1968 Texas Auto License Plates To Carry Mention of HemisFair

Texas passenger car license plates for 1968 will carry an invitation to visit San Antonio HemisFair.

The Texas Highway Commission directed that the slogan "HemisFair 69," be included on the 1968 license plates, scheduled to go into production soon.

HemisFair will begin a 6-month run on April 6, 1968. Government, industry and business leaders have joined in helping develop and promote the event, planned as a "fair of the Americas."

Recent estimates by independent research agencies indicate that almost 11 million persons will visit the extravaganza.

Only HemisFair and the recent World's Fair at Seattle have been granted official designation as international expositions in this decade. HemisFair was approved by the official international sanctioning body for world fairs.

The Highway Commission in its action today noted that the U. S. Congress has appropriated $6.75 million for construction of a U. S. pavilion. The Texas Legislature has set aside $4.5 million for a permanent Institute of Texan Cultures on the HemisFair site.

Foreign nation exhibits in HemisFair will be official displays of the respective governments.

"The HemisFair will bring national and international recognition to Texas," the commission order said. "A successful HemisFair will add millions of dollars to the Texas economy from out-of-state and foreign visitors."

The Highway Department already has made plans to devote one side of its 1968 Official State Highway Map to publicizing HemisFair.

3 Hurt In Crash Near Rockport

Three persons were injured one of them seriously, in a one-car accident last Saturday night two miles south of here on Interstate 35.

Javier Castro, 34, driver of the car, was at Memorial Medical Center with multiple injuries.

Two passengers in the car, Ramiro Velese, 34, and Mary Martinez, 32, were treated at Lyman-Roberts Clinic in Aransas Pass.

According to Highway Patrolmen A. W. Fleniken and R. L. Brown, the car was traveling south on Interstate 35 when it ran off the road, struck a culvert and overturned.

Film on 'Breast Self-Examination'

Women in the Rockport area will have the opportunity at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Mar. 6 in Sacred Heart Hall to learn how to safeguard their health and lives.

They will have a chance to see a motion picture that doctors say already saved the lives of a great many women and can be the means of saving thousands more each year.

Showing of that film, entitled "Breast Self-Examination," has been arranged by the Aransas County unit of the American Cancer Society.

For five years that picture, teaching women to examine themselves for early signs of possible breast cancer, has been a vital factor in the American Cancer Society nationwide public education program. It was produced jointly by the Cancer Society and the National Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Chamber of Commerce Banquet Saturday

Only two more days remain to buy tickets for the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce which will be held at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, March 4 in the Colony Room at the Sandollar Motel.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce and the public are cordially invited to attend this outstanding civic event. Tickets may be purchased from any director of the Chamber or at the Chamber office.

In addition to Dr. Heine's address, one event being anxiously awaited is the announcement of the name of an outstanding local resident who will receive an award for meritorious achievement.

R. L. Eckman will be master of ceremonies. Talks will be given by John E. Ross, immediate past president, and Ed Harper, the new president.

Heart Association Shy of Goal

The Aransas County chapter of the Texas Heart Association has not reached its fund raising goal of $995. Collections from sale of balloons, school contributions and 90 per cent of the door-to-door canvassing amount to $729.

Mrs. Bobbie J. Driver, campaign chairman, says, "You can help us reach our goal by sending a check or money order to Texas Heart Association, Box 1313, Rockport."

She points out that if "no one has called at your home, it is only because we did not have enough workers to call at every home, but we would appreciate your contribution."

Noted Poet Presents Book To Library

Acting on behalf of author William E. Bard, J. D. Donaldson has presented a copy of "This Land, This People" to the Aransas County Library with the poet's compliments.

If it is true, as has been said, that "poetry is that form of writing which moves one," then whoever reads "This Land This People" will surely be moved; for here are poems about the Southwest and its people.

From "No Matter The Stars" to "This Is The Song," there is truth, beauty and eloquence, and never a western cliché to mar the image.

This book brings understanding of why William Earl Bard is president of the Poetry Society of Texas; most of the selections in this volume have won prizes in past contests conducted by the Society.

He is also a charter member of the Texas Institute of Letters, and a former member of the Texas Folklore Society and the Texas Historical Association.

Public School Week Program of Music

The High School Band, Mixed Chorus and Girls Chorus will present a program of music designed for easy, relaxed, and enjoyable listening to close out the activities of Public School Week.

The band program will consist of Latin American numbers that run the full course of rhythms associated with the music from Mexico and Spain. From the sounds of the bull ring through the samba and rumba, the program will give you a chance to spend some relaxing moments at the end of the week.

The singing of the always popular mixed chorus and the newly organized girls chorus will be rewarding.

Time is 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, Friday, March 10. There is no charge.

B&PW Style Show Mar. 13

The Business and Professional Women's Club will present a dinner and style show March 13 at the Colony Room at the Sandollar. Models will be local and out of town also, and will be announced later. Make plans now to attend. Members of B&PW have tickets for sale now.

POETRY SOCIETY HONORS DONALDSON

The executive committee of the Poetry Society of Texas has awarded a life membership to J. D. Donaldson in recognition of his long service in the field of poetry.

Donaldson, now serving as an area councillor, has been a member of the Society for more than 15 years and has won the Critic's Award several times. He is also a long time member of the American Poetry League.

At the Society's February meeting in Dallas his poem, "The Sculptors," won the Cyclo-Flame Prize.

City Annexation Adds Little Bay, Beaches

The City Council Monday night passed an ordinance annexing 1,097 acres of Aransas County Navigation District property.

The land is at the north end of Little Bay Shore including all of Little Bay, the beach area and some waterfront property immediately east and south of the beach area, and some water area east of Key Allegro but excluding any land of Key Allegro.

With the annexation, all ordinances of the city apply to this area, Mayor Delmar R. Hiller pointed out, "thus allowing the proper development of the Little Bay Beach area for the best interest of the citizens of Rockport."

This will include police protection to guard against speeders and also to prevent destruction of property.

"With respect to oil drilling ordinances," Hiller added, "the City of Rockport intends to update its existing drilling ordinance in the near future to incorporate desirable measures to keep this area beautiful and safe."

In another action, the Council passed a resolution expressing commendation and appreciation for the untiring and valuable service rendered to the City of Rockport by Earnest Harrist. He served as a member of the City Council over 13 years and resigned recently because he is moving into a new home outside the city limits. The entire resolution (continued on page 8)

According to the Veterans Affairs Commission, war veterans in Aransas county received $138,747 in assistance last year.

This figure was reported by James W. Hunt, Veterans Service Officer Aransas County, at a meeting of the Commissioners Court this week.

The Court approved a request by Hunt to attend a Veterans Service Officers school in San Antonio March 9 and 10.

The Commissioners authorized Judge John D. Wendell to purchase for approximately $1,000 a monitoring unit to aid landings at the airport and meet requirements of the Federal Aviation Agency. The $1,000 includes inspection of the new equipment and a contract for maintenance.

Mrs. Juanita Wagley presented a plat of the Lazy Acres subdivision for approval and the Court gave the approval. Then the Commissioners authorized purchase by the county of two lots in the subdivision for construction of a road to the new elementary school. Purchase price is $1,200.

Their car was struck by a house car driven by Joseph O'Brien of Corpus Christi, according to state highway patrolmen. The collision flipped the house car on its side. After the vehicle was righted, fire broke out and destroyed it. O'Brien was charged with failure to pass to the left in safety.

MILWAUKEE WRITER VISITS THIS AREA

Tom Guyant, outdoor editor of the Milwaukee Journal, spent several days in the Rockport area last week taking pictures and gathering information about the whooping cranes, fishing and hunting and other tourist attractions.

Assisted by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Guyant took many notes and said he was quite impressed by this area and plans to write a number of stories.

On Thursday noon he put in a call to Milwaukee and learned that the temperature was 13 degrees below zero. "I'm glad I'm here," he told his host.

Medicare and Real Estate

One aspect of the Medicare program, will be its impact on warm climate recreational resort areas and on the property values of the localities. Already many communities and individuals have recognized that the availability of this medical care for our older citizens will release vast sums of money frozen in bank accounts. No longer needing to maintain a large cash reserve to see themselves through possible illness and disability, they are using these funds to travel; especially to flee the snows and the cold weather of our northern tiers of states. Searching for a more gracious climate, seeking new adventures in living and meeting new friends, after two or three years, they will create a growing reservoir of new purchasing power to be spent in what may be termed winter resort areas.

The unique beauty of Rockport is drawing and holding more and more of our retired citizens who find here many of the simple pleasures they have looked forward to after years of labor. With its diverse activities, Rockport will be a prime choice for this group. They will want new homes or apartments designed particularly for their needs. Many will travel in these fabulous new travel trailers and will require space to spend a few months and perhaps a few years. Since this large segment of our America is a rapidly growing one, there will be a need for many new services and business. These forces and trends provide a complex program of potential development, and will stimulate the values of land and property in Rockport and its environs. To our winter visitors we urge you to settle here, while values are still low. "Buy Security" Today. Next year may be too late!

Barbara Davis No. 2 'Miss F.T.A.'

At the 18th annual convention of the Texas Future Teachers of America in San Antonio on February 24-25, Barbara Davis, a senior at Aransas County High School, won second place in the Texas "Miss F.T.A." contest.

Barbara wrote a creative three-minute speech on the topic, "Education: World's Torch for Peace" and gave it orally, without the aid of notes, to an audience gathered in the Grand Ball Room of the Gunter Hotel last Friday.

She competed against the other 12 district winners throughout the state and, unlike the U.I.L. state meet where schools compete against schools of their own size, she competed against students representing schools on up to size 4A.

Four judges rated the contestants according to a point system on the following factors: Utilization of theme, organization of material, clarity, sincerity, delivery and general appearance.

Out of a possible 360 points, the first place contestant (Lubbock) scored 356 points; the second place contestant (Aransas County) scored 355 points; and the third place contestant (Ablene) scored 354 points. As the fourth place contestant scored 340 points, a drop of 14 points, the competition between the first three places was extremely keen. Results of the other nine places were not given by the judges.

At the second general session later that evening, the three winners again gave their speeches before a packed assembly in the Municipal Auditorium. The following night, at the third general session, the three girls were called on stage and awarded beautiful trophies.

Mrs. Garvin Mitchell, sponsor, and her husband accompanied Barbara on the trip, as well as three members of the local chapter—Beth Bohmfalk, Darlene Rouquette and Stephen Harry.

Mrs. Willie Yule of Kemper arrived last week for a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Grant.

Robert J. Oliver Is Prospective Academy Cadet

Oliver of Rockport will go to San Antonio Monday to take physical and mental tests to determine his eligibility to enter the U.S. Air Force Academy. Oliver last month was nominated for an appointment to the Academy by U.S. Rep. John Young of Corpus Christi.

A former resident of Aransas Pass, he is now majoring in journalism at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi. He has an elder brother who is serving in the Marines in Japan.

The Oliver family said Wednesday some confusion had been caused by the indictment Tuesday in Houston of Robert Michael Oliver of Aransas Pass on charges of failure to report for induction into the armed forces. The two youths are not related.

W.S.C.S. TO MEET

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet for their regular monthly meeting at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, Mar. 7 in Fellowship Hall at First Methodist Church.

The program topic will be "Food for the Journey," with Mrs. I. E. Allemang as leader. A nursery will be provided at the church. All interested women are invited.

CITY PROTESTS NEW CURB ON SPORTS FISHING

Rockport leaders rolled up their sleeves this week and waded into a state legislative fight in support of the city's big year-round tourist business.

Threatening that business, as local interests saw it was a bill introduced in the House of Representatives which would impose a fishing license in every county on all anglers except those using cane poles. No exception was made for salt water fishermen.

WILLIAM MAYER, FORMER MAYOR, DIES

The death of William Mayer, 68, former baker and one-time mayor of Rockport, gave local Masons their own "Court of Missing Heirs" this week.

Working from sketchy notes and from letters, many of them in German, they were attempting to trace slender leads in a search for relatives in war-torn Germany to establish ownership of a valuable estate here.

CRIMINAL CHARGES FOLLOW PROBE OF 'BENEFIT' DANCE

Criminal charges were filed against two men as the result of a dance which was advertised as a benefit for the Disabled American Veterans whose leaders said their organization had no connection with this event.

SEWER REVAMPING PROGRAM APPROVED

The city council moved to spend the first installment of an amount estimated to run between $5,000 and $7,000 to make the city's sewer system work, if possible, and eliminate a serious health problem.

RED CROSS ASKS FOR $650

Aransas county is being asked to give $650 to the American Red Cross during the month of March. That amount is less than one-twentieth of the money spent by the Red Cross in this county after the last two hurricanes.

CITY RENDITIONS TO TAXPAYERS WITHIN WEEK

Rendition sheets for city taxes will go out to tax payers within a week as a climax to months of work to get city finances in shape.

This was the word from Mrs. Jeanie Cope, City clerk, and Fred L. Booth, who has given months of volunteer time and labor to the job as his contribution to civic progress.

AND AWAY WE GO!

We're getting to be a go-go race.

One of the major airlines is proposing to establish an on-the-hour schedule of planes between Miami and New York. This means, when and if it happens, one can walk into the airport in New York, or Miami, and without too much trouble, except during busy rush hours, plank down some money, or a credit card more than likely, and catch a plane just as simple as catching a bus to the other side of town.

The experiment is going to be an interesting one because it possibly foresees the time when the other on-the-hour schedules are adopted around the country. It could mean hourly schedules between San Francisco and Milwaukee, or Detroit and Atlanta, and other cities.

Distance certainly doesn't mean much to us any longer, thanks to the airplane.

Another airline is now specializing in early morning flights to major cities. It is telling businessmen they can be at their destination by the time offices open for business and get their transactions over with and be back home by night.

Incidentally, a certain hotel chain is distributing to guest a phomphlet cautioning businessmen against "jet fatigue." Slow down, it says, and get some sleep in a real bed, not in an airplane 23,000 feet up in the air. And it's good advice.

STANDBY SUPPORT

Anti-Communists have long held that the Communist countries are always willing to start a war, provided someone else does the fighting. By means of propaganda, and token supplies, the Reds have been very successful in getting someone else to fight their battles.

It was difficult to get a Red country to admit to this practice, however.

Well, at least not until recently.

Someone must have slipped up in Peking the other day, though, and there could be some heads knocked together for doing it.

The official Chinese communist newspaper, the People's Daily, surprisingly came out with the statement that the Vietnamese Communists must reply on their own manpower in their struggle.

"The people should and can only rely on themselves to make revolution and wage people's war in their own country since these are their own affairs. No outside aid can replace their struggle. Whatever its amount, it is only auxiliary," the paper said.

Many a man can remember an old saying of boyhood. It went like this: "You fight while I hold your coat."

The reds, through the years, have been holding quite a few coats. But they didn't brag about it. Now they are.

Item says lions only kill when hungry, but unfortunately few have the insight to look upon said king of the jungle and determine whether he has eaten or not.

This is the time of the year when the fellow who planted radishes and tomatoes wishes the Department of Agriculture would pay him to plow them up.

Don't look back in life. You may figure out you were better off then than now.

The local players were Bonnie Cron, Patti Ballou, Mary Dervage, John Cron, Bob Morrison, Jimmy Little, Jim Morrison, Bobby Hewitt and Bert Haney.

REUBEN HUNT DIES IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Reuben F. Hunt, brother of two local men and former resident here, was killed in a traffic accident in Austin. Reuben was a brother of Fred and L. W. Hunt.

WILL MADDEN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Will Madden, retired commercial fisherman and resident of Aransas county for more than 40 years, died of a heart attack at his home in Fulton. He was 68 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marx and daughter, Barbara Anne, visited over the weekend with Mrs. Marx's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christilles.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mixon and daughter, Justyne, Misses Pat Sistrunk, Jane Covy and Anne Andrisek of Runge were weekend guests at Oleander Court.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WOLVES AND BIKINIS

We read with interest the details of an uproar in England recently where a den mother scandalized her associates by sunbathing in a bikini during a rally of 20,000 Cub Scouts in a London suburb. "I was shaken by the sight," said another 42-year-old den mother—or Akela, as they call them.

The young lady, Mrs. Patricia Brunt, seemed surprised by the commotion. She explained she had just gone for a swim and was drying off. Equally nonplussed was the camp chief, a gentleman who also serves as town magistrate. "I inspected the lady's costume personally. After I'd taken a good look I couldn't find anything wrong," he declared, without smiling.

Well, if the British have just waked up to bikinis, we think the whole episode a healthy trend. Brings them up to date. Twentieth century and all that. And it seems unlikely that Cub Scouts even in Britain will suffer much trauma in learning what a girl in a bikini looks like.

Besides, somebody ought to straighten out the Scouts on their terminology. "Akela" was the name of a very male old gray wolf in Kipling's Jungle Books. We can't think of a better way to demonstrate the misnomer than to put a modern Akela in a bikini. — Washington Star.

NOT AGAIN

To prove his point recently, a speaker quoted the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer: "If a problem seems insoluble to you, remember you can eat an elephant—if you first cut him into little pieces."

The doctor isn't around, so we can't argue with him, but it ain't so. There isn't a man alive who can eat an elephant.

Oh, he could start off on elephant steak and go to elephant roast and baked elephant and elephant fritters and elephant burgers, but he wouldn't be half of the right front leg before the thought of another bite would make him so deathly ill he couldn't eat anything at all.

It's like the lady said to her husband, "Monday night you loved bean soup, Tuesday night you loved bean soup, Wednesday night you loved bean soup, and now Thursday night you tell me you don't want bean soup. I wish you'd make up your mind!"—Louisville (Ky.) Irish American.

tion is published elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot.

Chief of Police Robert Hewes reported to the Council on three matters:

1) The H.E.B. Food Store agreed to have all trucks bringing supplies "jack knife" the cabs to be off the street as much as possible.

2) Parking at the Post Office. Every effort is being made to have an officer on duty at the Post Office at peak times to prevent traffic violations and lengthy parking. The Council instructed Hewes to contact Travis Long, District Highway Engineer, Corpus Christi, and ask him to make a recommendation to improve traffic conditions at the Post office corner. One possibility is to put up stop-an-go lights on both Market and Church Streets at the intersection.

3) Parking by Post Office truck. State law says "any person employed as a mail carrier may stop, park or leave standing any vehicle, whether attended or unattended, upon the paved or main traveled portion of the highway when within the scope of his employment, but in every event an unobstructed width of the highway shall be left free for the passage of other vehicles." Hewes had been instructed to investigate the parking practices of the driver of the mail truck.

In other actions the Council set Mar. 23 for a public hearing on rezoning requests from Port Little regarding Lot 5 and part of Lot 6, Block 250, Rooke addition. Little asks for a change from Residential-1 to Residential-3 classification to build a one-story, two-family dwelling consisting of two two-bedroom apartments.

The Council agreed to pay the expenses of J. C. Gurley, assistant to Public Works Director Tom Shults, to attend the 49th Texas and Sewage Works Association's Short School, Mar. 5-10, at Texas A&M.

Also approved was a proposal to have the white 1966 police car repainted by City Paint and Body Shop for $50.

The Council issued a proclamation setting Mar. 6-10 as Public School Week. The entire proclamation is published elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot.

Falfurrias Track Meet Held

Aransas County High School track stars journeyed to Falfurrias on Feb. 25 for their first track meet of the year. The day was very cold but it didn't seem to bother those who participated.

TRAV TRAIL-R INN NEWS

Last Friday nearly 70 guests enjoyed a half hour of old fashioned singing and organ music before watching an exciting slide show of a trailer tour through the Gaspé Peninsula of eastern Canada. These beautiful color slides were taken by Bryan and Jo Harrison of Kingman, Ariz.

Sunday morning most of the park residents gathered to hear a short worship service by the Rev. Joseph Herschowitz. As usual TravTrail-R Inn opens their doors to residents of any other trailer parks in Rockport to attend this service and were pleased to see among the worshipers a number of guests from other parks.

Monday night trailerites "toured" Mississippi and Florida via a selection of views of these areas as seen through the eyes of Les Hovendick of Nebraska. Games afterward and group singing before added up to a pleasant evening.

Last night, park guests were treated to an outstanding lecture on the wildlife and birds of this area by information director of the Parks and Wildlife, L. D. Knuckles. His immense knowledge of the naturelore of these coastal counties made his question and answer period one of the most interesting held in recent weeks.

This and That
JOHN KINSEY

Since the Rockport-Fulton area is fortunate in having an outstanding school system, students' parents and other local people should take advantage of the opportunity to visit all local public schools next week and learn more about what is going on.

All Texans will have an opportunity to visit the Public Schools during the week of March 6 through March 10. This is an annual celebration called Texas Public Schools Week and affords interested parents a chance to see, during classroom time, the many changes which have taken place since they were in the public schools.

From the physical aspect alone, many schools have changed from a multi-storied warehouse to a one-story complex and in one Texas town we have the first air conditioned circular school in the country.

On the other hand, there is a return to the "one-room" schoolhouse but with a vast difference. The one room has become a honeycomb cluster of hexagonal spaces without walls between classrooms—where pupils and teachers can and do rearrange themselves depending on the lesson at hand. These unusual concepts of school architecture are the outgrowth of the new educational trend which allows students to learn at their own individual rates. John W. Gardner in his book "Self-Renewal" wrote,

"All too often we are giving our young people cut flowers when they should be teaching them to grow their own plants. We are stuffing their heads with the products of earlier innovation rather than teaching them to innovate. We think of the mind as a storehouse to be filled when we should be thinking of it as an instrument to be used."

This then, is the trend in modern education—to use not only the newest but the best ideas in all fields which will contribute to a better educational system.

It is logical to assume that today's educational teaching methods have kept pace with the radical changes in school architecture. Programmed texts versus Teachers is so new a field that many parents have no conception of the meaning let alone the pro and cons of these much debated and different methods of teaching.

Reading, Science and Mathematics have taken the place of the three "R's" in importance. All have utilized the new teaching concepts which have baffled many parents and aroused varying degrees of curiosity and in many cases hostility.

Texas Public Schools Week is a chance for Texans to go back to the schoolroom while actual classes are in session and see at first hand, exactly what the new developments are, in education and the purpose they are serving. Texas Annual Public Schools Week is the week of March 6 through March 10. It is not only an opportunity by a challenge for every parent to visit their child's public school during this period.
