If you are a registered voter residing in Scurry County, you will get your second opportunity this month Saturday to go to the polls.

Tomorrow's election, which comes just one week after the Democratic Party primary election, will result in some crucial decisions for the Scurry County Junior College District. The two proposals on the ballot must be approved, according to appraisal by financial experts, if the two-year college here is to be opened on schedule and with adequate facilities.

The college district is asking for a change in its authorized tax rates and in the amount of interest which college district bonds may draw. This, the financial experts say, is necessary for bonds to be sold to finance construction of college facilities on the campus south of town, which was donated to the college.

Every registered voter in the county may cast a ballot, although the votes of property owners will be put in boxes separate from those of non-property owners, because the courts have not yet decided whether non-property owners may vote in tax and bond elections. Anyway, approval by voters in both categories would erase all doubt about our desires for the college here.

News dispatches out of the Texas Industrial Commission office in Austin may add fuel to dissatisfaction over census figures in many Texas regions.

A recent Dun & Bradstreet survey shows Texas is now No. 1 in industrial growth, with a total of 901 new plants located in the state in 1969. This was 42 per cent better than second-best California, the commission reports.

An accompaning chart, compiled from data assembled by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, shows that a manufacturing facility which brings 100 new employes into a town means 296 more people, 112 more households, $590,000 more in personal income, $270,000 more in bank deposits, $360,000 more in retail sales per year.

If these surveys are correct, where did all of the people go? They haven't been found by the census takers.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 12, the 163rd day of 1970. There are 202 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1665, the city of New York was incorporated under English law. A mayor, five aldermen and a sheriff were appointed.

On this date:

In 1630, the first governor of the Massachusetts Bay Co., John Winthrop, sailed into the harbor of Salem.

In 1838, the territory of Iowa was organized.

In 1839, if legend is to be believed, Abner Doubleday created a new ball game at Cooperstown, N. Y. He called it baseball.

In 1912, actress Lillian Russell married her fourth husband Alexander P. Moore of Pittsburgh Pa., and announced she was quitting the stage.

In 1940, Japanese bombers heavily damaged Chungking, China.

In 1963, civil rights leader Medgar W. Evers was shot to death in Jackson, Miss.

Ten years ago: President Dwight D. Eisenhower flew to Anchorage, Alaska, on his way to the Far East for a two-week tour.

Five years ago: South Vietnam's Premier Phanh Huy Quat resigned and a military group took over.

One year ago: A 15-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., boy who had lied about his age to join the Marines, was killed in South Vietnam. He was the youngest American to die in the war.

Voters To Decide College Proposals

Scurry County voters tomorrow will go to the polls to decide two proposals submitted by the Scurry County Junior College District.

The college district is asking that the interest limitation for its bonds be raised from 6½ per cent as provided in the original college election creating the district, to the 10 per cent maximum allowed by the state. At the same time, it is proposed that the maximum tax rate for retiring bonds be set at 50 cents per $100 valuation and the maximum tax rate for maintenance and operation be set at 35 cents.

Financial advisors of the college district, who have expressed doubts that the district's $3¼ million bond issue could be sold at all under present limitations, say that both proposals need approval to put the college district in good financial condition, based on the current money market.

The board of trustees of the college district has indicated that the over-all rate for bonds and maintenance combined will be about 50 cents and possibly less if the two proposals are approved at the polls.

If the proposals are turned down by the voters, the college faces indefinite delays in getting into operation. Moreover, it was pointed out by trustees and their financial advisors that delays inevitably would mean more increased construction costs, since the longer the building contracts are postponed, the higher they are likely to be, based on current and previous trend.

The original steering committee which brought the junior college proposal to a vote last November recommended that every effort be made to have the college in operation by the fall of 1971.

Trustees and administrators of the college district said they hoped to follow this schedule. However, it will be necessary to award construction contracts late this summer to have facilities ready for the college's first term to begin in the fall of 1971.

The college is using the county rolls for taxation and the county tax assssor-collector is collecting the taxes under contract with the district.

College officials said that the amount of taxes assessed at an overall 50-cent rate would be very little more for the average taxpayer than for the 35-cent rate as provided originally. For example, a piece of property with a value of $10,000 would be taxed $5.62 per year under the proposed new rate, compared to $3.94 under the 35-cent rate.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at all voting boxes in the county.

Cycle Club Head Nabbed With Dope

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A top Hells Angels leader was arrested Thursday night and $350,000 in heroin and cocaine was seized in one of the biggest narcotics raids in the city's history.

After a year of surveillance, 23 police searched the ranch-style home of Ralph Hubert "Sonny" Barger, president of the Oakland Hells Angels, one of the biggest chapters of the nationwide motorcycle club.

Police confiscated 10 guns, several thousand rounds of ammunition and a small quantity of drugs when the search started.

Report Hostages Freed In Amman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fifty-eight foreigners held hostage in Amman were reported released today, but Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported that a commando group was holding the widow of an American military attache killed by guerrillas in the Jordanian capital earlier this week.

A guerrilla organization in Beirut announced that the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine this morning released the 58 Americans, Britons and other foreigners it had help captive for more than 36 hours in Amman's two main hotels.

Diplomats in the Lebanese capital confirmed the report, but had no details. Regular communication channels with the Jordanian capital were still cut.

The American woman reported a prisoner of the commandos was the widow of Maj. Robert P. Perry of Chicago, an attache of the U.S. Embassy in Amman who was killed by a group of guerrillas who invaded his residence Wednesday at the height of the fighting between the Palestinians and Jordanian troops.

Earlier reports said Mrs. Perry and two of their three children were present when Perry was killed, but the Egyptian report today made no mention of the children.

As the Palestine guerrillas refused to be satisfied by concessions from King Hussein of Jordan and made new demands, U.S. officials were preparing to evacuate about 400 Americans living in Jordan.

In Washington, the White House said only "precautionary planning" was being done. But a representative of the International Red Cross arrived in Amman today to arrange the evacuation, and three Lebanese jetliners were standing by in Beirut to fly the evacuees to Athens.

Hussein made major concession to the guerrillas Thursday by dismissing his uncle from command of his army and removing a cousin from command of an army division that had spearheaded the battle against the guerrillas in Amman. But Al Fatah, the largest of the commando organizations, said in a broadcast from Cairo that this was only "the beginning of victory for the people."

Tornadoes Hit Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes churning out of heavy thunderstorms over the Great Plains Thursday night struck more than a dozen towns in Oklahoma and Arkansas, causing death, damage and injuries.

Two persons were killed—one in each state—by tornadoes, and three others died in incidents related to the storms in Oklahoma. Arkansas counted 25 injured and Oklahoma 12.

Nineteen mobile homes were reported demolished in the Oklahoma communities of Alta Vista and Long Town, south of Tulsa. A teen-age girl died in the Alta Vista twister.

Hardest hit in Arkansas was the mountain town of Springdale, 190 miles northwest of Little Rock. National Guardsmen living in the area were called to duty to search for injured in damaged homes and other buildings.

Say Cambodia To Give Up Half Of Area

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government, faced with sharply mounting pressure from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, has decided reluctantly to cede almost half the country to enemy control, well informed diplomatic sources said today.

The disclosure came as military sources reported that enemy troops seized nearly half of the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, 30 miles south of Phnom Penh in heavy fighting.

Refugees from the town, which lies on the only highway open to Cambodia's major port of Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, said the enemy held the central market and virtually all of that part of the town which lies south of a river bisecting it.

Western military experts termed the decision to cede territory to the enemy realistic, and said that even by concentrating its forces around phnom Penh and northwest of the capital, the government will have only a 50-50 chance of surviving the next four or five months of monsoon rains.

The threat to the port of Kompong Som, through which all of Phnom Penh's fuel and other vital supplies must pass could have critical consequences.

Enemy troops also made a strong attack 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh in what could be a prelude to new assaults on the key Mekong River town of Kompong Cham.

Spokesmen said the fighting at Siem Reap, near the Angkor temple ruins, had subsided, but strong enemy forces were still in the area.

The diplomats said Premier Lon Nol's government, in assessing its prospects, had written off the extensive eastern territory in which U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have been operating. With its army and strategic reserves already spread dangerously thin, the sources said the government realizes that much of the area east and south of Phnom Penh will revert to Communist control if the U.S. and South Vietnamese leave.

Already the government has lost control of vast areas in the northeast and the situation there worsens almost daily.

Cicadas Drum Mating Songs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The so-called 17-year locusts have emerged from their underground burrows in various parts of the nation to drum their familiar mating song through another summer.

A survey showed today the outbreak of the insects, which are actually misnamed periodic cicadas, has primarily occurred in wooded areas of the East and Middle West.

Particularly heavy concentrations were reported only in certain areas of Indiana. Along Fall Creek in northeast Indianapolis the insects were almost as thick as swarming bees and the noise of the incessantly drummed love songs was deafening.

Although the cicadas generally cause little damage to plant life, they have cut through the branches of many maple, mulberry and fruit trees in the Fall Creek area.

The cicadas caused slight damage to fruit trees in northeastern West Virginia.

In Minneapolis, entomologists said the outbreak was not severe and they were not recommending anything for controlling the insects.

Columbus, Ohio, and many other areas in the Midwest had outbreaks of the bugs, but none of the outbreaks were reported to be troublesome.

A spokesman for the New York State Conservation Department said the state has escaped a major infestation this year. He said the insects have not generally been causing problems.

"They don't defoliate like the Biblical locusts which are grasshoppers, he said. "Most damage by cicadas is done by females who slit branches on fruit trees to lay eggs. The young hatch in the tree and then fall to the ground and bury themselves for 17 years."

Dr. Ray Janes, entomologist at Michigan State University, said the cicada outbreak in the Detroit area has been "very mild." He said Michigan is not as susceptible as some other states to the insects because a lot of forest land has been cut since 1953.

There were outbreaks in North Carolina and some damage reported to apple orchards.

There was little noise from the cicadas in Washington, D.C., but heavier outbreaks occurred in the suburban areas. One suburban dweller described the noise as "like waking up in the morning in a roller skating rink."

Pennsylvania entomologists reported cicadas in 40 of 67 counties.

Driver Training For Adults

The Texas Department of Public Safety, in cooperation with Shariff Keith Collier and Bobby Goodwin, acting police chief of Snyder, has announced that a driver training school for adults will be conducted here, beginning June 29.

Classes will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on June 29-30 and July 1-2. These will include three sessions of instruction and one session for examinations.

If registration justifies, there will be one class taught in English and another in Spanish, with each limited to the first 60 persons to register.

In announcing the school here, Maj. E. K. Browning of Midland, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, said that the purpose of the school is to assist unlicensed drivers 18 years old and older to acquire the knowledge and skill needed to qualify for a Texas driver license.

"We feel that this free service will make our streets and highways safer by making more people aware of traffic laws and driving procedures," Maj. Browning said.

The school here is one of many being conducted across the state.

Persons interested in attending here should register at the driver license office at 1912 Thirty-seventh Street prior to the beginning of the school. Those registering must bring proof of date of birth.

Mrs. Davis Dies At 88

Mrs. Tom (Vina) Davis, 88, who lived at 3106 Hill Avenue, died at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

A native of Hamilton, Ala., Mrs. Davis had been a resident here 45 years.

The funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Raymond Hall, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Neinda Cemetery at Hamlin, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Amon Weaver of Snyder; two sons, Grover N. Moulton of Houston and John R. Moulton of Abilene; a brother, Floyd Pollard of Phoenix, Ariz.; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Irby, Noel and O. H. Weaver, all of Hamlin, W. L. Harris of Abilene, Elmo Crowder and Alton Greenfield.

Dallas Population Has Big Increase

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas population is 836,093, an increase of 23 per cent over the last decade, preliminary 1970 census figures showed today. The 1960 census was 679,684.

The 1970 Dallas County population is 1,315,664, compared to 951,527 in 1960.

Spokesmen at a news conference said the county population grew 38.3 per cent.

Dallas is the second largest city in Texas.

Only the Houston figures remain to be made public. An announcement is expected in Houston next week.

The figures were announced at a news conference by Dallas Mayor Erik Jonnson and County Judge Lew Sterrett.

The standard metropolitan area for Dallas, which encompasses six counties, grew from a 1960 population of 1,119,410 to a 1970 population of 1,538,749, or an increase of 37.5 per cent.

Other preliminary population figures announced today included, with 1970 figures first:

Patient's friend lied to doctor

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to "STEADY READER." You gave that meddling woman the go ahead to call her dear friend's doctor and offer him "information" about his patient.

I think this is very sneaky. I, too, had a "dear friend" who called my psychiatrist and told him things about me she thought he ought to know. (This was all done "for my own good," of course.)

It wasn't necessary, however, because I had always been completely honest with my psychiatrist. Well, he chose to believe her lies instead of my truths and now I no longer have a psychiatrist OR a "dear friend."

I wouldn't set foot into another psychiatrist's office if you paid me. And as for a doctor who would take the word of a third party in preference to the person he is treating—let him send HER the bill. EX-PATIENT

DEAR EX: I advised STEADY READER to tell her friend that if she herself didn't tell her doctor that she had three sources for the pills he had prescribed for her, she [STEADY READER] should tip the doctor off. This, I think would have been a kindness.

If your psychiatrist actually accepted the "lies" of a third party in preference to your truths, then he needs a psychiatrist. But, if you were only imagining that your friend and your doctor were "conspiring" against you, then I think you desperately need to return for more therapy.

DEAR ABBY: Our high school senior son is "in love" with a 12-year-old girl. He is a good student [or he was until his grades took a nosedive], he's on the basketball team and has never even dated a girl before this one. She is a seventh grader and isn't allowed to date, but they get together at our house because she has suddenly become "best friends" with our 13-year-old daughter.

I won't go into detail here, but I found a "love letter" this girl wrote to our son, which confirmed everything I had suspected. This little girl is mature beyond her years, and they are headed for serious trouble if something isn't done to keep them apart, or cooled off.

Should my husband talk to our son? Should I talk to the girl? Should my husband and I talk to the kids together? Should we just handle our son, and let the girl's parents handle her? All I need now is a 12-year-old daughter-in-law with a baby on the way! WORRIED STIFF

DEAR WORRIED: Have your husband talk to your son. YOU talk to the girl. Then the both of you talk to the kids together. THEN, tell the girl's mother that half the battle is hers!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother asked my husband to give her the money he was going to spend on my birthday present, and they would give me something "together" which she would pick out.

Well, she picked out a loud pink and orange plaid coat with a low belt all around. I have always had a weight problem, and would never dream of wearing anything that looked like that and she surely must have known it.

My mother-in-law has excellent taste when it comes to selecting her own clothes. What would you say happened in this case, Abby? And how would you have handled it?

BURNED UP IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR BURNED: There are two possibilities. Either she did it on purpose, or she didn't. Regardless, I would have handled it very carefully while placing it in its original box to return it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOL S., MY 84-YEAR-OLD BOY-FRIEND IN CHICAGO: I might have known that you were no ordinary man. Like fine wine and violins, you improve with age. Shalom, Sweetheart!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Long Sentence In Narcotics Case

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — A jury recommended perhaps the longest sentence ever for a narcotics conviction in Ector County Thursday, assessing 99 years against Lorenzo Gomez Alvarez, 18, of Odessa.

Alvarez was convicted on a charge of selling six packets of heroin to a state undercover narcotics agent last July. It was his first offense.

The 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated 10 minutes on the verdict and an hour on the punishment.

Dist. Judge R. L. McKim delayed sentencing pending an expected appeal.

Moonshine Load Is Confiscated

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Federal agents here have confiscated 1,000 gallons of moonshine whisky and arrested a 49-year-old Mississippi man.

The sizure came Tuesday when officers stopped a truck near Texarkana loaded with plastic gallon jugs of the "white lightning."

Officers valued the illegal booze at $10,000.

Federal Agent Joseph R. Kalister said it was the second largest haul of moonshine in Texas in recent years.

The man arrested was jailed under $1,500 bond.

Officers took the whisky to a dump ground where it was destroyed.

Safeguard Funds Get House Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting a last-ditch attempt to kill the Safeguard antimissile system, the House has passed a $1.99 billion military construction appropriation.

Approved 308 to 57 Thursday and sent to the Senate, the measure includes $365.8 million for Safeguard development, construction and housing.

Army Captain On Rotary Program

The Snyder Rotary Club met yesterday at noon for their weekly meeting. Henry Clark, president, presided.

The program was presented by Captain James Pitts from Ft. Bliss, El Paso. Captain Pitts showed slides and gave a commentary on his 12-month tour in Vietnam. He is part of the Army's speakers bureau which gives the individual soldier's view of the war.

Guests at the meeting were John Best, son and guest of Rotarian Gene Best, Mickey Nunley, guest of Henry Clark, and Jim Welch of Lubbock, guest of Broadway Browning.

Good Time To Be Out Of Office

DALLAS (AP) — State Sen. Mike McKool said he was glad he was absent Thursday when someone fired a bullet into a window of his second floor law office.

A workman discovered the shattered glass and called attention to the incident in early afternoon.

Police found a bullet, apparently from a .38 caliber gun, embedded in the thick, tempered glass. They said it probably came from a passing car.

McKool expressed doubt that the shot was an attempt on his life, but he noted it would have been going toward his desk if it had penetrated the heavy glass.

"It was right in line with where I sit," McKool said. "I'm glad I wasn't here when it hit."

Politics Hampered Job, Says Allen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deposed U.S. commissioner of Education James E. Allen says his job was hampered by politics and lack of White House direction. But he nevertheless considers his 13 months as the country's top educator "rewarding and satisfying."

Calling his dismissal Wednesday "surprising," Allen said he does not blame outgoing Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch for his ouster, but indicated the decision was made at the White House.

In a statement and press conference Thursday Allen said he will "regret that I shall no longer be directly involved in the many excellent projects and programs that are under way in the Office of Education and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

But the 59-year-old former New York State education commissioner said he had not received White House support during his service. He said nearly a dozen key jobs had gone unfilled because he had heard unofficially that names he had submitted had been rejected at higher levels of the administration.

Although the administration had made much progress in the field of school desegregation "I did not believe there was a full commitment."

Regarding his recent criticism of the President's decision to send U.S. ground forces in Cambodia, Allen said:

"Since this issue has so profoundly affected the education community and the youth of the nation, I believed that I could not refrain from publicly expressing my views."

At the White House Thursday Nixon's press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler acknowledged that the President concurred in Allen's dismissal. Ziegler said Nixon had been "generally disappointed" with Allen. Ziegler said Allen's departure was not directly related to his criticism of the administration's Cambodia policy.

Plea Heard In District Court

Lewis Stewart Smith pleaded guilty in District Court this morning to driving while intoxicated, second offense, and he received a 2-year prison term.

Gerald McGaha, charged with manufacturing alcoholic beverages in a dry area and with malicious mischief, pleaded innocent. Bond was set at $500 in each case. The offense occurred June 7.

Hubert To Start Comeback

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a political power in Minnesota for 25 years, hits the comeback trail Saturday with an announcement that he is a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Humphrey, 59, will follow up the announcement with a news conference Sunday afternoon at his lakeside home in Waverly.

He will seek the seat now held by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a fellow Democrat who has announced he will not seek re-election.

Humphrey is counting on endorsement without opposition at the state Democratic party convention June 26-28.

His opponent in November will be Republican Rep. Clark MacGregor, a 10-year congressman with close ties to the Nixon administration.

MacGregor, 48, is unopposed for his party's endorsement at the state GOP convention next week.

The Vietnam war is likely to be a major issue of the Minnesota campaign.

Humphrey said last October he would promise never to say that Nixon "lost the war" if the President undertook a systematic withdrawal from Vietnam.

Dreams Are Not Always Fleeting

NEW YORK (AP) — Our dreams do not flash by in an instant—they can take as long to occur as the event would while awake.

A tired man does not sleep like a log—the brain can be as active during sleep as when we are awake.

Dreams reflect our personalities. And creative people can, and do, make actual use of their dreams.

These are some of the things behavioral scientists have learned lately in their research on dreams, research that counters old myths.

A review of the research is made in a June special issue of the social science magazine Psychology Today, which says more has been learned in the last 15 years about sleep and dreams than ever before.

"Most researchers now agree that mental activity occurs continuously throughout sleep," the publication said. However, there are periods during sleep, four to six times a night for most people, when most dreaming takes place.

These periods, called "REM periods" for "rapid eye movements" occur at intervals of about 90 minutes, with the first one about an hour or so after going to sleep. It lasts from 5 to 10 minutes. Later periods last up to 25 minutes.

Dr. Robert L. Van de Castle, director of the Sleep and Dream Laboratory at the University of Virginia Medical School, said a study of 2,000 men and 2,000 women showed that dreams "serve as mirrors of the self, offering fascinating looks at the structure of the psyche."

"Women," he said, "frequently dream about being indoors and in familiar settings. People are more numerous in women's dreams. They are generally known to the dreamer, and their faces and clothing are carefully described.

"Women are more friendly toward men than toward other women in their dreams, but they report very few overt sex dreams. When a woman does acknowledge sexual involvement, it is almost always with a man she knows."

Men's dreams are more adventurous and feature more physical activities, the magazine reported. Half of all their aggressive encounters involve physical violence. The aggression is acted out most often on men the dreamer does not know.

"Men appear to be greatly preoccupied with other men," the journal said. "Male characters outnumber female characters more than 2 to 1 in men's dreams. Vocational interests are more apparent, as other men are often identified by their occupational roles, and success-and-failure themes are more common."

Dr. Stanley Krippner, director of the William C. Menninger Dream Laboratory of the Maimonides Medical Center in New York, said, "Recent studies indicate that dreaming and the creative processes are related."

Researchers, Krippner said, found a definite correlation between imagination in dreams and creativity test scores. One study of 105 college students, he said, showed that art students remembered their dreams more often than science and engineering students.

WOMEN

Perot Gets Favorable Reaction from Women

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Texas industrialist Ross Perot appealed to mother instincts, emotions and civic pride Thursday to win over the world's largest women's organization in his crusade to free U.S. prisoners of war.

He called on the General Federation of Women's Clubs for aid in the campaign and the response was immediate.

Perot was applauded time and again as he spoke, and he received a standing ovation from [illegible] delegates.

"Mr. Perot has told you specifically what you can do," the federation president, Mrs. Walter Magee, told delegates. "I'm asking each of you who's going to do something about it to raise your hand."

Hundreds of hands shot up in a show of support. The delegates, meeting here in their 79th annual convention, represent 11 million members throughout the world.

The convention was scheduled to take up an "emergency resolution" on Perot's appeal today.

Perot urged the federation to ask that candidates for Congress make the release of POWs held by North Vietnam part of their printed campaign platforms.

He urged the clubwomen to urge that newspapers, television stations and other communications media take editorial stands on the POW question.

Such a show of public opinion [illegible] the estimated 1,500 prisoners," Perot said.

"Public opinion in the United States is totally important" to the North Vietnamese, he said. "They don't want the American people to hate them over 1,500 men."

Perot recalled meeting a 4-year-old boy who was born after his father was shot down in Vietnam. "For four years he didn't know if he had a father or not," the crewcut billionaire said.

Then he traced the lives of typical U.S. pilots — "carefully screened, outstanding young men who had been the best of the best."

"From a mother's point of view," he said, "just think of all the love and affection that you pour into a little boy as you develop him to have these qualities and this capacity and potential."

Then these young men find themselves "flying into some of the most adverse military conditions we've ever asked a man to fly into," Perot said.

He asked his listeners to imagine what it's like to parachute into the jungle after being shot down.

"... And now you're drifting down and you're literally going back in time several hundred of [illegible] years. You're drifting down into a jungle where the people live under the most primitive conditions possible," Perot said.

He told how the enemy forces U.S. POWs to live in tiny bamboo cages, holes in the ground or caves with no light. They eat little more than rice and fish heads, he said.

"Some of these men," he said, "have been prisoners of war twice as long as any other men in the history of this nation — some for as much as six years."

Keeping them alive, he said, are religious convictions, love of country and family, and "just the intuitive feeling that somehow, some way, we're going to get those men out."

Brown Elected President Of Women's Federation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Earle A. Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa., a busy and oft-honored civic leader, was formally named president Thursday of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Brown, who had served the past year as president-elect, will be installed as president of the world's largest women's organization Friday night.

She will hold her post for two years, succeeding Mrs. Walter Varney Magee of Lakewood, Ohio.

Mrs. Kermit V. Haugan of Minneapolis, Miss., was elected first vice president Thursday. She had no opponent.

Under the federation's bylaws, the first vice pesident becomes president-elect during the second year of her term of office. Thus Mrs. Haugan is virtually assured of elevation to the presidency.

All offices except the presidency are open to contest and there were 11 candidates for the six other offices in Thursday's election.

The other new officers are Mrs. Carroll E. Miller of Charleston, West Va., who had no opponent, second vice president; Mrs. Harold M. Burkholder, Peace Dale, R.I., third vice president; Mrs. Harry Wagner Jr., Prescott, Ariz., recording secretary; Mrs. Hubert J. Bell, Kalispell, Mont., treasurer; and Miss Joan Buchanan, Bernardsville, N.J., no opponent, director of junior clubs.

Desert Features Bartlett Pears

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Angelfood cake, canned Bartlett pears and butterscotch sauce make a deliciously easy dessert to put together for your family or guests.

The butterscotch sauce called for needs only to be brought to a boil and boiled for 2 minutes. Because the sauce is served cool, you can mix it up before a meal.

PEAR ANGELFOOD WITH BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

1 can (1 lb) Bartlett pear halves
Sliced angelfood cake
Butterscotch Sauce, see recipe

Drain pear halves. Lightly toast angelfood cake slices. Place a pear half on a cake slice and add some of the Butterscotch Sauce; pass remaining sauce.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

NOTE: If you like, you can serve a scoop of vanilla ice cream on each of these desserts.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
2-3d cup light cream or half-and-half
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons dark corn syrup
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Into a medium saucepan turn the sugars, cream, butter, corn syrup and salt. Over medium heat, stirring constantly, bring to a boil and boil 1 minute.

Remove from heat. Cool for 5 to 10 minutes, stirring often. Stir in vanilla. Cool completely—sauce will thicken as it cools. Stir before serving. Makes about 2 cups.

DESSERT COMBO — Toasted angelfood cake, canned Bartlett pear halves plus a deliciously easy-to-make Butterscotch Sauce.

Hairdressers For College Proposals

The local Haridressers Affiliate No. 77 held their monthly meeting at Carlos' Little Mexico Wednesday night. Eleven members and four guests were present at the meeting.

Highlighting the evening was an informative talk from Dr. Robert Clinton concerning the Western Texas College election Saturday.

Dr. Clinton explained the importance of propositions one and two and the need for these propositions to be successfully voted Saturday.

The hairdressers affiliate endorsed the proposition and urged all citizens of Scurry County to vote for them.

Conflict Dogs Griffin At Home And At Work

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure and conflict pursue Robert P. Griffin relentlessly.

Even at home his 19-year-old son vigorously opposes the Vietnam war while a 17-year-old collects pictures of Barry Goldwater.

The assistant Republican leader of the U.S. Senate can dismiss this quirk with a philosophical wave of the hand. But it is symbolic of other pressures, mounting daily, that keep him awake nights between 16 to 20-hour working days.

Prolonged Senate debate on the invasion of Cambodia has thrust Griffin back onto the national stage where, despite dramatic success in championing unpopular causes, he has never quite caught on.

But Griffin's increasing defense of the administration is causing worry among some friends and supporters. They feel he has taken a turn to the right that could harm him politically in Washington and in his labor-dominated home state of Michigan where faint rumblings can be heard.

Others—not quite so friendly—feel the Republican whip is too ambitious.

They accuse him—anonymously—of trying to shoulder aside GOP Leader Hugh Scott, a 69-year-old Pennsylvanian trying to preserve the necessary liberal credentials for re-election this year.

Griffin denies both charges.

"I don't look at things in terms of right or left," says the 46-year-old small town lawyer in the slow, cautious tones that are the hallmark of his public image. "In close situations, I believe in giving my president the benefit of the doubt."

With a resigned sigh, Griffin also denies the widespread but only whispered accusations that he is after Scott's job.

"Really," he says, "the best thing that could happen to me would be for Hugh to shore up his position so there just isn't any doubt he'll be re-elected. Life would be much simpler."

Nevertheless, the murmurings behind his back—which Griffin acknowledges are the price of leadership—go on. They add to the pressures that friend and enemy agree make his present situation the roughest in the Senate.

Those pressures began almost the instant Griffin was elected whip. A compromise choice, the election was accomplished with the help of a dozen or so liberal-moderates who, with some justification, consider themselves the Senate's real Republican power brokers.

Only a few months earlier Abe Fortas had resigned from the Supreme Court following conflict of interest charges. The move appeared to vindicate Griffin's lonely battle of a year earlier to block Fortas' nomination as chief justice.

The liberal-moderates were elated when Griffin, shortly after becoming whip, broke with the White House on the high court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

His decision was a crucial factor in Haynsworth's defeat.

A 10-year congressman from a conservative Michigan district before going to the Senate in 1966, Griffin further endeared himself to the liberal-moderates by siding with them in fights over minority hiring and voting rights proposals.

Then came the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell.

Scott was away campaigning much of the time in a state where the Carswell nomination was not popular anyway. Griffin felt it his duty to fill the leadership void. But he confided to friends that he was not happy with the nomination. And he managed to convey an air of reluctance.

It was the U.S. attack into Cambodia that brought his troubles bubbling near the surface.

"It was several weeks ago we began to get the impression he was setting himself up as the man the White House talks to in the Senate," says one of the liberal-moderates.

"He was running with Dole and that crowd," says this man, referring to Republican Robert J. Dole of Kansas, one of the Senate's most outspoken conservatives. "We told him very clearly he has no future here or in Michigan with that bunch."

"Basically' I agree with the President on the Cambodian decision," Griffin says. "It was within his constitutional powers and I believe history will prove him right."

His chunky frame relaxing in dark blue suit, Griffin commented as his limousine speeds him to the airport from a losing floor fight in support of the President. His eyes behind plastic-rimmed glasses are thoughtful, his roundish, unlined face serious.

He was headed for yet another of the interminable fund raising dinners where he would say, as he has at similar functions for weeks, "We must be proud of the President for a courageous decision."

But behind him in the Capitol the debates continue—on the floor its Cambodia, in the corridors its Robert Paul Griffin.

Junior Editors Quiz on DEW

QUESTION: Where does dew come from?

ANSWER: There is always some water in the air in the form of invisible water vapor. This is what humidity means. If it's very humid, there is much water vapor. As more and more water is taken up, the air approaches its dew point, or the point when it can hold no more. The higher the temperature, the more water air will hold before it reaches its dew point. If the temperature is 86 degrees, air can hold 30.4 grams of water vapor per cubic meter; so when it has this amount it is saturated, or has a relative humidity of 100 percent. If the temperature is lower, the air will reach its dew point with less water vapor. After air has reached its dew point, the extra moisture will condense or become visible as drops of water if it comes into contact with something cool. At night, objects like leaves and cobwebs cool down quickly and the air next to them also cools down. When the air reaches its dew point the extra moisture condenses in sparkling drops which we see in the morning sunlight as dew.

Pavement Plato's Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Heaven is somewhat out of favor today as a final place of retirement. Many people are almost as appalled at the thought of going to heaven as their ancestors feared going to hell.

Why is heaven losing its appeal as an upper level spa, a last resort for the deserving.

One reason may be that it is too segregated for avant-garde tastes. The idea of dwelling forever in a community unspeckled by sin repels some people who prefer to regard themselves as more tolerant of the faults of their wayward fellow man.

Another reason heaven has fallen out of favor is the widely expressed dread that existence there would be dull, monotonous and lacking in excitement. Given the possibility of an after life, a considerable segment of the population would rather return to earth as a chipmunk, a polar bear—or possibly a stallion— than spend eternity flapping their wings above the fleecy clouds.

The potential flaws of heaven have been pointed out by a number of distinguished critics.

"There are people who, if they ever reach heaven, will commence at once looking for their own set," said Josh Billings.

"In heaven, all the interesting people are missing," grumbled Friedrich Nietzsche.

Yes, all in all, what heaven needs most today is a good press agent. He could counter these withering critical blasts by pointing out the charms and attractions of heaven.

Such as:

Where on earth could you find such a plendid view?

Anybody who enjoys long after-dinner speeches could have one hell of a time in heaven.

Because of its altitude, heaven is completely free of the pollen from ragweed and other plants that cause hay fever.

The rent there is reasonable and the leases never expire. There has never been a finer landlord.

You wouldn't have to walk the dog every morning and night.

What better place can you think of to go if you want to get away from it all including rock 'n' roll music?

The company needn't be everlastingly boring. You could always invite a devil to lunch during National Brotherhood Century.

You would have the pleasure of belonging to a minority guaranteed to remain nonviolent forever.

Your wife would be easier to get along with. She wouldn't have to act as family chauffeur, fix a broken vacuum cleaner, or worry about money problems.

There are no hangovers or hang-ups in heaven.

So, man, don't be in a hurry to turn your back on heaven. You may decide later—too much later—that's where you really want to go. Get on the roll call now.

Braves , Oilers Win In J. L.

The Braves bested the Buffs 11-1 in a Junior Teenage League tussle in Towle Park last night.

Lee Melot turned in a creditable mound performance for the Braves, limiting the Buffs to only two hits — singles by K. Ledman and W. Caddell.

Melot's teammates collected a total of nine safeties, including four hits by Ralph Lewis and two by Garland Vaughn. One of Lewis' hits was a double. Also hitting safely for the Braves were Greg Godair, Melot and Randy Golden.

Also in the Junior Teenage League last night, the Oilers bested the Bullets 16-1.

Jerry Webb sparked the Oiler attack with two hits, including a double while Robert Braziel smashed a triple and Bobby Wall got credit for another double.

Single base hits were collected by Charles Anderson, Keith Baize, Barry Keller and Joe Hardin.

For the Bullets, Ricky Rios came through with a double and Marvin McClanahan singled.

Maneuving Stops Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Legal maneuvering has blocked Charles O. Finley's plans to buy the Oakland Seals.

The price of the National Hockey League team also appears to have risen as a result of Thursday's court action. A written offer topping Finley's bid by $400,000 was presented on behalf of a group headed by Jerry Seltzer of Oakland, owner of the Roller Derby.

Finley's offer was $3.4 million and he would waive rights to $700,000 in NHL expansion money. Seltzer has offered $4.5 million.

Finley, owner of baseball's Oakland A's, currently is trying to get NHL approval as a potential franchise holder.

San Francisco Superior Court Judge Robert H. Schnacke was to have made the sale to Finley final Thursday, but a U. S. District Court judge issued a restraining order against sale of the team.

The restraining order said there should be no sale until a bankruptcy referee disposes of a petition filed by the group trying to cling to the team or to sell it for more than Finley's $3.4 million.

Trans-National Communications, Inc., is the current owner of the franchise—by a thread. In the petition filed in U. S. Bankruptcy Court Thursday, Trans-National asks more time to clean up its debts.

TNC, also owner of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association, bought the team a year ago from the original owners, a group headed by Florida sportsman Barry Van Gerbig.

On June 1, Judge Schnacke ruled TNC in default on loans connected with the sale and said the Van Gerbig group could resell the team to Finley.

Schnacke continued the case until Monday, when the bankruptcy hearing is also scheduled. The Seltzer offer will be considered, too, Schnacke said.

Blues Strike Back, 8-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Memphis Blues apparently have decided that enough is enough.

They started the season with a torrid winning streak and pulled far ahead of the rest of the Texas League's Eastern Division field before starting a slow decline.

Memphis lost first place to Arkansas last Sunday and earlier this week was tied by San Antonio for second place.

But the Blues struck back Thursday night, unleashing a 14-hit barrage to bury the Dallas - Fort Worth Spurs 8-3 and gain sole possession of second place.

In other games Western Division leader Albuquerque blanked San Antonio 3-0, Amarillo whipped Shreveport 9-3 and El Paso shellacked Shreveport 15-10 in a 31-hit game.

Memphis' pitcher Charles Williams had a no-hitter going through five innings against the Spurs. He finished with a five-hitter and a 5-1 record.

Ted Bashore and Chico Diaz led the Memphis assault. Each collected three hits and a pair of doubles.

Undefeated Albuquerque pitcher Jim Flynn extended his string of victories to eight against the Missions. He limited the Missions to a pair of singles.

Chip Coulter led El Paso's torrid 15-hit attack with a four-for-four effort. Wayne Dees belts a three-run homer to highlight Shreveport's six-run third inning. The Braves got 15 hits.

Judge Asks For Accounting

HOUSTON (AP) — If Roy Hofheinz and his Houston Sports Association don't submit required annual financial reports, Harris County Judge Bill Elliott said Thursday, legal action may be taken to end a 40-year lease the association holds on the Astrodome.

County commissioners were told by the county auditor that the sports association, owner of the Houston Astros in the National league, had not submitted financial reports which were due April 1.

The reports are required under terms of the lease.

"It should be checked into and if necessary legal action be taken to terminate the contract," said Elliott.

The auditor, Grady Fullerton, told newsmen he had nothing to add to a written report he submitted to the commissioners.

"This is a legal matter for the county attorney," he said.

The Astrodome, home of the Astros, is owned by Harris County.

The Astros are owned by the Sports Association and Hofheinz owns 88 per cent of the association. The association also books other attractions, such as football games, into the dome. Reports on proceeds from all events are required to the county.

Last year the association reported income of $5.9 million from rental of the dome. Reported income from the dome was $8.06 million in 1966, $7.6 million in 1967 and $6.3 million in 1968.

Elliott Is New Coach

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Chalmers B. "Bump" Elliott, named athletic director at the University of Iowa Thursday, has a good head start toward winning the devotion of Hawkeye football fans—who are both legion and vociferous.

Elliott, 45, became popular with many fans during five years (1952-56) as an assistant Iowa football coach under Forest Evashevski, the man he will replace as athletic director and who recommended him for the job.

"My wife and I have [illegible] many times on our fine years at Iowa City," Elliott told a news conference after his appointment was approved by the State Board of Regents Thursday. "I'm deeply honored to return to Iowa as athletic director."

Elliott left Iowa in 1958 to return to his alma mater, the University of Michigan, as a backfield coach. He was promoted to head coach in 1958 with the retirement of Bennie Osterban.

He coached the Wolverines to a nine-year record of 51-42-3, including Big Ten and Rose Bowl championships in 1964, before taking over as Michigan associate athletic director in 1968.

Elliott steps into a tight situation at Iowa. Evashevski's resignation last month was the culmination of a feud with head football coach Ray Nagel, who was relieved of his duties the day Evashevski resigned only to be reinstated four days later.

Redlegs Slate Two Contests

There will be a baseball game Saturday night at the Northeast Park.

The Snyder Redlegs Vs. the San Angelo Hawks is the game on tap for Saturday night. On Sunday, the Snyder Redlegs will meet the Lamesa Red Sox.

Cardinals,Yanks Win In L. Loop

The Cardinals clipped the Braves 13-1 and the Yankees whipped the Athletics 4-3 in two Little League contests held in Towle Park yesterday.

Clifford Kay sparked the Cardinal attack, getting two doubles and two singles. Phil Robinson knocked a home run, and so did Mike Clifton.

Getting three hits each were Sidney Everton and Bobby Allen.

Phil Robinson pitched a one-hitter for the Cardinals, yielding [illegible] Francis, Randy Riggs, Tim Falls, Danny McCormick, Stan Talbott and Greg Hinton.

That Athletic-Yankee contest was close, but the Yanks managed to score one run in the 6th inning as Ray Brandon, the winning pitcher, Randy Wilson and Phil Baker each slammed two hits.

Single base hits were rapped out by Salvador Canales, Ricky Tate, Wayne Barnes and Tom Jones.

For the Athletics, Chester Cobb knocked a home run while Charles Cobb, Charles Hammond, Bryan Walton and David Reed each hit singles.

Cards, Tribe Win In FL

The Cardinals clipped the Braves 11-6 and the Indians scalped the White Sox 15-0 in two exciting Farm League contests held in Towle Park last night.

Hitting safely for the Cardinals were Dennis Gary, who collected three hits; Gary Eckert and Mark Duke, who rapped two hits each. Single base hits were made by Donald Bennett, G. G. Miller, Glen Smylie, Roy Dicharry and Keith Horley.

The Braves managed only six hits — a triple and a single by Keith Young — a double by Doyle Browning and singles by James Spivey, Larry Huddleston and Randy Stone.

That Indian White Sox affray was one-sided in favor of the Tribe as Gary Cartler and Jessie Villareal each smashed two hits, including doubles. Tony Rodriguez also stroked a double for the Trible while Steve Bounds, Richard Crayton, Gary Welch and David Lee each singled.

There was only one hit for the White Sox as Jerry Dickey came through with a single. Richard Crayton did an excellent pitching job for the Indians.

Bridges Dies At Age 79

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— Frank Bridges, the man who coached Baylor to the Southwest Conference football championship in 1924, is dead at the age of 79.

Funeral services have been scheduled Saturday here.

Bridges coached the Bears from 1920 to 1925, posting a 35-18-6 record. He directed the Bears to SWC titles in 1922 and 1924.

He was a master at devising trick plays that would confuse and confound opponents—yet all of his plays were legal. Bridges once said he never knowingly broke a rule of football.

Bridges was a resident here 40 years and coached St. Mary's University football teams from 1935 to 1938. He also was associated with the Golden Gloves during a career that spanned several sports in various sections of the nation.

While at Baylor, Bridges also coached the 1923 baseball team to a conference title. Ted Lyons, that team's star pitcher, now is in the Hall of Fame.

Following his career at Baylor, Bridges was head coach at Hardin - Simmons (1928-1930), Texas Military College (1931-1934) and St. Mary's.

He then scouted and coached for the San Francisco Olympic Club before joining the coaching staff of the old Brooklyn Dodgers of the national Football League.

Bridges also serves as a baseball scout for the Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia Athletics, Brooklyn Dodgers and Detroit Tigers from 1946 until his retirement in 1953.

Eddie Belmonte, who wore a $600 yellow velvet suit to the Preakness, used to have a Chinese tailor in Los Angeles.

AAAA Title Goes On Line

AUSTIN (AP) — Two Houston schools, Bellaire and Aldine, will battle for the Class AAAA crown and Dumas and Brenham vie for the Class AAA championship in the state schoolboy baseball tournament today.

None of the finalists got there by a wide margin.

In the Class AAA semifinals Thursday, it took a single by Clark Schneider in the final for Bellaire to nip Alice 1-0 and Aldine scratched out a 3-0 victory over Lubbock Monterey.

Dumas had to go an extra inning to whip Fort Worth Carter-Riverside 2-1 on right fielder Don Jordan's single. In the other Class AAA semifinal, Larry McDonald's bases-loaded two-out triple gave Brenham a 3-0 victory over Eagle Pass.

There will be no third place games for the losers this year.

Aldine advanced behind the scrambling pitching of Glenn Bryant who repeatedly worked himself out of trouble and left 11 Monterey runners stranded. Bryant pitched a two-hitter and struck out 11 but walked nine.

Monterey had runners on third base in four different innings but failed to score.

Aldine's runs came in the fourth inning when Paul Miller was caught in a rundown but scored when a throw to the plate hit him in the back. The other run scored on a wild pitch by loser Jack Darnell.

Adult Tennis Class Underway

A number of adults have indicated an interest in playing tennis, according to Coach Bill Boles, who said a class for beginner-adults is being organized.

Included among those who already have signed up are Bill Erwin, Linda Wesson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watlington, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walls, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Masters and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Perriman.

The beginner class for adults will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursdays. Anyone interested in joining may sign up.

Skipper Hopes For Change

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Charley Morgan hopes today will be different for his sleek new 12-meter yacht, Heritage, out of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The 40-year-old Morgan, who designed, built and skippers the Heritage, received a rude reception Thursday in the preliminary trials to pick a defender for the America's Cup.

Morgan and the Heritage were beaten by Intrepid and Valiant in the races on Long Island Sound by the convincing times of one minute, 57 seconds and by 5:42, respectively.

Baseball Series Begins Tonight

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Two tournament favorites, the Texas Longhorns and Southern California Trojans, open the College World Series tonight in a twi-night doubleheader against teams making their first trips to the NCAA baseball showdown.

Texas, 36-6, will face the Delaware Blue Hens, 22-4, in the opener at Rosenblatt Stadium followed by USC, 47-14, playing the Ohio University Bobcats, 31-4.

The championship is up for [illegible] since last year's winner, Arizona State, failed to gain a return trip.

Tonight's losers will meet in the double-elimination, eight-team tournament Saturday afternoon.

The first round will be completed with a twi-night twinbill Saturday which sends the Florida State Seminoles, 45-7, against the Arizona Wildcats, 44-16, and the Dartmouth Indians, 23-8, against the Iowa State Cyclones, 18-9.

For the first time games are scheduled Sunday. The meet is expected to run for about one week.

Tyrone Reveals Coaching Change

Coach Wayne Tyrone today announced a coaching change with the elevation of Grayson Wetzel to the varsity as a secondary coach. He also will help with the offensive backs.

A native of Brownwood, Wetzel played high school ball for the Brownwood Lions under Coach Gordon Wood and college ball at Howard-Payne College. He formerly coached at Lampasas and Gatesville before moving here.

"These are dedicated, moral young men with outstanding personalities," said Coach Tyrone, adding, "They're good football men."

Mansfield Has Become 'Saint Of The Senate'

By SAUL PETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — At his place of business, he fidgets or wanders among the richly finished mahogany desks or sits with the clerks and stares from a lined, leathery face with hurt expression at the bronzed clock on the wall as though time were a personal affront.

Under the skylight outlining the Great Seal of his country, he returns to the first seat on the right of the center aisle in the front row, the chair of an extraordinary man in an ill-defined job at an extraordinary time. He is the Democratic majority leader of the United States Senate, in a season of constitutional crisis, a time of greater rupture between the Senate and the President of the United States than any since the days of Woodrow Wilson.

None of this is to the liking of Mike Mansfield, who is awed by the office of the presidency but not by presidents, who reveres the institutions of government and is constantly pointing out that its occupants are only transient. It happens, too, that he is profoundly opposed to the war in Vietnam and Cambodia and is orchestrating the bipartisan efforts of Congress to define the president's warmaking powers.

He is in a position of power which, it is commonly agreed, he uses with all the respectful care of a yeoman carrying the crown jewels, to a coronation. On both sides of the aisle, in an age of alarums, of strident voices and personal image-building, old-fashioned words like honest, fair, humble, quiet, guileless, nice, unassuming and patriotic cling to him like stubborn vines. Mike Mansfield of Montana is, perhaps, the last of the low profiles, a man so singularly uncolorful and so indifferent to personal charisma that he is, these days, singularly colorful.

In 1964, Mansfield's last election year, Everett Dirksen, then Republican minority leader, threw back his classic mane, rose on the floor of the Senate and committed what he called "political heresy." He hoped publicly that Mansfield would be back. He praised him as a leader who leads "through sheer force of character and gentility," not through drive. Dirksen said he would go almost anywhere to campaign for Republicans [illegible] but please, not Montana.

Northern Democratic liberals, Southern Democratic conservatives, moderate Republicans, conservative Republicans: there are apparently no anti-Mansfield senators as such these days. Some have complained mildly in the past that he could be more effective as party leader by being more partisanly aggressive. Others, apparently a large majority, insist that this ex-miner and ex-Marine is effective by being one of the least combative men in the Senate. In any case, says a member of the Senate staff, Mike Mansfield, at 67, in his ninth year as majority leader and his 18th as senator from Montana, "has now grown into a kind of untouchable—nobody dares really zing him."

Picture, if you can, this scene in the White House, which violates Newton's law of motion that every action demands an opposite and equal reaction. Lyndon Johnson is president and he is conferring with the Democratic leaders of Congress. He particularly wants something from Mansfield, who was once his protege and succeeded him as Senate leader. The President rises, warming to his task, circles his prey, gestures, cries with passion, pleads, cajoles, invokes the gods of patriotism and party. The president subsides and awaits the reply from the thin man from Montana.

"Mike," said a man who was there, "simply would keep his firm jaw up tight, puff on his pipe and answer, 'yes' or 'no' or 'won't work.' It was like stepping from a very hot bath into very cold water."

Mansfield employs no press secretary, sends out few releases and, unlike most who do, does not have his picture or name lettered largely on the material. In a chamber of galloping egos, he rarely claims credit for anything and praise makes him uncomfortable. He has been one of the few men in Washington consistently believed when he denies having any ambitions beyond the Senate.

Recently a staff assistant asked the majority leader when he was going to have his portrait done to hang one day in the Capitol with those of past leaders.

"What for?" asked Mansfield. "For history's sake."

"When I'm gone, I want to be forgotten."

Period.

Born of Irish immigrant parents in Manhattan, father a hotel porter, mother died early...Carted off to Montana to live with relatives. Kerosene lamps, no inside plumbing, Saturday night baths in a wash tub of water heated on the stove...Fibbing about his age at 14, joined Navy in first world war, then the Army, later the Marines, making rare alumnus of all three services...Worked eight years in Montana copper mines 2,800 feet down for $4.25 a day in the Depression...At urging of wife, who cashed in her life insurance, completed education, getting last high school credit and BA from Montana State almost simultaneously, at 30...Came home one day with proud purchase: four pounds of hamburger for 25 cents. Wife cried. "I guess she felt I squandered the money. We had no icebox and the window sill wasn't much help in July..."

Taught Far Eastern and Latin-American studies at Montana then ran for Congress and was elected easily in 1958 and 1964.

Mike Mansfield is up again for re-election this year and expects to campaign in his usual low-key style, shunning most big rallies, set speeches and TV spectaculars. He drives long distances between towns, walks the streets, seems to know everybody, asks and answers questions. He shows up in a hotel lobby smoking his pipe and the word gets around and soon he is talking with 30 or 40 constituents. He phones ahead to the next town and asks a friend to collect some people for coffee.

But nothing is apt to make Mike Mansfield flare quicker than any reflection on his independence. In the years of the Johnson presidency, he was constantly and sternly reminding reporters he was not the president's majority leader but the Senate's. At a dinner party once, the lady on his right made the mistake of asking, "And what are your people back in Montana telling you to do on this issue, senator?" "Madame," said the man from Montana, "my people don't tell me what to do. They sent me here. I do the voting."

The job of majority leader, which is not mentioned in either the Constitution or The Rules of the Senate, is what tradition and the leader make of it. Lyndon Baines Johnson made the most of it. He drove with a bull whip, wheedled, pressureed, arm—twisted, jugular—squeezed, threatened, dispersed or withheld favors to push through legislation. He was a one—man decathalon.

Mansfield works almost as though from a civics book. He relies on gentle persuasion, accommodation and understanding. He clings to the nation that all senators are equal and each state has two, that each is a man of [illegible] be free to exercise his own judgment. He encourages committee chairman to floor manage their own bills on the simple logic that they know most about them. He encourages young senators to speak up because he values their "currency." He rarely lobbies for votes and then only to the extent of saying, "If you can see your way clear to go with me on this, I'd appreciate it."

"Some senators like to be shoved around and told what to do," says William Fulbright of Arkansas. "But Mike rarely even tells you how he'll vote unless you ask him. Which is proper. It's all right for other senators to lobby senators but not the leader."

Since the Johnson days, he has been personally credited with revitalizing the Democratic policy committee in the Senate.

Be still

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee." Isaiah 26:3.

Often we build our statues of snow — concepts that melt away,
Or create a palace on the sand
— a hope that lasts a day,
Or try to make giants from men of straw,
Or dream of a life with Utopian law,
Still no good shall vanish or
ideal cease,
For in these riegn God and with Him, His peace.

Economy Not So Bad, Says Sen. Tower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy isn't in as bad shape as it has been in other slump periods since World War II, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., asserted Thursday.

Tower said the relative good health of the economy is one reason he opposes price and wage controls.

"We are most decidedly passing through shoal waters marked by manufacturing layoffs, a troubled stock market, inflationary prices and some rise in unemployment," Tower said in a Senate speech. "But our giant economic ship is not going aground."

"The economy continues sailing along at a near-record level of activity regardless of the jitters of an always excitable Wall Street and partisan prophets of doom in this election year," he added.

Tower said a 2.4 per cent drop in production in April "is not too great despite big cutbacks in areas like autos and aerospace. In two of the four recessions since World War II, production fell 8-9 per cent and in 1957-58 it fell 14 per cent."

He said personal income in April swelled above the $800 billion mark for the first time with employment at a near record high, even with many layoffs.

Speaker Named

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Evelyn Swartz, associate professor of early childhood education, will be a principal speaker at an East Texas State University conference June 22-23.

The conference on early childhood is for teachers, administrators and parents. Dr. Swartz' speech is set for Monday, June 22.

Carnival Is Is Set

SPRINGTOWN, Tex. (AP)—The annual Springtown Carnival will be held on the public square June 17-20, inclusive, officials announced this week. The street parade in connection with the carnival is set for Saturday afternoon.

GM Will Remove Junk Cars

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — A two-month experiment by General Motors Corp. in the vicinity of the northern Michigan resort of Traverse City may provide a solution to the problem of removing abandoned cars from rural areas.

The vehicles create eyesores on the countryside.

For the next eight weeks, GM, in cooperation with its five dealerships in the area, will remove free of charge any automobiles abandoned within 20 miles of Traverse City.

Roger M. Kyes, executive vice president of GM, said the test is to learn whether the company's program for removing abandoned autos is economically feasible.

Company officials estimate there may be 2,000 to 3,000 junked cars within the test area.

The plan calls for anyone owning or spotting an abandoned car to call a company dealer with details.

The dealer takes the information to law enforcement agencies which will determine if the vehicle is eligible for disposal.

If the car can be disposed of, it is taken to a local auto wrecking yard at GM's expense. Usable material is sent to foundries.

Kyes stressed that there is no intent to interfere with scrap collection methods within the city. But he said moving abandoned wrecks from outlying areas is too costly for most scrap yard operators.

Kyes estimates that about 6.7 million vehicles are disposed of each year, of which about 800,000 are abandoned.

He predicted that the Traverse City tests will show "we have devised a system that not only will remove the accumulation of abandoned vehicles from the countryside, but a system that will be so economically self-sustaining that we can virtually eliminate the possibility of such accumulations occurring again."

Three Banks Hit By Armed Robbers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Armed robbers raided three Texas banks Thursday — at Bangs, Smiley and Garrison. All escaped except for the lone bandit at Garrison, who was trapped by a flat tire.

Three men held up the First National Bank at Bangs, 10 miles west of Brownwood, while a fourth waited in their getaway car. The bank's president, B. M. Levisay, estimated their haul at $18,000 to $22,000.

Wearing sun shades, gloves and dark suits, the bandits emptied cash drawers after forcing customers and employes to line up along a wall in the bank at Bangs. They escaped in a white car.

At the Smiley State Bank, in Gonzales County west of San Antonio, president A. B. Culpepper said only that the loss exceeded $500. Two men entered the bank, and their victims said there may have been a third in a car outside.

"They were pretty calm," Culpepper said. "They didn't offer to hurt anybody. One of them held a pistol in my back until I got down on the floor, but that was the most aggressive thing they did."

A robber apparently escaped after holding up the Commercial State Bank at Garrison, in Nacogdoches County, but was captured a few minutes later on a farm road outside the East Texas town.

The two highway patrolmen who nabbed him said the fleeing bandit abandoned a car because of a flat tire and was trying to thumb a ride. He was carrying a pistol and about $8,000, the officers said.

Meetings Set For Full Week

A series of meetings will begin Sunday at the Church of Christ, located at Avenue F and Thirtieth Street.

The speaker will be N. E. [illegible]

The services Sunday will begin at 10:30 a.m. and at 5:30 p.m. There will be night services throughout next week, with the first service beginning at 7 p.m. to be concerned primarily with family relationships in the Christian home. The regular night services during the week will begin at 8 p.m. There will be no 7 p.m. service on Saturday, June 20. On Firday night, June 19, there will be an ice cream supper in Towle Park Barn following the 8 p.m. service. The public is invited to attend all services.

Homecoming At Camp Springs

Annual homecoming of the Camp Springs and Midway communities will be held Sunday at the Camp Springs Methodist Church building.

The program will include a welcome and recognition address at 11 a.m. by Marvin Rogers. There also will be a quartet of gospel singers from Post. The quartet will bring its own public address system and accompanist.

The noon meal will be served at 12, and the lunch hour will be followed by a period of fellowship and visiting. Everyone is invited to bring lunch and attend the homecoming.

NO EXPERIENCE — NO JOB?

Dear Joyce: How does a high school graduate, with excellent grades in typing, shorthand and office practice, get a job without experience? My daughter has been turned down continually for this reason. How does a person get experience if she is not given a chance to acquire any? — K.P.L., MEMPHIS.

Has your daughter tried companies that frequently accept new graduates: banks, retail stores, insurance companies, social welfare agencies, large manufacturers and neighborhood one-girl offices? If so, seek the services of a good private employment agency — she may have other problems.

All other registered voters may vote on all issues.

WHAT, SPECIFICALLY, WILL BE VOTED UPON?

Proposition 1 - A maintenance tax not to exceed 35c on the one hundred dollar valuation of taxable property in the district.

Proposition 2 - Approval of the issuance of $3,250,000 in bonds and a tax rate never to exceed 50c on the one hundred dollar valuation of taxable property in the district.

WHY DOES THE ELECTION NEED TO BE HELD?

On the petition creating the Scurry County Junior-College District, there was a 6½% limitation. The board's financial advisors from First Southwest Company do not believe the bonds can be sold with this limitation. Also, as originally voted, the 35c maximum tax rate for both bonds and maintenance, would not allow the district to receive the best rating on the bonds. The financial advisors, as well as our local bankers, believe the approval of the two propositions will save the tax payers of the district many thousands of dollars over the life of the college.

DOES THE BOARD PLAN TO BUILD MORE BUILDINGS THAN ORIGINALLY PLANNED?

No. The Board of Trustees has not altered its plans in any way from what was given them by the Steering Committee in the Fall of 1969. The reason in going back to the voters is the high cost of borrowing money.

IF THE PROPOSITIONS CARRY, DOES IT MEAN AN INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE FROM 35c TO 85c?

No. The only reason for placing the bonds under the State's 50c maximum is that it will allow the district to receive a high rating on the bonds, which would mean a lesser interest rate on the bonds. Even if the bonds had to sell at 7%, the board would not have to assess more than 26c to pay off the bonds on a 16-year schedule.

The board does not intend to assess more than 24c for operation the first year of the college. Hopefully, after the first year or two, this rate can be reduced as enrollment increases.

WHAT WOULD BE THE TOTAL TAX RATE-ASSESSED THE FIRST YEAR?

No more than 50c on the one hundred dollar valuation of taxable property in the district.

Taxes Will Be Assessed On County Values and Collected By The County Tax Assessor-Collector.

THE CHART BELOW ILLUSTRATES THE EFFECT OF THE PROPOSED JUNIOR COLLEGE TAX RATE ON VARIOUS PRICED HOMES AND PROPERTIES

RETAIL VALUE	ASSESSED VALUE (11¼%)	TAX COMPUTED ANNUALLY ON 35¢ RATE	TAX COMPUTED ANNUALLY ON 50¢ RATE
$ 4,000	$ 450	$ 1.58	$ 2.25
10,000	1125	3.94	5.63
15,000	1688	5.91	8.44
25,000	2813	[illegible]	14.07
30,000	3375	11.81	16.88
200 acres of farmland	1075	3.7[illegible]	5.38

The voters of Scurry County have already approved a 35c tax rate.

A JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL BENEFIT SNYDER AND ESPECIALLY THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF THIS AREA!
