Hearing Is Set Wednesday On Wheeler Bill

Solons To Hear High Command Before Acting

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Returning from the summer recess, Congress took prompt action today to survey the need for drafting pre-Pearl Harbor fathers into the armed forces, scheduled to begin October 1.

The high command was called upon to state its views, prior to congressional action on the subject.

Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate military affairs committee announced hearing would be opened tomorrow morning on the Wheeler bill to halt the father-draft, and that Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, would testify next Monday at 10 a. m.

Joint Session Planned

The House military committee was asked to sit jointly with the Senate group in that session.

Scheduled to be heard tomorrow are Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, just returned from a tour of the Pacific fronts, Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy chief of staff and assistant to Marshall, Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service.

Reynolds asserted the high command will be called upon to justify the need for any further increases in the armed forces and that he would attempt to hold back consideration of the Wheeler bill until General Marshall can be heard next Monday.

Press Admission Favored

Reynolds said he favored admitting the press and the public to the committee hearings "as there have been so many contradictory statements on this subject." The final decision on this point will rest with the committee.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) disclosed today he will oppose all administration attempts to delay a Senate vote on his bill to halt the drafting of fathers into the armed forces.

He added that he was amending the proposal to prohibit "indefinitely" the induction of fathers, instead of postponing such action until January 1, as it now provides.

"I am going to call up the bill for action the very first opportunity I have," Wheeler said.

The declaration was Wheeler's

More Work On Series E Bond Sales Urged

State Chairman Delighted Over Lubbock Report

More stress on the selling of Series E bonds during the Third War Bond drive was urged in a telegram today to Neil H. Wright, county drive chairman, from Nathan Adams of Dallas, state chairman.

Series E bonds are the issue designed especially for small investors, the county chairman explained.

The telegram said, in part:

"Third War Loan drive is off to good start in Texas. Am delighted over reports from Lubbock county. We have a large quota on Series E bonds. Preliminary surveys show best results on Series E sales from points that have issued office or plant quotas. If you have not already done so, suggest you establish them after consulting management and employe representatives.

Small Investors Needed

"We must remember we are out, not only to meet over-all quotas, but the success of our efforts must be partially judged by the number of bonds sold to smaller investors."

Chairman Wright said that fullest efforts are being made to carry out the suggestions, and he asked cooperation in this endeavor.

Total drive sales for the county, up to late Monday, were $2,527,327. This is $2,091,573 short of the $4,618,900 quota.

The chairman reminded that final team reports should be made to drive headquarters in the chamber of commerce before 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"Bond Performances" Wednesday

He reminded also that all theaters are staging their "bond performances" Wednesday. Tickets given with bonds bought since the drive started will be accepted at all theaters except the Lindsey at any time, day or night. At the Lindsey, they will not be good until 6 p. m. After that, admittance will be by "bond tickets" only.

He asked again that those who have not yet received bonds they have ordered not to be uneasy. It takes time to issue so many bonds. They will be mailed to purchasers as soon as issued, which may be a few days. Buyers who fail to get free theater tickets in time for use Wednesday will be given tickets which will be good at a later date—probably next week.

Avalanche-Journal Is Forced By Newsprint Rationing To "Freeze" Its Circulation

DUE to an acute shortage of newsprint throughout the world—a condition which will become worse and worse before it becomes better—The Avalanche-Journal is forced to adopt wartime practices which we do not like, but which are necessary.

FIRST:

BEGINNING TOMORROW — WEDNESDAY — SALE OF NOON EDITION OF LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL WILL BE DISCONTINUED ON THE STREETS OF LUBBOCK. After tomorrow, only the Final edition of The Journal will be available for street purchase.

SECOND:

EFFECTIVE TODAY, CIRCULATIONS OF LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE, LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL AND THE COMBINED AVALANCHE-JOURNAL ON SUNDAY HAVE BEEN "FROZEN." No new subscriptions will be accepted—either by mail or for home delivery—EXCEPT those mail subscriptions going DIRECTLY to Lubbock and South Plains men in the Armed Services. HOWEVER, as present subscribers drop from the circulation lists, new ones will be added to take their places. The circulation department will accept applications for future subscriptions, both by carrier and by mail, and will keep applications in the order received. Then, when an old subscriber drops off a new one will be added from the top of the applications list.

THESE NEW POLICIES ARE FORCED UPON US, as they have been forced upon many other newspapers and will be forced upon many more, due to the war emergency which has curtailed production and shipment of newsprint in and from Canada, the Scandanavian countries and the few domestic mills.

The Avalanche-Journal regrets its inability to serve all those desiring its products, but is powerless to do so. The paper upon which newspapers are printed is now under strict government ration and Avalanche-Journal papers, along with all others in the land, may have only their proportionate share, and no more.

MAY WE SUGGEST THIS CO-OPERATION UPON THE PART OF THE LUBBOCK AND SOUTH PLAINS PUBLIC:

1. If you are receiving the paper at home, please do not buy it on the street.

2. If your neighbor is unable to secure delivery of our papers, please share yours with him.

PLEASE, ALSO, ACCEPT OUR APOLOGIES FOR THESE WARTIME POLICIES—BUT BLAME HITLER, HIROHITO & CO.

Soviet Troops Take Bryansk

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 14—Russian troops captured the fortress city of Bryansk last night, breaching the Germans' main defense line before the Dnieper river by seizure of that pivot of central and southern German battlelines and center of a railway spiderweb serving both fronts.

Evacuation of the keystone city, held by the Germans since October, 1941, was acknowledged today by the German radio soon after Moscow reported that the onpouring Red army was closing in on the city on the west bank of the Desna river.

Rail Network Wrecked

Disruption of the rail network vital for German winter transport heightened belief in London that the backward-scurrying Nazis would not be able to halt their retreat now before reaching the west bank of the Dnieper.

The speed of their withdrawal toward Kiev and Dnieperopetrovsk on the lower reaches of the river, where only three inadequate bridges and ferry crossings are available, raised hopes that large forces of Nazis might be trapped on the east bank of the Dnieper or even be overtaken while attempting to cross it.

The German broadcast by DNB declared Bryansk (normal population 87,000) had been evacuated in good order, and the troops had not been encircled or injured to "a considerable degree."

Announced By Nazis

Again Berlin preceded Moscow in announcing the victory for Russian arms.

"The city of Bryansk," the broadcast said, "which first became known in this war by the great twin battle of Vyazma and Bryansk in the autumn of 1941, in the course of which German troops surrounded and captured several Soviet armies with their entire materiel, was evacuated by the Germans during Monday night."

"It was undoubtedly the intention of the Russian command to mete out a similar fate to the

Area Appeals For More Tires To Aid Harvest

Mahon, WFA Asked For Assistance In Critical Shortage

Appeals to Congressman George Mahon and War Food Administrator Marvin Jones for aid in seeking relief of a critical shortage of tires quotas needed for movement of South Plains crops were sent to Washington today by officials of Lubbock county war price and rationing board.

The appeals, by Roy Furr, board chairman, and C. A. Bestwick, chief clerk, were necessitated by the fact Lubbock county's quota thus far in September has taken care of only about one-third of the applications, the majority of which have been made by farmers.

In addition, Howard R. Gholson, district OPA director, this morning revealed results of a 35-county tire need survey and said the district office has cited the tire need in the South Plains area to regional and national OPA offices in asking their assistance.

Deficiency Is 15,520

In 35 counties surrounding Lubbock, the quota deficiency for September up to Monday afternoon was found to be 15,520. That figure represents the number of applications above quotas available. The critical need for tires, Gholson said, is due to the advanced cotton and feed harvest season and transportation of cattle to market and grasslands.

Although there was a 6.5 per cent increase in the September tire quota for the 71-county Lubbock OPA district, more populated Lubbock county suffered a 20 per cent decrease in quota and some other counties suffered similar decreases, the district director said.

Efforts are being made not only to obtain enlarged quotas, but to secure additional tire supplies in this area. Aid of the Washington authorities is being sought in obtaining larger supplies of used truck tires which have been turned back to rubber companies by the Army and are quota free.

Distribution Nation-Wide

The tires, according to information received here, are being alloted to tire manufacturers at the rate of 900 for each district they serve, and are being distributed within the districts of the companies to tire dealers on basis of previous business. Because of the critical need in this area and importance of food in the war effort, greater allotments to companies

New Forces Are Thrown Against Heavy Attacks

Eighth Army Surging Northward To Take Pressure Off Embattled Beachhead; Nazi Forces Regain Ground In Bloody Fight

BY WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa, Sept. 14—Fresh and heavy Allied reinforcements are being thrown into the fierce battle for the 24-mile Salerno bridgehead in Italy to stem savage Nazi counter-atacks that pushed the Fifth army back at some points, it was announced today.

British forces surging up from southern Italy now stand only 100 miles from making a junction to take some of the dangerous pressure off the invasion spearhead there.

The Mediterranean is alive with ships and planes speeding in reinforcements under direct supervision of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The bloody Salerno fighting was equal to the desperate battles at Gallipoli in World war one.

(German broadcasts declared the Allies are probably withdrawing to sea as many troops as possible "which means that they have abandoned the enterprise altogether." There was no Allied comment on this report.

(The Nazis contended the British were "decisively beaten," and that the Americans also were in flight after suffering 8,000 to 10,000 casualties.

Yanks Said Thrown Back

(U. S. troops were thrown out of occupied positions in the Eboli area, southeast of Salerno itself, after being repulsed with heavy losses in attacks on German lines southeast of Eboli, another broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said. The Germans counter-attacked Monday along a wide front, it added).

Allied headquarters announced that the British had captured Cosenza in an advance up the toe, and seized Bari 65 miles above Brindisi on the Adriatic coast.

Heavy fighting was reported all along the 24-mile front held by the American Fifth army at Salerno, where the Germans were hurling two mechanized divisions and one infantry division against Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces.

Street Fighting Rages In Rome

Opposition To Nazis Spreading

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 14. — Bitter street fighting in Rome was reported by the Algiers radio today even as German propagandists were proclaiming the rebirth of Fascism under Benito Mussolini's personal command with a prediction that he would cancel Italy's capitulation, reorganize the Italian army and pronounce the end of the rule of the House of Savoy.

"Bitter opposition to the presence of the German forces in Italy is spreading all over the country," Radio Algiers reported, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press. "In the Balkans, too, German troops have been challenged everywhere by Italian soldiers.

MINIATURE CIVIL WAR ON THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Sept. 14 (AP) — Fascist militiamen, donning their old uniforms, reorganized today on the Swiss-Italian border where they assumed their former duties as the terror of a miniature civil war was said to have broken out in some northern Italian cities.

The newspaper, Corriere Del Ticino of Lugano reported that in "a terrible moment of Italian history," bloody encounters between Fascists and anti-Fascists, especially in Milan, Turin and Bologna, are usually decided in favor of the Fascists by the intervention of the German army.

"Fierce fighting has occurred in Belgrade. Two thousand Italian soldiers are in the mountains of Montenegro where they are fighting against the Germans. The Balkans are seething with unrest and fighting."

Trying to distill new magic from the name of the man who once set thousands of Italians rocking to cries of "Duce", Nazi propagandists declared that news of Mussolin's liberation in a Hitler-engineered coup had caused "great jubilation" in northern Italy.

Swiss dispatches from the Italian frontier indicated Fascist uprisings and parades had taken place in some parts of northern Italy now occupied by German troops.

Former Fascist officials again control Milan, Turin, Genoa, Novara, Cremona and points as far south as Bologna, these dispatches said, and they were reported to

Enemy Supply Routes Blasted

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS In North Africa, Sept. 14—The area of Pompei, known for its destruction in 79 A. D. by volcanic Mount Vesuvius, was subjected to devastation yesterday when large flights of American medium bombers heavily raided railway and road junctions over which the Germans were supplying their troops. British and Canadian bombers continued the attack last night.

The historic Pompei area was only one of many districts in the vicinity of Naples under heavy bombardment as the Northwest African Air force continued relentlessly its effort to cut off all avenues of reinforcement and supply of the German tank divisions locked in furious battle with the American Fifth army at Salerno.

Ten Enemy Planes Downed

United States and British fighters patrolling the skies above the Salerno beachheads shot down ten out of approximately 120 enemy aircraft, mostly Messerschmitt and Focke-Wulf fighters-bombers and Dornier medium bombers, that were encountered.

The pilots of U. S. A-36 Invader dive-bombers, which switched for the moment to fighter roles to bag six of the victims, reported that the German fliers seemed "very inexperienced."

A third field of major activity of Allied planes was continuous day and night pounding of roads and motor convoys in a 100-mile area between the Salerno battlefields and the toe of Italy where the British Eighth army was moving northward.

Lae Death Trap Is Facing Japs

(By The United Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Sept. 14—Allied troops chased a disorganized Japanese force up the New Guinea coast today toward a death trap at Lae after capturing Salamaua in one of the major triumphs of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's southwest Pacific offensive.

A communique announced that American and Australian forces occupied Salamaua, once a strong enemy naval and air base, on Sunday as the remnants of the enemy garrison fled up the coastal route.

Australian units from inland positions drove toward the coast, seeking to cut off at least some of the enemy troops, and turned northward to herd them into the tightening noose at Lae. At least 20,000 enemy troops were believed caught in the narrowing Allied lines.

Lae Only Sanctuary

The enemy's only sanctuary was Lae, approximately 25 miles northeast of Salamaua and that could be only temporary since Allied forces ringing that stronghold were preparing for an assault on its inner defenses while Allied planes kept up a pounding attack to weaken the Japanese garrison's ability to resist.

Allied aircraft began using the bomb-pitted 1250-yard-long Salamaua airdrome at once. A small plane used for artillery spotting landed on it only a few hours after it was captured.

The enemy forces who held out 10 weeks in Salamaua left behind big quantities of equipment strewn through the bombed town and the narrow peninsula on which it was located.

It was revealed that the American 162nd infantry regiment of the 41st division, largely men from

Car Examined For Clues To Stabbing

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP)—Police chemists and fingerprint experts today carefully examined the little foreign-built sedan of David Gaspar G. Bacon for clues to the fatal stabbing of the 29-year-old film actor and scion of a prominent Boston family, but found no fingerprints other than Bacon's own.

The car leaped over a curb into a bean field in nearby Venice Sunday and from it stepped the actor, blood streaming from a wound in his back. He collapsed in the arms of a passerby, pleading "please help me," and died. He was clad only in bathing trunks and evidently had visited the beach.

The scientific search disclosed no blood on the outside of the car. The doors, door-handles, steering wheel and various parts of the interior of the machine bore many fingerprints—all Bacon's. The upholstery was smeared with blood in places, and there were a few smears on the steering wheel.

A blood-soaked bathrobe was on the seat. There was no hole in it, however, indicating the actor had not been wearing it when wounded. Lack of blood on the car's exterior and the absence of any signs of a struggle inside, said Detective Lts. Lloyd Hurst and Harry Fremont, may indicate the victim was knifed without warning as he leaned forward in the auto.

BOMBING IS RESUMED

LONDON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Large formations of Allies bombers roared over the channel toward northern France and Belgium just before dusk today, resuming the aerial offensive after a two-day lull.

Fire Victim Walks Unassisted For First Time In Ten Months

BOSTON, Sept. 14. (UP) — Falteringly, 22-year-old Clifford Johnson of Sumner, Mo., has walked unassisted for the first time since he was burned almost beyond recognition in the Cocoanut Grove night club holocaust 290 days ago.

"Ain't that something?" he asked his nurses with a grin as, like a baby learning to walk, he took a few steps across the Boston City hospital room where he has lain—most of the time on his stomach—since the fire that cost 492 lives.

Amazing Fight For Life

Although the young Coast Guardsman is winning one of medical history's most amazing fights for life, it probably will be four more months before he can go back to his parents and a sister on their Missouri farm.

On Aug. 4 newspapers throughout the country published the story of Johnson's plucky battle for life. It was a fight in which some $20,000 was spent in nutritional treatment, blood plasma, sulfa drugs and skin grafting in an effort to patch up a body 65 per cent of which was covered with third-degree burns.

Receives Many Letters

To Johnson as result of the story came a flood of letters, many from mothers with sons in the service or from service men themselves, offering sympathy and encouragement.

Apparently the letters were just the tonic the shy sailor needed. A six-footer, he has regained 16 of the 56 pounds he lost and now weighs 124.

Dr. Newton Browder, who belittles his own large part in Johnson's recovery praised Dr. Charles C. Lund and the staff of the Thorndike Memorial laboratory. He said Johnson already had had 17,000 pinpoint skin grafts on his head, back, arms and legs, and that more were yet to come.

Labor Shortage On West Coast Studied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP) — Anticipating a major shift in war activities to the Pacific, because of what it termed the "reasonable probability that Germany will collapse within the next 12 months," a Senate military affairs subcommittee today made 12 recommendations for meeting acute manpower shortages in west coast war production centers.

Among these was the suggestion that efforts be made to retain in the United States by voluntary agreement as many as possible of the Italians presently held as prisoners of war and that a "fair proportion" of these be employed on the western seaboard.

Declaring the Pacific coast was not now adequately prepared to carry even its present burdens, Senator Downey (D-Calif), chairman of the subcommittee, said the value of the west coast manpower program recently announced by War Mobilization Director James F. Bynes was doubtful.

Control Not Lifted In Wage Increases

DALLAS, Sept. 14. (AP) — Recently amended War Labor board regulations governing wage increases do not lift the over-all controls contained in the original regulations, Floyd McGown, chairman of the Eighth regional WLB, said today.

"According to reports reaching the regional WLB office," he said, "many employers and employes have the mistaken impression that any employer of 30 or fewer workers may grant a 10-cent hourly wage increase indiscriminately without approval.

"They fail to notice that there are certain definite restrictions."

Court Martial Convicts Officer

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mich. Sept. 14. (UP) — A court martial of nine colonels today convicted Col. William T. Colman, ousted commander of Selfridge Field, on at least one of 29 violations of five Articles of War after three hours' deliberation.

The first indication that the 39-year-old Army officer had been found guilty came shortly after lunch when the court martial was reopened and the officers called for a copy of the defendant's military record to determine his punishment.

No Statement

No official statement was issued by the officers, but it was pointed out that if the court martial had acquitted Colman there would have been no need to review the defendants army record.

An official statement will be made when the court fixes the punishment for Colman, it was reported.

The court room was cleared immediately after the defendant's record was obtained and a cordon of military police was thrown around the building.

The decision of the court martial was reached after nine days of continuous session in which the officers heard testimony on each of the 29 counts against the defendant.

Postwar Service Pay Suggested In Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (UP) — Sen. James O. Eastland, (D., Miss.,) introduced a bill today to continue the full pay of members of the armed forces for six months after their discharge from service following the end of the war.

The pay would be at the serviceman's regular salary or at a rate of $100 a month, whichever is lower. All servicemen honorably discharged or realesed from active duty would be eligible.

Farm Gas Shortage Is Blamed On PAW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—An official of the Office of Price administration contended today that the gasoline allocation policy of the Petroleum Administration for War was primarily responsible for recurring shortages of gas for farm uses.

Charles F. Phillips, OPA director of automotive supply rationing, told a Senate agriculture subcommittee that PAW, headed by Secretary Ickes, sets gasoline quotas on a broad regional basis without consideration of loyal area needs of such groups as farmers and war plant workers.

"The result is that some localities within a region are likely to have an oversupply of gasoline while other areas, where OPA rationing boards have determined there is a large local need, have serious shortages," Phillips said. "There is at this time no relationship between the PAW quota system and our (OPA) issuance of gasoline coupons."

Phillips said he thought the farm gas problem could be solved by two steps; first, making the PAW quotas and OPA coupon volume coincide, and second, allocation of gasoline by the PAW on the basis of coupons issued rather than on the "historical quota" basis.

QUISLINGS SAID KILLED

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Hundreds of Germans and Croat Quislings were killed in a big five-day battle at Karlovatz in Croatia before the Italian garrison of 10,000 was disarmed, a Reuters dispatch datelined Cairo said today.

Hearings On Gasoline Shortage May Be Held

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (UP)—Chairman Houghton Brownlee, Austin, of a state Senate general investigating committee, said today the group might open hearings here soon to check conflicting reports of a gasoline shortage.

At least three members of the committee must agree to opening the investigation.

Handling Of Disputes Praised By Director

DALLAS, Sept. 14 (UP) — Of the nation's 14,000 labor disputes handled by the United States Conciliation service, only 253 cases came from Texas, Director John R. Steelman said yesterday in a speech praising Texas labor and management on their ability to settle labor disputes.

"Of the Texas cases," Dr. Steelman said, "181 were actually settled by conciliation. The remainder were referred to bthe War Labor board or to other agencies for settlement."

Wartime Park Supper Served To Kappa Gamma Sorority

Beginning activities after disbanding for the summer, members of Kappa Gamma sorority attended a "bring your own meat" campfire picnic at Mackenzie State park Monday night as guests of Misses Mildred Boone, Frances Conley, Beulah Harmonson and Mrs. John Watson. After supper a gift was presented to the retiring president, Mrs. Dan Ethridge and Miss Evelyn Jones, incoming president, conducted a brief business session at which plans were set forth for the year's study.

The sorority voted to purchase War bonds during the year.

Preceding the picnic, the members met at the home of Miss Ruth E. Ford, 1707 Sixteenth street, for formal installation of officers conducted by candlelight. TELLS HIS CUSTOMERS ABOUT ALL-BRAN

And How It Helped Relieve His Constipation!

Here's a really enthusiastic letter you'll want to read:

"I'd suffered for years with constipation. Took everything from salts to castor oil, and felt run down, always taking so many physics. Then, two weeks ago, I found out about ALL-BRAN. Since I've been eating ALL-BRAN, I have needed no physics, and am starting to feel like a new man. I'm telling my customers on my milk route about your wonderful product." Mr. Leon Swartz, 1738 N. Wilton St., Phila., Pa.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's results? Simply that ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulosic" elements—lack of which in sufficient quantities is a common cause of constipation! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural elimination. ALL-BRAN is not a cathartic! It doesn't "sweep you out"! It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food! If this is your trouble eat ALL-BRAN regularly, drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

World Series Plans Pleasing To Yanks

Advantage Seen In Home Opening

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—The New York Yankees, who howled last fall that they could do better in Sportsman park than in their own stadium, now are chortling over the 1943 World series schedule which calls for them to play the first three games in Yankee stadium.

The Yankee players and New York fans think this gives the American leaguers a big advantage over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bookies Reserved

However, the bookies, who pay less attention to such intangibles, still are reluctant to lay a price on the series and won't concede that the Yanks will have any of the best of it when they do. Chances are the odds will be 6-5 and take your choice.

Playing the first three games in their home grounds may be some sort of a break for the Yanks, but the fact that the schedule also calls for a two-day travel intermission between the New York and St. Louis games and another open date for selling tickets before the seventh game, if it has to be played, seems to be even more in New York's favor.

Can Cooper Win?

This means that Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, the Yanks' pitching ace, can work at least twice and perhaps three times. The Georgia righthander, who has won 19 games and lost only three, is a cinch to draw the opening assignment from Manager Joe McCarthy on October 5. He will be able to have four days rest and start the first game in St. Louis, Sunday, October 10. If the series goes the limit he could have another three-days rest before coming back in the finale.

Big Ernie Bonham, who has won 13 and lost seven, also can be used twice and Hank Borowy or Rookie Charley Wensloff can be called upon to fill in the other spots.

In theory, of course, the Cardinals will have the same opportunity to use Mort Cooper two or three times, but on the basis of his previous performances against the Yankees and other American league hitters no one is sure whether Manager Billy Southworth will find this advisable.

Girl Gridder Kept Out Of First Game

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Sept. 14 (AP)—New Castle High school's girl gridder — comely blonde Agnes Rifner — whose specialty is drop kicking, will have to wait another week before she makes her debut on the football field.

Agnes was kept on the bench last night in the Trojan's opening game with Central of Muncie but Coach Griz Baker said today she would see service in next week's game with Morton Memorial of Knightstown.

Baker explained he kept his girl drop kicker out of last night's encounter because the players' tempers, together with weather conditions, were not exactly ladylike. And New Castle wasn't doing any too well. Central won 31 to 6.

Schlinkman Is Lost To Tech

Injury Puts Ace Out For Season

Texas Tech's football squad was dealt a body blow Monday when the services of its great fullback, Walter Schlinkman, Dumas, was lost for the season after a small bone was broken in his right leg in a scrimmage session.

Schlinkman was the main hope of the green Tech team. Coach Dell Morgan must select his successor from players that were in high school last year. Considered for the post are Bob Brewer, ex-Westerner, Carroll Nash, end last season for Amarillo's Sandies, and Raymond Smith, Merkel.

Schlinkman was one of the nation's greatest ground gainers last year and was a member of the Border all-conference eleven. In the game with Creighton last year at Omaha, the burly Dumas product rolled up a total of 308 yards.

Second Blow

He is a member of the Naval V-5 reserve and expects to be called about Nov. 1.

According to Morgan, the fullback was hurt when a charging blocker lost his balance and fell, his foot striking the star about eight inches above the ankle.

The accident resulted in the second blow to hit the Red Raiders in a month. Several weeks ago, J. R. Callahan, versatile tailback, was called into active naval service.

Another injury showed up in the Raider camp Monday. Burton Adams, Levelland, a transfer from Abilene Christian college, reported on the field with a limp. Examination showed he had a small foot bone broken. Morgan said the injury probably occurred in last Saturday's scrimmage. However, Adams is expected back in "three or four weeks."

S.M.U. Has Aerial Circus That Clicks Like Yanks Over Europe

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 14 — That swishing sound out on the hilltop at Southern Methodist university is produced by footballs cutting through the breeze. They're going everywhere and they blow no opponent good in a Southwest conference campaign due to be fought principally in the air.

Coach James H. Stewart of the Mustangs figures every team will pass more than ever before, mainly because of general inexperience and too many weak spots in the forward walls. At least S. M. U. expects to follow the system of pass, punt and prayer down a fine line.

And brother, Southern Methodist has the stuff to make an aerial attack click like our official flying circus is doing over Hitler's Europe.

Abel Gonzates, a 155-pounder who likes to throw at a gnat's eye at 20 paces, heads an array of flingers that would be bad business for the opposition even in normal times. Backing him are Wayne (Red) Shaw, left-handed pitcher, and Bill Squires, who cut the breeze to ribbons with his bullet passes out at El Paso as a schoolboy star.

Tom Johnson of Baylor, a tall, powerful fellow who comes to S. M. U. in the V-12 program, leads the contingent of receivers who don't ask for strikes but that the ball just be put within reasonable reach.

There also are some top receivers in the very strong S. M. U. backfield. For instance, Dave Redman, Dallas school boy star who had spring training at Texas A. and M., can go get them.

Tackle is the major problem and Stewart is trying most everybody for the posts. Jack Elliott and James Meletio from Highland Park, Him Colwick of Durant, Okla., Lloyd Pool of Ennis and J. A. Holt, who played freshman football at Texas A. and M., are to furnish the starting forwards.

Another hole is found at guard. Ray Rasor, prominent contender for all-conference honors last fall, was lost to the squad Saturday when the Navy ordered him to report to Notre Dame Sept. 30. Slated to fill Rasor's position is Jack Harkey, another Highland Parker, with Glyn Roper, Corpus Christi freshman, likely to move in when a hurt knee heals.

Billy Shaw, Hardin-Simmons letterman of 1942, is the starter at the other guard.

VOLS WIN PLAYOFF

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Nashville Vols laid down a 12-hit attack against four New Orleans pitchers here last night for a 7-0 win to capture the Southern Association playoff four games to one.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 — Since the Phillies' Bill Cox scheduled an arc light game tonight followed by an 11 a. m. contest tomorrow, the visiting Giants have been threatening to sleep right at the ball park . . . Isn't that what they've been doing in the Polo Grounds all season? . . . Helen Dettwiler, the star Washington, D. C., golfer, has just earned her wings as an Air Force ferry command pilot at Avenger field, Tex. . . . According to Newark's Babe Culnan, only 1,750 spectators will see the Freddie Mills-Jack London fight in London Sept. 22 — but they'll pay $100 each for ringside pews.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Walter Lynch, Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal: "That thief who stole some of the football equipment of the Andrew Jackson High school eleven has a greater problem than the new coach, Jack Smith . . . Cadet Jean Fisher, a Kansan studying for Uncle Sam at the University of Alabama, takes vigorous exception to a recent statement here that when 65 Kansas grid candidates turned out, K. U. boy who has not gone to fight for his country, it is true, cannot support a pair of shoulder pads — he is a cripple."

Flag Clinching Time A Riddle

Major Winners Are No Mystery

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There isn't any mystery about which teams are going to win the the major league pennants, but a lot of fans are rushing for pencil and paper to figure out when the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees will get around to clinching their championships.

It may contribute to the calm and orderly processes of arithmetic, therefore, to point out that there will be no clinchings before next weekend and the situation can be explored without the aid of rapid calculus.

Cards Need Five

The Cardinals can settle the senior circuit controversy with any combination of five victories for themselves or five defeats for their immediate pursuers, the Brooklyn Dodgers, while the magic combination for the Yankees is ten, and consequently further removed.

The Cardinals might be able to make short work of their pennant problem except that they haven't played since Saturday and aren't scheduled again until Thursday, when they will embark on a six-game four-day series with the Chicago Cubs.

Action in the majors yesterday was confined to Boston, where the Braves completed their suspended game of July 18 with the Brooklyn Dodgers and obtained a 7-6 ten-inning triumph, but lost the regularly scheduled contest 10-3 in the face of six-hit hurling by Whit Wyatt and a 17-hit assault by the Dodgers.

Man's first authenticated ascent into air occurred in a balloon fight in Paris in 1783.

WAS DEAFened NOW HEARS CLOCK TICK

A. M. Bentchoom, Newark, N. J., writes: "Before using Orotone Ear Drops, I was so deafened I could not hear the clock tick. After using Orotone, I can now hear the clock tick with both ears." Thousands now hard-of-hearing would hear clearly and distinctly again, and get relief from buzzing, ringing head noises, clogged up feeling in ears, if impacted wax that blocks ear canals and presses on sensitive eardrums was removed. Try safe Orotone as directed. Contains an ingredient especially recommended for this purpose. Druggists, Health Food Stores. Adv.

Collins Brings First Bale To Wolfforth

First bale of the season ginned by Wolfforth Gin company was turned out Monday for F. J. Collins, who was second to bring in a bale last year, it was announced by J. H. Harold and J. K. Jackson, gin owners.

Collins lives five miles southwest of Wolfforth. A family living nearby "pitched in and helped him get out his seed cotton, just about the time another farmer of the section employed 20 Mexicans to pick a bale on his farm," Harold said.

The seed cotton weighed 1,850 pounds, the bale 545. There were 760 pounds of seed that sold at $48 a ton. The gin bought the bale for 20 cents a pound, slightly higher than the government loan price of 18.43 cents.

Burglars Rob Guests Of Movie Producer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 (AP) — Film Producer Cecil B. DeMille notified police today that two burglars escaped with $150 taken from purses of women guests during a party at his home but said a private patrolman stopped them as they were leaving with a small safe containing $43,000.

The thieves, one midget size and the other larger, dropped the safe and fled when confronted by the patrolman.

PRO-NAZIS VANISHING

MADRID, Sept. 14 (AP)—Reports reaching here today from the French border said that many of the Vichy government's pro-German employes were quietly vanishing under fear of assassination and that German domination was nearing an end.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says today is the graveyard in which are buried most of yesterday's good resolutions.

The shortage of help in laundries is doing more than anything else we can think of to keep women home these days.

THE Plainsman is no psychologist. He isn't even a serious student of people and their reactions. But if someone were to ask his opinion of what has been our worst harvest of the past 25 years he'd unhesitatingly say the growth of cynicism.

At least we believe that applies to our own country.

Consciously or unconsciously, most of us have fallen into the habit of "looking for the angle" in everything the other fellow does. And it hasn't been good for us. We have become, largely, a nation of scoffers. We have cultivated too well our suspicions. And that is most unhealthy.

Let us offer a few examples to illustrate our meaning.

FOR instance: A well known citizen who has never been much of a churchgoer starts attending services more or less regularly and the word gets around. Somebody will giggle and whisper behind his hand to a chum— "Boy, his conscience must be hurting him! Wonder what kind of special meanness he's trying to make up for?"

Another citizen will crack down and give a generous hunk of dough to some worthy charity, or public enterprise, and you'll hear the comment—"He's trying to make up for robbing widows and orphans." Or, "He must have found out he has a cancer and is going to die soon." Or, "You gotta say one thing for the higher income taxes. They sure jar the dough out of those old skin-flints who'd rather give it to anything else except the government!"

One of the greatest evidences of human kindness and generosity we know is found when a childless couple adopts a homeless youngster. Yet we've heard people say, without one bit of supporting evidence, "Well, if they'd wanted children of their own when they were young enough to have them, they wouldn't have to adopt one now."

We could fill this whole page with examples of cynicism and suspicion and many of them would be crueler and meaner than those we've listed. But that isn't necessary. Every individual reader can furnish an endless list of his own.

But isn't it too bad that so many of us find it so much easier to suspect deceit than to accept decency at its face value?

Sure, a lot of people are stinkies. Sure, a lot of them employ outward manifestation of goodness and mercy as a cloak to hide baser thoughts and actions.

But, by and large, people are naturally generous and sympathetic; they'd rather be good than bad, helpful than hurtful.

We'd all be happier, individually and as a nation, if we gave cynicism a rest; if we gave the other fellow the benefit of the doubt.

It doesn't cost anything and it's well worth trying. It's better to mistakenly think well of 100 phonies than to misjudge one right guy.

WE Americans, it seems to The Plainsman, are too prone to think of the war's material costs in the expenditure of dollars and in so doing we make a mistake.

Outside the loss of life and limb of the flower of our young manhood, the cost of the current conflict can best be measured in the dissipation of resources.

When we say a certain battle resulted in the loss of three ships and 10 tanks, for instance, we reckon the loss in dollars. What we should do is reckon the loss in steel, in basic minerals from which explosives are made, in time spent in production, and in all the other things which cannot be replaced quickly, if at all.

Let us take oil as an example.

The Plainsman is not geologist enough to say how long it takes nature to make the equivalent of a gallon of oil, but we all know hundreds of thousands, yea, doubtless millions, of years are involved.

Since this is a mechanical war we're fighting, and nearly everything mechanical revolves around oil, we are dissipiating our oil reserves at a rate never before imagined.

As a result of this war, we're going to run out of oil hundreds, perhaps thousands, of years earlier than we otherwise would. Therefore the loss in oil—and what oil will do—is much more important than the monetary worth of the oil used.

THE same thing can be said of countless other resources. Oh, its easy to say that "scientists will work out substitutes even more satisfactory than the natural product," and they will be able to do so in many instances.

But whatever else our scientists are, they are not infallible.

They are not self-sufficient.

They can't always give nature cards and spades and win with the big and the little casino.

No scientist as yet has been abie to work out a sure fire cure for cancer, or a certain preventative for poliomyelitis, let alone stop death in its tracks, or develop a satisfactory, longtime substitute for the air which we humans have in abundance.

Why, then, can we be sure that scientists can replace with "ersatz" materials those natural resources which we blithely take for granted?

It doesn't make sense to be so complacent.

THIS is the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The other night our 12-year old came home from Junior High with an assignment. He had to write a speech which would introduce him to the balance of the class. Every other kid in the room had to do the same thing and the teacher told each one among other things to give his name, his address, his age, interests, plans for life work, his father's name and occupation.

Our offspring laboriously wrote out his speech and took it to the Little Woman for her inspection. She looked up from her style magazine, glanced over the speech, mumbled that it was all right and went back to her perusal of current and coming fashions.

"But mother," persisted the 12-year old, "there's one thing I can't make up my mind about. If I say my daddy writes The Plainsman column, will the other kids think I'm boasting?"

The Little Woman's jaw dropped a foot.

"Heavens, no!" she ejaculated. "They're more likely to think it's a confession!"

One Is Beloved

YESTERDAY: Eric returns to New York, leaving Sue to struggle with her problem. She wonders if she can relinquish love for duty.

Chapter 27

The Choice

"If the cases were reversed how long would Bob stick to me?" Sue inquired of herself. "Why, when Cecily was here there were times when he seemed actually to reproach me for the inconvenience she caused him! He'd deceived me about her, he'd fallen in love, married, parted from a wife . . . . and it was so unimportant to him that he'd never told me!

"I played fair! I warned him before we were married that I might meet the right man, fall in love with him . . . and Bob laughed! Well, let him laugh now! He'll be hurt," she mused more seriously. "He'll be badly upset for days—for weeks. But he'll find consolation in the sympathy of the town. Even if he lets me divorce him, it will come out later that I've married Eric and everyone will know I treated Bob badly. Allen will try his best to make it up to Bob. Barbara will. Maybe Barbara and Bob . . . ; stranger things have happened!"

She sighed heavily.

"If he'd only suspect—quarrel with me about Eric! If we could bring the subject out in the open, discuss it, even angrily. But Bob's like a trustful child. It has never occurred to him that his wife—his wife!—could be other than faithful with him, anything else but entirely happy! The unconscious egotism of it, the appealing confidence! I'm torn between the two. But there's Eric to think of, as well as Bob, Eric!"

And at that beloved name, her senses swam. Firelighted room, Allen, Barbara, Bob — all were swept away as she imagined herself once again held close in Eric's arms, listening to the pounding of a heart which beat for her alone.

How she knew that to be true, she could not have told, but know it she did. Eric's covering of sophistication hid something shy and sweet and hitherto untouched. It was deep calling to deep, between her and Eric Farraday. It was the traveler in a strange land experiencing the shuddering delight of hearing his own tongue spoken after weary days of dismay, bewilderment. It was discord resolved into harmony, it was voyage-worn ships making harbor at the close of a long season, it was cool water in the desert, flame in the snow, the deliciousness of food after famine.

It might not last, it could not last—for Eric; but even to experience it briefly was an enchantment she had no right to deny herself or Eric.

She, little Sue Davenport, with her odd dark face and her unimportant mind, was a worker of miracles. Out of all the women whom Eric had met — and they had been many, and clever, and beautiful — she had been chosen to turn the key which let love into his being. Oh, marvelous, oh, wonderful! What, in comparison to this, was the keeping up of that "satisfying relationship" of which Bob had spoken?

Nothing! Less than nothing! Tomorrow — or at least the day after Christmas — she would tell Bob so; explain quite kindly and firmly that duty, after all, was not only a personal matter, but a relative matter; that her duty to Eric's genius far outweighed anything she might once have promised Bob Trenton, of the Treadon Shoes.

Sue put the screen in front of the fire, snapped off the one lamp she had kept burning, paused by the window for a last look at the river, lighted only by the stars tonight, and took her way up to bed. Bob was fathoms deep in sleep among his own pillows.

'Only You'

Christmas Eve found Sue with her plans made. She and Bob would celebrate the holiday as usual, with Pats and Allen coming for dinner the night before and remaining until late Christmas afternoon. And when they had gone and Bob and Sue were alone, she meant to talk to him quietly, calmly about a divorce.

She had not reached her decision without many heartaches. It was as if two personalities strove within her: the tender loyal girl who had married her husband, honestly confessing that the sort of love she had for him was not the sort she had dreamed of surrendering as a bride; and the new, slightly ruthless woman, made ruthless by her devouring passion for Eric Farraday.

Eric's letters arrived daily, spurring her to immediate action, steadying her oft-times wavering plans.

She shopped as usual for Christmas gifts: a luxurious evening coat for Pats, who had hinted strongly for it; books and silk socks for Allen; for Bob — she had hesitated over this, disliking the impersonality of such a present yet disliking still more to choose anything more intimate — a carved jade paperweight for his office.

She had never to ask Bob for money for her personal needs. The generous allowance he had made her when they were married not only sufficed her but kept a comfortable surplus in the bank. She was glad of this. It was, she reasoned, her money because she had saved it; therefore she need not scruple to use it for traveling expenses when she left St. Joseph.

As she drove home from a last moment shopping trip late on the afternoon of Christmas Eve, she felt that everything was done she could do to make this occasion a successful one. Holly hung in the windows, a gay wreath of it on the front door. The pantry was stocked with delicacies for tomorrow, the great turkey was ready for its chestnut stuffing. Two of the guest rooms had been prepared for Allen and his wife. The servants had been remembered, the fees for postman, milkman and various others were neatly sealed in tiny envelopes.

Because snow had fallen that morning, she wore her galoshes. Their rubber soles made no sound as she went upstairs and into her own sitting room to deposit her last purchases. The door was slightly ajar and from within came the murmur of voices.

"Pats must have come early!" she thought, and with a light hand swung the door gently open. The tableau which met her eye froze her where she stood. Bob was seated in a corner of the couch, his elbows on his knees, his face in his hands. Before him Patsy knelt, her half bare arms pulling his face down to hers.

"Poor, poor boy," she was crooning. "My poor darling Bob!"

From those spread, desperate fingers came a broken murmur.

"Pats, Pats! There's only you. . ."

Noiselessly Sue withdrew; gained her bedroom without the absorbed pair at the other end of the room knowing of her presence. Her face was flaming, her palms were icy.

So! While she had been wrestling with her conscience over the coming separation with Bob, he had been indulging in a violent love affair with — this was what hurt, this was what stung her pride! — with Patsy, of all people! Pats, whom Bob had called "Cheap," against whose greediness he had warned Sue, at whose unkindness to Allen he had railed.

And now, in Sue's own sitting room, dressed in the very gown Sue had bought for her, this scene was being enacted!

As always when in the grip of emotion she walked to the window and stared out. She stood there a long time, not hearing Allen's arrival, not even knowing when Patsy and Bob went downstairs. Suddenly she threw back her head with the gesture of one freeing himself of a heavy burden.

"This certainly simplifies things! I was a fool to let it upset me. Why, it makes everything perfect! Bob will give me a divorce, and console himself with Pats. Allen, dear Allen, will be free of her at last! Oh, it couldn't be better!"

"Sue!" It was Bob shouting below. "We're all waiting for you. Coming down soon?"

"In five minutes" she returned composedly.

When she joined them around the fire below, she fairly sparkled. She had run a wet comb through her curls and they framed her face charmingly. He lips were crimson, her cheeks bore traces of unusual color. Her eyes shone as they had not done in years.

"Golly, Sue, what have you done to yourself?" Allen asked admiringly.

She answered gayly, stole a glance toward Bob. He seemed as usual save for a certain look of strain about his eyes. Perhaps he, too, had been fighting a battle with conscience she thought a little pityingly. How absurd that she couldn't put an end to the situation now, in a few forthright words.

"You love Pats, Bob, and Allen will be glad to be rid of her. As for me, I'm counting the days, the hours, until I can marry Eric Farraday. Let's all plan, like the sensible persons we are!"

The words very nearly escaped her; would have, she thought later, if it had not been for her brother. Allen's sensitive face, lighted now with happiness in being with his dearly loved sister, checked them almost as they left her lips. No, better do the thing more decorously. The day after

Today's Journal Editorial

IT'S AN IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION

It seems incredible that such things could happen as are happening at the Allis-Chalmers plant in Springfield, Ill., now—that have happened time after time in our war imperiled nation. Let us explain.

This plant is engaged in the production of huge tanks—"land battlewagons." Its workers and executives have won the Army-Navy "E" for outstanding production. The plant operators want to continue making tanks. The workers want to continue at their jobs. There is no dispute over hours, wages, or working conditions.

But two unions are engaged in a "jurisdictional dispute" in the plant. The quarrel is strictly and wholly between the two unions—the Farm Equipment workers and the United Mine Workers—as to who is going to get the dues from the plant workmen. The company's hands are tied. It is forbidden by the National Labor Relations board—by federal law, if you please—from trying to get the labor bosses together so that the production of equipment most vitally needed by men who are fighting and dying on battle fronts can continue.

Undoubtedly production in the plant has suffered. Complete paralysis is a constant threat. And why? Because one union is afraid that another union might get some money from dues that it wants. And the labor-intimidated Roosevelt administration hasn't done one thing about it.

What can rank-and-file Americans do about it? Frankly, we don't know, unless it might be through expressions of disgust and indignation to official Washington, and by an appropriate use of ballots in next year's election.

U. S. Engineers Use Ingenuity To Do Job

BY ERNIE PYLE

Journal Roving Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY—(By Wireless) — We are writing these few days about the spectacular bridging of a practically bottomless hole blown in a northern Sicilian coast road by the Germans in their retreat toward Messina.

It took our engineers 24 hours to bridge this enormous gap, but the men of the 3rd Division didn't just sit and twiddle their thumbs during that time.

The infantry was sent across on foot and continued after the Germans. Some supplies and guns were sent around the road-block by boat, and even the engineers themselves continued on ahead by boat. They had discovered other craters blown in the road several miles ahead. These were smaller ones that could be filled in by a bulldozer except that you couldn't get a bulldozer across that vast hole they were trying to bridge.

ERNIE PYLE

So the engineers commandeered two little Sicilian fishing boats about twice the size of rowboats. They lashed them together, nailed planking across them and ran the bulldozer up onto this improvised barge. They tied an amphibious jeep in front of it, and went chugging around Point Calava at about one mile an hour.

As we looked down at them laboring along so slowly Lt. Col. Leonard Bingham, commanding officer of the 3rd Division's 10th Engineers, grinned and said, "There goes the engineers' homemade Navy."

Engineers Alarm Navy

The real Navy during the night had carried forward supplies and guns in armed landing craft. These were the cause of a funny incident around midnight. Our engineers had drilled and laid blasting charges to blow off part of the rock wall that overhung the Point Calava crater.

When all was ready, everybody went back in the tunnel to get out of the way. When the blast went off, the whole mountain shook and you quavered with positive belief that the tunnel was coming down. The noise there in the silent night was shocking.

Now just as this happened, a small fleet of these naval craft was passing in the darkness, just offshore. The sudden blast alarmed them. They apparently thought they were being fired upon from the shore. For just as our men were returning to their work at the crater edge, there came ringing up from the dark water below, so clear it sounded like an execution order, the resounding naval command, "Prepare to return fire."

Boy, you should have seen our men scatter. They hit the ground and scampered back into the tunnel as though Stukas were diving on them. We don't know to this day exactly what happened out there, but we do know they never did fire.

DURING the night Maj. Gen. Lucian Truscott, commanding the 3rd Division, came up to see how the work was coming along. Bridging that hole was his main interest in life that night. He couldn't help any, of course, but somehow he couldn't bear to leave. He stood around and talked to officers, and after a while he went off a few feet to one side and sat down on the ground and lit a cigaret.

A moment later, a passing soldier saw the glow and leaned over and said, "Hey, gimme a light, will you?" The general did and the soldier never knew he had been ordering the general around.

General Truscott, like many men of great action, has the ability to refresh himself by tiny catnaps of five or 10 minutes. So instead of going back to his command post and going to bed he stretched out there against some rocks and dozed off. One of the working engineers came past, dragging some air hose. It got tangled up in the general's feet. The tired soldier was annoyed, and he said crossly to the dark, anonymous figure on the ground, "If you're not working, get the hell out of the way."

The general got up and moved farther back without saying a word.

There's Never A Lag

The men worked on and on and every one of the company officers stayed throughout the night, just to be there to make decisions when difficulties arose. But I got so sleepy I couldn't stand it, and I caught a commuting truck back to the company camp and turned in. An hour before daylight I heard them rout out a platoon that had been resting. They ate breakfast noisily, loaded into trucks, and were off just at dawn. A little later three truckloads of tired men pulled into camp, gobbled some breakfast, and fell into their blankets on the ground. The feverish attack on that vital highway obstruction had not lagged a moment during the long night.

Texas Lieutenant, Four Men Shot It Out With 13 Tanks To Save Allied Beachhead

By RELMAN MORIN
Representing The Combined U. S. Press
(Distributed By United Press)

WITH FIFTH ARMY, Italy, Sept. 13. (Delayed). — A young Texas lieutenant and four enlisted men shot it out with 13 German tanks the day the Army came ashore on Italy and probably saved the whole American beachhead from being cut to pieces.

They survived. But another hero didn't — his name was withheld until his family could be notified how he died while attacking a tank alone with a tommygun.

The first American assault waves had gone ashore on the gulf of Salerno only a few hours before the Germans turned groups of tanks against them, meeting the Yanks only a mile from the beach.

Stuck To Road

Sticking squarely to the center of a road while tanks approached from three sides, Lt. John Whitaker of Fort Worth, and the four members of his 75-millimeter anti-tank gun crew fought off the enemy until help arrived.

The official report by Whitaker's commander, Capt. Wiley Stem of Waco, credited the gun crew with destroying three of the Mark IV German tanks and helping destroy two others while the enemy threw everything it could at them from cannons and machineguns.

Whitaker's crew included Sgt. Seth Gross, Caldwell, Tex.; Cpl. Arthur Lloyd, Rutherford, N. J.; Pvt. Camello J. Caminiti, Cincinnati, O., and Pvt. Harry Bodzin, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Drove Tank From Position

The kid with the tommygun drove one tank from its position, paying with his life but probably saving the lives of others of his infantry platoon who had been pinned in a gully under fire for a half-hour by the tank.

The tank guns couldn't reach them and it changed position trying to wipe out the platoon. The youngster suddenly jumped out of the gully with his tommygun. He fed three clips into the weapon, sending its bullets bouncing off the tank's steel sides.

Evidently more surprised than endangered, the German tank crew suddenly pulled out—but before it did it cut down the youngster with the tommygun.

Work Draft Is Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — A Republican prediction that the White House soon may take a definite stand on compulsory work legislation was voiced today as Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee called for suspension of the father-draft until Congress makes a manpower survey.

May made his suggestion as Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) told reporters he had encountered "acute" interest in a national service bill which he introduced early this year. The New Yorker, co-author of the present draft law, said he would not be surprised to see the administration get actively behind a proposal such as he has suggested.

With a national election in the offing, Wadsworth said he believed the only thing holding up a definite administration stand now is "the possible political consequences."

Wadsworth's bill would require registration of virtually all adult men and women citizens and make them subject to assignment to work where needed. Women with small children would be exempt.

Postoffice Expects Holiday Rush Soon

Postoffice workers in Lubbock are expecting a "Christmas rush" during the next several days. Holiday parcels must be mailed to all men in the armed forces overseas between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, Postmaster Amos Howard has announced.

With 8 million men in uniform and about 5,500 of them from Lubbock county, as well as hundreds of friends overseas from other places, local men and women have been doing their Christmas buying much earlier this year, as a means of meeting the deadline for mailing packages.

Stores report that purchases of gift items have been steady for days.

Parcels must not exceed five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined. Only one package a week may be mailed to any one man in the armed forces. Parcels should be marked "Christmas package," and should be so wrapped and tied as to be easily opened by the censors.

Bryansk Captured

Military Forts Saved

"Not only did the Russians not succeed in encircling the German forces in this area but they neither succeeded in injuring the Germans to a considerable degree nor in laying a hand on the military establishment of the city which fell into German hands together with all their vast stores," it added.

The Russian communique announced last night that Red Army forces had nearly completed the entrapment of the German garrison and had already captured railway stations on the outskirts of the town.

Other Russian forces were storming ahead toward Kiev and the Dnieper river on sectors of the front which extended southward from Bryansk to the Sea of Azov and the gateway to the Crimea, the Moscow war bulletin disclosed.

DENMARK'S BEST SELLER

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 14 (AP) — Wendell Willkie's "One World" has been translated into Danish and is being distributed by the free Danish underground for 10 kroner ($2.70 at pre-war exchange rates) a copy. It is currently Denmark's best seller, refugees reaching Sweden reported today.

Congress Opens

answer to administration proposals to delay action pending a further statement from General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet.

"The Canadians are already disbanding some of their combat troops for civilian purposes," Wheeler said.

(This referred to an announcement at Ottawa last night by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston that that dominion planned to reduce home defense operational military forces by about 20,000 men through disbandment of the 7th and 8th divisions and partial disbandment of the 6th division.)

Shortages Cited

"Instead of taking more men at this time and upsetting our own civilian economy, we ought to be using a lot of our own soldiers in this country in civilian pursuits when there is such a shortage of manpower," Wheeler said.

The Montanan, told that Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) thought two or three days might suffice for additional hearings on his bill, asserted he saw no reason "why we can't have a vote this week."

He suggested hearings could be held while debate proceeded in the Senate.

Calling for a statement of manpower needs by the chiefs of the Army and Navy, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) made known a desire for few days delay in consideration of the Wheeler bill which would postpone the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers until after Jan. 1.

Significantly perhaps, Barkley told reporters he believed the country is confused by the uncertainty that has marked attempts to meet the manpower issue — that the people are worried because they don't know what to expect and because no individual knows just where he stands.

To clarify this situation, Barkley proposed that Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet, be summoned before the military affairs committee, while the Wheeler bill is held on the Senate calendar for action next week. This, he indicated, would enable Congress to obtain an authoritative statement of the armed forces' needs before it is called upon to act.

While there was some possibility that Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) might accede to this delay, Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee was ready to shove the issue to the forefront there with a proposal to ban permanently the drafting of fathers and possibly to fix a limit on the Army's size.

Tech Registration Is Continuing Today

Approximately 760 students had begun preliminary registration procedure at noon today at Texas Technological college, Registrar W. P. Clement announced.

Preliminary registration will continue this afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday will be official registration days. Registration quarters will be open in the library building from 8 to 12 o'clock and 1:30 to 5 o'clock each day.

Students who have completed pre-registration steps will go to the library building to schedule classes and others will report first to the registrar's office.

LIGHT SELLING IN MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP) — Stocks turned moderately lower today under the lightest kind of selling, blamed mainly on the cloudy battle situation in Italy.

Brokers also suggested the big government bond campaign might have diverted some cash that would have gone into corporate securities or caused the liquidation of scattered equities for the purpose of obtaining funds with which to purchase the federal issue. In addition, reassembling of Congress and the important question of taxes served to promote speculative and investment conservatism. Recent peace favorites took a rest and the armament groups remained dormant.

There were scattered strong spots at the start although trends were indefinite. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near the close.

American Locomotive preferred (new) breasted the current for a gain of more than 2 points at a 1943 top. Doing fairly well were Bethlehem, Chesapeake & Ohio, Allied Mills, Goodrich, American Can, J. C. Penney and American Smelting. Laggards included Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Dupont, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Oil (NJ), Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and U. S. Rubber.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP) — Good cash demand led to a firm undertone in grain futures today, but profit-taking and other scattered selling cut down the best advances. There was some reluctance to trade because of opening of Congress today and because war news from Italy was not considered favorable by traders.

Nearby deliveries were strongest, and oats featured the market as September and December deliveries again advanced to new 23-year highs at times at 76¾ and 73¾, respectively. In the cash market, No. 2 white oats sold at 81¾ cents, also the highest price in 23 years and about 5 cents over the September delivery.

Futures closed at or near the day's lowest levels, with wheat ¾ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.47¾, December $1.47¾-1.48, oats ¾ off to ¼ up, September 76¾, and rye unchanged to 1¼ cents lower, September $1.03½.

Bankers Should Avoid Postwar 'Emergency'

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—W. L. Hemingway, president of the American Bankers association, said today he hoped American bankers, prepared to finance the war for any length of time, would declare their unwillingness to "accept responsibility if a third emergency is declared after the war and another government program of spending is undertaken."

Hemingway, addressing a wartime meeting of the American Bankers association, said in his prepared speech ". . . we cannot expect to weather another emergency if we follow the same course of excessive spending and taxing (which we have followed in the past)."

U.S. Submarine Reported Lost

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP) — Loss of the submarine Grenadier and two submarine chasers was reported by the Navy today.

The Grenadier, reported overdue and presumed lost, apparently was one of the American submarines which have been inflicting heavy damage on Japanese supply lines through the Pacific.

The navy gave no indication of where the submarine made its last patrol.

The subchasers 694 and 696 went down in the Mediterranean area as a result of enemy bombing. The attack, the Navy said, was made on August 23, but no additional details were disclosed.

Built at Portsmouth, N. H., the two-year-old Grenadier carried a crew of approximately 65 men. She was the 12th submarine lost since the war started. The most recent was the Pickerel, reported overdue and presumed lost on August 15.

Levelland Grand Jury Is Ready To Report

Special Judge J. E. Vickers of 72nd district court left Lubbbock at 1 o'clock this afternoon for Levelland, after District Attorney Burton S. Burks had telephoned that a grand jury there was ready to present bills of indictment.

Burks did not indicate how many bills had been voted. Approximately eight burglary, two chicken theft and one assault with intent to murder complaints were ready for the jury when Judge Vickers impaneled it Monday. E. M. Barnes was apointed foreman.

No trial week for criminal cases had been announced. At least one other indictment was ready for trial, in a forgery case where an arrest recently was made, court officials said.

Judge Vickers indicated he would attempt to return by approximately 3 o'clock, at which time six talesmen were to report to him for completion of a jury for the Steve Griggs against Standard Accident Insurance Co. case, suit to set aside award. Ten jurors had been accepted by 1 o'clock, at which time the panel was exhausted, court officials said.

The remainder of the civil jury panel has been ordered to report Thursday.

the U. S. Pacific northwest, and the Australian 17th brigade carried the brunt of the Salamaua fighting from the landing at Nassau bay on June 30 in its first phase.

Allied troops at Lae so far have met only slight opposition. Flying Fortresses, Liberators and attack planes hit the area Sunday with 49 tons of explosive bombs, silencing three enemy gun posts around the Lae airdrome and damaging other defensive strong points at plantation clearings.

Mitchells swept the coast of Huon peninsula above the fighting area and Allied planes elsewhere north of New Guinea sank six small enemy vessels in the steady blows at enemy supply lines.

Liberators flew 2600 miles to attack MaCassar in the Celebes with 27 tons of bombs, causing heavy damage in oil storage facilities. One bomber was lost.

Ten enemy planes attacked the harbor at Allied-held Morobe, New Guinea twice but caused only slight damage and lost two divebombers to ground fire.

Taxicabs Figure In Two Accidents Here

All cars reported in two wrecks this morning were taxicabs, police reports said.

Investigators filed statements and drawings showing that a City cab driven by Bill Goins, 21, of 1814 Avenue J and a Yellow cab driven by James Moncrief, 22, of 1501 Twenty-second street were in collision at 4:40 o'clock at entrance to an alley in 1200-block Broadway.

Another wreck report said Weldon Webb, 19, of 1215 Ninth street was driver of a Yellow cab that struck a lamp and phone post on Avenue H at Main and badly damaged the car. Time was 4:10 o'clock.

Police listed no injuries.

Star Spangled Banner Day Being Observed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14. (AP) — Opening the nation-wide observance of Star Spangled Banner day, Radio Singer Lucy Monroe sang the national anthem at dawn today from Fort McHenry, where flew the flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to write his song.

Miss Monroe was accompanied, at her own request, by the provisional military police band of the Maryland State guard.

Fort McHenry, a national shrine, is now a Coast Guard training station. Today commemorates the 129th anniversary of the anthem.

Allies Rushing Aid To Salerno

on details of the situation at Salerno.

The Eighth army advanced approximately 10 miles up the west coast of Italy to reach Cosenza, 90 miles from Reggio di Calabria and at about the center of the arch of the Italian foot. From there the British were 130 air miles from the Fifth army in the Salerno sector.

On the heel of the boot other British forces were expanding their holdings out of Taranto and Brindisi.

One column was at Bari 65 miles north of Brindisi on the Adriatic, and another, cutting diagonally across the heel from Taranto, was at Gioja, about midway between the naval base and Bari.

Fighting Desperately

The American and British troops composing Clark's army who were landed on the coastal plain south of Salerno were fighting their way desperately toward the mountains from which the Germans were pouring down a murderous fire on the invasion beaches.

The Nazis were launching counter-attack after counter-attack seeking to dislodge the Allied infantry and tank units.

The reconstituted Hermann Goering division, the same one which gave the Americans and British so much trouble in northern Tunisia near Medjez el Bab and in Sicily and the 15th and 16th armored divisions, among the best the Germans have, were contesting the American advance.

Italian Unrest

be taking fierce reprisals for any anti-Fascist activities which had occurred since Mussolini was dismissed by King Vittorio Emanuele.

German radio broadcasts concurred in the report that Mussolini had been "liberated" by the Nazis, but they were in striking variance as to his present whereabouts. He was most commonly reported to be in Cremona with Roberta Farinacci, former secretary of the Fascist party, and Marshal Erwin Rommel. Nazi propagandists, meanwhile, added fantastic details to their stories of Mussolini's detention and rescue. One German broadcast said that since Mussolini's arrest July 25 he had been moved about from island to island, "always in the most shameful manner," by the Badoglio government. Then a later broadcast said he had been held under close arrest on various warships, with his guard ordered to kill him should he try to escape.

A Daily Mail editorial called for a rigorous inquiry by Allied military leaders into the circumstances of Mussolini's escape and said that the fact he is no longer a prisoner "is a first-class example of Italian futility."

Black Markets Investigated

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (AP) — A meeting of the state Senate's general investigating committee has been tentatively scheduled here next Monday to inquire into reports of black market operations in Texas in protein feeds, Chairman Houghton Brownlee of Austin announced today.

Brownlee said the committee might also consider an investigation into the reported shortage of crude oil supplies, as pertaining to Texas.

Instances have come to the attention of the committee, Brownlee asserted, where prices as much as $15 above Office of Price administration ceilings have been paid per ton for protein feeds.

"If this black market continues," Brownlee declared, "lots of ranchers and dairymen who can't afford to pay such prices will have to go out of business."

The black market operations in livestock feed, he added, are becoming widespread in Texas.

The committee plans to develop facts in connection with the practice, and submit them to the OPA for possible action, the chairman disclosed.

Any prospective investigation of the oil situation, Brownlee said, would depend on the wishes of the committee as a whole.

"The public is entitled to know the truth, however," he declared. "With a dozen or more conflicting opinions being expressed on the subject the people are bound to be confused."

More Tires Sought

serving this area are being sought.

Congressman Mahon and Food Administrator Jones were asked to confer with the Rubber authority and other Washington agencies in seeking relief.

The appeal was sent to the food administrator along with that to the congressman representing this district not only because of Jones' position in the food agency, but because of his knowledge of conditions in this area due to his representation of northwest Texas in Congress.

The September quotas show a definite shortage, as compared to need, in both grade 1, new tires, and grade 3, used or recapped, which may be granted.

Although the district OPA office is concentrating its efforts largely in securing quota increases, it also is cooperating in efforts to obtain greater supplies of used tires released by the Army, district officials said this morning. The district office has cited conditions in this area to rubber company offces in Dallas and Oklahoma City.

"With the harvest season here, we are well aware of the critical need of Lubbock and other South Plains counties for tires," Gholson said. "We want to assure residents of these counties that we are doing everything possible to help relieve the tire shortage."

Tire quotas for the 71-county district, as announced several days ago, are: Passenger tires, 15,714; truck tires, 5,721; passenger car tubes, 6,972; truck tubes, 6,296.

Revenue Office Here Has Breathing Spell

Traffic which has for days been funneling itself through the narrow corridors of the Lubbock National bulding into the internal revenue bureau office here, had eased off considerably today, one day before the Sept. 15 deadline on filing by thousands of wage earners and others their declarations of estimated income for 1943.

L. B. Barkley, chief in charge of the 10-man office, said many of the callers are paying off. He had one $60,000 check this morning, representing the income tax on what one local business man said he thought would be for his 1943 income. Many thousands of others, satisfied they will not have to make declarations because of limited incomes, made one call, learned their status, and left, satisfied.

Hull's Thesis Aimed At Axis Warlords

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini, General Tojo — meet Mr. Cordell Hull.

Our secretary of state has ideas which are intimately associated with your common welfare. He states that one of this country's war aims is to achieve an iron-clad peace for the world, backed by nations ready to use force to maintain it. He says "if there is anything on which all right-thinking people are agreed, it is that the monstrous specter of a world war shall not again show its head."

Now you three war-lords, as instigators of the present global blood-bath, should be deeply interested in Mr. Hull's declaration. He didn't say so specifically, but his thesis certainly seems to contemplate putting all of you out of circulation, because there can be no possible assurance of peace so long as you remain at large (or do you remain at large, Signor Mussolini?).

Hold Life Cheaply

As a matter of fact, putting you out of circulation doesn't necessarily mean taking your lives, though I'm sure that you who hold life so cheaply wouldn't mind facing a firing squad or yet the hangman.

However, it strikes me that the LEAST it can mean is depriving you of your liberty so long as you live. Maybe hanging is too good for you and that, as one of my colleagues remarks, you should be locked up and forced to listen continuously to phonographic records of your bombastic speeches. Anyway, your fate is something the Allies must decide, and the quicker they do it — and implement it — the better.

You'll remember, fuehrer, how the Allies in the last war shouted themselves hoarse over hanging your predecessor in crime, the kaiser. Then everybody got cold feet. The kaiser lived long and well, until old age led him to his reward.

Different Atmosphere

There's a far different atmosphere this time, though, because we know it's no good beating armies if we don't also eliminate the instigators of the aggression. The Axis armies are merely tools which are used by the war-lords, who reproduce their kind, generation after generation.

To ensure peace we Allies must get at the roots of the evil. In the case of Germany, Herr Hitler, we must eliminate from society in one way or another not only your wicked self but all your captains — like Goering, Himmler and Goebbels.

But we shall have to dig much deeper than that, because the real and perpetual mainspring of German aggression is Prussian militarism. We must eliminate the Prussian war lords as well — and they won't be hard to name.

Similar Situation In Japan

There's a very similar situation in Japan, General Tojo. There militarism rules. You and the other militarists are guilty of multiple aggression and untold atrocities. We're going to get you, Tojo, and your co-murderers.

As for Italy, Signor Soft Underbelly, we want you and a few other cowardly gangsters like your son-in-law Count Ciano. That's not asking much.

A most satisfactory solution of the problem (if any) growing out of your elimination from society would be to hold Allied courts martial as fast as you criminals are rounded up. We want no Roman holiday made of your trials —no theatricals, no fuss or feathers, no piddling about. We need dignified and speedy courts martial which will send you all to your just punishment — whatever that may be.

Pats on the contrary was quieter than usual. Only her new attitude of tenderness toward Bob betrayed her. Sue was gayest of them all. It was a brittle sort of gayety, if her laugh had a feverish note, no one seemed to realize it.

W. M. Adams Writes From Japanese Camp

Pfc. William M. Adams, member of an anti-aircraft unit captured at Corregidor, has been transferred from the Philippines to a Japanese prison camp near Mukden, Manchoukuo, according to a card received Monday from him by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Adams, 504 Hub Homes.

He reported that the weather in Manchoukuo had been extremely cold, but had begun improving at the time of writing the card, which was not dated. It may have been written last spring. The prevailing climate in Manchoukuo is extremely severe.

One of the surprises awaiting the imprisoned soldier is the information that his parents, who made their home in Smyer when he heard from them last, now are residents of Lubbock.

"BODIES" for BOMBERS

ON OCTOBER 25, 1940—more than a year before Pearl Harbor—U. S. Army Air Corps officials notified us of the urgent need for a vastly increased aircraft production program, and invited us to participate.

Already we were making Army trucks in great number, completing a huge tank arsenal, building field ranges and tent heaters, and making our first studies of anti-aircraft gun manufacture.

Here was another urgent job that had to be tackled at once.

Without waiting to learn what aircraft job would be assigned to us, we provided 600,000 sq. ft. of additional plant space and, from our own personnel, began to select engineering, metallurgical and manufacturing specialists for this new work.

It was just three months after our first meeting with Air Corps officials that we were officially notified our job was to build the complete nose and center fuselage sections for medium bombers including installation of complete mechanical and control systems.

We immediately sent forty of our technicians to a producing aircraft plant where these men did regular production work and observed, at first hand, the production methods then in use. Our long background in building automobiles and trucks, plus the experience these men gained working with an aircraft manufacturer, enabled us quickly to get under way with the necessary tools and equipment to turn out "bodies" for bombers by quantity production methods.

NOSES AND BODIES FOR BOMBERS (INSIDE AND OUT)

To help acquaint us in advance with the many kinds of material and operations involved, the Army Air Corps sent us a bomber nose section. Our engineers and master mechanics made intensive analyses of aircraft blueprints covering more than fourteen thousand structural parts.

The materials to be used included aluminum, steel, brass, bronze, plastics, plywood and fabrics.

OVER 14,000 PARTS TO BE FORGED, CAST, STAMPED, MACHINED AND PRECISION-FITTED

Many of the metal parts presented entirely new working characteristics. They required elaborate heat treating processes for the extreme stresses demanded of them. They also presented new problems in the design and use of the dies required to shape them.

Our production and purchasing specialists determined which parts we could subcontract to other companies. As the work progressed, orders were given to 2,255 subcontractors in 309 towns, in 29 states.

Aluminum forgings would be needed in large numbers by us and other manufacturers participating in the expanded aircraft production program. Therefore, we were given the job of building an aluminum forge plant to take care of these requirements. We also prepared at our foundry to produce aluminum castings required for plane manufacture.

Thousands of men and women had to be trained for this new type of work. Women were employed in large numbers and carefully taught drilling, riveting, machining and assembling of aircraft parts. Automobile sheet metal workers, body builders and trimmers were shown how to apply their skill and experience to the production of bomber parts.

The big nose of the bomber houses the Bombardier, Pilot, Co-Pilot, Navigator and Radio Operator. Nearly all the mechanical and electrical controls are here, while the center section is the bomb carrying space.

If you could look within these sections as the work of assembly goes on, you would see
