County's Old Timers Will Meet In Lamesa Tuesday

Annual Meeting Expected To See Large Turnout

Citizens Of Twenty Years Ago Will Mix And Mingle With Friends For Day

Last minute preparations have been completed by the Dawson County Old Timers Association for their annual gathering in Lamesa next Tuesday at the City Park.

Invitations have been mailed to scores of former residents who are eligible to attend the get-together, and quite a large number have replied, signifying their intention of attending. In former years, attendants have been registered from as far away as California.

As has been pointed out, anyone living in Dawson County twenty or more years ago, is eligible for membership, regardless of whether they still live in the county, or live elsewhere.

Vacation Bible School To Begin Monday Morning

Plans are virtually complete for the opening of the Vacation Bible School to be conducted by the First Baptist Church, next Monday morning, May 19th.

Thursday of this week, Rev. Elmer Durham, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, Big Spring, and well known for his work in these schools, will hold a Vacation Bible School Clinic at the church. He will assist in the organization of the school here.

A parade will be held, to start the school off, on Saturday afternoon beginning at 3:30, which will form at the church building. The school will actually get started Monday morning at 8:30.

All boys and girls between the ages of 4 and 16 are invited to take part in this school. It is not a denominational affair, and members of all churches are invited to participate.

The Juniors and Intermediates will meet the first week, with the Beginners and Primary meeting the second week.

"Too Many Fans," He Says

"For the love" Mike stop that ad, about buying an electric fan," said Bill Roberts, owner and operator of the Roberts Barber & Beauty Shop. "I only wanted to buy one fan, and I feel sure I could have purchased a dozen, and the end is not in sight. They keep calling me up, and I've already bought a fan."

He was referring to a small classified ad which ran in the Courier Monday afternoon. He got his first call before his shop closed Monday.

This is another example of the reader interest which the Courier Classified section has.

If you want to buy something, sell or rent something, or anything else that you want a lot of people to know about cheap, then you should use a Courier Classified.

The cost is small, seldom exceeding the minimum charge of 25c, and remember this is not for just one paper, but you get it run in both the Monday and the Thursday paper for the price of one.

Use and read the Courier Classified section for profit.

Important Announcement Is Made On Front Page Of Second Section Of Courier

On the front page of the second section of this issue of the Courier will be found some interesting and valuable information to the people of this territory.

Not only will it be good news to subscribers to the paper and those who would like to be one, but there is going to be $40.00 in cash given away in a very interesting contest.

The announcement contains the information that people living in Dawson or adjoining counties may subscribe for the twice a week Courier at only $1.00 per year, for a limited time only. This low rate applies on both new subscriptions and renewals.

Turn now to the front page of the second section and read the complete details of this sensational subscription offer, as well as the information on how you may share in the cash rewards which are going to be made.

Saturday May 24 Has Been Designated As Poppy Day

American Legion Auxiliary Will Sell Poppies Throughout Lamesa On Saturday Of Next Week

Memory of America's war dead in the first World War will be honored on Saturday, May 24, when Dawson County citizens and visitors will be asked to wear a memorial poppy in tribute to their sacrifice and service.

Plans for Poppy Day are being completed by the Allen Houston Post No. 330, Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. T. B. Fulkerson, Poppy Day Chairman. The flowers made by the disabled veterans, will be on sale on the streets of Lamesa throughout the day by the relatives of ex-service men.

The poppies which will be distributed on the streets here have been made by disabled veterans at Legion Hospital. All Poppy Day workers serve as volunteers and all money contributed to them will go into the welfare fund of the auxiliary to carry on the work for the disabled, the families of the disabled and families of the World War dead, during the coming year.

Scarlet Shirts, Cowboy Boots And Ten-Gallon Hats Won't Be Hallucination

If you should see a bank president, a doctor, lawyer, District Judge, or just one of the fellows around town, coming down the streets of Lamesa attired in a flaming red shirt, a ten gallon hat and his pants stuffed into cowboy boots, don't think you are suffering from any hallucinations. It will more likely be the fellow you thought it was, but the reason for this strange attire will be that it is almost Rodeo time in Lamesa again. For it is less than one month until the gates swing open on what promises to be the greatest Rodeo attraction ever held in Lamesa or this section of the country. The dates, as you may already know, are Tuesday and Wednesday, June 10 and 11. Remember them, they should be red letter days in the history of this community.

With the "upping" of the prize list to the neighborhood of $2,000 for the four performances, officials feel sure that some of the best amateur rodeo performers in the entire Southwest will be attracted to Lamesa for this event.

And besides the cash prizes being offered, it is likely that a large number of other prizes will be given. Three saddles were given as prizes last year, and it is believed a like number will be offered this year.

Arrangements have been completed for some of the wildest rodeo stock in the country, and with several inquiries already received from potential contestants, there seems to be only one thing to keep this year's event from topping those of previous years, and that would be adverse weather. Lamesa Receives Recognition As Cattle Market

The Dawson County Livestock and Auction Commission Company, have this week completed a rearranging and remodeling of their barn in Lamesa, so as to better serve their patrons.

The auction ring has been moved to the south side of the building, with the seats along the north side. This makes it a great deal easier for bidders and spectators to get to the seats than heretofore.

This company is now going on their third year of operation in Lamesa, and since their opening, they have established this place as one of the better cattle markets of West Texas.

"It is interesting to note," said one of the operators this week, that fully fifty per cent of the cattle which sold through the ring at our place, come from other than Dawson County. This simply means that we have a market here that is above that in many other places, and the growers are bringing their cattle where they will bring the most money."

This company is owned and operated by Eric Barron and Sol Cleveland, both Lamesa men of many years standing.

Before its opening, cattle were being trucked from Dawson County to points all over West Texas, where feeders and growers sought the best market. This practice, however, has not only ceased, but the operation has practically reversed itself, with more cattle being brought in from other places each week that the sales are held.

National Cotton Week Is Being Observed Here

Beginning Friday of this week and running throughout next week, retail stores of Lamesa are joining with those of the entire nation in the observation of National Cotton Week.

This week is set aside to acquaint the people of the entire country with the many uses and advantages of cotton and to encourage more of its use.

Many stores in Lamesa have ads in this issue of the Courier in which they are offering special values for this week.

The people of this area should, by all means, get behind this movement, and not only use all the cotton they can, but to encourage its use among others. The more cotton the United States consumes the better the market will be for the raw product which the people of this section have to sell.

Look up the ads in this issue and make it a point to stock up on cotton goods during the week of May 16th through the 24th.

"I Am An American Day" Be Observed At Ball Park

Short Program Will Be Between Baseball Games

Is Part Of Celebration Planned Over Entire Country For This Day

All plans have been completed for the observation of "I Am An American Day" in Lamesa Sunday afternoon at Lobo Field.

As announced Monday, the program will be held between the games of a double-header between the Pampa Oilers and the Lamesa Lobos. It was announced at first that it would be held on the Court House lawn, but it was decided later to move it to the ball park.

So attend the ball game Sunday. You are not only assured of two good games of baseball, but this short, impressive program, will be worth the price of admission.

It has been announced that the program will require only fifteen to twenty minutes to complete, and this will take up the time which is usually very boring at a double-header ball game.

The public address system of the ball park will be used and the speakers will be just in front of the grandstand, so that every person present may see and hear. The following program will be given.

Recognition of those 21.

Band Music by the Lamesa High School Band, under the direction of Conway E. King.

Flag Raising Ceremony, by the Allen Houston Post of the American Legion.

Pledge of Allegiance, led by W. T. Webb.

Song, "God Bless America," led by V. Z. Rogers.

Short Talk.

"Star Spangled Banner."

K. C. Celebrating Golden Anniversary This Year

The makers of K C Baking Powder, the brand featured in The Dawson County Courier's Cooking School, and a favorite in millions of homes, are observing the golden anniversary of that popular brand, Miss Jessie Hogue, who uses K C in her demonstrations, recommends that brand and offers the following suggestions for the proper use of baking powder to insure best results:

Use the amount of baking powder recommended on the can or in the recipe book issued by the manufacturer. Because of the high strength of K C Baking Powder which she is using in the cooking school, only one level teaspoonful should be used to a cup of well sifted flour for most recipes. This is equivalent to one heaping teaspoonful to a quart of flour.

Careful measurement is very necessary as using more or less than a recipe calls for will not produce best results.

Another secret of good baking is to be sure that the baking powder is thoroughly mixed with the flour and other ingredients. The more thoroughly the baking powder and flour are mixed before you add moisture, the better your results are likely to be. Sift three or four times. For biscuits, make a smooth dough that can be handled without sticking, and bake in a moderate oven. For cakes, have your oven slow to moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase heat so as to just brown lightly.

K C is manufactured by baking powder specialists who make nothing but baking powder. It is always uniform in quality and can be relied upon to produce for you, the kind of bakings you will be proud to serve.

Additional helpful information and a great many practical, tempting recipes will be found in the K C Cook's Book. You will receive a copy, postage paid, by mailing your request, with a slip taken from a can of K C Baking Powder, to Jacques Manufacturing Co., Chicago, Illinois.

Duncan Coffee Company Is A Texas Institution

In the laboratory of the Duncan Coffee Company at Houston, Texas, a pleasant-looking, middle-aged man sits at a round table and sips coffee. The laboratory is a practical miniature of a coffee roasting plant, and from its small, fragrant ovens, grinders, and makes comes cups of brewed samples from every coffee producing region of the globe. The man is Herschel M. Duncan, president and founder of the company, who is recognized by the trade as being one of the world's foremost experts. From the dictates of his palate have come the formulas that have placed Admiration Coffee and tea among the leading brands of the Southwest.

Millions of pounds of these coffees are blended and roasted annually in the Corpus Christi and Houston factories of the company, and the Duncan enterprises support a labor roster of approximately 400 employees with an annual payroll of $650,000. While the bulk of production is consumed by Texas coffee drinkers, an appreciable amount is also marketed in the remainder of the Southwest and in the South. A tribute to the quality of Admiration Coffee is the fact that it is served exclusively in the House of Representatives and the Senate at the National Capitol.

The first coffee roasted by the Duncan Coffee Company was the famous Admiration blend, the "Cup of Southern Hospitality." So pleasing and successful was this original blend of expensive coffee that after 23 years this same blend is hailed as one of the world's finest coffees. Always a step ahead in pioneering coffee roasting and packing improvements, the Duncan Coffee Company looks forward to the future.

refinements as tailor-made grinds. In order to insure the goodness of Admiration Coffee in all types of coffee-makers, the Duncan Coffee Company spent thousands and thousands of dollars in research and experimentation, seeking to determine the best grind suited for each coffee-making method. In 1932, the Duncan Coffee Company startled the coffee industry in announcing the creation of the patented Drip-kut. This distinctive grind met with such immediate response all over the Southwest that soon other companies attended to market a similar grind. Then, just seven years later in 1939, the Duncan Coffee Company again matched the progress made by manufacturers of coffee making equipment when it announced the perfection of Glass-drip—the precision-cut coffee for aluminum and glass coffee-makers. This grind today stands alone as the only perfect grind for glass coffee-makers available in the Southwest.

Thermo-roasting — a scientific method of heat application which roasts the beans thoroughly and evenly to bring out all the fine flavor of the superb Admiration blend — represents still another "first" for Duncan.

Dedicated to the purpose of offering the public the finest coffees and teas obtainable and determined to maintain its independence as one of the Southwest's own industries, the Duncan Coffee Company proudly looks forward to the future.

Gamma Lambda Chapter Observes Founders Day Tuesday Evening

Gamma Lambda Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society observed national Founders Day with a banquet at the Country Club on Tuesday evening, May 13.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Jack McLaughlin and Mrs. L. F. Gregg. Mrs. E. J. Yates presided at the book where twenty members registered during the evening.

The garden motif was carried out in decorations throughout the entertaining rooms, in table appointments, menu, and program.

Baskets of cut flowers, with roses predominating, were used on the U-shaped banquet table, which was lighted by tall white tapers in crystal holders. Places were marked by rose-shaped mint cups. Tiny hand-made programs of red were tied with small yellow ribbons, carrying out the society's colors.

A three course dinner under the supervision of Mrs. Tom Burnside included stuffed tomato salad with wafers, creamed chicken rosettes, green asparagus, buttered potatoes with parsley, deviled eggs, olives, hot rolls and strawberry pie, with feed tea.

Mrs. McLaughlin, chapter president, welcomed the guests in rhyme and compared members of the organization to various types of roses. She introduced the officers of the local chapter as the forget-me-nots of the garden, commending them for their services during their two-year administration. Each officer responded with her outstanding memory of association with Delta Kappa Gamma.

"Our Favorite Flowers", a toast to the twelve National Founders, was given by Mrs. J. E. Barron, who presented the names one by one with a small nosegay until the circle of twelve was completed in her tribute.

Mrs. Matt McCall played Granger's "Country Gardens" as a piano solo.

Lamesa Church Host To Semi-Annual District Methodist Conference

Thirty-six churches of the Lamesa District were represented by 350 persons attending a semi-annual district Methodist Conference at Lamesa's First Methodist Church Wednesday.

Dr. O. P. Clark, district superintendent, opened the program at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning with a devotional, and presided at a business session.

Lunch was served at noon by women of the Lamesa Church. Dr. Frank Turner, president of McMurry College, Abilene, spoke in behalf of that institution. Rev. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Lubbock, delivered a sermon at the 11 o'clock hour.

It was reported that the district churches had acquired 1,035 new members in the last six months, representing a net gain of 666.

Reports were heard from the chairmen or representatives of the following committees: A. N. Gamble, Lubbock, District lay leader.

Activities: Rev. J. E. Stephens, Adolou, financial system; Rev. E. D. Landreth, Lamesa, evangelism; Rev. G. E. Turrentine, Tahoka, accepted supply preachers; Rev. Preston Florence, Seminole, district evangelists; Rev. J. B. McReynolds, Levelland, spiritual state of the church and Christian Literature; Rev. H. W. Hanks, Brownfield, Missions and church extension; Rev. W. E. Hamilton and Rev. Cecil Matthews, of Lubbock, Christian education and College support; Mrs. M. B. Hilburn, C. C. Cotton Form R.

Overplanting To Draw Penalty

Due to some reported misunderstanding of the 1941 regulations of the AAA Program relative to overplanting the feed allotment or the total soil depleting allotment special attention should be called to the penalty that will result in overplanted soil depleting allotment by planting too much feed. General Soil depleting crops are depleting when seeded. The average penalty per acre for being over the total soil depleting acreage is $5.60. Since general allotment crops are soil depleting when planted no opportunity will be given for plowing under excess acreage.

Corn is a soil depleting crop when planted and used for stock feed on the farm. There seems to be some misunderstanding over the county about the amount of corn acreage that could be classed as vegetable corn. No definite limit has been set as to the acreage of corn that may be used or classed as a vegetable crop, only the acreage that is used entirely as human food on the farm can be classed as a neutral crop.

Vegetable crops may be processed or canned and the acreage may be classed as a neutral crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Shillingburg of Brownfield spent the week end here with relatives and friends.

Miss Ouida Butler of Tech, Lubbock, spent the week end here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Day.

Phil McKee of San Angelo spent the week end here visiting with Mrs. McKee.

ATTENTION COTTON FARMERS

Delinting, grading and treating of cotton seed has become a scientific necessity as well as a financial saving for the cotton grower.

Special service is being given to the Delinting of Cotton Seed and treating with Ceresan which is one of the farmer's greatest assets at this time of the season. We are giving day and night service and appreciate small amounts as well as large.

We have a modern plant at Cotton Center (8 miles south of Lamesa on Big Spring road). This plant consists of a Linter delinting system, two types of cutting machines (one reel type and one large clipper type especially made for cutting of both small and large type cotton seed), also the treating attachment for treating of seed with Ceresan.

Loboes Back Home For Seven Days Following Season's First Road Trip

After dropping the first two games of the series to the Wichita Falls Spudders, the Loboes came back in the ninth inning Wednesday to score two runs and win 2 to 1, behind the fine pitchings of Lefty Sullivan, newly acquired Lobo hurler, who has won his first two starts for the locals. Lefty Lucas, who formerly wore a Lobo uniform, did the hurrying for the Spudders.

The win Wednesday lifted the Loboes out of the cellar, where they plunged, following their second defeat at the hands of the Spudders. However, they are now only one-half game out of third place and a half game out of the cellar, that's how close the last six clubs are to each other.

The locals returned to Lamesa Thursday for their first home appearance under the lights. Borger is making its first appearance in Lamesa this season, for Thursday and Friday's games.

On Saturday the Panipa Oilers will be here for a single game on Saturday and a double bill on Sunday afternoon.

Monday night will see the first ladies night of the season when all ladies will be admitted free. The Wichita Falls Spudders will furnish the Lobo competition for this tilt. The Spudders will wind up the local home stay Wednesday night of next week.

The trip was arranged as the result of a personal invitation extended Sul Ross to participate in the festivities of Merila by Dr. Enrique Arreguin Jr., sub-secretary of the Department of Education in Mexico, and a member of President Avila Camacho's cabinet, and Sr. Ing. Jose R. Alcaraz, of the department of secondary education, during their visit to the college last April. Dr. Arreguin is a native of Michoacan.

All students making the trip are enrolled in the Foreign Language department of Sul Ross, and they were enthusiastic in anticipation of events which they felt would contribute greatly to their understanding of studies of the Republic of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Baskin spent Sunday in Colorado City visiting with relatives.

Miss Jo Evelyn Davis, Lamesa student in Sul Ross State College, is among a group of ten students who left Alpine Saturday for Mexico, to represent the college at the four hundredth anniversary celebration of the historic city of Morelia in the state of Michoacan.

They were accompanied by Miss Stather Elliott, head of Sul Ross Foreign Language department, and Miss Anna D. Linn, registrar. The group expects to return to Alpine on May 21.

Mrs. Tucker's Shortening Offers Valuable Premiums

Championing a crusade for better baking, Mrs. Tucker presents a Cake-Making Contest as one of the feature attractions of the Courier Cooking School, May 19-20-21. Realizing the importance of cake mixing, this Dear Old Lady offers valuable prizes for cakes made with her creamier Shortening.

Two sets of bright and sturdy chrome steel cooking ware have been donated by Mrs. Tucker as the premiums, and those who see these shiny sets of ultra-modern kitchen equipment will want to parade their cake-creating talents during the cooking tournament.

For the cake chosen by the judges as best in appearance, texture and taste, Mrs. Tucker will give as first prize a 5-piece set of Eveready Chrome Steel Cooking Ware, consisting of Chicken Fryer, Skiddle, two different sizes of skillets and a dutch oven. The maker of the second best cake will receive a 3-piece set made up of Chicken Fryer, Skiddle and Skillet. You may enter any kind or as many cakes as you wish, but each cake must be made with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, the pure vegetable shortening for cakes as well as all cooking purposes.

The cooking school expert recommends Mrs. Tucker's Shortening especially for cakes because it is so creamy-smooth. She advises that this shortening has been featured in over 250 cooking schools each year for several years and that the experienced demonstrators have found Mrs. Tucker's creaminess the most desired quality in a shortening. These experts say that Mrs. Tucker's is multi-creamed at the factory so that it mixes easily with other ingredients at any temperature. "Besides the ease of use," continue the experts, "Mrs. Tucker's is most desirable for cakes because it is made exclusively from choice vegetable oils. There is no animal fat in this shortening, which digests easily and quickly. Then Mrs. Tucker's is packed in airtight

"Cellophane"-lined cartons and in 3-lb. airtight cans so that it keeps its sweet, pure factory-freshness. And finally, Mrs. Tucker's Shortening goes farther for real economy." Mrs. Tucker's is also fine for frying and all other Shortening purposes, according to these cooking school demonstrators who have tested it for every kind of use. They feature Mrs. Tucker's lack of moisture, which assures no popping, its high-burning point, and the fact that it does not absorb odors or flavors of foods fried in it. These women say you can strain Mrs. Tucker's and use it over and over for economy.

Attend the cooking school, learn how Mrs. Tucker's creamy-smooth Shortening makes cake-baking easier and how this pure vegetable product makes more delicious foods

Eggs For Defense And Profit

Feeding chickens for more eggs is a real opportunity for farm families to aid defense and add to their incomes. Extension Service workers are telling rural people, following announcement of a Department of Agriculture plan for supporting the market price of eggs during the next two years.

Jennie Camp, extension specialist in home production planning has pointed out that plenty of feed for farm poultry flocks means more eggs, and more eggs help assure ample food supplies for this country, Great Britain, and other countries resisting aggression. She says since commercial poultrymen are already feeding their flocks to get the most possible eggs, extra eggs must come from special feeding of farm flocks.

Here are some tips George McCarthy, extension poultry husbandman, gives farm families on their er emphasis must be laid on the importance of reviving the Christianity of the home was clearly seen. To this end great stress was placed upon the need for increasing the number of Daily Vacation Bible Schools, the need for more thorough education of the young and adults, and for a still better educated laity. This together with more consecrated, more spirit-filled preaching of the pure and simple Gospel of Christ, could be the only Salvation from the many forces that seek even now to destroy our Christianity and subsequently our Democratic way of life.

expansion of poultry flocks. "Feed plenty of mash, either home-mixed or commercial, and all the grain the hens will clean up at night," he says. "Keep fresh, clean water where the hens can get to it easily at all times. Wet mash is an excellent appetizer. It should be fed in a crumbly state, and once started, must be kept up. Extra eggs will pay for the additional work."

Both specialists explain that eggs are an ideal means of turning over-normal reserves of feed into defense foods, and that increased production can be maintained by better feeding. Their advice is: "Give the hens all they'll eat this spring. Don't make them rustle for their feed."

If You Want To Work For U. S., Have Good Record

By JACK STINNETT
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Don't, for goodness sake, call it a witch hunt, because it isn't like that at all. But rarely has there been so much "investigate-your-neighbor" stuff going on as there is in Washington today.

If you even plan to apply for a government job, be sure that your patriotic record is as clean as George Washington's.

It happens like this: You can't work for the government if you owe allegiance to any organization that is violently "agin" our political way of life. Thus, when you apply for a job, the Civil Service Commission makes all possible investigation within its means.

Suppose you get a job. You get assigned to a typewriter, we'll say in the Treasury Department. The Treasury has its own investigatory staff. It gives you another going over. Still, all clear.

Then, you get an offer from a friend you have made to come over to the Office of Production Management at a better salary. You make the jump. You are investigated again—because certainly there are few spots where a person playing loose and free with his government's secrets is more dangerous than at OPM.

Still, you come through without even a slightly muddy hem. Then, somebody hears something. You were seen last night with a very suspicious person. The "somebody" who heard something sits down and writes your boss, or the Federal Bureau of Investigation, or the Department of Justice. If the justice people think there might be something in the case, they refer it to the FBI and J. Edgar Hoover's boys would be knitting on the job if they didn't make a thorough investigation.

So you see where this thing leads. Working for the government is becoming a stroll through a maze of investigation. I know one young woman who has worked for four different agencies in three years and claims she knows of six different times she has been investigated. Some of these were routine—but a couple must have been on complaints of alleged subversive activities. She doesn't know definitely about that, but she does know that every time the investigating agency has given her a clean bill of patriotic health and her progress has been uninterrupted.

Aside from the routine initial investigations to determine if a prospective employee ever swore allegiance to an "ism" that advocates the overthrow of our form of government, most of the prying now comes as result of letters to the boss, Civil Service, or FBI.

Nobody is exempt—not even the department heads—but many of these letters can be put into the "poison pen" classification as soon as they are opened. Nevertheless, there are enough more that have to be investigated to make it a major headache with those who have to do the work. A lot of them even then turn out to be nothing more than somebody's trying to get somebody's job—or hoping to even an old score—or just being what is politely referred to as a crank.

But—and here is where the rub comes—some persons considered dangerous in their philosophies or activities have been exposed as results of these letters. The proportion is very small, still the total is enough to make it important that "no stone be left unturned."

Serious government officials are trying to keep the thing from becoming a "witch hunt" without impairing the hands of investigating agencies. The whole business poses a neat problem of keeping the sign, "Democracy At Work," free from smears.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Leuenberger spent Sunday in Lubbock visiting with friends.

Capital Parade (Strictly Military) Sees New Army

By JACK STINNETT
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Capital parade (strictly military):

The 900 girls, mostly government workers, who have registered here as dancers and are on call as partners for soldiers at hops in town and at the camps, are forming a military organization. It's an odd army; it's all officers. The girls are colonels, captains and so on down to sergeants and corporals.

The reason for this is not quite clear. Sgt. Geraldine (last name and telephone number may be obtained through the District of Columbia dance committee) thinks maybe it's to help the soldiers' morale. For instance, she explains, it won't hurt a private's chest expansion a bit if when he's asked what he did over the week end, he can answer: "I took Captain Smith's to a dance—Capt. MARY Smith's—and, Soldier, if you ask me, the captain's swell!"

Washington folks have put the "Big Business" sign on their first effort to relieve the week end housing situation for visiting service men. They threw up several rows of tent houses on the Mall, down by the Tidal basin, stocked them with nearly 300 army cots. They took over the gymnasium of George Washington University and put another 90 cots there. Then they sent out word that any soldier, sailor or marine that wanted a bed for the night could have it for 50 cents. The boys flocked in.

The soldiers made their own beds from heaps of clean linen and blankets. "All the comforts of home," said one of the first comers. But it is something more than that. There's no taps to beat into bed at night and no reveille to bust up a man's slumbers at the crack of dawn.

This modern variation of the "flop-house" idea was started only on an experimental basis, but welfare and recreation association officials are so pleased that they are now seeking additional gymnasiums. One association official estimates that there will be as many as 30,000 visiting service men in Washington on some week-ends during the summer.

This is a good deal more than original plans were made for. One reason for upward revision of the estimate, it was explained, is the new railroad coach rate for service men.

There has been a little inter-service war in our armed forces, and the Navy has poked the Army where it hurts most—in the stomach. The Navy has closed its cafeteria to outsiders—and "outsiders" to the admirals, includes the Army.

The story behind it is this: The army cafeteria (in the Munitions building) is small and no great shakes for food either, so war department workers—at least a lot of them—have been in the habit of running across the street to the Navy for their noonday chow. This, plus the great increase in employees caused a daily traffic jam in the Navy cafeteria.

To eliminate this, the Navy issued its order and has posted guards to see that only persons wearing the Navy Department identification badges get by the cafeteria doors. The Navy was the third building in the vicinity of the Army to clamp down on cafeteria visitors. Both the Federal Reserve (just across the street from the Munitions building) and Department of Interior have put "employees only" signs over their eateries during certain hours.

What the Army will do to appease its midday hunger still is being considered. Some of the hired help suggests an issue of lunch boxes.

Around Army headquarters they are telling the story about the Fairbanks, Alaska, detachment that went out in search of bad weather. They took a train and gun, footgear, tents and things they wanted to test, and went north of Anchorage in search of sub-zero weather. For days the weather was so mild you couldn't test an ear-muff. The 90 officers and men finally gave up; started for home. On the train on the way back, they ran into one of the worst blizzards in years and were delayed for hours while train crews cleared the tracks of smoke-stack-high drifts.

It pays to get good chicks from carefully selected parent stock that has been tested for pullorum disease.

U. S. TRAINS YOUTHS FOR SEA

The United States Maritime Service is meeting the threatened shortage of skilled merchant seamen by training youths who have had no previous seagoing experience. Young American citizens in good physical condition 18 to 23 years of age are being enrolled for a seven months' course of instruction in the duties of the deck, engineers, and stewards departments. Enrollees are paid $21.00 monthly; clothing, food, and quarters are furnished by the Government.

The training course qualifies these young men for jobs on American merchant vessels where pay starts at $72.50 a month with food and quarters furnished. For detailed information write to U. S. MARITIME SERVICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Too Much Wheat Grown In U. S.

United States farmers produce more wheat than the home market is able to use. Charlie L. Thomas, state AAA committeeman and wheat farmer from Pampa, says in pointing out that large supplies of wheat are expected to make marketing quotas necessary for handling the 1941 crop.

During the past 18 years, the committeeman declared, farmers have produced an average of 109,000,000 bushels of wheat more than was consumed in this country. Exports have furnished an outlet for much of the wheat produced above domestic needs, but since the outbreak of the present war, wheat exports have been almost entirely cut off.

As a result of the war, wheat has piled up in this country until the total supply for the 1941-42 marketing year is expected to be nearly one and a quarter billion bushels, Thomas said. That is almost enough wheat to meet this country's needs for two years.

Another factor that has contributed to large wheat supplies is that the average person in the United States eats less wheat than formerly, he continued. In 1920 the consumption of wheat averaged 4.4 bushels per person, while in 1930 it was 4.1 bushels and in 1939 only 3.7 bushels. Although the population has increased, the lower consumption per person has prevented any appreciable increase in the total consumption.

Inability of the domestic market to absorb the wheat produced, coupled with the sharp curtailment of exports, are factors for wheat growers to study carefully before the marketing quota referendum on May 31, Thomas declared.

What the loudspeaker (more properly referred to as the public address system) has done to the army would give an old-time top sergeant the screaming meemies. For instance, if some day you are going to murder the bugler, you'll have to catch him in bed. Why? Because today, that's where the bugler does his "You-can't-get-em-up." Here's how: The bugler is awakened by his alarm. He reaches under the bed, turns it off, picks up his bugle, pulls a funnel shaped mike to the end of the bugle and softly blows reveille. From loud speakers all over the camp, his notes blare the bad news that it's time to get up. Not only that, but regimental commanders (colonels) traveling in "jeeps" (reconnaissance cars) have P. A. system engineers along with them. When they want to bowl out an order, they whisper it into a microphone and a big fellow echoes across the parade grounds.

A Pillow Is The Englishman's Favorite Shelter

By EDWIN STOUT
(Associated Press Writer Back from 18 Months in London)
AP Feature Service

NEW YORK — Millions of Englishmen are making air raid shelters out of their beds just by putting a pillow over their heads to shut out the noise and going to sleep.

They have found in nine months under bombardment that there are not any bombproof shelters. The only absolute safe place when bombs start dropping is out of town and after they begin to fall it's too late to get there.

The next safest place is down in a deep subway station, but stations aren't entirely bombproof. Several hundred South Londoners were drowned in one when a big bomb hit a water main over their heads last fall. Many other hundreds have been killed in shallower subways and in underground and surface shelters.

Fewer than a hundred thousand people find shelter in London's deep subway stations, leaving seven million others to go somewhere else. In a night raid most of these seven million act as if the sirens hadn't sounded, the runs weren't barking and the airplanes weren't dropping overhead.

They crowd the neighborhood saloons until closing time and then go home and go to bed. They hurry in off the street because houses shut out some of the frightening noise but they figure they are just as safe in a saloon, or at home as they would be in an air raid shelter. Anyone who has seen what a big bomb does knows there isn't much protection against one anywhere.

Comparison of the explosive force in a big bomb and in a stick of dynamite gives some idea of the reason. A stick of dynamite averages about eight ounces and explodes with enough force to smash a rock three feet thick into pieces.

One of the big bombs dropped on London, Plymouth and other cities contains 4,000 times as much explosive as a stick of dynamite.

It is the blast of this explosion that causes the damage and casualties. A look of what one big bomb did in a tenement district shows how. It hit a row of adjoining, two-story brick houses.

The two houses in the center of the hit were gone—blown up. Six houses on each side were flattened into piles of brick and timbers. Four houses 150 feet to the rear of the hit, across the open backyard between the streets, also were flattened. Every house within 150 feet of the hit either was smashed completely or had walls blown out. For another 200 to 300 feet every house was damaged.

Because very few places in a bombed city seem to be safe, people who live under a bombardment have become fatalistic about it. They count on the law of averages—only 500 to 1,000 out of 7,000,000 are killed on an average heavy bombing night in London—so keep them alive.

Probably they are no braver than when the blitz started last August—everyone who can hear it is terrified when a bomb is falling nearby. But the civilian veterans of the bombing of Britain have become resigned to fighting down this terror and going to sleep.

A pillow over their heads keeps out some of the noise and if the house blows down it's probably better to be upstairs where there isn't so much to fall on them.

Texas Cowboy Reunion To Have New Features

STAMFORD, May 10 — The most elaborate program in the history of the Texas Cowboy Reunion is assured by the list of attractions tentatively adopted by the directors of the twelfth annual roundup in Stamford on July 3, 4, and 5.

New events will be added to the thrilling show in the arena of the world's biggest cowboy rodeo. For the first time this year, the cowgirl sponsors from various towns and ranches will participate in every afternoon and night rodeo performance of the three days. A barehanded bull-fighter who uses no cape or weapon will engage the ferocious Brahma steers imported for the steer-riding contest.

Luke J. Pasco of Chicago will return this year with his champion sheep dogs which proved a popular attraction at the 1938 Reunion. A new group of trick and fancy riders and ropers are being signed for the arena shows, as well as an outstanding rodeo clown.

These special events are in addition to the cowboy rodeo contests in bare-back bronc riding, wild cow milking, steer riding, calf roping and saddle bronc riding. The cutting horse contest will be held the morning of July 5.

WHALERS ARE SCARCE AND SO ARE WHALES AS '41 SEASON OPENS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Twentieth Century Moby Dicks will sail soon to whaling grounds off the California coast to bring back products for perfume, soap, and cat and dog food.

Only one San Francisco company is left out of the great whaling outfit that helped make the American whaling fleet the largest in the world a century ago. Only other company in North America is Canadian.

The world catch last year was about 35,000, including whales taken from the Antarctic by English, Norwegian, and Japanese whalers. But whales are caught too fast, according to Dr. Remington Kellogg, of the United States National Museum, who fears that some species will soon be extinct.

Biggest use for whale fat in this country is for soap. It also goes into perfumes, face creams, sprays for fruit trees and flies and lubricants.

Germany uses whale fat for lard. Japan eats whale meat, but this country uses the meat only for cats and dogs, according to the United States Department of Interior fish and wildlife service.

Texas U. Girls Organize Campus Association

In order that independent women on the University of Texas campus may have a full share in the broader college education outside textbooks, independent women last week organized their own association.

Modeled on the Men's Inter-Community Association (MICA), the co-eds who do not wear the Greek-letter symbols of campus sororities are calling themselves Women's Independent Campus Association (WICA).

Inspired by similar groups on other college campuses whose representatives attended a recent National Independent Students Association convention in Austin, the girls plan a three-fold program to satisfy the social, athletic and cultural needs of more than two thousand non-sorority girls eligible for membership.

The WICA program outlined for

Martin Dies Is Heard By Large Crowd Monday

Congressman Martin Dies spoke in Lamesa Monday evening in behalf of his candidacy for the United States Senate seat left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard.

A crowd estimated to number two thousand heard him deliver one of the most interesting addresses ever heard in Lamesa. He touched only lightly on politics, stating that this was no time for politics to enter in any discussion.

Practically his entire address was given over to the battle which has been staged by the Dies Committee against subversive and un-American activities in the United States. His audience sat spell-bound as he cited the rapid rise of Adolph Hitler, showing the big part which the Fifth Column has had in the downfall of European countries which have fallen to Hitler.

He stated that the tactics used by Hitler are by no means new, but are patterned along the same lines which the Greeks and their Wooden Horse used, to conquer the Trojans. By striking from within, the Greeks of old were able to conquer their enemies in a few hours, a task they had failed to do in ten years, in open warfare.

He quoted from Joseph Stalin and Adolph Hitler, that the United States would be conquered from within. Dies added that Hitler did not know the American people, but he warned that unless America remained ever alert, this inside decay was the worst enemy it faced today.

Congressman Dies called upon the American people to clean out these subversive elements in America, to send them back to the places they came from, and show the world that the American people would not tolerate such un-American activities. He also called upon the people for a great spiritual and moral reawakening, saying that although the hand of man might not stop the dictators, that in the end the justice of God would prevail.

Mr. Dies went from here to Big Spring, where he spoke Tuesday evening.

is not possible to at least be there part of the day."

The program will open Tuesday morning with a short concert by the Lamesa High School Band at 10:30, with an old-fashioned basket picnic scheduled for 12:30 noon. In this connection everyone is urged to bring a well-filled basket of food, so that not only you and your family will be provided for, but enough extra to take care of those coming from out of the county. The committee plans to furnish coffee and possibly son-of-a-gun, it was announced.

The afternoon will be given over to talks by various members of the Association, honoring departed members, election of officers for the next year, and a business session.

One of the main attractions, in former years, has been the reminiscing and visiting with friends of long ago. If you lived in this county prior to May 20, 1921, by all means make it a point to be at the City Park Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Plumer and daughter Sally, of Brownfield spent Monday in Lamesa shopping.

She has studied it with the same scientific efficiency that any successful person employs to achieve remarkable results. ing as many dollars worth of the bonds and stamps sold as possible, but we know that if every person in the county will take it upon himself to buy a bond if possible, if not, at least a stamp, that Dawson County can boast of having every citizen in the county as a bonafide lender to Uncle Sam in this emergency."

There has been a steady sale of the bonds at the Lamesa Post Office, as well as Ackery, O'Donnell and other places in this territory, ever since the sale opened the first day of the month. However, it is hoped that this drive will stimulate the sales during this special week, so that every person will participate. Counter readers are asked to watch each issue of this newspaper for further particulars.

The army claimed that it got 15,000 applications for jobs as hostesses of the training camps. A congressman, who asked that his name not be used, told me the other day that he got 15,000 letters from women in his state asking that he help them get jobs as hostesses.

Courier Bargain Days Announced

Rate Of One Dollar Per Year In This Area Good For Limited Time Only

Bargain Rates Are Effective On Either New Or Renewals In Dawson Or Adjoining Counties

Here is the announcement you have been waiting for! For a limited time only the Courier is offering a special subscription bargain to the people of this territory.

As you know, the regular subscription price of the twice a week Courier is $1.50 per year. But beginning today, if you live in Dawson or adjoining counties, you can get the paper sent to your address a full year for only ONE DOLLAR.

This is the price you would expect to pay for a paper printed only one time a week, but with the Courier you get the news of Lamesa and Dawson County TWICE every week for less than one penny per copy.

The Bargain rate applies to both new and renewal subscriptions and is positively for a limited time only. If you are now taking the paper, you may have your expiration date set ahead a full year for $1.00.

Whether your time is out or not, you will be credited a full year from the date it is out for the bargain price. If you are a new subscriber, you get the paper a full year from the day you subscribe.

This is in celebration of the fact that the Courier has been printed a full year as a semi-weekly. Those of you who subscribed a year ago and were told that you would get One Hundred and Four issues of the paper as a year's subscription, have seen that promise fulfilled.

All subscribers whose time has elapsed will be dropped from the list when their subscriptions expire. The Courier has long since adopted this practice, and it positively makes no exceptions. So if your time is out, or will be out within the next few months, better come in now and lay that dollar bill on the line and renew for the next year.

Aside from the fact that the news of the city and county is brought to you twice every week, you are also assured of the best merchandising bargains in Lamesa, for every issue of the paper brings you the value news of the town. Many subscribers report that they save enough in one issue of the Courier by shopping the ads, to pay a full year's subscription to the paper.

So you may readily see that a subscription to the Courier does not cost you money, but it will actually save you money throughout the year.

You are warned that the time is limited on these Bargain Days, and you should not make the mistake of putting it off too long to get your subscription in.

You're sure to agree with the many hundreds of Courier subscribers, that ONE HUNDRED AND FOUR ISSUES OF THE PAPER FOR ONLY ONE HUNDRED CENTS IS REALLY A BARGAIN!

The Courier Will Give $40.00 In Cash Contest

This week the Courier has passed another milestone in its newspaper history, with the completion of a full year's publication of a Semi-Weekly.

We are proud of this accomplishment, and we want to know what the people of the territory think of the first of the week Courier. To know this we are willing to pay cash for your opinions.

Readers of this newspaper will be $40.00 richer as the result of this unique contest, which opens this week. Ten readers are going to be awarded $1.00 each and two out of that ten are going to receive larger awards. One will receive, in addition to the $1.00, a cash award of $20.00 and another will receive an additional $10.00 in cash, above the $1.00 mentioned above. Complete information as to how to win is given below.

The Courier will offer a Cash Award each week of $1.00, with a Grand Prize of $20.00 in cash and a second prize of $10.00 in cash for the best letters on "I Like the Twice-A-Week Courier Because" or "I Like to Shop in Lamesa Because."

Just write a short letter of not more than fifty words on either of the above subjects and bring or mail your entry to the Courier, Lamesa. All entries for each week must be in the office by not later than noon Wednesday to compete in that week's awards. The campaign will be conducted for ten weeks, and the weekly winners will be judged for Final Grand Prize at the end of the contest. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be given.

Remember, there is no catch, no fancy writing necessary, just sound plain reasons why you like the First of the Week Courier, or why you like to shop in Lamesa, may win you $1.00, as well as the $20.00 or the $10.00.

You may enter the contest every week, and remember, if at first you do not win, don't give up, yours may be the winner next week or the next.

The letters will be judged solely on the reasons given and the decisions of the judges are final. All entries become the property of the Dawson County Courier.

So get your pencil and paper out now. Enter this easy contest. It is open to every reader of the Courier and you have just as good an opportunity to win as anyone. But you can't possibly win unless you enter, so don't wait, get your entry in now.

The Shipping Plan And What It Means In War

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Many maritime observers here are convinced that the British merchant fleet may be reaching the minimum efficiency required to supply food and freight of war to the beleaguered islands. Thus they explain the President's efforts to scrape together a 2,000,000-ton shipping pool to aid the democracies.

Some rough surveys each reach the conclusion that the British merchant fleet today is equivalent to little more than half the pre-war fleet. This is seen although the British have more tonnage in service now than they did on September 1, 1939.

Here's how the shipping men figure it out:

The empire started the war with something like 15,500,000 tons of cargo ships of all kinds. The navy requisitioned 2,000,000 tons right off the bat, leaving 13,500,000 tons. The British then picked up around 7,000,000 tons of Norwegian, Dutch, Greek and other shipping, and up to now have built about 1,000,000 tons of new ships. That brings the grand total to 21,500,000 tons.

But wait. The latest British announcement of losses indicates—but does not say outright—that the Germans have destroyed 6,000,000 tons.

American shipping experts figure that the remaining 15,500,000 tons is reduced in efficiency at least 60 per cent.

They mean this: British ships bearing precious rubber, tin and other raw materials from the Near and Far East must go around Africa instead of short-cutting through the Mediterranean.

Mann Early Buyer of Defense Bonds

Responding to the plea of President Roosevelt, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann is shown above in the post office at Waco as he became one of the early purchasers of defense savings bonds and stamps. Mann bought a bond both for himself and Mrs. Mann, and started books of defense stamps for his two children, Jerry, Jr., and Lola Ann. Mann was at Waco campaigning in his race for the United States Senate as the defense bonds went on sale.

Ships have to wait for convoy on entering the danger zone in the Atlantic. Then, when they get in convoy they can travel no faster than the slowest ship, which may be six to eight knots. Finally, damage to British ports complicates loading and unloading.

All these delays add up to one huge delay, a great reduction in efficiency. Nobody knows exactly what that reduction is. Most American shipping men figure it's at least 60 per cent. That reduces the present British merchant fleet, for all practical purposes, from an actual 15,500,000 tons to the equivalent of 7,200 pre-war tons—little more than half the tonnage at the start of the war.

Many experts say this is an irreducible minimum. A further cargo ship reduction would pinch the British people and reduce the munitions of war to the danger point. That, however, is debatable, although few experts doubt that the danger point is near.

This background from the shipping experts not only explains why the President suddenly asked Admiral Land of the Maritime Commission to scrape together 2,000,000 tons for the British and their allies, but also explains the hullabaloo about convoys and the British pressure for more ships. It may also explain why we suddenly decided to extend our sea patrols.

S. C. S. NOTES—

"Contour farming and terracing are among the most useful farming measures ever introduced to dry land agriculture," states R. E. Uhl, land of the Soil Conservation Service, in a recent pamphlet issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, entitled "Better Harvests Through Conservation Methods."

The pamphlet gives numerous examples where contour tillage and

And—more important perhaps than all these—it might reflect a new policy on the part of the British navy, in the view of some shipping men.

Many American naval men are known to feel strongly that it would be better to increase the protection of convoys, and concentrate on German submarine bases and resting ports than to increase the number of targets for Nazi torpedo tubes.

Admiral Land suggested this method, within a few days after the British Government had sent a special mission to Washington to urge more ships.

It was only after the American patrol system was announced that the President decided to form the shipping pool. It is assumed in many quarters that the British did their part by guaranteeing larger protection in waters close to the British Isles.

If the Germans continue to sink British ships at the rate of 5,000,000 tons a year, as they now seem to be doing, it is apparent to shipping experts here that (1) the 2,000,000-ton shipping pool, (2) our oil tanker shuttle service from South America, (3) this year's million tons of new British shipping, (4) the American Atlantic Patrol and (5) a tighter British convoy system all add up to one aim. That is to keep the efficiency of the British merchant fleet where it is for 1941—the year of the Battle of the Atlantic.

terracing have increased crop yields by storing rainfall in the ground instead of permitting it to run off into streams. It gives a graphic summary of the benefits of contouring and terracing to the yields of cotton, beans, wheat, and grain sorghums. In the Southern Great Plains.

At Spur, Texas, the yield of lint cotton on contoured and terraced fields, over an eleven-year period, was 68 more pounds per acre than on land farmed in straight rows. On 178 fields at Liberal, Kas., Guymon, Okla., Clovis, N. M., and Channing, Perryton, Stamford and Vega, Texas in 1939 the average increase in wheat yields on terraced and contoured fields were approximately 4 bushels per acre over fields farmed parallel to the section lines.

An average increase of approximately 300 pounds of grain sorghums per acre on 48 fields near Dalhart, Texas, and 50 pounds of beans per acre on 34 fields at Mountair, N. M., where fields were terraced and contoured, also is cited as evidence of the value of these measures as water conservation and good farming practices.

In regions of low rainfall, where water at the plant root spells the difference between good harvests and crop failures, evidence is piling up to show that conservation practices frequently mean better crop yields. By storing more rainfall in the ground, contour tillage, and especially terracing, help to bring forth more pounds of cotton or more bushels of grain from a given acre of land," Uhl says.

Station KGNC, Amarillo and KRIS, Corpus Christi, recently carried a National Extension Service radio program devoted to the cotton mattress demonstration program in Alabama.

REFRIGERATOR

"My many years of training and experience in home economics have impressed me with the need of management in the home. What the modern refrigerator does in helping to keep food bills down is no secret but this one fact is true . . . SERVEL ELECTROLUX ACTUALLY COSTS BUT A SMALL FRACTION TO OPERATE OF WHAT ANY OTHER METHOD OF REFRIGERATION COSTS.

"Mothers and homemakers I will demonstrate many of the practical advantages of SERVEL ELECTROLUX REFRIGERATOR in my cooking school lectures. I believe it will be to your advantage to know about every advantage and convenience of the superior refrigerator."

ONLY SERVEL ELECTROLUX GIVES YOU.

PERMANENT SILENCE — Other refrigerators may be quiet when new; but Servel Electrolux is the only one that simply can't make a noise! This different automatic refrigerator is silent . . . and stays silent — because it hasn't a single moving part in its freezing system! No wonder people call Servel "the refrigerator you hear about, but never hear!"

CONSTANT, STEADY COLD — There's no stopping or starting of Servel's freezing system. The tiny gas flame keeps the refrigerant in circulation. This is why Servel gives fullest protection — every minute of every day — to the food you and your family eat. It's the reason Servel Electrolux gives you plenty of ice cubes at all times, too!

LONGER, CAREFREE SERVICE — In a refrigerator as in anything else, parts that move will wear. But Servel Electrolux has none! Heat from a small gas burner does the work of moving parts in the freezing system. Hence, there's nothing to wear, nothing to lose efficiency! Year in, year out, Servel brings you the same worthwhile savings and big operating economies.

SAVE MORE — FOR MORE YEARS — The savings you get with Servel Electrolux are continuing savings. Servel Electrolux runs for just a few cents a day — and this cost will not be increased by worn or wearing parts. No wearing parts also means economy of upkeep. And, in addition, Servel Cuts your food bills by permitting you to take advantage of quantity "specials" — by keeping leftovers fresh for days — by reducing food waste.

41 NYA Youths Receive Private Employment

During the past month 41 boys and girls have left the National Youth Administration Projects in the Lubbock Area for jobs in private industry, according to Jennings T. Lewis, area NYA director. The NYA jobs left open by these youths going into private employment are being filled from waiting lists of other boys and girls who are unemployed; between the ages of 16 and 24 inclusive; out of school; and who need work experience provided in NYA Projects.

Lewis said the jobs which these young people obtained ranged from housekeeping to truck driving; and from farm labor to professional baseball player.

Dawson County Youth among this group included Floyd W. Holleman, Durward H. Zimmerman, John W. Stone, Tressie L. Phipps, Webb N. Baston, E. B. Koonce Jr., and Thelbert Drennan.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced that a farmer can increase his acreage of tomatoes for canning this year without taking a loss in his Triple-A payments.

Others. Using a few decorative ideas cakes can be suitably decorated for every occasion. This is one way women can show their skill in their cooking. Miss Phenix also stressed the idea of honoring the children more often with neighborhood parties, serving cakes cut in different designs for their pleasure.

Following the demonstration Miss Phenix and Mrs. Allen served cake and ice cream to Mesdames J. A. Lynch, J. C. Langham, Earl Calhoun, Elmer Miller and Roy Weeks.

A TIP ON THINKING WITH THE FEET

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Clyde A. King, Tulsa banker, finds a knowledge of psychology most useful in his business.

He advises lolling comfortably in a chair, feet on the desk, and perhaps even a cud of tobacco in the mouth.

"The customers, by golly, use to mistrust a banker who sat up alertly, with his hat on or even within reach," he points out. "But when a banker can make himself comfortable, with his feet on the desk, you just know he's a banker with an easy conscience."

Here's what Miss Jessie Hogue, Conductor of the Courier's Cooking School says about Blue Ribbon

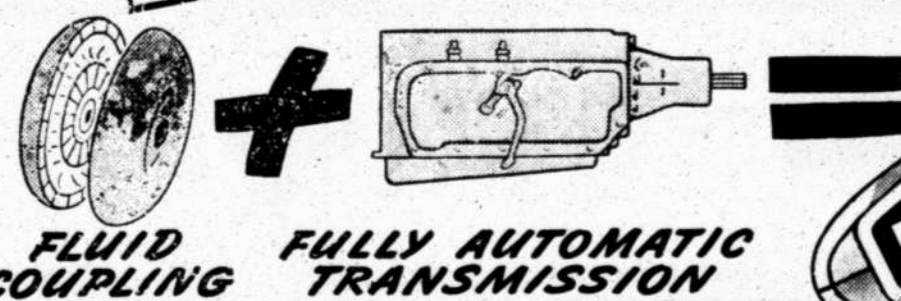

"The multiple precautions taken in the mixing and baking of Campbell's Blue Ribbon Bread for cleanliness and uniformity are almost unbelievable to the average housewife. The plant where Blue Ribbon is made is just as spotless as the most immaculate kitchen.

"I, too, am impressed with the generous quantities of expensive ingredients used in baking this delicious loaf. Mother, I can truthfully recommend Campbell's Blue Ribbon Bread as comparable with the products of the nation's largest and best known bakers."

FSA Designated As New National Defense Agency

The Farm Security Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, has been designated as a National Defense Agency, according to word received here by James R. Payne, Jr., rehabilitation supervisor for the FSA in Dawson County. Federal programs contributing directly or indirectly, or both, to national defense, have been given a defense rating by the Federal Government.

Mr. Payne said a chief contribution of Farm Security to national defense is its rehabilitation of farm families who have suffered the plight of economic insecurity.

"The Farm Security Administration does far more than merely loan money to low-income and needy farm families," Mr. Payne said. Although this agency does make low interest loans to farm families unable to obtain credit from any other source, it has many other programs to assist rural families.

"Farm Security," Mr. Payne continued, "makes it possible for many low-income rural people to find security of tenure, improved housing and sanitation facilities, improved diet, more stable income, and in many cases, improved medical attention."

"There is another phase of the defense program," Mr. Payne added. "FSA families are cooperating in the soil conservation program. They are using sound farm and home practices, rotating their crops, planning to plant cover crops, and they are growing feed for their stock as well."

The rehabilitation supervisor reported that many of the landowners in Dawson County have given their tenants long term leases so that live-at-home and soil conservation programs can be carried out. This program, he noted, is also a defense program.

Mr. Payne pointed out that "in these times of stress, long term leases—three to five years—are needed to give stability to the tenants and sharecroppers. These leases are beneficial to the landowners as well as tenants, because it gives tenants an opportunity to improve the fertility of the soil and take advantage of the environmental program of the FSA."

"In designating the Farm Security Administration as a National Defense Agency," Mr. Payne said, the National Defense Commission recognizes the fact that a nation that has too many low-income, inadequately housed, fed and clad persons in it, together with those who suffer ill health, cannot be a strong nation in time of peace or war."

Farm Families Can Grow Better Foods For Diet

Farm families who have little money can't afford to buy all the food they need for a good diet, but they can afford to grow it. Miss Ruth Magee, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, said yesterday in discussing the part farm families have to play in the nationwide drive to assure ample food supplies for the United States and other nations resisting aggression.

"Fact is," Miss Magee said, "they can't afford not to maintain cows to furnish a year-round supply of milk, cream and butter; to raise enough chickens to provide meat and eggs all year, instead of just a few months in the spring, and to produce a variety of animals for other kinds of meat, including pork, beef and lamb."

"Farm families in Dawson County being assisted in their farm and home management operations by this agency are learning that they can have more food and better food for less money by raising bigger gardens, increasing their poultry flocks and feeding a few livestock for home consumption," Miss Magee declared.

Miss Magee said that although borrowers of the FSA have always followed a live-at-home plan and grown most of their food and feed on the farm, a majority of them are planning to produce more than ever this year. They expect to take full advantage of the opportunity to reduce their own living expenses and at the same time produce additional quantities to meet the national needs for greater supplies.

The home supervisor believes that FSA borrowers in this county are in full accord with a recent statement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, in which he announced a nationwide drive to produce every possible egg from present laying flocks this spring and summer.

This effort is a part of the nation's determination to assure ample food supplies for this and other countries during the present emergency. It should, according to Department officials, increased egg production for the whole country in the next 15 months by about six per cent.

Bigger and better gardens are expected to be grown this year on a large number of farms whose operators are working with the FSA.

Surplus Foods For May Has Many Varieties

Fresh onions have been eliminated from the list of surplus foods available during May to Texas families benefitting from the food stamp plan.

This means the May list of commodities which can be obtained with blue food order stamps includes: Fresh grapefruit, oranges, apples, carrots, Irish potatoes, butter, raisins, pork lard, all pork (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour and whole wheat (graham) flour.

In announcing the May list, Surplus Marketing Administration officials said that the blue food order stamps were responsible for the moving of foods valued at $335,399 in Texas, during March. In addition the 47,254 participants in the plan maintained their regular purchases of food stuffs by buying $452,010 worth of orange stamps during the month.

Soil Conservation Service surveys show that 282,000,000 acres of crop and range land in the United States have been ruined or severely impoverished by erosion.

Stretch Limited Food Budget By Scientific Menus

Texas families with limited budgets who want to get the most for their food dollars will soon be benefiting from exhaustive research by scientist members of the Texas State Nutrition Committee.

Safe and satisfying menus which can be prepared for as low as from 10 to 35 cents per person per day are being developed by a sub-committee and will be distributed through the various nutrition-minded groups represented on the Texas State Nutrition Committee, according to Mildred Horton of the A. and M. College Extension Service, who is chairman of the State committee. Not only menus, but recipes and necessary shopping lists as well, have been compiled by the sub committee which is composed of Dr. Jet Winters of the University

★When the 29,000,000th Ford rolled recently from the assembly line, an all-time record for the industry was set. 29,000,000 units built by the same management and all bearing one name—a name that has become one of the best-known trade-marks in the world!

It is significant that this achievement comes at a time when our country is making a mighty effort to re-arm swiftly. For to further that effort, to help speed it along in any possible way, we have offered the vast facilities of the Rouge Plant and every ounce of our experience.

As you read this, a new $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine plant, started only last fall, is nearly completed. A new magnesium alloy plant, one of the few in the country, is already in production on lightweight airplane engine castings. Work is right now under way on a new $18,000,000 plant for mass production of big bomber assemblies. Orders have been filled for military vehicles of several types, including army reconnaissance cars, staff cars and bomb service trucks.

In the midst of this activity for National Defense, building the 29 millionth Ford car is simply one part of the day's work.

The public has acclaimed the 1941 Ford car as the finest in Ford history. Ford Dealers are enjoying their greatest sales and expecting their best year since 1937.

It is good to be producing the things America needs, and to be setting records on the way!

Requirements Lowered For Air Corps Enlistment

The War Department has lowered the requirements for enlistment in the Regular Army Air Corps from High School graduation to an 8th Grade education, providing applicants for this branch can pass the War Department Classification Test.

This new regulation opens, to intelligent young men with out a High School education, an excellent future and a wonderful opportunity to learn an Aviation trade, through the Air Corps Technical Schools which are open to any enlisted man of the Air Corps.

The following courses are just a few of the many taught at the Air Corps technical schools. Aircraft Mechanic, Airplane Mechanic,

Refrigerators To Be Financed By REA Program

Rural homemakers who are thinking about buying electric refrigerators can profit from a financing program recently announced by the Rural Electrification Administration, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, Extension Service specialist in home home improvement.

She calls attention to the fact that all farm families getting current from REA-financed power lines can participate in the new plan. Loans for refrigerator purchases will be made usually to the cooperative or power district which built and operates the power system. The systems will use these funds to finance refrigerator purchases by their individual members.

Individual buyers will pay simple interest, and repayment may be made over a period of five years. The plan follows the procedure already established by REA systems for wiring, plumbing and brooder financing.

Pale Western Cutworm Attacks Plains Wheat

A new menace, identified by Cameron Siddall, Extension Service entomologist, as the pale western cutworm, threatens the wheat farmers of the High Plains. Already the worms have done considerable damage in the immediate vicinity of Amarillo, but the infestation appears to be especially severe in Hansford County. The larvae is not yet fully grown, which means that by the last of May, much of the wheat now surviving will have been destroyed unless excess moisture falls meanwhile, Siddall says.

In order to effectively combat the pest, practically all wheat land in the more severely infested areas must be planted to row crops, such as sorghums, this summer, and cannot be returned to wheat until 1942. Attempts to destroy the worms with poisoned bran spread on the soil or placed in the ground with a wheat drill, generally have resulted in failure. Siddall says the small number of worms killed by this process does not justify the expense of baiting.

Experience shows that wheat on fallow ground in general escapes severe injury by the pale western cutworm, provided sufficient soil moisture has been stored during the fallow period. Excess moisture kills them in large numbers. Land on which the wheat crop has been destroyed can be used for row crops during 1941, provided seeding is delayed until after June 1, the approximate end of the active feeding period of the worms.

Fading out of spots in the green wheat fields is the first warning of infestation. The worm has but one generation annually and originates with a short lived moth which lays eggs in the soil late in September or early October. The eggs are small and difficult to find. For a short time after hatching the worms feed on the tender leaves of wheat, then enter the soil and sever the plants below the surface.

Siddall says that alternate wheat growing and summer fallow appears to be an effective means of reducing the chances of severe injury. In applying this method, however, the stubble of the sorghum crop should be left undisturbed until the next spring, when the ground should be cultivated and kept clean until fall wheat seeding time.

Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Price spent Sunday in Lubbock visiting with friends.

This year is the 150th anniversary of the accidental discovery of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania.

The Bronx Zoo Has New Curiosity

AP Feature Service
The New York Zoological Park has a brand new curiosity, one that drew 85,000 people the first Sunday the zoo was open. The attraction is five acres of land, transported literally from the African veldt.

Without bars or fences to obstruct vision, and with only a dry moat and a madden palisade to prevent escape, roam zebras, cranes, warthogs, reedbucks, waterbucks, springboks, African guinea fowl, storks, an ostrich, a nimpala, a nyala and a hartebeest. All are on speaking terms except the feuding eland and nyala, and the warthogs, hating and hated by all.

Just a good broad-jump away, part of a panorama unmarred by another moat, are the lions, sunning themselves on rocks. Realism is heightened by a densely wooded background with neatly blots out Bronx apartment houses. There is a waterhole, complete with whitening bones; a tall, cone-like native storehouse, and a lion house of piling and sod.

Zoologists are following the innovation closely, anticipating a back-to-nature trend in zoos.

The Soil Conservation Service says a traveler can drive from the Potomac to San Antonio and never be outside of a legally organized soil conservation district except for a short gap along the Mississippi River.
