

A SPECIAL GIFT FOR MOM

Melissa Cosby, a fourth grader at Fulton Elementary School, works on the sea shell jewelry box she's making her mother for Mother's Day, Sunday, May 11. Making the jewelry boxes was a special project for students in the class of fourth grade teacher Marla Mosty — and these gifts are sure to be prized by the proud mothers who receive them because of the extra care — and extra love — that's gone into them. But then that's what Mother's Day is all about, a way of saying "I love you" to a very Very Important Person in your life.

Good Friends And Opportunity Bring Curtis Kovacs To Rockport

By Pat Blair

"Some people, understandably, might not be too happy with Dr. (Frank) DuPont — but I'd like to find the guy and give him a medal!"

So says Dr. Curtis Kovacs, a new staff physician at Rockport's Enterprise Medical Clinic — a post he wouldn't have if Dr. DuPont hadn't resigned from it a couple of weeks ago.

He's genuinely pleased about this chance to come to Rockport. "I want to make Rockport our permanent home," he said recently during an interview in his office at the Medical Arts Clinic in Aransas Pass.

He'll remain there through the end of May, officially coming to the Rockport clinic on June 2.

The "our" refers to Dr. Kovacs' family: his wife, Susan, and their two sons, Matt, 12, and Mike, 9.

Dr. Kovacs' father was in public health service and the family "moved around a lot" during his early years, finally settling in Chicago when he was eight years old.

He lived there through his graduation from the University of Chicago Medical School, then joined the Air Force as a flight surgeon. He is also, he added, a commercial pilot.

After six years in the Air Force — from 1966 until 1971 — Dr. Kovacs went to St. Paul, Minnesota and one and a half years of orthopedic surgery training at the University of Minnesota.

"I basically left that," he said, "because I like taking care of whole people rather

It takes all kinds of loving moms
To make the world, it's true
It takes the sweet, old-fashioned kind
Some up-to-date ones, too
But there's one mom
Who's extra dear and really does outshine
all other moms —
And she's the one
Who gets my love.

Does Rockport Have Shoplifting Problem?

By Pat Blair

Does Rockport have a problem with shoplifters? That depends on who you talk to.

According to one local grocery store manager, shoplifting is "the most serious problem we've got in our industry."

Another grocery manager says, "I don't think we have a major problem anymore" at his store.

At one time, he added, "We were catching quite a few (shoplifters)," but now the problem "is not as bad as it used to be — I can't say why, though."

And the "it is/isn't" pattern repeats through other businesses in the area. One business reports there's "not much problem as far as we know," while another store owner says shoplifting "is most definitely a problem."

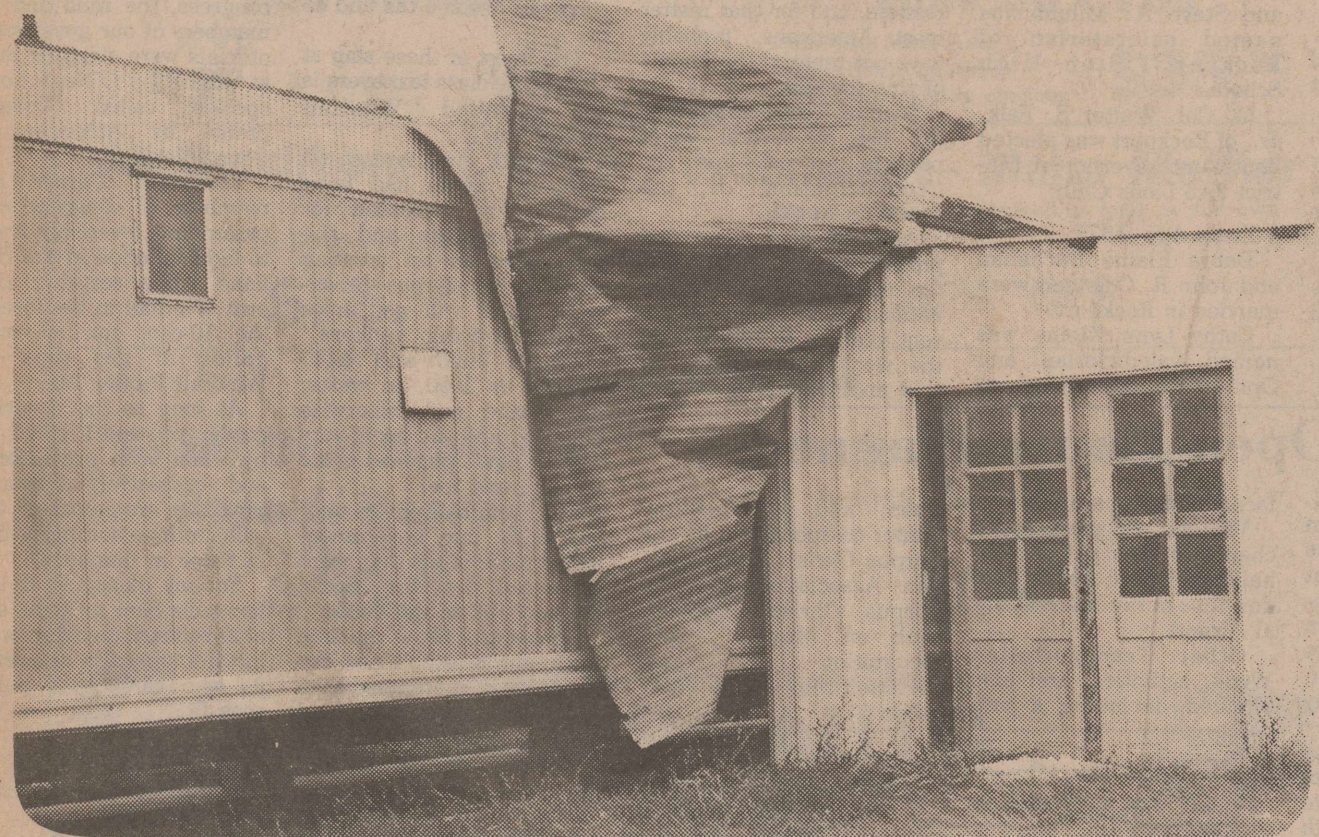

Shoplifting "is not noticeably a problem" at one local drugstore. Here though, a spokesman for the store says, "our clothes carry anti-shoplifting tags and small merchandise is kept up close to the counter. Maybe we have stronger deterrents than some other places."

Another drugstore reports shoplifting is "a constant problem. You never know how much you're losing. We find things all the time being taken off the shelves," the owner added.

The manager of one local grocery where shoplifting is a problem commented that "any time the economy is affected (as it is now), you have more shoplifting."

"People think, when the prices increase, you're making more profit," he continued. "Normally, the reverse is true. The average grocery in the U.S. makes less than one penny on every $1 of goods sold in the net profit. If someone takes a $1 item, I have to sell $100 in merchandise to make up for the loss."

And, he added, eventually the loss through shoplifting (See PROBLEM, Page 7)

Board Approves Seafair Move

By Eddie Bradley
Movement of Seafair, from the site it has occupied for the last few years to a location adjacent to the Bandshell, was approved by the Navigation District commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday evening, May 6.

Bob Bernardy, the Chairman for this year's Seafair, requested the move because of the way the festival has grown and the resulting parking and traffic problems that have developed in the median area of Highway 35.

Bernardy said that Seafair would occupy both sides of the beach road for about 300 feet north and south of the Bandshell. The road itself would be closed to vehicle traffic for the two days, as it would become the festival thoroughfare.

The primary parking area would then be located on the site where the Seafair tents have previously been set up. In answer to a question, Bernardy said that they did plan to charge for parking on this site.

Rockport Police Chief James Craigmile said that he favored a move to get the parking and traffic problems away from Highway 35. He said that safety was a definite consideration in the median areas and that there had been a "couple of near misses." Later he added that parking on the medians was illegal and that the state had not been happy with the autos parked there in past years. Charles Augustine, President of the Aransas County Recreational Planning Association, presented some plans for beach improvement that had been drawn up by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department planners.

Augustine said that they would like to see a single area of the beach designated as a festival site and that they would prefer to see the Seafair stay where it has been.

Several members of the audience took part in the discussion.

"Nuisances" Cause Real Problem

By Eddie Bradley

The story is told of an incident in East Texas, where the fire department was having a lot of trouble with people following fire trucks to a fire and then being in the way of the firemen trying to do their job.

So the chief arranged to have a brush fire call outside of town and inside a large, fenced pasture. They started a small fire and then put in the call. Fire trucks and gawkers responded, and when the last vehicle had pulled into the pasture, the gate was closed.

All unauthorized persons inside were fined for following the emergency vehicles, and the problem of tripping over bystanders at a fire was resolved, at least for a while.

Of course that hasn't happened around here, but Ricky McLester, Criminal Investigator to the Aransas County Attorney's Office and an active volunteer fireman, said that people following fire trucks was a problem in Aransas County.

Not long ago, McLester said, the Department of Public Safety closed the bridge to Key Allegro due to the traffic of people following emergency vehicles to a fire.

Another problem that local firemen have to cope with from time to time is that of the false alarm.

McLester stressed that any kind of false alarm involving emergency personnel, such as policemen or firemen, could result in the guilty party facing penalties of up to $2,000 and a year in jail.

Usually, when some kind of fire call or other such emergency comes in, the dispatcher will try to get some particular information, such as a specific address or good idea of where the incident is taking place, as well as the name and phone number of the person making the call.

McLester said that some callers complain about being asked for this information, but the reason is to assist the emergency personnel in responding to the call faster and more accurately and also to help in

Features

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

There have been recognizable changes in drug abuse in this area during the last 10 years.

James Der, who has worked in substance abuse during this period of time in the Coastal Bend, described the changes he is aware of.

There is less heroin abuse, although certainly not less drug abuse as a whole. There used to be what he calls a drug of choice. Now the abuser will use a wide range of things and if one thing is not available, he will use another.

Der credits the decreased use of heroin to a "fantastic" job done by the federal government and local law enforcement. He says the strength of heroin on the street is down and the price way up.

In the late 60s and early 70s, there was a counterculture built on drugs. Today, there is no distinguishable drug culture. There are just people using drugs.

The age of the user has gotten lower, reaching into junior high and elementary school with nine and ten year olds involved.

Der calls paint sniffing epidemic, with a lot of young people smoking marijuana and taking various pills. Although cocaine abuse is up nationwide, there is little of it seen here.

Der considers inhalants the most physically destructive drug. A few years ago, young people were sniffing airplane glue as a passing fad, stopping after a short time. Today, Der is seeing people who have sniffed paint, gasoline, or glue for 10 years.

Residential programs are having a measure of success in curing drug abuse, in Der's opinion. But he does not think progress is being made in drug prevention.

He considers local drug abuse a result of social conditions that are a national problem. Until there is some resolution of those causes, he finds little hope for prevention programs.

All that can be done is deal with the people who are casualties.

Drug and alcohol abuse are combined in Der's approach to them, as substance abuse. But he said many parents react emotionally to drug abuse, thankful if a child is abusing alcohol, not drugs.

Alcohol is legal and widely accepted socially; otherwise it is another drug to Der.

Outside of Nueces County, there are no residential facilities for drug abusers in the Coastal Bend. The San Antonio State Hospital has outreach programs in Sinton and Beeville. There are Alcoholic Anonymous programs in most communities.

But only in Corpus Christi is there a Narcotics Anonymous. Such a group in any community can find help in organizing.

Our Readers Write

Editor's Note: The letter that prompted the following response from one of our readers was, indeed, a letter to the editor. The letter was signed and the name of the writer was withheld upon request. A statement to that effect was inadvertently omitted when the letter was laid down on the page.

The Pilot has not and will never attempt to present our own editorial opinion as a letter to the editor -- or in any other form except as an editorial.

Mr. Editor:

We are annoyed with reading misleading information or false implications printed in the Pilot under "Our Readers Write." If the letter in question was received by the Pilot with no signature attached, a responsible Editor would not have published it. If the letter was signed and the writer requested his name withheld, this should have been so indicated. If neither of the foregoing is true and the comments expressed under "Our Readers Write" were in fact Editorial comments, it should have been so indicated. We're writing in reference to the letter "Concerned Citizens Group Confronts Seafair Board." The caption denotes a confrontation. Obviously the person who wrote the article had no idea of the intent of the meeting. Someone distorted the truth. No one should resort to falsehoods to discredit an individual because they may have beliefs and principles contrary to their own.

The Seafair Committee requested the Beach Improvement Committee attend their meeting to discuss a proposed move of the Seafair site. Other interested parties and individuals were in attendance.

There is apparently some confusion between the Beach Improvement Committee, The Aransas County Recreational Planning Association, and the "so called" Concerned Citizens Group.

The Concerned Citizens Group was never established as a formal organization with a Charter, By-Laws or Constitution and is not now so established. It was a group of citizens which varied in size and composition from time to time to express concern over local issues.

The Beach Improvement Committee was established to develop an over-all plan for the use of the Rockport Beach in the best interests of the entire community.

The committee consists of four private citizens (Anita Dingenary, Charles Augustine, Bud Newman and Felicia Ratajski), a representative of the Navigation Board (Hillis Dominguez), a representative of the City Council (Burt Mills) and a representative of the County Commissioners Court (Ray Longino). They are the only voting members and spokesmen for the committee. There are no other spokesmen, official, unofficial, self-appointed or otherwise. The Beach Improvement Committee as named has been sanctioned by the Navigation Board to assist them in developing the beach. The Aransas County Recreational Planning Association was an outgrowth of the Beach Improvement Committee to incorporate as a non-profit organization for soliciting funds and to encompass other Recreational Planning projects in the county apart from the Rockport Beach. The officers of the A.C.R.P.A. are the same private citizens as appointed to the Beach Improvement Committee.

We would like to think we are all "concerned citizens" and any citizen has his right to express his opinions, but we would hope, not at the expense of any other citizen or group.

With inputs from the entire community and with the assistance from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, we have developed a Preliminary Plan for the enhancement of the beach. The North end of the beach has been designated as a picnic, swimming, park, fishing, playground area, and a large section set aside as a bird nesting area off limits to all motorized vehicles. We would not like to see this area subjected to the traffic and congestion that accompanies a large type festival. However, it should be remembered, that all decisions regarding either our committee's plans or Seafair's plans rests with the Navigation Board.

In the interim, the committee and A.C.R.P.A. are open to suggestions and requests from any individual or organization, and will assist in any way we can to alleviate any problems encountered.

Editor's note: We presume Mr. Deason in the following letter is referring to the letter that appeared in the Sunday, May 4, Pilot Weekender, headed "Concerned Citizens Group Confronts Seafair."

To: Mr. Perry Carter, Editor The Rockport Pilot

Mr. Carter,

I have never been lied about in print before.

I am not worth a lie.

I forgive you.

Dear Editor:

Once again I will take pencil in hand and try to correct some "errors" and "wild" statements made by the editor of another local paper.

In this issue of the Pilot will appear an ad recalling an issue of the "Herald" accusing this Commissioner of illegal activities with road equipment. He didn't take the trouble to ascertain if his statements were based on actual facts. One of his readers finally wrote him a letter explaining that the structure in front of the machine was a utility box and the road was directly behind the machine. Mr. Mullins needless to say, dropped his accusations.

I suppose I was lucky that he didn't get out his zap gun and "zap" me and the tractor out of existence. It would have been inconvenient to do without that vital piece of machinery.

Mr. Mullins seems to have a habit of making "wild" statements.

So much for him and his editorials.

Greetings from California.

In your Sunday, March 30th, edition on your Editorial page, you had a very interesting question under "Speaking Out." As follows:

"Are you in favor of people losing their driving privileges if they are convicted of Driving While Intoxicated? Why?"

Since that problem has gotten so bad most everywhere, as reflected in each issue of your paper, I would think EVERYONE you contacted would have had a big YES to the question.

As to Why? Too many abused children, automobile accidents where families are wiped out, divorces, murders, and on and on.

Enclosed is a clipping about the new law in Washington State, outlining the laws of other lands; thought you might be interested.

Even though I have been away from good old Rockport for many years it's still a pleasure to read of many whom I still know there.

(article attached)

There is a new law in Washington state that requires a sentence of at least one day in jail upon conviction of driving while intoxicated.

If you think that's too rough, says the Washington State Traffic Safety Commission in its recent monthly bulletin, consider these penalties imposed in several other countries:

Australia — The names of the drivers are sent to the local newspaper and are printed under the heading: "He's drunk and in jail."

Malaya — The driver is jailed and if he is married, his wife is jailed, too.

Finland, Sweden — Automatic jail term of one year.

South Africa — A 10-year prison sentence and the equivalent of $10,000 fine, or both.

Turkey — Drunken drivers are taken 20 miles from town by the police and are forced to walk back, under escort.

San Salvador — Your first offense is your last. Execution by firing squad.

"Low Down"

FROM THE
Congressional Record By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

REVENUE SHARING UPDATE

To the Congress of the United States: (Excerpts)

"I am transmitting to Congress today legislation titled the 'Local Government Fiscal Assistance Amendments of 1980.' This legislation authorizes a five-year extension of the general revenue sharing program for local government. It amends and extends the current authorization for the general revenue sharing program which expires on September 30, 1980.

"In my January budget, I indicated that I would support a $6.9 billion extension of the General Revenue Sharing program with full participation by the States. Since that time, inflation has accelerated considerably and it has become imperative that we restrain Federal spending and balance the Federal budget.

I therefore am proposing today that the revenue sharing program be extended only for local governments.

"When the general revenue sharing program was first enacted in 1972, many States and localities faced growing demands for services, which they were unable to finance with their tax resources.

"Today the economic situation is quite different. Most State governments are stronger fiscally than they were just a decade ago. State government revenues have grown 60 percent faster than the Gross National Product. Some States, as a result have accumulated substantial budget surpluses.

"I am proposing that the States no longer receive general revenue sharing assistance.

"I am proposing that $500 million be added to the local share of general revenue sharing in each of the next two years.

"This $500 million is intended to help local governments adjust to reductions in State aid resulting from the discontinuation of revenue sharing for the States.

"I am proposing that local governments that receive revenue sharing aid be audited every two years. This provision will facilitate continued improvement in local government financial management practices.

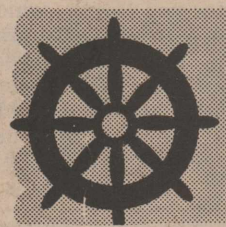

—Jimmy Carter, The White House, April 16, 1980.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

President Nixon pushed through a Revenue Sharing Bill that he signed into law on October 20, 1972. The Sharing to be retroactive to January 1, 1972. The signing took place with great ceremony at Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

Any program designed to share revenues, while the Federal government faces deficit spending, is open to question.

From The Wheelhouse

Sifting through a week's worth of canned news releases from Washington I happened upon an interesting phrase which started my underworked, overpaid brain into a overload spin.

The words used were not new, but when they were used by a U.S. Senator in the context of his testimony before a Senate hearing they demanded my attention and understanding as never before being properly perceived.

The majority of our readers, and for that matter most Americans, probably have not realized the impact of this thought.

Senator Tower referred to the list of several water projects as not just the "redistribution of the country's wealth."

After thinking about that phrase, I finally realized that the major business of our national government in recent years is to redistribute the wealth of country. Or said another and more correct way the wealth of you and I, the working class.

The idea of redistributing the wealth, or complete equality of the citizens, is of course a cornerstone of communism and socialism.

The more one considers this policy attitude the less attractive the whole idea becomes.

Our government collects money from us by: federal income tax, social security, gasoline taxes, import taxes, cigarette taxes, unemployment taxes, franchise taxes, corporate income tax and so on.

The latest of these slap at the middle class taxpayers is the so called "Windfall Profits Tax."

This tax levy against oil company profits had been cussed and discussed for several months and the passing of an act creating another monstrous bureaucratic maze will net those "redistributing suckers" between $220 and $447 billions by 1990, to waste, mismanage and otherwise poop off, and you know very well who gets punched in the end-you and me.

The "windfall profits tax" will bring into government hands more funds than were generated by the Social Security Bill in the 1930s.

Speaking of SS, at the time the fund was established, the government guaranteed each American a retirement fund equal to the amount saved or invested over his or her lifetime.

The Social Security tax paid by each American worker does not go into a special benefits fund. It is deposited directly into the general fund of the government.

From these billions of dollars earmarked for retirement benefits, the federal agencies fund all manner of projects. Right! More redistribution of the individual's wealth.

High gas prices combined with higher than normal profits, in my opinion, made the feds crazy to get another source for money.

If you will remember, all the time this was being considered and debated in congress, the rank and file members of our government officials were slugging away at what Tippi O'Neal, house speaker, called "Obscene profits by American Oil Companies."

President Carter and members of congress were pretending feverishly trying to fight inflation in the right hand while securing their own Windfall in the form of the 10-cent tax on every gallon of gas plus the Windfall Profits Tax.

As long as the American public, you and I, stand idly by when such preposterous and excessively expensive programs are proposed, they will continue and most likely increase in numbers.

For my money, it is time for uncle Sam to allow each of us redistribute more of our individual wealth as each of us who earn these dollars sees fit.

Transportation Week Open House Planned

The District Office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation at 1701 South Padre Island Drive in Corpus Christi, invites the public to visit with them on Tuesday, May 13, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. for a tour of their facilities.

The tour, scheduled in honor of National Transportation Week (May 11 through 17), will show how street signs are made; with an opportunity to see huge roadwork machinery up close, and see the inner workings of a traffic signal.

Tour guides will also get a chance to explain various phases of the Department that is charged with maintenance and construction operations on the more than 2,550 miles of highways within this 10-county district.

The guides will route visitors through the District Sign Shop where reflective signs are made; through the laboratory where soil and roadbuilding material tests are run; and many other exhibits showing the facets of the operation.

Visitors will also get a chance to view patrol cars, helicopters and take a window tour of the International Airport.

Other Transportation Week activities are also planned, including a program, and a Mari-time dinner co-sponsored by the Corpus Christi Transportation Association and the Corpus Christi Propeller Club on May 15, with recognition of the Transportation Man of the Year.

Energy is a big political issue these days, and politicians are flying all over the country urging people to conserve it.

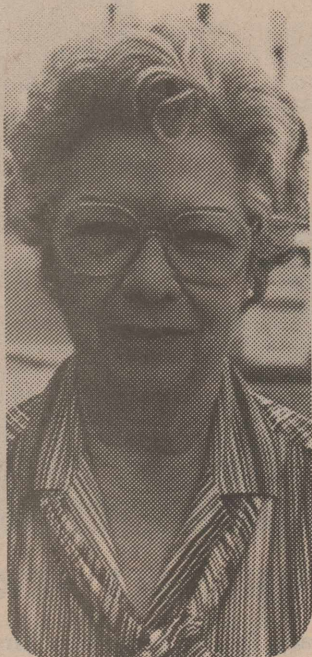

Speaking Out

Do you think the United States should continue to accept all the refugees from Cuba?
Do you think we have any alternatives?

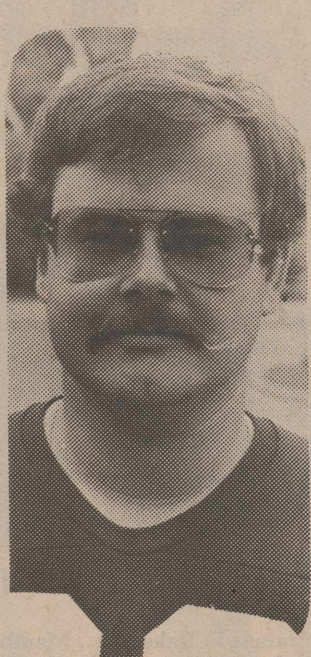

David Roedersheimer,
S. Young Street

I don't think we should take any more refugees from any country. I think the United States is overpopulated with refugees already. Our government should call our own children "refugees" and take care of them first before helping people from other countries.

Margaret Richards,
Palm Drive

We have to accept them if we are going to continue under the philosophy this country was built on. But I don't see how we can support all of them.

John Hancock,
Copano Village

I don't think we should. Politicians have opened their arms for their own benefit too long. Charity begins at home.

Mary Joyce Anderson,
FM 881

I don't think we ought to accept them. We are in bad enough shape now without them coming over and taking away from the poor ones here.

Woody Washburn, FM 1069

I don't think we should accept all of them. Other countries should take in their share also.

Sibbie Seger,
Curlew Drive

Certainly we should, but with limitations. I don't think the United States should be the Big Daddy to the world.

Mrs. Paul Johnson,
Holiday Beach

We've always accepted people from other countries with open arms, that's how this country was built. So I guess we should accept them in.

Ken Clark,
Corpus Christi Street

I don't think we should. We're all going broke by being taxed for welfare. We can't support everybody, we need to do better by our own people. If they don't like the government they have, they can overthrow it and fight for what they believe in.

Webelos Receive Arrow Of Light

Webelos of Cub Scout Pack 49 received their Arrow of Light Award at their regular pack meeting on April 29. The Arrow of Light Award is the last step the scouts take to becoming a Boy Scout.

Webelos receiving the award were Ben Friebele, Steven Sbrusch, Larry Randall and Wade Sorenson.

To receive the award, a Cub Scout must be an active member of a Webelos Den for six months, repeat from memory the Boy Scout Oath and the 12 points of the Boy Scout Law, and explain how to practice these laws in everyday life.

They must show and explain the Scout motto, slogan, sign, salute and hand clasp, and be able to handle the "hurry up cases" in first aid.

They must earn seven or more activity badges including the Citizen Badge and two from Aquanaut, Athlete, Naturalist or Outdoorsman categories.

They must also visit at least one boy scout meeting with the Webelos Den, and participate in a Dad and Son overnight or day hike.

The Webelos scouts thanked the following people for making their last year of Cub Scouting a great one: Jim Friebele, Cubmaster; David Blankinship, outing co-ordinator; the Rockport Rotary Club for supporting the dens and financing awards; Frank Sbrusch, Den Leader; and John Leslie, scouting co-ordinator.

Radiological School Set

Use of radiation detection equipment by emergency personnel will be the subject of a three day Radiological Monitor School beginning on May 13, in Rockport, under the sponsorship of the Division of Emergency Medical Services of the Texas Department of the Health and the Aransas County Civil Defense.

The May 13-14-15, school will be held at the County Courthouse in Rockport, from 7-10 p.m., each night. Further information may be obtained by contacting Honorable John Wendell, Director.

The instructors will be Elmer Redden of the Aransas County Civil Defense Office assisted by Barry Lister of the Emergency Medical Services Division of the Texas Department of Health in Austin.

This training will assist local officials in developing a monitoring capability to cope with a nuclear emergency. Also, the use of radioisotopes has increased greatly in Texas, and the risks of an accident involving transportation or use of these substances has increased.

Pirates Fall In 8-5 Loss

By Bob Crawford
Beeville's Trojans put on their hitting clothes and unloaded on Pirate pitching for seven runs in the first two innings on their way to an 8-5 win over Rockport-Fulton Tuesday night in Beeville.

Walks and timely hits provided the Trojans with a three run cushion after one inning.

In the second inning the Trojans picked up where they left off and put four additional markers on the scoreboard.

Chris Butler opened on the mound for Rockport, but he was chased after 1 1/3 innings. Mark Setterbo relieved Butler, and he was greeted with a shot by the Trojan hitter. When the inning was over, the Trojans held a 7-0 lead.

The Pirates crossed home plate in the third inning. Adam Harden beat out an infield hit and then moved to second on a Setterbo hit. Jim Eaton sacrificed the runners to second and third, and Harden crossed home on a passed ball by the catcher.

Setterbo yielded a single run in the third, and by the end of that inning, Beeville was finished with their scoring and the Pirates began to nip away at the lead.

In the Pirate fifth, they erupted for three runs when Beeville fielding opened the door for the Pirate hitters and runners. Mark Goodin singled to give the Pirates a runner. Setterbo got on an error, giving the Pirates two base runners. Another error allowed a run to come in, and then Pee Wee Solis singled to chase in a run.

Making a last effort to pull it out, the Pirates picked up a run in the seventh when Eric Commander blasted a triple, and then topped it off by scoring on a passed ball by the catcher. But then the Pirates' guns were silenced.

Fish-Stocking Program Stopped

AUSTIN—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will no longer provide fish for stocking private waters after this year.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, meeting in Austin last week, placed a moratorium on the program after spring and fall fish distributions are made this May and August.

The department has provided fish for private waters for many years, and there was no charge for the fish until 1977. A fee was established to compensate the state's licensed fishermen for the program, and after that time requests for fish began dwindling.

Demands for stocking public waters currently exceed the capacity of the department's hatchery system, and the fees charged pond owners failed to keep pace with production expenses, according to Bill Rutledge, hatchery program leader.

Scott Prepares For State Meet

Bubba Scott placed fourth in the State Qualifiers' Track Meet shot put competition at Karnes City last weekend, but his coach, Ron Richardson, seemed to think he was right on schedule.

Richardson said that Scott had worked very hard this week and was a little tired in Karnes City, but he still had two throws that would have won the event if he hadn't scratched.

This week will be a much easier one for Bubba, just concentrating on fundamentals in preparation for Friday night, when he will compete in the Southeast corner of Austin's Memorial Stadium at 7 p.m.

"He's been working real hard," Richardson said of Scott. "and I feel he'll compete well in the state meet."

Fishing Report

Sea Gun Marina---The fishing has been good, a lot of trout have been caught on live bait.

Key Allegro Marina---The fishing has been good. Billie Loden caught the first blue marlin of the season, weighing 269 pounds, and Mark Conell on the "Afternoon Delight" caught the first white marlin.

Kleine's Rattlesnake Point Fishing Pier---Trout and drum fishing have been good. Mrs. Esther McDaniel has been catching a tremendous amount of big drum and big trout!

Causeway Pier---The drum have slacked off, but the catfish and trout are biting. Most of the fish caught are good sized ones.

Palm Harbor Marina---Not many people have been out fishing this week, but the ones going out have done fairly well. There has been a lot of mullet activity.

St. Charles Bay---Good redfish and trout fishing over the past week. Most are being caught on spoons and shrimp. Trout have been weighing in at about three to five pounds.

time take you if you can, Do not come to the Mattagorda, and happy to inform you that, contrary to Mr. John Watters letter to me to Orleans which near had like to reach me, I found this country equal to what was said in the hand bills and better again, do not believe Martin M. or any person who went from here; poor lazy creatures having no inclinations to look after any prudence or industry, really I was astonished when I cam amongst the colonists to see them all full of comfort, plenty of Corn, bread Mush Butter Milk and beef and what perhaps those who sent this false report never enjoyed before.

Mrs. McMains bring as much tickin as you can, as they were it in trowses here, Mrs. McMains do not be daunted the prospect here is good. Bring your beds, you'll have no work, your daughters can milk 50 cows for you, and make butter which is 25 cents a lb here, in Matamoras 50 cents.

A cow has 2 calves in 10 months a sheep and goat 3 yearlings in 15 months. The healthiest country in the world. The richest land will show like Gentlemens domains in Ireland. Fine wood and water as in any part of the world. As for game and fowl and fish of every kind no man can believe, but those that see. Go to Mr. John or Martin Wates 49 Duand Street, and they will more fully let you know.

Give our love to all inquiring friends.

Yours until death.
Jemima and Mary Toll.

P.S. Bring corn mills, do not bring such a mill as I brought, as it is only a pepper mill. Bring mills with handles, such as you see in chatham square. Show this letter to John Watters. you get a league 3 miles square a labor of 177 acres a town lot of one acre square. Single men one fourth each gets when of age in addition to, you pay $100 to government and has six years to pay, they take Colony produce, the best laws in the world. The Indians are very kind and loving to each other. I was at two parties here we assemble and amuse ourselves."

Let Simon not delay to come as he will find everything according to your wishes. Bring good guns, and powder and shot of every kind.

This letter is for both of you--Bring as many cart wheels and cart mountings as you can, Chains for oxen; no timber, as this is the country for timber of every kind. Bring good Ploughs. Carts rate at $100, here.

Bring a supply of sugar coffee and tea and flous for 8 or 9 months; if you have any to spare, you get your price. Gun locks and every thing belonging to locks, screws of every kind, plates for screws Your goods both small and large and every little article you can pack. Pots, pans with covers, ovens &, white muslin both white and brown in pieces. Bring tin cups. Porringers.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz
Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

WHAT I HAVE ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT MY PET BUT WAS AFRAID TO ASK:

Dear Dr. Lutz: I have three dogs and they have ear mites. Can I buy a medicine at the drug store or do I have to get it from a veterinarian?—Kathy

Dear Kathy: You certainly can purchase ear mite medicine from the drug store. However, be sure your dogs have ear mites before you use such a preparation. If your dogs have otitis media due to a bacterial invasion or a fungus infection of the ears, you could be making a bad situation worse.

Dear Doc: My dog, Taffy, got out of our yard last night, and when she came home this morning she smelled like a skunk. I have bathed her, but I can't get rid of the skunk odor. Do you have any suggestions? Ted

Dear Ted: Taffy probably received her first and last introduction to a skunk, and more than likely became too friendly with it. At least, she got too close. This happens to most dogs once in their lifetime.

The best advice I can give you is to purchase a quart can of tomato juice. Place your dog in an old-fashioned three to five gallon galvanized tub.

Pour the tomato juice all over the dog and rub it in well. Allow the tomato juice to dry, and then bathe the dog.

Eyes And Answers

TAX EXEMPTIONS

Dear Dr. Pettey: I don't see very well and I have heard that I get another exemption on income taxes if I am legally blind. Maybe this is not a good question for you, but can you answer that?

Perhaps your question should go to the accountant who takes care of your business matters. However, in case there may be some readers who hadn't thought about it, legal blindness does allow for one exemption. You must meet certain requirements, however, to be considered legally blind. Your optometrist or physician must make certain vision tests to determine your condition in order to certify as to your eligibility. One is that you must have no better than 20/200 vision with the very best lens correction; another one is that your side vision be no wider than 20 degrees and that's a quite narrow field of vision. If you have either or both of those visual problems, be sure to call it to the attention of your accountant and have your doctor to certify it.

You mentioned "another" exemption in your question and I assume you infer you already have one exemption. That could be because you are 65 or older. According to IRS instructions, you get one exemption anyhow, then another for being 65, and a third exemption if you are both 65 and legally blind.

Don't hesitate to investigate the possibility of your exemption for blindness. The Government does not want you paying taxes you really don't owe.

Eyes and Answers is a copyrighted public service feature of the Texas Optometric Association. Readers may address Dr. Pettey in care of this paper or the Texas Optometric Association, P.O. Box 4574, Austin, TX 78765.

NATIONAL SAFE BOATING WEEK

Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. reads the proclamation to U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary representative Irving Lewis at Rockport's City Hall as the mayor declared June 1-8 National Safe Boating Week in Rockport. The proclamation observes that every year about 1300 lives are lost in boating accidents and urges those who use area waterways to acquire safe boating skills and apply them.

Lara of Rockport and Victor Lara of Gregory; seven daughters, Mrs. Josephine Ortiz, Miss Andrea Lara, Mrs. Lupe Moreno, Mrs. Juanita Cortinas, Mrs. Maria Elena Ramirez and Mrs. Alice Claudio, all of Gregory, and Mrs. Angelita Chano of Houston; five brothers, Clemente, Louis and Valente Lara, all of Gregory, and Jose and Santiago Lara, both of Houston; 28 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Maxwell P. Dunne Funeral Home in Portland on Tuesday, May 6. Burial followed in the Gregory Cemetery.

Evelyn McDonald

Mrs. Evelyn McDonald, age 70, of Corpus Christi, died Thursday, May 8, in a Corpus Christi hospital after a long illness.

She was a retired school teacher.

Survivors include a brother, William Linthicum of Rockport; two sons, W.L. Tanner and David McDonald and a sister, Mrs. Hazel O'Neil, all of Corpus Christi; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday, May 9, at the Mission Park South Funeral Home Chapel in San Antonio. Burial followed at the Mission Burial Park South.

Glenn Stephen Lauer

Glenn Stephen Lauer, age 77, of Bishop, died Tuesday, May 6, in a Kingsville hospital.

He was a production supervisor of General Foods and lived in Fulton before moving to Bishop. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Bishop, B.P.O.E. No. 1926, the American Legion Post No. 185 and the Post Cereals 25-year club in Battle Creek.

Survivors include his wife, Harriet Lauer of Bishop; one son, Glenn S. Lauer, Jr. of August, Michigan; one daughter, Mrs. Crystal Higginbotham of Bishop; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday, May 9, at the First Methodist Church in Bishop with Rev. Robert Ross officiating. Burial followed in Restland Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the First United Methodist Church of Bishop or of Rockport.

Prayer Line Now In Use

A 24-hour prayer line has been started for the residents of the Rockport-Fulton area. The "daily word" may be heard by dialing 729-1001.

The line was added as a community service by the Center of Positive Thought in Rockport, and is the first such service to be provided in this community.

The Center takes their material from the "Daily Word" magazine which is distributed world-wide by the Association of Unity Churches; additional material is taken from similar publications.

Meeting Sundays at 11 a.m., the Center of Positive Thought is located at the corner of Magnolia and Cornwall Streets, in the building adjacent to the Concern Center and Molly's Beauty Salon.

verifying the situation. Rockport Police Chief James Craigmile said that intentional false alarms were not a big problem for his department, but that they did sometimes suffer with their own brand of false alarms.

Many times, Craigmile said, business burglar alarms are set improperly at the end of a day, and will go off, summoning the police.

Also, alarms that are supposed to be used only in case there is a fight or holdup of a business are sometimes used just to summon the police, rather than using the telephone. Craigmile said that if his force is called to an establishment like this five times in a year, he can request that the alarm be removed.

Another problem that the police sometimes face stems from the fact that emergency radio scanners, especially the portable types, have become increasingly popular. Sometimes, reported Craigmile, people will hear a call and show up at a crime scene to watch.

This means that the officer has to be concerned not only with capturing a criminal, but also with the added burden of providing safety to the extra people who are there.

This type of problem comes and goes. Several years ago, Craigmile said, they were having some real problems in this area and set up a situation similar to the false fire in the pasture.

They put a bogus report over the radio and then confronted a civilian who didn't have a real good reason for showing up late at night behind the Cove Drive In! Needless to say, the problem disappeared for a while.

Craigmile says that several cities have scramblers on their radio systems to insure that they are not giving information to gawkers or to those who would use knowledge of police whereabouts to assist their own criminal activities. He would like someday to be able to install such a system in local police communication systems. In the meantime, he would like to see mobile scanners eliminated.

Craigmile and McLester said that interference with the proper functioning of emergency procedures can lead to losses of money through wasted use of equipment and personnel, losses of property and tragically, perhaps even losses of life.

lifting is "paid for" by all grocery customers — in the form of increased prices in goods to make up for the estimated loss of profit through shoplifting.

How much does this store lose through shoplifting? "I can't accurately count that," says the manager. "We find empty milk cartons, candy wrappers . . . but most merchandise is taken and they (the shoplifters) don't leave anything."

This sentiment was echoed by a local clothing store owner who commented, "Every now and then we come across an empty coat-hanger and we wonder . . ."

"But," she continued, "if they (the shoplifters) are professionals and they're good at it, we don't know when an item is taken."

Another clothing store owner said she has to be "constantly on the alert" during the swimsuit season, because this is the big target for shoplifters in her store.

"Our biggest problem is teenagers — but not altogether," she said. "I think we have some professionals who pass through on the way from Corpus to Houston."

At another store, the manager says, "We haven't experienced any problem. I don't know if it's because our girls get to the customers as soon as they come in or what — I feel very fortunate that we haven't had a problem here."

Police Chief James Craigmile tends to agree with the

"Sports Splash" Theme Chosen For Reading

The Aransas County Public Library is among nearly 400 libraries throughout Texas participating this year in the Texas Reading Club. The program is sponsored by the Texas State Library and participating libraries.

Young readers will take part in activities built around "Sports Splash," the theme selected for 1980. The nearly universal interest in sports that range from solitary activities like jogging to team sports like baseball and football gives them appeal for most young readers. And libraries have books about sports that range from books on how to play the games through biographies of famous players to novels and stories with sports themes.

Most important of all, young Texans who participate will sample the fun of recreational reading.

Today's public libraries include a wide range of books and other printed materials for young readers. Summer-time is vacation time, but skills honed by vacation time reading will be sharp for the year ahead.

"One of the most serious problems we face today is the deterioration of reading ability among young people," said Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director of the Texas state library. "We know, however, that people of all ages who develop the habit of reading for recreation become good readers. Reading is a recreational activity with both immediate and long-term benefits."

In recent years school libraries and learning centers have undergone major improvements. As a result many youngsters have developed sophisticated skills in using libraries.

than parts of people. After that, Dr. Kovacs put in time in a family practice — among other things.

"I was a workaholic," he says of his years in Minnesota. He worked not only in family practice but was clinic instructor in family practice at the university, he put in emergency room work.

"My wife used to bring me changes of clothes at the office," he said, adding, "My wife is a wonderful gal — I'm lucky."

Then, almost a year ago, Kovacs got a chance to join the staff at Medical Arts Clinic.

He was already familiar with this area through the one weekend a year he came down to hunt. He liked the area — and that, plus the decision "to take the advice I'd been giving my patients to relax," made up his mind. He and his family moved.

Dr. Kovacs hopes to be — and thinks he can be — a definite asset to the medical community in Rockport. In addition to his M.D. degree, he is board-certified in family practice and has been a clinical instructor in family practice. He is and will continue to be staff physician at Lyman-Roberts Hospital.

He has also completed, successfully, one of two tests in the new specialty of emergency medicine. The second test has not yet been given, and Dr. Kovacs plans to take it as soon as it is offered, sometime in the near future.

In his spare time — when he has spare time — Dr. Kovacs likes to hunt and fish with his family. "I'm way down on the learning curve of deep sea fishing," he says.

He's also a gardening enthusiast — "I believe I am home when I see bougainvillea" — and an avid reader with an extensive library.

"And I love conversation," he added, commenting that he agrees with the fellow who said, "As knowledge increases, so life is enriched." Talking to people increases his knowledge.

That's one of the things he likes about Rockport — the number of friends he's made here, the people he gets an opportunity to meet and talk to.

"Rockport," he added, "is a community."

And come June 2, it's a community Dr. Kovacs will be joining.

discussions. One person stated that the way gasoline prices and the economy in general were going, the crowds that come to seafair might be diminished to the point that parking would not be a problem.

Gary Deason read a petition that had been presented previously to the City of Rockport. It urged the city council not to alter zoning laws on the beach. "We've been through this before," he said and added that he thought the vegetation on the northern part of the beach would be severely harmed by the festival traffic.

Deason also emphasized that he was not against either the Art Festival or Seafair and said "I never made the statements attributed to me in quotes by The Pilot." (This was apparently in reference to a letter in "Our Readers Write" that was printed in the May 4, 1980 issue of The Pilot). He also said that he was opposed in principle to charging for parking.

After more discussion, the commissioners voted to approve both the use of the Bandshell area by Seafair and the use of the requested parking areas.

Commissioners Bobby Landrum and Hillis Dominguez proposed adding a 70-foot by 70-foot concrete slab to the Bandshell for skating and other uses.

Commissioner Ken Faulkner and Anita Dingenary of the Beach Improvement Committee agreed that a multi-purpose structure there would be beneficial to everyone. Although further plans need to be developed on a structure, everyone seemed to agree that a concrete slab could be put to good use almost immediately. This will be discussed further at the coming workshop meeting.

In other discussions, Dominguez told the other commissioners that the board would have to approve plans for the beach improvement before they could be finalized. Once the Navigation District approves the plans, then the Parks and Wildlife Department will work up the final cost estimates and drawings, which will then be used in applying for grant money for the work.

Commission Chairman David Maguglin stressed that, while it was necessary from time to time for the commissioners to have committees to assist them just as they have engineers to advise them, "we all agree that the Navigation Board has the final say on all matters."

Bills approved for payment included $3,618 to George Miller Co., $1,005.92 to Cove Harbor Enterprises, Inc. and $2,812.50 to Griffith and Brundrett.

April Is Busy Month For Ambulances

April was a busy month for Aransas County's two ambulances as paramedics traveled some 3,938 miles in response to 81 calls. A total of 50 patients were transported and the Life Pak Heart Machine was put to use 25 times during the month.

Heart attacks led the list of emergencies for the month, with paramedics being called 20 times to aid heart attack victims. Another 15 calls were in response to accidents, and seven were to aid victims of falls.

Six calls were in response to recreational accidents and three each to motorcycle accidents, strokes, industrial accidents and assaults.

One call each was to aid victims of burns, drug overdose and diabetic complications.

Paramedics received one call to assist with an emergency childbirth.

There was also one call to assist with a drunk and 15 miscellaneous calls.

Some 44 calls originated inside the city and another 37 originated outside the city but inside the county.

Of the patients transported, 16 were taken to Lyman-Roberts Hospital, nine to Spohn, seven to Memorial, five to Enterprise Medical Clinic, two each to Aransas Hospital and Taft Hospital and one each to the Naval Air Station and Medical Arts Clinic.

The remaining seven were transported to "other" hospitals.

Paramedics reported two patients dead at the scene and two instances of the patient refusing service.

Units were cancelled in route to calls six times during the month, and both units were in service at the same time 29 times.

How well I remember the day I found out about my physical affliction. It was during a period of my high school biology class.

Up until that time, I had always assumed that I was about as normal as everyone else. I could run, walk, throw a ball, drink a coke with either hand and clearly see a blond sophomore named, Angel, all the way across Buc Stadium.

But then came that fateful Friday, when our teacher gave us all a little test for the fun of it. He used slides, and it was there in that darkened room that I first came to face the awful fact that I was color blind. Yes color blind, what did you think I was talking about?

by green faces on the TV tube, while I am happily oblivious to the spectacle.

When I took my Air Force physical, they immediately discovered my problem, but arranged for me to get a deferment into the service anyway.

After I had been signed up, however, my outfit said that it would be necessary for me to transfer to a different unit, since everyone there had to be on "flying status" and a color blind person couldn't qualify.

I explained to them that if we ever got to the point where it would be necessary for me to fly anything, that we would all be in so much hot water it wouldn't matter anyway. They didn't laugh and immediately sent me to a hospital unit where everyone wore white clothes, black shoes and carried gray bedpans.

The high and low moments of my color blind career came during my original Air Force physical. One guy was in charge of testing my eyes and told me to read the numbers on some oddly speckled cards.

I read the first two easily and then hit a snag. The next 40 went by with no trace of a number visible to me. After the last card, the technician began writing in my file.

"Well, at least I got the first two," I said proudly. "Everyone gets those," he said disgustedly, and wrote a big zero under my name.

couldn't stay out all night after our senior prom like all the other kids. Imagine my humiliation after high school graduation when I had to be in by 2 a.m. Now that I look back I had absolutely no desire to go to our after-graduation party, but all the other kids were going. (If I only had a penny for every time my mother said she didn't care what the other kids were doing... I could buy her a million red roses.)

Now I don't see the meanest mother on the block anymore. I see that she was the one that was always there when I needed her. When I needed drill team outfits, cheerleading uniforms, prom dresses, baton and singing lessons, she saw to it that I had them, no matter what she had to give up. If I was involved in it, my parents were there. And my mother was the proudest of them all.

Whoever said "You always hurt the one you love" must have had mothers in mind. Who can say that they didn't always listen to a friend's advice instead of their mothers, and when she wanted to know about your new friend or your latest boyfriend, she was the last one you'd tell because she'd never approve. And if you had a problem, why tell her, because she'd never understand. Now my mother is my best friend. I tell her all my problems and even though she's "over 30", she understands.

Nothing seems good enough for my mother on Mother's Day again this year, so I guess I'll give her what she asks for every year: my love.

Beck To Attend Metting

Richard Beck, Pharmacist and owner of Roatan's Drugs in Rockport, is Program Director of the annual meeting this year and a former member of the Board of Directors. His wife, Lenora is Vice-Chairman of the Women's Auxiliary. Mr. and Mrs. Beck will be attending the July meeting.

The projected attendance for the meeting is 800 pharmacists, associates and families throughout the state.

The program will include 15 hours of professional continuing education, 13 hours of exhibition.

I have no problems with stop lights and can tell apples from oranges with almost no hesitation. Oh occasionally I might have a little trouble matching shirts and pants, but that's the reason I married someone who took art in school, so she could keep my wardrobe straight.

Forget socks. Nobody pays any attention to them anyway, and as long as they are not white, I figure any color should get by pretty well.

Actually, I have come to realize what a blessing my affliction really is. Poor Linda is constantly being bugged

HOUSTON, TEXAS

Re-Elect RAYMOND OWENS

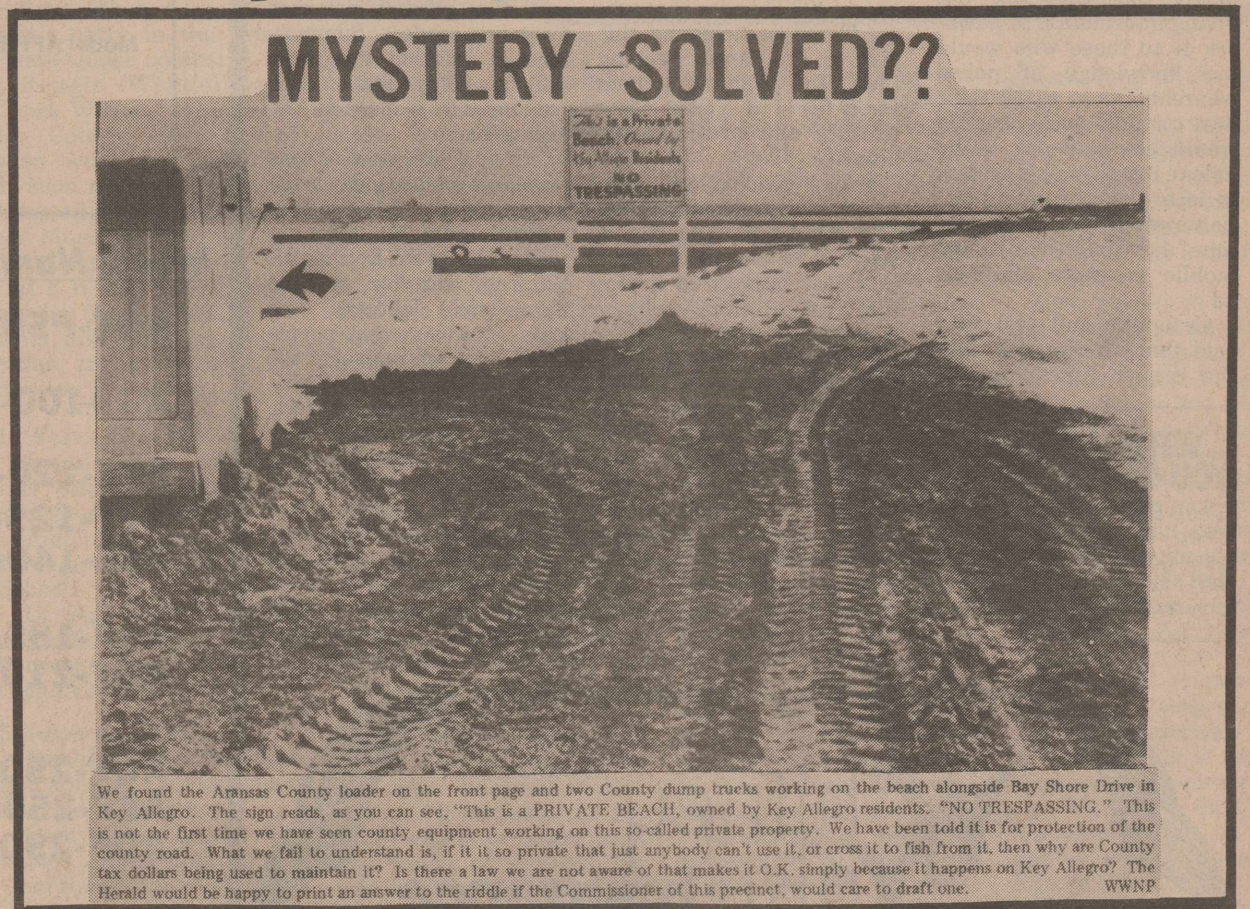

County Commissioner ... Precinct 3

Some News Media Do Distort Facts. Mr. Mullins of the "Toast of the Coast Herald" Thought the Mystery Should Be Solved.

Let's SOLVE His Mystery

What is this Aransas County front loader doing? Where is it working? Why are some folks really upset about it?

We found the Aransas County loader on the front page and two County dump trucks working on the beach alongside Bay Shore Drive in Key Allegro. The sign reads, as you can see, "This is a PRIVATE BEACH, owned by Key Allegro residents. NO TRESPASSING." This is not the first time we have seen county equipment working on this so-called private property. We have been told it is for protection of the county road. What we fail to understand is, if it is so private that just anybody can't use it, or cross it to fish from it, then why are County tax dollars being used to maintain it? Is there a law we are not aware of that makes it O.K. simply because it happens on Key Allegro? The Herald would be happy to print an answer to the riddle if the Commissioner of this precinct, would care to draft one. WWP

Now, if you look in "Mystery Solved", you will see the UTILITY BOX which certainly could not be on private property. Mr. Mullins of the "Herald", (not Editor Mullins),

THIS IS YOUR ANSWER.

Shrimp Landings Continue Decline In Area

The report on shrimp landings in the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton area continued to be a 'good news-bad news' story through March of this year with the good news that this area led the state in total landings.

The bad news is that shrimp landings so far in 1980 are less than one-third of the poundage brought in for the same period in 1979.

In March of this year, shrimpers brought some 162,300 pound of shrimp into the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton area.

This brought total shrimp landings for the area from January through March to 437,000 pounds — compared to the slightly more than 1.4 million pounds brought in during January-March of last year.

A big factor in the poor landings, according to the National Marine Fisheries Service which prepares the reports, was cost of fuel.

A.B.C. Learning Center Seeking New Home

The A.B.C. Learning Center, presently located at 112 North Church Street is looking for a new home.

Dee Dee Richards, Center Chairman, said the learning facilities need to be moved into a new building as soon as possible so school may resume on September 1.

Anyone who knows of an available building should call the school at 729-1512 or Mrs. Richards at 729-6057.

With fuel costs of $961,000 -- or about 67 percent of the value of the shrimp -- some 90 percent of the Texas Gulf shrimping fleet remained tied up in harbor at the end of March.

The longline fishery in Texas increased steadily in March, with 28 vessels outfitted by the end of March.

Shrimp landings for all Texas ports amounted to about 284,500 pounds for March -- meaning landings in this area represented more than one-third of total state landings.

Landings from January-March totalled just over 1.14 million pounds, compared to state totals of nearly 4 million in 1979.

The Brownsville-Port Isabel area had the second highest totals for the year to date, 318,500 pounds, and the Galveston Bay ports landed a total of 148,200 pounds of shrimp for January through March.

Government Class Can Be Fun... If Your Teacher Is Deanna Daws

By Beverly Wilken

Mrs. Deanna Daws, Rockport-Fulton High School Government teacher does more than just lecture her classes on current events, she involves them in everything from court cases to political elections.

During the recent May 3 Primary Elections, students from Mrs. Daws' class served as Clerk's at the court house, doing everything from counting votes to signing voters in. Mrs. Daws, who worked with the students during the election, said everything was set up so that each student could do a little of everything to get a feel of what goes on during an election.

Students working during the election were: Renee Fair, Francis Ramirez, Jeb Beall, Tom Harrison and Thelma Garza.

Mrs. Daws said the only comments she heard from the students were that they were tired, (from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. is a long day for anyone!), and that alot more work was involved in an election than they had thought.

Another learning situation Mrs. Daws created for her students was an actual Presidential Election, complete with candidates speeches and delegates. The speeches, said Mrs. Daws, forced the students to learn each candidates views on issues since each speech had to show the actual candidates views.

After the campaigning, voting was held in each class. In two classes, Jimmy Carter was re-elected President; in one class, Ronald Reagan was elected President; and one class elected Jerry Brown. No classes chose Edward Kennedy as their President.

To make sure each student is registered to vote when they turn 18, Mrs. Daws also acquired enough voter registrations for each student to fill out, and is holding the cards for the students until they are eligible to vote.

Mrs. Daws has also held two trials in her classroom, complete with judge, jury, lawyers and defendants, with each lawyer being responsible for preparing and arguing his own case; and they bought and sold stocks to introduce them to the stock market.

"Each day we checked the market, and the students could buy and sell as they wanted. I tried to guide them to make the most money they could in the market."

All of these classroom experiences are much more interesting and enjoyable than the average lecture usually found in a Government class.

Mrs. Daws, who is in her third year of teaching, and her second year at Rockport-Fulton High School, said she was bored by Government until a professor at Pan American University in Edinburg taught her that it could be a fun and educational course. And that's just what Deanna Daws has made it.

Republicans Hold County Convention

The Aransas County Republican Party was to hold its county convention at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 10, in the District Courtroom, Aransas County Courthouse.

Principal business, according to Republican Chairman Harold Shirey, was to be selected of five delegates and five alternate delegates to the Republican State Convention in Houston on June 21 and San Antonio September 5.

Delegates to the upcoming Republican national convention included Gene Matthews, candidate for State Representative, District 14; Bill Wilson, county commissioner Pct. 1 candidate; and W.B. (Pete) Sanders, candidate for county commissioner Pct. 3.

DEANNA DAWS

BIRD NEST ON THE GROUND

John Smith, a biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, reports that two years ago, Houston Oil and Mineral Company and Vermillion Construction Company created a pad of fine shell on the northern island in the Ski Basin. Within two weeks, black skimmers and gull-billed terns were using the pad for a nesting site. The area has become overgrown with vegetation since then, however, and Smith recruited members of Jim Cox's Boy Scout Troop #49 to go over and help clean the pad of vegetation so the birds can use it this year. From the left, Alan Vollmering, Mike Smith, Steve Theodore, Thomas Bishop, Buddy Smith, Brad Vollmering, John Smith, Keith Adler and Jim Cox get to work. Smith said that last year someone released a pet skunk on the island and it almost wiped out all the young birds. He is hopeful something like that won't happen this year. [Pilot Photo By Eddie Bradley]

Having A Birthday?

Are you -- or is someone you know -- having a birthday?

The Pilot would like to know about it.

Because all of our readers are special people to us, we'd like to give you a special birthday present.

If you're having a birthday, just bring us a photograph of yourself.

If you or a member of your family are having a birthday, just bring us a photograph of the birthday person and a little information.

The Pilot will publish the picture and information -- free.

Just because you're someone special. . .

When Souls Communicate

When souls communicate — it's like prayer. There may never be a word spoken . . . just a sigh, a wish, a hope, a longing. A child trying to express some simple feeling to its Mother. Mother trying to express her devotion to her child.

All prayer is founded on the idea that God loves us and cares about the things that affect us. Jesus taught us to pray "Our Father . . ." He wanted men to see God's love on the parental level.

When you feel the need to pray, reach out with your heart to God. You may not be able to find words. Yet He hears, He understands those deep feelings we find hard to express.

In church our efforts to communicate with Him are strengthened by the fact that many others are praying with us. They need Him just as much as we do. And we need their longings, their hopes and wishes and feelings to help us express our own. Join us in prayer at your local church or synagogue.

BINGO

HERE IS HOW IT WORKS

BINGO CARDS

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week [adults only, please] pick up your FREE Bingo cards from any of the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. However, you may make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY — THE BETTER ARE YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

IF YOU WIN

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, ON WHICH ALL 24 NUMBERS HAVE BEEN MATCHED WITH THE NUMBERS APPEARING IN THE WEEKENDER AND MIDWEEK EDITIONS OF THE PILOT, print your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card, and mail to this paper at 1002 WHARF ST., ROCKPORT [the envelope containing your winning card must be received by Friday of each week]-or bring your winning card to the office of this newspaper at 1002 Wharf Street by Friday of each week.

HOW TO PLAY

HOW TO PLAY: Check the ads in each week's issue of Weekender and the Midweek edition of The Pilot. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol [shown above]. Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bugs" may be found elsewhere in the newspaper. Be sure to check the Classified Ad section for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH [JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS] ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ANY ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN THE WEEKLY ISSUE OF THE PILOT — YOU HAVE A "BINGO"! — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

WIN $50⁰⁰ WEEKLY

AT LEAST $50 WEEKLY!!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50.00 [in "Bingo Bucks" — they spend the same as cash with any of the sponsoring merchants listed below]. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50.00. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50.00 in equal amounts. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly prize will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: Each game is complete in each week's issue of The Rockport Pilot. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published each week in the sponsoring merchants' ads - and possibly elsewhere in the paper. A new color of Bingo cards for each week's game will be available at the sponsoring merchants' stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

[Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition]
By Jean Glowka

Q. Why do health foods and vitamins cost so much? I like to use them, but it just seems like we can't afford it.

A. "Health foods" cost more because it costs more to grow foods organically (using no pesticides or chemical fertilizers). Also

Healthful ints

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

many of the overprocessed, chemically treated, "nutritionally empty" packaged foods can be shipped farther and kept on store shelves longer without refrigeration.

The fact that many of these so-called "foods" could not support the life of bug nor beast (because nutrients have been lost in processing) never occurs to most people -- not to mention the possible danger of the different kinds and combinations of chemical preservatives.

Unprocessed, untreated foods cost more to ship and to stock, and there's much more loss from spoilage. This drives up the price to retailer and consumer.

As for vitamins -- they don't cost as much as you think. Most people find that when they improve their family's nutrition with "whole" foods and vitamins, they find themselves spending less and less on doctor bills, drug bills, dentist bills, etc. They don't spend on "empty calorie" junk food, soft drinks and sugar-filled snacks.

Also, how can we really say what it's worth to us to look and feel on top of the world?!

Q. Sometimes, about 15 minutes after I drink my daily protein drink, my skin gets sort of red and prickly for a few minutes. It doesn't hurt or anything, but I'm curious about what causes it. Would you know?

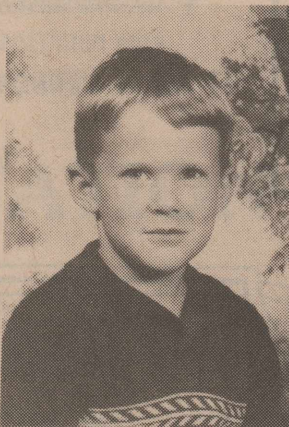

A. I imagine that you use brewer's yeast in your drink, and you're probably getting a "flush" from the niacin (a B vite) in the yeast. This is a rare occurrence, but it does happen occasionally. It won't hurt you. In fact, it's very good for your complexion.

Until next week, folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

BIRTHDAY!

The Pilot offers Happy Birthday wishes to Roy Bryan who will be celebrating "his day" on Monday, May 12. Roy retired from Pabst Brewing Company in 1974 and became a Winter Texan about that time. It seems he and his wife headed for the Valley and as they were passing through Rockport, Roy -- a retired Navy man -- took a look at all that water and the nice town and said, "This is it." He finally got around to going to the Valley for a few days in 1976 -- but Rockport is his winter home. During the summers, he and his wife live in Peoria, Illinois.

BOY

Tommy Lynn Mostella celebrated his seventh birthday on May 8 with a party given by his family. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mostella and has two older brothers. He is in the first grade at Live Oak Elementary school. His grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mostella formerly of Aransas Pass, and Mr. and Mrs. Erich Bauch of Schulenburg. Happy birthday, Tommy!

Rockport Girls Chosen Tot and Junior Miss Round-Up

Yvette Olson, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Olson of Rockport was crowned Junior Miss Round-Up Queen in Ingleside on Friday, May 2.

First runner-up in the Junior Miss competition was Pam McBray, 12, of Ingleside, and second runner-up was Natalie Diegel, 11, of Ingleside.

Bridgett Ramey, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Ramey of Rockport was chosen Tot Round-up Queen for 1980.

First runner-up was Corina Garcia, five, of Ingleside, and second runner-up was Michelle Jimenez, also five, of Ingleside. The pageant was sponsored by the Ingleside Chamber of Commerce.

DOUBLE JEOPARDY

During the past several weeks, Congress and the President have been engaged in a drive to combat inflation by reducing government spending.

While this goal is commendable, what is happening in many cases is that budget cuts are being made which threaten to destroy programs which enable the poor to survive.

The food stamp program is running out of money. Unless Congress acts before May 15 to remove or raise the ceiling or to provide the additional amount to span the gap between the ceiling and actual costs, the entire food stamp program will shut down in June.

This will mean double trouble to many areas, and Aransas County is no exception. While the food stamp program shut down, 1,575 of our Aransas County citizens will have inadequate food supplies and our grocers will have $63,000 less food sales of June alone!

The Texas Department of Human Resources reports the following information on food stamp recipients in Texas: 36 percent of those eligible are participating; 377,000 households; 1.1 million people; 38 percent of adults are elderly or disabled; 32 percent of adults are mothers or others who must stay at home and care for others; 20 percent of adults are employed; only 10 percent are unemployed.

If you share my concern for the poor and the hungry and if you see in their faces the person of Jesus Christ who said: "In as much as you do it unto one of the least of these my brothers, you do it unto me!" please urge your Representative to vote for adequate funding for the program and to vote against amendments which would reduce benefits.

Address your letter to "The Honorable Joe Wyatt, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515," or call 202/224-3121 and ask for the office of Mr. Wyatt.

THE ORIGINAL WORD MAZE PUZZLE

...OUT

ALL WORDS TO BE CONSTRUCTED PERTAIN TO THE ABOVE TOPIC. TO YOUR ADVANTAGE ONE WORD HAS ALREADY BEEN TRACED. YOU MUST TRACE THE THREE REMAINING WORDS, USING ONLY THE LETTERS DESIGNATED BY THE DARKENED CIRCLES. WORDS MAY BEGIN AND END FROM EITHER COLUMN BUT EACH LETTER CAN ONLY BE USED ONCE.

EACH PUZZLE HAS A DIFFICULTY RATING (ABOVE). FOUR STARS SIGNIFY THE HIGHEST DEGREE OF DIFFICULTY.

GIVEN BELOW ARE THE POINT VALUES FOR EACH WORD. YOUR WORDS MUST CORRECTLY MATCH THESE POINT VALUES.

WORK

The first "salary" was an allowance given to Roman soldiers to buy salt.

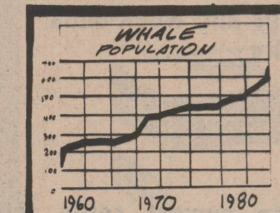

WHALE facts&fancies

The water-spouting of a whale is part of its breathing process. The whale inhales air above the water every few minutes and blows it out from nostrils on the top of its head.

Japan has traditionally depended upon whaling for much needed protein. Whale meat, one of the most nutritious proteins in the Japanese diet, is more palatable to the Japanese than beef, which was once proscribed by their religion. If Japan were to replace whale meat with beef, it would take 310,000 head of cattle to replace the whale meat consumed by Japan in a single year.

At present, Japan's pelagic whaling vessels harvest only the minke species, which is abundant and reproducing faster than the small percentage taken under strict quotas. Japan is a member and staunch supporter of the International Whaling Commission (IWC), which regulates the world's whaling industries.

Since 1972, most whale populations have grown steadily as a result of the IWC's strict catch-control measures. Whale species declared endangered because of excessive hunting in earlier days can no longer be hunted by commercial whalers, thanks to the IWC, which is now dominated by nonwhaling nations.

You're not necessarily stuck with an old bumper sticker if you've changed your mind about its message. Five or ten minutes heat lamp treatment can help get it off.

Nursing Home News

The Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center had a nice week from April 28 through May 4.

Virginia Hillis did volunteer visiting, and Annie Stacey and Ada Griffin gave out candy canes and visited also. Avis Howery visited several of the residents.

Tuesday evening, the "Future Teachers of America" club of Ingleside High School visited with 12 birthday cakes. Each resident was designated to sit at the table that held the cake honoring their month of birth. The club sang "Happy Birthday" to everyone, and Ginger Muse, Dietary Supervisor, made punch for the celebration. The club then held a game afternoon for the residents.

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's Note: A man living on the Live Oak Peninsula who signs himself "J.A." and says he is referred to as the Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher has written us the following letter and has offered to write others. We will let our readers be the judges of whether we ought to give this fellow space every week. The letter follows, in his own language, insults and all.

Dear Editor:

I was sitting out here in the sun the other afternoon watching a newspaper being blown along the ground by the wind and I got to wondering if I'd read it, yet didn't want to get up to see as there's no use exerting yourself unnecessarily, saving energy is as important as saving money, is a lot easier, and you can do it in the shade.

But later on in the afternoon it blew over close to where I was sitting and since I was going to change positions anyway I leaned over and picked it up and was surprised to find it was a recent issue of the Rockport Pilot as I am frank to say I didn't know Rockport still had a newspaper, as I had been depending exclusively on television for my news until my set blew out two years ago, although I don't seem to be much more confused than the people whose sets are still working.

But since I have discovered The Pilot is still in existence I figured maybe you might be interested in an occasional letter from me if we can agree on a satisfactory price, which won't necessarily be high as a thinking man can find lots to write about without any trouble if he is confronted with a choice of writing or going up one row and down another wearing himself and his tractor out like some of my neighbors fighting grassburrs.

Speaking of grassburrs, I noticed a Congressman in Washington claimed a while back that there were thousands of acres of land overrun with grassburrs in this country due to strikes which were then holding up production of farm equipment and he wanted them stopped.

I understand his position, but I would like to suggest to that Congressman that while maybe he can convince his wife strikes were to blame for the grassburrs on his farm I haven't had any such luck. My wife just bluntly tells me I'm not using the equipment I've already got to any advantage and mentions a lot of other things which I am too much of a gentleman to repeat, adding that I'd have grassburrs, doesn't make any difference if I had $100,000 worth of equipment.

I'm in favor of this Congressman's eliminating grassburrs, but if he thinks eliminating strikes will do it I'm afraid he's not taking a practical view of the matter. We're liable to have grassburrs around the world as long as a man had rather prop his feet on the porch than get corns on them following his oxen or in other areas driving his tractor, and as far as I'm concerned, that's going to be forever.

Yours faithfully, J.A.
