Veto of farm bill is 'almost certain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite criticism that it is playing politics with the plight of the nation's farmers, Congress is sending President Reagan a farm credit rescue package that appears headed for the first veto of 1985.

The bill, passed 255-168 Tuesday on a largely party-line vote, was being delivered today to the White House, where administration officials have labeled it a "budget buster" and more than what is needed to address the credit problems of farmers.

Reagan was expected to veto the measure, even though it includes authorization for non-food relief for drought-stricken Africa. Leaders of the GOP-controlled Senate have said they have votes to sustain a veto, which takes a two-thirds vote in both Houses to overturn.

But Democrats, who see the credit issue as a political boon for themselves, planned their own symbolic "bill signing" today, followed by a march up Pennsylvania Avenue to a park across the street from the White House for a rally.

"We have a long tradition, whenever any part of our great American family faces an emergency, the rest of us rally around," House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said as the House debated the measure Tuesday. "This bill is the only lifeboat in sight."

But Republicans said the Senate Democrats had done a "sloppy job" of drafting the legislation, leaving loopholes that would allow even wealthy farmers to borrow money from the government at subsidized rates.

"We seem more concerned about harvesting votes than harvesting crops," said House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill.

Attorney post to city again

Snyder city council members are again faced with identifying a new city attorney as Mike Line resigns that post due to his recent appointment to the elected position of county attorney for Scurry County.

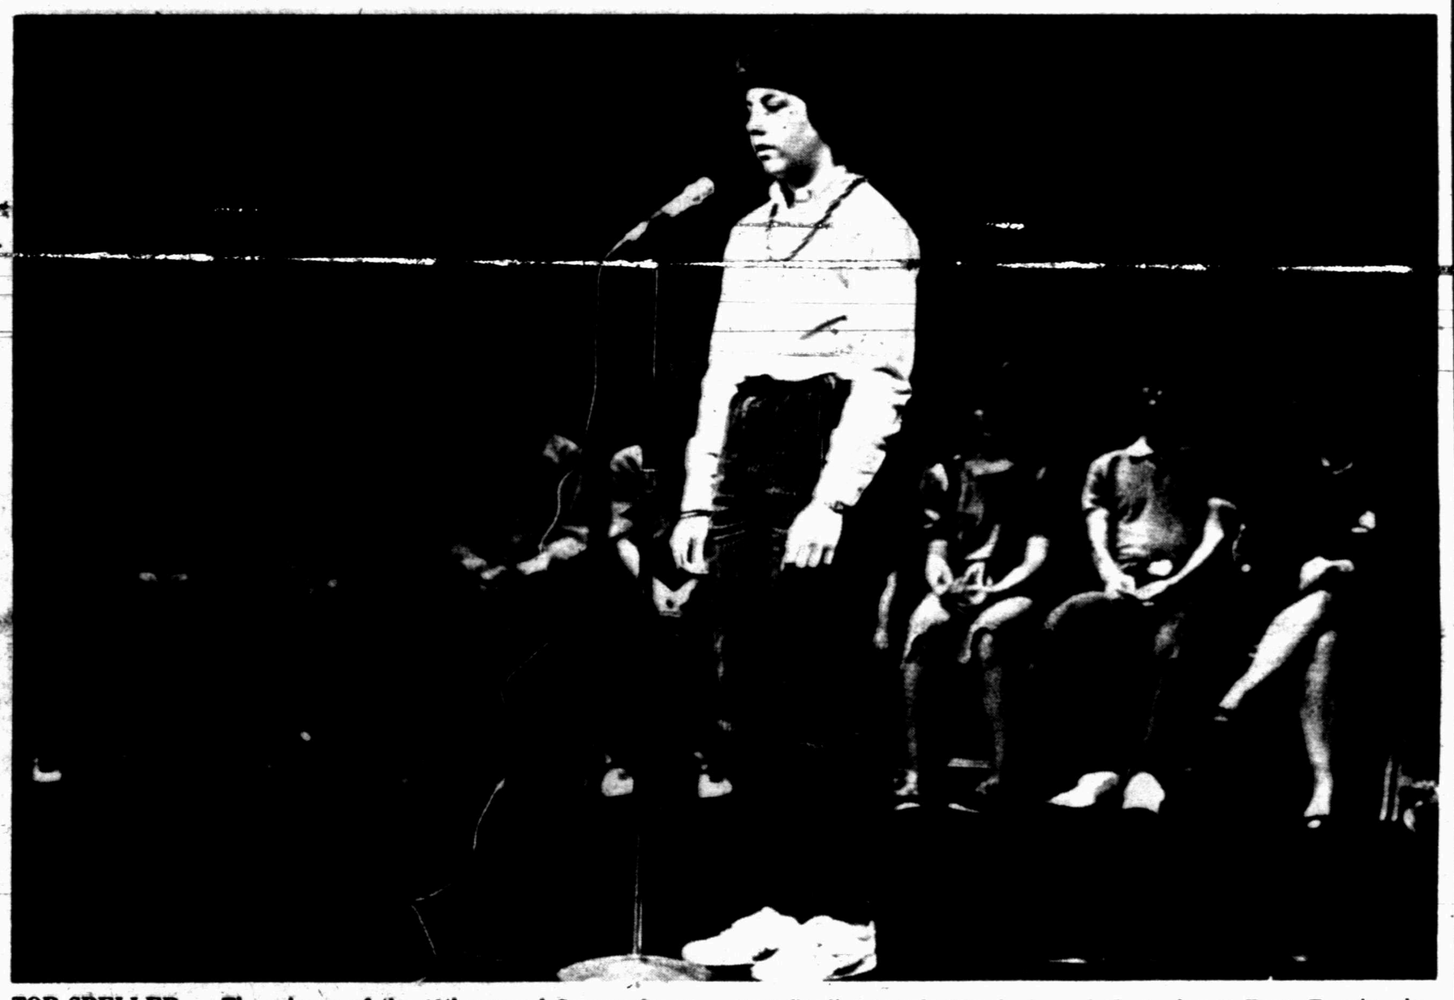

Line's resignation — a move necessitated under Texas law — will be formally accepted Thursday although council members have been aware since he accepted the county post Feb. 11 that the decision would be required.

An executive session is planned Thursday night following the council's regular March meeting to discuss the attorney's post.

Former city attorney Ernie Armstrong was required to resign the position under similar circumstances after he was elected the new district attorney for the 132nd Judicial District.

Another recent dual appointment of a county elected official and a city appointed one is legal under the law, however, the recent naming of Dan Callaway as municipal judge in addition to his duties as justice of the peace

'The GIGO Effect' on stage tomorrow

The annual concert of the combined sixth grade choirs from Snyder's six elementaries is scheduled Thursday beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School.

The choirs will perform a musical entitled "The GIGO Effect (A Computer Adventure)." Costumes, sound effects and choreography will be used with more than 200 students involved including 120 acting or spoken parts.

The musical is being staged as part of the local observance of Texas Public Schools Week.

The play's action — set in the year 2000 — revolves around a computer center being attacked by "glitches."

The word "GIGO" stands for "garbage in, garbage out," a term used when programing a computer.

Choir teachers for each of the six elementaries include Paula Howard, North Elementary; Dorothy Kaysar, Northeast; Monette O'Day, Stanfield; Donna Smith, East; J.D. Smith, Central; and Mary Lou Scott, West.

Sixth grader wins local bee

Gayle Henderson, a sixth grader at Stanfield Elementary, won the county's 10th annual spelling bee Wednesday morning with the word "demented."

After some 22 rounds, Angela Murdock, a sixth grader at East Elementary, and Henderson faced each other in final competition.

During the second round of finals, Murdock misspelled "decanter." According to spelling bee rules, Henderson spelled the word correctly, then spelled her second word correctly to take the win.

Other top finishers were Holly Joplin, eighth grader at Snyder Junior High, third place; Blair Williams, sixth grader at Northeast, fourth; and Matt Haynes, eighth grader at Snyder Junior High, fifth.

The new county spelling bee champion is the daughter of Charles and Sandra Henderson. She will represent Snyder in regional competition set for March 23 in Moody Auditorium on the Lubbock Christian College campus in Lubbock.

Entrants Wednesday represented the top 22 spellers from Snyder, Hermleigh and Ira elementary and junior high grades.

It was conducted in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

Pronouncer for the spelling words was Margaret Presswood and contest judges were Ben Brock, Ed Barkowsky, Donna Fowler and Janice Mitchell.

A list of all entrants includes:

Tax penalty waiver denied by tax board

Board members for the Scurry County Appraisal District indicated Tuesday that a misunderstanding regarding "how much" in taxes were owed is insufficient reason to waive a $64 penalty and interest fee assessed for late payment.

The request to have the penalty and interest waived "in principle" was submitted by Roy McQueen, publisher for the Snyder Daily News.

The tax in question related to newspaper-owned properties.

McQueen explained to the four members present that the original tax statements from the district were apparently lost after they were received.

He noted local attorney Dan Cotton discovered the tax payment oversight while doing legal work for the corporation.

Upon finding the oversight, he said the newspaper's bookkeeper called the appraisal district to determine how much in taxes were owed so that this payment could be made prior to the Jan.31 deadline.

The appraisal clerk who took the call, however, said she understood the request to be for the amount of taxes due on the corporation's real property — approximately $541 — rather than both real and personal property.

The amount quoted was paid, but in February the company received a notice that an additional $971 was delinquent.

Emma Huffman said her most embarrassing moment happened 15 years ago, but that she will never forget it. She wrote:

"Another lady and I were traveling together to a city 400 miles away. We were to attend a program that our seven-year-old granddaughter had a part in.

"After traveling all morning, we stopped at a nice restaurant for lunch. Before leaving we went to the restroom. In the hallway leading to the restrooms were two doors, and I thought they had started making them double.

"My friend went in one door and I went in the other. As I opened the door to come out, there was a man standing there about to come in.

"I said 'You are in the wrong place.' He said no and pointed at the sign up above the door. Sure 'nuff, it said, 'Gentlemen.'"

Estelle Swan of Snyder mailed in this "Embarrassing Moment" entry.

"When I was about 16 years old, one night I went to a party. I was trying to impress a young man there for whom I had a great crush.

"We were standing talking when a young lady came through the door. I had never seen her before and I gave her a looking over and made some unkind and critical remarks about her. I then asked who she was.

"'That's my sister,' the young man said. All my sweet smiles and fluttering lashes were down the drain, I thought. However, the romance flourished in spite of my unkind remarks, and three years later I married her brother."

Q. — What were the routes traveled by the Goodnight-Loving trails and the Chisum Trail?

A. — In Charles Goodnight's memoirs, he says the Loving Trail began in Palo Pinto County in North Central Texas. It then headed due north through Jack and Clay Counties, crossing the Red River in Texas and the Arkansas River in Oklahoma to, according to Goodnight, "The Platte River near Denver." The Chisum (also spelled Chisholm) Trail began near San Antonio and ended at Abilene, Kan. It exited Texas near Gainesville, passing through Fort Worth on the way.

In Brief

Deficit action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lopsided Senate Budget Committee vote recommending a cut in President Reagan's defense spending proposal could pave the way for quick Senate budget accord, including a freeze on Social Security benefits, committee members suggest.

On Tuesday, the panel voted 18-4 to slash $79 billion over the next three years from the Pentagon buildup proposed in the president's $974 billion budget for fiscal year 1986 — including a one-year freeze in "real" spending discounting the effects of inflation.

The vote was only tentative, since the panel will get another shot at defense spending when it takes a final vote on the overall budget package.

Miners out

LONDON (AP) — The National Coal Board says about 26,000 miners, nearly 15 percent of the national workforce, still are striking or refusing to cross picket lines despite the official end of the nearly year-old coal miners' walkout.

The continuing disruption affected mines in parts of the south Yorkshire heartland of the strike in northern England, in parts of Scotland and South Wales and all three mines in Kent in southeast England.

Administration sees fading opposition to 'Star Wars'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, having added Italy to the list of European nations that have muted their criticism of the "Star Wars" missile defense plan, is boasting that once-strenuous allied opposition to the proposal is receding.

"Based on what people are saying in public and private, there is a growing convergence, we believe, between the American and the European positions," said a senior U.S. official, who spoke only with the guarantee of anonymity.

The official made that observation during a news briefing Tuesday on the talks between President Reagan and Italian Prime Minister Bettino Craxi, who tentatively endorsed the Star Wars plan, formally known as the Strategic Defense Initiative.

But Craxi deftly avoided making an unqualified endorsement of Star Wars, while urging America to pledge it will not violate the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty by deploying the system without first negotiating it with the Russians.

With less than a week remaining before the U.S.-Soviet arms control talks in Geneva, the first Socialist prime minister of Italy since World War II said the Star Wars program will provide "mutual advantages in the scientific and technological field."

Later, at a news conference, the prime minister said he also believed the United States should give guarantees to the Russians that America will not breach the ABM Treaty.

Speaking through an interpreter, Craxi appeared to say he had passed that recommendation on to Reagan. But the U.S. official who briefed reporters on the talks said there was no discussion of guarantees.

Under the ABM treaty, research is allowed, but deployment is not. The administration's plan so far is in the research stage — at a cost of more than $33 billion over the next six years.

Craxi said that "all European industrialized countries have concern" about Star Wars, adding that they "certainly do not wish to run the risk of finding themselves 10 years down the road with technology that is tantamount to a handful of toys."

That appeared to be a reference to Craxi's request to Reagan to share the technological advances wrought by the extensive Star Wars research into how to shoot down nuclear missiles.

While suggesting that opposition was abating, the U.S. official said Reagan had not asked Craxi or other NATO allies specifically for support.

"We did not ask and are not asking our allies to sign on the dotted line," he said.

Safety measures sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Bus drivers would be required to use flashing lights and mechanical stop arms when loading and unloading children under a proposed new law introduced in a House committee.

The bill, proposed by Rep. Chris Harris, R-Arlington, was presented to the House Transportation Committee Tuesday.

Miller B. Pitts, a Dallas police officer, said the department's "hands are tied" because bus drivers currently are not mandated to activate the flashing lights.

Harris suggested that movable stop arms be attached to school buses and that drivers activate the stop arms when loading and unloading children.

Ray Worth, president of Leasing Resources of Dallas, said he started an "Adopt-a-Bus" program whereby private sources could buy the arms for school buses.

One cause for low sperm count

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has a low sperm count and we have been trying to have a baby since last year. The doctor said there was nothing wrong with me, but told my husband to take vitamin E to build up his sperm count. Will it? What can we do about this?

DEAR READER — Vitamin E is important in the fertility of many animals, but it does not improve a man's fertility or sexual ability. Your husband should see a urologist and have his sperm count evaluated again. If it is really low, then it will be necessary to find out why. A common cause for a low sperm count in a young man is a varicocele. This is nothing more than a varicose vein of the cord of the testicle.

How does a varicocele cause a low sperm count? To produce an adequate amount of healthy sperm, the temperature of the testicles must be lower than the body temperature. That is why they are located outside the body cavity. The blood in the arteries to the testicles is the same temperature as the internal body. As the arterial blood passes near normal veins in the testicle, the heat is transferred from the arteries to the veins. This keeps the temperature in the testicles lower than central body temperature. When a varicocele is present, the stagnant venous blood cannot do this. When the varicocele is removed, a high percentage of men with this problem have a significant improvement in fertility.

Vitamin C may prevent clumping of sperm cells and has been reported to help men with that problem, and men can take fertility pills, just as women do. To update you on these matters, I am sending you The Health Letter 17-4, Male Reproductive Functions. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been out of college for a number of years and my weight has been decreasing since then, to the point that I am not happy with my size. During college I weighed at least 15 pounds more, and I feel that I will become skin and bones if I don't do something to increase my weight. What can I do to gain weight, and what kind of foods will be helpful? My health is excellent and I am a somewhat-active person. I take vitamins, but they don't seem to increase my appetite.

DEAR READER — Have a medical evaluation to see why you are losing weight. Weight loss is often an important symptom of several problems. An overactive thyroid gland will cause weight loss despite adequate eating. Other endocrine disturbances also may cause weight loss, while others may cause weight gain.

You might not be eating enough and may need more calories. Vitamins do not contain calories and will not help you to gain weight, although many people who take vitamins are thankful for that.

Smoking may cause a person to stay thin, but people who smoke have the greatest health risk, and even an increased risk of death at an early age. If you smoke, stop.

If you have a poor appetite, a good moderate exercise program may stimulate your appetite and help you to gain weight. Exercise helps people to lose weight if they don't increase their appetite. However, it can increase appetite, and one gains weight by eating more calories than are used.

Dear Abby

Husband's Dirty Magazines Disgust His Puzzled Wife

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old wife and mother. A few years after I was married, I found some pornographic girlie magazines my husband had hidden. It hurt me to discover that he was reading such filth, and it hurt me even more to know that he tried to hide it from me. We discussed the matter and he promised never to read that trash again.

Well, you guessed it. Today I found some recent issues of that magazine hidden in a different place. I'm so disgusted and angry I don't know what to do. I happen to be a pretty good-looking woman, so I can't understand why my husband would want to look at filth like that. What should I do?

DECEIVED

DEAR DECEIVED: Please get over the notion that only men with unattractive wives read girlie magazines. What you look like has nothing to do with your husband's desire to look at what you call "filth."

You have much to learn about why men read girlie magazines. (It has nothing to do with you.) Please see a counselor. It would be better if your husband went with you, but if he refuses, go alone, because the problem is yours—not his.

No man should have to hide his reading material from his wife. And no wife should "make" her husband promise not to read what he obviously enjoys reading. He is a grown man, and you are not his mother.

DEAR ABBY: This is for wives who insist that their husbands wear wedding rings:

My husband and I have been married for 35 years. He wore a wedding ring all those years, and I thought we had a perfect marriage.

Then he went to his 42nd high school reunion, looked up his old high school sweetheart, and started contacting her, writing love letters and making telephone calls. I later found out he drove 200 miles on a regular basis to make love to her. (All day, he says.) The point to all this is: A wedding ring doesn't stop anything.

My boss says I should castrate him. What do you think?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: The old saying, "Don't cut off your nose to spite your face," doesn't apply anatomically here. But I think you get the idea.

DEAR ABBY: Tell the widow who found a whole bunch of keys in her late husband's drawer and was going crazy trying to find out what they were for, not to throw them away.

I also have a goodly supply of useless keys, and one day I plan to make wind chimes out of them.

MRS. P. IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR MRS. P.: Before you make all those useless keys into wind chimes, if you have neighbors, please ask them how they feel about wind chimes. They may not share your enthusiasm.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos flat-chested women: I recall a lovely French poem set to music. The translation into English is: "Oh, you flat-chested femmes, I adore you. With you, I am closer to your hearts!"

Recipe contest honors black history

Peggy English's sixth period history class at Snyder High School recently sponsored a recipe contest in honor of Black History Month in February.

Each sixth grade class in each elementary school was invited to submit a recipe and a half-page report about the recipe's origin or history.

An okra soup recipe submitted by one of Jean Sealy's social studies classes at Stanfield Elementary placed best all around recipe. A second social studies class won most unique honors with a recipe for souse meat.

Judged best history was a recipe for cracklin cornbread submitted by Janie Carroll's class at East Elementary. Beverly Robertson's sixth grade class at Northeast took second place with a recipe for johnnycakes.

These recipes are examples of foods eaten by poor blacks and whites since the Civil War.

OKRA SOUP

3 tablespoons peanut or other vegetable oil
1 medium onion
About 3 dozen fresh okra (frozen, chopped okra may be substituted)
2 small hot green chili peppers (or ¼ teaspoon ground red pepper)
3 small tomatoes
4 to 5 cups hot rich stock (meat, chicken or fish)
2 tablespoons rice (optional)
1 teaspoon salt or salt to taste

Heat oil in a large pan. Peel and slice onion and fry until soft. Wash fresh okra. Cut off stalks and slice thinly. Add to onion. Remove seeds and stems from peppers, add with tomatoes to pot. Add stock and rice, if desired. Add salt. Bring the mixture to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer, partly covered, for about 15 minutes or until okra is tender.

SOUSE MEAT

1 pig head
6 pigs feet
6 pork hocks
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 onions, sliced
3 peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1 blade mace
¾ cup cider vinegar

Clean pigs head, remove tongue and split head open. Clean pigs feet and hocks. Place head, feet and hocks into a large, heavy kettle and cover with water. Add salt and pepper. Bring to boil and cook until tender. Remove meat from liquid and cool. When cooled remove meat from bones and cut into pieces. Add sliced onions, peppercorns, bay leaf and mace to liquid in kettle.

Boil until liquid is ½ strain and cool. Skim fat from cooled liquid. Place fat, meat pieces and vinegar in a kettle and bring to a boil. Turn into a crock or large, heavy bowl with lid and add as much liquid as the bowl will hold. When cold, cut into slices. Keep refrigerated.

BRIDGE

James Jacoby

The cue-bid of three hearts by North was a way of forcing to game while suggesting a suit contract rather than no-trump. Four hearts was a partnership misunderstanding. North simply meant it as asking South to pick a suit for game — five of a minor if South's spades were weak. South thought that North was suggesting a slam, holding either a singleton or a void in hearts. Feeling that he had no wasted values, South jumped to six diamonds. It was a fine bid, though lucky, but declarer became careless in the play.

West led the heart king and continued the suit. Dummy trumped small as East contributed the ace. Declarer now played a diamond to the king and then played the king of clubs. Oblivious to the 10 from West, South continued with the club queen. West gratefully trumped to set the contract.

No doubt declarer had some idea of avoiding the worry about whether the spade jack would fall by setting up the club suit, but his thinking was fuzzy. There was a possibility, even a likelihood, that East originally held four diamonds to the jack, in which case declarer could not afford to establish the clubs by ruffing.

C. Caddell earns fraternity award

Cathy Caddell, a member of the Western Texas College chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, was named recipient of the Distinguished Service Award at the organization's state convention, Dr. Mary Hood, chapter sponsor, has announced.

"Being named winner of the Distinguished Service Award means, in effect, that Cathy was named outstanding Phi Theta Kappa member in Texas," Dr. Hood said. "We are very pleased that this honor has come to her, and we feel that it was well deserved."

Caddell also received a plaque in recognition of her services as state secretary in the 1984-85 school year. The Psi Zeta chapter at WTC was again chosen to fill the office of state secretary in 1985-86 and members of the chapter will elect one person from the chapter to serve as state secretary.

Dr. Mary Hood was also honored as Outstanding Sponsor, receiving the Mary Wilson award. Mrs. Wilson initiated this award in memory of her late husband, an instructor at East Texas State University. Mary Hood is a graduate of ETSU.

Dr. Duane Hood, also a faculty sponsor for the PTK chapter at WTC, was elected secretary for the Texas State Sponsors' Advisory Committee.

Jana Harris, a graduate of WTC and former member of the Psi Zeta chapter, was elected secretary of the Texas Phi Theta Kappa Alumni Association. Harris is currently attending Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Sarah Miller served as voting delegate for the WTC group. Other delegates were Brent Simpson, chapter president; Lorena Mendoza, vice president; Russell Smith, co-historian; Tim Metzger and Caddell.

Phi Theta Kappa is the only nationally recognized honor fraternity for students in community/-orjunior colleges. The WTC chapter was organized in 1972.

Girl marries to avoid out-of-state tuition

DENTON, Texas (AP) — On-paper-only marriages like that of a North Texas State University couple may become more commonplace if the Legislature goes ahead with plans to increase out-of-state students' tuition, a registrar says.

A 22-year-old student from a northern state told the North Texas Daily student newspaper that she paid $7 to wed and will pay $51 to divorce "Samuel," a student from Texas.

"Kelly" says the marriage-of-convenience move saves about $1,000 — she'll have to pay only $300 instead of $1,300 to complete her studies — because it makes her a legal Texas resident and eligible for in-state tuition.

The newspaper told the story of the couple but used the pseudonyms Kelly and Samuel to protect their identities.

NTSU Registrar Joneel Harris said she doesn't believe many people marry to avoid tuition. But she adds that if the Legislature follows through with raising out-of-state tuition, the practice could increase.

"Resident students only pay 12 to 15 percent of their total tuition and fees, while taxpayers pick up the rest," she said.

Bald cleaner celebrates 25th birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — His real name is Veritably Clean, but everyone calls him Mister, and 25 years after he made his television debut polls indicate that the bald, earringed detergent trademark is more recognizable than the vice president.

Mr. Clean doffed his white sailor scrubs and donned a tuxedo Tuesday night to celebrate his anniversary surrounded by soap opera stars and actors dressed as 1960s housewives at Private Eyes, a video nightclub.

Clean — he actually was just Mister until a 1962 "Give Mr. Clean a First Name" promotion — also earned a spot in TV history Tuesday as Procter & Gamble donated his household cleaner commercials and a number of soap opera tapes and scripts to the UCLA Film and Television Archives.

As scenes from commercials and soap operas flashed on TV screens at the nightclub, actress Marion Ross — best known for her work in the TV series "Happy Days" but whose TV debut came in a Mr. Clean commercial — narrated a "This is Your Life" for the trademark introduced in late 1959.

The animated character played a lot of roles over the years, including a "Grimefighter," a "dirt boxer" and even a "mean" Clean with a beard.

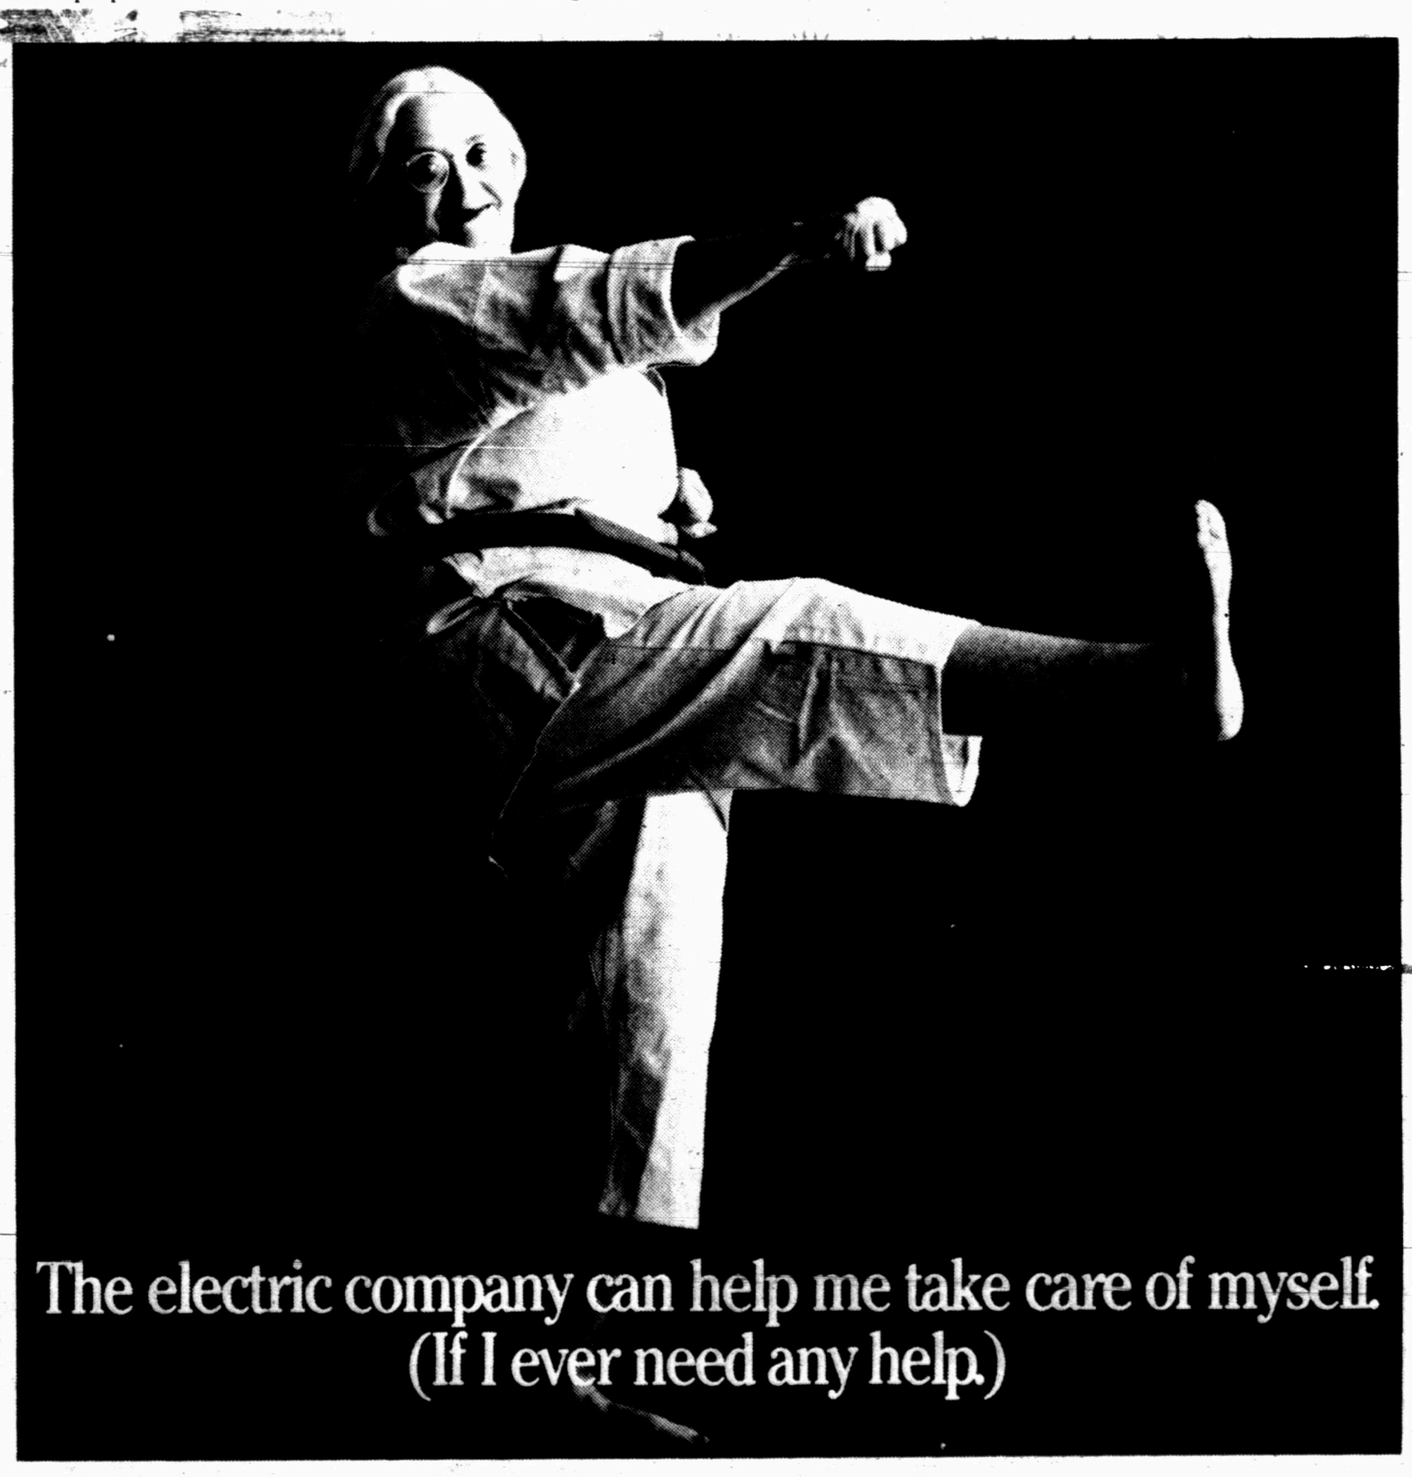

"Mr. Clean is a legend," said John McKee, who handles the account for the advertising agency Tatham, Laird and Kudner. "Well, let's put that into perspective — he's no Clark Gable, but..."

P&G brand manager Brad Irwin, munching hors d'oeuvres from an aluminum tray he said was "supposed to be like a TV dinner," agreed.

"There's something about Mr. Clean," said Irwin, who came up with the birthday party idea. "He has a personality. In fact, in the early days they used to refer to the product as 'him.'"

According to a recent Procter & Gamble poll of shoppers, 93 percent of those asked could identify and describe Mr. Clean. In a People magazine poll, only 56 percent recognized Vice President George Bush, the Cincinnati-based company said.

Let's face it, at my age things can sneak up on you, and you may need some help. The electric company understands that.

That's why they'll arrange it so your bill payment can wait until your social security check arrives.

And their Special Friend Program makes sure someone doesn't overlook monthly bills. There's even a program to help provide essential energy services in a real emergency.

Right now, I don't need all this help to take care of myself. But I get a kick out of knowing it's there.

Defeat McLennan, 68-52...

Dusters vault to region semis

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Western Texas College's Dusters were successful in their first-round outing at the Women's Region V Tournament here Tuesday night.

The Dusters combined a roller-coaster offense with solid defense to send McLennan Community College back to Waco, 68-52.

Coach Joe Cushing's team, now 30-5 on the season, will play rival Amarillo College at 9 tonight in semi-final action of the tournament. Also on tap will be a 7 o'clock game pitting Odessa against Grayson County.

"We went in spurts," said Cushing, of his team's offense. "We'd play well for awhile, then we'd relax, then we'd play well for awhile. Defensively, we did a good job except on the boards in the first half. I thought it was a good game for us," he added.

McLennan, trying to avenge a 69-34 loss to the Dusters earlier this season, held tough until midway through the second half. The High Lassies outrebounded the hosts 23-14 over the first 20 minutes. Velvet Morrell, a 5-8 freshman, led the McLennan offense with 12 points.

But the firepower from Western was too much. Renvy Evans, Patti Hayes, Lyndy French and Clara Campbell all hit buckets to outscore the 'Lassies 13-2 just before the midway point of the second half. The result was a 48-35 advantage that the Dusters slowly built on for most of the rest of the game.

Western led by 18, 60-42, when Hayes bagged a pair of free throws. Moments later Cushing rewarded his starting five by sending them to the bench.

"We played pretty straight up," said Cushing, when asked about playing five freshmen. "I wanted to get the freshmen in for the exposure and experience."

Campbell, WTC's 6-2 sophomore from Dallas, led all scorers with 24 points. She had 17 of them in the first half. Hayes and Evans put in 10 points apiece while Rhonda Chisum added 8 and French contributed 6.

Missy Davis, a 6-1 freshman, led McLennan with 15 points. Velvet Morell scored 14.

McLennan won on the boards, 40 rebounds to 33. Davis had 11 for the 'Lassies. Campbell, Hayes and Richardson yanked down 7 apiece for Western.

McLennan dropped to 14-17 with the loss.

Odessa pops RJC, 91-47

The top-ranked Odessa Lady Wranglers ran away from scrappy but out-matched Ranger in the Women's Region V Tournament tip-off game here Tuesday afternoon, 91-47.

Sharon Blair's 22 points led the Wranglers, who built a 13-point lead before intermission, then outscored the Rangeanns 24-3 over the first eight minutes of the second half.

OC went ahead by 58-36 on a steal and a layup by Rosiland Brown with 16:49 left, and was in front by 30, 66-36, just three minutes later.

Ranger led early, 9-7, but Odessa scored eight unanswered points to take a 15-9 advantage and never trailed again. The Wranglers dominated the boards enroute to a 38-27 lead with 4:39 left in the first half.

Lawanza Mitchell scored 18 points for the undefeated Wranglers and Doretha Conwell put in 14.

Maggie Adams had 12 points and 10 rebounds for the Rangeanns. Queen Sanders led with 13 points. Linda Zachary added 10.

The 'Anns were outrebounded 43 to 28. Conwell led Odessa with 10. Blair and Nedra Ware pulled down 8 apiece.

The win put Odessa, the nation's No. 1 ranked team, at 32-0 on the season. Ranger fell to 12-15.

AC outlasts Cisco, 60-51

Sophomore guard Mandy Funk scored 16 points in the final seven [illegible] minutes to lead Amarillo College past highly-touted Cisco in first-night action of women's regional basketball play here.

The Lady Badgers had trailed most of the second half until Funk hit a 20-footer to put them in front 36-35 with 7:38 to play. The 5-7 sophomore from Albuquerque then came up with 14 of Amarillo's next 24 points and was 6-of-6 from the line.

"She played a super ballgame," said Coach Kelly Chadwick, "She was a true sophomore point guard tonight."

In addition to a game-high 24 points, Funk dolled out eight assists, including two late in the game to Pam Cox.

"Pam came on and hit several baskets for us and I think Donna Conder might have intimidated them some," said the coach of his 6-6 sophomore post player. "I know she was a factor in stopping Barnett (Cisco's 6-0 Valerie Barnett)."

If Cisco made another mistake, it was putting on a full-court press late in the game. The strategy backfired as Amarillo broke it a couple of times for easy points.

"Nobody wants to press us at the regional tournament - ever," Chadwick warned. "People press us during the regular season, but we're ready for it at regionals."

Cox and Debby Jones added 9 points apiece for the Lady Badgers, now 20-12 on the season. Cox, Jones, Conder and Doris Pringler all pulled down 7 rebounds apiece.

Cisco, 24-6, was led by Barnett's 15 points and 15 rebounds. Ester Mendez and Cara Cranford scored 8 points apiece.

Amarillo trailed 26-21 at halftime and went almost five minutes of the second half without scoring. But the Badgers countered with some torrid defense of their own, allowing Cisco only two points in a six and a half minute span.

"That may have been the difference in the ballgame," said Chadwick. "We weren't scoring, but we were still playing tough defense."

Late bucket saves Vikings

Paula Crutcher's clutch bucket with five seconds left capped a Grayson County rally as the Lady Vikings came from behind to beat Clarendon, 77-75, in the Women's Region V Tournament Tuesday.

The Vikings had trailed 67-55 with 4:16 left, but got back in the game on a pair of three-point plays.

"I told the girls at halftime you don't have to have the lead if you have the heart to come from behind. But I didn't mean by 11 or 12 points," grinned Grayson Coach George Speer after the game. "This is the third time in three week's we've won in the final seconds and it's flat killing me."

Clarendon took advantage of a Grayson cold streak to build the 12 point lead. The Lady Bulldogs had a chance to go up by 14 but Grayson got a reprieve when Tia Stewart's effort at the free throw line fell short.

The Lady Vikings trimmed the lead on a three-point play by 5-10 freshman Kasi Higgs with 3:35 left. The 1984 Miss Teen Texas hit again moments later, and when Joy Roberts got Grayson another three-pointer with 2:06 left, the score was cut to 72-69.

Poor free throw shooting didn't held Clarendon any. The Bulldogs were 2-of-6 in the final 2:06 and missed the front end of two bonus situations. Grayson used that advantage to chip away at the lead, finally tying the game on Paula Ford's layup with 26 seconds to play.

Clarendon marched back down the court but Sharon Birkenfeld was whistled for charging, and the Vikings got the ball back.

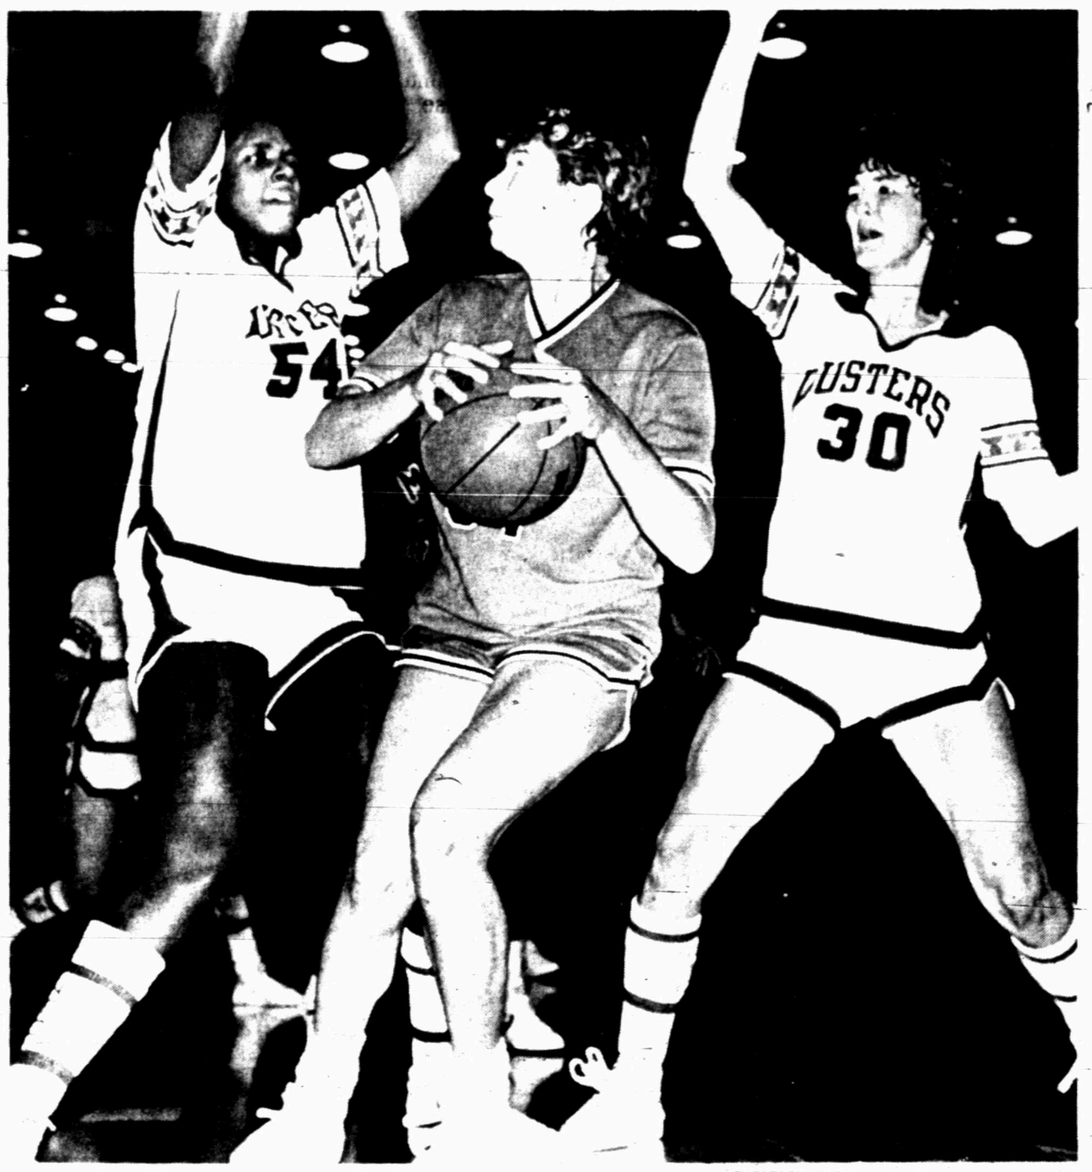

"We wanted to isolate Paula (Crutcher) and get the ball to her. It isn't the first time she's been in that situation," said Speer. "We thought she might draw a foul or hit the bucket."

Crutcher ripped the cords with five seconds left and Clarendon was unable to get together a counter-attack before the buzzer.

Crutcher, a 5-10 sophomore, scored 19 points and pulled down 9 rebounds for the Vikings. Roberts had 17 points and Fore added 12.

Birkenfeld led Clarendon, now 17-8, with 21 points. Pamela Walker notched 17 and Glynis Whitfield 14.

Grayson, which advances to Wednesday's semi-final with Odessa, is 21-11.

Tisdale sparks Oklahoma; Tulsa conquers West Texas

By The Associated Press

In the end, even Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs starting cheering.

With three minutes left to play and No. 4 Oklahoma comfortably ahead of Oklahoma State in their Big Eight Conference tournament game Tuesday night, Tubbs took All-American Wayman Tisdale out of the lineup.

And as Tisdale, who had scored 30 points and grabbed 19 rebounds, left the court, the home crowd responded with a resounding chant of "One More Year" - a reference to the 6-foot-9 junior's impending decision on whether to return to Oklahoma next season or turn professional.

Tubbs, who was celebrating his 50th birthday, joined in the festivities.

"That was a great idea," Tubbs said. "That's the first time I've ever been yelling along with the crowd."

Oklahoma won the opening-round game 116-91, and even though he wasn't cheering, Oklahoma State Coach Paul Hansen was impressed.

"The Sooners were just awesome tonight," Hansen said. "We played as hard as we could, but they were in the groove, and just made a shambles of the game."

Two other Top Twenty teams were in action Tuesday night - No. 10 Kansas tripped Nebraska 74-69 in another Big Eight playoff game while No. 15 Tulsa downed West Texas State, also by 74-69, in a Missouri Valley Conference tournament game.

Oklahoma, 26-5, advanced to a second-round game Friday night in Kansas City against the winner of tonight's Missouri-Kansas State game.

Six players scored in double figures for Oklahoma, with Darryl Kennedy getting 20 points.

Tulsa led by 12 points in the second half before West Texas State pulled within 70-66 with 44 seconds left to play. But turnovers and missed foul shots prevented the 11-17 Buffaloes from catching up.

The victory moved Tulsa, 22-6, into a second-round game Thursday against Bradley, which beat Creighton 69-59.

In other Missouri Valley Conference tournament games, Indiana State defeated Illinois State 66-61 and Wichita State got past Southern Illinois 69-66.

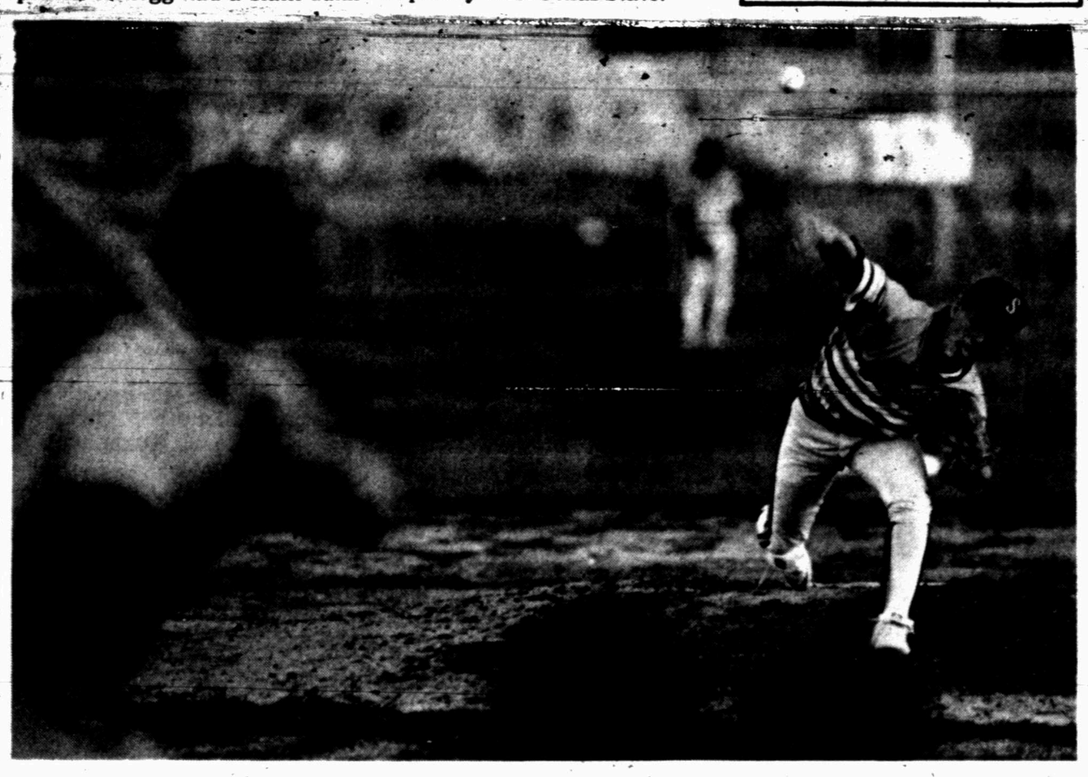

Kansas, seeded second in the Big Eight tournament behind Oklahoma, waited until the end to overtake visiting Nebraska.

The Jayhawks did not take the lead until Milt Newton made a foul shot with 5:52 to play to make it 62-61. With Kansas leading 70-69, Ron Kellogg made a 13-foot shot with 2:37 to go to increase the lead to three points. Kellogg had a slam-dunk at the buzzer and finished with a game-high 20 points.

Kansas, 25-7, advanced to a second-round meeting Friday night against the winner of tonight's Colorado-Iowa State game.

Tulsa, playing at home, got 14 points apiece from Steve Harris and Herbert Johnson in holding off plucky West Texas State.

Tigers top Big Spring, 4-2; welcome Midland today at 5

Snyder's Tigers came from behind in the fourth inning here Tuesday to defeat Big Spring in a non-district baseball game, 4-2.

The victory leaves the Tigers 3-2 on the season as they prepare to host Midland High today at 5 o'clock.

Snyder Coach Albert Lewis was pleased with the Tigers' defense and pitching, but was still moaning over the lack of strength at the bats.

"Our defense did a good job and Jimmy Cain was pitching really well," said Lewis. "But I don't know where we're going to find some sticks. I think we will, but right now we're making it tough on ourselves."

Snyder came up with four hits in the game while Cain limited the Steers to three.

Big Spring tallied its first run in the third inning when Cain lost a close full-count pitch and walked Michael Dodd. A singled pushed the runner to third, and Matt Garrett got him in on an infield hit to short.

In the top of the fourth, Tommy Gartman reached on an error, was sacrificed to second, and scored on a another error to centerfield.

Cain set the Steers down in order in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Said Lewis, "What impressed me is that Jimmy got stronger as the game went on. He struck out two batters in the seventh when the pressure was on."

Big Spring started Gartman and he held firm until the bottom of the fourth. Snyder got cracking when Jay Mayo singled and Ricky Hunter and Don Osborn drew walks. Gartman took to the showers after walking a third straight batter, Bobby Velasquez, for Snyder's first run.

Early control problems by reliever Michael Dodd led to Snyder's other two scores in the inning. A wild pitch allowed Hunter to streak towards home plate, and in an effort to get the runner out, Big Spring catcher Chuck Lamb threw the ball away. Osborn came in on the error, giving the Tigers the go-ahead run.

Snyder scored its final run in the sixth when pinch runner Michael Carter came around on a sacrifice fly by Greathouse.

Big Spring pitchers recorded six strikeouts and gave up three walks. Cain, 2-0, fanned nine and walked two.

Charles Bollinger, 0-0, is expected to start for Snyder today.

Hall of Fame member Stan Musial, a three-times MVP in the National League and a seven-time batting champion, began his baseball career as a pitcher.

Baylor probe is continuing

DALLAS (AP) - A Waco bank headed by a Baylor University booster reportedly gave low-payment car loans to two Dallas high school basketball stars after they signed with the school in 1983 and 1984.

And those loans, granted to Michael Williams and DeWayne Brown, had significantly smaller payments during the school year than in the summer, the Dallas Times Herald reported Tuesday.

National Collegiate Athletic Association rules prohibit a school's staff member or representative of its athletic interests from arranging loans for prospective student-athletes prior to completion of their senior year in high school, said David Berst, the NCAA's director of enforcement.

The cars were purchased from Dallas auto dealerships with loans from Westview National Bank of Waco less than a month after Williams and Brown signed national letters of intent to play at Baylor, in April 1983 and April 1984, the Times Herald said.

The bank officer who handled both loans, William Martin, told the newspaper he was instructed to work with the players' families by bank president Smith Thomasson, a Baylor alumnus and friend of basketball Coach Jim Haller.

It takes you 21 minutes to get to work — if you're an average U.S. commuter. Generally, though, larger mass-transit systems mean longer commutes. In New York City, the average commuting time is 38 minutes.

Leopards to be given mating chance

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) —. A special honeymoon suite has been built for a couple whose names are Fierce and Rudy in hopes they will produce some offspring.

But the twosome aren't average honeymooners - they are Clouded Leopards, a species of endangered cats.

Officials at the Ellen Trout Zoo in Lufkin borrowed Rudy, the male, from a New Orleans zoo and Fierce from a San Antonio zoo. All three facilities hope the cats will produce a healthy litter.

"The captive population of Clouded Leopards is so small that there is no breeding program among American zoos," said Gordon Henley, director of the Lufkin zoo. "To have a breeding program you need 200 animals or so."

Clouded Leopards, which are natives of the Southeast Asian jungles, are on the endangered species list. The International Species Inventory Systems lists only 70 of the animals in zoos.

Bike theft noted

Police investigated the reported theft of a bicycle Tuesday.

The report was filed at 5:28 p.m. by Heidi Cole of 502 17th St.

She told police that her son's 20-inch BMX type bike had been stolen from Northeast Elementary School sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Value of the missing bike was placed at $50.

Criminal trespass charge by school

An 18-year-old Snyder woman was jailed on a county warrant for misdemeanor criminal trespass shortly after 1 a.m. Wednesday — charges stemming from an incident reported at a local elementary school.

She was charged with the offense in connection with a complaint filed by Central Elementary School administrators last week alleging she had been entering the school building and roaming the halls during the school day.

Snyder police arrested three other persons on misdemeanor charges Tuesday.

Other arrests included one man for an unpaid fine assessed in county court and one subject each for public intoxication and being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcohol.

Board denies waiver request taxes on time," McQueen said. "We are not questioning the tax assessment at all. The issue is that we made a good faith effort to pay our taxes and to pay them on time.

"We feel the appraisal office unintentionally gave us erroneous information, and common sense tells you we should not be penalized for such an error."

In response to the request, Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler commented "Sometimes common sense can't prevail where the law has spoken."

Following McQueen's presentation, board members said they had no authority to waive the penalty charge.

McQueen asked if there was some other avenue of appeal, and Peveler responsed that a suit could be filed in district court.

In other action during the March meeting of the board, members voted to lease the Merlin telephone system to replace the system currently in use. Monthly cost would be $155 plus a one-time installation fee of $750.

Directors also voted on a bid by Boren and West to provide coverage for the district. Cost of the annual coverage for building and contents is $2,800.

Kenneth Wilson, Pete Hester, Bill Hairston and Ross Blanchard attended the meeting in addition to Peveler. Billy Huddleston was not present.

Single wreck here

A single minor traffic accident was reported in Snyder Tuesday.

Involved in the 11:21 p.m. mishap on the parking lot of Snyder Lanes was a 1975 Pontiac driven by Roger Dale Batchelor of Snyder, which struck a parked 1982 Datsun owned by Gloria Robinson of Rt. 1, Snyder.

Storms

A hurricane is a rotating storm system with a minimum sustained surface wind of 74 miles an hour or more. Hurricanes are spawned east of the international dateline. Typhoons, which have the same criteria, develop west of the line. When a hurricane's winds drop below 74 mph, it becomes a tropical storm.

House avoids vote

AUSTIN (AP) — House members raced to the microphone when a young lawmaker tried to push a vote on a measure on which some legislators would prefer to never cast a vote — school prayer.

The scurrying began after Rep. Robert Earley, D-Portland, drew little attention in winning House approval to allow the measure to go to the floor without going to committee.

Earley's resolution calls on Congress to convene a constitutional convention to consider an amendment giving the states the right to decide on public school prayer. The U.S. Supreme Court has banned open prayer in public school.

The resolution said federal courts have "inhibited and abridged the right of religious freedom by invalidating numerous school prayer practices."

Attorney job again to city for Pct. 1.

The law specificially makes an exception for JP posts in Texas.

As for the new appointment, city officials have indicated the council will at least consider an alternate method of filling the attorney's post.

The city has already received a legal interpretation of the law regarding "contracting" with a local law firm for "services as needed" for the city attorney position.

City Manager John Gayle said Tuesday that this option would be included in Thursday's discussion.

The other alternative would be to name a local lawyer to the attorney's post — a method they have followed in the past — and to pay him a monthly retainer fee.

Winners announced in pool tournament

Thirty-one men competed in a pool tournament held recently at the Senior Citizens center.

Winners in the doubles play were A. Z. Glover and Stanley Noah, first; John Wiman and Herman Elkins, second; and Roy Wood and Richard Beck, third.

In singles play, Roy Warren took first place with Carl Foree second and Herman Elkins third.

Ribbons and certificates for a free Whataburger were awarded the winners.

Pool is a daily activity in the Senior Center and men and women who would like to participate are invited to join the players. The center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each weekday.

Television shows begin to feel effect of strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Bill Cosby's hit sitcom and NBC's "Saturday Night Live" are early casualties of a strike by the Writers Guild of America, and daytime soap operas may be next in line, according to published reports and industry officials.

Three unwritten episodes of the Cosby show for the current season have been scrapped because of the strike which began Tuesday against the three major TV networks and the movie industry, the New York Daily News reported today.

The News said one of "The Cosby Show" segments was to feature singer Tony Orlando and could have led to a new series. It quoted Cosby producer Caryn Sneider as saying those plans have been put on hold until next season.

Instead of a live show featuring comedians John Candy and Eugene Levy and rock stars Hall and Oates, "Saturday Night Live" will broadcast reruns this weekend, the News reported.

Joe Sutton, spokesman for the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers, said effects of the walkout could be felt as soon as next week by soap operas, which need five scripts a week and are produced yearround.

Mexico announces devaluation of peso

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government has announced it is devaluing the peso at a higher daily rate to increase the competitiveness of Mexican exports.

Under the new devaluation schedule, to go into effect today, the peso, made up of 100 centavos, will be reduced in value at a rate of 21 centavos a day. That replaces a daily slide of 17 centavos.

The official rate of exchange Tuesday was 219.9 pesos to the dollar. At that rate the peso is worth less than half a U.S. cent.

A statement from Banco de Mexico, the central bank, said the daily slide represents an annual devaluation rate of 37.7 percent. The old slide represented an annual devaluation of 28.8 percent.

On Dec. 6, the government increased the daily slide from 13 centavos to 17 centavos, saying it was necessary to promote tourism, make Mexican goods more competitive abroad and slow the flow of dollars from the country.

The sliding rate of 13 centavos had been in effect since September 1983.

In its statement Tuesday, the central bank stressed the expected benefits from the increased devaluation on Mexican exports.

It noted that the strengthening of the dollar against European currencies in recent weeks has given a competitive advantage to exports from western European countries.

"In these circumstances, it is necessary to reinforce the exchange measure adopted in December," the statement said.

Mexican business leaders, particularly in Monterrey, the industrial hub of the country, have been pushing for a devaluation to boost exports.

Although the statement did not say so, some sources say the increase in the sliding rate is a recognition by the government that the country's still strong inflation rate is hurting Mexican exports and represents a threat to earnings from tourism, the country's second biggest source of dollars after oil.

Inflation hit 59.2 percent in 1984, down from the previous year's rate of 80 percent but far above the targeted 40 percent. In January the cost of living rose 7.4 percent, which represents an annual inflation rate of 88.8 percent.

With an annual devaluation rate of less than 30 percent and inflation running at least twice that, Mexican goods and services were steadily increasing in cost in dollar terms.

Government officials say the sliding, controlled scale is designed to avert a trauma like the one triggered by three major devaluations that battered the peso in 1982 when Mexico was plunged into its worst recession in half a century.

The rate of exchange went from 27 pesos to 149 pesos to the dollar within a year, forcing sharp cutbacks in imports and travel abroad that hurt merchants on the U.S. side of the border.

Inflation has again led Mexicans to cross the border to purchase American goods at lower prices. It also has eroded the price advantage that attracted hundreds of thousands more tourists to Mexico since 1982.

Increasing exports, reducing imports, bringing in foreign tourists and keeping Mexicans at home are crucial to the Mexican government's efforts to meet payments on the country's $96 billion foreign debt, the second largest in the Third World after Brazil's.

February totals are down

A cooler, wetter winter than normal continued to curb municipal demands for water in February on the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Municipal customers received 916,937,300 gallons of water in February, down 71,886,000 gallons from the same month last year. On the other hand, oil companies supplied out of unpotable diverted water received 128,011,315 gallons, up 48,000,000 over February 1984. Total deliveries for February were 1,044,948,615 gallons, down 47,334,000 gallons.

During February Big Spring received 185,154,000 gallons, down 5.05 percent; Odessa 269,910,000 gallons, down 11.31 percent; Midland 353,014,000 gallons, down 11.15 percent; Snyder 63,099,000 gallons, down 16.94 percent; Stanton 6,944,000 gallons, down 13.00 percent. San Angelo took 38,825,000 gallons, an increase of over 34,000,000 from February 1984.

Rep. Hall opposes practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Sam B. Hall, D-Texas, says loss-sharing by Farm Credit System banks threatens the whole system and is unfair to states like Texas where Farm Credit banks are strong.

Hall told a news conference Tuesday that the Farm Credit Administration is pooling resources from the 37 Farm Credit System banks and shifting the money from healthy banks to troubled ones without stockholders' approval.

But Ron Erickson, a spokesman for the FCA, said the FCA only ratified the action of the FCS bank boards, who approved pooling resources because the current method of loss-sharing "usually is not triggered until it is really too late to save the troubled bank."

"What the system has agreed to do is work together earlier so the financial assistance will, in fact, cause the troubled bank to survive," Erickson said.

Federal Land Bank stockholders committee chairman Ron Neal of Rochelle, who also attended the news conference, said the new method penalizes Texas, because the amount of the contribution to a troubled bank is based on the strength of the contributing bank.

"We feel like that's penalizing the people that did the best work. We didn't think that if you do the best and become the strongest, you get to pay the most, but that's what happens," Neal said.
