

HIGHWAY 101 IMPORTANT ASSET, LOCAL OFFICIALS NOTE

JOE Y. FRASER ELEVATED TO POSTMASTERSHIP UPON APPOINTMENT AT CAPITOL

Succeeds R. S. Brennan On Monday; Has Been With Service 19 Years

Joseph Y. Fraser, identified with the Colorado postoffice for a number of years and assistant postmaster here for a goodly portion of that time, Monday afternoon was elevated to the postmastership, succeeding R. S. Brennan.

Transfer of the portfolio of postmaster was merely the checking of records by the two men. Mr. Brennan left the office at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon when the office was closed for the day and Fraser came in postmaster at opening of the office Tuesday morning.

Commission awarding the office to Mr. Fraser was signed in Washington May 17 by President Roosevelt and James A. Farley, Postmaster General. The appointment is for a term of four years.

Elevation of Mr. Fraser to the position of postmaster came after 19 years of continuous service with the department. He began work in the postoffice at Bald in 1915 and after eight years was transferred to the Colorado office on July 4, 1923. He was appointed assistant postmaster here on May 16, 1924.

That Fraser was due to succeed Brennan as postmaster had been known here for several weeks. Acting upon recommendation by R. E. Thomson, member of congress from the 17th Texas district, President Roosevelt nominated Fraser for the appointment on April 18. A few days later the appointment was confirmed by the senate. His commission was received from Washington Sunday.

Mr. Brennan is leaving the office after twelve years of continuous service. He was checked in as postmaster here on May 16, 1922, succeeding the late Ben Van Tuij, who filled the office for a short time.

Fraser stated Tuesday morning that he had no statement to make in reference to the matter of changes in office personnel. It is considered that none will be made. It was not known who would succeed him as assistant postmaster. Harry P. Ragan is working in the office as an extra, starting Tuesday morning.

FOUR KILLED WHEN LARGE PASSENGER BUS CRASHES THROUGH OVERPASS RAIL

Tragedy Is Enacted Saturday Near Cisco; Three Are Among The Injured

Cisco's "death crossing," which previously has claimed its victims as the toll of motor car-train crashes in other days, Saturday was scene of the most ghastly tragedy in its history.

Four people, passengers on a large Southwestern Greyhound bus, scheduled to leave Colorado at 8:35 Saturday morning, were killed and three other passengers received injury when the concrete overpass railing and plunger forty feet below. One of the injured passengers, Mrs. G. W. Peacock, 28, boarded the bus here to return to her home in Corsicana after spending a visit with her husband, who recently accepted employment in the oil fields near town.

Three of the passengers died instantly. They were Mrs. Ethel Bonny, 19, wife of a Ranger farmer, and her two-months-old baby girl. The infant was found clutched in her mother's arms when rescuers removed their bodies from wreckage of the ill fated bus. Mrs. J. D. Hilton, 67, of Abilene, was the third passenger to die instantly, and Ernest Golden, 27, an enlisted man in the U. S. Naval forces, enroute to his home at Mena, Arkansas from California, died in a Cisco hospital a few hours after the crash.

Edward T. Swindle of San Angelo, and Roy Turnbow, veteran driver, were others to receive injuries. Swindle was seriously, though not critically hurt.

Mrs. Peacock had been to Colorado to visit her husband, a truck driver employed at the Dodson Brothers well being drilled southwest from Snyder by Coffield and Jeffrey, Cal S'agel, driller at the well, accompanied Peacock to Cisco Saturday afternoon after news of the crash was received here.

A broken steering gear is attributed as cause of the wreck. Signs on the pavement indicated Turnbow had tried vainly to stop the bus by applying the brakes. He has been driving for Southwestern Greyhounds six years and this was the first serious accident he ever had.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN OPTIMISTIC ATTITUDE AS TO ROAD'S FUTURE STATUS

State And County Have Spent $40,000 On Project, King Tells The Record

Completion of Highway No. 101 extending from north end of Hickory street to the Mitchell-Scurry county line south of Dana will be realized in due time, with proper cooperation extended the State by the county and city, according to opinion expressed here Thursday by public officials when interviewed on the matter by a member of The Record staff.

County Judge A. F. King pointed out that the State and county had spent approximately $40,000 to date on the project. For the grade and drainage construction recently completed and accepted the State paid in excess of $27,000. The county has paid out more than $12,000 for right-of-way and fencing, the county judge stated.

Mitchell county was allocated $56,000 out of the Federal appropriation of $24,000,000 coming to Texas several months ago for highway building and improvement, the county judge noted. Approximately one-half that amount was expended on the contract just noted, leaving, in round numbers, $28,000 to credit of this county's highway allocation from that source.

"I have statement from Austin that in event the $56,000 allocation proves insufficient to complete this highway that State funds will be supplemented," King said. "I have no record in which the State of Texas has come to us with a proposition that was not carried out in every respect. If we lose this important thoroughfare to Mitchell county I am confident it will be due to negligence here and not at Austin, and I am proud to note that commissioners' court has readily met every requirement from the State, because we have found those requirements fair and equitable."

THE RED & WHITE STORES

HUGE THROG HEARS WITT LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FRIDAY FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

Address Delivered To Large Representation Texans; Platform Outlined

The crowd cheering Lieut.-Governor Edgar Witt last Friday night when he opened his campaign for Governor in Belton, capital of the county where he was born, was a reminder of a tradition that in Bell County beats the political pulse of the people.

The following Monday saw J. V. Alford follow up with a speech in Temple and Tom Hunter in Belton, both of them talking to fewer hundreds than Witt had thousands.

Though Witt called no names, he hit obviously at Alford's boasts of defeat for the lobby if Governor, an influence Alford as Attorney General admittedly has failed at curbing, though he has the law on the books to enforce.

Witt said "no man should be elected governor just because he says the people, over the years, have elected crooks to the Legislature."

Witt also was cheered when, pointing out that the duty of governor is to take people out of the breadlines and put them back in payroll lines, he asserted that "no man should be elected governor just because he is wet or because he is dry."

Witt favors repeal and an effective regulation over sale of liquor, now in bootleggers' hands and its handling financing an outlaw element.

To a crowd made up of supporters from forty Central Texas counties and lesser groups from all corners of the state, Witt offered specific measures for the upbuilding of industries in Texas.

His record on state affairs in his service in the Senate as a member and as presiding officer were cited by Witt, who said the vote should be decided on records and qualifications, not on extravagant promises.

Witt said that as governor, he would do all in his power to secure the following: The complete exemption of small homes from tax, and taxing of no home on more than the owner's equity.

The setting aside of $5,000,000 of the $20,000,000 already voted for relief by the people of the state to help indigent families establish themselves on farms; with the expectation that the federal government would provide an equal sum.

Taxing stocks, bonds, personal and intangible property in order to lighten the burden on visible property. No new taxes of any kind. Reduction of the auto license fee to not more than $5.

Elimination of the poll tax "for a fairer vote." Labor representation on the state industrial accident board. Old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

Establishment of a state veterans commission to look after all interests of the veterans, particularly their claims on the federal government.

Holding of a suitable Texas Centennial celebration. Mobilization of all state forces against crime; a reform of court procedure to speed trials. No pardons for hardened criminals.

Full support of education and the eleemosynary institutions, with economy but no parsimony. In the introduction it was pointed out by Judge M. M. White of Belton and Joseph W. Hale of Waco that Witt is the one candidate in the field who is free of factionalism and can bring harmony and cooperation of the Legislature.

The Plainview home demonstration club met Wednesday, May 16th, at the home of Mrs. W. D. Howell. In the business session the club voted to send a delegate to the Short Course at A. & M. College, July 30-August 3 and plans were made to raise the money.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. L. M. Jones, June 6th. Reporter, Mrs. B. H. Henson.

The home demonstration club of lanan met at the home of Mrs. Alvin Lay, May 17th with 8 members present. Mrs. Lay gave a report of the May council meeting. In the business session Mrs. H. D. Mitchell and Mrs. A. T. Barker were appointed as a committee on ways and means to prepare a program to furnish money for a delegate to Short Course. The next meeting will be with Mrs. S. M. McElhatten June 7th, at 2 P. M. Reporter, Mrs. S. J. Phillips.

Those garden demonstrators and cooperators that have beets big enough to can or pickle or make relish out of will proceed to use the following method: Cook beet not larger than a hen's egg until tender, keep liquid that beets were cooked in if not sufficient add boiling water to finish filling jars. Do not add salt, pack hot beets into jars with the above boiling liquid and seal and process at 10 lb. pressure for 40 minutes. These may be opened and used as sour or sweet pickled beets by making a fresh pickling mixture and letting them marinate in the mixture some 30 minutes.

For those that have a pressure cooker should use the above method of canning.

Those that do not have a cooker should pickle same as follows:

Make a pickling mixture as follows: 2 cups vinegar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon allspice, steep spices in vinegar for 1 hour after boiling them for 5 minutes. Pour over hot beets packed in a jar boiling hot and seal.

Ranchmen Entitled To Relief, Dallas Newspaper States

The federal government acted wisely in authorizing an appropriation of one hundred and fifty millions for relief of the cattle industry, suggests the Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News in recent editorial comment. The News says:

The passing by the House of the $150,000,000 livestock relief measure will come as good news to a large portion of Texas. Cattlemen have somehow been neglected by the administration in its relief measures and this neglect is reflected in the prices of their products. Relief for both beef cattle raising and dairying industries is to be contained in the new measure, when it finally passes Congress.

The rehabilitation of the cattle industry would put the last of the "big three" of Texas industry back on its feet. Cotton growers have seen the price of their staple rise from 4c to 11c, and oil producers have watched the market go from 10c to $1. Of course, cotton and oil still have their difficulties ahead of them, but they are relatively ahead of cattle in the trek out of the wastes of the depression. Texas and Texas cattlemen will welcome relief for the third of the "big three."

Freight Rate Cut Sought In Hearing Opened At Dallas

DALLAS, May 22.—R. I. Wells, rate expert of the Texas Railroad Commission, heard testimony at a hearing today designed to show why a freight rate reduction of 25 percent from Breckenridge and Ranger to Colorado, Texas, and Big Spring and from Judkin to Big Spring was necessary.

Witnesses were F. G. Robinson, traffic manager for the Lone Star Gas Company; J. B. Harris, assistant traffic manager for the Cosden Oil Corporation; M. H. Champion, traffic manager for the Coltex Refining Company, and Walker Wilson of Ft. Worth, traffic manager for the Cosden interests.

Laws Passed During Special Session In Effect May 29th

Laws of the last special session of the Texas legislature which failed to receive the two-thirds total vote for immediate effect will become operative on May 29.

Most of the session acts had two-thirds vote and have been in force since the governor's signature. Principal ones to take effect on May 29 are the amended boxing law, the anti-walkathon law and the Centennial act.

A sharp pick-up in enforcement of boxing regulations will follow. Considerable leniency has been extended under the old law because of hardships to non-offenders that would have resulted from rigid enforcement.

The old-law penalties consisted of suspensions and forfeitures of licenses. When the boxing officials decided on either suspension or forfeiture of a fighter's license they encountered a serious practical difficulty. They found that the offending fighter invariably had a lot of dates booked ahead. Strict enforcement of either a forfeiture or immediate suspension order against him, resulted in undeserved loss to promoters who had booked him.

Under the new law fines up to $500 may be imposed for violations and the amount of the fine may be taken out of the purse for the match.

Under the new law licenses will be required for referees, match-makers, time-keepers and seconds. Now promoters and fighters are licensed. Amateur contests are general from state supervision in the new act, and many of the doubtful points in the old law, clarified.

The anti-walkathon law is believed to close a loop-hole in the old law limiting endurance contests. The time limit of the old law was evaded by the simple expedient of providing short rest periods and resuming the contest.

To do this after May 29 it will be necessary to transfer the place of the contest after 168 hours. Participation in a contest for more than 24 hours without a rest also is forbidden.

The Centennial act, providing for state government participation in a celebration of Texas' 100th anniversary of Independence from Mexico, will go into effect and be followed by a meeting in Austin on June 6 of the Centennial commission authorized in the act.

CHURCHES SHOULD DENY SUPPORT OF WAR, SAYS ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Ten Texas pastors have taken the position that American churches should refuse to sanction or support any future wars.

Their viewpoint was expressed in answer to the questionnaire sent out by a special national investigating committee headed by Harry Emerson Fosdick and Kirby Page.

Only one of the 11 answering this particular question, Prof. F. W. McDiarmid of Texas Christian University, replied negatively, a report of the committee said. "My feeling is that such a decision as this should not be made until the emergency arises" the report quoted Dr. McDiarmid. "I do not think the church or any institution should say what position should be taken at some distant time.

"It would be foolish for an individual to say what he would do five years from now. Conditions may change. "I firmly believe that the churches should oppose war, but I base my reply to this question on the un wisdom of asserting what action in a great emergency would be the best."

The ten pastors, taking a stand against support of any future war, according to the report, were: the Rev. Joseph M. Dawson, Waco; Bishop Seaman of Amarillo; the Rev. J. W. Mills, Beaumont; the Rev. John H. Epp, Hillsboro; the Rev. S. L. Batchelor, San Angelo; the Rev. David Lefkowitz, Dallas; the Rev. Walter Anthony, San Antonio; the Rev. C. H. Horner, El Paso; the Rev. Porter M. Bailes, Tyler; and the Rev. Paul C. Stephenson, Dallas.

In the national count, the report said, 12,904 replied in favor of a stand against future wars, 1,638 replied negatively, and 2,152 were in doubt.

The question was one of 15 sent to 100,000 of the nation's ministers.

Miss Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, incoming president, Mrs. Myrtle Crowder, and Mrs. Ida Kirschbaum have been elected delegates from this club. Mrs. Mary Luckey, Mrs. Anna Ferguson, and Mrs. Thelma McSpadden are alternates.

Headquarters of the convention will be at the Saint Anthony Hotel, and the theme of the meeting is to be "Education." Entertainment features will be a publicity breakfast Friday morning, a vocational luncheon Friday noon, a Mexican dinner and dance Friday evening, a Turkey Trot luncheon sponsored by the Curo Club Saturday noon, and a banquet Saturday night.

Mrs. Faye Gordon, Amarillo, State president, will preside over the meeting, and one of the principal speakers will be Mrs. Geline McDonald, Houston, president of the National Federation, Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Friday Evening Entertainments At Park Planned

A series of Friday night programs to be given at Riddick Park is being planned by the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, according to J. H. Greene, secretary.

The Chuck Wagon Serenaders have been invited to give a program the first Friday night in June, which is Friday of next week, but it is not certain yet that they will be able to accept the invitation, Greene stated.

Various organizations of the town are going to be asked to take charge of the programs and the Business and Professional Women's Club has already agreed to furnish entertainment on the last Friday evening in June and the first in August. Other dates are still open.

CHEVROLET BUSINESS TREND CONTINUES

At a recent meeting of the dealers in the Dallas Zone, Mr. H. C. Howard, zone manager, made the following statement:

Starting at zero in January, with a car so new and so basically improved as to create a whole new series of major production problems, the Chevrolet Motor Company this year accomplished the almost incredible feat of eclipsing all other producers by the end of March.

Gaining momentum rapidly, stepping production up from a few units a day to more than 5,500, Chevrolet passed all competitors, with the year but a few weeks old, completing March with its old rank as world's greatest builder of cars, a position it has occupied six of the last seven years.

Registration figures are not available so early as production totals, but those for March, now complete, show Chevrolet with a healthy lead over all other cars. In the truck field, Chevrolet's leadership was even more decisive, due to the fact that the new trucks were in production somewhat earlier. Registrations for Chevrolet trucks, for the year to date, have exceeded those of its three principal competitors combined.

Rural users have played a major role in bringing about Chevrolet's dominance, both in the passenger car field and in trucks. Replacement of worn-out cars and trucks on farms is going forward more rapidly this spring than for a long time past, Chevrolet dealers report, and it is a significant fact that those who have owned Chevrolets are buying Chevrolets again.

National House And Senate United In Drive To Curb Crime In United States

Here is what the 10 federal anti-crime bills passed by the House—eight already having been approved by the Senate—would do:

Authorize an appropriation of $25,000 to be used for rewards for the capture of designated public enemies, "dead or alive," and as much more for rewards for information leading to arrest and conviction of criminals.

Make it a federal crime to kill or assault while on duty a United States marshal or deputy, special agent of the Justice Department investigating division, postoffice inspector, secret service operative, coast guard officer or enlisted man or employe of a federal penal institution.

Amend the kidnap law to permit a jury in a death verdict, unless the victim had been returned unharmed; leave ordinary kidnaping subject to imprisonment determined by the court; make the absence of the victim for seven days presumptive but not conclusive evidence of interstate transportation and permit punishment of two or more kidnap conspirators, but exempting a parent for kidnaping his child.

Punish by a fine up to $5,000 and five years imprisonment flight across state lines to escape prosecution for murder, kidnaping and such, with prosecution permitted only in the jurisdiction of the crime.

Permit a new indictment to issue in the next term of federal court while the grand jury is sitting if the previous indictment is found defective after expiration of the statute of limitations. This bill was sent to President Roosevelt for signing. Make inciting of riot, aiding in escapes or smuggling arms or other devices into a federal penal institution punishable by 10 years imprisonment. Make it a federal crime to rob a nationally affiliated bank, punishable by $5,000 fine or 20 years imprisonment, unless a deadly weapon is used, when the penalty would be up to $10,000 and 25 years, and a permissible death penalty if somebody is killed in connection with the robbery.

Program For House Building And Repairing Launched By President

President Roosevelt Monday set in motion a housing program which officials expect will free billions of dollars for building, repairs and refinancing of existing debt.

Those who framed the measure said the loans for modernization and repair were to be limited to a maximum of $2,000; loans for building to $20,000 and that the mortgages to be issued would have long period for amortization, probably a maximum of 25 years.

The four-point bill would provide for the creation of a home credit insurance corporation with a capital stock of $200,000,000 to be provided by the reconstruction corporation; it would authorize the formation of national mortgage associations; would insure "building and loan savings" up to $2,500 and would amend existing law to facilitate the participation by banks and other institutions in the plan.

A man seeking a loan to build, Senator Barkley (Dem., Ky.), said would apply to a building and loan association, his bank or any other willing to participate, just as he does now.

Appraisers would investigate and his plea, if accepted, would result in a loan based upon a mortgage, as is the case at present.

That obligation, however, would be a long-term one; there would be no second mortgage financing at high costs and the interest probably would be fixed at a lower rate than is generally the case with existing mortgages.

The amortization would be arranged so it could be repaid gradually, out of the borrower's income and the government might retain supervisory power of the expenditure of the loan.

The insurance fund given initial backing by the $200,000,000 capital for the home credit corporation, eventually would be provided for by assessments on both borrowers and lenders who take part in the venture.

Barkley said the provision that a loan for 60 per cent of the appraised value of a house already built was intended as a supplement to the refinancing activities of the home owners loan corporation.

The proposed national mortgage associations would have a minimum paid in capital of $5,000,000 and they might be set up in any section where there was need for them.

"Modernization of commercial and industrial structures is envisioned, as well as residential," the president said in his message, "but the new features providing governmental assistance are confined largely to home improvements."

He said the loans under governmental direction would not carry more than five per cent interest

GRADUATES FACE ANOTHER PROBLEM IN LIFE'S PATH REV. HANSON TELLS CLASS

Application Of Wisdom Must Be Role, If Successful, Minister Declares

In coming to the day of commencement members of the senior class find themselves at an important crossroad in life's pathway, the Rev. Alex B. Hanson, pastor of All Saint's Episcopal church, told members of the senior class Sunday evening during delivery of commencement sermon at high school auditorium.

"Except for love, matrimony and realized ambition, this commencement is the greatest event in your lives," the minister stated. "It is a thrill to the children, the parents and the minister who is to deliver the sermon. For eleven years you have been learning how to do. Now you stand facing the problem of knowing what to do."

Reading as his text a quotation from the sixth chapter of Micah, "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good, and what doeth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God," the speaker declared that the youth in emerging from the state of high school study to that of another realm in life must apply the tenets of wisdom in meeting problems as they arise.

"It is important to know your world and the conditions that enter into material life, but it is more essential that you understand and appreciate the spiritual application of your being," he urged. Warning was given against the many temptations the world has to offer in bidding for actions couched in dishonesty, immorality and kindred evils that offer the reward of sin in the end.

The auditorium was profusely decorated in the class colors of red and white. Seated on the stage were members of the junior and senior choral clubs, the ministry and school officials. The class members marched through the aisle to take up their places in front center of the auditorium as Mrs. Cecile Meskimen gave the professional at the piano.

Opening the program was singing "Come Thou Almighty King" by the choral clubs under direction of Mrs. Virginia Peden Deter. The Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of First Methodist church, offered the invocation, followed by the singing of "There's No Friend Like Jesus," by a quartet composed of Melba Slaton, Hazel Grubbs, George Kiker and Bobby Wulfjen.

The Rev. Wallace Jones, pastor of First Christian church, read the Scripture lesson, after which Rev. Mr. Hanson delivered his sermon address. "Crown Him King of Kings" was sung by the choral clubs and Rev. Mr. Jones pronounced the benediction. After the recessional the congregation, filling the auditorium to capacity, was dismissed.

Colorado Golfers Qualify For Big Spring Tourney

Two Colorado Country Club golfers, E. C. Nix and Ben Lee Costin, playing in qualifying rounds at the Big Spring Country Club Sunday, made scores entitling them to play in championship flights of the West Texas Golf Association championship tournament to be held there Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of this week.

Nix, finishing his round with a seventy, turned in the lowest score of all golfers qualifying for the tournament. The Big Spring Daily Herald said of his playing: "Nix would have been at least two strokes lower had he not 'slipped' on a couple of holes just before he finished. He made two bogies on the back nine." Costin turned in a score of seventy-six. Colorado golfers qualifying for other flights in the tournament were Ross Dixon with an 85, Grady Newman with a 78, J. E. McCleary with an 88.

ANSON DOCTOR BIDS LIONS MAKE PROPER USE OF THE TALENTS GIVEN BY MAKER

Dr. E. M. Wood Speaker Last Friday Noon On Service Club Program

Challenge that it was the duty of every good citizen to adopt the role of rendering service to their fellowman was made Friday in an address by Dr. E. M. Wood of Anson, past Grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas, in an address before the Lions Club. The speaker was introduced by Ben Smith, member of the program committee.

Dr. Wood outlined that Lionism exemplified in its code of ethics the standard of living and service to others as enunciated by the Christ during the years of His ministry on earth. "To possess all the wealth this material universe might be able to bestow and fail to possess the spirit of service to others will account for naught when one comes to the end of life," he declared.

Dr. Wood was accompanied to Colorado by Mrs. Wood and Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Smith, all of Anson. Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Smith are the parents of Ben Smith of The Record staff.

Among other visitors presented at the club were Jimmie Allred, attorney general; Ed F. Jay of Sweetwater; W. L. Doss, Jr., of Colorado; L. W. Sandusky, of Colorado; D. T. Chism, principal of Looney school, and E. F. Duncan of Roscoe, candidate for State representative. In the absence of Joe B. Mills, president, Dr. R. D. Bridgford, vice president, presided.

Four Die At Wink

As Airplane Nose Dives To Ground

The victims: HARRY LYNCH, 25, Wink pilot. WILLIE RAVED, 26, Wink dry goods clerk.

BRUCE ANDERSON, 13, Wink. BOB SESLER, 12, Wink.

The crash was witnessed by about 1,500 people. Lynch was attempting to land his ship when it spun into the ground. He made a steep bank while flying at about two hundred feet, and had lost so much speed that the plane failed to respond to the controls. The plane struck the ground nose down, with terrific force.

It hit the ground about one hundred yards from the hangar and about twenty yards from high power lines. The three passengers, riding in the front, were killed instantly. Lynch died about an hour later.

The plane, a Wright J5 Whirlwind Travelair, was licensed and in good condition. Lynch received his private license in Big Spring about a year ago.

World's Fair Bus Tours Be Offered Again This Year

Accredited 4 Year English And Civics Gives School Total 16 Units

The great popularity of Greyhound bus all-expense tours to the World's Fair, Chicago, last year has led the Greyhound Company to offer similar tours again this year, according to A. F. Baldus, traffic manager of the Southwestern Greyhound Lines.

The tours this year, however, offer even greater values than those of last year, ranging from $8 to $22 plus transportation to Chicago and return. Three, four, six and even seven-day tours are offered, including rooms in first-class hotels, admissions to the Fair grounds and to leading attractions inside the grounds by special 60-passenger Greyhound buses (official transportation inside the grounds), tour of Chicago, and boat trips on Lake Michigan.

The tours have been designed to include the features of greatest interest to out-of-town visitors, both at the Fair, in the city of Chicago, and on the lake, at minimum expense.

Special rates to Chicago and return are also being offered by Greyhound, the tours, and other features of the Fair, together with descriptive World's Fair folders, are available at all Greyhound bus terminals, Mr. Baldus reports.

Clean Cemetery Is Ready For Memorial Day

A clean cemetery will be ready for Colorado's observation of Memorial Day as the result of efforts of Mayor J. A. Sadler, Commissioner Mac Holt, and a group of volunteer workers Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

A number of the trucks and wagons used in the clean-up campaign were furnished by the county with Mac Holt in charge. Others were furnished by individuals.

Eighty-one Mexicans, ten negroes, and twenty-four white men responded to the call for free labor. It was originally planned for each business house of the town to furnish one or more persons to take part in the work, but this plan was not responded to. Mayor Sadler directed the work.

Administrative Features Of Bankhead Act Are Explained In Article By County Agent

Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent, offers the following article dealing with administrative features of the Bankhead Act:

The administration of the Bankhead Act restricting American cotton production this year to not more than 10 million bales is to be handled in the counties by the county cotton production control associations, according to information received by the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service from Washington. Advance notice indicates that Texas has been allotted a 1934 production of 3,081,200 bales which may be ginned and sold tax free. All in excess of this must pay a tax at time of sale of 50 percent of the average central market price for 3/8-inch middling as proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture from time to time, based on spot market quotations. At no time can this tax be less than 5 cents per pound.

The provisions of the Act are operative for the cotton year June 1, 1934 to May 31, 1935 but may be extended to the next cotton year by Presidential proclamation if two-thirds of the cotton growers approve. Every producer of cotton is called upon to apply to his county cotton production control association for individual allotment. As far as possible signs of voluntary cotton reduction contracts will be given the same allotments as indicated in their contracts, but these may be raised or lowered, according to allotments assigned the county by the United States Department of Agriculture. Those who did not sign reduction contracts may also apply on forms to be furnished by the associations for individual allotments of tax-free cotton.

The Texas allotment is based on the ratio between the average 5 year production 1928-32 to the average national production for this period. Not less than 90 percent of the State allotment is to be allotted to the counties, the remainder being reserved for necessary adjustments to take care of special cases. Allowance is to be made for crop failures in counties where it can be established that the failure is due to an unusual cause. Washington advises point out that in some sections floods and droughts are not unusual. The United States Department of Agriculture has a cotton history of every county for guidance in deciding where special adjustments should be made.

Contract signers who violate their contracts are to have their exemption certificates revoked, according to the provisions of the Act. No allotments are to be made under the Bankhead Act until all producers have applied to their county cotton committees giving their production figures and asking for exemption certificates. The collection of the tax is to be in charge of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and is to be collected as prescribed by them at time of sale.

The first duty of every producer under the law is to apply to the county cotton production control association for an exemption certificate for his allotted cotton for 1934-35. The final date for application for these certificates has not yet been determined. Every bale of American cotton entering trade channels in the cotton year 1934-35 must have a bale tag which the farmer may obtain either by surrendering his exemption certificate or by paying the tax. The amount of the tax is determined by the tax in effect at the time the cotton is ginned regardless of when it is sold. If stored and held for a year or more it must still pay the tax.

Cotton of 1 1/8-inch staple length or longer is exempt from the tax but the producer of such cotton must first prove his point before exemption is granted. Experiment Station cotton is also exempt from the tax. The signers of voluntary reduction contracts stand to benefit under the Bankhead Act, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration points out, because these producers will receive their land rental and parity payments in addition to the expected increase in cotton price on the amount sold. The interests of share croppers and tenants are to be protected in the making of allotments and issuing of exemption certificates, it is promised by the Administration.

Contract signers who violate their contracts are to have their exemption certificates revoked, according to the provisions of the Act. No allotments are to be made under the Bankhead Act until all producers have applied to their county cotton committees giving their production figures and asking for exemption certificates. The collection of the tax is to be in charge of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and is to be collected as prescribed by them at time of sale.

GOVERNMENT AND THE CO-OPS

When it comes to helping the farmer, the government can pursue no more effective course than to work with and for the farmer-owned and controlled cooperative associations.

That is the opinion of many agricultural economists, and of officials in the Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. And Mr. Roosevelt has said substantially the same thing many times.

It is better to help a person do a thing for himself than simply to do it for him—and that applies to farmers and everyone else. The cooperatives are her to stay. They do not change with administrations and parties and shifts in political sentiment. A farm relief law may be drastically revised overnight, and the entire course of procedure changed; cooperative policy is fixed and permanent so far as basic principles are concerned. It is designed for the long pull, and not for temporary emergencies.

It is an encouraging fact that the federal government is constantly seeking to strengthen the position of the cooperatives. It is working with them in its acreage reduction program, and the cooperative leaders have been freely consulted when farm legislation and policies were being considered. The fine progress the co-ops have made during depression, in the face of great obstacles, is the most encouraging sign on the agricultural horizon.

800,000 NEW HOMES A YEAR

According to the Research Department of the NRA, an annual building volume of 800,000 residential units is required to supply the need for new dwellings. This takes no account of replacement of existing sub-standard homes, and until these are replaced the needed volume could easily be at the rate of 2,000,000 structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits, and still be the most powerful factors in fighting depression. No dollar we spend does more work, in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Surveys show that 37.3 per cent of all the money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plants and factories manufacturing them. In general, about eighty cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufactures as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

HONOR OUR SOLDIER DEAD

Colorado will pause Wednesday afternoon to pay tribute to memory of her soldier dead, joining with Americans everywhere in keeping fresh one of the country's most sacred holidays. In our cemeteries sleep soldiers who fought under flag of the North and South during Civil War, in the Spanish-American conflict and the World War.

A FOOLISH HABIT

For the sin of their mouth, and the words of their lips, let them even be taken in their pride; and for cursing and lying which they speak.—Psalm 59-12.

Surely man was given speech because he was given reason. No other creature was given either reason or speech.

There are those who dispute the statement that animals have no reason, but reason in the sense we speak of it as being an attribute of man is not possessed by animals.

Of what good would speech do an animal which knows nothing to utter? And if an animal could reason as man does, surely it would be treating him very unfair to say the least, not to give him speech where-by he might give utterance to his thoughts.

Some animals have ability to utter certain sounds indicating danger or suffering, but they cannot talk. There seems to be a mode of expression in the case of some animals and insects by which they communicate certain things, but they do this to such a limited extent that it could scarcely be called oral communication.

There is every reason to think that man's ability to speak as he does was given him that he might have the benefit of his brother's wisdom and knowledge obtained by interchange of views and acquired information; that he might advise his brother in trouble and comfort him in his sorrow; that he might commune with him in his praise and thanksgiving to God for "His wonderful works for the children of men," and that he might, as he has been directed, pray that he should not enter into temptation, and not only "Thy will be done" but also "Hallowed be Thy name."

Speech was not given man that he might take in vain that name which he pronounced "hallowed." How can he expect answers to his prayers who says "Hallowed by Thy name" one minute and the next minute is taking that name "in vain?"

What awful mockery, defy Him to whom he prays, disobey His commands and give no answer to his "prayer." Could a request of omnipotence under such circumstances be called a "prayer?"

It is not strange that profanity, obscenity and vulgarity are boon companions and are usually found together in the same person.

How could one who profanes the name of the living God have any respect for morals or virtue? Profanity and vulgarity are as surely twin evils as are lying and stealing.

The profane swearer usually is well stocked with dirty stories. If he doesn't respect God, why should he respect men and women who do respect Him.

If he doesn't hesitate to offend the Most High, why should he care for the good opinion of those who never use His Name idly in vain.

Often we hear it said, "Profanity is a habit." Profanity is not a habit. It is a sin. It is not to be classed with what we usually call habits. The fact that profanity is indulged so much does not mitigate its sinfulness but rather adds to it.

He is to be pitied who feels that he must resort to cursing and swearing, as some do, to impress others with their manliness or importance. It is a confession of inability to express one's self in decent language, a confession of both ignorance and wickedness.

Man was given ability to hear that he might listen to the songs of birds, the sighing of the wind through the trees, the murmur of the brooks, the roll of the thunder, the roar of the sea, the dash of the waterfall, the music rendered by human voice and skilled performance on musical instruments.

More than all these that he might hear the laughter of little children, the wail of distress from the helpless, and the "good news" announced by the angels on the first Christmas morning.

The beast of the field doesn't know anything about comfort, thankfulness, knowledge or spiritual consciousness and therefore has no need of speech.

Better had man been as the beast than to engage his Divinely bestowed faculties in dishonoring Him who gave them, taking His name in vain, or causing suffering to his fellow-man.

No curse rises heavenward except to be recorded against him who does the cursing. Thus one curses himself, and not his brother or his enemy.

In a text book used as a reader in the schools many years ago was the story of two men who were traveling companions for a day. In the course of conversation one of them constantly interspersed his remarks with oaths. His profanity was very distasteful to the other, as it is to every refined, sensible, right-thinking person. So he related a short story which he fairly filled with oaths for which there could be no possible excuse—indeed there is never an excuse, much less a reason, for cursing.

Then the other man told a story of his own experiences, but with about the same frequency with which the swearer injected profanity into his recital he used the expression "Boots, sugar tongs and tobacco." The "casser" as the late Sam Jones would call him, was about as disgusted with this as his companion was with his oaths.

Finally he said "Your story is alright but why do you continue to use that foolish expression, 'Boots, sugar tongs and tobacco?' The reply was, 'I use that phrase instead of those awful oaths which you used. The words I use may be silly, but they are not sinful. They do not set God at defiance by using His name to the extent even of blasphemy. The words you object to are harmless, though useless, while your terrible swearing is useless, foolish and sinful. From now on let's not use either your awful oaths or my foolish phrase.'

Men try to excuse themselves for profanity by saying they were angry. They should recall the old adage, "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

Doubtless few, even of those who are not guilty of this terrible habit of swearing have ever realized the depth of its sinfulness.

Oaths are uttered in defiance of God, in rebellion against Him, and in contempt of His emphatic command.

No talent, power, faculty, endowment or gift of God was given for any but a useful and holy purpose. It could not have been otherwise, for His creation was economic as well as miraculous. Reason, power of mind, was given man that he might realize his existence and the existence of his Master, that he might be able to appreciate the created things about him, that he might, most of all, be able to know that God is, and know why he knows it, that he might contemplate with admiration and wonder the glorious works of God, their beauty and immensity.

Man was given physical strength that he might do the work assigned him during his maternal existence, for he was not created as he is without a purpose.

He was given eyesight that he might see the beauties of creation, from the stars, sun and planets down to the infinitesimally small flowers, insects, snow crystals and moonbeams, perfectly arched rainbows, blazing comets and flashing meteors, flower tints and multi-hued autumn leaves, wings of butterflies and plumage of birds.

And even more important than these things which he has the privilege to view with pleasure and satisfaction, his sight was given him that he might see the need of his brother and go to his relief.

It is not enough to behold the works of God, but we must DO the works that He has enabled and commanded us to do.

"For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." F. B. W.

With School Out Teachers Turn Minds To Plans For Their Summer 'Vacation'

With school rooms emptied and silent at the end of this week and another year's teaching done, the thirty-one members of the Colorado Public School faculty can turn their minds to plans for the summer months.

"Vacation" for most of them will mean simply a few weeks' respite from teaching in order that they may study and work in preparation for another year of teaching. All the thirty-one have been reelected to their places here again next year.

John E. Watson, superintendent of schools, plans to spend the greater part of the three months in Colorado. He and Mrs. Watson and the children will go to A. & M. June 11-14 for the Texas School Administration Conference.

Coach "Big Jim" Cantrill will remain around these parts most of the time. Mrs. Cantrill will be teaching in summer school. Cantrill plans to go to the coaching school at Texas Tech from July 30 to August 11. Some time during the summer Mr. and Mrs. Cantrill will visit relatives in McKinney.

C. A. Wilkins, high school principal, will be in charge of summer school. He and Mrs. Wilkins and C. A. Junior will visit their people in Stephenville the latter part of the summer. Mrs. Wilkins is going down for a visit next week, but Wilkins will not accompany her this time.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse Writing from her home in Festus, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. I took it for constipation, headache and a dull feeling that I had so much. A few doses of Black-Draught—and I felt just fine."

Because so many people know from having used it that Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.

IN SOME WAYS THIS BANK IS LIKE A COUNTRY STORE

The old-time country store keeper was a good judge of human nature. He had to be. He got many requests for goods on the credit and he needed to know—and usually did know—when to say 'yes' and when not to.

Modern banking despite advance bookkeeping and adding machines, is a human business, too. To protect his depositors, a good banker relies on not one but several sets of dependable factors when considering a loan.

But, if he is wise, he looks beyond what mere statistics tell him. He learns to size up his man. He makes it a point to know as much as he can about his applicant's ability, energy, integrity and sense of responsibility. For figures may occasionally mask the truth. You can't juggle human nature.

Here at the City National Bank we never depend entirely upon machine-made statistics where our depositor's money is concerned. We always make our decisions in the light of what we know of a man's character.
