But Motley, Patrol Route 1 mail carrier for Colorado City post office, had a hitchhiker on his route this week.

Motley wasn't aware of it at the time, but a big Texas bull snake hitchhiked in the framework of his auto for 25 or 30 miles.

The snake "hitched on" to Motley's car when he drove out at a slow speed near Valley View School in north-east Mitchell County.

When Motley stopped at the traffic light at Hickory and Second St., a friend yelled "You've got a snake crawling out from under your car."

The snake fell to the pavement and the car sped rapidly from the heat of the sun.

Peak Shortage Of 725 Hands Expected Here

According to the Texas Employment Commission, Mitchell County will be short 725 cotton pickers at the peak period of the 1957 cotton harvest.

To fill the shortage, the commission has estimated that 725 Mexican Nationals will have to be imported into Mitchell County to harvest this year's cotton crop.

To review the total seasonal employment needs as developed by the Texas Employment Commission, a three-day county farm labor committee has been established here.

The committee includes Father Thomas Quinlan, R. B. Baker and J. C. Costin.

During the cotton harvest, the committee will work with the Texas Employment Commission by obtaining facts relating to the supply of domestic farm workers available here and to worker shortages here.

The TEC will then supply this information to the Secretary of Labor who will limit the number of Mexican Nationals to be used in the county by granting a "ceiling."

The county committee will consult with the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office manager, Allen W. Worley, to assist him in determining the number of workers needed in Mitchell County.

"Ceilings" granted by the Secretary of Labor limiting the importation of Mexican Nationals into this area will be posted in post offices at Culberty, Westbury, Loraine and in Colorado City at the ASO office, the county agent's office, and in the County Courthouse.

In concluding thoughts the installing officer said, "To each of you braves of the tribe we give a grain of corn to plant for the future harvest and a twig to burn on the fire."

"May your crop steadily grow, the brightest the tribe has ever had."

The invocation was given by Mrs. Bob Robinson.

WOLVES IN GOOD SHAPE FOR CONTEST

Kermit to Host Undeaten Wolves in Saturday Game

Kermit High Yellow Jacket football team will place its undefeated record on the line Saturday when they host Colorado High's Wolves in their annual Homecoming.

Game time at Kermit Saturday is 8 p. m.

The last Jackets have downed their two opponents this season while a third ball game was cancelled.

Seminole fell before Kermit 41-0 while Lamesa was their victim last week, 21-13. Kermit opened the season against Hobbs, but the game was called off in the first quarter due to a driving rain storm.

Colorado City scouts report that Kermit has speed to burn and a potent squad of two complete playing units.

"They used one team one quarter and another team the next quarter," said Wolf coach Win Talley, "and just wear down the opposition."

Majority of the Kermit team is composed of squadmen and B-teamers from last year since they have only seven lettermen returning from the 1956 team that whipped the Wolves 33-0.

Competition is so keen that the Jackets starting quarterback of last year, Jack Probst, 6-2, 195, has been pushed out of his position by a 5-6 B-teamer, Mike Williams, 155-pound junior.

"Williams is like a machine with that football," the local scouts said after watching film work against Lamesa and Seminole.

City coaches weren't sure this week who Coach Joe Ehrig would start against the Wolves.

The lineup has changed considerably each week that the team played.

Probable starting backfield will feature Williams, the 155-pound junior, at quarterback.

Fullback is one of the top boys on the team, Charlie Thompson, 165-pound two-year letterman. Thompson and Probst are the only two-year number one winners on the team.

If Pace doesn't start, it will probably be Milton Moore, another speedster at 130 pounds. Dwayne Wright, 165, and P. M. McKinney, 180, both squadmen from the '56 team, are likely starters at ends.

At left tackle will be either Gene Gammill, 185, or Leburn Langston, 170, both lettermen.

Right tackle will be either Don Vaden, 190, or Jon Darrow, 200, both B-teamers last year.

Don Ash, 165, and Joe Marlett, 160, are the likely starters at guards. Marlett is a letterman.

Don Martin, 170, or Leo King, 180, will hold down the center position.

All in all, the Wolves and Yellow Jackets stack up about even in weight. The Kermit line outweighs the Wolves' forward wall about 10 pounds, while the backfields are about equal in weight.

Kermit has always been a tough game for the Wolves, even as far back as 1950 when the Jackets whupped 64 City in his district play, 36-0.

The only comparison between the two teams this year is the Seminole game. The Wolves beat Seminole 25-0 while Kermit went 16 points further in winning 41-0. Colorado City's squad is in good physical condition for the non-conference game with the District 2-AAA team.

Only injury on the list this week was 130-pound halfback Freddie Womack who had a flu. He was also shaken up in the Monahans game when the Lobos' 275-pound guard fell on him.

Richard Compton was running good this week after hurting his ankle last week.

Head Coach Bob Reilly and backfield coach Homer Jefferson are expected to stick to the same lineup they've used in the Wolves' three previous games.

That would place Jimmy Richardson and James Shoemaker at ends; Ken Simmons and Raymond Weaver at tackles; Paul Free and Joe Maddox at guards; Gene Williams at center.

Defensive specialists Don Powell and Dickie Richardson move into the line-up on defense.

Merkel B-Team Downs Rabbits In First Tilt

By FREDDIE HARRISON

Merkel's B-Team spanked the Larry Seymour and Ronnie English downed Colorado Junior High's Rabbits, 20-0, at Merkel last week.

Merkel grew blood early in the first quarter. Tailback English scored the first touchdown. The extra point try was good.

The Jackrabbits threatened several times only to fall short. A passing combination of Jerry McKay to Lewis Harrison proved quite effective. But was proved on two occasions, one good for 35 yards and the other for 45 yards.

English again scored for the Merkel squad midway in the second. A pass from quarterback Larry Seymour to wing back Johnny French was good for another Merkel touchdown. The try for point after was converted.

Standouts on the Colorado team were Douglas Hodges, Alex Campbell, McKay and Harrison.

WITH END OF DROUTH

Police Bonds To Pay With Progress

A trip to City Hall will point out the fact to any citizen that city police are woefully lacking in police station, jail and municipal court facilities.

For city police, there is one small room only for their headquarters, dispatcher and radio facilities; police assembly, accident prevention and crime files, prisoner interrogation area, clerking office, checking in and out of prisoners, public waiting room.

A second room—and both together are no larger than an average living room—is a makeshift municipal courtroom that doubles as an interrogation room in emergencies.

The situation is a handicap with which few police forces are burdened. Yet, our Colorado City police department provides police protection around the clock for the lion's share of Mitchell County's population. Qualified property owners of Colorado City will have the opportunity Tuesday of going to the polls to decide whether the handicap is lifted. They will either approve or disapprove the issuance of $35,000 in municipal bonds to build a police station and municipal court building.

Plans reveal the proposed building to be designed to meet the city's minimum police and court needs without any expensive frills.

But the most attractive feature is the fact that the $35,000 bond issue—if approved by the voters—will not cost the taxpayer one penny of extra cash. Sound financial condition of the city makes it possible for the city to issue the bonds and pay for those bonds over a period of years without additional incomes.

In other words, no tax raise will be necessary.

And that makes it pretty hard to turn down the proposition—when you can improve our law enforcement and municipal court procedure, add to progress with a better town—all with the same taxpaying bill.

In the early part of the year virtually the entire State sustained immeasurable loss from excessive rainfall and the accompanying disastrous floods. A number of rivers, dry for years, were above flood stage for a month.

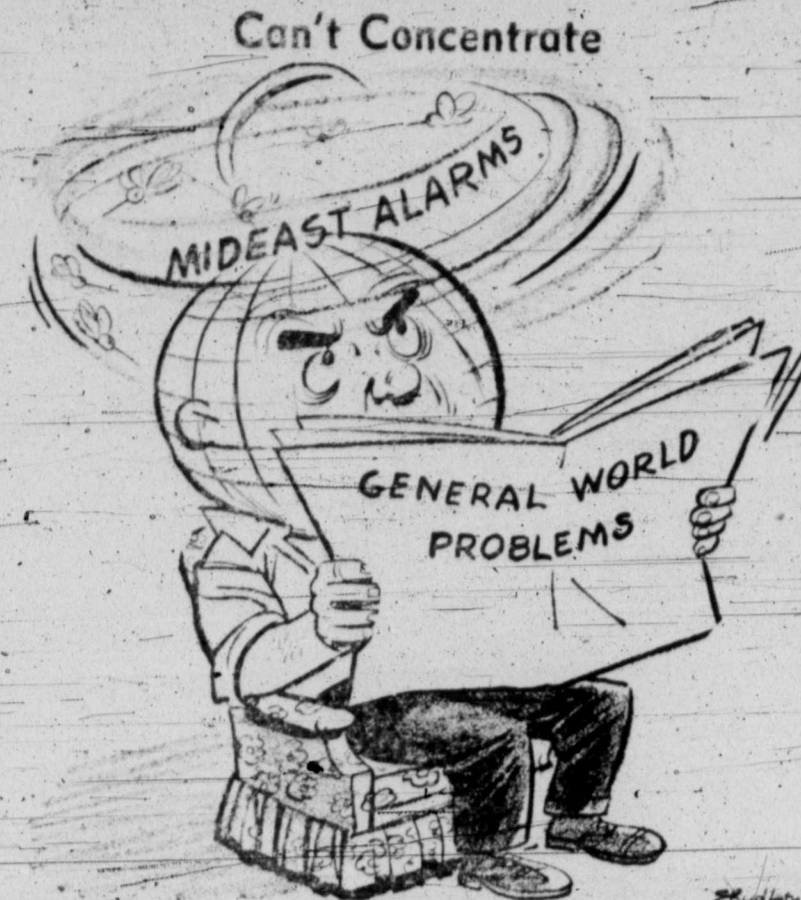

Then as suddenly as they began, the rains ceased and much of the state experienced a far more serious condition of drouth than at any time during the past nine years. Now within the past week, the state has again been hit by floods.

The need for water has long been proclaimed the No. 1 problem in Texas. Fantastic proposals to correct the situation have been advanced. These range all the way from pipelines to the Great Lakes, cross-country canals, to the building of huge reservoirs in the Panhandle area for the storage of water imported from other States.

But Texas does not need to import water. Texas gets all the water it needs. The solution to the Texas water problem is not more water, but rather the proper use of what it gets from the skies each year. Proper utilization of this water means it must be stored to be available as needed.

This is what House Joint Resolution No. 3 proposes to do, if adopted by the public as a constitutional amendment at the Nov. 5 election.

This proposed amendment would authorize the issuance of up to $200,000,000 in state bonds for construction of facilities for storing and preserving flood waters. The money derived from the sale of these bonds would not be spent by the State, but would be loaned to local governing bodies, such as towns, cities, and water districts, where it would be used in such manner as local needs dictate.

Federal troops in the area are not a new thing. The law of the land is the law of the land. The law of the land is the law of the land.

After a child is killed, it will be too late to do anything about it. Those words were spoken by a school board member during a discussion of the problem of reckless driving in school zones.

While admitting that the problem of reckless driving in the vicinity of the school has bothered us for many years, the board members were of the opinion that it is growing in intensity. One of the main reasons for this is the fact that more students are driving automobiles to and from school.

The board members pointed out, however, that not all the reckless driving is by students. Many adults traveling on the Highway 170 in front of the school buildings are also guilty of traffic violations and not all of these adult drivers are tourists.

A number of suggestions were made for increased traffic safety. Among these were 15-mile speed limit signs, no passing stripes and even radar checks by the State Highway Patrol. It was explained, however, that none of these measures would solve the problem unless a harder bite is put on offenders. Laxity in making arrests and laxity in penalizing those arrested and found guilty were mentioned by the board members as deterrents to a traffic safety program.

The most troublesome times, of course, are just before school takes up in the morning, during the lunch hour, and for 15 to 20 minutes after school is dismissed in the afternoon. But, even while classes are in session, safe and sane driving should be practiced by motorists in school zones. At any time of the day, one or more children may be crossing the street on some mission or another.

The board took action by appointing two of its members to confer with the county judge and city officials in regard to stricter enforcement of the traffic laws and in seeing what can be done to make sure that those found guilty of infractions are penalized accordingly. It's high time that they get together on this. As the board member said, "After a child is killed, it will be too late to do anything about it."

One New York firm makes an egg vendor which handles two different grades and keeps the eggs cool in summer and warm in winter, selling for $1.45 a box. A special shelter that fits over the machine costs an extra $150. With savings in time, money and trouble, this type of automation may be just what the egg producer needs.

$200,000,000 Jump Ahead In 1957 Texas Farm Income

By VERA SANFORD
Texas Press Association
How much will Texas' drouth shocked farm economy be able to come back, thanks to 1957 rains?

U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates says Texas' 1957 cash income, from all farm and ranch products, may be as much as $200,000,000 higher than last year.

Actual statistics now in are not so rosy. Reports from the University of Texas-Bureau of Business Research show cash income as of July, down 13 per cent from July of last year. Farm income for July is 70 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

"Farm income" says a BBR analyst, "is still the most depressed sector of the Texas economy, although rising prices and a better outlook for crops give some grounds for optimism."

Some attribute the poor cash showing in reports thus far to lateness of crops in areas where continued spring rains delayed planting.

Whatever final statistics show, most farmers and farm observers seem to regard 1957 as the beginning of better things. It rained. And though the rains may have washed out cotton, rotted melons and milled grain, it put a season in the ground.

Integration Repercussions
News from Little Rock, Ark., brought expressions of concern and disapproval from the Texas Capitol.

Gov. Price Daniel, on hearing the President had sent in federal troops to enforce school integration, fired off a telegram to the White House. Such action, said Daniel, was "reminiscent of the tactics of Reconstruction Days."

"Does this mean you will go

Supply with troops every non-integrated school in the South? The Governor asked, "If so, your action will destroy the public school systems and good will among the races which most of us in the South have labored so hard to preserve."

U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was in the State Capitol at the time for a Democratic women's gathering, said he was "concerned and disturbed."

"I think there should be no troops from either side patrolling our school campuses," said Johnson.

New Laws Suggested

Speculators of the ICT investigations are no longer interested in what Ben C. Cagle did or didn't do. Or in what he says or doesn't say. They are more interested in the effect the ICT matter will have on future insurance regulations.

Cagle answered a few general questions for the Senate investigating committee. But he refused to answer 99 others on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

However, officials of the State Insurance Department spoke to the committee specifically and without hesitation. Commissioner William A. Harrison suggested need for possible legislation in four areas:

1. More authority to determine the competence of management and to pass on management contracts. (Jack Cagle Co. had a management contract with ICT.)

2. More board control over financial record keeping by companies.

3. Change in the minimum capital requirements for organizing a company (presumably to require more capital).

4. Changes in insurance investment restrictions.

After the shock of the first flare-up, most Texans seemed resigned to living with the Asian flu threat for awhile.

Although cases tripled (to 9,131) in a week health officials in some areas reported a decline. Some said they felt they were "over the hump."

Shoemaker's Policy

An Austin district judge has ordered the state receiver to stop paying premiums on A.B. Shoemaker's giant insurance policy. Value of the gradually diminishing policy was down to $712,000.

At one time the policy would have been worth $1,000,000 on Shoemaker's death. Money would have been added to the assets of the bankrupt U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co.

Shoemaker attempted to kill himself after his company collapsed. His death seemed imminent, and the $200,000-year premiums were kept paid. Now, doctors say Shoemaker may live another 15 years.

Water Problems

Water contests are back in the news.

City of San Antonio has been trying for more than three years to get permission to take 100,000 acre feet of water annually from Canyon Dam to be built near New Braunfels. Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority opposed the request and last July the State Water Board turned down San Antonio's application.

San Antonio has now filed suit in an Austin court to get the board's decision nullified.

Fort Worth had better luck with the Water Board. It gained permission to take 385,000 acre feet a year from tributaries of the Trinity. Enough, presumably, to care for the city's needs until the year 2000.

But there were protests, both from within and without Fort Worth. Board said permit is a new type which will protect the supply of downstream users.

School Panel

House Speaker Waggoner Carr added three more to the committee which is to study means for handling Texas' growing school population. They are Mrs. Will Miller of Corsicana, Nat Williams of Lubbock and Stone Wells of Houston.

Appointment of six persons by Governor Daniel will complete the 24-member committee.

School Bus Law

There still are people who don't observe Texas school bus law, say state officials. Seven were killed in school bus collisions last year.

Wide publicity on the provisions of the law are urged by Education, Highway and Safety Department officials. Basically, the laws say:

1. A driver meeting or overtaking a school bus that has stopped to load or discharge passengers must stop immediately. He may then proceed, cautiously, at not more than 10 miles per hour.

2. Law does not apply in city limits, or on a divided highway where the bus is on a different roadway from the other vehicle.

SLUM-CLEARANCE AND a handful of beautiful byproducts may be in store for Colorado City sooner than most people imagine.

In all probability the engineering firm of Matkin and Fitch (a Houston company) will have a "workable program" designed and ready for presentation at the November city council meeting.

This "workable program" is the first step toward acquiring approval for the federal funds which will be necessary to carry out a local program of slum-clearance and low-rent housing.

The "workable program" costs Colorado City nothing, but, in return, the firm is granted the contract for designing our "urban renewal" development, if the program receives federal approval.

SUBSTANDARD OR SLUM housing in four city areas will be cleared away and families from the areas will be moved into new low-rent housing units constructed elsewhere. Most likely the units will be duplex-type structures.

Cost of building the housing units will be paid by a federal loan which will be repaid from rent from the units over a period of years.

Two only part of the cost which will be met by the city is for buying and clearing slum areas.

IF THE PROGRAM FOR Colorado City is approved—and there seems at present to be little reason to doubt that it will—work on the first of the low-rent housing units could conceivably begin here next spring, depending on the speed with which action is taken by Matkin and Fitch and by the city.

At any rate, if approved, some physical evidence of the local program will undoubtedly be seen sometime within the next year.

WITH THE SLUM AREAS cleared and the residents of these areas moved into clean, comfortable, low-rent residences, an interesting problem will be created.

What does the city do with the former slum areas?

According to city officials, the city could do a lot of different things—the most interesting probably being using the areas for various city institutions such as parks or selling the areas for industrial development.

WHEN RUDDICK PARK was built, it offered something new in the way of recreation facilities in this area. In the 1930's the park's amphitheatre enjoyed widespread popularity and was acclaimed as an outstanding park facility among West Texas towns of comparable size.

That, however, was 20 years ago, and while Ruddick Park still maintains its value as a recreation area, it alone is no longer adequate for a town the size of Colorado City.

We need at least one more park and preferably two more—one on the south side and one on the west side of town.

The slum clearance program may offer just the opportunity needed for the construction of

From the way it tasted, the only connection between some lemonade we've sampled and lemons was the trip past a lemon grove made by the chemical tank car en route to the bottling works.

A message from Henry Bilberry, "Your Pharmacist"

PRESCRIPTION PHARMACISTS EVERYWHERE celebrate National Pharmacy Week from October 6th to 12th. Once each year we rededicate ourselves to our profession of pharmacy.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS are spent annually on research to perfect new drugs. Devoted scientists and physicians clinically test them to make certain they safely accomplish the desired result.

FINALLY IT IS UP TO US PHARMACISTS. The medicine is prescribed by your Physician and you entrust us with the compounding of your prescription. Because of our years of study in a College of Pharmacy it is our duty to check if the prescribed dosage is safe to take and compound every prescription exactly as your physician specifies.

AS YOUR PHARMACIST, we value this confidence in our knowledge and integrity. Like your Physician we consider your health our chief consideration.

THIS NATIONAL PHARMACY WEEK we again renew our pledge to practice our Profession of Pharmacy in strict accord with our traditional Code of Ethics.

DURING OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER

Tremendous Savings to Be Available on Gas Ranges

Tremendous savings on gas ranges—the finest pieces of cooking equipment money can buy—will be available during the Giant Value Range Sale to be conducted during October and November by Colorado City appliance dealers in cooperation with Lone Star Gas Company.

High trade-in allowances and special terms, along with these low prices, will be emphasized by the dealers participating in the campaign.

This ranges to be displayed during the campaign will be of the "Burner With A Brain" type, the high quality and will contain the many features of convenience and economy that have come to be expected from gas ranges.

Foremost among these will be the "Burner With A Brain," the most revolutionary cooking device since the invention of the thermostat.

During the campaign, special "Burner With A Brain" sales will be given away by participating dealers just in time for Halloween. These colorful masks depict the robot face that has come to symbolize this new cooking innovation. Colorful wall and window posters along with gas pennants will mark the dealers' participation in the Giant Value Range Sale. The poster displays will be prominently featured.

This year the gas range dealer has a special incentive to set up an attractive display. Lone Star Gas Company is sponsoring a contest for the most attractive floor or window display, and by Colorado City appliance dealers in cooperation with Lone Star Gas Company.

A highlight of every dealer's display will be the new and modern way of cooking made possible by low-cost natural gas. With such features as, thermostatic griddles, meat thermometers, removable rotisseries and range tops, in addition to the "Burner With A Brain," the new gas ranges make cooking an easier task than ever before.

With their striking lines and bright sparkling colors the new gas ranges are available in such a wide range of styles and colors that they will match any kitchen, no matter what its decor.

Lone Star's Home Economists Department personnel will play a key role in the Giant Value Range Sale with their dealer sales floor demonstrations. Easily identified by their smart white aprons with the blue flame, these college-trained young women will present the many new features on the gas ranges as well as answer all questions. Refreshments will be served at these demonstrations.

At the demonstrations, Julia Meade, recipe folders will be given away.

These attractive and colorful folders give a number of interesting recipes and provide style hints by showing the famous actress in clothes she might wear to serve the various dishes.

In addition to their work in the dealers' store, the home economists will follow up each sale with a visit to the customer's home. During this visit she will give the owner of the new range additional information about its care and will also supply valuable aid in explaining the new cooking features.

Most of the gas range brands on sale at local dealers will be on display at the Lone Star exhibit at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 5-20. In addition these displays will feature other fine gas appliances and "Ranges of the Future," advanced labor-saving models.

The "Burner With A Brain" is only one of the many accurate controls that make today's gas cooking cooler, safer, quicker than any other method. The automatic "Burner With A Brain" makes every pot and pan an automatic appliance.

It prevents overcooking as well as undercooking, and guarantees accurate temperatures.

The new ranges to be shown in the Giant Value Range Sale will place great stress on cool cooking—since modern gas ranges produce no "hangover heat." That lingers in a cooking element after the unit is turned off. Tiny pilots in the new gas ranges give off no more heat than a person seated in a room.

Throughout the campaign special advertising by Lone Star, local dealers and the American Gas Association will be featured. Julia Meade will demonstrate the features of the "Burner With A Brain" on "Playhouse 90," the award-winning CBS dramatic television show, and national magazines will include full-page color advertisements.

During the Giant Value Range Sale, gas appliance dealers will offer particularly attractive finance and insurance plans. Low down payments, high trade-in allowances and special discounts will provide a range that can be tailored to any budget.

Dealers May Compete for Cash Prizes

Colorado City gas appliance dealers have a chance to win cash prizes in the display contest sponsored by Lone Star Gas Company in connection with the Giant Value Range Sale in October and November. Both floor and window displays are eligible for the competition.

Prizes ranging from $100 to $250 will be awarded in separate contests in Lone Star's Dallas, Fort Worth and General Divisions of Distribution.

Contest rules point out that the display, using materials provided by Lone Star or similar materials, must carry out the campaign theme. Photographs of the window displays will be submitted to Lone Star's Advertising Department in Dallas for judging.

Floor and window displays will be judged primarily on originality of ideas and secondly on clarity of presentation, giving small dealers a chance to compete on an equal basis with large dealers.

He who is prejudiced is usually down on something he's not up on.

BIBLE COMMENT

Luke's Gospel Has Color, Perspective

The Gospel of Luke clearly shows that he always "saw" events in their largeness and fullness. Great, yet intimate, all that he wrote. Yet, little is known about Luke except that he was a physician, friend, and for a time, companion of Paul. He evidently was a faithful companion for Paul said Luke was still with him while another had forsaken him.

Luke was not simply chronicling cold facts. He was an earnest disciple, deeply moved by the facts. Luke's Gospel was written for his friend, Theophilus. It may be that Theophilus was in Luke's mind the figure for any "lover of God," a name which Theophilus, in any event, Luke wrote for.

McKinney With Third Marines

Robert M. McKinney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Carter of 854 E. 14th St. in Colorado City, is now serving on Okinawa with the Third U. S. Marine Division.

McKinney will return to the United States on rotation in September, 1957.

He enlisted in the Marine Corps Sept. 5, 1956 and received his basic training at the U. S. Naval Training Center in San Diego, Calif.

He was assigned to duty with the Third Marine Division after completion of basic training.

Truth has only to change hands a few times to become fiction.

No Smoking With Gas

Smokeless broiling is one of the big advantages of the modern gas range. And the flame-kissed flavor of gas-broiled meats is unmatched by any other cooking method. You have that, crusty taste that's possible only with a flame.

Broiling is a method of cooking by direct heat and the heat is well equipped to do the job.

The gas range is designed to broil with the broiler door closed, thus holding the heat inside the broiler. This keeps the kitchen and the homemaker cooler.

Broiler pans are constructed to allow grease and fat to drain away from the heat zone. The flame above food consumes smoke and grease, thus eliminating smoke.

Nobody ever gets anything for nothing, but a lot of people keep trying.
