Rampaging Negro Kills Two

A negro law student, Dan Williams, left, who flunked his bar examination, killed two persons and wounded a third before he was shot and captured by Washington, D.C. police. Williams started his shooting rampage in the office of George W. Dalzell, secretary to the Board of Grievances of the District Bar Association, and continued it to a busy street intersection as he fled. He is under police guard at Gallinger hospital, with two bullet wounds. The dead are Ray Devendorf, clerk in the office of George Dalzell, and Pvt. Hubert W. Estes, right, a Washington policeman. ## TRUMAN FLIES TO BEDSIDE OF ILL MOTHER

By United Press
GRANDVIEW, Mo. — President Truman, flying home to be at the bedside of his critically ill mother, landed at Grandview airport shortly before noon today as a tornado was sighted about 25 miles away.

The weather was bad as Mr. Truman's plane landed. Lightning flashed in the low hanging clouds and thunder cracked as he stepped into the rain, hurried a few feet to his motorcar and then was driven quickly to his mother's bedside.

Meanwhile, the Olathe Naval Air Station tower, about 25 miles southwest in Kansas, reported a few minutes before Mr. Truman's plane landed, that a tornado funnel was sighted in that vicinity. It was moving eastward, in the direction of Grandview.

A formal tornado warning also was issued by the Kansas City weather bureau. At that time, rapidly quickening wind and heavy rain was lashing the Grandview airport.

The weather bureau, an hour after the tornado was sighted near Olathe, Kansas, reported it had no further word of the funnel and that it apparently either had dissipated or had by-passed Grandview.

Mother Truman was in critical condition after taking a turn for the worse at 2 A.M. CST. Her family physician said the deterioration had set in rapidly.

"Complications have set in," the physician, Dr. Joseph W. Greene, reported. "She suddenly went into chills and general debility."

Dr. Greene said Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 94, was in good condition yesterday morning.

Outside the little yellow bungalow home of the President's mother, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's personal physician, said too that her condition was critical.

Graham has been here since last Friday, when he flew from Randolph Field on receipt of word that Mother Truman had suffered a setback. The President came home for Mother's Day. He spent three hours with her and mother and son had a "lively chat." Her condition was much better that day.

Advised of his mother's critical turn this morning, Mr. Truman hurried to the airport in Washington and took off for Grandview at 6:45 A.M. CST.

Wallace Gives Reasons For His Fear Of War
By United Press
AUSTIN — Henry Wallace said today he was "afraid" of war between the United States and Russia not because either of the nations want it, but because of certain groups "whose fundamental idea is war between the United States and Russia."

Wallace mentioned specifically Serbs who might "place a mine on an American warship in the Dardanelles," as a war threat. "With the present feeling that might cause a war," Wallace told newsmen. "I am also afraid of a tendency to build up extremes throughout the world."

He referred to the Truman doctrine of $400,000,000 aid to Greece and Turkey, which Wallace has denounced repeatedly in an international "peace" tour.

Erica Morini Gives Birthday Present
RAPID CITY, S.D. (UP)—Myra Clark, secretary of the Community Concerts office here, has always been a Morini fan. When they booked the woman violinist, she managed to fix the day of the concert to coincide with her own birthday. She looked forward happily to the double event.

But Myra contracted a serious illness. On the evening of the concert she lay in her bed, sick and wretched.

Shortly after 11 p.m. the doorbell rang. The maid did not quite understand what the woman at the threshold wanted. But Erica Morini brushed her aside. She entered the bedroom.

"I was told about you by people who came backstage," the artist informed Myra. "I know how you looked forward to hearing me. So I made up my mind that as long as you could not come to the concert, I would come and play for you here."

Then she took her precious Stradivarius from the case and began to play.

It was Myra's most wonderful birthday present.

Booklet On "Duel In The Sun" Now In Show Lobbies

R. J. O'Donnell, General Manager of Interstate Circuit, announces that the publishers of a souvenir booklet on "Duel In The Sun" which will be obtainable in all theatre lobbies during the road-show engagement of this attraction will donate their entire profits from the sale of the booklets to the Texas City Disaster Relief Fund.

The publishers, Chappell & Co., Inc., of Rockefeller Center, New York, have designated Mr. O'Donnell to apply all profits they accrue from the sale of these souvenir booklets to the Disaster Fund. It is expected that there will be at least 100,000 of these booklets sold throughout the Interstate Circuit during the engagement of "Duel In The Sun." The booklet is printed in a 20 page slick paper edition in color, with the cast of characters, innumerable photographs, production data in film, "Duel In The Sun," and the story of the legend that inspired David O. Selznick's production of this technicolor masterpiece.

Five Fined On Drunk Charges; Total $52.20

Five persons picked up by City policemen were brought before City Judge Carl O'Brien Saturday morning on charges of being drunk were fined a total of $52.20.

One of the parties arrested by the city police was found to have a quantity of beer and wine in his car, and after the city had disposed of it's drunk charge against him, he was turned over to the County officials. Sheriff Williams' office stated just before noon Saturday that charges were being filed against this party for having beer in his possession and for driving while intoxicated.

A second party turned over to the County officials by the city was merely being investigated.

Gets Stolen Car Back With Repairs
COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—L. M. Lintz of Huntington, W. Va., is pleased because someone stole his automobile. It has been returned to him in better condition than when it was stolen.

Police reported that Lintz's car was stolen here six weeks ago and the thief had made improvements on the car which raised its value at least $300.

The improvements include mechanical repair work, a new paint job, new seat covers and a new chrome trim.

Forty-two ctes in New York State collected $1,000,000 from 25,000 parking meters in 1946.

AREA'S POSSIBILITIES TO BE REVIEWED AT MEET
WICHITA FALLS, May 18—(Spl.)—Industrial potentials in raw materials produced in volume by 26 West Texas counties directly served by the Burlington railroad system will be told to a group of its officials, at a conference here May 22.

Thursday noon the railroad men will be luncheon guests, at the Holt Hotel, of the West Texas-Burlington Lines industrial development committee headed by R. C. Stanford of Wichita Falls. Paul Ord, Childress, is secretary. The 68-member committee is made up of West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors and local chamber managers in the 34 WTCC-affiliated towns served by the Fort Worth & Denver City and Wichita Valley and their feeder roads. Two committees serve for each town.

The West Texas-Burlington committee is one of six set up in February by the regional chamber to undertake the job of selling trunk line railroads on West Texas as a natural home for industry, and working with the industrial and advertising departments of the lines' serving the various committees' areas in surveying, developing and advertising their raw materials resources that can be put through factories and hauled out as finished goods. Three of the industrial groups already have had their kickoff meetings: those from West Texas towns along the Texas & Pacific, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Lines. Others not yet activated are the West Texas-MK&T and West Texas-Rock Island.

Among the expected speakers at Thursday's conference are L. R. Capron of Chicago, vice-president in charge of traffic of the Burlington system; R. Wright Armstrong, Houston, executive assistant; C. S. Edmonds, Fort Worth, freight traffic manager of the FW&DC line; and possibly Donald Ashton, Chicago, advertising and public relations director of the parent system. For the West Texas chamber, speakers will be H. C. Custard of Cleburne, president, and D. A. Bandoen, general manager.

A two-hour business session will follow the luncheon with Chairman Stanford presiding. Stanford is executive vice-president of a large industrial concern, the Panhandle Refining Co., headquarters at Wichita Falls. Secretary Ord is manager of the Childrens Chamber of Commerce.

PHONE WAGE BOOST SAID TO BE $4.42

By United Press
ST. LOUIS — The Southwestern Bell Telephone strike involving 35,000 workers in five states was settled early today.

Everett E. Cotter, general counsel for the Southwestern Telephone Workers Union, said the settlement include wage increases averaging $4.32 per week.

Settlement of the 39-day strike was reached after several hours of continuous negotiations lasting into the early hours of the morning. Telephone strikes in most other sections of the nation already had been settled.

Cotter said the terms of the settlement were "the most satisfactory reached by any union in bargaining with companies of the Bell system." He said the new contract will provide "flat, across the board increases of $4 per week in basic wages, with increases of 42 cents per week in fringe items."

Company spokesmen, however, said that starting wages had been raised in some instances only $2 or $3 weekly.

Old Fashioned Revival Now In Progress Here

There is an old fashioned revival going on at the Emmanuel Gospel Church, Dixie and Patterson Sts. Eastland. Services begin at 8:00 p.m. each evening. Rev. and Mrs. Marvin E. Abbott, of Roswell, New Mexico, are the evangelists. The special music and singing, rendered by the evangelists has been enjoyed by all, who attend.

The Rev. Abbott has been preaching dynamic messages, through the power of the Holy Spirit. Wednesday night was a blessed service with one giving her heart to the Lord. Saturday night, May 17, was expected to be a real service. All who believe that the Lord can heal, will appreciate being in this service.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public, by Rev. H. S. Williams (the pastor) and the church.

Republican Leader Guest Of Houston Men
By United Press
HOUSTON — Joseph W. Martin, Jr., speaker of the House of Representatives, was visiting the Democratic Lone Star State today "to show Texans that we Republicans are not so bad as we've been painted."

The Massachusetts congressman, speaker of the first Republican-dominated Congress in about 16 years, came to Houston as the guest of H. R. Cullen and H. J. Porter, both independent oil men.

Looking to the 1948 political arena, Martin said "I've never thought of myself as a presidential candidate" when he was questioned about his possible White House ambitions.

Proposed Leon River Dams Discussed At DeLeon Meet, May 26
Representatives from the various towns up and down the upper Leon river will meet at DeLeon at 8:00 p. m. Monday, May 26, when further plans pertaining to proposed dams on the Leon will be discussed, states H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Tanner and his organization, as well as similar organizations, have been working on plans for water and soil conservation on the upper Leon for sometime and more and more evidence is in sight that their efforts bear fruit.

May To Resume Testimony At Trial Monday

By United Press
WASHINGTON — Former Congressman Andrew J. May sought seclusion in his hotel room today, preparatory to resuming his testimony at the war frauds and bribery trial.

May was to return to the stand Monday to continue his story that everything he did for Murray and Henry M. Garsson was "in line of duty" as chairman of the House military affairs committee and in the interest of winning the war.

The former Kentucky representative was expected to consume at least another day answering the government's contention that he received more than $50,000 in bribes for helping the Garssons obtain war contracts and other favors.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—President Truman's nine-member commission of prominent educators, clergymen, and civic leaders who have been studying the question of universal military training since last December are expected to make their recommendations some time soon.

This commission has some big brains on it. Karl T. Compton of MIT, Harold W. Dodds of Princeton, Joe Davies, Sam Rosenman, Anna Rosenberg, C. E. Wilson of GE, Truman Gibson from Secretary of War Robert Patterson's office, the Revs. Dan Poling and Edmund A. Walsh. Anything they say in their report, however, is going to be jumped on.

It's against universal military training, the armed services, the big vets' organizations, the all-out preparedness boys and the people who are afraid of Russia will be heard from. If the report is in favor of UMT, pacifists will yell twice as loud. Pressure will then be put on Congress, which will have the job of deciding what to do and passing a law to do it.

Over the past few years War Department has done a big job of trying to sell the idea of such training to the country. It has publicized its first experimental "Umtee" camp at Fort Knox, Ky., widely.

Opponents of UMT claim this is just a lot of military propaganda, intended only to lead the country into another war. But in the meantime these opponents of the idea have not been idle on the propaganda front themselves.

A list compiled by the American Friends' Service Committee—the Quakers—shows nearly 100 national educational, church, labor, farm, and political organizations have taken public stands against UMT.

It's a formidable list, all having a sincere and devout desire for everlasting world peace. They have no formal organization, but their movement heads up principally through the Friends' Service Committee and the National Council Against Conscription, which has headquarters in Philadelphia and Washington. Most of the "literature" against military training comes from these two sources.

For the last two years the Council Against Conscription has issued a four-page weekly news letter under the title of "Conscription News." The name is the give-away on one of the principal arguments used against universal training. Namely, that it is peacetime, compulsory military service, un-democratic and un-American in tradition.

The item of cost of universal military training and what else might be done with the money for the good of mankind is a major theme of the anti-UMT propaganda.

No firm budget has ever been prepared for the War Department's present UMT plan. Brig-Gen. John M. Devine, head of the Umtee experimental school at Fort Knox, mentions a billion dollars a year.

Opponents of UMT go way beyond that figure. They say direct costs would be $3 billion a year. The figure $50 million as the cost of induction, $180 million to pay a million trainees $30 a month for six months, $675 million to pay 150,000 instructors $4500 a year, $600 million for food and clothing. This comes to a little over $1.5 billion.

They claim the second six months' training for reservists, national guardsmen and specialists would cost just as much. Then they add another $3 billion as indirect costs—the value of goods and services these trainees might have put out if they hadn't been busy training.

Other arguments used against UMT run pretty much to head-buried-in-the-sand reasoning. That Japan and Germany and Italy had conscription, and look what happened to them. That conscription in the U. S. will arouse suspicions of other nations and defeat the purposes of the UN. That conscription is based on obsolete notions of warfare.

That the next war—if it comes—will be over before anybody has a chance to strike back, so what's the use of preparing?

The only solution offered for this problem is to abolish war forever. But just how that's to be done they never quite get around to explaining. The fact that the two world wars in this century both started because the aggressive nations all figured the U. S. was too weak to stop them is conveniently overlooked.

NEW JEEP TRUCK

Jeep efficiency, adapted to the needs of agriculture and industry, has been realized by Willys-Overland Motors with the introduction of this conventional-drive Jeep truck. Fourth unit in the company's line of commercial vehicles, it features the 60 hp Jeep engine, a 118" wheelbase, seven body styles, 4,700 to 5,300 pound gross vehicle weight, and 3/4 to 1 ton payload. This is the platform model.

WILLYS-OVERLAND UNVEILS
JEEP PANEL DELIVERY CAR

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 17—The Jeep Panel Delivery, unveiled today by Willys-Overland Motors, adapts to commercial usage the economy, roadability and ease of handling which has made the Jeep Station Wagon one of the most popular cars in its field.

According to Arthur J. Wisland, vice-president in charge of distribution for Willys-Overland, the car will offer business firms "maximum utility at minimum operating cost."

An outstanding feature of the vehicle, Mr. Wisland states, is the extremely good traffic maneuverability of the vehicle. Its short, 104 inch wheelbase and a turning radius of 17 1-2 feet enable it to readily enter small parking places during the course of a day's run. This feature, plus the economy offered by the Jeep engine, independent front-wheel suspension for riding ease, and a roomy interior for cargo space permitting a 1050 lb payload make the vehicle outstanding for delivery use.

The all-steel body rests on the same chassis as the Jeep Station Wagon. A hypoid axle and new type of leaf spring constitutes the rear suspension. Airplane type hydraulic shock absorbers further cushion the ride.

Improvements to the Jeep motor incorporated both in the Jeep Delivery and Station Wagon are a counter-weighted crankshaft, a gear driven camshaft, heavy duty oil pump, improved carburetion and more power. The gear ratio is the same as that of the speedy war-time Jeep, 4.88 to 1. The engine develops 63 horsepower at 4,000 R.P.M.

Other specifications of the car are overall length, 174 13-16 inches, overall width, 68 inches, height, 71 inches and gross vehicle weight 3,875 pounds. Brakes are 10 by 1 3-4 inch self-centering hydraulics, tires are 6.50x15, and the gas tank holds 15 gallons. Road speed is up to 66 miles an hour.

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—With Jackie Robinson crowding last year's pair, Ed Stevens and Stretch Schultz, to the dugout, Tommy Brown is working around first base with the Dodgers.

Branch Rickey loses no time, except when it comes to naming a manager. Discharged from the Army at Camp Starr, Calif., after a 14-month stretch, shortstop Brown was immediately ordered to the Brooklyn club's Pensacola baseball school, where he spent some days adjusting himself to a first baseman's mitt and being taught the intricacies of the position by the old master, George Harold Sisler.

"We'll get a first baseman if we have to go to Burma for one," asserts Branch Rickey, Jr., director of the far-flung Flatbush farm system.

SIGNED at 15 in 1943, Brown, a lanky product of the Bensonhurst section of Brooklyn, 20 minutes from Ebbets Field, the following spring was sent to Newport News of the Piedmont League, where he batted .294 and was otherwise so impressive that he was recalled by the parent organization in the fall. He was too young for the job, but quickly demonstrated that he was vastly more than a wartime filler-inner.

Such keen judges as Leo Durocher and Ben Chapman, who came up from the Piedmont

League with him, went into ecstasies about his future. While he didn't do it too often, the right arm of the young Brown smacked a long ball and unfolded an arm that could throw the ball through a brick wall. Among other things, he belted a ball into the upper deck of Ebbets Field's left-field stand, a feat that will do until a 16-year-old boy performs a better one.

Furled to St. Paul in '45, Brown batted .291 the month and a half he spent in the American Association, again was recalled to bat .245 for the Brooks, and his all-around play helped keep a patchwork outfit in the race until the last six weeks. He was the darling of a group of National League All-Stars that toured the Southwest Pacific that autumn.

Playing shortstop and third base, Brown batted .319 for various Army teams last year. Changing his position, Mahatma Rickey is asking Brown to go the hard way, but the youngster is built to hurdle obstacles. And it has long since been demonstrated that the slickest way to develop a ballplayer is to catch him young and teach him properly.

Credits Souvenir Hobby With Having Saved His Life

TULSA, OKLA. (UP)—Bill Argue, a Tulsa oil exploration technician, has a fondness for souvenir-collecting. He says his hobby once saved his life.
One day in July, 1946, Argue was sitting in the King David Hotel in Jerusalem. He suddenly developed an urge to buy a little knife to send home to the folks as a souvenir of the Holy Land. So he left the hotel.
Forty minutes later a violent explosion ripped the hotel, the work of terrorists.
The small curved knife he bought that day has a special place in his souvenir collection.

An unidentified striker, right, protests as police attempt to subdue another striker during a melee at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Building in Cleveland. Police, pickets and non-striking telephone workers skirmished after non-strikers attempted to cross picket line of 150 persons. (NEA Telephoto).

Indians Not So Romantic Language Expert Believes

CHICAGO (UP)—The Indian words we have absorbed into the American language aren't as romantic as we have been led to believe, according to a language expert.
He is Mitford M. Mathews, editor of the University of Chicago's new dictionary project on Americanisms.
"Chicago is thought by some," he said, "to mean the place of the big skunk."
"And Alabama is really nothing more than to trim weeds."
"We are justified in regarding the Indian as a prosaic fellow. If he had much romantic imagination, it is not revealed in many of his place names."

250-lb Prisoner Gives Cops Slight Headache

CHICAGO (UP)—Police arrested James (Big Jim) Winters, age 34, weight 350 pounds, suspected of posing as an FBI agent to take $7,500 from a Marengo, Ill., grocer. The officers had trouble keeping him for McHenry County authorities.
He wouldn't fit in a one-man cell. They squeezed and pushed and got him into a two-man cell. Handcuffs wouldn't fit. They used leg irons for his wrists.
The meals of bologna sausage and coffee were too small. The supply of bologna ran out and Winters still asked for more.
Sheriff Fred Bau arrived two days after his arrest and took him to Elgin, Ill., to face a grand jury.

Russian Zone In Germany Facing Meager Harvest

BERLIN (UP)—German agricultural experts are pessimistic about next fall's harvest in the Russian zone of Germany, in normal times the nation's "breadbasket."
The severe cold of the past winter and the subsequent floods which destroyed thousands of acres of farmlands have left their mark, officials said.
The Berlin newspaper Telegraf said the harvest outlook was for only half the normal intake and even less than last year's poor crop. The 1946 harvest figures showed, compared to 1938: bread grains 45.4 per cent; barley 36 per cent; potatoes 63.6 per cent, and vegetables 71.6 per cent.

Beauty Shop Burglar Steals Only Wave

MOBILE, Ala. (UP)—Police here were confident they knew the sex of the person who broke into a Mobile beauty shop.
Mrs. Daisy Smith returned from a weekend to find her establishment had been invaded. Valuables were left untouched, but a permanent wave machine had been rolled back where it could be used without exposure to the street. Nearby was a partially-emptied bottle of wave lotion.
Police were on the lookout for a woman with a new self-administered permanent wave.

Firm Vanishes

MONTGOMERY, Pa. (UP)—The state's general fund soon may be enriched by $582 because nobody knows what happened to the Pennsylvania Auto Service Corporation. The money, which represents an overplus in a 1923 transaction between the lost firm and a local bank, may revert to the commonwealth in the absence of claimants.

Anti-Stove League Is Foiled By Yankee Psychology

LITCHFIELD, Conn. (UP)—A stove once caused a near split in a church group here.
Elders were convinced a cold church was more conducive to salvation than a warm one. Others were of a different mind and the congregation divided into a pro-stove and anti-stove group.
One Sunday folks arriving at church found a pro-stove member standing beside a newly-installed stove briskly rubbing his hands.
Anti-stove people complained mopping their brows in distress and one indignant woman fainted from the "heat."
At this point, the pro-stover placed his bare hand on the stove, proving to the "perspiring" anti-stovers it was stone cold.

Dr. Foreman To Be Heard On Baptist Broadcast Sunday

Dr. A. D. Forman, Jr., of Amarillo, Texas will be the feature speaker on The Baptist Hour for the next two Sundays, May 18 and 25 according to the Radio Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, S. F. Lowe, Director, Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Foreman, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo, has selected as his subject for next Sunday, "Man's Chief End," divulged in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

In his announcement, Mr. Lowe further states that the sustained spirit of old-fashioned evangelism prevails in thousands of the churches throughout the territory, while tens of thousands of the faithful are steadily enrolling in a one-million prayer league with a promise to pray daily for the spiritual awakening of our world must have to survive man's modern progress in the material realm.

The Baptist Hour may be heard in Texas over radio stations KGNC Amarillo, KRIC Beaumont, WFAA Dallas, KPRC, Houston and WOAI San Antonio, at 7:30 A.M. CST Sunday, and over KCRS, Midland at 7:30 A.M. CST the following Sunday.

SENIOR CLASS PARTIES

Mothers of the Senior class of Eastland high school had an old fashioned ice cream supper for the Seniors and the high school faculty Wednesday night on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. John Turner's home. Home-made ice cream and home-made cake was furnished by the mothers. After refreshments were served they enjoyed a theatre party. About 80 were present.

The Senior Carrol party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sparks for Friday night was postponed on account of the rain, and will be Monday at 8:00 p.m. at the Sparks Carrol west of the city. The Seniors are looking forward to the Wednesday party as being a grand affair.

Yip Pi Yip Yeh, come to the Round-Up at the Sparks Carrol was the invitation sent out. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hoffman will entertain the senior class with a Barbecue at their home on South Seaman. Seniors and the faculty will be honor guests. Barbecue chicken is on the menu.

MUSIC CLUB CLOSE YEAR WITH PICNIC

Eastland Music Club is having a basket picnic at the City Park Monday evening, with husbands as honor guests. Each member is to bring lunch for self and husband. An old fashioned spelling match will be conducted for the men, and a Kangaroo court for the women.

Mrs. T. E. Richardson, president of the club, stated this would climax this year's program. The last program was the final business meeting of the year.

PERSONALS

The Struggle for Social Justice

Scripture: The Book of Amos

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

LAWS and ideals are one thing; observances, performances and actualities are quite another thing.

Nowhere, perhaps, in all the history of nations are there to be found more idealistic regulations for the prevention of social injustice and oppression that it was sought to establish among the Jews in their ancient homeland.

One recalls the Cities of Refuge, the land laws, the provisions for the protection of debtors, the Year of Jubilee and other regulations all designed to safeguard human rights and welfare. And in addition to laws and regulations was the constant exhortation by religious prophets to acts of benevolence, consideration for the poor and a charitable spirit.

Yet, in spite of all this, injustice and oppression were prevalent. Then, as now, there were grafters and exploiters and self-seekers—lawless and greedy individuals who cared nothing about what happened to others as long as they got what they wanted. There were betrayers of Jewish ideals, just as there are betrayers of democratic ideals and honorable standards today.

IMAGINE some thoughtful, intelligent, hard-working farmer who understands the conditions upon which our life and welfare depend coming into one of our modern cities. He would observe the ease and luxury of those making no real contribution to society, not to mention the evil and corruption that are so flagrant. Then you can understand something of what the Prophet Amos was to his times in ancient Israel.

Amos was a herdsman. Accustomed to clean living. He was roused to indignation by what he saw... "the dust of the poor... the righteous sold for a pair of shoes."

He saw the gross immorality of fathers and sons, the turning of judgment to wormwood, and the abandonment of righteousness. He saw the very acts and rites of religion perverted, feasts observed and offerings sacrificed by those who had no true observance or sacrifice in their hearts.

AMOS represents God as saying, "I hate, I despise your feasts, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies." But he calls for repentance: "Let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."

Don't we need that call today? The association of righteousness with peace is not accidental. It reminds us of the only true foundation upon which peace can be built, whether it be domestic peace, industrial peace or international peace. Organization and negotiation are not enough. We must find, and build upon, a sure foundation of righteousness.

is slowly improving. Mr. Durden has had pneumonia four times this year. He was teaching school in Arkansas and had to resign on account of his health.

J. H. Safley is with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Safley in Temple, who have been quite ill with heart trouble. Mrs. Safley was in the Temple hospital and after her return home, Mr. Safley was carried to the hospital with heart trouble. His condition was regarded as critical, but today, Mrs. J. H. Safley received word he is improving.

Mrs. J. H. Safley and daughters Patsy and Winfred planned to visit in Temple over the week-end.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

May 18.
The Golden Text is: "The earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God" (Romans 8:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson - Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans 8:1).

The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As mortals give up the delusion that there is more than one God, more than one God, men in God's likeness will appear, and this eternal man will include in that likeness no material element" (page 191).
