Wolves Play Winters In Football Opener Friday

An Eye For Football

FLOOD FOR FM'S & HIGHWAYS

September Rains Near 10 Inches

"Everybody's talking about the weather," today all over town. It rained. It kept on raining. Prediction is for rain again.

September's first five days boast a total rainfall in Colorado City of 9.94 inches. Lacking one inch and a small fraction, that total misses equalling rain of the whole of 1962. Since January 1, this year, Colorado City rainfall has totaled 10.95. New '62 total now stands at 20.89 with 9.94 falling since Saturday.

Official rain guage at City Hall, says Virgil Eaton, Fire Marshall and weatherman, reads: Sept. 1, 1.70; Sept. 3, 2.18; Sept. 5, 2.59; to noon Thursday, Sept. 6, 3.47.

January rains here totaled only .02 of an inch. February had none. March recorded 2.19; April, 1.39; May, 1.09; June, 2.43; July, 2.71; and August 1.12.

Steady rains from nightfall last night had slackened to light scattered showers by 1 p. m. today. Bfore letting up the Wednesday night-Thursday morning rains poured down all over the county and area, flooding some county roads, both detours east and west of town where work is in progress completing Interstate 20 to by-pass Colorado City for benefit of through traffic on Highway 80.

Karl Anderson, Texas State Highway Department, said at noon today that highway crews have been sent to several highways and farm roads in trouble. Lone Wolf Creek spilled over State Highway 350. South of Loraine, no. 644 was flooded and full of bad spots. In the "Buford flats" 1½ feet of water submerged Farm Road 1982 which runs into 644.

Paul Logsdon, maintenance construction foreman for the Highway Department here, reported at 2 p. m. that FM 1982 is closed to through traffic. It's flooded. FM 1298, north and west, the road to Lake J. B. Thomas, is closed. State Highway 350 is still open, but has water spilling over in spots. State Highway 208, north of Buford, is also under water but still open.

Lake Colorado City has risen 2.75 feet, said Roy Bates of Texas Electric Power Plant at the lake. Champion Lake is up about 3 feet. A further rise is expected, Bates said, as rains were heavy and general over the entire water shed, this time.

At Owens Furniture Store 257 Oak St., part of the roof fell in Thursday morning, as a result of too much moisture. Bill Owens is store owner and Dr. J. D. Williams owns the building. Water collecting on the roof of the building first caused the back part of the ceiling and roof to sag. Then it collapsed. No one was injured. No one was in the store when the collapse came. Store personnel were outside unloading a van.

But right now, water is running about 3 feet deep in the back of the store. Though some of the furniture stock was moved when the sag was noted, there was some damage to other furniture, refrigerators, stoves and beds. Owens' damage, he estimated, was about $1,600.

At China Grove gin 4 inches fell today and last night, bringing this month's total to 6 inches. Dirt roads at China Grove are impassable, gin officials report.

Buford received 4 inches today and last night and has an 8½ inch total for September. Grade of old cotton was damaged some in Buford area, Raymond Watlington said today.

Wright Hock, Renderbrook White House, reported 1½ measured to noon today and hard rain still falling. Wednesday's rain at Renderbrook measured 3.55. September 1 rain totaled 97/100. No cotton

8 P.M. Kickoff on Wolves' Home Field

Colorado City High Wolves, a question-mark ball club of District 3-AAA, opens their 1962 football season here Friday night against Winters Blizzards, predicted power in District 7-AA.

Kickoff will be at 8 p. m. on Wolf Stadium turf certain to be unpredictable with heavy rain and mud.

Coach Sam Christy's Wolves, definitely with no inferiority complex although tabbed for the lower echelons of 3-AAA, will be underdogs despite the home field advantage.

That's because Coach L. G. Wilson's Blizzards will field a balanced team of veteran lettermen from a team that last season spoiled the Wolves' homecoming, 8 to 0.

Infact, Denny Aldridge, the lad who scored all 8 points last October for Winters, will be right back in the line-up Friday night — this time as a sophomore.

* * *

Christy, whose Wolves tied with Sweetwater and Snyder last season for third and last place in District 3-AAA, has 13 lettermen in his squad that isn't blessed with speed or extra strength at ends and corner backs.

Too, his squad has under its belt 2 tough scrimmages with Hamlin, a 7-AA foe of Winers, and many of the mistakes of the first were eliminated in the second scrimmage.

Co-Captain Charles Houston, whose playing weight meanders between 195 and 200 pounds, shoulders a big responsibility in the Colorado offensive strategy. He's a senior and a damaging runner who has a habit of adding power as the game grows old.

Also in the Wolf starting backfield will be senior David Lewis, 135-pound letterman quarterback with a knack for leadership; Bill Boren, 175-pound junior letterman tailback, and Raymond Kincaid, 165, a determining junior wingback.

Tagged for service along with Lewis at quarterback is Dale Walker, 165, the kid who came up from the B-team late last year in time to win a letter.

Up front for the Wolves likely will be Lee Schafer, 170, senior, and Don Hairston, 170, senior, both lettermen ends; Stanley Post, 205, senior, only 2-year letterman on the squad, and Larry Hamner, 180, letterman senior, one of the team's best blockers, at tackles; bill McGuire, 180-pound letterman, and Don Free, 170-pound senior letterman, at guards; Leon Sweatt, 210-pound junior, at center.

The Blizzards, with six letterman backs and eight lettered linemen, have better balance of experience than the Wolves.

Standouts in the beefy Winters line will be Eugene Mathis, 215-pound tackle, and Alvis Jackson, 170-pound guard.

Despite the 6 lettered backs, the Blizzards have shifted Steve Grissom from fullback, where he started last season,

After Game Party Dance For Students

A party-dance for high school students only, after this week's Friday night home football game, is being sponsored by the City Recreation program. In announcing the dance and party, Mrs. Dick Wistrand added that music will be played by "The Rhythm Ramblers." (There will be a $1.25 charge for each couple, $1 charge for each stag.)

Chaperones will be present. Adult supervision of the after-football affair is assured, the City Recreation Coordinator Mrs. Wistrand stressed.

M. R. Read Funeral Here

Funeral was held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Kiker & Son chapel for Milton R. Read, 61, of Westbrook. Mr. Read died in the hospital here Saturday after an illness of several months.

He is survived by his wife, who was before their marriage in Paint Rock, 1928, Miss Ione McArtney. Two sisters also survive: Mrs. Rebecca Monday of Crystal City and Mrs. Winnie Johnson of Brownwood.

Born in New Mexico May 23, 1901, Mr. Read moved to Mitchell County in 1933. He was a farmer in the Westbrook area.

The Rev. Kenneth Andress, pastor of Westbrook Baptist Church, officated for last rites and burial was in Westbrook cemetery under direction of Kiker.

Business Man Has Stroke Enroute Home

A Breckenridge man enroute home from business in Monahans suffered a stroke at 12:30 a. m. Thursday. William G. Hellinghauser, 67, was found lying beside Highway 80, a mile east of Lone Wolf Electric Co-op headquarters, alive but seriously ill.

Hellinghauser had apparently stopped his car and tried to roll under it for protection from driving rain when he became suddenly ill. He was

Wednesday, New Farm Tour Date

Thursday's Mitchell County Farm Tour was rained out. The annual farm tour has been postponed.

New date is Wednesday of next week, September 12. Plans will be the same as those announced for today, Thursday September 6. Heavy rains all over the county made the new date necessary.

If reservations have been made by any citizens for the noon barbecue hour, no reservations will have to be made, said the Soil Conservation Service office Thursday morning.

The office did request that people who "change their minds" and decided not to go notify the Chamber of Commerce office here or Loraine of changed plans.

School bus transportation will be offered from Lone Wolf to China Grove to Loraine for a mid-morning coffee break; lunch, courtesy of participating merchants.

Narrators will be aboard each school bus to lead discussion of farms and club calves visited.

What is your Question?

QUESTION: "Did the early Christians see the Bible."

To say that "the early Christians NEVER SAW THE BIBLE" is indeed an error!

As most everyone knows, the Bible consists of the Old and New Testaments. The Old Testament was translated into Greek about 275 B. C. So, in New Testament times, the Old Testament was available to the people in both the original Hebrew and in Greek. But, DID ANYONE SEE IT?

Jesus read from the prophet Isaiah in the synagogue, (Luke 4:16-20). Was He the only one who had access to this book. NO! "Search the scriptures . . ." said Jesus to the Jews (John 5:39). How could they search it they never saw them? The Ethiopian was reading the prophet Isaiah (Acts 8:28). He became a Christian, (Acts 8:33-39). So, he is one Christian who DID see at least a part of the Bible. The Bereans "searched the Scriptures daily . . ." (Acts 17:11). How could they, if THEY NEVER SAW THE BIBLE? God's teachings through Moses were WIDELY CIRCULATED. (Acts 15:21).

Christians in the city of Colosse received the Colossian letter, which was to be read by them. They were to follow this instruction: "And when this epistle hath been read among you, cause that it be read also in the church of the Laodiceans; and that ye also read the epistle from Laodicea" (Colossians 4:16). Paul wrote to the Thessalonians and near the end of the letter he said: "I adjure you by the Lord that this epistle be read unto all the brethren." (1 Thessalonians 5:27). FROM THIS IT IS OBVIOUS THAT THE EARLY CHRISTIANS DID SEE THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS!

Certain articles authored by a certain religious group and appearing in dailies and periodicals state: "If Christ had intended a book to be the sole authority for His teaching would He have allowed centuries to pass . . . before making it available". Now, all of the New Testament books were written before the end of the first century. And that would be no more than 67 years after the death of Christ. Documentary evidence proves the world had all of the Bible written by THE END OF THE FIRST CENTURY—NOT "CENTURIES" LATER.

This same religious group says: ". . . millions of early Christians became members of Christ's church . . . before the writings of the New Testament were completed". This is declared, as though it was a startling new discovery, and as if it disqualified the Bible as man's sole religious authority. Everyone who has studied the Bible knows men first became Christians (Acts 2) by hearing the preachers rather than seeing the New Testament. The Holy Spirit inspired men to speak the word orally, and later guided the same men in writing it down. "How that by revelation was made known unto me the mystery, as I wrote before in few words." (Ephesians 3:3). "If any man thinketh himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him take knowledge of the things which I write unto you, that they are the commandment of the Lord." (1 Corinthians 14:37).

The rule of faith for Christians has always been the Word of God, whether ORAL or WRITTEN. Before the WRITTEN word, the rule of faith was the inspired ORAL word! While both the oral and written word co-existed, either, or both of them, were the rule. THE WRITTEN WORD WAS AS AUTHORITATIVE AS THE ORAL WORD. Apostolic teaching was equally binding, whether oral or written. "So then, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye were taught, whether by word, or by epistle of ours." (2 Thessalonians 2:15). Furthermore, the oral word was identical with the written word and vice versa. The same message was conveyed, whether it was spoken or written! And, the ORAL WORD NEVER CONTRADICTED THE WRITTEN WORD. And Christians had opportunities to see the written word, in fact, they were commanded to read it (Luke 1:3-4; John 2:30-31).

Nowhere is there any record of Peter, Paul or anyone inspired contending that the church is the author of the rule of faith, as some contend today. The church, as such, had no authority. Jesus had all authority (Matthew 28:18), and that which He spoke was given to be obeyed and observed by the church. It is not the main reason any church claims today that it, the church, is the rule of faith, because that is the only way that church can hope to uphold its teaching and practices which are not in accord with the Bible?

Yes, the early Christians DID see the Bible, and they DID rely upon it as their rule of faith and practice. It is here today and should be relied upon by all who want to please God. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away" (Matthew 24:35).

AUGUST 31 IN TRINITY BAPTIST CHURCH

Bridges, Johnson Vows Repeated In Lubbock Church

Mrs. Franklin H. Johnson
. . . nee Alice Ann Bridges

Vows read Friday in the Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock united Miss Alice Ann Bridges and Franklin H. Johnson in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. Bridges, 4305 Elgin St., Lubbock, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Juanita Johnson, Colorado City.

Dr. C. Melvin Ratheal was the officiating clergyman at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, R. L. Grimmett, assisted by Al Wayne Bridges of Lubbock, brother of the bride, wore a traditional gown of chantilly lace, and brocaded cotton. The bodice was fashioned with a gentle-scoop neckline and long sleeves that tapered to points over her wrists. The street-length dome skirt was of matching cotton brocade.

Her 3-tiered bouffant veil cascaded from a hand-made cabbage rose of white silk organza. The bridal bouquet was of white frenched carnations with lace and satin leaves with streamers of lovers' knots.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Bridges of Lubbock, sister of the bride. She wore a pale orchid gown of cotton satin, styled with a pleated skirt, scooped neckline and a gentle wing back. She wore a matching headpiece of circlets of illusion attached to a matching cabbage rose.

Miss Arlene Bridges of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her gown and headpiece were identical to those of the maid of honor, but in a pale pink shade. Her bouquet was of pink frenched carnations with satin leaves.

Thursday, opening day, between 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. is the day and time for getting exhibits set up, Dick Kendall said this week. All exhibits will be judged that day between hours of 2 and 5 p. m.

At 5 that afternoon, Thursday, fair gates — and doors will swing open to the public. Friday the fair will be open from 10 a. m. until 8 o'clock at night when doors will close for the football game at Wolf stadium here.

Saturday, the fair will stay open from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. with exhibitors asked to pick up their exhibits between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Arts and Crafts division has two special rules: an individual may enter only one item in any one class; and all work must have been done by the exhibitor.

Portraits, landscapes, still life, and other paintings may be shown and judged for prize ribbons, in both oil and watercolor. Ceramics, mosaic articles, jewelry items, leather articles, and arts-craft worked in dry media are open for arts and crafts competition.

Horticulture divisions are open to growers of flowers and plants of all varieties: roses — floribunda, grandiflora, hybrid tea climbers; chrysanthemums of all colors and varieties; perennials — garden pinks, phlox, canna, Gaillardia, asters; giant, medium, and small dahlias.

Youth and adult divisions will be judged separately and ribbons awarded in each agriculture division. Agriculture classes will be open for cotton (both irrigated and dry land) for grains and seeds on wheat, oats, barley, rye, cowpeas, sweet sorghum, milo (white and red) and hegari.

Bundled forage crops, sorghum heads and ear corn, and vegetables complete the agriculture classes. Garden crops of potatoes, onions, turnips, radishes, tomatoes, cashaw, pumpkin, watermelon, cantaloupe, peppers, beans, cucumbers, beets, okra, squash, green beans, and green peas.

All fruits and nuts grown in Mitchell County — pears, apples, grapes, peaches, peanuts, pecans — will be judged for ribbons in classes for both junior growers and adults.

Miscellaneous crops may be exhibited.

PEGGY'S

Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

LABOR DAY was a fun-filled holiday for most of our local citizens, what with the big FISHING DERBY, visiting relation and a day off from the job . . .

This writer's Labor Day holiday was mostly spent in driving to and from LOWAKE, where they serve the heapingest big platters of the most delicious steaks a Texas steer ever walked around with.

From a dinner for two, we extracted 10 big, thick steaks; enough to feed 10. After gorging ourselves, and still not making a dent in the pile of steaks, we were gratified when the friendly waitress brought us a couple of paper bags marked "BONES FOR BOWSER."

Well . . . Bowser got no bones . . .

After dipping into the bags for a couple of days, we finally finished the steak at lunch 2 days after the trip to Lowake . . .

* * *

CITIZENRY OF THIS West Texas town dragged out sweaters, woolens, corduroys and leotards this week as the drenching rain brought a bit of a chill upon us.

The changing seasons, for me, always bring a change of headaches. After squeezing pennies all summer, I've finally gathered a halfway-presentable summer wardrobe . . . only to find the season no longer permits them...

So . . . back to squeezing pennies again. It looks like, after so many seasons, I'd have a huge wardrobe . . . but the season is always over before I can find all the clothes tucked away where I'd be sure to find them when they were needed . . . .

* * *

ANOTHER FIRST has happened in my family . . .

My second-grader kid sister is so proud this year . . . she's allowed to choose the clothes she wants to wear and dress herself, right down to hairbows.

She was halfway to school the other day on the school bus before she realized that she still had on her pajama trousers.

But . . . she sneaked them out of the school bus window before anyone could notice.

MISSIONARIES TO SPEAK

First Methodists Plan Special Day

First Methodist Church here will have three guest speakers in Sabbath Day services Sunday September 9, the church pastor Rev. Darris Egger announced today.

Dr. Hubert R. Sone, former president of Trinity Theological College in Singapore, Malaya, will preach at the morning hour of worship. Dr. Sone will also address combined Sunday School classes in St. Luke Methodist Church at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Speaking to Sunday School classes in First Methodist will be two former Trinity Theology College students, the Rev. and Mrs. Ee-Lin Ng, who are now Crusade Scholars in Perkins School of Theology, Dallas. Rev. Ee-Lin Ng visited First Methodist Church in Colorado City as special guest speaker in the autumn of 1959.

Dr. Sone, a native of Denton, Texas, was educated in Clarendon College, Southern Methodist University, and the University of Chicago. He was a missionary in China and Malaya from 1920 through January 31, 1962, a member of the Malaysia Chinese Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Malaya while a missionary there.

He was decorated by the Chinese Government with "Order of the Jade," the highest decoration conferred on foreign civilians. Since his retirement last January, Dr. Sone, has volunteered his services, without pay, to the Methodist Mission Board in New York for speaking engagements.

Rev. Ng will speak to the Methodist Men's Bible class at First Methodist Church, at 9:45 Sunday morning. His wife will be with him. The Men's Bible Class and other interested individuals have three native scholarships in the Trinity Theological College, Singapore.

At the evening worship service, Dr. Sone and Rev. Ng will speak briefly, and then show moving pictures of Methodist work in Malaya. Rev. Ng and his wife will present the program of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. The three speakers will present a program at the Sub-District meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Trinity Methodist Church, Snyder, on Monday evening. Mrs. Ng is a registered Nurse on duty at the Methodist Hospital in Dallas.

The entire community is given a cordial invitation to attend any or all of these services to hear these missionaries, the Rev. Mr. Egger said in his announcement of the special Sunday services.

CONVERSATION CORNER

THAT BEAUTIFUL MAN known to Hollywood and to the world as Mr. Gary Grant is not afflicted with the handicap of modesty.

"I still have the same body I had when I was 19 years old," he said in an interview the other day. Grant credits not-smoking, not-drinking, and not night-clubbing as the pure power behind his pretty physique.

"My body's the same I had in my teens," he said staunchly.

* * *

WELL BULLY for him. But my goodness! Don't we all? That just happens to be one of the worst complications of living a lifespan as a human. In this world everybody is stuck with whatever body he started out with. You can't change a body like you do pajamas.

Barring leaps and bounds in plastic surgery, people are stuck with the same old face, too.

Change, when it comes, is slow and subtle. The most devastating change comes from the inside out, not from the outside in.

* * *

HAL BOYLE, one of this country's most amusing nationally syndicated columnists, did a little piece about those inner changes, recently.

"Middle-age is like Heaven . . ." he wrote in part. "Many people respect it, but few are in any hurry to get there."

Middle-age, Boyle said, is "a condition measured more by your actions and how you feel than your mere number of years."

* * *

AGREED. A favorite American cliche' is the one that goes "A man is only as old as he feels and a woman as old as she looks — or as young as her husband can afford to dress her."

Boyle, though, skips lightly over middle-age for women. Women get middle-aged, he thinks, very suddenly — the day before they retire and apply (at 62 or 65) for Social Security. Not one minute before.

* * *

THEN HE LISTS ways for the man of the house to know when — and if — he has entered the pearly gates of middle age.

A man, 35 or 65, is middle-aged, says Boyle, when— he thinks more about his job and less about romance . . . spends more time talking about the weather than the women . . . thinks anybody going water-skiing is crazy . . . hates to mow the lawn . . . enjoys taking medicine more than eating candy . . . can't hum or whistle any tune popular in the last five years . . . thinks more highly of Babe Ruth than Mickey Mantle . . . and had rather stay home than go visiting, partying, or night-clubbing.

* * *

FEELING that the little women may need some such scale to go by, we offer herewith a few signs.

A woman is probably middle-aged if — she'd rather hear Bing sing than Fabian . . . spends more time talking menu than men . . . thinks all the new clothes are getting more "kittenish" each season . . . hates to change her hair-do or try a new recipe . . . had just as soon keep the grandkids as go to see Cary Grant . . . and, gift check in hand, goes and gets a girdle instead of a glamorous nightgown.

* * *

ONLY WAY middle-age sounds the least bit like Heaven to us is the fact that it's beautifully peaceful there. That is, here.

Pretty Katherine Morris (Mrs. Arlene) choosing herself a flamingo pink nylon nightie . . . Martha Earnest and Mrs. Oscar Majors, lunching at the Baker, and conversing across the way with Mrs. Sam L. * * *

LABOR DAY may have been one of the "short-est" days of the season — at least at Lake Colorado City and all around the town while people were holidaying. The tall and sturdy figure in checked walking shorts, at Fish-Derby-Day-tent tables, looked exactly like City Manager Earl Keaton who usually looks more the junior executive type working at City Hall every day.

Met for the first time, that same day, Mrs. Earl Keaton — tall, attractive, and blue-eyed, with a ready laugh . . . and the Keaton children, son Gary and tiny daughter Rhonda . . . all in sports shorts. The long and short of it is they're a handsome family, even informally clad in shorts for the long day's outing.

* * *

SHORT-CLAD and fun-hatted Mary Ann McCloud (Mrs. Austin) was at the lake, too . . . Ditto Austin . . . Dick and Gwen Wistrand . . . Dick Kendall . . . Bernie Grable . . . The Keith Mileses . . . and the little man wearing those tan walking shorts answers to the name of Bill — or Mr. C.

* * *

BILL CRAIG, C. City top golfer, has been doing all right for himself. He took the Big Spring invitation golf tournament during the holiday week-end. He was champion in the Ruidoso, N. M., tourney a few weeks ago, too.

* * *

OFF THE CUFF: That pretty dark-haired girl, Wanda Marsh, who has been working in the coffee shop is now enrolled for a secretarial course at Draughon's in Abilene. She's the daughter of Katherine Brown . . . Wyone Jameson (Mrs. Myrle) her son Jerry, and his bride Donna (Reeves) left by car early Tuesday for two weeks in California. They'll visit Wyone's father and grandmother.

Jerry's granddad and great-grandmother didn't get to C. City for the recent wedding, so before Howard Payne begins again the bride and groom, and mother-of-the-groom planned the West Coast jaunt.

* * *

GONE down to Houston are Alta and C. W. Cook Sr. of Retail Merchants Association office. Mrs. R. E. Post is office-sittin' for them while they make a vacation visit to son "Cookie" — Clarence Jr., his wife Juanita (nee Brown) and their son Lance. The Cooks left by car, Wednesday.

It's rainin' rain on plain and hills,
It's rainin' crops — and worms a-plenty.

Freeway Not A Toll Road To Voting

Our nation's House of Representatives has placed the poll tax back into the news by its approval of the resolution that paves the way for the country to abolish the poll tax for all time, at least in federal elections.

Only five states now charge admission to the voting booth by the levying of a poll tax and our state, Texas, is one of the five. The others are Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi and Virginia.

The resolution passed recently by the House, which proposes an amendment to the U. S. Constitution, passed the U. S. Senate last March. In the House vote, 163 Democrats and 132 Republicans — a hefty majority — favored it.

Now, if 38 of our 50 state legislatures ratify this proposed amendment, no poll tax will be required in federal elections for any state.

The proposed amendment can't be confused as a dictatorial act against the states. It applies only to federal elections — the elections that name our president, vice president, U. S. senators and representatives.

But there will be those who will try to mislead and muddy the thought with their misleading insinuations.

Among the sensible comment concerning the proposed amendment against the poll tax — a tax that the majority of Texans have already called for abolishment in a statewide vote — came from Texas Senator Ralph Yarborough.

"The road to the ballot box," the senator emphasized this week, "should be a freeway — not a toll road."

Continuing, Yarborough stated:

"I hope that the Lone Star State will be the first state to ratify this amendment to the Constitution — this amendment in favor of the rights of man.

"We have passed the halfway mark of the 20th century. The time has come to treat the right to vote as one of the great democratic rights of Western man, like the rights to freedom of speech, freedom of religious worship and freedom of the press.

"This new amendment, if ratified by three-fourths of the states, would not apply to elections for state, county, city, school district, or any other local office. That would be a state matter. But I believe the people of Texas will follow through and do away with the poll tax altogether in their state elections if we adopt this national amendment to do away with the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in national elections. Texas voters showed in the state Democratic and Republican primaries this year that they oppose the poll tax. Both Democrats and Republicans oppose it in Texas.

"Anybody who ever tried to sell a poll tax in Texas knows that cost is a genuine barbed-wire barricade between the voter and the voting booth. To people who don't have much income, a dollar and a half for a poll tax is hard to come by. When the children need a doctor, or medicine, or bread and milk, you have to put their needs first, even if it means sacrificing a measure of your freedom . . . of your right to vote.

"As far as the principle is concerned, it is just as unfair to draw the line on the right to vote at the $1.50 mark as it would be unfair to impose other property qualifications for voting.

"Some people say the poll tax keeps only a few people from voting, so it should not be taken seriously. That's not true. Suppose, Fellow Texan, you applied that false theory to freedom of religion, and said, "Nobody can pray unless he gets a permit from the government." The theory wouldn't stand up, would it? No. The poll tax is a shackle on full citizenship, and I hope the new amendment is ratified as soon as possible and that this barrier is swept away as a shackle and a servitude of the past.

Sheepmen Vote on Promotion Program

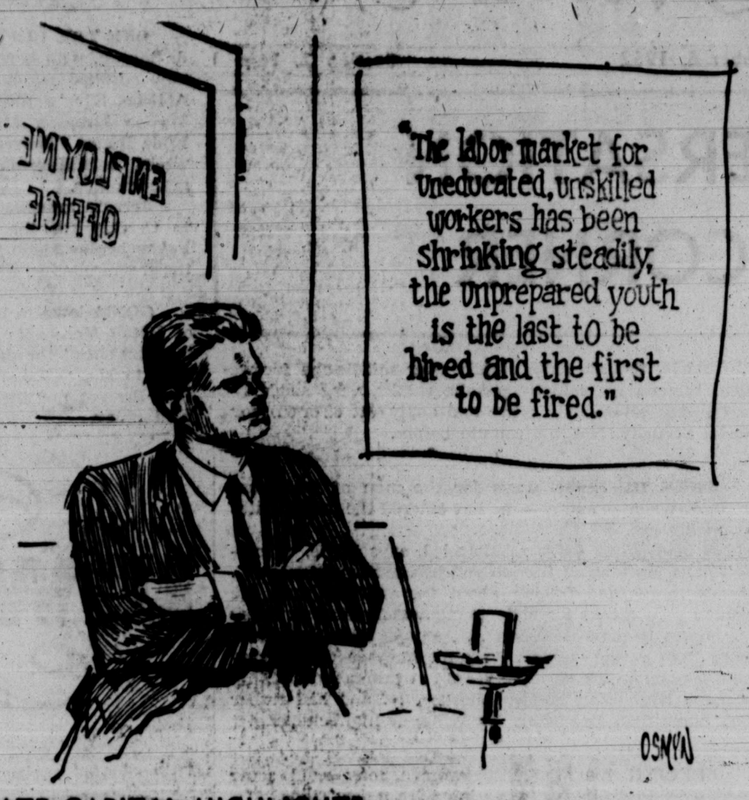

If sheep growers vote favorably in the referendum called by the Secretary of Agriculture for next week, their "self-help" advertising and promotion program for the next four years will get into full swing on a "new look" campaign that will see heavy emphasis on advertising to support seasonal movements of lambs to market.

The American Sheep Producers Council, the nationwide producer organization which was established in 1955 in accordance with the National Wool Act, is already implementing such recommendations made in the research study of McKinsey and Company, nationally-known management consultant firm.

One of the biggest changes will be in the lamb advertising program conducted by the American Lamb Council, trade branch of the ASPC. Here, the strong emphasis will be on seasonal advertising campaigns in heavy population areas where lamb is already well accepted by many homemakers as a regular part of their menu.

The Lamb Council will still maintain its nationwide campaign to attract new lamb users in areas where lamb hasn't reached the level of popularity it enjoys now on the East and West Coasts.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

El Campo to 'Annex' State Capitol For Day's Celebration

Senator Culp Krueger of El Campo, a newspaper publisher and radio station owner, is planning to "put the big pot in the little one" sure-enough when he becomes Governor-for-a-Day on September 8.

Krueger not only is inviting all his friends and neighbors to help him celebrate the event at El Campo, but he is bringing a lot of state officials to show his home-town folks how government works.

At least a dozen state boards will have their September meetings in El Campo. For example, the State Highway Commission will be on hand to explain why by-pass loop highways are good for small towns.

Theme of the state agency meetings and exhibits will be "Program of Progress for the Small Towns of Texas."

Senator Krueger's aim is to show that rural districts like his can be, and are being, helped by the state government.

He has drawn fire from a colleague, Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth, for having a lot of state officials and employees make the trek to El Campo for the day. But he's going ahead with his plans, and many state agencies are cooperating.

* * *

WHAT'S AN INDUSTRY? — School Land Board is going to have to decide before long what the Legislature meant when it said state-owned islands and submerged lands along the inland waters of Texas could be leased by the Land Board for "industrial purposes" only.

For example, Port Aransas wants to lease some state land for a city airport. Is that an "industrial" use?

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, chairman of the board, thinks it is. He wants to give a liberal interpretation to the term.

A study of the law by the Attorney General's department has provided no judicial interpretations by Texas courts of the term "industrial." But they can take their choice from courts of other states. There the interpretations range from "manufacturing only" to one case where the courts held that rice farming was an industrial activity.

CONVENTION TIME — Democratic and Republican leaders are busy planning their state party conventions to be held on September 18. Republicans meet in Fort Worth. Democrats meet in El Paso.

For the first time in many years careful attention is being paid to the party platforms.

Two big endorsements given to John Connally, the Democratic nominee for governor, hinge on what the platform says. The State AFL-CIO and Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations both want to make sure the platform is not in opposition to some of their hoped-for legislation before their endorsements take effect.

Because many Texans remain undecided, both parties hope to gain votes by what they say in their platforms. But the problem is the same as usual. They have to keep the friends they now have, while trying to attract new ones.

So, the careful, slow and demanding process of democracy goes on and on.

Efficiency Counts For Better Sales

By S. S. Talbert, Ph. D.
Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Efficiency is a term usually associated with modern inventions. However, some of the more efficient inventions are not new.

The wheel, for instance, may be traced beyond the reaches of history. Yet, it remains the most efficient device for transportation on the surface of the earth.

Printing was developed five centuries ago, and like the wheel, it has retained supremacy in efficiency. No communication device has challenged the printed word as an efficient means of communication.

The printed word may be made available to anyone, at anytime, under any circumstances.

Many people read information 10 times faster than the same material can be presented to them orally.

Only printed communication allows for immediate selection of information which is desired at a particular time.

In a library containing a million books, a single paragraph of information may be located in a matter of minutes.

In a great metropolitan newspaper, an unemployed baker may, with a glance, locate a job possibility.

Millions of families keep a printed television program because by no other means is it possible to determine immediately what is showing on a particular channel at a particular time.

And around every center of trade, the modern housewife knows that the quickest and most efficient method of learning about the current price of bacon, new fall dress displays, summer fur sales, and details on new household appliances is to refer to the local newspaper, at any time convenient to her.

The newspaper remains the most advanced device of automation in selling.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

City Writers On Wrong Farm Road

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flat Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek has gotten hold of another big city newspaper, with the following results.

* * *

Dear editor:

If I lived in a city surrounded by all those unsolved problems like traffic, lack of tax money, crime, congestion, crowded schools, parking, etc., I'd devote my time too to solving the farm problem, and it was with considerable interest I ran into a newspaper which a puff of August wind turned up out here on this Johnson grass farm the other day with an article in it by a big city columnist discussing the farm problem. He has a brand new explanation for the farm surplus.

Now up to now, I've been contending all along the farm surplus was due to the fact us farmers are just more capable than say for example the space scientists. Everybody from President Kennedy on down admits the Russians are ahead of us in space, just a everybody from Mr. Khruchev on down admits us American farmers are ahead of the Russians in food production. I don't want to brag, but there are the facts.

But this big city columnist has a different explanation altogether. According to him, "all this productivity in American agriculture is not necessarily the result of progress." He claims that "federal policies have been drawing into agriculture the small town banker, the small town doctor and anybody else after a fast buck."

In other words, it's all those small-town bankers and small-town doctors and lawyers who have bought up the farm land and produced the surplus in order to make some fast bucks. Wasn't us farmers at all.

Now I don't want to critize this city columnist, and after all, you've got to remember that one of the most inviting things about the farm problem is that anybody can offer a solution to it, safe in the knowledge that nobody else has found the right answer either, but what I'd like to know is where are all these bankers and doctors and lawyers who are making all those fast bucks by farming?

Now I know some bankers and doctors and lawyers who own some land, but it has been my opinion that all of them together haven't added over two inches to the mile-high surplus, and as for making any money, fast bucks or slow ones, I'm afraid that city columnist hasn't had an opportunity to examine their farm ledgers. And I notice very few of them are giving up their jobs in town to really go whole-hog after those fast bucks out in the country.

Another nice thing about the farm problem is that it puts city columnist in the same class with country columnists when it comes to finding a solution, and if I lived in a big city with all those city problems closing in on me, I'd attack the farm problem myself at least twice a week and sometimes on Sunday.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

The Garza County Historical Survey Committee is to be commended for what one of its members correctly terms a "whirlwind" campaign in getting two historical building medallions for the county.

Far behind other counties in the appointment of a historical survey committee, Garza County more than made up for it in the quick action it got in less than two weeks after the committee was appointed.

Some of the other counties in this area of the state have had historical survey committees at work for a year or more with no results yet to show as far as the medallions or historical markers are concerned.

All of which proves that Garza County not only has a highly historical past, but that it also has people who know how to go after and get the recognition such historical heritage deserves.

"JFK Burned in Effigy by Commies," was a headline in a daily paper last week.

Isn't it strange that these Americans, accused of being "soft on Communism" by some of our Conservative friends, are and have been always near the top on the Communist's dirt list? Yet we seldom if ever see any Communist critism of the John Birch Society, Robert Welch, John Tower, or Barry Goldwater whose sole claim to fame is that they are "anti-Communist."

Varicose Veins . . . Inherited?

"Are varicose veins inherited?" asks a reader.

Although weak connective tissues of the veins of the leg — a predisposing factor in varicose veins with their lumpy appearance — are inherited, the actual occurrance of varicose veins is the result of a combination of factors.

Prolonged standing, or the strain of pregnancy, or the constriction of tight garters and clothing will put extra stress upon these already weakened veins and may finally render them dilated, knotty and tortuous — in a word varicose.

Just how much of this extra stress each individual can stand does depend upon heredity. This, however, does not mean that a person whose mother or father had varicose veins will necessarily be so inclined. It only means that the chances of his having inherited this weakness are greater than they would be if he had no family history of varicose veins.

I know of one family where three of the sisters suffer varicose veins, as did their mother before them. But the fourth sister, despite three pregnancies and a job which necessitates prolonged standing, has never shown any inclination towards this problem. Even though weakness of the supportive tissues of the legs is a strong hereditary charateristic in her family, she fortunately was not in line for it. Chances are, though, that one or more of her children wil suffer varicose veins.

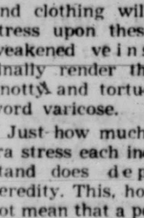

When surface veins are varicose, treatment may range from the wearing of elastic hose to keep them compressed, to surgery that removes them. Once they are removed, smaller veins and capillaries will take over their job. When varicose veins are not severe enough for surgery, some relief is given by regular light exercise to keep the blood moving and by elevating the feet at intervals to let the blood reverse itself.

Most important is to have your doctor keep his eye on them so he can determine the best treatment.

Gas Refunds For Farmers Claims Near

Farmers are reminded that they may now submit claims for federal gas tax refunds, according to Buddy C. Logsdon, Mitchell County Agricultural Agent.

The refund may be received for all gasoline used for agricultural purposes on a farm or ranch, the County Agent said. Claims should include fuel used by the operator himself or by custom operators working for him, he added However, fuel used in vehicles on roads and highways is not eligible for refund.

The claim for federal refunds must be made, Logsdon explained, from July 1 to September 30 on gasoline used between July 1 of 1961 and June 30, 1962. The procedure is simple and all farmers who filed claims last year will receive Form 2240 in the mail

Farmers who did not file last year may obtain the forms from their county agent or from the Internal Revenue Service, according to Logsdon. He also suggests that a copy of Publication 308 of the Internal Revenue Service may be of help to the applicant.

The federal gas tax refund should not be confused with the State refund which is for a shorter period of only six months, the county agent points out. This refund involves "A more complicated process and additional information should be obtained from the State Department of Internal Revenue in Austin," he added.

Also, Logsdon reminds that any uncertain points should be checked on before the claim is filed and that farmers should keep their records to verify claims submitted.

...CHANCES ARE

THE LIGHT'S WRONG, TOO

One good way to improve home study habits is to improve home study atmosphere. A properly lighted desk or table helps make studying easier because seeing and reading are easier in good light. A study lamp with a diffusing bowl and a 150-watt bulb, properly placed on the desk or table, usually provides adequate light for the long periods of reading and writing associated with homework. Help your youngster start the new school year right—with proper light for better sight.
