Second Largest Cotton Crop Forecast; Session Is Talked

New Estimate Is 17,575,000 Bales For 1937 Crop

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — A government forecast this year's cotton crop will be the second largest in history drove prices for the staple downward today and increased prospects for a special session of congress to enact new crop control legislation.

The federal crop reporting board predicted a yield of 17,575,000 bales. This would be exceeded only by the 1926 crop of 17,977,000.

Largest Month's Increase

The new estimate, based on October 1 conditions, was 1,475,000 bales above the board's forecast a month ago. Crop board veterans said the increase was the largest ever registered in a single month. They attributed it to nearly perfect weather, a record high yield per acre, and little damage by insect pests.

Cotton prices declined immediately from recent low levels, dropping $1.70 to $2.15 a bale at New Orleans.

Secretary Wallace had an opportunity to discuss the situation with President Roosevelt at a conference late in the day.

Favors Special Session

Taking with reporters afterward, the agriculture department chief reiterated that he favors a special session but declined to say whether the president had decided to call one.

Wallace declared there is no assurance that the government's current program of 9-cents-a-pound loans and 3-cents-a-pound subsidies on this years cotton will keep prices up in face of the large yield.

Agriculture department officials who talked with the secretary following the White House conference said administration leaders were considering several courses of action.

Other Proposals Considered

They said that, in addition to a special session to provide crop controls, the following were under consideration:

1. Increasing the present government loan rate.

2. Reducing the acreage which growers may plant next year with-

Nation's Labor Must Accept Responsibilities Or Lose Its Privileges, AFOL Is Told

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Oct. 8.—A former NRA official told the American Federation of Labor convention today that labor must accept its responsibilities or face loss of its privileges.

Sol Rosenblatt of New York, arbiter of labor disputes in the garment industry and former NRA administrator of the movie code, complimented the A. F. of L., however, for what he said was its "unsullied" record for keeping its contracts.

Must Not Be Disturbed

"The recognition of labor's rights under the laws of the land must not be disturbed, and so long as agreements are kept and performed, they will not be disturbed," he said.

"But the old distinction between use and abuse still holds. The same congress and the same state legislatures which have enacted measures to protect collective bargaining may . . . withdraw those statutes and laws because experience may have demonstrated that labor was unwilling to recognize its responsibility under those laws.

Women Could Play Part

I. M. Ornburn, secretary of the federation's union label department, told the convention the women of this country could play "a dramatic part" in stopping the Sino-Japanese conflict by boycotting Japanese goods.

"Our nation is the greatest purchaser of Oriental products and, consequently, so long as we buy these goods, we are financing their war," he added.

"If the women of America would boycott all Japanese goods until Japan stops its aggressive war against China, the economic effect on the imperialistic nation (Japan) would be so great that it would end the war."

To Seek Opinions

Senator Berry (D-Tenn.) told the convention he proposed "in due time" to present to A. F. of L. officials for their opinion the draft of legislation to stop wage slashing.

Orphans Are To Hold Reunion

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 8.—Sixty years ago R. C. (Father) Buckner, middle-aged Baptist minister, found a child huddled between two buildings in Dallas, rain drenching its helpless, miserable form.

He took the child home, protected it, investigated and discovered it was an orphan.

From this incident and others like it, grew Texas greatest privately-operated home for children without parents, the Buckner Orphan's home.

To Attend Homecoming

Sunday members of the 1,400-strong Buckner Orphan's Home alumni association and other former inmates of the mercy institution will gather for homecoming exercises when they will express their gratitude for a start in life.

Father Buckner, born Jan. 3, 1852, was in his 40's before his minister's insight into sociological problems convinced him Texas' greatest need was an institution for care of unfortunate children, bereft of parents. In 1876 he began writing in Baptist periodicals, speaking and preaching of the need.

In 1879 he called together a group of deacons, convinced them of the rightness of his thinking. The Buckner Orphan's home was born.

Market Week Opens In City Tomorrow

All was announced last night as being in readiness for the Wes Tex-New Mex Wholesale market week which opens officially Sunday and countinues through Wednesday.

Final arrangements were worked out at a meeting last night. Outstanding events are a fashion show at the Lubbock hotel Tuesday night and a merchants' dance which will follow.

Advance registrations and reservations indicate, said officials of the association, the largest event of this type ever held in this territory. Every room on the first four floors of the Lubbock hotel have been reserved by wholesale companies from all important industrial centers of the nation for display of merchandise.

Infant Son Of Mr. And Mrs. C. E. McGinty Dies On Friday

Jackie Don McGinty, two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McGinty of 1414 Avenue D, died Friday afternoon.

Burial probably will be today with Rix Funeral home in charge. Late Friday night other arrangements had not been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. McGinty and the child were en route to Lubbock Friday afternoon when their car stalled. McGinty hailed Sheriff Tom Abel who was returning to Lubbock from Big Spring who stopped and took Mr. and Mrs. McGinty and the child which had died shortly before to their home at Lubbock, he said.

The child has no survivors other than its parents.

Fifty Carloads Of Cattle Are Sold In 2½ Hours At Marfa

MARFA, Oct. 8. (AP)—Fifty carloads were sold at auction here today in two hours and 25 minutes with prices setting new marks for the annual Highland feeder sale.

The first prize winners and the grand champion load, bred by Smith brothers, sold for $15 per hundredweight to Otto Baasch of Iowa. The highest price previously paid in the sales here was $14 in 1930.

McAllen Man Charges Another Stole House And Furniture

EDINBURG, Oct. 8. (AP)—George B. Ford of McAllen filed a complaint today in justice court alleging that Wade Little, also of McAllen, stole Ford's house and furniture.

Ford alleged Little sold the furniture, then moved the eight by twelve foot house to another location and sold it.

Date for hearing was not set.

Sharp Reversal In Sentiment Is Indicated

Measure To Boost Taxes On Oil And Natural Resources To Be Considered Early On Floor

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—The omnibus tax bill, chief proposal for revenue-raising at the special session of the legislature, weathered today an attempt to return it to the committee of the house of representatives which reported it favorably recently.

As a result, the measure, which would boost taxes on oil and natural resources 46 per cent, increase the levy on public utilities except telegraph companies and tax higher theater admissions, probably will be considered on the house floor early next week.

Recommittal Is Defeated

A motion to recommitt, urged on grounds the revenue and taxation committee should include a provision liberalizing the old age assistance law, was defeated, 79 to 42. The vote evidenced a sharp reversal in sentiment from yesterday when recommitment nearly succeeded.

Meanwhile, speculation was general on what the senate, which had adjourned until Monday, would do with the bill should it receive house approval. The senate has asked Governor James V. Allred, by overwhelming vote, to submit the subject of reducing past appropriations and leaders of an "economy" bloc have repeatedly denounced new taxes of any kind.

Discuss Measure Informally

Members of a sub-group of the senate finance committee, to which a bill slashing the current departmental appropriation $3,000,000 had been referred, dicussed the measure informally, planning a report soon.

Without a record vote, the house approved a resolution by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene requesting the old age assistance commission not to consider, in passing on applications for pensions, the fact applicants have children or

Roosevelt Back At Work Again

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 — President Roosevelt loooking hale and hearty after his strenuous western trip, returned to his desk today and began almost immediately a day-long series of conferences.

First he received a hundred or so newspapermen who plied him with questions on domestic and foreign affairs. Later, foreign policy and a possible special session of congress were discussed at a cabinet meeting. Interspersed through the day were conferences with individual cabinet members, government officials and an industrialist.

Doesn't Amplify Speech

At his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt declined to amplify his Chicago speech in which he proposed a "quarantine" of aggressor nations. He also touched only lightly on the subject of a special session, asserting he did not know whether he would decide that question before he returns to Hyde park next Wednesday for a speaking engagement.

His industrialist caller was Walter P. Chrysler, the automobile manufacturer. Chrysler refused to disclose the nature of his visit but said "just dropped in" on the president.

WICHITA GETS SESSION

PAMPA, Oct. 8. (AP)—Wichita Falls today was named the convention city for the south Oklahoma-North Texas Peace Officers' association next year. New officers will be chosen then.

Rain Starts Falling Here Early Today

A heavy shower began falling here shortly after midnight Friday night but had slackened to a slight sprinkle at 1 o'clock this morning.

Only a trace of moisture had been recorded at the Lubbock Municipal airport at 12:30 o'clock but it was estimated several hundredths of an inch fell in Lubbock.

A shower adequate to "settle the dust" was reported by bus drivers to have fallen in the Dickens and Guthrie area. Unconfirmed reports said the fall extended toward Monroe and Littlefield.

The airport reported a rapidly rising barometer at 12:30 and a 24-mile north wind.

Birt Walker Dies Friday After Illness Of Several Weeks

Birt Walker, 42, died at 1:10 oclock Friday afternoon at the home of a brother, W. C. Walker, in the Canyon community after an illness of several weeks.

Walker had lived with his brother about 7 miles east of Lubbock four years.

Last rites will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders chapel with Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor of the Central Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

Walker is survived by four brothers, W. C. Walker, J. M. Walker and D. C. Walker, both of Lubbock, and Earl Walker, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; and four sisters, Miss Savanah Walker of Cleburne, Mrs. Eskew Muggie of Mart, Mrs. Ella Kitchens of Tahoka, and Mrs. Eula Thompson of Munday.

Brake On Cotton Trading Seen In Exchange Move

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Minimum margin requirements for futres trading in cotton have been adopted by the New York Cotton Exchange, effective January 1, 1938, Secretary Wallace announced today.

Wallace said the action, expected to place a brake on cotton trading, was taken at the request of the department of agricultur. He said similar action was expected by the New Orleans cotton exchange.

Wallace said in a formal statement that the action by the New York exchange was entirely voluntary because the Commodity Exchange act gives the federal government no authority to fix margins on commodity trades in farm products.

Seven Killed As Train Strikes Crashed Cars

(By The Associated Press)

GARY, Ind., Oct. 8.—A few seconds after two automobiles collided at a crossing here tonight a Nickel Plate train crashed into the cars, killing seven occupants and injuring four others, one critically.

The impact hurled the dead, the injured and the wreckage of the automobiles in all directions, holding up traffic for more than an hour.

Police Sergeant Ben Perry said the occupants of the automobiles "did not have a chance" to escape before the train bore down on them.

All involved in the crash, he said, were Gary residents.

He listed the dead as Mrs. G. Edward Schoon, 36; Mrs. Irene Cass, 40; her son, Robert Cass, 3; three negroes, A. C. Weatherley, Perry Brown Spann and Roy Prince and a Mexican, Sam Chappa.

Only Five Are Injured In Derailment Of Train

VANDALIA, Ill., Oct. 8. (AP)—Although the passenger train was running at a speed of about 70 miles an hour, only five persons were injured sufficiently to require hospital attention in the derailment today of seven cars of the Pennsylvania railroad's "American."

A preliminary investigation disclosed the wreck was caused by the breaking of a wheel on the front of a day coach, the fourth car from the locomotive of the St. Louis-to-New York train. The fact the derailment occurred in a culvert was believed to have prevented more serious results.

Tornado Does Damage In Oklahoma Section

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8. (AP)—A tornado struck the town of Grandfield, in Tillman county, southern Oklahoma, tonight doing damage estimated at $50,000, as long-delayed rains swept across the northern half of the state, dropping temperatures and soaking wheat lands.

Clay Hebel, 35-year-old building foreman, was injured at Woodward, in northwestern Oklahoma, when lightning struck the weighing scales against which he was leaning during a cattle sale. Physicians said he would recover.

Several persons standing under a downtown awning narrowly escaped injury at Grandfield when the tornado dipped suddenly and twisted eight business buildings.

Roofs were blown off other buildings. City officials described it as the worst storm there in 15 years.

The tornado lifted as suddenly as it appeared. No other trace of it was reported.

U. S. And Britain Move Toward Conference

Discussions Are Held Friday In Washington To Seek Halt Of Sino-Japanese Conflict

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. —An international conference to discourage Japanese aggression in China was a step nearer reality tonight.

Hugh Wilson, for the United States, and V. A. L. Mallet for Great Britain began a discussion of preliminary arrangements, with the result a date and place for the meeting may be announced within a few days.

Their meeting at the state department was preceded by significant developments both here and in Great Britain.

FDR Discusses Situation

Returning from the western trip in the course of which he suggested that war-like nations be "quarantined," President Roosevelt devoted much of his attention to the troubled far Eastern situation.

With Secretary Hull, Undersecretary Welles and Norman H. Davis, ambassador at large, he spent two hours in a "general discussion" of developments. Later, the cabinet met and the situation was canvassed again.

Chamberlain Praises FDR

Meanwhile, in England Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain praised Mr. Roosevelt's stand and pledged his government's "wholehearted" cooperation.

"Hitherto it has been assumed the United States, the most powerful country in the world, would remain content with a frankly isolationist policy," he said. "But Mr. Roosevelt has seen that if what he calls an epidemic or world lawlessness is allowed to spread, no country will be safe from attack."

In his declaration of the necessity for a return to belief in the sanctity of treaties he has voiced the convictions of this country as well as his own, and in his call for concerted effort in the cause of peace, this government will be wholeheartedly with him."

Man Charged In Extortion Try

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 8.—John B. Collins, jr., self-styled private detective, pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner W. F. Carothers tonight to sending an extortion letter demanding $100 of Mrs. F. F. Woodward.

The commissioner held him under $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Woodward is the wife of a Houston capitalist and sportsman.

Department of justice agents arrested Collins today.

Letter Mailed Sept. 26

The letter to Mrs. Woodward was mailed September 26. Crudely printed with pen and ink, it threatened her with death unless she sent the money to "Rev. Marshall Green," represented to be connected with the American Missionary society.

The department of justice agents said there is a Marshall Green, not a minister, living at the address given, but said Green had no connection whatever with Collins.

Neither Mrs. Woodward nor her husband could be reached for a statement. Woodward, oil man and considered one of the wealthiest in South Texas, owns the Valdina farms, Texas racing stable.

Heavy Rain And Storms Hold Up Fighting In Spain's War

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 8. (AP)—Heavy rain and windstorms slowed up both government and insurgent armies in Spain today.

A downpour flooded roads and trenches and made fighting almost impossible. In northwest Spain Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops were said to have made a slight advance toward Gijon, but on other fronts, communiques said, government and insurgent forces were comparatively inactive.

Texas Tech Dairy Judging Team To Compete In Contests Today

Four Texas Tech animal husbandry men, under N. C. Fine, an instructor, are in Columbus, Ohio today for the National Dairy show. They are to represent the local college in the annual contest for dairy judging teams of colleges of agriculture.

G. C. Shearer, Tulia; Archie Meekma, Olton; Dean Harmon, Tulia and A. T. Fowler, Brownfield, comprise the team.

Cost Of State's Government Is Given Attack

(By The Associated Press)

MINERAL WELLS, Oct. 8.—The League of Texas Municipalities today condemned what it called "the high cost of state government," asked legislation to reorganize departments and eliminate surplus divisions, and elected R. G. Williams, Bryan city manager, president.

Another resolution opposed a resolution before the Texas house of representatives propesing the elimination of penalty and interest on delinquent taxes.

Other Officers Named

Other officers elected were: vice-presidents, William V. Brown, mayor of Texarkana; R. E. Rouer, city attorney of Fort Worth; Bill N. Taylor, city manager of Longview, and J. H. Ashby of Uvalde; secretary, E. E. McAdams.

Port Arthur was awarded the next convention.

The league asked a law making it necessary for all motor vehicle owners to have receipt for ad valorem tax payments before the issuance of auto licenses, and another for general utility regulation.

New municipal utility officers are R. B. Fagan of Burkburnett, president; I. C. Wines, Brownfield; H. S. Frady, Yoakum, and J. A. Alexander, Garland, vice-presidents, and M. S. Runnion, Greenville secretary-treasurer.

Bowie Solon Introduces Bill To Tax Dance Hall Operators

AUSTIN, Oct. 8. (AP)—Night club operators who pay the fiddler also would pay the state under a bill introduced in the Texas house.

Rep. Jasper Reed of Bowie, its author, proposed a $100 annual occupational tax on dance halls and night clubs, one-half the revenue going to old age pensions, one-fourth to the available school fund and the remaining fourth to the counties which would collect the impost.

In addition, it would abolish the old age assistance commission, placing pension administration with the comptroller and county judges.

Possibility That Raft That Of Miss Earhart's Is Eliminated

HONOLULU, Oct. 8. (AP)—An investigation today apparently eliminated the possibility that a deflated rubber life raft found on the island of Hawaii came from the ill-fated "flying laboratory" of Amelia Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan.

In Clifton, N. J., officials of Air Cruisers, Inc., the firm which supplied Miss Earhart with a two-place rubber life raft for her world flight, said the article found in Hawaii bore markings different from the one they furnished.

Naval and commercial fliers said the raft was not of the type they used.

Former Governor Of Oklahoma Injured In Auto Accident

GAINESVILLE, Tex., Oct. 8. (AP)—Former Governor Ed Trapp of Oklahoma was under treatment here today for injuries received in a head-on highway crash fatal to Walter Stephenson of Valley View, Tex.

J. F. Blankenship of Oklahoma City, driving the car in which Trapp was a passenger, received minor cuts and bruises. The other injured man was J. J. Brown of Valley View, whose injuries were considered serious. Brown and Stephenson were riding together.

Responsibility Of Conflict Is On China; Treaty Violation Is Charged At Outset

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 9. (Saturday)—Japanese foreign office charged China with the responsibility for the Sino-Japanese conflict today in a formal answer to condemnations of Japan by the United States, the League of Nations.

It stated:

"It is the Chinese government which is violating the spirit of the anti-war pact and menacing peace of the world."

Considered Mild One

Observers considered the statement a mild one after it had been predicted freely that the Japanese government would denounce the nine-power and Kellogg pacts.

The text of the statement:

"The League of Nations regards Japan's action in China as violation of the nine-power treaty and the anti-war pact. The United States published a statement to the same effect.

Due To Misunderstanding

"This was due to misunderstanding Japan's true intentions. The Japanese government extremely regrets this misunderstanding.

"The present conflict was caused by Chinese troops' irregular attacks on Japanese troops which were stationed in North China according to treaty stipulations. Japanese were maneuvering at Lukouchia with a small number of troops, as Japanese garrisons were widely scattered during peacetime."

Tried To Settle

"After the outbreak of the trouble Japan tried to settle locally and the action of the Japanese troops was nothing more than a measure of self defense. Japan has no other intention whatever.

"Aggravation of the conflict in Shanghai and North China was due to the attitude of the Chinese who, violating the Shanghai truce

Jury Answers Issues In Libel Suit Case

ABILENE, Oct. 8. (AP)—A jury today answered 14 special issues submitted to it by Judge Milburn S. Long in 42nd district court following an eleven-day hearing on a plea of privilege filed by Congressman Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland, and his secretary J. W. Cockrill defendants in a $100,000 libel suit brought by Thomas L. Blanton, former congressman.

Blanton was defeated last year by Garrett. He had served in congress nearly 20 years. The defendants' plea was to have the case transferred to Eastland for trial on its merits.

After hearing testimony consuming ten days, with Garrett on the stand three days and Blanton five days, the jury found defendants had not entered into a conspiracy to defame Blanton and that, although some material in seven campaign advertisements and circulars specified in the court's charge were untrue, defendants had not published them or caused them to be published. The jury also found defendants had not intended to show Blanton had perpetrated a fraud upon his constituents and that published articles complained of constituted fair comment or criticism of a public official.

The court reporter said record of the hearing would reach 1,000,000 words.

Judge Long said he would enter judgment next week.

East Texas Has Rose In Its Lapel; Festival Is Today

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer

TYLER, Oct. 8.—Derricked East Texas had a rose in its lapel today—and enough left over for every man, woman and child in America.

It's festival time in Smith county and roses are a dime a dozen. Street hawkers and roadside stands offered beautiful buds at three dozen for a quarter—the same kind you send your best girl at $3 per dozen. Talisman, radiance, any kind you wanted virtually covered Tyler—the world's rose center.

Not so lucrative, but just as prolific as its big brother—oil—is this vast business in the center of the world's largest flush oil field. Some two thousand acres are covered, row upon row, with one-third of the nation's rose bushes.

Each season, usually around December and January, seven million of these bushes go out to all corners of the nation and many countries of the world. Always there are some fifteen million bushes in cultivation, but only one-half that amount goes out to the trade annually. All are assured "two-year" bushes by that method.

Rose experts huddled here today and estimated 150,000,000 buds

Thirteen Presbyterians Go To Seminole

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

THIS morning we are presenting Marian Young, NEA service staff correspondent, in her opinion of men's opinions of women's foibles. According to Miss Young, men think we are pretty awful what with our screwy hats, scent and dazzle paint. Take it away Miss Young.

"THEY don't like our makeup, and they detest our hats. Our voices annoy them, and they think we never have learned to use perfume intelligently.

"They dislike the way we run like sheep after each new clothes fad, and every last male of them despises scarlet nail polish. All except the fat ones (who cares what they think anyway?) hats reducing diet conversations, and all except those over sixty object to kittenish mannerisms, baby talk and simpering.

"These, my fellow sufferers, are just a few of the charming little answers I got when I ask discerning males about town, 'What do you dislike about women?'

To the man they shout loudly against the vogue for dead white faces and scarlet lips. If this leads you to think that they go overboard in favor of rouge and all you have to do to stand in is use a little on your cheeks, you have another think coming. They like rouge, but they don't like the way we put it on. And they are as dead set against the use of the stuff as against the idea of discarding it entirely.

Mascara leaves them quite cold. They wish they could pass a law against eyebrow tweezing. They see absolutely no excuse for eyeshadow. So bitter are they on the subject of false eyelashes that several wouldn't even answer— just glared.

WHY MEN LEAVE

A FEW of the kindlier kept their heads and tried to explain that, from a masculine point of view, under-dressing is as bad as over-dressing. They can't stand a woman who shows up for lunch dripping with silver fox, wearing jewels, perfume and a decidedly formal afternoon hat but neither can they stand one who breezes in in a sweater and skirt and flatheeled shoes. They are embarrassed, therefore annoyed, by anything (except natural beauty) which draws all eyes to their table. They don't want to be stared at by other eaters, they don't.

Which brings us right up to squeaky and rasping voices that can be heard over the orchestra and which are all attention-getting, too. The majority would have most of us take voice lessons, learn to modulate.

Once they got our voices toned down or softened or something, they would have us use them less. Yes, we talk too much, the boys say. They advocate a course in how to listen intelligently. And, to them, an intelligent listener is one who doesn't watch for a chance to take personal every remark in a general conversation.

UNDER THE SKIN

"WHY," said a lawyer, "it's impossible to discuss British royalty without some woman in the group telling her long-suffering husband that she's sure he doesn't love her as much as the Duke loves Wallis Warfield.

"Just make a simple remark about the effect weather has on people's dispositions and, sure as you're born, some female will tell you all about HER temperament, rain or shine," said another.

An artist thinks modes and manners of motion picture stars and other celebrities have a pernicious influence on modern women, especially younger ones who are slightly stage struck.

"Why will your short, plump sisters affect Garbo haircuts? Tall, skinny one try to get themselves up in copies of Jean Harlow's clothes? And what's the idea of all and sundry trying to look like Wallis Warfield? My main kick is against the ones who refuse to be themselves."

MAKE HIM SICK

AN executive sitting behind a huge, glass-top desk in a skyscraper office objects to hair which looks as if it hadn't been combed since the hairdresser worked on it.

"I'd rather have my secretary ask for time off to go to a beauty shop than to dash out on her lunch hour, get a quickie, then run back with her head covered with corkscrew curls and waves that appear to be stuck down with mucilage."

Gossamer sheer stockings for business are anathema to another executive.

"I'm always afraid that prospects who drop in to see me will think I maintain a staff of barelegged secretaries," says he. "And I have no patience with the woman who has a mink coat or some other luxurious fur if she has nothing else of comparable value to wear with them. I don't think mink, sable and such belong in the office anyway."

The younger executive in the adjoining office hates wives who telephone their husbands during business hours to carry on trivial conversations. Also wives who discuss household bills before dinner or before breakfast.

ROSTER OF REVOLT

LITTLE details you'd never dream men would notice were commented on during the majority of the interviews. They all hate dirty shoulder straps, slips which show below hemlines, rough hands and wrinkled clothes, but they notice just as much dust on hats, powder on necklines of dark dresses, nails which are too long and too pointed, bad posture, flecks of dandruff on the hair. Also that heavy perfume is pretty deadly if poured on with a lavish hand and that a woman who doesn't use perfume at all, and doesn't like it, is likely to be none too fussy about her appearance or to be bossy and domineering.

Four Assist In Day's Program

Thirteen members of the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary attended the 14th annual conference of district 1 of the El Paso Presbytery Friday at the Seminole Presbyterian church.

Mrs. R. E. McDonald presided and devotional was by Mrs. Lorainne D. Eucy. Other Lubbock women on the program were Mrs. T. R. Prideaux who reviewed "Yesteryear," a history of 25 years of Presbyterian mission work, and a worship program after lunch by Mrs. G. W. McCleary. Feature of the program was a message from the Pres-Mex school at Taft by the school superintendent, Miss Berta Murray. A covered dish lunch was served at noon.

Attending from Lubbock, other than those on the program, were Mesdames S. C. Wilson, J. W. Boyd, R. W. Amick, Charles Galbraith, S. T. Hodges, Minerva Pollard, J. M. Lewis, F. W. Newell and R. D. Moxley.

Wiley And Anderson Attending Band Directors Meeting In Dallas

D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Technological college band, and H. A. Anderson, leader of the high school band, went to Dallas Friday afternoon where they will attend a meeting of officers and delegates of region six of the National School Band contests. The convention, called for the purpose of deciding upon the next contest site, begins this morning at 10 o'clock in the Adolphus hotel.

Wiley said that he and Anderson will make an effort to have a West Texas city chosen. The last event was held in May at Oklahoma City. This region, which includes Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, throws West Texas in a central position, and makes it the logical place for the spring contests, Wiley indicated.

Miss Evelyn Walker, employe in the county auditor's office, left Friday for New Boston to spend the week-end with her mother.

Westerners Meet Strong Opposition In 38 To 14 Victory Over San Antonians

Johnson Stars In Offensive Department

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche Sports Staff

The Westerners scored a 38 to 14 victory over Thomas A. Edison Bears of San Antonio last night, but if someone had not told them they would never have known that the visitors were a Class B ball club.

Aside from the fact that Rusty Johnston could not be stopped in the first half, things probably would have been rather tough for Lubbock. Johnston scored 3 touchdowns in the first two chapters and did so almost single handedly. The half ended with Johnston leading 19 to 0.

After the curleyhead fullback had done his bit for the night, Coulson Paxton and Harold Parsons added their share to run the score up. Paxton took the ball from scrimmage in the third period and scampered diagonally across the field for 64-yards and pay dirt. The towhead outstripped the opposition after he had sidestepped into a broken field.

Tiner Is Triple Threater

Parson took a punt on the dead run in the final quarter and spirited over with a 65-yard run. Johnston scores his fourth touchdown after he and Melvin Cooksey had worked the ball from midfield to the 2-yard stripe.

On the other side of the ledger, offensive honors went to little Leslie Tiner. Bear quarterback, and James Haynes, the ball-shaggin'est end to play on a high school team in these parts in a long time.

Tiner carried the ball more than two-thirds of the time Edison was in possession and averaged more than 40 yards on 5 punts. He rounded out triple-threat qualifications by completing 7 of 18 passes he turned loose.

With Johnston's spectacular running attack in the first half, that part of the game almost resolved itself into a battle between him and one Bobby Sturtevant. The 145-pound Bear fullback had a hand in nearly every tackle.

Henry Ford, gangling Lubbock end, and Herb Leaverton, tackle, shared defensive honors for the Westerners. The invaders lost 17 yards on running plays due mostly to hard charging of the pair. Jack Coursey, end, took part in his share of tackles.

The Bears took the opening kickoff back to their own 35, from where Tiner picked up 27 yards on three tries. Cooksey recovered Johnny Kretzer's fumble on Lubbock's 47, then gained thirty-five on 3 plays. After Parsons added 4, Johnston stepped off 10 yards, then 6 to score. Sessums missed goal.

The Bears worked the ball to Lubbock's 37-yard stripe after the kickoff but Jack Coursey broke through to block Tiner's punt, slapping it back to the Bear 40.

The quarter ended with Lubbock on Edison's eight-yard line, and with resumption of play Johnston plowed through for his second touchdown. Leaverton's kickoff was out of bounds. The ball was put in play on Edison's 35 from where Tiner caught Parsons napping on a quick kick which rolled to the Lubbock 5 to be killed by Haynes.

Down the field the Westerners marched with Johnston picking up 10 and 15 yards here and there and Parsons helping the cause occasionally. The locals lost the ball on downs after the 93-yard march to the Bears' 2-yard marker. Parsons made a nice fifteen-yard return of Tiner's punt to stop on the 20. Wright carried twice and Johnston twice to count. Foster kicked the extra point.

Four passes, Tiner to Haynes, and another, Tiner to Palmer, carried Edison 82 yards, only 5 made on running plays, and accounted for their second touchdown in the final period. Tiner scampered 20 yards for the first in the third quarter after his punt had been fumbled by a Lubbock player and recovered by one of his own.

Flying Tech Raiders Arrive In Detroit To Find Themselves Underdogs; Battle Of Passes Expected; Two Slightly Ill

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Writer

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 8. — The flying football squadron from Texas Tech arrived intact and in fine spirits, with the exception of two players, late this afternoon and hustled through an hour's practice session at the University of Detroit field as the last bit of preparation before meeting Coach Gus Dorais' Titans Saturday in an intersectional game.

Coach Pete Cawthon and his Red Raiders hit town to find themselves the underdogs, according to the majority of expert opinion, for tomorrow's game. But so steadfastly has Dorais and his Detroit team become attached to local fandom, and vice versa, a large crowd is expected to better than half fill the Titan's 30,000 capacity stadium tomorrow.

Detroit Given Edge

Five of seven sports writers here, announcing predictions in afternoon and early morning papers, gave Detroit the edge in Saturday's game, explaining that Andy Farkas and Edward Palumbo, Detroit's classy backs, probably would set the green grass afire with their running and passing antics.

A wide-open, free-passing game is in prospect, with Gene Barnett chucking for Tech, Palumbo and Southpaw Roger Tayes, who will alternate at right half and fullback, for the Titans. Hayes' left handed slants are due to present somewhat of a puzzle to the Techs. When worked off the Notre Dame setup, which both clubs employ, portside passes are more or less disturbing to the opposition.

Dorais Predicts Victory

Opposing coaches were divided on opinion of the games outcome. In a syndicated article appearing today, Coach Dorais anticipated a Texas Tech victory, basing his prognostication on the fact that Tech probably will play a more wide-open, double or nothing game—and likely to click after two setbacks by Texas and Montana.

Pete Cawthon, on the other hand, after a cheerful trip, dropped his levity tonight and feared a third straight loss for the Raiders.

Two Slightly Sick

Two of the Tech regulars, Line Captain Lou Jones, guard, and Abe Murphy, tackle, experienced a touch of air-sickness enroute today. They were able to don uniforms and work out tonight, however, and the attending physician, Dr. U. S. Marshall, figured that they would be all over the rigors of the trip by game time tomorrow.

In a late change of plans, Coach Cawthon announced that Bobby Holmes and Buzz Barnard would probably start at the halfback positions for Tech Saturday, with Miles Chapman starting at fullback in place of Charley Calhoun, and Ed Smith at quarter.

To Stick To Selections

Line Coach Dutch Smith did not make the trip, but Cawthon will stick with Smith's earlier selections in the line, Captain Red Ramsey and Thurman Bostick will start at ends, Murphy and Davis at tackles, Owen and Jones at guards, Frank Guzick at center.

Twenty-six rather than 25 players, were brought along, running the total entourage to 32. The Lubbock party was joined by Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram sports staff this morning.

The party was split at Fort Worth, most of the players with Coach Cawthon continuing to Detroit via chartered plane that made only one stop en route. Remainder of the party came by regular plane, arriving some two hours later.

It was a peaceful trip, the players getting over the excitement of flying shortly after leaving Texas, spent the rest of the day snoozing and looking. Of the entire squad, only Murphy and Jones complained of illness.

The game starts here at 2:30 o'clock, the Lubbock broadcast starting about 1:30, Lubbock time.

KANGAROOS DOWN BILLIES

SHERMAN, Oct. 8. (AP)—The Austin College Kangaroos kept their Texas conference record unblemished here tonight when they scored a 25 to 15 victory over the Daniel Baker Hill Billies.

The Kangaroos rallied in the fourth period to score three touchdowns.

C. Y. Bartley, substitute halfback, finished the touchdown parade by unreeling a 75-yard run.

Country's Leading Football Teams Face Further Tests From Coast To Coast

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Paced by a half dozen or so headliners, which have established their importance by potent early-season performances, the country's leading football teams face further severe tests tomorrow everywhere from Princeton, N. J., to Los Angeles.

Well over a half a million attendance is expected at 15 leading games.

Los Angeles is looking for 55,000 paying customers at the Ohio State-Southern California tilt, brightest spot on the shining inter-sectional slate. Another 50,000 or so likely will turn out to see Pitt and Duquesne in their inter-city struggle at Pittsburgh and a similar crowd is expected to watch Illinois and Notre Dame clash at Champaign, Ill.

Minnesota To Comeback?

Minnesota is looking for 45,000 fans when it begins its comeback attempt against Indiana at Minneapolis, while other noteworthy crowds expected are 40,000 for Michigan-Northwestern and 35,000 each for the Princeton-Cornell, Duke-Tennessee and California-Washington State contests.

Ohio State and Southern California deserve the top spot on the day's card. Since Minnesota's Gold was slightly tarnished by Nebraska, the Buckeyes have earned the No. 1 spot in the Big Ten. Despite the long trip West, they should be able to beat U. S. C., loser to Washington in its first major test.

Fears Overconfidence

Pitt and Cornell are the ranking Eastern teams right now. Although Coach Carl Snavely of Cornell appears to fear over-confidence they can safely be picked to beat Duquesne and Princeton, respectively.

Skipping to the South, the very fact the Duke publicity department has been broadcasting Tennessee's power lends some strength to the belief the Blue Devils aren't so bad themselves. They should win.

Except for Alabama which may have its hands full against a tough South Carolina outfit, and Louisiana State, making a mass attack upon the Rice Owls at Houston, Tex., other Southern leaders should come through comfortably. L. S. U. is given a shade over Rice but will find it hard to stay on top. Mississippi State also moves into the Southwest to tackle Texas A. and M. This looks like a bright chance for that old Army man, Ralph Sasse, to engineer an upset, and it would definitely be one if State should win.

May Be Upset

The day's best opening for an upset lies in front of Illinois against Notre Dame. Off the records, the Irish are the choice, but Bob Zuppke is pointing for this one and it should be close.

Minnesota, on the rebound should romp over Indiana while the Nebraska team that whipped the Gophers has nothing to fear from Iowa State. Northwestern looks good enough to edge out Michigan, which failed to produce against Michigan State.

Wisconsin over Chicago, Iowa over Bradley, Purdue by a shade over Carnegie Tech, Southern Methodist over Washington of St. Louis and Detroit over Texas Tech are other choices in the Midwestern sector.

Yale Penn Toss Up

In addition to the Cornell-Princeton tussle, the Ivy league offers two of the best contests in the East with Yale meeting Pennsylvania at New Haven and Army playing Columbia at West Point. The first must be listed as a tossup, but this corner is included to favor Penn's good line. Columbia's only chance against Army seems to be sending out a 60-minute team and even then the Cadets' reserves probably will carry the day.

Harvard and Navy shouldn't have much more than good workouts against Brown and Virginia respectively. North Carolina should edge out New York university and Michigan State looks stronger than Manhattan. However Villanova should come through against Auburn.

Arkansas Over Baylor

Arkansas, defending its Southwest conference title, appears to have the edge over Baylor, although the Razorbacks are taking chances by playing away from home so often.

California, which has surged back into the coast conference, ought to come out well ahead of Washington State, and the 1936 champion, Washington, is strongly favored over Oregon State. Other indications from the Far West are U. C. L. A. to defeat the twice-beaten Stanford team, Oregon to down Gonzaga, St. Mary's to whip Nevada and Santa Clara to conquer San Francisco in a Sunday clash.

Playing at home, gives Utah a slight edge over Idaho in an inter-conference contest while Colorado should beat Utah state in the Rocky Mountain loop.

Slaton's Tigers Victors, 27-13, Over Littlefield

SLATON, Oct. 8. (Special)—The Slaton Tigers defeated the Littlefield Wildcats 27 to 13 in a free scoring game here tonight. Both teams gained almost at will and long runs were frequent. The Tigers swept up and down the field for a total of 626 yards, confining their activities for the most part to running plays. Littlefield took to the air frequently, but saw most of its success come on the ground where they gained 263 yards.

Howell, Tiger halfback, turned in the longest jaunt of the night with a 92 yard touchdown gallop. His teammate, Fuller, tore off a 52 yard run for a score in the last period, after intercepting a Littlefield pass.

Lineups: Slaton—Ends, Blackfield and Waldrup; Tackles, Regleory and Renson; Guards, Walston and Maxey; Center, Clappe; Quarter, Begry; Halfs, Howell and Dixson; Full, Fuller.

Littlefield—Ends, Ellis and Burlson; Tackles, Jones and Truelson; Guards, Walker and Walker; Center, B. Walker; Quarter, Carter; Halfs, Burlson and Lee; Full, Henson.

Levelland Takes Thriller From Tahoka Last Night, 13 To 6

LEVELLAND, Oct. 8. (Special)—Levelland's high school eleven, in their own stadium, took a thriller from Tahoka here tonight, 13 to 6 to keep their conference record spotless and to remain aloof in the district 5B race.

Bradley, Levelland quarterback, romped 12 yards for the first touch in the first quarter, then converted. In the second frame, Fullback Wright for Levelland scampered 21 yards to place the ball on the enemy one-yard line and on the next play plunged over. H. Snowden, Tahoka back, heaved an 8-yard pass from the enemy 28-yard line to End Casebeer who went the remaining 10 for Tahoka's only touch. The Tahoka counter was in the final quarter.

Wright and Bradley were outstanding for Levelland.

Gloom Casts Heavy Shadow Under Coogan's Bluff As Yanks Win 3rd Straight

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 8.—The World Champion Yankees crashed through gaping holes in the defense of the luckless Giants today, captured their third successive game, 5 to 1, and now need only one more victory to complete the worst rout of New York's National leaguers in World series history.

The Giants, for the third straight day, came apart in so many places there was no room left for argument and nothing but a frustrated ninth-inning rally to give their followers anything approaching excitement.

Giants Err 4 Times

The Yankees, as usual, made the most of nearly every scoring opportunity. They had the benefit of four Giant errors and six bases on balls but banged Hal Schumacher, star right-hander, for nine solid hits. They scored all their runs off Schumacher in the first five innings and then coasted easily to triumph behind the five-hit pitching of Monte Pearson, curve-ball specialist, who repeated his 1936 conquest of the Giants but was the first Yankee pitcher unable to go the route. After yielding the home team's only run in the seventh, on Jim Ripple's single and Jack McCarthy's double off the left-field wall, Pearson lost control completely in the ninth.

Murphy Squelches Threat

The Giants filled the bases with two out on Mel Ott's single and successive passes to McCarthy and Lou Chiozza. Pearson was taken from the box after pitching eight straight balls, Johnny Murphy, ace relief hurler and a right hander, quickly squelched the threat by retiring Harry Danning on a short fly that Joe DiMaggio caught in left-center.

The opportunity was open for a home run to tie the score in the closing frame but that's the closest the Giants have come to being within gunshot of their rivals in three straight games.

Crowd Smallest Since '33

The smallest World series crowd since 1933, numbered 37,385 cash customers who contributed to gate receipts of $165,648, saw the game.

Manager Bill Terry will come back tomorrow with his veteran southpaw ace Carl Hubbell, who was knocked out of the box in the

Olton Grabs First District Victory

OLTON, Oct. 8 (Special) — The Longhorns battered their way to a 13 to 0 triumph over Ralls this afternoon, giving Olton its first win of the conference season.

A sustained drive in the first period culminated in Olton's first touchdown when Hare bucked the line for necessary yardage. Fighting a strong south wind in the second chapter the Jackrabbits were caught on their own goal line when a punt failed to get them out of danger. Huggins put over the touchdown then passed to Montgomery for the extra point.

Givens played an outstanding game in the line for Olton. The Steers prevailed in every department except passing, earning 9 first downs to Ralls' 4.

Pampa Is Victorious Against Greenville

(Special To The Avalanche)

PAMPA, Oct. 8.—Playing on a field made slippery by a quarter-inch rain which delayed the start 15 minutes, Pampa's Harvesters downed the Greenville Lions 25 to 0 before 2,500 rain-soaked fans.

Taking the kickoff on their own 15-yard line the Harvesters went for a touchdown without losing possession of the ball. Smith, midget half, scored from the one-yard line. On the first play after the second quarter opened, Smith again crashed through from the 1-yard marker. Pampa scored again in the first half and once in the final period.

Pampa rang up 10 first downs to 2 for Greenville. The Harvester gained 228 yards on the ground, while the Lions had a net loss of 15 yards for the evening's work.

TEMPLE DOWNS FLRIDA

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8. (AP) — Driving 64 yards in three plays in the third period, Temple came from behind tonight to score a 7 to 6 victory over a stubborn Florida eleven in an intersectional college football game before a crowd of 10,000.

Patty Berg To Face Mrs. Page Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 8. (AP) — Patty Berg, the young redhead from Minnesota and Mrs. Estell Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., advanced today to the finals of the women's 1937 golf championship.

Miss Berg overwhelmed Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Pacific Palisades, Cal., 7 and 6, and Mrs. Page, medalist for the last two years, came from behind in a great rally to defeat Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., on the 19th hole, in today's semi-finals.

The two clash in the 36-hole finals tomorrow.

Intersectional Tilts Featured In Southwest

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 8.—Heavy cannonading tomorrow among Southwest conference teams finds them engaged in one league game—Baylor vs. Arkansas—with the other six bumping into respected foes from four states.

At Waco a dangerous Baylor Bruin grapples with the Arkansas Razorback in a game that could have heavy bearing on the pennant chase. Arkansas, defending champion, scraped through with a 7-7 tie last week against Texas Christian while Baylor was looking good for the second time in an easy romp against Oklahoma City university.

Glamor Offered In Two Tilts

For glamor, the conference offers two intersectoinal spectacles—Texas vs. Oklahoma in their thirty-third meeting in Dallas' Cotton Bowl and the Texas Aggies against Mississipi State in the colorful Rose Festival clash at Tyler.

Coach D. X. Bible's Longhorns, stinging from a defeat absorbed from Louisiana State last Saturday, meets an Oklahoma eleven that provided one of the nation's major shocks in defeating a favored Rice Owl.

Staters Have Won Two

Texas A. and M. doped as the conference's powerhouse, still moving slowly against Manhattan in New York last week but finally pulled by crafty Col. Ralph Sasse, the old West Point mentor, have breezed through two games.

Rice will be looking for a comeback against Louisiana State at Houston, a tough assignment on any team's books. Rice, however, is poison each year to the Bayou Bengals and the offensive power that failed against Oklahoma may click in the first Rice home game.

At Fort Worth, Texas Christian, defeated by Ohio State in its opener but powerful in the Arkansas game, meets Vic Hurt's touted Tulsa university Hurricane, a team that swept Oklahoma off the field by two touchdowns only two weeks ago.

Southern Methodist goes to St. Louis for a clash with Washington university. The Mustangs are favored to win and wipe out the Centenary defeat of last week.

Anton Gains 20 To 7 Win Over Amherst Gridsters

ANTON, Oct. 8 (Special)—Featuring the running attack of Tucker, Erwin and Jones, Anton took a fall out of Amherst here this afternoon, 20 to 7, in a district 13 class C game.

The locals gained 275 yards while holding Amherst to 127. The invaders' passing attack appeared potent at time, but frequent interceptions aided the Anton cause. First downs were Anton 16, Amherst 5.

Wise Arrangement

DECISION to cencentrate itinerant cotton pickers at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds should meet the enthusiastic approval of the pickers, the farmers who need them and the population of South Plains generally.

Until now, there has been some occasional difficulty in bringing picker and farmer together. Repeated experiences have been that the pickers have made their applications and then have gone out upon the streets. Soon after a farmer needing their services has appeared, and difficulties have been experienced in locating those in search of jobs.

Under the new arrangement, the families of pickers are instructed to remain at the fair grounds—even to camp there for a period if there is no immediate need for their services. Farmers likewise are advised to go to the grounds and make their own negotiations with groups of the job hunters. It is a convenience for both.

The arrangement likewise should be pleasing to business men as it will tend to keep loiters off the streets and will tend to alleviate in at least small degree the traffic problems which invariably occur at this time of the year.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

FATHER OF 910 CHILDREN

An interesting account of Mushidi is found in Pere Labouchere's book, Ving Ans au Kongo. Labouchere spent 20 years as a missionary in the Congo, and in his account of Mushidi, the King of Budkey, he devotes considerable space to tell of this astounding number of children and the great number of wives. The number of wives could not be ascertained with accuracy but they probably numbered 5000. The number of children, however, was definitely established as 910.

As Mushidi was a vassal king of the great Sova (Ruler) of Loanga, he was obliged to pay an annual tribute to his overlord. This tribute consisted of several hundred wives which he had to deliver to the Sova each year. In the Congo, nobility is inherited from the mother, and consequently all of Mushidi's children were commoners—not princes of the blood.

Madman's Island..... By Nard Jones

CHAPTER I

Smart attractiveness is no longer uncommon in the great uncharted, unpredictable world of young women. Nevertheless, it is a bit unusual when three very good-looking young women, unlike in temperament, choose to share the same apartment. On the card over the mail box in the lobby downstairs was printed neatly, "Dearborn, Howard and Dunn"—quite as if the combination were a law firm. And that card was really significant, for the three girls were certainly in the nature of a corporation.

Perhaps it worked because Kay was a striking brunet, Melita a dashing redhead, and Priscilla a fast-talking blond. Whatever the reason, the trio had roomed together and taken their vacations together for the past four years. In that time their arguments had been mild and infrequent, their good times many, and their boredom practically nil. Nothing was more natural than that the apartment occupied by "Dearborn, Howard, and Dunn" be the goal of a great number of young men. "We get," Priscilla put it one day, "proposals in about equal proportions!"

Thus far, none of the three had been interested. Jokesmiths, fictioneers, and movie directors to the contrary, the modern young business woman devotes comparatively little of her serious thinking to men. Kay, Melita, and Priscilla were not different from the rest. They had found the jobs they wanted. They were interested in them, and in the whole exciting, intricate business of living. Each supposed that some time she would fall in love, and that then nothing much else might matter. But they weren't forcing Fate to make the play. Nowadays life was too much fun, too breathlessly changing, to make clever plans for escaping into a quiet corner. That, they felt, would come in good time. "Today a woman can keep youthful, in an emergency, anywhere this side of 50—so what's the rush?" That was Melita talking, one lazy Sunday morning when the subject of marriage had popped up over toast and coffee.

Their chief concern at the moment was a seasonal problem—where and how to spend their two weeks' vacations which they had arranged to coincide. The question of "where" was not as immediately pressing as the question "how." For one thing, their rent had been raised by an unfeeling landlord. For another, food prices were making a bigger dent in their household budget. Even then, they had to admit ruefully, they might have arranged it if the new summer clothes hadn't been so tempting.

"My mother used to have a joke about being dressed up with nowhere to go," Kay Dearborn said. "That's us."

"Anyhow," mused Priscilla, "we'll be spared the annual argument as to whether it'll be the seashore, a lake, or the mountains. It's just my luck. Last year you two promised me I could do the deciding this year. And I had a sweet idea."

"What was it?" asked Melita wearily wadding up a sheet of budget figures and tossing it into the wastebasket.

"A boat trip," said the blond Priscilla blissfully.

"Of course! On the Queen Mary."

"No, I was really serious about it, Kay. There are some excursion trips that would be a lot of fun for a change. I had it all figured out."

"Except for the matter of money," mentioned Melita.

Priscilla laughed good-naturedly. "My budget's no further off than yours and Kay's. And a blond is supposed to be dizzier than redheads and brunets."

In the end they had decided to take their medicine as cheerfully as possible, and spend their vacation period "resting" in town. They even had managed to convince themselves that it might be amusing.

Today as Kay Dearborn hurried home from the office, she couldn't rid herself of a feeling of disappointment. The lush tone of summer was in the air. It was the season of change, and Kay wanted change, too. She wanted to see new faces and new things. Only her brisk, youthful energy was setting her pace as she strode along this evening. The fact was that she detested the idea of returning to the apartment. No casual passerby could have known this. In her cool, smart summer outfit Kay Dearborn appeared alert and zestful. Tall and slender, she held her firm young chin high as she walked.

When she reached the apartment she found Melita and Priscilla already there. "We've been waiting for you," Melita said. "There's mutiny. We're going to have dinner down town."

"Why didn't you tell me? I didn't need the walk."

"Priscilla tried to telephone you, but you'd left the office. The management decided to defrost the electric refrigerator today, and Priscilla's lovely dessert is ruined."

Kay made a helpless gesture. "How do you always manage to make it on the day they defrost the box?"

"It's a gift," Priscilla said, getting up. "Come on, let's go." She stopped suddenly, went back to the table. "Oh, Kay here's a legal-looking letter for you. Melita and I have been expiring with curiosity."

Kay took the long envelope, looked at the unfamiliar name in the upper left-hand corner. "It's from Aurora," she said. "I've an uncle there I've never seen." She unfolded the letter and read hurriedly.

"What is it?" asked Priscilla impatiently, dropping down beside Kay.

Kay didn't answer at once. She was rereading the letter. Finally she looked at Melita and Priscilla with a comically perplexed expression. "This—this says that Uncle Ben died a month ago. He—he left me a yacht."

"A yacht?" exploded Melita and Priscilla together.

"That's what this says. And it's here. I remember that several years ago Uncle Ben made a cruise from here, but I didn't know that—"

"Well!" Priscilla cut in cheerfully. "I guess I'm psychic. Didn't I say it would be a boat trip?"

Kay shot her a scornful look. "With what would we run a yacht?"

Priscilla looked puzzled. "I'm not sure. I think they run with gasoline like an automobile don't they?"

"What," Melita wanted to know, "do you suppose it would cost us to use the boat?"

"I haven't the slightest idea. But I remember reading that Mr. Morgan said anybody who had to ask that question shouldn't own one." Ruefully Kay looked at the letter again. "Dear old Uncle Ben! It was nice of him to think of me—but what I really needed was two yachts."

"Anyhow," cried Priscilla, jumping up, "let's have a look at the thing. Maybe we could find a nice sailor who'd run it for us—just for the trip!"

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A SECRET grievance against Franklin D. Roosevelt is supposed to be incubating in the seams of Justice Black's shiny silk $95 robe. He apparently figures that the president subjected him to the same treatment he once handed the Klan—namely, turned tail and ran.

Mr. Black is known to feel that he was promoted to the court because of his liberal senate record; that if F.D.R. shared the general suspicion that he had shoved his leg over a night-rider's saddle, he should have asked that question pointblank. Because it was not raised the ex-senator does not believe that he deceived F.D.R. in any way. Instead of remaining in Washington to furnish moral support to his beleaguered appointee, Mr. Roosevelt first issued an explain-or-resign order and then quit the capital, presumably to dodge both the problem and Mr. Black. The president has not communicated with the new Justice in any way.

The blistering wind of private presidential remarks may have fallen on the newest pair of judicial ears. Mr. Roosevelt has taken no unusual pains to prevent his chagrin over the incident and his dissatisfaction with Mr. Black's conduct from leaking out.

VENDETTA: Michelsonian machine gunners are gloating over the tactical error which they insist the American Bar association comitteed in electing Arthur T. Vanderbilt as its next president.

The episode they expect to prove embarrassing to lawyers involves an untold chapter of the Roosevelt-Landon campaign. Last August the new bar chieftain, a prominent insurance legalite, asked court permission to intervene against the government in a case contesting the constitutionality of the Social Security act—which later became a violent campaign issue. As a Landon adviser in New Jersey, Mr. Vanderbilt was held by government counsel to desire an adverse decision so it could be used politically. The administration, whoch feared the effect of a hostile ruling on votes, rushed its ablest legal light—Robert H. Jackson—to Newark. He forced postponement, and eventually abandonment, of the contest. He charged that his opponents were waging a "sham battle" over a corporation tax amounting to only $190.

New Dealers predict Mr. Vanderbilt's election will reinforce the White House vendetta against the legal profession. And Ace Publicist Michelson has been hunting for another shipping boy since the duPontish Liberty League washed up on the Roosevelt wave last November.

ANALYSIS: Despite the Roosevelt landside last November, those three Republican musketeers—Alf Landon, Herbert Hoover and Frank Lowden—feasted their sore eyes on an encouraging political report when they powowed over G.O.P. revival prospects a few days ago.

Their miscroscopic analysis of the 1936 presidential election figures disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt carried far fewer rural counties last November than he did in 1932. Had Mr. Landon received an even break in cities with 50,000-plus population, where Harry Hopkins' relief subsidies rolled up vast Roosevelt pluralities, the contest would have wound up in what the railbirds call a "photographic finish."

In four Middle Western states—Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan—F.D.R. carried 64.3 per cent, fewer farm counties than in his battle with Mr. Hoover. He lost 87 more counties in Illinois than he did in 1932, 34 more in Ohio, 70 more in Indiana, 44 more in Michigan. Percentage losses as measured by number of counties in other sections were: Farm states, 74.4; Mountain and Pacific, 27.5; South, 35; Border, 76; East and New England, 34. Head G.O.P.-ers draw two major conclusions: (1) The farm vote is slowly returning (2) New Deal triumphs will diminish progressively with diminution of relief appropriations. They will try to formulate future policies on that line of strategy.

KEYSTONE: The New Deal's next sustained drive will be directed against "bigness" in all forms and enterprises—municipal, financial, corporate. Veiled hints of the administration's break-up campaign undertoned Mr. Roosevelt's western speeches, which were written and rewritten with special care.

At Boise Mr. Roosevelt preached the gospel of "wider distribution of the control of industrial activity," meaning government regulation far more stringent than the proposed wages-and-hours bill—more like the control-everything-and-everybody brand advocated by Secretary Wallace at Chapel Hill, N. C. last April. At Bonneville F.D.R. deplored the growth of large cities, and promised through cheap sale of power to promote the development of small cellular suburbs. At Grand Coulee he predicted eventual irrigation of the Columbia Basin would, like a magnet, draw people from congested areas.

His deep interest in national decentralization is further evidenced by the rapid promotion of three youngsters at Washington who furnish him with break-up weapons: Herman C. Oliphant, sponsor of the undistributed surplus tax and the evasion inquiry, S.E.C. Chairman William O. Douglas, foe of financial monopolies and protector of small stockholders; Assistant Attorney General Jackson, No. 1 trust buster. The trio is busily engaged in furnishing regulations and legislation designed to carry out F.D.R.'s keystone idea.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

ONE of the biggest legal circuses of modern times will be staged in Madison, Wisconsin, during the next few months. The federal government's effort to prove that twenty-three leading oil companies and their executives have violated the anti-trust laws implies a new and significant application of the New Deal crack-down philosophy.

The case has been in preparation for more than two years. Attorneys for the defendants have managed to stave off the trial until now on various legal technicalities. If the government wins, it means the end of all dreams for self-regulation of industries by voluntary codes of fair trade practice along N.R.A. lines.

Oil men complain that they are now being prosecuted for doing exactly what the government encouraged them to do under the N.R.A. code. "What they used to call desirable cooperation now becomes a conspiracy in restraint of trade. What used to be wicked price chiseling is rechristened healthy competition. We don't expect the government to be consistent, but this somersault really takes the cake."

SIEGE: Wisconsin seems an odd locale for a trail involving the oil industry. No petroleum is produced in the state—and that is precisely one of the reasons the government chose it as a setting.

If the contest had come off in Texas or Oklahoma or Illinois, for instance, owners of oil royalties and others whose interests are identified with producers could have have mobilized considerable political pressure to hamper the government's action. There is no such complication in Wisconsin, where the only public relationship to the industry is on the consumer end.

One other angle is worth noting. The state of Wisconsin contemplated similar action against the oil companies a couple of years ago under its own anti-trust laws. But its subpoena powers are limited and it found it couldn't get the real big shots of the industry into the picture. It wouldn't have been any fun chivvying distribution managers and other lesser fry, so state authorities turned over the dope they had gathered to the department of justice and invited the latter to go to it. All hands are set for a probable six-month siege.

SMARTER: Liquor men have about decided they can get along without a czar. It doesn't look as if anyone would be named to succeed the late W. Forbes Morgan as president of the Distilled Spirits Institute—although the boys refuse to say yes or no for publication.

Some of the bright minds among the whiskey makers thought they made a ten-strike when they picked a relative of President Roosevelt to "rule" the industry. They were soon disabused of that naive notion. The Federal Alcohol Control Administration got three times as tough with them as before—just to prove its independence.

Since Mr. Morgan's death, the Institute has angled vaguely for another big name—but the distillers haven't had their hearts in it. A light has begun to dawn that less show-window stuff and more attention to the abuses that have cropped up within the industry would be smarter public relations in the end.

Building Permits For $9,800 In Construction Issued Friday

Construction estimated to cost $9,800 was authorized Friday by three building permits issued at the office of the City building inspector in City hall.

Permits included $5,500 for a one-story tile structure for the Salvation Army at 1212 Seventeenth street, W. G. McMillan is the contractor.

Other permits were: To Clark Zackery, owner, and J. E. Walker, contractor, to build one-story frame residence and garage at 2408 Avenue T, $3,000, and to E. R. McCune, owner, and L. W. Squires, contractor, to erect two-story garage apartment at rear of 1909 Sixteenth street, $1,300.

Schools Closing For Harvesting

Students of Idalou and Posey schools have been dismissed to help harvest the cotton crop in those areas.

Idalou is made up of the systems of Becton and Liberty, as well as the high school of Idalou. The term there was started Aug. 16. The Posey system, of nine grades, was closed last Friday. Seniors of that school go to Slaton and will not be affected by the school closing.

Three Or Four Weeks

Students of the Idalou system will be out of school approximately three or four weeks. September 6 is the usual starting date of South Plains schools.

Estacado, which teaches nine grades, probably will dismiss next Friday for two or three weeks. The ninth and eleventh grades of that system go to Lorenzo. Lorenzo's system, however, was begun two weeks early and will be closed for no longer a period.

The rest of the county's rural schools will not be dismissed, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of public instruction.

Schools that were started Sept. 6 were rural high school districts of Cooper, Frenship, New Deal, Roosevelt, and Shallowater.

Attendance at all schools, said Supt. Griggs, is holding up remarkably.

Palestine Civic Leader Will Be Buried There This Afternoon

PALESTINE, Oct. 8. (AP)—Funeral services for C. V. Dilley, 50, civic figure and industrialist who died last night in a Houston hospital, will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday in Palestine. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dilley, early Palestine residents and son-in-law of the late Gov. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell. Survivors are his widow, three daughters, Misses Jean, Janet and Frances Dilley; sister, Mrs. Russell B. Stearns of Dedham, Mass.

TARZAN'S QUEST, No. 78 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Never had Muviro seen the Big Bwana's brow so clouded with sadness. "The memsahib left London for Nairobi by airplane," Tarzan said slowly; "perhaps it was the plane we heard in the storm, seeking a landing place—when there was no landing place."

Now the hearts of the Waziri, too, were filled with sadness, for they worshipped the brave and beautiful Lady Jane who was the mate of Tarzan, their war chief. "Maybe it went on safely to Nairobi," Muviro said hopefully; "will you go now to Nairobi, Bwana?"

Tarzan shook his head. "No. If they reached Nairobi, she is safe; if they did not, where might I search? In an hour a plane might fly as far as we could travel in many days; and if the pilot was lost, who knows what direction he took? The jungle is so vast."

The Jungle Lord shrugged. "It may even be that the plane came down in the direction we are going." "Then we may continue to search for my daughter Buira?" Muviro asked eagerly. Tarzan nodded. "We shall go on toward the country of the Kavuru!"

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon the Unknown Heirs of Jacob Schieber, Emanuel Schieber, Henry Schieber, Mary Schieber Hieber, Lizzie Schieber Hieber, and John Schieber, Deceased, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the county court of Lubbock county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Lubbock, Texas, on the third Monday in November, A. D., 1937, the same being the 15th day of November, A. D. 1937, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 1st day of October, A. D., 1937, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. [illegible], wherein David S. Schieber, individually, and Samuel A. Schieber, Millard E. Schieber, Dorothy Schieber, Paul Schieber, Fred W. Hieber and wife, Clara Schieber Hieber, Eva Hieber Light, joined pro forma by her husband, Orla Light, Gladys Hieber Burgin, joined pro forma by her husband, Forrest Burgin, Lula Hieber McDougal, joined pro forma by her husband, William McDougal, Grace Hieber Eppley, joined pro forma by her husband, Chester Eppley, Clara Schieber, Harry Schieber, Elsie Schieber Lerch, joined pro forma by her husband, Clare Lerch, Lela Hieber Ross, joined pro forma by her husband, Lloyd Ross, Naomi Hieber Hoover, joined pro forma by her husband, Amos Hoover, Milo Hieber, Roy Hieber, Carrie Schieber Harshman, joined pro forma by her husband, Ralph Harshman, by and through their attorney in fact, David S. Schieber, are plaintiffs, and the Unknown Heirs of Jacob Schieber, Emanuel Schieber, Henry Schieber, Mary Schieber Hieber, Lizzie Schieber Hieber, and John Schieber, deceased, are defendants, said petition alleging that it is an action brought by Plaintiffs to clear Heirship, and for declaration of interest, if any, of said Heirs, in and to that certain lot, tract, or parcel of land, situated, lying and being in the county of Lubbock, State of Texas, viz:

All of section No. 27, in block 20, H. E. and W. T. Railway Company survey, containing 640 acres of land, and asking that the interest of said heirs, if any, in and to said tract of land, be set up, to make due proof of their claim of heirship and upon final hearing, said petitioners, be decreed their interest and that their heirship be determined and fixed, for such other and further relief, to which they may be entitled, in law and in equity, etc.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 1st day of October, A. D., 1937.

ED. D. ALLEN, Clerk,
County Court, Lubbock County.

STOCKS SUFFER SINKING

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Stocks suffered another sinking spell in today's market, following an early morning rally, and a wide assortment of leaders fell 1 to more than 3 points to new lows for the past 2 years.

Brokers attributed the relapse partly to a sharp break in cotton futures on the government's forecast of the largest crop since 1926 and the second greatest on record. This staple finished the day with losses of $1.40@1.90 a bale after being off more than $2.

In the mind of Wall Street the huge cotton acreage revived thoughts of a special session of congress for the purpose of passing crop control measures and, incidentally, other New Deal legislation to which the financial sector is unfriendly.

While there was less talk of "war babies," trading forces apparently were in a mood to scurry to side-lines pending further clarification of Washington's attitude toward treaty-breaking nations—Japan in particular—and steps that may be taken to back up the League of Nations in the campaign against "aggressor" countries.

Few believed Japan would halt the Chinese warfare and there were thoughts of retaliatory measures by the Far Eastern power which might have unpleasant effects on American trade in the Orient.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 1.3 points at 52.5, a new bottom since Oct. 30, 1935. Transfers amounted to 1,120,200 shares compared with 1,190,120 yesterday.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8. (AP)—Big crop prospects weakened cotton here today and at the lowest the market showed declines of over $2 a bale. Near the close, however, a good demand was encountered and final prices were steady at net losses of 32 to 36 points.

The official crop estimate of 17,573,000 bales and an indicated yield per acre of 249.3 pounds were big surprises to trade circles. Most brokers had expected a figure under 17,000,000 bales and the average of nine private guesses issued during the last week was 16,528,000 bales.

When trading was resumed following the usual 20-minute suspension for reception of the forecast active months immediately dropped more than $1 a bale and selling continued until the market showed losses of 42 to 44 points.

A good demand developed on the scale down and shorts took profits at the lower prices. As a result the decline was orderly and the demand acted as a shock-absorber and prevented the market from sinking more than it did.

Oct. contracts closed at 7.74, Dec at 7.74@7.75, Jan at 7.63-bid, March at 7.66, May at 7.74, July at 7.75@7.76 and October (new) at 7.88@7.89. Spots were steady at declines of 32 points. Middling closed at 7.74 and sales totalled 13,481 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—A government forecast for a crop of 17,573,000 bales, the second largest on record caused cotton to slump [illegible] $2.00 a bale today.

Dec. eased from 7.89@7.60 and closed at 7.69 with final prices 28 to 38 points net lower.

The market opened 3 to 6 points lower and fluctuations during the first hour were narrow on evening up operations prior to the [illegible] hour were narrow in evening up operations prior to the crop report. This was about 3/4 to 1 million bales above trade expectations and 1,475,000 bales over the September bureau indication.

Active selling developed but around the 7 1/2-cent level for Jan. and March there was enough trade buying to absorb offerings. Later the selling was less active and a little covering developed near the close.

Washington advices that agricultural officials were conferring in view of the large increase in the estimated production of cotton caused traders to await developments.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 7.69 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.52 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—Deluged again and again with floods of selling orders, wheat prices tumbled 2 1/4 cents a bushel maximum today, in addition to yesterday's 5-cent collapse.

All deliveries of wheat here reacted new bottom-price records for the season, unanimously under $1.00 a bushel, and 32 1/4 cents down from the year's top attained on July 16. Only fractional rallies of wheat prices were witnessed in today's final dealings.

Much of the selling that forced the wheat market down came from eastern sources, and was apparently a liquidating character resulting from breaks in values of securities. Contributing bearish factors were late indications that the Argentine wheat crop as a whole has received substantial benefit from rains, and that moisture relief was also furnished today to dry areas of domestic winter crop territory southwest.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1 1/8 to 1 3/4 cents lower than yesterday's finish, Dec. 99 1/4@99 3/8, May $1.00 1/8@1.00 3/8, July 95@95 1/4, corn unchanged to 3/4 off, Dec. 59 1/4@59 3/8, May 60 3/8@60 1/2, July 61 1/8@61 1/4, oats at 1/4 decline, Dec. 29 1/4, and rye showing 3/8 to 3/4 setback, Dec. 73 7/8. Provisions results were unchanged to 50 cents down.

Man Faces Charge Of Child Desertion

L. T. Robertson, charged in justice court here with desertion of three children, Friday was committed to Lubbock county jail after he had been transferred here from Big Spring by Sheriff Tom Abel. Bond was set at $750 and officers said they expected him to post bond late Friday or early today.

A 23-year-old negro under $1,000 bond in Tyler on a burglary charge, was transferred to custody of Smith county authorities. He had been arrested in a cotton field near Acuff Thursday within an hour after Tyler authorities had notified Lubbock sheriff's department. Arrest was by Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, and Cap Moore, another deputy.

Negro Released On Bond

William Duity, Becton negro, Friday was released from the county jail on bond of $1,000. He was charged Oct. 1 in the justice court of S. E. McMillan with incest.

Ten dollars and costs was assessed Friday morning in each of three cases charging Charles Lee, Buddy Rods, and Robert Rods with destroying property. Two had been charged in the justice court of Walter Davies and one in the justice court of S. E. McMillan with burning journal packing valued at $1. The complaints were sworn to by Cleve Cobb, special officer for the Panhandle and Santa Fe railway, who had arrested the men in a freight car Thursday morning. Commitments were issued Friday.

due to unfair business practices.

Berry has been talking about such legislation since the Supreme court outlawed NRA codes in May, 1935, and for two years headed the Committee for Industrial Cooperation—an organization that spent those two years drafting an NRA substitute bill that never was introduced in congress.

Nevertheless, Berry said in the course of his remarks this afternoon that he was "pretty well fed up on bureaus in Washington to regulate wages, hours and business."

The new law he has in mind, he said, would protect collective bargaining without expense to the government aside from the cost of prosecuting violators.

Training Course Camp To Be Held In Yellowhouse Canyon

A training course for Boy Scout leaders of the northwest district of the South Plains council will be conducted this afternoon and tomorrow at Yellowhouse canyon 14 miles north of Levelland, according to Earl M. McClure, scout executive.

The overnight camp will start this afternoon and continue until about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Lyndon Grant, assistant executive, will be in charge. Purpose of the session is to discuss Boy Scout camping and troop program making.

Approximately 25 men from Whiteface, Morton, Levelland, Muleshoe, Amherst, and Littlefield are expected. Complete camping facilities have been provided.

BUILDING BEING COMPLETED

LAMESA, Oct. 8 (Special)—Finishing touches are being put this week on a steel and wood building located on North First street which will be occupied by the City Blacksmith shop, owned by G. E. Patterson.

Mr. And Mrs. Vernon Collins' Small Daughter Dies Friday

Four-months-old Marilynn Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Collins of 2119 Tenth street, died at a sanitarium here at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Last rites will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Tabernacle Baptist church with Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in a Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home in charge.

The child is survived by its parents only.

PLANT STARTS OPERATION

SEAGRAVES, Oct. 8. (Special)—Operations at the Home Ice Service company have begun and delivery will begin Monday. The plant has a capactiy of 15 tons of ice daily, and there is enough equipment stored in Seagraves to practically double this production when business justifies it. A cold storage vault will be available to persons in the territory with meat to store. J. F. Hall is manager of the plant.

out forfeiting federal benefit payments available under present legislature.

3. Changing terms of the subsidy payment, which require that cotton be sold prior to June 1, 1938, so that growers may hold their cotton under loan and still receive a subsidy of up to three cents a pound.

Confers With Clayton

Wallace conferred with numerous cotton experts of the department and also talked with Will Clayton, of the Anderson-Clayton company, Houston, Tex., one of the largest cotton dealers in the world.

Department spokesmen insisted no decision had been reached on any of the alternatives.

Previously, the president said he might not decide whether to call a special session until after he returns next Wednesday morning to Hyde Park, N. Y., for a speaking engagement.

Too Many Issues Involved

Asked if he would favor compulsory marketing quotas for major crops, he said there were too many constitutional issues involved for a snap judgment on that.

Farm leaders who favor a special meeting of congress said additional impetus for such a session may be provided Monday when the government experts revise their estimates of corn, wheat, tobacco and other major crops.

Prices of most of these crops have followed the downward trend of cotton in recent months.

Demonstrates Need

Wallace contended this price movement demonstrated the need for an "ever-normal granary or warehouse."

In his recent western trip, Roosevelt declared new surplus crop control legislation would have to be enacted quickly if it were to apply to next year's plantings. The regular session of congress will not begin until January, but the president is thinking of calling the legislators together between November 8 and 16.

The increased government cotton estimate comes at a time when Japan, best foreign buyer of American cotton last season, has been curtailing cotton imports, and domestic mill activity is reported receding.

3,000,000 Above Average

The predicted crop would be more than 5,000,000 bales larger than last season's 12,399,000 bales, and nearly 3,000,000 above the 1928-32 average of 14,667,000 bales.

Cotton prices have moved downward, almost steadily, as this year's crop has matured. The staple averaged near 15 cents a pound in March and then dropped to just above 12 cents in July.

In August the crop board forecast 15,593,000 bales and prices averaged just above 10 cents. The September estimate was 16,098,000 and prices dipped below 9 cents.

Congress stepped in with a loan plan of 9 cents a pound and promised subsidy payments of $130,000,000 on this year's crop to cotton growers who agree to cooperate in control measures next year.

This move failed to halt the decline, however, prices dipping this week below 8 cents, more than a full cent under loan value.

Club Activities Are Talked In American Business Club Friday

Club activities, including probable participation in an inter-club boys work program was discussed Friday noon by the American Business club at its weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

President M. M. Ewing announced Durwood Carnett, Big Spring, a former Lubbock club member, was now district governor. The Big Spring club will entertain the Texas-Oklahoma convention. Carnett plans to visit here soon, he wrote President Ewing.

Board of governors meets Monday noon at the Hilton. They are to consider, among other matters, joining in the inter-club program. A number of members discussed the proposal and the club expressed a desire to know more about the work before committing itself to the program.

President Ewing announced annual Salvation army drive for funds would open Tuesday. A committee was named to work with the Army.

Date of the coming ladies night program will be announced next week, the president said. It is to be a dinner-floor show entertainment. J. A. Fortenberry was named chairman of next week's program.

Work On New Federal Building At Lamesa Is Making Progress

LAMESA, Oct. 8. (Special)—Concrete is being poured this week for the walls and floors of the basement of the new Lamesa federal building, located at North First and Houston streets.

With work progressing ahead of schedule and continued good weather, the project will be finished before long before the contract expires.

World Series

opener at the Yankee stadium. His pitching opponent will be Irving (Bump) Hadley, a right-hander who gained one decision over the Giants last year.

Hadley's nomination by Manager Joe McCarthy was somewhat of a surprise. It was believed the Yankees would shoot with their ace southpaw, Lefty Gomez, but the World champions evidently believe they have their neighbors so badly on the run it doesn't make much difference now who starts.

Disappointingly One-Sided

There has been no evidence thus far the Giants have either the offense or defense to cope with the Bronx Bombers in a series disappointingly one-sided from the outset.

The World champions now have run up a total of 19 victories in their last 21 World series games. Three straight this October gives them a margin over the Giants for the first time in World series rivalry between the two clubs. The Yankees have now won 14 games from the Giants and lost 13 in five all-New York battles.

If they make it four straight tomorrow the Yankees will score their fourth "grand slam." They whipped the Pirates in 1927, Cardinals in 1928 and Cubs in 1932 without the loss of a single game.

Wildness Hal's Undoing

Schumacher's wildness contributed to his own undoing as the sinker-ball expert failed in a brave effort to duplicate his sensational victory over the Yankees in the fifth game of the 1936 series. There were men on base in all six innings Schumacher pitched, before giving way to a pinch-hitter, but with better support he might have extricated himself from some of his difficulties.

The Giants, in three games, have made 18 scattered hits good for only three runs as Gomez, Ruffing, Pearson and Murphy have combined to shackle the National league batsmen in the pinches. The Yankees, on the other hand, have converted 28 hits into 21 runs, with assorted assistance from the wildness of Giant pitching and the looseness of the Giant defense.

Pitching and defense were supposed to be two of the factors in favor of the Giants. They have been outclassed in both departments. They have made six errors while the Yankees fielded perfectly. Not one of the Giants' starting pitchers has gone the route. In short there's nothing but gloom tonight under the shadows of Coogan's bluff, with the once-belligerent Giants on the ropes and seemingly softened for the final knockout.

News Briefs...

Rev. R. C. Campbell, Dallas, former Lubbock Baptist pastor and now state secretary for the denomination, was in Big Spring yesterday for a meeting of the district 8 association. Rev. F. F. Cole, Lamesa pastor, is president.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Woody of 1608 Broadway, are the parents of a boy, born Friday afternoon shortly after 6 p. m. The infant weighes six pounds and five ounces. Mr. Woody is circulation manager of the Avalanche-Journal. They have one other child, a girl of 5.

Improvement in the condition of Oscar Woody, about 27, of Floydada was reported Friday night by authorities at Plains hospital and clinic where he is receiving treatment for a fracture of the left forearm suffered when his arm was caught in a tractor belt Thursday. He also suffered a laceration of the arm.

Ben Morris, 43, of 2906 Avenue P was released from Plains hospital and clinic Friday after receiving treatment for a back injury suffered when he fell from a sheep truck. He suffered a transverse fracture of a vertebra.

Carol Ann Whitlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan E. Whitlow of 1911 25th street, who has been confined to the Lubbock sanitarium the last three days for medical treatment, was reported as "resting well," last night.

Approximately 10 Boy Scout cubs, ranging in age from 9 to 11 years, last night attended an overnight camp at Mackenzie State park, according to Dr. C. C. Schmidt, cub commissioner. In charge of the camp were Dr. Leroy T. Patton and Dr. L. M. Jones.

A special train from Littlefield to Slaton passed through Lubbock Friday night carrying over 600 football fans to attend the Littlefield-Slaton game played at Slaton. I. M. Robinson, traveling passenger agent, accompanied the train as escort.

Only slight damage resulted when an automobile caught on fire in the 1200-block Thirteenth street about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. Firemen were called but the blaze had been extinguished when they arrived.

J. A. Williams, manager of the Southwestern Bell telephone company, late last night was in "serious" condition, according to authorities at Lubbock sanitarium where he underwent major surgery Friday morning.

Cubs Spoil Chiefs' Undefeated Record

CROSBYTON, Oct. 8. (Special)—The Chieftains were relegated to a place among defeated teams in District 5, Class B, today as the Brownfield Cubs shuffled off with a 32-6 victory.

Unable to make its ground game click, Crosbyton relied on passing for most of its yardage. Walters scored the only Chief touchdowns in the second canto. The hard charging Cubs gained almost at will to pile up 381 yards on running plays. Fore scored 2 times for the winners, Farr, Hill and Noble once each.

Watson, Mangum, Walters, and Cox paced the Crosbyton play. Rowden, Noble, Brown, Hill and Fore were standouts for the visitors.

Starting lineups: Brownfield: ends, Ellis and Rowden; tackles, Murray and Jenkins; guards, Decker and Grider; center, Noble; quarter, Brown; halves, Farr and Hill; full, Fore. Crosbyton: ends, Hefner and Watson; tackles, Buck and Barrett; guards, Parker and Horn; center, Mangum; quarter, Walters; halves, Newman and Carr; full, Cox.

Lamesa Scores Win Over El Pasoans

LAMESA, Oct. 8. (Special)—The Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa stepped out of their class here tonight to defeat the class A gridders of El Paso's Bowie high school, 7 to 0. The winners failed to score until the final quarter but had a distinct edge over the boys from the border.

Bowie made only two first downs against her class B opponent while Lamesa ran up seven first downs and gained a total of 174 yards from scrimmage. The lone score of the game came late in the fourth quarter when Hill, quarter, dropped a pass into the arms of halfback Jones over the goal line, the gain on the play being 21 yards.

Lineup: Lamesa: Ends, McKinnin and Hogg; Tackles, Holliday and Boyd; Center, Mitchell; Guards, Steele and Jacobs; Quarter, Hill; Halfs, Jones and Allison; Full, Schmidt.

El Paso: Ends, Beal and Rodriguez; Tackles, Garcia and Alvarez; Guards, Martinez and Mojica; Center, Kauhn; Quarter, Hernandez; Halfs, A. Martinez and Melendez; Full, Soenz.

McMurry Is Victor Over Trinity, 6-0

ABILENE, Oct. 8. (AP)—McMurry college scored an early touchdown today and later exhibited a sharp aerial defense to score a hard-earned victory over the Trinity Tigers, 6-0. It was a Texas conference game between teams which had suffered reverses in the championship race a week earlier.

Bob Anthony scored the touchdown on a 12-yard dash around end, following a 33-yard run by quarterback Johnny Brookshire.

Trinity drove into Indian territory four times, but interceptions by Brookshire, McCasland and Dunlap checked the marches.

Halfback Joe Champion streaked 62 yards with an intercepted pass in the third quarter for Trinity's feature act. We was downed on the 18-yard line.

First downs were eight all.

Cubs Take One-Game Lead In City Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—The Cubs thumped Thornton Lee and John Rigney for 11 hits in a 4 to 1 victory over the White Sox today, cashing in a four-hit pitching performance by Southpaw Larry French to take a one-game lead in the Chicago City title series.

other relatives.

A qualification, however, would make the policy effective "if, and when the funds of the old age assistance commission will be sufficient to carry out this request."

The resolution, a concurrent one requiring approval also of the senate, said the pension law was being interpreted to prevent many people from receiving aid because they have relatives and a "very unsatisfactory" situation was resulting.

The house also authorized an inquiry into the expenses of tax Commissioner Albert K. Daniel on a trip to New York last August, the revenue and taxation committee heard arguments on a bill to increase the corporation franchise tax and a number of new bills were introduced. Rep. Lonnie Smith of Fort Worth charged Daniel's trip was unnecessary and the commissioner had sworn falsely to several expense items.

VERDICT IS RETURNED

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 8. (AP)—Justice of the Peace W. G. Lawlis today returned a verdict of double suicide in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lindsey last Wednesday. Sheriff C. L. Mitchell had reported the couple drank a mixture of a soft drink and poison and that Lindsey, after drinking the potion, shot himself.

Lamesa Building Fair Structure

LAMESA, Oct. 8. (Special)—Plans for the annual Dawson county fair, which opens Thursday, are rapidly nearing completion and it promises to be the best in the history of the county.

A structure has been completed by the fair association for the occasion. A catalog of prizes and classes has been issued and distributed and entries are being received.

Western States shows will be here through the week. An amateur program is scheduled for the three days.

According to Joe Matthews, secretary of the association, twelve communities have been assigned community booths in the new exhibit building, and the indications are that livestock and agricultural exhibit will be larger this year than ever before. Last year's attendance at the fair was 15,600 and will likely be exceeded by a good margin this year, according to Owen C. Taylor, president of the association.

Two-Year Sentence Is Given Here On Bigamy Charge

Ralph Jones of Floydada, charged by indictment in 99th district court with bigamy, Friday entered a plea of guilty before Judge E. L. Pitts and accepted a two-year sentence in the state penitentiary.

A jury was waived. Jurors were released for the week and Judge Pitts today will hear non-jury civil matters, he said.

Jones said in open court he had been convicted in Crosby county on a charge of burglary.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks and assistant, Victor Lindsey, represented the state and L. G. Matthews of Floydada the defendant.

The state, by witnesses, sought to establish the marriage in Lubbock July 30 of Jones and the chief state witness, Tyleen Warrington, and his previous marriage in Floydada in 1936 to another woman. Matthews conducted the cross examination.

Under direct examination the 18-year old girl told of her marriage here and identified the defendant.

Matthews, in a lengthy cross-examination, brought out details, including the meeting of the couple a few hours before the marriage ceremony at a dance hall; their wedding trip to Floydada, Plainview, Lubbock, Seagraves, back to Lubbock, and then to Floydada, where she said she learned her husband was previously married.

I. C. Green, 17-year-old negro, charged in two cases with burglary, entered pleas of guilty and waived a jury. He was given two years by Judge Pitts. Whether the sentences were to run concurrently was not decided by the court. Max Coleman represented Green.

'Installment' Bale Of Cotton Taking Form In Lubbock

"On the installment plan" a bale of cotton is taking form in one of Lubbock's most beautiful yards.

Egyptian cotton planted from 25 seeds Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson picked from an Egyptian plant two years ago when she was traveling along the Nile stands approximately six feet high in her back yard at 1519 Broadway.

Has Only Two Stalks

Despite the fact she has only two stalks, one has 125 bolls from which she can get additional seed.

Blooms are of a rich cream color and the seed are black, small and easily separated from lint. The staple is long and silky, averaging about 1 3-4 inches in length. It is made into the finest thread and lace work as well as other products for which short staple cotton is not adapted.

South Plains farmers, in the main, plant a decidedly inferior cotton as compared with the Egyptian variety grown in the Hutchinson yard. The Egyptian stalks grow taller here than in their native soil, said Mrs. Hutchinson, and require approximately the same time for maturity. The leaves are larger, the bolls smaller, than cotton usually grown in this area.

Mrs. Hutchinson, who grows a great variety of flowers and shrubs, expects to "have my bale of cotton in five years, if early frosts do not prevent maturity of the crops."

Tech Crops Judging Team To Be Named

Six Texas Technological college juniors and seniors, under the direction of Earl I. Duke, instructor in the plant industry department, are "working-out" to participate in an inter-collegiate crops contest at Kansas City, Nov. 19.

A team of four will be selected shortly before the contest. Those now trying for a place on the team are Grafton Hearn, Slaton; Spencer Whipple, Perryton; Roy Higginbotham, Plainview; Ashton Cole, Osceola; Frank Duncan, Lubbock; and Harold Lillard, Friona.

After the Kansas City meet the team likely will participate in an international crops contest at Chicago Nov. 26-27, held in connection with the International Hay and Grain show.

There are three parts of the contest, identification, commercial grading, and judging of grains. This will be the third year Tech has entered a team in the contest. Last year the team made a better showing than the first and instructors at Tech expect it to win awards at the Nov. 19 contest.

Teams placing in the ranks of the first four will receive silver members will receive medals and there will be other awards.

Maris To Direct Farm Tenancy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The Farm Security administration officials said today Paul Maris, former acting resettlement administrator for Texas and Oklahoma, will direct the new farm tenancy program.

Maris recently returned to Washington after serving a few months as temporary head of the Resettlement headquarters in Dallas.

Milo R. Perkins, assistant administrator of the F.S.A., announced state allotments under the new tenancy program would be made public in a day or two.

Fine Of $10 And Cost Assessed In Theft Case In County Court

A county court jury Friday assessed a fine of $10 and court costs on Bud Hammond, charged with theft of a gasoline engine, according to information from the office of the county attorney.

Hammond filed notice of a motion for a new trial, but late Friday Judge J. J. Dillard had not acted on it.

A charge of theft against B. H. French was dismissed. A similar charge against Frank Whitley was continued as was a charge of aggravated assault against Johnny J. Jones.

Scheduled for today is the case of F. D. McQueary, charged with violation of liquor laws.

Weary Willies Are Riding Rods Again

Atop trains coming into and leaving Lubbock, Weary Willies, knights of the rail, are showing up in increased numbers.

Apathetic shufflers with bearded maps have gone so far as to establish two hobo jungles here — one near Lubbock compress and the other in the Mexican quarter near the bridge, said Cleve Cobb, special officer for the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad.

200 In September

Two hundred of them were listed on the officer's report to the government in September. Such reports are valuable as an index into the transient population, said Cobb.

So far, he said, few evidences of destructive trend have been reported. Three persons will face trial here, one today, on a charge of burning property, having been found in a box car after the floor had been burned out. They are Charles Lee, about 22, Buddy Rods, about 20, and Robert Rods, about 18. They were arrested about 4:30 o'clock Thursday morning by Cobb.

Some of the languid ones have taken to sleeping in seed houses of gins these cold mornings. A system has been "worked" on them recently. They have been divided and some of them allowed to sleep in a box car, where they can be "shaken down" by police and checked for their records.

The total compensation paid injured workers is about $240,000,000 a year in the United States.
