This week is Public Schools Week in Texas. This is the time when the public has a special invitation to visit the school. Any one is perfectly welcome to visit at any time but during Public Schools Week school officials urge the people of the community to visit and see for themselves the kind of school we have. Visit classrooms and determine if the textbooks used are of the kind you want your child to learn.

During these times of stress and tumult in many countries throughout the world it is desirable and urgent that patrons of schools learn about what is being taught their children. In the United States we have segments of our people who are leaning to the far right or the far left, and even some who are communists, all trying to capture the mind of man. The easiest way they can accomplish their purpose is by inserting propaganda of various sorts in textbooks used by the children of the nation. We must be particularly careful that none of their propaganda gets into textbooks.

Parents perhaps have always been vigilant concerning what was taught their children. But today they must be more vigilant than ever for there are so many ways of communication. Besides their textbooks children read magazines, newspapers and books and listen to radio, see and hear television. If you thing the extremists won't use any or all of these for their propaganda you are mistaken . . . they'll slip in something that favors their point of view every chance they have.

Just about everybody would like to see a good rain any time now. Very little moisture has fallen since early in December and surface moisture is gone.

Dr. Bruce Johnson said this week that those who wish to order a pecan tree at the low price of $3.00 for a 5 to 6 foot tree need to get their order in to him at once as he will order them next week.

If you want one or more pecan trees let Dr. Johnson know and send him a check for the number of trees you want. Only one order will be made so get yours in on time.

SENIORS TO PRESENT "NO BOYS ALLOWED"

The Senior Class of Loraine high school will present their annual class play "No Boys Allowed", at the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. March 15. The three act farce, has a cast of fourteen. Rita, a pert, attractive young lady of eighteen, slightly opinionated and headstrong is played by Sandra Cushing.

Jane, thirteen, Rita's younger sister, (Barbara Kidd) and something of a nee. Her chief ambition in life is to be a senior in high school. Victrola (Katrina Wells), is a buxom, superstitious Negro. She waddles rather than walks and throughout the play, she carries a suitcase and wears a coat over a loud print dress. Edwina, (Ann Dickenson) is seventeen, and very active and straightforward in manner; Belinda, (Joretta Hall) is a chatterbox of seventeen and is boy crazy. Nada, (Annette Browning) is eighteen, a tall, graceful girl with a slightly disdainful attitude; Patsy, (Beth Shepherd) a plump, good natured girl of fourteen who is always hungry. When Patsy isn't thinking of food, she is thinking of the time when she will be thinking of boys.

Mrs. Dana, (Ester Mosher) is a pleasant woman in her early forties; Fred, a good looking, likeable, but somewhat confused young man of eighteen is played by Don Redwine.

Leroy, (Jackie Bass), Leroy is a loyal pal, but he does not share Fred's interest in girls-though he is beginning to show signs. Keith (Thomas Vest) is good looking, somewhat conceited at eighteen with a confident, breezy manner; Harvey (David Little) is dominated much of the time by Keith.

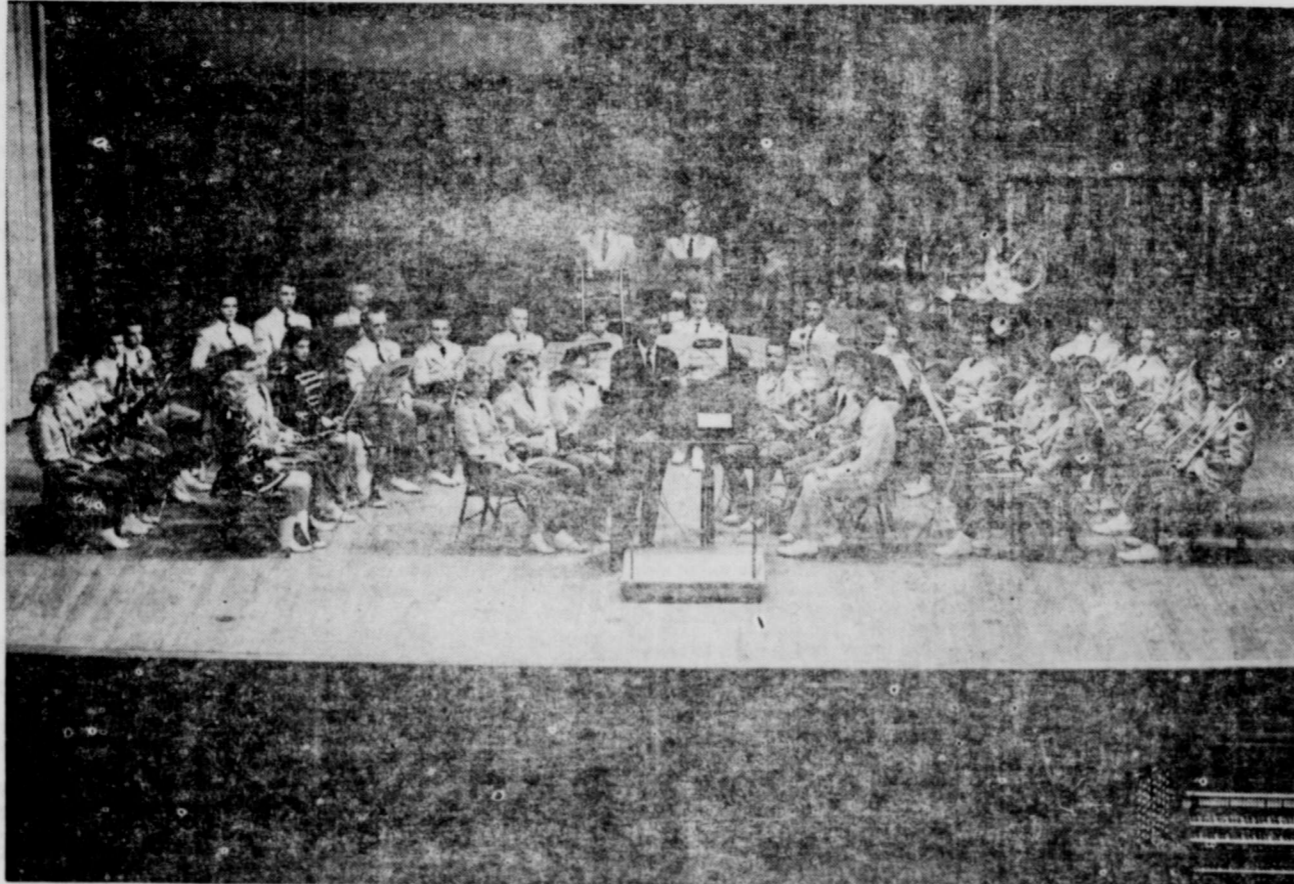

O'Brien, (Mike Dobbs) is a big fellow, dressed in a police uniform. He speaks with a slight Irish brogue; Mr. Midnight, (Mario Galvan) is a small, catlike man, with quick, stealthy movements.

Victrola, hired by the parents of one of the girls to look after them for one night in their absence, didn't count on a "slumber party" with "fifty-seven" girls comin' to sleep.

The girls get scared and they think it is boy friends trying to crash the party. The plot thickens and you wonder, who is the party, who is trying to crash the party, and many other questions about the plot before the surprising end of the third act.

The public is given a cordial invitation to come out and enjoy this evening of entertainment.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM BAPTIST THOSEMIST

Read Luke 18:9-14
 The son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son (Luke 15:21.)

Alone in a Chicago church, a young woman was practicing a solo for a service. Something caused her to glance over her shoulder. Standing behind her was a ragged, dirty man, with the saddest eyes she had ever seen. For a second her heart stood still. He quickly said, "Don't be afraid of me. My mother used to sing that song when I was a boy. I just stopped in to listen."

"Are you a Christian?" ask the girl. He shook his head. "I wish I were," he said. "But I have gone too far in sin to be worthy of the name. Maybe some day when I've straightened up my life—"

"Oh, there is no need to wait!" the young woman interrupted. "Pleading guilty to sin is the first step toward salvation. What you need to do now is to commit your life to Christ, believing, He will do the straightening up of your life."

"Too many people plan to clean up their lives before they come to Christ. 'If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.'"

PRAYER: O Lord, we know there is nothing we can do to merit salvation, for by Thy grace we are saved. We thank Thee for this grace, which makes it possible for us sinners to come to Thee just as we are, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Mitchell County News

By Vern Sanford

During the past hunting season more than 2,400 permits to kill antelope were issued to Texas hunters.

This may not seem unusual to people unfamiliar with the antelope story in Texas. But to those in the know it is indeed remarkable.

Back in the early 1930's the antelope was threatening to become extinct in Texas. There were less than 500 roaming the range. Only through concentrated conservation practices were antelope herds brought back to the huntable numbers we enjoy today.

The bulk of the Texas antelope are found in the Trans-Pecos region of West Texas. Some also roam the prairies of the Panhandle.

Unlike deer, the antelope won't jump a fence. When ranching became a big business in Texas, barbed wire fences were crisscrossed over the land, thus posing a man-made barrier to the antelope. Fences restricted the antelope's range.

But by trapping the antelope and moving them to areas where there were no fences, the Texas Game and Fish Commission expanded both the range of the antelope and the size of the herds.

In one instance, a few years back, a herd of antelope was causing some concern among pilots using the Marfa airport. The sleek animals gathered on the grassy runways to feed. Naturally the pilots had to do some fancy flying to dodge them.

But biologists took care of the problem. They simply trapped the antelope and found them a new home.

An antelope has horns branched like the antlers of a deer. But on an antelope they are true horns and not antlers. Antlers are solid bone.

The antelope is the only animal in the world with branched horns. Also, it's the only one which sheds the outer shell annually. It isn't kin to any other animal found in Texas.

The antelope is an animal of American vintage. It descended from a group of animals which couldn't fire at an antelope fronting a pack of fleeing animals, only to see one farther back in the herd topple.

The antelope not only can run fast, it also has great stamina. It can cruise along for miles at speeds of 35 miles-per-hour, and faster. When it really gets stretched out the antelope is probably moving somewhere in the vicinity of 60 mph.

Antelope in Texas don't grow as large as its cousins do in other parts of the United States, but every year some commendable trophies are bagged, especially in the Trans-Pecos region around Marfa and Alpine.

Any buck antelope which has horns measuring more than 14 inches in length is a fine trophy. Anything longer than 16 or 17 inches is truly something to brag about.

When 400,000 men and women volunteer their time and know-how to help 2.3 million 4-H Club members "learn, live and serve," the results are no less than spectacular.

For instance, the Head, Heart, Hands and Health youths finished nearly 4 million projects in more than 40 different categories just this past year.

In almost every instance, the completed project benefited the entire family and in many cases, the community as well.

The information comes from the Cooperative Extension Service which directs 4-H Club work.

Further proof of the far-reaching effect of 4-H was found in 1,900 record books maintained by state award winning club members. The records were reviewed in the headquarters of the National 4-H Service Committee last November, said Norman C. Mindrum, director, for the purpose of selecting boys and girls for scholarships and trip awards to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Sheila Nixon, 20, of Pomona, California, winner of a $400 Ford scholarship, commented: "The awards we win in 4-H work aren't totally ours. Many people have helped us win them."

Another national champion, who won a Sears-Roebuck Foundation scholarship for leadership, is 20-year-old Hoosier farmer Wayne Buck. He has a 4-H record so long "it would fill a book." Now a student at Purdue University, Buck credits 4-H training with teaching him how to accept responsibility, and to better understand the world and the people in it.

President Kennedy expressed a similar feeling when he said in a recent message to 4-H members: "I would commend you especially for your constructive and worthwhile efforts in learning to live and work cooperatively with others."

In the beginning, 4-H Clubs were intended for farm youngsters, and offered only projects in crops, livestock, home canning and cooking. The present program embraces a wide range of agricultural, home economics and scientific programs. With the exception of a few such as livestock, tractor and field crops, the projects can be carried on in town as well as on the farm.

4-H Moves to Town
Today, membership in 4-H Clubs is about equally divided between farm and non-farm boys and girls. The main reason for this shift is the disappearance of the small farm from the American agricultural scene.

EASTER SEAL SALE
The 1962 Easter Seal Appeal in Texas and the nation will be conducted March 15 through Easter Sunday, April 22.

Mrs. Thomas S. West, San Antonio, President of the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which sponsors the annual appeal to win public support for crippled children and adults in Texas, said that more than a million and half homes will be reached in this year's mailing.

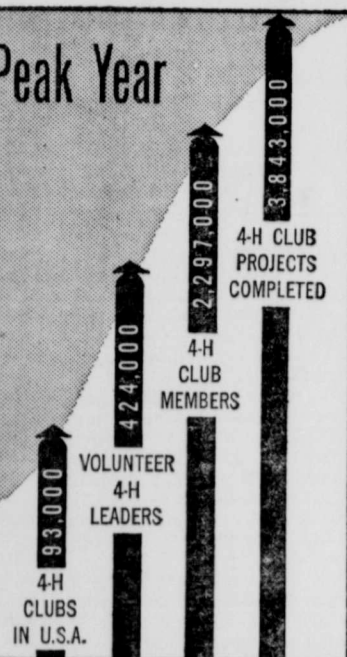

"It will be the most extensive, and if we are to meet our state's growing needs, it must be the most successful appeal in our history," she said.

Contributions received in response to the Easter Seal Parades and sheets of Easter Seals sent through the mails will be used to maintain and expand a variety of DIRECT services for the thousands of crippled children and adults in Texas.

The 1962 Appeal, conducted simultaneously by the 1400 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults in the 50 states, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, will mark 41 years of service to the crippled by the Easter Seal sponsored organizations.

Contributions in 1961 resulted in aid for 8,647 persons of all ages in Texas.

1962 FEED GRAIN SIGNUP UNDER WAY

Orville J. Linnam, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, states that farmers in Mitchell County are showing increased interest in the 1962 feed grain program. As of March 2, 1962, a total of 143 farms in the county were signed up to take part in the 1962 program through the diversion of about 5,524 acres from corn and grain sorghum into soil conserving uses.

Through a comparable period last year (the first three weeks of the signup), 103 county farms had been signed up under the 1961 feed grain program, for the diversion of 3,170 acres from 1961 crop corn and grain sorghum.

From now on, Chairman Linnam believes the office will be increasingly busy explaining the program to farmers and helping them fill out the necessary form indicating their "intention to participate" in the 1962 feed grain program. Under the program, diversion payments are available to farmers who shift a stated percentage of their acreage formerly planted to corn and grain sorghum into an approved soil conserving practice. By cooperating in the program, growers also qualify for price supports on
