Oakley Defense Claims Insanity

DEFENDANT'S FATHER SAYS HIS SON WAS OF UNSOUND MIND

(By The Associated Press)

LINDEN, May 3—The defense relied on expert medical testimony today to support its contention that Paul Oakley, itinerant preacher, was insane when he choked Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old cripple, to "drive out the devil" he believed responsible for her condition.

Among the witnesses expressing the opinion that the lean back woodsman was of unsound mind was his father, J. J. Oakley, who described his son as a religious fanatic whose mind had become weaker as he grew older. He mentioned evidences of insanity in other members of the family.

The father told of the 20-year-old defendant's adopting uncanny religious beliefs about a year ago and without ordination, preaching at various communities in the forested hill country around Linden. He said his son claimed to have supernatural powers to heal the sick and had declared his prayers had been answered by "voices on high". He prayed every night and fasted for long periods.

Paul Oakley was on trial for murder in connection with the child's death last December 10 during strange religious rites at the Clayton cabin in an isolated community west of Linden. His brother, Coy Oakley, 25, who claimed to be a "disciple," and the child's father, Sherman Clayton, 30, also have been indicted for murder.

State witnesses told of hearing wild shouting and singing at the Clayton cabin the day the child died. George Wilson, a neighbor, went to investigate but said Coy Oakley called him a "devil" and refused him admittance.

Wilson said he saw Paul Oakley bending over a bed with his hands on the child's throat. The father was in the room praying. Later, Wilson testified that Paul Oakley came to his home and said he didn't choke the girl, "the devil did it." The girl had been crippled by an attack of infantile paralysis.

Judge George W. Smyth of Westchester children's court, who originally ordered the operation, said the mother was happy and satisfied.

SENATE OKEHS COMPROMISE PROPOSAL

CENTRAL WEST TEXAS, PANHANDLE - PLAINS GET DISTRICTS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 3. — The Texas legislature today passed finally a bill to redivide the state into 21 congressional districts. Action became final when the senate unanimously voted for a compromise bill which the house had approved yesterday.

The three new districts would be given to Bexar county, the Panhandle-Plains area of northwest Texas and the ranching country of central West Texas.

One District Changed

In addition, a partially new district was carved in East Texas through the transfer of Galveston county from an East Texas district to the South Texas district now represented by J. J. Mansfield of Columbus.

Under the reapportionment based on the 1930 census, Texas was entitled to 21 congressmen instead of 19. The last legislature failed to agree on a redistricting bill and three congressmen were elected at large in 1932.

SENATE VOTES TO SUBMIT JOB ISSUE

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—The senate today voted to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the state to issue $20,000,000 in bonds for unemployment relief. The vote was 22 to 6. The resolution now goes to the house.

If 100 members of the house approve the resolution it would be submitted to the electorate on August 26.

21 Votes Necessary

The proposal mustered only 18 votes when it was put to a test in the senate yesterday. The vote of 21 senators was necessary to send it to the house.

MAP PLANS TO AID INDUSTRY

LEADERS WILL LAUNCH DRIVE DESIGNED TO END DEPRESSION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3—Mobilization of industry in an anti-depression drive through relaxation of the anti-trust laws so as to end ruinous competition and indiscriminate wage cutting is to be proposed to President Roosevelt.

A committee of congressional and industrial leaders, headed by Senator Wagner (D-NY), was reported today to have virtually completed a plan designed to stimulate industry by permitting self-regulation under proper government supervision.

As industry's contribution to the war on stagnated business, James H. Rand, head of Remington-Rand company, said he was ready to propose a supplementary plan under which the president could call for the reemployment of 3,000,000 men immediately.

The committee has been sifting scores of proposals for helping business in a series of secret meetings. The plan now nearing completion is to be placed before Mr. Roosevelt this week with the idea that it might be offered as a substitute for the thirty-hour-work-week legislation now pending in congress.

HIGHWAYS AND SEA SCOURED BY POLICE

MUFFLED SCREAMS IN CAR ARE HEARD TO INTENSIFY HUNT

(By The Associated Press)

HARWICHPORT, Mass. May 3.—Police today pushed their way into the heavily wooded and fog - wrapped deep hole section of Cape Cod in a search for some clue to the kidnapers of ten-year-old Margaret McMath, who was enticed from her school room yesterday.

Meanwhile other detachments of state police swung onto the highways of central Massachusetts pursuing a report that muffled screams had been heard from an automobile, answering the description of that used by the kidnapers and speeding in the direction of Hartford, Conn.

Screams Heard

The search of the central Massachusetts highways was inspired by a report from Charles M. Harrison of Boston. Harrison said that while he was en route to Boston he passed an automobile answering in some respects a description of the kidnapers' car and that he was attracted by the sounds of muffled screams from the inside. This, he said, was about 3 a. m., the incident occurring on the southwest cut-off of the Worcester turnpike, about ten miles from Northboro. This route ultimately would lead to Hartford, Conn., and New York.

Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. McMath and granddaughter of two prominent Detroit men, was enticed from her room in the Harwich Center grammar school yesterday.

Carefully Planned

The kidnaping was apparently carefully planned. It was executed by three men, one described as a large "black" negro and the others whites.

The grammar school from which Margaret was decoyed stands near the ocean and many clung to the belief the kidnapers had taken their

Tudor Sentence Is Affirmed On Appeal

A two-year penitentiary sentence imposed upon A. L. Tudor, Slaton grain and coal dealer, whom a 99th district court jury last December found guilty of murdering Dr. S. H. Adams, pioneer Slaton physician, has been affirmed by the state court of criminal appeals in Austin, the Associated Press reported today.

Appeal was reinstated in the case of Etta Black, convicted in county court here of adultery, and the case was reversed and remanded. Fine of the woman, an evangelist, had been set at $150.

Submission on affidavit to withdraw appeal of Ruth Kane, who was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for murder in Motley county, was had by the state criminal appeals court. Mrs. Kane was tried in 110th district court in Floyd county, where a jury last October found her guilty of murdering J. A. Cunningham, aged rancher.

Enrollment For Camps Is Begun

YOUNG MEN APPLY TO RELIEF COMMITTEE FOR WORK TODAY

More than 35 young men between the ages of 18 and 25, had applied to the Lubbock Work Relief committee up to noon today for enrollment in the Citizens Conservation corps, Joe Wilson, in charge of the work, announced.

Six from over the county will comprise the first group of the county's quota of 78. It has not been decided how many will go to camp from the city of Lubbock in the first group of six, but Mr. Wilson is of the opinion the city's quota will not exceed three.

Crowd Grows Steadily

Before the office opened at 1312 Avenue G, shortly after 8 o'clock, a dozen or more men were waiting outside. The crowd grew from time to time and by 9:30 o'clock there were over 30 on hand.

"We are accepting applications only from those registered with the RFC or whose fathers have been registered for the past month or more," Mr. Wilson explained. "The Lubbock County Work Relief committee will select the six men comprising the first group, and those selected will be notified by mail. Other selections probably will follow in subsequent calls.

To Make Examinations

"Physical examinations will be made by Sergeant James G. McDermitt, army recruiting officer here. We are not registering any from Slaton, Idalou, or Shallowater. Those registrations are being made at those points."

Half a dozen out-of-town youths were here, most of them from Slaton. They were advised that the work was being done in that city. A number of youths who had not registered with the RFC were also turned down.

In making applications, the majority of the men said they wanted money from their wages to be sent to their mothers. One youth said he would send back $20 a month, two or three $27.50 and the rest $25 a month.

Applicants, for the most part, had less than a high school education. Several reported finishing the ninth grade and one the tenth. The remainder said they had completed fifth, sixth and seventh grade work. Almost no trades were represented. Several said they could drive trucks and had done so and one man added he was a fair automobile mechanic. Last work done by most of the men, aside from RFC work, was boli pulling last fall, they said.

FARMERS WILL RECEIVE AID

MORGENTHAU TO RUSH LOANS WHEN FARM PROGRAM PASSED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3—Provisions for special loans to debt-burdened farmers faced with the prospect of losing their homes will be the first portion of the farm mortgage bill administered when congressional action on the entire Roosevelt farm program is completed.

It was learned today that Henry Morgenthau, jr., farm board chairman and governor designate of the Farm Credit administration which will begin functioning May 27, has completed arrangements of giving quick aid under this provision. It is separate from the bill's authorization to refinance up to $2,000,000,000 in farm mortgages through issuance of federal land bank bonds whose interest will be guaranteed by the government.

Advance Authorized

The special aid provision authorized an advance of funds by the Reconstruction corporation. The senate bill proposed that this advance be limited to $200,000,000, the house $300,000,000. A compromise at $250,000,000 may be approved by congressional conferees who are expected to adjust such differences in the measure this week.

These funds, as now provided, will be lent to farmers on either first or second mortgages upon the whole or any part of his farm property, real or personal, including crops. The amount of the mortgage together with prior indebtedness cannot exceed 75 per cent of the value of the property nor will a loan of more than $5,000 be available to any farmer. Interest will be at the rate of 5 per cent with no payment on principal the first three years.

Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner, has arranged to establish agencies in each of the 12 federal land banks to handle the special loans.

FINAL ACTION IS TAKEN BY CONGRESS

MEASURE GIVES WIDE CURRENCY POWERS TO ROOSEVELT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3—The house of representatives today approved the administration inflation program as already passed by the senate.

Comparing with the impressive 64 to 21 senate vote last week, the representatives polled 307 in favor and 86 opposed to the broad currency powers to be vested in President Roosevelt. This completed congressional action on the inflation set-up.

The roll call followed immediately on a voice vote to differ with the senate on amendments made to the massive farm relief bill, sending the measure to conference with the other branch for compromise on differences.

Opposed By G. O. P.

Six hours of debate were concluded last night on the inflation proposal, opposed by the Republican leadership.

Democratic inflationists at every turn trounced the drastic efforts of the Republicans to defeat the proposal, already adopted by the senate.

The inflation proposal gives President Roosevelt broad powers to expand credit and currency in a five point program as follows:

Permits the federal reserve system to buy $3,000,000,000 in government bonds, against which currency may be issued.

Authorizes the president to have $3,000,000,000 in United States notes issued.

Can Change Content

Gives the president power to change the content of the gold dollar up to a fifty per cent reduction.

Authorizes the president to change the ratio of the silver dollar and provides for free coinage of silver.

Hollywood is simply wild about this Soap Why?

SCIENTISTS EXPLAIN: It contains precious elements skin itself has...and must have to stay YOUTHFUL!

HOLLYWOOD! Beautiful movie actresses! 694 of them!

Have you ever wondered why 686 of these 694 important actresses, the loveliest in the world, use this beauty soap—have used it for years?

• • •

If you've ever stopped to think of it, you realize a sad fact about your skin. Year by year, imperceptibly, it ages.

But did you ever hear that, as your skin grows older, it loses something? That something goes out of it?

The Secret of Youthful Skin

Skin, science has found, contains certain precious elements. These elements, found in youthful skin of every type, keep it fresh, smooth, young . . .

The gradual loss of these elements is what makes skin get old looking, dry. But scientists give this welcome and all-important message—you can now check the loss of these precious elements.

This Soap actually contains Precious Elements found in skin itself

For years women everywhere have proved how regular care with Lux Toilet Soap makes their complexions fresher—more youthful—more attractive.

And now scientists attest the fact that Lux Toilet Soap, with its complete freedom from harshness, its ready solubility and its content of such precious elements, is an unquestionable aid in keeping the skin young looking . . . softly smooth.

Small wonder that Lux Toilet Soap is used by nearly all of the famous screen stars, is the official soap in all the large Hollywood film studios.

A Younger Looking, Lovelier YOU

SCIENCE tells you that pure, safe Lux Toilet Soap actually contains precious elements all skin must have to look youthful. These elements are found in the skin itself—an abundance in fresh, youthful skin, less in skin that is growing old, unlovely.

HOLLYWOOD has proved through years of daily use this soap actually keeps every type of skin younger looking.

MILLIONS of women (and men) everywhere confirm Hollywood's experience.

Won't YOU prove the beautifying effect this fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap can have on your skin?

BEGIN TODAY—Win new Beauty!

"It has made MY skin look younger"

"What the Hollywood stars say about Lux Toilet Soap is exactly what I've found in my own case," writes Miss Evelene Miller of New York. "I've been using this soap for three years and I find it has made my skin much younger looking."

CAVERN BEING DEVELOPED

HUGE LONGHORN CAVE IS BEAUTIFIED AND IMPROVED

BURNET, May 3. (AP)—The gigantic Longhorn cavern, a Texas state park, located on Highway 66 midway between Burnet and Marble Falls, is the scene of one of the largest amusement developments in the state. A large sum of money is being expended on development and beautification of the cavern and the 500-acre surface park surrounding the entrance.

Dr. Frank Ernest Nicholson, author and explorer, who last July charted and explored some eight miles within Longhorn cavern, has returned here after resigning from the Amazon exploration expedition to resume his duties as spelologist for the Texas state parks board. Further development on the cavern will be under his direction.

New Path Provided

Development now in progress consists of a new trail leading some three miles further into the earth, providing a smooth, electrically illuminated path to the brink of the subterranean lake. Spectacular lighting and sound effects are being perfected in the big room—a chamber approximately 1,500 feet in length. This newest trail will more than double the area within the cavern which was opened last Thanksgiving.

Contracts have been awarded for the erection of a two-story administration building which will house a tea-room, lounges, museum and offices. A 66-foot right-of-way is being cleared for a new road through the cavern park from Highway 66.

A golf course, swimming pool, air port and rodeo grounds are likewise to be completed in the near future.

The cavern and the surface park are owned by the state of Texas and operated under supervision of the Texas state parks board.

Roosevelt May Go To London Parley

LONDON, May 3. (AP)—Special dispatches received today by British newspapers from the United States, saying that President Roosevelt may attend the world economic conference, considerably surprised members of the mission of Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large.

It was said that one of the foreign statesmen who recently went to Washington to see Mr. Roosevelt urged him to come to London on the ground that it would add to the prestige of the conference.

BODY IS FOUND

ADA, Okla., May 2. (AP)—The body of J. L. Barringer, 74, a pioneer ranchman, was found hanging from a limb of a tree in a pasture on his ranch seven miles southwest of Ada Tuesday. Members of his family said he had been despondent because of ill health.

Survivors include Mrs. Britton Turner, a daughter, of Roswell, N. M.

Pike's Peak was named after Zebulon Pike, but it was known to white men as early as 1700, long before his birth.

How She Lost 18 Lbs. Of Fat

"Will say in regards to Kruschen: I took it to reduce. I lost 18 pounds after using one bottle and feel fine. Just bought one more bottle to-day and expect to lose 18 more pounds. I now weigh 148 and feel fine." Mrs. Harry Robinson, Akron, Ohio. (Jan. 6, 1933).

Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides losing ugly fat SAFELY you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness — constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes.

Public Debt Gains Over Previous Year

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—The nation's public debt has increased three billion dollars in the last year.

On April 30 it stood at $21,441,209,176 compared to $18,596,695,430 on the same date a year ago.

The debt increased $78,744,899 in April.

The government's deficit for nine months of the 1933 fiscal year totalled $1,585,625,498 at the end of April as compared with $2,334,105,142 for the similar period of the previous year.

DON'T WORRY OVER A POSSIBLE SALT SHORTAGE; TEXAS SUPPLY PLENTIFUL

GRAND SALINE, May 3. (AP)—The most confirmed pessimist should not feel concern over a possible shortage of salt as changes and additions are being made at the local salt plant and mine designed to increase production by 50 per cent. Even with increased production, it is estimated that the available supply of salt here cannot be exhausted in less than 2,400 years.

Belguim, once the salt center of Europe, required more than 1,000 years of mining to deplete its salt domes. The salt industry of Texas promises to be more enduring inasmuch as the largest known salt dome in the world is located here.

The Grand Saline deposit is over two miles in length and one mile wide. Core tests show its surface is underlaid with 99 per cent pure white rock salt to a dept of about 3,000 feet. It is estimated the dome contains over 20 billion tons of pure salt.

At present salt is being mined at a maximum dept of about 800 feet through sixteen by sixteen foot shafts. The salt is ground to various degrees of fineness below ground and comes to the surface ready for shipment.

Experts say salt will be produced from the Grand Saline dome long after the oil and gas resources of Texas have been depleted. Unless a synthetic substitute is developed salt mining should take first place among Texas' natural resources. In the ranching country a part of the overhead expense is buying salt for the cattle. That expense is curtailed to a minimum here for there is always plenty of waste salt at the mine that may be hauled away free. Home ice cream makers shave the budget by taking enough salt in one trip to make ice cream for a season or more.

At present average prices for salt, the potential value of the Grand Saline dome is over 400 billion dollars, and this estimate it is said, needn't be taken "with a grain of salt."

New Cattle Brand Recorded In Hale

PLAINVIEW, May 3. (AP)—A new cattle brand, the first in recent years, has been recorded in Hale county by W. A. Hefner, farmer.

The brand is an "H" on the left hip, and was the 149th to be filed under that heading. The first brand under the H's was filed April 19, 1889 by Henry Green, whose brand was "HJCY," and whose address was Epworth, a pioneer community which at that time was a contender for the county seat.

GAINES COURT DATE

SEMINOLE, (Special)—Spring term of the Gaines County district court will open May 17 with Judge Gordon B. McGuire Lamesa, presiding. First jury panel will meet May 19, the second May 22, and the third May 29. G. H. Nelson, Tahoka, district attorney, will meet with the grand jury at its opening session May 17.

Becton Meets Barton To Open County Ball Tournament

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

If the Texas Tech Matadors get anywhere against the Simmons university track and field athletes in their dual meet here tomorrow night, Coach Pinkey Lowrey's lads must do considerably better than they did to beat the West Texas Teachers here on April 21.

• • •

Comparison of the records shows Simmons to have excelled in nearly every event the time and distances done by Tech when the Matadors won 82 points to the Buffs' 32 in the local meet.

• • •

But Coach Lowrey says his men have improved, and since the meet with West Texas was the first the Matadors had entered in three years, there was plenty of room for improvement.

• • •

In their most important meet of the season, Simmons defeated the Daniel Baker Hill Billies, 72 to 42, winning eleven first places. Tech took twelve first places in its meet with the Buffaloes, and a comparison of the summaries of those two meets is of interest at this particular time.

• • •

Creighton of Simmons won the century dash in 10.4, while it took McElroy of Tech two-tenths of a second longer to do the event. Creighton also won the 220, in 22.8. McElroy's time when he defeated Morgan of West Texas was 23.3. This guy Creighton ran in the relay team which defeated Daniel Baker with a time of 3:35. Tech's time two weeks ago was 3:43, but good enough to win. We suggest that Coach Lowrey let the Lubbock High school relay team substitute for Tech in that event. The Westerners did the distance in 3:34 the other night to beat the Matador quartet in a special stunt at the football game.

• • •

Delving further into the summary comparison, we find that Sheppard of Simmons defeated Cheatham of Daniel Baker with a time of 2:12 in the 880. One of the Austin boys at Tech won the event in the West Texas meet in 2:10, which is some solace. Here's another instance that is in favor of Tech. It required 26 and 8-10 seconds for Andrus of Simmons to win the low hurdles. Vannoy of Tech finished at the heels of Rudolph of West Texas whose time was 25.6 seconds.

• • •

Wranosky of Simmons lost the mile run but the Billie who won did it in 4:50.5. C. Brown of Tech won it in 4:57.5 against the Buff miler. One of the bigger advantages Simmons has, according to the summaries, lies in the discus throw. Pee of Simmons tossed the lid 132 feet 6 inches, while the best that Juicy Owen could do to beat the Buffs was 108 feet. Pee also is something of a trouble maker in the Cowboy backfield.

• • •

The Cowboys excel in another throwing event, but not very much. McCollum tossed the javelin 149 feet, and Fisher of Tech threw it 148 feet against West Texas. Simmons lost the shot put event, and so did Tech, so there's no way of checking up here. Andrus runs the high hurdles in 15.8, and Tech was second in the event here, won by Rudolph of West Texas in 16.4.

• • •

Priddy must do something besides sprint the last 220 in the two-mile marathon to beat Shepherd of Simmons, whose time for the run is 10 minutes 58 seconds. Priddy has a time of 11:19.5.

• • •

But maybe Lowrey is right and the Matadors have improved. Fans are sure to see some hot contests tomorrow night at the football field. It'll be worth more'n a quarter to you.

• • •

And don't forget the baseball tournament that's going on out at City Park. It's only a county tournament, but sometimes you see the best of baseball in tournament play. There are two games every day, starting at 1:30 o'clock. Bleachers have been erected back of home plate or you can sit in your car—if you're early enough.

• • •

Special invitations are extended to out of town fans. If you live in Lubbock county, your community is represented here by a baseball team, so come on and root for it. It's anybody's tournament, for the teams are fairly evenly matched. You get a special rate when your team plays, too.

SLOT MACHINE FORECASTS

FRANKFORT - ON - MAIN, Germany (AP)—A weather predicting automat has been added to the thousand-and-one varieties of slot-machines.

TWENTY CLUBS TO COMPETE IN LUBBOCK

SLATON PHILLIPS 66 TEAM ENTERS; WILL PLAY NEW HOPE

The eleventh hour entry of the Phillips 66 baseball club of Slaton swelled the total of teams in the Lubbock county baseball tournament to twenty, it was revealed this morning.

Although the Slaton entry arrived shortly after deadline time yesterday, it was postmarked on time and the entry was accepted, making it an even number of teams.

To Meet New Hope

New Hope, one o fthe late entries, will play the Phillips 66 club Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a first round game. New Hope formerly was scheduled to meet the winner of the Liberty-Canyon game.

The tournament was to have started at 1:30 this afternoon with Becton meeting Barton in the first game, Liberty and Canyon meet at 3:30 o'clock in the second game.

All games are to be played at City Park, north of Lubbock. Prizes will be awarded at the end of the tournament to winners of first, second and third places.

Ends May 12

The tournament will end, according to the schedule, a week from Friday when the winners of both brackets meet for the championship. A consolation game will be played to determine third place.

Two games will be played daily throughout the tournament.

Bleachers Are Installed

Bleachers borrowed from Texas Tech college have been erected back of home plate at City Park, assuring comfortable seats for fans. Automobiles may be parked behind the screens which run past first and third bases and occupants may see the games from the cars. There will be no extra charge for driving cars into the park.

Tournament officials last night said that popular prices of 25 and 15 cents would apply. Fans from towns represented in tournament play will be admitted for 15 cents. All others will be charged 25 cents for the day's double-header. Children under 14 years of age will be admitted any day for 15 cents.

Games will be started promptly at the times designated. Failure of a team to appear 30 minutes before scheduled game time and to be ready to play at the appointed time will lose the game by default.

Here's The Schedule

First round pairings, as revised yesterday, and the times of games, is as follows:

Wednesday, May 3—1:30 o'clock: Becton vs. Barton; 3:30 o'clock: Liberty vs. Canyon.

Thursday—1:30 o'clock: Idalou vs. County Line; 3:30 o'clock: Lubbock Rambiers vs. Monroe.

Friday—1:30: Grovesville vs. Martin Drug of Lubbock; 3:30: Union vs. Woodrow.

Saturday—1:30: Slide vs. Bunker Hill; 3:30: 131st Field Artillery of Lubbock vs. Shallowater.

Sunday—1:30: Estacado vs. Acuff; 3:30: winner Liberty-Canyon game vs. New Hope.

Second round games will start Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the winner of the Becton-Barton game meets the winner of the Idalou-County Line game.

The two-game daily schedule will be resumed Tuesday.

FIFTY-TWO CARS ENTERED IN RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3. (AP)—Fifty-two racing automobiles, to be piloted by leading drivers of the dirt and brick tracks, were listed today as candidates for starting positions in the annual 500-mile race May 30 at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

At speedway offices it was said late entries to be received by mail may swell the total to 60.

Only the 42 speediest cars will roar over the starting line of the 2 1-2 mile brick course Memorial day, however. Each must average at least 100 miles per hour in qualifying trials which this year have been lengthened from 10 to 25 miles.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

MAD DOG KILLED

AMHERST, (Special)—A mad dog believed to have bitten several other dogs was killed at the Bowman farm by Bobby Walling and Dock Bowman. The animal chased several members of the Bowman family to the top of the plows they were using and then, instead of attempting to climb up and bite them, ran into the ploy with its head. Several dogs were believed bitten at the farm.

NINETEEN THOROUGHBREDS LISTED IN PROBABLE KENTUCKY DERBY FIELD ON SATURDAY; LADYSMAN STILL FAVORED

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3. (AP)—Nineteen thoroughbreds are listed in the probable field for the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby Saturday. W. R. Coe's entry of Ladysman, Pomponious and Pompoleon probably will be the favorite to win the Churchill Downs feature.

Isaiah Runs Second

The probable field includes Isaiah, Charley O., and At Top, which ran second, third and fourth to Head Play respectively. Charley O. left the post last and closed a big gap to finish third while Isaiah was rapidly tiring. Charley O. probably will be third choice for the Derby at approximately the same odds as the Catawba stable's entry of Mr. Khayyam and Good Advice.

Other probable entries are Sarada, Broker's Tip, Kerry Patch, Trace Call, Inlander, Dark Winter, Silent Shot, Fair Rochester, Spicson and Strideaway. Silent Shot and Fair Rochester, good mud runners, may not start if the track is fast, but converscly, a fast track may result in entry of two or three western eligibles not now considered as probable starters.

Col. E. R. Bradley, whose horses have won three Derbys, says he is convinced Ladysman will win this year's renewal, and that his own entry, Broker's Tip, will run second. He did not pick a third horse.

Other turf experts who watched yesterday's race were unanimous in belief Ladysman will have considerable trouble defeating Head Play. Though not discounting Charley O.'s excellent performance in starting last and finishing third, they said Head Play had much in reserve at the finish and was not extended at all during the running.

MISSIONS WIN OVER TULSA

SAN ANTONIO GOES TO THIRD PLACE; BUFFS RETAIN LEADERSHIP

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The new first division Texas league arrival is San Antonio. After hovering around the cellar for several games, the Missions started an upward trek that Tuesday landed them in third place.

The Missions had a tough time winning their seventh straight game but they finally beat Tulsa, 7 to 5. San Antonio had to clout fifteen hits off Posedel and Burns to win after the Oilers had pounded Kowalik from the mound and routed young Elton Walkup. A three run rally in the eighth finally won for the Missions.

Buffs Hold Lead

Houston retained first place, a game and one half in front, by winning from Dallas, 3 to 1. Ed "Caveman" Greer made his supreme bid for a no-hit and no-run game and had it until the first of the ninth.

When Greer went to the mound in the ninth, needing to retire three batters and cash in on a hitless and runless contest, the spectators were on edge. Bubber Jonnard, first up, grounded out. Joe Vance, pitcher, went in to bat for Pitcher Whitehead. On the first pitch, Vance placed a perfect bunt down the third base line and beat it out. Morehart and Sam Langford followed with singles to score Vance.

Galveston Holds Second

In a hurling duel between Orville Jorgens and Vernon Kennedy, the Galveston Buccaneers beat Oklahoma City, 2 to 0, to retain second place.

Jorgens allowed six hits, all singles. Kennedy allowed four. He lost the game on Goldberg's single, a hit batsman, Molesworth's sacrifice and Moses' double which all occurred in the same inning.

The Fort Worth Cats broke their losing streak by taking a 6 to 3 game from the Beaumont Exporters. The Exporters outhit the Cats, 11 to 8, but could not bunch them for enough runs to beat the pitching of Chambers.

CINCINNATI IS BIG SURPRISE

PICKED TO REMAIN IN CELLAR, REDS SHOW AMAZING POWER

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Not the least of the season's major surprises has been the showing of the Cincinnati Reds, generally picked to start and finish in the National league cellar.

Against the strong western clubs, the Reds made a record that was little short of amazing. Paced by Sunny Jim Bottomley on the offensive side in their home sector, cutpointing both the champion Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals. Had they been able to discover the necessary combination against the Pittsburgh Pirates they would be right up with the leaders now. As it was, they were forced to accept five successive beatings from the Buccaneers.

Turn Back Braves

Opening their eastern invasion yesterday with Bottomley on the shelf, the Reds summoned up enough power to turn back the Boston Braves and their star southpaw, Ed Brandt, 2-1. Home runs by Leo Durocher and Ernie Lombardi accounted for both Cincinnati runs.

The Cubs and the Cardinals put on big batting sprees at the expense of the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers respectively. Chicago hammered out 15 hits, including two homers by Gabby Hartnett and one by Riggs Stephenson and won 11-0 as Lon Warneke blanked the Giants with three hits. St. Louis hit almost as frequently and effectively while Walter Beck did some wild pitching for the Dodgers and the result was a 13 to 4 victory for the Cards.

Pittsburgh pounded Flint Rhem for four runs in the opening inning but submitted tamely thereafter while the Phillies got to Larry French in the second, scoring five runs in a burst that was capped by Chuck Klein's homer with two aboard and won 6-5.

Tigers Beat Yanks

The first and last teams in the American league standing went down in closely contested games. The Detroit Tigers, held to six hits by Charley Ruffing, bunched four in a row in the seventh inning for two runs that gave them a 3-2 decision over the league leading New York Yankees. Joyner White's pinch hit drove in the deciding tallies. The St. Louis Browns had to go ten innings before George Blaeholder settled his own mound duel with Dusty Rhodes. With Irving Burns on third, Blaeholder laid down a neat bunt that brought in the run that gave St. Louis a 2-1 victory.

The Philadelphia-Chicago and Washington-Cleveland games were postponed.

Georgia leads all states in the production of turpentine and rosin with Florida second.

GOLF LEADERS ENTER OPEN

FEWER PLAYERS WILL COMPETE THIS YEAR; QUALITY IS HIGH

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Closing of entries for the National Open golf championship has revealed a falling off in the number of competitors but not in their quality.

Somewhere between 800 and 900 players, including all the leading stars of the game, had formally signified their intention of competing when the deadline was reached at 6 p. m. last night. Officials of the United States Golf association indicated that later entries also might be accepted but even so the total number was expected to fall short, perhaps by nearly 200, of the 1012 total last year.

Qualifying Round Set

Except for the 30 players exempted by reason of their showing in the 1932 open at Flushing, N. Y., all contestants will have to take their chances in the sectional qualifying round to be played on 21 scattered courses throughout the country, Monday, May 15.

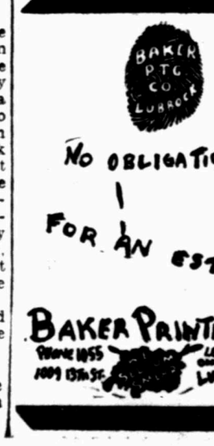

The exempt list includes the British and American Open champion, Gene Sarazen, and seven of his American Ryder Cup teammates as well as many other leading stars but there still remain a number of top-flight golfers who will be forced to undergo the 36-hole qualifying test. Among these are Horton Smith, ninth member of the Ryder Cup team; Al and Abe Espinosa, Johnny Golden, Joe Turnesa, Jim Barnes, Al Watrous, Bill Mehlhorn, Johnny Farrell, Willie MacFarlane, Charley Guest and Willie Klein.

Sarazen and his Ryder Cup mates, Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Olin Dutra, Paul Runyan, Denny Shute, Craig Wood and Ed Dudley will go direct to the championship proper, to be played at Chicago June 8, 9 and 10.

Among the other 22 players exempted from the qualifying round are the amateurs, Johnny Goodman and Johnny Fischer, and such leading professionals as Phil Perkins, Bobby Cruickshank, Wiffy Cox, Billy Burke, Harry Cooper, MacDonald Smith, Tommy Armour, George Von Elm and Charley Lacey.

RECORD SHATTERED

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Baseball's longest endurance record has been shattered. After umpiring 1,710 consecutive ball games, Cy Pfirman was too ill to work the Giants-Cubs battle here yesterday.

MATADORS AND COWBOYS TO MEET IN TRACK MEET HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

A stiff, overtime workout this afternoon in every event will conclude the intensive preparation program for the Texas Tech track and field athletes who meet the Simmons university Cowboys here tomorrow night.

Coach Pinkey Lowrey's pupils should make the Cowhands hump for everything they get if consistent training and practice means anything. Yesterday's drill was a hard one, with today's a bit tougher.

Tech's second track and field meet this season will start at 8 o'clock Thursday night under the football floodlights at Matador Field. They won their first meet, 85 to 32, a couple of weeks ago at the expense of the West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes of Canyon. That was the first meet in which Tech athletes had participated for three years.

Times and distances were slow and short in the first meet, but if the Matadors hope to do much against Simmons, they'll have to do much better, Coach Lowrey says his team has improved.

Veteran Athletes Coming

Simmons, which conducts track and field as a regular spring sport, will bring a team of experienced athletes to Lubbock. Comparison of records shows the Cowboys to be faster in nearly all races and stronger in the field events, but not so much so that Tech could offer plenty of competition with a degree of improvement.

The meet was transferred from Abilene in order to give Tech two meets at home this season. Tomorrow night's will be the final one here. The Matadors will meet the Buffs in a dual meet at Canyon and will participate in the Border conference meet at Albuquerque.

RETIRES DECREPIT CRAFT

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany (AP)—Germany's naval program for 1933 starts with replacement of four 30-year-old battleships with new 10,000-ton "vest pocket" battle cruisers.

On April 1, the Deutschland will be put into commission and about the same date the substitute for the old Lothringen will be launched.

Contracts for the Braunschweig substitute were signed last October and the replacement for the Elsass will be laid down next year, all this as part of the 1931-1936 building scheme.

It costs New York $19,095 daily to light the city.

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OPENS INTENSIVE DRIVE

AMARILLO, May 3(AP)—A membership drive is being pushed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in order that its members may be registered by the time the annual convention is held in Big Spring May 11, 12 and 13.

President Wilbur C. Hawk is directing the campaign in the 13 affiliated counties, and is personally in charge of the Amarillo drive. Each city that avails itself of the services rendered by the regional organization is budgeted for its proportionate share of memberships.

RFC Work Cited

Hawk said the $2,850,000 of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds which was brought to West Texas cities "was obtained and distributed without any expense to anyone except the chamber of commerce." He added the distribution of relief funds had cost the organization about $10,000, and the time of most of its executive staff during the last six months.

"Not a cent of the money allotted to West Texas escaped from the channels of business, benefitting both the unemployed and merchants," Hawk said.

"In addition to this service," he continued, "we organized 117 committees which were instrumental in slashing at least $15,000,000 from county, city and school expense budgets, which meant a proportionate saving to merchants and industries."

"SIDE WHEELER" PLANE GAINS LIFTING, DRIVING FORCE FROM "TRICK" TILT GIVEN TO BACKWARD-WHIRLING WINGS

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for the American paddle-wheel airplane reveal flight mechanisms suggesting that men may hope to improve on the birds, bees and other insects in flying flexibility.

The plane is to work like a side-wheel steamer. It will have no propeller. There will be a more or less ordinary fuselage and probably three wings on each side, of nearly normal pattern, but slightly undersized.

Wings 'Chase' Each Other

These wings are set on a paddle-wheel axis. They will move with much the same appearance as a biplane if its two winks were chasing each other around on a cartwheel.

The wings can do one other thing that no paddle-wheel does. They can "feather," that is, tilt their leading edges up or down. In this additional motion lies the great break from present flying limitations.

It promises vertical rising, standing still in air, flying forward with almost the speed of a present-day plane and descending safely with power off.

Results Called Promising

Since 1927 secret model tests have been under way. The results are so promising that the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics has taken over the research. H. H. Platt, Philadelphia mechanical engineer, is the inventor. His progress is said to exceed that of Dr. Adolf K. Rohrbach, who, working independently, has developed plans for a similar plane in Germany.

How these paddling American wings can grip the air is explained by Dr. Alexander Klemin, professor of aeronautics, Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University.

The simplest example is a plane flying 100 miles an hour forward. Its paddle wheel revolves backward at 200 miles an hour. Its wings are set with their leading edges facing the rear, and the wings will be upside down at the top of the wheel.

But during that topmost moment the wing's leading edge will be standing still, because it is going backward as fast as the plane is moving forward.

Bottom Wing Speedy

On the contrary, the leading edge of the wing at the bottom of the revolution will move forward at 200 miles an hour. Cutting the air at that speed, it can be "feathered," or tilted, slightly upward in exactly the classical tilt of present fixed wings.

At that moment this bottom wing will be "lifting" vertically with big force. If, just before it reaches this bottom position, it is feathered properly, it exerts a forward push.

At other positions the wings can be tilted for other "component" effects, all fitting into control of flight. There are scores of these adjustments, and if all refinements are counted probably thousands of them. Cams control them automatically.

Prof. Klemin says that theoretical considerations indicate stability in all positions of fight. Even at the same speed of revolution of wings on both sides the pull of each can be made different.

Brake Function Possible

In rescent with power off the paddles should operate like windmills to hold back the plane and keep her level.

It is planned that the pilot may connect his wings to the engine drive on the automobile clutch principle.

Professor Klemin says the plane should fly with wings revolving forward, but that at present slightly better performance is indicated for reverse revolution. The wings would have two-for-one dimensions, that is a wing 20 feet long would be about 10 across. Three wings, or at most four, are indicated for each paddle.

The International Automotive Engineering Congress will be held in Chicago, Aug. 28 to Sept. 4.

ROOSEVELT TO GO TO FAIR

TO OPEN EXPOSITION IF HE CAN GET TO CHICAGO IN TIME

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—President Roosevelt is trying to arrange to get to Chicago to open the world fair there in June; and he also plans to spend most of the summer away from Washington.

His trip to Chicago is only tentative, at present, because he has agreed to go to Annapolis on June 1 to deliver diplomas to the naval academy graduating class.

May Be Delayed

The fair is scheduled to open that day; but it was said at the White House that if that were postponed a day or two, the president might make the western trip.

His plans for the summer remain unsettled because of uncertainty on the time that congress will adjourn, although pressure is being brought to get through the legislative schedule during the first week in June.

Mr. Roosevelt wants very much to see his son John graduate at Groton school in Massachusetts early in June. He also has an invitation to visit Rutgers university to receive an honorary degree.

If congress gets through in time, he probably will visit both Groton and Rutgers and then will go to Campobello, his mother's camp near Eastport, Maine, for a couple of weeks before returning to his home in Hyde Park to stay through most of the hot season.

Mr. Roosevelt wants to utilize the cruiser Indianapolis, which is based near Baltimore, for a part of his journey up the New England coast. He probably will sail on it to Marblehead, Mass., and then will take the schooner Amberjack II for the rest of the trip to Campobello.

His four boys probably will make the trip on the Amberjack and they will rough it as they did on a sea jaunt last year during the campaign.

Egg tarnish can be removed from table silver by rubbing with moist table salt.

Tech Steer Places First In Contest

The dressed carcass contest at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show in March was won by a Hereford steer, bred and fed at Texas Technological college and entered by the school, W. L. Stangel, head of the college animal husbandry department, was informed Tuesday by J. B. Davis, general manager of the show.

The animal dressed 70.6 per cent, the second highest in the history of the contest at the show. In 1932 Tech also won the contest, with 69.2 per cent, on Sir Roscoe Wilson, donated to the school by Roscoe Wilson. Sir Diamond III was this year's champion.

In the letter advising the local school of its winning, Mr. Davis enclosed the premium award. He congratulated the local school on winning the event.

The best dressing record at the show was won by a 4-H club calf in 1930.

Of the 28,000,000 automobiles in the United States, 30 per cent are said to have a value of not over $25 each.

Is Remembered

The entire estate of the late Wilson Mizner, playwright, has been bequeathed to Florence Atkinson, pretty Hollywood artist and former actress, because of a true friendship and platonic love that was theirs for 15 years. "He was the best and dearest friend I ever had in my whole life," Miss Atkinson declares.

LUBBOCK COUNTY'S STAND ON DRY LAW DETERMINED 32 YEARS AGO BY 61 MEN

If and when the state votes to legalize sale of beer, Lubbock county will remain dry as a result of an election in which 61 persons voted 32 years ago.

Of the voters who marked ballots March 2, 1901, 57 favored prohibition; four were opposed. The commissioners' court, after canvassing the returns, wrote into its minutes:

"It being found that a majority of votes cast at said election were in favor of prohibition, it is the order of this court that the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be absolutely prohibited in Lubbock county, except for the purposes as set forth under the regulations specified in the revised statutes of 1895, laws of the state of Texas, title No. 69, until such time as the qualified voters of said Lubbock county, may at a legal election held therein for that purpose, decide otherwise."

The voters have not decided otherwise, and thus the Lubbock county of 1901 (there were 293 residents here in 1900) determined the wet or dry status of the county in 1933. Today the county has an estimated population of 40,000.

The voters prohibited "sale of intoxicating liquors." Congress has voted that 3.2 beer is non-intoxicating, and a question which eventually may appear in the courts here will involve whether 3.2 brew is intoxicating.

Under a proposed constitutional amendment to legalize beer, communities dry before state prohibition would remain without the brew unless citizens voted for a change. Under a bill passed last week by the senate, commissioners courts could call local option elections any time after July 1.

The legal sale of beer, however, would be prohibited until and unless the voters approve it at a special statewide election, tentatively set for August 26.

W. S. (Uncle Billy) Clark, who was an election judge in 1901, recalls events leading to local option here.

"Lubbock had had a saloon, but it died because it had no patronage," Mr. Clark said. "Then, a man from Snyder came up here scouting to see about putting in a saloon. Word got around about what he was planning to do, the election was called, and liquor was voted out before he moved his saloon here.

"One of the men who voted against prohibition then was a trucker, a sort of a wag."

Court minutes for February 12, 1901, show that the election was called on that date:

". . . it being deemed and thought expedient by said court, each member of said court concurring in the motion of said court (on their own motion) to order an election to be held at the regular voting places in the said county of Lubbock in said state to determine whether or not the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in the said county of Lubbock . . . it is therefore ordered by the commissioners' court . . . that an election be held . . . the second day of March A. D., 1901."

Mr. Clark was presiding judge in precinct No. 3, John T. Beal in No. 1, George L. Beatty in No. 2, and I. A. Boyd in No. 4.

W. D. Crump was county judge, and commissioners were F. L. Phenix, R. C. Burns, J. H. Clark, and H. D. Beal.

Lubbock Man Once Bledsoe Neighbor

Fred Hines, 1630 Nineteenth street, foreman of the pressroom of the Avalanche-Journal, is a former neighbor of Samuel T. Bledsoe, who was elevated to the presidency of the Santa Fe system Tuesday.

"I used to know Mr. Bledsoe in Ardmore, Okla., back in the 90's," Hines said. "He was a neighbor of ours for a number of years.

"Mr. Bledsoe was a fine man and a good lawyer. He was a member of the firm of Ledbetter and Bledsoe for years. Ardmore was a tent city when we went there in the early 90's. It was in Indian Territory and it certainly was wild."

"I went to school with Charlie and Joe Bledsoe, younger brothers of S. T.," Hines continued. "For two years I worked at the Bledsoe farm near town. Many a time S. T. gave me ten cents for washing his surry. They did not have automobiles in those days and almost everybody drove a surry.

"The Bledsoe family came to Ardmore from Kentucky.

"There was lots doing in Ardmore in the 90's. Bill Dalton was killed there, by a man named Bill Everhardt, I think. It was common for a man to be killed every day."

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's army for the fiscal year has been fixed at 55,000, exclusive of commissioned officers. This is about the same as before the 1932 Sao Paulo rebellion. The forces include 30,000 conscripts, 8,000 enlisted privates and 17,000 non-coms and musicians.

Thought For Today

For the poor shall never cease out of the land: therefore I command thee saying, thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to the needy, in thy land.—Deuteronomy 15:11.

The charities that soothe and heal and bless, lie scattered at the feet of men like flowers.—Wordsworth.

Bank Deposits

News that Congress and the White House have at last come to an agreement on a scheme for federal guarantee of bank deposits is sure to be hailed enthusiastically by bank depositors all over the country. Unorthodox though it may be, it will probably win the support of leaders in business and finance, as well.

It is a truism that business won't recover until confidence is restored; and the very cornerstone of confidence must be complete trust in the soundness of one's bank account. The American people have had their fingers pretty badly burned in the last year or so, and if a good bit of their trust has evaporated it is hardly surprising.

This new measure should restore that trust. Once let every depositor know that his money is safe, and we ought to get a restoration of confidence which would aid trade revival.

A guarantee of deposits, however, must be accompanied by more stringent supervision and regulation than in the past. The government cannot subsidize bad banking.

Highbrowed Eskimos

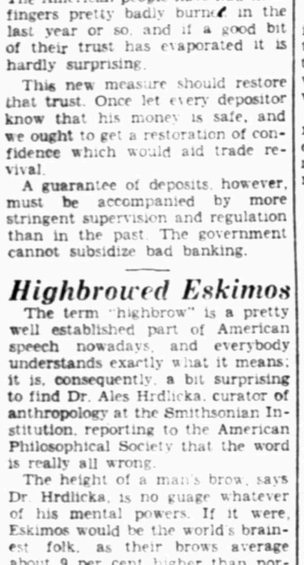

The term "highbrow" is a pretty well established part of American speech nowadays, and everybody understands exactly what it means; it is, consequently, a bit surprising to find Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of anthropology at the Smithsonian Institution, reporting to the American Philosophical Society that the word is really all wrong.

The height of a man's brow, says Dr. Hrdlicka, is no guage whatever of his mental powers. If it were, Eskimos would be the world's brainest folk, as their brows average about 9 per cent higher than normal. A low, retreating brow can house a brilliant brain, and under the loftiest and most imposing of domes there can exist a complete mental vacuum.

Just what we ought to do about this isn't quite clear. "Highbrow" is too good a word to discard, even if it doesn't really mean anything. Probably we shall go right on using it—all of us, that is, except the highbrows.

The 16 to 1 silver proposal might work, but it sounds like a long shot.

Flapper Fanny

Jugglers' dates usually turn out to be hand-to-hand engagements.

That Girl on Broadway says the new deal is just what we need as long as there isn't a joker in the deck.

* * *

The best thing about having a wide vocabulary is it permits you to change words when you can't spell the one you started to use in the first place.

* * *

APPLICATIONS for enlistment in Mr. Roosevelt's Citizens Conservation corps were being accepted in Lubbock county today. Just how it will work out, nobody knows, but at least the project is in the nature of trying to improve present conditions.

The labor camps, in which American youths will be lodged during the 6-months period of their enlistment, are located in various parts of the country—the closest here being located in Palo Duro canyon, northeast of Canyon and southeast of Amarillo.

Youths enlisting from here, however, will be sent to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, and from there will be dispatched to the various camps.

* * *

Reforestation has long been a hobby of the President's, cropping out while he still was governor of New York.

The youths enlisting in the conservation corps will be put to work chopping down dead trees and clearing forests to the point where the better trees may grow to full height. They will also plant new trees where older ones have been chopped down, or have died.

The reforestation idea is swell—in Pennsylvania, Washington, Oregon, parts of Georgia and, perhaps in other localities. But as far as the Panhandle-Plains region is concerned it doesn't mean a thing.

In order for us to get anything out of the Roosevelt project, we're going to have to have something more than reforestation.

* * *

THE Plainsman thinks it's a fine thing to let these young men go into the conservation corps for they'll get good training, both mental and physical, good discipline and will be fed and taken care of in a way to improve their morale.

But instead of bearing down on reforestation alone, why not have other forms of government improvement for those areas that have no reforestation to do?

* * *

The planting of daisies in Palo Duro canyon isn't going to do any good for this section aside from furnishing work to a lot of fine, young Americans.

So why not turn the government's time, money and talents to finishing up our needed systems of state and federal highways?

* * *

MORE boys can be given work in less time on Panhandle-Plains highways than they can in Palo Duro canyon.

Further, when the highway work is completed it will be permanent and will be of actual benefit to hundreds and thousands of people who, in this territory, must look largely to highways for the solution of their transportation problems.

* * *

It's all right, where it's practical.

But a few more paved highways—and the filling in of the gaps of others—will mean a lot to us if we can get them.

(And The Plainsman knows of letters which have been written on this subject to Vice-President John Nance Garner and to Dr. Amon G. Carter, of Fort Worth but now in Washington, who's going to do what he can to get us highways instead of pine trees.)

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says lotteries are considered wicked because the losers don't even have a stock certificate to show for their investment.

* * *

The oldfashioned man who used to base all his decisions on a patent medicine almanac now has a granddaughter who pays 250 bucks to get herself psychoanalyzed.

* * *

IT sure is great news, it sure is great news that a number of Lubbock county farmers and ginners have held over some of last year's cotton and have received the benefits of the recent rise in the market.

While The Plainsman never would have advised anybody to hold his cotton until this spring, he's glad to see the home town boys—and all the other South Plains fellows—make a little more than they would have made had they sold out last fall.

* * *

There are more white horses and more twins than anybody has any idea of—not that there is any connection between the two.

When The Avalanche-Journal agreed with the Palace theater to help publicize the Godino twins and to give a free ticket to all twins applying at this office, we figured we'd get about a half-dozen or ten sets of twins in on the party.

Between 50 and 55 sets of twins had been registered up to the time this was written at 9 o'clock this morning—which is something.

Where do the white horses come in?

Well, the next time you make a cross country trip, start counting white horses when you leave Lubbock and keep count until you get where you're going.

There's a lot of them, too. You'll be surprised.

Bureau Of Foreign And Domestic Commerce, Cherished Pet Of Hoover, May Find New Functions Under The "New Deal"

BY MORRIS GILBERT

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce has been looked upon as an overgrown prodigy, which was likely to become a stepchild in the new administration. This cherished pet of the Hoover regime has been doomed—so Washington thought—to the cinders and the coal scuttle.

But that thought is now changing. The bureau may find new uses and functions under the New Deal.

Under Mr. Hoover, the bureau had the simple and pleasing purpose of selling American goods to foreigners. If an industrialist, engaged in the manufacture of pickle forks, wanted to learn about the market for pickle forks in Senegambia, the bureau found out for him. It did virtually everything but deliver the goods.

• • •

Then Trade Waned

It was a very laudable work. Unhappily, it was only laudable as long as there was money abroad to pay for American goods. There have lately been indications that this was no longer so, to any great extent. And American industry, not having yet reached the point where it would be happy to receive buttons, wampum, carved knucklebones or knotted string in lieu of money, had less need for the bureau.

It began to be felt, indeed, that the bureau was shadow-boxing.

With the New Deal's entrance, however, a new idea of trade has come in too. It is based on the simple fact that in order to sell, one must also buy.

It is on that principle that the bureau may be expanded in purpose—though not in personnel. There are plenty of commodities which America doesn't make but which she needs. If the bureau can institute reciprocal service between foreign producers as well as buyers and American buyers as well as producers it may be a great help in the prospective era of reciprocal trade agreements.

• • •

Present Duties

Even today the bureau performs certain services which are generally valuable despite restricted international trade. It has, for instance, a division devoted to the gleaning and dispensing of the latest and most accurate information on the subject of foreign tariffs.

Legally, the bureau—as an offshoot of the Department of Commerce—is the disseminator of information on world trade conditions. Such information would be available, of course, to the State Department, but is is doubtful whether the State Department could properly supply it in the simplest and clearest form, due to diplomatic reasons.

• • •

And there should be room for the special—and expanded— work which the administration is now contemplating for the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The division of finance and investment already supplies expert information in this field and most likely will be continued, as its work is valuable.

The "commodity division" does the same thing for virtually all American industries — automotive, textile, foodstuff, canned goods, chemicals, machinery, minerals, boots and shoes, specialties, etc.

Total costs of running the foreign section of the bureau are comparatively small. With 57 officers in the field and some 175 in Washington, it costs only $1,200,000 a year or thereabouts.

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

LUBBOCK MAN IS OPPOSED TO LOBBYING

Dear Plainsman: Now that we have settled the cow, hen and kid problem, we should look into this lobby matter as indicated by the fistic combat at Austin.

Quite a bit was made as to whether or not the legislator was kicked while he was down. Is it anything unusual that the man who is down shall receive kicks? Eternal vigilance, it is said, is the price of liberty and I think we should do something about this thing of running down to Austin every time an interest has an axe to grind. Why don't they let our legislators alone so they will have time to think of the folks back home and the interest of the state at large?

This recent fight brings to our attention quite forcibly the pressure constantly being brought to bear upon legislators by first one group and then another to obtain favorable consideration at the hands of the lawmakers. I'd like to add this to the list of those things to be regarded as one of the causes of the depression.

If the legislators were always wise enough to discern when self interests exceeds itself and becomes selfish interest on the part of those groups that seek favorable consideration, and if they were always strong enough to refuse these demands where they lead to injustice or to undue advantage over the public interest, then a more equal balance might be maintained in the opportunities and privileges by all the different groups of our society.

But with a manufacturing or a moneyed interest gaining an unequal advantage through tarrifs, etc., a lever as it were, over the other groups and members of society, then it naturally inspires these other groups as a matter of self preservation to seek through organization and demands of legislation special advantages favorable to their interests.

We speak of our resources and opportunities as being unlimited and in a way they may be so, providing there is strength to remove all opposition. But we have seen that our medium of exchange is not unlimited (unless made so by sufficient inflation) and we have seen our lands and houses and available mineral resources so monopolized and controlled that the wealth from these resources flow through only a limited number of hands.

Against all this the unorganized members and groups must take what is handed out to them. Decentralization of industry may play an important part in solving our difficulties. But it seems to me the decentralization of ownership and control of natural resources, or else government ownership, must ultimately be attained.

If individual initiative is to be preserved even under our present system, then there must be a more even balance between individual effort in its competition with combines. Efficiency experts have keyed individual effort up to the last notch but it is too slow so the only course left is to put a speed regulator on the combinations of capital. This is being attempted through various forms of graduated taxes.

That our legislators might be left free to solve these problems without being subjected to high-pressure interference, I suggest that lobbyists not only be registered but also be branded with a West Texas branding iron so that the public too should know who they are, and fair warning given to all as to their purpose.

I would say to the public that I looked in on The Plainsman the other morning and found him to be the most innocent man one could ever meet.

V. P. Hadsell,
Lubbock.

A Real Thriller!

ATHENS, Ga.—Allison Westbrook's automobile plunged down a 40-foot railroad embankment. He was pinned helpless in the wreckage on the track. It was dark but he could hear the roar of an approachng train.

Westbrook's father managed to flag down the engineer just before the locomotive reached the imprisoned man. Westbrook was pulled from the debris unhurt.

Who Painted It?

CHARLEROI, Pa.—Annoyed by complaints, Constable Joseph Andrews announced a "cleanup" of moonlight spooning parties on country lanes in his bailliwick.

He set out in his automobile and passed summonses to ten couples. Nobody showed up in court. Then he happened to look at his automobile. Across the back, undiscovered, was painted a neat sign:

"Never mind summons; only a joke."

ADRIAN, Minn. — Robert Mitchell, local high school track sprinter, isn't going to worry much from now on whether his hair is combed when he's running—at least he's not going to carry any combs with him.

While out for a sprint he fell. In his back pocket were two combs and a match. The impact fired the match. The combs caught fire. The side of his leg was burned seriously.

DARLING FOOL

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONNIE O'DARE, beautiful, poor and 20, is in love with DAN CARDIGAN, heir to one of the local fortunes. Dan professes to love her but is often neglectful. When she needs a friend CHARLES EUSTACE comes to her ad. Monnie believes SANDRA LAWRENCE, in Dan's own set, is trying to win him from her. BILL, Monnie's older brother, plans to marry ANGIE GILLEN, who works in a candy store, as soon as Angie gets a divorce.

KAY O'DARE, 16 and still in high school, is discontented with poverty. At a dinner party at Charles' house Monnie is heart-sick when she accidentally sees Dan kiss Sandra. HETTY, a housemaid at the Lawrence, dislikes Sandra.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

* * *

CHAPTER X

There was the music, restless, throbbing: a tenor, wailing into a microphone:

"Anything you say, anything you do, Da-da, da-da-da."

Monnie, dancing with Charles, lifted her head proudly, smiling. If her heart ached no one should know it. Charles asked, "Tired?" and she answered him gayly. Her tone couldn't have been entirely convincing, because he went over and shut off the radio.

Sandra pouted. "I like that! Just when I was teaching Danny a new step!"

Charles seemed not to hear. He clapped his hands and the Chinese boy, Kong, he had brought with him to Bevedere, appeared in the doorway, smiling faintly.

"How about some food, Kong?"

Sandra protested. "Charles Eustace, it's a plot to fatten me up! I've only just forgotten that heavenly dinner."

Dan glanced at his watch, "It's 12, Sandra."

She raised her brows. "Scandalous! I'll miss my beauty sleep."

In a low tone, Monnie told Charles she really must go. He put a warm brown hand on hers for an instant.

"Do you mean that?"

She did. So the houseboy was dismissed for the night, and presently Monnie found herself crowded in with Charles in the front seat of his car, Kay beside them.

Kay said, prettily, schoolgirl fashion, that she had had a beautiful time. She had "loved every minute of it." At the door, Charles detained Monnie for a moment.

"And you?"

"It was fun," Monnie told hm.

She thought Charles hesitated for a split second. Then he told her slowly, "We must do it again some time. I like that small sister of yours. She's charmng."

"Everyone likes Kay." So that was the way of it, Monnie thought. Charles Eustace and Kay. Well, that was all right, too. Kay would be 17, soon. Kay was beautiful, too beautiful for her own good in this narrow-minded small town. It would be marvelous to see Kay have her chance.

• • •

They said good night then and the two girls drifted upstairs. Kay was far too excited to sleep. She came to sit on the edge of Monnie's bed, brushing that incredibly fine-spun golden hair of hers.

"Isn't he just too grand?"

"Charles? Yes. Wonderful," returned Monnie quietly.

"No, not hm," cred Kay, heedless of grammar. "I mean the boy friend—the broked from the big city. Is he smooth!"

"Oh. I didn't notice."

Kay continued to wield the brush for a few moments without speaking. Then, abruptly, she burst out, "I hope you see now that Sandra Lawrence is the kitty-cat I always told you she was."

Monnie shrugged. "Does it matter?"

"Not in the least," Kay told her loftily. "She's been racketing around the world for years now and hasn't even snatched herself a husband. I think she's getting scared and so has decded to work on something simple ike Dan Cardigan."

"Do you think Dan's to be had—just for the snatching?" Monnie asked quietly. There was a slow, dull pain in her breast.

"Any of 'em are," chattered Kay, smearing cold cream into her exquisite skin and staring at herself in the mirror. "You just have to know the rules of the game."

"You mean I don't?"

Kay gave her sister an appraising glance. "I guess you know 'em all right but the trouble is you let your feelings get involved. That's bad."

Monnie couldn't help smiling. Where did Kay get all this wisdom?

"Laugh at me if you like," Kay advised equably. "But I know my stuff. I'll prob'ly get what I want. I'm—what d'you call it?—ruthless. Your're too worried about the other fellow's feelings. It doesn't pay."

"Do you mind if I turn out the light, Kay," Monnie asked her abruptly. If she heard much more of this, the tears that had been threatening her all evening would be sure to overtake her.

Kay was asleep in three minutes. Monnie could hear her soft breathing.

She lay awake as the moon climbed high into the summer heavens. Sandra and Dan, Sandra and Dan, Sandra and Dan—she kept seeing them together.

• • •

Hetty, the maid, untied her apron strings and wadded the white object into a ball. Staring after the car that carried Sandra and Dan Cardigan off into the summer night, she looked furiously discontented. She waited until the roar of the motor dwindled in the distance. Then, with her small head cocked, birdlike, on one sde, she listened cautiously for the other sounds of the household. Cook was whistling softly to herself below-stairs and there was the irritating tinkle of water from a half-closed tap. Otherwise all was silent. In this new and rather imposing house of the Lawrences everything was luxuriously perfect. There were deep piled rugs and formally draped curtains. "The decoratr's dream," Sandra called it, pretending to scorn it but honestly proud of its richness and dignity.

Now Hetty moved on noiseless feet in the direction from which Sandra had just come. Sandra's room, the door flung wide, was like its owner—poised and elegant. She had planned all the decorations and the room was a symphony in white and red. Dull, creamy velvet and satin had been used for the upholstery of small chairs and the low chaise by the window. The curtains were of lacquer red, against Venetian blinds of soothing creaminess. There were no pictures, save a subdued Marie Laurence in one corner, brooding over Sandra's modern dressing table with its angled mirrors and crimson bottles.

In all this daring purity, Hetty's black frock was like a blotch of ink. Arms akimbo, the maid surveyed the scene. She shut the door soundlessly behind her and advanced nto Sandra's domain, her eyes flickering with repressed emotion—anger, resentment or mere ill-temper, one could not be sure which.

She tiptoed to the dressing table, sat down on the bench where only a few moments ago its mistress had preened herself and stared at the mirror. Discontented with what she saw there, Hetty clicked her tongue impatiently against her teeth and began to investigate the contents of the many small bottles and jars with which the table was littered.

She tried the effect of a carmine stain on her cheek and smiled. She unscrewed the cap from a tube of lip-paste and smeared this generously against her rather thin mouth. Then she used an eyebrow brush she found in a drawer. She dusted her sallow cheeks and nose with delicately scented powder and sprayed a mist of flower fragrance against her shoulder as she had seen motion picture actresses do.

She minced over to the clothes closet where on padded hangers and crystal shelves were disposed the impedimenta of Sandra's elegance. A cloudy blue chiffon frock she snatched from its transparent protector, holding t against her lean young girl's shape to see how it became her.

• • •

A sound came from downstairs—something that sounded like the bellow of an infuriated bull. Startled, the maid tied on the now crompled apron, crammed the blue frock hastily back into its place, made a wild sweep at her rather bizarre countenance with a duster she snatched from nowhere at all, and flew out on the landing.

The cook, Mrs. Peterman, was shouting for her.

"Hetty! Hetty! Where are you?"

All out of breath, she arrived on the first floor. Mrs. Peterman, huge in her blue-striped dress, with wisps of graying hair depending from the dusting cap she habitually wore, frowned at her and sniffed.

"You've been at it again. I knew it! Mark my words, you'll get the gate with your nonsense."

Hetty said sullenly, "Don't know what you're talking about."

"Don't you eh? Snooping around the oung madams room and tryin' on her things! Can't I smell her perfumery? And your face! Go wash it in the pantry this minute. The mister just phoned he's bringing some men to dinner. Fine business if you turn up looking like a floozie."

Hetty showed herself at the kitchen door a few moments later, clean and chastened. But Mrs. Peterman was still grumbling.

"You'll find yourself out of a job one of these days and no two ways about it. With things the way they are I can't understand what's got into you. You won't get another place like this — not in a good while!"

"I hate this place," Hetty spat out.

"Oh, you do, miss? Well, isn't that just too bad? I know what's eating you, I do. Just because James is polite to the young lady and she to him you're jealous as a wild cat. I never heard such nonsense. Suppose you think you can tell your betters how to behave themselves!"

"She'd better watch herself, that's all I say," muttered Hetty, spearing balls of butter viciously from their bath of ice water and disposing them on the small crystal plates.

"Girls nowadays are out of their minds, that's all." Mrs. Peterman pursed, flinging open the oven door to peer in at the sizzling roast. "Don't know when they're well off. What do you want to bother with James for, anyhow? He looks nice all dressed up in his driver's uniform but what that gets you, I don't know."

"Thanks for the ad!" A tall youth, rakishly attired in a smart chauffeur's outfit in hunter's green grinned at the two women from the doorway. "When do we eat?"

Instantly Hetty was transformed. A smile curved her thin lips and she undulated toward the newcomer in a way suggesting a film star.

"Hullo, Jimmy," she cooed. "When did you get back?"

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 3. (AP)—Cotton had a steady opening today with first trades 8 to 11 points higher, which was not a full response to the strength of Liverpool and a further advance in sterling exchange.

July gained one point after the start, trading at 8.33, or 12 points up from yesterday's close, but the general market soon eased on considerable hedgeselling, July dropping to 8.27 and October to 8.49, or 6 points down from the early highs.

As soon as the hedges were disposed of, however, the market started to rally and late in the first hour prices showed a recovery of 3 points from the lows at levels 8 to 9 points above the close of yesterday.

The market ruled quite active all morning but prices were erratic, fluctuating within a range of ten points, at times approaching the early highs, only to ease until July dropped to 8.22 and October to 8.44, or 11 points down from the best. Near mid-session, prices rallied 3 to 5 points from the lows, bringing the level back to four points above the close of yesterday.

There was a good deal of profit-taking, some hedge-selling and scalping by ring traders on both sides of the account as well as more or less general speculation.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Cotton opened steady, 7-13 points advance on higher cables and trade and commission house buying. May 8.23; July 8.30; Oct. 8.57; Dec. 8.70; Jan. 8.80; Mch 8.94.

July sold up to 8.34 and December to 8.73 on the active initial demand, with all deliveries making new high ground for the movement. This attracted heavy profit-taking which, with foreign selling, supplied the more urgent demand and caused reactions of 6 or 7 points from the best during the early trading. The buying continued, however, and the market at the end of the first half hour was steady at net advances of 4 to 9 points.

Unfavorable features in the weekly weather report with reference to the progress of planting attracted some comment, but were without appreciable effect on the market which worked off during the middle of the morning under further southern selling and realizing. July dipped to 8.24 and December to 8.62, or back to about yesterday's close, but offerings were absorbed by continued demand from commission houses and scattering sources and the market at midday was 4 to 7 points net higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Financial markets were hesitant and uneasy in quieter trading today.

Inflation fevers were cooled by a more stable dollar in foreign exchange dealings. House action on the farm relief-inflation bill was awaited with keen interest. Mid-week statistics on steel and electric power production were again favorable.

Utilities and a number of industrial specialties were firm in stocks, while rails and oils weakened. Prices back and filled rather erratically, but by early afternoon, Case was up more than 2, and gains of around a point were registered in American Telephone, American Can, Goodyear, Johns Manville, International Harvester, North American, and Associated Dry Goods. Santa Fe lost 1 1-2 and Union Pacific 2 1-4, then stiffened. Standard of California reacted a couple of points and Standard of N. J., half as much.

Lubbock Boys Are Kept From Alleys

Keeping boys out of alleys in the business section has been an aid in keeping these places clean, according to city street department officials. The boys had a practice of looking through waste boxes in the rear of department and other stores, helping themselves to whatever they fancied.

Several weeks ago the department issued an order that no waste could be taken from these boxes unless the person doing so was a city employe. Steps were taken to enforce the order. The result has been, officials say, a much neater alley system.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—All deliveries of wheat quickly outdid season's high price records today, and corn also attained new top figures.

Evidence that inflation was certain of enactment, together with Liverpool wheat advances higher than had been looked for, gave fresh stimulus to buyers here. Opening 3-8 to 1 1-4 up, wheat later held near the initial range. Corn started at 1-2 to 1 advance, and continued firm.

KIDNAPING

victim aboard a boat. Others were just as certain that a blue sedan with yellow wire wheels had left the cape.

There was much to bear out either theory. With the waterfront but a mile from the schoolhouse, it seemed probable that the kidnapers had taken to sea. And with plenty of time to get to the two bridges that span the Cape Cod canal and provide an exit to the mainland, it was just as probable the little girl's abductors sought safety in the larger communities to the north.

Mother Grief Stricken

Mrs. McMath was grief stricken and her husband's only interest was to get his daughter back.

"I have no desire for revenge or to mete out punishment," McMath said, "if the kidnapers will only get in contact with me they will be treated fairly and squarely."

The kidnapers had a lead of a little over an hour on the police. One of them called the Harwich Center grammar school at 2:30 p. m., posed as Mr. McMath and told Miss Ruth Holmes, secretary to the principal, he was sending a chauffeur for his daughter. He asked that she be dismissed immediately upon arrival of the car.

At approximately the same time Mr. McMath received a telephone call from a man who said he was a telephone company lineman. He asked McMath to leave the telephone receiver off for ten minutes.

Within a few minutes a blue sedan pulled up before the schoolhouse. A negro was at the wheel and he asked Jack Shaughnessey, a ten-year-old pupil who was playing in the yard, to tell Miss Esther Flinkman, Margaret's teacher, to send the girl out.

Margaret, "Peggy" to her parents and chums, broke out crying as she approached the machine, Shaughnessey said. The negro grabbed her, told her to "shut up and get in" and pulled her into the car.

TOURS PLANNED BY LOCAL BOYS

Lubbock boys, participating in Boys' week activities, this afternoon and Thursday will make industrial inspection tours. Early Thursday evening is to be spent at home, if the week's program is followed, and boys less than 18 years old will be admitted free to a Texas Technological college-Simmons university track and field meet at Matador field at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Leaders in the Boys' week program this morning urged that preparations be begun by boys and girls anticipating participation in a parade here Saturday. Prizes in cash and merchandise will be given and refreshments will be served all those participating upon completion of the march. Floats as well entries of the comic and the unusual are to be admitted to compete for awards.

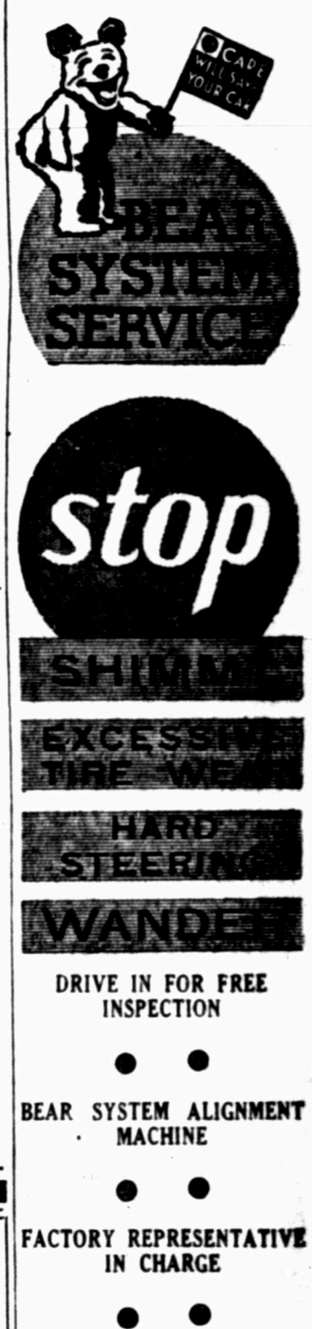

Boys are invited to meet at 4:30 p. m. today at Martin Baking Co., 602 Broadway. Conducted trips will be made through Mistletoe Creamery, J. H. Hackfield implement company, and possibly Lubbock Cotton Oil company plant. Another tour is planned for Thursday afternoon, when boys will meet at the Coca-Cola Bottling company plant at 4:30 o'clock.

Appropriate to yesterday's designation on boys' week calendar as boys' day in education, Tom Garrard, a member of the state board of education, addressed junior and senior high school boys in senior auditorium.

Climaxing the observance here will be a huge parade at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. There will be 29 prizes for the paraders, Dr. G. H. Ater, the director, announced. A Boy Scout field meet will be conducted at 4:30 o'clock.

Something to Say

——not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click with them . . . that they're milder and taste better. I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."
