City Budget Hike Calls For Garbage, Water Increase

A municipal budget calling for a 6 per cent increase in expenditures was formally presented to the Big Spring City Commission by City Manager A. K. Steinheimer Friday at a special meeting.

It calls for no tax hike, but sets up an increase in garbage-collection fees, and an adjustment in water rates, probably a slight increase on the fixed minimum.

The commission voted to hold public hearing on the proposed fiscal schedule at 5:15 on March 29 at the city hall. The budget is for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

Commissioners, with various city officials, have labored for over two months in hammering the budget into final shape.

LONG STUDY

In all, the commission has met in several special meetings and labored over the details of the budget a total of 25 hours, in addition to regular meetings.

This preliminary plan calls for expenditures of $2,164,495.25 up $130,009.49 above last year's outlay of $2,034,485.76. The water and sewer side of budget proposes expenses of $803,349.53 with the remainder of $1,361,145.72 going into the tax departments and other accounts.

A series of articles, giving department details on the 1960-61 city budget, will start in The Herald Monday.

Revenues are estimated at $2,206,581.50, an increase of $238,477.50 above last year's budget. Of the total, $996,931.50 will come from the water and sewer departments and $1,210,260 will come from all other departments. These figures do not include beginning balances totaling $58 900.

SMALL SURPLUS

If these estimates remain stable, the city should realize a net surplus of $42,086.25 on the 1960-61 fiscal year operation.

The tax levy of $1.50 per $100 valuation will bring in an estimated $589,950, almost $50,000 more than the same rate collected during the current year. This is due largely to the areas annexed by the city commission in the closing days of 1959.

City income from water is estimated at $895,431.50 and from sewer, including effluent sales, at $101,500. Total tax department revenue will reach $967,770.

On the spending side, it will cost the city $233,336 to operate the water department and $74,859 for the sewer department. Bond payments on water and sewer programs of the past will be $90,840.

TAX DEPARTMENTS

For tax departments, the expenditure is listed at $1,040 240.97. For the interest and sinking fund, $126,908.75 has been earmarked. Another $250 is set for Civil Defense and $2,400 is listed for the proposed city-county juvenile department. The remainder of the expenditures will go into the deficit accounts.

Although no tax hike is proposed, the commission will go to bat for a raise in the garbage collection rate and a raise in the water rate. As the budget is now proposed, the garbage rate will be upped by 25 cents, (from $1.25 to $1.50 per month), bringing in $21,000. An additional $48,510 will be collected in a water rate increase, however, the commissioners have not decided in what manner this raise will be levied.

It was suggested that the minimum be increased by 50 cents. This increase would provide the necessary money.

CTC REORGANIZED

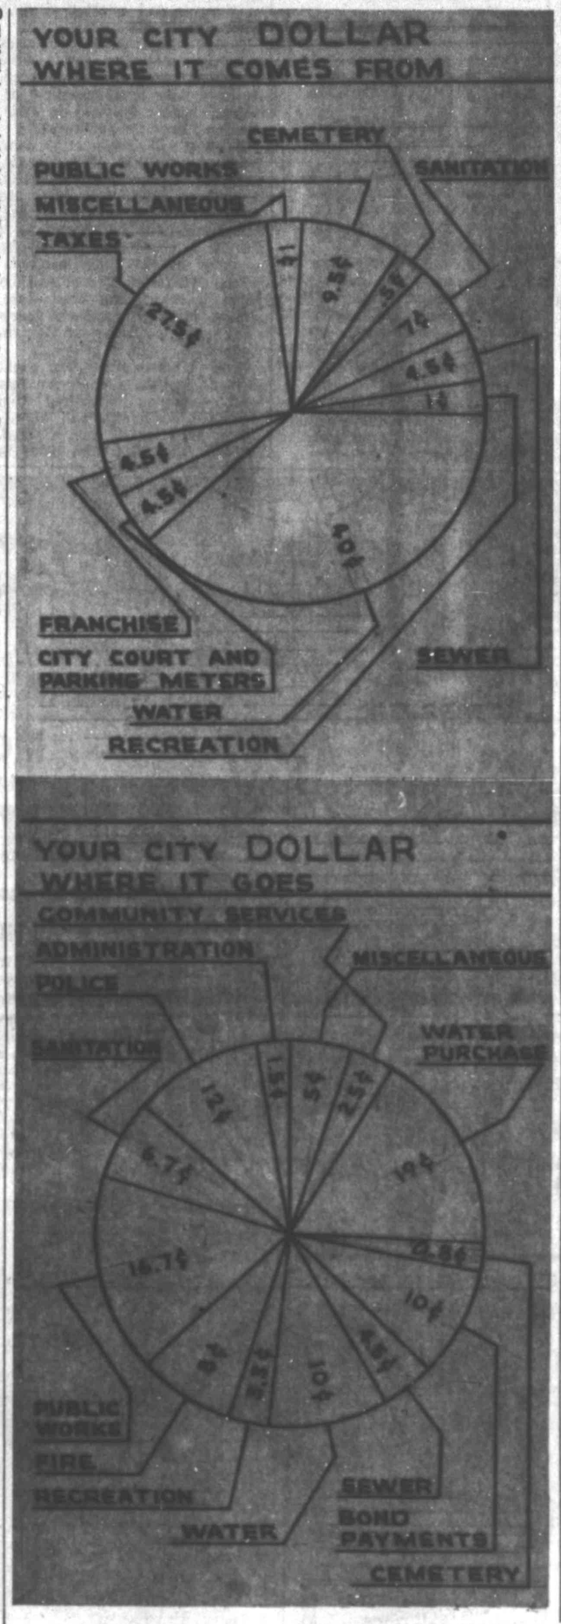

The Citizens Traffic Commission will be re-organized. The department had been budgeted at $5,565. The commission decided this money could be saved by allocating CTC work to other allied departments. James Eubanks, executive secretary of the department, has been offered another position with the city.

The CTC will be set up similar to the planning and zoning commission and the zoning board of adjustment. Bruce Dunn, director of public works, will act as executive secretary. Cost for the department's operation will be absorbed by the public works department and the police department.

A total of 14 full-time and two part-time employes will be added to the city payroll. These additional personnel add $53,044 to the salary budget. They include six new policemen, five garbage collection men, an inspector in the engineering department, a sign repair man in the traffic division, and a secretary in the inspection division of public works. One part-time patrolman will be hired for Moss Creek Lake and a part time laborer will be provided in the park department.

Of the total expenditures, 42.5 per cent of the money ($922,503.60) will go for salaries and wages. Five per cent ($119.655.87) has been slated for new equipment, buildings and structures, or land. Water purchases from the Colorado River Municipal Water District will account for 18.7 per cent or $404,314.53 and payments for bonds and interest is 10.2 per cent or $220,398.75.

The remainder is for maintenance, materials, supplies and miscellaneous items.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Our vicinity came in for more than its share of violence last week. Robert Lee Grant was discovered asphyxiated in his hotel room from an open gas fire; William Clayton Smith drowned in a stock tank 30 miles southeast of here; and Jimmy McGee was burned to death in his tourist court room.

* * *

That 10-year count isn't far away. Prospective enumerators took examinations Thursday at HCJC and when the ranks are filled, crew leaders Matt Harrington and Louis Stallings will signal the counting to begin on April 1.

High honor—in a very substantial way—came to Craig Beckmeyer of Flower Grove last week. He was announced as the winner of the Anderson — Clayton cotton scholarship which pays $400 a semester or $3,200 for four years. Craig, who has an almost fabulous record, previously had won the state ginners award.

Another hometown "boy" who is still making good is James A. Davis, vice president of Pioneer Natural Gas. He also was named president of Pioneer Gathering System and thus is in charge of all of Pioneer's gathering supplies. Jim was reared here and helped put in the city's first gas system.

Fire inflicted an estimated $3,000 damage to a laundrymat here last week. This is about the rate per month we've been going all year, and if we keep it up, we'll lose another notch off our fire insurance credit.

The liveliest development of the week was in the omission of two names from the list of school principals up for rehiring. Repercussions naturally followed, as can be expected in matters of this sort. Teachers and students rallied to support of Roy Worley and Tom Ernest; others have not questioned the work of these men, but recognize a line of authority has to be followed.

Paving bids were opened by the city commissioners (who are now having them analyzed for letting) and to their delight they ran about 20 per cent under the maximum estimates. Most of this saving will be passed on to property owners who want paving.

Don't forget the annual 4-H and FFA livestock show here this week. The big day is Wednesday when stock will be judged, but then the traditional auction is set for Thursday evening. The Jay-Cees always do a fine job in staging this event.

Negro Protests Spread At Lunch Counters In Texas

By The Associated Press

Extra police were called out in Galveston Saturday afternoon as Negro students pushed their mass protests of segregated eating places.

In Austin, a peaceful picketing of the University of Texas ended at least temporarily after regents announced expanded housing facilities for Negroes at the state's largest school.

No additional sitdowns have been reported in Houston since Wednesday. Five lunch counters affected between Wednesday and Friday remained closed.

Officers watched the Galveston situation closely. The extra patrolmen were ordered to keep student groups moving and not let them single out any one business for a demonstration.

Shortly before noon Negro students entered three downtown Galveston drug stores but the managers closed down the fountain counters without serving them.

Another group appeared at a downtown cafeteria but the manager turned them away.

Lunch counters at two stores entered Friday in Galveston remained closed. Two other places closed Friday were opened Saturday morning, then closed again when groups of Negroes appeared.

Inadequate housing was the principal complaint given Friday when about 30 Negro pickets, accompanied by half a dozen whites, appeared outside principal encipal entrances to the University of Texas. They carried placards and handed out leaflets for about five hours.

Twelve Negro men students and one Negro coed reappeared Saturday morning for about two hours.

The Daily Texan, student newspaper at the University of Texas, reported that a group of Negroes met Saturday and decided to continue the demonstration Monday. They also voted to draft a letter of specific complaints and to present it in an appointment with vice president Harry Ransom on Tuesday. There will be no demonstration Tuesday.

Leaflets handed out by the demonstrators protested that only four of the state school's 20 dormitories are integrated and said "the living units for Negroes are below average in university housing facilities."

The demonstrators also complained that no Negroes are allowed on university athletic teams or allowed to appear in dramatic productions open to the public.

The announcement from the regents at Saturday noon said merely that plans, begun in November, call for another dormitory for women students to be ready by September of this year. The new dormitory, a residence remodeled to accommodate about 20 students, will be available to Negro coeds.

The announcement also said regents had designated another section of men's dormitories to be available for occupancy by Negro men students in 1960-61.

Texas' student body of 17,500 includes about 200 Negroes. As a result of court action graduate facilities were integrated in 1950 and undergraduate facilities in 1955.

President Logan Wilson said in a statement Friday that "all educational opportunities and facilities" are integrated. "For reasons which the administration and the Board of Regents consider to be sound, forced integration in social and extracurricular areas has not been established," Wilson said. "In view of our known achievements in meeting what is everywhere a difficult situation, I am surprised that our institution should be made a target for provocative demonstrations."

Late Friday the student council of Huston-Tillotson College in Austin formally announced its support of demonstrations throughout the South over segregated eating places. Reginald Christopher, council president, said the student group has no present plans for any action to support the resolution.

Huston-Tillotson is a privately financed Negro college of about 400 students.

Traffic Deaths In Texas Decline

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans are taking their traffic safety responsibilities more seriously than ever before, Gov. Price Daniel said Saturday in reporting a 28 per cent reduction this year in traffic fatalities.

Pioneer Sends Data Indicating Good Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer V sent back strong radio signals Saturday night, indicating a top-flight performance as it jabbed steadily through the sea of space.

Scientists predicted the beach-ball-size sphere would be 292,080 miles from the earth by midnight EST, clipping along at 6,219 miles per hour.

As expected, the earth's magnetic attraction was still slowing the sphere's speed. Its velocity was 24,869 miles per hour Friday morning when it kicked free of the rocket that had lofted it from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Information being relayed back from the newest U.S. space probe was being accumulated in tape form to be analyzed later by scientists. It is investigating space conditions between the planet Venus and the earth.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said space experts had not set a definite time for the start of their study on Pioneer V's relays. In the past such information has accmulated for several days before scientists began to analyze it.

Britain's huge radiotelescope at Jodrell Bank picked up Pioneer's steady whistling signal Saturday as the sphere soared across British skies. One scientist described the signal there as "a nice steady tone, slightly garbled but loud and clear."

The space probe's tiny radio transmitters began sending signals down as soon as a Jodrell Bank scientist snapped on a control button. Information received at the British station will be forwarded to Washington to be fed into NASA computors.

The Jodrell Bank station plans to continue its brief daily watch until July, when Pioneer V is expected to be about 50 million miles from earth.

Pioneer V is the first satellite fired toward a solar orbit inside the earth's. Its orbit will touch the earth's path and swing to within about seven million miles of Venus' smaller orbit. It's course around the sun will be about 311 days.

Coed Now Wife Of Minister

CROCKETT, Tex. (AP)—Autherine Lucy Foster, the Negro student who was expelled from the University of Alabama in 1956 after a series of campus racial riots, now lives quietly as the wife of a minister and librarian of a small Negro junior college.

For the last several years she has consistently shunned contact with newsmen and sought to drop from the limelight.

She reluctantly agreed to talk with a reporter Saturday. Asked her views on the lunch counter sit-ins being staged in the South by Negro youths, she said after some hesitation "I understand they are voluntary. But I am in no position to judge or comment on them."

Mrs. Foster has been librarian for two years at Mary Allen Academy, a Baptist co-educational junior college for Negroes here. The school has an enrollment of 85 students.

In April, 1956, Mrs. Foster married the Rev. H. L. Foster, who until recently has been minister of the Liberty Baptist Church in Tyler, Tex. She said he became minister of a new church in Houston in the last month but declined to give its name.

Mrs. Foster attended classes at the University of Alabama for three days in February, 1956, under a federal court order, but was driven off the campus by a mob. A federal district judge ordered her re-admitted but school trustees then expelled her for what they called false and defamatory charges against officials. The action was upheld by the judge.

She had charged school authorities with conspiring with the mob to drive her away from the university.

She dropped her fight to gain readmission to Alabama in 1956.

Marshall Named President Of Y's Area Council

A Big Spring YMCA leader, Arnold Marshall, Saturday was elected president of the Y's Southwest Area Council. This distinction was accorded at a Council meeting held at Lake Murray Lodge, near Ardmore, Okla.

The Southwest Council includes the states of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

Another Big Springer, Clyde McMahon, was named one of the Council's three delegates to the national council meeting.

The area gathering Friday and Saturday was attended by Marshall, Kimble Guthrie, Joe Pickle and Bobo Hardy.

Finch Jury Hangs, Is Discharged

Re-Trial Is Planned: State Avers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The long, sensational Finch murder trial—a saga of suburban sex and violent death—ended Saturday with a crashing anticlimax.

The jury after eight days of deliberation was unable to decide whether Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, coldly plotted and callously murdered his socialite wife.

The judge discharged the panel of five men and seven women and the district attorney said there will be a retrial.

The wealthy surgeon broke down and sobbed when the jury was polled. Red-haired Miss Tregoff, ex-model who became his receptionist and then his sweetheart, also was in tears.

Newsmen could talk to neither, but Dr. Finch's attorney said his only comment was: "I'm terribly disappointed."

Miss Tregoff's attorney said she said nothing. "She just cried," he said.

A possible clue as to how the voting went was this: A source in the district attorney's office, asked earlier this week what would happen if there was a hung jury, said the practice is to have a retrial if a substantial majority of the jurors favors conviction. If a substantial majority favors acquittal, he said, the case usually is dismissed.

The case was returned to Superior Court for a hearing March 17 at which a new trial date will be set, probably late in April.

NOT DISCLOSED

Whether the majority of jurors favored conviction on the twin charges each defendant faced—murder and conspiracy to murder—was not disclosed. The judge admonished them to keep silent.

Jury Foreman A. W. Alm detailed the jury's split in this fashion: Miss Tregoff's murder charge, 4 - 8; her conspiracy charge, 4-8; Dr. Finch's murder charge, 10 - 2, his conspiracy charge 4-8.

It was nearly two hours before the defendants left the court house to be returned to jail. During this period, they were closeted with their respective attorneys in the jury room of an adjacent court.

A guard said Miss Tregoff broke down completely and that Dr. Finch was trying to comfort her.

The pair had to move through a huge crowd of spectators en route to the station wagon that took them the two blocks or so to jail. Miss Tregoff was still crying, her eyes downcast. Dr. Finch was pale but composed. His eyes were stern looking.

The often-dramatic trial, one of the most intriguing murder cases of modern times, has been a national conversation piece since Barbara Jean Finch's body was found eight months ago sprawled on a neighbor's lawn.

The handsome surgeon claimed his wife's bullet-in-the-back death was accidental. Miss Tregoff said she was but an innocent bystander. The state called it murder, callously plotted and ruthlessly performed.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said: "I would say we are obligated now to retry the case. We are convinced that these persons should be put on trial under the charge as returned by the grand jury—with returned indictments charging murder and conspiracy. The fact this jury has not agreed does not change our opinion."

A LONG TIME

Dr. Finch's attorney, Grant B. Cooper, said a retrial might take several weeks. The trial that ended Saturday started last Dec. 8.

The state's coprosecutors both were disappointed at the outcome. Would they like to handle the retrial?

"I would," said Fred N. Whichello, mild-mannered deputy district attorney from suburban Pomona.

"I don't know," said harsh-voiced Clifford Crail, one of the district attorney's top cross-examiners.

McKesson was asked if he thought the state could find another jury which was unaffected by the publicity of the three-month grial.

"I'm confident of finding a jury

HCJC Shares Honors In State Drama Festival

By BOB SMITH

By all accounts, the drama festival was a success.

It is the first such event to which Howard County Junior College played host, and it is hoped that it will not be the last. Five junior colleges, plus HCJC, presented a day-long series of one-act plays and cuttings from three-act dramas that left a generally good impression on visitors.

HCJC didn't do bad at all. The school shared top honors with Temple Junior College, had one student in the all-star cast, and took more than half the list of honorable mentions.

The HCJC cutting was two scenes from "The Petrified Forest," by Robert Sherwood, which will be given regular production later this month.

Kay Loveland was named to the all-star cast, and making honorable mention were Sherry Coats, Harold Henson, Maurice Burnett and Reece Bevers.

Best actor was W. L. Sibley of Odessa Junior College, best actress was Wanda Barton of Corsicana's Navarro Junior College.

Sharing the superior rating with HCJC was Temple, with a fantasy, "The Wonder Hat."

Excellent ratings were given "Whistle, Daughter, Whistle," by Navarro, and a cutting from "The Rivalry" by Odessa. Ratings of good went to Wharton Junior College for "Hangs Over Thy Head" and to South Plains Junior College of Levelland for "The Rag Doll."

Besides HCJC's Miss Loveland, those who made the all-star cast were Mora Lewis of Levelland, Mary Sue Hooks and Ed Cook of Temple, and Dickie Lancaster of Corsicana. Others on the honorable mention list were Steve Jones of Wharton, Kaki Dowling of Temple and James Moore of Odessa.

A word should be said for the production crews. There is more work than one would suppose in backstage matters, and although sets used were not elaborate, the quick changes were adroitly carried out.

The variety of plays was pleasing — including everything from light comedy to heavy drama.

Winner

Kay Loveland of Big Spring was named to the all-star cast in Friday's state junior college drama festival at HCJC, for her role in "The Petrified Forest,' and was awarded a pin which she sports on her blouse. (Other pictures in today's Megaphone.)

Audience response was great. Friday afternoon's performances were not too well attended, but there was an increased crowd for the evening portion of the contest.

Paul Beardsley of Austin College in Sherman was critic-judge for the contest. He held a critique and awards session Friday night after the final curtain, in which he gave a detailed and technical analysis of each play and their players.

Fred Short, for HCJC, and Mrs. Caroline Summers, for Temple, received plaques.

The festival was sponsored by the Texas Junior College Speech Association, and was held Thursday and Friday in HCJC Auditorium. Thursday was given over to a reception, rehearsals and other preparations, and Friday for the actual contest.

City To Lose Bus Service Tuesday

Big Spring will be without a bus service after Tuesday if someone doesn't step forward to take over the franchise.

The city commission has received one letter in reply to advertisements placed in numerous newspapers and trade magazines seeking interested operators. It was from C. E. Barnett, Hearne, who asked for details regarding the franchise.

Meeting with B. P. Bolding Friday, the commission advised the bus line operator to come to city hall Tuesday and he would be paid the portion of $130 necessary to protect him from a deficit. This arrangement was made with Bolding on March 1, guaranteeing him protection if he would operate one bus on a limited schedule through March 15.

Bolding told the commission Friday that he has averaged about $22 in receipts per day. He previously said that about $30 per day would be necessary to make money with the bus service. He said there had been no comments from his customers regarding the loss of service. "They have expected it for over a year," he explained.

Mayor Lee O. Rogers expressed the appreciation of the commission to Bolding for working to solve the problem of city transportation. Bolding said he had tried to give good service, but there has been a gradual decline in the operation.

Mayor Rogers said the cab company has agreed to post extra cabs on the north side in order provide transportation.

Meanwhile, A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, is to contact Barnett and give him the particulars of the franchise requirements. Bolding said he would also contact the man and offer his equipment for sale.

Tax Count

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—William W. (Smokey) Downey, for 10 years a top consultant to Gov. William G. Stratton, was accused by a federal grand jury Friday of evading taxes on $77,607 of income.

RUNNELS STUDENTS GIVE THEIR ENDORSEMENT TO TOM ERNEST

A large group of the student population of Runnels Junior High School has signed a statement in support of the school principal, Tom Ernest.

Ernest was one of two school leaders whose names were not submitted for re-election by Supt. Floyd Parsons, at a school board meeting earlier in the week. Roy Worley, high school principal, was the other, and he also has had expressions of commendation from teachers and students.

Bobby Williams, president of the Runnels student body, presented to the principal's office a statement signed by approximately 300 pupils. It reads as follows:

"We, the student body of R.J.H.S., hereby state that Mr. Ernest has made a good principal. He has been fair in all of his dealings with us, has promoted school spirit, has supported the athletic program. During the four years he has been here he has had excellent discipline. We would like to keep him at Runnels Junior High as our principal."

LIKE FATHER BEFORE HIM

Robert Pierson Honored As 50-Year Union Bricklayer

"It's not everybody that lives much over 50 years, let alone belongs to a union for half a century." Robert Pierson, 1007 E. 14th is duly proud of his record in the bricklayer's union. He was presented with his gold life membership card Saturday night at a banquet in his honor at the Desert Sands Restaurant.

"Not only is it rare for one to compile such a record, it is doubly rare to have two in one family do it. My father also got his gold card for 50 years in the same union."

Pierson started his career as an apprentice in 1910, at the age of 17. He became a journeyman in Dallas four years later.

WORKED ON SETTLES

Pierson had a hand in the constructing of many of the buildings in Dallas. He first came to Big Spring to help lay the brick for the Settles Hotel around 1928.

He moved to Big Spring permanently in 1935 when he began work on the Post Office building.

"I have been living and working in the Permian Basin ever since '35. The big difference now is the fact that the work is so much lighter. Walls are lighter and the use of tile has changed the work considerably." Pierson says.

Pierson figures the tallest building he ever worked on is probably the Magnolia Building in Fort Worth. It is approximately 20 stories.

"The thing I'm most proud of is that I paid my dues and kept my membership in the union all during the depression years. Most of the fellows, myself included, could not find any work from 1930 to about 1935 and it was hard to provide the basic necessities for my family, much less pay dues to a union when I couldn't even get a job.

KEPT MEMBERSHIP

"I kept my membership through those hard years, and that's what enabled me to keep my string going. It has really been worth it to me though. I have a $3,000 life insurance policy paid up and I also put my three daughters through college. That's something I couldn't have done if the trade hadn't been so good to me."

Another thing that impresses Pierson is the fact that the International union has very few strikes.

"In fact, we've had nothing more than some minor disputes now and then. And as for me, I've never been involved in a union strike. With all the union disputes nowadays, that's pretty good, don't you think?"

He has been the secretary for the local No. 35, for 10 years.

About 55 people attended the banquet Saturday representing the Midland, Odessa and Big Spring locals.

Pierson actually passed the 50 year mark in January but just now formally received his gold life membership card.

Harris Speaks To Forsan Club

FORSAN — Twenty-six members attended the Forsan Service Club meeting here Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

Miller Harris of Big Spring spoke briefly to the group.

The club discussed the progress being made on the new clubhouse. Electricity and gas has been installed and the floors and wall are nearing completion.

The club named three persons representing the Study Club, the H.D. Club, the Forsan Service Club and the Parents Teachers, to form a committee and make investigations of people in extreme need as a part of the service project.

The Service Club will hold its next meeting March 24 at Elbow and all men are invited to attend. The meeting is for the purpose of obtaining new members. Refreshments will be served.

Saga Of Sailors Told In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The saga of four Soviet sailors who were rescued by the U. S. Navy after 49 days afloat in the Pacific appeared for the first time in a Soviet newspaper today.

The government newspaper Izvestia carried details of the five-day-old rescue and expressed gratitude to the American sailors "who gave quick aid and saved the Russian sailors."

Freddie White, Award Winner, Will Return To Stock Show

Freddie White, young Big Spring 4-H Club member, who last year showed the grand champion steer of the Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock show and walked away with a check for $1,181 for his efforts, will be back again this week trying for another victory.

He will be one of the youngsters who will have steers in the competition at the 23rd annual show which opens on Tuesday. He will test his skill as a showman against the skills of 25 other youngsters.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, who is general superintendent of the show, said there would be 25 steers in that division. He said quality of the animals competing this year should be the highest in many years.

Steers, lambs and capons will be shown. In all 150 boys and girls from the Howard County 4-H clubs and the FFA chapters of Big Spring, Coahoma and Sands schools, will enter stock. They will begin bringing their animals to the show grounds on Tuesday morning. No other activity is on tap for that date other than the weighing in and entering of stock to be displayed.

Taylor reiterated that this year no grand champion and reserve champion lamb will be selected. He said this is a practice becoming widely followed in stock shows all over the southwest.

Judging will begin at 8 a.m. Wednesday. W. M. Day, Rankin, will judge the capons and lambs. Capons, of which 50 entries are expected, will be the first judged. The lambs will be judged at 9 a.m. It is possible there may be as many as 125 lambs entered.

Fred Wilkinson, Crane, will be judge of the steers. This event, always highlight of each year's stock show, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Cash prizes totalling $600 await Instead, he said a champion fine wool, champion crossbred and champion southdown will be selected—each for its own division. the boys and girls who place in the several events. Trophies and ribbons are also to be awarded.

Thursday will feature the annual auction at which the top animals and capons will be sold to the best bidder. David Sims, chairman of the auction sales committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and his fellow committeemen have been busy all week lining up bidders for the show.

The auction, with Randoll Sherrod as the auctioneer, starts at 7:30 p.m. Thursday evening.

The show is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce. The general public is invited to attend any and all sessions.

Cap Rock Co-Op Shows Increase

Considerable gain in number of KWH sold, and an increase in members connected, are shown in the February report of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

Members using power from the Co-op totaled 4,211 during the month, as compared with 4,171 in January. KWH sold aggregated 1,593,339 in February, against 1,472,401 in January. Average KWH consumption went up from 498 to 508.

The Coop added eight more miles of line, with the February total of lines energized standing at 2,129 miles.

In Demand

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Broadway producers are reported contending for a bizarre play written by 22-year-old Arthur L. Kopit, who graduated from Harvard last June.

Titled "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Momma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," it is about a possessive mother who keeps her son locked up in hotel rooms. As a student production, it received lavish comment from Boston critics.

Roger L. Stevens has first refusal on the work; next in line is Theodore Mann, and then Kermit Bloomgarden.

District Baptist Conference Set Monday Night

Workers conference of the Big Spring Baptist Association is scheduled for Monday, at the Baptist Temple.

The conference will be a night affair, with refreshments and a song service following executive board and WMU meetings at 6 p.m.

The First Baptist Church of Stanton will present a sword drill, a film strip will be shown, and special music will be given by the Baptist Temple choir. A panel discussion will be conducted by Mrs. F. W. Bettle, Fred Potts, G. G. Morehead and Floyd Henderson.

Singer Sentenced On Morals Count

ST. LOUIS (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge George H. Moore Friday imposed the maximum sentence for a Mann Act violation — five years in prison and a $5,000 fine — on rock 'n' roll singer Charles E. (Chuck) Berry of St. Louis.

Berry was convicted last year of transporting a 14-year-old Indian girl from El Paso to St. Louis for immoral purposes.

Moore ordered the 30-year-old Negro singer held without bond. He has been indicted but not tried on another Mann Act charge involving a 25-year-old woman and on a charge of transporting an automatic pistol between states.

Berry served time in a reformatory in 1944 in Missouri.

City Sells State Small Land Tract

The Big Spring City Commission, during a special meeting Friday, agreed to sell 3.677 acres of land off the norht end of the Webb AFB property.

The State Highway Department requested the small tract for use as an interchange on Interstate 20. The state has agreed to pay $5,913 for the tract without the present fence and $5,920 if the fence is included. In either case, the city is to pay for a new fence to separate the highway right of way and Webb AFB.

The Air Force currently leases this land from the city. However, negotiations are under way to give the property to the government as an inducement to make the base permanent.

In other action, the commission agreed with a suggestion of City Manager A. K. Steinheimer that the three local banks be asked to bid for the right of being the city's depository of funds. Steinheimer said the city currently uses all three banks and has averaged about $200,000 on deposit each month through the past year.

He suggested that the city could earn a considerable amount of money on its fixed deposits by using one bank. The city manager was instructed to call for bids.

The commission agreed to purchase a tank for storage of premium gasoline that will effect a savings of about $1,669.92 per year. The city currently pays 20 cents per gallon for premium gasoline at tank wagon price.

By spending $1,200 for an 8,000 gallon tank and installation, the city can purchase premium gasoline at 16 cents per gallon for transport delivery.

The fire trucks, police cars and motorcycles, and one garbage truck use premium gasoline. It is estimated that these vehicles use 41,748 gallons during a 12 month period.

Absentee Voting Opens Monday In School Races

Absentee ballots will be available at the office of the county clerk starting Monday for voters who will have to use this method of voting in the forthcoming school trustee elections.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that boxes for the Howard County Junior College, Big Spring High School and for the county school board of trustee contests will be operated in her office.

Absentee voting closes on March 29. The elections will be on April 2.

She has application forms for citizens who wish to apply for absentee ballots and where such applications are proper, will issue ballots to the voter.

She pointed out that the state laws specify that a voter can cast an absentee ballot provided he can show that he is sick or has a physical disability which will bar him from going to the regular voting place on election day. Voters who are to be out of their county and voting precinct on election day are also permitted to cast absentee ballots.

Voters who are sick or disabled should provide themselves with a certificate from their physician affirming their claim of physical disability.

An affadavit must be made by a voter who asks to cast an absentee ballot because he is to be out of the county and away from his precinct on election day. He must set up in this affadavit where he will be.

Two members from commissioners precincts and one member at large from the county are to be named to the county board of school trustees at the election. The incumbent members are all candidates for re-election. They have no opponents. They are James G. Lewis, commissioners precinct 3; Robert J. Cook, commissioners precinct 4 and Truman Jones, trustee at large.

McGee Death Probe Is Brought To End

No further investigation into the death of Jimmie McGee Jr., 22, found dead in a tourist court cabin last Wednesday afternoon, is planned by county officials.

Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney, and Fern Cox, chief deputy sheriff, said that they would accept the finding of a pathologist that McGee died of asphyxiation when trapped in the small room with the bed clothing on fire. They believe that he was overcome with smoke before he could extricate himself from the room and that the evidence of a struggle which the room presented was the result of his efforts to escape.

Meantime, McGee's father, Buck McGee, Alamosa, Colo., has informed the sheriff's office he plans to be in Big Spring on Tuesday or Wednesday to get a first hand picture of what was involved in the death of his son. The father had been working in Big Spring up to three weeks prior to the fatal fire. He and his son roomed together at the Keith Courts. He returned to Alamosa when he broke his arm in an accident. After that date, the son had lived alone at the cabin.

H. Keith, proprietor of the courts, told officers that he heard loud talk and a knocking sound coming from McGee's cabin at 6 a.m. on Wednesday morning. He still insists that he did hear such a disturbance at that hour. Officers are inclined to believe that McGee was already dead by 6 a.m.

It is known that McGee was alive as late as 4:15 a.m. on Wednesday. A friend brought him to the cabin at that hour. His body was found by Bobby Dyer, another friend, around 2 p.m. Wednesday evening.

The pathologist said that he discovered concentrated quantities of carbon monoxide in the lungs of the victim. No other factors which could have caused death were evident. He said that death was due to asphyxiation.

Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, said he planned to issue a death certificate based on this conclusion by the doctor.

Mario Lanza Widow Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Singer Mario Lanza's widow, once known as Hollywood's most patient wife because of her late husband's stormy antics, died Friday.

A maid found the pajama-clad body of Betty Lanza in bed in her rented mansion. Police sayd the 37-year-old widow apparently died of natural causes.

Her brother, Bert Hicks, said she died "of a broken heart." "She never recovered from Mario's loss," he said. "Her life seemed empty."

An autopsy was conducted but the coroner's office said determination of the cause of death must await further studies.

Her doctor said she had been under treatment for a respiratory ailment. Authorities said she may have died of asphyxiation.

Her husband died of a heart attack last Oct. 7 in Rome at the age of 38.

Mrs. Lanza, a native of Chicago, came to California in 1944 to work in an aircraft plant. Her brother introduced her to Lanza, then a young tenor, at a Hollywood party that year. They were married in April 1945.

The couple had four children — Colleen, 10, Elisa, 8, Damon, 6 and Mark, 4.

Small Town Growth Healthy

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas small towns have shown a healthy growth trend during the 1950s, the Texas Municipal League said Saturday.

The percentage of the state's population residing in cities of less than 10,000 population has declined during the past decade as more people have gone into the major cities. Half of the state now lives in the 20 largest cities.

Since the 1950 census, 44 Texas communities have climbed above the 10,000 population line, the league reported. Some 37 per cent of the Texas cities over 10,000 population in 1960 were in the small city classification 10 years ago.

The league got replies from 208 of 717 Texas cities under 10,000 and concluded that most of the state's small towns will generally register steady rates of growth during the 1960s.

Break In Weather Brings More Activity In Building

Building has picked up a bit since cold weather lifted, according to Bobby Roman of the McMahon Concrete Company. The firm has started delivering concrete for several buildings, with the largest being the new Country Club building where floors are being poured.

"This was our best week in a long time," said Roman. "There aren't many new buildings starting but some of those who had started earlier were postponing the work. It was just too cold to pour concrete the last few weeks."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips are doing some extensive building at their Alamo Courts on West Third. This will include ten new units, a swimming pool and a new office. Also the other units will be re-modeled and dressed up to harmonize with the new ones.

Incidentally, Phillips thinks this area would be a good spot for a nice restaurant. He says that in addition to his motel, there are some others on West Third, and the new TraveLodge is being built just south on Fourth Street.

"The total number of customers each night would go a long way in supporting a nice eating place," he said.

* * *

Two other remodeling projects are under way at the House of Charm at 609 Gregg and at Lucelle's, which is located on 1001 Scurry.

The House of Charm, which is a beauty salon, is putting in private facial and pedicure rooms and adding new equipment, according to Sarah Watkins, manager.

Lucelle's is planning a new rose garden, and will encase it in a patio on the west side of the present building. Manager E. H. Boullioun says the heat of the sun against the full plate glass window on the west is terrific in the summer, so they are building a patio which will have brick columns and be enclosed in a white wrought iron grill.

The well-dressed gent this spring will likely wear a dark-colored coat with a tint of olive in it, though it won't be the same color as the olive that decorates a sandwich. It will be more subdued. There will be burnt olive, dark olive and others that blend with the more standard colors.

Also the wearer, if he is not too narrow-chested, may dispense with the padded shoulders and have three buttons on his coat.

This information comes from A. J. Prager of Prager's Men's Store. In addition to his news he says men will be paying more for clothing by next fall, particularly in suit wear. The amalgamated workers and millhand hands are getting pay raises, which will likely increase the price of suits by $5.00 or more.

Prager says the history of the industry is that every time wages go up so do prices to the consumer.

* * *

Pelletier's has done a bit of remodeling by raising the floor of the front displays and then making an outside wall of sandstone up to the bottom of the windows.

Manager Bill Knight also contributed some news on spring styles. He says the leading shoes for ladies will be the open type and also closed shoes with openings in them. Two leading colors will be flowered tapestry and bone colors.

He thinks the tapestry shoes will be good sellers. They are made in Belgium and will go well with either flowered dresses or with solid colors that have the same tint as that found in the shoes.

The shoe manufacturers are not so daring as the fashion experts who dictate dress styles. These shoe people sort of invite themselves to the big fall show which takes place in April. There they find out what the dress makers plan and also get a line on what leather manufacturers are up to. Then they go home and start making shoes that will go well with the rest of milady's ensemble.

It seems that a woman first buys a dress then tries to find a pair of shoes to match.

The two large bus lines serving Big Spring report that business is better than a year ago. J. C. Owens, manager of the Greyhound Bus Terminal, says that ordinarily a dull period exists from January till Easter, but there has been very little let-up this year.

One part that increased rapidly has been freight hauling. Though Greyhound has a shipment limit of 125 pounds, the buses carry a full load of goods on almost every trip. Local jewelry stores get regular shipments from New York and New Jersey. Automobile dealers get parts daily from Dallas and other cities. Hospitals ship blood by bus, and a large part of the magazines and newspapers are brought in by bus.

One advantage in shipping this way is the fast time and the fact that Greyhound runs 10 East-West schedules daily through Big Spring.

The North-South lines have also been doing more business, says Owens. During the fall an average of 25 braceros buy south-bound tickets daily. These are mostly workers who came up on regular bracero buses, then decide to go home before their contracts expire.

The same good business conditions prevail at Continental Trailways, where Frank Rice is manager. Rice is a veteran bus driver who made a regular run through Big Spring for a score of years, and helped get the franchise back in 1931 when the company was called American Bus Lines.

Rice says the chartering of special buses has become a common thing nowadays. Many groups such as high school classes, church youth groups, Shriners, women's clubs and others now charter buses for out of town meetings.

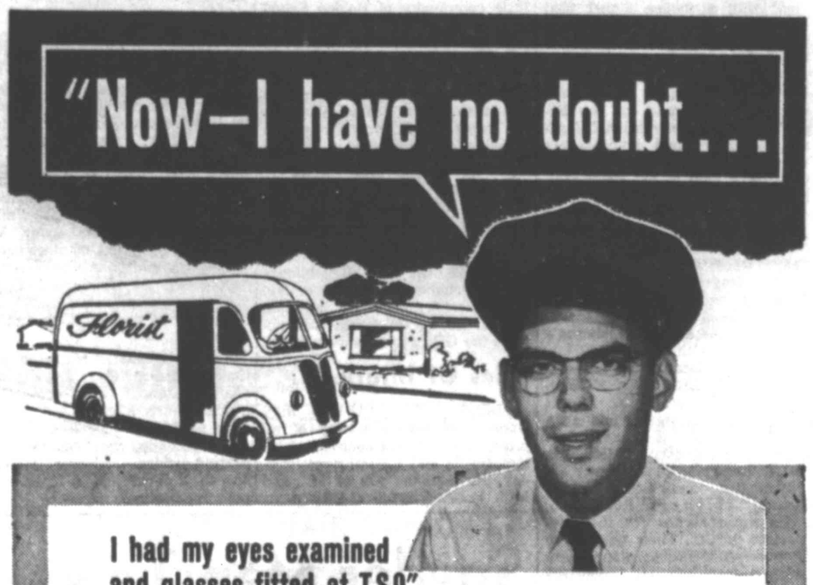

"Our escorted tours are also getting more popular," Rice said. "The company has several of these tours to such places as Yellowstone, Canada and New England as well as shorter ones; and a lot of people like to take their vacations in this way."

Two other reasons why bus travel has picked up, the managers point out, are the safety records of bus companies and the low rates. Though rates have gradually increased, the bus is still one of the cheapest forms of transportation.

Graham Touring Points In Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — Billy Graham took in more of the sights of this ancient land today before completing his four-day visit to Egypt Sunday with a giant evangelistic rally. His next stop will be the Jordan sector of Jerusalem.

The touring American evangelist held a long discussion on Christianity in Africa Friday with Kyrillos VI, patriarch of Egypt's Coptic Church and the Ethiopian Church.

Graham Says Islam Ahead

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) —Christianity, Islam, and communism are battling for the minds and hearts of Africa's uncommitted millions. At the moment Islam is making the greatest progress.

This is the sober conclusion drawn by American evangelist Billy Graham after an exhausting eight-week crusade through east, central and west Africa.

The long-legged, quick-smiling treacher traveled thousands of miles and spoke from dozens of pulpits. He talked to hundreds of missionaries and clergymen of all faiths. Bible in hand, he met with heads of state and the lowest and most suspicious bush dwellers.

"I have met a number of people who think America may eventually be overwhelmed by Islam," Graham said. "This presents to Christianity and Christian forces in Africa a tremendous challenge and responsibility."

Population statistics for Africa are notably lacking and misleading, but it is estimated there are some 40 million Africans, still worshipping the old bush gods, who are not committed to any world ideologies. More of them are turning to Islam than to Christianity at the moment, Graham said.

Islam, he said, is less demanding than Christianity. And above all it permits the African, traditionally polygamous, to have more than one wife.

Christian churches, he said, cannot compromis. here. They cannot admit to full membership a man with more than one wife.

Christian missionaries performed miracles of devotion and died in hundreds to capture Africa. They built schools, hospitals and churches. Graham's own Southern Baptist Church has built hundreds of schools in Nigeria alone, but Nigeria is predominantly Moslem.

What is the solution? More and more missionaries, Graham said, and particularly American Negro missionaries and Africans.

"When I get home I am going to say as often as I can that we need more American Negro Christians working in Africa," Graham said. "And even they are not as acceptable as Africans."

Graham preached his message at 24 major outdoor services to more than 300,000 persons. The major meetings were held in Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, the Central African Federation, Tanganyika, Ruanda Urundi, Kenya, and Ethiopia. An unscheduled meeting also was held at Dakar.

C-C Leaders Map Workshop For March 24

Chamber of Commerce workers representing 67 Chambers over a 150 mile radius are expected to gather 200-300 strong for the first meeting of a "chamber leaders' workshop" at Colorado City.

Scheduled for March 24, the workshop is sponsored by the community services committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Bill Quimby, Big Spring Chamber manager and chairman of the WTCC sponsoring committee, said the meeting is one of the first of its kind.

"We hope to spread the idea over a bigger area, pending the success of this first one," he said.

Registration in the Colorado City Civic House will begin at 8:30 a.m. and Quimby will preside over the opening assembly. Max N. Caddell, president of the Colorado City Chamber, will give the welcome followed by the keynote address of Joe Bell, Colorado City Record. Bell will speak on "Building a Community Through the Chamber of Commerce."

Claude Holley, president of the Seminole Chamber, and Bill Collyns, past president of the Midland chamber, will conduct the president's session.

Joe Cooley, executive vice president of the Abilene Chamber, will conduct the "committee chairmen and other leaders" session. Bill Thomas, manager at Andrews, will preside over the manager's session. Homer Tanner, manager at Brownwood, Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president of the WTCC, and Byford Sealy, president of the Andrews chamber, will speak during the session.

R. C. (Art) Jordan, president of the WTCC from Amarillo, will preside over the luncheon. The Rev. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring, will make the luncheon address.

For the afternoon general assembly, Quimby will preside. Paul D. Marable, general manager of WTCC, will conduct a question and answer period stemming from the morning meetings.

At long last, to crib a phrase, Continental Air Lines is going to get to move to the new Howard County Airport. If everything goes according to schedule CAL will operate first flights out of the new port on Wednesday. It will be handier for customers because at Webb it is necessary to clear the guard station at the gate.

The Chamber of Commerce certainly got response on appeals for a listing of rental units last week. The office force was swamped for a couple of days. Bulk of the listings were two room efficiency apartments and too few were of the house size so urgently needed.

Texas Sun Plays Peek-A-Boo

By The Associated Press

The sun played peek-a-boo in skies over Texas Saturday.

Only in southeast Texas and the El Paso area of Far West Texas were skies clear. In other parts of the state the sun broke through cloud cover for short periods through the day.

There was no rain but the Weather Bureau forecast scattered showers over the weekend.

Water Study Meet Slated Tuesday

A long-range look at water problems on the Colorado River watershed will be taken at a meeting here Tuesday.

It is one of a series being conducted over Texas by the U. S. Study Commission on water, and will be held at the Howard County Junior College auditioium beginning at 2 p.m.

Over-all program for the commission is to formulate a comprehensive, integrated plan for development of land and water use in eight major river basins of Texas — Neches, Trinity, San Jacinto, Brazos, Colorado, Guadalupe, San Antonio and Nueces.

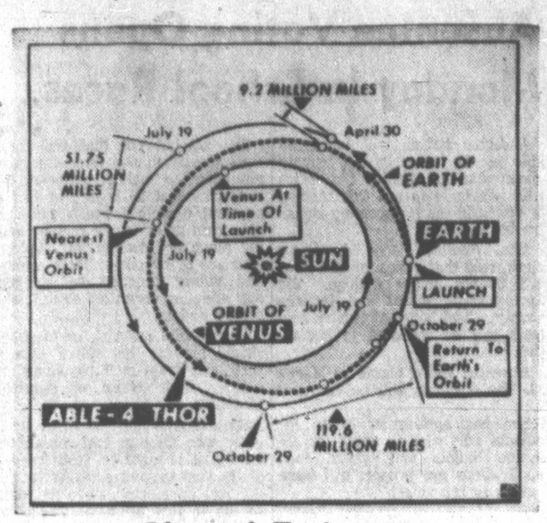

Public officials and private interests in the upper part of the Colorado River basin have been invited to submit data, estimates, and any other information they may have related to future water requirements, particularly by the years 1975 and 2010, to assist the commission in recommending a plan for conservation and utilization of available water resources.

Invitations to attend the meeting have been extended to county judges, mayors, major water using industries, river authorities, utilities and similar organizations by Sim Gideon, member of the commission from the Colorado River basin.

A large number of federal, state, river authority, and local agencies are cooperating with the commission in its study, including the Texas State Board of Water Engineers.

The Commission's report will be printed as a public document after it is submitted to Congress.

Similar meetings are being held by the commission and the Bureau of Reclamation at strategic points in each of the river basins included in the study area.

Planned Trajectory

This chart, based on information from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, outlines the planned trajectory of the Thor-Able rocket which blasted from its pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. If successful, the interplanetary probe will place a spherical 26-inch payload into orbit around the sun between Earth and its planetary neighbor Venus.

HIGH FEE

Cooper got a $25,000 retainer and $350 per trial day for a total fee of about $45,000. The doctor had to pledge most of his assets to take care of the fee.

Miss Tregoff's fees were not disclosed, but were estimated at about $20,000.

The Finch case was a sizzler from the start.

Central figure was Dr. Finch, 42. Crew-cut, athletic, an ardent tennis player and water-skier, he had a big surgical practice in the upper middle class suburb of West Covina. He owned a share of a clinic and grossed up to $200,000 a year.

In eight days on the witness stand he said his once-happy marriage soured after the birth of a son because his wife grew frigid. They went their separate ways romantically, staying married for financial reasons. He told of love affairs with two clinic women before he fell in love with Miss Tregoff, his receptionist. They conducted their romance at a series of rented love nests. He said he still loves her and would marry her if he could.

CAROLE FLED

Carole, 23, onetime model who grew plump during her jail stay, testified only briefly. She said she fled when the Finches had their fatal argument and hid in the bushes for hours, terrified, seeing nothing.

The prosecutions' case:

The defendants, seeking desperately to prevent Mrs. Finch from getting most of the doctor's $750,000 estate via a divorce settlement hired Minneapolis hoodlum Jack Cody for the job. When he failed, they did it themselves. They assembled a "murder kit"—a leather case containing such items as a gun, bullets, knife, drugs, hypodermics, rope — and ambushed Mrs. Finch in her garage when she returned from a late engagement.

Their plan: to kill her and make it look accidental by sending the body over a cliff in a car. The scheme went awry when the Finch maid, attracted by screams came to the scene. The doctor tried to force both women into the car, planning a double killing. His wife ran. He shot her in the back. He went back to shoot the maid intending to make it appear that a robber killed both women, but she had fled and called police. He ran in panic. Miss Tregoff was a party to the murder as she helped with the plot and carried the "murder kit" to the garage.

DEFENSE STORY

The defense version:

The defendants hired Cody to get compromising divorce evidence against Mrs. Finch, by wooing her if necessary, but not to kill her. They went to the garage to urge Mrs. Finch to get a quick Nevada divorce. When she spotted them she pulled a gun. The doctor grappled with her. He tried to get the women into the car so he could take them to a hospital for treatment of the wounds he had inflicted. When his wife grabbed the gun and fled, he caught her and wrested it from her. It fired as he tried to throw it away. She forgave him as she lay dying. The murder kit? Just an emergency medical bag brought along because it contained a needed flashlight.

The doctor was arrested next day in Miss Tregoff's apartment in Las Vegas. She told police she went to Nevada to get away from the triangle situation.

She wasn't arrested until two weeks later when she stepped from the stand after testifying at her lover's preliminary hearing. Her prosecutor said he ordered a murder charge against her because of discrepancies between her testimony and earlier stories to police.

PHONE INSTRUCTIONS

Saturday's climactic sequence of events began when Judge Evans got two queries from the jury, which he answered by telephone from his home.

Attorneys later protested, saying there should be no instructions except in the presence of state and defense attorneys.

After a conference in chambers with the attorneys, Judge Evans announced the deadlock to the press, called the jury in and polled it.

Afterward he called the jury into his chambers and shook each member's hand.

"I am extremely sincere," he said, "when I tell you thanks for your help. You are one of the rare juries that has been locked up prior to the time the case was given to you." (The jury was locked up Feb. 18 because, the judge said, of "certain tensions.")

Because of the retrial, he admonished them to discuss the case with no one, saying, "Any publicity the case now receives will be throughout the county of Los Angeles."

Whichello acknowledged that a conviction in a retrial might be hard to obtain because later jurors inevitably will recall the first jury deadlocked. But, he said, convictions have been obtained even on third trials.

The district attorney said, after defense attorneys indicated they might seek to have the defendants freed on bail, that they would oppose such a move.

Each defendant faced five possible verdicts: guilty of first-degree murder—penalty, death in California's gas chamber or life imprisonment; guilty of second-degree murder—five years to life in prison; innocent of murder; guilty of conspiracy — execution or life imprisonment; innocent of conspiracy.

HILDA WEINERT

'Mrs. Democrat' Will Be Honoree At Party Meeting

AUSTIN (AP) — A cheerfully willing party worker often referred to in Texas as "Mrs. Democrat" will be honored by the state Democratic leadership at a weekend session here.

She is Mrs. H. H. (Hilda) Weinert of Seguin, whose consistent, unbroken record of service to the party goes back more than a quarter of a century.

For 12 years Democratic National Committeewoman from Texas, Mrs. Weinert has been a delegate to every national convention since 1936. She probably will be in the midst of the Texans at Los Angeles in July this year.

Informal ceremonies and parties honoring Mrs. Weinert will highlight the Democratic sessions Sunday and Monday. The official purpose of the Executive Committee meeting is to select sites for the June 14 presidential elector convention and the Sept. 20 governor's convention.

The June 14 state session which also names delegates to the Los Angeles convention—almost certainly instructed to back Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for the nomination—will be in Austin. No other city has made a serious bid for it.

Monday has been designated "Mrs. Weinert Day" by a formal resolution adopted at a previous meeting of the Executive Committee headed by Chairman J. Ed Connally of Abilene. Mrs. Weinert will be the honor guest at a luncheon following the business session.

Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel will be honored at a reception Sunday night with Connally as the host.

In more than 25 years, Mrs. Weinert has only missed one county, state or national party convention.

She was the first woman elected vice-chairman of the state executive committee, a reward for faithful service and generous party support as a district committeewoman. The last four years as a national committeewoman, she was named to the important executive and credentials subcommittees.

Although retired as national committeewoman, Mrs. Weinert has continued as a district member of the state executive committee. She is now chairman of its resolutions subcommittee.

Mrs. Weinert's political activity has been just one phase of a long, busy public career. Her husband, the late Sen. H. H. Weinert, had wide business holdings and she continues to carry on his work in such posts as chairman of the board of the Seguin State Bank and Trust Co.

For 30 years she was a member of the Seguin School Board. She is active in Lutheran Church work, chairman of the board of Texas Lutheran College, served as a member of the NYA Board in 1936, established the first safety patrol in any Texas Public School, and was vice chairman of the Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children.

Gun-Happy Man Can't Tell Why

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A gun-happy grandson of a highly respected judge told police bluntly Saturday he killed two young babysitters who were watching his two youngsters after he returned home from a drinking bout.

Asked why he shot them, he didn't have an answer, except — "It just happened."

Henry Clay Warth is charged with fatally wounding Linda Qualls, 12, and her cousin Penny Qualls, 13, Friday night while they took care of Warth's two children.

"I'd give anything in the world if I knew why," said Warth.

Police Chief Herman Frazier said the murder weapon was a .22 rifle, one of the smallest in a firearms collection owned by the accused slayer.

When police apprehended Warth six hours later, cruising within the city, several other weapons were found in his car, including rifles and pistols and a .303 machine gun.

All were loaded. Frazier said the machine gun, which weighed nearly 75 pounds, was so complicated that after Warth had been booked and jailed, police had to ask his help to unload it.

Warth also had with him in his car his son, Henry, 4, and Jennifer Lynn, 3. He apparently had grabbed the youngsters and taken off on a wild ride with them after the shooting.

Warth's wife, Margaret, and Mrs. Clarence Qualls, mother of Linda returned from a babyshower in the neighborhood at 11 p.m. and discovered the tragedy.

Penny was dead on arrival at a hospital, and Linda died there an hour later.

Warth in his cell, gave his account.

"I came home," he said. "I'd been out drinking a lot. The girls were sitting on the couch watching television.

"Suddenly, I went over to my gun rack, picked up rifle, walked back to the couch, and shot Penny in the head."

In his statement to officers, Wrath said he reloaded the weapon, then fired at Linda. She was struck in the neck.

"It just happened," he said.

Barr said Warth, with his two children crying and running behind him, carried the heavy machine gun, a pistol, rifle and ammunition to his car in one trip from the house.

He gathered up his son and daughter and went to nearby Ashland, Ky., where he drove around aimlessly until he parked in a residential area.

"After a lo' of thinking," he said, "I decided to come back and give myself up."

Notables Go On Gridiron 75th Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gridiron Club capped 75 years of kidding public figures Saturday night with a jubilee dinner that dipped into the past and wound up scorching 1960 candidates of both parties in skit and song.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Cabinet members, most of the Supreme Court, congressional leaders, governors and ambassadors were among the 500 guests of the newsmen's club at the Hotel Statler-Hilton for the annual fun.

The ribbing did not spare those present, including several Democratic presidential candidates. There were songs about Eisenhower's travels and golf, Nixon's claim on the White House, "Poor Boy" Humphrey, Kennedy's new haircut and wealth, and Johnson's "love affair with the west."

Among the Democratic hopefuls present were Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Stuart Symington of Missouri and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota was campaigning in Wisconsin.

Symington and Sen. Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, made the speeches for their respective parties. Their talks were off the record in accordance with Gridiron tradition that "reporters are never present."

Republicans were kidded with a scene laid in the "Peace and Prosperity Travel Bureau." Democrats got joshed as participants in a "big city rumble" showing rival gangs fighting for the presidential nomination. The debate over military preparedness was satirized with a mock cloak-and-dagger skit showing how Central Intelligence supposedly gathers its information from "a sewer in old Vienna."

Arthur Krock of the New York Times, a member for nearly 50 of its 75 years, told the diners the club's purpose, to prevent people from taking themselves too seriously, has never changed.

His comments introduced the concluding number, a musical flashback in which the club's soloists and chorus sang excerpts from Gridiron hits of old. The number ended with a melodic farewell to Eisenhower's eight years in the White House, to the tune of "The Red River Valley":

From the White House you soon will be going
Where for eight years you lived —now and then.
You can golf without prying reporters
Asking who, why, whether or when.

250 Trees Planted At Scout Camp Saturday

It was tree planting day at Camp Ed Murphy Saturday.

Boy Scouts of eight troops from Big Spring and Stanton planted more than 260 trees on the site of the camp at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Trees planted were largely ash but there were Balm of Gilead, mimosas, Lombardi poplars, cotton woods and a few elms included in the lot.

Road maintainers from Borden County opened ditches and the Scouts planted the trees. The trees were largely around the parking area but others were set near the headquarters and elsewhere on the camp site.

Bruce Frazier of Howard County Junior College, and Carl Campbell, in charge of the project, were on the scene.

There were 125 boys from troops 4, 5, 6, 9, 16, 19 and 39, all of Big Spring, and from troops 14 and 28 at Stanton taking part in the project.

Negro Leader Hails Ruling

DALLAS (AP)—A Negro integration leader Saturday hailed a New Orleans court decision calling for Dallas schools to present an integration plan by May 1 as "something we've been looking forward to for a long time."

Mrs. Lee Flanagan, president of the Dallas Branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, commented following a ruling in the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"We hope Dallasites will accept this ruling with good will," Mrs. Flanagan said.

Gloom Covers Mine Incident

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—Gloom as thick as the acrid smoke that has kept 18 coal miners prisoner since last Tuesday hung over the little community of Holden Saturday.

Hopes that the 18 might be rescued had soared for a brief time as rescue crews worked feverishly to rig a makeshift ventilation system that would blow out the smoke and fumes from the smouldering fire deep in the Island Creek Coal Co. Mine 22.

Prince Charming Type Marriage Scored In Manual

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Army pamphlet warns young people against a Prince Charming-Sleeping Beauty approach to marriage.

"None of us is a Prince Charming and no one ever marries a Sleeping Beauty," one chapter of the pamphlet says. The publication is one of a series being issued by the Army on the general subjects of duty, honor and country.

In marriage, the Army adds, "Love is important if it's the right kind of love," not an infatuation or "excited love" that "may leave you breathless today but won't last in or out of marriage."

The pamphlet advises young people that sex, finances, religion and background are important factors to be considered in taking the step.

It also is critical of any notion that matrimony is "a ball and chain existence" or a "noose that a smart man avoids."

No marriage is perfect, it adds philosophically, and "couples celebrating golden anniversaries who say they never had a fight have poor memories."

Snyder Man Talks At British Dinner

LONDON (AP)—Two hundred distinguished Britons paid tribute to Texas at the annual dinner of the Anglo-Texas Society Saturday night.

The Anglo-Texas Society was founded by a group of Englishmen who love the Lone Star State.

The principal speaker, however, was a Texan—C. T. McLaughlin, of Snyder, chairman of the Texas Public Safety Commission. He flew to London for the dinner in the House of Commons Dining Room.

"If it had not been for the number of men bearing English names who came to the United States," said McLaughlin, "we might still be a part of Mexico."

With the audience cheering every name, he reeled off the following: Houston, Bowie, Crockett, Smith, Johnson and Grant.

"England's contribution to the progress of Texas," continued McLaughlin "still continues today.

"You here in this country have a building expert—Lord Bossom—who has greatly contributed to the skyline of Dallas."

Lord Bossom, a British architect and for many years a member of parliament as Sir Alfred Bossom, is the designer of one of Dallas' biggest buildings. He also is president of the Anglo-Texas Society.

McLaughlin was cheered constantly as he stressed the importance of British-American cooperation.

Before McLaughlin spoke, Lord Jellicoe spoke, saying:

"One of the proudest moments of my life was when I was once taken for a Texan."

Telling of his first visit to Dallas, Lord Jellicoe added:

"I saw one of the girl wonders of the world—the models of Neiman Marcus."

Another speaker was veteran American actress Bebe Daniels, a native of Dallas and a longtime resident in London.

"Never ask an American if he's from Texas," she said, "because if he's from Texas he'll tell you and if he isn't—he'll be ashamed."

McLaughlin, however, was the speaker who gained the most applause before an audience that was packed with British aristocrats and captains of industry.

He said the world was a very small place when a man could fly over to London from Snyder, Tex., to make a speech in the House of Commons dining room.

"A very important person in Texas," he said, "told me something very important when I told him I was flying over here to deliver tonight's address.

"I want to know," McLaughlin concluded, "that I bring this message to you—all of you here tonight have been made honorary citizens of Texas."

Rights Bill Vote Seen

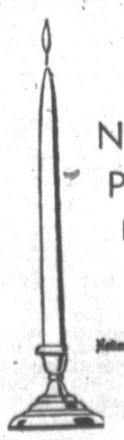

WASHINGTON (AP)—The curtain is going up for the third act of the Senate's civil rights political spectacular with passage of a voting rights bill scheduled at its climax.

The filibuster which enlivened the second act with its practically nonstop Senate session of 157 hours, 41 minutes—with last Sunday off—is fading swiftly out of the script. Leaders are agreed there will be no more around-the-clock sessions.

But the Senate is not going back merely to the round of dreary speeches which marked the first act's run from Feb. 15 to Feb. 29.

There is voting in the air, and members are anxious to get around to it. If they are forced to it—and it looks as if they will be—the necessary two-thirds of those voting will line up to end debate and act on a bill.

Monday Rites For Mrs. Hines

Mrs. Ruth C. Hines, aunt of Mrs. Houston Cowden, died at a Big Spring hospital on Friday night. She had been ill for two years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hines will be in the Gause-Ware Funeral Chapel in Fort Worth on Monday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the Greenwood cemetery. River Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements in Big Spring and will remove her body to Fort Worth on Sunday.

Mrs. Hines had lived in Fort Worth for 60 years up to 1958 when she moved to Big Spring. It was not her first residence in this town, however — she first came to Big Spring in 1884 and was married in 1897 to the late Joe B. Hines, here. She died in 1939 after many years service with the Masonic bodies of Fort Worth.

She was a sister of the late Walter C. Bird, Texas and Pacific locomotive engineer of this city.

She was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Fort Worth. In her lifetime she was active in the Order of the Eastern Star.

She was born in Battle Creek, Mich.

City Due To Close Deal For New Paving Project

Property owners will pay between 4.22 cents and 5.66 cents per front foot for paving, if the city commission adopts the recommendations of A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, and Louis Jean Thompson, consulting engineer.

During a special meeting Monday, scheduled for 6:15 p.m., the commission will award the contract for the assessment paving program.

Steinheimer and Thompson have recommended that the city use hot mix on a flexible base for the 100 block program. Thompson prepared the specifications for the program and originally recommended that the city use a hot mix program.

Other paving types on which bids were received were quadruple penetration on a flexible base and soil cement base for both penetration and hot mix.

Steinheimer and Thompson assured the commission that the city is fortunate in receiving many low bids. The apparent low bidder was over $100,000 lower than original estimates. The pavement specifications insure a 15 to 20 year life for the streets.

W. D. Caldwell and H. G. Counts are the apparent low bidders for hot mix. The city will pay about 29.4 per cent of the total cost and property owners will pay the remainder.

If the Caldwell-Counts bid is accepted, total cost of the program will be $407,727.69. This includes the contractor's bid plus $37,052.58 engineering cost of the city. Property owners will pay $287,738.76.

The front foot cost will depend on the width of the street. Residents living on 30 foot streets will pay 4.22 cents per foot; 36 foot streets, 4.68 cents; 40 foot, 4.40 cents; 44 foot 5.17 cents; 61 foot, 5.66 cents; 71 foot, 5.42 cents; 75 foot, 4.80 cents and 22 foot, 4.68 cents. These foot costs are approximate, however.

The entire paving program covers 59,588 feet and includes curbs and gutters.

Webb Officers See World With Leave-Time Trips

Webb's traveling bachelors, 1st Lt. Gerald T. McMillan and 1st Lt. Vernroy K. Ahnin, have just returned from another globe-girdling 30-day leave. The pair, who less than 9 months ago toured Europe, covered the Far East this trip.

Though the trips were financed by the men themselves and taken on their own time, much of the transportation was in Air Force aircraft on a space-available basis. With the cash in their pockets in case the hitchhike method didn't work, they took off from Travis AFB, Calif., for Wake Island and from there to Hickam AFB, Hawaii.

The next stop was Tachikawa AFB, Japan; next, Formosa; and then Clark AFB in the Philippines. After Saigon, Bangkok, and Thailand, the duo spent a week in Hong Kong, which they considered the highlight of the trip.

With some carefully planned shopping in foreign ports, they were able to save some of the expense of the trip by replacing wardrobe items which would have cost twice as much in the U. S.

Lt. McMillan, who is a survival instructor at Webb and specializes in the "live off the land for emergency survival" theory, was interested in some of the native foods in the countries visited. His students here who have been introduced to rattlesnake cuisine will soon be hearing about such things as steamed honey bees and quail eggs.

On the trip home the officers were able to stop for a short stay in Honolulu, which is Lt. Ahnin's homeland.

Already planning the next trip, the globe-trotting troops mark South America for their next time around.

SIX-PASSENGER CAR OR STATION SEDAN ...CORVAIR IS BOTH!

A wonderfully useful folding seat makes every Corvair two cars in one. Just one quick flip and you increase the luggage and parcel space to 28.9 cubic feet. Just as simply, you're back to 6-passenger capacity. It's standard equipment . . . and extraordinarily practical.

Corvair does car-pool duty with the biggest and best of them. Going to work or school or out for the evening, you've got a genuine six-seater. (Practically flat floor makes Corvair even more comfortable than many of the so-called big cars.) As for carting around piles of stuff instead of people, just look at Corvair's station-sedan load space with the rear seat folded. And when that's full you can start on the trunk.

Corvair, you see, is no ordinary compact car. No others are so versatile. Certainly no others are so ingeniously engineered (like having independent suspension at all four wheels, or an air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or antifreeze). You just can't compare anything else coming out these days with a Corvair. The whole feel of a Corvair is different. It's so light-handed and agile and serenely stable on corners. So incredibly quick out of snow or soft mud. You could go for Corvair simply because it makes everyday driving seem so easy. Or, because handling one is a downright stimulating experience—FUN! Drive one soon.

Martin Prospector Is Dual Discoverer

Great Western Drilling Co. No. 1 Allen, a wildcat project that held promise at one time of finding oil in more than six formations, has been potentialed as a dual discovery.

Operator reported Saturday that the project has been completed in the Wolfcamp and Spraberry for dual discovery potential. It is in Martin County, about eight miles northwest of Stanton and nine miles northeast of Midland.

From the Spraberry, between 8,260-300 feet, the project pumped 186.28 barrels of 36 gravity oil with two per cent water. The gas oil ratio is 850-1. Operator fraced the section with 10,000 gallons.

From the Wolfcamp, operator pumped 184.48 barrels of 38.2 gravity oil with one per cent water. Perforations are between 8,500-600 feet. Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 520 gallons. The gas oil ratio is 1,100-1.

The field name designation is Mustang Springs (Spraberry and Wolfcamp).

While going into the hole, operator found shows in the Grayburg, Strawn, Montoya, Fusselman, Simpson, Ellenburger, and Devonian. Only the Spraberry and Wolfcamp would yield commercial production, however.

This project is on a 320 acre lease and is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines of section 41-37-1n, T&P survey. It is a quarter-mile northwest of an Ellenburger discovery that found oil at 12,090 feet.

Also in Martin County, a new Breedlove field site was picked out by Pan American Saturday.

It will be No. 11 F. D. Breedlove. It is 660 from north and west lines of labor 90-259-Briscoe CSL survey and seven miles southwest of Patricia. Slated for 12,700 feet, it is on 3,604 feet acres.

Some Increases For Industry In New Year

HOUSTON—U. S. oil and gas industry activity is expected to improve slightly during 1960, with a 1.4 per cent increase in well completions and 1.8 per cent in total footage drilled.

This prediction, made in an issue of "World Oil" calls for completion of 49,020 wells, and a gain of 692 wells over 1959. Footage drilled should increase 3.6 million feet to a total of 206 million feet.

The activity forecast is based on four factors:

1. Predicted 3.8 per cent increase in demand to 10.1 million barrels daily.
2. Further progress in liquidating surplus crude oil and product inventories.
3. Steady recovery in number of drilling rigs operating in the U. S. following an early January slump.
4. Indications that imports will increase at a slower pace than domestic demand.

Tempering these factors are a number of unfavorable influences, including tighter credit, higher interest rates and advances in operating costs without proportionate price gains.

However, moderate improvement in economic conditions should result in a 5.5 per cent or 385,000 barrel per day increase in U. S. crude oil production, to an average of 7.4 million barrels per day. Crude runs to stills should increase 367,000 barrels per day (4.6 per cent), to an average of 8.4 million barrels per day.

'Exotic Engines' Face Uphill Fight

NEW YORK — A long, uphill struggle is in prospect before "exotic" new engines such as gas turbines, lightweight diesels, rotary pistons and fuel cells replace the gasoline engine, declares Petroleum Week, McGraw-Hill publication.

The pace of work on exotics is frantic, but 10 times as many engineers are busy refining and re-refining the conventional automobile power plant. To replace the "old reliable," a radical design must have more power and flexibility, equal or better economy, the same or less weight per horsepower, and be cheaper to manufacture.

Many top auto company engineers feel these goals may never be reached.

The oil industry has a vital interest in the battle because any change in car power plants would effect consumption of gasoline. Gasoline accounts for half of U. S. petroleum demand and is the chief petroleum moneymaker.

The leading contender against the reciprocal gas engine is the gas turbine, which Chrysler Corp. engineers feel is only five or six years away from pleasure car application. Chrysler has an "evolutionary" model in the 140 horsepower range and says it is "very close" to cost levels of the conventional V-8.

Ford and General Motors engineers, however, say that gas turbines have a long way to go before they are economically feasible in passenger cars. Costs get out of line on small turbines, they believe. Both companies are concentrating work on turbine engines for heavy-duty trucks and marine application, where low weight per horsepower is a principal advantage.

Some automotive brass feel that a newcomer, Williams Research Corp., is closest to an auto turbine with its 75-pound, 75 horsepower model. The firm claims only minor problems must be solved before the turbine, which can be hooked to a car's rear wheels with a simple gear box, can be mass-produced.

Diesel engine prospects are not very bright. With their relatively low revolutions-per-minute operating range, noise, and extra equipment costs, they must be radically changed before application to the average passenger car.

Ford and GM experiments with free-piston turbines have shown that maintenance, among other things, is a sizeable problem. And the fuel cell, say Detroit engineers, "looks wonderful on paper" but is too experimental to have any short-term potential.

Refineries Vary Gasoline To Suit The Weather

A latter-day Sherlock Holmes armed with a test tube would have little difficulty today determining where a motorist had been doing his driving.

Not every motorist knows it, but a tankful of gasoline bought in wintry Chicago differs in several ways from a tankful of the identical brand bought at the same time in balmy Miami. And next summer's gasoline in Chicago will be unlike today's winter fuel there.

Thus it wouldn't be anything at all for a resurrected Holmes to be able to say: "Elementary, my dear Watson, the victim could not possibly have driven from Florida to New York — he has 'Vermont weather' gasoline in his car."

Whether an automobile is in Los Angeles this week or Montana the next it can be expected to start easily, accelerate smoothly and deliver good mileage.

"Petroleum Today," publication of the American Petroleum Institute, points out that the key to this is the way refineries vary the volatility of the gasoline according to climate. Volatility is simply the rate at which gasoline vaporizes in the carburetor.

Just as the family wash will dry quickly when the day is sunny or hang damp for hours when it's cloudy and humid, so does the nature of gasoline evaporation vary with weather conditions.

Consequently, the petroleum industry has split the year into three periods: summer, winter and spring-fall and has set a maximum volatility for each period. It has also divided the country into four climatic sections.

For one section — the coldest — highest volatility is recommended for three winter months and, depending on long-range weather forecasts, suggested for two other chilly months. In another section — the warmest — the highest volatility of fuel is never recommended and only the middle volatility is necessary even in winter.

Proof of the preciseness of these divisions is the fact that three states — Arizona, New Mexico and Texas — are split between two sections because of different prevailing weather conditions.

Strong Demands Set For Meeting On Allowables

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission will be faced Wednesday with apparently strong demands to reduce the April oil allowable.

The proration hearing scheduled then will find both the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the major oil buying companies in agreement that demand for Texas oil in April will be less than for this month.

Nominations submitted by the companies Friday totaled 2,520,112 barrels a day. This compares with 2,661,364 barrels submitted in written nominations a month ago, a drop of 141,252 barrels.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimates demand at 2,350,000 barrels, down 200,000 barrels.

The only increase by districts was 1,315 barrels higher than a month ago.

Decreases included 690 barrels a day in District 1, Southwest Texas; 10,113 barrels, District 2, Southwest Texas; 23,440 barrels, District 3, Gulf Coast; 10,043 barrels, District 4, Southwest Texas; 1,058 barrels, District 5, East Central Texas (outside); 10,043 barrels, District 6, East Texas field; 10,061 barrels, District 7-B, West Central Texas; 4,768 barrels, District 7-C, West Central Texas; 66,279 barrels, District 8, West Texas; and 2,392 barrels, District 9, North Texas.

Texas Drillers Find 181 Wells

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil well completions this week pushed the year's total to 1,844 new wells, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

A year ago, 2,185 wells had been completed. During the week, drillers brought in 156 oil wells and 25 gas wells.

The year's total of 319 gas well completions compares with 414 for this date in 1959.

Wildcatters hit five oil wells, including two in Dist. 7-B and one in Dist. 4, 7-C and 9. There were no gas wells brought in on unproven ground.

For the week, 168 wells were plugged.

The average daily allowable increased 12,378 barrels to 2,937,281 barrels.

Rotary Count Renews, Slides Drops To 244

The Permian Basin working rig count slipped again this week, halting a three week climb.

According to the Reed Roller Bit Co., there were 244 rotary rigs actually in the ground Friday, compared with 260 last week and 246 the week before.

This fall was reflected in the immediate eight county area where 15 were at work at the end of the week. It was a drop of one rig under last week's count of 16.

Howard County still had four rigs making hole, but Garza and Glasscock were without operations.

Lea County, N. M. is still the top county in the Basin, regarding working rotary rigs. It had 41 at week's end, the same number as the week before.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

Andrews 33 (35) BORDEN 4 (5), Cochran 2 (3), Coke 1 (1), Chaves 3 (1), Crane 10 (8), Crockett 4 (4), DAWSON 2 (3),

State Tax Is Deductible

Texas motorists are reminded that the five-cent Texas state tax on gasoline is a deductible item on their 1959 income tax returns.

The reminder came from the oil information committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., which cautioned that the current four-cent per gallon federal levy cannot be deducted.

The method of computing the gasoline tax deduction, when using tax forms 1040 or 1040W is simple, OIC pointed out:

1. Estimate miles driven in 1959 (average car mileage in 1958 was about 9,500, according to U. S. Dept. of Commerce).
2. Divide mileage by the miles per gallon your car gets (about 14 MPG in 1958 on the average, according to the Commerce Department), to obtain number of gallons used.
3. Multiply number of gallons used by the Texas state tax of five cents per gallon. This is amount of deduction which can be made for state taxes on gasoline.

Special Course

COLLEGE STATION — Registrants at the Advanced Petroleum Reservoir Engineering Course to be held March 21-April 1, at Texas A&M College, will hear of the latest methods of evaluating performance of petroleum reservoirs. This information may be used as a basis of selecting field operating procedures to achieve optimum recovery.

James W. Amyx, A&M petroleum engineering professor and one of the course instructors, said the two-week-long session includes 17 hours of lecture on rock properties, fluid properties and basic reservoir mechanics. Sixteen hours of lecture and computations will cover well performance and 50 hours of lecture and computation will be devoted to reservoir performance.

Gas Storage Sets Record With 10 Billion Gallons

HOUSTON (AP)—More gasoline is being held in storage in the United States than ever before.

Inventories rose to a record 218.9 million barrels last week.

The new record is the equivalent of nearly 10 billion gallons.

Despite efforts by refiners to curtail inventories, the new mark probably will go higher before the early April start of the spring-summer heavy consumption season.

The high level of gasoline and heating oil inventories in recent weeks have caused domestic crude production to decline. Refiners have sought to relieve the surplus of products by cutting operations 5.4 per cent since the winter season peak was attained the week ending Jan. 8.

CRUDE OUTPUT FALLS

While gasoline stocks were jumping 3 1-3 million barrels last week, crude production declined an average of 165,400 barrels a day.

Weather caused the lone spot of encouragement included in the weekly statistical report of the American Petroleum Institute.

Inventories of home heating oils declined 7,300,000 barrels, the sharpest drop in 14 months.

Demand for heating oils was held down sharply in December and January by unusually warm weather in the midwestern and northeastern consumer areas. Inventories in December - January declined only 38 million barrels compared to 61 million the same 1958-1959 period.

The snow storms of late February and early March brought sharp increases in demand. Heating oil storage the four weeks ending March 4 dropped 25 million barrels, compared to a year earlier 16 million.

Weather has drawn much of the blame but refiners began the winter season with inventories of both heating oils and gasoline at record levels.

The unpredictable elements of seasonal demand always have plagued refiners. As a result the oil industry is spending considerable money in underwriting research projects oilmen hope eventually will produce more effective long range weather forecasts.

How these telephone girls helped sergeant in Iceland send flowers to his wife . . . an example of the Spirit of Service in action

MRS. BOB VAN SYCLE

A letter from Iceland addressed to Southwestern Bell ended up in the office of Miss Clara Balzen, telephone service order supervisor.

It was from Staff Sgt. Bob Van Sycle, stationed with the Air Force in Iceland. He said his wife's birthday was coming up soon and he wanted to send her flowers. He had an idea he could ask the telephone company to send the flowers and charge his phone bill for the amount.

GIRLS HELP OUT

It turned out the sergeant had the wrong information, but the girls decided to help, anyway. They wrote they were sorry the telephone company was unable to bill a florist charge to his telephone account, but added: "However, we feel such thoughtfulness deserves some special attention."

So they picked out a birthday card and had a florist deliver a dozen red roses to Sergeant Van Sycle's wife. She was delighted and so was her husband. He wrote to the telephone girls who helped play Cupid:

LETTER FROM SERGEANT

"Thanks to the gracious efforts of you girls, my wife's birthday was made very, very happy. The flowers arrived just at the right moment and were beautiful and the card you selected was very pretty and most fitting. My wife was very happy and as a result, I was happy, too. I owe this all to you. A light shone where, but for your generosity there would have been none."

STAFF SGT. BOB VAN SYCLE

Not every telephone employee has a chance to help someone like the sergeant and his wife. Even so, the initiative displayed by the seven telephone girls and their willingness to do something extra are very much a part of their daily efforts on the job. This is a special sense of responsibility that goes with telephone work: the Spirit of Service.

Brucellosis Tests Moving At Fast Pace

Some reactors are showing up as the county-wide test for brucellosis continues, according to reports from the testing team laboratory.

So far, it was said, the technicians have run tests on 2,156 head of cattle. This represents the achievement of six working days. Seventy-eight herds have been checked in the time the team has been in the field. Actual work began on March 3 but bad weather interrupted operations on one or two days.

The team reported that cattle owners of the county have been most cooperative. It is planned the work in this county be concluded by April 1.

A considerable portion of the animals tested so far have been dairy cattle, the team reported. This, it was said, offers an explanation why several reactors have shown up. Dairy cattle are more prone to have the disease. When the team moves more solidly into ranch areas with more beef cattle being tested, it is expected that the number of animals found infected will diminish sharply.

Vaccination has been given to 103 calves.

Two new members have been added to the team here. They are Neal Tankersley and Thomas Hill, technicans.

Public Regains Confidence After Securities Swindles

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—The public has regained confidence in Texas securities following a recent period when unscrupulous stock promoters bilked Texans of hundreds of millions of dollars state securities officials say.

"Penny stock could be and was sold for $20 or more a share," said Securities Commissioner William M. King, illustrating to stock sellers the change in the thinking of Texas government.

He gave the official side Saturday of a behind-the-scenes difference of views on whether Texas' new system of regulating sales of stocks is helping or hurting business.

A recent issue of the Texas Businessman reports formation of new companies is being hurt by overregulation. The private Austin publication circulated to key business groups throughout the state said the 1957 reorganization law and its administration "is pulling new company formation and financing to a halt."

King is an ex-FBI man who has administered the securities office since it became a separate bureau in 1957. He said it is estimated that over 400 million dollars was swindled from the public in Texas in unregulated enterprises prior to 1955.

To show a return of confidence, King points to the more than 227 million dollars in new securities and renewals which were approved by his office for sale in Texas in the last fiscal year. For the first half of the current fiscal year, the total of 140 million dollars approved is 26 million below the full year 1957.

Critics say totals alone are misleading and don't show that the state's iron clad control on securities issuances actually has bogged the Texas boom.

"I'd say we have hurt the boom in fraudulent issuances in the state while legitimate businesses have benefited considerably and will continue to benefit," Maurice Bullock, securities board chairman told The Associated Press.

"Confidence is returning. If the commissioner has been too tough we'll have to ride him a little on that and see that he doesn't let his zeal for regenerating confidence cause him to go so far as to retard legitimate capitalization in Texas," Bullock said.

The Texas Businessman states that one factor behind the alleged slowdown results from Texas' "fair, just and equitable" requirement which holds stock price issuances to a certain price.

The Federal Securities and Exchange Commission and many other states, use a "full disclosure" policy by which a company must reveal all financial aspects of an issuance, including income, assets, liabilities, stock ownership and "all material facts." The price then can be set at whatever level the company wants.

In Texas, the "full disclosure" policy also is used but the commissioner has leeway in denying an issuance unless he believes the price is justified.

"It is no more justifiable for the state to pass on the price of stock than it would be to set a price on a private real estate transaction," said one businessman here who declined to be named. "If the securities commissioner determines the stock can be sold for $15, there is no way the state can guarantee the stock.

"This is presuming a lot and is giving an innocent investor an entirely false sense of security because the state can't guarantee a thing" he said. "When it presumes to fix a price, the state presumes more than it can live up to."

Bullock said he does not ever want to see administration of securities in Texas work so that "it would be impossible for people to lose money on speculations. I want people here to always have the right to gamble on stocks in Texas. If we can provide them a fair shake on their gamble, then we've done a pretty good job."

King attributes progress in securities regulation to "the integrity of our board members and the fact they or the governor's office have never put any political pressure on the commissioner or staff members."

He said he believes the state benefits by the non-political nature of the office in contrast to other states which he said often lose able commissioners when another political party takes control.

"Keeping crooks out of business is negligible in importance as against stimulating a healthy security business," another source remarked.

"I'm inclined to agree with that," Bullock answered. "But where the crooks do the greatest harm is in destroying public confidence so we are unable to finance new industries. Our job is to keep these crooks out and to work diligently to keep anything from happening to deter public confidence in Texas securities. We've got to follow a middle of the road course."

Critics of the Securities Administration policy claim decisions by the commissioner come during closed sessions and the public never has knowledge of the actual reasoning behind the formal decisions. They contend the "fair, just and equitable" standard permits adoption of rules to fit any decision desired in a case.

Bullock said he agrees with some who say they investors in Texas are not sufficiently sophisticated with respect to securities to justify using only "full disclosure" policy.

Episcopalians Set Fund Drive

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Episcopalians from throughout the southern third of Texas will meet here April 4 to kick off a $995,000 capital improvements fund drive.

The money will be used to finance an expanded church program throughout the diocese of West Texas, according to Frank Gillespie, San Antonio automobile dealer who will serve as chairman of the drive.

The expansion will include two new conference and retreat centers, one in the Rio Grande Valley and another in the Corpus Christi area.

In addition the Episcopalians plan to build new churches and to establish new missions, build a new diocesan center in San Antonio, step up campus work at South Texas colleges; and help in chapel construction at seminarjes at Austin and at Sewanee, Tenn.

The drive will open with a special diocesan council called by the Rt. Rev. Evevett Jones, bishop of the diocese.

New Trouble Detector For Telephone Lines In Use

A new electronic device designed to detect trouble in telephone cables before it can cause telephone service interruption is now in use in Big Spring, Cliff Fisher, telephone company manager, has announced.

A development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the new electronic device is designed to locate cable insulation trouble within a fraction of a second and then point out the location of the trouble so that a repairman can be sent to fix it.

Fisher explained that moisture is one of the most troublesome conditions the telephone company has to contend with. When hairline cracks appear in the insulation which protects telephone cable, rain, snow, and even sleet can find its way into the lines located inside. When the lines get wet—transmission is interrupted and some customers find their telephones out of order.

That is one of the uses for line insulation test equipment, as the new gadget is called. A telephone man working in the central telephone exchange sets an automatic timing device which starts the equipment checking at certain times during the day. With lightning speed it checks the lines in the equipment room in minutes, then goes from the telephone equipment to the customers telephone and back.

During this time the customer is not aware his line has been checked since his telephone does not ring. If there is trouble, moisture or otherwise, on the line, the machine gives an alarm to the telephone company's repair center and a repairman finds the trouble and corrects it.

Fisher said the feat is accomplished by sending an electrical current over telephone lines. An interruption or change in the current is relayed by a teletype machine from the line insulation test center to the repair center.

At present the system is in use in only 100 telephone exchanges. Within the near future it will become standard equipment for all cities with 10,000 or more telephones, in which the Southwestern Bell Company operates.

Paper Mountain Clips Airline

DALLAS (AP)—Lone Star Airlines had difficulty flying over a paper mountain Saturday.

The line's general manager, Stewart Faulkner, said piles of paper work kept the new airline from flying as scheduled.

But he said he hoped to receive Federal Aviation Authority clearance by Sunday.

The line plans 12 flights daily between Houston and Dallas in 44-passenger Martin Custom-Liners.

Addison's Friends Set 'Faith' Dinner

DALLAS (AP) — An estimated 500 persons will show their "good faith" in uranium promoter John Milton Addison today by dining with him on a sourdough's chuckwagon-type lunch at a downtown hotel, a spokesman for the promotor has announced.

The diners — all creditors of Addison's — will pay $200-a-plate for the privilege.

The menu announced by Addison will be: beans, cornpone, fatback and sorghum molasses.

"The purpose of the dinner is a reaffirmation of faith in John Addison," his public relations representative told a reporter.

"We have reservations from people in 44 states and Canada. One group is coming from as far as Hawaii."

Called a "good faith dinner," Addison's uranium and hotel interests will also be discussed.

The resort hotel will be built at an estimated cost of $30,000,000 and has been named "The Dolly-O."

Other speakers included unnamed mining engineers who will discuss the Benson upgrader, Addison's machine for processing uranium ore, the representative said.

An involuntary bankruptcy petition is now pending before federal bankruptcy referee Elmore Whitehurst here, filed originally by one creditor with another later intervening.

Addison was aquitted in San Antonio late last year of a charge of defrauding. He insisted the money he received was in the form of loans and not investments.

DUPO, Ill., March 12 (AP)—Five Negro boys from Dallas took an unexpected 600-mile trip to Dupo when someone unexpectedly sealed a box car.

The boys, warmly dressed, hopped a Missouri Pacific freight in Dallas Thursday night intending to visit relatives in Greenville, Tex., 30 miles away. The box car door was locked just before the train pulled out. The boys arrived here Friday night.

The boys were J. D. Stevenson, 14; Dennis Earl Gasway, 14; Leo Green, 15; Ernest Lee Thomas, 13; and James Beasley, 14.

Grass Judging Contest Slated In Mitchell Co.

The Mitchell County Soil Conservation District will sponsor a grass judging contest on April 7, Perry Bowles, chairman of the District Board of Supervisors, has announced. Participants in the contest will be the Mitchell County 4-H Club and the FFA Chapters of Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook.

The purpose of the contest will be to aid the boys in identifying and properly classifying the range grasses of this area, Bowles said. Grass identification and classification is one of the important steps in good range management, and efficient livestock production. Native grasses and a few popular introduced grasses will be used in the contest.

The 4-H and FFA boys, who will be entered in the contest, will be some of our farmers, ranchers and agricultural leaders of the future. The knowledge gained in studying for this contest should be very beneficial to them.

Chessman Works On New Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman worked with his attorney today on a new move to save himself from the San Quentin gas chamber which he has been fending off for 11½ years.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown told his news conference Friday, "I am through with the Caryl Chessman case," making it definite that the convicted Los Angeles sex terrorist-kidnaper can't expect a gubernatorial reprieve to save him from his ninth execution date May 2. Brown granted Chessman a reprieve only 10 hours before he was schedule to die Feb. 19.

George T. Davis, Chessman's chief attorney, conferred with his client at San Quentin and said a new legal motion will be filed next week to set aside the execution.

Davis gave no details but said the new appeal will present "a fundamental argument."

Blondell's On The Go

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Blondell, who's done many a movie, is having a lot of fun traveling in the country with a stage play.

She's in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

"Don't knock it," she says. "This is the way to see the country. I've got it easy anyway. They've partitioned off my part of the bus, though the partition is always down. I've got my own bed from home, an easy chair, a desk. I'm even raising plants and flowers.

"Of course, it's nothing new to me. I feel like I've been all my life on the road.

"They tell you the road is dead, but this is nonsense. If you've got a good play they love you. Everywhere we've gone they've loved us because they've loved the play."

Miss Blondell's part in the play is not the central role in the story, but critics say it is the one they remember when they leave the theater.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 13, 1960 — SECTION B

It Seems To Me

By DON RIDDLE

What has happened of the game of baseball? What has caused minor league clubs to dwindle and thousands of sem-pro and sandlot leagues to completely disintegrate?

Is the lack of interest due to changing of the game or the failing ability of the players? Or is it because the American people are becoming interested in other phases of recreation?

The former can't be true. The game has experienced only slight rule changes since it began the modern era in the late 1920's. And certainly the ability of the players is not at question, because the quality of ball players today exceeds that of their predecessors due to improved training techniques and better coaching methods; not to mention the information gained through past experience.

* * *

As for the American people, they're not becoming interested in other sports so much but they are just demanding a better brand of baseball.

When a fellow can lounge in in his living room and see major league ball players in action, it cramps his style to go pay $1.25 to sit on some dusty bleacher seats and watch a minor league brand of ball.

Even though he'd probably rather spectate the sport of baseball, he will pass up the minor leaguers to watch ice hockey or golf on TV, as long as the performers are the best in the business.

* * *

With the nation's population steadily climbing each year and the 180 million figure due to double by 1999, it stands to reason that there will definitely be more and more eligible ball players in the crowd.

If there were 400 (major 16 league teams consist of about 400 players) ball players of major league calibre when the American League was formed in 1903, then it seems logical that 600 could be available now that the population has increased since then by about 105 million.

If this is true then the answer must lie in producing more major league teams, so as to offer more people around the country a chance to see top-notch baseball.

Now since neither league fancies the idea of expansion, and since adding teams to the present leagues would just increase the number of second-division clubs, the only solution lies in the forming of an entirely new circuit.

* * *

Such a league should be totally independent from the older leagues in order for the eight new teams to start on an equal basis. Such equal competition is what will produce big league calibre ball players eventually. But yet it should be co-ordinated with the older leagues in All-Star and World Series competition.

They've already started one? And they're calling it the Continental League? Well great! I'm glad somebody has seen the light and decided to make an attempt to save a dying sport.

Nothing but a glorified minor league, you say? I doubt it. Tell me what was Willie McCovey this time last year if he wasn't just an outstanding minor leaguer. And how about Larry Sherry? He never was anything but a minor league ball player—and not even a winner in those leagues.

In fact, he was on the verge of quitting baseball, a decision many potentially good ball players make just because there's not enough room in the majors to keep them long enough for a decent trial.

* * *

As for the economical situation, the founders and backers of the league say that money's no object. They have plenty of money and claim that everything will be done in a better-than big league style without regard to expense. They say their stadiums will be second to none.

So, taking it from the men who do know, the league certainly isn't starting with a weak financial foundation. And after a few years, when it's no longer a league of rookies, then it's time to determine whether the modern John Q. Fan will support the game of baseball or whether something else is replacing the national pastime.

One thing's for sure. The new league has the best man in baseball holding the reins, and as the old saying goes, "if he can't do it, nobody can." His name is Branch Rickey and look what he's done for the once-pitiful, Pittsburgh Pirates.

Money Rolling In For Seat Options

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech said Saturday more than $67,000 has been paid on seat options for Jones Stadium in the past 11 days. The payments will enable work on expansion of the stadium to 40,000 seats to continue on schedule.

Tech is financing the expansion of its stadium by sale of 15-year seat options for football games. Final payments on the options are due April 1.

Tech is committed to complete the expansion of Jones Stadium by next fall when the Red Raiders begin competing for the Southwest Conference football championship.

Steer Baseballers Lose 4th In Row

PLAINVIEW (SC)—Big Spring's Steers increased their losing skein to four games here Saturday afternoon as they dropped both ends of a doubleheader, 2-1 and 1-0.

In the first game, Big Spring outhit the locals, 5-2, but the Bulldogs came from behind in the fifth and final inning with two big runs. Pitcher Don Jones led off with a walk, and with one out, went to third as Reeves was safe on the shortstop's error.

Ferguson then smashed a two-run double for the winning margin.

The lone Steer tally came in the second inning via Jimmy Roger's leadoff triple and Jerry Dunlap's single. Jimmy Kinman, Alf Cobb and Coy Mitchell rounded out the hitting for Big Spring.

In the second game, which was called after four and one-half innings, Plainview took advantage of a throwing error to grab the margin of victory. Nicholson singled with one away and scored on the right fielder's throwing error after making the catch for the second out.

Big Spring's next game will be Tuesday, as it hosts Lamesa at 4:15 p.m.

Snyder Tigers Win, 4-1, Over Big Spring Steers

SNYDER (SC)—The Snyder Tigers rallied for all their runs in the last of the sixth inning to topple the Big Spring Steers, 4-1 in a baseball exhibition here Friday afternoon.

The loss was the second in a row for Big Spring and the win was the second straight for Snyder.

Big Spring's only run was unearned. It was scored on a double by Alf Cobb and an infield misplay. The Steers outhit the home team, 4-3.

Jay LeFevre started on the mound for Big Spring and did very well in the three innings he toiled. The damage came at the expense of his twin brother, Zay, who succeeded him.

Ronnie Wylie walked to open Snyder's half of the sixth. Norman Gladson tried a sacrifice bunt and reached base on a bobble. Spencer Dyer followed with an attempted sacrifice and beat the throw to first, loading the sacks.

Steve Free squeezed in the tying run and Mike Moffett bunted safely to score Gladson. Moffett stole second and Gladson counted when the throw was made to second. Franklin Moore followed with a double to plate Moffett.

Bobbie Collins, No. 1 singles player dropped to Odessa's Bobbie Lassiter, 6-0, 6-1. Number 2 Jayhawk, Wanda Moore also fell to visiting Mary Tuggle, 6-1, 6-2.

SMU Mermen Win Swimming Title

LUBBOCK ,Tex. (AP)—Aubrey Burer paced Southern Methodist to its fourth consecutive Southwest Conference swimming championship in a three-day meet ending Saturday night.

Cleveland Blows Go For Naught

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland blasted six home runs but they were insufficient to keep the San Francisco Giants from winning the opening contest of baseball's Cactus League Saturday, 11-8.

Cleveland's Rocky Colavito got three of the homers, but one didn't count. Giant manager Bill Rigney blew the whistle on him for batting out of turn and the circuit clout was nullified.

Buna Girls Win AA Cage Crown

AUSTIN (AP)—The Buna Cougarettes depended on accuracy and momentum to down the Friona Squaws Saturday night, 66-63, and win the Conference AA state championship in the Interscholastic League's 10th annual Girls' State Basketball Tournament.

Paced by the deadly shooting of Deon Cummings with 25 points and Linda Johnson with 23, Buna built up a commanding lead during the first three periods but almost blew it in the fourth quarter when they were outscored 23-9.

Buna lead 37-22 at the halfway mark and had a 17-point edge 57-40 at the end of the third quarter. Jacqueline Magness was high for the losers with 29 points.

The accuracy of the Cougarettes made the difference.

They hit on 26 of 36 attempts from the field for an overall average of 72 per cent. It was Buna's third straight title. They won the Conference A crown in 1956, the AA in 1957, and were runnersup in last year's tournament.

Cooper's Bulldogs whipped a determined Moulton team, 60-51, to take the Conference A crown.

Cooper ousted Moulton, 59-53, in the 1958 title game.

Each squad scored 18 in the first quarter and Cooper held a one-point lead, 34-33 at halftime.

Cooper widened the gap to 10 points late in the third quarter, 48-38, and went into a partial stall. Moulton was never able to catch up.

Dixie Mendenhall of Cooper was high with 36. Lily Jasek was high for the losers with 20.

Skidmore-Tynan, paced by Stellar Judy Wallek's 32 points, whipped Slidell 57-43 for the consolation championship of Conference B.

Skidmore-Tynan led 33-26 at the half and held on throughout the second half as Slidell, sparked by Sharen Webber and her 23 points, fought for the lead they never gained.

Bowie won third place in the Class AA competition with a 75-74 win over Brazosport of Freeport.

Bowie led 75-74 at the buzzer. However, Ellen Nichols of Brazosport, who was the game's high scorer with 43 points, was fouled and got two free throws. She missed both.

Miss Nichols did set a new conference record on individual field goals, her 18 beating the record of 17 set last night by Linda Johnson of Buna. Before the tournament the record was 15.

Jayhawks Leave At 1 For National Tourney

By TOMMY HART

Coach Buddy Travis and 10 members of his HCJC basketball team pull stakes at 1 p.m. today for Hutchinson, Kan., and the 1960 National Juco tournament.

The 16-team tournament gets under way at high noon Tuesday and continues through Saturday.

HCJC carries a 30-3 won-lost record north with it. The Hawks will meet Arkansas State of Beebee, Ark., in their first round game at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Complete first round pairings, listed in order of draw:

Pueblo, Colo., vs. Hutchinson, Kan., 7:45 p.m.; winner of Region 16 tournament at Moberly, Mo., vs. Phoenix, Ariz., 12 noon; winner of Region 4 tournament at Joliet, Ill., vs. Marianna Fla., 1:45 p.m.; Dearborn, Mich., vs. Tyler, Tex., 3:30 p.m.; HCJC vs. Arkansas State, 6 p.m.; Virginia, Minn., vs. Cameron, Okla., 9:30 p.m., all games on Tuesday.

Parsons, Kansas, vs. Binghampton, N. Y., 1 p.m.; winner of Region 10 tournament at Tigerville N. C., vs. Des Moines, Iowa, 2:45 p.m., both games on Wednesday.

The Hawks last went to the National tournament in 1955. They will be making their third visit to Hutchinson in history, having first gone in 1953. They made their best showing that year, at which time they forged into the semi-finals before losing to Ark City, Kan., 103-76.

They eventually wound up sixth, after dropping the contest for third place to Hannibal-LaGrange of Missouri, 90-69.

Earlier in the tournament, the Hawks had opened with an 80-87 victory over Eastern Oklahoma and then kayoed Eastern Arizona, 80-74.

Members of the 1953 HCJC team included Charles Warren, Howard Jones, Dallas Williams, Bobby Maines, Don Stevens, Casey Jones and Richard Gilmore.

The Hawks lost their only two starts in the 1955 tournament, yielding to Moberly, Mo. 11-66, and Boise, Idaho, 70-63, in that order.

Playing for that club were Ray Crooks, Paschall Wickard, Arlen White, Ronnie Anderson, Jim Knotts, Jimmy Robinson, Wylie Brown and John Dale Curtis.

If the Hawks should lose their opener to Arkansas State they'll perform again Wednesday afternoon in consolations. Should they win, they'll not play again until 7:45 p.m. Thursday, at which time they oppose the survivor in the Virginia, Minn.-Cameron, Okla., game.

Cameron tied with San Angelo College for first place in the Pioneer Conference, each having lost two league games. Cameron is handicapped by a lack of overall height.

The Hawks will go only part of the way today, stopping over in Amarillo. They'll complete 450-mile jaunt sometime Monday and check in at the Baker Hotel.

The Hutchinson gym seats 10,000 and advance ticket sales have been tremendous, according to reports.

Travis wanted to take 12 players along but National tournament rules dictate that only ten can be suited out.

The locals will be without the services of Larry Cruise as a player but the Pampa ace will make the trip as a manager, nonetheless.

Moberly, Mo., has been in the tournament the most times since it was started in 1945, having taken part on nine occasions. Weber of Utah is next, with seven. Moberly is the only club to have taken the title two years in a row — having won it in 1954 and '55.

Two Texas coaches are among the three who have won the tournament twice. They are Lloyd Wagstaff of Tyler, who guided his team to the crown in 1949 and again in 1951. Joe Turner of Kilgore, Tex. turned the trick in 1956 and '58. Maurice John of Moberly was at the helm of the Moberly title-winning clubs in 1954 and '55.

In 1953, two Kansas teams — Ark City and El Dorado — met in the finals. El Dorado emerged as titlist.

Maurice John, Bob Rogers, Harold Davis and Jim Williams are coaches who have taken teams to the tournament who are now well known senior college mentors. John is at Drake, Rogers at Texas A&M, Davis at Texas Western and Williams at Colorado A&M.

One of the brightest stars in the history of the tournament was Coach Travis himself, who set a scoring record while performing for Amarillo College that endured for several years. He was an All-American selection.

Louisiana Twins Shine In Recreational Meet

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP) — Those twin track terrors of the Bayous—Dave and Don Styron of Northeast Louisiana state — stole the show Saturday while Abilene Christian College was winning the championship of the Southwestern Recreation Meet.

Don ran the fastest 220-yard low hurdles in a year when he did 22.4—just three-tenths second under the world record—and Dave broke one record and tied another. Both shared in still another record as the Louisiana stars led their team to a smashing victory in the college class of this massive track and field carnival.

They were named outstanding athletes of the meet — the first time for two men to share the honor.

The day produced more than a dozen records, six of them overall marks.

Pole vaulter David Clark of North Texas State did 14 feet 6 inches to pace the way. Robbie Robinette of Southwest Texas State did 14 feet even in the college division and Jim Tomlinson, Southern Methodist freshman, soared 13 feet 10 inches in the junior college-college freshman class.

Abilene Christian College racked up 63 points to win the university division, where Clark made his vault and teammate Richard Menchaca set an over-all record with 1:51 in the 880-yard run. Baylor was second with 61½ points and Texas Tech next with 46.

The mile relay decided it as Abilene Christian came from behind to win the event and Baylor finished third.

Northeast Louisiana, with Dave Styron scoring 18½ points and Don getting 15, ran away with the college division title with 81½ points. East Texas State was second with 59½ and Howard Payne third with 36½.

Don's low hurdles was the fastest in the nation since Dick Howard of New Mexico did it in 22.4 last year. The world's record is 21.1 held by Elias Gilbert. Styron ran in biting cold with a cross-wind.

Dave Styron set a division record for the 220-yard dash around a curve with 21.7 and he also tied the 100-yard dash record of 9.6. Both ran on the mile relay team that set a division record of 3:14.9.

Five of the 14 records and one tie made in the 4-division meet came in the university class where Buddy Tyner of Baylor threw the shot 52 feet 7 inches, Earl Young of Abilene Christian ran the 220 around a curve in 21.3 and John Cooper of North Texas State ran the mile in 4:13.3. Young's 220 mark was an overall, along with Tyner's shot put, Cooper's mile, Clark's pole vault and Menchaca's half-mile.

There were four records and a tie in the college division. These counted Robinette's pole vault.

The junior college-college freshmen class championship was won by Abilene Christian with 62 points. Baylor had 52 for second and Southern Methodist was third with 30. This division produced only one record—Tomlinson's pole vault.

Andrews, winning both relays, took the championship of the high school division, edging out Abilene, the defending champion, by two points. Andrews scored 37, Abilene 35 and Dallas Highland Park and Galena Park each got 29 to tie for third place.

Four records came in the high school class with Andrews racing 3:21.0 in the mile relay for the most prominent one. Billy Foster of Dallas Sunset broad jumped 23 feet 1½ inches for one record, Ted Nelson of Andrews ran the 220 around a curve in 22.0 for another and Larry Rhodes of Abilene ran the half-mile in 1:56.9 for the fourth.

Northeast Louisiana State was repeating as champion of the college division. Texas did not defend its title in the university division. Baylor failed to defend its title in the junior college-college freshman division.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quarterback Don Henrich, halfback L. G. Dupre and end Dave Sherrer were among eight players the new Dallas club obtained from other National Football League teams Saturday.

Texas Longhorns In Easy Cinder Win At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, defending Southwest Conference champions and winners of last week's Border Olympics, piled up 88½ points Saturday for an easy victory in a four-way track meet.

Second-place Rice scored 36. Lamar Tech counted 32 and Texas A&I got 17½.

Texas walked off with 11 out of 16 first places. Lamar Tech got three and Rice and Texas A&I one each.

Sprinter Ralph Alspaugh paced the field with 11½ points. He flashed to firsts in the 110-yard dash and the 220 and anchored Texas' winning 440-yard relay team.

Ran Cunningham of Texas got 10 points with firsts in the 120-yard high hurdles and 220 low hurdles. Ian Stewart of Lamar Tech also got 10 points on winning times in the mile run and two-mile run.

There were no freshmen events.

The meet was the first of two consecutive home appearances for Rice, which entertains Texas A&M and Louisiana State here next Saturday.

Alspaugh took the century in 9.5 seconds ahead of Tony Garza, also of Texas, and Mickey Hollingshead of Rice. The Longhorn's 220 time of 20.4, with Garza and Hollingshead reversing places.

Cunningham raced to a 14.3 time in the 120 high hurdles, trailed by Rex Wilson of Texas and Norman Charlton of Rice, and to a 23.1 in the 220 low hurdles with Charlton pulling in second.

Bobby Morrow Wins Races In Fort Worth Track Show

FORT WORTH (AP)—Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow, who had a dismal year because of a leg injury, was pleased Saturday at the way he started a new one.

Morrow appeared in special 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Southwestern Recreation Meet and found that his leg was fully sound once more.

He won the 100 in 9.5 running, against Jimmy Weaver of North Texas State and Bill Woodhouse of Abilene Christian, and won the 220 in 21.3 against the same opposition.

Morrow didn't run easy and effortless as he used to. But he had the great finishing spurt for which he has become known.

"The leg felt okay", said Morrow, who has started a campaign to return to the Olympics. "It was the first test for the leg and I was surprised at the results".

The former Abilene Christian College star, who won both sprints and ran on the victorious sprint relay team in the 1956 Olympics but last year failed to qualify in the National AAU, credited ACC trainer Richard Woods for getting the leg back into shape.

He hurt the leg in the meet of champions in Houston last June.

Morrow has been training since last summer while working in a bank at Abilene.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One of the best athletic rivalries existing in the state of Texas is between HCJC and San Angelo College and it reached fever pitch in the finals of the recent Region V Basketball Tournament at Amarillo . . . Coach Buddy Travis of HCJC said his team didn't play very well in its first two games of the meet and he feared the worst in its title bout with San Angelo . . . However, the Hawks hit their stride after a slow start and came around like the champions they are . . . HCJC was understandably weaker with the loss of regular Larry Cruise and San Angelo was much tougher, with the addition at midterm of Bubba Bailey, a transfer from Midwestern University . . . Travis said San Angelo looked like a "mowing machine" in its first two games of the tournament . . . Jimmy Evans didn't make the all-star team either in the State Meet here or the Region V show but he's one of the most valuable hands the Hawks have ever had, toughest in the clutch . . . Travis assigned him to guard South Texas' great Harold Strother here and Evans did a tremendous job . . . They say Ken Clearman played a whale of a game when pressed into service by Travis against Angelo . . . Curtis Kelley, the Big Spring High School track mentor, reasons the Steers' R. L. Lasater will be capable of beating Bobby Smith of Corpus Christi Miller by the time the state meet rolls around . . . Smith nudged Lasater at the Border Olympics in Laredo last week in the eyes of the judges, but Kelley was of the opinion that R. L. had his chest in front at the tape . . . Smith has had much better weather in which to work than has Lasater . . . too, R. L. thinks now he's been starting on the wrong foot all along . . . Smith is a Negro boy, by the way, who was named to the Class AAAA all-state football team last fall . . . Smith's best time this season up until this weekend is 9.9. in the hundred . . . Lasater has a 9.7 clocking . . . It wouldn't be surprising to see Smith wind up at North Texas State College, one of the few integrated colleges in Texas.

Harton Impressed With Lamesa's Play

The broadcasting fee for the upcoming games involving HCJC in the National Junior College Basketball tournament will be picked up by one man, who is now running for a public office . . . He'll be on hand to give the color between bursts of action . . . Vernon Harton, the local high school basketball coach, said every Class AAAA team he saw in action at the State Meet in Austin looked stronger than Borger and none looked as good as Midland . . . He doesn't yet know how Midland lost that one-pointer to Borger in the Regional finals. . . . Harton also had words of praise for the Lamesa Tornadoes, which stormed to the AAA crown . . . He said Ken Crouch, especially, of the Lamesans looked great . . . On a recent trip here, Warren Woodson, the football mentor at New Mexico State, said he'd relish the chance to give Big Spring's Wayne Fields a tryout . . . Fields recently checked out of school at the University of Houston . . . Woodson has a tremendous team coming back from last season and in addition, will benefit from several transfers . . . Syracuse, no doubt, has the inside track for the Rose Bowl invitation next year, now that the Big Ten has turned isolationist but the West Coast schools are likely to go to the Southeast Conference for its champion, in event the Orangemen fall upon hard times . . . Benny McCrary, the former Big Spring cager, plans to transfer to the University of Texas next fall . . . He's been attending Austin College but has not been playing basketball with the school team . . . The parents of Norman Gladson, the Snyder baseball pitching star, thought seriously of moving after last season, possibly to Big Spring . . . He's one of the better professional prospects around . . . After Joe Campbell fired that $50,000 hole-in-one at Palm Springs, Calif., in January, he tried to contact Lloyd's of London to buy insurance against anyone else shooting an ace during the meet . . . He was stymied due to the fact that the insurance agency had closed for the weekend . . . The policy would have set him back $4,000.

Quarterback Club Is Now In The Red

The Big Spring Quarterback Club spent $866.15 for game films of high school basketball and football games here the past season and is now in the red to the extent of $72.46 . . . Indications are the school will pay part or all of the money for the game pictures next season, which will enable the booster organization to dedicate its treasury to other promotions that will benefit high school athletics . . . The American Bowling Congress tournament which is now under way at Toledo, Ohio, had one of its earliest sellouts in history when the absolute maximum of 5,716 team entries was reached on Jan. 22 . . . A Cheyenne, Wyo., team was the final registrant . . . Bernard Rains probably will succeed Mitchell Malouf as the high school golf coach here. . . . In the past six seasons, the SMU basketball team has won 61 and lost only 17 in Southwest Conference play . . . Pro golfer Billy Maxwell, the one-time Big Springer, now registers out of Oceanside, Calif., rather than Odessa, although he still maintains his residence in Dallas . . . Gahlen Head, the local furniture dealer who recently fired a hole-in-one at the Desert Inn Golf course in Las Vegas, Nevada, has been forwarded a certificate attesting to the fact by Golf Digest magazine . . . There is such a strong and offensive odor emanating from a dump ground near San Francisco's new major league baseball park that it's sometimes referred to as Candlestink (rather than Candlestick) Park . . . Bob Abshire, who played for the Sweetwater entry in the old Longhorn league at one time, is now baseball coach at Carroll High School in Corpus Christi . . . Ken Kearns who officiated the South Texas JC-HCJC basketball game in the finals of the State Meet here recently, is baseball coach at Colorado City High School . . . Jim Hearn, winner of the recent Baseball Players Golf tournament down in Florida, plans to construct and operate a driving range in Atlanta, Ga., soon . . . He's no longer in baseball.

Orioles Trounce Pittsburgh, 5-2

MIAMI, Fla. (A:)—The Baltimore Orioles made the most of five hits Saturday as they opened the exhibition baseball season with a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates also lost the services of Gino Cimoli for an indefinite period. The outfielder, acquired in a winter deal with St. Louis, injured his right hand when he crashed into the rightfield wall making a spectacular catch of Brooke Robinson's drive in the first inning. A preliminary examination showed no serious fracture but an x-ray was ordered.

The Orioles scored three unearned runs in the first on rookie Al Nagle's clutch single. Albie Pearson's double in the fifth was good for two more runs.

Joe Christopher led the Pirates 10-hit attack with a double and three singles. Dick Stuart also hit a double and a single.

Thomas Leaps 7-Feet-2½ In.

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — "I have no set goal. I'm going to keep on jumping and winning," says world record breaker John Thomas.

Thomas, a 19-year-old Boston University sophmore, was the main attraction in the Chicago Relays and he didn't disappoint anyone in the capacity crowd of 10,000 in the International Amphitheatre Friday night.

He set a new mark of 7-2½.

"I felt real good," said Thomas. "I must have, otherwise I don't think I would have done it. Sure, I've tried it before but never made it. Maybe I did better in practice, I don't know."

Besieged by autograph hunters, Thomas pulled away and said: "Man, I just want to rest right now."

Thomas, who severely injured his left foot a year ago in a moving elevator and had to undergo plastic surgery and skin grafts, now has cleared 7 feet or better in his last 11 meets. In the national AAU meet last month, he broke all previous records with a 7-2 effort.

Thomas played it cool Friday night. He loosened up by jumping six feet a couple of times and then set out. He tried 6-4 and failed and then succeeded. By the time the bar reached 6-9¼ he ran out of competition.

Thomas then asked to have the bar raised to 7 feet ¼ inch. A hush came over the crowd. Thomas went over but his hand clipped the bar and it fell.

His second attempt was good. Thomas asked to have the bar placed at 7-2½. Again he missed on his first attempt. After a short rest, Thomas loped towards the bar and with a determined effort cleared it.

The crowd let out a thunderous roar, then went silent when the announced said the height had to be remeasured. Another roar went up when the announcement came that Thomas had cleared 7-2½.

Except for Thomas' leap and Hayes Jones' record-tying victory in the 60-yard high hurdles, the meet was dull. Jones, the Eastern Michigan star who is undefeated this season, tied the world mark of :07.7.

The pole vault also was a letdown. Don Bragg, former Villanova star representing the U. S. Army, won with a leap of 15-4¾. Bob Gutowski, a Marine lieutenant who holds the world outdoor mark of 15-9¾, finished second, clearing 15-½. Bragg holds the world indoor mark of 15-9½.

Umpire Didn't Like It But Browns Used Midget Batter

By JACK HAND

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—"Managing any midgets lately?"

TAYLOR

Zack Taylor, now a scout for the Chicago White Sox, managed the only midget ever to play in the majors with the old St. Louis Browns in 1951. He likes to talk about it.

"When I was with the Giants," Zack began," "we used to sit around the hotel lobby nights listening to the boss. John McGraw always was scheming up new ways to win. One time he came up with the idea that it might not be bad to carry a little fellow around and send him up to bat to get a base on balls if the score was tied in the ninth.

"I never forgot what McGraw said. So when Veeck (Bill Veeck, owner of the Browns in 1951, now president of the Chicago White Sox) suggested hiring a little fellow, I told him what McGraw had said years before. Veeck got on the phone to Chicago right away and checked up to find there wasn't any rule against it."

In a few days Veeck hired Eddie Gaedel, a midget, and introduced him to the fans at the old Sportsman's Park between games of a doubleheader with Detroit.

"We got Detroit out in their half of the first inning," said Zack. "Frank Saucier was our leadoff man but I sent up the midget to hit for him.

"Red Rolfe Detroit manager hit the ceiling. Ed Hurley, the umpire, came rushing up to me yelling, 'What's going on here?'

"I played it nice and calm. Veeck had told me there might be trouble so I was prepared. 'What do you mean?' I said to Hurley. 'We just signed up a new player and here is the contract.'

"I reached in my back pocket and showed him the papers, legal as could be. They had to let him hit.

Bob Swift, new Washington coach, had been listening.

"I was catching," he said. "Bob Cain was our pitcher. He wanted to throw underhand but I told him he couldn't because the fellow had signed a legitimate contract and he had to pitch legal. I was going to catch lying down with one hand propped under my chin but I decided the thing had gone far enough."

"The little fellow was so scared I had to help him tie his shoes," said Taylor. "Naturally, he was afraid he might get hit. I told him not to worry he wouldn't get hurt."

"Cain couldn't get the ball over," said Swift. "He threw four pitches and walked him. They put in a runner and that was that. Turned out it didn't make any difference in the outcome of the game but it sure created quite a stir."

It was the midget's first and last appearance. The league authorities reminded Veeck of a rule about making a farce of the game so he let the midget go. Only Veeck knows how much he paid him but it had to be at least 10 days of a regular minimum salary which was $5,000 a year in those days.

Mentor Says De-Emphasis Is Not Good

Metz LaFollette, head basketball coach at West Texas State college, told an estimated crowd of 250 who had gathered for the Evening Lions Club banquet honoring two local cage teams that moves to de-emphasis competitive athletics in this country should be fought.

"I'm all for training scientists," LaFollette said, "and, no doubt, we should strengthen our science program.

"However, not all of our young men are cut out to be scientists. Competitive athletics is one thing that made this country great. If anything, I think more emphasis should be placed in sports."

Members of the HCJC and Big Spring High School basketball teams, together with their coaches, were special guests of the club. The banquet was held in the Student Union building on the HCJC campus.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien served as master of ceremonies. He was introduced by Ted Hull, president of the club.

O'Brien said he wanted to echo LaFollette's sentiments and, after introducing Emmett McKenzie, new head football coach and athletic director of Big Spring High School, appealed to the gathering to do its part in becoming a "championship town."

O'Brien said the city's athletic representatives had sometimes developed into champions but that the local residents hadn't always rallied behind them and their schools as they should have.

Ted Phillips presented Sportsmanship awards to Bobby Evans of the high school team and Bob Shirey of HCJC while Zay LeFevre of the Steers and Jimmy Evans of HCJC were given Most Valuable Player trophies presented by Winston Wrinkle, part-owner of radio station KBST.

James Scott, freshman basketball coach at West Texas, accompanied LaFollette here and was introduced.

Jacket awards were given to A squad members and miniature basketballs to B teamers of the Big Spring High School team by Harold Bentley, assistant high school principal, at the conclusion of the program.

Rookies Erratic, Detroiters Win

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, taking advantage of some wildness on the part of Washington's rookie pitchers, defeated the Senators 8-6 Saturday in the Grapefruit League opener for both clubs.

Ralph Lumenti and Don Lee gave the Tigers eight walks and a hit batsman in the first four innings and the Tigers made them the key to eight runs.

Al Kaline had a bases-empty home run for Detroit and Faye Throneberry hit a three-run blast for the Senators.

Hank Aguirre and Pete Burnside, a pair of left handed relievers, handcuffed the Senators the rest of the way.

R. L. Lasater Sets Snyder Dash Record

By DON RIDDLE

Midland's Bulldogs racked up first place in the final event at Snyder Saturday to rally for 10 points and take the Canyon Reef Relays by a one-half point margin over the Snyder Tigers.

The Bulldogs brought home the baton in record breaking time for the mile relay Saturday as they posted a brisk 3:27.2 timing. They cut three and three-tenths seconds off the old record set by Borger in 1958.

Snyder had only to place in the final event to take the winner's spotlight, but a poor third leg in the relay shoved the Tigers well down the ladder in the two-heat event leaving them with 37 points, shy of the crown by one-half point.

Big Spring grabbed three firsts, and three other placers, in the meet for a total of 26 points and a third place seat.

Tom S. Lubbock was fourth with 18; San Angelo fifth with 16½; Monterey was next with 16; and Permian copped seventh with 15 markers.

R. L. Lasater, Big Spring's fleet-footed junior, stepped off the century in the record setting time of 9.7. He also won the 220-yard dash and anchored the winning sprint relay team for a personal total of 12½ points which gave him a share of the individual scoring honors with Snyder's Stanley Woolever.

Woolever carded wins in both the hurdles events and ran on Snyder's winning 880-yard relay team.

San Angelo's prize weight man, Kenneth Henson, grabbed first place in both the discus throw and the shot put. Big Spring's Gary Walker was second in the discus with a heave of 147 feet, 10 feet short of Henson's winning mark.

Robert Phelan came in third in the discus with a toss of 137 feet, 10 inches. Mack Alexander completed Big Spring's scoring with a fourth place in the shot put.

"Alexander just tied up in the shot put," laments Coach Chop Van Pelt. "He threw four more times after the event was over and topped the 50-foot mark with every throw."

All the big Steer shot putter could muster in competition was 49 feet, 8¾ inches.

David Abreo, Big Spring's third man on the sprint relay team, had been sick all day before the meet and didn't even run with the quartet in the preliminaries. Gordon Dickinson subbed for Abreo in the qualifying round and the Steers ran a 45.1 quarter.

Abreo took over the chores in the finals, however, and ran probably one of his best legs of the year.

"What pleased me so much," says Coach Curtis Kelley, "was our good handoffs. We'd been working on them all week and I think we got three perfect handoffs today.

"Our 44.1 clocking is the worst we've had all year but I'm sure the cold, windy weather had a lot to do with that. If we keep getting those good handoffs, we'll be breaking some records before the season's over."

Bgi Spring also qualified in the 880-yard relay but Kelley decided, with Abreo not up to par, that he'd scratch in that event and concentrate on winning the sprint relay.

"Besides, I didn't want to run down Lasater. I knew he could win those other two races if he just didn't get too tired. It was a delicate situation, with Abreo sick and all, so I just had to sacrifice where I thought it would hurt us least."

Big Spring journeys to Odessa this coming weekend to enter the West Texas Relays.

Yankees Yield To Cards, 5-1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Darrell Spencer led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees as the exhibition baseball season began Saturday.

The shortstop, who was obtained from San Francisco during the winter, slammed three singles and drove in two runs.

Vinegar Bend Mizell was the winning pitcher and allowed only one single in four innings. The Yankees were held to 8 hits by Mizell, starter Larry Jackson and Ron Kline.

The New York run came in the first inning on successive singles by Gil McDougald, Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra. The latter played third base and made one of the three Yankee errors.

Art Ditmar, the Yankees' best pitcher in 1959, was shelled for seven hits and four runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Abilene Choice At Brownwood

BROWNWOOD (SC) — More than 50 teams will vie for the title in the 13th annual Bluebonnet Relays set there March 26 with defending champion Abilene on hand and favored to repeat.

The mighty Eagles soared to an easy victory in the 1959 show, but things are expected to be tougher this spring. Expected to provide the stiffest competition for Coach Bob Groseclose's Warbirds are the host Brownwood Lions, San Angelo and several teams from the Fort Worth and Dallas area.

Five records were set in the 1959 meet and at least four are in danger of falling this year.

Abilene should get a new mile relay record. The Eagles hold the present mark of 3:24.8, but have been clocked in 3:25 already this spring.

Graham's Bobby Hargraves and Larry Rhodes of Abilene will shoot for a new mark in the 880. Both have neared the 1:58 record set last year by James Blackburn of Abilene.

Robert Young of Brownwood and San Angelo's Kenneth Henson head a talented field in the weights. Both have bettered the existing records in both the shot put and the discus. The discus record is the oldest in the books. Darrow Hooper set the record of 158 feet back in 1948.

John Bridges, Baylor grid head, will serve as referee of the meet. Brownwood coach R. A. (Gus) Snodgrass is the meet director.

Tennis and golf tournaments will be held in conjunction with the track meet.

Award To Meet Medalist

Mitchell Malouf (right), coach of the Big Spring High School golf team and director of the Pre-District 2-AAAA Golf tournament held at the Country Club here Friday, presents the Zale's award for medalist honor to Odessa High's Don McDaniel, who had a 27-hole score of 114, six over par. McDaniel led the Bronchos to a team championship, too.

Odessa Bronchos Low In Pre-Conference Meet

Led by Don McDaniel, whose six-over par 114 won medal honors for the day, the Odessa High School Bronchos came through as expected to earn team laurels in the first annual Pre-District 2-AAAA Golf tournament here Friday.

The morning portion of the 27-hole meet was conducted in cold, cloudy weather but the Country Club layout, scene of the tournament, was bathed in sunshine during the afternoon.

Par for the nine-hole course is 36. McDaniel started out with a 37 but added a stroke to his preceding round each time around the layout.

The Bronchos, favorites to finish in front, wound up with an aggregate score of 485 strokes. They beat out San Angelo by three strokes.

Odessa Permian came in third, at an even 500. Abilene at 510, finished fourth, a stroke ahead of Big Spring. Midland did not enter a team.

Claudean Pyle served for 10 points for HCJC and teammate Dorothy Williams added nine. June Morris tallied seven for the losers.

In the varsity game, the Queens jumped to a 25-8 half-time advantage and coasted to a 36-24 win.

WACO (AP)—Head Coach Vernon Glass of Del Mar Junior College at Corpus Christi will become backfield football coach at Baylor March 15, it was announced Friday.

CHUCK WAUGH

Webb Boxing Team Enter ATC's Meet At Lowry

Webb's boxing team (nine strong) will leave next Saturday for Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo., where they will represent the base in the 1960 Air Training Command tourney.

All, save Chuck Waugh of Field Maintenance, have unimpressive records. S.Sgt. Bill Pfund of Air Base Group will be team manager.

Airman Waugh weighs 132 pounds and will fight in the lightweight class. A veteran of 51 fights, Chuck has a 38-13 record—14 of his wins coming by kayo. Lightweight champion of the Pacific Air Forces (PACAF) in 1958, he lost that year to Bill Cherry in the All-Air Force finals. Cherry was a member of the U. S. 1956 Olympic team.

His last year of ring action, Chuck in 1958 defeated Suko Ito in Tokyo for Japan's amateur lightweight crown. The year before he campaigned as a featherweight and copped the PACAF title.

Other team members are: Ben Jones, Jimmy James, Robert Rossetti, Ed Knight, all of Air Base Group; Clarence Washington, Larry Franklin and Bruce Herig of the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance Squadron; and George Gathing of the 331st FIS.

In PeeWee practice games, Coahoma boys downed Gay Hill, 18-4 and the Coahoma girls also won, 22-13.

Mantle Takes Cut, Seeks .350 Mark

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle doesn't expect to be any more popular with New York fans even if he fulfills his ambition this year of hitting .350 and leading the American League in runs batted in.

The Yankee slugger made this surprising statement Friday after taking a $7,000 pay cut in signing for $65,000. The 28-year-old center field star flew into town from his Dallas home Thursday night and came to terms with General Manager George Weiss Friday morning after a two-minute conference.

The popularity angle was injected by Weiss, who expressed the hope that Mantle has a big year in 1960 so that Mickey could, in addition to helping the team win the pennant, regain his popularity with the Yankee Stadium fans.

"I'd like him to be popular again," Weiss said. "I think the public is ready to come back to his side. I thought they (the fans) were for a while last year but he went bad and the boss got louder. It wouldn't take too much for the public to like him again."

Mantle didn't seem too concerned.

"I didn't know I was ever popular," he said. "I had a couple of pretty good years and it didn't help me much."

Mickey didn't appear overjoyed at his signing, which was interpreted in some quarters as more of a capitulation. Told that Weiss had termed his pay cut as a compromise, Mantle looked up in surprise.

"Compromise, eh?" he said. "I took a pretty good cut, I'll tell you that."

Neither Mantle nor Weiss would disclose the figures, but it was learned authoritatively that Mickey's actual salary last year was $72,000. He returned the first contract last February calling for $55,000, which represented a $17,000 reduction, just short of the maximum 25 per cent. He also ignored a second offer calling for $60,000.

Manager Casey Stengel, obviously relieved to see Mantle in uniform, said: "There are times when Mantle has a good day that you don't need any other players. When he's hot, the Yankees are not a cold club."

Last year Mantle batted only .285, hit 31 home runs and drove in only 75 runs. The Yankees finished third.

Louisville Scene Of Ring Rematch

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Because manager Sid Flaherty likes to mix business with a little fun, Emile Griffith and Denny Moyer probably will have their return fight at Louisville on Derby Day eve, May 6.

Griffith, 22-year-old New Yorker, won by split decision over Moyer, 20, of Portland, Ore., Friday night at Madison Square Garden, in a close, lively battle that deserves an encore.

All of the principals were agreed on that but with the Garden closed to boxing because of the circus in April and early May, the question was where and when?

"How about Derby Eve in Louisville," suggested Flaherty, Moyer's manager. "I'd like to see the Kentucky Derby. I think the kid would like that, too."

Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner said he would talk to Louisville promoter Bill King about putting on the fight, which also would be telecast and broadcast as part of the Friday night program.

It was an important victory for Griffith, a pro only 21 months. It was his fourth straight win for a 17-1 record. Moyer, who had won four in a row, now has a 24-2 record.

The sleek Virgin Islands native earned his victory margin in the first half of the crisp-punching battle as the baby-faced West Coaster rallied in the closing stages. Each weighed 150.

De Gaulle-K Talks A Personality Test

Editor's Note — Preston Grover became chief of the AP's Moscow Bureau last spring after serving 11 years in Paris. Familiar with both sides of the Iron Curtain, he is now back in his old stamping ground to cover Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to France. He sums up the prospects in the following dispatch.

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikia Khrushchev, who often laces tough talk with Russian humor, is matching wits here this week with the sharp mind and iron dignity of President Charles de Gaulle in a preliminary to the May 16 summit meeting. He arrives Tuesday.

The most troublesome issue will be the one which ever since World War II has stood like a specter over prospects of East-West reconciliation — the question of Germany.

Neither in Moscow nor in Paris is there much expectation that these two statesmen, so opposed in temperament, will make great progress in easing their differences.

"It will be a psychological test of strength," a French official said.

The two leaders met briefly once before, in wartime Moscow Dec. 10, 1944. The French government quite evidently is going to try to soften the Soviet leader with charm piled on so thick that, if he submits to it all and survives, that in itself will be an achievement.

The program for entertainment and for a tour around the country is a secret officially, but eager-beaver preparations are under way in a dozen cities.

Khrushchev will be taken on a tour of chateaux whose owners' heads were lopped off in a bloody revolution 128 years before the bloody revolution that brought Communists to power in Russia. But the chateau country is so beautiful that only an iron man would not be moved by it.

French leaders openly expect Khrushchev to be impressed by this and other regions of a country whose civilization was established long before Russia became a nation. They will show him the riches of France—its mines, oil deposits, steel plants, fabric mills, and cultural wealth.

Khrushchev, however, represents a country with resources so enormous and fast-developing that they dwarf those of France.

The dominance of Khrushchev in the Soviet Union is matched in fact if not in form by the dominance of De Gaulle in France.

De Gaulle has to consult his associates and his Parliament far less than either President Eisenhower in the United States or Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in Britain.

French officials expect Khrushchev to launch his strongest attack on the close association between this country and West Germany. But this is a strong policy that France has developed since the war of linking Germany to the West industrially and militarily by treaties and practice.

CRMWD Board Meets Tuesday

Board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet here Tuesday morning in a brief session.

Only routine matters are up for consideration, said E. V. Spence, general manager. The board meeting, at the Settles Hotel, will convene at 11 a.m. and adjourn after luncheon so that members can attend the U. S. Study Commission conference in the afternoon. The latter meeting is a federally - sponsored survey of long-range development of the Colorado River Basin.

Costly Snow

NEW YORK (AP)—Digging out from under the 14-inch snowfall of a week ago Thursday cost the city 3½ million dollars, Sanitation Commissioner Paul R. Screvane said Friday. The costs included overtime, truck drivers wages, and truck rentals.

ANNOUNCING . . .

We Have Added To Our Imports

PEUGEOT 403

(PRONOUNCED "POOJ-OH")

THE SPORT SEDAN FROM FRANCE

The Peugeot 403 is owner-tested, owner-approved. Two years ago it was virtually unknown in America. Today it is outselling two-thirds of all imported cars. Why? Because it has more roomy comfort: 5 to 6 passengers; foam rubber padded seats almost 5 ft. wide; 20 cu. ft. trunk. It's an exciting car to drive: very responsive, very alert. Economical, too: 30 mpg on regular gas, and easy upkeep. Sliding sun-roof, whitewall or Michelin X tires, 4-speed synchromesh transmission, heater-defroster, padded dashboard, cloth or leatherette upholstery, reclining seats, electric clock, windshield washers, trip mileage counter, wheel trim rings and an outside rear-view mirror.

The Peugeot 403 Sedan And The 403 Station Wagon – America's Largest Selling Station Wagon.

'JET ROULETTE' GAME
Lt. Henry F. Lackey (left) challenges Lt. Norris J. Krone

Roulette Game Sharpens 331st Fighter Pilots

The all-weather interceptor pilots of the 331st FIS at Webb AFB are now playing the game of roulette in order to make them the top pilots in the Air Force. Lt. Henry F. Lackey devised the game, and with the help of S.Sgt. Antonio Barrachina of the 331st sheet metal shop who constructed the roulette wheel, put it into use. Lt. Lackey, who came to Big Spring with the 331st in August 1958, has 1,727 flying hours, 666 of which are in fighter interceptors.

The game is played in the following manner: There are five categories of questions: Visual omni range (a navigational aid); instrument landing approach system; TACAN (another navigational aid); T-33 facts and procedures; and, Air Force Regulation 60-16 which sets down flying rules for the safety of the people on the ground as well as the pilot in the air.

The game begins by one pilot challenging another pilot, who, being challenged, must spin the roulette wheel. Assume that the wheel stops on number 2. Numbers 2, 11, and 16 designate the category dealing with T-33 Facts and Procedures. The pilot who presented the challenge finds a question under this category in the card file. It might be, "What is the procedure when the engine flames out?" If the challenged pilot answers the question correctly, he gains points for himself and his flight. If he fails to answer correctly, he loses points. These points will be included as part of the incentive program by which the pilot of the month and the flight of the month are selected.

Lt. Lackey expects to add several more categories into the game, for example, one category will be added with questions about the F-102. Other categories may be; Weather, tactics, squadron standard operating procedures and recovery procedures.

The supersonic interceptor pilot must have a thorough knowledge of his profession and Lt. Lackey's roulette wheel is one more way by which the pilots of the 331st are keeping professionally sharp.

Bebe Doesn't Like The Firm

PARIS (AP)—The Seine Tribunal has turned down Brigitte Bardot's demand that the Charrier Bottled Water Co. rip down big advertising posters which pose the question, "Does baby like Charrier?"

Brigitte argued that the slogan suggests all is not well between her and her husband Jacques Charrier. In French the word for baby is pronounced like the letters BB, which every Bardot fan knows stands for Brigitte Bardot.

The tribunal said there is no urgency to get the posters down because the Charrier company has added a picture of a plump little baby and a bottle of water to its advertisements. The tribunal added there is no reason to think the slogan refers to Brigitte and Charrier.

Brigitte and her husband reserved the right to file a damage suit in civil court against the water company.

T&P Railway Co. Votes Dividends

DALLAS — The board of directors of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, at its meeting here Friday, declared dividends on both common and preferred stocks.

President J. T. Suggs announced that earnings for the first three months of the year would not justify quarterly payment of $1.25 on the common stock but that dividends of $1 per share on the common stock and one and one-quarter per cent onn the preferred, both payable March 31 to stockholders of record March 24, 1960, were voted by the T&P board.

The board also authorized the purchase of five diesel-electric road - switch locomotives. These units will supplement the road's present motive power consisting of 216 diesel-electric locomotives.

Dallas Symphony Gets Snowbound

CAMDENTON, Mo. (AP) — Members of the Dallas symphony orchestra spent Thursday night here and in Springfield because highways were hazardous from a five-inch snowstorm.

Two of the orchestra's three buses stopped here. The other got through to Springfield.

A jacknifed tractor-trailer truck and several stalled cars blocked the highway west of Camdenton.

The Texans were en route home after a concert at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Annual Easter Pageant Casting Set For Today

Casting for the Easter pageant, being produced by the Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc., will be held today starting at 1:30 p.m. Dewey Magee, director of the pageant, urged all interested Big Springers to try out for the production.

The annual pageant will be produced in the city park amphitheatre at 8:20 p.m. on April 16. Magee said work on the set is progressing and is easier this year as the group has the Prairie Playhouse for a workshop area.

In the past the set was constructed in Ted Groebl's warehouse and had to be hauled across town to the site. Some elaborate pieces of scenery were usually damaged in the long haul.

Magee pointed out that the pageant will continue to be non-denominational, a simple telling of the Easter story in music and narration. It is told each year through different eyes to add color and variety to the story.

The change of time should enable the audience to be more comfortable by escaping the early morning chill, Magee said. Patrons will also be free to attend the traditional services being sponsored by the Pastors Association.

West Named Dist. Engineer

FORT WORTH — Col. R. Paul West is being assigned as District Engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers at Fort Worth, effective in June, according to Brig. Gen. William Whipple, Southwestern Division Engineer at Dallas.

He will succeed Col. Walter J. Wells, the Fort Worth District Engineer since 1957, who is being assigned to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Financial Management), Washington, D. C. Col. West is presently assigned to the University of Colorado, as Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Col. West is 42-years-old and was born in Mercedes, Tex. He was graduated in 1940 from Texas A&M College and was commissioned the same year in the Army Corps of Engineers.

C-C Board To Get Reports

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will consider approval of reports from 10 committees during its meeting Monday.

President Cliff Fisher said reports would be received from the industrial, retail, legislative, education, recreation, aviation, agriculture, housing, civic development, and Chamber building committees.

In other business, the directors are to discuss the West Texas Chamber of Commerce leader's workshop meeting at Colorado City on March 24. Other routine matters will also be directed to the board's attention.

Also on the Chamber slate Monday are meetings of the military affairs committee at 1:30 p.m. and the education committee will meet at 5:15 p.m.

Eight other committees have scheduled meetings during the next 10 days.

New Food Service Officer At Webb

Webb's new Food Service Officer is 2nd Lt. Alvin T. Ringer, until recently an animal husbandry and nutrition major at the University of Florida.

Lt. Ringer went through the university's ROTC program and was commissioned upon graduation last January. He was called to active duty on February 23.

His last year in school the lieutenant made a contribution to campus folklore with a most unusual excuse to get out of drill. He lived on a farm and his prize hog was about to litter. He asked for and received time off to be by her side as she gave birth to 12 piglets.

Lt. Ringer's wife, Anne, is from his hometown, Gainesville, Fla. The newcomers are "at home" now in Big Spring.

Hat-Maker Extraordinaire

DOES IT LOOK ALL RIGHT? asks Mrs. Thomas Seebo as she tries on the spring bonnet she is making for the Easter parade. At the time the picture, left, was snapped, the work was not complete, but she demonstrated the way she pins in place the chalk white straw braid on the buckram shape. Bright flowers will circle the crown and extend onto the wide brim, with black velvet ribbon to mark the two dips which give the effect of wide scallops.

NINE LIVES OF A CAT are almost matched by the changes in the red pillbox, at right, which Mrs. Thomas Seebo has just refurbished. At one time, it was a white linen; then it became a navy and white hat and later was covered in pink velvet. Come summer, the gay red rose will be taken off; a flower of black and white polka dots will replace it on the red organza, fashioning a hat to top a dress of polka dots which Mrs. Seebo plans to make.

See Story, Page 2 Sec. C

THIS CLOCHE in monochromatic pink print was made for wear with a silk frock of the same material, which Mrs. Seebo combines with a jacket lined with the brightest shade of pink. A crushed band of the material and small pins covered with the fabric constitute the only trimming of the smart creation. Such pins are the mark of custom made millinery, the versatile designer stated.

OH, SO SMART is matching your bag to your hat, and oh, so smart is Mrs. Thomas Seebo, who is quite adept at just such work. She learned to make hats while she lived in Anchorage, Alaska, and it was there that she found the velour in leopard design which she used for the hat and bag shown in the picture above. The earbobs she wears are made of genuine leopard fur and were a gift from her husband, Capt. Seebo. All of Mrs. Seebo's hats are beautifully lined; this one with gold lame, another with lace, and yet another with the material used for the hat.

LIKE A BREATH OF SPRING is the posey-covered whimsy which Mrs. Thomas Seebo has clustered on a frame of wire and spaghetti tubing. The tubing receives its name from its nature, straight and small with a tiny opening through which the wire is forced. The combination can then be twisted into any desired shape. As Mrs. Seebo remarked, "It's much easier to buy the wire already covered." Small flat flowers mingle with stems of blossoms and buds, some of which extend caressingly over the side of the forehead. Such a close fitting hat is a pleasure to wear for tea dances, to cocktail parties and to other similar parties as it is as light as a breeze.

Dear And Talented Physician

He is dear to Mrs. G. E. Williams, who has been the doctor's wife only six months. And Dr. Williams is talented, be it music, medicine, or wood refinishing. "But he can't cook, sew or iron his own shirts!" said his wife when asked how it felt to be the wife of the talented person.

Doctor Almost Missed His Wedding, Wife Says

By SHERI WEBBER

"I wasn't sure that he was going to get to the wedding. He didn't make the rehearsal dinner!" recalls Mrs. G. E. Williams.

The plight of Mrs. Williams, a bride of six months, is not unlike that of other doctors' wives. Busy, busy, busy — their husbands are always on the go.

But things are looking better for Ed and Pat Williams, for he has closed his private practice in Clarksdale, Miss., and has joined the VA Hospital here.

"Ed will not only be able to learn, but he will be able to keep regular hours here, we think," says Pat. Mrs. Williams is well aware of the busy schedule her husband keeps, for she was his lab technician, office nurse and part-time bookkeeper for five years.

The year before they married she left his employment to work in Mobile, Ala. "Then we had to get married because we were going broke paying the telephone bill," Mrs. Williams laughs.

Medical technology interested Pat while a student, and she attended Hawkins School of Medical Technology in Memphis, Tenn., after graduating from high school in Whitton, Ark.

During the years she worked, Mrs. Williams received two outstanding awards in medical technology, the distinctive achievement award and the exceptional meritorious award.

Undergraduate work for Dr. Williams was taken at the University of Mississippi, and he later trained at the University of Tennessee's Medical School.

"I always wanted to be a doctor—before I was in kindergarten," remembers Ed.

Running a close second in his interests is music. Ed took up the clarinet while playing in the school band at the age of 9. For two years during high school he studied piano, and this kind of music has become his enduring love. He has branched out into organ, and the Williams' home on Morrison now contains a piano, an old pump organ, and a modern electric organ.

A cello can be seen leaning in one corner of the antique-furnished living room, but this is no longer played.

Dr. Ed has tried his hand at composing, and the results were heard at his wedding. He wrote the music used when Psalm 23 was sung. Not many brides have a song all their own, but Pat did. "I Love You," words and music written by her husband, was sung at the wedding.

Refinishing furniture has added a number of pieces to the Williams' residence. A small, round, marble-topped rosewood table was given to him in separate pieces. Ed carried it home in a bag, refinished it, and now it is in good condition.

A large mirror in the living room hung over 60 years ago in the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C.

A three-legged dog named Bobby completes the household. Bobby was the victim of a car accident, but now he gets around so easily it is impossible to think of him as unfortunate. He's as frisky as a dog can be and just as spoiled.

Hat-Making Is One Of Many Hobbies For Mrs. Thomas Seebo

By ANNE LeFEVER

Chances are that if Capt. Thomas C. Seebo Jr. ever sang the old song, "Where Did You Get That Hat?" to his wife, she would answer, "I made it!"

For two years, Mrs. Seebo has been whipping up a hat at the drop of one—an accomplishment she added to her many activities during the three years the family was in Anchorage, Alaska.

Start of her work was because of her desire to have a hat that matched a certain dress; that did it. She took a course in the use of fabrics and another class in using fabric, straw and felt. At the present time, she has made an average of one hat a month for the past two years.

So quickly have the chapeaux accumulated around the Seebo home, that her husband wonders if they will have to build an extra room or move out in favor of the millinery collection, she remarked.

A peep inside her hats will tell you another reason for her zeal in making her own headpieces. Each one is lined in the prettiest way. There is a little red pillbox, lined with lace and a band of gay red and silver ribbon.

A print cloche in monochrome pink, ranging from soft to bright tones, is lined with the same print, and a leopard creation sparkles with gold lame inside. When the latter was made, Mrs. Seebo did not stop with the hat; she used some of the same material to cover an old box-style bag, and voila! a completely new outfit.

There's an art to putting the pins in the frame and fabric in order that fingers are not pricked when the sewing is done. As straw braid is fashioned into a hat, Mrs. Seebo dampens it, she revealed, which makes it much easier to work with.

This accomplished hatmaker has advanced to the stage where she can use just plain buckram, steaming and shaping it to suit her fancy and sizing it on a head block. At other times, she purchases the frame she likes and proceeds to turn it into a becoming hat.

Mrs. Seebo never finds time hanging heavy on her hands, what with three young children and the editing of the Tiger Rag, publication of the Officers Wives Club at Webb AFB. Sewing is one of her hobbies, but there's little time for it, after she looks after Thomas Christian II, who is 12; Darla Lynn, 11, and Gary Duane, who is 4½.

A member of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club, Mrs. Seebo also likes bowling and bridge. She and her husband are collectors of cookbooks, especially those with unusual recipes.

A native of New Mexico, she met Capt. Seebo, who is a Virginian, when he was training at the air base in Clovis, N. M.

Opinion expressed by the man of the house is that although she makes any number of hats, it still doesn't deter her from going down town and buying one she likes—with the money she saved by making its predecessor.

Mrs. Cook Feted As Newcomer To Lamesa And Bride

LAMESA — A newcomer to Lamesa, a recent bride, Mrs. Gene Cook, was complimented at an informal tea Wednesday afternoon in the C. T. Beckham home. Mrs. Beckham, an alumnus of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and Mrs. B. B. Lee, a Zeta mother, shared hostess duties for the courtesy.

Mrs. Cook, a former coed at Texas Christian University and member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, was Vickie Hawkins of Monahans, prior to her marriage Jan. 30. Cook is on the coaching staff at Lamesa High School.

Assisting with the hospitality were Mrs. J. E. Neeley and Mrs. J. D. Borland, also alumnae of the sorority.

Laid with a Mexican hand-drawn sheer linen cloth, the tea table was appointed in silver with a tree branch in a golden base hung with tiny multi-color parasols and fern flanked by large vigil lights in red glass forming the featured decoration.

Garden Club Has Guests At Meeting

Two guests were present at the meeting of the Four O'Clock Garden Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. C. J. Horton; they were Mrs. James Shannon and Mrs. Arlye Morton.

Further plans were discussed for the tasting tea, set for April 2 at the new Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College, and the Spring Flower Show, to be given April 22.

Arrangements and containers were discussed by members, in preparation for the show, which is the responsibility of the club in conjunction with the Planters Garden Club.

Mrs. Bill Swindell, 1012 E. 21st., was announced as hostess for the meeting on April 13.

Reversible Coat Makes Much Of Topstitching

The sewing couldn't be simpler, the charm more complete, than in this dress and coat costume by Vera Maxwell.

The reversible coat, a high fashion note, has only two basic pattern pieces, and is trimmed with three rows of topstitching.

More topstitching graces the neckline of the dress, which is a slip of a thing — only four basic pattern pieces.

For the dress and one side of the coat choose printed, plaid or checked cotton, rayon, silk, shantung, faille; for the reverse side of the coat, linen, cotton, rayon or silk, lightweight and woolens.

Variety Materials Used In Show Of Interior Decorators

AP Newsfeatures

A feature of the recent National Antiques Show in New York was the showing of interiors created by members of the National Society of Interior Designers.

The exhibits emphasized various materials with each setting stressing the use of one fabric. Each room pointed up the use of antiques.

Designers included Donald Paterson, Frances Brener, Norman Shepherd and Pini di San Miniato, who is noted for his unusual decor.

Di San Miniato exhibited two Italian consoles of carved wood which simulated stone. His room interior was keyed to wood which he handled dramatically and effectively.

Forum Hears Texas Program

A program on Texas was presented for members of the Modern Woman's Forum Friday in the home of Mrs. E. R. Wood. Mrs. Hugh Duncan was leader.

Historic homes of Texas were described by Mrs. J. P. Dodge, who told of the growth of the colonial mansions from small houses which were joined by a wide porch that was later enclosed to make part of a large house.

The speaker described the governor's mansion in Austin, as well as the old Pease home in that city. Several other noted homes were told about by Mrs. Dodge.

Legends of the Pecos River were brought by Mrs. R. L. Warren, who told of the cattle drives crossing the river and also stories of Billy the Kid.

As a climax to the program, Mrs. Duncan discussed the 200-mile long parkway along the Colorado River in the Hill Country which is being developed as a wildlife refuge. She told of the scenic beauty and the many lakes that it will include. Building of the park is being encouraged by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Duncan stated.

On the tea table, decorations followed a Texas theme with the state flag, a plaque of bluebonnets and red tapers on a white cloth.

A guest, Mrs. A. Johnson of Abilene, joined the members for the meeting.

A change in the next meeting date was made during the afternoon; members will meet on March 23 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washingtongton Blvd.

Simple As That

Often a single wire coat hanger buckles under the weight of a heavy woolen coat. To make a stronger hanger, just tape two hangers together.

"SURGERY SEPARATES THE PATIENT FROM THE DISEASE"

Formerly, surgery was more complicated. We did not have the anti-biotics that eliminate infection. Local and systemic anesthia now prevent pain. New "miracle" drugs quickly restore lost energy.

A modern surgical operation is almost like a vacation. Sickness time has been lessened. If your physician prescribes surgery, follow his advice fearlessly.

Strives For Balance

Greer Garson attributes many of the good things that have happened to her to a sense of balance. "Excesses lead to complications," she says. She is soon to be seen again on G. E. Theater on CBS-TV.

Stresses Importance Of Good Grooming

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Though Greer Garson lives in Bel-Air, there is an air of an English country house about her home with the expansive rooms and the large open fireplaces.

Greer greeted me in gay-colored velvet hostess pajamas that she said had come from a native craft shop in Sante Fe.

"I live in jeans or slacks when I'm at the ranch," she confided, as she seated herself behind a beautifully-set tea tray. "But because I'm wearing trousers, it does not mean that I want to be without femininity."

She mentioned the beatniks and how there was nothing new about their unconventional dress.

"It goes bach to 19th century Bohemianism. It is possible to be intellectual and talented and well dressed," Greer said.

She handed me a delicate china teacup and a slice of English raisin bread.

"It is surprising to me how some of these young actresses come to rehearsals so carelessly dressed. Being neat doesn't depend on money. I actually was better dressed as a struggling young actress than I am now because then I couldn't afford to make a mistake. You don't have to buy a lot of clothes to be fashionable. But you must learn about fit—the importance of having the waistline in the right place—to have a fabric that will hold its shape so that it will come back from the cleaners looking like new.

"Never indulge in anything but a basic style so your clothes won't go out of fashion. There is so much conformity today, I rather like stressing my individuality as much as possible," she added.

"You were talking about femininity," i reminded her.

"Considerable comment has been made about the American woman's lack of it," she pointed out. "It is true that the women from Latin countries seem more serene, but they live in a society that soes not tolerate divorce and so they are trained to make marriage a career.

"I have great admiration for the abilities of American women. Running a home is only one of the many things they do well. But they must never lose the realization that the atmosphere in the home depends on them. There is nothing that will hold a marriage together like creating an air of perfumed tenderness. This is more important than being a good cook.

"They used to say the way to a man's heart was through his stomach, but psychological surveys today report that the first requisite is a harmonious environment. Even if you work and arrive home shortly before he does, be feminine, have a soft voice, an agreeable attitude and a fresh complexion. He may not comment on it but he will respond to it and come home with a sense of pleasure."

"I've known you a long time and you get prettier with the years," I told her.

She smiled. "My husband tells me that. But I'm happy and I have more understanding of myself. You can't be handsome with unresolved problems. I'm grateful that I do not find it difficult to face myself. When I'm disturbed or unhappy, I seek to discover what mistake I've made. Suffering can be caused by petty little things in your nature that you are trying to conceal from yourself, just as much as by a big blow from fate.

"I was born under the sign of Libra, which means I strive for balance. It is the excesses in our lives that gets us into grouble. Vitality and youthfulness depend on appreciating and caring for your body, not abusing it. There is so much information today about what to eat that is good for you. Anyone who is interested can learn about nutrition.

"My mother was way ahead of her time in the appreciation of health-food. My husband and I were vegetarians for three years and never had a doctor, but we gave it up because it complicated our social life. It was embarrassing to a hostess when we didn't eat what she placed before us.

"Solitude," Greer continued, "is essential for every thinking person —you must be alone for some part of every day to keep a balanced disposition. I have read Anne Morrow Lindbergh's 'Gift from the Sea' innumerable times. Her book is an example of quietness. It is so easy to worry and let small concerns fritter away the meaning of existence."

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

Indications of age in a woman are crowsfeet around the eyes and mouth, the neck area and the hands — and lack of muscular flexibility. Although one cannot eliminate these by a miracle, one can take 10 years off by correct exercising, skillful make-up and the use of corrective cosmetics. Leaflet M-40, "How to Stay Young," gives simple and effective exercises for you to keep the bloom of youth. For your copy of this vital leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

America Is High In Perfection Of Roses

America probably has done more to perfect the rose than any other country in which it is grown. Test gardens establish the hardiness and fitness of varieties to grow in all principal climates in the United States.

The rose is the most widely grown shrub of all and in many ways provides more value, inasmuch as the flowers produced the first year are worth more than the original cost of the plant when they are used for decorating indoors.

If a few rules are observed, much better results will be obtained in the quality of the blooms:

1. When planting dig a hole wide enough for the roots to spread out without cramping them. Dig it deep enough so that the soil will be loose and friable for six inches or so below the level of the roots.

Mix peat moss into the soil and firm the soil so there will be no large air spaces around the roots.

2. Fertilize when growth starts in spring and then again after the heavy blooming period. Do not over-fertilize. A handful of rose fertilizer of well-known brand will suffice.

3. Mulching helps roses. Spread peat moss or other mulch on the surface of the ground to a depth of two to four inches around the main stems.

4. Spray regularly with recommended rose sprays.

5. Snip off old blooms. This induces heavier later blooming.

6. Where winters are severe, mound earth around the stems up to eight to 10 inches high to help them through the dormant seasons.

Remove the mound in the spring.

NSA Meets For Lunch, Shower

A luncheon of the National Secretaries Association Friday at the Sands Restaurant was climaxed with a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Harold Kain and her six-weeks-old adopted daughter.

Gifts were presented to the honoree. Announcement was made of the seminar to be held in Lubbock on Saturday; it is sponsored by the Caprock Chapter. Theme of the session is "Learn a Better Living."

Mrs. Billy Mack Sheppared was made program chairman to replace Mrs. Bobby Asbury, who was given a leave of absence because of her husband's illness.

Appointed as a nominating committee were Mrs. Camille Patterson and Marguerlite Cooper, both of whom will take the examination for CPS in Fort Worth.

Members were reminded of the division meeting to be held in Mineral Wells some time in May. April 24-30 has been set as NSA Week, it was announced.

Lees HD Sets Project, Course

Lees Home Demonstration Club will make curtains for Ward Seven at the State Hospital, the group decided at their meeting Tuesday. A report was heard by the committee that visits at the hospital each week.

A sewing course will begin next Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. All interested may attend the all-day session, that will be held at the Lees club house. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish for the luncheon.

The selection, use, and care of appliances were told of by Mrs. James Eiland, county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Eiland noted good points to look for when purchasing new appliances, and the proper care of appliances.

Next regular meeting of the group, March 22, will be hosted by Mrs. R. H. Foard. Mrs. D. Armstrong was hostess for this meeting, and brought the devotion from Psa. 67.

UCCW Recognized For Faithfulness

Ten years of faithful service by the United Council of Church Women was recognized by Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services at the State Hospital who spoke before the group.

During these 10 years, Mrs. Thurman told the group as they met Friday morning in the First Presbyterian Church, only two dates for the Council's parties at the hospital have been unfulfilled.

The meeting was opened with a devotional period led by Mrs. Arthur Pickle. She chose the subject, "Gratifying Faith."

President of the Council, Mrs. G. C. Graves, reminded members of the state meeting that will be held March 28-30 in San Angelo.

Delegate from the council will be Mrs. Graves, with Mrs. J. Fred Whitaker as alternate. Others planning to attend the convention as delegates of their local churches are Mrs. Joe Barbee, Mrs. Shine Philips, Mrs. D. T. Evans, and Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr.

The group decided to show films conducive to life enrichment at the Westside Recreation Center once each month. Mrs. Whitaker was made chairman of the committee to select films.

April 8 is the next scheduled date for the council meeting. They will meet at St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

B&PW Club Of Lamesa Organizes New Chapter

BROWNFIELD — Mrs. Johnnie Gaunt was named temporary chairman and Mrs. Shorty Forbes, temporary secretary of a new Business and Professional Women's Club being organized in Brownfield by the Lamesa B&PW Club.

Nine members of the Lamesa club met with 13 Brownfield women in the Chamber of Commerce office in Brownfield Thursday night for the initial organizational meeting.

The temporary officers were named after Mrs. Stanley Applegate, president of the Lamesa club had outlined the purpose and objectives of the federation and introduced standing committee chairmen and officers of the Lamesa Club who told of their duties and responsibilities.

Mrs. Gaunt appointed a nominating and by-laws committee and when the Lamesa Club returns to Brownfield for a March 28 meeting, permanent officers will be elected and installed; the by-laws will be read and approved.

Presenting the program for the evening, Dr. Lily Hilde discussed legislation affecting socialized medicine, urging those present to oppose any move leading to passage of such laws.

Mrs. Nancy Johnson, state chairman of the Mary Lilystrom Fund, which provides scholarships for foreign students, explained this program of the B&PW Clubs in Texas.

Collector And Her Treasures

Mrs. Jake Chilton of Lamesa holds an ironstone pitcher, which she believes is the oldest piece in her collection of 300 articles of cut glass and china. The pitcher in the "tea" pattern was among the wedding gifts given to the mother and father of Mrs. Chilton and it was used throughout their lives. On the table are other pieces which have been handed down through the family lines or discovered in shops by this collector.

Antique Collection Is Hobby And Investment

By VIVIAN LEE

LAMESA — An antique enthusiast, Mrs. Jake Chilton, believes her collection of more than 300 pieces of cut glass and china is an investment as well as a delightful hobby.

Although she has always appreciated the beauty of fine antique pieces and has cherished and preserved family heirlooms, her interest only reached collector's proportions about four years ago.

She has carefully preserved Mr. Chilton's grandfather's document issued immediately following the Civil War in 1865, setting forth his citizenship and declaring his eligibility to vote. Also in her possession are two conch shells used by her own grandfather to call the slaves from the cotton fields or to summon help in case of an emergency. Blowing in the shells produces a loud fog-horn sound.

Mrs. Chilton believes the oldest piece in her collection of china and glass pieces is a Royal ironstone china pitcher in the "tea" pattern which her mother got as a bride and used throughout her married life. Research reveals the pattern was made between 1881 and 1890. Other pieces of the original set are in Mrs. Chilton's possession.

In her collection is a china crab bowl. It is rare and quite valuable today because of the raised orange crab design which divides the dish and creates two separate compartments. Mrs. Chilton said that years ago china with gold and silver patterns was more expensive, so it was saved and used as "Sunday-best" while patterns in red and shades of red were less expensive; such pieces were used so frequently that most of it was broken and discarded. China with any kind of red pattern is in demand among today's collectors.

Although she has several pieces made by Northwood before he began to manufacture Carnival glasspieces, Mrs. Chilton treasures most highly of all her Northwood, a carnival glass jar in the grape pattern which her mother used to put face powder in. On the bottom of the jar is the now yellow gum label which has a clearly marked price, 25 cents. A similar piece which the Lamesa collector saw in an antique shop was priced at $15.

Also an outstanding item in her collection is a satin glass cracker jar, hand painted in an orange and blue floral pattern. It has an antique brass lid and handle. Unique is the description for her set of fishbone bowls shaped like fish, and two cut glass knife rests, also used in formal table settings of yesteryear.

Collectors look for many things in cut glass pieces, Mrs. Chilton said. The quality of the glass itself is important as well as the depth of the cut, and the creator of the piece. Mrs. Chilton has found a cut glass bowl made by Fry, the only piece of his work she has been able to locate since she began her collection. Since she bought the bowl in Dallas a little more than a year ago, it has more than doubled in value.

When she first began to do extensive research and study on glass and china, and to visit antique shops, her husband was anything but enthusiastic about her venture. Now he has been "bitten" by the bug, and goes right along with her as she browses in antique shops by the roadside or in the heart of a city.

Arranging a display of her pieces for a woman's club program this week, Mrs. Chilton quipped, "—and you should see my husband's secretary!" It is a beautiful antique piece in the Chilton home, nearly as precious as a marble-topped table which actually started Mrs. Chilton on the road to becoming a collector.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Everyone should have some little ones about in order to hear their interpretations of what they hear and what they are taught. There have been more misinterpretations of Bible verses and prayers than almost any other thing because nearly all families are taught religion at home. MRS. KENT MORGAN tells of hearing her young nephew's goodnight prayers. After much arranging of himself he finally settled down in his covers and prayed, "Our Father, which has fallen out of heaven, Hello be thy name—"

After prayer by Mrs. Ruby Ragsdale, the "Secret of Greatness" was related by Mrs. T. E. Cantrell. Her devotion was taken from Heb. 11.

A contest in visitation and attendance was launched by team captains, and will continue for three months.

Secret pals were revealed, and the group drew new names. Bible contests and games were played under the leadership of Mrs. Lucille Sample, social chairman.

Refreshments were served to 13 members and three guests, Mrs. Alvie Porch; Mrs. George S. Thomas; and Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale.

Miss Barnfield Bride Of Clarence Matthews

Margaret Barnfield and Clarence Bud Matthews exchanged wedding rings Friday evening at 8:30 in Calvary Baptist Church. Pastor of the church, the Rev. Raymond Gary, read the rite.

Mss Barnfield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnfield, 303 Lorilla. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Matthews of Green Forrest, Ark., are the bridegroom's parents.

Before an altar of candelabra, white gladioli and stock, Barnfield gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's wedding attire had been made by her mother. Miss Barnfield wore a street-length dress of white Chantilly lace over satin. The long sleeves of the princess-style gown formed points over her wrists.

A halo covered with tulle and decorated with seed pearls held the finger-tip veil.

White carnations were carried atop a white Bible to create the bridal bouquet. Something old was her shoes; something new, the wedding gown; the bride borrowed a string of pearls, and she wore a blue garter.

Mrs. D. H. Currie was her sister's matron of honor. Blue silk organza over blue polished cotton was designed by the bride's mother for a fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeve dress; the skirt was pleated. The halo headpiece was of matching blue.

Ring bearers were Leslie Currie and his sister Karen. Karen was dressed in blue silk organza over polished cotton. Her dress was styled like the matron of honor's.

Bill Hambrick served as best man, while ushers were Randy Hickman and Bobby Joe Brassel, of Jasper, Ark.

Receiving guests at the reception held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray, Western Hills Addition, were the parents of the bride and the new Mr. and Mrs. Matthews.

White lace over an underlay of blue covered the refreshment table. The matron of honor's bouquet was upon the table, and a standing arrangement of white gladioli stood behind it. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table.

Serving were Mrs. Currie and June Corcoran. Mrs. Homer Petty was in charge of the guest book.

Out of town guests included D. H. Currie and Dwayne and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lynch, all of Colorado City.

The bride's traveling suit for the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination was of beige with a white floral design. The jacket featured three - quarter length loose sleeves, and the skirt was pleated. Mrs. Matthews wore a white gabardine blouse. Her outfit was made by her mother.

Mrs. Matthews is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by the county clerk's office. Matthews graduated from the Green Forrest, Ark., school system, and is presently stationed at Webb AFB.

The couple will make a home at 2007 Johnson.

New Picnic Shelter At Park

C. G. Hickman, city park attendant, looks over this bright, multi-colored picnic shelter recently installed in the city park. Two of these structures were constructed by city crews in the warehouse at a cost of less than $100 each. One of them was placed in Birdwell Memorial Park and the other in city park. Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said they are designed for single family use and can accommodate six persons. The two now on location are on trial, he added. "If Big Spring residents would like to have more of these shelters installed, we can furnish them." These shelters are one phase of Dunn's planning for all Big Spring parks.

4 PERSONS KILLED

Traffic Mishaps Hold To Usual High Figure

Howard County had one of three fatal accidents credited to the area served by the Midland Sub-Station of the Texas Highway Patrol in February. It also provided six of the 18 accidents in which personal injury occurred; seven of 25 in which property damage occurred and nine of the 21 persons injured. There were four deaths in the area which comprises Howard, Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Martin, Midland, and Reagan counties. Howard County's share of the property damage inflicted by traffic accidents during the month was $8,465. For the area, the damage was $37,490.

Sgt. Billy Smith of the sub-station, who keeps statistics on the mishaps on rural roads of the district, said there were two less accidents during February but the same number of fatalities as in the same month in 1959.

In all, the highway patrol was called to investigate 46 accidents in the seven-county area during the month.

For the entire West Texas area —24 counties—there were 10 fatalities in six fatal accidents; 157 accidents in all, 102 persons injured and property damage of $138,660.

Enumerators To Be Named This Week For '60 Census

Enumerators — those who will do the actual "head counting" in the 1960 federal census — will be named this week for Howard County.

Louis Stallings and Matt Harrington, who have been appointed crew leaders for the census here, said that 35 persons to handle the work should be appointed in a few days. Appointments will result from tests taken this past week, in which more than 70 persons participated.

The personnel setup, said Stallings, call for 26 enumerators to work in the city of Big Spring; four to work in the four geographical quadrants of the county; one to handle the Coahoma area; two to count in Borden County; and two field reviewers, to assist in handling enumerators reports. Borden County is attached to Howard for purposes of the census.

Stalling said that, insofar as possible, enumerators will be assigned to work city districts near their own homes.

The two crew leaders will be in Lubbock this week, attending special training sessions under direction of Earl E. Kerr, district supervisor for the 19th Congressional District. Topics to be covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting of census takers, how to train enumerators, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

The nationwide census opens officially April 1, and is scheduled to be completed in about two weeks. Householders are to receive census forms in advance, through the mails, and will be asked to have these completed accurately, for delivery to the enumerator when that official calls.

High School Student Supports Principal

TO THE EDITOR:

I am speaking on behalf of the students at Big Spring High School, and we would like to express our opinion on Mr. Worley's contract not being renewed.

Too often adults think of us without ever considering our thoughts or ideas. We think Mr. Worley is the greatest principal ever. To us he represents more than a principal. He is our friend, our confidant, and our principal. To take him away from us is like taking away our right hand and we want to protest.

He is our principal and we deserve the right to voice our opinion.

We want Mr. Worley!

A Devotional For Today

I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee. (Luke 15:18.)

PRAYER: Our Father, because we see on every hand where we have strayed from Thee, help us to turn once more to Thee in repentance. Help us to overcome all desire to sin. Guide us in the way that Thou wouldst have us go. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

City Budget Has Had Thorough Study

Elsewhere in this issue of The Herald you will find details of the new budget under which the City of Big Spring will operate during its fiscal year beginning April 1.

There is no point in repeating figures here, and interested persons will be able to get full details of the budget in this and subsequent issues of The Herald. Suffice it to say that over-all expenditures for the municipality are going up by about 6 per cent, for a total outlay of better than $2,150,000.

IN THIS DAY of continuing inflation, together with the tremendous demands on city services, brought about by fast expansion, we feel impelled to say that the budget should be acceptable to the citizens of Big Spring.

Additional outlays call for additional income, of course, if the budget is to be kept in balance. The city officials have decided to get this additional money with modest increases in fees charged for garbage collection, and in the minimum rate on water used. They will leave the tax rate where it is.

WITH THIS, TOO, The Herald is in accord. Certainly the fee for garbage collection is one of the biggest bargains a householder has, and this service ought to be priced for a fair return. It should be remembered that with the wide annexation undertaken this past year, the municipality must greatly broaden its trash collection, adding new vehicles and more men.

Water is high, of course. It always will be in West Texas. It may go higher. The point is, how much does it cost a city and its citizens when there is no water?

There will be a public hearing on the budget, and every citizen has not only the right, but the obligation, to appear and voice his opinions on the schedule as prepared.

Continued growth in our city is costing the municipality very heavily. This entails gathering in more money, which more of us particularly enjoys. Yet we are loath to give up the things we expect the city to provide.

REGARDLESS OF DETAILS of the budget itself, we want to make one particular point: The present city commissioners have given more thorough study—"agonizing appraisal" if you care to call it that—to the budget than any similar official group we have known of in years.

The councilmen have met morning, noon and night—and on Sundays—in a conscientious effort to bring up a working budget that it is not overly burdensome. This is one group of commissioners who know where the money is coming from and where it is going.

THEIR LABORS have been at tremendous personal sacrifice, by men who have neglected their own business to fulfill their obligations as commissioners. The Herald commends them for faithfulness to duty, for concern over the municipal problems.

The people who may—and probably will—find fault with the new budget, ought to be prepared to say how a better fiscal schedule can be prepared, because the city fathers certainly can tell them how this one is going to work. They know. They brought it forth with blood, sweat and tears.

SADDLED!

Inconsistency In The Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States added this week to the confusion and inconsistency which too often characterize its hair-splitting decisions. Even the best lawyers in the country must be baffled now in attempting to say just what the "law of the land" is today with reference to the distribution of anonymous handbills.

The court struck down a Los Angeles city ordinance which required the sponsors and distributors of such handbills to identify themselves to the public. The court said this would infringe on the right of free speech and free press.

For many decades now, under a law of Congress, newspapers and other publications have faced a loss of their second-class-mail privileges if they did not publish at least once a year the names of their principal officers, owners and holders of their bonds or mortgages. This law has been upheld by the Supreme Court.

BUT IF NEWSPAPERS are required to disclose their ownership and managing personnel, why should another set of citizens be allowed to carry on campaigns of various kinds of distributing printed matter on the streets without having to reveal their sponsors?

The Supreme Court, moreover, has upheld heretofore the law requiring that lobbyists in Congress must regularly register and disclose the identity of their sponsors. The right of disclosure has long been ruled to be a public right and in no way an infringement on the First Amendment guarantees of free speech and free press. This is sound doctrine.

But now six justices of the Supreme Court—Black, Douglas, Warren, Brennan, Harlan and Stewart—pull back and argue that, because reprisals may be directed against the distributors of anonymous handbills, they can hereafter conceal or hide their identity. In this case, the Court related that "the handbills urged readers to help the organization carry on a boycott against certain merchants and businessmen, whose names were given, on the ground that, as one handbill said, they carried products of 'manufacturers who will not offer equal employment opportunities to Negroes, Mexicans and Orientals.'"

THE DISSENTING opinion in the current case, written by Justice Clark and concurred in by Justices Frankfurter and Whittaker, points out the inconsistencies as follows:

"All that Los Angeles requires is that one who exercises his right of free speech through writing or distributing handbills identify himself just as does one who speaks from the platform. The ordinance makes for the responsibility in writing that is present in public utterance. When and if the application of such an ordinance in a given case encroaches on First Amendment freedoms, then will be soon enough to strike that application down. But no such restraint has been shown here. . .

"WE HAVE UPHELD complete proscription of uninvited door -to -door canvassing as an invasion of privacy. Is this less restrictive than complete freedom of distribution—regardless of content—of a signed handbill And commercial handbills may be declared verboten (forbidden) regardless of content or identification. Is Talley's anonymous handbill, designed to destroy the business of a commercial establishment, passed out at its very front door, and attacking its then lawful commercial practices, more comportable with First Amendment freedoms? I think not. Before we may expect international responsibility among nations, might it not be well to require individual responsibility at home? Los Angeles' ordinance does no more."

The reference in the above quotation to the distribution of "commercial handbills" was based on a New York City ordinance barring the distribution on the streets of any commercial advertising matter, even though signed or identified. The decision upholding the ordinance was handed down in 1942 in a unanimous opinion by the Supreme Court of the United States, consisting then of Justices Black, Douglas and Frankfurter of the present court membership, and Justices Roberts, Murphy, Byrnes, Jackson, Reed and Chief Justice Stone.

So what it all boils down to is that a city may prohibit distribution on the streets of any commercial literature—even though signed—"puffing the wares" of a business, but it cannot prohibit anyone from distributing unsigned handbills or pamphlets attacking a business or asking the public not to buy such wares. Surely, inconsistency in the "law of the land" was never more dramatically revealed.

Falling Market Upsets The Novice Investor

The letters are coming in—letters from the small investors who suddenly have discovered that Wall Street isn't Easy Street.

"I started buying an oil stock just prior to President Eisenhower's heart attack. All oil stocks have declined lately; I am wondering whether the oil industry is still regarded as a sound growth investment."

"The only stock I own was purchased under an employes' stock purchasing plan. Now I see my life's savings shrinking steadily."

"I will retire later this year on Social Security. All the stocks I own are dropping — even mutual funds. Should I now put my money in government bonds?"

A FALLING STOCK market saps confidence and destroys the original perspective that went into the purchase of stocks. Suddenly, 13,000,000 stockholders—or at least some of them—discover they can be wrong.

In a bull market, the nouveau investor is full of derring-do. He pridefully agrees with the mutual fund salesman or broker's representative who says, "You can afford to take a moderate risk. You are well off. If stocks go down a few points, you have your E-bonds and your job to fall back on."

The newcomer has been warned that stocks fluctuate. Nevertheless, when week after week his capital shrinks, he's bewildered. Should he get back into the savings banks?

BEAR MARKETS perplex professional beholders as well as new stockholders. William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, one-time president of the New York Stock Exchange, and former stock broker, answered a reporter's question at a Philadelphia press conference in this fashion:

"Insofar as people might attach more importance to it, economically, than it really deserves, I'm worried about the stock market."

A waiter in one of New York's Lucullan restaurants, the Forum of the Twelve Caesars, where prices match the oversized menu, told Martin that tips in late December and the first three weeks of January were spectacular—"the highest ever." But in February, they "fell off badly." That could be — Martin wasn't sure—Wall Street cause and effect.

Whenever the market drops, people feel poorer. They're not as free-handed with five-dollar bills in restaurants or $1,000 checks at jewelry stores and furriers.

Jewelers who cater to persons with substantial investments say that sales are sensitive to Wall Street's ups and downs. A bull market clinches the sale of an emerald ring or a ruby and diamond necklace. A bear market quashes it. Similarly, sales of new cars and appliances can be tripped on and off by paper profits or losses in Wall Street.

EVEN BUSINESSMEN may be "teched" by Wall Street's vagaries. Business men are substantial stock-owners. If the market rises, they feel aggressively sure of themselves. They've been right! But if the market goes down, they may become timid, cautious. This could affect decisions to expand.

Business men know that the stock market often has called the turn in business. Will this be the one time out of two that it is right?

If business doesn't turn down, it won't be too many months before the stock market turns up. Bear markets need bad news. They don't last long unless production falls and unemployment rises.

THE 1953 BEAR market lasted only nine months. Industrial stocks fell only 16 per cent, railroad stocks 22 per cent. The 1956-57 decline lasted 20 months; the drop was 21 per cent for the industrials and 45 per cent in the rails (see chart). Some stock-market analysts argue that these were not real bear markets, but mere interruptions of the long bull market that began in 1949.

This present decline may be an internal market phenomenon rather than a business indication. Bonds have been selling to return 5 per cent and better. Industrial stocks have returned as little as 3 per cent. Sooner or later, some investors were bound to sell stocks to buy bonds.

Moreover, the market was flatulent on adjectives describing the 'sixties — soaring, sizzling, golden, etc. A burp was overdue. Incidentally, flatulent and inflation have the same Latin root.

ONCE STOCKS started down, news was bearishly interpreted. Auto sales, though much better than a year ago, didn't make a big enough dent in inventories to prevent curtailment in output. The curtailment got emphasis. Department store sales didn't run much ahead of a year ago, and recently have fallen behind. The bad weather and late Easter were hardly mentioned. Inventories in December and January rose. Nevertheless, inventories are not high relative to sales, 1.47 versus 1.49 at this time last year, and 1.67 two years ago.

As I have previously noted, January and February are fooler months. Statistics are erratic. It's too early to conclude that this is an old-fashioned bear market with depression trimmings. We've lived long in that wonderful never-never land of rising stock prices. Reality had to come home to roost, though it's hard on inexpert investors who persuaded themselves that Wall Street was a synonym for Easy Street.

Them Stomp-Foot Dancers Wanted Ola

DEAR RUFE:

Well, pardner, we cut off our culture for the season the other night, and I guess it was the noisest doin's we've had around here yet.

What it was, it was a stomp-foot dancin' contest, with men and women, everybody, gettin' into the act to see who could stomp maybe the loudest and certainly the fastest.

Feller named Joe Greeley was the head of it. I thought he was one of those gaucho citizens like you see in the movies, but I heard later he was a Spaniard.

He was somethin', I can tell you, and so was all the other people on the stage with him. They would jump up and down, and would kick their feet out like scissors, and do all kinds of fancy gymnastics — but all the time they would be hollerin', and yellin' and laughin' and even singin' part of the time. Never saw stomp-foot dancers have such a good time.

Never understood a word they said, though, and you wouldn't have either. There must of been one girl in the show, though, named Ola, and she must have been late in gettin' out on the stage, because they kept hollerin' for her all evenin'. I don't think she ever showed up.

Well, they had Spaniard names for all the acts, too, and whether there was a boy and a girl; or a man and two girls; or four guys, or whatever, you couldn't tell what the name of the dance was. Somebody said every movement had a meanin' all its own: I just never did get the meanin'.

Oh, I did, too, in a way. Looked like to me that them Spaniards is pretty good love makers, and as far as I could tell every time it was a boy-and-girl dance, it was like they was a-courtin'; and everyone of them dances ended with the boy chasing the girl off the stage. What went on behind them curtains could be a caution. I didn't hear no stompin' back there.

But they did have a chaperone. She was what you would call a Mamacita, and she was a little bit bosomy, and it didn't make no difference who it was came out to dance, Mamacita called the tune, either by clappin' her hands, or yellin', or somethin'. She might have been the director, and she certainly set the pace — without ever stompin' her foot a single time.

Them stomp-foot dancers used them hand-clicking gadgets, like crickets, to keep time with, on top of Mamacita's clappin', and they also had a couple of git-tar players. These ain't like no git-tar players you ever saw, Rufe. No chordin', if you please, but a heck of a lot of string ticklin'. Don't know how they ever learned the numbers. Fact-wise don't know how the stomp-foot dancers learned the difference between numbers, either.

Another thing, Rufe: them people was dressed as pretty people you ever saw. Bright colors, flashing doo-dads, just as fancy as a new circus wagon. You couldn't ask for much more in the way of get-up.

The girls maybe did a little too much flouncin' of them wide skirts, because just between you and me, a couple of 'em were fairly solid in the underpinnings. And the pants the men wore . . . Boy! Tighter 'n' any jeans you ever saw, and about like your skin. Feller sittin' next to me said he probably could do that kind of stom-foot dancin', but the trouble was his feet was so big he could never get the pants on.

Hope you get lined up for more culture next year.

Your friend,
ZEKE

Improving Your Personality

Have you ever rated your personality? Ever sat down and tried to get an objective view of it? It is not an easy thing to do. Having tried it myself, I cannot pretend it is a pleasant experience, either. But it is worth the effort.

After all, much of what happens in your life is determined by the quality of your personality. I am not using the term in a superficial sense, denoting merely the social graces. Your personality is your total impact, the total effect you have on others and on life. And it is possible to improve it.

There is a man I know who was always a capable fellow, but for years he was the prisoner of personality defects. He was overly tense, in a way that made everyone around him tense. He was a perfectionist, one who insisted everything be done exactly so. When he came into his office, the girls there working for him instinctively tensed up.

AT HOME HE WAS EVEN more demanding. In the office he at least tried to be polite, but at home he could be himself — so he thought. Though he deeply loved his wife, he wasn't even courteous to her. Without realizing it, he made her the shock-absorber of his irritations. If something wasn't done just right, he would hit the ceiling. He would swear and shout. He would pick up anything that wasn't nailed down and throw it. Then he would slump into a depression and be in it for hours or even days.

Year after year the wife patiently put up with this behavior. She was a devout soul who drew strength from prayer. And she loved her husband. She prayed for strength to endure his outbursts and she got it.

Then one fine evening the worm turned, as the saying goes. The man had gone into one of his tirades when suddenly his wife turned on him in flashing fury. With eyes blazing, walking the floor as she talked, she began pouring out to him the unvarnished facts of what his personality looked like to the other fellow. When he tried to interject a protest, she snapped, "Keep still and listen!"

AS HE SAT THERE helplessly taking in the devastating picture of himself she was drawing for him, the man had a very strange experience. His wife's voice seemed to fade. It was as though he was alone, gazing upon a slowly moving stream. Somehow he knew it was his personality he was seeing into. In mid-stream was a large, dark, hard object, ponderously bobbing up and down. This he recognized as a composite of trouble-factors deep within him — guilt, hate, false pride.

He knew then that he would have to change. He was afraid if he didn't do something about it quickly, he might lose the vision and continue as he had been. The thought came to him that only God could enable him to change. He prayed more intensely than he ever had before, asking God's help.

NOW, NO DRAMATIC transformation has taken place. But this man has kept his new insight. He has been able to achieve significant improvements in the way he thinks and acts. He believes the hard lump is breaking up. And his wife, with a look of wonder in her eyes, says, "My husband is so different."

St. Paul in his great speech on Mars Hill at Athens, talking to the Athenians about God, uttered the famous words, "In Him we live and move and have our being." There in one sentence is the true secret of improving your personality. Get into contact with God, for in God we live: He is the source of vitality. In God we move: from Him come sense of direction and the energy for going forward. In God we have our being — by becoming whole, integrated persons.

Nixon's Troubles With Conservatives

WASHINGTON — If the recent samples coming out of the primary warmup are any clue we are in for a bad time this fall.

Both Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and New Hampshire's Governor Wesley Powell got about as far out of bounds as possible. Butler, a chronic sufferer from foot-in-mouth disease, had the grace to apologize to the President for having said that the death of the Navy bandsmen in the Rio disaster was on President Eisenhower's conscience.

Powell tried to justify his charge that Senator John F. Kennedy was soft on communism even after he had been repudiated by Vice President Nixon whose campaign in New Hampshire he was supposed to be managing. In so doing he compounded the damage he had already done, not to Kennedy but to the Vice President running unopposed in the Republican primary.

How much Powell's folly contributed to Kennedy's astonishingly large total no one, of course, can say. But it was probably a last-minute factor in getting out voters eager to repudiate the Powell slur. Kennedy's margin of four to three as the final returns come in, contrasting with the traditional Republican edge of two to one gives the youthful-appearing Massachusetts Senator a new boost for the nomination.

He could hardly have expected such a break with all its national implications. While the charge is on its face absurd, given Kennedy's whole background and conditioning, it will give pause to those liberal Democrats who suspect him of never having really opposed McCarthyism. In short, this was the kind of advertising Kennedy could not have bought, for all his efforts and resources, and it was handed to him free, gratis, in New Hampshire's snowy hills.

Powell's statement is certain to echo through the entire campaign if only because it is a reminder of just what Nixon and his managers want the public to forget. That is, the whole atmosphere of innuendo and suspicion on the Communist issue which accompanied Nixon's rise to power. This heritage continues to be for the Vice President a serious handicap.

He cannot win with votes of right-wing Republicans. Even with the votes of all those who call themselves Republicans — whether of the moderate, Eisenhower or outright progressive Paul Hoffman variety — he cannot get a majority. The latest polls have shown the party at its lowest point in this century.

Nixon needs the help of independents and voters whose allegiance to the Democratic party is indifferent. It is just here that the reckless use of the Communist issue is most offensive, recalling the havoc of the McCarthy era. Powell comes out of that era. He is a protege of Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire whose administrative assistant he was. They have a tight grasp on the party organization in the state with a political outlook of extreme reaction.

As the Powell incident illustrates, Nixon's problem is a difficult one. He has worked closely with these men. They are his friends and perhaps his principal supporters and he cannot alienate them or, at any rate, not before next July.

But their embrace can be a heavy embarrassment. To identify him with Old Guard orthodoxy is a major objective of Democratic strategy. Every Powell who rides off on the Communist broomstick in Nixon's behalf will help this strategy along.

Nixon himself has in important instances — the student loyalty oath, the Connally amendment on the World Court — stood on opposite sides from the standpatters and the neo-isolationists. But this identification will have to become sharper and clearer if he is to emerge from the shadow of the past.

Inmates Help Out

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — School children in Fort Madison, Iowa, are receiving a helping hand from prisoners at the state penitentiary.

A Minneapolis firm, Maico Electronics, Inc., recently received an order from inmates of the institution at Fort Madison for an audiometer. The $350 instrument will be delivered to school authorities who will use it to test pupils for hearing deficiencies that may retard their educational progress.

Funds were raised by a special collection among the prisoners. Two years ago, a similar project raised $519 to help buy equipment for a Fort Madison youth center.

Postman's Plaint

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Postmaster Claude I. Bakewell complains that hidden mailboxes are troubling his mail men.

He says some new apartment houses have mailboxes in dark places, under staircases and in other unhandy spots, in violation of postal regulations.

Some have been placed so high, Bakewell said, that it makes mail delivery difficult for short postmen.

Insignia Retires, Too

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force Lt. Col. John K. Coughlan is retiring this spring, and his flying insignia will be retired too. Coughlan flew gas-inflated lighter-than-air ships before they were dropped from the Air Force inventory, and his airship pilot's wings are being donated to the Air Force Museum here.

To Your Good Health

Needless X-Rays Should Be Avoided

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Your column had a letter with the following sentence: 'Our dentist wants to X-ray our 5-year-old son's teeth. My sister-in-law tells me a doctor friend of hers doesn't believe that children should be X-rayed except by a specialist in this.' "Surely, you are aware that dentists in their training are adequately prepared in taking X-rys and interpreting the finds, and that X-rays will show up cavities that are not detectable by a surface examination. A dentist who has earned the title of 'Dr.' by his years of study deserves more recognition and respect and you are very fortunate in being in a position to educate your readers on this point. —Mrs. R.E.R."

This question of X-rays, and other radiation, will be with us for a long time — as long as the atomic age lasts.

To answer the point you bring up, I do not believe that anyone should take X-rays without thorough training. As you doubtless recall, for a time it was very popular to use fluoroscopes in stores to fit children's shoes.

I have not seen one of these machines for several years now, and it's a good thing. They sprayed X-rays around with foolish abandon. The people operating the shoe stores unquestionably got the heaviest doses, but in an atomic age with its fall-out and other radiation, nobody, child, shoe clerk, or anyone else, should be exposed to any added radiation without good cause.

Dentists get serious X-ray instruction in college. In addition, companies making dental X-ray equipment have gone to great pains to keep the amount of radiation at a minimum for the purpose of obtaining adequate pictures of the teeth. They also distribute information on exactly how to use the equipment.

The amount of radiation for a dental X-ray is very small.

At the same time, any NEEDLESS radiation, from this or any other source, should be avoided.

Where my own children are involved, this is how I feel: If our dentist needs X-rays, I would not hesitate for a moment to let him take them.

On the other hand, I would certainly insist that there be some special reason before I would approve of having the teeth X-rayed every year, or every six months, over a period of years.

With modern X-ray equipment and technique it is true that the total radiation, even from this, would not be very great, but as I said, any NEEDLESS radiation should be avoided.

I trust our well-trained dentists. They keep up with modern data, just as I do.

My own rule is this: Never worry about a necessary X-ray. But from the professional side, never give, or order, an X-ray without good reason.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you advise as to how long I could wait until it would be necessary to have polyps removed from the rectal area? — Mrs. K. D."

I would certainly not wait at all. The danger is that such polyps are known to become malignant, but your question is about like a motorist, whose car has faulty brakes, asking, "How long can I wait before I have them fixed?"

* * *

Note to F. P.: You ask, "Are alfalfa tablets and brewers yeast good for middle-aged people." Speaking as a person as well as a doctor, people live to be 100 or more without either one! My advice to you: Obey the rules of health; don't hunt for things that are "good for you" or are "supposed" to cure whatever ails you.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Donelson, Pollock On Area Basketball Team

By MARSHA BRISTOW

First off, I'd like to begin by boasting just a little. We're very, very proud of Norman Donelson and Don Pollock. They made the all-area basketball team. Alton Robertson also received honorable mention. These three boys held the high scorer honors all season.

The Stanton FFA Chapter has just returned from Houston. Nine of the members returned from Houston Sunday after spending the week showing fat lambs, breeding sheep, capons and fryers. Buddy Green, Johnnie Gray and Jimmy Miller placed with their fat lambs. David Poe and Sonny Waldrop also exhibited fat lambs. Lyndon Huckaby showed Shropshire lambs, Kenneth Haggard showed two single capons and Wayne Doshier and Lee Standefer had pens of fryers in the show. The chapter was also represented at the San Angelo show March 12.

Our FHA chapter plans to attend the area meeting March 19 at Midland. Five of our members will show garments they made in the area style show. The girls are Carolyn Manning, Mona Epley, Ila Mae Gray, Kay Bryan and Martha Johnson.

Spring is in the air because everyone you see around SHS either has on track shoes or is carrying a tennis racket.

The senior play is to be held March 18 at the grade school gym. We would like for everyone to come.

The juniors have begun planning their Junior-Senior Banquet. The favors, etc., have been ordered. The class has also started raising money by selling magazines.

HE Girls Get Home Projects For Year

By DE MASON

The ice is all gone and it seems as though spring is finally showing its face to Big Spring. It was quite evident around Goliad this past week as teachers and students both showed signs of spring fever.

The homemaking girls are once more at work on their home projects. These are projects which are done at home, such as cleaning house, cooking supper, budgeting money and serving. Once the girl has decided what she wants to do, she must spend between 25 and 30 hours on it. The girls are also preparing to attend the area meet, which will be held all day March 19 in Midland.

Miss Ruth Beasley, librarian, has reported that our library has received a shipment of Wilson printed catalog cards. They will replace the ones which have been serving the purpose. These cards will be of great use to students who wish to find a book quickly.

Thursday morning we had a locker change. Almost every student in school received a different locker. The boys' lockers are now on one side of the hall and the girls' are on the other.

We are happy to welcome four new students to Goliad. They are Steven Hoge, Judith Crooks and Roy Smart—7th; and Carol Leckbee—8th.

The student council is sponsoring a courtesy campaign, which began this week and is to run through April with the last week in April being designated as "Courtesy Week." Student council members will give weekly talks on courtesy over the PA system. Posters are being made by some students and the best ones will be placed in a public place. Miss Beasley will be happy to help anyone who wishes to find books on courtesy. Special attention will be given to the homemaking department during FHA week which comes during this campaign. At the end of the campaign, a Most Courteous Boy and Girl will be chosen from each grade. We hope that every student will participate in this campaign by showing his best manners and courtesy to everyone.

I would like to make a correction on the date of the Student Council Convention in Amarillo. It is to be March 31 instead of March 4 as announced last week.

In the volleyball games this week Goliad lost three games to Lamesa and two to Coahoma. The 8th grade was victorious over the sophomores from Coahoma.

Nine-weeks exams will be given Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, so you'd better study hard over the weekend. In spite of all these exams, we students have something to look forward to—there are only 10 more weeks of school!

Future Nurses Have Meeting

Austin played host to some 1,500 teen-age girls this weekend, all with an eye on nursing as a career. The girls, all members of the Texas Association of Future Nurses, attended their Sixth Annual Convention on March 11-12. Future Nurses Clubs from high schools throughout Texas were represented at the meeting.

Headquarters for the Convention was the Driskill Hotel, while the business of the convention was conducted in the new Municipal Auditorium.

The Honorable Tom Miller, Mayor of Austin, gave a message of welcome to the convention Saturday, at the Auditorium. Dr. Robert F. Peck, Associate Professor of Educational Psychology at the University of Texas, was the principal speaker for the convention program.

Hi-Y Council Has Meeting

Main topic of conversation for the meeting was the Spring Conference to be held in San Angelo April 1-3. Total fees for the conference were set at $12.50 per person. Registration blanks were made available at the Y, with the local deadline to register being March 18.

Jane Cowper was made representative to the Code of Conduct Committee. Contests and entertainments at the conference will include a speech contest, sports contest and talent show. Local candidates for district office are Emmett Kent Morgan for president and Kay Crowcover for extension secretary. A boy and girl will be chosen to participate as a debate team on Capital Punishment.

Students Hold Elections

By TERESA SMITH

Becoming more versed in the ways of politics, many students voiced their qualifications and platforms in the recent Government Day proceedings. The day was patterned after "real live" politics right down to poll tax. Each student running for an office was permitted two minutes for his campaign speech during assembly Monday. Voting for the candidates took place Tuesday. The runoff election took place on Wednesday.

"Follies of '60" was the name of the spectacular presentation that highlighted activities on the campus this week. Emceed by Gary Pickle, the twenty-one act talent show was composed of dance numbers on down to producing sound effects. Mrs. Don Green and Mr. Frank McDonald were the faculty advisors.

Palo Duro was the destination of the Bible Club this weekend. The seventy-six members who went selected this site for their annual trip because of the many activities there. As the agenda was planned, after breakfast the group went to McKenzie Park. Following that they went to the Western Museum which was followed by a jaunt to Buffalo Lake.

HCJC Wins Superior; Hawks To National

By KAY LOVELAND

Excitement ran rampant over HCJC's campus this week as two big events took place. The Jayhawks were competing in the Region V Basketball Tournament at Amarillo, and the Texas State Junior College Drama Festival was being held on campus.

The excitement at the Drama Festival reached its peak Friday night when critic judge Paul Beardsley of Austin College announced ratings of the six plays and also named the All-Star Cast. HCJC triumphed! We were awarded a superior rating on our cutting from "The Petrified Forest"—the first time in the history of our drama department. We also placed one cast member on the All-Star Cast and received three honorable mentions.

ALL-STAR CAST

Members of the All-Star Cast included Mary Sue Hooks and Ed Cook, "The Wonder Hat," Temple Junior College; Mora Lewis, "The Rag Doll," South Plains Junior College; Dickie Lancaster, "Whistle, Daughter, Whistle," Navarro Junior College; and Kay Loveland, "The Petrified Forest," HCJC. W. L. Sibley, who played Lincoln in Odessa Junior College's cutting of "The Rivalry," was named Best Actor; and Wanda Barton of Navarro Junior College received Best Actress award. Honorable mentions were given to Sherry Coats, Maurice Burnett and Harold Henson of HCJC, James Moore of Odessa Junior College and Kaki Dowling of Temple Junior College. There were several other honorable mentions, but your reporter was so excited that she failed to get them all.

Other play ratings were: Superior, "The Wonder Hat," Temple; Excellent, "The Rag Doll," South Plains and "Whistle, Daughter, Whistle," Navarro; Very Good, "Hangs Over Thy Head," Wharton Junior College.

"Take Your Medicine" Successful

By ROSALIE DeVANEY

"Take Your Medicine," the senior play presented Friday night, was a great success! Congratulations to the class on their outstanding work done for this performance. The crowd responded very nicely and laughed when they were supposed to, which was most of the time. The play helped the seniors to get that much closer to New Orleans. It's just a few days more than a month until they leave and I understand that we are still lacking on funds for the trip. You'd better get to work class!

The office practice class had a most enjoyable day Friday visiting Bell Telephone Company at 9:30 and Thomas Office Supply at 11:00. Mr. Thomas treated the class to dinner at the ABC Club's Big Hat Dinner. The meal was delicious and the members were very courteous and showed the class a very nice time. After lunch, Cosden was next on the list. A tour of all the different departments was most interesting and educational. The class, which consisted of Margie Dykes, Joan Davis, Pauline Graves, Frances Earnest, Gloria Thomas, Zena Kay Robinson, Judy Brooks, Rosalie DeVaney, Bobby Smith and Mrs. Ethridge, all say "Thanks" to each of the concerns visited, especially to Thomas Office Supply and the ABC Club for the delicious dinner.

The all-district boys and girls teams were announced this week. Congratulations are in order for

College Costs Cited

CLAREMONT — Financial responsibilities of the student, his family and the college were discussed today by 40 representatives of western colleges and universities at the opening session of a two-day conference at the Associated Colleges of Claremont.

Rexford G. Moon Jr., director of the College Scholarship Service of the College Entrance Examination Board, said the student and his parents must be made aware of all costs of a college education, not forgetting related expenses for social and off-campus items.

Robert Hage, director of financial aid at Dartmouth College, told participants that parents must recognize that they are just as responsible for their collegiate son or daughter as they are for their child in elementary or secondary schools. Families and students must bear more of the costs of higher education, he added, and not rely on aid from outside sources.

He noted that there has been a substantial increase in the number of loans made to students on college campuses. However, he said, students tend to believe that loans from federal sources are grants. They are loans and must be repaid, he said.

rating" cast were Charles Morris, Sherry Coats, Harold Henson, Tommy Buckner, Maurice Burnett, Toby McClendon, Kay Loveland and Reece Bevers. We had a "superior" stage crew, too, who worked long and hard for all the colleges. A big "thanks" should go to C. L. Graham, Gary Blalack, Bill Hewlett and Levon Fitts. Better make your plans to attend the full production of "The Petrified Forest" later this month.

A reception for the six colleges competing in the Drama Festival was held at the SUB Thursday night. Skits and entertainment were provided by each college; and Frank Dunlap, a former HCJC student and now DE teacher at high school, gave a program involving sound effects. Gainesville Junior College's Lagniappes, a group of 10, gave several enjoyable selections from musical comedies. They did not compete in the festival, however.

Of course, I guess most of you have heard that the Jayhawks won the championship, and thereby became eligible to participate in the National Juco Tournament in Hutchison, Kans., next week. The Hawks downed New Mexico Military Institute, Odessa College and San Angelo College to take the title and become one of the 16 teams competing in the national meet. Monday afternoon the Hawks wrestled a 78-68 victory over the cadets of NMMI with Tom Garrison scoring 19 points. Tuesday night they took on Odessa and came out with a sizeable win, 84-64. Wednesday night was the big night, however. The boys played the same team they played in the finals last year, San Angelo; but the score was reversed. In what was probably the most exciting game of the whole year, the Jayhawks managed to overcome the San Angeloans by one point, 75-74. (Last year the Angelo team beat us 82-81.) A number of students went to Amarillo for the game and saw the Hawks boosted to national competition. The team leaves for Kansas and will return next Sunday with the national championship we hope! Good luck, boys!

The Circle K Club has reorganized under the leadership of Dr. Melvin Crawford, and it now has a purpose. Members intend to work up a variety program to tour the high schools in the area. Among the acts to be presented will be trampoline, music (both vocal and instrumental) and one-act plays. Joyce Sheen, of the Lass-O Club will tour with the group to present several selections on the piano.

Phi Theta Kappa members discussed plans for attending their national convention in San Antonio in April at their last meeting. Delegates going will stay at the Hilton Hotel in San Antonio, and will attend meetings of the convention on Friday and Saturday, April 22-23. They plan to leave Thursday, April 21 and return the following Sunday. The Pajama Dance set for April 1 was also discussed.

Tomorrow is Ranch Day at HCJC, as declared by the Student Government Association; so deck out in your western finery, pardners, and join the roundup. There will be a dance in the SUB Monday night, make your plans to attend.

BSHS Holds Government Day Elections

Elections were held last week in senior high for city and county officials who will participate in Government Day Saturday, March 19. Those students elected to fill the city commissioners posts were Richard Atkins, Charles Driver, Benny Edwards, Barbara Moelling and Emmett Morgan.

Judy Pierce will be county commissioner of Precinct 1. Ray Hiltbrunner is county judge and Delores Howard will be district clerk.

Wayne Williams was elected city attorney, Mary Locke Crosland, city judge and Mack Green, city engineer. Jack Ed Irons will be Chief of Police, Janie Phillips, city manager and Jackie Clark, tax assessor.

There were ties between Wayne Griffith and Ross Reagan for county commissioner of Precinct 3; Gary Pickle and Alvin Hiltbrunner for county attorney; Robert Prichard and Marvin Simmons for sheriff; Ronnie Parrish and Mike Worley for district attorney; and Joe Dell Hudgins and Wayne Vaughn for district judge.

FORSAN

Junior-Senior Banquet Held

By ELLABETH STORY

The long awaited night arrived and was a big success. The juniors' banquet for the seniors, which was held Saturday night in the high school gymnasium, was one of the nicest banquets that has ever been held in Forsan. The juniors, seniors, and their guests traveled to the South Pacific for the night. Everyone entered the island on a pier which faced a gigantic volcano. The volcano smoked all night and looked as if it might have erupted any minute; but we were fortunate. It never erupted. The ocean tides were flowing upon the island from the north. Everyone enjoyed the meal on a patio under the evening sky and stars. There were palm trees and grass huts scattered over the island, along with the sea shells that had floated in on the waves of the ocean.

The tables in the patio were decorated with smoking miniature volcanoes and candles. The candles served as lighting for the evening meal in the South Pacific. Music from the movie "South Pacific" entertained the guests.

The guest speaker for the enchanted evening was Dr. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College. Rodney Allison, a junior, served as Master of Ceremonies. Sammy Barnett, also a junior, gave the welcome to the seniors and their guests, while Velda Bates, a senior gave the response from the seniors. Gerry Harkrider gave the invocation. The future of the senior class members was given by Cleta Newsom, a junior. It was surprising to find out what the juniors thought the seniors would be ten years from now. Jan Fields, a senior, presented the senior class will. Each senior willed to a junior one of his valuable characteristics. Jerry Pike, a senior, presented the history of his class. There were only six seniors who began school together in the first grade at Forsan. Jay Creighton, a junior, closed the delightful evening with the benediction.

The Forsan girls' volleyball team was host to Robert Lee Monday night. Forsan won both A & B games, so that gave us one district win. Tuesday night Forsan traveled to Water Valley. They also won these games. That win gives Forsan two wins and no losses in district volleyball play.

Everyone keep March 27 in mind! Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Forsan High School choir will present a concert. There are to be three sections. The sections are to be made up of Negro spirituals, songs by Rogers and Hammerstein, and western songs. This report was made by Mrs. Tom Spell, choir director at Forsan. Everyone make plans to attend this presentation March 27.

TAKE

Barbara Ritter, a sophomore, and Pauline Graves, a senior, who were elected unanimously to the team, the girls on the honorable mention list were Joan Davis and Frances Earnest both seniors and both made the all-district teams last year. Doc Reeves, a junior, made the boys teams and also was all-area. Ellis Smith, a senior, and Dewayne Richters, a junior, were on the honorable mention list. Both boys and girls teams were second in the district.

The girls volleyball team played Runnels Junior High twice this week. Three games each time and won all but one of them. Hope you do that well in district competition, girls!

Aptitude tests were given to the sophomores and freshmen on Tuesday and Wednesday. These tests are given to rate the ability of CHS students along with those in other schools all over the nation. CHS usually does fairly well.

There aren't too many news items from CHS this week. If all the reporters from the various organizations and classes would please turn in their news to me each week it would be of great help to me.

Teaching Machines Are Tested

CINCINNATI — School children may be relieved of doing a lot of homework by teaching machines described at the National Education Association's audio-visual department convention here.

James Finn, professor or education at the University of Southern California, said the machines are being used experimentally now and might, in time, become standard classroom equipment.

"One type of machine exposes a question in a window," he said. "You fill in the answers on a blank and pull a lever. Your answer slides under a glass window and then the answer appears next to it.

"Another type of machine is multiple choice. You press the proper button, and if you're right you get a green light. You get a red light if you are wrong. The machine tells you why you are wrong, or why your answer is right."

Finn said the machines may do away with such things as drill in subjects like arithmetic and spelling. He said the machines would also do away with assigned problems at the end of the chapter.

Finn, president - elect of the N.E.A.'s department of audiovisual instruction, said that once a student has decided on an answer and fed it to the machine, it is impossible to change it.

Hi-Y Roundup Is Set April 25

The annual Hi-Y Round-Up has been set for April 25th in Big Spring, according to Alice Coker, president of the Tri-Hi-Y.

The matter was discussed at the regular meeting of the club Monday.

Glenda Washington gave the devotional and the club song was led by Kenny Kay Stephens and Darla Moore.

The program was planned by Jane Samplen, and Jo Polone gave some beauty tips.

Meeting was ended with the repeating of the Y pledge.

RUNNELS

Dance Marks End Of Twirp Week

BY PAT LOUDAMY

This week, March 7-11, was Twirp Week at Runnels. Girls carried books and brought treats for the boys. The termination of Twirp Week was the dance held Friday night. A party was also held in the school cafeteria.

If you should happen to see a choir member running around with a box of Nestles King size candy bars, have a heart and dig in your pocket—60 cents deep, and buy some candy. The choirs are holding a candy sale, officially starting March 21 and some of the energetic members are starting a little early.

The Runnels eighth and ninth grade choir members were awarded red and white letters. These were given on a basis of personal performance and attendance at rehearsals.

The ninth grade track boys participated in the track meet held at Wink, Saturday.

Friday the FHA Executive Council met to complete plans for National FHA Week, which will be April 3-9. During the week there will be special daily activities. Tuesday, April 5, will be Color day with each Future Homemaker wearing red and white ribbons, denoting the color of the national organization. Also, on Tuesday there will be an FHA assembly program, at which time honorary memberships will be awarded to chapter mothers and others who have been especially helpful during the year. Certificates for Junior Degrees will also be presented to all girls who have earned their degree. All outstanding girls will receive special recognition.

On Saturday, March 19, an area FHA meeting will be held in Odessa. The Runnels FHA is to attend this meeting.

The volleyball girls were defeated by Coahoma Thursday night. High scorers for Runnels were Sara Beth Homan, Jane Womack, Andrea Askins, Linda Fields and Iva Daves.

Remember, the Roundup will be on sale Wednesday; this edition will contain three photographs.

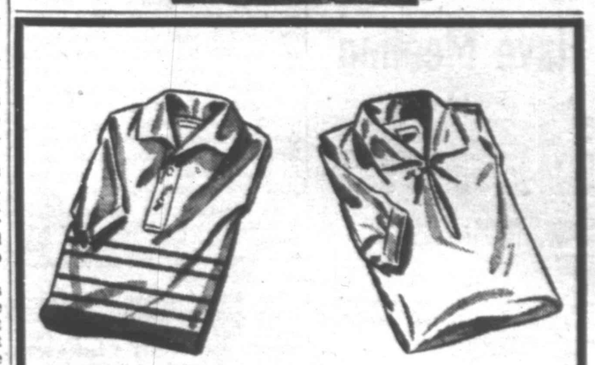

'Bye for now. See you next week.

'Beach' Is Kramer's Finest Film Yet

Stanley Kramer, whose past productions have opened up many untouchable areas of motion picture entertainment, now presents the biggest, boldest and most important film of his career.

"On the Beach" continues through Tuesday at the Ritz. The film was presented a short while ago to the peoples of all the continents of the globe in an unprecedented world premiere. Kramer's superb directorial achievement is based on Nevil Shute's best-selling and widely-discussed novel.

The story of "On the Beach" is told in clear, uncompromising terms. Nuclear war has just destroyed the Northern Hemisphere. An American submarine, cruising in the Pacific, puts in at Australia, which continent has not yet felt the effects of radiation, but it too is slated for extinction. We then see how life in Melbourne is effected by this ghastly legacy. Step-by-step we are taken through the emotional heights of hope and depths of despair. There are thrills provided by a wild, reckless auto race in the last desperate sports contest on earth. And there is suspense of the most tingling type as the submarine again searches the northern lands for some sign of life only to come upon the most terrifying scenes in movie history — a barren, deserted lifeless city of San Francisco.

The cast is uniformly fine in each characterization: Gregory Peck, as a submarine commander displays a strong two-sided, tormented individual. Mourning his wife and family, who have been killed in the atomic war, he fights the attraction he finds in an Australian girl; Ava Gardner gives a truly poignant performance as a woman who tries to drown her fears in dissipation; Fred Astaire is tremendous in a straight dramatic role as a disillusioned scientist; Anthony Perkins creates a tenderly moving portrait of a young married man who has to talk his wife into killing herself and their child; Miss Anderson, as his wife, reveals a fine dramatic talent in an extremely demanding role.

Editing, music, special effects camerawork and John Paxton's excellent adaptation of Shute's novel to the screen, are all of unusual, high quality.

To Villian Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Louis Jourdan says he is happy to be playing a dope peddling Mafia member of his next picture — "Brotherhood of Evil" — because the role will prevent his being type cast as a handsome heartbreaker.

'Anniversary' Is Spiced Cake

"Happy Anniversary," Sunday and Monday at the Jet is a frank and funny exploration of a subject which most married couples — including the one in the film — try to shove under the carpet when the kiddies (or the in-laws) are around: whether or not they were intimate before the wedding bells rang out.

Adapted from the spicy, sexy, occasionally rowdy Broadway comedy hit by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov, "Happy Anniversary" stars David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor as the couple above-mentioned, and co-stars Carl Reiner, Loring Smith, Monique Van Vooren and Phyllis Povah. The large featured cast is headed by Elizabeth Wilson, Patty Duke and Kevin Coughlin.

A Fields Productions presentation, "Happy Anniversary" was produced by Ralph Fields and directed by David Miller. Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov wrote the script in an adaptation of their own play "Anniversary Waltz."

GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA AND YUL BRYNNER
Title Roles in 'Solomon and Sheba'

'Solomon' Among Most Spectacular

One of the most spectacular motion pictures ever produced, "Solomon and Sheba," opens Saturday at the Ritz Theatre through United Artists release.

Produced on an epic scale, "Solomon and Sheba," a King Vidor production was filmed in Technicolor and Technirama on location in Spain at a cost of better than $6,000,000 thus making it one of the most expensive pictures ever made. It is an overwhelmingly lavish film in the most opulent of Hollywood traditions.

Yul Brynner and Gina Lollobrigida are starred as Solomon and Sheba. George Sanders, as Adonijah, the vicious, intriguing brother of Solomon, is co-starred with Marisa Pavan as Abishag, the Israelite maiden whose unrequited love for Solomon brings about her tragic death. Heading the supporting cast are John Crawford, Jean Anderson, Jack Gwillim, Harry Andrews, Laurence Naismith, Finlay Currie, Maruchi Fresno and many others. In addition, the cast is composed of thousands—quite literally—of extras and bit players.

"Solomon and Sheba" was directed by King Vidor, one of the leading names of "spectacle" pictures.

An Edward Small presentation, "Solomon and Sheba" was produced by Ted Richmond. Anthony Veiller Paul Dudley and George Bruce wrote the screenplay, using the materials of the Bible for all elements of the story. Freddie Young, the noted British cinematographer, was chief cameraman. Mario Nascimbene composed the musical score.

A freight train forty cars long was required to transport the company, crew, equipment and the props of "Solomon and Sheba" from Madrid to the Los Monogros desert near Zaragoza, Spain, for battle scenes in the film.

Among the spectacular scenes on the call sheets of "Solomon and Sheba" were the enormous battle-sequences between the Israelites and the Egyptians, a full-scale pagan orgy, Sheba's eye-opening bath, the stoning of Sheba by outraged Israelites, the destruction of the great temple by lightning, scenes in Solomon's harem, and an assassination scene in which one of the attackers goes up in flames.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Many people have often heard it said that "one side is as bad as the other" when it comes to wartime atrocities. It's just that folks prefer to believe the worst about their enemies and ignore their own faults.

Tales are told, for example, by ex-Gyrenes of knocking out gold teeth from dead Japanese, or an occasional prisoner.

These tales, unfortunately, have a basis in truth. War makes beasts of men, stripping from them the veneer of civilization until, as one poet expressed it, "all you have left is what you really know."

The elemental man is the fighting man, and in the necessities of war, he will do as he feels he must.

This is the theme exploited by "Yesterday's Enemy," an unusually frank and ruthless war film, the title of which gives some impression of still another theme—that today's enemy is tomorrow's ally.

The plot centers around a British Army unit early in World War II who commit atrocities on innocent villagers in Southeast Asia, in the name of necessity, and of how the Japanese, when they gain the upper hand, repeat the eternal sin.

It is British-made and it is finely rendered in all phases. Acting, direction photography— as well as the message—are superb.

* * *

"The Tingler" repeats the alliance of film maker William Castle and actor Vincent Price.

Price is his usual suave self as a polished villain, and Castle, as usual, comes up with a gimmick designed to frighten the audience. The Tingler accompanies the film across the country, and roams about the theatre during performances, and it will decidedly startle anyone who's not expecting it.

Just what the Tingler is, I'll leave to the investigations of members of the audience—the braver ones, that is—since I was introduced to the wee beastie at a recent reception, and he can fool me no longer.

"The Tingler" is good in its class, and the younger set should get a thrill out of it.

* * *

The glittering spectacle, "Solomon and Sheba," comes up next week, at which time we'll have something further to say. Suffice it now that the Biblical epic has some real spectacular scenes, whether or not it's very Biblical.

'The Tingler' Features New Fright Device

The talented team who shocked audiences with "The House on Haunted Hill" have combined forces once again for "The Tingler," a Columbia Pictures' release Wednesday through Friday at the Ritz. Vincent Price is the star and William Castle, the producer and director of "The Tingler," a new screen entertainment in which, for the first time in film history, the audience actually plays a part through the startling use of a new terror technique. . . Percepto.

Price, a master of movie menace, plays a doctor who proves there is an evil force, "The Tingler," which exists in all humans in a dormant state but which can be activated by fear. Only screams will quiet the menace.

"The Tingler" was written for the screen by Robb White. It is a William Castle production for Columbia release.

'Enemy' Tells Truth About War Crimes

"Yesterday's Enemy" is one of the most controversial war dramas ever filmed. Starring Stanley Baker, Guy Rolfe, Leo McKern and Gordon Jackson, the Columbia picture in Megascope screens Sunday through Tuesday at State.

"Yesterday's Enemy" tells the truth about the crimes of war, crimes committed in every battle and under every flag.

Baker plays a tough young officer who, in the fearful holocaust of the British retreat in Burma, orders the killing of innocent villagers in order to convince a Japanese informer that this, too, will be his fate, if he doesn't spill his guts about vital military information. Once the man has talked, Baker orders his death.

When the Japanese successfully counterattack, the positions are reversed. This time, it is the British who face the threat of immediate execution unless they reveal what they know. Once again, Baker must make a fateful decision.

Rolfe, as an Army chaplain, and McKern as a war correspondent, are unable to accept Baker's war-born philosophy and tactics. Jackson is seen as a sergeant who goes all the way for his officer.

Peter Newman wrote the screenplay from his own hit play. Val Guest directed the Hammer Film production for producer Michael Carreras.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Our high school drama group is branching out.

Saturday, they began a weekly radio program over KBST. They rounded up their own advertisers, wrote their own ad copy and produced their own show, with only a little advice from nearby elders.

Bedford Forrest, drama instructor and sponsor of the thespian group, thinks the experience will be good for his students. This way, he said, the students will discover if they have a future in radio. And even if it turns out they and radio don't mix, at least they'll have discovered one of the things they aren't cut out for.

The programs will feature sports, news, personalities and sometimes perhaps some radio drama, but the central theme always will be the student and the school.

The program is heard each Saturday from 7:30 to 11 a.m.

"My Three Angels" is next for the Court Jesters.

About 25 turned up for readings for the senior play, which will feature 10 roles. Eight of these are major parts. Forrest had a difficult time in the casting, for there were more than 10 good talents seeking the roles.

"My Three Angels" is the hilarious and racy yarn of three convicts on Devil's Island who turn their peculiar talents to a good cause—murdering a tyrant uncle, fixing up the nephew with the family fortune, and helping his sweetheart land her man.

The play, as originally staged for its successful Broadway run, was a bit risque for many parents of high school kids, but Forrest has done some revising. It has not been made simon pure, for this would be a dishonest characterization of the slightly less than pure "angels" who use a poisonous snake to get rid of the tyrant.

But any scenes, phrases or words that are not necessary to plot or characterization have been deleted. Forrest conned a visiting parent who just happened to drop in, and set her to work helping to draw the line of censorship.

The cast includes Edward Day, Lida Fiveash, Denniece Nicholson, Jonita Daniels, Doug Davis, Wayne Vaughn, Johnny Cone, Jim Skinner, Bob Pierce and Nelson Clemow.

If ever you've suspected writers aren't quite like people, here's proof:

Writer's Digest, the Bible of the typewriter - and mountain-lodge clan, sponsors a yearly short story contest. There are always long lists of prizes, and the conventional awards of cash, typewriters, cameras, etc., are interspersed with treasures that only a member of the clan could appreciate.

The second prize, for example, is a diving lung, complete with expert instruction and trip to the Caribbean for five days — plus food, compressed air, underwater writing equipment, and other items no writer could do without if he wants to try to break into the Post with the world's first underwater interview.

(How do you get the stamps to stay on the manuscript?)

Further wading through assorted prizes turns up mountain climbing equipment, since that particular sport (via Hemingway) is the best way to become a best - seller; and the services of a professional photographer for a day (gender not specified).

But the last two prizes apparently are for the boobies. A deed to a square foot of the Gettysburg Battlefield, whatever that might be useful for. And "a live wire." The editors didn't elucidate beyond that simple phrase.

A congratulatory telegram, or a do-it-yourself electrocution kit?

Terry Patterson opened another one-man art show Friday.

She took 40 paintings to Sweetwater for a two-week exhibition sponsored by the Sweetwater Art Club, and made a talk on modern trends in art to her sponsors.

Terry also was on a recent local program of the Big Spring Music Club, where she showed 30 of her works. Her speech at that time made comparisons between inspirational points in music composition and painting.

TILLMAN R. BRADDOCK

Navy Recruiter Assigned Here

Senior Chief Electrician's Mate, Tillman R. Braddock, U. S. Navy, has been assigned duty with the Big Spring Navy Recruiting Station. Chief Braddock comes here from the anti-submarine aircraft carrier, USS Antietem, which is based at Pensacola, Fla. He entered the Navy in April, 1944, and since that time, his Navy duties have carried him to all parts of the world.

Chief Braddock and his wife, Alice, have one child, Gary, age 4. They intend to establish permanent residence in Big Spring.

Up to now, there has been only one Navy recruiter in Big Spring, and consequently, to cover the six county district, it has been necessary to close the office some days. In the near future, the Navy recruiting office will be open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Chief Braddock and a former Big Spring Navy recruiter, Chief LaFon, were shipmates on the USS Antietem.

Chief Braddock joins Signalman First Class Coghlan, in inviting all young men to come in and talk over their military obligation. The office is located in the post office basement.

DEAR ABBY

EXTRAORDINARY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a father who said, regarding his retarded child, "I am proud that God singled me out to care for one of his exceptional children."

The fact that this father has found psychological adjustment for his tragedy is commendable, but I think feeling proud is carrying it to the extreme.

I object. Furthermore, I am very much concerned about the increasing abuse and misuse of the word "exceptional" for the retarded child. It causes much confusion and unless checked will change the true meaning of the word.

EXCEPTIONAL as defined by Webster means, "uncommon, superior, extraordinary, remarkable." It implies something to be desired!

To try to confuse the retarded child, who is below normal in intelligence, with the truly exceptional child is not only ridiculous but dishonest.

Will you, Dear Abby, please help us preserve the true meanings of words and discontinue using the word EXCEPTIONAL when referring to the retarded child?

ENLIGHTENED

DEAR ENLIGHTENED: You ratified the wrong? cage! The feelings of one parnet are more important to me than the true meanings of all the words in Webster's dictionary. Only the good Lord (and the parents themselves) know the chronic heartache endured by parents of retarded children. And if these parnets derive the tiniest bit of comfort from using the word exceptional instead of retarded—who am I to object? And who are you?

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old boy loves sports of all kinds. This year he made the freshman basketball team. His Dad and I go to all the games. His Dad was a very good athlete himself at one time so he gave the boy some helpful suggestions on what he was doing wrong. (He didn't do it in a rough or mean way to hurt him.)

Our son asked us to please not come to any more games. He says we make him nervous and he makes too many mistakes.

We are very put out and want to know if we should stay away or go anyway and explain that we are going because we are proud of him. WORRIED MOM

DEAR MOM: The boy is probably not playing as well as he could because he is self-conscious Stay away. When he starts turning in performances of which HE is proud, he'll beg you to come.

DEAR ABBY: My son (he is 19) wants to bring his girl friend home from college some weekend. She will be staying two nights. Is it all right for her to stay at our home? We have a guest bedroom. My husband and I will be here at all times. Another thing, should my son pay for her bus ticket? They are not engaged and we have never met her. Rush your reply, please.

MOM IN DOUBT

DEAR MOM: Under the circumstances, it is proper for the girl to stay at your home. She should, however, buy her own bus ticket.

Adult Classes Are Registered At Y

"Enrollments are limited," Hardy said, "and we suggest you enroll early for the classes of your choice." Further information concerning the courses may be obtained at the YMCA office, 411 Scurry.
