

EXTENSION OF 90-DAY CEASE-FIRE TANGLE

New Standoff In Middle East

By The Associated Press
Another standoff has developed in the Middle East over extension of the 90-day cease-fire along the Suez Canal. Egypt said Sunday it would not extend the truce beyond its Nov. 5 expiration date unless Israel rejoins the peace talks at the United Nations. Israel repeated it would not resume negotiations until Egypt pulls back the anti-aircraft missiles which Israel and the United States charge have been moved closer to the canal in violation of the cease-fire standstill.

THAT'S ALL
An aide to Egypt's foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, said Cairo's position did not mean "that Nov. 5 we are going to start shooting."
But he said that if Israel does not rejoin the talks begun under U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring, then the cease-fire is a commitment "we want to liberate ourselves from. That's all."
Israeli Premier Golda Meir told her weekly cabinet meeting Israel wants the cease-fire to continue, but it will not return to the talks until "the Egyptians and Russians take steps to restore the original position in the Canal standstill zone."

OPINION POLL
An Israeli opinion poll showed 70 per cent of 500 persons queried favored suspension of the talks until Egypt pulls back the missiles; 23 per cent favored resumption of the talks despite the missiles, and 7 per cent had no opinion.
Meanwhile, Egypt's only legal political party, the Arab Socialist Union, began rallies to whip up enthusiasm for President-designate Anwar Sadat, who has been nominated by the party to succeed Gamal Abdel Nasser, confirmed by the National Assembly and will be elected in a plebiscite Thursday. The purpose of the rallies is to get a big turnout to demonstrate Egyptian solidarity in the wake of Nasser's death.

REBELS RETURN
Military sources in Tel Aviv said Arab guerrillas have returned to the Lebanese-Israeli border area since the end of fighting in the Jordan civil war. The border had been calm for nearly two months as the crisis worsened in Jordan. But a week ago Arab guerrillas infiltrated from Jordan and were subsequently captured in a firefight with Israeli troops.

Since then there has been fresh infiltration, a rocket attack on an Israeli border settlement, and a bazooka ambush on a frontier town, the Israelis say. No Israeli casualties have been reported.

Terrorist Kidnapers Claim Hostages Alive

New Communique Sets No Deadline

MONTREAL (AP) — The Quebec Liberation Front offered today to send a mediator to meet with government officials to work out terms for the release of a British diplomat and a Quebec Province official kidnaped last week.

The offer was made in communiques from the two Front cells that kidnaped James Richard Cross, Britain's trade envoy here, and Labor Minister Pierre Laporte of Quebec. The communiques said both men were in good health.

MEDIATOR IDEA
In an earlier communique, the Front said the men's freedom could be obtained if two of seven original demands are met by the government.

Both communiques reached the French-language radio stations CKLM and CKAC in Montreal.

Both suggested that Montreal lawyer Robert Lemieux serve as mediator to work out terms for the release of Cross, kidnaped a week ago, and Laporte abducted Saturday night.

The earlier communique set no new deadline on the two men's lives and the language was considered to be more conciliatory than any since the kidnappings began.

FACE-TO-FACE

The communiques came after a Sunday night broadcast in which Premier Robert Bourassa of Quebec appealed for direct communication between the terrorists and the government.

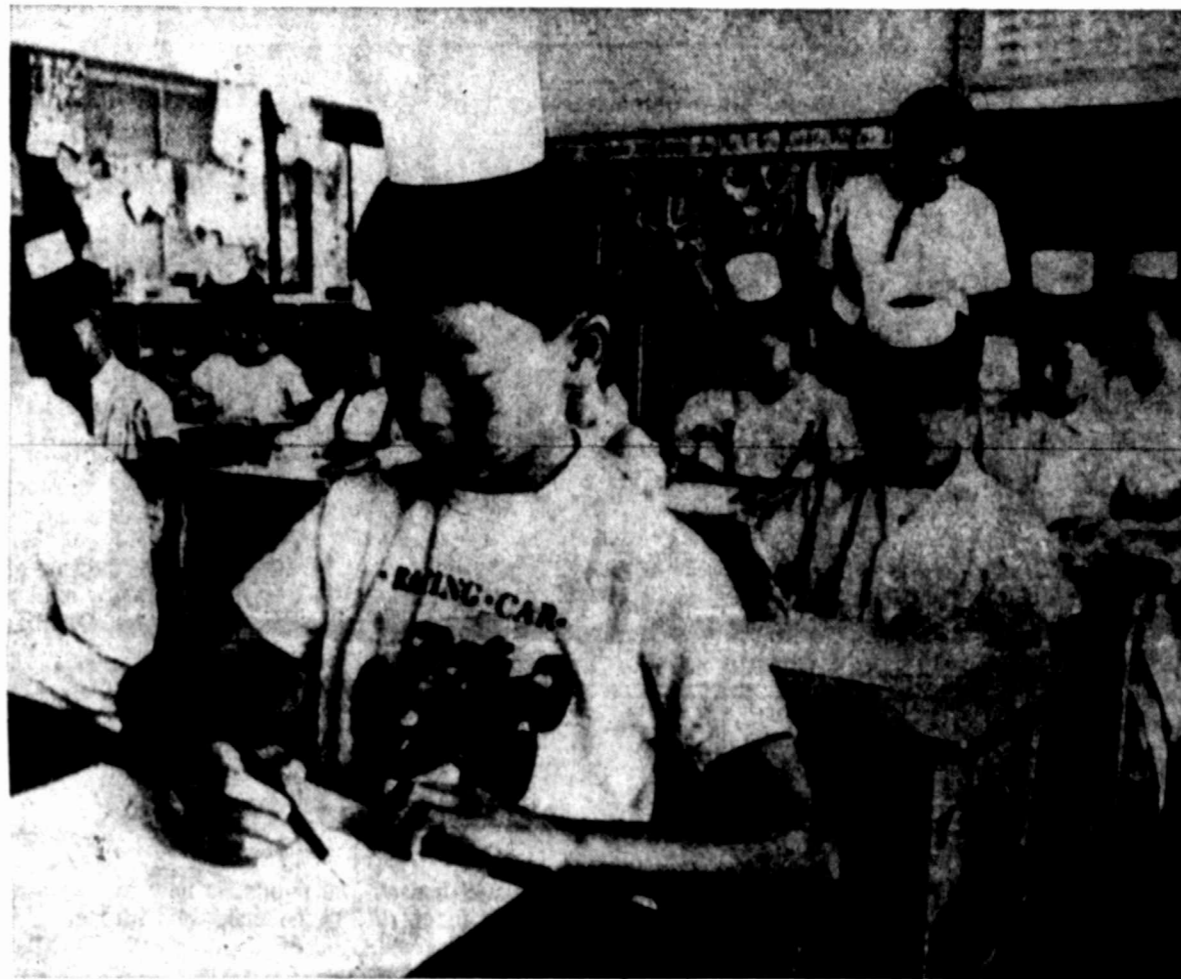

The kidnapers, self-described members of the revolutionary Quebec Liberation Front, made these two demands:

— That 23 men either in jail or before the courts in connection with terrorist activities be granted safe conduct to Algeria or Cuba if they wish to go. Those accepting, should be allowed to take their wives and children.

— That police call off the intensive searches they have been conducting to find Cross and Laporte.

GOLD PLAN

The Canadian and provincial governments have repeatedly rejected these demands.
Dropped was a demand for $500,000 in gold.

To Eliminate Draft Calls By Mid-1973?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the Pentagon hopes to eliminate draft calls by mid-1973. He also disclosed that President Nixon will announce this week further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

Laird said at a news conference he has set the end of fiscal year 1973 as the goal for moving to a zero draft under which men over 18 would still register but would not be called. The Selective Service system would remain in effect for use in emergencies, he said.

"We're going to go all out, all out in the Department of Defense to reach the target of zero draft calls by the end of fiscal 1973," Laird declared.

In a memorandum issued today by Laird to the secretaries of the military services and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he directed them to review personally the recommendations outlined by the Pentagon's Project Volunteer Committee for eliminating draft calls.

He said he expected Nixon to announce an interim troop withdrawal figure this week that would carry the withdrawal program through Christmas.

AUTO BANGS DELTA QUEEN

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Delta Queen, the nation's only overnight passenger riverboat, now has another distinction.

The sternwheeler is one of probably a very small number of boats ever to be involved in an accident with a car.

The Delta Queen was docked at its wharf here when the brakes on a car, parked on a hill nearby, failed and the auto rolled into the water. But the vehicle did not sink and floated out a few feet and into the stern.

It still did not go underwater and floated into the front of the boat. The car was finally pulled away by another boat.

ATTACK VILLAGE Red Koreans Beat United Nations Guard

SEOUL (AP) — North Koreans severely beat a United Nations Command guard with shovels and injured seven other persons, including a neutral Swiss officer, in an attack today in the truce village of Panmunjom, the command charged.

The command said a 10-minute fight started after a North Korean guard pulled the arm band off a U.N. command guard protecting several South Korean civilians working and painting in the Military Armistice Commission conference room.

Homosexual Bars Dodged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declined today to rule on the power of officials to close down homosexual bars.

The court turned down an appeal from Corlon C. Keller, a Huntington Beach, Calif., tavern owner whose beer license was revoked because he served homosexuals.

Keller, in an appeal, said the state law is unconstitutional in that it infringes on his customers' rights of free speech and association.

The state law prohibits the keeping of "any disorderly house or place . . . to which people resort for purposes which are injurious to the public morals."

LAWYER, WIFE SHOT TO DEATH

PLEASANT RIDGE, Mich. (AP) — A prominent Oakland County lawyer and his wife were found shot to death in the bedroom of their large two-story home in the Detroit suburb of Pleasant Ridge Sunday.

The victims were Carlton S. Roeser, 47, and his wife, Barbara, 46.

Court Snubs Abortions Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declined today to decide whether expectant mothers have the right to medical abortions in the early stages of pregnancy.

The court refused to hear a case from Milwaukee, Wis., where the state's anti-abortion law has been declared in violation of women's privacy rights by a three-judge federal court.

U.S. Cancer Society Perpetrates Hoax?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tobacco industry said today the American Cancer Society may have perpetrated a hoax by reporting earlier this year that cigarette-puffing laboratory dogs developed lung cancers.

Horace Kornegay, president of the Tobacco Institute Inc., in a letter to Congress said that the cancer society's report of Feb. 5 "may be one of the great scientific hoaxes of our time."

Cancer researchers reported 12 healthy beagle dogs, trained to inhale unfiltered cigarette smoke twice a day for two and a half years, developed lung cancers. Two of the cancers were described as similar to the type humans incur.

The cancer society said at the time the research "effectively refutes" claims that there's no link between smoking cigarettes and lung cancer. The research was described as the first to produce lung cancer in an experimental animal which inhaled smoke as humans do.

Kornegay said that eight months later, however, the research still has not been published in any professional medical journal.
He said at least two medical publications, the Journal of the American Medical Association and the New England Journal of Medicine, had refused to publish the study because it had first been released to news media and because of "unfavorable reviews by a dozen independent authorities."

President Trying To Help Candidates In Connecticut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, on the latest leg of his effort to bring about Republican gains in the off-year election, headed today for Connecticut, scene of a potentially crucial Senate contest.

The President and Mrs. Nixon were bound for Hartford, the state capital, and a noon hour motorcade into the city where the chief executive planned a closed-door briefing for newspaper and broadcast executives from states ranging from Virginia to Maine.

Afterwards, Nixon and the First Lady were to entertain the news media representatives at a buffet.

The President, whose travels will pick up speed in the final three weeks of the off-year election campaign, also scheduled an appearance at Stamford, Conn., to dedicate an Italian-American community center on this Columbus Day.

All along his route through Connecticut, Nixon lined up Republican candidates to appear prominently with him.

Foremost among them was GOP Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., candidate for the Senate seat of Democrat Thomas Dodd, who is running as an independent. Also in the race is the Democratic primary winner, the Rev. Joseph D. Duffey.

Duffey is national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Republican House members and mayors who might benefit from the Nixon coattails also were assigned slots in the Connecticut welcome for the President.

Nixon had planned to fly directly from his winter home in Key Biscayne, Fla., to Connecticut, but in a switch of plans, announced Sunday afternoon he

Banker Says Money Game Plan Working

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — American Bankers Association President Nat S. Rogers says the Nixon Administration is helping to curb inflationary trends and "the so-called game plan of the administration is working."

"Economic laws have not been repealed and they are being applied with a great deal of principle and integrity," Rogers declared as the association began its 96th annual convention Sunday.

Rogers told newsmen that bankers believe the price spiral trend is beginning to get under control.

"I would be most surprised if we got another change before the end of the year," he added.

Bombings Scar Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A federal office building, the Monroe County office building, two churches and a private home were hit by bomb explosions within a 25-minute period early today.

These were the fifth and sixth government buildings in the country to have been struck by such blasts since Thursday.

The explosion against a sub-basement window at the four-story county building twisted heating ducts, ruptured water pipes and knocked out windows and some chunks of concrete from the wall. County officials estimated damage at $100,000 in the granite building.

FLYING GLASS

One man was cut by flying glass but no serious injuries were reported.

The storefront churches—the New Bethel C.M.E. Church and the Greater Bethlehem Pentecostal Church—and the government buildings are in the city core. The private home, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. William Harkin, is several miles away in northwestern Rochester.

All of the blasts occurred outside the buildings as, police said, sticks of dynamite were either thrown or placed next to them by persons who then sped off by car.

The radical Weatherman group has announced a "fall offensive" to "attack the enemy around the country." But there was no immediate indication of who might have been responsible for the Rochester bombings.

Radicals have claimed to have done the bombings on the West Coast Thursday of an armory, a county courthouse and ROTC facilities at the University of Washington in Seattle.

BLOODY SHOWDOWN

MIAMI (AP) — The roar of scores of motorcycles shattered the quiet that usually prevails here Sunday.

Some one hundred motorcycle club members were on their way to a bloody showdown.

When they reached 6125 SW 31st St., the cyclists dismounted and rolled up their sleeves. A short time later they flashed broad grins as they walked out of Variety Children's Hospital after having donated 50 pints of blood.

LAMESA MIDDLE SCHOOLS CHANGE JUNIOR HIGH IMAGE Plan Modified To Meet Local Needs

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series on a major change in public school education in Texas—the middle school. The first article dealt with philosophy and teaching methods.

By STEPHEN R. VORHIS

LAMESA — Three years ago, school administration officials knew that they would have to expand their facilities to handle an increasing number of students. They had to decide whether to expand the existing junior high school or make a more drastic change.

After careful study, they decided to switch to a middle school system.

Lamesa taxpayers approved a $1.6 million middle school building adjacent to the Lamesa High School. Construction was begun in 1968, and the building was to have been ready for students at the start of the school year.

But, officials were faced with a number of construction delays, and now they are hoping the building will be ready for its first students after the Christmas holidays.

Because the Lamesa Middle School was to be a four-year school instead of the usual three year, and because the building was not completed, school officials here had to adopt a modified-middle school plan.

"The first modification is necessary because our middle school contains grades five to eight, instead of the normal six to eight," Alvin Cannady, school superintendent, said.

"We added the fifth grade to the middle school to take the pressure off our elementary schools, which have added kindergarten. That means that our school system is divided into kindergarten to fourth grade, elementary school; fifth to eighth grades, middle school; and ninth to twelfth grades, high school.

"The second modification in the program was to ease into the middle school system and to make temporary arrangements until construction of the new building is completed."

MODIFIED ACTIVITIES

The school's board of trustees adopted a modified list of approved activities so that students who had participated in activities last year could continue them.

Jim Williams, assistant superintendent of schools, said the social activities of the middle school are limited to keep the school in agreement with the middle school philosophy, but the exceptions were made to ease into the program.

"When we decided to switch to a middle school one of our prime considerations was that the junior high schools were being converted to mini-high schools, complete with a full athletic program, pep rallies, uniformed marching bands, cheerleaders, school dances, graduation ceremonies and other things.

"All of the junior high activities had been copied from high school, which, in turn, had copied them from college.

"This, of course, is almost exactly opposite of what the middle schools are designed to do. They are designed to stress the learning activities, and introduce the student to the social activities as he matures and is ready for them.

TAILORED PROGRAM

"The middle school system offers a program tailored to the student's needs. A more flexible program is possible, and students will be taught by teachers trained in specific subject areas.

"It was hard for our fifth and sixth grade teachers to keep up to date in all subjects they were expected to teach. In the middle school, the teacher can be a specialist, all the students will benefit."

The Lamesa middle school is designed to help the student move from the self-contained classrooms of the elementary school to the highly departmentalized high school. Fifth grade students have only one elective course; sixth graders have a choice of three; seventh graders five; and eighth graders have a total of eight electives from which to choose.

"With the gradual introduction of electives, the student can explore what interests him and still receive continued instruction in the fundamentals. For fifth and sixth grade students, electives are available sooner than they would be in a traditional junior high school," Williams said.

Williams noted that the theory of gradual introduction to a wide choice of offerings was also used in the planning of student activities.

"We want the students to work at their own rate, and we want them to mature. We give them responsibility when they can accept it. For example, the student council is comprised of members of the seventh and eighth grades, but only eighth grade students hold offices. That way, the student is not allowed to take responsibility before he knows what is expected of him," he said.

TEAM TEACHING

Working on a limited scale now, but due to be expanded as soon as the new building is opened, is team teaching.

A group of four teachers will work with about 100 students. If a large lecture is to be given, the teacher best qualified to address large groups will deliver it; if a few students are having problems with an assignment, the teacher best qualified to work with small groups will work with the students.

"Team teaching should result in a positive attitude toward learning on the part of the student, and this can bring about more responsible behavior in other fields," Williams said.

"The Lamesa middle school has been designed to fit the needs of each student and help them keep pace in today's world. On paper, the system is the finest I've ever seen. But I guess we really won't know about more responsible behavior in other fields," Williams said.

"The Lamesa middle school has been designed to fit the needs of each student and help them keep pace in today's world. On paper, the system is the finest I've ever seen. But I guess we really won't know the full scale of advantages and disadvantages until the system gets into full operation next year," Supt. Cannady said.

Police patrols were beefed up after 300 blacks went on a four-hour rock throwing spree Saturday night which the Highway Patrol said left mainly shop and auto windows broken in a one-block area.

The violence erupted after the Negro policeman shot a black man three times, officers said. But they remained tight-lipped on details of the shooting.

The wounded man, identified as 35-year-old Harry Chestnut of Gretna, was in satisfactory condition at a local hospital.

Joseph Carb said he received an oral report from the state on Canyon Lake water samples recently sent to the Texas Water Quality Board. He said he will not release figures on the level of pollution until he receives the written report next week.

However, he said, "the degree (of pollution) is such that the water, if swallowed, will cause diarrhea."

Troop Strength In Viet Drops Below 384,000

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today it is running several days ahead of President Nixon's timetable for reduction of American forces in Vietnam.

A spokesman said American military strength in the country has dropped below the 384,000-man ceiling that Nixon ordered reached by Thursday. He said precise figures were not yet available but would be announced next Monday.

ANOTHER 100,000

Since Nixon announced the first American troop withdrawals from Vietnam in June, 1969, U.S. strength has been reduced about 160,000 men from a peak of 543,000 in April, 1969. The President has announced that total American troops will be reduced another 100,000 during the next six months, trimming U.S. strength to less than 284,000 by next May 1.

Sources in Saigon have hinted that this may be accelerated and more than 100,000 men may be trimmed from the American force. Combat divisions are now being positioned in the interior of South Vietnam for the next phases of Nixon's withdrawal program.

The U.S. Command released an official weekly military strength summary today that said 384,600 American troops were in the country. But "departures since that date including Army and Marine units have reduced the total strength below the Oct. 15 ceiling of 384,000," a spokesman said.

'Freedom-Of-Choice' Moving Toward Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to sanction freedom-of-choice in the assignment of public school pupils moved toward Senate action today.

Warm, Fresh Air

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wealthy widow who picks up the tab for an escort, 20 years her junior, who couldn't possibly afford to take her to the places she's accustomed to going? I am sure in his line of work he could never treat her on his salary.

There can't possibly be any romance in this combination, but he is attractive, flatters her, dances with her and she seems to enjoy this setup while he is taking her for all she's worth. Meanwhile, all her friends are laughing at her behind her back. It is really pitiful.

Why can't some women realize that there is more dignity in sitting home than buying an escort?

ON THE SIDELINES
DEAR ON: I take it you are sitting home. Perhaps this woman also sat home long enough to have concluded that she didn't like it. All that is necessary for a successful relationship is that two people "need" each other. She needs him. And he needs her. And as long as they aren't hurting anybody, who am I to judge them? And who are you?

DEAR ABBY: I am terribly upset about something I saw today and would like your opinion. In the supermarket this morning I saw a young mother with a cart full of groceries and three children. One toddler was riding the cart on top, and another on the bottom, then there was a little girl (about 5 years old) walking beside her, whirling about something. The mother leaned over and gave that child what must have been an unmerciful twist of the ear, then the little girl began crying in earnest, whereupon the mother screamed "SHUT UP!"

SANTA BARBARA
DEAR S. B.: There is a lot to be said for minding one's own business, but cases of outright cruelty to children (or animals) should not be ignored. A few soft-spoken words into that mother's ear may help: "I know how irritating children can be, and I see you have your hands full, but please don't physically abuse a misbehaving child." And if she tells you to mind your own business, you're nothing out.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago when I was 29 years old and the mother of six children, I was the matron of honor at my sister's wedding. My husband sulked for a long time over it because, as he put it, "You were too old." (I have a nice figure.)

Well, the same situation has come up again because another sister is getting married and she wants me to be her matron of honor. Now I am 31, and my husband is really mad.

PAT
DEAR PAT: The word from here is, do the matron of honor bit, and don't let your conscience bother you. P. S. I hope your husband grows up before your children do.

DEAR ABBY: Like everyone else, I never thought I'd be writing to you, but when I read about the Cherokee Indian who said he could smell a poisonous snake at 40 paces, I couldn't restrain myself.

My husband is a herpetologist (a scientist who studies reptiles) and he says a venomous snake has no odor other than during the mating season; and then only the females have this odor in order to attract and excite the male. Furthermore, most nonpoisonous female snakes give off the same musky odor at mating season as the venomous snakes.

Most peoples notion that snakes have an odor comes from their experience with poorly cleaned zoo cages.

Okie Says Spiro Is Embarrassing

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma says Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticisms of Democrats shouldn't be taken seriously.

"I basically feel people are sort of embarrassed by the vice president of the United States," said the former chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

"It seems a little undignified to be going around the country saying all those funny words against people. I don't think they like it," he said.

CAMPUS UNREST RECOMMENDATIONS USEFUL? Scranton Says Only Time Will Tell

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — William W. Scranton says only time will tell whether the recommendations of his Commission on Campus Unrest were "completely useful or not" in calming tensions and ending violence at colleges.

He expected it to be and "that he didn't want any intellectual enclaves around the White House, either on our commission or anywhere else. We felt very good about that."

He denied charges that the report was dishonest, merely fed pabulum to permissivists, or scapegoated Nixon.

Agnew was one of the pre-report critics.

Agnew was one of the pre-report critics. "I've not been upset about criticism because in such a controversial and contentious matter as this you must expect it. But those who criticized in advance did so, frankly, with no knowledge at all. And, incidentally, in most cases they've been proved to be very wrong."

NO IDEA

Scranton, 53-year-old former governor of Pennsylvania who tried unsuccessfully to win the Republican nomination for president in 1964, said he hopes "for the sake of America" that Pres-

DEEP CHASM

Scranton said that campus unrest had created such a deep chasm in America "that it is far more important than any political election, and I believe most Americans agree with that."

"I thought those who condemned the report before it came out were very silly, infantile and childish," Scranton said.

APPRECIATION

Scranton said the commission members worked independently, without any pressure or instructions from the White House.

F-310 TESTS BY INDEPENDENT RESEARCH LABORATORIES

In the more than 15 years of research and development that resulted in F-310, hundreds of scientific tests have been conducted to assess and evaluate the additive's quality and performance characteristics. The following four test programs are the most recent and most definitive in presenting F-310's effectiveness in reducing total emissions from automobiles and thereby contributing to cleaner air.

The results: Hydrocarbon emissions were reduced an average of over 50% in these very dirty engines. Carbon monoxide emissions were reduced by an average of more than a third.

Scott Lab Tests

Scott Research Laboratories is a nationally recognized research company and testing laboratory engaged in air pollution studies.

To determine the effectiveness of F-310 in cleaning up dirty carburetors and Positive Crankcase Ventilation (PCV) valves — and thus reducing exhaust emissions — Scott conducted 13 controlled tests in San Bernardino, California during 1968 and 1969.

The cars were all 1966 to 1969 models with V-8 engines and automatic transmissions, equipped with standard exhaust emissions control packages and PCV systems.

The cars drove stop and go for 5,000 to 20,000 miles on a non-additive gasoline typical of some of the poorer quality (deposit-forming) gasolines sold in the Los Angeles area.

This low quality fuel was used purposely to speed up the dirtying process and to provide a more severe test for F-310.

Los Angeles County Sheriff's Cars

This test program was conducted in February, 1970. Six cars (three 1968 and three 1969 models) were selected by the County of Los Angeles Mechanical Department.

The cars were chosen from three different locations in order to include all types of driving—stop-and-go, idling, long-distance, and high-speed. All cars had been driven 30,000 miles or more, and all had very dirty engines.

Careful measurements of exhaust emission levels were made at a Federal Government laboratory on all cars before the test.

The cars were then switched to Chevron with F-310 and returned to service for as little as 678 miles and as much as 2,093 miles. Then emission levels were checked again.

The results: Unburned hydrocarbons were reduced by an average of 24%, and carbon monoxide by 42%.

Orange County Test

This test program conducted between March and July, 1970, involved 53 vehicles selected by officials of the Orange County, Calif., Department of Transportation from its fleet of more than 1,000 cars and trucks. The selection represented a cross-section of high and low-mileage vehicles of various model years.

There are two very significant points about this program: 1) The fleet was exceptionally well-maintained, and 2) the fleet had previously been using a competitive, major brand premium-grade gasoline containing a highly publicized carburetor detergent.

Scott Laboratories ran emission tests on these cars before and after they had been driven approximately 2,000 miles on Chevron with F-310.

The results: Unburned hydrocarbon emissions dropped an average of 12.4% and carbon monoxide emissions dropped an average of 27.5%.

Pasadena Tests

This 297-car test program conducted during the Spring of 1970, was the largest and most definitive of its kind ever attempted. It was scientifically designed to tell us what would happen if the entire California car population used F-310.

Emission tests were conducted in the Pasadena California area by Olson Laboratories, an independent testing organization. The cars used were selected at random, by zip code area, based on a cross-section of the California car population, according to the California Department of Transportation registration figures. The only requirement for participation in the test was that the cars had not used any Chevron gasolines since December, 1969.

The cars were given a mechanical check at the Rose Bowl Stadium and measured for exhaust emission levels. The drivers were asked to drive as they always had — but using only Chevron gasolines with F-310. A return check-in date was established based on how long each motorist estimated it would take to drive approximately 2,000 miles.

Upon completion of the 2,000 miles, the exhaust emission level of each car was again measured by Olson Laboratories. These levels were then compared against the emissions levels taken at the beginning of the test.

The results: Chevron with F-310 achieved an average reduction in hydrocarbon emissions of 13.9%, and an average reduction in carbon monoxide emissions of 11.6%.

The significance of this test is in its size and scope — 297 cars representing a profile of the total car population in the State of California. And in its implications for the future in the urgent campaign to reduce air pollution.

FAILURE OF U.S.-SOVIET ARMS TALKS

Bad News For Taxpayers

DISCUSS TROUBLE SPOTS — Secretary of State William P. Rogers, left, and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird discuss problems in Southeast Asia and the Middle East during their appearance on ABC's "Issues and Answers" in Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of U.S.-Soviet arms control talks and other negotiations could lead to a major boost in American military spending within a year, according to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

The warning came Sunday in a joint appearance of Laird with Secretary of State William P. Rogers in which the two administration leaders took a two-handed, firm-hard approach to recent Soviet attacks on U.S. peace proposals for Indochina and the Middle East.

Laird's defense spending remark exemplified the hard approach. "Unless we have success in SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks) and these other negotiating areas," he said, "we are going to have to face up to some hard, tough decisions here which could require a tremendous increase as far as defense expenditures are concerned."

'HARD' DECISIONS
Laird said as a matter of fact some new arms programs have been held up pending the outcome of the SALT talks being conducted in Vienna.

When asked how long the United States could afford such a delay, Laird responded: "I don't believe from the standpoint of a defense planner we can delay these decisions more than 12 months."

Rogers took a slightly softer approach to Soviet intentions when he said recent statements from Moscow attacking U.S. peace proposals in the Mideast and Indochina may be public window dressing.

"The public position they take in the press doesn't necessarily coincide with the official attitude," the nation's top diplomat said. "It's certainly disappointing, but I hope in private discussions they'll act differently."

DISAPPOINTING
Rogers and Laird appeared in a special hour-long version of ABC's "Issues and Answers."

When asked about a recent Soviet press description of President Nixon's five-point Indochina peace plan as "a great fraud," Rogers said it "is standard Communist propaganda, which we expected . . ."

"I have a feeling that the Soviet Union and Hanoi will both give very careful consideration to the President's proposal because of the tremendous support that the proposals have received not only in this country but all over the world."

PEACE SNAG
But Laird, expressing the onpeace plan being pushed by the United States.

He said the official Soviet response has not come in yet to recent U.S. statements alleging Moscow helped Egypt violate the Arab-Israeli cease-fire but "on the other hand, there have been indications from the Soviet Union and Egypt that they would like to extend the cease-fire" sponsored by the United States.

In spite of his lack of full confidence in Soviet intentions, Laird said President Nixon's proclaimed "Era of Negotiation" had not fallen into a time of confrontation.

WARNING

But Laird also said Soviet arms production has strong momentum, "while we are going down." It was at this point he made the warning about a big increase in U.S. arms spending if U.S.-Soviet negotiations fail.

Laird had happier news to report in discussing the progress of President Nixon's plan to transfer the bulk of the Vietnam fighting to the South Vietnamese.

He said an announcement would be made in Saigon today "that we have beaten the troop ceiling which was announced by President Nixon to take effect on Oct. 15, which is 384,000 . . . by several thousand troops."

Laird and Rogers moved back and forth between the problems of the Middle East and Vietnam, making these points:

—A meeting between Nixon and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin would not be timely at the moment.

IT'S TOO EARLY

—Any new American aid program from the Middle East could include the Palestinians, although there is nothing specific to report at this time.

—Discussions between the United States and the Soviet Union and Egypt next week will provide the start for new Middle East negotiations.

—It is too early to tell if the new Egyptian President, Sadat, will adhere to the policies of the late President Nasser.

—Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops can handle the situation in Cambodia and there will be no need for another U.S. incursion into that Southeast Asian nation.

—The Vietnamization program will continue regardless of the outcome of negotiations with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Hip Community Quiet After 'War'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The hippie community was quiet today after a Saturday night and Sunday morning of sporadic violence in which three policemen and two youths were injured and 26 persons were arrested. At the height of the violence, touched off by the arrest of a young girl on drug charges, there were reports of stone throwing, firebombing and rifle fire.

Rights Report Raps Air Base Near Del Rio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Civil Rights Commission's huge report focuses on discrimination within the federal government, the first few pages document what the report calls "a national pattern of continuing abridgement of the rights of minority citizens."

Some examples: It pointed to what it called "extensive segregation of Mexican-American students in the five Southwestern states," citing particularly actions by Laughlin Air Force Base near Del Rio, Tex.

Since 1959, the study said, "the children of military personnel (mostly Anglo) . . . have been bused outside a predominantly Mexican American school district to a wealthier and predominantly Anglo district."

The result, the commission said, has been the "almost complete segregation of the Mexican-American students of San Felipe and the loss of over $300,000 per year in federal aid . . ."

The commission found that "generally, civil rights laws have been most successful in dealing with practices that do not require complex institutional change . . ."

"In fields where complex institutional change is required and the federal government has not intervened so directly, progress has come slowly and, in some cases, at a pace which can barely be discerned."

Cliche Characters Provide Msytery

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Warriors of the diamond and the gridiron were the stars of television over the weekend, to the joy of millions of sportswatchers and to the dismay, perhaps, of campaigning politicians.

With NBC's coverage of the baseball World Series dominating the schedules Saturday and Sunday and with the usual assortment of football games on the three major networks, the politicians had rough going.

BIG LEAGUE

Television politicking now is in an intense phase with invitations to appear on network and local interview programs pearls of great price. Sports events disrupt normal programming and it is hard to attract a big audience when the competition is a live, big league sports event on another channel.

The last of the season's new series made its delayed debut Saturday night, ABC's "The Most Deadly Game." This is a series that proposes to have a team of criminologists solve a murder a week. The premiere program seemed to be almost a spoof, like Batman.

Ralph Bellamy plays the senior member of the team, the wise armchair detective dedicated to logic. George Maharis is the younger, active investigator. There is a girl, played by Yvette Mimieux, around but she didn't have much to do in the first show.

HOLE IN SKULL

The case started with a corpse with a hole in his skull. This caused consternation until Mr. Arcane—the campy name of the brainy detective—deduced that death was caused by a sling shot. The end of the program showed Maharis being pursued through a swamp by a fanatical conservationist until he was almost swallowed by quicksand.

Since this is no year in which to make a conservationist a villain, it turned out the real killer was a man with a simple financial interest in homicide. At the end, Bellamy, in a freshly pressed suit, confronted Maharis, just out of the quicksand pit, and casually announced he had stopped by to pick up the killer.

YOU MEAN?

"You mean," said Maharis, breathing heavily and showing mild outrage, "that you sat home comfortably in your chair and figured this out while I was caught in quicksand?"

It was simply logic, Bellamy explained, and all three laughed merrily the way people always do at the end of mystery shows. The real mystery of the season may be how "The Most Deadly Game" ever got on the air. It is headed up, however, by three of television's most distinguished practitioners. Joan Harrison, the producer, worked for many years with Alfred Hitchcock. Writers and creators David Friedkin and Morton Fine are writers with superb credits. What they have come up with consists of a bunch of cliche characters in a preposterous situation.

and Chevron with F-310 air pollutants would be tons in a single day.

em to think that's significant. We think it is.

A recent test conducted in Pasadena, California, demonstrated that the use of Chevron gasolines with F-310* could result in the decrease of thousands of tons of exhaust emissions every day from America's car population.

297 cars, using 21 competitive brands of gasoline, and specifically selected to be representative of the total California car population, were tested for exhaust emissions by an independent research laboratory.

Then they were switched to Chevron with F-310, driven by their owners approximately 2,000 miles each, and tested again.

The automobiles showed an average reduction of 13.9% in unburned hydrocarbon emissions, and a drop of 11.6% in carbon monoxide emissions.

If Chevron with F-310 were used in all the cars in Los Angeles County alone, reductions of this size would have the effect of cutting back these emissions by over 1,000 tons per day.

This single test alone is conclusive proof of the effectiveness of F-310; and it strongly refutes the Federal Trade Commission's recent charge that F-310 makes no significant contribution to the air pollution problem.

The FTC says that F-310 is similar to competitive additives and that it will not significantly reduce automobile emissions of carbon monoxide and unburned hydrocarbons, and that claims made for the additive have not been proven or fully substantiated by reliable testing.

The FTC accusations are grossly in error and unfounded.

F-310 is in fact new, and different. The U.S. Patent Office has approved a U.S. patent on F-310 in gasoline.

Patents are awarded only for new inventions. Competitive oil companies have made similar claims for the effectiveness of their detergent additives, but no one has come forward with independent proof that we have seen.

F-310 does significantly reduce automobile exhaust emissions of carbon monoxide and unburned hydrocarbons. Proof of this is provided in results of tests which are covered in detail on the opposite page.

The testing of F-310 is accurate, scientific, and reliable. F-310 has been extensively and repeatedly tested in the laboratory and in the field, utilizing independent automotive testing laboratories and testing procedures widely used and accepted throughout the automotive research field. Chevron Research Company has spent years in the development of F-310, and in testing to prove that it does exactly what we say it does. F-310 is undoubtedly one of the most thoroughly tested and documented additives in gasoline history.

Because the FTC's allegations may tend to lessen confidence in F-310, we are taking strong and immediate action against these accusations.

We will continue to advertise and market Chevron with F-310, and continue to let the public know the exceptional ability of this additive to reduce automobile exhaust emissions of unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. We have complete faith in our product, its superiority, in the scientists and laboratories who have helped develop and test F-310, and in the remarkable results it has achieved. F-310 is, in fact, a genuine and significant contribution to air pollution control.

U.S. COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS DECLARES:

Federal Government Has Failed To Live Up To Its Promises

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has failed to live up to its own promises on civil rights, the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights said in a landmark study today. It laid ultimate responsibility on the quality of leadership exercised by the president...

Part of the blame was placed on government civil rights enforcement programs the commission said have been almost uniformly stuck with second class status—too few staff, too little money, and not enough authority...

There was no immediate comment from the White House. But sources close to the administration called the report "very comprehensive and quite constructive," and said it would get "a lot of careful study," and "a lot of attention."

and enforcement that are common to most agencies... These included, in addition to inadequate staff and funding: "Undue emphasis on voluntary compliance and failure to make sufficient use of available sanctions..."

The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, which got advance copies of the report, issued a statement commending the commission and strongly endorsing its recommendations... The conference said the government "must act at once to correct the shameful conditions the report delineates..."

Justice's civil rights division has been "consistently understaffed," the report said, and went on to complain that even at the White House "there is still no systematic effort to evaluate the enforcement activities of federal agencies..."

The department's civil rights division has worked to help blacks, the commission said, but "has brought no cases in which American Indians, Spanish-surnamed Americans, or women are the major victims of employment discrimination..."

Caper Nets $320,000

GENOA (AP) — The four men who kidnapped the son of the richest widow in Genoa and released him unharmed after holding him five days in the mountains seem to have made off with a $320,000 ransom.

Sergio Gadolla, 19, son of movie and construction heiress Rosa Maggiolo Gadolla, was set free Saturday night, 24 hours after his mother had broadcast on the radio three times the code word "Swiss" and deposited the ransom in a 110-pound bag of banknotes at a prearranged spot.

Bennett's: Pharmaceutical And Convalescent Needs

Fast, convenient, professional service is on hand every time you call or visit Bennett's Pharmacy, 305 W. 16th, because Bennett Brooke and Paul Keele take care in providing every pharmaceutical service they can.

Convalescent aids are available at Bennett's for sale or rent. Their convalescent equipment, such as hospital bed, crutches, wheelchair, or commode chair, is all medicare approved, and can be rented under the medicare plan with a doctor's prescription. Brooke or Keele will then fill out the medicare form for the patient and take care of the necessary paperwork.

Bennett's Pharmacy has a convenient drive-in window where a busy customer can drive up and pick up a prescription without bringing in infants or small children or worrying about leaving them alone in the car.

The Family Prescription Record System at Bennett's is particularly useful. An individual record of each family's prescriptions is maintained. These records are useful for insurance purposes and for keeping track for income deductions.

If a family changes doctors, the family record makes it easy for the new doctor to learn the medication history of the family. If you misplace or lose a prescription number, it is instantly available from the record system at Bennett's.

The pharmacy is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. In case of emergency Bennett Brooke may be reached at 267-7384 and Paul Keele may be reached at 263-4416. During regular pharmacy hours customers may call 263-1751 for prompt service, or have their doctor call in the prescription.

Unruly Thunderstorms Plague Much Of Texas

By The Associated Press
Vicious, unruly thunderstorms rumbled across Texas early today accompanied by gusty winds, tornado watches and generous amounts of rain.

The Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch for most of the upper Texas coastal counties at 11:35 p.m. Sunday and it remained in effect until 4 a.m. today.

No tornadoes were reported during that time but Sunday funnel clouds were spotted near Bridge City, China, Lakeview, and Pasadena in Southeast Texas.

TORNADO WATCH
A twister dipped down at Bridge City, damaging 28 mobile homes in two trailer parks and injuring eight persons Sunday. An Orange Memorial Hospital spokesman said the injured received cuts and bruises.

Texas counties placed under tornado watch early today included Sabine, Wharton, Brazoria, Chambers, Fort Bend, Galveston, Hardin, Harris, Jasper, Jefferson, Liberty, Matagorda, Newton, Orange and Tyler.

During the tornado watch period early today, large sections of the state also were placed under severe thunderstorm watches—mostly in the South Texas areas.

At the height of the violent activity, 54 counties were under severe thunderstorm watches.

The greatest threat was in an area along and 70 miles either side of a line from 30 miles northeast of Waco to 60 miles southwest of San Antonio.

The San Antonio area got heavy rain and hail shortly after midnight. There were reports of golf-ball sized hail and gusty winds.

HEAVY DOWNPOURS
But the severe weather started to decrease as dawn approached.

The early morning activity followed a night of violent weather and weather-related accidents.

A small plane attempting to make an emergency landing during a rainstorm collided with a car, killing one man and injuring 10 other persons near Grand Saline Sunday. One man

Bush Claims Demos Wrong On Firearms

By The Associated Press
Texas Republican senatorial nominee George Bush says the Democrats are wrong in accusing him of being in favor of federal registration of firearms.

A statement from Bush's headquarters in Austin said: "To say that I favor federal registration or federal licenses or federal permits absolutely distorts my attitude, my approach, my actual record."

"I would urge the vast Benton (Democratic opponent Lloyd) research team to be more careful with the facts. It is kind of sloppy research that I have their candidate saying that I voted for a law that I didn't vote for."

"Let's try to solve the problem—not just kick the other guy," he said.

Meanwhile, Benton told the Texas Association of Broadcasters meeting in Houston:

"Hopefully, the congressional reform legislation now pending will put oil on some of the creaky joints of Congress. But unfortunately this legislation does not correct one of the worst evils of all—the secret session."

"More than a third of the congressional hearings are presently conducted behind closed doors. Most of these hearings have no bearing at all on national security."

"So where classified information is not at stake, secret committee meetings should be eliminated. There is simply no justification for closing most of these meetings to the press and the public."

Lane To Appeal Disorderly Rap
AUSTIN (AP) — Yippie John Lane said Saturday he has appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court his conviction on a charge of disorderly conduct at a University of Texas regents meeting April 17.

The meeting was disrupted when Lane leaped out of his chair and shouted: "Let me out. It's too much B—S—"

He ran up to regent chairman Frank Erwin and shouted: "You're death." Guards hustled him out of the room.

was injured near Sargent in Southeast Texas when a small twister overturned a camping trailer.

Heavy downpours in the Beaumont - Port Arthur areas Sunday flooded underpasses and forecasters recorded 6.75 inches of rain at the Jefferson County airport.

The weather also burst windows in downtown Port Arthur, knocked down utility lines and uprooted trees.

Police at Texas City said "what appeared to be a tornado" hit the city's port area and ripped open the top of an oil storage tank and toppled a large crane used to load ships.

Dead is Morris B. Gray, 47, of Quitman, a passenger in the car. His wife and five children and Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Jones, also of Quitman, were taken to a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hollis of Longview, occupants of the plane, were treated and released from a Grand Saline hospital.

Hollis told authorities he was trying to make an emergency landing.

Plane-Car Crash Kills, Hurts 10

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP)—A light plane trying to land on a highway in a rainstorm, collided with a car on U.S. 80 near here Sunday, killing one and injuring 10 other persons.

Dead is Morris B. Gray, 47, of Quitman, a passenger in the car. His wife and five children and Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Jones, also of Quitman, were taken to a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hollis of Longview, occupants of the plane, were treated and released from a Grand Saline hospital.

Episcopal Church Opening Volatile Meet In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Opening to the crack of thunder, the Episcopal Church's 63rd triennial General Convention today began hunting a way through storms of conflict shaking the denomination.

Its presiding bishop, the Right Rev. John E. Hines, said the deliberations "may prove to be the most significant" in the 3.4 million member church's history.

Under fire himself for pushing a controversial multi-million dollar program to empower blacks and other poor groups, he proposed in an opening worship service Sunday night that his own leadership be reviewed.

WOULD RESIGN
He was asked about this later in a television interview and said if the convention indicated it has lost confidence in the course he was pursuing that "of course, I would resign. It would be unthinkable for me not to."

As the 10-day meeting went into its first legislative session, women delegates — about 30 of them — were expected to be seated for the first time in the modern annals of the church after a constitutional change is given final approval.

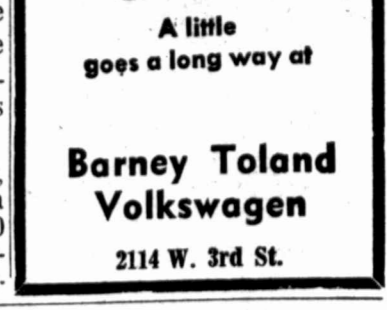

A keen disagreement swirled, however, over a move to give a voice—but no vote—to about 200 special representatives of assertedly under-represented elements, youths, blacks and other minorities.

But the main tension centered on the church program that in the last three years has poured $5 million into self-determined projects among the poor.

Adrian Randle Details Indian History, Crafts

Indian crafts and history were discussed by Adrian Randle, guest speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the 1946 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Rene Brown, No. 3 Highland Heather. Mrs. J. H. Fish was cohostess. Mrs. R. A. Fuller, program chairman, announced the year's study theme, "Shifting Sands — The Study of Southwestern American Indian Culture," on which Randle based his talk.

Eager Beavers Elect New Slate

Eager Beaver Sewing Club members met Friday in the home of Mrs. L. D. Patterson, 611 Bell, to elect new officers. Elected were Mrs. H. D. Bruton, president; Mrs. J. D. Patterson, vice president; and Mrs. John Freeman, secretary-treasurer. Social committee members are Mrs. Denver Yates and Mrs. W. O. Washington. Members crocheted beads and aiglets and did handwork. The next meeting will be in Mrs. Washington's home, 2300 Allendale.

Milton L. Kirby Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lynn Kirby, Stephenville, announce the birth of a son, Marty Lynn, at 8:56 p.m., Oct. 5, in Stephenville Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 6 ounces. Kirby is a student at Tarleton State College. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kirby, 1607 E. 5th, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevens, 107 Jonesboro.

A point brought out by Randle was that the crime rate is low in Indian communities — even though "it is a difficult life." He also noted that the old masters of Indian crafts are dying and few young Indians are becoming artisans. To illustrate his talk, he brought dyed rugs, wall hangings, turquoise jewelry and other examples of Indian crafts.

Mrs. T. J. Rowland presided for the brief business session. The next meeting will be Nov. 4 in the home of Mrs. Jerry Jenkins, 503 Highland, when Mrs. Clyde Angel will speak on the proposed county museum.

Koffee Kup Club Will Sell Candy

STANTON (SC) — Halloween candy will be sold to raise money for the Kidney Foundation, Galveston, by the Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club, members decided Thursday. Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Bill Morrow. Mrs. Harold Henley presided. Delegates to the Texas HD Association meeting, Mrs. Jim Webb, Stanton HD Club; and Mrs. N. E. Holloway, Courtney HD Club, reported on the meeting. Christmas gifts will be donated to Big Spring State Hospital and San Angelo Hospital for the mentally retarded, Carlsbad, N. M. The program was on self-defense. A Christmas party was planned for Dec. 10 in the home of Mrs. Delbert Hopper. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Bob Cox, and members will exchange ideas for gifts.

PTA Course Tonight On Procedure

Mrs. Ben Johnson of Midland will conduct Part Two of the parliamentary procedure course being offered to Parent-Teacher Association officers and chairmen this evening at 7 o'clock at Lamar's Restaurant.

The course is being sponsored by the PTA District 16, and all women holding leadership positions in their units are urged to attend.

Those completing the first course were Mrs. R. G. Fryar, Mrs. Cleve Butler, Don Brooks, Perry Chandler, Mrs. P. B. Hudspeth, Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. David Hodnett, Mrs. Frank Moore and Mrs. Darel Highley.

Married In Austin Rites

Miss Linda Holder became the bride of James Gary Smith Sept. 18 in Pleasant Hills Baptist Church in Austin. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holder, Austin; and the bridegroom, a former Big Spring resident, is the son of Mrs. Jack C. Kimble, Plainview and James L. Smith Austin.

Marriage vows were exchanged before an altar enhanced with an arrangement of white gladioli and greenery. The bride was attired in a white lace suit with white accessories. Attending her sister was Mrs. Arthur Jackson as the matron of honor. She wore a pink Princess-style dress. The best man was Arthur Jackson.

The bridegroom, a Big Spring High School graduate, is employed by Sears, Roebuck and Company in Austin, where the couple is residing. Smith will leave for active duty with the Navy in November.

Grady HD Club Gains Members

STANTON (SC) — Grady Home Demonstration Club gained two new members, Mrs. Vanny Glaze and Mrs. Bobby Graves, during Thursday's meeting in the home of Mrs. A. H. Tate. Two delegates, Mrs. Jack Kuhlman and Mrs. Jim Webb, the latter of Stanton HD Club, reported on the Texas HD Association meeting at Galveston. Achievement Day, Nov. 12, was discussed. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wiley Williams. Guests were Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Van Glaze.

Oklahomans Are Guests In Area

WESTBROOK (SC) — Lt. Col. and Mrs. L. F. Tiemann and sons of Norman, Okla., were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pent Hines.

The Gerald Rollins visited the C. E. Lamberts, Odessa, and the J. O. Stuarts, Stanton, Sunday. Mrs. Alvin Jones, Hobbs, N.M., a former Westbrooke resident, is a patient in M.D. Anderson Hospital, Houston. Patients at Root Memorial Hospital are Mrs. Dale Byrd, Mrs. T. W. Daughtrey and Mrs. Hollis Brookshire. P. E. Clawson has been discharged from the hospital.

Guests of the George Sweatts have been Mrs. Gordon Coe, Sweetwater; the Reeves Plummers, Sundown; and Mrs. David Hardin, Levelland. Herman Salley was transferred from Root Memorial Hospital to a San Angelo Hospital.

SAYS VISITING SPECIALIST

Innovative Programs Needed For Scouting

Miss Carole McConnell, program specialist with the National Girl Scout Branch Office in Kansas City, Mo., was in Big Spring Saturday to work with the program committee of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. Preceding the work session at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Miss McConnell was honored with a luncheon at Cosden Country Club.

Miss McConnell joined the Region 5 staff of Girl Scouts, U.S.A. on Feb. 1, 1970, and in her current position as membership advisor and head of Girl Events-International Projects, travels over the entire 10-state region. In her many years of professional work in Girl Scouting, she has been field director for two California councils, district advisor for the Troops on Foreign Soil in the Far East, Okinawa, Korea and Philippines and exchange trainer in New Zealand. Also, she has had numerous state-side assignments with the national staff.

After receiving a BA degree in bacteriology and pre-medicine at the University of Montana, Miss McConnell earned a master of science degree at Springfield, Mass. She is a member of the American Camping Association and the League of Women Voters.

Miss McConnell met with 11 members of the program committee, which is headed by Mrs. Paul Campbell of Big Spring, a member of the board of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. In discussing programs for girls in the 1970's, Miss McConnell stressed the need for flexibility in the Girl Scout program.

"New and innovative programs will be needed to hold and attract today's girls," she said. "Experimentation is now in progress across the nation, and the years ahead will be truly exciting times for today's girls."

Variable Chairs

Breakfast room chairs look beat? Make a set of colorful seat covers from an airy cotton print. Tie-on pads for backs and seats may be all chairs need. If so, make two or three sets of cotton covers in spring green or yellow prints, to interchange with different table settings.

District PTA Workshop Set

The Sixteenth District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will sponsor a workshop Oct. 22 in Westbrook, according to an announcement by the district president, Mrs. Darel Highley, Sterling City Route.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Jean Harris of Austin, state first vice president, who will stress the theme, "Living With Responsibility."

"The workshop is intended to assist in developing programs and projects," said Mrs. Highley. "Although it will be educational, it is not designed to teach the mechanics but rather to exchange ideas and bring about better understanding of goals and responsibilities in PTA work."

Registration, at 10 a.m., will be conducted by Mrs. Bobbie Smith, Mrs. Dwight B. McCann and Mrs. Noel R. Harvell. Reservations for the luncheon ($1) must be made by Oct. 17 with Mrs. Hollis Puckett, Gail Route, Box 237, Big Spring. Program arrangements are being made by Mrs. Howard Armstrong and Mrs. David Hodnett, while the special guests, speech students at Howard County Junior College, are being contacted by Mrs. Clyde Angel and Dan Shockey. The workshop chairman is Mrs. Jack Brown, with Mrs. Dona Reed and Mrs. T. A. Harris in charge of hospitality.

October is both Membership Month and Birthday Month for the PTA. The Texas Congress was established by Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter Oct. 19, 1909.

Members are reminded that the state convention is slated at Galveston Nov. 18-20. Delegates names must be sent to Mrs. McCann, 510 Goliad, by Oct. 26. Mrs. T. A. Harris, Rt. 1, Box 243, is transportation chairman and must have $15 deposit from each person by Nov. 6.

Carr HD Group Re-Elects Officers

WESTBROOK (SC) — Officers were re-elected at the Carr Home Demonstration Club meeting in the home of Mrs. T. A. Rees. Re-elected were Mrs. Tom Jackson, president; Mrs. Hoyt Roberts, vice president; Mrs. Ben Ellett, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Rees, reporter. Mrs. Jackson also will serve as HD council delegate.

Mrs. T. L. McKenney presented the program on yeast breads. Recreation was led by Mrs. Jackson. Mrs. Joe Williams of Snyder was a guest. The next meeting will be Thursday with the Mitchell County HD Council in Lone Wolf Electric Medallion Room, Colorado City.

A LOVELIER YOU Add Autumn Glow To Your Complexion

By MARY SUE MILLER

Nature's autumnal colors — the earthy russet, pumpkin, golds and browns — have been re-created in current fashion with exceptional vigor. Shades have the blend of frosty fields and hillsides. Over-all, there's a golden glow.

If there is a single reservation about the shades, it can only be how to wear them so that their glow does not douse yours. It can, you know, unless your own coloring has the voltage of a vivid brunet.

And here's where makeup comes to the aid of blonds, red-heads and brunettes — the fairer, paler types. The switch-on to glow is in lip and eye color. Tawny shades of lipstick — reds, burnished with golden brown — and amber eye shadows both illuminate the face and meld with earthy colors.

To spark the complexion coloring, as required, try two foundations: an undercoat that neutralizes your skin tone; a final find that you need a highlight at the finish. A whisk of pale peach gel high on the cheeks or a contour bronze for cheek hollows could be your thing.

In addition to artful makeup, the flattery of earthy colors is influenced by their intensity. The deeper shades are generally the most becoming. With the deep tones, pale touches hold flattery. The palest pink scarf with a deep russet coat, for instance.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, The Eyes Topcoat of Golden Beige. You Of Youth. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A Devotion For Today . . .

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord. (Psalm 92:1)

PRAYER: O loving Father, Thou hast created, Thou dost sustain, Thou wilt save. Enrich my soul that I might still praise Thee even if all my material possessions were removed. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Matter Of Principle

The Supreme Court will hear arguments this month on the 18-year-old voter law passed by Congress. A speedy hearing was set to clear the issue before the November elections.

Meantime, a three-judge federal court in Washington ruled unanimously that the Congress does have authority under the Constitution to set the age limits. The judges apparently leaned on the 14th Amendment. The "equal protection" clause seems to be interpreted as picking up Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution: "The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states." Some states allow the 18-year-old a vote.

Yet, the Constitution also directly puts the voter-qualification upon the states by requiring voters to have the same qualifications required for membership in the state House of Representatives. One of those qualifications is to be 21 years old.

The district court judges lay open the challenge by 16-year-olds, for example, to claim they ought to be given the vote. Or, for another example, what happens when residents of Texas decide they want welfare maintenance at the levels set in New York? That is equal protection (but the Supreme Court has already said a state may set limits on that service). It seems clear, however, that if the states may set that kind of limit, it can also set the limits on voting as long as all citizens of the state observe the same rules.

Our argument is not against the right to vote for the 18-year-olds. We argue, rather, that the Constitution gives the states the authority for setting the voting requirements and the 10th Amendment specifically protects those rights for the states.

Perhaps The Young Will Notice

Absolute personal freedom, defined as the right "to do one's thing," is the core of the frenzied philosophy of extreme elements of the new generation.

Their leaders went about the country espousing a credo built on drugs, booze and licentiousness. As long as you hurt no one else anything goes, they said.

Two of the leaders, Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin, were at the top. The glamor of their free-wheeling life could not but help rub on other less talented youngsters.

The hippies they offered helped fill hippie pads in every metropolitan center. Runaway girls and disoriented youths were set upon a one-way street by their example.

Perhaps it is too late for these kids but for others there is much to be learned from Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin.

Both reached the apex of a musical career and saw money roll in torrents. They had adulation. They made it big while early in their twenties.

And today they are both dead, cut down by their own life style.

They did their own thing and it killed them.

Perhaps the manner in which they died will not be lost on other members of the youth-and-drug culture who admired their way of life. They owe them that much at least.

Why Not A Recess For Everyone?

WASHINGTON — If colleges can grant recesses a couple of weeks this autumn so that students and faculty can campaign for or against candidates in the November elections, why shouldn't employees in all businesses also be entitled to recesses from their jobs for a week or more to do campaigning?

THE COMMISSIONER of the Internal Revenue, Randolph W. Thorer, has said in a statement that the Internal Revenue Service is giving "serious consideration" to an analysis just published here by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, a private organization of a nonpartisan character. The study, written by a Yale law professor and two tax attorneys, comes to the conclusion that, under the Internal Revenue Code, tax exemptions for the colleges may be endangered by the "recess" idea. It also notes that college officials could be exposing themselves to prosecution for violation of the federal corrupt practices act, which forbids any corporation to make contributions or expenditures in connection with federal elections.

THE ANALYSIS refers to an "unprecedented upsurge of political activism" on campuses in this country and to the "increasing demand that universities and colleges commit themselves to political action in a variety of ways and in a variety of causes." It then warns:

"If such demands are acceded to, universities may make themselves liable to serious legal penalties."

The suggestion is made that "there may be no problem if the academic calendar is rearranged as a permanent matter and this decision is taken without reference to particular issues and campaigns."

THERE IS NO DOUBT that the proposed campaign activity of the students will be largely on the anti-war and "liberal" side. But the universities which have granted permission for the absences have been careful not to take any position on the political issues or the candidates. In most instances, the colleges are requiring that the time missed must be made up later on in the term.

It is, in fact, questionable how much aid students really can give. They might lead demonstrations, and they might mingle with groups of young voters and make speeches. But the records show that citizens below the age of 30 do not go to the polls in as great numbers as do those in the other age brackets. Over-all, it is doubtful whether student campaigning will play a significant part in many elections this year.

THE OBJECT of the movement in the colleges to involve large numbers of students in special campaigning seems to be to do active work in the field. Political parties are glad to get assistance of this kind in every congressional district, and they will offer little objection to student activity unless it is lined up entirely for one candidate in a race.

IF THE MOVEMENT grows, there certainly will be pressure from labor unions and other organizations to have their members given a week or more off before elections to take part in electioneering crusades — with the understanding, of course, that these workers would make up the time that they had been absent from their jobs. And what about government employees? Would they lose a right of citizenship, or could they have a "recess," too, for electioneering purposes?

Billy Graham

My father committed a terrible crime and will be on trial in a few weeks. As a Christian I am embarrassed about this. Should I stand by my father during the trial or try to ignore it by keeping away?

I trust that you are more than embarrassed — I hope you are tremendously concerned!

Christians don't run away from the problems of life. Your father needs you now more than ever before. Remember, our Lord, even in His dying hour paused to forgive and redeem a wanton thief. We live in a world of sin, and many stumble and fall in the race of life. It is then that they need our prayers, our sympathy and understanding. I don't have a hint as to the degree of your father's crime — but even if it is murder — you must stand by him. Not to defend him, or exonerate him, but to give him love and comfort in this hour of need.

Perhaps this crisis will shock your father into a real sense of spiritual need! Or, if those he loves turn against him, it could harden him even more. The Bible teaches that no one is beyond the reach of Christian love. Jesus said to the woman caught in immorality, "Neither do I condemn thee, go thy way and sin no more." And when we look at those caught in a web of evil, we should say gratefully, "There, but for the Grace of God go I."

Smaller Stores Losing Out To The Big Ones

NEW YORK (AP) — The store-to-people ratio is falling sharply, in case you haven't noticed. Most likely you have, though, even if you haven't identified the change in those terms.

In 1958 there was one retail store for every 97 Americans. By 1963, customers had to content themselves with a ratio of one per 110. And now there is only one store for every 121 persons.

By contrast, some shoppers prefer the anonymity and the freedom to choose afforded by the larger stores, feeling that the closer examination that self-service sometimes permits is a shopping plus.

Somehow, however, it seems that an even more revealing survey of retailing would be to measure the ratio of sales people to customers. Therein may lie some explanation for today's irritated consumer.

now, but it is often difficult to find the aspirin behind the breakfast counter, greeting cards, clothing, luggage, plastic flowers, jewelry, hardware and yards of beauty aids.

Among the common complaints about large stores is that they are impersonal and that assistance is hard to get. Customers cannot help but to observe that while products become more complex, assistance becomes less available.

The change is illustrated by the development of larger department and discount stores, supermarkets that sell many products that once were the staples of hardware or drug stores, and large drive-in restaurants in place of "dinners."

Most noticeable by their declining numbers are the old mom-and-pop stores that used to sell groceries or candy or newspapers. Now their business has been swallowed by larger units, many of them belonging to chain stores.

Audits & Surveys, a large market research organization, keeps close watch on the trend and can report that the process of attrition is intensifying. Last year 14,000 stores disappeared, bringing the five-year toll to 52,000.

Retail units this year total 1,698,000, says A&S, compared with 1,712,100 in 1969 and 1,730,000 in 1965.

The A&S census claims that there are now 4,200 full-line discount stores in the United States, compared with 2,200 in 1966. In the same time the number of department stores rose to 4,500 from 3,100.

The biggest loser of any category is the food group, which suffered a loss of 6,700 stores in one year, bringing the total down to 298,900 units. Supermarkets are the reason, of course.

And the oldtime drug stores, selling only medication and probably ice cream, sodas and cosmetics, is in a slow but steady decline. The trend now is to fewer but larger stores with wider merchandise selections.

There may be, as A&S points out, only 57,400 drug stores

Old Henry Started The Fad

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The broad-toe shoe fad isn't really new. Shoes of this type were first made popular by King Henry VIII in England in the 16th century.

Life in the United States has many perils but earthquakes are not a major one. A worldwide study of 45,000 earthquake deaths since 1960 found fewer than 200 occurred in this country.

It is estimated that two million people a year are giving up cigarette smoking.

Almost every sports fan knows that Man O' War lost only one race during his fabulous racing career and that to a horse named Upset. The name is appropriate in more ways than one. Upset upset Man O' War only once, but Man O' War in other races upset Upset seven times.

Quotable notables: "Watermelon—it is a good fruit. You eat, you drink, and you wash your face." —Enrico Caruso.

Ever wonder why there are 12 people on a jury? One explanation is that in olden times court astrologers selected jurors and decided there should be one for each sign of the zodiac, so that all types of mentality should be brought to bear on the verdict.

Some authors do their best writing under the pressure of having to meet a deadline. One of them was O. Henry, the pen name of William Sydney Porter. He usually wrote under the pressure of an empty stomach. To meet one editorial deadline he wrote his most famous short story, "The Gift of the Magi," in less than three hours.

Sign seen in a pet shop window: "Going out of business—lost our leash."

Knockout medicine: Surgery was rough and ready in ancient Egypt. Having no modern anesthetics such as ether or chloroform, the surgeon usually had to knock the patient unconscious with a sharp blow to the head before proceeding with the operation. The problem of the patient was to survive the head injury as well as the knife incision.

Worth remembering: "The hardest part of giving teenagers advice is finding something they don't already know."

History Lesson: Can you name three U.S. presidents who died on the Fourth of July? They were Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, both of whom died on the 50th anniversary of the proclamation of the Declaration of Independence, and James Monroe, who died five years later on July 4, 1831.

To Your Good Health

She Doesn't Like One Of Her Children

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you give me some advice on how to cope with the child you don't like? I have three, ranging from 4½ years to 13 months. The child I don't like is the middle one, a boy, 3½.

I find that he "bothers" me much more than the other two. They all bother me at times, but for some reason this boy is nothing to me but a nuisance.

I hit him for the most trivial things, even the way he eats, and find myself thinking how much I wish he'd never been born.

I have been acting this way toward this child ever since he was an infant and the situation now does not look any better. He is a very slow child in learning things, even to walk.

If you could help me find a solution, I would appreciate it. — Mrs. R.D.

I can offer ready solutions for a lot of problems. Some I can't, and this is one of them. I do not mean that it cannot be solved, but you need someone with more skill than I have in such things.

First of all, I respect you for facing the issue squarely. Too many people try to fool themselves, or try to conceal their real feelings. We continue to learn more about the prevalence of abused children. Some parents are, apparently, brutes who abuse (and sometimes even kill) their children.

Others, it has been found, develop a dislike for just one child. Often they don't know why. They may blame it all on the child — when in fact the child's behavior may really be a reaction to the parent's dislike.

Why do you dislike this boy? Since he arrived only a year after the first child, you may have resented a pregnancy that followed so quickly. That's just a supposition, of course.

His slow learning should be investigated. Some degree of retardation or brain damage may account for his behavior.

But my point is that if you can find the real reason for this dislike, then you can begin to find a way to correct it. To understand — to understand oneself — is important.

But I feel sure you will need some help, by which I mean counseling by a psychiatrist, to help you understand your feelings.

Psychiatrists are in short enough supply so I realize that everyone who could benefit from psychiatry can't get an appointment. Your problem is one that should be helped.

Many cities have child guidance clinics. Children's hospitals have departments to deal with such problems. But one more place to look for some help is your regular doctor. Tell him the problem, and see if he can't get help for you.

Both of you and the boy-in-the-middle deserve some help.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Mess Hall—You Can Say That Again

The most aptly named places I saw during World War II were the mess halls. Invariably, they recruited some foundry worker with a grudge against the human race and told him he was the NCO in charge of feeding the troops.

IN THE CASE of two or three, their food was so bad most of the men wouldn't have survived had it not been for Red Cross packages.

One would think they accidentally could prepare a good meal every now and then but the gourmet luncheons came along only two times — seldom and never. Those specialists of the kitchen thought only two things could improve food — more salt or water. They were the only people I ever saw who could make pot roast and lemon pie taste alike.

IT WAS BETTER to eat their turkey and dressing with the lights off — unless you preferred your meat with feathers in it. Their mashed potatoes couldn't have been smoothed out by a pavement roller.

If we had used their biscuits to throw at the Germans rather than try to eat them, we might have ended the war sooner.

The coffee was better if it was diluted with tea and most of the guys thought it was. We swore the salads had been mixed with soap granules and maybe they were because they were tossed in the dish pans which regularly were used to erase all evidence of the dining room crimes that had been committed.

WE LIKED for the generals to eat with us, not because we relished the thought of rubbing elbows with the tall millinery but perhaps because misery loves company. None of the brass I saw frequent the GIs' dining halls left with doggie bags.

I entered one mess hall overseas and saw the flag flying upside down. Only as I was leaving did I realize what the distress signal was for. The meal being served was lending aid and comfort to the enemy.

SOME ARMY installations, supervised by gung-ho lieutenants who were smart enough to bring their own rations to camp, plastered placards about the mess halls which read, "Food Will Win The War."

We, who had to parade through the serving lines and partake of the delicacies, were inclined to agree — the only trouble was we couldn't get the Germans or the Japs to come over and try it.

Burleson Reports

Time To Rebuff Society Bid For Power

WASHINGTON — Almost four months ago, on June 11 to be exact, we called attention to the Soviet Union's apparent build-up of military potential around Cuba.

THE ADMINISTRATION has now officially revealed the information referred to at that time. On Friday, Sept. 25, both the White House and the Defense Department responded to news inquiry about what appears to be a Russian intent to build a submarine base at Cienfuegos on Cuba's south shore. The Pentagon confirmed to news sources that three Soviet ships had moved heavy barges and other equipment into Cienfuegos' harbor in the past few weeks. Actually, the last few weeks go back to early June.

Questioned at the White House, a spokesman was quoted as saying, "The Soviet Union can be under no doubt that we would view the establishment of a strategic base in the Caribbean with the utmost seriousness." At that time the White House spokesman quoted President Kennedy's statement that there would be peace in the Caribbean "if all offensive weapons are removed from Cuba and kept out of the Hemisphere in the future."

"ALMOST LOST in the Middle East crisis was the warning to the Russians about the possible construction of their strategic base.

For a century and a half the United States has held fast to the doctrine that no European nation should be allowed to establish a military foothold anywhere in the Western Hemisphere. The Monroe Doctrine has been a living declaration for all this time.

Today, as nuclear-packed submarines are able to cruise underwater and sneak up to the coast lines of any country, reconnaissance planes constantly survey the sea approaches. A Soviet submarine base in Cuba, capable of firing missiles into the populous areas of the United States would constitute a grave threat.

As was mentioned in this column of June 11, those who are willing to trust the Russian leaders will doubtless say that if they have the capability of launching missiles from Russian soil, why would they seek bases within 90 miles of our shore. The answer is simple enough: there remains some doubt as to the accuracy of missiles fired from 6,000 to 8,000 miles away, but little doubt of pinpoint certainty fired from a distance no farther than the Caribbean.

It is reasonable that the construction of a strategic submarine base in Cuba would be in keeping with the Soviet's intent of shifting the world balance of power away from the United States. This sort of action, coupled with Soviet military activity in the Middle East and in Indochina, seems to support a conclusion that they are now engaged in a bold bid for superior military strength in the West, which essentially means the United States of America.

WE SHOULD tell the Russians now that all bids are off in all other directions, including the strategic arms limitation talks now going on, unless they stop any plan they may have for building bases in Cuba or any place else near the Western Hemisphere.

Slurring Of Ethnic Groups

WASHINGTON — While acknowledging they stand on uncertain constitutional ground, I yet applaud a group of Congressmen who have given television and the movies the back of their hand for "systematic slurring" of ethnic, racial and religious groups.

PREDICTABLY, the group does not include Negroes among those victimized by the posturing clowns on screen and tube. I say predictably because these days every film black is a hero or a good mother and therefore needs no defense. (Although were I a Negro I would resent such type casting as patronizing and detrimental to full equality.)

The Congressmen have complained before a House Interstate and Foreign Commerce subcommittee that TV and the films constantly portray Italian-Americans as mobsters, the Irish as hard-drinking cops, and Mexican-Americans as fat bandits. They have filed 19 resolutions signed by 70 sponsors expressing a "sense of Congress" in condemning the "degradation" of these ethnic groups.

UNFORTUNATELY, one of these resolutions asks for congressional "action" unless the media adopt certain standards on depicting ethnic characters. Here, the legislators are monkeying with the First Amendment and should be politely rebuffed.

But they have a large part in expressing their common nausea over the subtle garbage aimed at Americans whose backgrounds and life styles compare favorably with their artistically chic neighbors. These citizens by now have a right to be fed up with TV shows, commercials and movies that lump them all together as untidy and sometimes criminal immigrants who speak broken or ungrammatical English and therefore are legitimate targets for ridicule by lousy jokes and, often, condemnation as congenital hoodlums.

PONDERING THESE clumsy and pompous parodies, I find memory leading me back to recollection of some former friends and neighbors in my New England hometown. They were for the most part French-Canadians, Italians, Poles and Irish, and I would like to suggest that John Rischitelli and Louis Colognesi were typical of this ethnic mix. That is to say, they were and are not only good citizens but good human beings of the type seldom encountered on Madison Avenue.

Both John and Louie were poor boys, but I'm not sure they knew it because they were always too busy doing a job of work. Family circumstances made it necessary for them to support and help rear their brothers and sisters. Both were forced to leave school in the elementary grades, although John later spent long years in night school to acquire a degree in accounting, and Louie took special business courses while learning the sheet metal trade.

WHEN LAST HEARD from, John was treasurer of the world's biggest optical factory and Louis was sole owner of a flourishing steel business built with his own hands and brains. Between times, they made sacrifices — an old-fashioned word — to send all their many kids to college. In short, they not only dreamed the American Dream — they made it a reality. The American Dream also came true for other poor boys.

IT IS, OF COURSE, the height of insolence to suggest that one American is better than another. But the right of choice is still valid, and in a crunch I will take this little assemblage any day over the hoers of the rube and screen who sneer at a man's ancestry as unstylish.

Bees Valuable And Dangerous

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Bees are both a blessing and a danger to man says Carl E. Killion, who has been superintendent of the division of apary inspection for 33 years in Illinois.

"Life on this planet would be almost impossible without the honey bee," he said. However, he warned, "More Americans are killed by members of the bee family than by snakes and spiders combined."

Killion estimated that the honey bee added at least $50 million to agriculture in Illinois in 1969. He said they pollinate more than 50 kinds of food and farm crops.

But for all the good he does, the bee is a member of the insect group hymenoptera (bees, wasps, hornets, ants) which caused 50 per cent of 460 deaths from bites and stings observed in a 10-year study. An allergic reaction to insect venom can vary from minor itching to death. Symptoms may range from dizziness to headaches, abdominal cramps and extreme nausea, Killion said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: So many changes and new beginnings are now taking place that you would be wise to think over carefully what you want to do otherwise you are apt to jump impulsively from the frying pan into the fire—or from one good thing to another that is no better. Be alert to all that is happening about you and keep cheerful, wise, wide-awake.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Try to keep calm with a partner during a conversation or you can get into a serious quarrel. Gently state your views. Be articulate. Show your finest talents.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Everything seems to be happening so fast it annoys one of your measured tread of living, but this helps you to speed up a bit. Meet changes wisely. Assist those who are also having rough sledding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Friends who act impulsively themselves can nonetheless be the ones to give you fine advice you need today. Go out socially early and you will make new contacts of value and also have a good time. Avoid persons who bug you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Conditions on the outside have to be met of the drop of a hat today. So get busy and do what higher-ups expect of you; go along with their ideas. This can bring excellent results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) So many fascinating situations come up that you scarcely know which one to handle first, but if you get into the most important first, all is well. Garner all data for that new project. Read some tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Delve right into all those financial affairs early, such as investments, insurance, government loans, etc. An associate has some fine ideas how to solve your personal problems. Listen carefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Hit on the right plan so that you come to an understanding with a dynamic partner. Get on a higher level of consciousness and all works out better for you. Taking unnecessary risks now could be perilous.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to speed it up if you are to catch up on routines and rid yourself of limitations. A co-worker can give you the ideas that are most helpful to you. Listen carefully to what he or she has to say.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to have enjoyable time with one you love, but don't let it bother you if a friend walks in. There are creative ideas that need promotion. Cut down on social activities to do just that.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to make radical changes but it would be best to study them further first. You may decide not to make any changes at all. Discuss most points intelligently. Show affection for those who deserve it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You feel like dashing about here and there, but you would do well to plan an intelligent itinerary. Put that data to work that you recently acquired. This can bring you benefits of worth.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You want to add appreciably to what you now have, which is fine, provided you do something constructive about it besides dreaming. Listen to what a clever business expert has to suggest. Avoid gossip.

50 Persons Die, Damage Mounting

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Some of the evacuated thousands began returning to their homes uncertain what they would find. Some were lucky. "We lost only 14 chickens," said Andres Perez, who recently moved his family into a one-room wooden house in Sabana Seca near San Juan. Shoes were lined outside in the first sunshine in more than a week. A little girl filled and refilled rubber boots, trying to wash red mud from her legs.

Firemen and Civil Defense volunteers hosed and mopped streets and homes in San Juan. Trucks loaded with muddy bedclothes splashed by hoses with mattresses piled on their flat roofs. A pretty young girl stood with her dog and six new puppies as her father mopped. He began the task Friday, but much remained to be done.

A television broadcast raised $150,000 in cash and $200,000 in pledges Saturday for relief work. Gov. Luis Am Ferre asked President Nixon to designate the U.S. Commonwealth Island, a disaster area and to allocate $10 million to disaster relief.

Bulldozers gouged through mud and debris in Puerto Rico today. Red Cross emergency stations were scattered through the island. Neighborhood brigades broke out brooms and mops, and others searched for bodies. A campaign was on to clean up the destruction of floods resulting from six days of torrential rain that left few residents of the island untouched, 50 persons dead or missing and damage estimated at $50 million.

taken neighbors to safety in his pickup truck. "This stuff will never come off the clothes," he said, showing the muddied aftermath of his efforts.

Red Machine Is Sputtering

BALTIMORE (AP) — Cincinnati's sputtering Big Red Machine, overhauled twice in its own power plant by a relentless Baltimore wrecking crew, faced a total breakdown as the 1970 World Series moved today to the home town of the soaring Orioles.

The Orioles, buoyed by a five-run rally in the fifth inning Sunday, shaded the Reds 6-5 for a two-game jump in the best-of-seven series.

Game No. 3 Tuesday will match southpaw Dave McNally, Baltimore's 24-game winner, against Tony Coninger, a journeyman right-hander who helped shore up the Reds' depleted pitching staff in the last two months—but has failed to complete any of his 18 starts.

"We're going to go at them again," Cincinnati slugger Johnny Bench promised after the Reds, favored at the start of the series, blew an early 4-0 lead Sunday and absorbed their second one-run setback in as many days.

"It changes over now to their ball park and we're two down, but I still think we can beat them. This ball club usually comes back. If we don't it's going to be a long winter," Bench continued.

So far the Orioles have made all the comebacks. They erased a 3-0 deficit before winning the opener 4-3 Saturday on Brooks Robinson's seventh-inning home run. And they struck back again Sunday to gain their 16th consecutive victory in a streak that began during the regular American League season.

It was the 42nd come-from-behind victory this year for the Orioles, who are driving to make amends for their stunning World Series setback at the hands of the New York Mets last October.

It also was the 42nd time they have won by the margin of a single run.

Returning to Baltimore's Memorial Stadium where they won 60 of 82 games, including the finale of their pennant playoff sweep over Minnesota, the Orioles are prohibitive favorites to capture the Series, possibly without a return to Cincinnati.

Booc Powell, the birds' hulking first baseman, slammed his second home run of the series to launch Sunday's comeback. But Frank Robinson, the former Reds' star who had honed to excel before his old Cincinnati fans, was 0-for-9 in the two games.

But the Orioles were replete with heroes. Catcher Ellie Hendricks, involved in a controversial play at the plate Saturday, sliced a two-run left field double to climax Sunday's fifth-inning explosion.

Relievers Tom Phoebus, Moe Drabowsky, Marcelino Lopez and Dick Hall checked the Reds after they cuffed 24-game winner Mike Cuellar for four runs, the first three in the opening inning as a result of two Baltimore errors and the other on Bob Tolan's homer in the third. Bench homered off Drabowsky in the sixth after the Orioles go-ahead five-run rally.

Brooks Robinson, non-pareil third baseman whose homer decided the opener after he made a spectacular stop to help quell a Cincinnati rally, took several more hits away from the Reds with his glove and singled home the tying run in the big fifth.

THROUGH THE HOLE — Mike Adams, part of the potent quarterback tandem for the Big Spring Steers, slips through the gap on a keeper off the option. This play worked against Midland Friday, as it has quite well most of the season.

Clements Is City Champ

Jerry Clements of Webb AFB turned back Charles Bailey, 2-1, to capture the city golf championship at the Big Spring Municipal course during the weekend.

First flight honors went to Bob Rogers over Burrell Dennis, 4-3; second flight to Don Horton over Max Coffey, 1 up; third flight to Herschel Harris over Miller Harris, 3-2; fourth flight to Mayberry Willbanks over Charles Burdett, 2-1.

Royce Cox beat Bob Waters 1 up for consolation honors in the championship flight. Bill Patton defeated Buck Buchanan 1 up for first flight honors; Jimmy Shoults took second flight honors by forfeit; Charles Marstrand the third flight spot over Don Hale, 3-2; and W. O. Washington the fourth flight consolation over Mike Moore, 2-1.

National Polo Tilt At Midland

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The Norman, Okla., team goes against Spokane, Wash., Monday in the National 12 Goal Inter-circuit Polo Championship at the Midland Polo Club.

In Sunday's opening match, the Wilson Ranch team defeated Dallas Lone Oak 11-2.

Wilson, which represents the Santa Barbara, Calif., Polo Club, got a seven-goal effort from Allen Severn of Santa Barbara.

Texas Norman Brinker of Dallas and Willie Wilson of Iran added 2 goals each to complete the scoring, for the winners.

Finals in the tournament are set for Wednesday, with the National 12 Goal Open scheduled to begin next Sunday.

Tony Is Traded

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tony Conigliaro has been traded to the California Angels, joining Richie Allen and Denny McLain on a rapidly growing list of temperamental baseball stars who have been unloaded during the past week.

WHERE DOES THAT LEAVE TEXAS? Duffy Says Notre Dame Is 1-A

By The Associated Press
If Ohio State is No. 1 in the college football world, then Notre Dame would be No. 1-A.
At least that's the opinion of Duffy Daugherty, whose Michigan State team bowed to top-ranked Ohio State 29-0 Saturday—the same score by which they lost the previous week to third-ranked Notre Dame.
"Notre Dame and Ohio State obviously are even," Daugherty said after Saturday's game. "That's equal. I guess we admitted Hayes, the Ohio State coach, adding: 'We weren't pushing hard for our last touchdown just to match the Notre Dame score. I wouldn't quit on anybody unless we're up by at least 28 points. You don't quit on your own brother unless you're up by at least that much.'"
Notre Dame, meanwhile, rolled to a 31-10 victory over Army, highest point total since the rivalry began in 1913.
Where does all that leave Texas? Second, just where the Longhorns have been ranked all season in The Associated Press poll. They did nothing to detract from that ranking Saturday with a 41-9 trouncing of Oklahoma with six players scoring the touchdowns.
Coach Darrell Royal called it

"probably our best game of the season," but it also was a costly one, split end Cotton Speyer suffering a broken arm.
On the West Coast, Jim Plunkett's passing and a sturdy defense that stopped Southern California twice inside the five-yard line enabled the fourth-ranked Trojans 24-14.
Mississippi's Archie Manning, rated a top Heisman Trophy candidate along with Plunkett, sparked the fifth-ranked Rebels to a come-from-behind 31-21 triumph over Georgia. Manning threw three scoring passes and called on himself.
Sixth-ranked Nebraska and No. 16 Missouri battled on even terms for three periods but the Cornhuskers drove 66 yards after a fumble recovery and downed the Tigers 21-7 in their key Big Eight clash.
Michigan, rated seventh, exploded for 23 points in the final period and trimmed Purdue 29-0 while eighth-ranked Air Force gave Tulane a taste of its football—24-3—and weather—rain, snow, wind and freezing temperatures.
Auburn, No. 9, visited Clemson's famed Death Valley and left the Tigers for dead 44-0 while 16-ranked Arkansas had an equally rough time with Baylor 41-7.

IN STATISTICS Steers Hold Good Margin

For a team with a 2-3 record, the Big Spring Steers are way ahead of the opposition in statistics, holding a 450-yard bulge in yardage.
The lead is in every department, indicating strength that many fans and members of the team are counting on dealing an upset to Odessa Permian Friday.
Big Spring has an edge of 11 first downs, 255 yards rushing, 194 passing. The passing percentage has been pulled to the plus side — 38 to 33 for the opposition. The Steers hold a three-yard average advantage on punts; have recovered as many fumbles as they lost; and have given up about 60 yards less in penalties.

Wichita To Finish Season

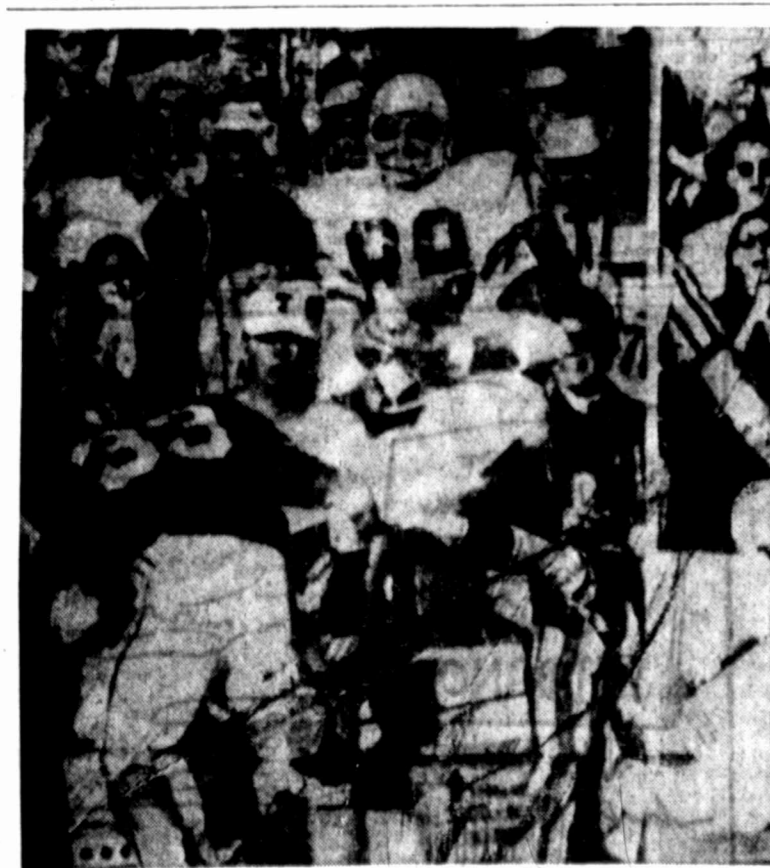

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita State University players voted 76-1 in a secret ballot Sunday night to complete the school's 1970 football schedule.
The action was taken in the aftermath of the Oct. 2 plane crash in the Colorado Rockies in which 30 persons were killed, including 13 members of the Wichita State team, athletic officials and fans.
Coach Bob Seaman said the first game would be played Oct. 24 against the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.
The Wichita State homecoming game against Cincinnati, originally set for Oct. 17 has been rescheduled for Oct. 31, pending word from the University of Cincinnati.
Seaman said the team will wear black jerseys the remainder of the season in remembrance of those who were killed.
The jersey numbers worn by the plane crash victims will be permanently retired.

Grid Player Is Paralyzed

DALLAS (AP) — Texas A&T's Little All-American linebacker Ed Scott was reported in serious condition Sunday night after suffering a neck injury that left him paralyzed from the neck down.
Scott, 22, was injured when he tackled an East Texas receiver in the Javelinas game at Commerce Saturday night.

Sixty-Two Wins Louisiana Draw

A foursome comprised of Ted Gross, Jimmy Shoults, Bob Micker and Frank Jones captured the Louisiana Draw event at Big Spring Municipal golf course Sunday. The low score was a 62.
Second place with a 63 went to Royce Cox, Belton Brunson and Herschel Harris (the fourth member didn't show).
Out of the money but tying for third were two teams with 64's — They were Marvin Decker, Jack Spivey, Omar Williams, James Norman, Also Ray Bluhm, Buddy Clanton, Clyde Green and Max Coffey.

SPEYER BREAKS ARM — Charles "Cotton" Speyer, University of Texas swift split end, fell and broke his arm going after pass thrown by quarterback Eddie Phillips in third quarter against University of Oklahoma at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Tex., Saturday. Photos show Speyer (88) jumping for the pass and then falling over John Shelly (33), Oklahoma defensive player. Speyer, a senior, is finished for the season.

LeeRoy Puts It Together For Win In National 500

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — LeeRoy Yarbrough, one of the most versatile drivers around, "put it all together" for the first time this season Sunday and won the rich National 500 stock car race at Charlotte.
"It was the first time this year that everything has worked right for us," said the winner of seven big speedway victories and a record $200,000 last year.
Yarbrough, 32, almost didn't get this one. He had been a contender from the start of the $145,000 fall classic at the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway, but didn't really make his move toward the front of the 40-car pack until about 200 miles from the finish.
By that time, such favorites as Richard Petty and Pete Hamilton, the hottest team on the NASCAR Grand National circuit all season, had wrecked their Plymouths and trouble had struck down some of the other contenders.
Yarbrough, who was paid $23,705 for his first 1970 triumph had led twice in the early going, and had never run worse than sixth place. But when Hamilton wrecked while running in first place on the 227th of the 334 laps, Yarbrough was there to take over the lead, then went to the pits.
When he came back to the track, Bobby Allison was in the lead in a Dodge and Bobby Isaac had moved into second in another of the winged Dodges. Yarbrough was in third place but running on the heels of the Association Golf Tourney Slated

The Big Spring Golf Association championship tournament is ready to get under way Sunday with a 36-hole medal play to determine the winner.
The first 18 will be played Sunday, the second 18 the following weekend. Only those members who have participated in four or more of the association's tournaments during the year are eligible.
Prospects are that there will be three flights in the competition.

Frisco Alive, Detroit Dies

By The Associated Press
San Francisco found first place in Los Angeles and Sonny Jurgensen found his arm in Washington.
San Francisco shut the Golden Gates on Los Angeles and thrashed the unbeaten Rams 20-6 while Jurgensen's arm suddenly came alive with three touchdown pitches that gave Washington a 31-10 stunner over the favored Detroit Lions in the National Football League Sunday.
The two upsets, plus Oakland's 35-23 victory over Denver Sunday, handed the last of the unbeaten their first losses of the year.

The Pittsburgh Steelers and New York Giants won their first games. Pittsburgh buffalobuffed Buffalo 23-10 for the Steelers' first victory in 16 games and New York spanked Philadelphia 30-23 in a battle of all-losing clubs.
Elsewhere, Kansas City ambushed Boston 23-10; Cleveland turned back Cincinnati 30-27; St. Louis whipped New Orleans 24-17; Dallas clubbed Atlanta 13-0; Minnesota blasted Chicago 24-0 and Baltimore spilled Houston 24-20.
The Miami Dolphins upset the New York Jets 20-6 in a game Saturday night.
The Green Bay Packers are at San Diego tonight in a nationally televised (ABC) game.
San Francisco's bullish defenders gave Los Angeles quarterback Roman Gabriel a troublesome afternoon, dumping him three times.

Steers Are Determined

Their confidence buoyed by their showing against the Midland Bulldogs and undismayed by Permian's record, the Big Spring Steers buckled down today to build an upset Friday in Odessa.

Cowboys Slosh To Victory

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Craig Morton came back a winner if not the model of efficiency. The veteran Dallas quarterback started his first game this year for the Cowboys Sunday. And the heavens poured forth to make the Cotton Bowl consistent ball that they wait for opponents to make a mistake and then turn them into a quick, easy score," said Steer Coach Clovis Hale.

Wichita To Finish Season

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita State University players voted 76-1 in a secret ballot Sunday night to complete the school's 1970 football schedule.

Correction

The distance reported for Jody Bennett, winner of the 13-year-old bracket Saturday in the Punt, Pass and Kick zone competition was reported in error. His aggregate distance was 150 1/2 yards. Jody son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bennett, goes to Dallas for state competition Saturday.

Bruins Defend Hockey Title

By The Associated Press
The Boston Bruins are one step along the way towards another Stanley Cup championship in the National Hockey League.
The Bruins opened defense of their title with a 7-3 victory over Detroit Sunday night as Don Marcotte slapped home two goals within 64 seconds in the third period.

Paper Backs Second Term For Governor

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has been endorsed for re-election by the San Antonio Express and News. "It is an established fact that a governor needs two terms effectively to implement a program," the newspaper said in an editorial Sunday.

"With a November election and a January session of the legislature," the newspaper said "a first-termer without obvious organizational support in the legislature is bound to suffer endless frustration to the detriment of the state's business."

The newspaper said a second term for Smith "is in the best interests of Texas in general and Bexar County in particular."

Smith "has demonstrated a necessary concern for this community that was too long unable to establish essential state services here for a great many Texans," the Express and News said.

The newspaper said Smith was "decisively instrumental" in establishing the University of Texas Medical School here, and he "continues to be committed to development of services and facilities necessary for proper educational and job opportunities for the million-plus Texans in the San Antonio-Bexar County area."

DEALING A BLOW TO BOLL WEEVILS — The diapause boll weevil control program in Glasscock County has dealt a staggering blow to the menacing weevils over the past three years. A united effort on the part of cotton producers in the area has been the over-all key to the program's success. Prior to the program, yield losses due to weevils were as high as a half bale per acre. Above, County Agricultural Agent Oliver Werst watches as one of the spray planes passes over a field of cotton near the St. Lawrence Community.

ORGANIZED FOR ACTION — These are some of the people that have been working hard to make the boll weevil control program "go" this fall. Seated are, from the left, Mrs. Lawrence Jost, Wilber Braden and Gary Seidenberger. Standing are Leon Halfman, Alfred Schwartz and Oliver Werst, Glasscock County agricultural agent. Schwartz serves as president of the St. Lawrence Cotton Growers Association while Halfman is the organization's secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Jost keeps the books on the spraying program.

County-Wide Effort Stops Boll Weevils

By BILL BRADEN,
Texas Agricultural Extension Service

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Cotton farmers in Glasscock County are at it again this fall. They're waging a relentless battle against boll weevils, one that has brought astounding success over the past two years.

What has been the key to the success of this boll weevil control program? The answer is, simply — a united effort on the part of all the cotton producers in the county.

At present we have about 99 per cent participation from about 100 farmers in the county, points out County Agricultural Agent Oliver Werst.

This year, as in 1969, the Texas Department of Agriculture is assisting in financing the spray program. When the program was initiated in the fall of 1968, it was 100 per cent farmer-financed. The TDA now pays one-half of the cost with the farmers picking up the remainder of the tab. The total cost of the program is $1.45 per acre. There are approximately 20,000 acres of cotton involved and these will be sprayed two or three times, depending on the weather and other factors. Ultra-low-volume (ULV) malathion is being used in the program and is sprayed on in 100-foot swaths at the rate of one pint per acre.

The diapause spray program is designed to deal a death blow to boll weevils presently active in the cotton. This will reduce the number of weevils that will enter the diapause (dormant) stage which allows them to over-winter and infest next year's crop.

SOME STILL AROUND

Some weevils have still managed to escape over the last two years or have moved in from surrounding areas. And these have done considerable damage in particular locations. Gary Seidenberger who farms near the St. Lawrence Community, tells what kind of damage they can do.

"We lost up to a half bale per acre last year due to weevils," he said. "This was on irrigated acreage where we usually harvest two bales to the acre. They hit us pretty hard, so we're really enthusiastic about getting this spray program in full gear. It's proven pretty successful where it's been used in the county."

According to Werst, before the control program was initiated in 1968, boll weevils numbered as high as 28,000 per acre in some locations. This season's high count has been around 4,200 weevils per acre with an average of about 500.

In-season weevil control has all but been eliminated by the successful fall spraying program, adds the county agent. "This year only a few farmers did any in-season spraying. That really cuts down on production costs and also helps to avoid bollworm problems in many instances."

KEEPING RECORDS

Success of this program must be credited to the St. Lawrence Cotton Growers Association. This organization of local farmers has been the driving force in soliciting the cooperation of most county farmers to make the fall spray program go.

"The program requires a unified effort to make it successful," points out Alfred Schwartz, president of the association. "We are proud of this program and of the success we have had. But we must continue to band together."

The association assists committees throughout the county in signing farmers to contracts and in keeping records of the acres sprayed and the amount of spray used. These committees then collect from each farmer in the program.

In addition to cooperating in the diapause spraying program, the farmers in Glasscock County are also taking another measure to fight off the boll weevil. Since the inception of the program three years ago, farmers have been using defoliant to prepare their cotton for harvesting. And with the defoliants that have been added a spray for boll weevils. This gives them a double-barreled approach at destroying the weevils.

"Not only has this practice helped to kill the weevils that escape during the diapause spraying period, but it's also improving the quality of the cotton," explains Werst.

Vote Boycott Is Threatened

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Calls for a ballot box boycott by Mexican-Americans Nov. 3 and a scathing attack on Lubbock and two of her favorite sons marked a day-long conference Saturday at Texas Tech.

Only about 700 persons turned out for the statewide convention of Raza Unida. More than twice that many had been expected. The meeting also featured a surprise appearance by Ramon Tijerina, brother of New Mexico's militant land-grant claimant, Reies Lopez Tijerina.

Bexar County Commissioner Albert Pena of San Antonio and others called for Mexican-Americans to stay away from the polls Nov. 3 if the Raza Unida Party is not allowed a place on the ballot in three Southwest Texas counties.

"If the La Raza Unida Party is not allowed on the ballot, I hope all chicanos will declare a moratorium against voting Nov. 3," said the San Antonio politician.

Composer Dies

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — New York concert pianist and composer Anis Fuleihan died Sunday in Stanford Medical Center from post-operative complications. He was 70. Services are set tentatively for Thursday.

Violent Deaths Zip To 29 In Texas During Weekend

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths headed a grim list of weekend violent deaths in Texas.

The Associated Press tabulation stood at 29 dead early today for the weekend count, including 18 in traffic mishaps. Multiple deaths attributed to fires also added to the toll.

The AP count started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

FELL FROM TRACTOR

Mrs. Jean Whitworth, 44, of Fort Worth died Sunday when she fell from a tractor and was struck by one of its wheels at Covington in Hill County. Authorities said the victim fell when the tractor hit a bump. Paul Edward Beal, 35, was stabbed to death Sunday in a Houston tavern following an argument. Police questioned a man, 46.

Harley White Jr., 34, of Gladewater was killed and four other persons received injuries when a car overturned on U.S. 80 just west of Gladewater Sunday.

A semi-trailer rig crashed into a sign standard on Interstate 35 in San Antonio, killing Marshall E. Felder, 34, of Houston Saturday night.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Harold A. Nelson, 29, of Magnolia was killed Saturday night when his car veered out of control about two miles west of Tomball.

Two men who were sleeping in a Houston apartment house died Sunday when flames swept the frame building. The victims were Auld Ruffins, about 50, and Robert Wiley, 25.

Calvin C. Roan, 44, of San Antonio was killed Sunday when his car and a truck collided in Southeast Bexar County.

A shooting at a birthday party in Houston Saturday night took the life of Robert M. Walker, 47. Police said the gunfire followed an argument over the volume of a record player.

Robin Tallie, 17, of Nixon was fatally injured Saturday night when her car ran into a ditch off US 87 at Pandora in South Texas.

Gary Morris, 47, of Quitman was killed Sunday and 10 persons suffered injuries when the car in which Morris was riding and a small plane collided on U.S. 80 west of Grand Saline. The pilot told officers he was attempting to land during a rainstorm.

Wattie Caldwell, 29, of Houston was killed Sunday when his car and a freight train collided in Houston.

CAR-TRAIN WRECK

An argument at a party in San Antonio ended Saturday night with the stabbing death of Enrique Semersky, 34, of San Antonio.

Juliano Fernandez, 11, of Fort Worth was shot to death Sunday while playing in the yard of her home. Police began an investigation.

A Mesquite woman, Carole Newman, was shot and killed Saturday night, police said, by another woman. The shooting occurred in an apartment complex in the East Dallas suburb.

HOUSTON'S 131st

George Porter, 70, became Houston's 131st traffic death of the year Friday night when he was run over by a car. Police were holding the driver of the car which struck Porter.

Emilio Deque of San Antonio was shot to death in a west side bar early Saturday and officers jailed one man while searching for a second man.

Three youngsters, from one to six years of age, died in a Dallas fire late Saturday while three other children were rescued from the blazing house.

2 Accused Of Bombing Bus Fleet Face Trial

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Two men accused of bombing the Longview Public School District's bus fleet, face trial today before U. S. Dist. Judge William Wayne Justice.

The pair—Fred Lloyd Hayes, 43, and Kenneth R. McMaster, 42, both of Longview—were charged in the July 4 blasting of at least 33 of 36 school buses parked on the school district's parking lot.

$100,000 DAMAGE

The Justice Department said the bombers set at least 26 charges of high explosives under as many buses, set them off by fuse, and caused $100,000 damage. The school district said the damage was only $23,000 and reported that most of the vehicles were back in use for the opening of school in September.

Longview police, school authorities and civic leaders said they had no reason to believe that the blastings were racially inspired.

Then the Justice Department stepped into the case and charged Hayes and McMaster with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Negro pupils of the Longview schools and to disobey a federal court order.

If convicted on both counts of their two-count indictment, Hayes and McMaster could be assessed the maximum punishment of 11 years in prison and fined $11,000 each.

U. S. attorneys named with Hayes and McMaster four conspirators, but the FBI office at Dallas said it had no plans to arrest the other four. They were named by federal authorities as Hayes' wife, Clarita; Robert I. Sparks Jr., Howard H. Smith and Glenn D. Parker, all of the Longview area.

J. Gordon Shanklin, agent-in-charge of the Dallas FBI office, said Hayes, owner of the Land-o-Pines Catering Service in Longview, is the father of three children. His co-defendant, McMaster, is a salesman for the catering service and also the father of several children.

Mrs. Hayes, who said the family moved to the Longview area about six years ago, said her husband was finance chairman for the Gregg County American Party during the 1968 presidential campaign when George Wallace of Alabama was the party's candidate.

PROUD OF IT

"We're members of the American Party and will be members as long as there is an American Party around," she told an interviewer soon after her husband's arrest.

U. S. attorneys have said that both Hayes and McMaster are either members of the militant Minutemen or associates of the group.

It was 11:32 p.m. July 4 when the almost simultaneous blasts damaged the school buses.

Longview police lieutenant Elmer Hanson said he was just going to bed when the blast shook his home, two miles away.
