Mill Iron Buys Prize Bulls At National Western Show

Still building on his great herd of registered Hereford cattle, Lafayette M. Hughes recently paid $32,500 for the reserve grand champions and the first prize juniors shown at the famous National Western Stock show in Denver. These bulls will be delivered to the Mill Iron Ranch early in April.

It is another evidence of the fact that the Mill Iron intends to spare no expense in building a herd that will appeal to commercial cattlemen by providing quality, quick maturing and uniform herd bulls that will sell at a reasonable price.

This consistent type-breeding program has already brought credit to Mill Iron. Following the trail set by Colorado Domino 697, whose offspring have already brought fame to Mill Iron breeding, there

Lieut. Gilbreth Wins Oak Leaf Cluster In Italy

Lieut. Weldon Gilbreth of Quail, an Army Air Forces flyer, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster for his Air Medal somewhere in the Italian war theatre, he wrote his sister, Mrs. George Graham, and his father, F. Gilbreth, of Quail recently.

He also told them that he has just been promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant.

Lieut. Gilbreth had received the Air Medal some time back, Mrs. Graham said. He had 23 missions to his credit when he wrote.

Chaplain Bennett May Preach Here

Chaplain H. R. Bennett of the U. S. Army, former pastor of the Wellington circuit, may preach at the Salt Fork Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, March 12, Rev. F. R. Pickens of Shamrock, the pastor, announced this week.

Definite arrangements for this service have not been made but Chaplain Bennett is due to arrive in Shamrock the latter part of this week to spend his furlough with Mrs. Bennett and their son. If he does come, he will preach at Salt Fork.

Services will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon.

All of Chaplain Bennett's friends are invited to hear him.

Concrete plans for Wellington's post-war service have been revealed by Southwest Airways Company of Fort Worth in a letter just received by City Manager Bura Handley.

This announcement works in with proposed plans for a city-county sponsored airfield to be located a short distance from Wellington.

"Southwest Airways Company is most encouraging, but it's still up to us right here as to how much benefit we will get from the service and whether we will work together and get our airport," Mr. Handley said.

"It would be our intention to render all three air services—passenger, mail and express—to Wellington, provided there were satisfactory landing facilities available," James G. Ray, vice president of Southwest Airways wrote Mr. Handley.

"We anticipate that at the outset of flying these routes, there might not be enough traffic to warrant more than two round trips daily. However, we feel reasonably certain that in a relatively short period of time this can be stepped up to four or possibly more trips daily in each direction. In this expansion we will, of course, have to be guided by the amount of traffic, but it most certainly will be our intention to provide just as many flights on each route as there is need for.

"There is no set amount of patronage required to insure inclusion on the routes. As we see it, there always will be enough air mail and air express both outgoing and incoming to a city the size of Wellington to justify its receiving pick-up service. If landing facilities were available, the planes would stop either to load or unload one or more passengers. If there were no passengers, the

T-Sergeant Wolf Is Awarded Flying Cross

Few of this war's heroes will ever wear as many awards of honor as a young non-commissioned officer whose home is about ten miles from Wellington. He is T-Sgt. Henry R. Wolf, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wolf of Loco.

His latest decoration is the Distinguished Flying Cross, which will be pinned on Sgt. Wolf's chest along with the Air Medal and six Oak Leaf Clusters.

The DFC award was made up on the order of President Roosevelt "for five heavy bomber sorties during the period between July 12 and September 21, 1943." This action took place in the South Pacific.

Sgt. Wolf is now back in the United States and has been hospitalized at Miami Beach, Florida. A radioman-gunner on a heavy bomber with the 13th U. S. Air Force operating in the Central and

Red Cross Drive Digs In As $5,000 More Is Needed

School Census To Continue Through March

Enumeration of children in the county for the scholastic census will continue through March, B. W. Beard, county superintendent, announced Saturday.

During this time an effort will be made to list every child from 6 to 17, inclusive, now living in the county.

"Every child missed will mean a loss of $25 to his school district, for that is the amount paid by the state on each child. It will also mean a loss of transportation money. We appreciate the co-operation of the parents in the past, and again we urge that you work with us to see that every child is included," Mr. Beard said.

Should a child be missed by the census takers, the parents are urged to contact the enumerator or the county superintendent's office.

Mrs. J. A. Dukeminier will take the census for the Wellington Independent School District. She urges the co-operation of all patrons, and reminded that the information necessary when listing the students includes the number of children from each family between the ages of 6 and 17 inclusive, the birth date of each child, and the parents names.

Enumerators named for the common school districts include: Samnorwood, Earl R. Ponder; Buck Creek, J. W. Lancaster; Quail, Noah Cunningham; Fresno, Ernest Nunneley; Elm Valley, Polk Hooten; Rolla, J. B. Trew; Shinnery, W. C. Reeves; Enterprise, W. R. Breeding; Kelley, H. A. McWhorter; Bean Hill, Jim Terry; Houselog, Ed Smith; Ella, Lee Roy Neeley; China Grove, J. D. Graves; Cottonwood, C. G. I feel that you know of the work I have done, and if this meets with your approval I will greatly appreciate your support. If elected, I will continue to render the same type of service that I have given you during the first year; but with the finances of the county improving I hope to be able to render an even greater service in promoting the welfare of the people of Precinct 4.

Singers To Meet At Assembly Of God Sunday Afternoon

The Second Sunday Singing will be held March 12 at the Assembly of God in Wellington. Bob Spears, president, will be in charge.

A number of good singers are scheduled to be present, and a cordial invitation is given the public to attend.

The singing will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Red Cross donations amounting to $748.85 have been turned in since the opening of the War Fund Drive one week ago—but more than $5,100 remains to be given before this county can proudly say, "We went over the top again!"

With this first report in the hands of the Red Cross, Dick Wiley, county chairman, and Dewey Ellis, war fund chairman, called on workers to make every effort in the drive, to work thoroughly their communities, and to lay before the people the urgent need of this years drive.

Frank Knoll of Nicholson community was the first community chairman to turn in his report—a little more than $100. He told Miss Katherine Boverie, secretary, that while the Gallup Poll said that there were approximately one-third of the people who were never solicited for Red Cross Donations that couldn't be said of the Nicholson community.

Every person was seen. Some who have never before made a Red Cross contribution gave generously.

Others making early reports were George Richards of Cross Roads, D. M. Jarrell of Swearingen, and Willie Williams of Cottonwood.

"Some of the people are giving generously," Cameron Beam, chairman of the business section said after the canvass of that section began Tuesday. "Others seem not to realize the seriousness of our need."

Work in the residence section of the town, under the direction of Mrs. Walter Campbell, is starting, and she indicated that the town would be thoroughly covered before the drive ends.

"Many of us who have been entirely self-sufficient in the past are going to have to call on the Red Cross this year, for this organization is the one go-between between the Armed Forces and the civilians," Mr. Wiley declared. "It will bring us word of our men who are prisoners of war. We will ask it to help our men get emergency leaves from the armed forces in cases of serious illness or death, and we will go to it to ask help on many little things relative to our loved ones in the services on which this time we are absolutely unable to help ourselves."

The Red Cross will help in local emergencies, too, should there be cyclone, flood, fire or other disasters.

But because every family has some relative or some close friend in armed forces, this year when they help the Red Cross, they will be helping that man or woman, Red Cross workers emphasize.

Your kindest consideration will be appreciated.

Collect Musical Instruments For Men In Service

Wanted—musical instruments for our fighting men! In response to a request from the Army, a city-wide campaign to round up all those banjos, saxophones, and other musical instruments that are lying forgotten in closets and attics will begin here on March 13. It will run for two weeks.

The variety of instruments wanted is unlimited, except that pianos and bull fiddles are excluded because of their size and phonographs because of lack of facilities for keeping them in repair at the front.

Instruments collected in this nation-wide drive will enable the soldiers in all parts of the world to form orchestras to entertain themselves and their camp buddies. It will also enable them to engage in less formal musical recreation like gathering around in the evening and singing to the accompaniment of a banjo, harmonica, or other instrument.

Because of their distribution facilities, the Army has asked the "Coca-Cola" Bottlers all over the country to act as collecting agents for this drive. Any person who has any idle musical instruments is asked to take them to any grocery store, filling station, drug store, or other place that sells bottled "Coca-Cola." The Bottling Company's trucks will pick them up there and ship them immediately to the Army for distribution at Army camps all over the world. "There are any number of these instruments hidden away and forgotten in the closets and attics of homes in this city," said W. Y. Burden, president of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. "The American soldier loves his music, but he particularly likes to make his own. Through this campaign, we shall be able to help make his life in camp and at the fronts a happier one."

More than one billion surgical dressings were made by Red Cross chapter volunteers in the past 12 months.

West Point traditions and discipline are in effect at the Training Command School at Yale.

According to Col. Raymond J. Reeves, Commanding Officer of the School, courses he will take here include study of transmitters, receivers, the radio compass, radio and wire equipment, and portable ground stations. In addition to classroom work, much of his schedule will include intensive training for physical fitness, toughening him for terrain and temperature found in fighting fronts around the world. Part of his time will be spent in the field under simulated battle conditions.

After being commissioned he will be placed in charge of a crew of enlisted men specialists at flying fields in the United States or overseas where he will maintain the plane-to-ground and plane-to-plane communications so essential in the aerial campaign over Europe.

Sgt. Garretson formerly lived here, leaving about 1928. He made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Parrott for about 15 years before.

Pvt. Roland Z. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Wilson, arrived in North Ireland early in February with a group of paratroopers. In a letter to his parents dated February 2, he described the country as being very beautiful and the people friendly. He says he will have to get adjusted to the damp climate though.

Pvt. and Mrs. G. D. Gill arrived Monday for a week visit with Mrs. Gill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ball. Pvt. Gill is stationed in Tennessee and Mrs. Gill has been with him for the past seven months and is employed in air craft work there. She will be remembered as Miss Irene Ball.

Mrs. John W. Walker, daughter of Mrs. Cleo Templeton, recently underwent an appendicitis operation at the Camp Stewart Army Hospital in Georgia. Mrs. Walker will be remembered as Miss Mary Frances Templeton. She has been making her home in Georgia for the past year near Camp Stewart where her husband, Lt. John Walker, is stationed.

Pvt. Melvin Thomason has been transferred from Sheppard Field to the Army Air Field at Kingman, Arizona. He writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thomason that he likes there fine.

Capt. and Mrs. William W. McClaskey of Esler Field, La., arrived Saturday for a 10-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McClaskey, and family.

Capt. McClaskey donned his twin silver bars less than a month ago when he was notified by the War Department that he had been promoted to that rank.

A stock raiser here before entering the Army Air Forces in August, 1940, Capt. McClaskey was stationed at different Colorado bases before winning the chance to go to the Ordnance Officer's Candidate School at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland. He was there in July 1942 and was soon graduated and commissioned. He came to Esler Field in March of 1943 and was promoted to first lieutenant a month later.

Capt. McClaskey will return to Esler Sunday, while Mrs. McClaskey will remain here for several weeks longer.

Too much whistle-tootin' soon exhausts the steam.

Using Good Seed Important For Farm War Effort

LUBBOCK.—"Use good seed," is the urgent advice to farmers of Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at Texas Technological College. In order to help the war effort it is now more important than ever, he says, for farmers to use good seed. The nation needs all possible production of food and feed to aid in winning the war. He explains:

Good seeds are essential to high yields of crops. First of all the farmer should select a good variety of the particular crop. Then he should select planting seed of that variety which has (1) strong germination, (2) proper size and development, (3) uniformity, (4) freedom from disease, (5) freedom from mixtures.

The farmer should realize that the maximum germination of one kind of crop seed may be higher than for another kind of crop. Generally those crops with large seed such as cotton, corn, sorghums, wheat, etc., have higher germination than crops with small seed such as alfalfa, clovers, grasses, etc. Thus the farmer may not find alfalfa or grassseed with germination above 90 per cent while he can normally expect to find wheat, grain, sorghums, cotton, etc., with germination percentages as high as 99 per cent.

Good seed cannot be emphasized too much since no amount of care during growth of a crop will produce a good yield of high quality when seeds of inferior quality are planted. Generally the seed cost per acre on a particular crop is a minor expenditure; for example, if a farmer can purchase the average to poor quality of milo seed for four cents per pound and the best quality of certified milo seed at 6 1/2 to 7 cents per pound, the poor seed will cost him about 8 to 10 cents per acre while the best seed will cost him not to exceed 17 to 18 cents per acre.

The same will hold true for other crop seeds. The best alfalfa seed of high purity and quality such as that which is state certified can be purchased at 35 to 40 cents per pound while inferior seed is selling for 30 to 32 cents per pound. If the farmer is planting 15 pounds of alfalfa seed per acre the additional cost per acre for the best seed will not exceed $1.20.

The inferior seed is apt to contain weed seed or other crop seed which will greatly reduce the value of the alfalfa meadow by lowering the hay yield or quality or both. Farmers are urged to give more time this year to the selection and testing of their planting seed.

Germination and purity tests will be made free of charge by the Branch Seed Testing Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture which is located on the Texas Tech campus. A representative sample of one to two pounds of each lot of seed should be sent to the laboratory for the tests. About ten days are required to complete the germination test.

Many samples of seed have been tested already. Most seed produced in 1943 have a relative high germination due to the dry fall which permitted harvesting without damage due to excessive moisture.

The sweet sorghums are testing around seventy per cent with the redtop cane showing an average of only 63 percent germination. Small grains are showing germination averages of 77 to 88 per cent. Cotton germination averages 77 per cent, alfalfa about 90 per cent, and blackeye peas 61 per cent.

The farmer should know the germination percentage of all his planting seed in order to intelligently adjust the planting rate to make up for any low germinating seed which it may be necessary to plant.

Deductions Allowed Farmers Are Explained By Revenue Collectors

For income tax purposes, the losses a farmer suffers in operating his farm as a business enterprise are deductible from gross income, but just what is considered a loss by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, needs some interpretation.

If a farmer reports his income on a cash basis, he does not use inventories to determine profits and therefore can take no deduction for loss on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or deterioration in storage. If he reports his income on an accrual basis, using inventories to determine profits, his inventories automatically will show such shrinkage in value.

The farmer reporting income on the accrual basis, can take no deduction separately for livestock or products lost during the year, whether bought for resale or produced on the farm, because such losses will be shown in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year.

These Losses Not Deductible ...BF
Regardless of whether he uses the cash or the accrual basis, the farmer may not deduct loss of a prospective crop by freeze, storm, flood, or fire, because this is a loss only of anticipated profits which never have been reported as income.

For the farmer reporting on a cash basis, loss of animals from those he has raised simply lessons income and may not be deducted. If a livestock farmer reporting income on an accrual basis loses animals from those he has raised, such losses will show in his inventories and may not otherwise be deducted.

If livestock has been bought for any purpose and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the state or U. S. authorities, the purchase price of this livestock, less any depreciation allowable on it, may be deducted as a loss—provided the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of property (with proper adjustments for depreciation) which is destroyed by order of state or federal authorities also

Typhoid Fever To Be Expected

AUSTIN.—With the approach of spring and summer, an increase in the incidence of typhoid fever may be expected, but under wartime conditions it can very easily become a major health menace, as was pointed out in a statement released by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Nearly all cases of typhoid in Texas can be traced to a supply of contaminated water or food," Dr. Cox said. "Some cases, of course, occur by direct contact with patients or their excreta, usually when sanitary conditions surrounding the patient are bad."

Dr. Cox said that individual water supplies which are poorly located and wells improperly enclosed may receive surface drainage and pollution; therefore springs and wells should be protected adequately. Sanitary pit privies or septic tanks also help protect wells and springs from pollution. There is real danger in the seepage from poorly constructed or delapidated privies. Fly screens and covered toilet seats help in warm weather to keep flies from breeding in toilets and carrying infection to food.

Carriers or walking cases never should be food handlers. A carrier, the doctor said, is a person who harbors typhoid germs in his body, though having no symptoms of the disease. Typhoid fever is one of the many infections that can be carried by raw milk. Pasteurized milk therefore should be used, since pasteurization kills disease organisms if they are present in the raw milk.

"Everyone contemplating trips where the safety of the milk and water supplies cannot be established," Dr. Cox declared, "should be immunized by the family doctor. Three doses of the vaccine are given in weekly intervals. The treatment is not dangerous, and it gives protection for two years or more."

Salvation Army Warns Donors

Wellington citizens, especially merchants, were warned this week by the Salvation Army that workmen of an organization similar in appearance to Army workers are making regular collection trips to this city, Shamrock, Wheeler and other Panhandle towns. Many donations have been given by persons thinking they are donating to the Salvation Army.

"This is to advise that the Salvation Army does not make your city or Shamrock regularly, although it is in our territory, and anyone doing so is endeavoring to profit by our good name," Captain Herschel Murphy, commanding officer of the headquarters at Pampa, said Tuesday.

"We may always be identified by the 'S' on the collar and the red band on the cap or bonnet with plain letters: 'The Salvation Army.' Suffice to say, in the last ten years numerous 'Armies' have sprung up. We just thought you should know what goes on!" Captain Murphy continued.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Whittier and Scenic Daly City, 25, California, February 27, 1944.

Dear Deck: After many months of trying to find enough news to write you that might be interesting I will see if I can succeed tonight in letting you and the rest of my good old home town know I still exist! I have been receiving the wonderful Leader regularly and wouldn't take anything for it. I read it from cover to cover every time I get it and one can't imagine how much good it does me.

I must tell you I feel very lucky as you might put it, fortunate I say, that now for the last month or two my younger, and baby brother, Stanley, is stationed on Treasure Island, about eight miles from me, and we have been together rather often since he has been there. Just today, he and one of his mates came over and visited me, but unfortunately this time I am on C. Q. today and couldn't get off duty while they were here, so we just sat around and talked, looked at pictures and played games in the Day Room. When he first came in I had the Wellington Leader lying on a table and he spied it and grabbed it quickly and said, "Oh, boy, the good old Wellington Leader." I wonder if there is a better paper published!

One of my brothers, Morris, is in Guadalcanal and the other, Oliver, is in New Jersey, the last I heard from them. I am considered a veteran of California, I guess. I've been here over two years now, and in the same location for 13 months now. Everything is going O. K. with me and I'm still doing the same kind of tedious, grinding work. I am in charge of a platoon of men and it becomes quite a headache sometimes. However we do have various kinds of recreation here, such as football, baseball, basketball, snooker and pool, and volley ball. My team plays a game tomorrow! Hope we win, ha. My brother said today he felt like he was at home, what with all these ball grounds and recreational hall, etc., around to keep one contented.

I told him I also had fun down San Francisco way, bowling, roller skating, dancing, ice skating, etc. There is no end to having fun in S. F., yet one can do his part in this war too; the type of work we're doing here. I hope what I've said doesn't affect the morale of boys overseas or in isolated spots, for I think of all of them when I'm enjoying the many sports we are privileged here. It really keeps us contented and helps our morale immensely.

Tell all my good friends "hello" for me and that I am very proud of each and every one of those in Collingsworth County who contributed so much in the late 4th War Loan Drive. I think of how much it helps toward bringing us boys back home sooner.

Deck, I certainly enjoyed your two articles, one on David Coyle and I agree with you very much on Drew Pearson's letter concerning Capt. Cherry. You see, I don't miss any article in The Leader. In case my subscription expires in the near future will you please notify me of same in the space given for that purpose and I will renew my subscription for I simply can't do without my hometown news.

I must terminate this "catalog" for now and until we have that glorious reunion after Victory, I shall say, "Keep buying Bonds, 'til you can buy no more, and we'll win this war in '44."

As always a friend,
Vernon.

Dear Mr. Wells: I received my copy of the Leader Monday and was really glad to get it. Thanks a lot because it really helps out when you can read about what is happening at home.

I had heard before I came out to the desert that it seldom ever rain-

A NAZI HARBOR NORTH OF ROME

Looking down from a reconnaissance plane you see a flight of B-25 Mitchell bombers (lower left) of the 12th USAAF leaving behind them a flock of bombbursts among harbor installations at Civitavecchia, a town of 19,000 a short way up the coast of Italy from Rome. Harbors like this make mighty fine enemy supply dumps if left alone—so they're bombed regularly.

ed. That is wrong. It rained six days and nights last week here.

There are some pretty places out here but I wouldn't trade the panhandle of Texas for all of them.

I don't know any news to write so tell everyone hello. Thanks again for the Leader.

A friend,
Raymond C. Creed

(The following letter was received by Mrs. G. M. Hunter from her son, Pfc. Walter E. Hunter, who receives his mail % P. M. New York, N. Y.)

Dear Mother: I still haven't heard from you since I left the states, but maybe I will in the next few days. I have got one letter since I left and that was from Geneva. I got it today. I am getting along ok. Can't tell you just what I am doing. The customs of the people over here are much different from the ones in the states. The people are very friendly. The most of the people have very nice homes, but don't have too much to eat and believe me they know how to take care of what food they do get. The cars are very small but most of the people ride bicycles. They drive on the left hand side of the road. It seems very funny to me. But maybe I will learn it. The money is very different too. They call four dollars one pound. I don't much like the money but maybe I will catch on. I know you are worrying yourself sick about me but there is no use in that so please don't worry too much about me. I know I am a long way from home but I can hardly realize that I am so far.

Boy, but I sure saw a lot of water coming over. Believe me but it was good to see land again. The country side is sure pretty. All in all this is a fairly beautiful country. Everyone seems so quiet and peaceful. They really care for their homes and their farms. I find everything rather interesting to study and watch the way of the people. Everything is so old fashioned. You don't see

Well I don't know too much to write so I will close now so keep your chin up.

Love,
Walter.

(The following letter was received by Mrs. J. L. Burt from her son, Pfc. J. L. Burt, who is somewhere in Italy.)

Dear Mom: Well, I have finally found a few minutes so I can write you. I'm still in Italy but Heaven only knows where. We have moved and moved until I don't know where we are. We had to move by box car and nearly froze to death. This is really a pretty country although there is no convenience whatsoever. We have to sleep on the ground, use candles for light, and have a stove made out of a big tin can. It is really cold here now, but should be pretty in a couple of months. All in all, it's really a rough life, but I always say if the next man can take it, so can I.

If you ever have time to send me anything to eat in the way of sweets such as cookies or candy, I sure would appreciate it, cause that is something we won't have at all. I think we will be able to get cigarettes though, and for only 50c a pack.

I got my first mail yesterday—30 letters and was I glad. I was sure surprised about Bee getting married but why did you think I would say anything about it. The only thing I can say is I hope she will be as happy as I am being married—then everything will turn out OK.

My candle is about to go out, so I better get my sack made and try to keep from freezing. Bye for now. Note new APO number.

All My love,
J. L.

(The following letter was received by Mrs. Fred Kersten from her son, Cpl. Roy F. Kressten, who is somewhere in England.)

Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know that I am O. K. Hope this finds you and the family the same. As you will or should notice my APO number has changed. Please don't forget to put it on the letters you write hereafter. Mother please notify the paper of this change in APO number so maybe I'll get the paper. It has been over a month since I have received one.

Mother, I wish you could see this country. The houses are all more or less just like doll houses. The country side is sure pretty. All in all this is a fairly beautiful country. Everyone seems so quiet and peaceful. They really care for their homes and their farms. I find everything rather interesting to study and watch the way of the people. Everything is so old fashioned. You don't see any cars as big as the Fords or Chevrolet. Most of them are like the Austins and about half the size of our automobiles.

Well sweetheart, I guess I will close till later so good luck and best wishes.

Love,
Roy.

New Tractor Tires Scarce

"A replacement certificate for a tractor tire will not be issued under any circumstances when it is possible to get further service from that tire by means of vulcanizing or recapping, or by using a boot or reliner," J. Doyle Settle, District OPA Rationing Executive, has announced.

Due to the acute shortage of farm tractor and implement tires, especially tractor rear tires, the 1944 spring quota will be considerably less than that of 1943. Though the quota, because of the extensive agricultural activities in this section, is larger for this district than any other, the demand will be much greater than the supply unless operators will their present tires, he urged.

Mr. Settle emphasized the fact that unless these precautions are taken, there will be many tractors without any tire replacements available, for the quota allows replacements only when there is no other way of keeping the tractor in operation.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Bura Handley recently received a letter from Southwest Airways Company in which they expressed their interest in having Wellington on their proposed air route. Among other things they say that there will be a minimum of two round trips a day. So far so good. Let's give our officials a pat on the back and tell them to keep busy. They like to know that the people are interested.

Wellington must keep up with the air development if it hopes to be a trading center. Consider Captain McClaskey, who was here this week. Do you think he is going to be riding around in an automobile very long after the war is over.

I was in a meeting with big daily publishers recently. One of these thinks the German air force is in a bad way already. He says that they are faced with the decision of seeing the Allies destroy their cities and their productive power or use up their reserves and have nothing left to oppose the invasion. He thinks the Allies will first give an all out test to the theory that Germany can be knocked out from the air; but if that won't do it, he is of the opinion that our side has plenty of stuff for the invasion. He also thinks that the Japanese Navy will have to fight a full dress battle before summer is over or else they will never have a chance.

Another publisher who has been investigating the feasibility of putting in a Frequency Modulation station, told me something I did not know about television. Most of us think radio will control all of television. They will control a big part; but the movies are moving in too. They intend to broadcast with television such events as football games, baseball, prize fights, races, etc. These will be shown only in theatres. They have a way of scrambling the waves lengths and unscrambling so people with private sets will not be able to get the program meant for the theatre.

Just imagine—instead of taking a plane to Austin to see Texas beat A. and M., I will simply walk over to the Ritz and sit down and see it and hear it at the same time.

There were those who thought the invention of the chicken incubator a crime against nature and those who saw in the passing of the horse and buggy the decline of a civilization. When I think of some of the new improvements, I believe I know how they felt.

Only two generations ago, it took my Aunt Doll and her husband three weeks to travel from Wise County to their new home near Tullia. But think of what she learned of the country during those three weeks, camping out every night. Imagine how much she thought, wondered and hoped. Today a young bride could travel the same distance in three hours. Is that 100 per cent good?

Collingsworth will have to do more, much more, if we raise the Red Cross quota for 1944. Evidently some people do not understand that every person will have to double their gift this year. This is one quota that must be raised.

One man who is a life member of the Red Cross, which means he gave $250 to pay up his dues for life, cheerfully gave $50 this year. This man knows what the Red Cross is doing and something of the great need.

If they can get it planted early, more farmers will grow more long staple cotton this year than at any time during the past 15 or 20 years. There is a premium on this type of cotton and the farmers know that it is needed in the war effort. They also know that the seed is needed for protein feed for livestock as well as vegetable oil. With a favorable season, most of them predict that there will be a satisfactory increase in acreage. However, if they get washed out or blown out and have to make a decision about late June plantings, they intend to turn to feed which is also needed urgently.

What about the fruit this year? It seems that the trees are blooming too early. All the old timers are predicting a killing cold spell either the last of March or early in April.

OUR TOP ACES IN EUROPE

Maj. Walter C. Beckham, left, of Pensacola, Fla., and Capt. Waiker M. Mahurin of Fort Wayne, Ind., Thunderbolt fighter pilots, are the USAAF's top aces in European theater, with 16 enemy planes each.

What Wellington needs is about three months of cleaning up. The streets need cleaning. The alleys need cleaning. The yards need cleaning. The citizens should get their own premises ship-shape. Then they will have a right to call on the city.

The courthouse lawn needs a manicure, haircut and shave. It looks awful. Something should be done about the courthouse lawn now.

Boy Scout Notes

Troop 32
Paying dues and telling of good deeds done started off the weekly meeting Monday night for members of Troop 32. Three new members were accepted, Dale Turner, Junior Vaughn, and Parker Turner. This makes 23 members of the troop.

Thursday evening Scouts will go out to collect rocks for the scout hut, which will be built at the end of the war.

The troop is also getting some equipment, such as boxing gloves, mats, and other items.

The Cub Scouts also need new members, so all boys between the ages of 9 and 12 are urged to come to the Methodist Church Monday evening at 5:30.

Scouts, including boys between 12 and 18 years of age, are invited to the scout meeting, held the same evening at the Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock.

Wm. Risinger To Coach At Quail

William Risinger, principal and coach of the Claude school this year, has been named to that capacity in the Quail School and will begin his work there Tuesday, March 14. He takes the place of Herman Moseley, who reports for service with the Army on that date.

An outstanding college and semi-pro athlete, Mr. Risinger will take over the entire school athletic program, beginning with children of the first grade.

As an additional service, and one not previously tried at Quail, he will organize a baseball team for men of the community. This plan is already meeting with enthusiasm in the community. Noah Cunningham, school superintendent, said.

Mr. Risinger is a graduate of Texas Technological College, where he was one of the school's outstanding basketball and baseball players. He later played basketball with a semi-pro team. Before going to Claude, he was coach at Goodnight.

He will continue to emphasize basketball as the principal sport for high school boys at Quail, adding a wide variety of trick plays to roundout the already efficient playing of the team.

Mr. Risinger is recognized as an efficient school administrator as well as a coach. A knee injury he received a number of years ago has kept him out of the armed forces to date.

Mrs. Risinger and their small daughter will accompany him to Quail.

Concrete Floors Keep Out Rats

Concrete floors in grain storage structures have the advantage of being rat proof and of providing a plentiful substitute for scarce building materials. According to M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer for the A. and M. College Extension Service, concrete simplifies construction, solves the heavy load problem in grain storage, and makes it possible to keep the whole building lower since wooden floors for permanence should be at least two feet above the ground.

Adventures of THE TOTTIES

(READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE Totties were satisfied to stop their fishing. Goldy cried, "Before we cook a fish meal we should dry wee Dotty's clothes." "She's soaking wet. So's Scouty. They are bound to catch a cold that way. We'll build a great big fire and they'll dry quickly, goodness knows." "All right," the fisherman replied. "There is a pile of wood beside my little hut." In just a little while they had a blaze that made the soaked ones dry as they could be. "Okay! That's great!" the man replied. "I'll stuff some moist bread crumbs inside. While I am doing that, you Totties get the oven hot." THE oven stood right on the ground and all the Totties gathered round while Windy built a nice hot fire. The fisherman then said, "Hur-rah!" and put the stuffed fish on the tray that slid into the oven. "Get paper plates, and forks and knives. You'll have the meal of your young lives," exclaimed the friend. The two girls ran into the shack and very shortly came right back. "We have them," shouted Dotty. "There's enough for everyone." And when the Totties ate their fill, they thanked the man with all good will. Then they gathered up their things and all went home—good boys and girls.

Get Ready For Home Canning

COLLEGE STATION.—Homemakers who wait until the garden season is well advanced before they get their canning equipment in shape are running a big risk, warns Mrs. Winfield J. Leverenz of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Mrs. Leverenz, who is Extension food preservation specialist, says equipment people are busy making repairs and supplying parts, and further delay may mean the loss of days or weeks in getting equipment in tip-top shape.

There are some kinds of checking homemakers can do for themselves the specialist points out. For example, they can check their jars to be sure there are no cracks or chipped ones set aside for use this year. Re-use of war-time tin cans is not recommended by the Extension Service since these often become discolored, rusty, and corroded. Usually the seams are not suitable for re-flanging. Mrs. Leverenz also warns against reusing war-time rubber rings.

"Small rubber rings when you are buying them," she advises. "Avoid getting rings which smell strongly like rubber tires or tubes, since this affects flavor and odor of food."

Homemakers should make certain the rings they buy are suitable for the type of closure they intend to use, and they should follow carefully the instructions which come with war-time jars, closures, and tin cans.

Throughout Texas, county home demonstration agents and experienced home demonstration club women who have been canning successfully for years are helping less experienced homemakers test their pressure cookers and check other equipment. In testing Victory mottle cookers, ordinarily made of steel with valve or weight-type gauges, Mrs. Leverenz recommends leaving the maximum thermometer in the cooker for 10 to 15 minutes. In the pre-war models three to five minutes was sufficient.

More than 5,000 volunteers in four Red Cross packing centers packed 3,550,000 prisoners of war packages in the first 11 months of 1943.

Mrs. Blanche Dakil visited relatives in Childress over the week end.

Fifty Million Loss Credited To Family Hearths

STILLWATER, Okla.—Among fifty million dollars a year are lost because of defective flues, chimneys, stoves, furnaces and from fire hazards growing directly from carelessness around the family hearth, reveals Dr. DeWitt Hunt, safety specialist at the Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Many of these needless losses could be prevented with very little effort on the part of the individuals concerned, Dr. Hunt believes. This is true, he continues, because most of the fires which destroy farm and city homes are due to "little things" or so the person involved thinks.

One way to invite disaster, the safety specialist says, is to keep repeating to yourself over and over that careless advice—"Well, I've done this hundreds of times and nothing has happened yet."

"That's probably what the farm wife said as she threw kerosene on hot coals concealed by ashes, just before she was seriously burned by an explosion," Hunt explains. "And it may be what some others victim is thinking just before a property-destroying fire is kindled."

Usually the home operator recognizes a fire hazard when he thinks in terms of fire losses, the safety enthusiast points out, and a listing of some of the major hazards is all that is necessary bring about a correction which may save both the family home and lives too.

Some of the points which Dr. Hunt believes would be well to keep in mind as the winter approaches are these:

- 1. Inspect the flues carefully before hot fires are built. Flues of defective nature cost residents of the United States $25,000,000 annually, not to mention the loss of life involved. 2. When putting up the stoves for winter, be certain that they are at a safe distance from the wall, are spark proof, and that there is a safe fire-proof shield in between the stove and floor. 3. Use only spark proof stove-pipe and make certain that the joints are well fitted. It is best to tie the pipe with bailing wire so that it can not possibly slip out. 4. Do not make arrangements for drying clothing near the stove unless ample space is provided between the clothes and stove or stovepipe. Many fires are started when the heat waves float clothing from an improvised clothes line onto the stove. 5. Where stovepipes or heating pipes pass through walls, enclose the pipes in galvanized iron, double-walled, ventilated thimbles at least 12 inches wider than the diameter of the pipes. 6. Never pour kerosene into a stove, not even when the fire is out. Lurking coals may turn it into an explosive gas. 7. Always put ashes in a strong metal can. Coals in ashes can retain their fire for hours after you may think all danger is gone. 8. Have enough dampers on stoves and stovepipes so that excessive fires can be controlled without danger to the operator or house. Then keep the fires down so that stovepipes are never heated red hot. 9. Keep chimneys and flues clean and soot-free. Fires are often caused by clogged flues. 10. Do not dry wood in a kitchen oven. Changes take place under such conditions which are not apparent to the user and which can cause destruction.

"H* hour" on the dairy sector

Count this man among the hard fighters for a United Nations' victory. Seven days a week, every week, he is in the front line of the battle for food.

His "objective" has been set. He is to help produce more milk than the nation has ever produced before, milk and the products of milk being rich in nutrients we all need for health and strength and stamina.

Because cheese carries important food values of milk in concentrated, shippable form, the Government's requirement for our fighting men and fighting allies is estimated at nearly 400 million pounds this year. And over 500 million more pounds of cheese are needed . . . for you and other civilians to share.

Winning the battle on the dairy sector will be far from easy; there are many obstacles to overcome. But our dairyman friend was in action when "H hour" (the hour of attack) came before sunrise today. So will he be tomorrow and the next day.

He'll get no decoration for heroism in service, no medal to wear on his Sunday-best suit. But he doesn't care. This is his job, his vital job in the war . . . and he'll do it.

Because of the tremendous demand, both military and civilian, you may not be able to get as much Kraft Cheese as you would like, or get your favorite varieties—Kraft American, "Old English", "Philadelphia", "Brand Cream Cheese, Velveta, and so on. But you may be sure, as always, that any cheese or cheese food which bears the Kraft name represents the very highest standard of quality.

Editorial

The Army and Navy Journal, which may not be accused of talking merely to hear itself talk, advances in a recent issue the possibility of early efforts of the Japanese to obtain a termination of the war in the Pacific. The publication sees a persuasive similarity between Japan's present situation and that which, in 1904, led to the representations which brought President Theodore Roosevelt in as mediator in the Russo-Japanese War. The offer this time likely would come through Russia.

There is enough evidence that the seemingly fantastic view of early peace negotiations is being seriously considered in some quarters. It is enough to put the United States on-guard. The American people have no intention of being drawn into any negotiations or discussions on the subject of the Japanese war. That is a war which we elect to be our own business, and it will be settled by ourselves in the way we have determined. That way is nothing less than complete victory which will make possible the necessary arrangements insuring that never again will the Japs be able, even by treachery and surprise to give us any trouble in the Pacific.

It would be suicidal folly to let Japan off with anything less than the retribution her treachery and cruelty have earned. The Allies made one of history's greatest mistakes in 1918 when they let Germany go without whipping her down. This war in Europe is the consequences of that mistake. We should make an even greater mistake should we repeat the error with respect to Japan.

The Japs would not be talking of peace were they winning the war. We can be sure of that.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Senator Overton of Louisiana proposes changing the name castor oil to "Elixir of Life" to lessen dosing resistance. But as Shakespeare most certainly would have said, castor oil by any other name would taste as nasty.

Attorney General Francis Biddle says that a Falangist is no better than a Nazi or Fascist, and not fit to be a United States citizen. Franco-ly speaking, those are harsh words.

The Jap Domei news agency told its readers, "It can be said that the German army is in control of the war situation." Yes, it can be said.

• Pantex Land Case

The government has appealed the case of paying for land on which Pantex is built. Two years ago farmers were ousted from their homes with only a few days' notice. Up to this good moment these landowners have never received a cent for their land. The total amount involved is only a few hundred thousand dollars. This money means much to these farmers, many of whom have not been able to relocate themselves when their life savings were tied up without warning. Every citizen with a thimbleful of sense knows that the government is squandering millions of dollars in many enterprises which are of questionable value to the war. Yet these land owners must wait for further court procedure simply to satisfy the whims of the Justice Department. People lose confidence in their government when the government fails to be honest with the people. In the case of Pantex, there certainly smacks an element of down-right dishonesty on the part of those charged with the responsibility of paying a reasonable price for property from which the owners were evicted without their consent.—Clyde W. Warwick in The Canyon News.

• Mesquite Forecasting

To show how good the mesquites are at long range forecasting, which the weather folks will begin to imitate in a few years if they are not already at it, you may have noticed that mesquites in one part of the country begin budding a long ways ahead of the mesquites in another part, maybe not over 30 miles a part. The ones that do and the ones that don't do not miss their forecasts more than once in 50 years. Old-time cowboys will tell you that. Those who roamed the plains in the sixties and seventies and lived well into the present century can usually not recall an instance where the plains mesquite missed. It will be fine when the weatherman gets that good. Homer Steen in The Floyd County Hesperian.

• A Time For Prayer

Lent is a time for prayer, for self-denial. It comes in the Spring, when life rises anew, and is therefore a good time to meditate on the causes of things.

Some people take their Lent with formal fasting and church observances. Others think the formal side of religion is not important. Which group one belongs to is a matter of individual temperament and preference. But ever human being can profit by taking a little time for prayer, for meditation, for trying to be more gentle, decent, generous, kind, and fair. Fairness to other people, in work, thought and deed, is the only working basis of democracy.—The Amarillo Times.

• Corn Cobs

We searched the town last week for three or four cobs—plain cobs which hold grains of corn in neat rows—and could find none. We found that Lester Bellamy was going to Lubbock for a load of corn next week and he promised to bring us some cobs. Corn is an aborigine of this country, but has become a vanished American in this section. This despite the fact several years ago, such crops were grown near Medicine Mound that ricks, hundreds of yards long, were staked along the railroad right-of-way, awaiting shipment.

Oh, yes—the cobs were to be used in the training of bird dogs. They are excellent items to retrieve.—J. A. Koch in The Quanah Tribune-Chief.

Can you recall those distant days when, as you walked home in the gloaming, you knew what families were going to have steak for supper by the sound of the pounding of a plate in the kitchen?

"We honestly think that when a man or woman has the nerve to enter politics for personal or other reasons, they should be given most respectful hearings and help them through their task, which at times is most unpleasant," comments Editor Robert L. Baldrige in the Clifton Record. "Some have to handle the political business of life and some enjoy it, and others would not participate in such for any amount of money."

Speaking of Mark Twain, as we were recently:

The great writer had little formal schooling—which was the reason perhaps that his naturally robust and vigorous style of writing had the luxuriance of a forest in its native state and not the trimmed exactitude of a garden hedge. Punctuation bothered him, so he prefaced one article with four lines of periods, six lines of comas and three or four miscellaneous lines of semi-colons, colons, hyphens, exclamation points and question marks, then followed with the declaration that authorities differ so much on punctuation that he was giving the reader a liberal supply of the different marks and he could put them in to suit himself.

Of course, Twain's most famous saying was the one about the weather—"Everybody talks about it but nobody does anything about it."

Another was when it was reported that he had died and he notified the newspaper, "The report of my death is greatly exaggerated."

He also made the observation that more people died in bed than anywhere else so he had made up his mind that he was never going to sleep in bed again.

If You Made A Mistake

If you find you made a mistake in your Income Tax return and already have filed it, what do you do? If your error was simply one of arithmetic, your mistake probably will be corrected without your action. If you made a mistake in your income or deduction entries, contact the office of the collector where you filed your return. You may need to file an amended return.

Will Review Deferments

Local selective service boards have been directed to review cases of all registrants 18 through 37 years old and deferred in classes 2A, 2B, 2C, and 3C. Particular attention will be given registrants under 26 years of age in view of the President's statement that agriculture and industry should release the younger men for military service.

Single Ration Book

After food shoppers have used their Brown Y and Z stamps, they do all their food shopping with ration Book Four. The ration token plan now in effect eliminates use of stamps of four denominations (8, 5, 2, and 1 points) and uses stamps of one denomination (10 points) with one-point ration tokens for change.

Care For 200,000 Babies

Nearly 200,000 babies and their mothers were cared for up to February 1 under the Emergency Maternity and Infant Care Program. Hospital and medical care are provided without cost to wives of service men in the four lowest pay grades, during pregnancy, childbirth, and for six weeks after the baby is born, and for the infant during its first year.

Serial Numbers

A strip of serially numbered coupons in a cardboard folder will now be issued to renewal applicants of "B" and "C" supplemental gasoline rations, and new "E" and "R" rations for gasoline-powered equipment. Serial numbering of coupons is one of OPA's strongest weapons against the gasoline Black Market. Motorists must still endorse their coupons.

Women Farm Workers

The work of non-farm women, including teachers, college students, stenographers, and professionals, on farms in the United States during 1943 satisfied farmers, who have indicated willingness to employ them more extensively this year. Recruiting is handled by the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Employment Service.

Round-Up

As a result of recent OPA actions—glass jars of apples, applesauce, apple juice, and sweet cider will sell at retail for approximately two cents more than the same-sized tin cans... 10,000 new passenger automobiles and 7,500 new bicycles will be available under rationing to civilians in March... Ration point values for country butter will be lowered in areas where necessary to move it faster and prevent spoilage... Effective June 1, the country shipper may add $1 a hundredweight to his ceiling price for sales to the ultimate consumer when he makes such sales in amounts up to 800 pounds... Reductions are expected in some lines of lamps and lamp shades which have been selling at excessive prices... Lard is temporarily removed from rationing... Temporarily maximum prices for the 1944 crop of sweet potatoes will remain at levels at which they were frozen last December, except for sales to dehydrators... WFA has announced that—the price of feed wheat has been increased one-cent per bushel and field wheat will be sold through grain distributors to carlot buyers at established county prices without merchandising charges... Cannery have been notified to increase their set-up of canned grapefruit juice for war purposes from 32 to 38 per cent... Over 3,500,000 pounds of dried apples and nearly 1,000,000 pounds of (Zante) currants will be released for civilians... 50,000,000 pounds of lard have been released for soap-making in March... WPB says that—repairmen may use up to $25 worth of authorized material for installing cooking, plumbing, heating, or used air-conditioning or refrigeration equipment units and he may use up to $250 worth of material for an authorized new air-conditioning or refrigeration system.

Industry Speed Up Due In Texas

WACO.—Joining Senator Tom Connally of Texas in his prediction that an almost amazing post-war prosperity will come to Texas, William E. Levis, Chairman of the Board, Owens-Illinois Glass Company, expressed satisfaction because his company has just opened operations at the new Waco plant.

"As I see it," said Mr. Levis, "the coming of the war has speeded up the industrial development of Texas so that industry, agriculture and natural resources will be able to progress together when peace comes. Those who direct the affairs of this company are in a position to know because our operations in making glass containers involve industry, agriculture and natural resources. We are, of course, very happy to be part of this tremendous development, the extent of which even we are not able to prophesy."

Mr. Levis and a large number of Owens-Illinois officials attended the formal opening of the Waco plant recently, and at that time held conferences with a number of Texas business and financial leaders.

The Waco plant is producing essential glass containers for packaging industrial, chemical and food products at the rate of 300,000 daily.

Plane Crash Lands Saturday

A twin engine plane from the Pampa Army Airfield made a forced landing Saturday shortly before noon on the Charlie Roberts farm, one-fourth mile north of the Otto Buerger home in the south part of the county.

The pilot, a Lieut. Gilbreath, told Mr. Buerger that their gasoline supply was not sufficient for them to reach a landing field. Neither was there time to let the plane's landing gear down, consequently, it skidded approximately 100 feet after reaching the ground. Neither the pilot nor the cadet accompanying him were injured, and Mr. Buerger said the plane appeared to be not badly damaged. The plane was loaded on a truck Sunday and taken to the Altus Airfield for repairs.

Junior High Letters 10 Boys

This is the first year that Junior High has had a regular team. Of the 14 games played, only three were lost, two to Hollis and one to Childress. Later the boys won over the Childress team, 27 to 16.

Altogether, the season has been successful, Mr. Lehmanberg declared. Boys to receive letters are Junior Orr, captain; Mickey Boyd, two year letter; Roy Ray Bell, Kenneth Winter, Walter Johnson, Raymond McGill, Clifford Hardin, Johnny Jones, and Junior Trimble.

Would your car take-off and fly with 100-OCTANE GASOLINE?

"I had a strange dream last night," said the A-Card Driver. "Somehow I got a tankful of 100-octane gasoline; and when I left the gas station, my 1939 puddle-jumper had such fantastic pep and power that it took-off and sailed right over the head of the traffic cop."

Strange dream is right! Because strange as it seems, today's 100-octane aviation gasoline will not greatly improve the performance of today's cars. Your present engine was designed for the gasoline which was available at the time you bought your car, and 100-octane would add little or nothing to its satisfactory operation.

When victory comes, however, automotive designers will undoubtedly develop smaller, much higher compression engines which will deliver remarkable mileage and power with post-war super fuels.

When that day arrives, Phillips will be ready... because Phillips was one of the first, and remains one of the largest makers of high octane aviation fuels. Phillips present production of 100-octane gasoline could fuel enough Flying Fortresses to drop 600 tons of bombs on Berlin daily. And soon the figure will be stepped up to an equivalent of gasoline sufficient to drop 800 tons of bombs per day on the German capital.

Actually, this American super fuel is not gasoline made by ordinary refinery processes. It is a true synthetic chemical, made by chemical processes which rearrange the petroleum hydrocarbon molecules.

That is why we say: Every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries, in addition to producing gasoline, lubricants, and fuel oils... are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

Glitter On Gingham

Glitter on gingham is new for southern and summer dancing. Checked Everfast gingham has the narrow shoulder straps adorned with sequins and completes the enchanting picture fashion with a large gingham flower for the hair. (Inset) Sweet and low, the scalloped neckline of this bandbox beige linen frock is typical of the many exposed-throat styles designers are favoring. Slash pockets just below the waistline are also scalloped, and Lilly Dache's cool, polka-dotted headdress gives the same effect with wired, round-petalled posies framing the face.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Hair of Quail, Left Monday to Make Their Home in Baileyboro, Tex.

Mr. O'Hair will be engaged in farming there.

The senior girls of Wellington High School have just completed a fifteen hour course in Volunteer Nursing. The object of the course was to prepare the high school girl for emergency service in the hospital.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital sponsored the course in the school. The instructor was Sister Catherine Dominic. The course included instruction in personal hygiene, nursing technique, and the making of supplies.

Among the subjects discussed were: The Importance of Maintaining Community Health, First Aid, Plasma, Laboratory Procedures, and X-ray as used in Diagnosis. The classes in theory were held at the high school, while the demonstration classes were held at the hospital.

The group of students attending the class showed remarkable ability and keen enthusiasm. All have offered their services, should an emergency arise in which the hospital needs their help. The girls who completed the required course, and were present at the informal graduation party, Wednesday, March 1, were: Betty Berry, Bobbie Lou Brewer, Catherine Clark, Lois Cooper, Merkie Kersten, Brownie Lamb, Sue Leach, Nova Loving, Dorothy Norman and Wynona Smith.

Refreshments were served, and each girl received a certificate and a nurse's cap for a favor. Those ranking highest in theoretical and practical ability were Betty Berry, Catherine Clark, Lois Cooper, Brownie Lamb and Dorothy Norman.

Others who attended the class but were unable to be present for the final examination and party are: Tinsie Earsary, La Vora Hall, Macie Hawkins, Virginia Hayes, Helen Kersten, Christine Lindley, Jean Wilson and Zona Wolf.

"Milk does more for the body than any other food and does it more cheaply." That statement by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is forcefully illustrated in this dairy chart showing the high percentage of each of the daily food elements which are provided by a quart of milk and the other foods necessary to complete daily dietary requirements.

The average cost of a quart of milk delivered to the home in the United States is 15.1 cents. The average cost of other foods needed to complete an economical diet and provide the balance of the nutrients needed daily is about 44 cents. Rising food costs together with the necessity of maintaining the best possible wartime diets are now giving added emphasis to the economy of milk.

Plan Will Save Feed, Help To Increase Meat

(Editor's Note: This is the 12th article of a series for livestock producers.)

With the greatest need for meat-products in history, the practical war-time production program recently outlined by Dr. C. D. Lowe, Senior Extension Animal Husbandman, U. S. Department of Agriculture, deserves the study and full cooperation of all livestock producers, says A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association.

Dr. Lowe's recommendations are:

1. Adjust livestock numbers to feed resources on the basis of dependable information. There is not enough feed to maintain indefinitely the present livestock population. Culling to improve average quality, and adjustments in numbers on the basis of relative abilities and efficiencies in feed use are sound and necessary.

2. Use feed efficiently, and avoid actual feed losses. Protein supplements, especially, should be fed so as to obtain the largest practicable output of currently needed products and to assure future production facilities. Protect feed in storage, and keep feeding equipment in good repair.

3. Control and prevent disease and parasite losses. All-time-high livestock numbers, high-pressure production methods, and shortages of farm labor and veterinary personnel tend to increase death losses, unthriftness and feed wastage.

4. Take advantage of local sources of protein and other feeds. Temporary pastures can contribute much by increasing grazing periods, providing needed roughage, furnishing low-cost protein and helping conserve other feeds as reserves against future shortages. Hay harvesting practices such as early cutting and proper curing to increase protein and vitamin content also are important. Full utilization of garbage and by-product feeds should not be overlooked.

5. Obtain high-percentage calf, lamb and pig crops, and protect them against loss during early life. Adequate nutrition of breeding stock (especially attention to protein, mineral and vitamin requirements) and proper management and care of breeding and young stock are essential.

6. Less highly-finished beef and lamb and more with moderate finish. Fatness beyond Good and Low Choice grades tends to use feed for the production of a commodity not essential in our war food economy.

7. Market hogs at normal average weights. Feed requirements per pound of gain increase with live animal weights and weights above normal average weights do not contribute to feed conservation.

8. Farm family meat supply. Local production and preservation of rural family meat needs aids human nutrition and relieves commercial processing and transportation facilities.

Navy Establishes Cable Service

A world-wide communications system which permits persons in the United States to send personal radio and cable messages to most Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard personnel stationed overseas began service on February 15, 1944. Through the use of Navy postal numbers and code words, the new system includes transmission of fixed text messages (popularly known as Expeditionary Force Messages or EFM cables) and of personally worded messages (known as Senders' Composition Messages or SCM cables.) Overseas personnel of the Naval services are likewise now able to send messages to the United States.

The Navy system, similar to that which has been in use by the Army for some time, is based on the assignment of coded cable addresses to each Navy postal number for which cable service is available. Commercial telegraph, cable, and radio offices have been provided with a list of these coded addresses and can now accept messages for transmission.

For Navy and Armed Guard Crew personnel, sender must supply full name, rank or rating, name of activity and Navy Number or code address. Members of Armed Guard Crews who are in a port for some time will be able to receive EFM and SCM messages via the code address used for the port. Armed Guard Crewmen must obtain this code word from the senior Naval officer at the port and advise their family and friends in the United States. The name of the ship although permitted as a mail address is not authorized in SCM and EFM messages.

For permanently located Marine Corps personnel: full name, rank or rating, followed by the letters USMC, and Navy Number or code address only. EFM messages to mobile Marine personnel should be addressed in the same form, except that only the code address may be used. This address can be obtained only from the person being addressed who will be told his cable address by his unit commander.

EFM's and SCM's to certain mobile and permanently located Coast Guard personnel: full name, rank or rating, followed by the letters USCG, activity, and Navy Number or code address.

EXPERIENCE IS THE TEACHER OF COMBAT INTELLIGENCE

Realism is the keynote for combat intelligence training at Fort Eustis, Va., where trainees learn cartography, camouflage, compass reading, scouting, identification of enemy targets, etc. A training group spits, half dress in German uniforms (deloused, naturally) captured in North Africa, and then the "fun" begins. One group sets up a command and observation post and the other, starting with nothing but a compass reading, tries to discover the position, infiltrate and score a capture. At top left you see the "American" command post, complete with field telephone. Cpl. Ralph Clever, left, watches while his students, Pvt. Robert Hathaway and James Chvatal, study a map. William B. Kasefonis checks the record sheet, Frank Fidler takes a call, and Fred Cordes (back to camera) operates the switchboard. At right "Afrika Korpsman" Jack W. Moser runs forward in a crouch—right at a woodland "V for Victory"! Lower, Pvs. Pasquali Giannini, left, and James R. Craft bring in "Nazis" Joseph Vitali, J. L. Accardi and R. Riley. (Army photos.)

plane would merely make its mail pick-up and delivery and continue on to the next stop.

In the event Wellington should build its own airport, it undoubtedly would provide some sort of a control tower or administration building. The necessary provisions for a passenger waiting room could be included with slight additional cost. Should your city, on the other hand, prefer or find it necessary to receive only air-pick-up and deliveries, all the ground equipment necessary for rendering this service would be provided by us."

Southwest Airways Company, Mr. Handley explained, filed an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board in May, 1943, for airline routes covering much of Texas and Oklahoma. Announcement that Wellington would be included on one of these routes was made several months ago.

Farm Machinery Repair Course At Quail Is Extended

The Quail farm machinery repair course will be continued for an additional ten weeks, J. B. Paterson, vocational agriculture teacher who is in charge of the work, was notified recently.

This course has been in progress for the last four months.

Any farmer wishing to repair his machinery at the farm shop may do so between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. from Monday through Friday.

This course teaches farmers how to care for and repair their farm machinery, and how to secure the best service from it during the present shortage. It is offered through the co-operation of the government and the vocational agriculture department of the school.
