

CPL Proposes New Base Rate Schedule

Rockport, along with 103 South Texas cities, were advised this week that Central Power and Light is going to seek an approximate 20 per cent increase in its base rates.

Doyle Bryant, manager of the Rockport CPL office, said he expected company representatives to appear before the

Cities To Air CPL Proposal

In response to a rate increase proposed by Central Power and Light Monday, a meeting has been called by area cities to discuss the matter.

The meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday (tonight) at the Sinton City Hall, according to Rockport officials.

Rockport will be represented by Mayor Pro-Tem Charley Garrett, City Attorney Dave Connery Jr. and City Secretary Herman Johnson. Mayor Walter S. Falk is out of town.

The Rockport City Council, in reviewing the CPL proposal Monday night, said they wanted more specific details on the additional costs to consumers before taking any action.

It has been speculated that the meeting in Sinton may result in several cities joining together to hire assistance in reviewing CPL's suggested rate increase.

Rockport City Council sometime in September.

He noted that unincorporated areas, such as Fulton Beach, will receive the increase automatically and will probably be levied late this week.

The increase should hike the average homeowner's bill about $5 per month, based on 1,000 kilowatt hours of consumption.

The rate hike is anticipated to provide an 11 1/2 per cent hike in the company's overall operating revenue.

The request is the second in the 60-year history of the company. The first came in 1973. CPL says the increase is directly related to the overall energy situation.

The rate request will be based on CPL operations for the one-year period ending June 30.

When the new rates do go into effect, CPL plans to show the amount of the fuel adjustment as a separate item in each customer's bill. Sales tax will also be shown separately.

Bryant pointed out that the company's rate of return had been dropping sharply in the past two years "due to the spiraling cost of just about everything needed to make electricity."

Bryant went on to say that customer bills have risen sharply in the past few years, but these have been the results of skyrocketing costs of natural gas.

These costs have been passed along to customers through a fuel adjustment clause in CPL rates.

"Give Our Kids A Brake!" Is Theme Of Rockport Police

Rockport City Police Chief Jim Craigmille cautioned motorists in observing speed zone signs with the start of school Monday. "After a summer's vacation it takes a little while to adjust back to school zone speeds," Chief Craigmille added.

The Rockport City Police will be setting up radar units at the school zones located inside the city limits, he reported. "We ask that you, the driver, Give Our Kids A Brake," the chief added.

Council Approves Oil Well Drilling

The Rockport City Council Monday gave its stamp of approval for drilling to begin immediately on an 11,000 foot deep oil well.

The well, being operated by Houston Oil and Mineral Corp., is actually 250 feet outside the corporate limits of the city; however, the bottom of the well is to be located 2,000 feet inside the city limits.

The oil company said it plans a directional drilling procedure that will result in the bottom of the well being inside the City of Rockport.

The Aransas County Navigation District board of commissioners gave their approval previously, pending certain measures be taken to secure safe navigation around the drilling platform and city sanction of the project.

The only opposition at the hearing Monday was from one person who expressed concern about possible odors coming from the drilling operation.

Drilling time on the well has been set at 50 days.

Indemnity agreements were authorized with the drilling company making the firm responsible for all operations connected with the well which is located just off Rockport Beach in Aransas Bay.

SeaFair Group Meets, More Plans Unfolded

More plans were discussed recently on the second annual SeaFair to be held on Oct. 9 and 10. The meeting was held on Aug. 16 at the United Savings Assn. offices.

The two-day community celebration which last fall attracted the largest crowd in the history of Rockport, is expected to be even more popular this year, according to Bill Christian, president of Rockport SeaFair, Inc., who presided at the meeting. Total attendance last year was estimated as high as 25,000 for the two day fair although an accurate count was impossible, Christian said.

Additional booths are scheduled for this year's festival and in some categories almost all have been reserved. Dusty Smith reported there will be 18 food booths with four clubs reserving double booths this year because of the volume of business they did last fall.

Fourteen different foods, mostly seafood, will be available. To simplify selling, books of tickets will be available and there will be much better accommodations for ticket purchases, according to Roy Rogero.

Kathy Rogero reported widespread interest among crafts exhibitors. So far, 47 craft booths have been reserved and it is anticipated the total will reach 72, the number of booths to be available this year. Exhibitors are being urged to make their displays marine-oriented.

Catpool Offers Windstorm Mobile Home Coverage

Special windstorm insurance for immovable mobile homes is now available in 14 counties on the Texas Gulf Coast. This area is considered a high risk because of the chance for damage in severe weather such as a hurricane.

The coverage was approved last week by the State Board of Insurance, after considering suggestions from their staff and the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Association (TCPA).

"Individuals who have had difficulty in getting protection on this kind of property should contact their insurance agent," says Don Manthe of Dallas, vice chairman of the TCPA and chairman of the committee which developed information for review by the State Board. Manthe points out the coverage became available as soon as the State Board took official action. "We're in business," Manthe says, "and agents will have the authority to provide the coverage for properties which meet the requirements set forth by the State Board of Insurance."

Until the actual insurance policies are printed, a temporary form is being used so that there will be no delays during this critical month of the hurricane season. Manthe said that any agent who has not been contacted by the TCPA office should feel free to write or call the office for information about forms and procedures.

Potential policyholders are advised to take immediate action. Once a hurricane is in the Gulf of Mexico, it is too late to obtain insurance.

The TCPA was asked to provide windstorm insurance for mobile homes after an apparent shortage of insurance developed. Mobile homeowners, insurance agents and public officials all worried aloud about the mobile homeowner's exposure to financial loss should a hurricane hit the Texas coast.

Insurance industry representatives-nearly every property insurance company in Texas participates in the TCPA, which is informally known as the "catpool" (for catastrophe pool)-said that mobile homes

City, County Agree On Daily Jail Fees

The Aransas County Commissioners Court voted last Wednesday to roll back its fee presently being charged the City of Rockport for use of the county jail.

Commissioners last month had increased the fee from $3 to $8 per day. Last week they lowered the fee to $5.

Sheriff Bob Hewes agreed with the court on its decision.

City Secretary Herman

Johnson appeared to ask the county's consideration on the matter. Johnson did not protest the fee as much as he opposed the time span designated as a day by the county.

The county operated from midnight to midnight. Johnson asked for a noon to noon schedule.

He pointed out that a drunk that is confined about 10:30 p.m. and held until the next morning costs the city for two days.

The juvenile charges will remain at $10 per diem.

Johnson said the city expects to pay the county some $2,800 in jail fees this year.

Hewes earlier reported he had budgeted $4,000 for food this year and had already spent more than $3,400.

AISS First Day Enrollment Is Up

A total of 2,175 students attended the first day of school in the Aransas Independent School District Monday, according to school officials.

Supt. Joe Randow said this year's enrollment is up over the 2,130 enrolled on the first day last year and 2,085 two years ago.

The total elementary school enrollment is up over last year with 973 as compared to 946.

"This is due to the unexpected increase in kindergarten enrollment," said Randow.

Fulton Elementary had an enrollment of 128 students this year as compared to 98 students last year. Rockport Elementary had an enrollment of 574 this year as compared to 596 for last year. Live Oak Elementary enrolled 271 students Monday as compared to 252 for last year.

The junior high school enrollment of 559 is down slightly from the 566 registering on the first day a year ago.

The high school reported a healthy increase over last year's opening day, 643 to 618.

Randow said officials anticipated another 40-50 students before the district reaches its peak enrollment which is anticipated in December.

Jerry Lewis Telethon Adds More Musicals

Full-scale musical production numbers from four popular Broadway shows have been added to the star-studded lineup of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) according to Mrs. Kaye McCauley, President of MDA's Coastal Bend Chapter. Scheduled to appear are the casts of "Bubbling Brown Sugar," "Chicago," "Guys and Dolls," and "My Fair Lady," who will perform musical highlights from the current hit shows.

This year's Telethon, which will be broadcast locally over KEDT-TV Channel 16, is expected to attract a massive audience. In 1975, more than 82-million viewers watched the Labor Day show and pledged $18,868,499 to benefit the health agency's medical services and research programs. More than 100 per cent of the record-breaking total was collected.

The 21½-hour entertainment spectacular will originate live from the Space Center at Del Webb's Sahara in Las Vegas. Nationwide 200 television stations will make up the Telethon "Love Network" which will broadcast the marathon show non-stop from 9 p.m. (EDT), Sunday, Sept. 5, until 5:30 p.m. Labor Day.

Water Development Board To Hold Corpus Forum

The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) announced recently a schedule for 20 public forums around the State of Texas to gain citizen input on the revision of the Texas Water Plan currently underway by the Board and staff of the water agency.

Executive Director James M. Rose, in a report to the August meeting of the Board Tuesday, said the forums will begin Sept. 10 in Houston and conclude Oct. 30 in the Waco-Temple-Killeen area. The public is invited.

One forum has previously been held in McAllen.

The forums will be held in key cities and towns in Texas' Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas where the state's economic activity is concentrated.

Rose said the Board and the TWDB urge citizens in each of the areas to attend one or more of the public meetings and make their wishes known concerning Texas' water problems, opportunities, needs and ideas for meeting the water needs of the state now and in the future. A meeting will be held in Corpus Christi on Oct. 8 for the Rockport area.

The executive director said that the input was obtained at the McAllen forum and during visits he has made in recent months to river basin offices and facilities. Rose has spoken to numerous groups about the action program of the Water Development Board.

The revised Texas Water Plan will be submitted to the Texas Legislature early in the next session, said Rose.

Aransas Bond Issue OK'd

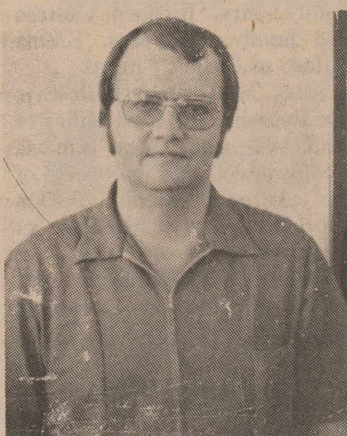

ARANSAS PASS -- A total of 143 voters turned out Saturday to approve a $150,000 bond election for dredging work at Conn Brown Harbor and the shrimpers' channel between Aransas Pass and Port Aransas.

City Secretary Ruth Rolif said 116 votes were cast for the project and 27 against.

Total cost of the project has been set at $473,000, with the federal government providing the difference between the bonds and the cost.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers is in charge of the project.

Broccoli Is Tops For Fall Gardens

D.P. Pawlik
County Extension Agent
San Patricio & Aransas Co.

No fall garden is complete without a planting of broccoli.

According to Dan Pawlik, county Extension agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, broccoli is by far the best all-around member of the cabbage family for fall home gardens. It is hardy, relatively easy to grow, and can be harvested over a considerably long period of time.

Broccoli can be planted either from seed or transplants. However, use of transplants allows for earlier harvesting, and only eight or ten plants are enough to keep plenty of tasty broccoli on the family dinner table.

Young broccoli plants should be set out in the garden eight to twelve weeks before the anticipated first frost.

Recommended varieties include Waltham 29, Topper 43 and the reliable De Cicco. Some new hybrids are also available.

Broccoli is a rather heavy user of fertilizer, points out Pawlik. He suggests applying three to four pounds of complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 per 100 square feet before planting and working it into the soil. Space plants 14 to 24 inches apart on rows 24 to 36 inches wide.

Young broccoli plants should maintain vigorous growth during their early stages of development. This means adequate watering throughout the growing season plus one or two additional applications of fertilizer. Pawlik recommends a side-dress application of ammonium sulfate at the rate of one pound per 100 linear feet of row, applied between the rows and watered in.

Control of insects and diseases is critical, so plants must be checked closely and regularly. Recommended chemicals will control most problems.

Harvest broccoli at the right time if it is to be at its edible best. Cut the heads while they are hard and green. Never wait until the small flower buds begin to bloom. When harvesting, include five to six inches of the edible portion of the stem and the leaves. Once the central head has been removed, smaller shoots will continue to develop into heads for as long as two to three months.

Tennis Group Seeking Unused Equipment

To help implement one of its announced goals of helping young people participate in tennis, Rockport Tennis Association has called on former and present adult players to contribute unused tennis equipment especially racquets, to the association for distribution to younger players.

"We believe there are many half-forgotten tennis racquets stored in closets and attics which could be used to advantage by local youngsters", Joe Hugenberg, president of the local association, said. "Also, many active adult players have acquired three or four racquets, some of which they seldom if ever use. These, too, could be contributed", he added.

It was explained that even though the strings may be broken, the racquets probably can be restrung and put to good use. Used tennis balls also are sought. They can be used for practice by younger players, Hugenberg added.

Those with racquets or balls to contribute are asked to leave them at the downtown chamber of commerce office for distribution to young players by the association.

Beat Ingleside, 3 TDs To 1

Pirates Scrimmage Bloomington Friday

By Bob Crawford
Pilot Sports Writer

With just one week of workouts before the season opener, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates will travel to Bloomington Friday for one final tune-up.

The freshmen will start work at 6 p.m. followed by the junior varsity at 7 o'clock and the varsity at 8 p.m.

Coach Volle Williams, following last Friday's successful outing here against Ingleside, pledged more work ahead for the Pirates as the gear for the 10-game campaign ahead that will open against Aransas Pass Sept. 3.

In last Friday's scrimmage, the Pirates used the big play to account for all of their scoring, tallying three times in their opening series of plays (20 plays) to take a 3-1 decision over the Mustangs.

After Ingleside scored on their opening series of plays, the Pirate defense shut the Mustangs out for the remainder of the scrimmage.

The defensive team was without two starters, John Picton and Jolly Lewis, both out with injuries, and Bruce Barre was back in uniform for the first time since last year.

The Pirates, in allowing only the one score, moved exceptionally well on defense.

"We are more aggressive this year, and we are getting to the ball carrier sooner. Without two starters we still executed well, and those kids who stepped in to fill the gaps left by the injuries did a fine job," cited assistant coach Gene Rogers.

Once the Pirates were in possession of the ball, little time was wasted by the offense.

On the first play junior fullback Bobby Lewis broke through the line into the secondary and set sail on a 60-yard run before he was pulled down on the Mustang 5 yard line. Lewis carried two more times and blasted into the end zone for the first Pirate tally.

Junior quarterback Darryl

Green took over the spotlight as he moved the Pirates 65-yards for another score. With the situation being second down and nine, Green stepped back into the pocket and threw a bullet pass to tight end Ronnie Ormand for 19-yards and a first down. Three plays later Green kept the ball on a quarterback draw and raced 35 yards to paydirt.

On the following series of plays, Green again threw an aerial rocket to Ormand good for 33 yards to keep the drive alive. A couple of plays later as the Pirates set up on the Mustang 25, Green found split receiver Albert Mendiola in the clear and threw the 25-yard strike for the score.

The tackle charts indicated that the defensive team members were equally responsible for the good showing by the Pirates.

Sophomore linebacker Joe Brooks was in on six tackles and plucked two Mustang passes from the sky. Reggie Morgan, Ruben Carpenter, Mendiola, and Algie Simmons were in on at least four tackles. Simmons did double duty as he worked with both the junior varsity and the varsity.

In the JV portion of the scrimmage the Pirates scored only tally on a 20-yard burst by junior transfer Mark McCabe, the top ground gainer for the JV with 58 yards. Simmons added 56 yards to the total.

The JV defensive corps played well, anchored by Billy Howland and Jim Crusier who led the team in tackles. Linebacker Steve Naylor was also in on a number of tackles.

Fans making the trip to Bloomington should take State Highway 35 north to State Highway 185 seven miles north of Tivoli. A left should be made on Highway 185 and Bloomington is about 10 miles north. The field is on the right upon entering town.

Golf Tourney Scheduled For Sept. 18, 19

The Second Annual Guys & Dolls Golf Tournament will be held at the Goliad County Recreation Assn. on Sept. 18 and 19. Tournament Chairman Gladys Hilbrich announced that the shotgun tee-off will be held at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on both days.

Entry deadline has been set for Sept. 11. The entry fee is $40 per couple with attested handicap for each entry.

A happy hour, barbecue and dance has been scheduled for Saturday, and Sunday the group will hold a happy hour, hors d'oeuvres and the presentation of awards.

Anyone interested in entering the tourney is asked to write the Golf Tournament Committee, P.O. Box 521, Goliad, Texas 77963.

Traffic Safety Urged As Schools Open

As nearly three million Texas students return to public, private, and parochial schools, the threat of traffic accidents has increased.

Ken Nevil, administrator of the Office of Traffic Safety, said, "During 1975, 562 persons under the age of 18 were killed in traffic accidents. This represents an increase of nearly 5 percent over the previous year."

Nevil said many motorists are acutely aware of the dangers during the first few days of school but many then forget the hazards as time passes.

Calling attention to the impassive attitudes by some drivers, Nevil said, "These school aged youngsters are in their prime and nearing the threshold of adulthood. But, the pathetic killing of these students removes their chances to be productive citizens."

To work toward reduction of school related accidents, Nevil said the Office of Traffic Safety would continue working with the Texas Education Agency, related associations, and the many schools across Texas to get teachers and students involved in traffic safety. "We are continuing the Ranger Kit Program, which allows students to participate in about ten hours of instruction on traffic safety. Additionally, we are developing other classroom packages relating to bicycle, pedestrian, and passenger safety. By working with elementary level students, we think we can develop attitudes that will remain positive during their formative years. We trust many of these behaviors will be carried with them as they begin to drive automobiles. Admittedly, our plan is long range, but we think education is the ultimate solution to the traffic safety problems of Texas," concluded Nevil.

OSHA Seminar To Be Held At Sinton City Hall

An all day free seminar regarding OSHA regulations will be held at the Sinton City Hall on Thursday, Sept. 2. A.R. Evans, Jr., Certified Safety Professional, will conduct the program.

The purpose of the seminar is to encourage voluntary compliance of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 by providing employers and employees thorough knowledge and understanding of the following:

Requirements of the Act; Safety standards under the act; identification of conditions that adversely affect the safety of the employees; prevention/correction of unsafe conditions; acts; required record keeping; principles/practices of the Occupational Safety program.

Management officials, supervisors and employees from private business/industries and government facilities are invited to attend. This program is entirely separate and does not in any way relate to any compliance or inspection activity on the part of OSHA.

Interested parties are asked to contact the Rockport Chamber of Commerce, phone 729-6445 and make reservations, before Friday, Aug. 27.

NEW YORK--Actor Anthony Quinn has revealed that he will star as Aristotle Onassis in the film, "Tycoon." Quinn said that Onassis had expressed his desire that Quinn portray him in the film.

daily dietary needs at breakfast. Children who come to school hungry may find it difficult to stay alert and learn," Texas' education agency School Lunch Program Director Charles A. Cole says. "Breakfast is also important," he adds, "to improve the nutrition and dietary practices of student."

Because school breakfast program legislation is so new, Texas Education Agency and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service are trying to inform school administrators about the availability of the program—providing the morning meal to students of high school grade and under in public and private nonprofit schools.

"We hope," Cole reports, "that before fall session begins this year, we can increase the number of schools offering breakfast. We want any school that possibly can to offer breakfast. The school breakfast program is of value in our schools for our students. We are meeting and talking with principals and school board members, or to whoever can help get this meal served, now in order to interest more schools in the program."

Cole explains that the breakfast program is similar to the National School Lunch program and that "with minor adjustments to existing scheduling of food service personnel, many schools find that they can easily manage to participate in the breakfast program without having to hire additional help or make special equipment purchases. As with school lunch, there are funds reimbursements from USDA's Food and Nutrition Service for serving these breakfasts, plus, schools get USDA-donated foods and other assistance. USDA and my office offer guidance about starting and operating the program."

Bee College Announces Bus Schedules

New Attractions Planned For State Fair In Dallas

Big Tex may have a rabbit or two tucked away under his ten gallon hat in preparation for this year's State Fair of Texas. "October Magic", a 17 day festival of fun and fantasy, is moving steadily from the planning to the assembling stages at Fair Park to be ready for October 8, its opening day. The magic formula involves an intriguing combination of attractions beginning with the bright Broadway musical hit, "Shenandoah" which opens in the Music Hall at Fair Park on Oct. 8. A warm family-oriented show, "Shenandoah" promises strong appeal for fair time audiences. Returning to Dallas is the popular Dancing Waters Exhibition. Located on the Esplanade leading to the Hall of State, this colorful spectacle combines flood lights and music for a spellbinding effect. There'll be magic in the air at the Women's Building, along with the aroma of freshly baked cakes and casseroles and a variety of competitive events. In the nearby Automobile Building, the mesmerizing impact of all the new car makes and models gathered under one roof will permeate the 1977

Southwest Automobile Show. The rotunda of the Better Living Center will showcase the fabulous $5 million Zale Diamond, the largest modern cut pear-shaped diamond in existence.

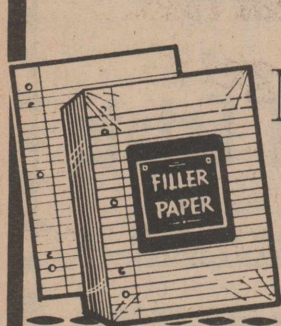

On the sports scene, the nation's top cowboys will be back in 1976 to tackle a bonanza of bulls, bronzes and prize money in the State Fair Rodeo. Football is still king at the Cotton Bowl with a lineup that includes the Texas-Oklahoma battle, plus SMU-Houston, Texas Southern-Bishop, Prairie View-Bishop and a heavy schedule of high school games.

From Oct. 8-24, more than three million people are expected to visit the Pan American Livestock Exposition, shop for marketplace bargains in the Embarcadero, study the newest agricultural developments at the Texas Food and Fiber Pavilion, enjoy aerial acts and musical groups on outdoor stages and join the elbow-to-elbow crowds along the fabled State Fair Midway. Parades, horse shows, circus performers, foreign exhibits, fireworks, good food and entertainment around the clock are basic components of the State Fair tradition that stretches back over 91 years.

The go-getter is one who persuades you that his estimate of himself is correct.

Judge Littlejohn Completes Course

Judge W. Rachel Littlejohn of the District Court, from Beeville, has recently completed an intensive four week judicial training and education session at the National College of the State Judiciary, University of Nevada, Reno campus. This was the 26th four-week session in the National College's 13-year history. Eighty-nine judges of general jurisdiction from 29 states, the U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, Puerto Rico and Indonesia received Certificates of Completion.

A special highlight of the session was the Robert Houghwout Jackson Memorial Lecture given by Attorney B.E. Witkin, noted lawyer and leading California law author. Witkin's address was entitled "Implementing the Activist Court".

The in-depth course of study for state trial judges of general jurisdiction included lectures, workshops, and organized discussion groups. The judge-participant's day started at 8 a.m. and ended with the evening discussion group at 9 p.m. The judicial faculty, drawn from leading jurists throughout the country, covered subjects including court administration, sentencing, evidence, civil proceedings before trial, judicial discretion, family law, judicial problems, jury, courts and the community, criminal law, civil law, communications and inherent powers.

Volleyball Clinic To Be Held At BCC

High school volleyball players and their coaches are invited to a volleyball clinic Saturday, Sept. 4 at Bee County College.

Mrs. Susan Duke, from Texas Lutheran College will conduct the clinic. TLC won the national volleyball championship last year.

According to Dr. Gayle Brogdon, chairman of the Health, Physical Education, Recreation division, the clinic should be a very useful one, sharing the expertise used to win the national championship.

The clinic begins at 8 a.m. with registration in the campus gymnasium. Player-coach participation drills will follow. Later that morning, a demonstration is planned along with a session on offensive and defensive strategy.

The fee for the four hour clinic is $1 per person. Advance registration may be conducted by calling the PE department of Bee County College at 358-7034.

Budget

plus $133,230 for street department and $43,420 for bonded indebtedness make up that portion of the budget that is financed with tax revenues.

The water and sewer department budget amounts to $614,760 and the sanitation department totals $88,310. These two departments are financed from the income of service fees levied for water, sewer and garbage pickup.

City Secretary Herman Johnson said an estimated $65,000 of the increase over last year's budget is set aside for anticipated higher costs of electricity.

Also included is an across-the-board seven per cent wage increase planned for city employees for the coming year.

In preparing for the coming year, the council had previously authorized increasing the ratio of assessment from 33 per cent of market value on real estate to 40 per cent.

The rate will remain $1.50 per $100 valuation.

The budget will be formally adopted and the tax rate set at the Sept. 13 meeting of the council.

The city's fiscal year runs from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30.

In other action, the council reviewed a preliminary plat of a proposed subdivision just south of the city limits.

Named Prince Edward Subdivision, it would be channelized and the first section would include 68 lots for condominiums and 79 lots for home construction. The company, which was represented by an architect, engineer and surveyor from Austin, reported the entire subdivision totals 90 acres.

The main channel will be brought into the subdivision from the Intracoastal Canal. It was noted that approval would be needed from several state and federal agencies.

The area, which is outside the city limits, is within the extra-jurisdictional limits of Rockport and must meet all city codes and building requirements.

The council set a public hearing for Sept. 13 on the request for annexation of the Little Bay Club property owned by Norman Scott in Harbor Oaks.

In other action:

*The council opened bids on a one-half ton pickup truck. Action was delayed until the bids could be reviewed.

*Steve Mehnke was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

*The council instructed Johnson to confer with Texas Highway and Transportation Department officials about a survey for erecting a red light at State Highway 35 and Glass St.

Three previous surveys have been made, but a petition signed by 109 residents of that area have asked that another be conducted, it was explained.

There has been growing concern about the increased traffic in that area, it was noted.

*The council agreed to study a request by B and J Sanitation on its request to obtain a permit to pick up bulk waste in Rockport.

3-Car Wreck Injures Two

A three-car accident Saturday about 3:30 p.m. on the Copano Causeway sent two persons to an area hospital for treatment.

Jill Hulsey and Beverly Ince, both of Rockport, were drivers of two cars, and the third was driven by Dale Lesikor of Victoria.

According to authorities, Jill Hulsey and Ray Isham were the two taken to a hospital. The extent of injuries was not reported.

29,459,000 Vets Still Alive

Since the first homespun clad Minuteman peered out from behind a tree and fired at a column of Red Coats a couple of centuries ago, nearly 39 million Americans have answered their country's call to arms, according to Paul F. Barnett, Acting Director, Houston Regional Office.

At the end of the fiscal year 1975, the Veterans Administration estimated that 29,459,000 of these former servicemen and women were still alive in civilian life, Barnett added.

A fascinating portrait of the American veteran of today emerges in the just-released annual report of the VA—a picture that shows he is better educated, more consistently employed and earning more at his job than his non-veteran counterpart.

VA's figures show that during the fiscal year that ended on June 30, 1975, the nation's veteran population continued to increase but at the smallest rate (0.6 percent) since the Gulf of Tonkin Incident in August of 1964 that marks the statutory beginning of the Vietnam era.

Almost 90 percent of the nation's living veterans — 26,367,000 men and women — served in the armed forces during periods of war or armed conflict, Barnett said.

The remaining 3,092,000 were those veterans whose only active duty service came between the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

Barnett said the average age of U.S. veterans on June 30, 1975, was 45.9 years. Vietnam era veterans (with no service in the Korean Conflict) are the youngest, of course. Their average age was 28.3 years, although the Veterans Administration estimated that 57,000 of them were less than 20 years old.

The oldest veterans are those who saw service during the Spanish American War in 1898. All of these men—there are less than 1,000 of them now—are at least 87 years of age and their average age is 95.5 years.

Between these extremes are the veterans of World War I, whose average age is 80.3 years; World War II veterans, who average 55.4 years of age; and the Korean Conflict veterans (with no service in World War II) whose average age is 43.9 years.

The VA said more than half of all living veterans are now between the ages of 40 and 59 years. The largest five-year age group—50 to 54 years—contains 4.9 million veterans.

There are approximately 4.6 million veterans under the age of 30 and about 2.2 million who are 65 and over.

SeaFair

20 booths for the fair's art exhibit and she reports 11 have been engaged to date. She said she anticipated no difficulty in renting all booths. Bo Clark reported 17 booths have been reserved for general and commercial exhibits. Last year there were 25 and about the same number and largely the same exhibitors are expected this year.

Ed Harper said about 30 participants are expected in the gumbo cook-off, one of the most popular features of last year's SeaFair. The cook-off will be held in two tents and electric power for cooking will be provided. Judging will be 2:30 p.m. Saturday, the first day of the fair, and gumbo will be sold by the cup following completion of judging, Harper said.

Pat Daly reported there will be three soft drink stands this year, and they are expected to eliminate the bottleneck which occurred last fall. He also said there was a possibility that a dirigible will be on hand for the festival.

Members of the local Citizens Band Assn. are planning to take over parking which proved to be a difficult problem last year.

It was announced that there would be 24-hour security, and the SeaFair grounds would be lighted all night. George Peirce reported the Bicentennial color scheme will be used in this year's decorations. Susan Rester said SeaFair hats will be sold at the festival.

Joe Hugenberg, master of ceremonies last year and again this year, warned against expanding program and facilities faster than the growth of the crowd justifies, adding that local group participation in fair activities was of first importance.

Jerry Shaw, in charge of special events and entertainment, said this year's program will be very similar to last year's, but better scheduling and timing was planned. There will be a ski show, boat parade and retriever dog demonstrations, with an airboat demonstration as an added attraction this year, Shaw said. He added that his committee has received many acceptances from organizations invited to participate in the downtown parade. Another event to be staged at the ski basin this year will be a more elaborate Navy air rescue demonstration.

Little Bay Club To Open

Little Bay Club, a health and social club located at Harbor Oaks, is scheduled to open later this month as a private membership operation. The club is said to be the most complete institution of its kind in the Coastal Bend area.

Owner and operator is Norman Scott, builder and developer who has been especially active in Harbor Oaks, having constructed five homes there in the past three years.

The club building is a rambling one-story brick and wood structure located on a landscaped plot which includes a large parking area, a swimming pool and two all-weather tennis courts which will be lighted for night play.

A covered entryway leads into a wood-paneled lobby-lounge which includes a massive fireplace. Many of the other rooms have a dark decor with dark wainscoting, relieved with white plaster walls and ceiling. A few rooms are done in white paneling.

The rooms are carpeted in tones of brown, while rooms in the health club area are tiled. Original paintings and prints are used throughout the club. Among the artists represented are Al Barnes, Gilbert Duran, Gary Swanson and Beecham. There are bronzes by Rand Stephen and Jim Reno. Furniture throughout is Spanish and Early American.

The main dining room has accommodations for 140 while a nearby smaller dining room will seat 40. This room also will be available for bridge. The club bar also has seating accommodations at small tables. A card or game room is adjacent to the bar.

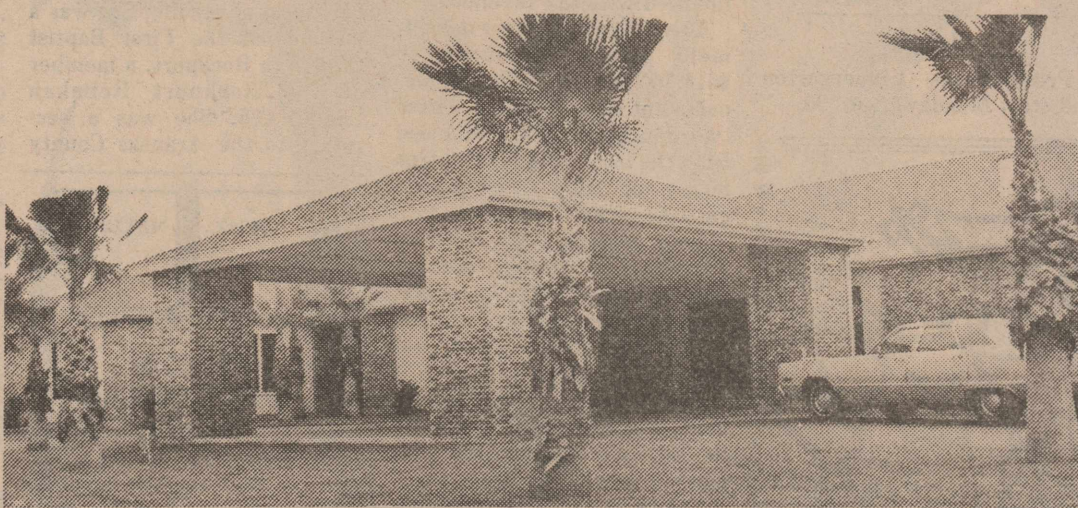

The club's stainless steel kitchen includes two walk-in refrigerators and freezers.

Health club facilities are located in the other end of the building, and include an indoor swimming pool, hot whirlpool and sauna baths. Nearby are locker, dressing and shower rooms. An adjacent workout room is equipped with a wide variety of exercise equipment, including weight lifting, stretching devices and exercise bicycles.

Mirror-covered walls add to the spacious appearance of this room.

A physical director, yet to be named, will be responsible for all health club facilities, and will handle reservations for them.

A staff of 25 will operate the club with Jim Branum as general manager. Branum has been a Rockport resident for five years. For more than four years he was manager of Key Allegro Marina.

The club's chef is Robert Leth, formerly regional chef for four Holiday Inns in Corpus Christi and Kingsville.

Second cook is Tony Domineque who is widely known in this area. He operated a restaurant under his own name and was chef at Key Allegro Inn and at Sea Gun Resort.

The Helping Hands Cluster of the First United Methodist Church met Aug. 17, with Mrs. Wesley Muecke presiding.

Mrs. O.H. Brueggeman brought the devotional.

Reports were made from different areas of concern. Busy hands are involved in making gowns and some lap robes for the "little people" in the Nursing and Convalescent home in Aransas Pass.

A special workshop sponsored by the Cluster will be held Aug. 24 for making items for the upcoming "Harvest Festival" on Nov. 3. All ladies of the church are invited to keep thinking and looking for new and more ideas to make for the kitchen "boutique" and to come and share with others.

Mrs. Chester Barre will be responsible for the general meeting program in September in the area of Christian Social Involvement.

Mrs. Lawrence Odell served refreshments.

U.S. Coast Guard Warns Fishermen Of Mexican Laws

The U.S. Coast Guard advised this week that the recent establishment of a 200-mile exclusive economic zone by the government of Mexico has far reaching implications for both U.S. Commercial and sports fishermen.

In an advisory notice addressed to the U.S. Maritime community the Coast Guard said that Mexico has recently published revised regulations governing recreational fishing from private craft as well as commercial party boats. In general, the Coast Guard noted, these new regulations will require fishing licenses for both fishermen and vessels.

The new regulations, which became effective on Aug. 1, also prohibit the taking of certain species of fish and impose catch limitations and tackle restrictions.

The government of Mexico advises that copies of new recreational fishing regulations may be obtained from Mexican consulates and fishery affairs offices located in the U.S. and Canada.

U.S. Commercial fishermen who intend to operate within the Mexican 200-mile zone were also advised to check with their local fishermen's association or a representative of the National Marine Fisheries Service for the latest information on the progress of a bilateral agreement between the U.S. and Mexico on commercial fishing in the new 200-mile zone.

Mexico's proclaimed regulatory authority in the new zone also includes exclusive rights and jurisdiction over the preservation of the marine environment, including pollution control and abatement, and jurisdiction over scientific research.

According to the Coast Guard, U.S. vessels or nationals engaged in any activity designed to explore, exploit, or otherwise affect the natural resources in the Mexican 200-mile zone can expect to be boarded by Mexican officials and inspected. Violators may be arrested and have their vessels seized. Any forcible resistance to the Mexican authorities, or any other act of violence, could constitute a violation of U.S. as well as Mexican law, officials said.

The Coast Guard encourages persons aboard U.S. vessels which have been, or about to be seized by Mexican authorities to notify the nearest Coast Guard activity by radio, giving name, position, vessel name, homeport, the alleged violation and the apparent intentions of Mexican authorities. The Coast Guard will not interfere with Mexican law enforcement activity, but will monitor the situation and keep the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City, the Department of State and other appropriate U.S. officials informed.

COG Group Studies Agreements

Firefighters who respond to calls for assistance outside the limits of their own cities lose immunity if they are not working under mutual agreements. Protection of these firemen, both paid and volunteer, is now under study by the COG's Fire Protection Advisory Committee. Rupe Gamble, regional liaison man for the Division of Disaster Emergency Services, and San Patricio County Attorney Richard Hatch are working with the committee to draft model ordinances and resolutions that city councils and commissioners' courts can adopt if they see fit.

If a fire truck is traveling to a neighboring city which needs assistance, the truck overturns, and a fireman is injured, who pays the medical bills? If firemen from one city fight a blaze in another for 12 to 14 hours, who is responsible to provide them with food and fill other needs? There are many such questions. There is no reliable basis for answers.

In Kleberg County, the cities do have mutual aid agreements. Their agreements put in charge the chief in the city where the fire is being fought. They respond only to a call from the city manager or secretary, fire chief or his assistant, in a neighboring town. Chief Bennie Spaulding explained their system which includes a relay. For instance, Kingsville would move back-up equipment into a Rivera station if Rivera equipment was assisting Ricardo and unavailable for an emergency in the department's own town.

The committee began its discussions limited to mutual aid in fire fighting. At the suggestion of Hatch, this was broadened to recognize the fact that firemen are called upon in all types of disaster.

The first step being taken by committee members is to find out what legislation cities and counties of our region have adopted in the past that is still in effect. For instance, a resolution passed Oct. 1, 1955 appointed Percy Hartman, San Patricio County Civil Defense Coordinator. But another resolution would be necessary to establish his responsibilities and authority in such capacity. The State Legislature adopted a disaster act in 1975.

James Jungman of Live Oak County, chairman of the Fire Protection Advisory Committee, has obtained information on agreements in effect in some of the other COG regions of Texas. He said agreements in the Alamo Area COG region reduces duplication of services, makes them available to smaller jurisdictions, and often reduces unit costs by providing greater efficiency.

State law gives cities and counties authority to enter into agreements. Such agreements usually require careful study and negotiations so that officials of local government can be sure of the commitments they are making and comfortable with them. What they will receive from the committee will be information on the alternatives that they have if they wish to take any action, and the basis in law for these alternatives.

$212,260 Sales Taxes In Corpus Area

Comptroller Bob Bullock said the July enforcement program of his Corpus Christi district office totaled $212,260 in field collections and revealed through audits $60,646 in additional taxes owed the state.

Bullock said the office conducted 30 audits during July, yielding an average $100 in additional taxes owed per audit hour.

The Comptroller emphasized that collections by the Corpus Christi office are in addition to state taxes routinely paid from the Corpus Christi area directly to Austin.

"This is money we can't put in the bank until we go out and get it," said Bullock.

The Corpus Christi office, headed by Rudolfo Davila, is located at 4435 Goliath Road, telephone 853-0341, and is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Corpus Christi office serves Nueces, Aransas, Bee, Brooks, Duval, Jim Wells, Kleberg, Live Oak, San Patricio and Jim Hogg Counties.

Bee College Registering Fall Students

Through two weeks of registration for the fall semester, 616 persons have completed enrollment for Bee County College.

Officials announced last week that the total was well in line with enrollment levels for the past several years.

Registration will continue through noon, Sat. Aug. 28. The registrar's office will a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 6 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Applicants are reminded that tuition and fees are payable upon registration. The college book store is open and supplied with text books and materials to help avoid long lines during the first days of classes.

Fall semester classes begin Aug. 30.

Sea Grant Schedules Program

The Aransas-San Patricio Sea Grant/Marine Advisory Committee is planning to present a program on planning for financial security for retirement. The primary subject of the program will be the Individual Retirement Account, which should be of great interest to individuals who are concerned about their retirement.

H. K. Garner, a Corpus Christi independent insurance broker, will present the program which will include a discussion of Tax sheltered programs. These programs should be of considerable interest as another tax year draws to a close.

The retirement program is set for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 2 at the First State Bank of Aransas Pass, 221 Commercial. This, as all local Sea Grant Programs, are free and open to the public.

For more information on this and other local Sea Grant Programs, contact Ralph Rayburn, County Marine Agent, Rockport, 729-1211.

Rotarians View Film

A slidefilm depicting the founding, planning and development of Washington as the capital of the United States was shown at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Aug. 18 at Sandollar Restaurant.
Using drawings, paintings, maps, charts, photographs and finally motion pictures, the city's history was traced from its origin in the wilderness through its planning by the French Engineer L'Enfant, building of the first federal buildings, including the capitol and the White House, its burning by the British, its role in the Civil War and World War II and its final development into one of the great cities of the world.
Special attention was given to the often-delayed building of the capitol itself. First, two wings were constructed. Then after a delay of many years the rotunda and dome were built. Later, several other wings were added. Construction continued throughout the Civil War.
The film pointed out that much of the work in the early days of construction was done by slave labor.

Aransas Could House Nation's First 'Super Port'

Each year millions of barrels of imported oil quietly gush through pipelines snaking out of ship holds to dockside facilities at Harbor Island.

Crude oil tankers flying flags from all over the world make their way through a 45-foot deep channel, deepest of any Gulf Coast port, to Harbor Island some 20 miles east of Corpus Christi.

And Harbor Island could become the nation's first superport, serving giant tankers unable to berth in other U.S. ports. Other contenders in the race to create this country's first superport are the proposed Seadock monobuoy off the beach at Freeport, and LOOP, the monobuoy proposed off the Louisiana coast.

Harbor Island could be the first because of its favorable location and economics, strong local and national support and multi-purpose development plans. It has received the strong endorsement of the Federal Energy Administration.

At one time port visionaries hoped a new 72-foot channel for handling much larger tankers would be finished some time this year, the 50th Anniversary of the Port of Corpus Christi.

But this project has moved at the same kind of deliberate pace as other major dredging proposals during a period in which the country has been reacting to a wave of environmental concern.

Some experts have said the project could pay for itself each year in savings on crude oil transportation. Each of the big tankers can carry four to five times the payload of the present tanker fleet serving Texas ports.

The project will be built by the Nueces County Navigation District, privately financed through revenue bonds backed by participating industries. While money is considered no problem, the port backers must have an Army Corps of Engineers permit to go ahead—and that hurdle is yet to be cleared.

The Harbor Island deepwater port concept first surfaced in 1972 and has been in the planning stage since. It was conceived by port planner Duane Orr as a logical extension of the oil traffic already at Harbor Island.

Public hearings on the idea were held in 1973 with considerable opposition generated by local and San Antonio groups interested in preserving coastal estuaries and keeping the tourist village atmosphere in Port Aransas.

In spring 1974 port authorities backing the project released a detailed study by Bechtel, Inc., a worldwide engineering firm, which concluded that the idea was economically and environmentally sound.

It put a $260-million price tag on the work, provided it gets started this year. Construction is expected to take three years.

Imported oil would feed the refinery complex in the Corpus Christi area and would be piped inland to refineries in West Texas and the Midwest.

The Harbor Island plan is in three phases aimed at serving tankers and bulk carriers of 275,000 deadweight ton (DWT) class. The first phase would serve only oil tankers but later phases would provide a deep-draft channel for very large ore and grain carriers.

These giant tankers could offload crude at the rate of 100,000 barrels per hour, an average unloading time of 24 hours and an average turnaround time of 36 hours in port.

U.S. Rep. John Young, D-Corpus Christi, feels the later bulk cargo stages are as important as the oil tanker facility.

He notes that energy imports are the key factor in the project's annual 100 per cent cost-to-benefit ratio and that in the long run oil imports, now 41 per cent of the nation's consumption, will dwindle.

"As a national policy we are striving for independence. And we will get independence all right—in about 30 years they aren't going to have it to ship over here anyway," he said of foreign oil.

Young predicted the surge in use of oil and gas is going to continue to increase rapidly while domestic supplies shrink.

The Bechtel plan for Harbor Island calls for dredging an 80-foot channel nine miles into the Gulf of Mexico, a 76-foot channel between the jetties here at Port Aransas and a mooring basin at Harbor Island with a minimum depth of 72 feet.

A large tank farm and pumping station will be built at the site for receiving oil and piping it on to refinery storage.

Harbor Island has a unique advantage over other points from Brownsville to Florida because the 80-foot depth contour is closer to the shoreline here than at any other point.

The 275,000 DWT ships it would serve are not the 500,000 DWT supertankers that would tie-up at Seadock near Freeport but do make up a significant portion of the vessels now being built.

Seadock backers and Corpus Christi port officials have not endorsed each other's projects but each side has said both are needed, and that they would not compete for the same oil traffic.

The Harbor Island and Seadock proposals contrast sharply, however.

Harbor Island would be publicly owned and operated. It would have an inshore dock area, landlocked on three sides, and could eventually handle other types of cargo in all weather.

Seadock will be privately owned by an oil company consortium, will be a single-point mooring located about 30 miles from shore and will be confined solely to receiving imported crude oil. It could not operate during rough seas, however.

The floating monobuoy terminal would be connected by pipeline to tank farms and refineries onshore from Freeport north through Texas City and Houston.

Environmentalists have argued that if there must be a deepwater port in the Corpus Christi area it, too, should be a monobuoy. Bechtel concluded that a monobuoy in the Coastal Bend area posed a greater threat to resort beach areas than did the inshore port.

Operating proposals call for oil spill control safety booms to be in place across the mouth of the harbor at all times when tankers are in port. The Corpus Christi area also has an oil spill control association which is considered a model in the nation.

"In contrast," Bechtel says, "no oil-spill prevention procedures are practical for single-point moorings with the present state of the art, and oil spills from a southerly single point mooring would be driven by prevailing winds toward the attractive resort areas north of the Padre Island National Seashore."

Opponents have been specifically concerned about the destruction of wetlands in the Port Aransas area as a result of the extensive dredging operations.

The Bechtel plan reduced the area of wetlands that would be covered by dredge material from several thousand acres to about 250 acres. Port planners say they are concerned about the effects on the surrounding marine habitat and are prepared to take whatever measures are necessary to assure that the effects are not unacceptable.

Young and others, however, have emphasized that environmental concerns must be kept in balance with the need for a healthy Coastal Bend economy and the demand for imported energy.

The congressman has even argued that the project will be an environmental asset because it will allow local interests to set high standards on which industries will come into the area rather than having to beg industry to bring its jobs to the area.
