SMOOT COMES TO RESCUE OF NINTH PAVING

Property Owner Sees Quick Action in Much Needed Paving Plan

LEADS MOVEMENT

Wichita Falls Lawyer Announces Rapid Progress Toward Improvement

Definite action looking to the paving of Ninth street between Broad and Brook may be expected within the next 30 days, it was learned Thursday in connection with reports that a move was on foot to make what is now beyond doubt the most needed street improvement in the city.

Confidence that this would be done was expressed by George Smoot, a owner of considerable property along the route effected, who said that negotiations had progressed to the point where the paving seemed reasonably assured.

"Things are being ironed out rapidly," Mr. Smoot declared, "and I anticipate little difficulty now. Mr. Clifford (Street Commissioner N. M. Clifford) has been working effectively and in a helpful way. So have others interested."

Largest Property Owner.

Mr. Smoot, who owns five lots within the three block stretch and thus becomes the largest private property owner involved, is giving unstinted time and thought to the problem in order that the improvement may become a reality.

Ninth street between Broad and Brook presents several difficulties not found in the average paving project. For one thing, the expense of paving both sides of almost one entire block will fall on the Catholic church. The academy of Mary Immaculate occupies grounds fringing the whole north side of the 1500 block. On the south side of the same block are located the Sacred Heart church, and lots on which stand the rectory. All this property, of course, will impose a very heavy financial burden on the church.

The Catholics, however, have expressed themselves as favorable to the paving and, it is understood, are ready at any time to go ahead with the work.

A similar situation exists in the 1400 block where Bellevue park, city-owned, occupies the whole north side. This will throw a heavy burden on the city also, but Mayor Shepherd and members of the council realize the importance of the work and are ready to assume the paving liability if property owners are anxious.

To further complicate matters, the Wichita Falls Traction company holds a franchise for a right-of-way along the length of Ninth from the business district to Kemp boulevard. Two

"Results Always First"

Somebody Yelled Just In Time Or All the Cops In Town Would Have Lost Out

GEORGE HODGINS, Wichita Falls' genial police chief, was ready to fire his whole force a few minutes after he dropped off the Texas Special Wednesday. He had just returned from attending the international police chief's convention in New York, was full of pep and ideas —and Wichita Falls looked pretty good after ten days in the north and east.

But—

The hand shake ceremony was concluded and official welcomes from the small delegation of officers at the station were finished. The party started for the city hall and the chief turned to pick up the traveling bag he had lugged half across the continent. It had survived the baggage jams of limited trains and had stuck safely by the chief's side in the lobby furors of New York's cavernous hostleries. He didn't lose it, but when, back at home tand within a block of his own office—the citadel of protection—it was gone.

"What kind was it," one cop queried after the flabergasted Hodgins had bespoken his loss. The chief explained.

"Why I saw a fellow hurrying for that Valley train with a grip just like that." This with a wink at a colleague.

The Valley train was pulling out for points south.

"Ye Gawds," the chief muttered as he dashed for the rear coach. "Get it swiped right under my nose and with three detectives standing around.

Then somebody yelled at him—he got mad a minute and then grinned.

FOR THRASHING A MAN $50 AND 50 DAYS IN JAIL

Missed Two Days of Being Murder, Said Defendant From Witness Stand

A sentence of 50 days in the county jail and a fine of $50 were imposed Thursday afternoon by a jury in the county court at law against W. A. Ogle, patrolman on the city police force, following his conviction on a charge of aggravated assault. The principal witness against him was O. B. Kelly, a resident of this city who received a severe thrashing in a fight with Ogle several weeks ago. Kelly was sent to the hospital for a short time after Ogle had administered a beating.

"If I'd found him a day or two before I did you'ld be trying me for murder instead of assault." Ogle declared when he was on the witness stand yesterday. Later, when Assistant County Attorney John Humphrey was making the state's argument to the jury he quoted this statement and Ogle emphatically nodded his head.

Ogle is now at liberty on bond pending the results of his appeal to a higher court. Police Commissioner Queisser and Chief of Police Hodgins, after an investigation of the trouble just after the fight, announced they would take no action against the officer. None is planned now so far as is known.

The fight started, it is alleged, as a result of derogatory remarks Kelly is said to have made concerning Ogle's wife. Ogle also charged that Kelly had used abusive language against executives of the police department. Kelly denied all the charges.

DALLAS, May 21.—A crowd at one time tonight estimated at 10,000 people, had begun to disperse at 10 o'clock from the Dallas county criminal court building where the Noel brothers, negroes, confessed slayers and assailants are jailed. There was no sign of intention to rush the numerous guards for a repetition of the mob action of early this morning in which five persons were shot, and several others wounded.

The crowd apparently was in better feeling than last night and gave the appearance of being merely good natured spectators. A constant stream of automobile traffic choked the streets for several blocks adjacent to the jail. Several traffic officers were required at many of the intersections.

UMPIRE WEIR'S LATEST RUKUS STOPS CONTEST

Police Interference Comes At San Antonio When Trouble Brews

OVER HIGH BALLS

Gonzales Ordered Out Of Game; And Crowd Backs Coleman's Protest

SAN ANTONIO, May 21.—The action of the police in leading Umpier Weir off the field during today's game with Fort Worth, it was stated, was taken to prevent further trouble. The crowd was in an uproar when the umpire ordered Gonzales out of the game. The trouble started when Gonzales waved his bat as if to strike at a high ball after the umpire had called a strike.

Weir stepped up to Gonzales as if to caution him against a repetition of this act and when the umpire called the second strike Gonzales again waved his bat as if to strike at a high ball, as if to indicate the ball was too high. It was then Weir ordered Gonzales out of the game. Gonzales remained at the plate and the crowd hurled a broadside of peers at the umpire.

Calls for Police

Weir motioned for the police to take Gonzales ut of the game when Manager Bob Coleman ran up to the scene. The excitement intensified and there were cries of "hit him, Bob," "smash him," etc. As the excitement continued Captain of Police Gus Klockenkemper and a number of officers walked up to the umpire, after which a crowd of about 100 broke through the grandstand and swarmed the field, surrounding the umpire and officers. A stout man ran up to the umpire and struck him, when Weir turned around with his mask in an upraised hand as if to strike back.

Constable Albert Van Riper then came upon the field and ordered the umpire removed at once in order to prevent further trouble, which was done, Umpire Kane taking his departure immediately.

Word came back that President Roberts consented to have the game played out, which was done with Bob Couchman and Police Officer O'Bannion as the umpires.

Pla, Out Game

This part of the game, however, will not count in the official averages, according to a statement made by President Roberts Thursday night. The game will figure in the official records only as far as the official league umpires were in charge, said President Roberts, for after that it loses all official significance.

"It was one of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed on a ball field," said Mr. Roberts. "The umpire is not only a member of the Texas league but of the National association as well and persisten disputing of his decisions by players is a serious offense." President Roberts was severe in his criticism of Gonzales, whom he blamed for bringing on the trouble.

Weir Good Arbiter; Is Belief of Those Knowing Him Here

Weir, many Wichita Falls fans believe, is the best umpire in the Texas league. His work at Spudder park has been as good as that of any other arbiter on the league staff the past two years, and some say better.

Many close followers of the game will tell you that he is the best man in the league on balls and strikes, but somehow or other has a failing for getting into trouble with players and fans.

He probably has called more forfeit games than any other Texas league indicator.

During the season of 1924 he was charged by and engaged in a fist fight with a Shreveport player while a game was in progress at Spudder park. The altercation led to the game being forfeited to Wichita Falls.

TO DETROIT FOR BEST BEER IS ONTARIO WAIL

"Four Point Four" Too Green For Healthy Kick, Imbibers Declare

WINDSOR, Ont., May 21.—(AP) "It ain't got no kick."

"Oh! boy- Just like the old days!"

"I am going back to Detroit, where I can get some real beer!"

These were some of the conflicting remarks heard in the hotels and inns here today when Ontario's "four-point-four" went on sale to a mixed crowd of thirsty and curious Canadians and Americans.

In the words of one member of the drinking fraternity, who had spent the day "sampling" Ontario's new brew, "the stuff ain't aged long enough. I have been drinking it all day and there ain't no kick in it."

Others were inclined to be more optimistic. "Give it time to age," said one Detroiter, who had just managed to empty three bottles of the brown foaming liquid "and you'll have a real drink."

Late this afternoon the ferries which had moved scarcely more than an average number of passengers during the day, began to dump hundreds of smiling, eager Americans upon the Canadain shore. With the exception of a two hour rush around noon the hotels and inns were well able to supply the needs of their patrons.

"Four-point-four" is the official designation of the new brew. The labels on the bottles bear the following inscription:

"Less than 4.4 per cent proof spirits."

When the practice of settling all disputes of members by arbitration within the organization rather than in the law courts was inaugurated, as many as 100 or more cases will confront the committee at its annual session.

3 REFORMS IN CONDUCTING US HOOVER'S PLAN

He Asks That Useless Agencies be Thrown Into The Discard

BEFORE U. S. C OF C

Major Purposes Under Same Supervision to Prevent Overlapping

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Elimination of waste in over lapping governmental agencies through reorganization of administrative functions was advocated by Secretary Hoover in a prepared address at tonight's session of the annual convention of the chamber of commerce of the United States, at which former Representative Winslow of Massachusetts, who was chairman of the house commerce committee also was a speaker.

Three Reforms.

"What we need," said Mr. Hoover, "is three primary reforms: first, to group together all agencies having the same predominant major purpose under the same administrative supervision; second, to separate the semi-judicial and the semi-legislative and advisory functions from the administrative functions placing the former under joint minds, the latter under single responsibility and third, we should relieve the president of a vast amount of direct administrative labor."

Opposition of vested officials, the disturbing of some vested habit and the offending of some organized minority, with paid propogandists aroused, the commerce secretary asserted, have thwarted such a program, although "every president from Roosevelt to Coolidge has urged upon congress a reorganization of the executive arm of the government."

"Nor will we ever attain this until congress will authorize the president or some board or a committee of its own members, to take the time to do it," he declared.

Too Many Bureaus.

"On the executive side of the federal government" he continued, "we have grown to have more than 200 different bureaus, boards and committees employing several hundred thousand people. For the most part they have been thrown hodge podge into ten different executive departments under cabinet offices. But there are more than 40 independent establishments either directly under the president or directly under congress.

"The big thing is bring three kindred agencies together under one authority so that their overlapping edges can be clipped and their fights stopped. The divided responsibility with absence of centralized authority prevents the constructive and consistent development of broad national policies."

North Texas Develops Mystery Well In Texas Company's Tioga Test

No Information Available Regarding Test Reported On Sand, in Grayson County.

DENISON, May 21.—North Texas has developed a "mystery" well in the Texas company's hole near Tioga, Grayson county. The well is reported on a sand below 2,650 feet and setting casing to test.

The test has been staked off and put under guard, information from Tioga says. Reports of the sand and the testing were neither denied nor confirmed by the Wichita Falls offices of the comany.

The test is one drilled on the strength of an old showing obtained in a nearby hole some two years ago, attracting a great deal of attention at the time.

Rowe, Hamilton

Rowe Drilling company was reported reaming down to set casing early yesterday on their No. 1, Dr. Hamilton, located northwest of the Gambrell pool, block 1, Crawford pasture sub-division, south Archer county, the sand was reported topped at 1,203 feet.

Ray-Massie, Routin

Ray and Massie (Mooers et al) No. 1, Routin, in the Holeman survey, block 19, southwest of the Cranfill-Muse pool is a salt water from twenty feet of sand topped at a depth reported as 1,263½ feet. The hole is being drilled deeper.

Cranfill-Muse, Lowe

Cranfill-Muse No. 4, Lowe, the fourth well in the four corners of the new pool northwest of the Gambrell area, southwest Archer county, was bailing and cleaning out yesterday and showing for not quite so good a well as either of the other two, exact sand record not known.

Cranfill, Mills

Cranfill Brothers Oil company will move on to their No. 3, Mills, two locations east of the No. 2, block 2413, TE&LCO survey, southwest of Megargel, southeast Baylor county, either tomorrow or the next day. The derrick is already up.

Oil Gossip

T. L. Coplin, deputy supervisor of the Texas railroad commission has returned from a tour of the Panhandle oil fields with H. E. Bell of Austin, chief of the oil and gas section of the commission and H. H. Fitzpatrick of Breckenridge, deputy supervisor there.

Wheeler county shows the most new activity, Mr. Coplin reports, there being about eight new derricks up there in one cluster, all dating back no longer than the first of January. Texhoma has two rigs here, one drilling and the other waiting on a water line.

Carson county shows a great deal of drilling, while the completion of Danciger well in Gray county is uppermost there.

The trip was in the nature of an inspection tour and occupied Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Judge Bell is making an attempt to solve the alleged waste of gas due to allowing wells to remain open during drilling in the Panhandle.

W. C. Thompson, geologist for the Sun Oil company, is expected to be in Dallas for the best part of two weeks yet before returning to Wichita Falls.

Government Wins Lap in Standard Anti-Trust Suit

CHICAGO, May 21. — A decision overruling objections of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Texas Oil company and other oil companies to the government's attack on the patents covering the cracking of petroleum was handed down today by Judges Anderson, Page and Evans of the United States circuit court of appeals.

The decision which, had it been adverse, would have virtually ended the government's suit in which it is sought to show that the pooling of patents and operations thereunder amount to violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, permits the government to proceed with its attacks on the patents issued to the companies by the federal government itself. The oil companies' counsel had argued that the government could not question the validity of the patents which the government had alleged without force on the ground that the cracking of petroleum was not new or patentable.

Under the decision the submission of evidence against the patents may proceed before the special master in chancery, Charles Martindale of Indianapolis, who was appointed to take testimony in the case.

BANKERS NAME GALVESTON FOR 1926 MEETING

El Paso Asks for 1927 Convention of The Association

HOUSTON, May 21.—(AP)—Texas bankers at the closing session of their forty-first annual convention here today elected to go to Galveston for the 1926 convention and heard a plea from El Paso for the 1927 meeting. The retiring president of the association, R. L. Thornton, Dallas banker, said no doubt it would be considered.

Francis H. Welch, president of a bank at Taylor, was the unanimous choice of the convention for president. Escorted to the state, he made a short address in which he said that the principal business of his administration would be to "talk mighty little and do a lot."

Owen W. Sherill, of Georgetown was the only nominee for treasurer. His predecessor, C. Pondrom of Dallas, just previously had reported $14,172.18 in the treasury of the association, the largest amount, he said, in its history.

The resolutions dealt with two major subjects—reduction in bond premium rates and federal taxation.

Rates On Bonds.

Particular attention was directed in the resolutions "to the ever increasing tendency of the higher premium rates upon bonds which are required by law. It seems to us that the rates now promulgated and in force are higher than should be for the protection given in the bonds, and that if this very important matter is not given attention by the proper authorities, the tendency could be a gradual increase of premium rates in excess of the security given; and in such way that those who are paying the premiums might be required to pay such premium arbitrarily without the privilege of knowing its adequacy until after the rate may have been established."

A recommendation followed that a committee of three be appointed to confer with the state insurance commission "upon the present rates and promulgation of future premiums the banks may be required to pay."

The other major resolution, referring to taxation, recited that three presidents and three secretaries of the treasury, since the close of the World war, have urged reduction of high surtax rates "in the interest of industry and with a view of securing increased revenue for the federal government."

The resolution deemed essential to the welfare of the country the immediate reduction of normal and surtaxes to a maximum of not exceeding 20 per cent "with a view of securing the return to the tax rolls of large estates and incomes and resulting increase of revenue for the national treasury from such sources."

On the general subject of taxation the resolutions said it is "an economic problem and any partisan or political consideration given the subject subserves the economic welfare to political expediency which is detrimental to the public interest."

John S. Lawrence, banker of Mesquite on the subject of "bankers who help kids," said reasonable favors to children, extended by bankers, would secure "good will of the kids," which, he declared, "is the cheapest advertising you can buy."

Friends of Children.

A few dollars invested in "flying jinney's tickets," he added, "would make you known to every kid in town by your first name. They appreciate it," he said, and added that to make friends with children to help them "is a duty we owe to the country to make better men and women of them because the men who will have their hands on the throttle of business tomorrow are the kids of today."

F. L. Flynn, banker of Mission, painted a glowing picture of the lower Rio Grande Valley, especially that comparatively narrow strip in Hidalgo and Cameron counties, which "less than 20 years ago was a semi-tropical and semi-arid waste," but which has grown from 20,000 to 100,000 in population; from one bank with a capital of $100,000 to 24 banks capitalized at $24,000,000; from one graded school to thirteen high schools and which produced 12,532 cars of vegetables and citrus fruits as well as 87,670 bales of cotton in a single year.

Much of the cotton, he added, was grown on the same land which produced the vegetables. But great as those industries are, he ventured they suggested that the tourist crop may in time become the most valuable. The valley, he said, "is a vivid, vigorous, colorful section, the playground of America and it may be depended upon to do its part in the heritage of this state."

THREE BILLS RETURNED BY CLAY CO. JURY

Two Indictments at Henrietta Are For Booze Charges

HENRIETTA, May 21.—The grand jury of Clay county Wednesday afternoon made a partial report to Judge Vincent Stine of the 97th district court and three true bills of indictment were returned, one for murder and two for possession of whiskey.

North Texas Develops Mystery Well In Texas Company's Tioga Test

No Information Available Regarding Test Reported On Sand, in Grayson County.

DENISON, May 21.—North Texas has developed a "mystery" well in the Texas company's hole near Tioga, Grayson county. The well is reported on a sand below 2,650 feet and setting casing to test.

The test has been staked off and put under guard, information from Tioga says. Reports of the sand and the testing were neither denied nor confirmed by the Wichita Falls offices of the comany.

The test is one drilled on the strength of an old showing obtained in a nearby hole some two years ago, attracting a great deal of attention at the time.

Rowe, Hamilton

Rowe Drilling company was reported reaming down to set casing early yesterday on their No. 1, Dr. Hamilton, located northwest of the Gambrell pool, block 1, Crawford pasture sub-division, south Archer county, the sand was reported topped at 1,203 feet.

Ray-Massie, Routin

Ray and Massie (Mooers et al) No. 1, Routin, in the Holeman survey, block 19, southwest of the Cranfill-Muse pool is a salt water from twenty feet of sand topped at a depth reported as 1,263½ feet. The hole is being drilled deeper.

Owens-Pace-Howell

Owens-Race-Howell were reported drilling yesterday morning at 1,680 feet after passing up a few feet of sand at about 1,672-76 feet in their No. 1, Mitchell, about 1,500 feet north and west of the Mitchell discovery well.

Richards, Mills

R. L. Richards is drilling past a depth of 1,000 feet in his No. 1, Mills, located in the southeast quarter of block 2428, TE&LCO survey, just northwest of the Cranfill pool, southeast Baylor county.

Cranfill-Muse, Lowe

Cranfill-Muse No. 4, Lowe, the fourth well in the four corners of the new pool northwest of the Gambrell area, southwest Archer county, was bailing and cleaning out yesterday and showing for not quite so good a well as either of the other two, exact sand record not known.

Cranfill, Mills

Cranfill Brothers Oil company will move on to their No. 3, Mills, two locations east of the No. 2, block 2413, TE&LCO survey, southwest of Megargel, southeast Baylor county, either tomorrow or the next day. The derrick is already up.

Oil Gossip

T. L. Coplin, deputy supervisor of the Texas railroad commission has returned from a tour of the Panhandle oil fields with H. E. Bell of Austin, chief of the oil and gas section of the commission and H. H. Fitzpatrick of Breckenridge, deputy supervisor there.

Wheeler county shows the most new activity, Mr. Coplin reports, there being about eight new derricks up there in one cluster, all dating back no longer than the first of January. Texhoma has two rigs here, one drilling and the other waiting on a water line.

Carson county shows a great deal of drilling, while the completion of Danciger well in Gray county is uppermost there.

The trip was in the nature of an inspection tour and occupied Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Judge Bell is making an attempt to solve the alleged waste of gas due to allowing wells to remain open during drilling in the Panhandle.

W. C. Thompson, geologist for the Sun Oil company, is expected to be in Dallas for the best part of two weeks yet before returning to Wichita Falls.

Dave B. Miller, formerly a geologist for the Sun Oil company, with headquarters at Wichita Falls, passed through this city Wednesday enroute to West Texas to take up work for his company there.

Strong, Wright

A. T. Strong et al have abandoned their No. 1, Wright, located in the northwest quarter of block 2435, TE&LCO survey, due east of Megargel at a total depth of 1,605 feet after getting salt water from a shot in the sand at 1,428-47 feet, southwest Archer county.

Kent County Test

Marland Oil company's Southwestern Kent county test, West Texas, in the center of the southwest of the northwest of section 11, block 4, H&T CRRCO survey, is reported underreaming at a depth of 2,250 feet.

Government Wins Lap in Standard Anti-Trust Suit

CHICAGO, May 21. — A decision overruling objections of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Texas Oil company and other oil companies to the government's attack on the patents covering the cracking of petroleum was handed down today by Judges Anderson, Page and Evans of the United States circuit court of appeals.

The decision which, had it been adverse, would have virtually ended the government's suit in which it is sought to show that the pooling of patents and operations thereunder amount to violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, permits the government to proceed with its attacks on the patents issued to the companies by the federal government itself. The oil companies' counsel had argued that the government could not question the validity of the patents which the government had alleged without force on the ground that the cracking of petroleum was not new or patentable.

Under the decision the submission of evidence against the patents may proceed before the special master in chancery, Charles Martindale of Indianapolis, who was appointed to take testimony in the case.

BANKERS NAME GALVESTON FOR 1926 MEETING

El Paso Asks for 1927 Convention of The Association

HOUSTON, May 21.—(AP)—Texas bankers at the closing session of their fofty-first annual convention here today elected to go to Golveston for the 1926 convention and heard a plea from El Paso for the 1927 meeting. The retiring president of the association, R. L. Thornton, Dallas banker, said no doubt it would be considered.

Francis H. Welch, president of a bank at Taylor, was the unanimous choice of the convention for president. Escorted to the state, he made a short address in which he said that the principal business of his administration would be to "talk mighty little and do a lot."

Owen W. Sherill, of Georgetown was the only nominee for treasurer. His predecessor, C. Pondrom of Dallas, just previously had reported $14,172.18 in the treasury of the association, the largest amount, he said, in its history.

The resolutions dealt with two major subjects—reduction in bond premium rates and federal taxation.

Rates On Bonds.

Particular attention was directed in the resolutions "to the ever increasing tendency of the higher premium rates upon bonds which are required by law. It seems to us that the rates now promulgated and in force are higher than should be for the protection given in the bonds, and that if this very important matter is not given attention by the proper authorities, the tendency could be a gradual increase of premium rates in excess of the security given; and in such way that those who are paying the premiums might be required to pay such premium arbitrarily without the privilege of knowing its adequacy until after the rate may have been established."

A recommendation followed that a committee of three be appointed to confer with the state insurance commission "upon the present rates and promulgation of future premiums the banks may be required to pay."

The other major resolution, referring to taxation, recited that three presidents and three secretaries of the treasury, since the close of the World war, have urged reduction of high surtax rates "in the interest of industry and with a view of securing increased revenue for the federal government."

The resolution deemed essential to the welfare of the country the immediate reduction of normal and surtaxes to a maximum of not exceeding 20 per cent "with a view of securing the return to the tax rolls of large estates and incomes and resulting increase of revenue for the national treasury from such sources."

On the general subject of taxation the resolutions said it is "an economic problem and any partisan or political consideration given the subject subserves the economic welfare to political expediency which is detrimental to the public interest."

John S. Lawrence, banker of Mesquite on the subject of "bankers who help kids," said reasonable favors to children, extended by bankers, would secure "good will of the kids," which, he declared, "is the cheapest advertising you can buy."

Friends of Children.

A few dollars invested in "flying jinney's tickets," he added, "would make you known to every kid in town by your first name. They appreciate it," he said, and added that to make friends with children to help them "is a duty we owe to the country to make better men and women of them because the men who will have their hands on the throttle of business tomorrow are the kids of today."

F. L. Flynn, banker of Mission, painted a glowing picture of the lower Rio Grande Valley, especially that comparatively narrow strip in Hidalgo and Cameron counties, which "less than 20 years ago was a semi-tropical and semi-arid waste," but which has grown from 20,000 to 100,000 in population; from one bank with a capital of $100,000 to 24 banks capitalized at $24,000,000; from one graded school to thirteen high schools and which produced 12,532 cars of vegetables and citrus fruits as well as 87,670 bales of cotton in a single year.

Much of the cotton, he added, was grown on the same land which produced the vegetables. But great as those industries are, he ventured they suggested that the tourist crop may in time become the most valuable. The valley, he said, "is a vivid, vigorous, colorful section, the playground of America and it may be depended upon to do its part in the heritage of this state."

COTTON SPINNING INCREASES

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Cotton spinning activities increased slightly in April as compared with March this year and was much more marked than in April a year ago, the census bureau's monthly report today showed. Active spindle hours for April totalled 8,518,142,308 or an average of 225 per spindle in place, compared with 8,599,440,113 or an average of 227 for March this year and 6,769,711,331 or an average of 179 for April last year.

THREE BILLS RETURNED BY CLAY CO. JURY

Two Indictments at Henrietta Are For Booze Charges

HENRIETTA, May 21.—The grand jury of Clay county Wednesday afternoon made a partial report to Judge Vincent Stine of the 97th district court and three true bills of indictment were returned, one for murder and two for possession of whiskey.

The murder indictment grew out of the slaying of young Robert Glenny of Byers by his father recently and in which case bail was recently granted by the court of criminal appeals. The other two were against Bryant Armstrong. The defendant was in the court room at the time the grand jury reported and immediately gave himself up to Sheriff George Cunningham.

At the call of the docket Tuesday morning the criminal docket was set for the week of June 1. A number of important civil cases were set for the week of May 25.

DEMOCRATIC RULES MAY BE CHANGED.

Andrew Jackson is the patron saint of the democratic party. Thomas Jefferson was its founder. Old Hickory said to the victors belong the spoils and this indeared him to the rank and file of that party which has the donkey for its emblem. Away back whhn Andrew Jackson was the democratic dictator the party leader originated the two-thirds and unit rules which have governored democratic national convictions since 1832.

Now Homer S. Cummings, democratic national committeeman for Connecticut, is leading a movement for the abrogation of both rules by the next democratic national convention and the effort is to be made at the next meeting of the democratic national committee. Actual abrogation of either rule must be accomplished by action of the convention itself, but as a preliminary to this, it will be necessary for the national committee to pass a resolution declaring its belief that both rules should be ablished.

Cummings says the rules ought to be abolished so that the party can function as the difficulty with the two rules is that they prevent action. Democrats, he declares, have got to get rid of the self imposed machinery and abolish both rules so that the next convention can function.

According to a leading independent newspaper of the east, all attempts to do away with the unit rule have been resisted by the delegates of the southern states, practically all of which elect delegates at state conventions instead of congressional district conventions, although most of the southern democrats are willing to abrogate the two-thirds rule. In many of the larger states of the north and the east the unit rule does not prevail, but the leader clings to the two-thirds nominating rule for self-protection against the machinations of the unit rule which is the pet weapon of the southern democrats and their leaders.

It has been held by the chairmen of democratic national convention in bygone years that the unit rule could not apply to states in which the delegates were elected at direct primaries in the respective congressional districts, but only applied to states electing delegates at state conventions, except in the case of California, where the delegates are all elected at large by the vote of the enrolled party voters of the state as a wnole.

In the year 1924 Thomas B. Love and his lieutenants were willing to abrogate the two-thirds nominating rule, but they would not agree to throw into the discard the unit rule. This was the McAdoo plan of campaign—to abolish the two-thirds rules and to retain the unit rule, thus holding in the McAdoo column a 120 delegates who would have deserted the McAdoo cause if released by the abrogation of the two rules.

Now it is said that Thomas B. Love has experienced a change of heart. He is for the abrogation of both the two-thirds and the unit rule. He isn't a spoke in the national machinery now. Jed Adams is the national committeeman. Jed has the floor.

THE BIBLE AND THE BUCKEYE.

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio is a democrat. He is a survivor of the republican land slide in 1924. He has vetoed the Bible bill passed by the Ohio lawmakers to compel daily reading of the Bible in all public schools in Ohio. He vetoed it because "it opposed the principles of civil and religious liberty which have made our governments a model of the world."

He said in his veto message, "let us remember that it was the hope and desire for religious freedom that inspired the settling and founding of the United States of America. The founders of our country, having in mind their own sacrifices in obtaining liberty of religious thought and seeking to hand down to their children this hard earned freedom, unimpaired for all time, were careful to write to doctrine of separation of church and state into the federal constitution. The makers of the coistitution of Ohio did likewise and their action was ratified by the people. All the states of the union are in accord on this vital principle. Ohio is not ready as yet to secede and it is to be hoped that it never will from the principles of civil and religious liberty which has made our goverment the model of the world."

Governor Dohaney further held that the bill was unnecessary because under existing Ohio laws when the people of local communities desire or demand it, boards of education in their discretion may require the reading of the Bible in the public schools. A farmer was the author of the bill, or rather a farmer member introduced it.

It sought to compel all public school teachers of the state of Ohio to read ten verses from the Bible to the pupils every day. It also would have compelled every pupil above the fourth grade to memorize the ten commandments.

Now the admirers of the buckeye governor say that he will step from the chair of the governor to a seat in the senate hall of the United States. Politics is a funny game.

COMING TO TEXAS.

According to the newspaper publishers and publicity men of West Texas more than 8,000 families came to West Texas last year from other states of the union, and are building homes under Lone Star skies. Those responsible for the figures predict a great influx of settlers this year.

A magic valley newspaper published furnishes the information that twelve train loads of home seekers from northern states swooped down on the valley in the closing days of the month of April. All were home seekers, all had money for investment, and all visited the lower Rio Grande valley for business and not for pleasure.

Texas has the land, Texas has the climate, Texas has the resources and Texas is going to be at the head of procession some day.

PORK BARREL ON EVERY FARM.

Now a veteran Texas economist urges a pork barrel on every Texas farm. He discovered long ago that the man who combines pork production with cotton growing has solved the problem in the Lone Star state. He is a man of figures as well as a man of experience. His figures convince him that Texans send $75,000,000 a year to other states for their pork.

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE DOG AND HIS TAIL.

There is a constant tendency for the tail to try to wag the dog.

That is, there is a tendency for a thing that is but an appanage to think that it is the whole show.

There is the legend of a fly who was on the cowcatcher of an engine and who exclaimed, "Oh, see what a big dust we are making!"

Athletics comprise only a part of a youth's training, and a minor part. The body is always inferior to the mind.

Children are sent to school primarily to train their minds. What a man amounts to in this world usually depends on the quality of his brain.

It is the brain and its development that distinguishes a man from the lower animals.

Yet a constant tendency is to magnify athletics over mental culture. This is a tendency that ought to be restrained.

Athletics are good in their way and for their purpose, but they do not constitute the main thing for which one is sent to a university. There is a university out west of which the coach for athletics gets more money than its president.

Frequently the standing of a college is determined more by the success of its athletes than by its curriculum.

There is a tendency for the tail to wag the dog in the matter of prohibition.

Many people in New York think that prohibition is a failure because of its many transgressions in New York.

In that city there are doubtless a number of "speak easies" and bootleggers, but it is a mistake to argue from this that such things and persons exist all over the country.

The majority of the country is in favor of the abolition of the saloon, and they know of no other way to accomplish this than by abolishing the sale of alcoholic liquor.

For one to say that the whole matter has failed because it is not quite a success in New York is to claim that the tail wags the dog.

Very frequently the baby in the household makes more trouble than all the rest of the members combined. By crying and otherwise making a nuisance of itself it attracts the most attention. It is really of the least importance. At least it is the least important member of the household.

It is a case of the tail wagging the dog.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

Motor busses and jitneys are putting local passenger trains out of business in many sections of Texas. They are cutting into the revenue of the steam roads and the interurbans. Now why shouldn't the motor bus companies be placed in the jurisdiction of the state railway commission?

They are common carriers. Railways are regulated and taxed. Why not motor busses and vehicles? Is it a survival of the fittest Is the interurban doomed? Is the steam railway going into the hands of the government some day, or into the hands of a federal receiver?

Railroads are heavily taxed. They are large contributors to the treasury of the state. They were the first civilizers. They opened a new world to settlers and civilization.

Are they going to perish with the old civilization that appears to have been shot to pieces when the flag of the kaiser went down?

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Chances.

Not long ago a Chicago bridge player held a hand containing thirteen cards of the same suit. Of course he bid seven on it. Of course he took every trick. A hand like that in bridge is more invincible than four kings and an ace in poker.

Now it is probable that this player will continue to play bridge, and it is possible that he will never cease to hope for a hand like that.

He is, however, not likely to realize such a hope.

Mathematicians estimate that such a hand is likely to occur only once in six hundred billion deals. Of course it is possible that two such hands might fall to one man in a life time, while 599,999,999,999 waited for them in vain.

But even that contingency is not exactly probable. Should any player continue to hold hands containing thirteen cards of one unit, he soon would lack for people to play with, even if he were not subjected to rough handling about the third or fourth time.

There is chance in cards, if not luck.

There is also chance in the bigger game that we are playing here.

But this is just about as negligible as the chance of a man holding a perfect bridge hand in his life time.

And any program of life based on the hope that chance will take the place of effort and thought is just as likely to prove futile as the hope the reader might harbor of holding thirteen cards in one suit.

We hear of people who make lucky strikes, who become accidentally wealthy, who fall into soft things constantly. But we hear of them, it should be remembered not because they are frequent but because they are rare.

The holding of thirteen cards of the same suit was so unusual that all the newspapers printed stories about it.

But none of them ever print stories about the kind of a hand which the average bridge player looks at in disdain and says with what he imagines is humor:

"This isn't a hand, it is a foot."

So with the big "killings" on the stock exchange, the breaking of the bank at Monte Carlo, the discovery of a Klondike, or an accidental success which is got from luck.

They do occur, it is true.

It might be better for the world if they did not occur, but now and then a lucky chance will happen.

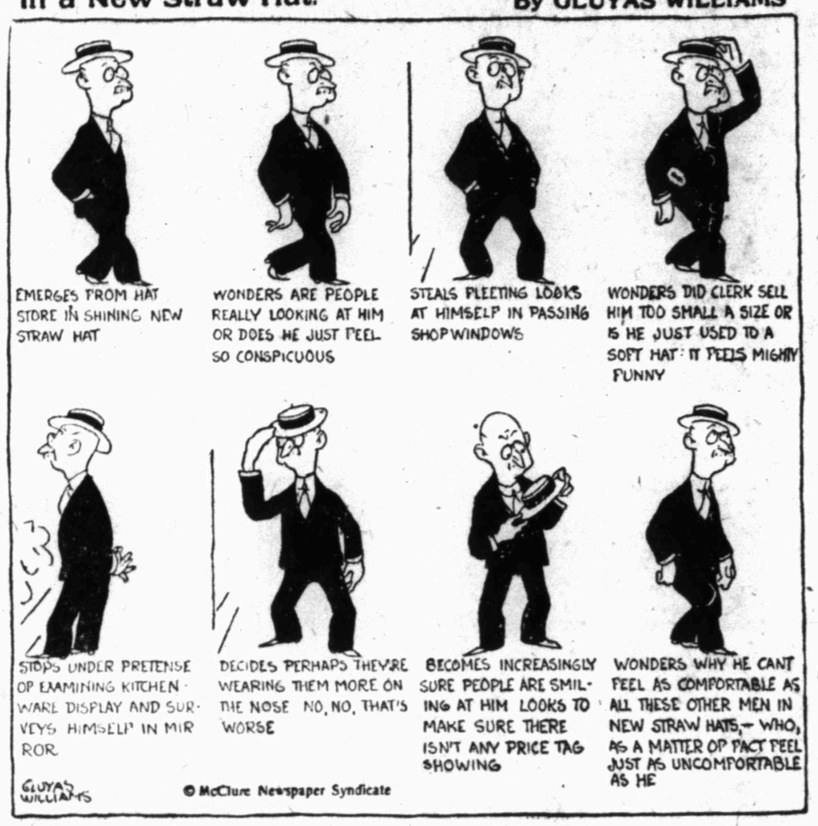

When it does happen good industrious people stop and talk about it, and wonder why they, too, dont have luck like that, and consider the possibilities of laying aside their job for a while and trying to corner the stock market, or find a gold mine, or try to take success by the heels and throw it heavily to the earth.

And these people, who number millions to the one who wins accidental success, are all going to be unlucky if they do not stick to their own jobs or try to get better ones. For luck comes only now and then; it follows no rules, and it is so seldom a visitor to people here below that it is a seven days wonder when it does come.

There is no sure rule for getting ahead. But one safe rule for not getting behind is to leave gambling and chance hunting alone. Holding your own is something at least, and you are far more likely to rise from a level road than from a down hill road.

Irrigation

THE FORMATION OF DISTRICT NO. 2.

A short time after irrigation district No. 1 was formed district No. 2 was organized. District No. 2 is what is now called the irrigation project. It is the body of land lying along the Wichita river extending east and west across the county.

As an irrigation district it was impossible for No. 2 to go into the open market and borrow money as we have shown. However, as Mr. Kemp had planned district No. 1 was prepared to lend money and to build the distributing system.

It was in this way that the building of our irrigation project was made possible. The city of Wichita Falls used its credit as a rich and growing city to secure money which in turn it was ready to turn over to the land owners of district No. 2. It was a unique and ingenious scheme to allow Wichita Falls to make available the great asset of its rich valley lands. Mr. Kemp deserves a lot of credit for it.

While district No. 2 was legally formed never the less it was more or less of a dormant institution for some time after actual work had been commenced on the two dams. Not all of the land owners had been convinced that irrigation was the thing for their lands. It was not at all sure that the bonds which Wichita Falls stood ready to buy would be voted.

Finally a contract was worked out between the two districts which was mutually satisfactory. This contract was first approved and signed by the directors of the two districts and then submitted to the people for approval. District No. 1 approved it, district No. 2 also approved it and at the same time voted a bond issue of $35 per acre on the lands within the district. They also voted that the taxes which should be levied to pay off these bonds in the next 34 years should be levied on a benefit basis.

It should be remembered in this connection that taxes in district No. 1 are on an ad valorem basis. This is quite different from taxation on a benefit basis.

When district No. 2 voted the bonds district No. 1 took them and went ahead with the building of the canals and laterals to water the lands which were included

Gemini.

The conditions, according to the planetary aspects, are not favorable during the morning, become quite adverse thereafter and until sunset, at which time they undergo a marked change for the better, and while they are not excellent, become at once benign and stimulating. During the day little that is forcefully aggressive should be essayed. Important correspondence should, if possible, be deferred. No contracts or agreements, involving financial obligations, should be executed. Every effort should be made to avoid either acting or speaking on impulse, and the desire that will be present to act or speak without plenty of thought must be repressed.

A child born today will enjoy normal health, although the signs denote that it will probably be subject to serious illness during the period of adolescence—an illness that will demand the utmost care and vigilance. This child's disposition will inevitably be sunny and bright, while its character, not as firm as it should be, will be truthful and frank, but too much disposed to forget duty in order to please alleged friends. It is quite necessary that much influence be brought to bear on this child in order that its will-power may be strengthened. It will be intelligent, but lack the quality of leadership, and always be more successful in a subsidiary capacity than in any one of individual and sole responsibility.

Is May 22nd your birthday? If so, you are not easily placated, and your attitude is belligerent rather than tractable. You very easily take offense, and resent trifles, which another would ignore. Some of your friends, conscious of your shortcomings, refer to these characteristics as excessive susceptibility. As a matter of fact, you are suffering from an exaggerated ego, and if you could only, by careful introspection, realize what "small potatoes" you are life would be more bearable for you, and more endurable for your friends.

You do not hesitate to bring your "chip on the shoulder" into your home life, and this does not promote harmony, or engender contentment.

HOW IT STARTED

Calling It "Navy" Blue.

Of all the colors blue is the one since earliest times most popular in fable, romance and story, in emblems and symbolism. Since civilization introduced formal dress to distinguish military bodies, blue of various shades had been as a rule the chosen color for uniforms. It was the color of the Scottish Covenanters in the seventeenth century, for instance, when it was called "true blue." Today it is conspicuous in the dress uniforms of the United States army.

"Navy blue" the most popular of its shades in the sartorial choice of men and women alike, is worn every day, spoken of even more frequently, in utter unconsciousness of its almost obvious origin. For it is from the fact that the sailors of most of the natives of the world are dressed in uniforms of dark blue that this cam eto be called "Navy blue."

THE DREADFUL MOVIES

New York's police commissioner says that it's the movies which drive young men to crime

When Captain Kidd was Willie Kidd,
A guileless little child,
No evil, wayward thing he did,
His way was meek and mild.
No distant oceans did he raid,
No galleons he sank,
He never, never, never made
A person walk a plank.

But in a movie show one time
The knowledge did he gain,
Of wicked piracy and crime,
Upon the Spanish main.
Then visions of a base career
Continued to pursue him,
Till he became a buccaneer—
And look what happened to him!

When Jesse James was five years old,
A good and honest lad,
He said "How true!" when he was told
That robbing banks was bad.
This seemed to him a simple fact
Without a single flaw,
And never did he do an act
That contravened the law.

Until he saw a movie play
In which a man got rich
By living in a lawless way,
And robbing banks and sich.
And then the statutes he defied
With utter desperation,
And left behind him, when he died,
An evil reputation.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

AS LONG AS WE CAN NEVER GET AWAY FROM OURSELVES LET'S MAKE OUR OWN COMPANY AS FASCINATING AS POSSIBLE

Did you ever think what poor company most of us are for ourselves? It is strange but true that the one individual on God's earth that bores the average man and woman more than any one else is just himself and herself. There is no society that they so dread as their own, and no expedient so desperate that they will not resort to it rather than be left alone with themselves.

They will fasten themselves like leeches on kinspeople and friends who try to shake them loose. They will stay on in homes where they know they are not welcome. They will put up with any discomfort in order to herd together. They will hold up the telephone poles at the corners of streets, and walk the aisles of the department stores until they are ready to drop with fatigue.

They will belong to clubs where they foregather with the dull and prosy and fat-witted, and where they spend hours listening to egotists monologue about how great and wanderful they are. Evening after evening they go to vaudeville performances whose every turn is so stupid it is enough to make even a hero scream with pain, and to see moving pictures whose scenarios are an insult to the intelligence of an idiot.

Anything—anywhere, to get away from themselves. To escape having to spend an hour in their own company. So universal is the belief that it is the limit of social and mental poverty to be reduced to your own society for company, that we speak of those who live alone as being lonesome, and pity them accordingly.

It does not even occur to us that they may have that within themselves which makes them gay and witty companions to themselves, of whom they never tire.

It is easy, of course, to see why many people are bored to tears with their own company. The men and women who never read anything can't have very much that is new and interesting to say to themselves. After they have discussed the state of the green grocery trade with themselves, on which they are rather fed up anyway after having wrestled with it all day, or mulled over the last gossip about the neighbors next door, and wondered for the millionth time how the Joneses can afford a new car, and where the Smith girl had been spending the evening when she came home at A a. m., they find that they have exhausted their conversational repertoire.

But if they are reading people they can never have a dull instant when they are alone, for every book, every magazine, every newspaper is a magic carpet that takes them in an instant into the uttermost parts of the world. There isn't a strange sight they may not see, nor a secret whispered behind a closed door they may not hear; nor a romance unfold whose thrill does not touch their hearts and stir their pulses. Education and cultivation would be worthwhile if they did nothing else than take the curse off loneliness.

You can see how people who are envious and jealous and quarrelsome and mean spirited would dread to be left alone with themselves. They have devils from hell for company, those men and women whose souls are filled with bitterness and hate, and who are forever thrashing over ald grievances, recalling old wrongs, bringing to life again old enmities.

We all avoid the pessimistic and the cynical—those who can see nothing cheerful nor good in the world, and with whom even a chance meeting seems to take the warmth of the sunshine, and God out of His heaven, and make all life dark and foul. How terrible, then, must it be to live with yourself when you have nothing to say to yourself that does not leave a dark brown taste in your mouth! It is not strange that those who have lived hard and selfish and grasping lives would be poor company for themselves.

You cannot imagine a widow spending a cheery evening recalling how she nagged her poor, dead husband, how cross and peevish and complaining she had been, nor how little she had done to repay him for all that he had done for her. Neither can you imagine a woman enjoying telling herself that if she had been less extravagant and content with simple things, if she hadn't demanded fine clothes and jewels and trips to Europe, that her husband would not have had to kill himself working, and that she might have some one to talk to who was living and breathing, instead of a demon of remorse.

It is not strange that a man wants other company than the recollection of how his coldness and neglect turned the bright, joyous, loving, tender girl he married into a quiet, sad woman who cringed like a whipped dog before his cruel fault-finding. Nor is it strange that the man who has driven hard bargains and overreached in trade, who has ground down the faces of those who worked for him, who has taken advantage of the ignorant and the trustful, and built his fortune on the ruins of widows and children, does not find his own society exhilirating.

When we are old we have nothing but our memories left us. They are enough company if they are filled with the smiling faces of those we loved, who recall to us kindly deeds that we have done, helping hands that we have held out, and if they murmur to us of kindly, gracious deeds But they are terrible companions if they are filled with memories of cruelty and wrong.

Considering that, do what we may, we can never escape from ourselves, that we are bound to endure our own society, is it not a pity that we do not emulate the poet who said, "My mind to me a kingdom is," and make ourselves better company for ourselves.

LAST PLAY BY LOCAL ACTORS TO BE MONDAY

Little Theatre Players To Present "White Headed Boy"

"THE WHITE HEADED BOY," by Lenox Robinson, the last Little Theatre production, under the direction of Regisseur Peter Ames Vincent, will be staged Monday evening, 8:15 o'clock at the Wichita theatre.

Rehearsals have been held daily and the finishing touches of the play are now being added. By Monday night, according to announcement, all will be ready for the performance.

True Irish Play.

The play is a true Irish play of rural life. All of the characters are representing the pure Irish. The customs and habits of the old Irish people are brought out in every detail. The first production of the play was in Ireland, next it was staged in London and later brought to America and played a brilliant season in New York. Only the people who came over with the company from Ireland taking a part. Since that time many years ago it has been staged many times in America, always being successful, for it is known as the finest modern brush comedy.

There are three scenes in the play. All are in the living room of the old rural home. A custom of the Irish to give all of the boys in the family is brought out in this play. "The White Headed Boy," played by Clifton Clay, is the youngest son in the family and gets all that can be had. The family sacrifices all they have to give the boy an education. Several older sisters in the family cannot get married because the father cannot afford to give them any money and as it is a custom of the Irish daughters are never given away in marriage unless a plentiful dowery can go with them. The young son has been sent to Dublin university to study to became a doctor and three times he comes hame—a failure. All are now worrying over how they are going to get money for the boy to finish his education—how this is done will be told in an interesting manner when the play is presented Monday evening.

Only One Evening.

The play will only be given one evening. Usually the Little theatre productions are repeated several times but as the theatre is larger than the little home was only one production will be given. To this performance the public may attend. Heretofore only the members of the group and their special friends were permitted.

This play closes the 1924-25 season and next year is being looked forward to as a far more brilliant season than this. Mr. Vincent states that there is some excellent acting material in Wichita Falls and that he has been delighted to work with it.

Meeting the King Has Terrors For Initiated Abroad

LONDON, May 21.—This was an anxious day for 16 Americans and approximately 950 others who tonight make their initial bow to King George and Queen Mary at the first royal court of the season in Buckinham Palace.

As the hour of the presentation approached it was decided to do away with the rehearsal at Crewe House, the ambassador's residence, where last year a minic court was held the day before the real thing.

The dressmakers this year held miniature courts of their own with accepted men and women on hand to give instructions concerning courtesies, the knack of handling trains and other points relative to the etiquette of the occasion. Maids and matrons with bobbed hair have much praise for the ingenious hair dressers who have conceived slides which will slip into the shortest locks and thus hold the required three ostrich feathers and veil. There are also wonderful head dresses consisting of wide bandeaux of jeweled materials on which the plumes may be fixed.

The dresses to be worn, it is reported, will have medium length skirts, although there are no official regulations against the shorter garments. It was felt, however, that the medium would be more in keeping with Queen Mary's known wishes. Besides a very short skirt would look absurd with a lengthy train.

Reports Made Thursday By Branches of Y. W. C. A. At Special Meeting of Board

Reports from the various branches of the local Y. W. C. A. were heard Thursday morning at the board meeting held at 10 o'clock in the club rooms with Mrs. J. A. Richolt presiding, in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. W. Snider, who is out of town.

Mrs. Iva E. Austin reported that the Business and Professional Women's club was busily engaged in raising funds with which to build their permanent camp on the site owned by them near the Rod and Gun club. Miss Opal Ballew, representing the Junior Business Girls' club, reported that plans were under way to hold a week of summer camp for all the members of the club this year, and gave a summary of the year's work.

Girls' Club Represented.

The Junior College and High School Girls' club was represented by Misses Mary Tancred and Evelyn Hardeman who sketched the year's work and told of plans for the summer, the most important of which is the resolve to keep the club meetings going each Friday morning during vacation at the Y. W. C. A. at 10 o'clock. Plans were told of sending two delegates to the national convention at Estes Pary this summer.

Miss Jean Fisk, retiring president of the Junior High School Girls' club, told of the club work during the past school year, and announced that over $100, which remained in the club treasury, was to be divided and used to send a group of delegates to the Estes Park conference. At the close of her report she presented Miss Elizabeth Langford, president for next year, who spoke a few words.

Committees Report.

Standing committees of the Y. W. C. A. then reported, indicating that the organization is active, that the work is in good condition through the various departments, and that the club rooms receive wide use. The housg committee told of redecorating the cafeteria and putting up new curtains, which add much to the beauty and attractiveness of the place.

The meeting was opened with an impressive devotional service led by two girls, from the high school club, Misses Evelyn Hardeman and Marguerite Goodner. Those present were: Mesdames J. A. Richolt, B. L. Fain, W. P. Killingsworth, Mildred Packer, Chas. Pogenpohl, E. W. Nicholson, Iva E. Austin, C. W. Beavers, Misses Ivo Willson, Mary Tancred, Marguerite Goodner, Evelyn Hardeman, Opal Ballew, Elizabeth Langford and Jean Fisk.

French Troops Are Braced for Attack By Riffian Rebels

RABAT, French Morocco, May 21.—(AP)—The French, it was learned today, have 50,000 men along the 125-mile front in the northern part of the French zone, braced for an early attack by the Riffians, who, it is believed, will aim at cutting the railway between Fez and Oudja.

This would indicate a drive by Abd-el-Krim against the French right wing. Oudja is near the Algerian border.

Meanwhile the French are trying to liberate a number of their advanced posts in the Taounat region which the Riffians have surrounded and are besieging.

The French troops are not numerous enough to hold a single, solid line and it is for this reason such small posts are established. The method is to advance, establish the posts and then retire, leaving the big masses of troops free to act wherever necessary along the front.

General Count De Chambrun has taken active charge of the operations of the forces of Colonel Freydenberg and General Cambay on the center and right fronts.

COUNTRY HAS PLENTY BANKS, BANKERS TOLD

Comptroller of Currency Speaks Before Meet At Houston

HOUSTON, May 21.—(AP) — "I am convinced that the country as a whole has quite as many banks as it needs," J. W. McIntosh, comptroller of currency, told the Texas Bankers' association at its meeting here today.

"Some sections," he added, "have more than they need. These regions," he continued, "would be better served with fewer stronger and better managed banks. I do not believe that charters should be too freely granted merely because a group of men perhaps lacking in financial responsibility or in understanding of the sound principles and practices of banking, get together and decide to start a bank. Not infrequently, even if it be to the interest of the promoters, it is to the positive disadvantage of the community. Particularly should there be rigorous and unremitting insistence upon the character, integrity and financial soundness of bank organizers."

Tribute Paid.

Mr. McIntosh paid a tribute to the federal reserve system.

"It is," he said, "tremendously important truth that the setting up of our federal reserve system just at the time when it was created represented a mobilization of economic and financial power which, in its relations to the events in this world since 1914, was not less important than the mobilization of the great military force that was brought together for the world war."

Of course, he said, the national banks are the backbone of the system, but "I feel that particular recognition is due to the wisdom and sound public purpose of those state banks which have allied themselves with the federal reserve organizations. By adopting this course they have not only broadened and strengthened the foundations of the federal reserve system, but they have effectively contributed to prevent the development of hostilities between the state and federal banking establishments. This must be regarded as of very great importance, because the maintenance of the federal reserve system has a power in the financial structure, and the development of the fullest measure of popular confidence in it, is an object to be kept steadily in mind." Thus far, "however," he added, "experience has shown that no considerable proportion of small banks other than national institutions cares to join the federal reserve system. Consequently it is particularly important that the terms of national banks charters be sufficiently liberal to induce a goodly proportion of the smaller banks to organize under the federal statutes. In the long run, it can hardly be expected that small institutions will sacrifice any significant measure of business advantage for the sake of the national charters and the direct association with the federal reserve system. If they are to be kept in the system, therefore, they must be given national charters on the most attractive terms consistent with sound banking practice. Because of my deep convictions on this subject, I have earnestly urged the support of the so-called McFadden bill for the relief of national banks in certain respects."

The McFadden bill, he explained, permits national banks to establish branch offices within the limits of the municipality in which they maintain their principal offices, in those cities where the state banks are permitted to do it.

Duties of Officers.

He sketched the duties of his own office and added: "It is particularly the aim and ambition of the comptroller and his staff to be helpful in every possible way to banks."

Returing to banking practice he said it had steadily improved. "For good banks," he said, "managed by thoroughly equipped bankers have met with disaster. It will always be highly exceptional for a sound institution in the hands of thoroughly competent men to be compelled to close its doors.

He recommended bank officers and directors who he said, have "guided our financial concerns through the difficult years during and since the war. Among banks that have experienced disaster, I don't believe that there are a half dozen which, prior to the beginning of their embarrassments, were supervised by active and painstaking boards of directors. I have become profoundly convinced that an active and intelligent board of directors is the greatest asset that any bank can have."

Wife Confesses Babe Is Not Her Own; Spouse Will Not Keep Child In Home

NEW YORK, May 21.—Nat Bass, wealthy clothing manufacturer, who for nine months proudly regarded himself as the father of a baby boy, was today a disillusioned man.

Mrs. Bass has admitted to Assistant District Attorney Pecora that she bought the infant from a baby home for $75 and pretended it was hers because her husband longed for an offspring.

The publicity attached to the state's investigation of the infantorium of Mrs. Helen Geisen-Volk where 44 children have died since 1918, led Mrs. Bass to confess her hoax. She said she feared she might be called in the investigation. She told her husband first and then Mr. Pecora.

It was at the Geisen-Volk institution that the baby was placed in bed with her, she said. Her husband was notified that the stork had arrived. Now he refuses to keep the child, though he and Mrs. Bass love it, because he "does not want to live a lie."

Believe Man Insane Who Kisses Pretty Women on Corners

NEW YORK, May 21—Henry Clay Moffat, Brooklyn's man of mysterious impulse, who gives jewels away and admits he never sees a pretty girl without wanting to kiss her, is again in a hospital for mental observation.

Some weeks ago the daughter and niece of Judge Reuben L. Haskell of Brooklyn received two mysterious $1,100 bracelets by messenger. Detectives traced them to Moffat, who at first denied and then admitted giving them. He never satisfactorily explained his motives and later was under observation, but declared sane.

Yesterday he kissed a 19-year-old bank clerk at Brooklyn's busiest corner. When arrested he said "I'm attracted to young girls like a needle to a magnet. She was such a nice girl I didn't think she would mind."

One of the girl's companions said Moffat had kissed two other girls before he was arrested.

Mrs. Wilson Plans To Tour Southern Europe in Summer

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is to visit again some parts of southwestern Europe which she toured with her husband, the late President Wilson, during the peace conference, but she will go this time as privately as possible and without the excitement that marked the first visit.

Accompanied by Miss Bell Baruch, daughter of Bernard M. Baruch, war time chairman of the war industries board and close friend of the late president, Mrs. Wilson will sail Saturday from New York to spend the summer motoring through France and possibly Belgium and Italy. Before returning here in the fall she may visit England.

Mrs. Wilson's intention is to gain rest and recreation and her tour will afford no opportunity for formal receptions, except possibly in Geneva, seat of the league of nations, where she will visit for a short time.

Test Suit of Bell County Sheriff Is Advanced on Docket

AUSTIN, May 21.—Permission to advance on the docket the suit of Sheriff John Bibham of Bell county to test a ruling of the attorney general's department that only actual expenses can be collected for returning a prisoner to Texas, was granted today, by the third court of civil appeals, it was announced by Assistant Attorney General Weaver Moore.

The attorney general's department in its ruling held that a sheriff is not entitled to collect mileage for several indictments served on a prisoner in bringing him back to Texas, but was entitled to receive the usual serving charges for each indictment and actual mileage.

The district court, in addition to the opinion refused to consider the suit of Sheriff Bigham and the civil appeals court held the refusal to be a judgment and advanced the case on the docket. Mr. Moore expects to file the state's answer with in a day or two.

Called on for a speech he said: "Girls and boys, I am not going to make a speech and keep you out in the sun any longer. But I shall not forget my visit. Above is the new home of the Martin Printing & Stationery Co. now being constructed at 913-15 Eighth St. opposite the Willard Battery Station. The new building will be a 3-story brick, metal and reinforced concrete structure 50x100 ft. attractive in design, fronting to be on Eighth street.

STEADY GROWTH

For the past seven years the Martin Printing & Stationery Co. has shown a steady growth until now they find it to their best interests to build their own building, planned especially for the accommodation of their big wholesale, retail and manufacturing business.

The first and mezzanine floors will be used for retail display and offices of the company; second floor will accommodate the printing department, press room and bindery. On the third floor will be the lithographing department, ruling, rubber stamp manufacturing, shipping and repairing departments. Special attention will be given to the repairing and refinishing departments says Mr. Martin, president of the company. This department will be in charge of skilled mechanics who can proficiently execute any work entrusted to them.

New Equipment Necessary

In moving into the new quarters considerable new equipment and machinery will be added including the latest improved lithographing machinery. Another linotype machine, ruling machine and cylinder press; which will give them one of the most modern plants in the state and enable them to not only handle their present volume of business but also take care of the vast amount of work that is now going to other cities owing to lack of suitable machinery here to handle it.

A close survey shows that there is approximately $150,000 worth of work that is now being turned away from Wichita Falls and the main aim of the Martin Printing & Stationery Co. is to provide for Wichita Falls a plant that can secure and handle this business which will mean considerable more work and a larger payroll for our city.

Their plant when completed will not only give Wichita Falls a much needed and creditable institution but will afford work for more than fifty employes with a payroll of $7,000 monthly and deserves the support of all citizens who are interested in the future of Wichita Falls.

This institution is now drawing business from over 100 counties in Texas and southern Oklahoma and is no doubt doing more toward selling Wichita Falls to the outside world than any wholesale and manufacturing plant in our city; and with their location, present volume of business and this very modern plant we feel that their continued success is assured.

FARMERS ARE NOT FARMING RIGHT--OUSLEY

Texas Bankers Hear Talk On Diversification Of Crops

HOUSTON, May 21—(AP)—Texas farmers are not fertilizing their lands as much as they should. They are not diversifying their crops nor taking advantage of much lost time that would mean more revenue, Clarence Ousley, president of the National Boll Weevil association, New Orleans, told the Texas Bankers association here today. He also pointed out that cooperative marketing has not brought about the good results predicted, but has prevented chaos in many instances.

"Agriculture is an industry with an annual output of $10,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000, bulks larger than railroads, mines or any other single industry, yet when we speak of big business we do not ordinarily have in mind the business of farming.

"When we reflect that 6,448,000 persons are engaged in this industry and that we depend upon them for all that we have to eat and wear, it does seem that their industry is entitled to be rated as business if they are not entitled to be rated as business men.

Time Is Wasted.

"No single crop takes all the farmers time," he said, advocating that they produce a larger part of what they consume. "One crop consumes about half the farmer's time. The other time is wasted unless the farmer has a diversity of crops," he said.

"Another vitally important factor," he continued, "in livestock production is the conribution to soil fertility. This is a matter about which Texas farmers have been very improvident. For many years it has been manifest to very close observers that our Texas soils are deteriorating. There is a limit to any reasonable anticipation of further enhancement in land values. Hence we must set about restoring our soil fertility or we invite calamity."

And the banker of Texas must not fail to judge his farmer customer along the lines of a good and bad business man, Mr. Ousley said. The farmer that fails to take into consideration the many factors necessary to good farming is a bad risk, he said.

Regarding marketing conditions, Mr. Ousley said that commerce in agricultural products had not been wise, and that in some instances so much trickery and scandal had resulted that the government had been forced to assert certain regulatory and supervisory powers.

Economics Challenged.

"The attention of the student of agricultural economics is challenged by the outstanding fact that at this time, there are 2,500,000 or more than one-third of all the farmers in the United States engaged in cooperative marketing and that the gross business amounts to more than $2,200,000,000, which is about one-fourth of the annual business in the United States. The number cooperating has gone from 631,000 to 2,500,000 since 1915 and the annual volume of business has grown from $636,000,000 to $2,200,000,000. The growth of a business is not necessarily prima facie evidence of the soundness of its methods of doing business, but such a growth over a period of light years without a notable disaster or serious reversal is at least indicative of a very firm purpose and some capacity among those who conduct the enterprise. Therefore, it is fair to say that cooperative marketing is to be reckoned with in the business world.

"I hardly need to say to this body of calcualting and unemotional minds in business affairs that cooperative marketing is not the panacea that many of its zealots esteem it to be for all the ills of agriculture. It will not cure improvidence or shiftlessness; it will not arrest the ebb and flow of trade."

Mr. Ousley recited the history of the movement which began in the disastrous decline in 1920 and 1921 in the cotton market. He cited figures to show that since that date sales have netted five to twenty per cent above street averages. The warehouse rate paid by the association has decreased from $2 per 100 bales per day in 1921 to 33 cents per 100 bales in 1924. The insurance rate has increased from $1.50 per 100 in 1920 to 13½ cents per 100 in 1924.

What cooperative marketing has actually done, however, to help the marketing of tobacco, wool, poultry, eggs, potatoes and other commodities was brought out in the address.

Posse Still Seeks Man After Attack

WINTHROP, Maine, May 21. — Search through the woods of northern New England was in progress today for the man who shot down Mrs. Emma M. Towns at her cottage on Lake Maranacook yesterday and is then believed to have kidnaped her 35-year-old niece, Aida Heyward, after setting fire to the cottage.

Mrs. Towns is in a serious condition with two bullet wounds in her body. She told of being halted as she entered her house with her niece by a man who fired at her twice without warning. She heard the man speak to her niece about money and jewelry and then saw them both leave. The man returned, she said, and apparently taking her for dead, set fire to the house. The flaming building roused the town.

SIMPSON BOYS FAIL TO STAY ENTIRE ROUTE

Trammel And Torres Win On Technical Knock Outs

By BLONDY CROSS.

The Simpson brothers, San Antonio welterweights, didn't fare so well Thursday night in the American Legion double wind-up ten-round battles.

Steady Simpson, lost to Renato Torres, Mexico City pummeler, on technical knockout at the close of the eighth round after taking a severe beating and going down twice during the round.

Johnny osculated the canvas in the tenth couplet, and was in sore plight while Duke Trammel of Fort Worth slugged away at his head when Referee Adolph Friedman again called off hostilities, Trammel getting the verdict on technical kayo.

Johnny objected, in fact, swung on the arbiter who stepped back, grinned, and shook his finger at him. But, had Friedman allowed the fight to continue Simpson probably would have been cold-cocked, and if not, assuredly would have been very, very much the worse for wear. He was in a helpless condition when the affair was stopped.

Duke Nurses Right.

Trammel started slowly. He let Simpson carry the going to him the greater part of the route. The early rounds although practically no harm was accomplished were won by the San Antonio face frescoer.

Duke fought strictly a left handed fight. Held back his right, and never uncorked a healthy swing with the starboard poke until the seventh canto. In this chapter he began boring in and earned the round by a neat margin. He was very much the better in the eighth, but still wasn't cutting loose. The ninth was a duplicate round. Simpson covered much alternating with an occasional wild lunge and right swing. Trammel had not as yet turned loose completely with the right that has made him famous in Wichita Falls and the southwest. Duke seemed to be nursing the fist.

During a sudden flurry in the tenth, Trammel slipped a short right to the chin, and Johnny went down. He took the nine count, and came up in bad shape. Trammel tore in swinging short lefts and rights to the head. He backed the Alamo City lad into a neutral corner, and then peppered away with ten-inch jolts—still seemed afraid to put all his power behind that right. Johnny's head bobbed up and down like a fisherman's cork with a couple of sun perch on the hook.

Simpson was tottering when Adolph broke in and halted the massacre.

With a minute's rest, Johnny called for more fight, but when Trammel offered to finish it out, refused, asking Duke to change his gloves. Simpson averred Trammel had been dipping his mitts in the water bucket.

Duke had not.

Torres All the Way.

Torres bested Steady from the opening gong. The Mexican socked away with an intermittant left hook that rarely failed to find its mark. Alternating with the southpaw blow to the face and short right crosses to the body, Renato carried the fight throughout.

Simpson was in trouble the greater part of the way, and was guilty of holding almost incessantly.

The San Antonioan went down in the eighth before a body attack, the telling blow being a stiff right thrust over the heart. He took nine counts and came up a sad spectacle. The Mexican plugged away mechanically. Simpson dropped once by way of dodging, and then was punched to the mat shortly before the round ended. The gong caught him on his hands and knees. The referee cut into the butchering by awarding the decision to Torres.

Young Murdock of Sulphur and Kid Alexander of San Antonio, featherweights, fought a six-round draw. Wasn't a very fast battle.

Kid Norford and Kid Raymond, two Wichita Falls negro welters, put up a fairly good four-round scrap on even terms.

A bevy of youngsters staged a two-round battle royal for the curtain.

STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—Stock prices were carried to higher ground in anothe rtwo million share session today. Switching of chief speculative interest in the public utilities, several of which broke sharply on profit taking to the oils, was one of the outstanding features of the day's trading. Two score issues mounted to new 1925 high levels.

Standard Industrials were again in good demand. U. S. Steel common crossed 129 to a new high on the current movement and then fell back to 119¾, off ⅝ on the day. American Can closed fractionally higher at 191½, and Baldwin showed a net gain of 1¾ at 115¾, after selling as high as 117¾.

Tobaccos, coppers and chemicals ruled moderately higher. Davidson Chemical climbing more than three points to 39. Good buying also was noted in Associated Dry Goods, May Department stores and United Drug.

Rails continued comparatively quiet with the so-called "merger saugs" making the best showing, particularly Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Wheeling & Lake Erie. Frisco common fell back more than two points to 89¾ in reflection of speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to increase the dividend.

Call money ruled at 3½ per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Profit taking by speculators brought about a moderate reaction in sterling, but other foreign exchange rates held firm.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—The cotton market was fairly active today and was characterized by sharp price fluctuations. After opening five to eight points down on less favorable Liverpool cables than due, prices advanced sharply owing to the strength of May and July. The former jumped up to 23.75, or 53 points above the close of yesterday and the latter traded up to 23.80, or 46 points net higher. October advanced to 23.26 ,or only 22 points net up. At the highest July showed a premium of 124 points over October. The market weakened around mid-session and declined sharply, July trading off to 23.07 and October to 21.77. The close was at or near the lows, July showing a net loss of 7 points and new crop months losses of 27 to 29 points for the day.

The morning bulge was due to the strength of the near positions resulting from the strong spot situation, the shrinkage of the certificated stock and the small available stocks in the interior. It was also understood that holders of long July proposed to force delivery of the actual on contracts. The later sharp reaction was primarily due to more or less realizing by buyers and later to more pronounced liquidation based largely on the rumor that a well known authority would shortly issue a very bearish crop condition and acreage report. As this rumor circulated near the end of trading it caused the market to close around the day's low except for July which was comparatively steady owing to the peculiar position of that month.

The weather map was generally favorable and the prospects were for continued good weather. Central and south Texas, however, sent in a number of very pessimistic reports claiming that the crop was not doing well owing to the insufficient rainfall and the absence of sub-soil moisture. Exports today 4,065 balos.

SMOOT

of the three blocks in the proposed area carrying a double-track switch down the middle. The street car company has insistently refused to pay for paving between its rails, maintaining it can not afford to bear the cost of such improvements with the six-cent care it now charges.

Expect Settlement.

What arrangement will be made in connection with this remains to be seen. That some satisfactory agreement has or will be reached has been indicated, however.

Ninth is the last and in many respects the most important of the four main streets reaching into the business section from the thickly populated residential districts to the west. Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh are the others, all of which have long since been paved. Eighth, which follows a billowy course west from town starts on a spree of winding in and out after Brook is reached. No less than six right-angle turns and one sharp jog are necessary in the three blocks between Brook and Van Buren. This, of course, minimizes the value of Eighth as a highway for a straight shoot into town.

Tenth street, the first of the four to be paved, is and always will be a very important thoroughfare. Its long years of heavy service are beginning to tell, however, and its roughness is no special recommendation. Furthermore, the congregating of a large number of retail establishments at Van Buren street and the consequent traffic jam at the corner, which is narrow and crooked anyway, also lessens its attractiveness.

Eleventh street, a well-paved boulevard, is used extensively by persons residing on or south of it, but it is too far south for the convenience of those on the north. Weary motorists also dislike the creepy feeling attending every joust with the Brook street intersection where a weird assortment of angles, curves and circles makes an extremely dangerous corner.

Outlet to West.

This leaves Ninth as the only other logical outlet to the west. As a matter of fact is already carries more traffic west of Brook than does Eighth or Eleventh, and carries nearly as much as Tenth.

Three full blocks will not be necessary for paving since the north side of the 1600 block, between Grace and Brook, is already improved.

BEXAR SUIT TO GET EXCESS IN FEES DECIDED

County Attorney Newton Wins Judgment Former District Attorney

SAN ANTONIO, May 21. — The county of Bexar was given judgement today against former District Attorney D. A. McAskill for $8,083.64 on trial of the suit for excess fees filed by County Attorney Tom J. Newton about a year ago. The judgement carried with it six per cent interest and costs of suit.

Lawton claimed the fees as due the county after McAskill's salary as district atorney and expenses of his office had been paid. McAskill claimed the fees collected during a year should be applied to salaries and expenses while Newton claimed all fees above expenses earned during one fiscal year should be turned over to the county as excess fees.

The claim of the county was based on the annual reports of the district attorney's office for the fiscal years December 1, 1921, to ..ovember 30, 1022, and December 1, 1922 to November 30, 1923.

It was claimed that approximately $30,000 earned in first fiscal year was not collected until the following year and was then applied to paying salaries and expenses of the office. Newton claimed that as this money was earned during the fiscal year 1921-1022, it should have been credited to that year. He claimed that if McAskill had not earned the maximum provided for his office during the fiscal year, he would have lost just that much money and has no right to apply money earned in one year to make up the gross earnings of the next year.

In connection with the statement in Thursday morning's Record News that Judge W. C. Morrow, court of criminal appeals, had withdrawn from consideration of the appeal of Herbert Griffin due to the fact that he was the father of Tariton Morrow, member of the law firm representing Griffin, Charles I. Francis, another member of that firm telephoned The Record News last night to say that such statement was incorrect. Mr. Francis said Judge Morrow withdrew from sitting in the case because he once represented Herbert Griffin's father in boundary suit affecting their land and also because Judge Morrow was a close personal friend of Herbert Griffin and that because Judge Morrow was Tariton Morrow's father had nothing whatsoever to do with it.

VETS HOPE TO COMMUNE TILL TWO ARE LEFT

Plan to Discontinue Their Yearly Reunions Is Tabled

DALLAS, May 21.—(AP)—Determined to carry on for at least another year the United Confederate Veterans here today tabled a plan to hold departmental conventions in the future instead of the general reunion.

The veterans expressed the sentiment that the fading days of life are just the time they want to cling together and that they wish to commune in the annual reunions as long as "two are left."

Birmingham, Ala., was chosen unanimously and without a single opposing city as next year's meeting place. The invitation from Birmingham was presented by R. H. McCallum of that city.

General W. B. Freeman of Richmond, Va., for nine years commander of the Virginia division was elected, after spirited balloting, commander in chief over General James A. Thomas of Dublin, Ga., retiring commander.

The GILDED ROSE

Who's Who in the Story.

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway, her husband, is a brillian, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

Florence Ridgeway, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chcose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with

Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying

Stevie Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Landis in her selfish way. She is in Paris when she hears of Landis' marriage, and immediately returns to the United States. With her goes

Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to join them for dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together all evening, while she will be with her beloved Landis. Thus happens that Landis is amazed to find her waiting for him in the lobby of Claridge's.

Landis phones to find out why his wife has not joined them, and learns that she left the hotel with Briscoe—leaving word that they will join Lydia and Landis in a few minutes. Left alone with Lydia, Landis finds himself swept off his feet by her beauty.

Meanwhile Rosilyn is being escorted to the Clarendon by Briscoe, who tells her that he is doing his best to get in touch with Landis and Lydia.

Had he caught at tonight's opportunity to slip away from her?

At the night club, Rosilyn under the influence of some wine begins to sparkle and jest.

In Paris Stephen Van Vorst is lonely for Lydia. He is on the way to see Marietta, a dancer, a one-time sweetheart of Briscoe's, who, he hopes will be able to help him.

Van Vorst finds Marietta weeping over Briscoe's desertion. He tells her to buck up and come along for a ride with him—he wants to talk over a plan for him.

Long after Rosily's return home Lydia, by a clever ruse persuades Landis to take her for a taxi ride to Jersey. There in the early dawn speeding through the country side his old infatuation asserts itself and he gathers the girl in his arms. Landis returns from Jersey, leaves Lydia and upon finding his wife's door locked decides to put up at his club. Early the next morning he receives a phone call from Lydia.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

Interference

"Good morning, my dear child! Not up yet? And where is Landis?"

In the gold and ivory bedroom where Rosilyn was still reclining, Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, stooped to implant a kiss upon her daughter-in-law's smooth cheek.

The girl sat up in bed, her hair tumbled on her shoulders, and her eyes blinking at the newcomer.

"I—I didn't know the time. We were very late last night—"

"Aha! Gay honeymooners! I simply couldn't make you hear when I phoned from down below. Is Landis still slumbering?"

"I don't know. I suppose he's in his room—"

With determined tread, Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, crossed the sitting room towards the other bedroom door. In the days of her own honeymoon, there had been no question of this "separate" idea—.

But of course the world had changed since then, and one must march with the times.

She flung the door of the other apartment open, and perceived an empty bed, the coverlet neatly folded, and the sleeping suit laid out as though in anticipation of its owner's advent. Gracious! That meant without a doubt, that Landis had been out all night!

She hesitated, then returned to Landis' wife.

"You said you were both very late last night. At what hour did Landis return, my dear?"

Rosilyn busied herself with a silken wrap about her shoulders, fastening it carefully before she said:—

"Oh, I came back a little before he did. I can't stand too much gaiety, you know."

"And he didn't come with you?"

The girl evaded the older woman's glance.

"A friend brought me back to the hotel. Landis must have followed soon after."

"Odd! His bed hasn't been slept in."

Rosilyn gave no sign, though her heart beat painfully.

"We were all very late, and I wouldn't be surprised if he'd lain on the couch in the sitting room for a bit, and then dressed and gone round to his club, or something."

Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, seated herself on a high-backed chair.

"You're picking up the ways of the modern set quicker than I thought you would!"

"And do you blame me?" Rosilyn smiled at her mother-in-law. She would keep her flags flying. This haughty lady should never find out what she suffered.

Then:—

"D'you mind if I telephone for coffee? And will you have some with me?"

The "grande dame" graciously consented.

While Rosilyn did the telephoning, she took a long look at the girl. Yes—in the clear morning light, with not even a "soupcon" of powder on her face, and her dark hair tumbled on her shoulders—she looked surprisingly attractive, and absurdly young.

And Landis was already back to his old gay ways!

She ought to give the child a hint.

When the waiter had brought the coffee, and the pair were sipping the hot liquid, Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, said, in a confidential tone:—

You know, my dear, I loathe the idea of the old-time interfering mother-in-law—but if I were you, much as I dote on Landis, I shouldn't give him too much rope."

The bride's cup was suspended for a moment in mid-air as she commented:

"Why?"

The older woman gave a tiny, artificial laugh. How naive was this Rosilyn! Had she no common sense at all?

He's a good looking youngster, and women have always spoiled him. Even if he is married, there's a type, you know, to whom his marriage wouldn't make a teeny bit of difference. They'd pursue him, just the same."

Her listener's beautiful eyes widened. They were dark-fringed, and exquisitely expressive.

"In that case, isn't it rather up to Landis? It wouldn't have anything to do with me?"

The other's firm lips twisted in a rather crooked smile.

"You're even more 'advanced' than I thought, it seems. But I can assure you the general idea would be that it rather had to do with you!"

Rosilyn sipped her coffee daintily, sitting up in bed in childish fashion.

"When you came here this morning, had you anything in particular you wished to tell me? Because, as a matter of fact—"—she looked her vis-a-vis directly in the eyes—"I would rather not discuss Landis—even with you."

This was a spirit for which Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, was totally unprepared. She had never dreamed the little country girl "had it in her" to take a stand like that, and in her inmost heart a spark of admiration for her daughter-in-law sprang into being. A foeman worthy of her steel was something the good lady was totally unprepared for.

There was a pregnant pause. And then, setting down her coffee cup, the older woman said, brusquely but sincerely:—

"Aha! Gay honeymooners! I simply couldn't make you hear when I phoned from down below. Is Landis still slumbering?"

"I don't know. I suppose he's in his room—"

With determined tread, Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, crossed the sitting room towards the other bedroom door. In the days of her own honeymoon, there had been no question of this "separate" idea—.

But of course the world had changed since then, and one must march with the times.

She flung the door of the other apartment open, and perceived an empty bed, the coverlet neatly folded, and the sleeping suit laid out as though in anticipation of its owner's advent. Gracious! That meant without a doubt, that Landis had been out all night!

She hesitated, then returned to Landis' wife.

"You said you were both very late last night. At what hour did Landis return, my dear?"

Rosilyn busied herself with a silken wrap about her shoulders, fastening it carefully before she said:—

"Oh, I came back a little before he did. I can't stand too much gaiety, you know."

"And he didn't come with you?"

The girl evaded the older woman's glance.

"A friend brought me back to the hotel. Landis must have followed soon after."

"Odd! His bed hasn't been slept in."

Rosilyn gave no sign, though her heart beat painfully.

"We were all very late, and I wouldn't be surprised if he'd lain on the couch in the sitting room for a bit, and then dressed and gone round to his club, or something."

Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, seated herself on a high-backed chair.

"You're picking up the ways of the modern set quicker than I thought you would!"

"And do you blame me?" Rosilyn smiled at her mother-in-law. She would keep her flags flying. This haughty lady should never find out what she suffered.

Then:—

"D'you mind if I telephone for coffee? And will you have some with me?"

The "grande dame" graciously consented.

While Rosilyn did the telephoning, she took a long look at the girl. Yes—in the clear morning light, with not even a "soupcon" of powder on her face, and her dark hair tumbled on her shoulders—she looked surprisingly attractive, and absurdly young.

And Landis was already back to his old gay ways!

She ought to give the child a hint.

When the waiter had brought the coffee, and the pair were sipping the hot liquid, Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, said, in a confidential tone:—

You know, my dear, I loathe the idea of the old-time interfering mother-in-law—but if I were you, much as I dote on Landis, I shouldn't give him too much rope."

The bride's cup was suspended for a moment in mid-air as she commented:

"Why?"

The older woman gave a tiny, artificial laugh. How naive was this Rosilyn! Had she no common sense at all?

He's a good looking youngster, and women have always spoiled him. Even if he is married, there's a type, you know, to whom his marriage wouldn't make a teeny bit of difference. They'd pursue him, just the same."

Her listener's beautiful eyes widened. They were dark-fringed, and exquisitely expressive.

"In that case, isn't it rather up to Landis? It wouldn't have anything to do with me?"

The other's firm lips twisted in a rather crooked smile.

"You're even more 'advanced' than I thought, it seems. But I can assure you the general idea would be that it rather had to do with you!"

Rosilyn sipped her coffee daintily, sitting up in bed in childish fashion.

"When you came here this morning, had you anything in particular you wished to tell me? Because, as a matter of fact—"—she looked her vis-a-vis directly in the eyes—"I would rather not discuss Landis—even with you."

This was a spirit for which Mrs. Ridgeway, senior, was totally unprepared. She had never dreamed the little country girl "had it in her" to take a stand like that, and in her inmost heart a spark of admiration for her daughter-in-law sprang into being. A foeman worthy of her steel was something the good lady was totally unprepared for.

There was a pregnant pause. And then, setting down her coffee cup, the older woman said, brusquely but sincerely:—

SHREVEPORT, May 21.—In a well-played contest the Spots nosed out the Buffs 5 to 4 here this afternoon to win the final game of the series. It was a hurling duel between young Benge and the veteran, Bill Prough. Schick the Spots' new outfielder, starred with a triple with two in the second and a homer in the fourth. Catcher McCurdy of Houston hit a home run and a double. McCurdy pulled an unassisted double play in the first inning when he caught Boston's pop bunt and then raced off to first to retire McGaffigan who had started for second. The score:

Jackie Reid Gets Bumped When He Relieves Carlos

WACO, May 21.—Waco observed Tanner day at Katy field before an enthusiastic crowd by taking the third game of the series from the Spudders, 12 to 3. Archie Tanner, manager of the Spudders, who was a star infielder for Waco in the days of the Navigators, was presented with a floral horse shoe prior to the game.

Williams, who started the game for the Spudders, was wild and was hit hard, lasting ony four rounds. Reid who followed did no better. Deeby Foss was the star of the day with two home runs and a single accounting for five runs. Manager Pratt got back in the game for Waco after a month's absence due to an injury and had a great day. The Twilighters are on the verge of staging the first double header of the year Sunday. If arrangement can be made by Security Nationals and Texhomas, scheduled for the Sabbath p. m. to start their contest early, Len Smith will send his Ludlam and Riggs club against the Wichita Falls Electrics in play-off of a postponement.

SLIPPED THE DOPE.

That overwhelming victory by the American refiners over the Texhoma refiners stands out as the biggest upset of the season to date. The teams were rated on paper as just about even—Stephen. For Medford's lads to take the vaunted Texhoma athletes down by such a score as 13 to 1 was a surprise.

* * *

The victory shoves Texhomas into second place and tightens up the race enough to increase interest a great deal. Heretofore, the Texhomas had been thought by many as unbeatable. They'll be coming back strong again, though. No doubt about that.

GAME TODAY.

The Floral Heights Methodist and the First Baptist will hitch up today on the Twilight diamond for the last scheduled game of the week in the Sunday school loop. The game is scheduled to start at 5 o'clock.

The Baptist will use Temple Shell or Dan Wofford on the mound. The Junior high battery, Parker and Horten likely will go for the Methodists.

* * *

'NOTHER GAME TODAY.

Grace Methodist and First Presbyterians ball clubs of the Sunday school league will tangle up Friday afternoon on the Junior college diamond to erase the postponement left over from a wet founds last Monday.

Hartt will use either Shipley or Coyal Francis on the hill. Skipper Brooks, of the Methodist stated he would pitch Bill Andree.

* * *

The American Refinery club will journey to Newtown Sunday to play the Newtown Terrors. These Terrors have always had a good club and the Americans should find them a hard nut to crack. Skipper Medford will use Glidewell on the mound.

* * *

THE SCORING PUNCH.

There were several freak plays pulled in this game the Methodists and Christians pulled off for practice Wednesday after the Christians had forfeited. In the first inning Johnnin McMahon was safe at second on the third baseman's error. Skipper Gerard Boone tapped onto the pitcher for an intended sacrifice. Boonie was out and Johnnie stalked safely over the pan from second.

* * *

With Ward and Doke on second and third McMahon lifted a long fly to right that scored both runners after the cotch. Scoring from second on a sacrifice bunt and scoring two men with sacrifice flies doesn't happen every day in the Sunday school league.

WALTER WINS ANOTHER

DETROIT, May 21.—The veteran Walter Johnson pitched superb ball here today and the Senators defeated Detroit, 6 to 2. In only one inning, the fifth did Johnson get in trouble. Blue singled and Tavener walked, Bassler, a pinch hitter, doubled scoring Blue and Tavener. The next two men got on base and with the bases full and one down the Senators put out the side with a double play. DOPE BUCKETS SPRING LEAKS IN WACO TOURNEY, COCHRAN AND CARLTON SHOWING FORM

Rotan of Houston, Loses in First of Day's Upsets; Badger and Dexter Drop Out

WACO, May 21.—George Rotan, Al Badger and Charley Dexter fell before the onslaught of young golfers in the first day match play for the Texas amateur title today, leaving Tommy Cochran and Ossie Carlton as the only surviors of the "big five" who started high in popular favor.

Cochran, the title holder, will get his first severe test of the tournament tomorrow when he meets Jack Speer of Houston, who has been shooting sensational golf, but like the champion, has not been up against any of the big guns of the meet.

Hubby Beats Rotan.

Clarence Hubby Jr., of Waco, sprang into limelight today by his brilliant win over George Rotan, five times state champion and bv his consistent golf in winning from Preston Moore of Houston. T. W. Gregory Jr., of Dallas, son of former attorney general, upset the dopesters when he eliminate Al Badger of Dallas. Chalmers Hubby of Waco, younger brother of Clarence Hubby, forced Gregory to 19 holes in the morning.

Ossie Carlton ran up against a stubborn victim in Charley Dexter of Dallas, but Carlton was shooting the best golf of the tournament on the first nine holes, going two under par to tie the record, and making a hole in one when he pitched into the cup on the 140 yard number 5.

Carlton's consistency with his massie gave him putts for birdies time after time and he is now sharing the popular favor with Cochran, as the best bet to win the title.

Seldom In Trouble.

The beauty of Carlton's game is that he is seldom in trouble, and invaluable asset on the Spring Lake course, where a man who gets off the course is heavily penalized. His match with Dexter was prolonged by the fact that twice, when Carlton was dead to the pin, Dexter's putt stymied him and allowed Dexter to square the hole.

M. L. (Happy) Massingill of Fort Worth had a struggle to win this morning over F. M. Lewis, Jr., of San Antonio, but hit his stride this afternoon and played close to par golf against A. L. Exline of Dallas for an easy win. Friday morning Massingill goes up against Ossie Carlton and is slated for retirement but with the dope bucket being overturned as frequently as it has been during this tournament, no one is making any very confident forecasts.

Champion flight (first round):
Clarence Hubby eliminated George Rotan, 2 and 1.
Preston Moore eliminated H. T. Witherspoon, 3 and 2.
W. A. Fort eliminated A. R. Cotton, 6 and 5.

American Refiners Scuttle Rulers of Roost, 13-1

TEXHOMA HAS FIRST DEFEAT MARKED DOWN

Ronie Glidewell Holds Down in Tight Spots

FREAK HOMER HIT

Oiler Pitchers Are Three Times Batted From Box

The American Refiners went into the lead in the Twilight loop Thursday afternoon by administering Texhoma her first defeat by a onesided count of 13 to 1. Ronie Glidewell was supreme in the pinches, and it was when in the hole that Glidewell realy pitched baseball. Glidewell also contributed a punch in the second inning that started the Texhoma downfall, an error in centerfield allowed Ronie to circle the path. He made the round trip after falling to the ground twice after stumbling.

Windham, Medford and Glidewell each poked a pair of safe knocks in the way of winning the game. Coyal Francis was safe on the paths four times, three times on errors and once with a clean bingle to the center pasture.

Kellogg Hits Triple.

Kellogg and McMahon were the only Texhoma men to find Glidewell for anything like a long hit. In the first smashed a three bagger and McMahon did the same in the fourth.

Texhoma opened well but after the first were helpless. Johnson singled to center, and stole second. Glidewell picked him off second with a snap throw to Windham. Kellogg tripled to center. Gordon sacrificed him in with a slow roller to second.

With two down in the second Kizziar and Boone found Glidewell for a pair of singles. Glidewell tightened and fanned Ross to retire the side.

With two on in the second and two down Glidewell slashed a hot single to center, Gordon played fast on the ball but let it get away from him. Glidewell fell down before reaching second but made all four stations before the ball reached him.

Murrell Hammered.

In the third Murrell was hammered from the box and relieved by Randolph. Cannon singled to left. Skeen singled to center, Gordon lost the ball, Skeen took second and Cannon third. Francis was safe on Kizzar's error, Cannon scored. Hefner sent Skeen and Francis home with a three base wollop over McMahon's head. Medford hit to Kellogg who tried for Hefner but the runner was safe. The next two men were easy out via the short to first route.

In Texhoma's fourth with one away Glidewell passed Shadie Hale. Shadie took too big a lead off the bag and Glidewell picked him off the sack. McMahon tripled to left, but never scored as Kizziar hoisted to right.

Singles by Francis and Glidewell, a hit batsman, and two errors let in three more American counts in the fifth. Four errors, and a single by Medford let in three more and sent Kellogg to the hill to pitch and Pipes took first base. Rounsaville popped to Ross and Glidewell skied to McMahon. The box score:

Nicholson, resigned. Bedenk will act as head line coach in football, freshman basket ball coach and head baseball coach. His contract is for three years.

RUSK STUDENTS REINSTATED.

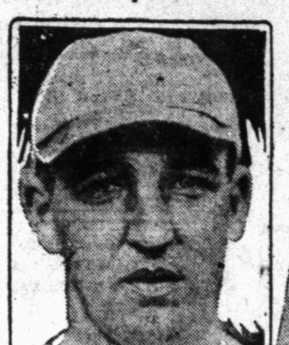

President Suspends Those Asking His Dismissal.

RUSK, Texas, May 21.—Several of the 55 ministerial students at Rusk college, who were suspended Tuesday, were reinstated today when they removed their names from a petition which called for the removal of President A. J. Brown and Dean C. E. Truitt, it was learned.

The students were expelled following the presentation of a petition to the board of trustees which asked for the removal of the college executives on "general principles." The board placed the matter in the hands of President Brown and Dean Truitt, it was reported. About 200 students attend the Baptist Institution.

Huggins Pleads With the Saints To Help Him Rebuild Wobbly Team

ALEX FERGUSON

PHOTO UNDERWOOD

PATRICK COLLINS

MARK KOENIG

In his frantic efforts to check the tobogganing Yankees Miller Huggins is even calling on the Saints for aid.

In fact he hopes to get two of their best ball players to help him out in this, his hour of bereavement.

The St. Paul club of the American association is the outfit referred to. Acting on the recommendation of scouts Huggins is said to have offered that club a fancy price for Pat Collins, catcher, and Mark Koening, shortstop.

Huggins wants Collins mainly for his hitting strength and Koenig to fill the gap left at short by the veteran Everett Scott. Wanninger, rookie infielder, is doing his best at the shortfield position but Huggins wants a more experienced man and a harder hitter there.

Huggins, backed by Col. Ruppert, is willing to pay big money to get these or any other stars who might help him rebuild his team, now demoralized and rapidly slipping down the baseball skids to the cellar.

The Yank manager figures that the deal that brought Bobby Veach and Alex Ferguson to the Yanks will strengthen his pitching department a bit if it does not bolster his batting array.

Ferguson proved himself a capable pitcher with the Red Sox after being discarded not once but twice by the Yenkee bosses. Last year, with the seventh place Boston gang he won 14 and lost 17 games.

He made his big league debut with the Yanks eight years ago, joining them from Bloomfield, N. J., his home town. He collected experience with Bridgeport, Toledo and Jersey City before the Yanks gave him another trial in 1921. He won three games and lost one for the Hugmen that year and then was sent to Boston in a crossroads trade.

Huggins figures to use him often as a relief hurler. And judging by the way Hug's pitchers are going right now Ferguson will get plenty of work.

New Hurler Joins Spuds

Spudder pitching? There ought to be lots of it, for Buddy Tanner has another new hurler in Lindstrom, a right hander from Nashville of the Southern association, who reported to the Wichita Falls club in Waco.

Lindstrom participated in 50 games during 1924 with the Vols, won 20 and lost 10. His earned run average was 4.44 a game.

The new hurler right now is not carried as a staff member but as soon as Tanner figures he is ready for action no doubt one of the present corps will be cut loose. It begins to look like wee Jackie Reid, diminutive right hander, is the man who will get the call when the Skipper cuts down to make room for the newcomer.

Umpires Get Air When Cats Claw Up Bears in Final

Weir Escorted From The Field in Fifth Inning

SAN ANTONIO, May 21—Riotous scenes broke out on Bear field Thursday in the fifth inning of the final game of the Fort Worth series when Umpire Weir was taken off the field by a squad of policemen after the umpire had ordered Second Baseman Gonzales of the Bears out of the game for kicking on a strike called on him. Turning his head to the crowd as he was being led out of the park, Umpire Weir shouted, "this game is forfeited to Fort Worth 9 to 0." Fort Worth was in the lead 17 to 9, at the time. As Weir was led off the field Umpire Kane, who had officiated on the bases, left the field and the game was resumed with Pitcher Bob Couchman as umpire on balls and strikes and Police Officer O'Banion umpire on the bases, ending with the final score, 24 to 12, in favor of Fort Worth. OVER 125 WILL TAKE TRIP ON MASKAT TRAIN

New Cars Ordered To Leave Wichita Falls Tuesday

Modern, up-to-date Pullman cars, a dining car of the same high class, chair car and observation car will comprise the equipment making up the Maskat Temple Shrine special that leaves here next Tuesday for a scenic meander through the rockies and on to Los Angeles. It will carry more than 125 Wichitans and North Texans to the imperial council session meeting in the west coast metropolis.

Contract Signed.

A contract for the train has already been signed by Maskat officials and the equipment was ordered Thursday by Potentate Gardner. The cars will be sent here direct from the Pullman company shops at Chicago and will be turned over to the Fort Worth and Denver which will handle the train as far as Denver.

The Pullman cars, of course, will provide the living accommodations for the Shriners during the trip. The dining car will do duty as the commissary, the observation car will serve as a point of vantage from which to view the many natural beauty spots to be visited, the chair car wil be a sort of lounging room and wardrobe, while the baggage car will carry all the impedimenta of the party—band instruments, uniforms, baggage and other luggage.

Daily "Newspaper."

One novel feature to be provided, at least on the outward trip and perhaps while the Shriners are in Los Angeles will be the daily publication of a mimeographed "newspaper" which will carry announcements, instructions and other data necessary for dissimination.

In connection with the preparations now being made—securing of new outfits by band and patrol, arranging for berths and other incidentals, C. A. Rogers, chairman of the special train committee, has asked that it be made plain that train accommodations are not limited to Shriners or Masons alone. Any one wishing to go to the coast may take advantage of the low rate offered for accommodations on the train—so long as those accommodations last. Return trip tickets will be good through October.

The Maskat party will leave here about 1:30 next Tuesday afternoon and will return the following Sunday. Its personnel may be swelled to 150 before the time of departure comes.

TO WEAR AFRICAN HATS

Postmen Decide on White Helmets for Summer Months

Letter carriers of the Wichita Falls postoffice have gone to Africa for their spring styles in hats.

With real summer weather now a reality the postmen were under the necessity of discarding their winter top pieces and acquiring headgear suitable for the long torrid months. Inasmuch as postal regulations require all members to be garbed in uniform fashion it was necessary that a referendum be taken.

The men decided on a light, straw and fabric helmet, a replica of the popular conception of hunting hats in the jungles. A shipment of the helmets arrived a day or two ago and have been placed in service.

TWO PERMITS TOTAL $500

Building Totals for Week Low With Exception of One Permit

Two lone building permits, one for $350 and the other for $150, give Wichita Falls the hefty total of $500 in the building line Thursday. Both permits were issued for minor repair jobs on residences here.

Aside from the one big permit of $350,000, issued for the new Perkins-Snider building at Ninth and Indiana, building permits in Wichita Falls have been unusually small this week.

DALLAS QUIET AFTER NIGHT JAIL ATTACKS

Officers Guard Negroes Carefully And Have Mob Controlled

BULLETIN.

AUSTIN, May 21.—(AP)—A second call from Sheriff Schuyler Marshall of Dallas this afternoon sent ranger Captain Frank Hamer and Sergeant J. B. Wheatley on their way to Dallas by automobile at 3 p. m. instead of waiting until tonight to start by train, Adjutant General Mark McGee said.

DALLAS, May 21.—Quiet reigned in Dallas late today after about 18 hours of demonstration against two negroes held in the county jail, charged with the murder of two Dallas men and criminal assault on their companions.

County and city officers are guarding closely the jaail and have the situation under control. Preparations have been made to meet any contingency that might arise. Sheriff Marshall is directing the defense plans. It has been reported that Troop C 112th cavalry and Comany G, 144th infantry, Texas national guard have been mobilized an dare ready to aid the civil authorities if necessary. Several Texas rangers are expected to arrive here tonight or early Friday to remain until after the trials of the negroes. A machine gun is to be placed at the court house.

Warnings have been issued to Dallas citizens to not participate in a further attempt to storm the jaial. Mayor Louis Blaylock issued an appeal to the citizens to let the law take its course.

Crowds gathered at the criminal courts building today noon and it appeared for about two hours that there might be a repetition of last night's disorders, when several men were shot and others injured when an attempt was made to storm the jail.

Upon direction of federal Judge William H. Atwell, United States Marshal Sam Gross early tonight issued a warning that "no molestation of any kind will be permitted" and that the security of federal prisoners in the jail must not be jeopardized by attacks. Those who participate in any demonstration seeming to look toward violance against any federal prisoner, will be severely dealt with, he said.

Marshal Gross had deputized a large force of men to repel any attack on the jail, he announced.

Traveling Newspaper To Keep Maskats Informed On Everything In General

A TRAVELING newspaper with a mimeograph doing duty as a linotype, sterotype foundry and press will be carried on the Maskat Temple Shrine special which leaves next Tuesday for the imperial council sessions at Los Angeles.

A daily paper will be issued each 24 hours of the outbound trip and perhaps while the train is in the west coast city. Instructions ,announcements, and other information that may be necessary to spread will be printed, as well as any other items of general interest.

To top off the "sheet", several hundred words will be wired daily by The Record News to those in charge of the train and this, too, will appear. The More important local happenings will be condensed and telegraphed ahead to some point through which the train will pass. In this way the 125 or more Wichitans and north Texans on the train will be informed promptly of what ever may transpire in the city during their absence.

Church Wants Peace So It Elects Man Pledged to Harmony

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 21.—(AP)—W. E. Morrow of Warrensburg, Mo., was elected moderator of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at the annual meeting of the general assembly here today succeeding D. M. McNaulty of Bolivar, Tenn., retiring moderator.

Dr. Ermand was given an ovation, the commissioners rising in their seats and applauding and shouting as the result of his victory was announced.

Dr. Ermand sought the office as a candidate of the "peace party" pledged to restore harmony in the Presbyterian church by quiet orderly methods. He is a professor of practical theology at Princeton university.

Moving Vet Bureau Proves Success In Activity in Altus

ALTUS, Okla., May 21.—The experiment of moving the claims and rating board of the United States veterans' bureau from its central office in Oklahoma City to the home town of veterans of the World war, tried in Altus recently for the first time in the United States, proved a success in dealing with the compensation problems of former soldiers injured in the service and saved the government almost $1000 in expenses while the board was in session here two weeks, according to information given out by members of the veterans' bureau.

It was pointed out that a more thorough examination can be made into the cases of soldiers in the communities they reside because depositions of neighbors and of local physicians can be taken.

The success of the Altus experiment will probably influence the methods of the veterans' bureau throughout the entire United States. Major Henry B. Gilstrap, manager of the Oklahoma City veterans' bureau, believes.

As a test of the thoroughness of the work done not a single appeal has been taken from the decision of the board despite the fact that 123 cases have been handled. Eighteen members of the bureau came to Altus to handle the work.

U. C. V. HEARS BORGLUM PLEA FOR MEMORIAL

Sculptor Asks That They Help in Fight to Save Work

DALLAS, Texas, May 21.—Warning the Unted Confederate Veterans against "endorsing the most talked of crime against the right of authorship in the history of art," Gutzon Borglum, deposed designer of the Stone Mountain Memorial, today issued an appeal to the veterans to save the memorial. His statement follows:

"I came here against my wishes, at the urging of a number of confederate soldiers.

"Before I leave I want to say I have faced what men should not be asked to face in order to correct the records of the confederate south in history—that its story should be saved and their cause rightly stated, and with pride and honor I have placed before the whole world that story.

"The coin which I secured from a republican congressman makes for the confederate soldier the fullest recognition of valor ever given to an opposing army in the history of nations. The world knows that I made that coin.

"Unfriendly hands have seized the great memorial and the coin and these unfriendly agents have for months clouded their acts in making a tragedy of this vindication of the south and by falsehood and mis-statement against me and against the owner and doner of the mountain—against every one not a party to their acts, they have evicted every one connected with the original memorial plan from all participation in the future work.

"They have seized illegally what these people have built in love, in belief, in tears, and placed that work, your history, to be garbled by uninformed alien hands.

"You will be asked to endorse this, the most talked of crime against the right of authorship in the history of great art. If you endorse it, remember you endorse acts the courts can not and will not sustain. You will endorse wilfully illegal breaking of contracts; you will endorse what must inevitably follow the final failure of the great memorial itself."

PLAN CLUBHOUSE WARMING

Mumy Directors Contract for Furniturne to go in New Building

A considerable quantity of furnishings were purchased and plans discussed for a big house warming function at a meeting of the directors of the Municipal Golf club, held Monday night in the city council meeting room. Furniture and other equipment for the clubhouse, which is now rapidly nearing completion on the new golf course south of the city, was contracted for.

It is probable that a banquet and dance will be held to celebrate the official opening of the handsome new structure.

HIGHWAYS TAKEN OVER.

Oklahoma Commission Places Roads Under State Surveyor.

ALTUS, Okla., May 21.—The state highway commission took over the main roads leading through Jackson county and placed them under the charge of O. H. McLaughlin, state patrol surveyor, with a view to linking them up with other state roads to facilitate intra-state travel.

It was urged that the state would be able to keep the roads in better condition than the county would.
