MacDonald, Dawes Make Plea For World Peace Hoover Appeals For Support Of Prohibition Laws

President Seeks Co-Operation In Prohibition Work

Request Made Of Residents On Canadian Border To Aid In Coping With Rum Running Menace

Deplores Killings

Activities Of International Criminals Root Of All Difficulties, Executive Declares In Appeal

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 18.—Cooperation of American citizens again was sought today by President Hoover to aid the federal government in enforcing prohibition. Instead of a general appeal for support of all laws such as was made a month or so ago, this time the president made a specific request to those living along the Canadian border that they cooperate with the treasury department in coping with rum runners.

Deplores Killings
"I have some questions as to the incidents on the border," Mr. Hoover said. "I deeply deplore the killing of any persons. The treasury department is making every effort to prevent the misuse of fire arms. Any case of misuse will be determined by the orderly proceedings of the department and the courts."

"I hope that the communities along the border will do their best to help the treasury and the systematic war that is being carried on by international criminals against the laws of the United States. It is these activities that are at the root of all our difficulties."

Appeal Made
The appeal was made by the chief executive at his press conference. Earlier Assistant Secretary Lowman had announced that confidential reports from treasury agents indicated an unprecedented gathering of bootleggers, along the Canadian border. The custom border patrol, he added, had been strengthened across the entire country.

While the executive branch was buying itself with the Canadian border situation, the senate adopted the Caraway resolution calling upon the Washington police to give the names of all foreign diplomats and their representatives who have been arrested here or warned for driving their automobiles while under the influence of liquor.

Arrest Recalled
In the preamble of the resolution, Senator Caraway called attention to published accounts of the recent arrest in Virginia of Kemal Djezany Bey, second secretary of the Turkish legation, and of his release upon a claim of diplomatic immunity. Another legislative proposal was laid before the house under which

Many Amendments To Measure Proposed As Controversy Over Revision Of Rates Is Echoed

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—A multiplicity of developments in the tariff situation occurred today but only one echo of the controversy over revision was heard in the senate.

Many amendments to the house bill were proposed, four senate finance sub-committees heard numerous pleas for changes in that measure; the tariff commission issued a tabulation showing agricultural and sugar products would benefit most by the bill; Representative Tilton, the republican leader, defended it and Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, served notice that he would propose a new debenture plan as a rider to the measure.

Principals Of Hammer Murder

Investigation of the brutal "hammer murder" of Miss Theora Hix (above) Ohio State Co-Ed, led to the arrest of Dr. James H. Snook (below) professor of veterinary medicine. He later confessed intimacy with the college girl, admitting that they had lived together in a Columbus rooming house. Her body, badly beaten and hacked with a hatchet, was found on a rifle range.

Woman Becomes Dominant Figure In Investigation Of Hammer Murder Of Co-Ed At Ohio University

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 18.—Mrs. Helen M. Snook, wife of the deceased Ohio State University professor, Dr. James H. Snook, who is held for investigation in the hammer murder of Theora Hix, 24, co-ed, became the dominant figure in the inquiry today when she was submitted to a four-and-one-half hour grilling by county prosecutor, John J. Chester, Jr.

The murder investigation passed its fourth day with federal authorities taking a hand to determine if narcotics had any part in the murder, the announcement of the discovery of a kitchen knife near the place where the body was found and the continued detention of Dr. Snook and Marion T. Meyers, graduate student at the university, who have been in jail since last Saturday.

Mullican Is Mum On Violation Of Zoning Decision

District Judge Makes No Statement Regarding Announcement That Jackson Will Construct Building

Attorneys Claim Suit Now Out Of Courts; Plan To Build Business Houses In Residential Section

REPEATED requests Tuesday for a statement from Judge Clark M. Mullican regarding the announcement made by A. W. Jackson defying any measure to prevent him from erecting business structures at the corner of Broadway and Avenue Q, resulted each time in the same short answer: "I have nothing to say."

Jackson announced Tuesday that excavation for the foundations of the buildings probably would be underway by Wednesday. Lockhart, Garrard & Brown, attorneys for Dr. Overton in an injunction suit to halt the proposals, stated that Mr. Jackson will be cited for contempt if he should start work toward erection of the building.

Decision Rendered
Judge Mullican, in Dr. Overton's suit several weeks ago, rendered a decision against Mr. Jackson and J. B. Massey, contractor Vickers & Campbell, counsel for the defendants, appealed to the court of civil appeals.

Site For Hamilton Trial Not Settled

AMARILLO, June 18, (AP)—Efforts to get all attorneys involved in the R. H. Hamilton murder case here together in conference today to decide upon a site for the trial failed. H. R. Cooper, special prosecutor, will be out of Amarillo tomorrow, and the conference may be delayed indefinitely, according to E. W. Thomerson, district attorney.

A conference of attorneys was ordered by the court for today after an unsuccessful attempt to agree last Saturday.

Hamilton was charged with the fatal shooting of his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., in Hamilton's law office here May 4. He was held in jail for several weeks and then his trial was called here last week, and defense attorneys obtained a change of venue on the ground it was impossible to obtain a fair hearing in Amarillo due to prejudice in the public mind.

Irate Farmer Shoots Couple When They Fail To Shut Pasture Gate

BRECKENRIDGE, June 18.—(AP)—Herman Thackerson, Stephens county farmer, was charged with assault with intent to murder here today in connection with the shooting last night of Royce Perry, 17, and Miss Laura Johnson, a minister's daughter as their automobile passed through a gate on Thackerson's farm.

Thackerson was released on a $1,000 bond. According to others in the car, four young people had gone to a neighbor's orchard to pick peaches. They left the gate on the Thackerson place open as they went through the first time, and closed it as they returned to their homes.

Thackerson was waiting near the gate and an argument followed. The trouble seemed to have been patched up and the peach pickers started homeward. Their car bumped Thackerson's machine as they started away, and shots were fired into the rear of their machine. Neither was seriously injured.

House Refuses To Close Hearing On Robison Charges

Land Commissioner Found Guilty Of Indiscretion And Improper Conduct In Public Office Tuesday

AUSTIN, June 18.—The house of representatives refused today to end the hearing of impeachment charges against J. T. Robison, commissioner of the general land office, by finding him guilty of "indiscretion in the exercise of his official duties."

A motion to terminate the hearing in this manner was made today by Rep. S. E. Barnett of Greenville, after a long tiresome day in which they dry details of confessions involved in the effort on the part of the governor, to induce Mr. Robison to postpone sales of oil and gas leases were recited by C. W. Trueheart, former assistant attorney general.

The house voted to table the motion, 70 to 40. Representative Grady Woodruff of Decatur, author of the charges against the veteran land commissioner, led the fight against the Barnett move.

Proponents announced the completion of their testimony, after trueheart led the stand. Respondents will begin their case tomorrow.

"I entered this hearing unprejudiced and unbiased," Representative Barnett said in proposing his disposition of the case. "I scarcely knew Mr. Robison. I voted to hear the charges, but after listening to the testimony of proponents for four days, I have decided that they have not brought out one thing that would sustain the accusations. I am sure they would not be sustained by a two-thirds vote of the senate, even were we to vote articles of impeachment."

Parents Of Children Accuse Each Other; Mother Is Hysterical As She Cries "He Did It" To Husband

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, June 18.—Two children were dead here today and three others were fighting for their lives, victims of poisoning, physicians believed.

Agnes Kwiatkowski died while chemists were examining the vital organs of her nine year old brother, Chester, one year her senior.

In the meantime efforts were being made at the county hospital to save the lives of a six year old brother, Richard, and two half sisters, Lorraine Markowski, three years old, and Doris Markowski, seven months.

The five children were found unconscious yesterday at the home of Edwin Markowski. Mrs. Verna Markowski's second husband. The death of the eldest followed soon after his arrival at the hospital and his sister died today.

Markowski told police he took a poisonous solution home last week to use in removing paint from his hands.

The husband, however, disclaimed any responsibility for the flight of the children.

"She... it, my wife did it," he insisted.

But Mrs. Markowski declared hysterically that her husband "did it."

South Texas Ave. Development Seen

An enthusiastic meeting of property owners on South Texas Avenue was held last night in the apartment of E. McElroy, 913 1-2 Broadway and plans were discussed for the development of the southern portion of this street.

A project is now underway for the widening of Texas Avenue from 19th Street on south to the Fort Worth and Denver railway. Just before reaching the railway a street connecting with Avenue H will also be widened. Plans call for the continuation of the work paralleling the railway in a southeasterly direction to the extreme south highway. All streets from the west running into Texas Avenue will be opened up.

It is understood that the city will grade the project within the corporate limits while property owners will stand the expense of that outside.

(By Associated Press) LONDON, June 18.—The chosen spokesmen of Great Britain and the United States tonight made simultaneous official calls for world peace.

Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald delivered his pronouncement to residents of his native Lonsmouth, Scotland while United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes made his maiden public speech, in that capacity, at the Pilgrim's dinner in London.

General Dawes declared that an early agreement on naval reduction was of outstanding importance at the present time. "My theme," he said, "is what method of procedure has best been adopted between the nations—a step as important to the peace of the world and the happiness hereafter of mankind."

In a message from MacDonald read at the Pilgrim's dinner the premier said that the two English speaking countries desire "alliance rather than common enemies" of future defense. They only want mutual good will which will be an example and encouragement for other nations to come into "the same companionship."

"Moreover," said his message, "we are placed in an extraordinary position in that our coming together in no way means we are leaving somebody else out. It is a great world impulse to set side by side which both America and ourselves

NEVER EXPECTED TO BE WELL AGAIN

Well Known Lubbock Retired Cowboy Says Orgatone Filled Him With New Life And Energy

"A year ago, I didn't think I would ever be a well man again, but Orgatone has put new life in me and I feel so good I'd like to run a foot race with some of the boys," was the characteristic statement of L. D. Heist, a well known retired cowboy and a general gentleman of the old school who has lived in Lubbock, Texas, for the past several years.

"I suffered for over a year," he went on, "with stomach and kidney troubles. I had severe pains in the small of my back which some times felt like there was a knife cutting me in two. I also had indigestion that bothered me constantly, a hard lump would form in my stomach that made me uneasy, for I couldn't tell what it was. My nerves were in a pretty bad state and worried me all the time until I thought I might as well give up the ship. It seemed like everything I would eat disagreed with me and caused that distressed feeling in my stomach and my head grew light and dizzy and I would get so shaken up and weak and nervous afterwards, I was afraid almost to eat, any real, heavy substantial foods."

"I began to take Orgatone a little while ago and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. My nerves are now perfectly steady like when I was a younger man, and I am feeling more like my old self again. I feel lively and more energetic and want to be stirring about and doing things. Orgatone has done me more good than anything I ever saw or ever took in my life before, and I gladly recommend it, every chance I get."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by Bowers Drug Store, who are direct laboratory agents. Adv.

WALDO, Ark., June 17. — From storybook to encyclopedia to Kant's philosophy — it's all the same to Charles Ulrich Beeson, five, of this city, the son of Prof. Ulrich Beeson of Hardin college, Morrilton, Ark. He reads and, more marvelous, he knows what he is reading about. And he prefers the heavier reading material to his story books.

"Did the rabbits lay eggs for Easter?" a perfectly good intentioned interviewer asked.

"Rabbits don't lay eggs. Rabbits are born. It is the birds that lay eggs and give them to the Easter rabbits," he answered. "And another thing. Non-poisonous snakes lay eggs, but poisonous snakes are born."

But it's nice to believe it. His tone indicated he was perfectly aware of the fact that rabbits have nothing to do with eggs, but it was nice to believe it.

Then Charles was asked to read. He opened a Bible and intoned a few verses with as much feeling and fervor as a minister of the gospel. He has been reading since he was two years old, and now he's only five.

Showing off is something that Charles knows nothing about, but he will read for the curious folk about him—only to become so absorbed in what he is reading that he can scarcely be dragged away from it.

Knows The Big Words. "Oh, I like animals," he says. He can classify all the well-known species, as to "amphibian," "carnivorous," "herbivorous" and "prolonged" the words correctly, too! Just now he is air-minded and fluently discusses stabilizers, propellers, fuselages, cockpits — anything that goes with an airplane.

"Where did you learn all that?" he was asked.

"In the encyclopedia," he replied. A cynical newspaper man grabbed a nearby encyclopedia and put it in front of the boy. And Charles turned the leaves until he came to "Kant." He then volunteered the information that Kant was a great philosopher and "I've read some of his stuff."

And just to satisfy his own curiosity about the philosopher, he read the couple of columns on Kant's life and works. Now and then a word of three or more syllables would momentarily "stump" him, but the cynical newspaper man was forced to admit that even he could have done little better.

Charles' teacher is Mrs. Ida Hale.

his aunt. He is studying French now, and has a big library and chooses his own literature. He reads the newspapers daily.

Ernest Thompson Seton is one of my favorite authors," he said. "He knows a lot about animals doesn't he?" He can read his own sub-titles at the movies, thank you — and he doesn't do it out loud.

Frozen Feet

Man Suffers At 85 Degrees In Shade

EVANSTON, Ill., June 18. (AP) — It was 85 in the shade of the police sergeant's desk yesterday when Philip Milliken of Leipsic, Ohio, entered, suffering great pain.

Milliken parked a crutch on the desk, mopped the perspiration from his brow and gazed across the intervening space at Sergeant Bert Kinder, upon whose features the breeze of two electric fans was concentrated.

"My feet are frozen," said the man from Leipsic, fanning himself with his hat.

"Ridiculous," said Sergeant Kinder. "You have no conception of my suffering," said Milliken.

"Did you ever have frozen feet?" "Surely thought the sergeant.

"I must humor him," "How did you freeze 'em? In an icebox?" he inquired.

"Oh, no," said Milliken. "Twas in a blizzard while hunting. Every step is torture."

The sergeant sent Milliken to the hospital, convinced he was suffering from something. Later he called to inquire what really was the matter.

"Frozen feet," said the doctor. "They were frozen some weeks ago in Canada. The hot weather makes them hurt."

"Well, I declare," said Sergeant Kinder, turning the fan on high. "Who'd 'a' thunk it."

Elmer and Haskell Swan left Tuesday for Amarillo where they have accepted positions.

Shoes Add Or Detract From One's Height

By LUCY CLAIRE

Fashion Expert for Central Press

Shoes and hosiery may apparently increase or decrease the height. The very tall girl should, therefore, select her shoes and hosiery with a little more care than the girl of medium height, or even the very short girl. It is obvious that she should avoid the very high heel, especially when we consider that high heels were introduced into court by Louis XV because he was short of stature. But there are other things beside the high heel that add to the height. Color, for instance, has much to do with it. Where the shoes and the stockings match in color, especially if they also match the color of the frock, the height is exaggerated because the eye travels uninterruptedly from toe to head.

If beige shoes are worn with beige hose, even though the tones do not exactly match, both the legs and the feet appear longer. On the other hand, if brown shoes are worn with the beige hose, or any other dark color footwear, the legs and the feet appear shorter. Another thing the tall girl is apt to lose sight of is that the heel of a contrasting color to the shoe, whether that color be light on a dark shoe or dark on a light shoe, cuts at least its own height from the figure. For this reason the contrasting heel is seldom becoming to the short woman.

If you have very long feet it is well to remember the unadorned pump exaggerates the length, though the pump with the buckle, as shown at the lower right of the sketch, or the bow or other trimming on the vamp, cuts the length. But while the opera pump lengthens the lines of the foot, the strap model breaks them. The shoe shown at the upper right, with double straps and toe trim, is an excellent long line breaker. The favorite one-strap model, however, such as shown at the lower left, is usually sufficient to detract from the length of the foot unless it chances to be exceptionally long.

Trim Breaks Length

It is interesting to note that any trim on a shoe breaks the length of the foot. Even a contrasting piping helps. Since women's feet have increased from an average four to an average six in the past decade or so, this may be the reason for the popularity of the trimmed shoe. All shoe materials are shown with contrasting leather, fabric or color, kid with lizard, lizard with kid or suede, and vice versa, and fabric with leather. It may be interesting to note that kid was recently voted first place from a style viewpoint at a recent style conference of leather and shoe manufacturers from all over the country. Reptiles, as a whole, and in combination took second place, suede, third and calf, fourth.

A costume that should be becoming to the tall girl is shown sketched in the center. The ensemble is of cocoa brown georgette, with a natural lace blouse posed under an unlined jacket. A dark brown hat, brown shoes with French-Cuban heel, which is medium in height, and sunburn hose in one of the brown casts, break the height nicely. Except for the convenience of active sports, the very low heel should not be adopted by the tall girl. The medium heel is more effective and more feminine, as noted in the comparison sketch at the upper left.

How to Achieve Beauty

A lovely complexion is usually the first concern of the young girl who aspires to personal beauty. She instinctively understands that beauty begins in a clear, wholesome skin which is good to look at in itself, but doesn't have to be covered up with rouge and powder to make a good appearance. Rouge and powder, she may say, but she must want it to be worthy of these feminine arts, a good background for any make-up.

The young girl whose health is normal should need to take only very simple care of her skin. She needs to cleanse it perfectly night and morning and in-between when it needs it, for cleanliness is the first step to health and beauty.

If you are a young girl who has been using soap and water alone to cleanse with you probably have noticed that your skin is not in the best possible condition. It may be very shiny, or it may look dry and "pulled," with a flaky surface at times.

As a constant cleanser soap and water is not best for even a very young skin. Most soaps contain some form of alkali which is too harsh. Even with a bland soap the delicate skin of the face is likely to suffer. For frequent washing an especially prepared washing preparation more penetrative than soap, yet soothing and mild in its action, is to be preferred. Besides this every skin needs a cream cleanser.

Nothing is so good for the young skin to keep it fresh and healthy as a cleansing cream made on a base of milk prepared by a special pasteurized process. A cream such as this is to keep a young skin supple and smooth, and to correct the tendency that such a skin often has toward blackheads and blemishes.

Smooth it over your face night and morning. Let it penetrate your pores to free them of all dust and impurities. Then gently wipe off all the dirt with the cream on thin paper cleansing tissues.

The only other precaution you need to take is for toning your skin.

Two Bachelors Guide Canada's Ship of State

The Job of First Lady in the Dominion
Has Never Been Officially Filled, for
Premier King and Conservative Leader
Bennett Prefer Single Blessedness

WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING is premier of the Dominion of Canada. He is an able, personable, well-to-do statesman.

Richard Bedford Bennett is almost, if not quite, as politically potent as Premier King because he is the leader of the Conservative Party, of the opposition, as they say in Canada. He, too, is a man of ability and charm and a generous store of worldly goods.

Yet these men, both of whom are in their fifties, are bachelors. And the fact that the wheel of political fortune has put a pair of bachelors at the head of a great dominion, makes Canada unique among the nations of the earth. These estimable gentlemen have had active political careers. Both have traveled a great deal. Both have been entertained by and have entertained the best known men of the world. They have met some of the most renowned women of today. They are constantly sought after for social affairs. Yet both have remained single and apparently intend to remain in a state of single blessedness.

A premier has many functions to attend, and especially Premier King, for people take a delight in honoring him. Particularly feminine people.

WHEN this jolly, red-cheeked, immaculately dressed bachelor arrives in Washington, there is a great do and state functions, formal and informal dinners and receptions are the order of the day.

This is not altogether due to the important position he fills, but also to a large measure because he is a man who makes friends easily.

He lived in the United States during the early years of the World War and holds degrees from Harvard University and the University of Chicago.

His most intimate friends call him Billy, a nickname of his boyhood days. Whenever he visits his sister's home at Barrie, Ontario, his old friends come around to see Billy King rather than the Right Honorable William Lyon Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, Privy Councillor, etc.

It is when he is with this sister, Mrs. H. M. Lay, that Premier King is really at home. And every possible opportunity to visit her is taken. His niece and nephew like him. They often travel with him and they say that he is "not fussy."

And this man who carries on his shoulders much of the burden of running a nation is very fond of this young niece and nephew. He likes other people's children too. Children are a delight to him.

When questioned about his reasons for remaining single, Premier King is not entirely reluctant to touch on the subject in a sentence or so, but that sentence tells one no more than was known before, and that is nothing. But it is a well-known fact that his one and only sweetheart has been his mother. This he has stated many times.

When floral tributes were sent him on accepting the leadership of the Liberal Party, he was at Barrie, at his sister's home. He motored to Toronto the next day and at Mount Pleasant Cemetery he deposited all this wealth of flowers on his mother's grave because "she has made me what I am today."

The Hon. Richard Bedford Bennett and his sister Mildred. "Dick," says she, "never had time to go courting."

MR. BENNETT is also a man who makes much of family ties. While his parents lived he never failed to visit them at least once a year. And after they were gone, he regularly paid visits to Mrs. H. W. Coates, his married sister, who lives in Vancouver.

In reply to the oft-put question: "Why have you never married?" Conservative Leader Bennett invariably replies, "A man cannot serve two masters."

It may be that Mr. Bennett so speaks humorously. Then again, he may be serious.

Mrs. Coates offers a little more information by explaining that "Dick never had time to go courting when he was young and after he grew up he was much too busy to get himself a wife."

It is her opinion that he is resigned to his single state and that his wifeless existence is no hardship to him "because he is even more set in his ways than the average unmarried male of 57." Which may, or may not, be true.

Whether it is fact or fable, there is a story to the effect that Mr. Bennett never married because he had a young woman say "no" to him many, many years ago. And the yarn took on new weight when, in a speech in his home town, he spoke of a maid in pigtail who turned him down for a clergyman.

Conservative Leader Bennett has a hostess, however, in his unmarried sister, Mildred, who is, according to him, "his right-hand man" at the capital. She presides with her brother at all social functions that he finds it necessary or desirable to hold.

PREMIER KING is, as has been said, a personable fellow who mingles amiably with his people—men, women and children. But when he gets a bit fed up with his multiple duties he steals away to his little farm set in the Gatineau Hills near Ottawa.

Here he has a modest cottage, a small lake, a woodland in which to stroll with his Irish terrier, "Pat," and a few rolling acres where his sheep browse peacefully. He also raises poultry and good poultry, for some of the exhibits at the World's Poultry Congress recently held in Ottawa came from Kingsmere, which is the rather regal name of the King country place.

No spouse brings the feminine touch to Kingsmere and, apparently, Canada's first citizen is quite content that things are as they are in his pastoral retreat.

But even in this rural spot, Mr. King is not always free of office seekers and well meaning friends and when he really wants to relax from his labors he takes a flying trip to some American city, or boards ship for a change of scene in England and the continent. No office seekers, no legislation boosters follow him on these longer journeys.

PREMIER KING and Opposition Leader Bennett are regarded by the unwed femininity of the Dominion as about the most luminous "eligibles" in the country. Each of them is brainy, successful, a power in the larger affairs of a great nation, charming to meet, gracious and easy with the prince as well as the pauper.

But neither of the celebrated celebrities seems to have any intention of mixing romance and politics. They stand mateless at the helm of the Dominion and it appears that so long as they command the ship of state no petticoats will grace the quarter-deck.

Whether it is to the advantage of Canada because her two leading political figures have never taken wives is a debatable question that is often debated.

Both the premier and the Conservative leader have, at one time or another, been accused of being "woman haters" or afraid to take on the responsibilities of married life.

Friends of these gentlemen defend them staunchly, however, and point to "The Half Circle," that organization of wives of members of the British House of Commons.

These women, whose spouses are at their jobs most of the day and, more often than not, far into the night, get together to console each other and to escape boredom. A busy statesman, it seems, has little time to spend with a wife and children.

Divided into two teams, the "Reds" and "Greens," forty-two maulie sharks will battle over the club course Sunday to determine which team is to "treat" the other to the chicken dinner following the tourney. Pairings were made according to the ability of the various golfers and close matches are expected throughout the day.

J. O. Smith is captain of the "Greens" and Bud Roberts heads the "Reds."

Missionary Translates Tales

"Ngeye beni mweni kio?" "Nga wavova kwa kiau?"

Dr. Catherine L. Mable, American medical missionary, is shown above in the clinic which she maintains for the treatment of natives in Belgian Congo. Dr. Mable has translated "The Little Red Hen" and other white nursery fables into the native language and below are illustrations for the book which natives carved out of wood blocks with jungle knives.

DENVER, Colo., June 15.—Peter Rabbit, idol of American childhood, is becoming a great educator of the Congo natives.

Dr. Catherine L. Mable, veteran medical missionary, now in America to attend the Northern Baptist convention here from June 14 to 19, has translated Peter and other nursery characters into native lingo and the little book has stimulated such a desire for education that every black wants to learn to read his own copy.

Peter Rabbit, along with the little red hen, the crooked little man who walked a crooked mile, the bear who blew and blew till he blew the house down and a whole host of Aesop's garrulous fauna now form nightly entertainment in scores of villages far inland from where the mighty Congo with its white trading posts slips like a river of treacle through the tangled African forests.

Magic of Printed Word
"In fact, the literature of the white nursery has replaced the sinister voodoo dance, says Mrs. Mable. "The brain-paralyzing threat of the medicine man's tom-tom has been silenced so that natives, sitting grouped about the brawny black who has learned to read, will not miss a word of the magic of the printed work of this book."

Crop Progress Is Factor Of Cotton Declines Tuesday

NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—A favorable view of the weather and crop progress in the south were chief factors in declines in cotton today. Offerings were light but there were comparatively few buyers on the decline which carried prices off from 18.75 to 18.84 for October. Closing quotations showed rallies of a few points the market closing steady net unchanged to 10 points lower.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 6 points under relatively easy Liverpool cables.

Prices worked gradually lower under the pressure which was attributed chiefly to liquidation and offerings increased slightly during the early afternoon. July sold off to 18.37 and December to 18.79 making net declines of about 11 to 13 points. These prices seemed to attract some covering, however, and closing quotations were five or six points up from the lowest on most positions.

At the close July was 28 points under October compared with a difference of 23 points at the close of the previous day.

Rumors of a less urgent spot demand and somewhat easier basis in some sections of the belt attracted no special comment and the ruling of July was attributed to further liquidation in preparation for possible notices next week.

Bobbed hair styles have driven from Spain the gorgeous and towering combs once so popular.

Children, never tire of it.

Natives Illustrate Book

The book Dr. Mable had printed is on tough paper, six by eight inches, and many natives who never dreamed of learning to read now can spell out the stories in the copies that they treasure as their most precious possessions.

The illustrations of the book were done by two young blacks who used their jungle knives to carve wood blocks. In the book are lessons on sanitation and hygiene which are illustrated by similar nursery figures.

"It didn't seem quite fair," Dr. Mable explained, "to teach the natives to read and then give them nothing but the Scriptures and a few Bible tales. All African natives are story lovers, and books such as this are a great stimulus to 'book learning'."

"Almost no books in English are suitable for translation as a whole. One must choose material from many books, and draw lavishly upon the imagination."

"I plan to make posters for use in the villages as health propaganda, as, for instance, a hen scratching in the mortar used by mother to pound the manioc into flour for the evening meals; flies on baby's banana; a cloud of mosquitoes rising from lava in a broken gourd, and so on."

Mid-Year Credit Stringency Seen In Stock Market

Recovery Of Stock Prices Show Signs Of Prolonging Out As Bulk Of Prices Show Rising Trend

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—The recovery in stock prices showed signs of prolonging out today on the approach of the expected mid-year credit stringency. While the bulk of the day's activity was on the side of rising prices, with a score of issues pushed into new high ground, professional traders took profits freely on the belief that the market was entitled to at least a technical reaction. Closing quotations disclosed marked irregularity.

Resumption of the flow of gold from Great Britain was one of the most important financial developments of the day. This was expected to alleviate the mid-year credit strain which has become decidedly involved this year through the calling for payment of more than a billion dollars in stock subscription rights.

Cotton Is Active After Ruling Dull In Tuesday Market

NEW ORLEANS, June 15. (AP)—After ruling dull before noon, cotton became more active toward the close and prices declined on selling by bear traders. There was a rally in final trading and October closed at 18.55, or 5 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 5 points on all active months.

Liverpool cables were steady and the market was opened 1 to 5 points up. Favorable weather in the belt induced desultory selling after the start and prices receded to 18.58 for July, 18.57 for October and 18.69 for December or 4 to 6 points down from the opening.

Offerings appeared absorbed at the decline and the market turned decidedly quiet. The dullness was attributed to the reluctance of traders to enter new commitments in advance of tomorrow's weather and summary.

In the last hour business became more animated on selling induced by the approach of the last notice day for July contracts and favorable crop advices. July declined to 18.49, October 18.50 and December 18.63, or 11 to 15 points under the highs. Covering in final trades made prices slightly higher.

Boundary Dispute Of Oklahoma And Texas Still Open

Decision Fixing Boundary Line At 100th Meridian Will Not Be Final Until Commissioner Reports

AUSTIN, June 18. (P)—The case in the United States supreme court affecting the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma is "still open," and the decision fixing the 100th meridian as the boundary between the states will not become final until such time as court commissioner files his report, Attorney General Claude Pollard held today.

He had been requested to answer a number of questions propounded by the Oklahoma-Texas joint legislative committee, concerning the status of the boundary dispute between the states.

He declared that in his opinion the question of fixing the boundary line between the states could be settled by a compact between the two states, and continued:

"But, as this settlement would be of a political nature, I am extremely doubtful if the court would adopt the compact as its final judgment in the case, and adopt the decisions of the states as to the location of the line as the judgment of the court."

Notwithstanding this, however, I am of the opinion that there is no rule of law or custom of the court which would prevent the cause now pending in the supreme court of the United States between Oklahoma and Texas and the United States from being dismissed by agreement of the parties on the ground that the two states have settled by a mutual compact between the two states with the approval of congress. Congress has already passed a joint resolution authorizing this to be done and under the decisions of the courts it would not be necessary for any compact which might be entered into between the two states being further presented to congress for adoption.

Committees from the Texas and Oklahoma legislatures have been trying to find a way to settle the dispute and let Oklahoma retain approximately 40,000 acres which would be shifted into Texas by fixing the 100th meridian as the boundary.

RESOLUTION TABLED

No Action Taken In Try To Rebuild Roads

AUSTIN, June 18. (P)—The house today laid on the table subject to call a resolution by Senator W. A. Williamson, San Antonio, asking the government to furnish an emergency appropriation of $1,000,000 to aid Texas in rebuilding roads and bridges damaged by recent flood waters.

The resolution, which the senate approved almost unanimously, was attacked by Representative George C. Kemble, Fort Worth, who declared "the state shouldn't appear bankrupt by begging congress for funds."

FEELS STRENGTH INSTEAD OF PAIN

Lady Says She Was Aching In Back and Sides, Before She Took Cardui.

Hones Path, S. G.—"I suffered a long time with my back and sides, before I knew about Cardui," says Mrs. J. B. Drexler, of Harper Street, this city. "I was thin, and my color was a pale yellow. I was in awfully bad shape."

"I tried several things but nothing seemed to help me much. About five years ago, I just happened to be reading a paper which had an account in it of a lady who had been benefited by taking Cardui, so I sent for a bottle."

"I was greatly surprised to find myself much better after I had taken it. In some way I had strained my side by heavy lifting, and I had let it run on too long."

"Gradually I grew stronger; the terrible pain in my back and sides disappeared, and my color got over so much better."

"I am delighted with Cardui and can heartily recommend it. I have taken it several times since my first experience with it, and it has always helped me. I wish I could tell all suffering women to try it."

Anti-Smith Demos Hear Keynote Talk

ROANOKE, Va., June 18. (P)—Anti-Smith democrats of Virginia assembled here today to hear S. Howie Williams of Lynchburg sound the keynote address at their first state convention called to nominate a ticket for state offices in opposition to the democratic party.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who organized the group and led it in the fight against Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, was not present. The anti-Smith executive committee had completed its plan for the convention, calling for adoption of a platform and nomination of candidates at an afternoon session, the forenoon being devoted to the keynote address and permanent organization.

Thousands Visit Formal Opening Of Cheese Plant

Struve Factory At Abernathy Is Host To Visitors From All Parts Of South Plains In Tuesday Affair

Formal opening of the Struve Cheese Factory, at Abernathy Tuesday was marked by an all-day visitation of several thousand people, many of whom came from surrounding counties of the South Plains, and all of whom were exceedingly pleased with the sight and span appearance of the plant.

Climaxing the day was the serving of Struve cheese sandwiches and fish, and a concert by the Abernathy municipal band.

Information Requested
Hundreds of letters from throughout all West Texas have been received by the company, officials declare, requesting information as to where the cheese might be purchased, although no effort has been made to place it on the retail market. No arrangement has been made for disposing of the cheese already manufactured, which is on storage at the plant, but it is understood that one of the large packing concerns will likely negotiate for the plant's entire output.

Since beginning operations, the factory has made more than 15,000 pounds of American cheese. For the past week and a half it has been running practically to present capacity, and sufficient quantity of milk is available in the Abernathy territory to supply twice the capacity. The plant will be doubled as soon as necessary machinery, already ordered, arrives.

World Peace

are feeling." The ambassador compared at length the experiences of economic experts and statesmen in wrestling with the problem of war reparations and those of naval experts and statesmen with the even more intricate problem of armaments. The ambassador, whose name was given to the first successful plan for dealing with the first problem. Concluded that upon the statesman "lies the duty of peace making, and in these negotiations he must hold the initiative. He is the one to build up the new order and to start the new policy, guided as he goes by the advice of those competent and patriotic naval experts who serve him."

To Define Neutrality
"At the beginning of the work, the contribution of the naval experts to the problem should be a definition of abstract equality. It is certainly possible to naval experts to arrive at a definition for evaluation of the fighting strength of ships. These ships might differ in displacement, size of guns, age, speed and other characteristics, and yet such an agreed properly weighted value might be given to each of these different characteristics as to make it possible to compare, for example, the cruiser fleets or combined fleets of two navies."

Further along in his speech General Daves declared that "in the inarticulate consciences and hearts of the two great English speaking peoples there is upheld, sacred and inviolate, the principle of equality between them of naval strength. Their attitude upon this question—unmistakable—assumed as out of the realm of debate even by nationalistic demagogues of both countries—while decoupled by reason is based upon the providence of God upon fundamental principles of justice and a co-mingling of the blood. In the joint hands of these same English-speaking people rests not only their secure guarantee but as well the art of the covenant of human freedom."

Meeting Cited
The British prime minister at Westminster spoke in general terms of the historic meeting which he had with General Daves on Sunday, declaring the hope that it might be instrumental in "preparing a bond around which other nations might ultimately sit in cooperative friendship, studying the arts and ways of peace."

Of the meeting he said, "we found each other taking the same general views of world peace. The hands we clasped were not cold with official correctness but warm with a friendship inspired by common enthusiasm for service in the cause of international good will and common sense."

"We did not meet to threaten other nations, to dominate other peoples, nor indeed did we meet to form alliances and pacts. We had not intention of presenting to the other nations and accomplished fact they can take or leave."

"I hope that neither the large states nor the small ones will have any doubt that they (the Anglo-American conversations) are not exclusive—they are inclusive."

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The speech of Ambassador Daves before the Pilgrims in London was interpreted in official circles tonight as indicating that President Hoover is determined the mistakes of the tripartite naval conference of 1927 shall not be repeated in future naval reductions.

President Hoover and Ambassador Daves discussed the general trend which the latter would take in his speech in conference before Mr. Daves said. It was said in official circles that therefore the sentiments expressed by Mr. Daves were those of the president.

Reaction Satisfactory.
The general reaction in Washington appeared to be satisfactory. In referring to the taking of the naval question out of the hands of experts and placing it with "statesmen," Mr. Daves expressed an idea different from those which have so far been put forward by American officials. The general interpretation tonight was that the speech foreshadowed a continuation of consideration of the reduction question by the league preparatory commission and not the setting up of any additional or new machinery.

LONDON, June 18. (AP)—Not since the tense days immediately following the world war had such a distinguished gathering of leaders of British life attended a Pilgrims club banquet as that which welcomed United States Ambassador Charles G. Daves to England tonight. They heard his important declaration in behalf of the American government for a new method of realizing world disarmament.

Ambassadors, cabinet ministers and the most influential men of affairs in the empire sat at the speakers' table from which General Daves read his address, speaking rapidly and with characteristic vehemence. Tremendous applause greeted him when he arose after Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson had proposed his health.

Dr. Horn Speaks To Church Group

'What Is Truth' Is Subject Of Address At Gathering Of North Texas Conference Of Episcopal Church

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, spoke to a gathering of the North Texas Conference of the Protestant Episcopal church last evening at a dinner program in the cafeteria of the college. "What Is Truth" was the subject. Dr. Horn chose and he brought home to those gathered the distinction between Truth and Fact in a forceful and interesting manner.

Truth is not the same as Fact, said Dr. Horn. The multiplication table is a collection of facts while the Sermon on the Mount is a collection of Truths. It is a Fact, he continued, that Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492. The story of the Prodigal Son is not a Fact but a Truth.

General Program Given
Following Dr. Horn's address the evening service was taken up with a general program of songs and stories while speakers were announced for the week. Wednesday night the Rev. A. E. Whittle, of San Angelo, will address the church. Thursday night, Rev. Percy Jones, of Stamford; Friday, Rev. Dr. J. C. Granberry, of Texas Technological college; Saturday, Rev. A. H. Hanson, of Colorado.

Special services have been arranged for Sunday and a special choir to render the music. At the 11 o'clock hour there will be confirmation. A special service and sermon also will be held at the evening worship, starting at 8 p. m.

Pro Enforcement

The dependents of prohibition enforcement authorities killed while discharging their duty would receive $25,000. The bill, introduced by Representative Gresham, of South Carolina, would extend to the widows and children of slain officers the same benefits that have been proposed for the dependents of those who might be killed by officers.

Preparing Reply

President Hoover is preparing a reply to be sent to the citizens of International Falls, who have protested against the shooting. It was indicated that this message would be of the same tenor as his statement today.

Meanwhile, President Hoover's commission on law enforcement met to perfect the ground work for its nationwide investigation of crime conditions. Chairman Wickham said that since the last meeting on June 7 he had been studying the vast amount of data already available on crime conditions, and that the commission would spend this week mapping out a program.

Chairman Wickham said the commission would require experts in special branches of crime to make separate investigations. Among the things to be investigated are police systems, causes of crime and organization of crime.

Public hearings before the commission are expected to begin about October 1. In response to an inquiry whether the commission contemplated making a special investigation of the recent killings by border patrolmen, Chairman Wickham said the commission was not in a position to take up specific instances of crime.

Claims Appeals Are Ignored

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., June 18. (AP)—Declaring that previous appeal to President Hoover "to end the terrorism inflicted by federal customs patrolmen" engaged in prohibition enforcement, has remained unanswered, a resolution memorializing the president to respond to the "pleading of this community" was forwarded to Washington today by the city council.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., June 18. (AP)—Investigation into the fatal shooting of Arthur Gordon, 22, of this city, on a "boone trail" near here, appeared tonight to have run into a blind alley through inability of county officials to serve subpoenas upon two customs border patrolmen who were reported to have killed Gordon "accidentally" four days ago.

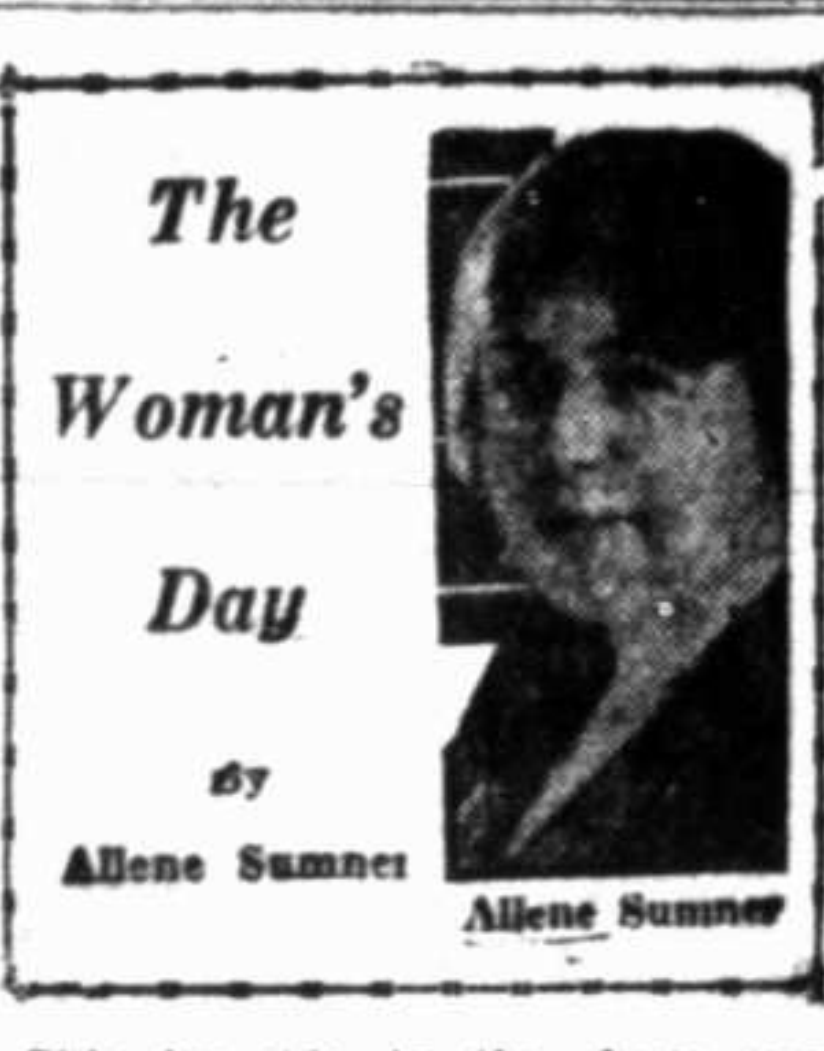

Gordon was buried here today. Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of prohibition today was asked by District Attorney B. L. O'Connell of Clinton county, to "at once request John C. Tulloch, collector of the Port of Ogdensburg, to cooperate with us by having men who are under his jurisdiction present at an adjourned hearing at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, June 24, at Plattsburgh."

Mrs. C. W. Count of Welesco, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sargner of Floydada visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boswell, 1908 Avenue H, yesterday.

a quorum of its swiftly vanishing vacation-seekers, an attempt will be made tomorrow to put through the administration proposal to postpone the maturity date of the $400,000,000 war supplies debt in the event France ratifies the Mellon-Berenger debt settlement before August 1.

Side by side in the day's news are the tales of the fiendish exploits of two grey-haired women Mrs. J. C. Powers, 71, of Moon, Iowa, is charged with paying a young boy to shoot her 21-year-old roomer on whose life she had a $14,000 insurance policy.

And here is Mrs. Catherine Cassler of Chicago, back in jail again after spending 27 months there on a murder charge, and then being released till new murder charges flew about her grey head. In jail the 27 months for one murder, she is supposed to have gone forth upon her release and killed 24-year-old Cammello Soco, who was her husband's housekeeper while she was in jail.

NOT SO SURE

It's just such tales as these which convince us that the crime researchers who insist that criminals are mentally diseased and should be treated as sick rather than sinners are right.

Such tales, too, convince us that our pretty traditions about women's moral superiority over men is a bit far-fetched.

WHY?

The effw of go-? uneloni The wife of the Hungarian prime minister, Countess Margit Bethlen, is winning considerable success as a writer, they say. Which, of course, reminds us of Margot Asquith and Princess Blucher and Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes and Mrs. William Borah and all the fair ladies who by virtue of their husband's positions, have names that "tick." One wonders if the same material sent in to publishers over anything names would mean anything—or, at least, nearly so much.

"LINDY" FAILURE

"Lindy" trophies, they say, are not selling at all well since his marriage. Most of the purchasers had been women. Which is exactly why for box office reasons, stars and starlets of the dramatic world will move heaven and earth to keep the fact of their marriages a secret from their fans.

Punny, isn't it, that while there is life there is hope, and that as a Lubbocker, how to get a John Gilbert or a Mary Pickford are known to be single, all their adoring subjects can imagine the possibility of being the lucky man or girl, themselves?

"When you try on clothes, wear your best underwear." This is to impress the fitter who, being a temperamental Gailie, will take greater pains if she likes your lingerie. This sounds frivolous, but isn't.

A choice item from the list of "do's" in "Paris is a Woman's Town" by Helen Joseph and Margaret McBride. It's a sprightly condemnation of what every old and young woman should know who is about to "do" Paris. It tells how to get Patou or Worth models at a fraction of their original cost; how to get a job, how to manage taxi drivers, where to get apartments, cheap or expensive, what nights to get into the opera without wearing evening dress, and where to hire a reliable male escort.

Theater Robber Is Reported Sinking

PORT WORTH, June 18. (AP)—Ralph Stewart, 29, charged in justice court today with three theater robberies here within the past 46 days, including the robbery of the Majestic theatre box office Monday night when he was probably fatally wounded by police, was reported to be gradually sinking tonight.

Shot through the arm and abdomen, Stewart had hemorrhages today and he underwent an operation. His chances for life are frail. He was shot by Policeman R. W. Howard while he and Pa-trolman W. A. Huffman chased the man several blocks. The policemen were crossing the street to enter the theatre at 9:30 p. m. when they witnessed the robbery. The money, slightly more than $200, was recovered.

to the defeat yesterday of the Borah resolution to restrict the revision to agriculture and related products that those who voted against it upset the president's program for tariff revision. He saw little help for the farmer in the house bill and said he would press his debutante rider as the only solution of the surplus crop problem.

Amendments offered today would levy a tax of five per cent on all stock exchange transactions involving securities held less than sixty days; increase the house duty on hides; transfer oil and gasoline from the free to the dutiable list, and make five cent cigars weighing over three pounds to the thousand pay an internal revenue tax of $1.20 a thousand.

Rate Is Compared

The tariff commission tabulation compared the averaged rate of protection, based on 1928 imports values, granted by existing law and the house measure and showed the sugar schedule rates are increased nearly 24.51 per cent; agriculture, schedules 11.29 per cent; cotton manufactures 1.35 per cent; tax, hemp, jute and by-products 64 hundredths of one per cent and wool and by-products 8.43 per cent.

In his statement, Representative Tilson said the industrial sections had "shown no disposition to deny equality of protection to agriculture."

SERVICE

The Central Idea In Modern Business

The modern conception of business is SERVICE. And civilization moves forward under the impulse of this idea.

You exchange your money for a commodity you would rather have—and in this exchange you are rendered a service. Today that business is most successful which best serves the public in the matter of exchanging merchandise for money.

Service is the central thought in the business of West Texas Gas Company. Through large investment of capital and the employment of man-power this company delivers NATURAL GAS into your home for your service and comfort.

When you exchange your money for natural gas, you not only get a fair exchange, but you receive relatively more than you pay for, because were you to buy other fuels, you would pay more and get less in convenience and efficiency.

If you wish, a trained service man will come to your home to inspect and adjust your appliances. The service costs you nothing.

Sweltering Heat Wave Hits Nation

Snow Falls In California As Mid-West And East Smother Beneath Highest Temperatures Of Year

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Snow in California and sweltering temperatures in the mid-west and east were shown by the weather map today.

Snow that fell throughout Sunday at Truckee and Lake Tahoe, Cal., covered the ground to a depth of four inches, while the temperature hovered around the 34 degree mark.

The difference between the two coasts was shown further by the maximum temperatures of the two Portlands. Yesterday the Oregon city reported a high of 82 degrees, while at Portland, Maine, the day's maximum was 80.

In New York City the heat wave continued unabated, the temperature reaching a maximum of 88 degrees causing the death of one person and the prostration of eleven.

Except along the Pacific coast where the temperature generally ranged in the sixties, the entire country suffered from the torrid weather.

Deny Chambers To Run For Governor

GALESTON, June 18. (AP)—Rumors that Harris and Bexar county officials planned to inaugurate a campaign in behalf of the candidacy of Mayor C. M. Chambers of San Antonio for governor could not be confirmed, as city and county officials of San Antonio and Houston went into executive session here today.

Mayor Chambers was not present. The purpose of the meeting, as outlined in a newspaper given to reporters, was to organize communities on the Old Spanish Trail from Orange to El Paso in an effort to divert tourist traffic now following more northern routes and to promote legislation to facilitate highway improvement.

The name of the organization will be the South, East and West Texas association. Mayor Walter E. Moneth, Houston, was named temporary chairman and Charles S. Tobin, San Antonio, temporary secretary.

Charges Love With Playing Politics

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—To the senate agricultural committee will fall the lot of determining whether the president and congress shall be commended by the Texas legislature for passage of a farm relief bill as a result of today's action in referring a resolution by Senator Thomas B. Love, Dallas, to the group.

Senator Love's resolution was ordered to the committee after it became apparent the senate would act adversely on it in the form it was prepared by the Dallas lawmaker.

Senator Tom Deberry, Bogalusa, warned that Texas might endanger the chance of former Congressman Eugene Black being named a member of the board to administer the farm relief act if the senate acted adversely on Love's resolution.

Love was charged with playing politics by Senator T. J. Holtbrook, Galveston.
