Although most of the attention usually goes to the candidates for public offices, general elections often include some proposals to amend the state constitution and this year there is a big crop of amendments on the Texas ballot, 14, in fact.

And, judging from the attention many of them are getting, there apparently is more interest than usual in the amendments up for consideration this time. Or, perhaps voters are having difficulty generating normal enthusiasm for some of the candidates this year and are turning more to the amendments.

We already have published a series of articles from the Associated Press about the amendments, but more information will be included before the Nov. 5 election date.

Two of the 14 are "local" in nature, but require state - wide approval. There's one that would affect only El Paso and Tarrant Counties, and another that would affect only the City of Texarkana. Yet, the one for El Paso and Tarrant Counties has attracted widespread attention because its approval might be the starting point for a trend.

The two counties are asking authority for the legislature to enact a statute which would enable El Paso and Tarrant Counties to consolidate some governmental offices. Implications are that a lot of city and county agencies and offices could be combined in the interest of economy and, perhaps, efficiency. What is described as vague wording of one paragraph might even be construed as not necessarily limiting the effects of the amendment to the two counties it names.

As usual, there are amendments which involve mostly money. One of these would provide for the gradual elimination of most of the state ad valorem tax. At present, the state collects tax at the rate of 47 cents per $100 valuation on real and personal property. All but a dime of this rate would be abolished by 1974.

For some time, there have been state officials and others who suggested that ad valorem taxes should be left for counties, cities and school districts, which have no other major source of income. There are others who agree that the counties, cities and schools need the additional tax potential, but at the same time call attention to the rising state budgets and wonder how the ad valorem tax would be made up and then some by the state.

There are some points of issue raised concerning some of the amendments. There are more amendments and more disagreements and there will be more published on them between now and the election date. —WACIL McNAIR.

JOHN G. MEZOFF
. . . AM's Marketing VP

Marketing VP Named By AM

TULSA, Okla. — The appointment of John G. Mezoff as Vice President of Marketing, American Magnesium Company, has been announced by Roger M. Wheeler, president of the company.

For the past several years, Mezoff served as manager of Dow Chemical Company's European metal business with headquarters in Switzerland. He is a 1942 Metallurgical Engineering graduate of Purdue University.

Mezoff first joined Dow in 1942 as a research metallurgist and foundry engineer. After World War II, he managed foundries in Bay City, Mich. and Chicago, Ill. Rejoining Dow in 1953, he served in various technical and marketing capacities and in 1961 was appointed manager of Dow's Metals Technical Service and Development Department.

In announcing the appointmet, Wheeler stated, "John Mezoff brings to our organization over 25 ears of experience in light metals. During this time he has concentrated on the practical utilization of magnesium alloys in structural applications. His appointment is indicative that American Magnesium intends to exert great efforts to expand the market for magnesium."

Professional societies of which Mezoff is a member include the American Society for Metals, American Foundrymen's Society, Society of Automotive Engineers and International Club of Magnesium.

He is married to the former Marian E. Marshall. Of their three children, John M. is enrolled at the University of Michigan Medical School, Carl is a junior at the University of Michigan and Mary Lou is a sophomore at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.

American Magnesium is a relative newcomer in the production of magnesium. It has a 30,000 ton - a - year magnesium plant currently under construction near Snyder, with completion scheduled for May, 1969. This plant will produce magnesium and chlorine from an underground salt brine pool near the Snyder area.

In addition to being president and major stockholder of American Magnesium, R. M. Wheeler is also chairman and chief executive officer of The Telex, Corp., a Tulsa based, electronics oriented company. He previously was president and principal stockholder of Standard Magnesium and Chemical Co., a firm which he founded and which merged with Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. in 1964, and is the immediate past president of the Magnesium Association, a post he held for two years.

Pullman Incorporated, internationally known for its pre - eminence in the field of engineering and construction and for its position of leadership in the manufacture of railroad rolling stock, highway trucktrailers and cargo containers, holds a one - third interest in American Magnesium Co.

Main offices of the company are located in Tulsa, Okla.

UF Needs A Big Push

The Scurry County United Fund Campaign surged forward at the end of the week, but will need an extra big push to reach its goal.

A tabulation of contributions and pledges Friday afternoon showed a total of $21,148.60. The campaign goal is $38,805.60 to support the operations of 10 participating agencies.

Workers in all divisions have been asked to make final reports Monday at the campaign headquarters in the city hall. Campaign leaders hope that the gap can be narrowed considerably as reports are made.

"Sleep-In" Staged In NY Classrooms

By MARK ANDREWS

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents and nonstriking teachers have broken into at least 25 of New York City's locked-up public schools, and some have vowed to "sleep in" until Monday morning and reopen the schools themselves.

As city and school officials continued attempts Friday to end the third teachers' strike of the school year in the 1.1-million-pupil systems, many parents and teachers took matters into their own hands.

They smashed windows and forced open the locks on school doors so that they could hold improvised classes inside.

Some were forced to leave because water and electricity had been shut off. Custodians and building mechanics, supporting the strike by the 50,000-member United Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO, refused to cross picket lines.

There were pushing and shoving, and shouting matches outside some schools as the disgrinted parents and teachers attempted to break in. Police said some arrests were made on trespassing and other charges.

However, persons sympathetic to the striking teachers complained that police made no attempt to prevent forced entry into some schools.

Hurricane Gladys Slashes N. Florida

By BEN FUNK

ST. PETTERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Wild Hurricane Gladys slashed across north Florida today, smashing house trailers, uprooting trees and blacking out power systems, then roared out over the Atlantic Ocean still mean and angry.

In her violent wake, at least three Floridians were dead and several injured, and survey teams went to work to assess the damage along miles of Gulf Coast beaches pounded through the night by towering storm tides.

Over land, the hurricane's maximum winds were knocked down from 100 to 65 miles an hour, but fuel from the warm waters of the Atlantic could quickly restore the diminished violence.

However, the U.S. mainland may not see Gladys again. Continued movement along a northeast track was forecast. This would keep her far enough off Georgia and the Carolinas to spare those states anything worse than rough seas.

And by Tuesday, the National Hurricane Center said, the storm should be several hundred miles east of Bermuda; assuring an untroubled landing for the Apollo 7 spaceship southwest of that British colony.

A motorist driving through the storm drowned when his car crashed into a flooded creek at Sarasota. Two others died of heart attacks in the excitement of a mass beach evacuation in Pasco County, just north of Tampa.

A blackout of communications all along the hurricane's trail prevented quick assessment of damages. Foodwaters blocked many roads into communities that took the full brunt of the storm.

Peak winds of 65 m.p.h. lashed St. Augustine as Gladys waned near the Atlantic Coast. Then the city went into the eye of the storm for nearly an hour of calm before winds in the back side struck.

Born in the Caribbean Tuesday, Gladys had killed at least one man and taken a toll of crops and property in Cuba. Then she howled up the Gulf of Mexico, raking the thickly populated Tampa Bay area before turning overland to the Atlantic.

Plate glass windows were shattered in every city and town visited by the hurricane. The winds peeled roofs like bananas.

Gladys took her second life when she veered suddenly from her northbound track and slammed ashore about midnight just north of the thickly-settled Tampa Bay area.

Several retirement communities, where many elderly residents chose to stand out the storm, were cut off today by waist deep floodwaters.

HOMECOMING ROYALTY — LaVerne Nix smiles as her escort, Jodi Williamson, leads her off the field after she was named Snyder High School Homecoming Queen of 1968 Friday night. Other queen candidates and there escorts were Paula Redwine and Larry Loftin, Gail Brown and Brad Maule, Debra Wellborn and Wesley Bishop, Michelle Black and Gary Shields, Kathy Wellborn and Dennis Breedlove. Winner of the queen's contest was announced by Supt. Bill J. Hood, who then presented flowers to Miss Nix. (Photo by Wolfe Studio).

No Breakthrough, Says Thieu

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

VUNG TAU, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today there has been "no breakthrough" in negotiations with Hanoi for a bombing halt of North Vietnam, and Washington sources backed him up.

Thieu qualified his announcement by saying there are "certain things" about which he is not informed by Washington. However, administration sources in the U.S. capital said they were unaware of any impending bombing halt and denied reports that North Vietnam has accepted mutual de-escalation terms.

Asked how long it would be before there was some news of the proposed bombing halt, Thieu said: "I would like to say like President Johnson, there is no breakthrough yet."

Asked if there were any basic differences between Saigon and Washington over the peace negoiations, Thieu replied "When President Johnson says the position of the United States government remains unchanged and when I say the position of the government of South Vietnam remains unchanged, I think we have concurred in that."

"If Hanoi would like to say it will de-escalate, they have to tell us when and how they will do this. We are waiting for Hanoi to show goodwill," added Thieu.

A rocket attack on this South Vietnamese seaside city nine hours before Thieu arrived for a meeting on pacification, killed five civilians and wounded 19. Thieu cited this as "a perfect example that Hanoi has not de-escalated."

After the news conference a spokesman for Thieu issued this statement:

"The U.S. government is an independent government and cannot be forced by us to keep us informed on everything. The U.S. government cannot force the Vietnamese government to keep the U.S. government informed on everything the Vietnames government does."

Thieu said: "I cannot tell you what happened between Washington and Hanoi. I do not know what happened between Washington and Hanoi."

Elaborting on the proposed bombing halt of the North, Thieu explained that South Vietnam's position "remains unchanged."

CC Voting Underway

Snyder Chamber of Commerce members are due to have their ballots in by Tuesday in the organization's annual election.

The membership of the chamber is selecting six board members in the election, which is conducted by mail. Cards containing the names of 12 candidates for board posts were mailed to members several days ago.

Members of the present board who retire at the end of the year are John Thomas, Charley Blakey, Ernest Sears, Rex Robinson, Bill Dryden and Hugh Boren Jr.

Concert Assn. Memberships Available

The Scurry Concert Association will launch its 1968-69 series next Sunday, Oct. 27, and during the coming week there will be a brief membership enrollment period for persons who wish to join the organization, William A. Vestal, president, has announced.

Edmond Karlsrud and his Men Of Song will be the first attraction in the series. They will appear on the Snyder High School stage at 3 p.m. Oct. 27.

Other events in the series include Oukhtomsky Ballet Classique, Tuesday, Jan. 21; Don Crabtree, Tuesday, Feb. 18; and Markowski and Cedrone, Monday, March 17.

The brief fall membership enrollment period is held each year just prior to the first performance for the benefit of persons who have moved here during the summer. However, other residents may join during the fall period. Memberships may be obtained by contacting the secretary, Mrs. John Fagin, or they may be obtained at the door just prior to the opening performance.

An adult season membership costs $9, while the price of a family membership is $23 and a student membership $5.

Rites Set Sunday For Paul Rollins

Funeral for Army Warrant Officer Paul Rollins, who was killed Sept. 29 in Vietnam, will be held at 3 p.m. today (Sunday) at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Mosley, pastor of the Union Baptist Church, officiating. Assisting will be the Rev. Jerry Speer of Ranger and Rev. Glenn Thomas. Military graveside rites will be held in Hillside Memorial Garden with arrangements under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

The body was to be returned to Lubbock at 3:25 p.m. Saturday, accompanied by 1st Lt. Riley Booth, who is a cousin. He also was a helicopter pilot and was stationed in Vietnam near where the Snyder man was killed.

According to an announcement by the U. S. Army, Mr. Rollins, died when his aircraft was shot down by hostile fire. At first, he had been listed as missing and his death was not confirmed until Oct. 3. His wife, the former Joan McKinley of Snyder, was notified on Oct. 1 that her husband was missing and later was told of his death.

Mr. Rollins was a 1966 graduate of Snyder High School. Born July 27, 1948, he was a member of Union Baptist Church. He attended Howard County Junior College prior to entry in the Army in February of 1967. He went through primary helicopter training at Ft. Wolters, then attended advanced flying school at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

He was married in August of 1966.

Surviving are the wife, Joan, of Snyder; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elza (Tug) Rollins of Route 1, Snyder; a brother, Mark Rollins, also of Route 1, Snyder; and, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura Rollins of Snyder.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Some weeks ago my neighbor boy brought me a pathetic looking kitten and begged me to take it as his mother wouldn't let him keep it. He said it had been crying at their back door for several days. Being an animal lover, I took the kitten, even tho we already had a dog and cat.

The kitten looked so sickly, I took it to the veterinarian who discovered it had worms and distemper. But he got it back to good health, instructing us to feed it a special diet in order to build it up, which we did.

Yesterday I saw an ad in the paper for a "lost kitten." I think it's this one. Both my husband and I are crazy about this cat now. If we hadn't paid to nurse it back to health, it surely would have died. We have given it a good, affectionate home. We have no children. In the ad there is no reward offered. Under these circumstances, is it our place to phone these peope who advertised for the lost cat?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: You have built a good case for keeping the cat, but it's not good enough. Yes, you must telephone the people who advertised for the lost cat. They may reward you for your kindness by letting you keep it, but if they want their cat back, be prepared to hand it over.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old boy with an 8-year-old brother, named Burton, who is a fink.

Burton wore my Boy Scout hat and took my brand new bugle outside and blew it all day Saturday while I was at the dentist's.

When I found out about it I gave him a little tap on the arm. He fell against the fence and got a little tiny cut on his head and maybe two drops of blood came out.

Burton ran in the house screaming and told our mother, and now I am grounded for a whole week.

She didn't say one word to Burton about wearing my hat and blowing my bugle. Was this fair? How can I make my mother realize that when something happens it is not always my fault because I am older and should know better? (HER words) Thank you.

THE OLDER ONE

DEAR OLDER: Tell your mother what you have told me, (or show her this item) and ask for her comment. Meanwhile, as a Boy Scout you are pledged to be "Kind, truthful, and obedient." If you are, you'll win in the end, and the "fink" may follow your example and become a Boy Scout, too.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I think my wife is an exhibitionist. She walks in front of the windows with the shades up and nothing on. When she dresses, she never closes her bedroom door, and we have kids all the way from 10 to 19 of both sexes who always have friends over. She has even gone down the hall and from one room to another in various stages of undress (and NO dress) when we've had houseguests. If I tell her to put something on she says, "I don't have anything to hide." What is wrong with her?

HER HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Some people have a neurotic need to "hide" what they have. Others have a neurotic need to "show" it. Your wife could belong to the latter group.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently hired a very cute young secretary. Lately, he has been rushing thru dinner so he can shower, shave (AGAIN), pick up his scretary and go back to the office to "catch up." Should I be jealous?

THE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Not unless you know what he goes back to "catch up" on.

TESCO To Honor Its 25-Year Men

Employes of Texas Electric Service Company from Snyder will meet with other employees of the Sweetwater division area at 7 p.m., Monday at the Civic House in Colorado City.

The meeting will be held to honor members of the company's Quarter Century Club. More than 350 employees and guests from Snyder, Sweetwater and Colorado City are expected to attend.

One new member will be welcomed into the Quarter Century Club at the meeting. S. R. Wilkinson, operator at the Morgan Creek plant near Colorado City, completed 25 years with the company last summer to qualify for membership. He will be presented a club award watch at the meeting by company President Burl B. Hulsey Jr. Hulsey also will address the group of employees and their wives or husbands.

J. E. Blakey and L. H. Hardy of Snyder also are members of the Quarter Century Club.

Officers Elected By Industrial Arts Club

Election of officers has been announced by the Snyder High School Industrial Arts Club, Chapter I.

They include Coy Rhodes, president; Bill Jackson, vice president; Chere Reneau, secretary; Donald Knipe, treasurer, and Carolyn Tyree, reporter. The faculty sponsor is Ronald Fox.

Bobby Raborn, state Industrial Arts Secretary, attended a meeting in Austin.

Club projects this year include operating concession stands at football games, selling candy Nov. 1 and sponsoring a bus to the Snyder-Littlefield football game.

T. O. Hardin Rites Pending

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The Texan who flew the first air mail route to the southwest, retired Army Maj. Gen. Thomas O. Hardin died of a heart ailment in an Arlington hospital Friday.

Hardin commanded India-Burma-China supply operations in World War II. He was 74.

Hardin, a native of Texas, began flying at the age of 18 and was a pilot for the Army Signal Corps in World War I.

In 1927, he formed the Texas Air Transport Company to fly the first air mail contract route in the Southwest.

In 1930 he became general manager of American Airways, the predecessor of American Airlines, and he was senior pilot until 1938 when he resigned to accept appointment to the Air Safety Board in Washington.

During World War II, Hardin flew many missions over the "Hump" in the old CaBaI theater as commander of the Eastern sector of the Army Transport Command. He distinguished himself as a military officer and was awarded the Flying Cross among other citations.

Survivors include his widow, Daisy. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Firemen Are Called Out Three Times

City Firemen extinguished three fires Friday, including two grass fires that occurred on right-of-way of the Roscue, Snyder and Pacific Railway Co. on the Sweetwater Highway about 7 to 8 miles east of own.

The first call to the grass fire was at 2 p.m. and the second one came in at 9 p.m. The other alarm was to the Ruby Sutton residence, 1905 Thirty-first Street, at 5:15 p.m. There was a defective burner on a cook stove.

Co-op Slates Annual Meet

ROSCOE — Annual membership meeting of the Western Grain and Milling Cooperative has been set for Monday night, the board of directors has announced. The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Roscoe High School Auditorium.

Reports to the membership will be made by the cooperative president, R. H. Whorton, and the general manager, Bill Clark. There also will be reports by division managers and the annual audit report will be give by Billy Morton of Berry-Morton Co. of Lubbock.

Three directors and three alternate directors will be elected. All members, associated members, preferred stockholders, along with interested public are urged to attend.

Clark reported that the co-op's mill is not quite ready for operation, but an "open house" event will be held in the near future.

Gigantic Condor Holding Its Own

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Californias soaring condor, largest land bird in North America, is holding its own in a battle for survival. The state Fish and Game Department said Friday its two-day survey this week showed 52 condors, compared to 46 last year, 51 in 1966 and 38 in 1965.

The department described the survey by 150 observers as a "minimum head count" since some of the birds, which have a nine foot or more wing spread, may not have left their nests during the survey.

Thousands of the vultures used to live in California, feeding off game and livestock. The birds now are protected by state and federal regulations.

Scorpios Preparing For Wedding

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ANDRAVIDHA, Greece (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis swam and lazed in the sun today on the plush island of Scorpios, and all signs pointed to a Sunday wedding.

Metropolitan Bishop Nicodemos of the Greek Orthodox Diocese traveled from Athens to his official seat at Levkas. Sources said he was preparing to officiate at the ceremony.

There were unconfirmed reports that Onassis' retainers were sprucing up a tiny chapel named Panayitas—"The Little Virgin."

A flotilla of speedboats manned by Onassis' private police made sure no unauthorized guests broke into the couple's prenuptial privacy, but occupants of a fishing boat reported that the couple sunbathed, had a swim and went for a motor boat ride.

The fishermen reported that Mrs. Kennedy's children, 10-year-old Caroline and 7-year-old John Jr., played in a minijeep supervised by household help.

Sources said Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Leg Radziwill, made arrangement to fly to Athens to meet her husband, Prince Stanislaus, arriving from London today.

Although Onassis, 62, has not confirmed it, a woman spokesman for the magnate said the wedding to the 39-year-old widow of President John F. Kennedy would be Sunday.

Big Drop In Wildcatting

AUSTIN (AP) — Gas wells drew a big zero during the past week in Texas, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday. There weren't any gas wildcat wells drilled nor any gas well completions.

The commission also said there was only one wildcat oil well drilled, in the Corpus Christi district. That raised the total for the year to 211, or 170 fewer than a year ago.

Wildcat gas wells total 350, or 91 fewer than a year ago.

The total of oil well completions for the week was 72, raising the yearly total to 4,010, or 1,078 fewer than a year ago. Gas well completions total 1,775, or 231 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 88 wells were plugged during the past week, including 39 dry holes.

Organizational Meeting Held

A successful organizational meeting of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Women's Committee was held Thursday evening at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Mrs. Claudine Wooldridge, assistant vice president of First National Bank and chairman of the Women's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Abilene, guest speaker, explained how a women's committee could better our community through the Chamber of Commerce and it's program, structure and policies. She stressed the necessity of courtesy, the value of tourism and industry in increasing the economy in our locality.

Other Abilene guests were Mr. Ralph Duncan and Mrs. Duane Bunch of the West Texas Chamber staff.

Mrs. Birdie Barron was asked by the Snyder chamber to act as temporary chairman and arranged and conducted the meeting.

A luncheon will be held in the near future to discuss future plans and projects.

All ladies of the community are cordially invited to attend and help make the organization a committee that we can be proud of.

Some of the persons attending the meeting are pictured on this page.

Recently Married Couple Live In Denver City

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Galvean have returned from their honeymoon and are now at home at 112 West 12th Street in Denver City.

The couple were married September 6th, at 7 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gayle, an aunt and uncle of the bride. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Causey of Denver City and Mr. and Mrs J. E. Galvean of Snyder.

Double ring vows were pledged under an archway of greenery and wedding bells, with the Reverend John Ferguson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white crepe with a white lace coat that buttoned to the waist. Her veil was scattered with matching lace appliques, and she carried a bouquet, centered with a white orchid and surrounded by cascading white feathered carnations, atop a white Bible.

For something old the bride wore a gold wedding band worn by her maternal great-great-grandmother. Something new was a pair of pearl earrings, gift from the bridegroom, and something borrowed was a white linen handkerchief belonging to the groom's mother. A blue garter completed the old wedding tradition.

Miss Kimberly Ann Hailey of Eastland, former roommate of the bride at Texas Tech, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of pink silk shantung and her flowers were a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Denman Pate served the groom as best man, and James Causey, brother of the bride, seated guests and lighted candles.

Mrs. Joe Killian, musician, played traditional wedding music, and soloist, Mrs. Bill Amburgey, sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Guests were registered by Miss Linda Hurt, and Mrs. Denman Pate and Holly Gayle, cousin of the bride, presided at the reception table.

The bride's chosen colors of pink and white were used on the reception table. Pink candles with pink and white carnations centered the table, and the wedding confection was white. The cake was served with pink punch.

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Galvean, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright, and Mrs. Clarence Wade, all of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. O'Keeffee, grandparents of the bride, Eastland; Mrs. Melvin Gentry and Michael, Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Clark, Toni, Rhonda, and Chet, Seminole; Miss Donna Lay, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Devitt and Scott, and Miss Gwen Flache, Brownfield.

Mrs. Ezell Has Interesting Program For Altrurians

The Altrurian Club met Oct. 11 at Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Dewey Odom as hostess.

Following the business session, conducted by Mrs. Roland Irving, president, the club enjoyed a program on our political responsibilities without partisanship or controversy, the qualifications of the leading presidential and vice presidential candidates was presented by Mrs. Irving.

Mrs. J. C. Ezell gave a review of the book "The Degeneration of Our Presidential Elections," by Jules Abels. She said in part:

"Jules Abels is a Washington D.C. economist and writer, author of the popular and enthusiastically reviewed books "The Rockefeller Billions" and "Out of the Jaws of Victory." The book on the degeneration of our presidential elections is an acid and often hilarious history and analysis of the festival of sound and fury during which the American people nominate and elect a president. Jules Abels' review of the institution is both fascinating and funny — highlighting the nonsense, the niagara of oratory, the bedlam of namecalling, the blunders and the outright lies that over the years have muddied the path to presidential glory.

"Out of party conventions emerge the chosen candidates claimed to be paragons of every virture that Amercans can claim for Americans — on the other hand the opposite party attacks and reviles them for having committed every crime in the decalogus and beyond. Actually there may not be any real difference in the beliefs of the candidates, and if there is they may not be able to put them into effect because Congress may block their efforts.

"This zaniness has been the American way from 'the log cabin and hard cider' campaign of 1840 through the years to the present time.

"Now there is widespread support for radical change in all the proceedings — if things really have gone askew, the next step would be a public demand that political conventions, and the electoral college be replaced by more democratic methods."

The president, Mrs. Irving, reminded the club of the District Workshop on Oct. 19. A dessert plate was served by the hostess.

Tips To Choose Toys

While busy mothers are getting older children off to school this fall, they should also make sure their younger stay at home have a chance for fun and new experiences, too. This is an ideal time to select new playtools for preschoolers whose playtime is important learning time, too.

Preschoolers' toys should be selected with special care for they are as important to the pre - kindergarten set as textbooks are to the older children. Good toys are playtools geared to the child and his age, interests and stage of development.

Here are the important things to look for in choosing toys for the preschooler:

1. Safety — All edges and surfaces should be finished well. Paints should be non-toxic.

2. Durability — Toys should be sturdy and well - constructed, made of durable materials.

3. Construction and Design — Toys should "work," so they are challenging, but not frustrating.

4. Size — The toys and their parts should be large enough for small hands to work them yet they must be portable so he can carry them about.

5. Play Values — Toys should stimulate the child's imagination. They should offer multiple play values and learning experiences.

6. Variety — The child's playtools should encourage full development of all his senses. He should be able to exercise his skills, muscles, emotions and imagination.

Deviled Ham Fills Pancake

Filled and rolled pancakes that come to lunch or supper are appetizing treats when they are filled with a creamy meat mixture.

Make your own from a recipe or use a packaged mix for a thin pancake, four to five inches in diameter. Spread with this deviled ham treat, roll and serve, says Reba Staggs, meat expert for the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Deviled Ham Filling

1 can (2¼ ounces) deviled ham
2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon chopped parsley

Combine the deviled ham, sour cream and parsley. Spread on hot pancakes, roll and serve.

Tuna Chef's Salad

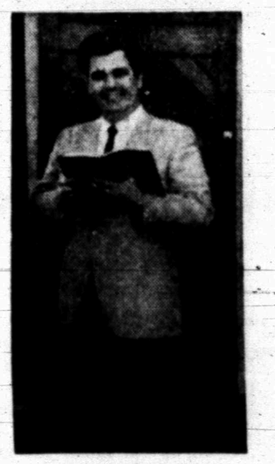

6 cups bite-sized salad greens
3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, drained
1 large tomato, cut into wedges
½ cucumber, peeled and sliced
½ cup sliced radishes
¼ pound Swiss cheese, cut in thin strips

Dressing

Put greens into salad bowl. Pile tuna in center and surround with remaining ingredients. Add dressing and toss. Makes 6 hearty servings.

Dressing: Beat or shake together ¼ cup salad oil; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; ¼ teaspoon each salt, dry mustard and paprika; 1 teaspoon minced onion.

JUST WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS HURTING ?

souring air and a host of other problems they can't cope with keep many cities tottering near the breakdown point, powerless to help themselves, he said in an interview.

With Congress turning the screw for lower expenditures on on side and other critics charging existing governmental services are being emasculated, there is little administration demand for ambitious new domestic programs.

Freeman argues that big money isn't essential.

Many industrialists, he said, would respond just as readily to a government appeal to their patriotism as they would to special tax breaks and other pocketbook approaches.

Some business leaders say privately they would put more plants in rural areas, even with the knowledge that these might be less profitable than ones in city and suburban areas, if they could just turn to their stockholders and say it's the patriotic thing to do.

Major companies are more concerned than ever, they say, with image-building.

David Scribner, a New York City industrial real estate consultant, feels that so long as locations are picked objectively it will be hard to talk manufacturers out of building in metropolitan regions.

They have to go where the transportation, water, schools, recreational-cultural offerings —what might be called the "excitement" factors—and labor pool are all, or nearly all, available in one place, he said in an interview.

"These lines converge in the cities," Scribner said. "They don't crisscross out in the middle of nowhere."

While an established industry can be transplanted to a rural area, many economists feel the spawning of brand new ones will always be monopolized by the city. Only the city, they argue, has the necessary blend of talents, services, brainpower and facilities.

WHILE URBAN AREAS GROW

Small Towns Decline, Fall

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's small cities and towns must wonder sometimes about all that prosperity the United States is supposed to be enjoying.

Many are dying, fatally wounded by snowballing urbanization, the malady that makes the biggest cities bigger—often against their will—while sapping the small places of their population.

If the cities were growing healthy and strong on migration and giving all comers a better life, the nation would probably heave a nostalgic sigh for the withering of rural America but write if off as inevitable.

But it doesn't work that way.

An invisible tipping point seems to have been passed by many cities. Continued growth is pulling some down, not up.

Between now and the end of the century, census forecasters say, the U.S. population—already 70 per cent urban — will rise by 100 million, with 80 million of that increase registered in urban areas.

And while "megalopolis" gags on the force-feeding of population, many rural areas can't hold onto what they have.

For the recent small town high school graduate or the dispirited farmer admitting at last that a machine is more than his equal in the fields, the problem is the same: the jobs are in the metropolitan areas.

And so they go.

Still, some places fight back. Bankers and farmers are retired judges and storekeepers get together, proclaim themselves an "industrial development commission," and go industry-hunting.

They are often rebuffed. What industry wants is, many times, more than the small town has to offer.

And even if the town does measure up the prospects may hang back — especially if the factory will be the community's first.

It's unfamiliar work for many grassroots leaders. And though there's help in Washington—planning assistance, sewer grants, loans—the red tape can be formidable.

They're often stumped by what Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., calls "the where-do-we-get-the-money problem."

"I think I am as astute about getting money as anybody else around here," Dingell said at a House hearing on problems of small towns, "but the truth is we have so many places to go that it is really hurting the programs."

An even more basic problem is how, in a society that prides itself on upward mobility, migration can be steered into healthier channels without pushing people around or foreclosing the individual's right to seek greener pastures.

"It just seems to me to be illogical to have a national policy that consciously or unconsciously draws more people into these cities," said Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., a member of the Kerner Commission.

Harris and Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., have submitted a bill that would use tax incentives to attract industries to depressed nonmetropolitan counties, those lacking a city of 50,000. It also proposes spending $20 million on job training in rural areas.

In the executive branch of the government the coaxing of industry to small towns and cities is carried on almost exclusively by the Department of Agriculture. One of Secretary Orville L. Freeman's priority projects, it typifies his efforts to identify Agriculture in the public mind as a "rural affairs" department rather than one concerned only with farm problems.

Freeman, who has daily commuted to work through some of Washington's most punishing traffic, feels it's madness on a national scale to allow super-urbanization to continue on a rudderless course.

Thief Chose Wrong Little Old Lady

LONDON (AP) — John Whitney, out to snatch a handbag on a dark London street, chose the wrong little old lady.

"I'm a real hellcat," said 71-year-old Miss Helen Cathcart.

Whitney, 48, grabbed her handbag, which contained the equivalent of 84 cents and a pension book, and ran.

"I chased him and tried to hook his legs with my walking stick, like Charlie Chaplin used to do in the old films," Miss Cathcart said.

"He wasn't in good training and I'm afraid I laid about him with my walking stick. I'm sorry to say I broke his spectacles. I feel rather ashamed of myself."

Fortunately for Whitney, a taxi driver drove by and saved him from further punishment.

Whitney was still shaking when he was brought to court Thursday, nine hours after Miss Cathcart beat him up. His face was covered with cuts and bruises, his nose was broken and his glasses had been smashed.

Magistrate John Ward gave Whitney a conditional discharge, which means he'd better behave himself in the future.

"It's a pretty despicable thing you tried to do," Ward said. "But to some extent you have suffered for it already."

A Junior Editors Quiz About PIANO

QUESTION: Who invented pianos and why are there three strings for each note?

• • • •

ANSWER: Pianos evolved from clavichords and harpsichords, which, although having keyboards, produced only thin, feeble sounds. Harpsichords added several strings to the note in a search for greater strength, but since sound was made by the plucking of a quill, a full, strong tone was impossible to produce. In 1709, Bartolommeo Cristofori invented leather-tipped hammers, which struck the strings from below and instantly fell back. This became the principle of the modern piano.

About 10 of the deepest piano tones are produced by long, single strings, wrapped in wire to make them heavier and get a deeper pitch. A group of 18 of the next higher notes, as in a baby grand piano, have two strings each to produce them. This number increases to three for the balance of the 60 notes found in the middle to the high range. This last group of strings, being shorter, produces less sound. This is why three strings to each note are needed to make enough sound. Lower notes with strong sound can be produced with fewer strings to the note.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Marsha Landgraf, Rockford, Ill., for her question:

"I love math! Other than teaching, what opportunities are there in this field?"

A — While math has always been a cornerstone of science, engineering and human affairs, its impact on these fields has been tremendously increased by the use of electronic computers. For example, in the last 15 years or so, the application of math has spread like ink on tissue to the social sciences, medicine, management and administration.

The work of today's mathematician ranges from pure theory to the analysis of rocket stability to studies of the effects of new drugs on disease.

WHAT DOES THIS AD UP TO? Plenty of good jobs for mathematicians. Opportunities are up up and away . . . with very rapid job growth anticipated to continue through the 1970s.

KINDS OF JOBS IN INDUSTRY. Titles vary, although frequently they are: junior, assistant, associate or senior mathematician. About half of the more than 93,000 mathematicians work in private industry. Over 50 per cent of this group work in manufacturing — primarily in the electrical equipment, aerospace, machinery and ordnance industries. Most are involved in research and development activities; the rest with operations research, production and inspection (quality control) of manufactured products, or management and administration. More specifically, MATHEMATICAL CONSULTANTS deal with the analysis of involved, complex problems and are usually teamed with engineers, physicists, chemists or geologists, and therefore need to know at least the basics of those fields. Other mathematicians develop mathematical models to predict or explain the structure of physical processes or operations (like "will the new plane fly, or not?").

COMPUTERS. Most mathematicians work with computers to some degree. Many work full time in such fields as computation and numerical analysis, systems analysis, scientific programming, or scientific software development (developing computer operating systems for scientific computation).

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT. Mathematicians are employed by the Federal government, chiefly by the Department of Defense — mostly in the Armed Forces research labs. They do substantially the same kind of work as those in private industry, and similarly, in the lower grades perform more computations, and in the higher grades are required to have more math judgment and knowledge in a related field, such as engineering.

UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Some mathematicians are employed in research labs where they work on pure or applied math problems, but do not teach. Much of this research is funded by the Federal government. Two closely related occupations to mathematician are—

(1) STATISTICIANS, who describe the world in numerical terms; collecting, analyzing and interpreting data. They use statistical methods to confirm findings of natural and social scientists, and to provide others with the statistical information needed to make decisions. (2) ACTUARIES, who design insurance and pension plans and maintain them on a sound finacial basis.

HOW TO GET MORE INFORMATION. "Professional Opportunities in Mathematics" (25 cents), from the Mathematical Association of America, 1225 Connecticut Ave. NW, Washington D.C. 20036; "Mathematics and Related Fields," (10 cents), Occupational Outlook bulletin 1550-49, Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402; "Computopics," (sources of more math career information, 50 cents), Association for Computing Machinery, 211 E. 43 St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Seriously interested students may address specific questions to the American Mathematical Society, P.O. Box 6248, Providence, R.I. 02904.

WOMEN are welcomed although about 90 per cent of mathematicians are men.

CAPT. WELDON MERRITT

Snyderite Is On Way To Vietnam

Capt. Weldon L. Merritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Merritt of Route 2, Snyder, will leave Monday for the Republic of Vietnam, where he will be assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile). Capt. Merritt is a 1962 graduate of Snyder High School, and a 1966 graduate of Texas A&M University, where he was a Distinguished Military Graduate.

Upon his graduation from A&M, Merritt was awarded a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Artillery branch of the U. S. Army. He then attended the Field Artillery Officer Basic Course at Fort Sill, Okla., and both Airborne and Ranger Schools at Fort Benning, Ga.

Merritt was then assigned to Team C, 66th US Army Artillery Detachment in Germany, where he served first as Assistant Team Commander, then later as Team Commander. He was promoted to First Lieutenant on May 31, 1967, and to Captain a year later. Merritt has recently been spending some leave time in Texas while enroute from Germany to Vietnam.

Hal Greer Is Up To Old Tricks

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The old Hal Greer was up to his old tricks. The new Wilt Chamberlain did something new. The combination paid off for the Philadelphia 76ers.

Greer's old ticks were a 35-point performance and one of his patented hot streaks as the 76ers trounced the Lakers 114-96 Friday night at Philadelphia in the National Basketball Association opener for both teams.

The something new for Chamberlain, playing his first regular season game for Los Angeles since being traded by the 76ers, was the unusual amount of time he spent on the bench. The great center, who finished with 15 points and 17 rebounds, sat out part of the third quarter and most of the fourth.

In other action, Boston whipped Detroit 106-88, San Diego trimmed San Francisco 123-108 and the expansion Phoenix Suns bowed in with a 116-107 win over the year-old Seattle SuperSonics.

The American Basketball Association opened its season with Oakland beating Indiana 144-133 in the only game.

Greer scored 16 of Philadelphia's last 17 points in the first period as the 76ers raced to a 31-14 and never were headed.

Archie Clark, obtained by Philadelphia in the Chamberlain trade, rubbed salt in the Lakers' wounds by scoring 20 points. Elgin Baylor led Los Angeles with 36 points.

Trailing 40-38 at halftime, Boston hit its first 1 shots in the third quarter and ran away from Detroit. During the stretch, the Celtics outscored Detroit 22-3. Larry Siegfried scored 26 points and Bill Russell grabbed 36 rebounds for Boston. Dave Bing scored 20 for the Pistons.

Rookies Elvin Hayes and Rick Adelman led San Diego past the Warriors, who were playing without injured forward Clyde Lee. Hayes paced the scoring with 32 points and Adelman sparked a second-period assault with 11 quick points.

Phoenix exploded for 33 points in the first eight minutes and held on to beat Seattle. Gail Goodrich paced the Suns with 27 points and Bob Rule had 34 for the Sonics in a losing cause.

Ponies Overpower Tigers To Stay In District Race

Scoring in every period, Sweetwater's Mustangs continued towards a District 3-AAA showdown battle with Lubbock Estacado by trouncing Snyder's Tigers 48-0 here Friday night before a near - sellout Homecoming crown.

About the only thing local fans had to cheer about was the halftime festivities during which pretty LaVerne Nix was crowned Homecoming Queen. The powerful Ponies scored two touchdowns in every frame except the second one when they were limited to one.

Powerful as they were, the Mustangs also benefitted from several costly Tiger mistakes with two interceptions, a blocked kick and a fumble setting up four of their seven touchdowns. The visitors had to march less than 15 yards for two of these gratis TD's and less than five yards for another one.

The other three touchdowns resulted from long runs by the talented Pony backs combined with a vulnerable Bengal defense.

Benjie Kemp, a 175 - pound senior fullback, led the charge for Sweetwater, gaining 143 yards on 23 carries. He, quarterback Aubrey McCain (190) and tailback David Redwine (160) each scored two touchdowns.

One reason for the big discrepancy in the score is the fact that Coach Joe Boyd of Sweetwater left his "hoses" in the game right up til the end. Most of the defensive regulars, stayed in during the entire game. Substitutes on the offense unit didn't take over until the score was 41-0.

So alert and aggressive was the Pony defenses that the Bengals were held to minus 31 yards rushing. They picked off four passes.

Snyder never quit trying and quarterback Lee McNair was able to complete 11 of 33 aerials for 131 yards, leaving the Bengals with a total net offense of 100 yards.

Sweetwater only attempted three passes and completed just one of them — for 14 yards.

McCain got the first TD on a four yard run following an interception by wingback Jimmy Briscoe. He was trapped behind the line, but the Pony fullback is so powerful that he simply wrenched himself loose from the grasp of the defenders and rolled into the end zone. Redwine skirted right end for extra points with 6:02 remaining in Round One.

A blocked punt by Randy Hardee, 165-pound senior end, and a recovery at the Tiger two by Darrell Nazworth, 195-pound junior tackle, set up the next one. Redwine scored it on a thrust over right guard, then Wes Ronemus kicked point.

An interception by Jack Shook, 155 - pound senior tailback, and a 10 - yard return to the Tiger 40 got the ball to rolling again in the second period. It required just seven plays for the Ponies to span the distance. The payoff was a three-yard burst over left guard by Kemp with 8:45 remaining in the half. Joe Greer blocked Ronemus' kick from placement, leaving the score at half, 21-0.

Kemp blasted through the right side of the defensive line on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. He went 68 yards and Ronemus' kick pushed the count to 28-0.

Ricky Baker, the big senior tackle, came up with a loose ball at the four late in the period and Redwine sliced over on the next play. Ronemus kicked accurately again and Snyder trailed, 0-35.

On the third play of the fourth quarter, McCain went wide right, saw daylight and scooted 70 yards to pay dirt. Redwine was slammed down short on a run for bonus points. Sweetwater 41, Snyder 0.

Less than two minutes later, Briscoe, a reserve wingback, got loose on an inside reverse and went 32 yards for Sweetwater's last touchdown. Ronemus' kick was good.

Unable to cross midfield in the 1st or 3rd quarters, Snyder made its best drive of the night in the second period following a 20 - yard punt runback by Randy Levens to the Bengal 27. After a completion for one yard to Levens, McNair hit Jerry January with a 40 - yarder at the Pony 32. Two running plays lost a yard, then January pulled in another one at the 24. A fourth - and - two effort failed to produce the necessary yardage and the ball went over. It was the deepest penetration by Snyder, although the locals gained possession at the Pony 48 in the fourth frame following a fumble recovery by Ricky Glasscock.

Snyder fought back gamely, but the Bengals were just outmanned.

Tommy McDorman, Delbert Hirst, Levens and others made good efforts on defense. The Mustangs were just too big and too tough.

Schoolboys Make Experts Look Good

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas' schoolboy football powers made the experts look good Friday night with only a few teams becoming victims of the upset bug.

The only upsets of note were recorded in Class AAA where eighth-ranked Graham was nipped by Wichita Falls Hirschi 13-7 and ninth-ranked Mexia fell to Corsicana 20-13.

Powerful Galveston Ball, the second-ranked club in Class AAAA, mashed LaMarque 29-0. Third-ranked Odessa Permian defeated Abilene 20-6, fourth-ranked Austin Reagan whipped Austin Crockett 24-0, sixth-ranked Houston Sam Houston downed Houston Kashmere 24-14, ninth-ranked Corpus Christi Miller battered Port LaVaca 49-0, and Port Arthur Jefferson downed Port Arthur Lincoln 54-6. The top-ranked AAAA team, Dallas South Oak Cliff, was idle after a big win Friday night.

Packers Against Wall

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers don't play must games before the season's half over, you say. Oh, yes, they do, and they've got one this Sunday in the National Football League.

Green Bay journeys to Detroit, a team which has already beaten the Packers once this season, and although a loss wouldn't knock the Packers out of the Central Division race, it would put them under severe pressure.

The Packers, with a 2-3 record, trail Detroit and the Minnesota Vikings, both 3-2, and a Green Bay victory would create a three-way tie for first, if Minnesota loses to Dallas as expected.

In other NFL action Sunday, San Francisco, 2-3, is at New York, 4-1) Cleveland, 2-3 at Baltimore, 5-0; Atlanta, 1-4 at Los Angeles 5-0; New Orleans, 2-3, at Pittsburgh 0-5.; Washington, 3-2, at St. Louis, 2-3, and Chicago 1-4, at Philadelphia, 0-5.

Buffalo is at Boston, Denver at San Diego Miami at Cincinnati, New York at Houston and Oakland at Kanss City Sunday in the American Football League.

Green Bay probably will be without the services of Bart Starr, who injured a muscle in his passing arm while warming up last Sunday for the Los Angeles game, which the Rams won 16-14.

If Starr doesn't play, Zeke Bratkowski will again take over at quarterback. Bratkozski completed 13 of 27 passes for 139 yards against Los Angeles but had three intercepted. Detroit will count on the passing of Bill Munson and the running and receiving of Mel Farr. Farr accounted for 211 total yards in a victory over Chicago last week.

Minnesota figures to have its hands full with explosive Dallas, leader of the Capitol Division by one game over New York.

In order to win, the Vikings will need improved passing by Joe Kapp, who hit on only nine of 28 for 78 yards in a loss to New Orleans last week, and a fired-up defense. Dallas rolls behind the passing of Don Meredith and the running of Don Perkins and Les Shy.

New York will be looking to bounce back from an upset loss to Atlanta and once again will depend on a balanced running attack and the scrambling antics of qurterback Fran Tarkenton. San Francisco looks to the passing of John Brodie.

Cleveland, deadlocked for the lead in the Century Division with St. Louis and New Orleans, will have to put it all together to get by Baltimore, tied for first with Los Angeles in the Coastal Division.

For the first time in 11 games, Atlanta will be taking the field after a victory, but they will be running into Los Angeles' league-leading defense, one that figures to give the Rams' injury-plagued offense enough help to win.

New Orleans apparently has the best shot of the three Century Division leaders to take over sole possession of first place, meeting hapless Pittsburgh. However, the Steler scared Washington last week and they'll be at home.

St. Louis, which stopped Cleveland's vaunted running game, might be able to concentrate on Washington's improved rushing attack because the Redskins' great passer, Sonny Jurgensen, has a cracked rib. It was not known if he would play.

The Chicago-Philadelphia battle appars to hinge on which quarterback has the best day. Because of injuries, Chicago is down to Larry Rakestraw. Philadelphia's Norm Snead, making his second start since recovering from a broken leg, was intercepted four times by Dallas last week. Chicago has the NFL's leading rusher in Gale Sayers.

Beamon, Evans Lead U. S. To Great Day In Olympics

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Bob Beamon and Lee Evans picked up the fallen banner of their banned black brothers and led the United States' powerful track and field forces to one of its greatest days in Olympic competition Friday.

Beamon, a rail-thin student at the University of Texas, El Paso, soared to an incredible 29 feet, 2½ inches, breaking the world record by almost two feet and establishing possibly the most outstanding record in track and field history. Veteran Ralph Boston was third.

And Evans, from San Jose, Calif., swept to a world record 43.8 in leading a United States sweep of the medals in the 400 meters. Larry James, White Plains, N.Y., was second and Ron Freeman, Elizabeth, N.J., was third.

All had their words to say their gestures to make, in protest of the expulsion from the Olympic Village of sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos.

The record-shattering performances Friday came after a morning of chaos that brought the threat of a boycott and the possibility that the entire United States team would be pulled out of these 19th Games.

Evans, who said before the race, "If two athletes had to go home, then the whole team may go home," waited until the last minute before deciding to run.

Evans, James and Freeman raised clenched fists as they mounted the podium and wore black berets at the award ceremony. Asked if their headgear was a sign of protest, Evans said, "It was raining."

Beamon appeared on the victory stand in black socks, with his sweat pants rolled up to bring attention to them. Boston appeared barefoot. Both gestures have been used before as signs of racial protest, but neither would comment on that matter.

All of the black athletes refused to say if they had been cautioned by the USOC to avoid demonstrations or comment.

Beamon, 22, got off his fantastic leap on his first jump—his legs spread and outstretched and his arms between them. He bounded three times, then went on his knees and kissed the ground as Boston and other competitors crowded around him in excited congratulation.

"I kissed the ground to thank the man up there to let me hit the ground right here," he said.

The old record was 27-4¾, held jointly by Boston and Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of Russia. The record in this event usually is raised by fractions of inches. Beamon exceeded the mark by 1 foot, 9¾ inches.

Evans, who has a pending world mark of 44 flat, ran an unusual race. He's noted for his strong finishes, but he led all the way and almost was caught at the end by James. All three broke the listed world record of 44.9. James was timed in 43.9 and Freeman in 44.4.

An additional gold medal by Sue Gossick in the women's three-meter dive—the only swimming and diving final of the day—pushed the United States back in front in the medal race with Russia. The U.S. now has 24 total medals, 12 of them gold. Russia had 21, six gold.

Miss Gossick, a blonde from Tarzana, Calif., won it on her last dive, finishing with 150.67 points and leading a 1-3 United States performance. Keala O'Sullivan, Honolulu, was third with 145.23. Lt. Micki King, Pontiac, Mich., leading going into the day's final three dives, flubbed her last dive and finished fourth. Tamara Pogozheva of Russia was second.

The only other Russian medals of the day were picked up by Grigory Hsykh, a gold in free pistol shooting; Yan Talts, a silver in middle heavyweight weight lifting, with a hoist of 1,181½ pounds. The event was won by Kaarlo Kangasniemi of Finland with an Olympic record of 1,140½ pounds.

Maureen Caird of Australia won the women's 80-meter hurdles in 10.3, Irina Kirszenstein of Poland took the women's 200 meters in 22.5, Lia Manoliu of Rumania won the women's discus at 191-2½ and Daniel Ribillard of France took the individual cycling pursuit gold, the only other finals. The U.S. and Russia were blanked in all of those events.

Russia and the U.S. continued their unbeaten records in basketball, the Americans whipping Panama 95-60 and Russia taking Cuba 100-66.

It Just Took Beamon 2 Jumps

MEXICO CITY (AP) — For an athlete who had accomplished the most phenomenal single performance in track and field history, an unbelievable long jump of 29 feet, 2½ inches, you would think Bob Beamon would have something startling to say.

Swarmed by reporters in the interview room Friday, the modest Beamon answered the first question—was he scared?

"No, I wasn't scared, I was frightened," he said emphatically.

Why did he kiss the ground after he landed?

"I was thanking that man up there for letting me hit the ground right there," he replied, first seriously and then with a smile.

Beamon, a spindly 6-foot-3 junior at the University of Texas, El Paso, completely obliterated the listed world record of 27 feet, 4¾ inches held jointly by Ralph Boston of the United States and Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan.

Actually, Beamon took only two of his permisable seven jumps. He sailed high and long with his customary spread-eagled legs and with his arms between them on his first try.

As he landed, a roar that was almost a gasp swept the stadium. It was obvious he had set a world record.

Thunderous applause followed when the official distance was announced. World records are being set by the handful in these Olympics, but this is likely to be the greatest.

Less than 15 minutes later when his second try came up, he passed—apparently still dazed at what he had done.

It was raining when his third turn came up and he leaped 26 feet, 4½ inches. After that he called it a day, taking shelter under an umbrella as the rest of the field battled it out for the silver medal.

Boston, the bronze medal winner who won at Rome in 1960 and was runner-up in 1964 at Tokyo, admitted he was completely psyched-out by Beamon's jump.

"I was sure I could go 28-2½ under good conditions," said the veteran Boston, "but I know my limit. And when the rains came on top of it, I not only got damped physically, but also my spirits."

An ironic note to Beamon's dream-like jump is that it almost didn't happen. In Friday's qualifying round, Beamon fouled on his first two attempts.

On his third, however, he got off a comfortable 26-9¼ to set the stage for the heroics.

Beamon was born Aug. 23, 1946, at Jamaica, N.Y., and later moved to Texas.

10 Bunched Near Top At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ten professionals, headed by Dale Douglass and including such stars as Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino, were bunched within three strokes today going into the third round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 32-year-old Douglass, a pro since 1960 but never a big winner, posted a 36-hole score of 135, seven strokes under par for the distance and held a lead of two shots over Nicklaus, Kermit Zarley and Ron Cerrudl.

Grouped in the 138 bracket were Trevino, Casper, Julius Boros, DeWitt Weaver, R.H. Sikes and Howie Johnson.

Douglass fired three-under-par 68 to go with his first-round 67 and moved out of a deadlock with Nicklaus and Bill Collins. Collins toured the 7,109-yard Paradise Valley Country Club course in a unique 41-33—74 and dropped back to 141.

Nicklaus' 70 kept him in contention, while Trevino, with a 68, and Casper, 67, also were in the picture heading toward the 54-hole point and the final round Sunday.

Raiders, Oilers Face Key Tests

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders and Houston Oilers face key tests Sunday in their attempts to repeat as conference champions of the American Football League.

Oakland, 4-1, which had its 14-game winning streak snapped by San Diego last Sunday, is in Kansas City for a game with the Chiefs, who are leading the Western Division with a 5-1 record.

Meanwhile, the Oilers, 2-4, get a chance to get back in the swing of things in the Eastern Division when they entertain the first-place New York Jets, 3-2, in the Astrodome.

The rest of the Sunday schedule finds Buffalo at Boston, Denver at San Diego and Miami at Cincinnati.

In the National Football League, Atlanta plays at Los Angeles, Dallas at Minnesota, Cleveland at Baltimore, Green Bay at Detroit, San Francisco at New York, Washington at St. Louis, New Orleans at Pittsburgh and Chicago at Philadelphia.

Kansas City has taken the lead in the West with a four-game winning streak, best since their AFL championship year of 1966. Robert Holmes and Mike Garrett, the latter back from the injured list, provide strong running to complement Len Dawson's passing.

The Chiefs' defense has given up only one touchdown in the winning streak.

New York's commanding lead in the East was sliced by last Sunday's loss to Denver, which intercepted five of Joe Namath's passes. Last year, the Oilers picked of six in their only meeting with the Jets, a 28-28 tie.

"We're in a position now where we c[illegible] our own destiny in the pennant race," says Houston Coach Wally Lemm. "A year ago when we played New York we were 2-2 and we had to depend on other teams to beat New York because we played them only once. This year we're 2-4 but we play the Jets twice."

Quarterback Pete Beathard, recuperating from an appendectomy, can be activated for the game but Lemm said there is no chance he will play this weekend. Bob Davis and Don Trull will again be the Oiler signal-callers.

If Houston beats the Jets, Boston, 2-3, can tie for the East lead by whipping Buffalo, 1-4-1. Jim Nance and Art Graham, who missed the Patriots' season-opening victory over Buffalo, will be available this time. But the Bisons have lost rookie running sensation Ben Gregory for the season with a knee injury.

San Diego, 4-1, needs a win over improving Denver, 2-3, to stay right up there with the Western leaders. The Chargers ended Oakland's winning streak last Sunday and must contend this week with ex-teammate Steve Tensi, the Denver quarterback.

Miami, 1-3-1, has a win and a tie in its last two games but may be without rookie running back Larry Csonka. Cincinnati, 2-4, has been having troubles on offense in its first year in the AFL.

Carol Mann Strikes Gold

WACO, Tex., (AP) — Carol Mann may be her own self-acclaimed worst enemy but it's good enough to sack up the gold on the lady's golf tour.

The leading money winner on the LPGA tour shot a three-under-par 69 Friday to take the opening round lead in the 54-hole, $12,500 Quality Chefed Classic.

But she wasn't totally happy.

"My putting comes and goes in streaks. . .I'm my own worst enemy on the greens," said Miss Mann.

She birdied four of the first six holes on the backnine but left a putt on the lip of the cup on the 11th hole that would have given her another bridie.

She had nines of 37-32 over the 6,600-yard Lake Waco Country Club course.

Explain Olympic 'Gesture'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A chance remark by Avery Brundage a couple of weeks ago may have triggered the unexpected black power demonstration that brought the expulsion of sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos from the U.S. Olympic team.

Speaking before the National Press Club in Washington, D.C., the 81-year-old controversial president of the International Olympic Committee warned that any athlete violating Olympic principle in the Mexico City Games would be sent home.

The black U.S. athletes training at Lake Tahoe, Calif., read the statement in the newspapers and seethed.

All of them had decided that there would be no demonstrations of any kind at Mexico City, a Negro member of the U.S. official family, not connected with men's track and field, said today. "Everything was peaceful. Then they saw this Brundage thing and they really caught fire."

Several of the black athletes decided they would show their displeasure by giving Brundage the snub in the medal ceremonies.

When Jim Hines won the 100 with Charlie Greene third, they asked officials who was going to give them their medals. Told it was Brundage, they looked dour. The awards were made by Lord Burghley of England.

Then Smith and broadjumper Ralph Boston said they didn't want Brundage to give them any medals they might win. When Tommie ran the 200, Brundage spent the day at yachting in Acapulco.

Smith ran the race in world record time of 19.8 seconds and his teammate, Carlos, was third.

At the victory ceremony, they each had a black glove—Smith for his right hand and Carlos for the left—and black scarves at the neck. During the playing of the Star-Spangled Banner, instead of standing at attention, they thrust one closed fist toward the sky in a Black Power salute and fixed their eyes on the ground.

It was a bizarre act that brought chills to some Americans and boos from the dominantly Mexican crowd. Later, Carlos lambasted the Mexican crowd and the white society for treating Negroes like "low animals, roaches and ants."

Brundage's IOC acted swiftly. The ink was hardly dry on newspapers relating this incident to the world when the IOC issued a sharp statement saying the demonstration violated the basic principles of the Olympics, the code of which demands that politics be separated from sports, and called on the U.S. Olympic Committee to clear its house.

While the world buzzed and athletes in the village took sharply different views of the incident, Douglas Roby of Detroit, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, called his executive board into session at the downtown Reforma Hotel.

At 2:30 p.m., however, Roby's board broke up and issued a two-page typewritten statement, apologizing to the IOC and Mexicans for the act, saying no action was planned but hinting that no further demonstrations would be tolerated.

Then hours later, the original statement was withdrawn. Newspapers were asked to kill it, but it was too late.

"At 6 p.m. I had a call from and threats of a general boycott. As the day wore on, the situation subsided and the boycott threat faded.

"If two men are sent home, the whole team may go," said Hal Connolly, veteran hammer thrower and former Olympic champion.

Jesse Owens, the famous four-medal winner of the Hitler era, and Stan Wright, Negro assistant coach, moved in to smooth the waters.

"I will run," said Evans, who earlier had been in tears and on the verge of collapse.

"It's ridiculous," said Scott Steketee of Toledo, Ohio, a member of the Harvard eight-oar crew which had sided with the blacks from the beginning. "Carlos and Smith merely gave an expression of their feelings. This was a symbol of free speech. The USOC acted unconstitutionally."

"I see nothing tragic about it," said Barry Weizenberg of Los Altos, Calif., a member of the American water polo team. "It is a disgrace. No one should show such contempt for the American flag."

In mid-afternoon, the press representative of the U.S. Olympic Committee, appeared on the scene and compounded the confusion by announcing the two athletes had 48 hours to get out of the country.

It developed that the USOC had no such power. That was strictly up to the Mexican government.

"We gave them tickets home and offered to set them up until they are ready to leave within two days," Roby said. "They can stay in Mexico as long as they like as far as we are concerned. But they're off the team and out of the village."

Gorillas Grind Hermleigh, 60-16

HERMLEIGH — Quarterback Gaylon Bronvak led the Trent Gorillas to a 60-16 triumph over the host Cardinals here Friday night by throwing four touchdown passes.

It was a close contest for three quarters, then Trent erupted for four touchdowns in the fourth period to win going away.

Strangely, the Cardinals actually led at one point — getting the first tally when Tom Chorn reeled off a five-yard run and received a pass from Ronnie Helm for extra points.

Pat Carriker blasted over from the four, then Bronvak tossed to Stan Hicks to tie it up at 8-8.

Bronvak scored himself on a 3-yard run in the second period, then tossed a 12-yarder to Hicks. The Cards stayed within striking distance when Helm hit Leonard Kuss in the end zone on a pass that covered 19 yards. Helm ran for the extra points, Carriker ran for extra points following two of the Gorilla second period scores. Their last TD in the first half occurred when Arthur Maberry went over with a 3-yard pass from Bronvak. Tom Riggan ran for the bonus points.

Bronvak passed for three touchdowns and ripped off a 25-yard touchdown run in the last frame after the third period was scoreless.

Hermleigh begins district play this week, hosting Sands at 8 p.m. Friday.

CEDAR INVASION — Cedar is increasing at a rapid rate on shallow and mixed land soils. Grubbing is the most effective way to control the cedar. Buford Browning has an excellent stand of grass where he grubbed cedar and seeded grasses in the grubbed areas.

Terracing Activity Is On Increase In Area District

Terracing activity is on the increase in the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District. Standard terrace lines were staked for S. E. McCowen.

Billy Voss is constructing a system of parallel terraces on a field just east of Cogdell Center. The old standard terraces were leveled out and are being replaced by the more modern parallel terraces.

James E. Davis has completed about 33,000 feet of parallel terraces on his farm north of Union. Sam Chorn has completed a system of parallel terraces on a 40 acre place he recently bought. Several others plan to construct parallel terraces in the near future.

A total of 15,392,598 feet of parallel terraces were constructed in Texas during the 1968 fiscal year. This is 61 percent of all terraces constructed during the 1968 fiscal year. A total of 7,585,598 feet of level standard terraces and 2,585,598 feet of graded terraces were also constructed during the same period of time. Farmers and ranchers are going for the modern parallel terraces at a rapid rate.

Pat Jones, Don Wills and J. W. Halbert have completed livestock water storage facilities under the Great Plains Conservation Program. Martin Parks and Bert Massingill have completed cross fences under the Great Plains Program.

Holt Speaks To Jaycees

District Attorney Wayland G. Holt discussed the Electoral College at Friday's meeting of the Snyder Jaycees.

Dave Harlin reported on the state board meeting to be held Oct. 24-27 at Brownwood, and President Mickey Nunley, who presided, reported on the inauguration of a new club at Robert Lee. Nunley also reported that the San Angelo Jaycees had challenged Snyder Jaycees to a golf tournament, which the local group probably will accept. Nunley said the local club's board of directors will meet Monday to select a second vice president to succeed Bill Early who resigned.

Police Chief Steve Clark was a guest at the meeting and new members were Sid Johnson and Darrell Rains. Bill Dryden gave the invocation, while Ted Crenwelge led the pledge to the flag and Rains led the creed.

Mission Man Is Killed In Crash

MISSION, Tex. (AP) — Flrindo Rosales, 20, of Mission died early today when the car he was riding in smashed into a tree.

Police said Jose Hernandez, 23, of Mission was critically injured in the crash.

The small sports car was severed in half, and one section was hurled 155 feet, police said.

Beef Course For Adults At Hermleigh

HERMLEIGH — A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held Monday-Thursday under the sponsorship of the Hermleigh High School Vicational Agriculture Dept. according to van Rutherford, Supt. and Frank Barnes, teacher of vocational agriculture.

W. W. (Bill) Holtzapple, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Dept. of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Holtzapple is a graduate of Texas A&M. He majored in Agricultural Education with much of his work done in livestock production.

Upon graduation he taught Vocational Agriculture at Hearne, for one year, and he served as County Agriculture Agent for nine years in San Augustine County. This is his third year with the Specialist Program. Holtzapple has had much experience in working with beef cattle and operated his own farm with beef cattle and poultry as the main enterprises.

He has worked with commercial and registered breeders in that area and has carried on a very active education program in beef cattle production.

The short course at Hermleigh is scheduled to begin Monday at 7 p.m. in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of 3 or 4 will be arranged.

W. W. HOLTZAPPLE

During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Holtzapple will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Barnes.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should call Van Rutherford or Barnes. An entry fee of $2 will be charged.

Beef production short course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Snyderite's Sister Dies Friday Night

Mrs. Ethel Carter of Mico, Tex., died Friday night in a McAllen Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was the sister of Mrs. J. P. Ellis, 2214 Forty-third, Snyder.

Marriage Invalid, Says Catholics

By PATRICK O'KEFE
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — When Mrs. John F. Kennedy marries Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, who is divorced, the marriage will be invalid in the eyes of the Roman Catholic Church, according to Vatican theologians.

In Athens the Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Benedictus Printesis, said he opposed the marriage.

"No second marriage is allowed of a Catholic to a divorced person," he said. "I cannot understand how a good Catholic like Mrs. Kennedy can contract a second marriage with a divorced man like Mr. Onassis."

The couple are to be wed this weekend in a Greek Orthodox ceremony, Onassis' religion. His church has approved his 1960 divorce from Tina Livanos, daughter of another wealthy shipowner, and sanctioned his marriage to Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, was excommunicated from the church when she remarried after her divorce from Jack Bouvier, a sportsman and stockbroker. The divorce occurred when Jacqueline was 10 years old.

Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's sister, also put herself outside the church with her marriage to Polish Prince Stanislaus Radizwill after a 1953 divorce from U.S. diplomat Michael Canfield. But the Vatican's Sacred Rota, or marriage tribunal, annulled her first marriage in 1964, and she and the prince had a Catholic wedding.

The Rota may declare marriages invalid if there is adequate proof that one or both partners did not intend to enter a permanent relationship or to have children, or that the marriage was contracted under intimidation or duress.

Should the Rota decide that the marriage of Onassis to Tina Livanos was invalid, Mrs. Kennedy's marriage to Onassis would be approved. But Vatican theologians regarded this prospect as doubtful. The marriage lasted 13 years and produced two children, Alexander, 20, and Christina, 18.

The religious status of the Kennedy children, Caroline and John Jr., is not affected by the marriage. But the Greek Orthodox Church would require that any children born of the marriage be raised as Greek Orthodox.

Robert Fulton's first steamboat, the Clermont, took 32 hours to travel the 150 miles up the Hudson River from New York City to Albany on its maiden trip in 1807.
