Atom Rocket Explodes At Height Of 100 Miles

Drug Executive Slain In Car

Forrest Teel, 54, executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co., sits fatally wounded in his new automobile after he was shot on an Indianapolis street. Police today named an attractive divorcee, who apparently had attempted suicide, as the executive's slayer. The woman was kept in a hospital for observation.

Divorcee Named Executive's Killer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A pretty divorcee who took poison on a riverbank lover's lane was named by police today as the killer of a handsome drug company executive.

While doctors tried to save the life of Connie Nicholas, 42, Police Capt. Michael Smiley said: "We're not looking for anybody else."

Mrs. Nicholas was found unconscious in her car near Fall Creek on the outskirts of Indianapolis a few hours after police broadcast a pickup order for her in the fatal shooting of Forrest Teel, 54, early Thursday.

Capt. Smiley characterized Mrs. Nicholas "a spurned woman" after 15 years' friendship with Teel.

Teel, who was married and the father of a 14-year-old son, was executive vice president in charge of sales for the huge drug firm of Eli Lilly & Co.

Mrs. Nicholas' ex-husband, Curtis Nicholas, Benton Harbor, Mich., bond salesman, said he had never heard of Teel. He did not contest a divorce granted Mrs. Nicholas last June 13.

Mrs. Nicholas was booked on a preliminary charge of murder. She was being treated for barbituric poisoning. Doctors said she was not responding to intravenous feeding and penicillin. She was still unconscious.

Smiley said he learned Teel had been dating another woman for the last three months.

Without disclosing the new girl friend's name or saying where he got his information, Smiley said he reconstructed the Teel shooting this way:

Mrs. Nicholas drove to the fashionable Meadowbrook apartment area Wednesday night and spotted Teel's white sedan in front of the other woman's apartment. Parking her own car nearby, she waited in Teel's car until he emerged.

Teel and Mrs. Nicholas argued, and Teel drove her to her car in the parking lot. Mrs. Nicholas then shot him three times and drove away in her own car.

Teel started to back his own car out of the lot but blacked out, and the car circled twice in reverse across a divided street, ramming against a light pole. He died before an ambulance arrived.

Smiley said he believes Mrs. Nicholas drove directly to the secluded riverbank and took poison. She was found there Thursday night about 20 hours after the shooting.

Four bullets had been fired from a .25-caliber revolver found in Mrs. Nicholas' purse. Three .25-caliber slugs were found in Teel's body and one was found in his car.

Detective Phil Sanders said officers began investigating Mrs. Nicholas after an anonymous man phoned and said: "If Teel was killed by a .25-caliber gun, I can tell you who did it."

Members of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative are to receive their capital credits refund checks when they hold their annual meeting here next Friday.

Cap Rock officials announced today that 2,288 members of the cooperative are to participate in the refunds.

Their checks will total $45,924.87.

Chrysler Enters Small Car Field

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. entered the small car field today with an imported car.

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler, said his firm was buying the entire interest of Ford Motor Co. in the French firm of Simca, passenger car builder.

Blast Lights Up Honolulu Skies

HONOLULU (AP) — A missile with an atomic warhead was fired into the Pacific skies from Johnston Island today. The test shot illuminated the heavens and was seen brightly by thousands in Hawaii, 700 miles to the northeast.

The massive flaring in the sky was awesome.

Monica McKechnie, Waikiki vacationer from Daly City, Calif., told of clearly seeing the ball of fire from Waikiki Beach and asked, "Would you advise me to leave?" She was told not to be alarmed.

Two air line pilots on a flight from Honolulu saw the explosion which may have occurred at an altitude of 100 miles.

Capt. Jack Urner and co-pilot Eugene Wolf said the sky appeared to erupt at 12:52 a.m., Hawaii time as a bright flash cut through the darkness in the southwest.

It appeared to them as a towering kind of cloud which climbed swiftly and was topped off by another mushroom cloud that increased in height and width.

At that height the blast possibly was on the fringe of space.

Urner said: "It was of great magnitude with a beautiful red glow which slowly dissipated into a white glow."

RED FRINGE

Twenty minutes after the flash the fliers could see a red fringe around the slowly fading mushroom cloud.

Honolulu police said they began getting telephone calls about the blast at 12:55 a.m. from that moment they were swamped.

All shipping and air traffic had been warned Thursday to stay clear of Johnston Island. The "stand clear" order, embracing an area with a radius of 550 miles from the island, was effective between 10 p.m. Hawaii time, and 6 a.m. today.

An official announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department said only that a test detonation of a nuclear warhead in a missile occurred above the island, 700 miles southwest of Honolulu. The blast was described as part of this summer's nuclear weapons test series in the Pacific.

However, first indications were that an Army Redstone ballistic missile was used to send the nuclear-loaded nose to an altitude approaching 100 miles.

This is about the point to where the earth's atmosphere disappears entirely and the void of space begins.

The Army Redstone ballistic missile has a normal lateral range of about 200 miles. Fired almost straight up, the Redstone missile thus presumably could attain a height of about 100 miles.

STANDARD ROCKET

The Redstone missile now is part of the Army's standard equipment. It apparently was chosen for today's experiment because of its reliability in firing. The Redstone is a surface bombardment type, and is not intended to be the eventual antimissile missile on which development work is under way.

The AEC announced in May that Johnston Island had been chose for test firings of defensive missiles armed with nuclear warheads.

The only previously disclosed high-up nuclear shot was fired by the United States last year at the Nevada nuclear proving grounds. At that time, a Genie Air Force missile, designed for air defense, was exploded at a height about three miles above the earth.

The flash from today's explosion lighted up the sky early today at Honolulu.

Earlier, there had been reports from Honolulu that an explosion lighted up the sky there about 1 a.m. Johnston Island is about 700 miles southwest of Honolulu.

An area around Johnston Island was designated a danger zone July 25 because of the proposed tests of missiles armed with nuclear warheads.

The AEC announcement said only:

"The test detonation of a nuclear warhead in a missile occurred above the Johnston Island area in the Pacific today. The test is part of the Hardtack nuclear weapons test series."

Honolulu police reported their switchboard had been jammed with countless calls asking about the explosion.

The Defense Department announced May 2 that the tests at Johnston Island would be for short range defensive missiles with nuclear warheads. It said the missiles would travel less than 200 miles.

The exact type of missile was not disclosed but the description as defensive fitted the Navy's Talos, the Army's Nike Hercules or a test vehicle version of the Nike Zeus, the first U. S. antimissile missile.

Today's explosion was the 15th to be announced in the Pacific series that began April 28. The other blasts have occurred at the Eniwetok atoll, roughly 1,500 to 1,700 miles southwest of Johnston Island.

The announcement designating a danger zone around Johnston said that the surface danger area would remain in effect for three or four weeks. All ships were cautioned to stay clear during that period.

Today's explosion was the first time that any of the U. S. or British nuclear tests in the Pacific have been observed in Hawaii. Other U. S. nuclear testing grounds in the Marshall Islands are at least 2,000 miles from Honolulu and the British site at Christmas Island is more than 1,100 miles away.

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP) — Leslie Golden, 9, lost part of her nose when she poked her face into an electric fan at her home. She was in fair condition at Overlook Hospital.

Demo Convention Set For Saturday

Liberal Democrats of Howard County expect to nail down tomorrow night the victory they apparently won at party precinct conventions last Saturday.

The county convention will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district courtroom at the courthouse.

Frank Hardesty, Democratic chairman for the county, said that nine precincts are expected to send delegations to the convention. Liberals, which won control in five of the nine precincts last week, aren't expected to encounter any difficulty in controlling the county meeting.

Conservatives dominated two precincts last Saturday, and two other precincts are to send uninstructed delegations to the county convention.

Liberals are assured of 180 convention votes and the conservatives are certain of 42. The uninstructed delegations will account for seven votes—five from Knott and two from Vincent.

First item on the county convention agenda will be the election of a permanent chairman. Committees on resolutions, delegates and credentials will be named.

Hardesty, who will preside as temporary chairman, said he will seat delegations from all precincts which sent in reports on last Saturday's meetings. However, after a credentials committee is named it will look over credentials of all delegates.

Precincts which are expected to send delegates are Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 8 and 16 in Big Spring, No. 5 at Vincent, and No. 9 at Coahoma.

2 Big Spring Men Die When Car Plunges Out Of Control

Two Big Spring men were killed last night when their car plunged out of control and tumbled down a rocky hillside about seven miles northeast of Sterling City.

Dalton Olson, 28, and Curtis Wayne Lollar, 29, were killed instantly when they were thrown from the automobile in its crunching plunge. Mrs. Lollar, only other passenger, remained in the car and apparently was not hurt seriously.

Sheriff W. O. Green of Sterling County said he learned from Mrs. Lollar that her husband was driving the machine which was owned by Olson.

The sheriff said the accident occurred about 11 p.m. Thursday as the Lollars and Olson were traveling toward Sterling City from Robert Lee. The crash originated at the point where State Highway 158 drops off a mesa and winds through a series of canyons to Sterling City.

The automobile rolled for several hundred feet down the hillside, Sheriff Green said.

The three were returning to Big Spring from Winters where they left the Lollars' small son with relatives Thursday evening.

Mrs. Lollar spent Thursday night in a hospital at Sterling City and was transferred to Medical Arts Hospital in Big Spring this morning. She suffered a broken collar bone, bruises and cuts, but her condition was satisfactory at noon today.

Both Olson and Lollar were employed at the Cosden refinery here.

Olson was born Oct. 16, 1929, at San Angelo. He lived at 1704 Donley in Big Spring.

Funeral services for Olson will be conducted at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel. The Rev. D. R. Philley, Phillips Memorial Baptist pastor, will officiate. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Olson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Olson; two sons, Mike and Guy Olson; and one sister, Mrs. Barbara Stanley, all of Big Spring.

Services for Lollar had not been scheduled at noon today. His body also is at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home which will be in charge of arrangements.

He was born Nov. 5, 1928, at Crews and moved to Big Spring from Colorado City in 1949. He and Lou Ellen Smith were married at Winters May 21, 1948, and they were returning from Winters where they left their small son, Noble Wayne, with an aunt, Mrs. Don Emmett, Thursday.

He is survived by his wife and son of Big Spring, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lollar of Winters, three brothers and two sisters.

New Water Record Set

Water consumption hit another day's high Thursday, and usage for the month of July hit 277 million gallons.

The old water record of 9,735,000 gallons was set last week, and Thursday, the city consumed 745,000 gallons.

This last-day-of-the-month total brought consumption in July to 277,643,000 gallons. This includes the 42,404,000 gallons used by Cabot-Cosden, and thus the city consumed only 235,239,000 gallons.

Early this year, the city estimated that 280 million gallons would be needed this month.

Before July of this year, water consumption for one day had not topped nine million gallons but one time, July 2, 1957. But 10 times last month, the water meter passed the nine-million mark.

More Candidates File Statements

Two more candidates had filed their second campaign expense report with the county clerk on Friday morning.

G. E. (Red) Gilliam, who failed in a bid for re-election to the post he now holds, said he had expended $285.27 in his primary campaign. Dr. Gale J. Page, unsuccessful candidate for justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, said his expenses had totalled $251.24.

Candidates have through Monday to file their supplemental reports on campaign expenses.

Good Showers Fall On Parts Of Area

Spotty rains which rolled in late Thursday and continued off and on through the night and into Friday provided some areas in the Big Spring vicinity with generous helpings of badly needed moisture.

Other areas were not so favored. The rains were scattered and ranged from better than an inch reported in the vicinity of Vealmoor to mere sprinkles in most parts of Big Spring.

The rains came within less than a mile of the city limits, however—the Texas Electric Service Co. Switching Plant, west of Cosden Refinery, gauged .52 inch rain last night. A mile further west, the U. S. Experiment Station reported only a trace.

At Vealmoor, it was reported the rains aggregated an inch or better without any damaging results. There was some wind but not enough to cause alarm. The thundershowers were marked by vivid electrical displays. It was still raining early Friday at Vealmoor.

Fairview had no rain. TESCO said that Coahoma was also overlooked in the showers and that its stations at Chalk, Morgan Creek and other points, with the exception of Snyder, had no reports of Thursday night precipitation. Snyder had .32 inch.

There were reports that the area between Tarzan and Lenorah in Martin County was receiving beneficial rains Friday morning and first reports said that more than three-quarters of an inch had been gauged.

Lamesa received a half inch and an inch was reported at Patricia.

Heavy rains were reported to have fallen last night in Borden county. Some reports told of rains up to as much as 2.5 inch.

Heavily clouded skies and occasional very light sprinkles continued in Big Spring on Friday morning.

The storm clouds moved in after a scorching hot day which saw the temperature climb to 105 degrees. The temperature continued high as the storms circled the town. It was 95 at 7:30 p.m.

Strong local winds and scattered thundershowers are forecast for Friday afternoon and evening in the Big Spring area. Clear to partly cloudy skies are on tap and the temperature is not expected to reach the 100-degree level.

Sweetwater Man Is Gun Victim, Suspect Is Held

A Sweetwater man remained in serious condition at a local hospital today after being shot in the stomach in the North Side incident last night.

Police officers were holding Elias Dominguez Villa, 23, of San Antonio. He was charged with assault with intent to murder.

In Cowper Hospital is Kenneth Ball of Sweetwater. His doctor said at noon today he was in serious condition. His intestines were perforated in six places by the bullet.

Two persons witnessing the trouble, Billy Ausmus of Big Spring and James C. Logsdon of Sweetwater, gave statements to the police concerning the shooting.

Ausmus said a group including Villa and Ball was playing shuffleboard at the Top Hat on NW 4th, and some trouble arose over a bet. Ball and Logsdon left the place and walked to their car parked across the street in front of the El Rancho. Villa followed and the shooting occurred.

Hourly-Wage Employes At Webb Get Broad Pay Hike

Substantial wage increases for all hourly-paid employes in civil service jobs at Webb Air Force Base were announced today.

The increase comes about as the result of a recent survey made on the Army Wage Board's locality system of establishing pay scales.

It will amount to approximately 11.67 per cent across the board, civilian personnel officials at Webb said this morning, and will become effective with the first pay period after August 15.

The increase ranges roughly from 22 to 27 cents per hour, depending upon classification of the worker.

The wage increase will benefit 440 people employed at Webb.

Announcement of the decision came to Webb civilian personnel from the Army Wage Board in Washington.

Previously, the locality wage schedule here was determined from various economic indices in an area which included Webb, Reese AFB at Lubbock, Goodfellow AFB at San Angelo and Dyess AFB at Abilene. After the last locality survey, Webb was put into a new area which includes Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, and economic factors used in this area resulted in the wage hike decision. Only workers at Army and Air Force installations are affected.

Odessan Named President Of CRMWD, Succeeding Piner

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District Thursday elected Charles Perry, Odessa, as president succeeding the late Robert T. Piner, Big Spring.

The board also elevated Lyle Deffebach, Snyder, to the office of first vice president, succeeding Perry, and elected R. L. Cook, Big Spring, as second vice president.

The board in its meeting here authorized a final proposal for securing water rights on acreage in the E. B. Dickinson ranch in Martin County. In event no agreement can be reached, the board voted to exercise its rights of eminent domain and seek to secure rights to needed water under condemnation.

Previous negotiations on water rights under some 1,500 acres have been unsuccessful. The water would be needed to meet next summer peaking demands for Odessa, Perry explained, when a pipe line is laid parallel to the existing one from Odessa to the Martin County well field. Perry said that construction of a pipe line all the way from Odessa to Lake J. B. Thomas would be economically infeasible at this time. The additional line would carry well water during periods of peak consumption and the existing line would carry lake water.

James Rosser, Snyder attorney and former board member, was retained as regular counsel for the district. Jack Wessler of Cantey, Hanger, Johnson, Scarbirough & Gooch, Fort Worth attorneys, was retained to handle the proceedings arising out of efforts to secure water rights, and Martelle McDonald, Odessa attorney, was engaged to assist.

A resolution memorializing the service of the late Robert T. Piner as president was adopted unanimously. Perry, in assuming the presidency, said that "we owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Piner that we cannot repay and we hope that his untiring efforts on behalf of the district did not contribute to his untimely death."

E. V. Spence, general manager, was authorized to file an application with the State Board of Water Engineers for a year's extension of the district's permit No. 1394-B for a study on the feasibility of a lake on the Colorado River in southern Mitchell County. The revision of some ground water contracts to provide more equitable minimum payments was approved.

The board deferred action on a request by a prospective industry for service some 12 miles west of Odessa. J. L. Rhoades, Odessa, said that inasmuch as the projected service was some two years away that the district at this time should express a willingness to cooperate in keeping with supplies and policies. In the matter of retaining regular counsel, H. W. Wright, Big Spring, voted no, contending that it would be better to have an attorney in the headquarters city.

More Storms For West Texas

By The Associated Press

More thunderstorm activity was on tap Friday night for West Texas and the northwest portion of North Central Texas.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau said, the rest of Texas could expect continued high temperatures and partly cloudy weather.

Friday night's expected thunderstorm activity will follow similar weather Thursday night when tornadic winds, heavy rain and hail damaged cotton and some property north of Abilene.

Crackling thunderstorms with heavy rain threatened to close the Littlefield-Lubbock highway near Littlefield. Hail and high winds damaged trees, shrubbery and some automobiles at Lockney, northeast of Lubbock.

A severe electrical storm struck Andrews in West Texas Thursday night. Fifteen power failures occurred during the storm, and some telephone circuits were still out early Friday. An inch of rain fell. The temperature during the day shot up to 105 degrees.

Pfc. Lawrence Owens of the Amarillo Air Force Base was hospitalized Thursday night after being struck by lightning.

A Long Way From Webb

These workmen are busy placing 21-inch sewer pipe in a 10-foot ditch near the sewage disposal plant while in the background, a gigantic ditch-digger is throwing out dirt to make way for the pipe. The project is the city's new sewer line which will extend from the disposal plant to Webb's Capehart housing addition. Under regular conditions in the area near the disposal unit, the foreman, L. J. Renfro, estimated that the ditch-digger could work 1,000 feet per day at the 10-foot digging level and the 21-inch pipe could be laid at a speed of 800 feet in a day. Prior to emplacing the pipe, two joints were connected, and then these joints were sealed together in the trench with a type of tar.

LIGHT VOTE DUE

Only One Runoff Race In Martin

STANTON (SC)—If each vote in the second primary were put on a prorated basis, this would be one of the most expensive elections in Martin County history. Out of 1,200 eligible voters, only about 400 to 500 are expected to go to the polls on August 23, according to Morgan Hall, county Democratic chairman.

Voters in the county concluded all local races last week and will have only two state candidates on the ballot, those being Robert W. Hamilton and J. Edwin Smith, who are running for associate justice of the Supreme Court, Place 1.

In addition to this race, there will also be a contest in Precinct 4 where A. R. Blagraves and E. L. Wade each received two votes for precinct chairman.

"It looks like we must have a printed ballot and go through all the motions of a big election," Hall said. "We've also been informed that we must keep all nine of the election boxes open. We had planned to have only two—one here at Stanton and one in the north end of the county."

Hall thinks a slight saving can be made by reducing the election judges from six or eight at each box down to two. This might bring the cost of the election down to about $500, as compared to $600 for the first election.

Hall also announced that the county Democratic convention will be held in the district courtroom Saturday at 6:30 p.m. Since there were no precinct elections in 2 and 4, the only official delegates will come from Precincts 1 and 3.

Three delegates will be sent to the State Democratic Convention at San Antonio, Sept. 9, said Hall.

Judges Familiar With Racial Case

By AL DOPKING

ST. LOUIS (AP) —The seven judges who will hear the Little Rock integration case appeal Monday come from states where racial problems are remote.

But they are not strangers to the Little Rock case. As members of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, they have dealt with it three times. Each time they ruled in favor of integration.

This time, the case is back on an appeal by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from a U.S. District Court order postponing integration at Little Rock's Central High School for 2½ years.

The Supreme Court is in recess until October and the appellate court's decision will decide whether seven Negro pupils can return to Central, where integration was enforced last year with federal troops.

Who are these seven judges? Most of them come from the upper Midwest. Of the seven states in the district, Arkansas alone has no member of the bench.

There is the chief justice, Archibald K. Gardner of Huron, S. D. at 90, he is the oldest active federal judge in the nation.

Other members of the court are Joseph E. Woodrough, Omaha; John B. Sanborn, 74, St. Paul; Harvey M. Johnsen, 63, Hastings, Neb.; Charles J. Vogel, 60, Fargo, N.D.; Martin D. Oosterhaut, 58, Orange City, Iowa; and Martin C. Matthes, 52, St. Louis.

Gardner, Sanborn, Oosterhaut and Matthes are Republicans.

Sanborn, a widower, points out rather tartly he was around long before the integration cases. He and Johnsen upheld the original Little Rock integration order. They also upheld Dist. Judge Ronald E. Davies of Fargo, N.D., in enjoining Gov. Orval Faubus from using National Guardsmen to keep nine Negro students out of the school last fall.

Johnsen, slim and gray-haired with a squarish, rugged jaw, is known for his early and late hour working habits. He often is at his desk in the Omaha Post Office Building by 7 a.m. The bald, 6-foot-2, 250-pound Oosterhaut was a football letterman with University of Iowa. He considers his $17,500-a-year job in the bench "an excellent opportunity to serve the people."

Vogel was elevated to the circuit bench by President Eisenhower in 1954. A year before his U.S. District Court appointment in 1941, Democrat Vogel tried to beat Republican William Langer for the U.S. Senate and failed.

Woodrough is called the "Walking Judge." Throughout his long career (he was named to the District Court in 1916 and to the Circuit Court in 1933) he has walked part of the way to work from his suburban home in Omaha.

No one expects a decision Monday. It generally takes several weeks. In this case, it may come within days. The Circuit Court has been reminded by the Supreme Court that time is important because of the approaching school term.

The integration delay was ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., at the request of the Little Rock school board to allow a peaceful interlude.

Selling Out

U.S. Plane Is Forced Down

NEW YORK (AP)—A U. S. Navy transport plane was reported forced down yesterday by fighters of the Dominican Republic's air force. The plane was released after being searched and held for an hour in Santiago, on the north coast of the Dominican Republic.

The Dominicans were reported looking for smuggled arms but there was no immediate explanation why they went after a clearly marked U. S. military plane.

Ray Carnay of radio station KIOA in Des Moines, Iowa, telephoned the news from the U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo, Cuba, after the plane's return. He gave this account:

The plane, a twin-engine Albatross carrying a crew of five, was returning to Guantanamo after delivering a Navy athletic team to San Juan, P. R., for a competition.

Near Santiago it was intercepted by three F51s of the Dominican air force and forced to land at Santiago. It was kept there for about an hour, then allowed to proceed on to Cuba. None of the five crewmen were harmed and nothing was taken.

Naval authorities at Guantanamo base had no immediate comment on the incident but indicated a statement would be issued later today.

Recount Confirms Election Victory

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A recount of votes in Oklahoma's 6th Congressional Dist. has confirmed Rep. Toby Morris' victory in the July 22 Democratic primary.

Morris, seeking a second consecutive term in Congress, will run against Republican Fred Coogan of Sayre in the November general election.

Complete, unofficial figures give Morris 45,513 votes to 45,432 for former Congressman Victor Wickersham, a margin of 81 votes.

Wickersham, who was defeated by Morris in 1956, had asked for the recount. In the first, official count after the primary, Morris won by 53 votes.

Recession Not Over Yet, But Recovery Definitely Coming

By STERLING F. GREEN
AP Business Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is the recession over? Not yet, by a good many months.

But the recovery definitely is in prospect, government economists believe, and so far it has been stronger and clearer than they had expected.

One White House adviser now expects total national output to regain its prerecession rate—about 445½ billion dollars a year—around the turn of the year.

Some others, it should be noted, foresee a slower climb. But there is a growing disposition to believe the recession will be over this winter or next spring, in the sense that the business barometers by then will be back to last summer's historic peaks.

Even that will not mean a full employment economy. At least a year and a half of economic growth will have been lost—the growth that is necessary to absorb the steady increase in the size of the labor force.

Also, productivity, or the rate of output per man, will have risen so that fewer workers will be needed to produce the same volume of goods and services.

For both those reasons unemployment is expected to remain high for some time after business activity begins to establish new records.

"It's possible we'll see full employment again by the middle of 1959, or perhaps by the third quarter," said one top administration adviser privately.

It is conceded that all forecasts may have to be revised if the United States becomes more deeply involved in military operations in the Middle East. But barring a shooting war, the rate of military buildup is not expected to accelerate sharply.

Some metal prices have risen, but the general reaction to the Middle East crisis has been one of calm and restraint.

The business upturn has been stronger than almost any government official had been predicting. "Even the optimists have been surprised at the actual rate of pickup," one ranking economist said.

Many had expected July to provide a major test. It is traditionally a month of "lull" and, in some industries, of mass vacations.

Though most of the July statistics are not yet in, it already is obvious that there was little if any letdown.

April apparently was the bottom month of the recession, and the rebound in May and June was robust; business has been recovering even more rapidly than it slumped earlier in the year.

However, a relapse would not be surprising. In the two previous postwar recessions, especially that of 1949, there were brief sags in industrial production, personal income and factory orders after the recovery apparently had begun.

Russian Rocketeers Eye Traffic Problem

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

MOSCOW (AP)—Rocket experts are taking a look at the problem of preventing space traffic jams and getting rid of old man-made moons.

Do you blow up useless satellites, shoot them into the sun, send them skylarking into the cosmos or bring them back home?

Right now just four satellites are circling the earth — a huge Sputnik and three small U.S. moons. But one day there could be hundreds from numerous countries.

Collisions would be a remote chance, but the dead soldiers could be a nuisance, interfering with other and better experiments or space travel.

Blowing up the old satellites with time bombs is no solution because the pieces would still orbit and become dangerous space junk. Ways might be worked out to recover them if they are close to earth, to send them falling into the sun to be consumed or to send them jaunting further into space, off the beaten tracks.

The question of how to recover or destroy satellites whose mission is complete is on the agenda of the Committee on Rockets and Satellites at the special meeting of the International Geophysical Year Committee under way here.

The agenda also lists discussion of the radio frequency voices usable for future satellites to avoid a Tower of Babel on the air waves; a possible international quota of satellites that should circulate at one time; a central agency for satellites or spaceships to other planets; and questions concerning other bodies, such as the moon or the planets.

The most immediate questions concern how to share most fully and efficiently the IGY information obtained by the satellites; how best to track satellites; and similar problems.

Rise In Steel Prices Echoes Thru Industry

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manufacturers who use flat sheets and strips of steel paid more for raw material today, and other fabricators wondered how long it would be before they too will be faced with higher steel prices.

U.S. Steel, top producer, and Bethlehem Steel, second-ranked, made a selective price hike industrywide yesterday when they joined an increasing number of smaller firms in hiking the price of flat rolled products. These products account for about a third of the steel sold.

U.S. Steel estimated the average increase at $4.25 a ton while some other companies figured it at $4.50 a ton.

The Aluminum Co. of America also posted a 7-10 of a cent per pound price increase of pig aluminum to become effective today. The new price will be 24.7 cents a pound.

The steel price increase left unchanged the price tags on such items as oil tubing, structural steel and heavy steel plates as well as wire products. Manufacturers and fabricators are expecting these also to be increased.

It was the first time since World War II that U.S. Steel has not moved first to adjust prices. This time the traditional pace setter sat back while Armco Steel announced last Tuesday it would increase prices.

The bulk of the flat rolled steel products go to the automotive and home appliance industries, although considerable tonnage goes into a host of smaller products.

Steel customers had been expecting the price increase since July 1 when steelworkers received a 9.1 cent wage hike and other benefits under a three-year contract signed by the steel firms and the United Steelworkers in 1956.

In Washington, news of the steel price increase prompted Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, to call a subcommittee meeting today to discuss the pricing action.

Kefauver said he will recommend that the committee resume an investigation of steel pricing practices.

AF Hits Snags In Thor Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force ran into technical troubles again in its latest attempt to shoot a 1,500-mile Thor ballistic missile.

The postponement of the launching yesterday followed in the wake of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile scrub earlier in the week.

The Air Force said both missiles would be rescheduled for firing at an early date.

The last launchings of both the Thor and the Atlas ended abruptly with blowups shortly after takeoff.

The Thor, a 65-foot war weapon developed by Douglas Aircraft Co., is expected to be operational by December. The first units will be assigned to the Royal Air Force in England.

Woman Faces Arsenic Charge

TYLER (AP)—Wealthy Mrs. Evid Denney, who had been having trouble with her husband, was under indictment today on a charge of administering injurious substances to him.

Sheriff Harlon Long on June 30 filed the charge against Mrs. Denney and said her husband's medical records over a 4-year period showed instances of arsenic poisoning.

Denney, 38, filed a petition for divorce from Mrs. Denney on June 19. He alleged she had begun a course of cruel and harsh treatment against him—even threatened his life once.

In a cross action, Mrs. Denney said he had fired shots at her on two separate occasions.

Sheriff Long's office also ordered the bodies of Mrs. Denney's former husband, Homer Luce, and a former maid, Roberta Choice, disinterred for examination. Luce died in 1946, the maid in 1953. No report on the autopsies has been made.

Denney said in his petition that the couple were married Jan. 25, 1953, and separated on June 16, 1958.

Martin To Renew Effort To Secure Classing Station

STANTON (SC)—The movement to establish a cotton classing office at Stanton has been postponed but not abandoned, according to H. N. McReynolds of the Chamber of Commerce. Lack of interest caused the backers to delay action until next year.

McReynolds said about 800 questionnaires were mailed out and 416 were returned. Of this number, however, only four farmers opposed the station.

This fall the Chamber of Commerce will place the questionnaires at all the gins, in hopes that farmers will fill them out.

"With 600 farmers approving it, we might get the station," McReynolds said, "and I'm sure there were that many in favor of the station this year if they had just returned those cards."

The station would serve Midland, Martin, Glasscock counties and most of Howard. A small part of Howard County is in the Lamesa District.

Bottom Falls Out Of Water Supply

ECTOR, Tex. (AP)—What apparently is a cave-in at the bottom of the well that supplies this town with water caused a water shortage.

Mayor E. W. White said there was sufficient water for household use but none for fire protection. Bonham, nearby, offered Ector water for domestic use free of charge.

White said work on drilling a new well is to start Monday.

3 Persons Killed In Auto Mishap

PROGRESO, Tex. (AP)—Three persons were killed and a fourth seriously injured late Wednesday night when their automobile plunged over an embankment into an irrigation canal.

The dead were identified as Alenandro Balli Gonzalez, 21; Benancio Dominguez, 22, and Javier Pena, 25, all of Elsa, Tex.

Roberto Adan Gonzalez, 27, of Corpus Christi, was listed in a serious condition.

Silent Gift?

BOSTON (AP)—A vicuna coat is resting in the Boston post office, lost in the mails. The valuable garment bears no tag, wrapper or other clue indicating who sent it to whom. Supt. Timothy Donahue said if the proper claimant fails to appear, he will place it among strayed articles offered for sale in the next quarterly postal auction.

A Bible Thought For Today

If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him? (Matthew 7:11)

Faubus Victory And State Rights

To no one's surprise Orval Faubus was nominated for a third term as governor of Arkansas with a broad majority over two opponents, the third man in this century to win more than two terms in that office.

He carried every county in the state, including Pulaski, which includes Little Rock. Fifty thousand more votes were cast than in the history of the Democratic primary in Arkansas. And his percentage of the votes was around 70, with the balance being about equally divided between his opponents, both of whom supported segregation in the public schools.

In a sense, then, segregation was not an issue, since all three candidates supported it.

What was an issue was that of state's rights. Many of those who voted for Faubus might well have opposed his segregation views and his handling of the Little Rock Central High School mess. They voted less for Faubus than out of resentment of outside meddling in Arkansas affairs. They resented the legions of tub-thumpers who held Arkansas, as a state and as a people, up to the contumely and ridicule of the nation and the world.

Faubus was called practically every name and public prints and electronic communications could decently carry. He was pictured as little better than a moron—ignorant, narrow-minded and a bigot from way back.

Some of his own people blistered his actions and attitudes unmercifully, and an old and respected Little Rock newspaper led the home critics—and was awarded a Pulitzer prize therefor.

Orval Faubus had a third term dumped in his lap. He need not have so much as opened his mouth in behalf of his candidacy. Resentment of outside interference and criticism of Arkansas sent the voters to the polls in droves in a reaffirmation of their right to choose their own public officials and to order their own political affairs.

The election was decided the moment President Eisenhower sent federal troops into Little Rock to enforce a Supreme Court decree. Time will show that to have been a great disservice the cause of racial integration in the public schools. And yet it was not without its value, for it shocked the entire nation into the realization that integration is no easy thing, and that it can only be achieved by slow and painful means at the state or local level, not by bayonet, not by force of arms.

A Scientist Looks At Flying Saucers

Some of the famed Dr. Carl Jung's fellow-psychiatrists refuse to take his flying saucer pronouncement seriously.

Dr. Jung, who said he had studied the flying saucer "evidence" since the mid-1940s, came out with the statement that unidentified flying objects said to have been seen in many parts of the world are real and show signs of intelligent guidance by quasi-human pilots.

That theory adds up to this: The flying objects are not of this world, but from somewhere in space—invented, perfected and operated by celestial creatures not of human origin.

The U. S. Air Force has been studying these objects for years. It has investigated thousands of reported sightings. It holds firmly to the belief that all are explainable as optical illusions, mistaken impressions and other normal, mundane phenomena. It has found not one scintilla of evidence to the contrary.

Dr. Jung's standing in the science of the human mind is unquestionable. But is he qualified in physics, in optics, in mathematics, inastronomy, in aerodynamics and in a number of other sciences involved in proving or disproving the existence of flying saucers?

We would accept Dr. Jung's authority in psychiatric matters with the respect due a great scientist.

But we must go along with the Air Force investigators until somebody crawls out of a space ship, taps us on the shoulder and says, "Take me to your leader."

Khrushchev's Hyprocisy Revealed

WASHINGTON—If anything were needed to convince the world that Khrushchev never had any serious idea of agreeing to anything important at a "summit" conference, the letter he sent to President Eisenhower this week should remove all doubts.

Yet many people who have been ardent in their advocacy of "summit" conferences seem to feel that this is the process that will prevent a war. Possibly this naive attitude arises because the general public isn't aware of the many diplomatic channels in existence through which agreement could readily be consummated if there were the slightest desire to do so. Possibly also it's because the general public hasn't been sufficiently familiarized with the tricks of the unscrupulous men in the Kremlin.

Thus the Khrushchev letter is on its face a piece of hypocrisy, especially as it sarcastically argues that perhaps the United States government could not guarantee the safety of heads of foreign governments if the "summit" meeting were held in New York. The Soviet chief boasted that there would, of course, be no difficulty protecting foreign visitors in Moscow. But he was evidently relying, when he made that statement, on the short memories of many Americans. For not quite two weeks ago—on July 18—a mob of 100,000 Russians gathered in front of the American embassy in Moscow and threw ink bottles and stones, shattering most of the windows on the first five floors. Likewise, a mob appeared in front of the British embassy and manifested its hostility.

The Soviet government certainly knew about all this in advance because loudspeakers had been set up. Television apparatus and cameramen were present to photograph the affair. All such equipment and personnel are controlled by the government in the Soviet Union.

The obvious purpose of every letter Khrushchev has written in the recent series is to carry on a propaganda hostile to the West. Not a single communication has been couched in phrases that showed the slightest basis for an accord on vital issues. As a consequence, the replies have been sternly worded. For the President of the United States cannot allow the argument in such letters to go unanswered during the propaganda battle going on over the air waves of the world.

One of the principal weaknesses in the American position is the petty attitude of so many anti-administration newspapers in this locality which, because of their deep-seated political and ideological antagonisms domestically, are pouring out criticisms that are gleefully quoted by the Soviets over the radio to the Mideast and the world generally. Such criticisms taken from American newspapers blame the United States for the Middle East situation and back up accusations of "aggression." There seems also to be a delight in minimizing what the Communists have done to cause much of the trouble in that part of the world.

There seems to be a tendency in some quarters here to play Khrushchev's game or at least to glorify him and insist that he must be taken unto the bosom of American officials. Just why any American would choose the present period of crisis to give vent to such political feelings is incomprehensible. It was commendable, therefore, of Sen. Capehart of Indiana, Republican, to issue his demand, as he did the other day, that there be a rallying around the executive branch of our government. For the President has the primary responsibility of conducting foreign relations. There is no reason why members of Congress cannot bide their time and utter their criticisms later on if they choose, but certainly not when the American government is in the midst of difficult negotiations.

Khrushchev takes advantage of every weakness on the allied side. He plays De Gaulle off against Eisenhower and Macmillan, and he quotes out of context what Macmillan says in order to drive a wedge between Britain and America.

The whole plot is so palpable that one wonders why politicians or "left wing" editorial writers lend themselves to anything that strengthens the Khrushchev hand at the expense of their own government.

Balloon Joke

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Jack Roberson was baffled when the first person came into his grocery store and said, "Here's your balloon, where's my hundred dollars."

And he was more confused when others followed, including a man who had driven 16 miles from neighboring Beebe and a woman who phoned from Concord, 30 miles away.

Finally, he figured it out. He had given gas-filled balloons to scores of youngsters as part of an anniversary celebration for his store. Apparently some of the youngsters had thought up the trick of tying notes to the balloons, promising the $100 paments, and then releasing them.

Safety Factor

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Twenty-seven years ago, taxi driver Howard Vaughan lost his right arm by amputation after a cut became infected.

As soon as he left the hospital, he returned to taxi driving. Now, more than a million miles later, the 49-year-old Vaughan can boast a no-accident record.

He thinks the loss of his arm actually made him a better driver because he realizes that if he had an accident, "I'd have two strikes against me so I am always thinking of what could happen and I'm ready to stop, swerve or do what's necessary."

Championships Are Won With Both Hands

Alright, Joyce, Bend An Ear

NEW YORK (AP) — Girls, do you know what is the worst enemy of feminine beauty?

Here's what Constance Bennett, one of filmdom's all-time glamor dolls, has to say:

"It is a resentful personality. Any woman who habitually harbors meanness and envy will find in time they will show in her face and make her unattractive."

Miss Bennett, one of the sprightliest daughters of her day, ran away from school to go to Hollywood, where she starred in 47 films and a number of marriages.

She was also perhaps the first movie star to earn a $35,000 weekly salary and one of the first lady film producers. Following the tradition of her gifted father, Richard Bennett, early matinee idol, she turned later to the stage.

Currently she is starring on the road in the hit comedy, "Auntie Mame," a vivacious role that fits her like a girdle.

Connie, who still tilts her famed long cigarette holder at the same rakish angle, gets an eternal kick out of living and has some strong opinions on why people get old.

"Youth consists merely in being enthusiastic with life—in not being bored with life," she said.

"I think people who do nothing but think about how they look are bored. You can get very old worrying about how to stay young."

The heroine of the famed Topper series thinks present-day movies are better than those of yesteryear, but that actresses are less glamorous.

"Films now are more realistic and true to life," she said. "They don't grind them out like sausage as they used to.

"But those old tinsel films did make actresses seem glamorous, remote and unattainable.

"There aren't any Nita Naldis, Theda Baras and Pola Negris around any more. That style of glamor isn't exciting anymore.

"Styles change in glamor, just as in everying else.

"What is glamorous today? I think it is a combination of fresh natural beauty and sophistication rather than the exotic. Ingrid Bergman and Grace Kelly come first to mind.

"But anything really obvious isn't glamorous — and that includes, in my opinion, actresses who look so sexy they seem to be bursting."

Whom did she have in mind? Oh, nobody in particular.

Thousands of times women have asked her for beauty secrets, but she said the only one she knew that makes real sense is this:

"Be beautiful — natural — and naturally beautiful."

High Cost Of A Handshake

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Politicians must pay a high price for a political handshake in sparsely-populated Wyoming.

Dr. Gale McGee, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, said he's driven more than 75,000 miles campaigning in the past few months.

He's had only 69,000 handshakes—less than one per mile.

Babette is a calico cat belonging to Mrs Josephine Rippey of Albuquerque. She was rescued from possible execution of the Animal Shelter less than two years ago.

Since that time she's won major show honors for color and breeding at Las Vegas, Nev., Denver, and Albuquerque and just recently was named All-American cat by Cat Magazine.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF
THE TALKING CARDS
Twenty-third of a series

by Donald J. Sobol

"Jackson held his usual Friday poker party last night. He won all the money—more than $11,000," said Inspector Winters.

"The game broke up about 3 this morning. Jackson was shot an hour or two later. We searched the apartment without locating the winnings. It looks like one of his friends couldn't afford to lose so heavily and came back.

"If that theory is sound, there are five suspects, the men who played last night—Judge Alfred Vance, Gordon Morehead, Patrick Seaman, Tim Regan, and William Rice.

"I spoke with the judge by telephone. He said everyone lost about an equal sum to Jackson. All five are bachelors, live by themselves, and might have come and gone unnoticed."

"Nothing's been touched?" asked Haledjian.

"No," replied the inspector. "You can follow what happened by the trail of blood on the carpet. Jackson was shot in the middle of the room. He collapsed, mortally wounded, but lived long enough to crawl to the card table."

The murdered man sat with his head and arms fallen onto the table. By his left hand was a heap of cards, upturned. By his right was the remainder of the deck, neatly together, face down. Within arm's reach were five cards, three aces and two queens.

"Aces full . . ." mused Haledjian. "A 700 to 1 shot on the first deal if I recall my odds correctly."

He turned suddenly to the inspector. "I should start my questioning with Patrick Seaman." WHY?

Jackson was shot in the middle of the room.

Haledjian realized Jackson had crawled to the card table in order to leave a clue to the killer's identity. The full house, three aces and two queens, was the clue.

Hence Haledjian suspected Patrick Seaman, a seaman being known aboard ship as a hand. The dying Jackson had dealt himself a "pat hand."

Around The Rim

All A Part Of The Day's News

A news editor may be stuck behind a desk for hour after hour day in and day out, but there are many little things that make his life bearable. Not the least of these is the bloopers the Associated Press teletype sometimes offers.

Practically any newsroom has its spirits lightened every day when these errata are passed around. Here are a few I have saved from the last few months:

In an article about a little girl who had swallowed a ring, and was prepared for surgery, there was this ending:

"Then Elaine coughed,
"Out came the right."

A Houston woman was shot to death. "She was identified as Mrs. Blank Blank, a nurshing school student . . . " (Drinking on the teletype?)

An Air Force attempt to "launch a Thor ballistic missile without publicity ended . . . in a thunderous explosion." (We warned 'em things would pop if they imposed censorship.)

Private note to a Corsicana newsroom: "Hear you have good fire. Apc call. tnx. —DN" ("Good" means "newsworthy," of course.)

"COLMUBUS, Ohio (AP)—The odds against itrx7 or o27ng are 646,000 to 1. But it happened anyway."

In Kansas City, a woman collected final alimony payments from the estate of a deceased prominent banker. She "was divorced from the Kansas City bank in 1924."

This article was transmitted in its entirety:

"REYNOSA, Mex. (AP)—Two gunfights took two lives in this border town today. Two sets of photos, foreign magazines and books were confiscated." (Some weapons!)

One person was killed, another critically injured "in a two-car collision 1212 south (of Raymondville, Tex.)" (Somewhere near Mexico City, eh?)

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, speaking of the recent recession, is quoted as saying, "More than 200,00,000 Texans are unemployed."

A storm warning reads, "The bureau said the storms were due to become severe in an acre along and 60 miles either side of a line from 30 miles north of Carlsbad to 30 miles north of Abilene." (An awfully big acre.)

In an article about Billy Graham's New York crusade, "The evangelist said 300 59 400 Broadway theatre people . . . made decisions for Christ . . ." (Make up your mind, reverend.)

In an obituary, "Services were held tomorrow for . . ."

Out of Portland, Ore., an article about a Teamsters Union rally said in the first paragraph that 150 people were in attendance. In the third paragraph, " . . . the 300 members . . . gave a vote of confidence . . ." (Stacked election?)

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Hargett's Funeral Home advertised in the Greensboro Daily News: "We

(The above article was transmitted in its entirety.)

Forecast: "Oklahoma: Mostly cloudy and Monday with scattered showers."

Of course, there are other errors it would not do to publish, and which are sometimes downright hilarious. Sorry. If you're interested, you'll just have to look at my private collection.

TV's Cowpokes Get Restless Over Contracts

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The cowpokes are restless.

Clint Walker, Jim Arness, Hugh O'Brian and Jim Garner are among Western stars grumbling about contracts for filmed TV series. At least one —Walker — declared open war and walked out of his Cheyenne series.

Now comes another who is unhappy — and his series hasn't even started. George Montgomery, veteran of many a gunfight, signed to head the new hourlong series, Cimarron City. But he indicated his displeasure.

"When we started out, I said I didn't know what we were aiming for with my character," he remarked. "They told me it took a few shows before things settled down. But after five or six of them, I still couldn't figure out what direction I was supposed to be going. I'm getting pretty fed up."

George hung up his six-shooters to join the MGM safari on "Return to King Solomon's Mines." When he finishes, he aims to have a little safari of his own. Plans to take his ever-lovin' Dinah Shore and their children for a camping trip to Yosemite.

After that, he may shoot it out with the villains — or the producers of Cimarron City. . . .

Funny story about Lucille Ball. Despite her millions, she remembers her leaner days. She has always been a careful spender.

For a long time, she wanted a piano for her living room. But she just couldn't bring herself to buy. Finally, a friend persuaded her she should.

Then, Desi Arnaz bought RKO Studios, and she found herself the owner of 21 pianos. . . .

It's nice to see Myrna Loy back before the cameras. She's here to play Robert Ryan's wife in "Lonelyhearts," her most dramatic role since "Best Years of Our Lives." But she won't be settling in Hollywood, because her husband Howland Sargeant has headquarters in New York and Washington.

High Thoughts For Young Folk

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Richmond School Superintendent H. I. Willett, aware of soft courses taught in some schools, tells this:

Two third graders on the playgrounds watched two jet fighters streaking across the sky.

"If that pilot would cut in his after-burner he could make Mach 2," said one.

"Well," said the other as the school bell rang, "it's time to go back in and count those darned beads some more."

Counting Contributions Of The Shakers

"The youth of America is their oldest tradition," said Oscar Wilde. "It has been going on now for 300 years."

A good bit more than half a century has passed since Oscar penned those lines; a half century in which we have striven mightily to preserve for posterity the memorabilia and outward relics of the nation's youth.

Williamsburg, Va., is probably the most conspicuous example of this attempt to preserve and reconstruct the nation's rich and varied past. This admirable itch to conserve the past stretches from border to border and coast to coast and, in a thousand communities, takes on the form of a regional festival.

I have been thinking these long, long thoughts as I pack my beatup bags and head for one of my favorite museums devoted to the past, the Shaker Museum at Old Chatham, N. Y., a lovely old community in the rolling green countryside about 18 miles from Albany. The annual Shaker Museum Festival will be held there tomorrow.

Here, in a collection of old farm buildings, is housed a marvelous panorama of the extraordinary past and the unique way of life of the grey-clad Shaker Sisters and Brothers whose religious communities once contributed so richly to the American way.

I never turn on my electric washing machine but that I silently thank the Shakers, inventors of the first commercially successful mechanical washing machine in the museum, a complicated series of wooden tubs and rollers, won the Gold Medal at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1879.

Like so many of these attempts to preserve the past, the Shaker Museum is the work of one man. He is John A. Williams, a New York broker, who owns a cattle farm in Old Chatham. The museum grew out of his casual interest in Shaker antiques, including the Shakers' beautiful, austere furniture, which is the granddaddy of all functional furniture.

The casual interest grew into a passion for the inventive Shakers' advanced farm tools no less than their furniture. Millions of Americans who pour over seed catalogues annually probably have no idea that the Shakers first packaged and sold seeds in the form we now know. Their herb and medicinal products were famous a century ago.

On their looms, many now in the museum, they wove the most exquisite fabrics, including the cloak worn by Mrs. Grover Cleveland at her husband's second inauguration. They imported silkworms into the United States, cultivated them and wove their own fabrics.

To this devout religious sect, whose beautiful motto is "Hands to work; hearts to God," American women also owe the flat broom. That, too, is a Shaker invention. The perfection of condensed milk was achieved by Gail Borden, founder of the milk company, in 1853 when he heard that the Shakers had achieved a low vacuum pan (now in the Smithsonian Institute) and got permission from them to experiment with it.

As many as 17,000 persons once lived in flourishing Shaker communities which were, in the very best, non-U.S.S.R. sense, communist organizations. Today, only 29 Shakers still practice the old faith and way of life, which includes strict celibacy. They depended upon conversion to enlarge their communities. Even the surviving Shakers realize that the end of the sect is not far off and that only the museums will remain to remind Americans of their rich contribution to this ever-young country.

The Coronary Club Loses Caste

For many years, many people, including executives, have been deeply worried about the health of executives.

Executives, so the worrying went, are at the day-and-night call of business. They take paper work home. They're under perpetual tension making decisions involving millions of dollars and hundreds of jobs.

They have little home life. Evenings are devoted to the banquet circuit, making speeches or listening to speeches. An executive, being an executive, has status. His presence on the rostrum draws people, who go to be seen by him as well as to hear him. Perforce, he also goes to banquets to be seen—as well as heard. Reciprocity.

He has to take good customers or suppliers to dinner or night clubs. It's all part of the strain of meeting a payroll—doing the things that have to be done to get business. He's so rushed; he gets little sleep; he eats too many calories; he can't spare time for recreation. Even on the golf course he's working over a problem or a customer.

The man who works on the assembly line or punches a calculating machine in accounting can leave his job at the office. The secretary, who takes dictation all day, has no greater problem than making railroad reservations, spelling names correctly, and keeping dates from getting entangled.

Nevertheless, executives have been proud of harassment. It's their badge of service. They consider themselves charter members of the Coronary Club. Every heart attack suffered by an executive is regarded by all other executives as testimony to their hard work—proof that they earn their salaries, pensions, and stock options.

And now, alas, the assumption that executives die early cannot be accepted unreservedly any longer. Executives won't be able to wear the Badge of Occupational Martyrdom with pride and fervor from now on. Drs. Richard E. Lee, of the Cornell University medical school, and Ralph E. Schneider, of New York University College of Medicine, have put a crimp in this distinction.

These physicians studied the hearts of more than 2,000 persons over a five-year period. Only 12.1 per cent of the executives had high blood pressure against 15 per cent for the non-executives. Executives had fewer heart attacks—3.7 per cent compared to 5.1 per cent. So, we've got to conclude iconoclastically that the occupational debility of executives was derived from a biased sample.

Executives are pillars of importance in their communities. When they die, they die on the front page. Their heart attacks make news—and conversation. When a taxi driver or a bank teller or a college professor dies young, the obituary will be brief, if there's an obituary at all. Thus, the myth of early executive mortality may have developed merely because names make news.

Subordinates, let us remember, also are harassed. They crave recognition and frequently don't get it. They're not honored with LL.D. degrees at college commencements or medals of merit by Chambers of Commerce. They're often frustrated when they ask for raises. When they make suggestions, they're often told, "No."

The executive, on the other hand, usually has his own way, is well paid, is free to come and go when he pleases—no one marks his arrival or departure on a time sheet—and his rise to the top is, itself, a source of satisfaction. Thus, success has its health-giving, tension-relieving virtue.

But executives may not be grateful for this revelation. Formerly, low-rungers on the ladder of success could feel superior to their bosses, saying, "He works himself to death. I wouldn't take his job for a million dollars." Formerly, the executive could justify his well-offness by saying, "I pay for my success with years off my life." Now Drs. Lee and Schneider have taken that from him. I hope their findings don't cost Cornell and N.Y.U. endowments.

Weapons To Music

DENVER (AP)—M. Sgt. Lester L. James, an armament instructor at the Air Force Academy, turns from weapons to music in his off-duty hours.

He makes violins, some of which have sold for as much as $500. James said it takes two months to make a fiddle, but the varnishing is the tedious part. It takes eight more months for the many coats of varnish to dry.

Knows How To Relax

Actress Dolores Vitina tells Lydia Lane how she waged a personal war on nervous tension. She's an exotic-type young actress in television productions.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Starlet Has System For Easing Tensions

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — TV's dramatic shows offer a fine training ground for young actors and actresses. Whenever I'm at CBS I like to drop by the "Playhouse 90" set to meet some of the new talent—perhaps even stars of tomorrow.

The other day I was attracted to a rather exotic-looking young girl named Dolores Vitina who told me she was born in New York.

"But," she went on, "I'm half Italian and half Hungarian and I'm always taken for anything but an American girl.

"But I have American nerves, and my biggest problem has been learning to relax. I've found myself so full of tensions at the end of the day that I couldn't go to sleep at night. When my skin began breaking out I decided I really had to learn how to calm myself and to slow down.

"Learning to relax is not easy. Don't let anyone tell you it is," Dolores exclaimed. "When you are overstimulated it only aggravates your condition to try to sit still. You have to unwind gradually. I find soaking in a tub of hot water helps, but the smart thing to do is to avoid getting overcharged.

"At first I made myself stop at least four times a day for the set purpose of releasing tension. It depended on where I was as to what I could do. But even in a car waiting for a signal to change, or for an elevator, you can breathe deeply and try to relax. If only for a few seconds, it helps.

"I find rotating my head, letting it drop in front and then slowly rolling it around first one way and then the other, relfevse that tight feeling at the back of the neck.

"Rotating the eyeballs is helpful, too. You look as far as you can in one direction, hold and then bring your eyes to the front and relax. You do this to each side, then up and down and around in left and right circles.

"The most important way to sleep well is to calm your mind at night," Dolores emphasized. "Try not to think of a single thing that has happened or that you want to happen. Just lie still and imagine in your mind a green field or a clear blue sky and keep seeing this until you feel yourself getting drowsy, and you fall asleep."

YOU CAN RELAX

Nothing is more destroying to beauty than nervous tension. Jangled nerves result in a bad disposition and impatience with those you love. To some it causes emotional eating while others, loss of appetite. But in all cases the first place tension appears is in the face —the lines around the mouth and eyes. You can look younger if you feel younger. Let Leaflet M-4, "How to Relax," help you. Pot Plants Bring Beauty To Various Spots In Home

By MARY COCHRAN

In grandmother's day pot plants were for indoors. A window ledge might sport a box of geraniums, or the front porch might be graced with a bucket of fern. Otherwise potted plants were inside the hall or parlor. Today you can have and will want lots of potted plants both inside and out.

With potted plants you can get variety, color and quick effects with a minimum of care and cost. Today's smaller gardens also have warranted this trend.

The handy man can make very attractive large boxes for plants. Be sure you have him put rollers on these large containers to make them easier to move. The market offers an infinite variety of containers ranging from tiny decorative pots to large pottery and wooden holders.

Plantings particularly suited to this climate are succulents. Sedums, aloes, agaves, echeverias, and others are attractive when shown in bunches. These plants, in large clay pots placed in the sunny areas, are very striking. They look well lined up on steps. Be sure you leave plenty of walking space so they won't be kicked off and broken.

Pools offer an excellant area for potted plants. The containers may be sunk into gravel beds for an oriental effect. This system will restrain the too vigorous grasses that look so well by the water, and other flowers will achieve a tidier appearance.

Simple homey plants take on a special look when container-grown. Cannas, marigolds, all annuals and summer bulbs look good. This is the time for planting lilies, and they will do beautifully in outdoor pots. Try some plantings now of calendulas. The tiniest porch or patio can be dressed up with a massing of potted plants. Small dahlias and chrysanthemums will be lovely in pots this fall.

You can buy blossoming shrubs grown in cans and place them in a large scale pots till the blooming season is over. Then you can take them out of their containers for their permanent position in the yard. Small varieties can live their full life cycle in adequate pots.

Fences can be decorated with boxes for plantings. A simple carpentry job can transform a plain fence area into a center of interest in your garden.

Consider the conditions of the places you plan to use your plants. Most foliage plants will not need sunlight, and so fill in well in the heavily shaded areas. Flowering plants usually want some sunshine; give them a spot that is sunny part of the day.

Outside pots dry out very quickly. Set them inside glazed containers or double pot each plant in two porous clay pots, one inside the other, with the space between filled with sphagnum moss for maximum moisture.

Plants in sunny spots need more water than those in shady areas so check daily and learn the needs of the individual plants. Keep dead foliage picked off.

Lucy Graves, Merle Miller Take Wedding Vows In Stanton Home

STANTON—A double ring ceremony was read Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Tunnell, uniting in marriage their grandson, Merle G. Miller, and Lucy Graves.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller, all of Stanton.

Ellmore Johnson, minister of the Stanton Church of Christ, read the vows as the wedding party stood beneath an arch flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladioli.

For her wedding, the bride chose a costume of white organdy, ballerina length. The low cut bodice joined the full skirt with a cummerbund terminating at the back in a bow of white silk.

The bridal flowers were carried on a white Bible. For nuptial tradition, she wore a blue garter; her dress was new. A fingertip veil, which floated from a white satin crown, had been borrowed from Mrs. J. Tunnell. She wore a single strand of pearls, and there was a penny in her shoe.

Modine Graves of Midland attended her sister as maid of honor, and the bridegroom's brother, Jimmy Miller, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Tunnell home.

Both are graduates of Stanton High School; the bride is employed at the Martin County ASC office. The bridegroom is an employe of Stanton Supply Company.

Miss Shields Is Honored At Tea

Bride-elect Barbara Shields was again named honoree at a party when friends called at the Lonnie Coker home Thursday evening for a miscellaneous shower.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shields, 1500 Wood, she will become the bride of Charles Johnson at the Wesley Methodist Church on Aug. 9. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson Jr. 210 Circle Drive.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Coker were Mrs. Ross Boykin, Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, Mrs. W. T. McRee, Mrs. Lee Porter, Mrs. Tom McAdams and Mrs. Bud Green.

Mrs. Coker, greeting guests, presented the bride-elect, her mother and the mother of the bridegroom-to-be. White carnation corsages were worn by the latter three. In the corsage of Miss Shields was a tiny figurine of a left hand, complete with red nail polish, and wearing a diamond on the ring finger.

Corsages of the members in the house party bore the same decoration and were fashioned of lily of the valley and net.

Alternating at the tea table in displaying gifts and at the register were Mrs. Jerry Thomas, Helen Gray, Londa Coker, Jacqueline Smith, Mrs. David Hodnett, Kathy McRee and Carol Rogers.

Yellow and white was the theme of the table, laid with a white floor-length cloth of net over satin. Yellow gladioli combined with Marconi daisies to make the center arrangement. Napkins of white were inscribed with the names of the couple in gold.

For the party, Miss Shields was attired in a pink sheer, sleeveless, and made in a shirtwaist style. Appliques of flowers added interest to the bodice, joined to the skirt with a pink satin belt.

The guest list included 125.

July's Construction Volume Near Record For One Month

Big Spring recorded one of its biggest building months in history during July and it raised this year's building story almost to the $3 million mark.

A total of 177 building permits was issued last month which was also one of the biggest totals in history.

July's report showed new building valued at $1,382,210, and this raised the total for 1958 to $2,946,715. This compares favorably with the $2,074,930 for the same time of 1957.

Most of the total last month came from 99 permits taken out one at one time by Cecil McDonald for development of the Douglass Addition in the southwestern edge of town. That bloc of permits amounted to almost $1.2 million.

The month's total is the largest since 1950 and surpassed the previous high since the half-century, June of 1952. During that month, work began on the Howard County Courthouse ($730,000) and 66 units in Monticello ($288,000) and helped the city to a month of $1,226,585 in valuations.

Other high totals since 1950 include $1,095,380 in September of 1950 and $1,071,745 for May of the same year.

Comparisons of 1957 and '58:

Month	1958	1957

Thugs Threaten Witness In Attempt To Halt Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman witness testified today someone representing himself as "Hoffa of the teamsters" threatened her in an effort to silence her testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee.

Mrs. Nancy Dawson, president of the Dawson Industrial Laundry Co. of Detroit, told the committee the warning for her to "keep your mouth shut" was delivered by telephone to her secretary July 9. She said she didn't known who actually made the call.

The committee is exploring alleged labor rackets in the Detroit laundry business.

It has summoned James R. Hoffa, international president of the Teamsters Union, for questioning next week.

The committee denounced Hoffa in a recent report to the Senate, calling him a consort of gangsters who abused his union power and misused union funds.

The committee had announced recently it had arranged police protection for a woman witness who had been threatened and who, it was feared, might come to harm for cooperating in the hearings.

This was the first official word that Mrs. Dawson was the witness although word had leaked out yesterday identifying her.

Mrs. Dawson testified that exactly a week after the first threat she got another.

This also was in a telephone call to her secretary who gave her a message headed: "Teamsters—Mr. Hoffa."

It said, referring to Mrs. Dawson, "We don't want anything to happen to her and her family. We have seen her with that little dago Salinger. This is not meant to be a threat."

Pierre Salinger is a committee investigator who interviewed Mrs. Dawson.

McClellan said that Mrs. Dawson deserves widespread applause for having the courage to testify. He said that if the government is not able to protect Mrs. Dawson now, then "God help us."

KBST Transfer Is Approved

Approval of the transfer of license of Radio KBST to Affiliated Newspapers, Inc., was given yesterday by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

Sale of the radio station, in operation in Big Spring since 1936, is to the corporation which publishes The Herald, by Big Spring Broadcasting Company. Amount involved is $100,000.

Transfer of ownership is to be effected as soon as proper authorization is received from Washington. The owners announced there is to be no change in policy or operational matters. J. N. Young Jr. continues as manager of KBST.

Other matters announced by the FCC yesterday included grant of a radio license to Joseph E. Young for a station at Crane; and assignment of license of KRWS, Post, to Grady F. Maples and R. B. McAlister.

Burglars Raid Jet Drive-In

Burglars who unceremoniously dumped potatoes from two big tow sacks later used the containers to hold a quantity of candy, chewing gum and cigarettes which they stole from the Jet Drive-In theater sometime on Wednesday night or Thursday.

Deputy Sheriff E. W. York, who investigaetd the burglary, said that all doors to the concession stand were still locked and there was no sign of forced entry. The burglars apparently had a key to the place, York said, or they were left inside when the place was closed down for the night.

The cigarette vending machine had been forced but the machine had been stripped of cash only a day or two ago and it was not believed there was much money in the till.

York said the two big sacks of potatoes had been piled on the floor. The bags were missing.

The theater management reported that 534 packets of candy, 140 packs of cigarettes, and five cigars, as well as undetermined amounts of gum and other confections, had been taken.

Youth Who Struck Girl Is Committed To Reformatory

Summary action was taken Friday in the case of a 15-year-old Negro identified as being the driver of a car which ran down a 13-year-old Latin-American girl Wednesday night and then sped on without stopping to render aid.

In a five minute session, Juvenile Judge R. H. Weaver ordered A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, to remove the young Negro to Gatesville reformatory.

The boy had been before the court on three other occasions and has been in many difficulties with the law.

He had also told Long that he and some companions had broken into the Jumbo Cafe sometime ago stealing some beer. In court the youth denied this statement—two other boys whom he identified as "the boys that are sitting on the courthouse steps right now," had broken into the cafe.

Adelinda Larez, 13, 901 N. Scurry, was the victim of the hit and run accident. She suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries. The accident occurred in front of her home.

The car was owned by an airman, it was said, who had loaned it to the 15-year-old boy who had no driver's license.

Services Slated For Mrs. Keith

LAMESA—Funeral services will be held Sunday at the First Baptist Church here for Mrs. Armanda Keith, 84, who died early today in the home of a daughter.

Mrs. Keith had been a resident of the Patricia community for six years. She died here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Peters Sr.

The Sunday services will be conducted by the Revs. Carl Grisham and C. R. Blake at 3 p.m.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. W. S. Townsend of Patricia; a son, Jack Keith of Andrews, seven grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Flooded Highway

U.S. Highway 71 looks more like a creek than a road after heavy rains, measuring more than 4 inches, caused flash floods along the Blue River in Kansas City. The highway, running from right to left in the picture, is completely covered with water and the service station evacuated as the water rose.

Man Falls Asleep, Chair Catches Fire

Firemen doused a fire at 908 W. 8th Thursday night after a man had fallen asleep in a chair with a lighted cigarette in his hand.

The cigarette caught the chair on fire, but the fire department was able to extinguish the blaze before it had a chance to spread.

The residence is owned by a Mrs. Steen. A Nalley-Pickle ambulance was called for the man who fell asleep, but he didn't need hospitalization.

NEW POPULARITY
Lincoln on 4-cent stamp

Three-Cent Stamps Go Out With Flood Of Late Mail

Big Spring Post Office patrons took full advantage of the fading opportunity to send letters for three cents Thursday, according to Elmer Boatler, postmaster.

The cancellations in the office for the two last days of July—just ahead of the advent of 4-cent first class mail rates—hit 76,174. Compared with the final two days of June when the old rates were much in effect, the volume showed a gain of more than 5,000 pieces of mail.

A long line of patrons were on hand at the stamp windows today buying 1-cent stamps to augment existing supplies of 3-centers they have on hand. There has also been a heavy sale of 4-cent stamps. Some of the letters arriving on the late mails of last night bore 4-cent stamps.

A quick check of letters mailed this morning indicated that there were a lot of folk who had forgotten about the postal increase—letters were being dropped through the slot with the old familiar 3-cent "liberty" stamps. These will be handled as postage due and cost the addressee extra money to get.

Boatler said that most firms have been sending out their statements earlier than usual as July ended in order to benefit from the lower postal rate.

He believed that this action, plus a heavy purchase of 4-cent stamps, was responsible for the better than $5,000 gain in postal business for July this year as compared with the same month in 1957.

Postal receipts for the month just ended hit $25,154.46 as compared with $20,119.64 last July. The year's total for the first seven months is only $2,000 ahead of the total for the same seven months in 1957, however. Until the rush of July developed the postal receipts for 1958 were behind those for 1957.

Total receipts for the Post Office to date stand at $157,483.77 as compared with $155,374.49 for the first seven months of 1957.

Boatler said that he anticipates a lot of patrons will forget the increased rate and that a brisk business in postage due collections is likely in store for the office.

Father Is Seeking Custody Of Children

A writ of habeas corpus is being employed in an effort to obtain custody of five minor children now in the possession of their mother.

Harry Hubert Snow has filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus against Evelyn Marie Noble Snow. He alleges the couple's five minor children are in her possession and he wants custody.

MARKETS

WALL STREET
NEW YORK (AP)—Aluminums and coppers paced a stock market recovery today in fairly active trading.

Aluminum price boosts announced by Alcoa and Reynolds Metals spurred aluminum shares. Coppers were touched off by a price hike for the red metal at the custom smelter level.

Stocks in these metal groups advanced from 1 to around 3 points. Elsewhere in the list, leading issues posted gains of fractions to around a point. A wide assortment of small losses remained from the market's early irregularity.

The market was mixed at the start and the ticker tape fell behind transactions for nine minutes as opening blocks were traded. Then turnover slowed until the base metal stocks started to move.

Steels were either lower or slightly changed following their recent spurt on higher steel prices. Rails and utilities were mixed. Oils and aircrafts made some gains as did a few chemicals and other selected issues.

COTTON
NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton at noon was 50 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher than the previous closes. October 36.31, December 36.51 and March 36.85.

Witness Tells Of Slaying In Bowles Trial

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP)—Jimmy Keith Mitchell, who testified he was present when James E. Harvey was shot to death, faced a second day of questioning today in the Bryan Bowles murder trial.

Mitchell, a brother-in-law of both men, was the first state witness called yesterday as testimony began in the trial.

Bowles, founder of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, is accused of the shotgun slaying of Harvey, his brother-in-law last May 4. Bowles pleaded innocent.

Mitchell said he and Harvey were sitting on a swing on the front porch of the Harvey home in Loeb, planning a fishing trip, when Bowles and his wife drove up in a car.

He said Bowles got out of his car with a shotgun, walked around the front of his car and said:

"All right, Earl, come out here. I'm not going to shoot. I want you to throw your knife down. I'm going to whip you."

Mitchell said Bowles turned to him and said: "Jim, get out of the way."

"I didn't break and run, but I did get into the house in about two steps," the witness said.

His remark drew laughter from spectators, and Bowles, who had been following testimony closely as he sat at the defense table.

Mitchell said that as he went through the door he heard a shot and saw Harvey stagger and fall about two or three feet from the swing.

The witness said that he was trying to comfort Mrs. Harvey inside the house when Bowles called to him, "Jim, go on out and raise his head out of the blood."

He did as Bowles directed, Mitchell said, and saw that Harvey was dead.

Prison Term Climaxes 14 Years With French Wife

VERDON, France (AP) — An Army court-martial today sentenced Wayne Powers, the GI who hid out for 14 years with his French common-law wife, to 10 years in prison after he pleaded guilty to a charge of wartime desertion.

The 37-year-old father of five shook his bald head in disbelief as the sentence was read.

The sentence now goes to Brig. Gen. Robert J. Fleming, the area commander, who could reduce it considerably. It was believed Powers pleaded guilty under a pretrial agreement providing for a light sentence.

Powers himself said before the trial started that if everything went the way it should, he would be back home in a month or two. He is a native of Chillicothe, Mo., but home is the village of Mont d'Origny, near the Belgian border, where he lived with his five children and their French mother, Yvette Beleuse.

The defense attorneys — Lt. James Singleton, Detroit, and Lt. Leon Avakian, Newton, Mass. — also expressed belief before the trial started that Powers would get off with a light sentence. The maximum penalty is death.

Powers' strange tale started in 1944, when he was 23 and a private first class driving a truck with the Army in France. His truck disappeared and he faced court-martial.

Powers escaped from the Army stockade and went for help and solace to Yvette, whom he had met before.

They settled down together without marrying. (Powers had a wife in Missouri who later divorced him for desertion). Yvette went out to work in a textile mill to support their growing family; Powers stayed home to do the housework.

He ventured out only at night. When the doorbell rang, he ran to a cramped hiding place under a stairway with a false step.

The villagers saw almost nothing of Powers but kept close track of each new baby with an English name—Dorothy, Tilly, Douglas, Harry and Freddy.

The neighbors maintained a close-mouthed silence in the presence of outsiders, But Powers was his own undoing last March.

Regional gendarmes investigating a traffic accident in front of the house noticed Powers peeping through the front window curtains. They questioned him as the only witness, and his furtive behavior aroused suspicion.

Investigation turned up evidence that he was sought as a deserter. On March 22 he was taken and handed in to a U, S. Army prison.

Powers became a cause celebre in France, which overflows with sympathy for affairs of the heart.

Why did he do it?

Powers said after his arrest: "I was afraid of the result if I turned myself over to the embassy. I was scared for the children. I was waiting for—I don't know exactly what."

False Accident Call Not Funny, Officers Say

Sheriff's officers, the highway patrol and ambulance drivers are unhappy at some unknown practical joker who was responsible for their having to make a late night run endeavoring to locate a non-existent accident.

Deputy Sheriff E. W. York said someone, calling from a public phone downtown, reported a three-car accident about a mile east of the Cosden refinery Friday morning. There were, the mysterious informant stated, "bodies laying all over the paving." The call came in at 1 a.m. York, Kel Davis, patrol officer, and the ambulance driver from Nalley-Pickle sped to the scene of the reported tragedy. They found nothing.

The officers checked all the way to Coahoma and stopped travellers going west to ask if an accident had been noticed beyond Coahoma to Colorado City. There was no confirmation.

The officers endeavored to find the prankster who had made the report but were unsuccessful.

They said grimly that it would not be well for the joker if he could be identified. There are laws, they explained, about circulating false reports. They pointed out that such reports could have serious results.

Former T&P Worker Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Joseph A. Yarbrough, former resident of Big Spring, who passed away in the Marshall T&P Hospital earlier this week following a long illness.

Mr. Yarbrough succumbed to cancer. He was about 80 years of age.

Mr. Yarbrough, who was living in Fort Worth at the time of his death, worked in the Texas and Pacific shops while a resident here.

Funeral services are scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday at the Crowder Funeral Home in Fort Worth.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, include three sons, Milton of San Antonio; Harold, Fort Worth; and Don, Marshall.

Kiwanians Hear Convention Report From President

Kiwanis International will have its 1959 convention in Dallas and President Jack Alexander of the Big Spring Kiwanis club said he was launching a campaign now to have a large delegation from this city at the big meeting.

He was reporting Thursday to the club here on his experiences and observations at the recent international meeting of the club in Chicago.

The Kiwanians celebrated "ladies day" at their Thursday meeting. It is the custom of the organization to have wives of members as guests on each fifth Thursday in any month. More than a score of wives were in attendance.

Music formed the principal feature of the program for the day. Walter Wheat, baritone, made a hit with two renditions—especially popular was "Some Enchanted Evening." Mrs. Carol Belton sang two numbers and her version of "Italian Street Song" drew generous applause.

Announcement was made that the directors of the club would meet on Tuesday night of next week at the Wagon Wheel and Alexander urged that all directors make a special effort to be present.

Assault Suspect Is Released On Bond

Joe Villa, 21, of 508 NW 6th, has been charged with aggravated assault in a complaint filed by John Richard Coffee, county attorney, in the justice court of Walter Grice.

Villa is alleged to have made an unsuccessful attempt to criminally assault a 17-year-old Latin American girl at 11 p.m. on Wednesday night. Officers said she had identified the man.

Villa was released from custody Friday morning when he posted $1,000 bond.

4-H Boys Leave On Vacation Trip

Nineteen Howard County 4-H Club boys and three adults are enjoying a short vacation at the A&M Summer Camp on the Llano River near Junction.

The boys left Thursday and will return to Big Spring Saturday night. Accompanying them were Assistant County Agent Bill Sims and two adult leaders, M. H. Boatler and Ray Ritchie.

The trip is strictly for recreational purposes, according to the county agent's office. The members have their choice of such sports as canoeing, fishing, swimming and boating.

Yarborough Eyes Conventions Fight

AUSTIN (AP)—U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, warhorse of Texas' liberal Democrats, served notice yesterday that he was "looking forward" to the Sept. 9 state convention.

Since nomination to a full term in the U.S Senate last Saturday, Yarborough has taken up an active role in the long and bitter party fight.

There has been considerable speculation that Yarborough might lead the liberal legions against Gov. Price Daniel's conservatives at the San Antonio state convention.

"I hope that Texas has seen the last of the outrageous convention steals," Yarborough said in a statement made in Washington but released here. "I have fought governmental corruption and party perfidy for six long hard years, I have no intention of quitting a fight for principle because it might be easier to be lazy. Good government is not won by indolence or by following the easy course.

"At the state convention in San Antonio, we are going to have an honest count and the majority is going to rule on Sept. 9," he said. "My hope that the county conventions next Saturday will send Democrats to the state convention who are uninstructed—delegates who are sincere, devoted and dedicated Democrats.

"If they do," Yarborough said, "it will be a people's convention in San Antonio, and I am looking forward to it."

The Yarborough statement followed by a few minutes one from Daniel in which the governor urged all precinct delegates to attend county conventions "in order to preserve the victories at the grass roots and win the State Democratic Convention."

Daniel has predicted that the Democrats Of Texas (DOT), which claims leadership of Texas liberal Democrats, will not win more than 10 counties Saturday. He also predicted that the majority would carry the San Antonio convention by more than the 61 per cent vote by which he was nominated for governor a second time.

DOT leaders also claimed victory in the precinct conventions and predicted success again at the county meetings.

Yarborough predicted, "The Democratic party will be returned to the people of Texas on Sept. 9 at the state convention in San Antonio.

"There has been much talk by some officials about how they are going to control the convention," he said. "All Texas Democrats should reject any leader who attempts to set himself up as a political boss."

Daniel plans to be in Liberty Saturday and attend the county convention as a delegate from his home precinct

Yarborough is due back in Texas in time for a speaking engagement Sunday morning.

Heavyweight Baby

Mrs. Clayton Coleman of Cahokia, Ill., holds her new son, who weighed 13 pounds and 13 ounces at birth, a record for St. Mary's hospital in St. Louis. The mother, 26, is 5 feet and 10 inches tall and weighs 170.

Breakthrough In MissileryAnnounced

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A major breakthrough in missilery was announced today by Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division.

The development: an all-inertial guidance system —months, perhaps years, sooner than the Air Force had hoped.

The Air Force has been using radio-controlled inertial guidance systems for its missiles. All-inertial guidance frees missiles from any need for control from the ground, with these big advantages:

1. Such missiles cannot be "jammed" by enemy radio and radar and thus diverted from their target.

2. Missile bases using the all-inertial guidance system can be dispersed easily and hidden from enemy detection. Underground bases will not be betrayed by the presence of antennae.

3. Millions or even billions of dollars can be saved through construction of less-elaborate ground facilities.

4. Space ships, the big brothers of today's missiles, will be able to guide themselves far beyond the range of radio and radar. Up to now, space-trip plans have been limited to Mars and Venus because radio guidance needed to keep space ships oriented with earth will not reach much farther. The new breakthrough means a space ship can use any object in the heavens as an orientation point.

What is inertial guidance?

It's a system of controlling the direction of a missile or rocket which uses gyro stabilizers similar to the spinning toys familiar to children since World War I. Start the gyro whirling and it remains stable no matter how you hold it or toss it around.

A series of such gyros is used in inertial guidance systems. In radio-controlled systems, variations in speed and direction are corrected by sending signals to the missile. The all-inertial missile carries its own computer which automatically makes the changes needed to keep the missile on course.

The all-inertial system has already proven a success in laboratory and rocket sled tests. Flight tests are expected to begin next year.

Good Excuse

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Miss Ella M. Green cast an absentee ballot yesterday in next Tuesday's Michigan primary election although she isn't going to be out of town.

Miss Green planned to ride to her voting place Tuesday but when the deal fell through she caught a ride to the City Hall.

City officials said an excuse about a ride would not apply to all voters, but they let Miss Green cast an absentee ballot because she is 100 years old.

Man Sought In Teen-Ager's Death

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (AP) — Police continued the search today for a man who checked in at a motel here with a Houston youth but was missing when the teen-ager's body was discovered.

Undersheriff Clark Cole, who identified the body as that of Jan Tyler Bowman, 19, of Houston, said Bowman apparently died in convulsions.

The body was found, dressed only in jeans and socks, lying face down on a bed. A pilow had been chewed and the youth's tongue was cut.

The motel staff said an unidentified man had shared the room with Bowman, both checking in at the same time Wednesday night and arriving in the same automobile.

Williams is a roadside community in northern Arizona.

General Dies

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Henry Tass Burgin, 76, retired veteran officer of World War I and II and until his retirement in 1947 commander of the Central Pacific Base Command, died Thursday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was born in North Middleton, Ky.

Dead Recruit's Father Quotes General On Training Promise

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP)—The commanding general of this Army infantry base was quoted by a dead recruit's father today as saying that trainees no longer would be given medical shots and then sent out to drill in hot weather.

Hobart L. Brinsmade of Bronxville, N.Y., said his son Hobart Jr., 21, died after being given booster shots for typhoid fever Wednesday and then being made to drill for 3½ hours in the sun.

Young Brinsmade, only two weeks in the Army, played right tackle for Princeton's football team in 1956 and 1957. He stood 6-3 and weighed 230 pounds.

The father said he talked with the Ft. Jackson commander, Brig. Gen. Christian Clarke, about the incident and that he was "most sympathetic."

"The general assured me," Brinsmade said, "that the idea of giving the shots and then sending the boys out to drill right away would be discontinued in hot weather."

Young Brinsmade died last night in the base hospital.

"I don't blame anyone," the father said, "but it does seem funny that this should happen to such a strong boy.

"I hope my son's death puts an end to that crazy Army business of giving a boy booster shots and then having him drill under a hot sun."

Earlier, Clarke issued an order calling for less strenuous drill activity during the hot weather. Temperatures the past few days have hovered near 100 degrees.

Brinsmade, his wife and a daughter rushed to the boy's bedside after they were notified of his collapse. He said the youth never regained consciousness.

Davis L. Drake of Baltimore, another trainee, also collapsed from the heat Wednesday. He was in serious condition at the hospital.

A base spokesman said that both Brinsmade and Drake collapsed after duty hours.

53 Hurt When Cars Leave Rails

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A speeding cross-country streamliner suddenly began to rock and sway and in a matter of moments 11 cars careened off the rails, injuring 53 of its 497 passengers.

The last six cars of the Milwaukee Road Olympian Hiawatha whiplashed off the tracks and slid down a 20-foot embankment as the train raced into southern Milwaukee County at 90 miles an hour Thursday. About 1,000 feet ahead, the diesel-powered engine ground to a stop, five more cars tilting off the rails. All the cars remained upright.

Authorities said most of the injuries were minor.

The train was bound from Chicago to Seattle, Wash.

Cause of the wreck was undetermined.

Womack To Attend Evangelism School

The Rev. Royce Womack, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, and Mrs. Womack plan to leave Sunday afternoon for Fayetteville, Ark. where they will attend a School of Evangelism. The four-day session will close Thursday.

Baptist Pastors To Trade Pulpits, Church Of Christ To Hear Morrow

Several Baptist pastors will be involved in an exchange of pulpits and substitute preaching in local churches Sunday.

And Bobby Morrow, Olympic champion who recently turned down an opportunity to go to Moscow to run track, will come to Big Spring to preach at two services Sunday in the Church of Christ at 14th and Main.

The Baptist shuffle will involve the Revs. Ernest D. Stewart Jr., W. A. James, Rudy Sullivan, James Gammon and Dr. P. D. O'Brien.

The Rev. Stewart, E. 4th St. Baptist pastor, will preach at the First Baptist Church at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, substituting for Dr. O'Brien who will be out of town. At 11 a.m., the Rev. Stewart will move to Airport Baptist Church where he will open a week-long series of revival services.

The Rev. W. A. James will fill the Rev. Stewart's pulpit at the E. 4th Baptist.

Substituting for Dr. O'Brien at 11 a.m. will be the Rev. Sullivan of the Prairie View Baptist Church. And the Rev. Gammon, supply preacher, will speak at the First Baptist Church Sunday night.

Morrow, a spring graduate of Abilene Christian College, will preach at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the local Church of Christ. He delivered his first formal sermons last weekend at Fort Worth. He was a three-medal winner in track events at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, and is co-holder of the world's record for the 100-yard dash.

Other guest speakers in local churches Sunday will include the Rev. James McNeese Sunday evening at the Galveston St. Church of God and the Rev. C. W. Parmenter, former Wesley Methodist pastor who will return to the church Sunday evening to substitute for the Rev. Royce Womack, present pastor.

Here is the complete church calendar for Big Spring Sunday:

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Sermon topics announced by the Rev. S. E. Eldridge for First Assembly of God are "Who Are the Believers?" and "Spiritual Losses."

BAPTIST

The Airport Baptist Church will begin an open air meeting Sunday, with the Rev. Ernest D. Stewart Jr., pastor of East Fourth Baptist Church, doing the preaching. Stewart's pulpit Sunday will be filled by the Rev. W. A. James, pastor of Airport Church. Worship services are planned for the latter church daily this week, at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

At Hillcrest Baptist Church, the Rev. H. L. Bingham is to preach on "Repentance" and "The Next Voice You Hear Will Be God."

In the absence of Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who is to hold a revival elsewhere, the First Baptist congregation will hear three ministers Sunday. At the 8:45 a.m. worship hour, the Rev. Ernest D. Stewart Jr. will be in the pulpit. The Rev. Rudy Sullivan of Prairie View is to preach at 11 a.m., and the evening worship will be led by the Rev. James Gammon.

The Rev. D. R. Philley, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will bring messages on "No Excuse for Sin," John 15:22, and "Religion and Backbone," Matt. 10:32-33.

Sermon topics announced by the Rev. H. W. Bartlett for College Baptist Church are "Do All Things Really Work Together for God?" Rom. 8:28, and "Prayer." The evening message is one of a series on God's Things of Power. Every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. members of the church are surveying the Bible. The study next week will center on Exodus 15-40.

How strength and freedom are gained through understanding God, divine Love, will be a topic dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

One of the selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" is this from Matthew: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people." (4:23).

Guarding Our Freedoms

CHRIST SAID TO ABIDE BY HIS WORD AND KNOW THE TRUTH FOR IT WILL MAKE US FREE

Scripture—Amos 7:10-17; John 8:31-38; Acts 4:15-20; 5:27-32; Galatians 3:23-28; 5:1-25; Colossians 4:1; 2-9 Philemon.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON is principally concerned with the matter of freedom, a word we hear frequently discussed today. In our country freedom is an ideal, as shown in the second sentence of our Declaration of Independence. It would be interesting to see how many of the pupils who have studied this document in history classes can recite it: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness."

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt said that our country looked forward to a world founded upon four essential freedoms: freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom from want, and freedom from fear.

MEMORY VERSE

"If ye continue in My word, then ye are My disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:31-32.

Millions of people in the world do not have freedom from want. There is no freedom of speech in the Communist countries, and freedom from fear only Christ can give.

Freedom of speech must necessarily be restricted in a sense. No man or woman has the right to speak libelously of another, or to exhort others to overthrow our government or to give away secrets that he may possess because of employment in technical government work. I am quoting in part from the words of Dr. Wilbur M. Smith as given in his notes on this lesson.

Briefly we must call attention to the dramatic incidents assigned in our lesson. Amos, who prophesied about 785 B.C., tried to warn King Jeroboam that his death was near, and that the children of Israel were in danger of captivity. Amaziah the priest informed the king of these prophesies, then told Amos he should leave his native land and prophesy in the land of Judah.—Amos 7:11, 12.

Amos was not conspiring against this wicked king—just warning him—and he was not silenced by the rebuke.

Christ's words to "those Jews which believed on Him," were: "If ye continue in My word, then are ye My disciples indeed; And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Jesus shows us the way to be free. We cannot be free if we do not follow His example, if we are unkind, unjust, hurting others, or criminal in our actions. Conscience will keep us in bondage.

The apostles Peter and John, who healed a lame beggar, were arrested and brought before the temple Sanhedrin or council. Peter began to preach Christ, and while the two were set free, they were commanded that they must not preach Jesus. They refused to obey, saying that they must listen to the voice of God, not of men, for those devoted to Christ must proclaim the truth in spite of opposition, as did these men.

The teachers should read and study the noble words of Paul in Galatians and Colossians, and, if there is time in the classroom period, convey to the classes what lessons they teach. In the story of Onesimus, this former slave who is dearly loved by Paul as his co-worker and brother in Christ, is sent by Paul to his former master, Philemon, from whom Onesimus had fled. Paul asks that Philemon welcome him as his brother, and asks forgiveness of Philemon for both himself and the former slave.

The Beginning...

It was a beautiful summer day and the willows hung in a pale green fringe above the water, and Bill and I were very young, and very much in love.

But there seemed to be so many obstacles in our path. Bill wanted to be a doctor, and it took such a long time. I was to go away to Teachers' College in the fall. We began to feel depressed.

Then it occurred to us to ask the advice of Mr. Thornton, our new minister. He hadn't been at our church very long and he was young for the responsibilities he had assumed. But as we sat in his office, I knew right away that here was someone who could help us face our problems.

Well, I can't say his advice made us happy. He said that Bill should go on with his education and I with mine, and that God would give us courage.

Time proved him right. I told him that, the day he married us. Ten years have passed since then. But on that Sunday afternoon, Mr. Thornton truly put the Church into our lives. We're never going to take it out.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BRAVES HOST GIANTS IN NL HEADLINER

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The most important series of the National League season, beginning tonight, finds the first-place Milwaukee Braves up and ready and the second-place San Francisco Giants down and totally unprepared.

Events during the past two nights altered the pennant picture completely. Wednesday the Giants were sitting on top, a full game in front of the Braves after one of their typical Frank Merriwell finishes while the Braves were being slapped down by their nemesis the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Today, it is the Braves who are a full game in front, after winning two in a row against Los Angeles while the Giants were blowing two big ones to Cincinnati.

Last night's Giant loss to the Redlegs was a crusher. They led 6-0 after four innings and 9-4 after 7½. Cincinnati, however, rallied for five runs in the eighth and won 10-9 on pinch hitter Pete Whisenant's single with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth.

Milwaukee, encouraged by Warren Spahn's first victory over the Dodgers in seven years Wednesday night, followed with a 4-1 triumph yesterday to capture their first series of the year against Los Angeles. Young Juan Pizarro went the distance, hurling a four-hitter.

Philadelphia won its third straight from St. Louis 4-1, and moved past the Cardinals into sixth place. The Chicago Cubs defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 in a game halted after eight innings by rain.

The Giants, paced by Leon Wagner's two home runs and one by Willie Kirkland, appeared to have the game safely stashed away as the Reds came to bat in the eighth trailing 9-4. But pinch hitter Walt Dropo's two-run homer and run-scoring singles by Jerry Lynch, Ed Bailey and Don Hoak tied the score. In the ninth, singles by Johnny Temple and Dee Fondy and a walk to Frank Robinson preceded Whisenant's game-winning hit.

The Braves rallied for three runs in the eighth against Stan Williams to snap a 1-1 tie with Los Angeles. Joe Adcock, Wes Covington and Johnny Logan drove in the runs. Henry Aaron got Milwaukee's first run, homering off starter Johnny Podres in the fourth.

Ernie Banks hit his 29th home run for Chicago, but it took a Pittsburgh error and a wild pitch, following Bobby Thomson's eighth inning single, to bring home the tie-breaking run. The four-bagger gave Banks the National League lead and tied him with Boston's Jackie Jensen for the major league leadership.

Jim Hearn, making his first start since July 20, 1957, held the Cardinals to five hits until the eighth when he needed help from Dick Farrell to hang up his second triumph of the year. Harry Anderson walloped his 15th homer of the year in the first inning, off Larry Jackson, to give the Phils a lead they never relinquished.

Painters Win Two At Grady

GRADY (SC) — Nabors Paint Store of Big Spring twice felled the Tarzan Marketing Association team in softball exhibitions here Thursday evening, 5-2 and 4-2.

The Painters trailed in the first game until the last inning, 2-1, until Donald Hale drove out a single with the bases loaded, scoring two runs.

Cotton Mize hurled the win, giving up six hits.

Billy Bluhm was the winning pitcher in the second game, although he was relieved by Mize in the final inning. Mize came in with the bases loaded and no one out, then proceeded to retire the side on strikes.

Paul Fortenberry and D. A. Miller each clubbed a home run for Big Spring in the second game. Each came with a runner on base.

THURSDAY NIGHT Morrison Winner Of Fun Club Title

By BOBBY HORTON

Kate Morrison won nine first places in 26 YMCA Club Fun Club Olympic Games' events staged at Steer Stadium last night, in scoring 66 points for the team championship of the third annual show.

Washington Place was second with 59 points—it missed a chance to win by failing to score in any of the last five events — and Lakeview was third-place winner with 55 points. Decision of victory in the games came with Kate Morrison's three firsts in the final five contests.

Other scoring in the multi-contest games: Junior High 32, Westside 18 and North Ward 16.

A slim crowd of parents persisted in a bothersome sprinkle of rain to observe the throng of youngsters on the stadium's thick flooring of grass.

Preston Johnson of Lakeview had the distinction of winning the night's first event, the 75-yard dash, which he ran in 9.8 seconds. The first girl winner was Sue Burns of Washington Place who outsprinted the field in the 50-yard dash, 7.3 seconds.

Ribbons were presented to contest winners, first-second-third, by R. H. Weaver.

Weaver also gave outstanding members of the Fun Clubs certificates of honor in the games' highlight. Recipients were Tippy Miller, Washington, Jerry Lee Price, Junior High, Harvey Cochnauer, N. STANTON—Plans are complete for the All Star baseball games between the boys of Little League age from Stanton and Odessa.

The first game is to be played in Stanton, Thursday night, August 7.

A second game will be played in Odessa the following night.

If the third game is needed in this two out of three series, the place will be determined by the flip of a coin.

Managers of the four local teams each selected five players. All Star manager James Farris of Stanton will pick his team from the following boys: Donny Polson, Dennis Polson, Bobby Holland, Miles Hall, Jerry Ross, Norman Graves, James Lewis, Jimmy Wilkerson, Rodney Payne, Joe Gibson, Ronnie Driggers, Buddy Shanks, Tommy Shanks, Darr Huckaby, Bradley Evans, Clinton Miller, Larry Fulbright, Darrell Brantley, David Farris and Wesley Womack.

The Stanton Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Bob Haislip to serve this season as president of the summer baseball program for the boys of Little League age.

Around 60 boys have been playing on the four local teams during the summer season just finished. The teams are identified by the color of their caps.

Hershel Gibson is manager of the Blue Caps. B. Q. Evans is boss of the Red Caps, James Farris is skipper of the Gold Caps and Allen Hopper pilots the Green Caps.

Each team played 15 games. The championship was won by the Green Caps but was not won until the last night of play.

Linksters Aim For The Pins

CHICAGO (AP) — Rain was never more welcomed by top-drawer golfing pros than it has been at the Gleneagles public fee course, scene of the $50,000 Chicago Open.

A downpour yesterday washed out the first round, delaying the meet a day all down the line. The start was set back until today with the weatherman promising clearing skies, and the 72-hole finish was pushed to Monday.

"With the tilting greens well soaked, we can go for the pins, at least the first day," said Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex.

"It means we can play our approaches the way we want, picking our spots on the greens and knowing our shots will stick," he said. "It's no longer a pitch and roll prayer. We thought the greens would murder us, but now maybe we can murder them, until they get dried out, anyway."

The $9,000 first prize is expected to go to the pro with the best putting touch. In this respect, Art Wall Jr. has become one of the prime favorites.

"I've played the greatest golf of my career in the last month," said the 34-year-old pro representing Pocono Manor, Pa. "And that old putter of mine is working as good as ever."

Team Five Keeps Loop Leadership

Team Five retained its hold on first place in the Thursday Afternoon Matinee Bowling league at Clover Bowl yesterday by drubbing Team Three, 4-0.

In other matches, Team Six won over Team Two and Team Four nudged Team One, both by 4-0 margins.

Team Six posted the top scores, 654-1649. Team Four was close, with 568-1567.

Jean Buchanan of Team Six had 195-475 for the top individual effort. Kathy John of Team Six came in with a 176 game while Jo Ann O'Daniel of Team Five registered a 432.

Splits were converted by:

Naomi Lucas, Team Four, 3-10; Marie Pate, Team Four, 3-10; Kathy John, Team Six, 5-7; Ruth Nichols, Team Two, 3-10; Delores Munch, Team Five, 2-7; Fannie Woodson, Team Three, 2-7; and Jean Cauble, Team Five, 3-10.

Carolina Golf Stars Clash

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Carolina's rampaging teen-aged golfers were beginning to run out of outside opponents today and had to start picking on each other.

After three rounds of the USGA Junior National Tournament at the University of Minnesota course, the match play boxscore for the two Carolina's original five entries read 14 victories and 1 defeat.

Four of the contingent remain among the 16 survivors.

The black day comes today for one of the North Carolinians. George Fookes of Concord, shooting 3-under-par for the first three rounds, clashes with George Smith of New Bern, who is 3 over.

Billy Womack and Gordon Baker of Florence, S. C. are in separate brackets in today's fourth round.

By the end of the day's two-round firing over the par 35-36—71 course only four will be left. Despite their uniformly topnotch showing, the Carolina foursome was not especially favored to land even one man in the quarterfinals.

Thoroughbreds Take Over At Ruidoso On Saturday

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — The Thorobreds reign supreme at the 'Downs' as the runners take over both the feature and the co-feature Saturday.

The feature — eleventh on the card—is sponsored by the "Ruidoso Bar."

Hana Chief, belonging to Roy Gaines of Sinton, Tex., was last year's Futurity winner and figures the favorite. She has won two here, equalling the Track Record her last out, going seven furlongs in 1:26.

Mesa H. is a consistent kind of a horse who is always close and must be considered while Carolos is making his first appearance at this course and may need an out.

Dream Mint ran a fast closing second her last out and the added distance may prove advantageous for her. Dust Bowl is a good three-year-old going up against older horses. Past Master has yet to run his best race here while The Box has a lot of speed. Bold Slip has been winning in easier competition.

Co-featured as tenth on the program is a six-furlong Allowance with Tall Beauty, representing the Echo Ranch Stables of Woodland Hills, Calif., shaping up the probable favorite. She is a good three-year-old in good form.

By Ganny was closing well in a shorter race recently and the added distance will be to her liking. Miracle Creek was a long shot winner here whose works show him to be in fine form.

Tray Bar is a three-year-old who has yet to run a bad race. Spring Dawn is a two-time winner here and Fleet Sis has a lot of speed. Miss Noble, Twoajax, Fair Queen and Floy's Delight appear to be the outsiders.

Tom Courtney Says He'll Quit Track

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Tom Courtney, Olympic champion and world record holder, said today he's retiring from track competition.

"There's no doubt in my mind this is my last season," the former Fordham ace said as he joined with his American teammates in the first of the two-day meet against Poland's best men and women runners and jumpers.

"I just can't get excited about running anymore, he said. "When that happens I figure it is time to quit. I would like another try at the 800-meter record, though.

Courtney will run the 800 Saturday against two Poles and an American, all of whom have broken 1:50 for the distance. The Olympic 800-meter champion's best time is 1:45.8, one-tenth of a second slower than the record held by Roger Moens of Belgium.

The speedy American set the world half-mile record of 1:46.8 last year. The half-mile is five yards, four inches longer than 800 meters.

"It would have gone for a record in Moscow if the track had not been so heavy," he added. "If the track feels good here Saturday, I'll try. If not, I'll wait until the meet in Budapest and Athens. I hear that the track in Hungary is very fast."

Courtney had hoped to return to his Livingston, N. J. home after the meet against Russia.

"There is a job waiting for me soon as I get back but I'm afraid I can't take it now," he said. "My final year at Harvard Business School begins in September and I am looking forward to some on-the-job experience before returning."

Courtney, naturally, is favored in the 800 as are the American men in the meet. The men figure to outscore the Poles by about 25 points even though Parry O'Brien, world champion shot putter, is not up to par physically.

The American women, who showed great strength against the Russians at Moscow last Sunday and Monday, rate a strong chance to turn back the Polish women but their dual meet should be close.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Bob Addie, the Washington, D.C., writer, says Cookie Lavagetto, manager of the nation capital's big league baseball club, thinks highly of Ossie Alvarez, the Cuban infielder with the perpetual grin, who now is playing shortstop for the Senators.

According to Lavagetto (quoting Addie), Alvarez could be another Luis Aparicio, the South American who made good with the Chicago White Sox.

"I just wish I had him in spring training," Lavagetto stated. "He has all the tools to be a great shortstop and he's hitting a lot better than I expected."

Patrons of the sport around here have been saying Ossie was big-league timber for years. Alvarez is one of the two or three most popular players ever to wear local flannels. He has a lot of talent wrapped up in that slight frame and he always gives you 110 per cent, of his talents, even though his team might be 20 runs behind.

If Cookie will only turn him loose on the base paths, he'll become recognized as the American league's Willie Mays, too.

COSDEN WINS TOURNEY DEBUT AT SAN ANGELO

SAN ANGELO (SC)—Cosden of Big Spring made a flying start in the San Angelo Invitational Softball tournament here Thursday night, drubbing Salvato Drug of San Angelo by a score of 8-0.

Troy Wetsel, on the mound for Cosden, set the Druggists down with a solitary hit and fanned 15. The only blow he surrendered was a second inning one-baser by shortstop Lambert.

The Oilers struck for three runs in the first inning, three more in the second and a solitary run in the third.

Every player in Cosden's starting lineup but Buck Drake hit safely at least once and Drake retired to the bench in the fourth inning.

Ted Gross, manager of the team, drove out three singles while Billy Paul Thomas had two of Big Spring's 12 blows.

Spot Cockrell and James Tidwell had triples for the winners while Gene Gross chipped in with a double.

Cosden returns to action at 8:30 p.m. tonight, tangling with the winner in the Smith Drive In-Sterling City engagement. Those two clubs were to have played late last night.

The tournament will be concluded with a 10 p.m. engagement Saturday.

Lary Handcuffs Boston Red Sox

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Frank Lary, Detroit's daring right-hander, does it the hard way. He wins only from the top teams and loses only to the bottom clubs. It's not quite like that, but almost.

Look at the record. Lary has won 10 games and lost the same number. Five victories have come against the American League-leading New York Yankees, who have beaten him only once. Three triumphs have come at the expense of the second-place Boston Red Sox, who have not beaten him at all.

That leaves Lary with a record of 2-9 against the five other also-rans, none of which can boast a .500 won-lost record.

Lary permitted the Red Sox only four hits yesterday to win a 3-2 hurling duel from rookie Bill Monbouquette. A disputed eighth inning double by Frank Bolling, which drove in Billy Martin with the winning run, gave him his 10th victory.

The Yankees avenged two straight losses to Kansas City, flattening the A's 8-3 behind the pitching of winner Duke Mass and Johnny Kucks. Rain forced the postponement of scheduled games between Baltimore and Cleveland as well as Washington and Chicago.

In the National League, Milwaukee defeated Los Angeles 4-1, Cincinnati came from behind to nip San Francisco 10-9, Chicago topped Pittsburgh 5-4 and Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 4-3.

The Yankees manhandled five Kansas City hurlers for 13 hits, with everybody but the pitchers participating in the attack. Gil McDougald had a pair of doubles and Elston Howard and Norm Siebern had one each. Siebern drove in three runs and Howard two.

Roger Maris drove in all Kansas City's runs with a three-run homer in the sixth. Kucks replaced Maas at this point and held the losers scoreless the rest of the way. Jack Urban, now 7-7, was the loser.

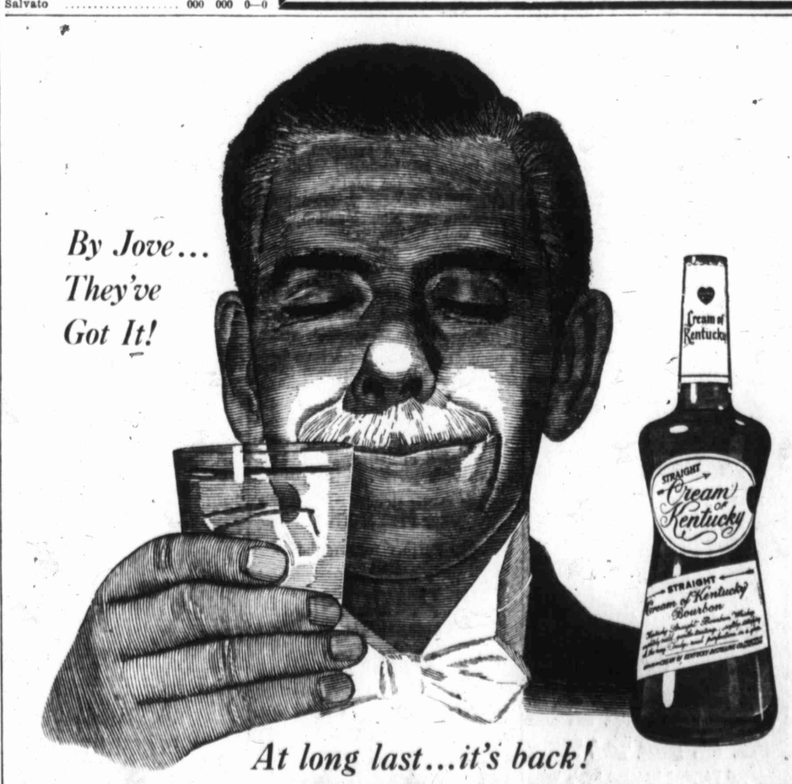

Luppino Gives Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Halfback Art Luppino, who led the nation's collegiate scorers at the University of Arizona last fall, has abandoned hopes of being a pro gridder.

Chamber Meet

ORANGE (AP) — The 21st annual convention of the Texas Negro Chamber of Commerce is scheduled Sunday and Monday at Texas Southern University in Houston. Planned organization of a Louisiana chapter is one of the most important topics on the agenda, Solomon Johnson, president of organization from Orange, said.

Elbow Church Will Open Revival Sunday

The Central Baptist Church at Elbow, whose pastor is the Rev. Mack Alexander, will launch a week-long revival Monday.

Evangelist will be the Rev. L. L. Garner, Forsan Baptist pastor. Gordon Williams, of Airport Baptist Church, will lead the singing.

Daily prayer meetings are set for 7:30 p.m. with preaching to begin at 8 o'clock.

Lifeguards Herd Whale Back To Sea

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Lifeguards Victor Higgins and Bill Blackburn can prove quite discouraging to a whale.

When a 35-foot whale swam through the breakwater Thursday and headed for the beach, the lifeguards roared out in a speedboat. Every time the whale surfaced to spout they whizzed by him so the wash from the boat would slap against him.

By repeating the maneuver a dozen times they herded the whale back out through the breakwater into the open ocean.

Bank Ignores Bomb Hoax

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' third bomb hoax in two weeks received scant notice yesterday at a bank in suburban Oak Cliff.

"We felt all along it was a hoax," said vice president C. D. Shoecraft. "Our security has the bank under watch at all times and nothing had occurred earlier to make us suspicious."

Police searched the building almost unnoticed after two male telephone callers told Mrs. Helene Joyce Coston, switchboard operator, that a bomb would explode in the bank "in 20 minutes."

About two weeks ago, a youth told a telephone operator, that an American Airlines plane had a bomb aboard. A week later another youth said a bomb had been placed in a local high school. In both instances, the telephone operator "froze" the call and called police, resulting in arrests.

DEAR ABBY

TO SERVICE MOMS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Thank goodness I don't have any problems as serious as those I read about in your column, but I do have a little problem that maybe your readers could help me out with. Our son is serving in Korea and he has asked me to send him something good to eat, like cookies, candy or fruitcake. What can I send that will arrive in good condition that he and his buddies will enjoy? How should I wrap it to be sure it will be fit to eat when it gets there? This may sound like a small problem but it is big to a mother with a son in service. MOM

DEAR MOM: If there are any mothers out there who know what can be sent to a boy overseas (and how to wrap it) I hope they will contact this column. It would be a pleasure to pass the recipes and hints for wrapping on to you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: That letter from Pearl the Squirrel caused me to blow a fuse. I am a happy bachelor, aged 50, who has a beautiful apartment, brand new car, a bank roll and my mamma does my cooking. Honest, Abby, what discriminating bachelor wants a WIDOW anyway? No second-hand goods for me!

BACHELOR BOY

DEAR BACHELOR: And pray tell where are you going to find a blushing maiden on whom no man's hand has ever set foot who'd want a 50-year-old bachelor boy?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: If a fellow gives a girl a very expensive diamond ring for an engagement, should HE pay for insuring it or should she? This is creating quite a big problem in my family and I want some outside opinions.

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: Any boy who can afford a very expensive diamond should be able to insure it. There is no good reason why the girl (or her father) should assume the expense of insuring her engagement ring.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Each year around this time we are swamped with announcements of graduations, confirmations and weddings. Some are invitations to attend these affairs, but what do you think of the ANNOUNCEMENTS telling you the affair took place? It looks like they are asking you for a present. My husband and I have to ask each other if we even know some of these people. Do you think we should ignore the announcements or should we send a gift?

MRS. D.S.

DEAR MRS. D. S.: If you aren't sure you "know" these people who send you announcements, just send them a note of congratulations. The best rule to follow is to give a gift only when you sincerely WANT to.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PUZZLED: Don't let Julia fool ya! No nice girl has three dates in one evening.

* * *

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Deadline Is Set For Gasoline Tax Refund Claims

Farmers are urged to take advantage of the special provision in the Federal excise tax law which permits them to claim a refund of 3 cents a gallon federal tax paid on gasoline used as fuel in their farming operations.

Ben Hawkins, administrative officer for the Internal Revenue service here, warned that claims for such refunds should be filed before Sept. 30 for the period extending July 1, 1957, through June 30, 1958.

Hawkins said that a pamphlet identified as Publication No. 308 is available at his office and that information about the refund and how to properly claim it is detailed in this book. He suggested that farmers obtain a copy.

Forms 2240 used for making claims for the refunds are also on hand at his office. The county agent will be provided with a supply of these forms, Hawkins said, and the booklets will be available at that office

Farmers who fail to file Form 2240 before Sept. 30 forfeit their chance to get the 3-cent per gallon refund due them.

Narrow Scrape

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP)—The front door of the car flew open and 6-year-old Darwin G. Brannon fell into the path of a half-ton pickup truck. Cecil R. Black, the truck driver, steered the truck over Darwin without hitting him. The boy was uninjured.
