House Approval Expected For Urgent Missile Bill

First Major Legislation Of Week-Old Session

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House is expected today to give almost unanimous approval to an emergency $549,670,000 missile spending bill — the first major legislation of the week-old session.

The measure includes money to begin erecting the nation's third intercontinental ballistic missile base, it was learned.

Senate prepardness subcommittee missile investigators continued their inquiry into the development and production of rockets, calling three more industry witnesses.

Congress was asked by the American Council of Education to give the parents of college students a tax cut in the drive to meet Russia's scientific education threat.

Democratic senators assured Republicans they won't conduct an "investigation" of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a Senate study of foreign policy. The Democrats said they would make the study non-partisan.

Government figures showing unemployment hit an eight-year high in December at 3,374,000 touched of a series of gloomy forecasts. Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said unless the administration acts quickly jobless ranks will hit five million.

Major developments in Congress Tuesday:

Baseball— Congressional leaders expressed sympathy, but gave no promises to minor league baseball officials seeking help to prevent television from killing their game.

Reciprocal Trade— The administration reciprocal trade bill received bipartisan backing when Rep. Robert W. Kean (R-N.J.) said he would co-sponsor the measure with Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) of the House Ways & Means Committee.

Farm— Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the administration farm bill going to Congress Thursday would be firm in reducing the government's role in agriculture.

Defense— Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee any reorganization of the Defense Department "must be handled slowly and carefully."

Army Fires Missile In Trial Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) —The spectacular launching Tuesday night of a Redstone, only the first stage rocket for the big Jupiter C satellite carrier, squelched rumors of an imminent Army attempt to fling a man-made moon into orbit.

The Defense Department identified the noisy, flame-trailing missile launched at 8:25 p.m. (e.s.t.) as a Redstone, a 200-mile range ballistic missile already operational. The test flight was described as "normal."

The Navy, meanwhile, apparently had postponed a second attempt to launch its 72-foot Vanguard rocket with a test satellite in its nose. Chief indication of this was the sudden departure Tuesday of Vanguard project officials who had come to Cape Canaveral over the week end for the anticipated launching.

This probably means the Vanguard will have to undergo further preparation and testing before it is ready for firing.

It is not known when a satellite attempt of any kind will be made. But it has been made clear that when the Vanguard is fired, the prime purpose of the test will be to prove the worth of the rocket itself and that chances of the test satellite orbiting are remote.

The Redstone was the first missile fired at night at Cape Canaveral in several weeks and Tuesday night's shoot thrilled spectators along nearby beaches who watched the missile soar into a cloudless sky and disappear seemingly among the stars.

When the firing button was pressed, the missile spewed brilliant flame from its tail jets and rose straight up before curving over and heading southeast. It dropped a series of photo-flash units used as an aid in tracking it, then flickered out high in the sky.

Gray County Commission Race Forms

The first political race in Gray County this year developed Monday afternoon when O. L. Tibbets of McLean, County Commissioner of Precinct 4, filed with the Democratic secretary as a candidate for re-election in the Democratic Primary to be held July 26.

Earlier, Truitt Johnson of McLean had filed as a candidate for the commissioner post in Precinct 4.

Three other persons filed Monday as candidates for re-election to the posts they now hold. They were: Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, seeking re-election as District Clerk; Ola Gregory, seeking re-election as County Treasurer; and Charlie Thut, seeking re-election as County Clerk. They had announced their candidacies Sunday.

Youth Center Directors Hold Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Pampa Youth and Community Center were to have met at 1:30 this afternoon in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the meting was to discuss future plans for the construction of the Center, to be located on Kentucky, west of Hobart.

Also scheduled was the appointment of chairmen of several committees. These included the Planning Committee and Listings Committee.

Following the meeting at 1:30 the directors were to meet with the Public Improvements Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. At least 30 minutes of the committee's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to a discussion of the aims of the Youth and Community Centr.

A discussion of the work accomplished by the Center to date was to be made by Dr. Joe Donaldson and he was also expected to discuss future plans for the Center.

CoC Committee Holds Meeting

Some eight members of the public relations committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met this morning in the conference room of the chamber offices.

Kay Fancher, chairman, was in charge of the meeting which was held to outline and discuss the assignments and objectives of the committee for the coming year as included in the 1958 program of work.

Social Agencies Council Has 50 Attending Dinner

The Pampa Council of Social Agencies held a dinner meeting last night in the Palm Room of the City Hall. Some 50 members of the Council attended the meeting which included committee members and representatives of organizations. Jimmy Massa, chairman, presided over the meeting which was highlighted by an address by prominent Amarillo attorney, Horace Wilson, chairman of the Child Guidance Center of Amarillo.

Wilson spoke on the organization, functions and achievements of the Potter-Randall Counties Citizens Committee which is an organization with the same projects and goals of the PCSA. He also pointed out that the results of a survey which was conducted by the committee, pointing up the needs in the three fields, health, family and child care, and youth and recreation.

Wilson was accompanied by three other members of the Potter-Randall Citizens Committee, Bob McCollum, director of Kids Inc., in Amarillo, A. D. Foreman, chairman of the board of managers of Northwest Texas Hospital, and Miss Flogene Robertson, chief case worker for the Family Service Department of Amarillo. The four sat in on committee meetings following the dinner and offered benefits from experience of cases handled in Amarillo. The advice and examples offered by the visiting representatives proved very helpful to the local agency, according to Massa.

Arthur Teed, director of the PCSA, gave an explanation as to the organization and objective of the Council.

Plans were made by the three meeting committees, health, family and child care, and youth and recreation, to meet again in the near future to make definite plans for a survey in the respective fields.

Massa, in summing up the meeting, stated the objective and function of the Council included such items as, the Council educated, does not compel; it relys on public opinoin, public understanding and the power of facts; fact-finding must be the objective; participation must be devoted and able; public confidence brings positive community action; the Council is the medium through which member organizations agree to plan and work together; the Council has no authority over any of its organization members; and each organization is autonomous and administers its own affairs.

Venire Drawn For Grice Murder Trial

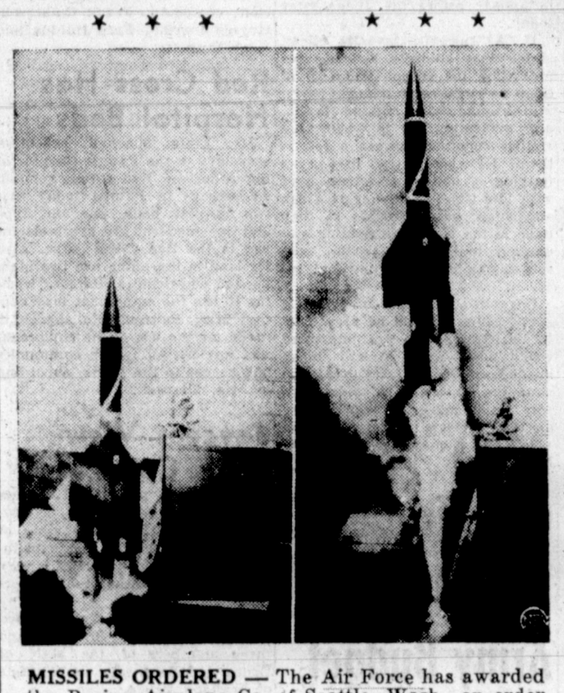

A special venire of 90 persons was drawn yesterday afternoon by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich for the trial of Eugene "Little Possum" Grice who is charged with murder with malice.

The trial in the 31st District Court of Gray County is scheduled to begin on Feb. 24. Grice is charged with the Jan. 4 murder of Matiga Washington in the Negro American Legion Club.

Washington was shot four times with a .32 caliber revolver and following the shooting, Grice surrendered at the sheriff's office. He later made a statement to District Attorney Bill Waters.

Grice's bond was set at $10,000.

Also scheduled during February is the trail of Luther Nickerson who is charged with rape. The trial is scheduled to begin on Feb. 10, and a special venire of 90 men was drawn earlier by the court.

MISSILES ORDERED — The Air Force has awarded the Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle, Wash., an order for approximately 100 Bomarc supersonic defensive missiles. Left, the missile is shown on its launching shelter just before firing. Right, the Bomarc blasts off, trailing flame and smoke. The Air Force also announced, for the first time, that the Bomarc is capable of being fired in salvo to intercept individual targets of a mass attacking force.

Ike Says Red-Ink Financing Preferable To Tax Increase

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he thinks a reasonable amount of red-ink financing would be far preferable to any increase in taxes.

The President, in his first meeting with reporters since last Oct. 30, stuck to his belief that there will be a business upturn this year that will keep the new budget balanced. But he conceded that Congress might vote additional expenditures and thus force federal spending over his projected goal of $73,900,000,000,000.

The President, who suffered a mild stroke Nov. 25, appeared to be in an amiable, easy mood.

He said he felt fine.

Praise for Dulles

The President said that while he had not actually considered resigning in connection with his November illness, he would have no recourse but to quit if he ever felt or was told by a group of eminent doctors that he was not up to doing his job.

But he said he did not anticipate any such development in this connection.

Other news conference highlights:

—He said any summit meeting with the Russians could be held only after lengthy, careful preparation starting on the ambassadorial level. Even after such preparation, he said there would be no point in a summit meting unless there was clear evidence in advance that the top level conversations would result in profitable agreement.

—He dismissed as so much trash a report that Secretary of

Pampa High School To See Program On Atomic Energy

Pampa High School students will next Wednesday have the opportunity of getting acquainted with the "wonders of our present age" at a special assembly program. Featured on the program will be "This Atomic World," a traveling atomic-energy exhibit of the US Atomic Energy Commission.

The exhibit will be sent to Pampa from the Museum Division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, which manages the exhibit, as well as the American Museum of Atomic Energy in Oak Ridge, Tenn., for the Commission.

"This Atomic World" is one of several traveling exhibits which the ommission has made available to towns and cities all over the United States. It is designed to meet the needs of principals, science teachers, and civic leaders in stimulating a deeper interest in the peacetime uses of atomic energy.

In Wediesday's program, a staff member of the Museum Division, J. R. Johnson, will take the audience on an excursion into the atomic age. Utilizing exhibits and demonstration equipment, the demonstrator will explain in simple language the fundamentals of atomic energy and how it compares with other types of energy; how atomic energy is released through radiation and fission; and how atomic energy is used in agriculture, medicine, industry, and other fields.

Illustrative charts, panels, models, and equipment will play important roles in the demonstration. One of the outstanding attractions of "This Atomic World" will be a demonstration model of the Van de Graaff electrostatic generator. This device, which generates 250,000 volts of static electricity, will be used to explain how large models are used in physics laboratories to study atomic structure.

United Fund Goal $4,000 Short

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund is still over $4,000 short of the $60,000 goal set by the directors of the fund for the operation of the seven member agencies during the year.

According to information released this morning, subscriptions in the fund now total $55,939.50. Of this amount, cash received at the fund office now totals $48,307.97 with the remaining $7,631.53 in pledges.

Residents of Pampa and Lefors, who have not subscribed to the United Fund, were urged today by Warren Hasse, drive chairman, to bring their subscriptions to the United Fund office, located in the basement of City Hall.

CoC Publicity Committee Holds Meet

The publicity and general information committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met in the chamber offices yesterday to discuss projects for the year.

Plans to publicize use of the community calendar kept in the chamber offices were made with stories and radio broadcasts slated to inform the public about the calendar's existence.

The calendar is maintained in order to eliminate, as much as possible, major events being held on the same date. Organizations and individuals planning a program or some event in which public attendance is desired have been asked to notify the chamber so it may be recorded on the calendar. This action could eliminate the possibility of duplication of major events in Pampa if it is given cooperation, the committee felt.

Also planned as a community service project for the year was the compiling and listing of speakers and entertainment available to various clubs, and organizations looking for a program. A meeting of the committee has been scheduled for next Monday to get work underway on this project.

A new brochure for the city will possibly be published later in the year but immediate action on this project was postponed.

Several new ideas and suggestions were considered by the committee and will be pursued if they

Benson Says Ike Will Support Less Government In Farming

WASHINGTON (UP) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson says President Eisenhower will back legislation to reduce the government's role in agriculture.

Details of the administration's farm program will be submitted to Congress in a special presidential message at noon Thursday. Benson said the message will be firm.

The secretary will appear before the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday morning to support administration proposals.

The President is expected to call for lower price supports, fewer controls on acreage and production, continuation of present surplus disposal programs, elimination of the "idle land" acreage reserve section of the soil bank and higher interest rates for Rural Electrification Administration loans.

Benson told a news conference Tuesday that farmer interest in his plan to deposit entire farms in the conservation reserve section of the soil bank is "exceeding by far our expectations." A trial run on getting entire farms into the soil bank on a bid basis has been in operation in Illinois, Nebraska, Tennessee and Maine since Jan. 1.

Benson said preliminary reports show Tennessee farmers have submitted 2,700 bids and those in Nebraska an estimated 1,000. There have been no reports from Illinois and Maine.

He declined to be drawn out on what action he will take in the face of a tight supply situation of high grade cotton. He said he was not ready yet to make recommendations about cotton. But he said he may have something to say when he testifies before the Senate committee Friday.

Benson said the administration's 1959 budget, submitted to Congress Monday, would maintain the services and activities of the department at about the same levels as in the current fiscal year.

ToT Rodeo Directors To Hold Meeting

Directors of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Associtton will hold a meeting tonight to transact business concerning the 1958 Top o' Texas Rodeo which will be held in August.

Bob Andis, president of the association, has urged all directors to be present since reports will be made from the committees working on details of the show.

Meeting time will be 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

Texas Rangers Only Occasionally Wince At Way TV Portrays Them

By JOHN G. WARNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)— The 51-man Texas Ranger Force, now 123 years old, goes about its work today with only an occasional wince at the way television portrays it.

The Rangers, the most widely publicized state law enforcement agency in the nation, with two TV programs going strong for them also claim to be the most represented.

Two TV programs, "Tales of the Texas Rangers" and "Trackdown," bear the standard of the Rangers to the Western- hungry public.

One Called Silly

"Tales of the Texas Rangers" is passed off as fantasy by real-life Rangers. One called it "silly."

"Trackdown" received mixed reviews from the Rangers.

One officer approved of the show's format but criticized the star, Robert Culp, as not "looking like a Ranger should." The Ranger said he had met Culp and found him "very friendly and interested in the Rangers" but doubted that a real Ranger would ever be relieved of his gun by a badman, as Culp was in one of his "Trackdown" episodes.

Another, however, expressed a liking for Culp's acting and liked the show's portrayal of Ranger methods, "especially how he

Burglars Add To Wardrobe From Cleaners

The burglars that entered the DeLuxe Dry Cleaners, 315 W. Kingsmill, last night added to their wardrobe.

Jim Conner, chief of police, said that the burglary was reported to the police department at 8:30 this morning. Entry to the building was obtained by removing a pane of glass in a window on the south side of the building and opening the window sash, the chief said.

Investigation of the burglary disclosed that the only items taken were clothes. A list of the clothing taken was not available this morning pending the checking of the firms records, Conner said.

West Texas Due For Freeze In Wake Of Lashing Storms

By UNITED PRESS

Temperatures plunged today in Texas on the heels of a pair of cold fronts that brought tornadoes, snow, hail and thunderstorms into the state.

Both cold fronts, one which swept the state from the west and another from the north, were out of the state and a rush of cold air from the north moved in behind them.

The snow which fell in Pampa around noon yesterday had melted to a large degree by late afternoon. The sun came out about mid-afternoon to give a late-day warmup some aid in the melting process.

Coldw eather, meanwhile, was stil hanging on today as the melted snow froze last night. The sun was shining bright over the Top o' Texas this morning however and a warming trend is expected.

A tornado dropped to earth northeast of Greenville late Tuesday, ripping the roof from a barn and toppling television antennas. No other damage or personal injury was reported.

Other Funnels Sighted

Other funnels were sighted southwest of Terrell and east of Wills Point, two towns only about 15 miles apart. The tornadoes were reported an hour apart, however, convincing observers they were separate twisters. Neither was reported to have touched ground.

Rain ended early today in northeast Texas, where a deluge accompanied by hail fell Tuesday. Sherman had 3.20 inches of rain and hail covered the ground "like a snowstorm." There were no reports of damage, however, and a tornado reported in the air between Sherman and Bonham was not confirmed.

Light snow fell in the Panhandle, where temperatures dropped below 20 degrees.

Temperatures were scheduled to drop below freezing everywhere in the state tonight except the Gulf Coast and extreme South Texas.

Clouds Will Break

Clouds were expected to break today and skies should remain fair through Thursday, the weather bureau said.

West Texas, which was scheduled to start warming up Thursday, was to experience lows of 25-35 tonight, North Central 26-34, East Texas 30-40, and north and central portions of South Central Texas also having 30-40 degree lows.

Dalhart had a low early today of 18, and Amarillo 20, ranging to 50 at Corpus Christi. Other lows included Lubbock 24, Midland 29, El Paso 39, Laredo 44, Brownsville 49, San Antonio 43, Victoria 44, Houston 47, Lufkin 44, College Station 42, Austin 40, Fort Worth 35, Dallas 36, Wichita Falls 29, Abilene 29, and Austin 40.

Perrin Air Force Base, near Sherman, measured 3.53 inches of rain, Arthur City .89, Naples .80, and Texarkana .89.

Pampans Injured In Car Wreck

Two Pampa women received injuiries when the 1955 Oldsmobile they occupied struck a tree at 12:30 yesterday afternoon approximately one-half mile east of White Deer.

Injured were Mrs. Mattie McGee and Mrs. Ruby Myers, both of Pampa.

Investigating officers reported that the accident occurred after the Oldsmobile went out of control as Mrs. McGee, who was driving the car, attempted to pass another car. They said that the accident probably resulted due to the sleet and snow falling at the time which made the road slick.

Mrs. Myers was still in Highland General Hospital this morning where attendants reported that her condition was good. Her injuries were not revealed.

Mrs. McGee was released from the hospital yesterday after receiving treatment for her injuires.

Juvenile Officer Asks Parents Aid

Two 14 year old boys were before County Judge Bruce Parker for a talking to this morning as a result of a fight which took place yesterday morning across the street from Pampa Junior High School.

The boys were caught fighting and asked to appear with their parents before the Judge, who warned them that it could only cause trouble to fight and cause a commotion around the school building and on public property around the school.

Two more students were seen this morning in a fight and were to appear before the Judge later today.

H. A. Doggett, juvenile oficer, stated that students arriving before time for school, some 60 of them as much as 30 minutes early, mill around with nothing to do, and evidently that is when the trouble occurs betwween a few of them. He also stated that the fighting is nothing too bad, but with idle time, the youngsters can and might cause trouble as they have in the past. The fighting and damage to buildings around the school has been very evident recently.

Doggett states that in order to keep order, it would be very helpful if parents who are interested would come down around lunch and before school starts to see the situation, in order to understand why action must be taken to handle the problem which could develop into a major juvenile problem.

New Airport Manager Is Sought

The Gray County Airport Advisory Board is soliciting applications for the post of airport manager at Perry LeFors Field, according to Tom Followell, secretary.

Followell said the applications must be filed with County Judge Bruce Parker on or before Feb. 4. The board will meet on Feb. 6 in the office of Hugh Burdette in the Hughes Building for the purpose of interviewing the applicants. Applicants, therefore, should make plans to be available for interview at 3 p.m. Feb. 6 in Burdette's office.

Ford Cowan is presently acting airport manager.

Members of the board include Followell, Boyd Meador, D. E. Holt, chairman, Frank Culberson, George Ingrum, Fred Haiduk and Hugh Burdette.

In the noon meeting of Pampa Jaycees yesterday, Rev. Neely, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, showed and explained the origin and nature of a very large and interesting rock collection.

Visitors to the meeting included Bob Trape, J. C. Roberts, and three members of the staff at Bruce and Sons who were guests of Wallace Bruce.

The shifts for the March of Dimes "Bucket Brigade" were assigned with four Jaycees to be located on the corner of Kingsmill and Russell from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday in two hour shifts.

No other important business was transacted.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday at noon in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

Gen. Trudeau To Defend Army Budget

TOKYO (UP)— Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, newly appointed U.S. Army research and development chief, said today he would do his best to defend the Army budget if called upon to do so by a congressional committee.

The 55-year-old former Army intelligence chief was notified today that he has been chosen to replace Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, who decided to retire in protest over lagging Army missile development.

Gavin said he would not defend the new Army budget, which has raised questions as to whether the administration is allowing the Army adequate money for development of new weapons.

Trudeau, who was taking a break in Tokyo from his post as a corps commander in Korea, said at a news conference that he had defended the Army G-1 and G-2 budgets.

"If I have to do it here (regarding the budget as a whole)," he said, "I will do the best I can."

In commenting on Russian missile development, Trudeau said.

works with local officers instead of taking all the glory for himself."

"We know the old-time Rangers are fabled in history, but today we are better trained and accomplish more in a month than the old-timers did in their careers," said Capt. Jay Banks of Company B at Dallas.

The specific duty of today's Ranger is to "suppress riots and insurrections and enforce state laws." The Rangers were founded in 1835 as Indian fighters.

"In Austin," said Banks, "we have the most complete laboratory in the nation outside of the FBI."

The Rangers still have no uniform, but traditionally dress in harshly-styled Western suits.

The horse has all but passed from existence in the force, despite "Tales of the Texas Rangers," and Banks said only a few Rangers, who own their own mounts, use them for special purposes now.

The Rangers, although empowered to do so, seldom enter a case unless invited by local officials.

"There are so many applications to join the Rangers it's nearly impossible to go through all of them when a vacancy comes up," Banks said. "No one ever quits."

An applicant must have five years law enforcement service before he can qualify for the Rangers.

UAW President Charges GM Official

DETROIT (UP)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther today accused General Motors President Harlow Curtice of applying a double standard in criticizing the UAW's proposed profit-sharing plan.

"For many years, General Motors has had a profit-sharing plan for executives which is the most lucrative plan in the history of free enterprise," Reuther said.

"We are somewhat at a loss to understand the kind of mental and moral gymnastics that are required to see nothing but good in a profit-sharing plan for executives and nothing but bad in the extension of this principle to workers and consumers."

George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., Tuesday became the latest auto firm head to attack the UAW proposal made on Monday. He called it a "subterfuge" and a "bludgeon" to force a big wage gain from the entire auto industry.

Romney, who heads one of America's "little two" car building firms, said Reuther's strategy has been to get giant GM to establish the size of the wage and benefit "package" and then force this "package" on the rest of the industry.

Reuther sent copies of his reply to Curtice's statement to the other members of the big three automakers — Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

The labor leader's answer was to allegations by the big three that the UAW demands are extravagant, inflationary, "foreign to the concept of free enterprise," and will weaken public confidence.

State John Foster Dulles recently submitted his resignation under a fire of criticism and that Eisenhower had rejected it. He said Dulles is the wisest and most dedicated man he knows and possesses the greatest knowledge of foreign affairs of any man of his acquaintance.

—He said he saw no reason to maintain the federalized National Guard in Little Rock once city officials could express their confident intention of maintaining order in their town. He added that he hopes such an expression of confidence will be forthcoming soon.

Keep Gaither Report Secret

—He promised that in the congressional campaigns this fall he would do his best to help elect Republican candidates who share his philosophy of government.

—He said the details of Defense Department reorganization and greater service unification should come primarily from an agreement between Congress and the executive branch of government—particularly the armed services—rather than following any minutely detailed blueprint he might lay down.

—Said he had no intention of making the Gaither report public. This report by a distinguished panel of civilians has been represented as concluding that America is in potential grave military danger.

The President's discussion of the budget was touched off when a reporter noted that some members of Congress in both parties do not believe the 1959 budget will be balanced or wind up with the 500-million-dollar surplus forecast by the President.

The President was asked whether he preferred deficit financing or higher taxes to meet a situation created by an unbalanced budget.

Noting that the question contained many hypothetical aspects, the President said it is impossible to tell precisely what will happen because the administration is estimating expenditures and receipts 18 months ahead.

He said it is quite possible that there could be additional costs beyond his budget. But he said he believes that all low-priority expenditures should be reduced if humanly possible. He added with a wry smile that this is easier to say than to do.

Should Congress vote additional expenditures which it regards as necessary, he said his own feeling was that a reasonable amount of deficit spending would be better than talking about a tax increase at this time.

He said the consensus of his economic advice is that there will be an upswing this year rather than a continuation of a downswing.

Armed Forces Promised Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (UP)—A key House Democrat promised members of the armed forces a pay raise today, but he wasn't certain the administration had the answer.

Chairman Paul J. Kilday (D-Tex.) of the House armed services subcommittee which will consider the measure said the military "must have a pay increase and some adjustments."

The administration proposed spending 518 million dollars to keep highly skilled men in the services by scrapping the present "Methuselah" system of giving raises merely for putting in service time.

"Whether they've got the solution we could go along with or we could pass, I just don't know," Kilday said.

The White House said it also will ask Congress later for a half-billion a year pay boost for civil service workers and postal employes.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy has said unemployment would not become a "serious" problem unless it rose to six million. Mitchell believes there will be an upturn in business before it goes that high.

The Conference on Economic Progress (CEP) mcalled Tuesday for a three billion annual increase in defense spending. It said the President's domestic program was "dangerously inadequate" and the economy presently was in a "seriously recessionary state."

The CEP is a non-profit group which numbers on its national committee United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME—This photograph of a model of the Hunter College Library, now under construction at the school's Bronx, N. Y., campus, shows the dramatic "hyperbolic paraboloid" shapes that will comprise the building's roof. Designed by Marcel Breuer, the 120x180-foot, 230,000-volume library will be the first educational building in this country to feature the radical construction concept upon its completion in 1959. The unique roof, made of concrete shells, will require only six columns for support, allowing maximum floor space and flexibility of layout. Connected to the library will be a companion classroom-administration building that will have 30 classrooms and an inner courtyard. Cost of both buildings is estimated at $3,300,000.

Solon Sees Increase In Lay Off

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) predicted today unemployment will hit five million unless the administration does something about it quickly.

Sparkman called for an "ease up" instead of a cut-back of federal urban renewal, home building and other public works projects to open up more jobs.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) joined in the gloomy statements following government reports showing unemployment last month hit an eight-year high. The 3,374,000 jobless figure was the highest for any December since the 1949 recession.

A top labor economist, Stanley H. Ruttenberg, of the AFL-CIO, forecast a "considerably higher" unemployment figure for this month. He said totals would continue to climb in February and March.

"We're getting pretty close to the danger point," Douglas said.

But Ruttenberg said there might be a "turnaround" at mid-year if military spending was increased above the 40 billion dollar defense budget proposed by President Eisenhower.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell has said unemployment would not become a "serious" problem unless it rose to six million. Mitchell believes there will be an upturn in business before it goes that high.

The Conference on Economic Progress (CEP) mcalled Tuesday for a three billion annual increase in defense spending. It said the President's domestic program was "dangerously inadequate" and the economy presently was in a "seriously recessionary state."

The CEP is a non-profit group which numbers on its national committee United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

Canadian Water Works Sets Meeting

According to Ernest M. Newcomb, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Water Works and Sewage Association, a meeting will be held by the group on Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Palm Room of the Pampa City Hall.

There were twenty paid up members on the roster for 1958 at the last check during the December meeting held on Dec. 12.

To date, the list of officers for the Association includes, J. C. Reagan, W. S. of Canadian, president; L. B. Owens, Mayor of Canadian, vice-president; and E. M. Newcomb, assistant W. S. of Spearman, secretary-treasurer.

Members on the program committee include, Commissioner Tom Hill, Canadian, chairman; Charles Blankenburg, Lefors, and Bob Campbell, Viking Supply Corp., Lubbock.

All members have been urged to be present for the forthcoming meeting.

Brothers Take Honors In Ochiltree Livesock Show

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — Two brothers took home top honors in the Ochiltree County Livestock Show yesterday. They were Eddie and Douglas McGarraueh.

The pair took the grand champion and reserve champion titles in the calf show.

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McGarraueh, both boys are members of the FFA in Perryton High School.

Eddie showed the reserve champion, a black Angus which weighed 1,050 lbs. It sold to the John Deere Implement company for 60 cents per lb.

Douglas showed the grand champion, a Hereford weighing 750 lbs. which also sold to John Deere for 75 cents per lb.

Jimmy Latham's Black Angus won first place in the lightweight calf division. It was bought by the Ochiltree County Soil Conservation Committee for 40 cents per lb.

Showmanship awards in the calf show went to Garland Sell, first place, and Eddie McGarraueh, second.

In the sheep show, Maureen Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Pearson, showed the grand champion, a Southdown. It was bought by the A&D Motor Company for $2 per lb.

Bobbie Schwalk showed the reserve champion, also a Southdown, which sold to the Equity Elevator for $1.50 per lb.

In the swine division, Homer J. Clark Jr. showed the grand champion hog, a Poland China which sold to Foote Truck and Tractor for $1.30 per lb.

Ted Maston showed the reserve champion, a Berkshire which also sold to Foote Truck and Tractor for $1.20.

Rev. West Called To Los Angeles By Family Death

The Rev. William E. West, St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, has been called to Los Angeles, Calif. by the death of his mother, Mrs. James Reynolds, who died early Tuesday morning following a heart attack. Rev. West left by plane Tuesday morning for California. Funeral arrangements are pending.

The annual Parish dinner planned for this evening in the church will be held. In the absence of Rev. West, Senior Warden C. P. Buckler will preside at the meeting.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable; with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

RAIN OR SHINE—A huge, 20-million-dollar rolltop-roofed auditorium, shown in architect's drawings above, will be the most spectacular project in Pittsburgh's current redevelopment program. Its dome-shaped roof, left, will be 415 feet in diameter and will be tall enough to house a 10-story building beneath its highest point. In clear, warm weather the top can be rolled back, right, to expose the sky. Seat sections and the 114-foot wide stage will be movable so that varied functions can be held in the auditorium. Seating capacity will run from 7,113 for operas and concerts to 13,640 for boxing, wrestling and conventions. Construction of the "beat the elements" building is expected to get under way in April.

Canadian MOD Drive Is Planned

(Special to The News)

CANADIAN — A vigorous March of Dimes campaign for Hemphill County has been planned, according to Mrs. Ben Parnell, campaign Director.

"Coffee Day" was held last Saturday with all cafes and drug stores donating their proceeds from coffee sales to the campaign.

Organized for the first time this year, "Teens Against Polio," have sold "Polio Fighter" balloons in the downtown district and plan to have a "Blue Crutch Day" later in the month. Misses Jean Cleveland and Barbara Meek are co-chairmen for the drive and Miss Annabelle Louther is publicity chairman.

A fifteen minute film, "Survival is Not Enough," will be shown to the various service organizations during the month.

The annual Mothers' March, conducted by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, will close the drive at the end of this month.

Various committee chairmen for the drive this year include: Mrs. John McMordie, schools; Mrs. Bob Ward, coin collectors; Mrs. Lawrence Teague and Mrs. Raymond Newell, sports; Mrs. Charles Cook, Mothers' March chairman for the ESA; Mrs. Frank McMordie Jr., March of Dimes mailers; Miss Mary Kathryn Brainard, special events; Mrs. Gordon Hill, campaign promotion; and Mrs. Bob Dillman, window displays.

Motorists Speeding Toward Higher Bills For Insurance

By EVERETT R. IRWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — American motorists are literally speeding toward increasingly higher bills for automobile liability protection, insurance men said today.

Many already are paying more for insurance than for the gasoline that propels their high-horsepower cars into bone-crushing, metal-crumpling collisions on the nation's highways.

The tab went up in three-fourths of the nation last year. Insurance company spokesmen said it will go up again this year in many states.

Joseph S. Gerber, Illinois director of insurance who recently authorized the state's second rate increase within eight months, said "speed is the No. 1 problem."

He said motorists can't hope for lower auto insurance rates unless they become more safety - conscious and stop demanding higher horsepower in their vehicles.

"They've got to learn that there's no more damaging and destructive an instrumentality than the modern automobile," Gerber said.

Insurance companies blamed increased traffic, a rising number of accidents, more generous jury verdicts in personal injury suits and soaring automobile repair costs.

They said it costs more to repair a bumper today than it used to cost to repair what the bumper was supposed to protect.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters has compiled reports showing that 37 states authorized increases in the bodily injury basic limits premium level during the first nine months of 1957.

Only three states — Delaware, Minnesota and Vermont — countered the trend with decreases during the same period.

The increases ranged from 1.4 per cent in Utah to 30.2 per cent in California. They exceeded 20 per cent in 16 states.

Illinois, which granted a 19.9 per cent boost in April, followed with an additional 31 per cent increase in November. Gerber pointed out that the increases were Illinois' first since 1951. During that six-year period most other states authorized from four to six step-ups in rates.

Figures quoted by Harry H. Fuller, manager of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters office, showed that 35 states authorized premium boosts for private property damage in auto mishaps during the first nine months of 1957.

In 17 states the increases exceeded 10 per cent. Five states directed decreases.

Ike Proposes A Cold War Solution

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

President Eisenhower has proposed to Soviet Russia a practical and logical solution of all Cold War differences between East and West.

It is simply that the Soviet government, after more than 12 years, start to make its obligations under the United Nations charter the basis of its foreign policy.

There has been some complaint, both in foreign countries and in the United States, that there was nothing dramatic—or even new—in the letter the President has sent to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

There is considerable feeling in allied as well as in neutral countries that Bulganin, in the letters with which he has bombarded countries all over the world, has won the diplomatic initiative.

Made Some New Proposals

Eisenhower, in his replies to the two letters Bulganin sent to him, did make some important proposals of his own.

One of them was that nuclear-powered missiles be launched only for peaceful purposes.

Another was that a "summit" meeting on Cold War issues might be held if secret diplomatic exchanges, then a meeting of foreign ministers, showed that there was real hope of agreement.

But the President put his greatest emphasis on the fact that the U.N. charter, if Russia ever started to observe it, would make a summit meeting unnecessary.

Eisenhower cited the charter on six specific points in his letter.

—He said that the charter provides for the collective security which Russia says it wants, and makes the U.N. Security Council primarily responsible for maintaining it. But he pointed out that Russia has used its veto power 82 times in the council.

—He reminded Russia that the charter authorizes regional treaties for self-defense such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which the Soviet government denounces as aggressive.

Charter Renounces Force

—In reply to Bulganin's proposal that the big powers respect the independence of Middle Eastern countries, and renounce the use of force in settling issues there, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter covers that situation like a blanket.

—As to Bulganin's proposal for a non-aggression pact, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter contains a pledge against aggression.

—On Bulganin's proposal for a pledge that the United States, Great Britain and Russia promised not to use nuclear weapons, Eisenhower pointed out that the charter pledges U.N. members not to use any weapons at all against the territory or independence of any state.

—Finally, as to Bulganin's proposal for development of friendship and cooperation, Eisenhower reminded Bulganin that the charter calls for that.

Certainly it is true that there was nothing dramatic in the President's citiation of the charter. But it is pretty certain that his detailed review of charter obligations will appeal to a lot of countries — in Latin America, in Asia and even in Western Europe—which would like to see the U.N. made the bulwark of peace which it is supposed to be.

GOLDEN BOY—Truly a man with the golden touch, Herman Diemer of Brooklyn, N.Y., who washes about 10 cents' worth of gold dust from his hands every night, is retiring from the job after 62 years. Diemer, 74, has melted down an estimated two million pounds of gold over the years while employed as chief melter for J. R. Wood and Sons, the largest maker of wedding and engagement rings. He has a record that's also golden, having missed only three and one-half days during all his years with the firm. (And in case you wondered, the company traps the wash water used by the workers to recover the gold dust.)

Television In Revew: Monday's 'Suspicion' Good

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)— I believe it was Oscar Wilde or one of his crazy mixed up gang who used to carry a lily in his hand and wear a sunflower in his lapel.

Well, that sort of wacky posturing is the sort of thing you can't hardly get no more on TV. And another thing you can't hardly get is an urbane, witty comedy.

Monday night, TV audiences got a taste of Wildean extravagance when "Suspicion," an NBC-TV series that hasn't kicked up much dust this season, turned to Wilde's "Lord Arthur Savile's Crime," in an adaptation by Francis Cockrell.

Waltzed Through an Hour

In a season in which most TV hours have trodden with a kind of heavy galumph, this piece slid through its allotted 60 minutes in a waltz.

I guess a great deal of credit should be given to the cast—among them, Ronald Howard, Rosemary Harris, Gladys Cooper—who carried what might have been a disastrously slim vehicle on their backs. Not a shuffler or mumbler among them. In particular, I would like to single out Miss Cooper, a darling lady who eases through all of her roles in blissful style.

A great deal of aplomb and good-humored elegance is needed to mouth such lines as "confound it, sir, this is beyond endurance." or: "I'm afraid we must postpone our marriage for the time being. I can only say I am forced to by an entanglement neither honor nor duty will allow me to ignore." It is to the credit of everyone that this sort of thing was carried off with believability and grace.

Murder Bumbling Funny

I won't go too far into the story. Briefly, it centered around a young man, about to be married, who is frightened off when a palmreader predicts he will commit murder some day. The young man's bumbling efforts to bump off an elderly female relative and then an elderly church official lead to a pretty fair measure of fun.

One sample exchange from a scene in which the young man visits a friend, a revolutionary, and asks for help in setting up a murder:

Young man: "I'm looking for an explosive machine of some sort. You know, something to use to blow up someone."

Revolutionary: "My dear boy, I'm delighted to see you've decided to take up politics seriously."

It was Wilde who said: "The only pleasant things to pay are compliments." This was my pleasure.

● Jacoby ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Harry Fishbein of New York's Mayfair club is one of the greatest card players of all time. Here is one of his latest triumphs told in his own words.

"When I bid five no-trump my partner Morie Elis jumped to seven clubs. I had shown that we held all the aces and he had just the right cards for the grand slam. East doubled and that could mean only one thing. A void in diamonds! I went to seven no-trump and West opened the diamond ten.

"I let the diamond ride around to my king and when East showed out I spread my hand and claimed seven on a simple squeeze good against any combination of cards."

Harry is right but I wonder just how many of you readers will see his "simple" squeeze? Here it is.

Since East had shown out of diamonds the diamond finesse is proven and you have 12 tricks. Now you cash the three top spades. If the jack drops you have 13 tricks. The way the cards actually lie East shows out of spades on the third lead of the suit. Now you run five clubs, discarding dummy's queen of hearts on the last club. The ace of hearts lead now forces West to throw the jack of spades to establish dummy's ten or a diamond to make dummy's three diamonds all good.

If West had shown out of spades Harry would have run the clubs again. On the last club lead West would have had to discard down to one heart to keep three diamonds. Now Hary would let go dummy's little diamond and lead to the ace-jack. On the second diamond East would have to go down to one heart to keep the jack of spades and both Harry's hearts would be winners. Simple!

Time To Halt This Bureau

That vigorous campaigner for spending the U.S. taxpayer's money—the Bureau of Reclamation— has another of its grandiose engineering programs in the making.

Not content with having won most of its major points in the Upper Colorado River Project to use a considerable amount of available waetr for upstream irrigation and power projects, the bureau now proposes to divert some more of the water which is not available across the Continental Divide into the Rio Grande watershed in New Mexico.

The Colorado River Board of California, through Chairman Fred W. Simpson, has charged that some of the water now coming to California would be diverted as far away as Texas through this new Reclamation Bureau scheme.

The Bureau is asking Congress in the next session to authorize what the bureau calls the initial stage of the San Juan Chama Project at a cost of $81,000,000 in U. S. taxpayer's money. This would supply municipal water for the City of Albuquerque and would bring supplemental irrigation water to 120,000 acres of land.

Simpson said the bureau's Rio Grande project ultimately would be providing water for farms in New Mexico and Texas.

"There is no water in the Colorado River system that is not already committed for beneficial consumptive use under the terms of the Colorado River Compact," Simpson said. 'Therefore, no Colorado River system water is lying outside the compact area. Texas is not a Colorado River Compact state."

Aside from the ever-present dispute between various present and prospective users of the limited supply of Colorado River water, we think the people of the United States should immediately call a halt to the activities of the Bureau of Reclamation.

This outfit is going around the country and proposing wild schemes to develop water for various communities, whose residents are all too eager to get something for which they will pay little or none of the costs. They do not seem to realize the vast hold they are giving a federal bureau over the lives of the people.

Take in California for instance. The bureau has developed water with its vast engineering projects in the Central Valley. Now it claims prior rights over those of the state who are considering the big California Water Plan, which may or may not be developed solely with California money. Remember the federal government's claims to prior rights to water in the Fallbrook area in San Diego County?

These bureaucrats are interested first in developing vast engineering projects, then in taking control over the lives of the people through control of the water. They should be stopped now.

Mac Is Leaving For Bargain Paradise

By HENRY McLEMORE

BARCELONA — Paradise at fire-sale rates! The Garden of Eden at boarding-house prices!

Such a place, according to what I have been told and what I have read, is only a few minutes and a few dollars away from Barcelona.

The name of this spot is Majorca, an island which travelers describe as one of the few places left on earth where a man can live like a millionaire on a ragpicker's income.

I know of no better spot for us at the moment. My pesetas are breathing their last, and we'd better get there while we still have enough for coach-fare tickets.

Majorca sounds too good to be true. Everyone who has told me about it has always prefaced his description with: "You won't believe it, but . . . " Then they go on to describe a land of milk-and-honey and beauty and romance that is cheaper than an inside room at a county farm.

The guide book authors are almost as enthusiastic. Their descriptions of the island leave one convinced that if one can arrive with as much as two dry biscuits, thirty-five cents in change, and a change of collars, one won't have a care in the world for at least two years.

The only thing that puzzles me — if all of this is true — is why the "Standing Room Only" sign wasn't hung out years ago? Why isn't Majorca the most heavily populated piece of ground in the world, with people standing on one another's shoulders?

A place as economical as Majorca is said to be wouldn't have to be a beauty spot to get a tremendous play. It could look like the back yard of an abandoned brewery, and still be jam-packed. At the prices quoted, a man would share a run-down wigwam with another family and be content.

But Majorca is beautiful! I have seen enough postcards to know that for myself, and without taking anybody's word for it. Flowers, sandy beaches, secluded coves, superb sunsets, handsome natives, and all that sort of thing.

Magnificent weather, too! Hardly ever too hot or too cold. Just right for lolling about like a millionaire. Fine houses — dirt cheap! Food abundant and at next-to-nothing prices! Domestic servants and gardeners for a song!

I have Mary packing while I write this. It's costing me money every second I linger in Barcelona, even though Barcelona is a most reasonable city as well as a most beautiful one.

Tomorrow, or the next day, if all goes well, I'll put those "millionaire-on-a-shoe string in Majorca" stories to the test.

We're going to take three, not two, biscuits, and forty-five cents, not thirty-five, just in case conditions have been exaggerated.

Look before you leap! That's my motto — and always has been.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Beliefs That Lead To Unemployment

In the last issue I was pointing out that certain general beliefs resulted in unemployment, depressions and hard times. The article contended that beliefs that resulted in violating the Coveting Commandment lead to unemployment. Now I want to give some more concrete beliefs that sooner or later result in men being out of work.

Any belief that men will continue to exchange goods and services when one party does not believe he is benefited by the exchange, is bound to result in their being no exchanges. In other words, it is bound to result in there being no jobs between these parties.

Any belief that is based on using force or the threats of force to coerce another to exchange or buy another's labor eventually leads to unemployment. The most common practice of this is organized union labor that practices strikes. Striking labor unions are bound eventually to produce either inflation or unemployment. Unemployment usually comes first and inflation eventually follows in an attempt to reduce the suffering that comes with unemployment.

Any belief that men should be forced to buy and pay for what they do not want to use eventually leads to unemployment.

Any belief that a worker does not have to produce his own wages by what he produces, when put in practice, leads to unemployment.

The belief that wages can come out of a fund and are paid for by the employer rather than by the consumer leads to unemployment.

Quite often these beliefs would not be so serious and would not be able to be put into practice if it were not for enough people so believing as to get laws passed that give one person an advantage over another; that freeze positions so that jobs are not awarded so that one party will get the greatest possible benefit from the exchange.

These above beliefs either result in unemployment or they lead to socialism and communism where individuals are vassals of the government and are kept busy by a policeman's club.

The belief that government is capable of establishing values of money on anything else leads to unemployment.

The misinterpretation of that part of the Constitution that Congress shall coin money and regulate the value thereof leads to unemployment. This statement simply meant that Congress should regulate the percentage of gold or silver in a coin. It did not mean at all that they were capable of regulating the value of the unit of money.

The Federal Reserve System is bound to lead to unemployment because it takes away from some people the right to help establish values. It gives certain persons authority to do something that no individual or group is capable of doing.

The government making laws that interfere with a free market is bound to lead to unemployment when changes are made.

Changing protective tariffs will result in unemployment in the items protected when the tariff is reduced.

The belief in a graduated tax will lead to unemployment or a lower wage level. This is true because it retards the accumulation of tools and requires people to work with less efficient tools. Thus they can produce less and thus earn less.

To summarize, any belief that uses man-made laws or the threats of force, like labor unions do, to interfere with a free and unhampered market is bound to lead to unemployment and-or a much lower standard of living.

The belief that one man has rights that another man does not have is bound to lead to unemployment as these beliefs are put into operation.

The causes that might be summarized as the basis of unemployment is the belief that an individual or a group has a right to get what he gets on an involuntary basis where one party does not believe he is benefited by the exchange. In other words, the belief that one man can gain by injuring another eventually will lead to unemployment.

If people would believe that in producing wealth the gain of one is the gain of all which is not like robbery or gambling or war where one man gains the other man loses, we would need have no depressions or hard times.

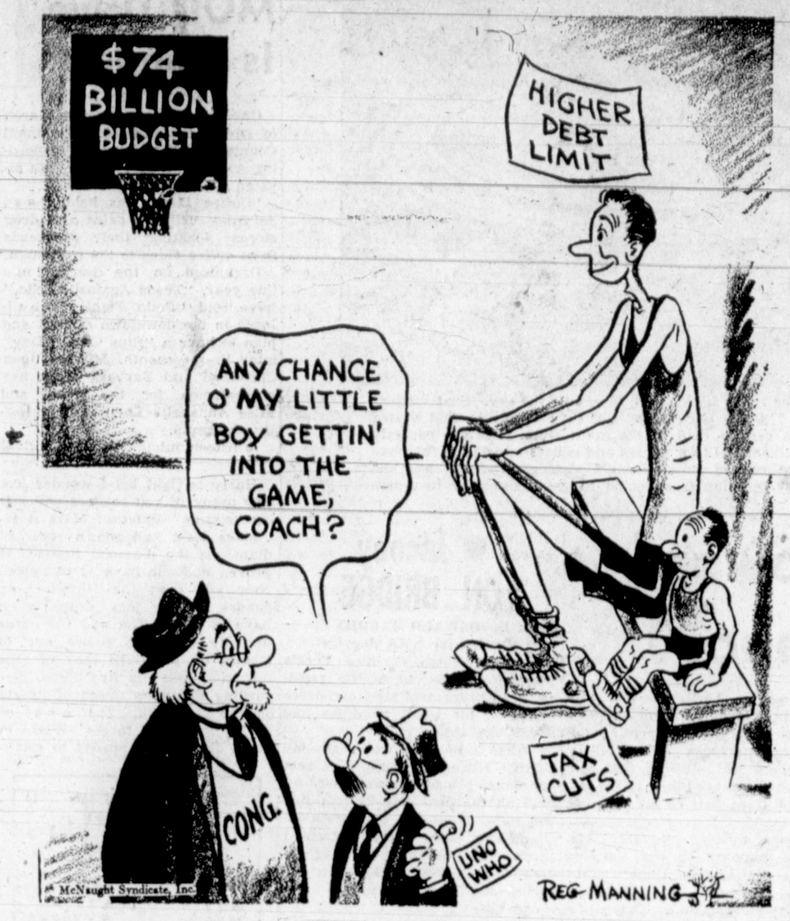

Since beliefs lead to unemployment, it is important that each and every person make every effort he possibly can to come to understand what beliefs are helpful to mankind and what beliefs are harmful to mankind that lead to depressions, inflation, injustice, debts, and almost continuous wars.

There can be no bigger service anyone can render than to analyze his own beliefs and come to know that any belief that leads to violation of the Golden Rule and the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" Commandment is harmful not only to the individual himself but to every other individual in the world.

Outside Backbone

The common potto is unique among mammals in having part of its backbone outside its body. This provides a row of sharp bony spines, which the potto uses to slash an enemy.

Bulganin's Second Note Another Propaganda Win

By CONSTANTINE BROWN

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Bulganin's second communication to the Western nations has scored another propaganda victory for the Kremlin and placed the Soviet leaders in a very advantageous political position. Hitting hard and fast is always a good tactic, and the men of Moscow have done just that twice recently — first on the eve of the NATO Council's meeting in Paris, which President Eisenhower attended, and now hard on the heels of the President's State-of-the-Union message to the Congress.

The President's address was one of his better ones, and charted a constructive, if very general, path for American policy in military strength and in the search for areas of agreement which might lessen the tensions of the cold war. But Mr. Bulganin's blitzkrieg letter certainly competed heavily with Mr. Eisenhower's speech in the headlines of the world.

To those citizens of the free world who, in their earnest hopes for peace and tranquility after so many years of bitterness and tensions, see considerable merit in the Bulganin proposals, it is necessary to voice a few words of warning. First of all, it is plain that there is absolutely no evidence of any real Soviet concessions, or even of new proposals, in either of the two Bulganin notes. All they offer is essentially the same package which the West, under the leadership of Secretary of State Dulles, has firmly rejected in the past.

This it is clear enough that the Kremlin's current peace offensive is purely for propaganda purposes. If it were sincere, it would include some genuine modification of previous Communist positions. Mr. Bulganin would at least have indicated a Soviet disposition to talk over a few of the major points on which negotiations between East and West have been deadlocked. There is no such indication in the letters, only a wordy repetition of the same Moscow proposals made over and over again, and as often rejected.

Nevertheless, as propaganda for the anesthetizing of the free world and the disarming of the Western alliance, the Bulganin letters are completely effective. They emphasize by implication the negative aspects of the Dulles position in opposition to high level talks, and place the United States in particular and the NATO allies in general in the position of rebuffing all efforts toward a settlement of outstanding differences. They are certain to weaken the unity of the free world by encouraging the already powerful trends toward a disastrous neutralism in Western Europe. And they further weaken the prestige of the West in the uncommitted areas of the world.

No matter what Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles do now, the advantage of the initiative is in the Kremlin's hands. This strategic victory has been achieved without a single hard and fast promise, or a single real concession, or a single act or pledge that would weaken the Soviet military position or that of the satellite nations in Central and Eastern Europe. Russia has won a major battle without a single casualty.

The timing of the second Bulganin letter was tricky in the extreme, because it was certain to be contrasted in the minds of people everywhere with the pronouncements of President Eisenhower's annual message to Congress. Since the Eisenhower message was of necessity couched in generalities, and the Bulganin letter was seemingly precise in what it proposed, the impression was natural that the Soviet position was precise and detailed, while that of the President was but sketchy, a piously worded plea for more armaments, more missiles, more militarization. That such a comparison is completely in error does not detract from the propaganda advantage gained by the shrewd leaders of the Soviet dictatorship.

If the Soviet Union really wanted to relax tensions and build a solid foundation for later sincere negotiations with the West, there are a number of small beginnings that Moscow could make alone, without talks of any kind. For example: Take the restrictions off Western diplomats in the Soviet Union, letting them travel freely and at will. Ease or remove entirely the oppressive Soviet censorship of Western newsmen's dispatches. End the feudal, medieval isolation of Soviet diplomats in Western capitals. Relax suspicion and hostility everywhere, not just for formal delegations. This would be a start.

Fair Enough

Almost Anything Goes Now For Grafters

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — A conflict of interest is morally intolerable but is nevertheless a common condition in our public life and in private employment. When Charlie Wilson of General Motors took office as Secretary of Defense he had to sell off stocks in companies which obviously would be in the market for contracts to be let by his overall authority as a public officer.

Whether Wilson lost, or unavoidably, gained money by compliance with the code we never have been told with official authority. But the plain fact is that he was required to unload his shares at the price prevailing at that time. This is a big risk to ask of a plain citizen who in most cases would be justified if he looked the people in the eye and told them were to go. Not many of the Common Man would be willing to do as much in proportion to his means and people who aren't willing to make the sacrifice have no moral right to ask it of others.

There is no information on the holdings and net worth of presidents but it has been clear in recent years that the job paid a big profit. Truman had practically nothing when he went in but he must have been a rich man when he got through because we never had a more frugal president, and Truman got a windfall of $200,000 in the guise of an expense allowance, tax free and subject to no accounting, during a period when Congress, itself, went wild with greed and helped itself to a similar but smaller deal of white graft. It was a dirty business from any point of view although Truman accepted only lawful pay and allowances.

There is an informal but probably correct report that Taft had about $80,000 saved when he took his job teaching law at Yale to which he commuted in the ordinary chair cars on the New Haven from and to Grand Central.

Coolidge's reputation for stinginess followed him down from Plymouth, Vt., but it can't be said that he ever took a shady dollar. His successors have included grafters who set an example which may fairly be held partly responsible for the corruption of youth which the wowsers call juvenile delinquency.

Wendell Willkie came close to the point when, in one of his campaign jibes at F. D. Roosevelt, he announced that, if he were elected, he would file in public a sworn statement of all his possessions and those of his wife and son.

I once sat on the hot seat at a Congressional hearing where I adduced proof of corruption in unions and learned at the noon recess, lunching with Congressman Tom Werdell, of California, that the dais was loaded with union bosses sitting in Congress, presumably drawing their union pay and expense allowances as they had a right to under the public laws. Union laws, of course, are indecent in all matters.

One of the men in the inquisition was from Independence, Mo., Harry Truman's home district, Irving by name, who had two new Cadillacs in Washington, both furnished by his subjects in Independence and Kansas City. His racket was a group of locals of the Operating Engineers, the old Joe Fay and Bill Maloney mob, which couldn't be more disgusting than the Teamsters but will qualify for a photo finish in that respect.

In England, the mother of Parliaments is tolerant to a shameful fault of the acceptance of private retainers and pay and expenses by M.P.'s of all parties. The British unions subsidize M.P.'s just as our rackets do in the state, county and municipal councils, as well as the National Legislature. British brewers and others with interests at stake in Parliament have bribed or subsidized their puppets for many years. Of late there has been a mild reform which is by no means total or effective but is, nevertheless, a reproach to us in all our legislative, judicial and administrative offices because we have never made even the pretense except in a few cabinet cases.

Congressional grafters pick up untold fortunes in bribes at from $1000 to $2500 a night making speeches for clients with interests coming up before them.

In journalism there was a time when graft was frowned upon. Sport writers were wrongfully presumed to be especially receptive, but nobody ever offered me a dollar except one fight manager who sent me a check, probably of rubber. I returned it without virtue because we all used to say that an amateur, and a grafter, was a guy who would not take a check.

Now, almost anything goes.

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

SOME of the questions I receive from parents are both touching and almost incredible.

One mother writes: "We have a four-year-old boy who is in good health. But sometimes he wakes suddenly with a croupy cough and a hoarse voice, and it is just as if he can't get his breath. It takes a couple of minutes and then he cries and falls asleep. My husband thinks he is doing it on purpose and needs a good spanking but I can't believe it. Does it sound as though this needed treatment?"

I certainly cannot believe that this little boy is having his attacks on purpose! It may be that he has asthma or some other physical ailment. A diagnosis should be made and some effort instigated to bring this little boy relief.

Another mother writes that her teen-age daughter insists on wearing foam rubber falsies and wonders if this could interfere with her breast development.

I do not see how it could, though anything which is too tight or rubs would be undesirable.

A MORE complicated problem is presented by Mrs. R. — a problem which requires wisdom and is only partly medical.

She says: "Our little girl was due to start kindergarten this year. Although only four years old, her birthday came within the required time. However, on the first day she was frightened and cried all night. Since then I have transferred the children to another school because my older boy was being beaten up often.

"Since her brother is always hitting her, I have taken her part even though I realize she is often the instigator. The principal says that if I put the girl back in school she would be too young and might possibly fail by the second grade. However, she wants to go because her brother has been talking about school. What do you think I should do?"

IT IS POSSIBLE that the older boy may be beating up his sister because of unfortunate experiences of his own in school. Steps should be taken to keep him from becoming a bully, either at home or in his new school.

So far as the little girl is concerned, delicate handling is needed to avoid physical or emotional harm. Putting the child in school too early where she will be competing with older children is hazardous.

On the other hand, keeping her at home too long where she does not have playmates of her own age and with her own interests is also undesirable.

These questions should be talked over carefully with the principal, with the teachers and probably with the family physician.

GOOD NEWS ON MISSILES
(N.Y. Daily News)

Into the hurricane of hoopla to the effect that we've been spending not more than an occasional $10 bill on missiles and satellites, the Pentagon tosses a reassuring report.

Since fiscal 1950, the United States has laid out more than $12 billion on these things. In the current fiscal year, we're expected to spend $4.6 billion, and maybe $5.6.

That means a lot of missile and satellite research and development, even with due allowance made for waste and duplications resulting from inter-service rivalries.

The recent successful firing of the Jupiter, Thor, Atlas and Snark indicate that we've got something — a great deal of something—to show for our money.

True, the Truman Administration seems to have been pretty much asleep as regards missiles until the Korean War, which began in 1950. But since that time, our spending for these weapons, and on space research, has increased steadily; and, to repeat, it is evidently getting results.

Pardon us if we yawn slightly over the current yells that Uncle Sam is practically naked to his enemies.

The No-Fad Diet: 6

Cocktail Hour Is Dieter's Big Hazard Like A Kiss, It Usually Leads To More

Whatever else may happen at the cocktail hour, you may be sure it leads to calories.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food & Markets Editor

The cocktail hour is the dieter's greatest hazard. The first snack, like the first kiss, usually leads to more.

The first drink, too, casts a come - hither look at the second and the second often does the same to the third. Whatever else may happen, you can be sure of one thing — CALORIES.

However, as the cocktail hour, for better or worse, has become an established part of the American way of living in many areas of the country, it must be taken into consideration in any long-term weight reduction program.

So let's face it.

The purpose of this six - part series, based on researches at Harvard University, is to show you how to lose undesirable weight slowly and steadily — without tricks, pills or torture — until you look and feel like the person the good Lord intended.

"If you must drink, cut out dessert." That's the advice of Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, chairman of Harvard's Department of Nutrition.

His co-worker, Dr. Martha F. Trulson, points out that alcoholic drinks and desserts are not nutritionally the same. Most desserts contain flour, fruit, eggs and milk whereas alcohol has nothing but calories.

Although a believer in the need to adjust weight reduction programs to the cultural pattern, Dr. Trulson does not recommend that obese persons take up drinking. They have enough problems.

However, she, like Dr. Stare, realizes that a person on a 1,500-calorie diet who is convinced he cannot stick to it for any time without his customary drink or two, must be given a program which accommodates the calories in alcohol even though they do not recommend it from a nutritional viewpoint.

In general, the way to count calories in whisky, gin and other hard liquors is this: per ounce per proof equals calories. For example, on ounce of 86 proof Scotch contains 86 calories, one ounce of 100 proof Bourbon contains 100 calories and an ounce of 90 proof gin contains 90 calories.

If you use gingerale, cola, vermouth, etc., in mixing, the calories in the mixer must be added to the total in your drink.

An eight - ounce glass of beer generally contains about 104 calories, according to the Brewers Testing Laboratory. Ale has slightly more, so have foreign beers.

Generally, 3.2 ounces of red wine contain around 74 calories, the same amount of white wine about 91. Two ounces of sherry has about 84.

If you take 300 calories of your 1,500 calories in alcohol — that's 20 per cent — you run the risk of destroying the nutritional balance of your diet. To prevent this, make absolutely sure that the food you eat every day includes some from each of these categories: milk; meat, fish, fowl, cheese or eggs; bread and cereals; green and leafy vegetables; fruits, including citrus; and reasonable amounts of fat.

Incidentally, some regular mild or moderate exercise every day is essential for the success of these scientifically planned diets. You might walk to the cocktail party and then walk home. The sooner you start back the better.

One way to compensate for the 300 calories (or less) from your 1,500 calories is to cut down on those camp followers of the cocktail hour — snacks.

A 1½ - inch cube of cheddar cheese has 110 calories, eight large potato chips 100 and 10 peanuts 50. Two hundred sixty right there! So if you must nibble, turn to the tray of celery, radishes, raw carrots and cucumber sticks. They are comfortably low in calories.

The final decision whether or not you can have your customary drinks and still stay on your 1,500-calorie reducing diet rests with your bathroom scales.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Midge had a part in a play the fourth grade presented at her school's Thanksgiving exercises.

She played a Pilgrim Maid. In a brief dialogue with the Spirit of Corn, the Maid was required to beg it to bless her people's harvest. Midge made the appeal by falling to her knees and wringing her hands beseechingly. This dramatic intensity was so unexpected that her startled audience of parents, teachers and children burst into applause.

To guests on Thanksgiving Day her father described her theatrical triumph. The memory of it combined with his pride was too much for Midge. She boasted proudly, "I'm going to have all the most important parts in our class plays this year!"

When the guests had gone, Midge's mother said to her, "You may not be able to keep that promise to get all the most important parts in your class plays. Your teacher may not give them to you. Anyway, I won't mind a bit if you don't get them."

Midge felt happier than she had at any time since making her boastful pledge. She said solicitously, "Shall I make you a turkey sandwich, Mommy?"

Boastful children are very grateful to be relieved of their promises to do the wonderful things that too much praise has demanded of them.

Overpraised for a B in spelling, intoxicated Johnny will say, "Aw, that's nothing. I'm going to get an A next month!"

Then the exhilarating effects of our praise wear off. Johnny begins to feel exactly like the drunken man who wakes up and finds himself married to a girl he doesn't know. His promise becomes a source of increasing anxiety to him as reality faces him with the possibility that he can't make good on it.

So it is always kind to bring high-flying young boasters gently back to earth. When Johnny and Midge promise us marvelously impressive performances, it's wise to say, "If you just do your best, it will be all right with me."

Mrs. Symons Feted At Rebekah Dinner

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — Perryton Rebekah Lodge entertained with a semi-annual banquet recently in the Harvester Room of Hotel Perryton, honoring the retiring noble grand, Mrs. Opal Symons. Also honored were past noble grands, Mmes. Mildred Hudson, Sylvia Wilcox, Bertha McNally, Lou Ella Patterson, Eva Fisher, Thelma Scott, and Louise Woodward.

Mrs. Woodward, junior past noble grand, served as master of ceremonies and presented Mrs. Symonds with a corsage from the lodge.

The New Year's theme was used for the banquet table decorations with a centerpiece made up of red roses and kewpie dolls. Favors were party hats.

Invocation was given by A. E. Pittman. Following dinner, each member gave a New Year's resolution.

For the program, Mrs. Mildred Hudson spoke on "What Rebekah Means To Me." A. E. Pittman discussed, "Fraternalism."

Mrs. Roberta Moulton was presented a gift in honor of her perfect attendance. Mrs. Symons was also presented with a gift in appreciation of her service to the lodge as noble grand, and she, in turn, presented each officer, who had served with her, a gift.

Those present in addition to those already mentioned were Mmes. Willie Hulsey, May Bryan, A. E. Pittman, Alma Pittman, Clara Stubblefield, Leona Bryan, Katie Thurman, Joyce Doffer, Gladys Organ, Hazel Allen and Willie Lee Jones.

Mrs. Isbell Takes Office For Lodge

In an impressive ceremony, Mrs. Bonnie Erman of Canadian, district deputy, installed officers of Pampa Rebecca Lodge No. 355 for 1958.

Officers installed were Mmes. Ola Isbell, noble grand; Lucille Kessinger, vice grand; Hazel Lockhart, secretary; Ruth Lawley, finance; Gladys Mayo, treasurer; Bonnie Wharton, warden; Ona Gray, conductor; Hattie Holt, flag bearer; Leone Stembridge, chaplain; Billie Wilson, inside guardian; Eula Thornhill, outside guardian; Hazel Franklin, musician; Bonnie Wharton, reporter; June Rowe, R.S. noble grand; Helen Lamberson, L.S. noble grand; Lillie Stafford, R.S. chaplain; Mary McNeil, L.S. chaplain; Ellen Kretzmeier, R.S. past noble grand; Etta Crisler, L.S. past noble grand; Pearl Castka, R.S. vice grand; Mary Cales, L.S. vice S.; Izlon Cook, L. Scene S.

Following the installation, the charter was draped in memory of Laura Brown.

A school of instruction was held by Mrs. Erman during the evening.

Mrs. Donna Crawford of Skellytown was welcomed as a guest. Mmes. Robert Malone, president; Bill Ragsdale, vice president; James Hart, Paul Hinton, C. R. Howard, Bill Ragsdale, Jack Reeve, George Roraback, Bruce Scott, Carl Thomas, William E. West, and Robert Malone.

The next meeting will be held in the Parish Hall on Jan. 23 at 8 p.m.

Episcopal Dinner Scheduled Tonight

St. Margaret's Guild of St. Matthews Episcopal Church met recently in the Parish Hall with Mrs. George Roraback, president, presiding.

During the business meeting final plans and committee reports were made for the cooking and serving of the annual Parish Dinner, which is to be held tonight at 6:30 p.m.

It was decided by the members to give two lilac plants to the church landscaping program in loving memory of the late Mrs. C. P. Buckler.

Initial plans were made for the third annual Mardi Gras "Aunt Jemima" Pancake Supper and Dance, which will be held on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 18. The supper will be open to the public and charges were placed at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 years of age.

It was decided to have organ music all during the serving hours, which will be from five to 7:30 p.m. Proceeds of this project are to be divided between the Women's Auxiliary and the Youth League of St. Matthews Church.

Election of officers, for the coming year, was held with the following members selected for office; Bruce Scott, secretary; Carl Thomas, treasurer.

The lodge presented Mrs. Erman with a gift in appreciation of her service during the evening.

Light refreshment of cake and hot chocolate were served from a lace-covered table decorated with red carnations during the social hour.

Optimist Boxers Meet Blackwell In Pre-Golden Gloves Tiff Tonight

Pampa's Optimist Club boxing team will open a four-night stand of home action tonight as it hosts the Blackwell, Okla., team in the junior high gymnasium at 8, prior to the annual Golden Gloves District Tournament, which will run Thursday through Saturday nights.

As a pre-tourney night of matches, the Blackwell team is slated to furnish boys to meet many of the outstanding Pampa ringmen. The Blackwell squad boasts a sparkling array of four past state champions, with two of the group fighting in the open division.

Ranking foremost on the Oklahoma team is Johnny Martin, who has twice reigned as 160-pound open champion of Kansas and has competed both years in the national meet in Chicago. Martin is scheduled to battle Pampa's Bobby Wilhelm, who ranks as one of the top entries for the forthcoming district and regional golden gloves competition.

Charles Snyder is scheduled to meet a second state champion from Blackwell as he battles Bob Askren at 155 pounds. Askren was the 1957 novice title holder in his weight last year and is fighting open in this year's competition.

In the lighter bracket, Lucky Dunham will encounter a third state champion as he meets Jay Burris at 112 pounds. At 16, Burris lost two out of three to the runner-up of the All Army Champion of 1956.

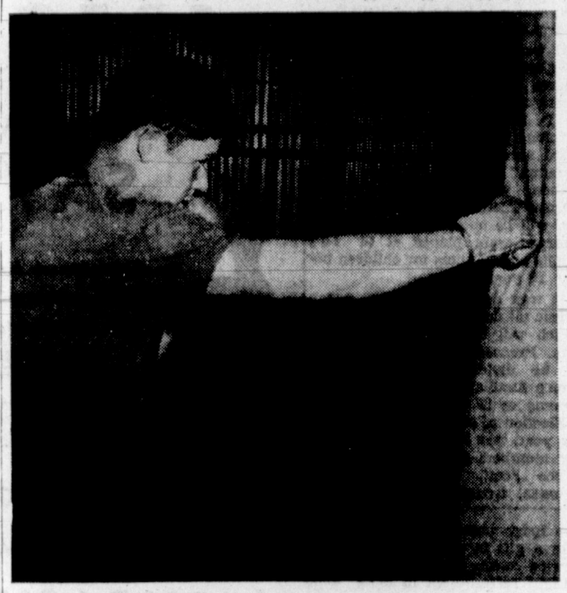

Furnishing another top match for tonight will be Pampa's Gary Wilhelm meeting Jim Woods of the Oklahoma team. Wilhelm was open division champion of the Borger District tourney last week-end and will be competing in the Pampa meet following the Blackwell matches. In 1957 he gained the runner-up spot in the state tourney in Fort Worth.

At 126 pounds another rowdy bout is on tap as Charles Coffee will tange with Jerry Cooper. Coffee will also be on hand as a top contender in the district meet beginning tomorrow.

Jesse Ring, another favorite of the Top o' Texas, is in for action tonight as he meets Tinch Cole of the Oklahoma team. Ring will fight at 147 pounds.

Following tonight's matches the Optmist team will compete in the district tourney Thursday through Saturday and the winners will go into the regional meet in Amarillo next week.

Fast Action Slated

Golden Gloves Start Tomorrow

Pampa's biggest display of area boxing strength for the year will get underway tomorrow night as the Optimist Club presents its annual District Golden Gloves Tournament, scheduled to run Thursday through Saturday nights. All matches will be held in the junior high gymnasium beginning each evening at 8.

An estimated 75 to 100 ringmen will be participating in the meet, representing teams from Pampa, Borger, Guymon, Okla., Dumas, Amarillo, and Memphis.

Winners in the tournament here, in both high school and open divisions, will go on to compete in the regional meet in Amarillo, scheduled for Jan. 21, 22, 24, and 25.

Weighing in for the tournament will begin at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the junior high gymnasium. The Golden Gloves weights in both the high school and open divisions include: flyweight, 105-113 pounds; bantamweight, 113 - 119 pounds; featherweight, 120 - 127 pounds; lightweight, 128 - 136 pounds; welterweight, 137-147 pounds; middleweight, 148 - 165 pounds; light-heavy, 166 - 175; and heavyweight 176 and over.

Pampa's team looks stronger this year than it has for many previous seasons, having outstanding boys competing in almost every weight of both divisions. The Optimist team is coached by Ollie Wilhelm, Ben White, Oren James and Cliff Dunham.

Representing Pampa in this year's tourney, with weights listed, are as follows:

Pee Wee Division

Wayne Morgan, 60; Dickie Powell, 65; Bobby Williams, 70; Peanuts Bennett, 75; Bryan Martin, 80; John Mathis, 85; Bill Martin, 90; John Ironmonger, 95.

High School Division

Open Division

Gary Wilhelm, 135; Gary Wills, 135; Jesse Ring, 147; Bobby Wilhelm, 160, Jim Claunch, 175; and Doug Simmons, 200.

Tickets for the matches are priced at $1.25 for ringside and 90 cents for general admission.

Aggie Coach Position Is Still Vacant

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) —The job of head football coach and athletic director at Texas A&M College, sometimes described as one of the juiciest plums in collegiate football, was still vacant today after another imported prospect threw up his hands and headed for home.

The last candidate was Eddie Erdelatz, head coach at Navy, who Tuesday departed for Annapolis after exchanging compliments and then heated words with the choosers of the man to succeed departed Paul Bryant.

Erdelatz said the Aggie situation "scared" him. He went back to the academy to try to smooth over any ruffled feelings over the maneuvers after he found out his admiral had not been contacted.

With the exit of Erdelatz apparently there was no one waiting to step forward as the chief prospect of the day for the job that pays $15,000 per year but reportedly netted Bryant three times that much with side activities in television appearances, real estate and oil deals.

Erdelatz had replaced Jim Myers of Iowa State who, until Sunday, had been considered a had replaced Frank Leahy who had replaced Frask Leahy who withdrew as a candidate on doctors orders, pulled out when Erdelatz became a candidate.

Heated Verbal Exchange

Erdelatz said Tuesday his feelings got him into a heated verbal exchange with A&M faculty athletic advisor Dr. Christ Groneman and board member Jack Finney of Greenville.

The Navy roach said that permission to talk to him had not lhannels at the Naval Academy been obtained through official channels at the Naval Academy —in other words for Aggie President Dr. M. T. Harrington to get permission from Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg, Academy superintendent.

Welterweight Elimination Bout Tonight

By JOHN GAUDIOSI
United Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Vince Martinez and Gil Turner meet in a 12-round elimination bout tonight with an NBA guarantee that the winner will fight Isaac Logart for the vacated welterweight title.

Martinez, a clever boxer from Paterson, N.J., was an 8-1 favorite to defeat Turner, a product of Philadelphia, in the nationally-televised bout.

The match had been billed as the second in a series of eliminations among six contenders to fill the crown Carmen Basilio shed when he became middleweight champion.

But only last Saturday, the NBA gave it the stature of a title semi-final bout, temporarily by-passing Virgil Akins of St. Louis and George Barnes of Australia, two of the boxers named for the tournament by the World Boxing Committee.

The NBA action immediatly drew the wrath of Julius Helfand, World Boxing Committee chairman and also head of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Helfand said the NBA was a party to the original agreement and "no one will be recognized as the new world welterweight champion until the tournament has been completed." Cuban Logart defeated Gaspar Ortega of Mexico in the first elimination test in Cleveland last month.

The bout will mark the return of big-time boxing to Philadelphia after a state-wide doldrum of nearly three years. The sport went into hibernation in Pennsylvania after the "doped-orange" episode between Harold Johnson and Julio Mederos here in May, 1911.

Borger's B Hits Shockers By 67-51

Pampa's Shockers dropped their third game of the season last night in Borger as they fell to the "B" team, 67-51, in the first of the doubleheader played with the Bulldogs.

Borger's sophomores jumped to an early lead in the game and had gained a 15-12 margin at the end of the first quarter. The Shockers rebounded, however, and poured in 19 points while allowing Borger only 16 in the second quarter and the half ended with the score tied at 31-31.

Borger jumped into the lead again in the third quarter, hitting for 21 points to lead going into the final period of action, 52-42. The last quarter saw the Pampans outscored 15-9 to give the Borger quintet the winning 16 point margin.

Pacing the Shocker scoring was Craig Winborn, who tossed in 14 points for the evening, followed by Phillip Gist and Mert Cooper with 12 points each.

James Wilson and Seamster led the winners with 17 points each and Jackson ranked third with 11.

The Shockers' next contest will be Friday night when they meet the Monterey "B" there at 6:30.

Dodgers May Finally Get A Big League Park

LOS ANGELES (UP)— The Coliseum Commission meets today in special sessions which could finally give the Los Angeles Dodgers a big league-sized place in which to play baseball.

The commission's baseball committee will present to a meeting of the other major users of the Coliseum—the Los Angeles Rams and USC and UCLA — a new proposal given the commission by Dodger President Walter O'Malley Tuesday.

Commission Chairman Burton W. Chase declared after O'Malley's proposal that "we are much closer together than at any time before. . .it seems to me you have a plan that would not disrupt the football program in the Coliseum."

The proposal, if acceptable to the commission and the other Coliseum users, could result in the Dodgers using the 100,000-seat stadium as a temporary home instead of minor league-sized Wrigley Field.

Following presentation of the new O'Malley plan by the baseball committee at a morning session, the full commission scheduled a special afternoon meeting at which it was expected to vote on the proposal.

Borger Leads District Now; Pampans Prep For Monterey

By CHARLES CULLIN
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters hit a blazing 52% from the field but still fell to the Borger Bulldogs, 69-63, last night, in an action-packed game that saw the Bulldogs surge to the lead in the District 3-AAAA race.

Before an overflow crowd of 2,400 cheering fans, the two top cage powers battled evenly throughout the fast-moving contest marked by unerring team offense and dazzling shooting on the part of both squads.

After holding a slim lead during a major part of the game, although the margin never went past seven points, Coach Tex Hanna's Bulldogs threw up an effective freeze with four minutes remaining in the game and held their lead until the final gun sounded.

Both teams hit a blistering pace in the initial period as the score soared to 16-16 before the Bulldogs launched a burst of speed to end the first quarter in the lead, 25-19. As the second quarter got underway, the Harvesters rapidly closed the gap and the lead switched several times but again the Borger quintet managed to gain a small margin and the half ended with Pampa trailing, 48-45.

In the third quarter, the two teams again swung into a rapid scoring pace and the Harvesters gained 16 points, hitting 62 per cent from the field. Borger netted 15 points for the period and, going into the final eight minutes of action, led, 63-61.

Meeting the desperation freeze of the Borger team chilled the Harvesters' opportunity to move into the lead again. They gained only one field goal out of six tries in the last quarter, that being tagged by center Mack Layne in the final minute of the game. Borger also gained only one from the field but managed to pour through four free throws for the six point margin of victory. The Bulldogs didn't commit one foul during the entire second half.

The Borger team claimed a slight edge in the rebound department as they took 27 off the board compared to 21 for the Harvesters. In total percentage from the field, the Pampans came through with 52 per cent compared to 47 per cent for the Bulldogs. In the second quarter, Borger had 67 per cent and Pampa had 59 per cent and in the final period the Bulldogs had 20 per cent while the Harvesters had 13 per cent.

Coming in equal in the individual scoring, Charles Minor, Bill Brown and Ray Stephenson all netted 15 points each for Pampa. Center Mack Layne tagged 2 for the evening and Coyle Winborn hit for six. Stephenson played especially outstanding ball in the first half as he gained all 5 points in the first two quarters. Minor also hit a hot streak in the second quarter as he dropped four field goals in a five-minute span of the period.

For Borger, center Warren Tipton led the attack with 18 points, followed by Vance Moxom and Marvin Ogle with 12 points each. Jimmy Lamb, who didn't enter the game until the third period, hit four field goals in three minutes and then didn't tally through the remainder of the contest.

The game marked he second loss for Coach Clifton McNely's team this season, the first being in non-district action. They stand now with a 2-1 record in the conference. For Borger, the win marked the second with no losses in district action. In non-conference encounters, the Bulldogs have lost two games.

Next on tap for Pampa will be Monterey in Lubbock Friday night, followed by a game with the Lubbock Westerners here the following Friday, Jan. 24.

BURKE SIGNS

NEW YORK (UP)—Pat Burke, who played both guard and tackle at Michigan State, has signed a 1958 contract with the New York Giants. Burke, 23, was the Giants' 11th choice in the 1956 National Footbal League draft.

HIRED AS SCOUTS

NEW YORK (UP) — Jim Murray, a former Brooklyn Dodger player, and Mark Christman, former Washington Senators infielder, have been hired as scouts by the New York Yankees. Murray will scout the Long Island area, while Christman will serve as a part-time scout around his home area in St. Louis.

Top Teams Get Set For Action Tonight

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

Top-ranked West Virginia hopes to escape an "unlucky 13" jinx and fifth-ranked North Carolina runs into an old-time backyard rival tonight in college basketball's feature games.

Unbeaten in 12 straight games this season, West Virginia tangles with Pittsburgh and its "mighty mite," five-foot, nine-inch Don Hennon on the Panthers' home court, while North Carolina's defending national champions entertain North Carolina State.

West Virginia whipped Pittsburgh twice last season but the Mountaineers named Dartin' Don on their all-opponent first team. So if Pitt, which has won seven of 11 games this season, is capable of springing an upset, Hennon is the guy who will lead the way.

North Carolina won the Dixie North Carolina State, 39-30, in one Classic last month by downing of those old-fashioned slow-down games. The Tarheels dropped a 74-61 verdict to Maryland, so they are counting on a repeat victory tonight to move into first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Other major games tonight pit undefeated Boston University against MIT, St. Louis vs. Bradley, Harvard vs. Dartmouth, Notre Dame vs. Depaul, George Washington vs. William & Mary, Holy Cross vs. Syracuse, Navy vs. Manhattan, Penn vs. Temple, St. Joseph's (Pa.) vs. Bucknell, and Amherst vs. Yale.

Only two members of the United Press top 10 saw action Tuesday night. Seventh-ranked Maryland downed Georgetown, 55-45, while ninth-ranked Oklahoma State whipped Wichita, 55-42.

Vince Yockel poured in 30 points in leading Clemson to an 81-72 triumph over Wake Forest, and VMI edged Richmond, 66-62, in Southern Conference games Duquesne rolled to a 74-55 victory over LaSalle, and Texas A&M knocked off Baylor, 57-47.

Basilio Challenges Sugar To 'Come Out And Fight'

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Carmen Basilio, who would, rather battle Sugar Ray Robinson than wrestle a tuxedo, today challenged the man from whom he took the middleweight title to "quit being cautious and come out and fight."

Basilio became the "Fighter of the Year" when he knocked the middleweight crown off Robinson's patent leather locks last September. Ever since then he has been struggling to stay in shape while bouncing around the rubber chicken circuit accepting various trophies.

"I'd almost rather fight Robinson twice than sit down to another banquet," smilingly says the quiet little man who fights so thunderously.

Whether Robinson, who has threatened to retire, will meet him again was uppermost in Carmen's mind as he received his latest award. This was the trophy as fighter of the year presented to him last night by the New York Boxing Writers at their annual beef and boff get-together.

Says Robbie Will Fight

"I'm confident Robinson will fight me," he said. "I just wish he'd quit stalling and get with it. Nobody passes up that much money, unless they've got 15 times as much. And from what I hear, Robinson hasn't got that kind of dough."

Meanwhile, looking ahead to such a bout, Carmen figures that it could be "easier or tougher," depending on how each of them decided to fight. Although, quite frankly, Carmen admits that it would have to be quite a brawl to be tougher than that last one which went into the books as one of the all-time classics.

"Still, what kind of a fight we make the next time could depend on how we started," he analyzed. "He knows something more about my style now and I know more about his. So it could be easier or tougher for one or the other of us.

Forgets Caution

"Maybe he would fight with more caution," Carmen adds. "Maybe I would — although I do seem to forget all about caution when I get into the ring. I come to fight — and I try to make a fight."

Basilio, a soft-speaking, pleasant man who is betrayed as a fighter only by the scar tissue over his eyes, thinks that Robinson was overly cautious the first time.

"He did a lot of running," Carmen asserted. "But in the end he had to fight just because there wasn't any place else for him to run to. The ring's only so big and he had no place else to go when I kept crowding him."

Basilio has no love for Robinson because Sugar Ray snubbed him cold back in the old days when Robinson was riding high and Carmen was trying to get somewhere. But he doesn't take his foe lightly.

Ice Skating Chimpanzee Star Of Show

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Not many ice skaters can lick the slush off their skates to quench their thirst —without taking off their shoes.

But Jinx, star of the Conrad Hilton ice show, has the advantage of being a chimpanzee.

"Lots of chimps can roller skate," said Jinx' owner, Mrs. Darlene Sellik. "But as far as we know, Jinx is the only ice skating chimp in the world."

Matter of fact, Jinx ice skates better than he walks. Clad in an overcoat, corduroy pants and a T-shirt, he was seen slinking through the hotel lobby the other day on all fours.

But on the ice, he steals the show. He proves his versatility by doing a backward somersault in the air and impersonating a rock and roller, a penguin, a ballet dancer and Liberace.

For his finale Jinx jumps over four toy tigers, one after another. But first he usually swipes a roll or a lump of sugar from a ringside table.

"That's not part of the act, that bit about stealing the food," Mrs. Sellik said. "It's just the sort of thing you have to put up with when you own a chimpanzee."

She and her husband were sensible folks who owned a small manufacturing plant before they bought Jinx as an infant.

"We had no idea of going into show business," Mrs. Sellik said. "We just wanted a pet. But Jinx made the decision for us. He's a ham."

The Selliks live in outer exurbia with Jinx and a collie named taffy.

"We have no children," Mrs. Sellik said, "but a 6-year-old chimp must be the equal of six kids. He's into everything. He even gets into the bathtub and turns on the water."

But the Sellik home is full of bric-a-brac, and Jinx has never broken anything except a bed.

"And he's easily amused," Mrs. Sellik said. "He'll sit and watch TV or play with an old shoe by the hour."

Jinx has the run of the house, except at a night. He sleeps in a cage, bolted to the floor of the back bedroom. And he rides in a cage bolted to the floor of the family car.

"Jinx and the dog are real buddies," Mrs. Sellik said. "But sometimes when they rough house Jinx climbs a tree.

"It doesn't seem quite fair."

Church Facilities Use For Segregated Schools Opposed

By UNITED PRESS

Fourteen of the most prominent men in the country are strongly opposed to using the facilities of churches for segregated schools in areas of the south where public schools may be closed to avoid integration.

The 14 churchmen were questioned by the magazine, the Presbyterian Outlook. They were all asked the same question:

"If public schools are closed in some areas of the south because of the requirements of desegregation and there is no possibility of having any other school provision, do you think churches should allow their facilities to be used for the operation of private (segregated) schools?

"What do you think they should do in the face of such a situation?"

The answer of Dr. W. M. Elliott Jr, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. and pastor of Highland Park Presbyterian church in Dallas, was typical.

"I am opposed to the churches allowing their facilities to be used in this way: I am wholeheartedly committed to our public school system, and feel that our churches must not be used to destroy our public schools or to circumvent the decisions of our courts," Dr. Elliott said.

"This arrangement would also violate, in my judgment, the principle of the separation of church and state. It is not a function of the churches."

Other opinions included:

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president Moorehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.—"Churches should not allow their facilities to be used for the operation of private segregated race and color is contrary to the gospel of Christ."

Dr. Reinhold Neibuhr, member of the faculty of union Theological Seminary New York—"I think it would be a tragedy if the churches allowed their schools to be used in order to evade the Supreme Court decision on integrated schools."

Dr. Malcolm P. Cahoun, director of Christian relations for the Presbyterian Church of the U.S., Atlanta, Ga.—"It is my conviction that churches should not allow their facilities to be used for the operation of segregated schools. Churches can do two things: (1) Denounce racial discrimination, (2) establish inclusive parochial schools."

Dr. Douglas Horton, dean of the Harvard divinity school — "No. Wait for the state government to obey the law of the land and try to persuade it to do so."

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou are with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. —23rd Psalm.

"Suffer the little children
to come unto me,
and forbid them not:
for of such is the kingdom of God."
Mark 10:14

Randall Birch Crawford

We take this means to express our most humble appreciation to all who in anyway helped us at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our little son, Randy, who blossomed on Earth to bloom in heaven. We wish to thank Dr. Hubert Bratcher and Rev. W. W. Adcock, of First Methodist Church, for their comforting messages and our appreciation to the Children's Division and to our kind neighbors and friends for their sympathy and for preparing food in our home. Also for the beautiful floral offering. We extend our appreciation to those who furnished music and to the Casket Bearers, and to Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home for the beautiful last rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry F. Nelson, Betty and Don
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crawford Sr. Jimmie and Ellen, Kenneth and Betty, David and Roger.

There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see
Our Father claims His own;
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the though
That a Loving God knows best.

Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God. Believe also in me.
In my Father's house are many mansions: If it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. I will come again and receive you unto Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.
—John 14:2:3

Mrs. J. L. Vickery

We wish to express our most sincere thanks to all who in anyway assisted us during the long illness and at the death of our dear wife, mother and grand-mother, who passed to her reward on Jan. 11. To Rev. Ennis Hill of Calvary Baptist Church for his comforting service. To the Casket Bearers and Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home for their beautiful services.
We want to thank those who prepared food and sent flowers.

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me.
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound or foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark.
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark;
For though from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

And we know that all things work together for good of them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose.
Roman 8:28

Mrs. M. D. Dwight

We wish to express our appreciation to our many friends and good neighbors for the kindnesses extended us at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our loved one, To Dr. Frank Kelly and the nursing staff of Highland General Hospital who gave her every care, we are grateful.
We extend our gratitude to Rev. Bob Stroble and Bro. Joe Whitten of First Baptist Church for their comforting services. To those who prepared an dserved food in our home and for the lovely flowers in her memory. We also thank Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home for the impressive last rites.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead,—he is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand.
He has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there
And you-Oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same I say:
He is not dead,—he is just away!

A. E. Black

We wish to take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for their thoughtfulness and kindnesses at the death of our beloved husband and brother. For the food and beautiful floral arrangements sent. To Rev. Ingraham for his beautiful message, also the ladies of the Church of the Later Day Saints for the songs and flowers.
We want to express our appreciation to Mrs. Maude Dye and Mrs. Opal Kuykendall for their kindness and sympathetic friendship.

FARMS
Here is a couple of desirable farms and am in a position to offer either on a small down payment or will accept some income property. Prefer a motel, apartment house or some type of income property, as part of payment.
One farm of 320 acres is near White Deer, level as the floor, every foot tillable, no improvements priced at $110.00 per acre.
The other farm of over 400 acres, about 320 acres irrigated from 1200 gallon irrigation well on natural gas, place is well improved on highway near White Deer. What do you have to trade?
I need some good listing on residential property.
Mr. A. L. Patrick, Jr., is now associated with me in the real estate business and will be glad to accept your calls. MO 5-4080 after 5 p.m.
