Lamesa Crowded With Visitors July 4

An estimated crowd of five thousand people were in Lamesa on Wednesday, July 4th, attending the various forms of entertainment and enjoying themselves with visiting and talking.

A large number of the people from the rural communities brought their lunches with them and ate dinner on the court house lawn. Cafes and restaurants did a rushing business to take care of the remainder.

A crowd of between three and four thousand people witnessed the annual Rodeo and Horse Races sponsored by the Lamesa Polo club. Cars were parked all the way around the half mile track, in some places two and three deep and a large number of people walked to the polo grounds. The features of the afternoon were the horse races and the bucking horse contests.

All in all it was a very successful day, in that it was quiet, no one was injured, no arrests have been reported and no drunks were seen on the streets.

Dances were held at the Dal-Paso Hotel and the Wilkes hall Wednesday night, both being well attended.

Loans for Feed Now Available

Loans for the purchase of feed for livestock and for the production of storage crops in this county are now available.

The office in the county court room will be used and the present Emergency crop Loan committee together with the county Administrator of the Emergency Relief will serve as county committee to consider applications for loans.

Cattle Purchases By U. S. Gov't.

Due to emergency listing of Dawson county among the emergency group of drouth counties, the Bureau of Animal Industry is inspecting all cattle offered for sale by producers. All cattle offered for sale must have been in possession of owner not later than April 1st this year. The price range is $12.00 to $20.00 on two year old cattle and over; $10 to $15 age one to two years; under one year of age $4.00 to $8.00 of which lien holder is to sign and he is to receive all over these amounts as each class brings, $6.00, $5.00 and $1.00 per head. Every man who wants to sell cattle to the government should make application in the county agents office listing the number of head of each class to be offered for sale. Communities that are hardest hit will be worked first. No cattle will be inspected except in owner's pens on farm where cattle are located, as Appraiser and Veterinarian will go to each farm for inspection of cattle provided such farm has application for inspection.

Any cattle brought in to Lamesa before the Lamesa School District is worked will positively not be inspected in case your cattle are not listed in the very near future, in time for your district inspection. Otherwise they will of necessity be delayed until final clean up work of the county is started.

All people living in the following districts should get their cattle listed at once as these districts will be worked first on the list. Districts are: Plainview, Randle, Sunset, Richardson, Hagen, Mullen, Shumake, Ackery, Patricia, Key and Hancock.

Revival At First Baptist Church Here

Our meeting starts next Sunday, July 8th with Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church of Big Spring to do the preaching.

Brother Day is one of the best pastors Evangelist in Texas. He believes in the old Book and preaches it with power. You will certainly want to avail yourself of this privilege of hearing this tender hearted soul-loving, soul stirring gospel preacher.

We invite any and all who sing to come to the choir and help us in the song service.

Race Against Death Delayed by Tire Trouble; Bodies of Pair Sent To El Paso; Two Parents Uninjured

A vacation trip of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bullard of Las Cruces, N. M. ended about 26 miles east of here in an automobile accident which killed their two children last Thursday night.

The bodies were carried to Big Spring Friday night by Higginbotham Funeral Home. They were then sent by train to El Paso, where burial was held. The Bullards had relatives in El Paso.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. IDA GILLIT

Dear Ida how I miss you
 Oh why were you taken thus so,
 The depth of my sorrow
 You will never know.

Oh how I miss you
 In life each day,
 Yet in my memory
 You continue to stay.

You are gone from my sight
 But not from my love
 And some day I'll meet you
 In heaven above.

In this world of sorrow,
 You lived for awhile
 And always when I met you
 You spoke with a smile.

Your friends they are many
 Each faithful and true
 We're now bowed in sorrow
 All grieving for you.
 —By Her Sister.

Governors Speaking Cancelled
 Owing to other speaking in the county for Friday night, that I was not aware of when trying to arrange a speaking for the seven candidates for governor, it will not be practical to try to have the speaking mentioned in last week's issue. Besides, the temper of most of those who are politically minded, is such, that a speaking where only the good qualities of the aspirant were discussed, would be too droll and would be lacking in the "kick" necessary for an enthusiastic meeting.

Respectfully,
 J. E. Garland.

County Club Work
Fall Gardens

The value of fall gardens in this part of Texas cannot be overestimated. A fall garden will be necessary to provide vegetables for canning purposes.
 If tile for sub-irrigation is first laid, the time for maturing will be shortened for all vegetables planted. By sub-irrigation, the moisture reaches the roots of the plant where it is most needed.
 If the soil for the fall garden is not rich, it will be advisable to plow the garden to a depth of four or five inches and add a layer of dried barnyard fertilizer. This should be well mixed into the soil.
 Tomatoes which are planted now on sub-irrigated soil will bear before frost. The best varieties of tomatoes for this county are Magee, June Pink Marglobe and New Stone. These are good canning varieties.
 Other vegetables which can be planted in fall gardens in August are: Pinto beans, Irish potatoes, turnips, radishes, cauliflower, English Peas, carrots, bush beans, beets, Swiss Chard spinach, turnips, kale, lettuce, mustard, parsley, and onions.

Sub-Irrigation With Waste Water
 Mr. and Mrs. Claud Jones of Hancock, do not have a plentiful supply of water with which to irrigate their garden, but in spite of that they are putting down 25 feet of concrete tile for sub-irrigation.
 Waste water will be used to irrigate the tomatoes they plant on their tile. We hope to see the result of the Jones' waste water sub-irrigation tomatoes.

Miss Nell Goodloe of Lubbock spent the week end here visiting Miss Prudence Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Boyd have returned from a vacation trip to Spur, Abilene and other points.
 Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Glover and son are spending their vacation at Hot Springs, New Mexico.

Propose Tree Belt From Canada to Texas

More than a little interest has been created in Texas during the past several days by the proposal offered by the American Tree Association to plant a 'shelter belt' of trees 100 miles wide and stretching from Canada down to the Panhandle.
 This program would require ten or twelve years to complete, and would have as its purpose the aim to minimize drought and prevent winds from stripping farm lands of choice soil.
 The planting in the 100-mile area would be in strips, running north and south, the strips a mile apart and the land between them to be devoted to its present use, such as farming. The shelter belt would extend 1300 miles through North Dakota to the Texas border.
 The cost has been estimated at $75,000,000. At least a part of this would come out of drought funds to start the program this year by collecting seed, establishing nurseries, and organizing the work.
 President Roosevelt has been considering this proposal for several days, while the plan has been studied by the budget bureau, attorney general, and other officials.

Cattle Buying Planned In Drouth Areas

Officials of the farm administration at Washington extended preparations, beginning Friday of last week, for the purchase of cattle in the newly designated drouth areas in Texas.
 Prices to be paid in the Texas area, according to press dispatches available to the Index, will be identical with those of other states, $1 per head for calves and $14 per head for two-year olds and over. No estimate as to the number of cattle to be bought in Texas as a whole nor in Lynn county has been made as we go to press.
 There are now 34 Texas counties listed as emergency areas, seven having been added Friday. Secondary areas, which included still other Texas counties are not eligible for cattle purchases and in those areas care of the farmer's livestock will be their individual problems.

 The purchase program is to be carried out through existing county, agricultural, and extension agents and Federal veterinarians and thus no time will be lost in setting up the necessary office force. V. F. Jones, Lynn county agent, was out of town Saturday when we telephoned his office for more detailed information as to when the program will begin in Lynn county, but all reports coming to us indicate that it is underway as soon as dispatches from Washington reach the county agent.

Federal Housing Bill Becomes Law Thurs.

Of primary interest to John G. Public and his wife was the signing of the Federal housing bill by President Roosevelt last Thursday. Because this is the one bill which will bring factual evidence to the general run of citizens that recovery efforts are intended to reach every class.
 The bill is called a housing bill, but it is in reality a mortgage guaranty bill. Through its benefits, millions of small home owners in the United States will be enabled to improve their property through loans from banks and loan associations, with the Federal government underwriting or guaranteeing payment. This bill has been considered for several weeks, was passed by both divisions of Congress and is now officially a law.
 The plan was given a quick boost on the day it became legal, when the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association ordered a ten per cent reduction in the price of lumber and building materials.
 At least a score of home owners in our immediate territory have asked for more information concerning this plan, and as fast as the Index can secure it, it will be published.
 It is hoped, however, that the rules and regulations set up to administer this law are more liberal and simple than those governing many of the relief plans. Red tape and technicalities have slowed up the national recovery program in no small extent, but when one considers the vast expansion plan, such inconveniences are only to be expected.
 While the editor makes no claims to being an expert in political affairs nor even an economist except when it comes to stretching a dollar into the greatest number of beans and potatoes, it has seemed that the administration's plans so far have neglected the great middle class. Those of us who are not classed as laborers, nor as destitute, nor, most emphatically as capitalists, have had to struggle along as best we could on gleanings. Not destitute enough to be placed on the relief rolls of the state, and not important enough to be helped by legislation for capital and industry, we've rather been on the outside looking in. Now perhaps we can put that new roof on the house, put in that bathroom, build that sleeping porch, and prop up that sagging porch roof.

 This program will likely be watched more eagerly than any other by the above mentioned John G. Public and his family.
 Mrs. R. L. Myers, who is spending the summer at Ruidosa, N. M., visited her husband for a few days last week.
 Bernard Dean of Lubbock, who is employed with the State Highway Department is now making his home in Lamesa.
 Mrs. Murry McWhorter returned Sunday from a weeks visit with her parents at Levelland.

GOING TO PAY DAWSON COUNTY POULTRY RAISERS PREMIUMS ON STAMPED, INFERTILE, GUARANTEED EGGS

It's not over-production of quality products that ruins our markets, but it is over-production of inferior products, bought and stored away that ruins our markets. I am going to give you the best market I can get, one of the best all-around markets in West Texas. Give us a chance, and I'll give you a real market.

Eggs should be gathered twice daily and kept in a very cool place. We hope to have clean, uniform eggs. Remember- you have no infertile eggs if you have fryers running on yard. All infertile eggs are checked at our plant.

Only flies at the age of 5 days are used to test the kill-power of Sinclair P. D. Insect Spray

Five-day-old flies, carefully reared and properly fed are the toughest of all household insects to kill. None but five-day-old flies raised on the Sinclair Fly Farm in East Chicago are used to test the killing power of Sinclair P. D. insect spray. A carefully measured sample from every batch of Sinclair P. D. manufactured must kill 1,000 flies under conditions more difficult than those in your own home. Unless the insect spray you buy is properly death-tested you can never be sure that you are getting full strength with every can you buy. Be sure to ask for Sinclair P. D., the death-tested insect spray. It's sure death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, bedbugs, roaches, ants—in short, any insect that creeps, crawls or flies. Harmless to humans and animals, non-staining, sweet with the wholesome odor of cedar.

To the recent decision of the Supreme court, an advance copy of which has only this morning reached me, I find myself in the embarrassing position of having to reverse my previous view as to the constitutionality of Paragraph 634 of the Code of Civil Procedure, upon which the defendant corporation has based its argument in the issue at trial.

In general, the Supreme court of the state of California holds that there is no such thing as flood, storm or freshet waters in a stream, but merely a seasonal rise and fall of the stream and that all waters therein, not merely the so-called summer or normal flow, are riparian to the bed thereof, and may not be diverted from such riparian lands for the use and benefit of a non-riparian owner. The Supreme court holds that all of the waters of said river (which, of course, applies to all streams throughout the state) are an inalienable and vested right of the owners of the lands riparian thereto.

This court has no alternative but to award to the plaintiff the permanent injunction prayed for, restraining forever the defendant public service corporation, Forlorn Valley Irrigation district, from diverting any of the waters of Eden Valley creek. This court also assesses the costs of this action to the defendants, as prayed for in the complaint, and it is so ordered. At a later date the court will issue a formal written decision, but the court can see no reason for refraining from rendering an informal decision at this time and referring the defendant corporation to its sole and inalienable right at law—the right to acquire the lands of the Bar H Land and Cattle company et al. through condemnation suit or purchase by private treaty. Court is dismissed!

There was nothing else for Silas Babson to do save weep—and he did. He laid his tired head on the counsel table and sobbed as if his heart must break. "Don't take it so hard, Mr. Babson," his counsel continued. "You have one more arrow in your quiver. The district can still condemn Eden Valley and acquire its water rights."

"Of course it can," Nate Tichenor was speaking from the other side of the counsel table. "But Eden Valley's fertile acreage far exceeds that of Forlorn Valley, and it is infinitely more valuable. You cannot have Eden Valley for less than two million dollars and the lands in the Forlorn Valley Irrigation district are already mortgaged to the limit."

Babson, red-eyed, gazed at him with something of the malevolence of a trapped mink. "You've ruined Forlorn Valley," he quavered. "You realize that, don't you?"

"I haven't given any thought to Forlorn Valley," Nate replied coldly. "Just now I'm reveling in the joy that comes of the knowledge I have ruined you. All I have to do to save Forlorn Valley is to press a button."

"For God's sake, Mr. Tichenor, do it," Babson pleaded. "All these poor people—"

"Who refused to permit me to be kind to them and save them from ruin," Tichenor interrupted harshly. "All these poor people who followed their false leader blindly and stupidly, who refused to believe Lorry Kershaw and I had hearts in our breasts! All these poor people who hooted at me, cried me down, smashed my body, and smeared me with road oil and feathers! All these poor people who rejoiced in reviling my wife and me, in reciting our sorry family history!"

"Then," said Babson, aghast, "you intend to foreclose the deed of trust on Forlorn Valley?"

"The minute you default on the payment of the interest, Babson."

"And then—you'll—press the button?"

"Naturally. I'll have to—to make my investment sweet. Just now it's a wee bit sour."

Silas Babson gave vent to a moaning little cry, like a hurt animal; he slid softly out of his chair to the floor. He had fainted.

A group of farmers seated in the rear of the courtroom now got up quietly and stalked out. Tichenor followed them to the door and stood watching them. As if acting under the stimulus of a common purpose they walked to their shabby automobiles parked along the curb and drove out of town at a high rate of speed.

When Babson let himself in the side door of the Bank of Valley Center about four o'clock that afternoon Henry Rookby's white face peered out at him from the cashier's cage where Rookby was balancing his cash.

"We got to do something 'n' do it quick," Rookby quavered. "I've had a run on the bank since noon. What are we going to do tomorrow if this run continues, Mr. Babson. We haven't more than twenty thousand dollars in the vault now."

"Don't open the bank tomorrow if you see a crowd in front waiting. Paste a notice in the window that this bank has closed temporarily and will reopen as soon as I have returned from San Francisco with cash to meet all demands for withdrawals. Got to have an excuse to keep 'em quiet."

Babson got out his life insurance policies and read their provisions carefully. He knew there was a clause in them which nullified them if the insured committed suicide, while sane or insane, within a certain period following the issuance of the policy. Yes, that period had now passed. He had two hundred thousand dollars' worth of life insurance in force and his wife was the beneficiary. His creditors could not levy on that. So he wrote his wife a letter, instructing her how to invest the insurance money safely to yield six per cent, enclosed this note in an envelope and returned it to the tin box marked "S. B.—Personal."

This box he placed in the bank vault where it would be found readily; then he left a note for Mr. Rookby, got in his car and drove away up country.

Two weeks later Rube Tenney found his body floating beside the headgate at Lake Babson. A gentle wind was blowing across the lake and Mr. Babson's body was bumping the headgate gently and persistently, as if he still insisted it be opened.

CHAPTER XIV

When Silas Babson failed to come home for dinner the night the Bank of Valley Center closed forever, his wife waited until eight o'clock and then telephoned Henry Rookby. Upon Mr. Rookby immediately fell a suspicion that something tragic impended. He found Babson's tin box unlocked, so he opened it and found Babson's letter to his wife in the envelope with the life insurance policies.

Shaking slightly with apprehension, Mr. Rookby went into his cage and found there an envelope addressed to him. It was from Babson and read: "Dear Henry: I can't stand it. If I live my wife and children will be paupers and I'll be the most hated man in this county. I could never beat back—and I'm too old to try. And I'm too tired. Look for me in Lake Babson. Good-by and good luck. S. B."

So Mr. Rookby telephoned the superintendent of state banks at the capitol to send somebody up to take charge of the Bank of Valley Center. Then he pasted a notice on the window, announcing the closing of the bank.

The payment of the semi-annual interest had been due on July 1. Alas! The funds of the district had been deposited in the Bank of Valley Center, and all but 30 per cent of them had been lost in the collapse of the bank; so the district, not knowing what the holders of its bonds proposed doing, defaulted on the interest payment.

On July 2 the trustee of the bondholders notified the district that unless payment of the defaulted interest was made by August 1 legal action would be taken to foreclose the deed of trust given to secure the bonds.

The directors of the district held a meeting. They recalled Nate Tichenor's threat to buy the bonds from the original purchasers. Was he scheming to delude the farmers of Forlorn Valley into growing more and more alfalfa and planting trees, thus enriching his land to a point where his threatened foreclosure would make the disaster all the greater?

The secretary was instructed to write to Tichenor's attorney and ask him for a frank exposition of Nate Tichenor's intentions. Back came a prompt reply to the effect that Tichenor's intentions were unknown to his attorney; that Tichenor was in Europe.

A mass meeting was held, but while there was much talk there was no concerted action; since nobody knew what to do, nothing was done, and on the first day of August the interest payment was still in default. On the second day of August suit was filed by the trustee to foreclose the deed of trust, and Forlorn Valley, realizing that all was over, sat dumbly and patiently awaiting the end.

The farmers could do nothing else. They had no place to go, so they waited to be dispossessed formally by the sheriff.

On December 30 Nate Tichenor and his wife came home. Darby met them with the limousine when they got off the train at Gold Run and noticed that they were accompanied by a nurse who held a two-months-old baby in her arms.

"Hello," said Darby, "I see I got another boss."

"A boy, Darby. We had to have an heir to Eden Valley, you know."

"I suppose you've heard the news about Forlorn Valley?"

"Yes, sir. Seems pretty bitter medicine, but they asked for it, as Rube says, and they got it."

"You bet they got it. Have any of the farmers in the district moved out?"

"No, I don't think so. Joe Brainerd says they haven't any place to go, so they're hanging on, hoping the new owners will lease the farms back to them, sir."

"Well, that might be possible. Slow the bags, Darby, and let's go. We must be out in Eden Valley for luncheon."

Halfway through Forlorn Valley they met one farmer who had decided not to wait to be evicted. He was driving a four-horse team attached to a farm wagon upon which were piled his household goods, and on an old mattress atop the load four children sat. His wife was on the front seat with him and following up the wagon came a fourteen-year-old boy on horseback, herding before him some loose work horses, two milch cows and their calves. There was about the sorry cavalcade an atmosphere incredibly forlorn. . . . the woman was weeping; as the Tichenor car slid by, the farmer gazed at its occupants apathetically and raised his hand in a gesture that was half a greeting, half a farewell.

"There's one of them moving out, sir," Darby said over his shoulder.

"It's terrible of the bondholders to dispossess them in the middle of winter," Lorry declared.

"That's the man' that kicked my ribs loose from my spine," her husband reminded her. "Still, now that his kicks are only a memory, I can't say I'm enjoying his pitiable condition as much as I thought I was going to."

"He waded to you, Nate. He didn't appear to be hostile."

"Oh, he knows me pretty well. I went to school with him. An ignorant (Continued next week)

TO THE COURIER

Let me thank you for your courtesy in publishing another short installment of the Message to Farm Women by President O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which I believe to be of more than passing interest, not only to the women on the farm, but to all women who are interested in the betterment of the home life whether it be in the country or the city.

The conclusion of Mr. O'Neal's Message in part is as follows:

As one of the world's greatest agricultural philosophers, George Rus sell so well says, 'Not until cooperation gets into the hearts of our rural America as a rule of life and not merely as a way of marketing crops—not until then shall we be on solid ground even about cooperative marketing itself. It has been too much with us a method of trade. It should be a sort of religion instead of merely a way of selling farm products, rural cooperation must mean a rural community in which the citizens work together for everything that will mean more profit in business or more happiness in living.'

"Facing our present-day problems constructively under the New Deal program, farmers are more 'organization conscious' than ever before.

"I feel deeply that the program and objectives sought through organization constitute a great challenge and a wonderful opportunity to the farm women of America to help build the strong organization through which agriculture can reach these goals which are so desirable.

"Just as the farm woman is the partner with her husband in the individual farm enterprise and in the home, so she should be his partner in the great task of building an organization in the community, state and nation which can do the things collectively which farmers and their wives are unable to do individually. As partners they share jointly and equally in the responsibility for building such an organization."

Thus concludes one of the most suggestive and far sighted messages ever presented to the farm women of America, and by one of the ablest and best informed agriculturists of the nation. This message is but "bread cast upon the waters" for while it may not bear fruit in the immediate future will return well laden in the after years when dominant influences shall be superseded by those who have a larger understanding of agriculture as a whole, and a realization of its permanency and dignity as well as the stability and happiness of country life are in largest measure dependent upon the quality and inherent strength of the farm home—Joe H. CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW SPORT SEDAN

Detroit, July 2.—A new knee-action model, the Master Six Sport sedan, is announced by Chevrolet. It is a four-door five passenger sedan with a built in trunk. New features of appearance and equipment distinguish it from other models of the line.

The newest Chevrolet has the appearance of increased streamlining through the adoption of a modified roof line, to permit the rear panel to blend smoothly into the lines of the trunk. The entire rear panel, including the trunk is made of a single stamping.

Advantage has been taken of all available space to provide a commodious baggage compartment. The trunk is 49 1-2 inches wide, 17 3-4 inches fore and aft, and 19 5-8 inches high.

The spare wheel is mounted at the rear of the trunk; spare wheels carried in fender wells may be had on request.

To provide protection for trunk, spare wheel, and fenders, a specially formed rear bumper, with a greater arch, is used.

The rear quarter windows differ from those used in all other 1934 models. A no-draft ventilation unit, pivoted top and bottom, and operated by a T-handle, comprises the entire window. The vertical ventilator post is eliminated by this design.

Interior equipment included upholstery of mohair or Bedford cord (optional), cords, ash tray in front seat back, glove compartment, arm rests at all seats, adjustable sun deflector, adjustable driver's seat, rear window shade, metal robe rail, Carpet covered foot rest, dome light, reversible opening screen door ventilator, and Fisher no-draft ventilation. The trunk is provided with two latches, each of which incorporates a lock; a single key fits both.

Jean C. Moore has returned to his home in Comanche, Oklahoma. He has made his home in Lamessa the past several months and had carried the mail from here to Snyder. Obe Wilson has accepted that position.

Mrs. Bob Lavenar, Sybil Mitchell, Darshula Watson, Irma Lynn Coleman, Jessie Norris and Mary Dean Sheppard spent Sunday in Lubbock. Guthrie Allen has accepted a position in a drug store in Plainview.

Mrs. Bill Watson of Lubbock spent Monday here with her mother, Mrs. L. E. Egger.

MINISTERIAL COUNCIL MET MONDAY, JULY 2

The Ministerial Council met Monday, July 2, at 10 a. m. with the following ministers present: Revs. Cole, Jamar, Aslin, Dennis, Whately, Shipley, Hester, Perry and Taylor. We are glad of the increase in the number of ministers attending the council. In unity there is strength and by a unified effort of the ministers of Dawson county much good can, and will be, done.

A suggestion was made that the Ministers meet after the lawn services each Saturday afternoon. The disadvantage of this hour is as bad, if not worse than the present hour. Rev. Aslin preached a fine sermon Saturday. You missed a great deal if you did not hear him. Let's draw aside a few minutes each Saturday afternoon and worship the Lord. One of our greatest faults today is that we have, too long, neglected to worship Him, who controls the universe and the destinies of men.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Blackmon have as their guests this week Mr. Blackmon's brother of Junction. Arthur Nolan is visiting this week in Amarillo.

TERRACING INCREASES YIELD OF OATS

Comanche—At least 10 bushels more oats will be made on the 40 acre field of Tom Homsley of Comanche county than would have been made if the land had not been terraced, according to an estimate made for the county agent.

He also states that he finds that the road water is an aid to his place for he has well run and constructed terraces that catch the road water and spread it over a large flat area and let it remain until a good bottom season is stored up.

"A large number of grain men who have gone over the oats say that they will make at least 55 to 60 bushels average per acre, and along the where the extra road water was spread they will make from 80 to 90 bushels per acre," Mr. Homsley adds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Weaver had as their guests the past week end, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hodge of Houston. Mrs. Hodge is a sister of Mrs. Weaver. Mr. and Mrs. Hodge were on a tour of New and Old Mexico.

Miss Calous Ray is spending this week with her sister Mrs. Bunk Watson in Hobbs, New Mexico.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow Extension Service Editor

The value of hegari as a silage crop and the trench silo as a store house has been demonstrated in Com county. In a demonstration with the county agent, one man made beef calves weigh 30 pounds more per head on an ensilage-cottonseed meal ration than a neighbor feeding similar calves could do on a bundle hegari-cottonseed meal ration.

Many people think it funny that farmers and county agents work for bigger yields per acre or per animal at the very time that the Government seeks to remove surpluses thru reduction programs. Yet this is very logical, because big yields usually go hand in hand with efficient farming and profits. Low production per acre or per animal is unprofitable at all price levels except abnormally high ones. Increase reduction is the cheapest way to reduce production. Poor farming is the most expensive method. Drouth is the most cruel method.

Six or more trench silos are to be dug in Waller county this year because Roy Chapman fed 392 hets of cattle for market last season using for roughness 120 tons of seeded ribbon cane buried in a trench 120 feet long according to A and M College plans.

If you have extra good tomatoes it will be cheaper to save seed from your own crop than to buy it next spring, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist. Cut the best specimens in half, place in a barrel half full of water, and when the pulp separates, scours and comes to the top skim off the pulp and scoop out the seed from the bottom of the barrel. Rinse and dry in the shade. Store in tight containers. One bushel of tomatoes will furnish enough seed for one acre.

Experiments in the culture of wild dewberries have proven profitable to Mrs. J. A. Turner, Barker Home Demonstration Club member in Harris county. She planted one row of wild berries in her garden last year, and gathered enough in early season to can six gallons. She is putting out two more rows.

With over 50 hogs in cure in the vaults of the ice plant in Colorado, Mitchell county farmers are again stepping to the front in the summer curing of pork. As last year, they are using the "A and M way" to kill, cut and cure.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson spent a few days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Olyde Kelly in Menard. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dyer of Alpine are here visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hanson of Silver City are here this week visiting relatives.

Miss Louise Stokes of Welch is spending this week with Miss Josephine Clements.

Mr. and Mrs. Aquin Meyers spent a few days here this week visiting relatives.

Word has been received here of the birth of a baby daughter born to Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Standifer on Monday afternoon, July 2. Dr. and Mrs. Standifer are making their home in Turkey, but were visiting friends in Junction at the time of the baby's birth.

George Mahon

George Mahon Makes Formal Announcement

George Mahon, District Attorney of Colorado City and candidate for Congress, announced some months ago in our columns. At that time he made no formal statement but at this time has the following to say to the people of Dawson county.

"We are entering the last lap in the campaign for Congress. I have met many of the people in every county of the District, and they have shown and expressed confidence in my campaign. I feel that the people of this district want and need a friend in Congress. I am trying to meet that requirement.

"Briefly, I have resided in what now composes the District for 26 years. I am 33 years old. The Constitution requires that a man be 25 years of age before he can be elected to Congress. My experience consists in having been reared on a West Texas farm among West Texas people, an attendant upon West Texas and Texas schools, completing my work at two schools of higher learning in Texas. My political experience consists in having been elected to high office for four terms, and am now representing a large number of people serving my fourth term as District Attorney of a large District.

My platform which space does not permit me to give here but which I have and am discussing in my speaking engagements includes: A proper agricultural policy for this district, including adjustments of tariffs because Texas exports more than 50 per cent of its cotton; no more tax exempt bonds and securities, thereby shifting to some degree the burden of taxation; cooperation by your Congressman with all the people; and a high standard of political life in order that we may preserve the nation.

"I am deeply grateful to the people of the district for the fine reception they are giving me on every hand. I trust that we may become better acquainted between now and July 28th."

Feed and Forage Loans To Be Available Soon

Drought relief funds from the $100,000,000 drought relief appropriation to farmers and stockmen made available by Congress for the purchase of feed for farm and range livestock and to plant forage crops in primary drought areas in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, will be disbursed immediately, according to announcement made today by Chas. W. Sherrill, Regional Manager of the Southwestern Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office of the Production Credit Division of the Farm Credit Division of the Farm Credit Administration at Dallas.

Mr. Sherrill has returned from a conference in Washington with S. M. Garwood, Production Credit Commissioner, and Norman Monaghan, Assistant Director in Charge.

Explanation of the regulations governing the loans have been made at regional points by Mr. Sherrill and the sessions were attended by the local county administrators of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, county loan committees, county agents, Chamber of Commerce executives, and field supervisors of the regional office. Applications for aid will be accepted from the following Texas counties, designated as primary drought areas, immediately:

In discussing the provisions of the regulations Mr. Sherrill pointed out that applications can be accepted only from applicants residing in counties designated as primary drought areas. Applicants eligible to receive consideration must have no means or other sources of credit enabling them to undertake the production of a forage crop or crops or to purchase feed for their livestock.

Loans will be advanced in monthly installments, with a supplemental application necessary for each month's requirements.

The lien securing the promissory note given will be subject to nondisturbance agreement to be executed by lien-holders, if any, who must agree to take no steps to enforce the payment or collection of any claim against the borrower nor dispossess him of any property until January 1, 1936.

Applications must be submitted to the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan committee for the county in which the applicant's livestock is located, or where forage crops are to be planted.

Headquarters of the county loan committee will be at the office of the local County Relief Administrator who will serve as a member of the county committee. Stenographic and other help will be supplied by the Relief Administration, according to agreements reached in conference with Col. Lawrence Westbrook of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, Mr. Sherrill says.

Since it is the desire of President Roosevelt, who requested Congress to appropriate the drought relief funds which will be disbursed thru the Dallas office for the benefit of drought stricken farmers and stockmen, that every farmer and stockman who needs assistance in this form will be taken care of, we are depending on the cooperation of every agency in this emergency so that there may be no delay in any phase of the work. Applications will be acted upon at once by the Dallas office.

STRAWBERRIES PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Mount Vernon—A small plot slightly less than one-quarter of an acre planted in strawberries paid large dividends to J. B. Jagers of Franklin county, according to the county agent. From this plot he sold $88.15 worth of berries, and his actual expenses for marketing were $19.14. This left him a net profit of $69.01.

Many of the berries were sold locally by the bucket. The variety is Bakemore which was planted in February 1933. They withstood the dry summer of 1933 with less than 10 per cent loss.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Mitchell have as their guests this week Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. Lamb and daughter, Miss Clayton of Dallas.

Mrs. Ollie Smith and Miss Nanie Billingsley left Sunday for a month's vacation in Lancaster and other points.

CHEVROLET With the announcement of price reductions several weeks ago, Chevrolet stepped into the most favorable price position it has enjoyed in a long time!

Reductions amounting to as much as $50—the most substantial price cuts announced in the low-price field this year—dropped Chevrolet's base price to a new low figure of $465. Just compare this price—compare any Chevrolet price—with those of other cars. Then compare what you get for what you pay! There'll be no question in your mind which car to buy.

Chevrolet offers patented Knee-Action—and others do not! The same thing applies to Fisher body, cable-controlled brakes, shock-proof steering, and valve-in-head six-cylinder engine. Chevrolet gives you far more features—far finer quality. Yet the price of the Chevrolet Standard is lower than that of any other six or any eight in the world.
