MASKAT TRAIN IN SALT LAKE CITY FOR DAY

Fire Whistle to Announce Special's Arrival Along Line

NOBODY SLEEPING

With Train of Pullmans Nobody Thinks of Using Berths, Says Wire

ON BOARD MASKAT SPECIAL Leaving Glenwood Springs, Colo., May 27.—The towns all along the route know that Maskat Temple is en route to the imperial meeting in Los Angeles, Shriners have made their presence known by announcing their arrival, holding open the fire whistle, Wichita Falls knows so well, it having been taken from its place on the Denver round house and placed on the baggage car by Noble Jenks Mode who is with us.

A thirty minute stop was made this morning at Pueblo, Colo., allowing everyone time enough to send post cards back home. A ten minute stop was made at the hanging bridge in the Royal Gorge, while camera shutters clicked. A daily newspaper is being published on the train, giving the happenings and the program for the day.

Everybody shivered as the train crossed Tennessee Pass. An altitude of 10,250 feet with snow in every direction, and got quite a thrill watching the Arkansas river flowing in one direction and the Colorado flowing in the opposite.

The special made a two-hour stop in Glenwood Springs this afternoon where it was met at the depot by a band. A short concert was played by Maskat band and the Glenwood Springs band, after which every one was taken for a drive over the town, then a swim in the hot sulphur springs.

The next stop will be Salt Lake City arriving there in the morning and spending the entire day.

Everyone on board is enjoying the wonderful scenery and having the time of their lives, as evidence of this fact, we are traveling on an all Pullman train but nobody attempts to sleep.

Amundsen

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP) — Though almost seven days have passed without word from the Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole aerial expedition, plans for organization of relief parties in America and Norway have been halted on the advice of veteran explorers. The concensus of opinion appears to be that the fliers are in no immediate danger.

OLSO, Norway, May 28.—(AP)—The Norwegian Aeronautic association takes the view that there is no reason for supposing the Amundsen North Pole expedition has met with disaster. The association points out that Captain Amundsen's instructions to the other members of the expedition aboard the vessels Farm and Hobby were that the Polar flight might last a fortnight. He is also said to have instructed these ships to patrol along the ice edge in the event he did not return within a fortnight.

POET SCORES A HIT BEFORE BIG AUDIENCE

Douglas Malloch's Humor Cause of Continuous Laughter

An immense crowd heard Douglas Malloch, "the poet that makes living a joy," chuckle his way through an hour of talk, poetry, subtle philosophy, common sense, and rare humor, at the Junior college Thursday evening, as he told his uproarious audience the "low down" on "Husbands and Wives" with a good sprinkling of sound advice to men and maids on all phases of love.

Waves of laughter greeted the first sentence from Malloch's lips as he took the stage following his introduction by Mayor R. E. Shepherd, and the laughter continued through the evening. Standing easily before his audience, the speaker impresses one that he is just talking, "observing," rather than pulling "wise cracks" in an effort to be funny or make someone laugh. The laughter seems infectious, whether Malloch pops a series of clever statements in quick succession, or draws his story to a fine point before dropping his finishing words right where they seem the funniest. One laughs for the sheer fun of it.

Preceding Mr. Malloch's appearance, Wm. E. Young sang "Spirit of the Flowers," (Campbell-Tipton), and "The Mulitеer" with his rich and pleasing baritone voice. Mrs. F. R. Collard accompanied him at the piano. The Presbyterian Mixed Quartet, composed of Mrs. T. C. Brownell, soprano; Miss Dorothy Burks, alto; Glenn Law, tenor; and Alva Willgus, bass; appeared for the first time before local audiences singing Prindle-Scott's "The Old Road," and a catchy popular selection, "Hello Prosperity." Their work was excellent, and highly enjoyed. Mrs. O. E. Maer accompanied the quartet.

DOHENY LOSES OIL CONTRACT SUIT DECISION

U. S. Granted Right to Cancel Oil Leases In Dome Case

TO APPEAL DECISION

Oil Company Lawyers Announce Case to Go Higher

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—(AP)—Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick today decided in favor of the United States government in its suit to cancel contracts and leases by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company and the Pan-American Petroleum company in the Elk Hills naval reserve, California.

The trial of this suit in eulty against the Doheny Oil interests opened in Los Angeles October 24, last and continued for several weeks.

First of Cases.

It was the first of the cases growing out of the United States senate investigation into naval oil reserves to be brought to trial. The government asked that the cout cancel two contracts and two leases entered into between the government and the defendant companies, providing for the operation of wells in the Elk Hills reserve number one, and the building by the companies of tanks, pipelines and pumping facilities for the storage of 1,500,000 barrels of fuel oil at the Pearl Harbor naval base, Hawaii. The contract also provided for the deepening of Pearl Harbor and the construction of docks.

Separated 30 Years, After A Quarrel, Wichitan Is Left Fortune By Brother

NEWS dispatches to The Record News last night from Fort Worth reported an inheritance of some $150,000 value in southern California real estate by the well and popularly known Mark Kleeden of this city. The estate has been left Kleeden, an oil operator with offices at 716 1-2 Seventh street, by his brother, Leo, with whom he had not spoken in more than thirty years, said the dispatch.

Mark and Leo quarreled nearly a third of a century ago, said the dispatch. Mark came to Texas, Lee to California. Mark made some money, but lost it here and there between Archer county and Wichita Falls. Leo made some money too, about $200,000, in California real estate.

Neither of the brothers made any attempt to find the other. That was the status of affairs a few days ago when Leo died, and left no will. There were only distant relatives, outside of Mark, and about three-quarters of the estate valued at $200,000 thus passes into the hands of the Wichita Falls Kleeden, the gift from the brother he had not even heard of in more than 30 years.

Mr. Kleeden could not be located in Wichita Falls last night, for verification of the dispatch, but he is understood to be contemplating a trip west to take over his new possessions.

MRS. WOODS HEARD

Witness Brought Into Court On Cot After Spectators Barred

HASKELL, May 28.—Mrs. Pearle Collier, on trial here for the murder last February of Elzie Logan Robertson, may know her fate before night fall Friday, it was indicated here this afternoon, when definite decision was reached that argument of counsel would begin at 8 o'clock in the morning. All testimony was completed Thursday and the courts charge, with a large number of exceptions filed by the defense, worked out during the afternoon.

No time has been set yet for length of argument, although the defense attorneys indicated that an hour and one-half would be sufficient for them. District Attorney James V. Allred, however, said his side would request more and asked that this matter be held open until in the morning.

Grissom to Open.

It was announced that County Attorney Clyde Grissom of Haskell county would open arguments for the state and be followed by W. H. Murchison for the defense. District Attorney Tom Davis of Haskall will present the second state's argument and will be followed by C. L. Francis for the defense. B. Y. Cummings will close for the defense and District Attorney Allred for the state.

The main charge of Judge Bruce Bryant touched only on the murder phase and under it Mrs. Collier could receive only a verdict of murder of a complete acquittal. It is understood, however, that the defense has filed 15 bills of exceptions embracing four main issues and asked that special charges be submitted on these.

One of the issues is that of manslaughter, another circumstantial evidence, a third touches on duress and

ATTY.-GENERAL RULING TO AID GAS REFINERY

Unscrupulous Wholesale-Retail Operators Prevented From Tax Evasion

Positive protection to refineries against trickery of certain unscrupulous wholesale dealers seeking to evade payment of the one cent gasoline tax levied by the state of Texas on that product came to Wichita Falls yesterday in the form of a ruling by the attorney general directed to the state comptroller as a result of the latter's request.

Refineries Suffer.

It became known in Wichita Falls yesterday that a number of refineries have recently suffered through the failure of certain of their wholesale customers to pay to them the one cent gasoline tax on that part of gasoline purchased from the refinery which the buyer expected to sell retail from a pump or small station which he had established in connection with his wholesale business.

As an illustration: an unscrupulous wholesale dealer in gasoline, endeavoring to beat payment of the tax to the state, would establish a pump station and retail some quantity of gasoline. Then when called upon by the state to pay the tax on his wholesale purchases of gasoline from the refinery he would declare he was not a wholesaler, but was retailing, as evidenced by his pump, and that the state should look to the refinery for its gas tax collection.

Ruling Is Issued.

Under the Attorney General's ruling a wholesale gasoline dealer who operates a retail pump in connection with his business must hereafter, on purchasing say a carload of gasoline from a refinery which totals 8,000 gallons, must designate to the refinery what amount, as for instance 3,000 barrels, he expects to sell at retail. Then he must pay to the refinery a one cent tax per gallon on the designated 3,000 gallons, and later pay direct to the state the one cent tax on the remaining 5,000 which is the amount of the 8,000 gtllon carload

COAL GLEN, N. C., May 28. — AP)—Realization had come to the little mining town of Coal Glen tonight that there was little hope of rescuing any of the 36 miners entombed by Wednesday's explosion and the populace had set about the grim task of bringing to the surface of the earth the almost unrecognizable forms that had been fathers, husbands and brothers.

The men worked desperately throughout the day to do a last service for their comrades while the women and children looked on without any violent display of emotion. Quiet they were with the courage and determination not to make the task any more terrible by openly displaying their sorrow.

Girl Injured in a Collision Hurried From Wreck Scene

Signs Point To Higher Prices In Refined Markets

Tankwagon Advances In Three Territories Look Good

MUCH BUYING

Smackover Crude Raises Strengthens Fuel Oil Market

By PAUL HEDRICK.

TULSA, Okla., May 28.—Unless all signs fail, tank car or spot prices of gasoline and other petroleum products from Mid-Continent refineries are going to be considerably higher. The tankwagon advances in three district marketing territories is accepted as proof that the present tank car structure is sound and refiners are all convinced that the future is very promising for them to show earnings this summer.

The volume of orders coming from oil jobbers indicate that they are not holding back any longer and are buying at prevailing prices in order not to be caught napping.

Group 3 Status.

In group three the U. S. motor (58-60, 437 endpoint) grade of gasoline is very strong at 12½ cents, with some refiners asking 12 3-4 and one or two 13 cents. No spot sales are being made at the 13 cent figure, but considerable stuff for June delivery is bringing that price. Some sales managers, who deny being prophets assert that the 15 cent price will be attained by July 1.

The higher gravities of motor fuel are exceedingly scarce and hard to obtain in great quantities. The exporters have contributed greatly to this situation, and the Sinclair Refining company has just taken 2,500,000 gallons of 64-66, 375 endpoint, product leaving a meager available supply of that grade.

Natural gasoline manufacturers declare the demand good, and orders in hand to take care of all of their products for months to come, provided they are willing to contract. One large manufacturer reports two orders on his desk for 200 cars a month over the next six months. Prices for the five grades are virtually the same — 14 to 14 1-4 cents for the "A" grades and 14 cents for the "B" and "C" stuff.

Kerosene Stronger.

Kerosene is stronger, with the coming of planting activities in the northern states, and one Mid-Continent refiner with plants in five states, reports that it has put its 42-44 price up to 5 cents a gallon flat to hold off orders, and it is getting many orders at that figure, with the result that the tank car price is now 4 3-4 to 5 cents.

Fuel oil is over $1 for the Mid-Continent article, and industrials around St. Louis are actively in the market for Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas fuel oil at from 92½ cents to $1.05 a barrel, in preference to the Smackover grades at less price. The use of Smackover oil for fuel is growing less now that the posted market price for it has reached 80 cents a barrel, with possibilities of its going still higher.

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has made a location for a test 150 feet south and 150 feet east of the northwest corner of the lease in the HT&BRRCO survey, section 2, abstract 507, test to be known as H-6. The stuff is located in south Wichita county.

Keys-Eslick, Waggoner

Keys-Eslick - Sheering - McCamey have abandoned their No. 1, Waggoner, in the northeast forty acres of the southwest quarter of section 37, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, in the midst of the old group of Texas company holes as a dry one at a total depth of 2,253 feet. Casing was being pulled yesterday.

Cram-Clark, Fisher

Cram and Clark have spudded and are drilling on their No. 7, J. A Fisher, on the lease recently purchased by them, well located in the northwest forty acres of the section 15, H&GNRRCO survey, South Electra.

Wheeler County

Texhoma Oil and Refining company and O'Brien went into an oil sand early yesterday at 2,236 feet in their No. 1, Jackson, Wheeler county, near Shamrock, after getting the gas sand at 2,186-2,235 feet. The gas is so strong, showing a flow of some 75,000,000 cubic feet a day that the oil is prevented from rising in the hole. The well is spraying some oil. Just what means are going to be used in completing the hole for an oil well was not known yesterday.

Atlantic, Zipperle

The Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. 1, Zipperle, located one location north and east of the southwest corner of the northwest forty of the southwest eighty acres of section 80, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, was drilling yesterday at about 1,050 feet.

Atlantic, Mitchell

The Atlantic almost had a dry hole yesterday in its No. 1, Mitchell, a northeast offset to the Howell et al discovery on the Mitchell tract southwest of Iowa Park. Sand had been taken from 1,499 to 1,604 feet with three feet of blue shale underneath that and the well was estimated as a very small producer. It was being allowed to sit with the expectation of swabbing late yesterday.

Richards, Mills

Mel Richards No. 1, Mills, located in the southeast quarter of block 2428, TE&LCO survey, west of Megargel and northwest of the Cranfill pool, southeast Baylor county, was drilling yesterday morning at 1,300 feet and expecting to be down on the sand below 1,400 feet late today or tomorrow.

Owens-Pace, Mitchell

Owens and Pace and Howell will probably drill deeper after bailing and swabbing dry in the sand at 1,669-75 feet in their No. 1, Mitchell, located some 1,500 feet north and a bit west of the Howell discovery, southwest of Iowa Park, Wichita county.

Roberts-Hill-Craig

Roberts-Hill-Craig were drilling yesterday at a depth below 900 feet in their No. 2, Mitchell, just east of the No. 1, an east offset itself to the Howell discovery, southwest of Iowa Park, Wichita county.

Gulf, Waggoner

The Gulf Production company has made a location for its No. 2, Waggoner-R, to be 525 feet due west of the No. 1, which is 1,400 feet west and 150 feet south of the northeast corner of the south half of the northeast quarter of section 50, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, eastern Wilbarger county.

The No. 1, is an oil well from an 1,800-foot sand.

Carter-Tidal, Cowan

Roy I. Carter has skidded his rig over from the old location near the Major pool, south of Archer City, southeast corner of the northwest quarter of block 41, Jefferson county school lands, to the northwest corner of quarter section 49. The test will be spudded in a day or so and is to be a fifty-fifty proposition with Tidal.

Carter, Parkey-A

Roy I. Carter is drilling below a last reported depth of 400 feet on his No. 1, Parkey-A, east of the Waite Phillips Mankins well, northwest Archer county.

Consolidated, Waggoner

Consolidated Oil company and Staley and Wynn have built a derrick and are moving on for their No. 1, Waggoner, in the northeast of the southwest quarter of section 50, H&TCRRCO survey, southwest of the Gulf's well, eatsern Wilbarger county.

OUR FICKLE COMMISSIONS.

After having stirred the country with its multitudinous investigations and almost frightened business into a state of paralysis with its militant publicity, the Federal Trade commission suddenly reinterprets its duties and asserts its friendship for business—big business as well as little. The revised creed of the commission, as presented by Commissioner William E. Humphrey, emphasizes that body's change of front. Here it is:

"We do not believe that success is a crime. We do not believe that failure is a virtue. We do not believe that wealth is presumptively wrong. We do not believe that poverty is presumptively right. We do not believe that industry, economy, honesty and brains should be penalized. We do not believe that incompetence, extravagance, idleness and insufficiency should be glorified. We believe that 90 per cent of American business is anxious to obey the law. We want to control or destroy the 10 per cent that is crooked."

All this is so obvious that it should require no affirmative declaration. Yet in the recent past, the Federal Trade commission has acted as if inspired by sentiments exactly opposite to those which it now declares. Such a right-about face is challenging, and cannot fail to call forth strenuous criticism. Already there are intimations of trouble brewing for the new congress on account of the behavior of federal commissions. A drive against these bodies, and the trade commission in particular, is in prospect. An effort will be made to cut the commissions loose from the executive leading strings and make them more responsive to congress.

The trade commission, the tariff commission and the shipping board were all designed to operate with a certain degree of independence, and were supposed to be made up of members fairly representative of the country. But these double-headed bodies composed of democrats and republicans in almost equal numbers have functioned as might have been expected. They have done nothing well. Controversy has raged within them to such an extent that their usefulness has been seriously impaired.

President Coolidge, attempting to apply a quick remedy for a bad situation, has "packed" the commissions with men of his own stamp—extreme conservatives, hostile to congress. These men have driven rough-shod over the liberals still remaining on the commissions. The recent shipping board row was one result of their activities. The late trouble in the tariff commission was another. And the trade commission's change of front is a third.

Now there may be quite a battle to decide whether the president or congress shall control supposedly independent commissions. But there is an issue that lies even deeper than this. It is whether these commissions are worth while, regardless of the quarter from which they draw their supporting influences. If they cannot be independent and representative, they cannot function as they were intended to do.

TOUCHING A LARGER PROBLEM.

In declaring his willingness to accede to the demands of Russia's neighbors to be released from arms traffic control until Russia accepts a regulatory convention, Representative Theodore E. Burton, heading the American delegation at the conference on the trade in arms, went farther than the occasion appeared to warrant and touched upon a larger problem than that which he was supposed to discuss. "We must provide for this situation," he stated. "The fear of the powerful neighbor nation, the pacific sentiments of which one cannot be sure, will exist until that far-away golden age, when the expression 'weak and strong nations' will be banished and when universal law shall reign on earth. There is not a single country in America or Europe which does not fully recognize the dangers expounded today."

Certainly there is one country in America which is not afraid of a powerful neighbor nation, and that is the United States. There also be one in Europe if Mr. Burton and the other delegates to the arms traffic meet are logical in their attitude, and that is Russia. But if Mr. Burton exaggerates he still remains intelligible. His proposition is that the small nations constitute the danger spots on the map of civilization, and that they must be protected in their right of self-defense. So much is perfectly clear. But why promote confusion by bringing in the problematical subject of "universal law?"

The Versailles treaty created innumerable new danger spots and added them to the old ones with a view to bringing all under "universal law" as interpreted by the league of nations. The failure of the league has left Europe dotted with weak, suspicious nations, independent only in name, and every subsequent failure to unite the continent under super-authority has made the situation worse. The present conference may prove a remarkable exception, but it will be an exception only because of its own failure. The small nations will be left more or less free of restrictions because the great powers could not quite carry out their own purposes. They will remain, however, as defenseless as they were before. Consolidation into larger units is the only cure for their weakness, and this is something that should not have to wait for the "golden age."

"HE WAS A GREAT SOLDIER."

General Charles Mangin is dead. He was one of the heroes of France. He was the victor of Verdun. Georges Clemenceau, the Tiger of France, was the war idol of France. When told that Mangin was dead, he paid his tribute in five words, "He was a great soldier." There were no eloquent tributes at the grave side. Guns thundered and other heroes of France stood with bowed heads. The Tiger's tribute will be the epitaph of the hero of Verdun.

BLUE NILE DAM.

In the heart of the Sudan on the Blue Nile, the great Nakwar dam has been completed by the British government at a cost of $45,000,000. Completion of the work opens up 300,000 acres for cotton growing and London estimates that 500,000 kanters will be grown on this land in the present year. An egyptian kantar is equivalent to 99 1-2 pounds. Mr. Bull is busy.

By Dr. Frank Crane

BALDNESS AND BRAINS.

There are many speculations upon the causes of baldness.

Perhaps the best reason is that there is a lack of elimination through the pores of the scalp. The hairs die out because the pores around them cease to function.

It is said that bald-headed men are particularly subject to heart disease, although this has been denied.

Perhaps the best explanation of baldness, as we have said, is defective elimination.

It is necessary for a man to eliminate well in every respect if he is to remain healthy.

Most of the diseases to which flesh is heir are due to defective elimination through the colon. Constipation is one of the greatest enemies of the race. Dr. Kellogg says that a man should have a healthy evacuation two times a day. This is to be gained by careful attention to diet better than any other way.

It is necessary also to keep the pores open, as the body as a whole is a breathing surface. It must constantly be giving forth moisture in order to be healthy.

The same truth has its analogy in our spiritual or mental life. We gain much in mental power by constantly giving forth.

Talking or writing has been of great benefit to many men. If you will deliberately form the habit of setting down your opinions you will find that they become more and more clear and definite.

Successful writers have often been asked where they find so much to write about. One would think they would run out of subjects.

The more one writes, consistently and periodically, the more subjects come to him. And the more one neglects to write the drier he becomes in the way of inspiration.

When I went to school I studied algebra. I got one hundred per cent in it, but I did not know anything about it when I got through. Afterwards I taught school and was compelled to teach algebra. I found out that I learned more about algebra by teaching it than I had ever learned by studying it.

The best way to learn a subject is to teach it.

A man's brain is a vehicle, a medium. It does not originate things, but it passes things through it.

The universe is a storehouse of wisdom and health and strength. Man is a pipe that conducts this supply to others. When the out-take ceases the intake usually stops.

Only those bodies of water which have outgo remain perpetually sweet.

For this reason public speaking, writing and intelligent conversation are great helps toward correct thinking and perpetual inspiration.

A REPUBLICAN TAX REVISION PLAN.

Representative Bacharach of New Jersey is a republican leader, a member of the ways and means committee of the house. He has submitted to the president a comprehensive program of tax revision that contemplates rates that would cut government receipts approximately $400,000,000 a year.

This New Jersey solan advocates reduction of surtaxes, abandonment of the levies on automobiles, jewelry and motor boats and club dues and substantial cuts in the charges on estates and transfer of property in the form of gifts.

It appears that the tax burdened owners or purchasers of jewelry and motor boats are in dire distress and that club men among the farmers and those who pay high surtaxes are in need of relief.

Why remove the taxes from the luxury of life, the costly pleasure vehicles of life. Are the motor boat owners of America a down trodden class?

Uncommon Sense

LEGACIES.

When a rich man dies, his children inherit no comfort, no luxury, no freedom from responsibility that they have not known and taken as a matter of course since they were able to think about such things.

Consequently their legacy merely enables them to live as they have been living. They still continue to want things they cannot have, as does every young man and woman who has been spoiled by too much indulgence and easy living.

They still are made almost as unhappy by little troubles as poorer people are made by greater troubles.

I have seen rich men's sons as much annoyed by the failure of a new car to make 70 miles an hour as many a poor boy would be annoyed by the lack of dinner.

Joy and sorrow and pleasure and misery are all relative. It is the unusual, the novel pleasure that is worth enjoying in life.

For this reason the best legacy young men or women can have is an education—if they have the sort of a mind that "takes" an education, and an understanding of the beauty in life, and the enjoyment to be got out of it.

The parents who send their children through college, or can help them to send themselves to college, do far more for them than they could do by any gift of money before or after these parents are gone.

The parents who can make their children understand the value of independence and clean living, who can teach them how to appreciate and understand what beauties and blessings are in life, will make them really rich.

Not long ago I took a walk with a well known entomologist, who turned up stones to observe the little creatures that scurried away out of the daylight, picked from the branches of the trees insects that I could not see at all, and told me marvelously interesting things about the lives and habits of animals whose existence I had never before suspected.

"How did you come to be an entomologist," I asked him, as we were walking home.

"My father left entomology to me."

"Do you mean that he was an entomologist, and you followed in his footsteps?"

"No. He was a man of limited education, from the college point of view. But he was profoundly interested in bugs and beetles and the like. He read what he could about them and was continually observing them. He took me with him on these observation tours, told me all he knew, and awakened in me such an interest that I took the work up as my profession.

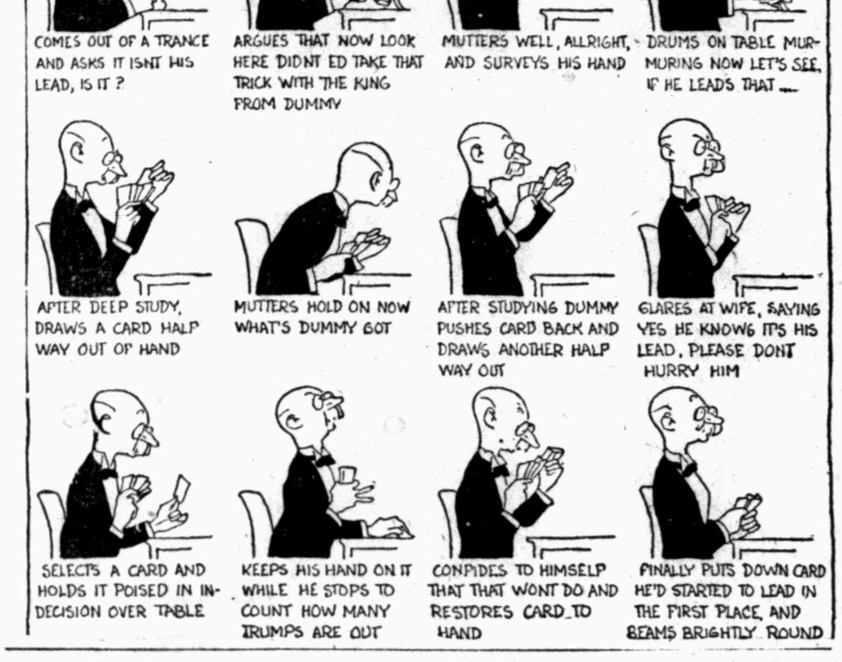

"This was my only inheritance. But it was enough. My pay at the university where I teach is comparatively small. But I feel that I am a rich man. And these riches were bequeathed me by a father who had not a cent of money to pass along to me."

Parents who worry about what will become of their children if they are left without money can learn something to their advantage from this professor. His legacy was worth having. It can never be wasted nor spent, and it will continue to earn interest during the entire working life time of the lucky heir to a father who was what the world would call a very poor man.

Irrigation

THE ACTUAL COST OF IRRIGATION WATER HERE

We have explained in previous articles how the people of the city of Wichita Falls by voting bonds secured the money to build the irrigation project.

We have also showed how low the price of water is compared even to the government projects where no profits are taken and no interest is charged. The price for water here is lower than it has been for twenty years.

Again we pointed out the low payment made each year to liquidate the bonds and the long time allowed, 34 years, which is more favorable by far to the land owner than on most projects.

All of this is rather puzzling when one thinks how much money has been spent. Somebody must be paying some where. The project cost at least $4,500,000 and as there are only about 45,000 acres in it to be irrigated the actual cost must be something like $100 per acre. This is correct if we view it from the sandpoint of an irrigation project alone.

Our lakes are not only irrigation reservoirs but are also auxiliary sources of supply for our water works. They serve a double purpose. They not only supply water for the irrigation project but can be drawn on as needed for the city supply.

It is frequently the case that a city or town located on an irrigation project secures its water from the irrigation system. But generally such towns are built because of the irrigation system, here the irrigation system is built because of the town.

HOW IT STARTED

"YOUR CARD, SIR"

Many a young swain, fearing a "not at home," has anathematized the card that he must send ahead instead of walking right in to the lady of his desire. Likewise the man who must cool his heels in an anteroom while his nibs, the office boy goes off with the bit of pasteboard that will decide his fate. And then there is the debutante who must remember to drop on the card tray, at the end of her calls, "one for each lady in the family," two for this, three for that, until she is ready to expire in the arms of a social secretary.

This practice has come down to us from sixteenth century, Italy. Then Padua was attended very largely by students from Germany, with whom it was the custom when they left college to pay farewell visits to their professors. When these dignitaries were not at home to receive the personal token, the students left their names on slips of paper.

Though there is evidence that the Chinese anciently wrote their names on bits of paper which they left to apprise absent friends of their call, it is from the revival of the custom by these students in Italy that the use of personal cards was established in Europe.

POEMS THAT LIVE

LAST LINES.

No coward soul is mine,
No trembler in the world's storm-troubled sphere;
I see Heaven's glories shine,
And faith shines equal, arming me from fear.

O God within my breast,
Almighty, ever-present Deity!
Life—that in me has rest,
As I—undying Life—have power in Thee!

Vain are the thousand creeds
That move men's hearts; unutterably vain;
Worthless as wither'd weeds,
Or idlest froth amid the boundless main,

To waken doubt in one
Holding so fast by Thine infinity;
So surely anchor'd on
The steadfast rock of immortality.

With wide-embracing love
Thy Spirit animates eternal years,
Pervades and broods above,
Changes, sustains, dissolves, creates, and rears.

Though earth and man were gone,
And suns and universes cease to be,
And Thou were left alone,
Every existence would exist in Thee.

There is not room for Death,
Nor atom that his might could render void;
Thou—Thou are Being and Breath,
And what Thou art may never be destroyed.

What Today Means to You

Gemini.

Today's planetary aspects are favorable in the early morning, but, as the day advances, become negative although not distinctly adverse. The work that was begun yesterday under such auspicious conditions can safely be continued and persevered in until noon at this time, it is advisable to cease, so far as is possible, all forceful effort, review what has so far been done, and deliberate carefully on what remains to be done. In the evening, every effort should be made to avoid acting or speaking on impulse, as the temptation will be present to do or say something that will be regretted.

A child born today will cause considerable anxiety in its babyhood, owing to the many ailments from which it will undoubtedly suffer. There need be, however, no cause for alarm, if its nutrition be carefully watched, and as a result of its recuperative powers, it will, given the proper treatment, attain maturity in good physical condition. Its temperament will be by no means submissive and it will prove to be assertive and self-willed, unless these wilful tendencies are checked by strong disciplinary measures at a very early age. Its character will be selfish and dominating, but it promises to attain a great degree of material success as a result of exceptional intelligence and marked perspicacity.

You, if your birthday falls on May 29th, have a very affable and agreeable disposition, and possess strongly developed domestic tastes, being very much attached to your family and extremely fond of home life. You are not very ambitious for yourself, and only strive to attain results for the sake of those whom you love and by whom you are surrounded. You are by no means lacking in intelligence or ability, but are too considerate of others' feelings to push ahead. You are very unselfish, and do not think enough of your own interests to ever make much of a worldly success of your life. You, however, can count on the support and affection of a large number of disinterested friends, and on the loyalty and abiding regard of the members of your family. You are slow to anger, but are capable of great bitterness if your confidence is deliberately destroyed, or your trust flagrantly violated.

Thou see'st the dawn's grave orange hue,
With one pale streak like yellow sand,
And over that a vein of blue.

The air is cold above the woods;
All silent is the earth and sky,
Except with his own lonely moods
The blackbird holds a colloquy.

Over the broad hill creeps a beam,
Like hope that gilds a good man's brow;
And how ascends the nostril-stream
Of stalwart horses come to plough.

Ye rigid ploughmen, bear in mind
Your labor is for future hours;
Advance—spare not—nor look behind—
Plough deep and straight with all your powers!

More Truth Than Poetry

HOW IT WAS DONE

If the sinister aims of the late Jesse James
Had amassed the vast fortune he craved,
I haven't a doubt he'd have written about
The stresses and storms he had braved,
Informing the young how his fortune was wrung
From the world by unwearying skill—
And his way had been won not alone with his gun,
But his firm and unbeatable will.

If the late Captain Kidd hadn't done what he did
So ill that they hanged him at last,
I feel sure he'd have told how his cargo of gold
By arduous toil was amassed.
On some magazine page, now all yellow with age,
We would find his industrial creed,
And learn how a man by force, system and plan
Is certain at last to succeed.

Had Jack Cade not been killed 'ere his plans were fulfilled,
He doubtless his life would have penned—
And told how a chap with vim, vigor and snap
Was bound to agrive in the end,
But the schemes that were laid by the said Mr. Cade
Fell into a terrible mess
And soon brought him low, so we never shall know,
His method of winning success.

We frown at the pranks of the men who rob banks,
Or, laden with jimmies and torches,
Fall under arrest through their too ready zest
In burgling or climbing up porches.
But should they succeed, by and by we shall read
Of how, with unshakable aim,
They set their stern eyes on the ultimate prize
And won boundless fortune and fame!

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

"FEED HIM WELL, KEEP HIM CHEERFUL, INTEREST YOURSELF IN HIS BUSINESS AND LOVE HIM ENOUGH," DOROTHY DIX'S RECIPE FOR A SUCCESSFUL WIFE

"I want to be a good wife, the kind of a wife like that lady in the Bible whose price was above rubies," said a little bride to me the other day. "What shall I do to be a real helpmate to my husband?"

"Well, my dear," I replied, "there are three general counts on which every wife must make good in order to help her husband, and then the job becomes the work of an expert, and varies according to the temperament of the man.

"To begin with, every woman who is an asset instead of a total loss to her husband, must make him a comfortable home and feed him properly. When a man marries, he practically turns over his stomach and his nerves and his brains to his wife's care, and she can keep him at the peak of his efficiency by giving him a quiet, restful place to come to at night, and a good dinner to eat, or she can sabotage the whole works by throwing in quarrels and heavy biscuit and tough meat.

"There is practically no limit to the amount of work a man can do whose wife takes care of him, and who has a happy home life. The men who break down with nervous prostration are the men who, after the struggle and anxiety and worries of a business day, go home to strife and wrangles and recriminations and nagging and to food that would kill an ostrich. No nerves and no digestion will stand it.

"A breakfast of flabby cakes and muddy coffee, that made him take a dyspeptic and despairing view of things, and see the world through blue spectacles, has made many a man turn down a good proposition that would have taken him on to fame and fortune. A spat with his wife that left his nerves on edge, and his soul filled with bitterness, has made many a man quarrel with his partner and insult his best client or customer.

"So, my dear, if you want to help your husband succeed, you must begin by making him a home wherein his tired body and frazzled nerves may refresh themselves, so that he may go forth with new strength to battle with the world. You must make him happy, for there is nothing that happy people may not achieve.

"The next way to help your husband is by keeping yourself cheerful and optimistic. Nothing breaks down a man's morale so quickly as having a wife who is whining and complaining, who reproaches him with not making as much money as other men do, and who lets him see that she does not believe in him.

"Now we can only do the things we think we can do, and when we kill a man's faith in himself we have slain his ability to succeed. Ninety-nine husbands out of a hundred live up to their wives' expectations of them. If their wives are always knocking them and discouraging them and wet blanketing their every plan and prophesying failure, they fail.

"But if their wives are cheerful and optimistic; if they encourage them; if they believe in them and make them believe in themselves, they succeed They simply have to make good because their wives expect it.

"Most wives write their husband's price tags. Price yours high, and your husband will deliver the goods.

"The third point in being a good wife, that applies to all marriages, is for the wife deliberately to make herself her husband's best friend. That means that you must interest yourself in whatever interests him. First and foremost, you must take an interest in his business. Practically all men like to talk shop, but they can't do it to women who yawn in their faces and who never take the trouble to learn the technique of the business out of which they get their living.

"A woman can help her husband not only by taking an interest in his business, but by making friends for him. Many a man is advertised into success by his charming wife, and many a man is bankrupted by his disagreeable and ill-mannered spouse.

"A woman can help her husband by using a little common sense in her attitude toward his business, and by being willing to make the sacrifices necessary to his success.

"The woman who always speaks of her husband's office as 'that old office,' and who resents his interest in his business and the time he devotes to it; the woman who will not let her husband leave a poor job with no future to it, to take a better one in which he could make his fortune, because it would take her away from mother and the girls and Main street ;the doctors' and dentists' wives who are jealous of their husbands' patients, and the lawyer's wife who blabs, are all first aids to their husband's failure. Only a man of superhuman talent can succeed against the handicap of such a wife.

"Then come the two specific ways in which a wife can help her husband and which depend on the individual man. Some men have talent, but lack backbone. They are brilliant but weak. They get easily discouraged and need to be backed up and flattered and admired continually. They are prone to give up, and they need a wife who will hold them to their purpose when they falter and waiver.

"A wife can help this type of man best by being a little hard and very ambitious, by bracing him up with her own strength and literally pushing him on to success.

"The clinging vine, helpless sort of women bring out the best that is in other men. If their wives could stand on their own feet, their husbands would let them do it, but because their wives can do nothing but hang around their necks, makes them feel that they must fight to the death for them.

"This is the reason that for the wife to be thrifty and saving is not always the best way to help a man. Because a man has had to hustle to meet the demands of an extravagant wife has caused him to make the effort that turned him into a millionaire.

"And lastly, my dear, if you want to help your husband, just love him enough. Perhaps that is the best way of all."

DOROTHY DIX.

Dainty flower dances are given by Constance Clark and Gladys Brandeberry. Among the fairies the soloists are Sara Hart and Sue Ann Timblin. The violinist is Lucile Crouch. The baby fairies have an attractive scene, and a humorous number will be "The Fairies and Brownies Flirtation Dance."

Hull Gets Decision Over Torres After Slow Vernon Clash

VERNON, May 28.—Clyde Hull, the St. Paul flash, won the judge's decision over Renato Torres, welterweight champion of Mexico, in a slow ten-round bout here tonight. The spectators were clearly dissatisfied with the judge's decision, and milled around in the areng for some time after the last of the bout, hooting about the judge's decision and Hull's manager.

The Mexican led the fight through six rounds, but failed to land as many blows as did the speedy St. Paul lad. Hull was hitting and holding throughout the fight. However, the Mexican's speed carried him outside the danger zone on Hull's blows, barely allowing the gloves to tip him.

Hull called his right into play throughout the fight and landed a few clean blows with it, but failed to daze the Mexican. His left jab was also flashing with its usual speed.

Most of Torres' blows were right pokes to the body. He worked on Hull fiercely in the clinches when he was able to keep his arms free of Hull's grasp.

Cliff Castleberry won a technical knockout over Ted Key in the semi-final near the end of the third round. Key was on the floor after receiving a right and left to the chin when his seconds threw in the towel. Key floored Castleberry with a right to the jaw early in the first round.

WHITE INDIANS FOUND IN S. A. BY EXPEDITION

Radio Message Says Rice's Explorer Has Made Discovery

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—White Indians have been found by Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice's jungle expedition in South America.

A radio message picked up by E. J. Eckert, a Philadelphia amateur, and forwarded to the American Geographical society here tells of the discovery.

"White Indians encountered and conciliated April 23," reads one sentence of the message which describes an expendition with a party of 23 men to the source of the Parima river. This was the only reference to white Indians in the message which, besides saying that the objects of the expedition had been accomplished, was largely devoted to geographical details.

The expedition left New York early last year to ieit the sources of the Orinoco and Parima rivers, study tropical diseases and institute elementary education amoung the jungle natives. Mrs. Rice, formerly Mrs. George W. Widener of Philadelphia and very wealthy, went on the expedition, but has since returned to this country.

Patrol Wagon Busy In West End Raids

A roundup last night resulted in four patrol wagon loads of west end negroes being unloaded about nine o'clock at the city hall.

Out of some 30 negroes hauled away from a restaurant in the rear of 2000 block on Ninth street all but eight gave satisfactory answers, and were released.

The raid was conducted by Officers Robinson, Carmichael, Roark, Bentley, Persky and James, with an idea to breaking up a gang of loafers that had formed lately in west Wichita Falls.

NORTH TEXAS DAILY CRUDE OUTPUT RISES

Increase of 1,000 Barrels Reported in Weekl Bulletin

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 8,800 barrels for the week ending May 23, totalling 2,314,750 barrels, the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute shows. The daily average production of Smackover, Ark., heavy oil field decreased 17,250 barrels during the week. All Ma's Pardoned Convicts Reported "Going Straight"

AMARILLO, Texas, May 28. — Every person thus far granted a pardon or parole by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, "has justified faith placed in him," declared W. P. Sebastian, member of the pardon advisory board, who is here today visiting his son, J. C. Sebastian. Not one of the released prisoners has been returned to the penitentiary, he said.

"Clemency is granted to no one without a thorough investigation of his prison record," said Mr. Sebastian. No longer is it true in Texas that all hope dies when the prison doors close behind a convicted man, for now the promise of a just reward is held out to him if he makes good. But tears are shed in vain if his records is not good, for unless he can show a clean record he is not pardoned. Justice, tempered with mercy with the policy of Governor Ferguson.

PLANS BEGUN FOR NEW RED RIVER BRIDGE

Actual Drawings Started For New Span Near Burkburnett

Actual drawing of the plans for the great concrete bridge that will span Red river between Texas and Oklahoma at Burkburnett started Wednesday, according to a statement made by B. D. Sartin, county judge of Wichita county. The county engineering department was in conversation with the state highway department over long distance telephone Wednesday morning and Engineer Wickline of the department said the Oklahoma highway commission had returned with approval the preliminary plans.

It will perhaps require four weeks to complete drawing the plans and prepare the specifications and contracts. To assist in this the federal department has sent Engineer Mayo to Austin to assist in the work.

While it is impossible to predict just when the work can start on this great bridge yet it is thought bids can be advertised for early in July This should permit the successful contractor to start work sometime during August or early in September. The bridge will be nearly 4,000 feet long and will be constructed of reinforced concrete.

The bridge is being financed by Texas, Oklahoma, Wichita county and Cotton county. Wichita Falls and cities between here and Oklahoma City have been working for this bridge for 30 years. The bridge will be the second free bridge to connect the two states.

Why He Succeeded

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated in 1862, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took

In his younger days he practiced medicine over a large district. It was then the new oil fields near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put up some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

He thus early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, barks and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During the last 60 years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists all over the United States than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Marines Add Swagger Sticks to Uniforms

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP)—Modified somewhat by the exigencies of military regulation, the trend of modern masculine style has reached even the United States marines.

The "devil dogs" of Chateau Thierry and the "leather necks" of Arduous campaigns throughout the world are authorized in orders just approved by headquarters to add jauntyswagger sticks and nifty "field scarfs" to the liberty uniform. The scarfs, however, are neckties of a fairly sober brown.

Despite the rapid increase in aggregate burnable values the "curve of destruction" has risen less rapidly, it was stated by H. A. Smith, head of the National Fire Insurance company of Hartford, Conn.

The GILDED ROSE

Who's Who in the Story

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

Florence Ridgeway, an aritstocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying.

Stevie Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Ridgeway. She is in Paris when the news reaches her of Landis' marriage, and she hastens back to the United States. With her goes Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an appareat misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together, while she will be with her beolved Landis.

Landis finding himself alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more. Some hours later that eveuing, Rosilyn who is bewildered to find herself spending the evening in the company of Rupert Briscoe, sees her husband dancing with Lydia—in his eyes a look of rapture. She believes he has seen her but is too rude—or ashamed — to speak. Briscoe asks her to go on to a night club, and in a mood of recklessness she consents.

In Paris meanwhile Van Vorst, realizing the reason for Lydia's sudden trip to America and hungering for her love, decides to use Marietta, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a plan. The two arrange to come to New York where Marietta is to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

Landis continues philandering with Lydia while Rosilyn to help forget the pangs of jealousy, allows Briscoe to pay her more flattering attention. The next day the latter drives her to the station where she is to meet her husband before they leave for their country home.

Soon after, Landis meets Lydia and while riding with her refuses to comment whether or not his wife "goes her own way," as he quite evidently does.

"Your friend will be all right with Marietta. Give me a few minutes of your time," pleaded he.

She yielded.

From his car they watched the race. Alas! For Lydia's hopes—her bet romped home the last!

"Infernal luck!" Van Vorst was obviously disappointed.

They left the car, and proceeded towards the grand stand, where presumably, Landis and the Spanish girl would be found.

The sky was overcast, and a great drop of rain splashed on Lydia's frail parasol.

No shelter was at hand.

She cast an anxious glance up at the heavens.

More drops—faster and heavier!

"We'll have to run for it!"

Van Vorst, however, was much too heavy in bulk, and too short-winded from excessive eating, to do anything of the sort.

Lydia dashed on alone, while the rain poured down through the chiffon sunshade to her chic tulle hat and airy frock. How it did pour! And what complete ruin it brought with it! When—breathless and exhausted—she reached the shelter of the stand, the tulle hat had "collapsed" like a soaked rag, and the chiion sunshade was no more!

"Why, Lydia—! Where on earth—?" Landis Ridgeway, with the lovely senorita at his side, immaculate in her unspoiled toilette, greeted his unfortunate lady in amazement. Then, the humor of the thing striking his risible faculties, he broke into a gurgle.

That finished it. Lydia could have clawed him.

"Let me pass!" She darted by into the woman's cloak room.

Having reached that haven, she stared at her own absurd reflection in cold fury. What a "sketch" she was! No wonder that everyone had smiled at sight of her!

Landis—the beast—had laughed.

"I'll pay him out!"

What made her all the madder was the fact that Landis had seemed quite happy with that hateful Spanish girl! The Spanish girl had looked extremely handsome—

Fickle beasts men were!

Not that this Marietta creature ever could be a real rival!

Yet Steve Van Vorst had brought her here. And in Paris Lydia had seen the same lovely girl with Rupert Briscoe!

If Landis took a fancy to her—and all men had a streak of the common in them, hadn't they?—(that was how girls like this Barietta were ever taken notice of)—then Lydia would never trust any man again—not that she ever trusted anybody—

Fifteen minutes later she emerged, complexion adequately restored, and the tulle hat pinned into a toque shape that was not unbecoming. The frock had been quickly dried at a stove, and didn't look quite so dreadful—but the day was spoiled for Lydia.

Van Vorst and Marietta were with Landis when she sought him.

"I want you all to dine with me tonight. I've looked up a table at the cheeriest restaurant in town, and won't take any refusal."

Lydia's chin went up. What was he thinking of, to dare to include her as the fourth with Marietta? Lydia Harbrook and a common dancing girl!

"I'm afraid you've been premature, Landis and I have another engagment."

Van Vorst looked ugly, and his jaw set; so the wind did set in that quarter, did it?

"Landis has just told me you are both free."

But Lydia had moved out of ear shot. Her escort followed.

"Please take me back to the hotel." She got into the Rolls.

CHAPTER XLVII.

The Green Eyed Monster

Landis got in beside her. As the car slowly wedged its way out, he recollected, with a feeling of approval that Rosilyn made no scenes, and showed no petulancy.

Strong as was the attraction Lydia had for him, he knew that as a wife she would be "tempermental" and exacting—

Back in New York, he dropped her at her hotel.

"What about tonight?" It was she who put the question, not her escort. That was a reversal of the usual order of events.

"Tonight?" He looked at her coldly—so it seemed to her. It frightened her.

"Yes. What about tonight? Steve said something about entertaining us, didn't he?"

Landis' jaw had set in the old, stubborn way she knew so well.

"And you turned the invitation down."

"But—weren't we—you and I—to be together?" She stood beside the car, on the pavement's edge, looking up at him.

"Certainly—with the other pair. I accepted, as you know. I can't back out."

"Even if I don't go, you mean you'll go with them? She was trembling with an emotion that was partly fear of losing him, but mostly chagrin. Dense, men were!

"I see no adequate reason why we shouldn't both go!" Landis rapped out the words.

Lydia walked into the hotel. He followed.

"Wait while I run up and change. Then I'll give you some tea." She couldn't trust herself any longer in this ruined frock and in her present state of "nerves."

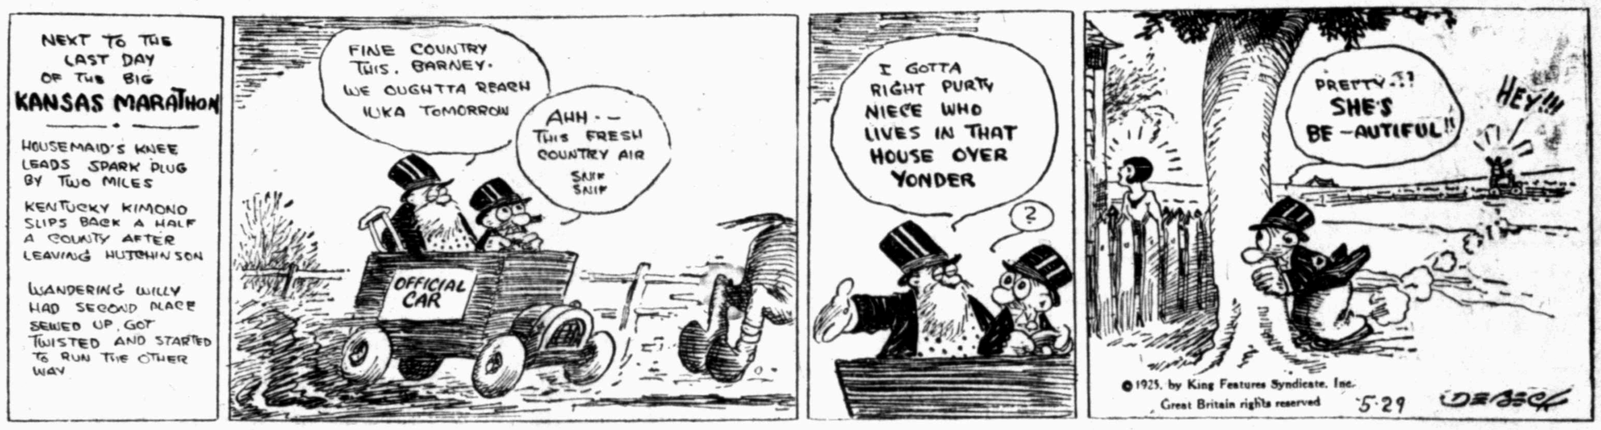

She changed in record time, and was sweetness itself as she dispensed tea to Landis in a quiet corner of the lobby.

OUGHT TO CAN HIM.

It's shameful the way Ping Bodie isn't hitting, as one friend of ours confided the other day. Poor old Ping couldn't do any better than a pair of singles, a double and a triple yesterday. Ought to have had a home run, at least, or for good measure.

* * *

We would have you understand that Ludlam and Riggs, the versatile Twilight league entry, has hereby and to be remembered forever and after won a ball game.

STRING HIM UP.

Jonathan Riggs' clothing nine derived great pleasure in trampling the hapless Monroe's Travelers Thursday, 8 to 0, all of which is all right, but is better from the viewpoint behind this typewriter because now we shall obtain a new and brilliantly tinted neck adornment for exactly zero.

That's the stipulation: Every time or whenever Ludlam and Riggs wins a game The Record News' collection of neck wear is to be enhanced by the addition of one.

* * *

Oh, would that a neck tie could be swapped for a suit of clothes, or a pair of re-enforced trousers, at least.

* * *

A VITAL QUESTION.

Pete Turgeon has rejoined the Tanner forces. The bombastic midget of the Spudder inner works will be seen in the lineup soon, no doubt.

* * *

Skipper Bud will have to cut somebody loose to make way for Wee Peter. Who will depart? Unless the Skipper has changed his mind in the past few days it's likely to be little Freddy Dorman.

* * *

Don't ask any question. Why Freddy and not Al White? Or something else similar. The veteran, Buddy indicated not so long ago, probably will get the call over the youngster. There are several reasons for such a decision, if Tanner should really decide that way.

* * *

Freddy, a sweet young ball player, has a tendency to blow up in a pinch. Further, he hasn't the baseball head that White, the veteran, has. That Al is in a batting slump right now doesn't mean he won't come out of it, and clout the agate at a fair clip. Freddy is not poling the pill any too regularly either. Taking all in all, Dorman needs a bit more seasoning, too, before he can perform creditably in class A company.

WACO BLAMES IT ON UMPS, SPORTS TAKING TILT, 10-3

WACO, May 28—Bill Gould held Shreveport helpless for six innings today and Waco apparently had the game stowed away, but in the seventh, after two were out, Umpire Osborne ble wup, called a number of bad ones, and as the stands began to jaws him, he apparently became rattled, his decisions being so far wrong that the game was almost turned into a farce, as a result, Gould also blew up and the Sports chased o:er six runs before the close of the inning, winning by a score of 10 to 3, for Crumpler, who relieved Gould was wild. Morrow suffered a split hand in the fifth from a foul tip and was forced to retire from the game. Police protection was thought necessary for Umpire Osborne after the game, but the crowd became rather humorous when Osborne made the mistake of signalling for a fireman for protection, thinking him to be a policeman. Nurmi Turns Down $250,000 To Become Professional, Says Secretary-Treasurer of A. A. U.

Breakfast Food Companies Get Go By When They Approach Wonder Finn Runner

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)— Offers totalling approximately $250,000, to renounce his amateur status were made to Paavo Nurmi, wonder runner from Finland, during his visit to the United States, Frederick Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic union, said today shortly after Nurmi sailed for his home in Abo, Finland.

All offers were refused, however, Rubien said, and Nurmi is particular over the fact that his amateur standing remained undamaged. According to Rubien, the Miller Brothers' circus offered Nurmi $60,000 to travel with it for 20 weeks. Numerous other offers were made, Rubien said, including several from breakfast food companies.

Rubien reiterated previous denials that Nurmi made large sums of money for running in this country, stating the Finn received only $7 a day and expenses. Profits made by clubs at which Nurmi appeared, he said, probably would average about $3,000.

A crowd of several hundred persons were at the pier to wish Nurmi bon voyage. One was Willie Ritola, Nurmi's track rival.

What might have been a serious accident to the famous runner was averted when a fellow passenger on the steamship Stockholm grasped Nurmi's arm as he tripped over a cable on the deck and nearly fell into the Hudson river. The crowd cheered as Nurmi regained his footing, and the runner doffed his cap and smiled.

After visiting his mother and sisters at Abo, Nurmi will go to Helsingfors to work as a mechanical draftsman at a salary of 2,500 marks, or about $62.50 a month, it was learned.

Before sailing, Nurmi, through an interpreter, said he hoped to return to the United States next January, but if he does not ,to return in 1927.

Farrell Leads Second Section At Long Beach

Quaker Ridge Pro Shoots 70 With Jones One Stroke Over

LONG BEACH, N. Y., May 28.—Playing almost perfect golf against the roistering wind which blew in from the Atlantic during the late afternoon, Johnny Farrell, youthful professional of the Quaker Ridge club, today led 68 second section qualifier for the national open golf championship at Lido. His round of 70 tied the new record for the exacting 18 hole seaboard course established yesterday by MacDonald Smith of Lake Ville.

Farrell's score was one stroke better than the card turned in by the American amateur champion, Bobby Jones, who finished erratically after posting five birdies on the first 18 holes. The long and well directed drives off the tee which brought the Georgia star along at a brilliant pace during the outgoing journey began to hook into water and sand on the way home and where he had frequently taken his approach putts for birdies on the first nine he was desperately trying to sink the long ones to keep within par figures near the close of the test.

All the favorites came through today as was the case yesterday. Tommy Harmon of the Hudson River club and Willie MacFarlane, of Oakridge, neighborhood professionals at Metropolitan courses, finished behind Jones wit h72's, while five players were bunched with 74's. They were George Heron of Westbury, N. Y.; George Derbach of Providence, R. I.; Arthur de Mane of Great Neck, L. I.; Leo Diegel of New York, and Williams L. Kline of Garden City, L. I.

HOMERS FEATURE BEARS' 6-5 WIN OVER GARDNERS

SAN ANTONIO, May 28.—Four home runs featured the scoring in the second game of the Dallas series Thursday, which was won by the Bears, 6 to 5, in the eighth inning on Rosenthal's single, bringing in Nason. Bauman and Love hit homers in the first two innings, the latter with two runners on, and Meyers and Warwick hit for homers in rapid succession in the fourth, while Danny Clark made his 16th home run in the seventh, when he scored Gonzales ahead of him to knot the count. Love struck out nine Bears. In the first innnig, Charles (Hack) Miller, Dallas right fielder, was hit above the left temple with a fast pitched ball and dropped unconscious. The game was delayed 10 minutes while doctors and players worked on him, when he was carried unconscious off the field. The score:

Ed Hughes' Column

Jack Kearns never made a mistake in prophesying while he had Jack Dempsey fighting, except once. He said Dempsey would knock Firpo out in prophesying while he had Jack rounds. Kearns now stakes his reputation as a prophet on the statement that Mickey Walker will be world's middleweight champion after the Greb fight.

"Walker has improved a hundred per cent in the past month," Kearns said yesterday. "He has picked up all the stuff that made Dempsey the greatest knock-out artist in the world. He has changed his fighting plan and from now on will make his fights as short as he can. I don't expect to see Greb stand Mickey off more than a few rounds. Greb is going to be up against a new game. He has fought bigger men and has found them slow. He smothered them in gloves. He'll find Walker faster than he is and stronger than he is, and there's no comparing Walker's punch with anything Greb ever had.

"I spent plenty of time studying fighters before I hooked up with Walker, and let me tell you I've got a champion who'll be as big a sensation as Dempsey was among the heavyweights. Walker is young and full of ambition. He'll be a champion for a long time and he'll be one of the busiest champions we ever had.

"No, it won't be two years between fights for Mickey. No fighter that ever lived could stay at the top of his form without fighting every month or two, and that's just what Walker is going to do. No fat is going to grow on Mickey while I'm managing him. He wants to fight as often as he can and I'm going to see that he gets the chance.

Walker is training for the Greb fight at his quarters near Summit, N. J. Teddy Hayes, who worked with Dempsey at all his training camps, is handling Walker's training. Kearns never stays around a training camp. He handles the important details and leaves the routine stuff to a trained corps of assistants. By next week Kearns will probably be telling Tex Rickard why Walker will be worth a half million dollar purse in his first fight as middleweight champion.

* * *

Jack Britton, former welter-champion, is winning a lot of fights in western states and conducting a lively campaign for a return match with Walker. The inside dope is that Jack intends to claim the welter title if Walker moves up among the middleweights.

TIGERS DEFEAT WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, May 28.—Red Faber weakened in the ninth when Cobb injected his pinch hitter into the game and overtook Chicago after the locals had scored four runs on Kamm's home run with the bases filled in the eighth. Chicago tied the count in their half of the ninth, but Lyons, who relieved Faber, was unsteady in the 10th and started the visitors to victory with a wild throw to second. Bunched hits followed this and Detroit won, 7 to 5. The score:

Front Drive Autos Next Improvement, Says Rickenbacker

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 28.—(AP)—Front drive automobiles will be the next improvement in motordom, in the opinion of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, manufacturer and former race driver, who will pace the first lap of the 500-mile race here Saturday.

Rickenbacked has displayed great interest in the front drive racing creations of the veteran pilots Dave Lewis and Benny Hill. With the power going into the front wheels it is claimed practically all skidding is eliminated.

"The front drive is the next great step forward," the former world war aviator said. "When it is perfected it will mean smaller motors, more power, more safety and greater economy of operation. The fact that skidding will practically be eleminated is important in this day when we are striving for greater safety."

WESTWARD HO, England, May 28.—(AP)—The finals of the British amateur golf championship will be played tomorrow between Robert Harris, a Scotchman from Dundee, and K. F. Fradgley, of Warren. The last hope of the western hemisphere, J. I. Cruickshank, Argentine champion, fell a victim to Noel Layton at the 19th hole in the sixth round. Five Americans were eliminated in earlier rounds, Douglas Grant, who lives in England, surviving until yesterday when he was beaten by R. W. Crummack, Lancashire champion.

Harris, who is the favorite for the 1925 amateur title, was captain of the British team that played against America in the United States in 1923 and at St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1923.

TRUCK WRECK IS FATAL TO WICHITA MAN

Dead Man Lays Under Car Unknown to Motorists Driving By

E. W. Chaitor, 35, was killed early Thursday morning on the Wichita Falls-Henrietta highway about six miles west of Henrietta when a large truck he was driving slid off a temporary wooden bridge and overturned, imprisoning him beneath.

Chaitor was returning to Wichita Falls from Dallas with a truck load of gas for the Wichita Falls bottling works. In crossing one of the temporary wooden bridges on the highway placed on the road just west of Henrietta while the concrete culverts are being constructed the concrete curbing slipped over the side and the truck evidently turned over after falling seven or eight feet, and crushed between the ground and the steering wheel. His death is believed to have been instantaneous.

The body was not discovered until passersby report early Thursday morning, although the truck is said to have been overturned during the night. Chaitor was an independent trucker between Dallas and Wichita Falls. He is survived by a widow and two children.

Do not wait until something like this happens to you and it is too late.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, May 28.— (AP) —Stock prices moved up briskly today with bears supplying much of the buying power. The approach of the holiday caused some profit taking, but selling was well absorbed in most issues. The day's sales again totaled about one and one-half million shares.

Resumption of dividends by the Inspiration Copper company, announcements of additional gasoline price advance, and higher lead prices were the principal news developments of the day.

A brisk demand was noted for such popular industrials as Baldwin, American, Dupont and May Department stores, all of which closed 2 to 3 points higher. U. S. Steel common selling ex-dividend $1.75, opened at 117¼, but slipped back later to 116 for a net loss of one-quarter on the day.

Rails were irregular and featureless except for the renewed accumulation of Reading, which touched a new high record at 87 and then eased to 86¾, where it was up ⅞ points on the day, and the heaviness of the St. Paul issues on selling inspired by reports that the assessments on the stocks under the re-organization plan would be larger than Wall street had anticipated.

Chief speculative interest in the motor group again centered in the Maxwell Motor issues, all of which attained new peak prices. Considerable confusion arose in the early trading as a result of reports that trading in the "B" stock had been suspended, traders of that issue rushing to cover through the purchase of "B" certificates, which were run up 10 points to 113¾ and then fell back to 106 1-6 for a net gain of 2½ points on the day.

The "B" stock the initial sale of which took place around noon, opened at 109, dropped to 105¾ and then advanced to 107½.

Heavy buying took place in motor accessory issues, American Bosch Magneto was bid up 3⅝ points to 35⅝ and then slipped back ⅛ point from the top. Fisher Body jumped 4 points to a new high at 73 and Stewart Warner closed 1⅞ higher at 70⅝. Mack Trucks touched a new peak at 185⅝ but reacted to 182⅛ for a net loss of 1⅝ on the day. Paige-Detroit got into new high ground at 23.

Good buying also developed in the tobacco group, American Tobacco "A," American Sumatra Tobacco preferred, Consolidated Cigar and Phillip Morris all establishing new 1925 high quotations. Other issues to top their previous year's maximum figures were Kelly Springfield 6 and 8 per cent preferred, Robert Reis common and first preferred, Woolworth, International Shoe, Allied Chemical, Certainteed Products and Frank G. Shattuck.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was in small volume with rates holding relatively firm.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—The cotton market ruled quiet all day except for a lively spurt near the close. After opening 6 to 9 points down on disappointing Liverpool cables, the market promptly rallied, recovering the lost ground but eased off again on reports of rains in Texas and a forecast for showery weather in the west. July traded down to 23.12, owing, it was said, to selling by spot interests and October dropped to 21.87, while December eased off to 21.98 or 12 to 15 points at the lowest under yesterday's close. The market experienced a moderate rally on a condition report by a prominent Texas firm making the average only 72.3 and the increase acreage 4.6. The Texas condition was placed at 73 but later it was announced that this was an error and that both Texas and South Carolina would be 66. To maket firmed up consideably in the last half hour and all months made new highs at 23.46 for July, 22.14 for October, and 22.25 for December, or 27 to 34 points up from the low. The advance was due to covering by early sellers when it was learned that Texas continued dry for a large proportion of the area. The close was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 12 to 15 points.

There was some disposition to sell in the early trading but this was checked by the moderate condition average reported by the Texas firm. Later sentiment was less bearish as many traders began to fear that the government's report on condition average to be made public next week would not be as high as heretofore been believed. It was this fear quite as much as the absence of the expected rains in Texas that brought the final rally.

In addition to the Texas private report, two New York authorities issued reports one making the condition 75 and acreage increase 5 per cent and the other 74.4 and 5.58.

Exports today 14,293 bales of which Houston cleared 13,731 bales. The New Orleans exchange will be closed Saturday.

ATTY.-GENERAL

consignment that he expects to sell at wholesale.

The attorney general's ruling in full follows:

Honorable S. H. Terrell,
Comptroller of Public Accounts,
Capitol.

Dear Sir: I acknowledge your letter of the twenty-second instant, as follows:

"It appears that in a number of instances that refiners are selling wholesale dealers gasoline in tank car lots, and that the major portion of such gasoline so purchased by such wholesalers is disposed of at wholesale, but in a number of instances it appears that the wholesalers have filling stations or gasoline pumps of their own at which they retail the product to the consumer.

"Under this condition the wholesaler contends that he is not due the tax upon that portion of gasoline sold at retail, and, at the same time, the refiner contends that he has no knowledge of the retail sales and no way to check the same, and inasmuch as the purchases were made by a person or firm whose principal business is that of wholesaler or jobber, that the tax should not be imposed upon the refiner.

"Will you kindly give me your advice as to whether the tax is divisible in such instance or upon whom the tax is imposed, in wholesale or in part."

You are advised that in the opinion of this department the transaction detailed in your letter comes within section 3-a of house bill number 67, the present gasoline tax law. Wherever the wholesale dealer conducts also a retail business he is a "retailer" within the meaning of the statute. By section 3-a "selling at wholesale" includes any and all sales of gasoline in any quantity whatsoever in intrastate commerce in this state to the retailer to be sold by such retailer to the consumer, in any quantity whatsoever. When gasoline is sold by a manufacturer to a person or concern engaged in retailing the product even though the primary business of such person or concern is selling at wholesale, nevertheless there has been a sale to a retailer to be sold to the consumer, and it will appear that the language "in any quantity whatsoever" would require a tax upon the entire sale, unless at the time thereof the portion to be sold at retail is susceptible of identification.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) ERNEST MAY,
Assistant Attorney General.

COLLIER

the fourth on the propossition that no evidence has been put into the record by the state showng that Buster Robertson was actually killed as a result of words spoken or acts done by the defendant in the present case. In the issue of duress the defense contends that it is presumptive that a wife is always under influence of her husband and is guided in measure by his actions and wishes.

A Peculiar Case.

In discharging the crowded court room Thursday afternoon Judge Bryant pointed out that the present case was a most peculiar one and presented legal questions which perhaps had never before been raised in a murder case in Texas. He stressed the fact that preparation of the charge was fully as important as introduction of evidence or argument of counsel and that a desire on his part to offer a charge legal and fair in every respect was the reason for the long delay.

Thursday afternoon proved to be merely one long wait for the hundreds who jammed the Haskell county court house. They stuck tenaciously to their seats, however, conversed with each other and for a time watched a pouring rain which broke over the city about 3 o'clock.

The principal feature of the day was the testimony Thursday morning of Mrs. Frank Wood of Wichita Falls who was brought into the court room on a cot to tell the jury she had heard Mrs. Collier once say referring to Buster Robertson "I've had enough of him if he don't leave her alone I'm going to have Collier kill him or knock him in the head, or words to that effect. Mrs. Woods, whose illness has delayed court proceedings for the last two days, also testified she had once heard Mrs. Collier say she would rather see Mary Francis in her coffin than married to Buster.

Thursday brought developments as varied as the other days had been monotonous.

It started with the same old familiar announcement from Judge Bruce Bryant.

Delay Is Short.

Gentlemen, I am sorry but we must again delay a short time. This delay, however, proved to be for only about 40 minutes. It was occassioned by preparations necessary to bring Mrs. Woods to the court room. The girl whose illness has caused a two-day halt in the proceedings, spent a restful night at the home where she was removed a short time after fainting and falling from the witness stand Tuesday morning. She slept well and was in good condition when she appeared.

She was brought in on an ambulance cot carried by sheriffs, deputies and attended by Mrs. Cora Fruechte who has been nursing her throughout her illness. Mrs. Fruechte was asked by Judge Bryant, after Mrs. Woods was first stricken to lend what assistance she could, and from that time on she was the principal attendant at the bedside of the sick girl.

No one was in the court room when Mrs. Woods appeared except the jury, court officials, attorneys and newspaper correspondents.

Mrs. Woods occupied a cot when testifying, and all spectators were barred from the room, as physicians had advised the court Mrs. Woods should be shielded from all excitement possible.

Tells of Acquaintance.

Mrs. Woods told of her acquaintance with the Collier family in the summer of 1924. The Saturday after Robertson had been killed she testified that Mrs. Collier said that had not Collier killed Robertson "she would have." The witness could not remember just which words were used. At another point in her testimony, the witness said Mrs. Collier had said, in her presence, she would rather "see Mary Francis Collier, Mrs. Collier's daughter, in her coffin than married to Buster."

Mrs. Woods was subjected to a brief cross-examination. The direct examination conducted by District Attorney Allred was halted frequently by objections from the defense that Mr. Allred was leading the witness and was seeking a constant repetition of statements that Mrs. Collier had said she would kill Buster or have it done if he didn't cease his attentions to Mary Francis. These objections were for the most part, overruled by Judge Bryant.

When Mr. Allred had finished Mr. Francis for the defense inquired of Mrs. Woods if she felt strong enough to answer a few more questions. She replied affirmatively and the cross-examination started.

It was not long and consisted principally of queries as to the time Mrs. Collier had made the alleged statements. Mr. Francis sought to draw out that the witness' recollection on this was somewhat dim and uncertain and succeeded in a measure, in qualifying her testimony.

Mrs. Woods bore up well under the ordeal and did not appear to be fatigued when she was carried out after being on the stand about 40 minutes.

With her testimony completed the state announced it rested and another delay came at request of defense counsel. When court was called again Judge Murchison of the defense asked if the state conceded without opposition that prior to the shooting of Robertson Mrs. Collier had borne a reputation as a peacable and law abiding citizen. The state did, and then Judge Murchison offered in evidence part of the testimony given by Mrs. Collier in the habeas corpus hearing for her husband in Wichita Falls last March. The state had used a portion of the same testimony earlier in the case, showing that Mrs. Collier had made the threat to Mary Francis the night of the shooting that if Buster comes down here I'll blow his brains out. Later she testified that she had said that only to frighten her daughter and that on that night of the killing she nor her husband had no idea or intention of shooting the boy.

Object to Collier.

Efforts of the defense to put Mr. Collier on the stand were blocked by the state when Mr. Ahred insisted that Mr. Collier had been indicted for murder, tried and convicted on a manslaughter charge and was now under a three-year penitentiary sentence. This, he held, rendered him incompetent to offer testimony of any kind in court. His contention was upheld and Mr. Collier who had taken the stand, left it without having said a word. He took a seat next his wife.

The defense rested on direct testimony and after a half hour intermission in which much heated consultation was held between the court and attorneys for both sides, it was announced that no further evidence would be introduced by anyone, Judge Bryant then excused the jury with the explanation that preparation of his charge might require the balance of the day. He said he would call the jurors when he needed them again.

This case has been a peculiar one in many respects and has been tried with introduction of less evidence, perhaps, than any other murder case in the history of the country. The state us odenly six witnesses and of these only two were cross examined by the defense. The defense used no witnesses, other than introduction of the stenographic report of Mrs. Collier's former testimony. The defendant herself was not asked to take the stand nor was Mary Francis, her daughter, who was believed by many to have been counted on for testimony at some point in the proceedings.

Different Trial.

The trial differed radically from that of Mr. Collier in Wichita Falls in that at no time was any reference made by either side to the thing that was relied on as Mr. Collier's principay defense. All immoral conditione in the home of Mrs. Hattie Robertson. No questions was ever raised by the defense on this point, although 25 or 30 witnesses have been in Haskell all week. Among them were those who on the former trial brought revolting stories of alleged immorality in the home of the boy whose love for the former mayor's daughter cost him his life.

TRUCK WRECK IS FATAL TO WICHITA MAN

Dead Man Lays Under Car Unknown to Motorists Driving By

E. W. Claitor, 35, was killed early Thursday morning on the Wichita Falls-Henrietta highway about six miles west of Henrietta when a large truck he was driving slid off a temporary wooden bridge and overturned, imprisoning him beneath.

Claitor was returning to Wichita Falls from Dallas with a truck load of gas for the Wichita Falls bottling works. In crossing one of the temporary wooden bridges that had been placed on the road just west of Henrietta while the concrete culverts are being constructed the truck evidently slipped over the side, and turned completely over after falling seven or eight feet. Claitor was imprisoned beneath it, and crushed between the ground and the steering wheel. His death is believed to have been instantaneous.

The body was not discovered until 5:30 Thursday morning, although passersby report seeing the truck in its upturned condition as early as 4 o'clock, none stopping to investigate however.

Claitor was an independent trucker between Dallas and Wichita Falls. He is survived by a widow and two small children.

Proper Salute Of Flag Is Urged By Lions Club Head

Urging that Rotarians set an example of good citizenship and take care to properly salute the flag as it passes in parade, H. J. Bruce, president of the Lions club, and a visitor at the Rotary luncheon at the Kemp Thursday noon, discussed the question of respect to the flag. Principles of flag courtesy were told with special reference to parade tactics.

"When the flag goes by Saturday morning in our Decoration day parade, every man of you remember to give the citizen's salute. We Americans all love our flag, but sometimes we are thoughtless and fail to pay it the respect it is due," Mr. Bruce declared.

The "question box" plan was adopted and inaugurated at Thursday's meeting, by which a member of the club may ask a question of another Rotarian through the box, the latter being obliged to answer that question at the luncheon.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd furnished the musical program, conducting a sing song preceded by a solo, "Laugh it Off." Mrs. Shepherd accompanied the mayor at the piano.

MORENO SCORES A HIT

Mission Offers Pleasing Drama In "Her Husband's Secret"

Antonio Moreno in "Her Husband's Secret" AT THE MISSION

Picture fans who have seen racey, jazzy melodramas and serio-comedies aplenty during the past few months will do well to visit the Mission theatre today to view Frank Lloyd's "Her Husband's Secret." This First National adaptation of the May Edington Saturday Evening Post story, "Judgement," is decidedly different from anything we have seen in a good long time and delightfully different.

Is a Drama.

It is a drama, pure and simple, but what a drama.

Here is a story which should appeal to all classes of picture lovers; it should entertain the younger generation of the present, and mother and father and grandpa and grandma can enjoy it equally.

The film relates in an unusually impressive manner, the sacrifices of parents who give their only children to the love of others, the natural spirit of protection of their loved ones and more than just that—a double romance, one with a mercenary object in view, the other one of faithful devotion and of giving rather than receiving.

Lloyd, whose "The Sea Hawk," will long cling to our memory, proves himself a rare artist in the development of the action. He works with broad sweepin strokes and with the finesse that is truly great. The thrilling climax to the picture makes one's blood fairly turn cold, yet the romance of the two couples is so delicately handled that the reviewer feels like an intruder as the scenes in the garden and at the fireside flicker past. Indeed "Her Husband's Secret," is no ordinary entertainment—it is in the class with the best.

Moreno Is Perfect.

Antonio Moreno plays Owen Elliot to perfection. Patsy Ruth Miller, who plays Judy, is beautiful and an actress of the highest type. Ruth Clifford, as the young Mrs. Kent and the elderly Mrs. Pearce, is both beautifully sweet and captivating in her characterization, and David Torrence as Ross Brewster, plays his difficult part with a keen understanding and sympathy. Walter McGrail, Phillis Haver and Bobbie Bolder make things lively during their portion of the prologue. Little Frankie Darro and Pauline Neff, a newcomer to the screen, are included in the cast.

A majority of the settings are natural and the photoplay is an achievement.

Having taken over the department only six months ago, her work is noteworthy, as she far exceeded her quota, and won the honors over all the stores in the United States, no other Texas store receiving recognition in the contests.

Rev. Frank M. Richardson, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district M. E. Church, South, has returned from a trip through his district which covers all of 19 different points.
