparently not an actress and was quietly gowned. She was not exceptionally pretty—but, then, the boardwalkers were not looking at her face particularly.

BROTHER AND SISTER IN KANSAS DEVOTE LIVES AND EARNINGS TO CARING FOR HOMELESS ANIMALS

By Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—Would you be willing to give more than half of your modest income to make life less rigorous for neglected or suffering animals?

Such is the sacrifice being made by Miss Sarah and H. H. Jacobs of Kansas City, Kan., across the river from here. And it is no mere passing hobby—they have been doing this for the last quarter century. The Jacobs are nationally known for their unselfish work.

Living in a little cottage, surrounded by rose bushes, bird houses, flower beds and fruit trees, these two have consecrated their lives to ameliorating the hardships visited upon man's often neglected and abused companions.

H. H. Jacobs provides the income by working as a bookkeeper on the Missouri side, while Miss Sarah looks after the home and its numerous pets.

And there are many pets in the Jacobs' home—ten dogs, two score cats and two parrots. The care of these pets, however, represent only a minor part of the activities of the two workers. Both are officers in the Wyandotte County Humane society and labor incessantly to benefit animal life through that source. With all this the Jacobs are not unmindful of the needs of unfortunate children, and even adults of their city, as they are active in the Associated charities.

Began Early in Life.
Miss Sarah, who was found at home busy with her charges, said that her first instruction in humane work was when she was a little girl and her father taught her that it was just as easy to step around an ant hill as to crush it with her heel. The father was Samuel Jacobs, formerly of St. Joseph, Mo., who helped build the Hannibal & St. Joseph railway, now part of the Burlington system, and who was editor of The Jefferson, an anti-slavery Democratic paper of Fairfield, Iowa.

While thoroughly orthodox in their theology, the Jacobs believe firmly that most of the sin and suffering in the world has followed man's habit of killing and abusing animals. There is nothing mawkish about their views, however. Miss Sarah, as president of the Humane society, has personally chloroformed hundreds of diseased, ached and homeless animals.

"It sometimes is expedient," she said, "to remove them to avert suffering. When it is necessary to put an animal to sleep I always utter a word of prayer, taking full responsibility for the act."

Most of the pets in the Jacobs' home have been brought there by persons who had found them suffering in the streets or were too poor to look after them. Many carry a story of human interest, with sometimes a tragedy.

There is Cinderella, who had been brutally wounded. The Jacobs decided to chloroform the animal to relieve its intense suffering. Finally it struggled over to the open fireplace and curled up in the warm ashes. Soon it showed signs of rallying and they concluded it should live. It did recover. The incident strongly reminded them of the fairy story of the little girl sitting in the ashes and who later was able to wear the glass slipper, and the spotted hound became Cinderella.

Little Topsy's Career.
Little Topsy once was owned by a woman of the streets whose precarious existence did not permit her to care for the pet. She brought Topsy to the Jacobs and up to the time of the woman's death she regularly came to visit the dog.

Miss Jacobs told of a cat that saved their lives. A leaky gas jet had filled the house with fumes while they slept. The cat meowed in vain and finally leaped upon the bed and scratched Miss Jacobs to a waking position and a realization of their danger.

Yarrow, a cat with an interesting career, was named after Mary Craig Yarrow, a noted humane worker of Philadelphia. This cat once was a companion of a little boy. The boy died and on the night of his funeral the animal was carried away and locked in a freight car bound for Arkansas. A fortnight later the cat returned home, nearly starved. The boy's mother took it to the Jacobs' home.

Some of the animals of other days, special favorites who had earned some mark of distinction, are buried in the flower garden. There are no markers, save a stone border around the grave of Hermano (Mexican for brother), long in the family. Hermano had saved Miss Jacobs' life in Texas when a big rattler was about to strike her. The dog pounced upon the snake and received the poisonous bite. He became blind but lived many years.

Asked about the cost of pursuing their humane work, Miss Jacobs said it amounted to six or seven hundred dollars a year. She insisted, however, that this did not constitute a sacrifice, that they derived pleasure from it and preferred to spend their money in this way, even if it forced them to give up many comforts.

BRECKENRIDGE MAN GETS TWO YEARS FOR POSSESSING LIQUOR

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, June 18.—F. S. McClelland was found guilty in district court here for transporting and possessing liquor, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. McClelland was arrested a month ago by the sheriff, and forty bottles of high-grade gin was found in the automobile he was driving. Another charge of selling liquor is pending against him.

Wrigley Spends $10,000 a Day

—JUST THINK—$10,000 a day for advertising—over $3,500,000 a year. That's the fabulous sum that William J. Wrigley is spending for advertising.

Then pause a minute and figure out how many sticks of gum must be sold to pay for this advertising.

With Wrigley this money, spent through newspapers, magazines, billboards, street cars, etc., is as much a part of his investment as the gum itself. It is a certainty that without such advertising Wrigley never would have become the king pin in the gum world.

Recently Mr. Wrigley was quoted as saying:

"If a hundred persons have to buy what you sell advertise and a hundred more will buy.

"Advertising eliminates any boundary lines for business expansion because it brings steady growth. My gum is sold in practically every part of the world, and the package labels are printed in sixteen different languages. Advertising, quality and service did it.

"You might as well draw a heavy black line around the immediate neighborhood of your store and say, 'Inside of that circle I'll do all my business' as to refuse to advertise when you have something which people will buy.

"If you advertise and get no appreciable results don't say advertising is useless. The trouble lies in what you are trying to sell or how you are advertising. The fault is with your business. Advertising—properly done—will always sell anything worth the price asked for it."

Merely a few gems of thought to consider.

WOLFE WELL MAKES 100 IN CADDO LIME

Some Activity Around Eastland Despite Low Price and Tight Money.

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, June 18.—Despite the cut in crude and the tightness of money, drilling operations in the vicinity of Eastland continue, while they have been curtailed some by reason of the paucity of ready money, and the low price of production. It is reported that the well of P. S. Wolfe and associates on the Matthews tract, offsetting the well of the Cardinal company, which made 1,000 barrels flush production, and which was shot the other day in the Caddo lime with 400 quarts of nitro, made a flow of 100 barrels last night. The hole is full of fluid, but has not sufficient gas to make it flow regularly, and will doubtless be placed on the pump.

The well of the Donley Drilling company, on the Mart Hill tract, is making both gas and oil, and still drilling within ten feet of pay. This well, which is in the south part of Eastland, almost in the townsite, has all the ear marks of a good well, it is said.

Rig Is Up.

The Ardizzone-Braden company has the rig up for their No. 5 on the Kincaid, on the shores of Lake Eastland, and Webb T. Eby of the Dayton-Texas company, which recently drilled a dry hole on the Owens tract, offsetting the Bobo, Williamson and Brown tracts, all of which have good production, announced before leaving here on the Mexican excursion of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that his company will start an operation on the Holland tract in the Lecray community on his return as well as one on acreage recently acquired in the South Bend country. Col. R. D. Gordon of the Okech-Ranger company, who has recently returned from New York, is authority for the statement that he and his associates will soon start moving in on acreage acquired from the Gulf Production company on the Brelsford, and also will start a well on the Simer tract.

SOME OPENINGS LEFT FOR TEXAS LADS IN MILITARY SCHOOLS

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS, Times Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Several members of the Texas congressional delegation have some more military school appointments to make. Young men between 18 and 25 years old who wish an appointment to the coast guard academy at New Lincoln, Conn., can probably get them by writing to their congressman or senator. Graduates of the school will be commissioned in the coast guards with the same rank and pay as graduates of West Point and Annapolis. Applicants for appointment as cadets in the academy must be between 18 and 24 years old while applicants for appointment as cadet engineers must be between 18 and 25 years old.

All appointees must take competitive examinations. The places at which such examination will be held will be announced later. Within a month after passing the examination the appointee will be admitted to the school.

The mental examination will be about algebra, geometry, plane trigonometry, physics, spelling, composition, geography and general information. Applicants for cadet engineers are required also to take examinations in mechanics, electricity and steam engineering.

There are an unusually large number of vacancies in the academy this year and according to the school authorities all are to be filled this year. Texas congressmen have expressed themselves as ready and willing to assist Texas boys to get into the school.

MEXICO TO CLAIM ISLANDS IN UPPER CALIFORNIA

SAN ANTONIO, June 18.—Mexico City newspapers reaching here state that Mexico will lay claim to a number of islands in the Littoral of Upper California which are at present occupied by Americans.

The islands named are: Farlon, San Angel, Santa Rosa, Santa Vera Cruz, Anacapa, Santa Catalina, Santa Barbara, San Nicholas and San Clemente.

TOWN TREASURER, ACCUSED OF $19,607 THEFT, SENTENCED

WINSTED, Conn., June 18.—Philemon W. Johnson, former town treasurer of Norfolk, who disappeared in January, 1917, and was arrested in Edmonton, Alberta, in October last was sentenced to state prison for stealing $19,607 of the town's funds.

The term will be from three to seven years.

BOMB DAMAGES HOME OF STOVE PLANT FOREMAN

GENEVA, N. Y., June 18.—A bomb explosion today damaged the home of J. M. Enright, foreman of a stove works, and broke windows in dwellings nearby. There were no casualties.

Enright told the police he had no enemies so far as he knew.
