Dirigible Graf Zeppelin Off For United States City Dads Sign Contract For Municipal Airport Site

Sale Of Section Formally Closed At Session Here

Total Cost Of $40,000 To Be Given Mrs. Florence Jones, Owner Of Tract Of Land Bought By City

Work Starts Soon

Signing On Contract Ends Delay Of Several Weeks; One Of Best Fields In Section Seen For Lubbock

At a meeting of the city commission held last night in the city hall, contract for the sale of airport site was signed by the commission and Mrs. Florence Jones, owner of the tract of land which will house the Lubbock municipal field.

The contract calls for the sale of the land, comprising 640 acres, at a total cost to the city of $40,000 and was signed after several weeks of delay. The sale includes section 28, block A and is located about three miles north of Lubbock.

Work Starts Soon
With the consummation of the sale, officials believe that only a short time will now be needed before Lubbock will have one of the best municipal fields in this section of the state and it is understood that work will be started on the site at a near future date.
At a meeting of the airport committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday, that body recommended to the city commission that it proceed with the plans outlined sometime ago in the purchase of this site.
Several other matters of lesser importance were brought up and discussed before the gathering last night but the major portion of the meeting was absorbed by discussion and final signature of contract for the airport designation.

Plans Completed For Street Signs

Final plans were completed for the ordering of 200 street signs for the city.

Legal Battle For Panhandle Rails Supremacy Bitter

Wednesday's Testimony Is Brought To Abrupt Close After Objections By Ft. Worth, Denver Attorneys

(By Associated Press)
Ft. Worth, July 31.—Frequent objections by Fort Worth and Denver city railway attorneys to testimony by witnesses in the Texas Panhandle brought today's testimony before Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Charles D. Mahaffie to an abrupt close.

The cases of the St. Louis-San Francisco and Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railways were concluded late in the day when B. H. Stange, Frisco traffic manager, was recalled to correct figures in statistics he submitted yesterday. U. S. Packer, intervening for the San Antonio chamber of commerce and the proposed Gulf and West Texas railway from San Antonio to San Angelo via Brady, where it would be connected with the Frisco, testified in behalf of the Rock Island-Frisco joint proposal. The latter two roads have asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to let the Frisco purchase or lease the Gulf, Texas and Western between Sealeville and Seymour, construct a connecting track from Seymour to Vernon and obtain trackage rights over the Rock Island to Fort Worth. The Rock Island, then, would build a line from the Seymour-Vernon route through Quanah and Wellington to Shamrock, connecting with the Rock Island there. Joint trains would be operated by the Frisco and Rock Island between Seymour and Fort Worth and Dallas.

Amarillo Intervenes.
Packer was followed by R. L. McLennan, intervening for Nueces county Navigation District number 1 and the Corpus Christi chamber of commerce. Then Albert Reed, attorney for Amarillo intervenors, attempted to introduce testimony by A. S. Stinnett that Amarillo citizens had donated funds for terminals at Amarillo on the condition that the Rock Island extend its newly-constructed Amarillo-Liberal, Kan., line southward.
Fort Worth and Denver attorneys objected to that line of questioning. Examiner Mahaffie finally began interrogating the witness as to whether subscription blanks for the Amarillo terminals showed the Rock Island was to build a southern extension. When Stinnett answered "no," Mahaffie ordered him excused and his testimony removed from the record.

Reed, previously had another set-back when the examiner ruled inad-

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, July 31.—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien were hailed today as new conquerors of the air as St. Louis began a two-day celebration in honor of their achievement in piloting the monoplane "St. Louis Robin" to a new endurance record of 420 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds.

The fliers, who landed the plane last night amid the cheers of thousands, formally were received as heroes today at a chamber of commerce luncheon.

Communists Asked To Make Show Of Strength

(By Associated Press)
POLICE of European cities, and in some instances large bodies of troops, massed last night in preparation for the August 1 communist celebration of the birth of the Soviet republic.

A world-wide call to communists to make a show of strength today in honor of the date and also as a protest against the Chinese attitude towards Russia, was sent out some time ago from Moscow.

Paris was turned into an armed camp and Berlin, Brussels, Stockholm, London and other northern European capitals prepared for possible rioting.

Southern Europe, especially the Balkans, showed the most threatening situation. Reports to Belgrade, capital of Yugoslavia, told of arson and rioting at Sarajevo, the town in which occurred the assassination of an Austrian archduke setting fire to the timber of the world war. Several deaths were reported in that place.

PARIS, July 31. (AP)—The suburbs of Paris today had 22,000 soldiers, gendarmes and police gathered at strategic points ready to deal with communists, threats of violence and new conquerors of the air.

Perfect of Police Chief conferred with subordinates throughout the day completing plans to prevent trouble. Opinion was divided whether there will be serious rioting. The official organ of the communist party to exhorted workers to go into the streets and show their strength but the aggressive tone of previous issues and of posters and pamphlets seemed toned down since the arrest of 120 agitators and search of more than 200 houses by police.

Police learned communists have important military documents as well as information concerning the

Leahy Attorneys Plan Battle For Execution Delay

Convicted Slayer, Sentenced To Die In Chair On Friday, Still Hopeful Of Second Insanity Trial

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, July 31.—Attorneys for Harry J. Leahy of Mathis, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville early Friday morning, conferred tonight on a plan of battle to stay the execution.

W. C. Wolford of Taylor and Mack Gates of Huntsville said court relief would be asked.

Visit Appeal Court
Wolford visited the court of criminal appeals and conferred briefly with Olin W. Pinger, clerk. He was told that Judge F. L. Hawkins was the only member of the court in town.

It was reported that an effort would be made to have the execution stayed pending an appeal from the verdict of the jury at Georgetown last Saturday in finding Leahy sane, on the grounds the commissioners who drew the panel were appointed by Judge Harry Dolan. He was disqualified from acting in the case because he was district attorney and helped prosecute Leahy at his murder trial there when he was given the extreme penalty.

It was said attorneys considered the advisability of filing a new affidavit alleging Leahy had become insane since the verdict of Saturday.

"If I could get a new sanity trial for him, I am positive that we could stop the execution with the same witnesses and the same evidence," Wolford said.

Governor Moody is not expected to stay the execution, it was said.

Leahy was convicted of the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey of Mathis. At his first trial at George West in Live Oak county, he was given 50 years in prison. His motion for a new trial was granted by District Judge T. M. Cox and the case sent to Williamson county on a change of venue. There

Garnett Is Named Italy Ambassador

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—President Hoover has filled another important European diplomatic post with the selection of John W. Garnett, Baltimore banker and former diplomat, as ambassador to Italy.

Garnett succeeds to the post made vacant by the voluntary retirement of Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania who returns home next month after 25 years of foreign service. His name has been presented to the Italian government and a reply as to his acceptability was awaited.

With former Vice President Dawes representing the United States at London and Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey selected as ambassador to France, only two other major posts in Europe remain to be filled—those at Berlin and Madrid.

Selections of the ambassadors to Germany and Spain and to Peru, Chile and Japan are expected to be made soon. Many new ministers also are to be appointed while a number of others are to be shifted.

Jury Empanelled In Murder Trial Of College Prof

Route Taken By Dr. James H. Snook On Night He Killed His Co-Ed Mistress Retraced By Jury

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 31.—The route taken by Dr. James H. Snook the night of June 13, when he hampered and slashed to death his Ohio State co-ed mistress, Theora K. Hix, was retraced today by the jury of eleven men and one woman who will hear his trial on a charge of first degree murder.

Jury empaneling ended abruptly when Attorney John F. Seidel, defense attorney, announced the defendant was satisfied with the panel.

Jury Challenged
F. O. Ricketts, another Snook attorney arose, however, to inform the court that while the defense accepted the jury, it wished to challenge the entire array on the grounds that newspaper publicity given the killing made it impossible for the jurors to have free and open minds.

Judge Henry L. Scarlett refused to accede to the challenge and said the panel is as fair as any that could be obtained.

The jury was sworn after recess and 13th or alternate member chosen.

Woman On Jury
Three farmers, a salesman, a carpenter, a coal dealer, an engineer, a grocer, a public accountant, a blacksmith, a shoe worker, and a house wife comprise the regular jury. All but one are married and eight are parents of children.

On their trip to inspect the places connected with events of the killing and its background, the jurors went first to the place where the former university professor and the co-ed met the night of the fatal rendezvous, then to the rifle range, on the outskirts of the city, where a stake marked the spot where the girl was slain.

Meeting Related
It was at this place, where Snook and the girl had their first meeting of a three years' illicit relationship which reached its climax when Snook beat her on the head with a hammer and then slit her throat to end her suffering.

New School Plans Near Completion

Plans for the new Lubbock high school building, recently made possible by the voting of a $450,000 bond election, are progressing rapidly and should be ready to go into the hands of contractors prior to the letting of contract, according to A. C. Jackson, secretary of the board of the Lubbock Independent School District.

Mr. Jackson stated that the architect, Peters, Strange and Bradshaw, probably will complete the work within the next 30 or 60 days and that following this contract will be let. It is expected that work will be started on the new project by the opening of the fall term of school. Floor plans already complete.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, August 1.—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin took off on her flight to the United States at 3:29 a. m. today.

The last arrival among the passengers was Joachim Rickard, an international lawyer and economist of Boston and Madrid. He arrived at midnight, just about in time to leave for the field.

A big wreath of shasta daisies, baby's breath and asters was suspended from the bow of the gondola. It was presented to Dr. Eckner by Anna May Wong, Chinese-American actress, who had been denied a place on the passenger list. She explained that the wreath was an emblem of good luck in Honolulu.

The big ship got away one minute ahead of her schedule which had been set for 3:30 a. m. (8:30 p. m. Wednesday C. S. T.) She described one circle over Friedrichshafen, then rapidly disappeared in the west, her motors taking the place of those which had failed on the last previous attempt to reach America, making a steady hum.

The ground crew started to drag the huge airship from her hangar shortly after 2:30 a. m. at that hour the flight crew and passengers were ready to go aboard and they entered their quarters as soon as the bow was clear.

Use Of Color Is Leading Feature Of New Mode

By FRANCES CLYNE

Fashion Writer for Central Press

The most distinctive feature of the new mode is the use of color. Formerly it was considered that a perfect ensemble could not be achieved without the matching of hat, shoes, dress coat and accessories. Today a new mode has pervaded the style centers in which the object is to achieve harmony and effect, rather than the meticulous matching of shade. This new trend calls for more ingenuity than the old, but on the other hand it produces effects infinitely smarter and more striking.

Capucine and model blue, chocolate brown and turquoise, chartreuse green and navy—combinations that would have been dismissed without a thought in other seasons have, this year, been utilized to produce some of the most beautiful costumes of the summer. Color in contrast rather than in tone are now the rule, though often the gown carries some corresponding bit of color in its pattern. Where once beige in shoes would have been the automatic choice for wear with a beige suit now rich brown or red displaces it. Hats are often neutral in tone with a multi-colored band that may fit with any one of several dresses, even stockings depart from the old rule of matching the shoes or dress, and while in harmony, take a different tone.

Solid Color Monotonous

A solid color throughout an ensemble produces an effect rather monotonous, whereas the unusual color combinations arrest attention. It is a true test of a woman's sophistication of taste in dress if she can successfully cross the barriers of danger that lie in wait for her whose color eye is inadequate to the demands of the new mode. For it is not altogether simple matter, this effective combining of colors in such wise that they contrast and yet harmonize. The unity of the costume must still be preserved, or else the result is merely that of a hodge-podge, thrown-together costume. For instance, a dress of capucine worn in conjunction with a blue hat may be doubtful, but a dress of capucine worn with blue hat, scarf and shoes is unquestionably an ensemble. In this manner may the new mode be met with, while the old ensemble idea is extended.

In the matter of sport clothing, even more than in dress ones, new and daring ideas in color harmonies may be permitted, and with the traditional white tennis dress, especially, opportunities are introduced for contrast in the jacket and accessories that can scarcely go wrong. White permits of almost any color combination, and if it's good exercise wear for those who still feel a little uncertainty in the face of the new and admittedly more difficult fashion.

Two of my smartly "simple" frocks combining youthfulness and sophistication are shown here. The left is pictured an afternoon frock of soft rose flax crepe, a full pleated skirt and coatlike bodice. A vestee of white organza with its soft collar gives the appearance of a pseudo blouse. A tailored sports frock with contrasting accessories is shown right.

Orval Burroughs To Return To Lubbock With Bride According To Word From Former Student

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Burroughs, who were married recently in New York, are to be in Lubbock after September 1, according to word that has been received by friends and relatives of the groom here.

The groom, who has been in West Point during the last year, is a former student in the Technological college here and he was the first student in the institution to be named the best all-round fellow for a year. He was prominent in many of the campus activities.

The committee will attempt to find out if they are more numerous and more objectionable than the old-fashioned saloon.

The committee will also go into workingmen's homes interview wives and children, and get their opinion on the superiority of a saloon or speakeasy era.

It is refreshing to see that the booze problem is being dissected out of the unthinking, unreasoning cauldron of sheer sentimentality into the one of scientific investigation.

PREJUDICE ROUTED

We no longer approach big issues such as prohibition with our minds all cluttered up with prejudice. We really investigate our problems and find out whether our opinion of them is right or wrong.

One shudders a little at the very idea of what our good old-fashioned "white ribbon" temperance union women would have said at the very idea that "good women" could serve on a committee which wasn't out and about soverely sure that the lips that touched liquor and the eyes that looked too long upon the wine when it was red belonged to human beings who were all that was low and degraded.

One wonders what the "teetotaler" ladies of Carrie Nation's time and ilk would have said at the spectacle of women banding themselves together to learn if it might not indeed be well if the old-fashioned saloon came back.

Even today there are certain female temperance societies which do little more than hand out pledge cards and white ribbons to their members, take solemn vows to abstain from their communities all human beings suspected of ever imbibing the fermented grape, and have no more touch with the social and economic and psychological world of today than would Carrie Nation.

Texas Dairying Discussed Wednesday In General Session of Farmers Short Course; Development Seen For State

Industry Is Offered As Much Needed Relief From Evils Of One Crop System Throughout State

COLLEGE STATION, July 31. (AP)—Dairying in Texas was the theme developed by speakers at today's general session of the farmers short course at A. and M. college.

Discussing factors that affect dairy development, C. N. Shephardson, head of the dairy husbandry department of the college, declared the future success of dairying depended primarily upon the ability to reduce costs of production through more efficient cows and more economical feeding.

Relief Promised
Dairying promised a much needed relief from the evils of a one crop system, Shephardson said, a relief that is needed in many parts of Texas.

"Not only the farmers but also the business men of the state are realizing that there is a real need of dairying in our farm program," he said. "With the awakening of this interest on the part of all concerned, we have made one of the biggest steps in the development of Texas dairying."

Efficiency Is Need
Greater cow efficiency is one of the primary needs in this program, he pointed out, citing the fact that the average production of the cow in Texas at present is slightly over 1,000 pounds a year, while the average for the country as a whole is about 4,000 and the average for some of the leading dairy states is more than 5,000 pounds to the cow.

More adequate housing facilities, more attention to the care and handling of milk and control or elimination of disease from milk herds were other needs urged.

Cigarettes Scored
One of the worst enemies to a girl's complexion and beauty is the cigarette and cocktail habit, Mrs. Rachel B. Records of Fort Worth declared in an address before the "ris" section. She warned against the "ravages wrought to the most charming complexion by the continued use of such poison."

Miss May Eddy of Crockett, Houston county, and Mrs. Charles Dunlap of Tyler, Smith county, were pronounced first place winners in the one and class two, respective-

Farm Bureau Gin Association Buys Acuff Cotton Unit

Deal Involves Cash Sum Of $20,000; C. E. Dean, R. D.
Holmes, Former Owners
Of Plant Near Lubbock

Involving a deal aggregating a cash sum of $20,000, the Texas Farm Bureau gin corporation Tuesday purchased the Acuff gin, owned jointly by C. E. Dean, of Ralls, and R. D. Holmes, of Lubbock.

Purchaser was represented by Lynn Stokes, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, and general manager of gins of the corporation.

Is Concentration Point
The Acuff gin, located some 15 miles east of Lubbock and which ginned some 2,200 bales last year, is a concentration point for a rich cotton area. It is said that this section of Lubbock county has never experienced a serious cotton failure.

S. E. Adams, present manager, will be retained by the Texas Farm Bureau gin corporation, which now owns eight gins in Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran and Lynn counties. Under the new ownership the gin will be improved before beginning of the cotton season, it was said Wednesday.

FEDERALS KEEP BUSY
MEXICO CITY, July 31. (AP)—Reports from the commander of the State of Colima show that in the last eight months Federal soldiers took part in 27 major engagements and 97 small skirmishes with Cristeros, winning every one. The report said the situation was much improved since settlement of the issue between the church and the government and that most of the remaining bands are little more than bandits. Georgia Tech will have nine of the 11 men who beat California back on this year's team.

Commission Says Max And Jack To Meet In Detroit

Developments Over Battle In September End In Mud-De As Conflicting Reports Come In

DETROIT, July 31. (AP)—Coincident with announcement by the state boxing commission that the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight would be staged at Navin Field here by Olympia Arena, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced that he held a contract with Sharkey giving him prior claim on the latter's services.

Fitzsimmons said the contract, signed August 2, 1928, holds good in all of the 27 states affiliated with the National Boxing association.

Sharkey, Fitzsimmons said, would have to fulfill the contract before he could meet Schmeling or any other fighter in a match sponsored by Olympia Arena.

The boxing commission announcement stated Sharkey and Schmeling would meet at Navin Field on September 19.

Dick Dunn, manager of Olympia Arena, said he knew nothing about the proposed Sharkey-Schmeling fight at Navin Field, except "what I have read in the papers."

Carey Has Nothing To Say On Matter

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Developments indicating Detroit as a site for the Schmeling-Sharkey fight in September met today with the blunt statement from William F. Carey, generalissimo of Madison Square Garden, "I have nothing to say."

Carey was pointed out with reference to the claim of Floyd Fitzsimmons to a contract with Sharkey, that the Garden has had the Boston sailor under contract for all his main fights since he fought Jack Dempsey in 1927.

Carey and the Garden are engaged at the present time in controversy over the whole affair with the New York State Athletic commission, which has barred and suspended Schmeling.

Carey announced suddenly later he was taking a train at 7 p. m. for Detroit, presumably to carry through negotiations there for the Sharkey-Schmeling match. The Garden's vice-president, Frank Bruen, has been in Detroit for several days on a similar mission, evidently culminating in agreement with the Michigan Boxing authority.

Santa Fe To Add Fifteen New Men At Slaton Office

Addition Of Orient Line To Division Is Given As Cause For Expansion; Effective August 1

(Special To The Avalanche) SLATON, July 31.—Fifteen new employees will be added to the Santa Fe division offices here immediately after Aug. 1, as a result of the addition of the Orient Railway line from Altus, Okla., to Alpine, Texas, which becomes effective Aug. 1, according to official announcement. The new men are being transferred to Slaton from points along the Orient line.

Seven other new employees will establish headquarters here, spending much time on the new extensions planned for the Orient section of the Santa Fe. The company already has several hundred employees located in Slaton, working in the shops, the superintendent's offices, the yards and as trainmen on the Slaton division, which now has 1,000 miles of track. Before addition of the Orient section, the division had 504 miles of track, of which 323 miles was main line and 241 miles was branch line track.

It is estimated that the increased payroll for the new employees coming here now will amount to between $50,000 and $75,000 annually.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, before entering the gondola, told the Associated Press the first part of the journey promised to be difficult because of weather conditions. Early Wednesday evening he was informed of a low pressure area over the Gulf of Mexico, where Commander Eckener expects to strike favorable winds which will quickly push him to the Azores.

After that the decision will be made whether to fly on a northerly or a southerly line for America.

Otto Mahr, the Zeppelin chef, announced the first day's menu for the Zeppelin's voyage consists of three hearty meals.

She married one John Lafferty, third rate gunman, and after becoming the mother of a child she ran away with Jimmy Shupe, a pal in the gun business who spent much time at the Lafferty home. Lafferty swore he would turn in the whole gang, including Jimmy's brother, Tommy, now serving a prison sentence for the robbery of the International Harvester company.

"I don't care about Corinne," he said, "but I want my kid." The kid was not forthcoming and Lafferty went to the police. A few days later they found his bullet-torn body in a basement flat.

Police found Corinne and told her about it. "What's that to me?" she demanded and continued to live with Shupe.

Today Jimmy Shupe's body is in the county morgue. Police believe Corinne may again ask, "What's that to me?" but they want to question her anyhow.

Features of the signs are that they can be read from all four directions, will be green with aluminum lettering and will be placed in iron posts set in concrete two feet in the ground and extend 8 feet in height. They were selected after careful study by the committee and are such signs used by Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other cities of Texas.

Two hundred painted signs also will be included in the project. These signs are to be black letters on a yellow background and present plans call for four to each intersection. They will include, besides the name of the street, the block number.

All Texas Tour Is Expected To Be Largest Made

William A. Wilson, Dal-Paso Cavern Highway Association Secretary Is Optimistic Over Trip

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, July 31.—Word is received today from Wm. A. Wilson, secretary of the Dal-Paso Cavern Highway Association, that the All Texas Tour which he will lead out of Marshall, Texas, August 1st, will no doubt be the largest that ever traversed the state of Texas. This tour will spend the night of August 1st in Fort Worth, the night of the 2nd in Snyder, to Lamesa on the morning of the 3rd, to Carlsbad on the night of the 3rd, and thence to the Carlsbad Caverns, Sunday, August 4. They will stop in all towns along the route from Marshall to Carlsbad, N. M.

Wilson states that keen interest has been manifested in all the towns from Carlsbad, N. M., to Marshall, and that prominent citizens from various points in Texas will make this All State Tour to the famous Carlsbad Caverns and thence to El Paso, where they will be entertained by the chamber of commerce there.

Following on the heels of the Ellwood proposition a two-inch line will be laid into the Lubbock Mexican quarter.

A 10-inch line has just recently been completed, according to Mr. Smith. This main extends from Avenue J to Avenue Q on Fourth street.

With the final consummation of projects now being considered, city will have spent approximately $35,000 on extension of water mains for fire protection and convenience to users.

tion of the Hookley and Cochran county people.

May Extend "53" One of the most important projects facing the body is the work in the interest of the counties affected for the extension of Highway 53 from Brownfield to Seagraves, Seminole, Andrews and Odessa. This will, if successful, give a more direct route from this section and the north to the oil fields.

The promotion of a highway from Idalou to Silverton and across to Floydada is also being considered and action on it will be taken soon.

A meeting will be held in the early part of next week by the committee together with district state engineer Joe Caldwell at which time all plans for extension of roads and efforts for designations will be discussed. This meeting will follow the one to be held in Portales, N. M., at which time representatives from Lubbock will gather with citizens of other towns and cities for discussion of the New Mexico highway proposals.

Tentative plans were discussed for the coming meeting of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway association to be held in Lubbock on next November 11. No definite program has been worked out for this gathering, however.

Survey Of Idalou Lubbock Highway Will Begin Soon

Proposed Route Of 53 Out East Broadway To Be Inspected By Caldwell As Designation Is Rescinded

Instructions to start surveys on the proposed route of Highway 53 between Lubbock and Idalou have been received by Joe Caldwell, division engineer, from the Texas State Highway Department, according to an announcement made Wednesday.

According to Mr. Caldwell two or three preliminary surveys will be started within the next week. The only definite information obtainable as to the proposed route is that the highway will lead out East Broadway, according to instructions from the state department.

The highway department rescinded June 7 its original action in designating the route to lead out Avenue H and alongside the Santa Fe railroad. Annulment of the designation has withheld a prepared petition by the Lubbock county Good Roads Association, asking approval of a $1,000,000 road bond issue for the newly created district No. 2, which includes all of the county, except the Slaton district.

As soon as surveys are made on the highway and a route is designated the Good Roads association will present its petition to the commissioner's court, it was indicated Wednesday.

Scheduled to die in the electric chair July 12, the execution was stopped when Miss Amanda Davidson of Taylor filed an affidavit, saying she believed Leahy had become insane since his conviction. Governor Moody moved the date of execution to August 2, after Judge Dolan had issued a writ staying the execution until the murder hearing could be held.

Leahy was convicted on testimony of a Mexican, who said he had been employed by Leahy to decoy Dr. Ramsey away from his home to a lonely spot in the brush near Mathis, where the murder was committed after Leahy had forced Dr. Ramsey to sign some papers. The state's theory was that the papers were deeds to the old Leahy ranch, which Dr. Ramsey had purchased from a mortgage company.

missible petitions and resolutions signed by individuals and civic bodies in Amarillo, Abilene, Wellington, Childress and Collinsworth counties urging granting of the applications to the Rock Island and Frisco. Reed also attempted to have read into the record a list of witnesses who could testify in favor of the Frisco-Rock Island route, but when Port Worth and Denver counsel objected that also was disallowed.

Most of today's testimony was from persons along the proposed Rock Island line from Quanah to Shamrock. They declared the line would benefit their territory. Some told of the comparative barrenness of land north of Shamrock until within a few miles of Pampa. The Fort Worth and Denver is asking to build a line from Childress to Pampa generally parallel to the Rock Island proposal.

Examiner Mahaffie said today he hoped to conclude the hearings here by Friday night.

Orient Railroad Becomes Part Of Santa Fe System

New Ownership Of Former Independent Line Will Be Effective Starting Today; New Officers In

WICHITA, Kans., July 31. (AP)—With the close of business today, the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad will cease to be an independent carrier. Tomorrow it will begin its existence as the Orient division of the Santa Fe, its purchaser.

The Orient has been independently owned and operated since its inception in 1902 by Arthur Stillwell, pioneer railroad builder, even despite bankruptcy proceedings.

Exodus Marked Tomorrow will also mark exodus of several general offices here, the first to go being the traffic department. J. J. Lane, general traffic manager, will become assistant general freight and passenger agent, with headquarters at Amarillo. Four other departments will be moved in the next sixty days.

In a circular issued to other railroads yesterday the Santa Fe formally adopted Orient freight rates and tariffs for the Orient division. Offices to remain here will include that of an assistant general manager, headed by E. H. Shaffer; R. L. Davis, assistant superintendent of the Panhandle division of the Santa Fe; J. P. Alvis, freight representative and a telegraph office.

Insult Given As Shooting Cause

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31. (AP)—Francisco D. Perez, Nicaraguan consul general, fired a bullet across the aisle of a crowded cable car here yesterday and severed the spinal cord of his friend of years, Celso De Leon, 45.

Perez, recently separated from his attractive wife, boarded the car during the midday rush and shot at De Leon three times. He is not expected to recover.

Police said Perez' only explanation of the shooting was that De Leon had "insulted" him. He refused details. He was charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Until a few days ago Perez was consular agent for Guatemala as well as consul general for Nicaragua. A Guatemalan representative here said Perez had been removed from the agency after the government received information that he was acting wildly.

Border Merchants Aroused Against "Ferry" Tourists

Claim Travelers Dash Over Mexico and Canada Lines To Buy Clothes Where They Are Tariff Exempt

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Border merchants are greatly aroused against the "street car" and "ferry" tourists who have been dashing across the boundary into Mexico or Canada and purchasing clothes where the tariff doesn't apply.

The law allows travelers returning from foreign lands an exemption of $100 on purchases brought home. It seems some of the citizens who disregard the "trade-at-home" signs have been going across the border and purchasing dutiable goods under the $100 mark.

An amendment has been suggested to the tariff act to make all purchases over the border dutiable unless the returning American has been abroad for two weeks or more. The senate finance committee is giving serious consideration to the proposal.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him.—Isaiah, lxv, 4.

FOR USE BY THE PUBLIC

IT THINKS it would be a good thing, if the Lubbock county commissioners' court would grant permission to the public, particularly during the remainder of the summer, to use the east half of the courthouse square as a resting place.

The county attorney continues with his suggestion by stating that, "inasmuch as the old jail is to be torn down, anyway, to make room for the new postoffice and Federal building, the east half of the square will be more or less messed up for several months."

A number of benches, placed in the shade of the square, Wilson believes, would be no more than the citizenship of the county is entitled to.

"There is no place in all the city of Lubbock for farmers, in particular to gather, or to rest, for wives and children to remain in comfort, protected from the hot sun, while their husbands and fathers attend to business."

It seems that memory tells the tale of the original donors of the courthouse square in their dedication deed to the county, restricting the use of this ground "to the public."

This being so, and the further fact being present that the county's water bill for watering the grass on the courthouse lawn, run in the neighborhood of $100 a month, it would seem that it is time something should be done. The remark has been made that our county water bill is mostly for the purpose of raising a very prolific crop of dandelions.

Certainly we appreciate the beauty of our county lawn. Yet, isn't there something to the statement that convenience is more important than beauty?

Knowing the lack of any sort of a park downtown, where folks coming to town for shopping may rest awhile, the county attorney's suggestion surely is worthy of investigation. It should not be a difficult matter for Lubbock citizens to provide the benches for this place, where the trees are there. The lawn is there. The need exists.

ROCKETEERING

The gentleman who had designs on the moon by way of high explosives has lost his ticket. It made a nice beginning of its fiery journey, but its transmitter failed in one glorious explosion a few miles up, which discouraged the rocket beyond repair. Nobody was in the rocket at the time, which seems an excellent idea.

There is some point in these adventures in rocketeering, but not much. Mechanically they represent the effort to devise means of propulsion. A want to see miles up the air becomes so thin and evasive that a propeller cannot take hold of it, but the rocket ship is supposed to kick itself along through space by means of explosions in its rear end. The timing must be accurate, for Prof. Goddard's rocket so that it tried to reach the moon in a single jump and shot off all its fireworks.

The exact intentions of the flight remain obscure. There is no perceptible ill feeling toward the moon on this side of space which would justify shooting in the face. There were no arrangements made for the rocket to return and report its discoveries. Possibly the professor was making a desperate effort to discover a new parking space. Possibly he was just blowing off his excess scientific steam. At any rate he fired a shot which he heard all over Massachusetts and let off the biggest firework in the memory of man. He may be disappointed that his rocket failed to reach the moon, but he can console himself considerably with the thought that at least he wasn't inside it.

THE PARADOX OF PROGRESS

The currents of the industrial age have already declared one definite trend. Our machinery, mass production, standardization and concentration of productive labor, and skill are already borne forward by the increased leisure for the pleasures and diversions of life. The modern world has given us time to spare.

At the same time, these same forces, together with the new education based on scientific understanding of the human mind, have also increased the individual capacity for the hard work of the future. A paradoxical situation. The individual's capacity for work is increased, while there is steadily a reduction in the work to be done.

It becomes a practical problem as to how we shall use this new gift of leisure. If we waste it, the result will be tragedy for ourselves and ultimately for the world. But there is reason for optimism. The modern world has given us time to spare. It is not the spur of necessity alone that drives the busy man. The healthy man has a natural love for creative labor, and this has always been the mainspring of progress. The energy and ingenuity of the human spirit will always be seeking new work and new adventures, and in the promise of the future the hope of change and progress far beyond our present imagining.

PRIVATE CAR FOR THE PRESIDENT

Ought the president of the United States to have a private car in which to travel about the country? Mr. Coolidge says he should—though he himself used a private car but once. The pressure on him is so great, says Mr. Coolidge, "that his responsibilities are so heavy, that it is a wise public policy, in order to secure his best services, to provide him with such ample facilities that he will be relieved as far as possible from all physical inconveniences."

Coming from such an economical man as Calvin Coolidge, this recommendation is remarkable, and for the same reason it is weighty. Mr. Coolidge spent very little government money in travel. A private car would cost the government a good deal in the course of a year, whether it were in use or lying idle. Nevertheless, if it would lighten the president's job, most people would be for it. They want the constant strain he is under, they know his constantly increasing difficulty of his labor, and for the sake of a few thousand dollars a year they would not hesitate to give him anything he desires for his comfort.

STEWART GOES TO GASTONIA, N. C., TO GET STORY OF FIFTEEN STRIKERS FIGHTING THREAT OF DEATH CHAIR

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

GASTONIA, N. C., July 31.—While here digging up what information I can concerning the textile mill troubles which just now are arriving at a climax in the prosecution with the electric chair as the object—of 15 labor organizers, accused of responsibility for the recent killing of Gastonia's chief of police, O. F. Aderholt—

Right while I was pushing this little inquiry of my own, two members of Chief Aderholt's police force were indicted under circumstances that seemed to the highly significant in connection with the Aderholt tragedy, itself.

The indictments were not returned at Gastonia, but at the neighboring county seat of Charlotte.

Charlotte is in Mecklenburg county, Gastonia in Gaston.

The Catawba river, which marks the boundary between the two counties, is spanned by various bridges.

As the grand jury at Charlotte heard the story from several witnesses, Policemen Arthur J. Roach and W. Tom Gilbert of Gastonia crossed one of these bridges in a state of drunkenness and disorder on the afternoon of June 15, fell foul of Pedro Melton, a resident on the Mecklenburg side, chased him into the river, and provided themselves by peppering him with pistol shots every time he stuck his head above the water.

Presently Rural Policemen John Irvine and Henry Mosely of Mecklenburg county arrived on the scene, according to the testimony before the grand jury, to find Roach and Gilbert permitting Melton to land unperforated and would have arrested the Gastonians had the Mecklenburgers consented to offer charges against them. This, for reasons of his own, the latter did not care to do so, Irvine and Mosely simply shooed the visitors back into their home county.

And a few hours later, that same night—both policemen suffered serious gunshot wounds, as did Melton, who was shot in the back during the clash at Gastonia textile strike headquarters in which the chief lost his life.

Of course Roach and Gilbert were only indicted as accessories.

After being driven to jump into the Catawba river, and then shot at—if that really was exactly what happened—Pedro Melton's dismissal of the charges is not without an arrest, seems rather to be a natural, unless he himself, had something to conceal.

Nevertheless, it is hard to view the affair as anything but an unusual case, assuming that the charges against the two Gastonia officers is to be regarded as anything but straight fiction.

And it is more than pure gossip, having taken the definite shape of a formal indictment.

Even as an accusation and nothing stronger, it raises the question whether Chief Aderholt's force accused Melton, or if, in a responsible mood and extraordinarily reckless with firearms not much earlier than the time of the fatal visit to strike headquarters in the Gastonia suburb of Lory.

At all events, it would appear that those Gastonians who feel most strongly against the accused would think they had something decidedly material to answer in the Mecklenburg county grand jury's indictment of two of their principal witnesses.

Roach and Gilbert emphatically fall within that classification.

There were in the thick of the encounter with the strikers as witness the fact that they were shot.

The curious feature of the situation is that Gastonia anti-strike sentiment evidently regards the Charlotte grand jury's action as of no special importance in its relation to the Lory tragedy.

"True, they do dispute the indictment's justification," "But what of it anyway?" is their attitude.

"Aderholt was killed. There is no argument about that."

"If Fred Beal and Vera Bush and Amy Schechter and Sophie Melton and the rest had not come here to stir up trouble in Gastonia's mills he would be alive today."

"A communist conspiracy was responsible for his death. What do details matter?"

SOAP POWDERS OFTEN HAVE BAD EFFECT ON SKIN OF HANDS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Most housewives know that prolonged exposure of the skin to humidity or water softens and washes away the outer cells of the skin, and in this softened condition the skin forms a suitable breeding ground for germs.

For this reason, specialists in disease of the skin, inquire particularly as to the occupations of women who come for advice with eruptions on the hands. Laundresses, maids, domestics, housewives, scrubbers, barmen, cooks, waiters, bottle washers and hair dressers are among those who most frequently have these eruptions, which result from the application of irritating soaps or cleansing solutions.

Many of the patent soap powders or cleansers contain chemicals which irritate sufficiently to produce the appearance of chapping on the skin. Laundresses are occasionally affected by bleaching powder which is used to whiten cotton and linen goods.

When the skin of the hands is exposed to such chemicals, it becomes thin, smooth and shiny and the ridges disappear and the hands have a generally red color. Sometimes the folds between the fingers split.

The facts that are found in many soaps have irritant properties, and soaps made with cotton seed and coconut oil are found to be more irritating than palm and tallow soaps.

If the person who is affected can give up temporarily the application of water and the irritating soap to the skin, the condition will tend to recover, particularly if the skin is kept covered with gloves and with any bland ointment.

On the other hand, the continuation of the irritating cause, keeps up the source of the irritation and the condition is not likely to be cured promptly.

FOR CLASS-ROOM LIBERTY

Propaganda in the schools is rightly attracting the careful attention of the National Educational Association.

The propagandist is knocking at the school door," says one of the organization's committees, "and in some instances he already has been admitted. There is nothing to indicate he will overlook the schools in the future."

It is not a pleasant state of affairs. America's schools are usually considered safeguards of democracy. For them to be used by special interests for the dissemination of prejudicial information is plainly deplorable.

Only recently President Hoover was forced to clamp down upon an ill-advised attempt to institute a prohibition publicity campaign in the class-rooms criticized for trying to influence the youthful of the country. The "power trust" has been freely criticized for trying to influence the youthful minds against government ownership of public utilities.

The Threatened War In China Has Nothing On Ours

Anniversary Notes

FIRST FEDERAL CENSUS

One hundred and thirty-nine years ago today, on August 1, 1790 the enumeration of the first federal census began in the United States.

The result of this decennial census showed a total population of 3,929,827, with only six cities having more than 7,500 inhabitants.

The counting of population was an essential feature of the new form of government since it was to be the basis of the apportionment of representatives and direct taxes.

"The Congress which enacted the law for the first census introduced the distinction of sex and color in the enumeration of the free population, and having in view, probably, the importance of determining the military strength of the newly created nation, introduced an age distinction—under 16, 16 and over—in the enumeration of the free white male population. Only three-fifths of the slaves were counted in determining the apportionment."

Today's Poem

"LOVE HATH A LANGUAGE"

From "To My Son"

Love hath a language for all years—
Fond hieroglyphs obscure and old
Wherein the heart reads, writ in tears.
The tale which never yet was told,
Love hath his meter, too, to trace
Those bounds which never yet were given—
To measure that which mocks at space.

Is deep as death and high as heaven,
Love hath his treasure boards, to pay
True faith, or goodly service done—
Dear priceless nothings, which outweigh

All riches that the sun shines on.

Disarmament Meet Is Seen For 1931

LONDON, July 31. (AP)—While there is no definite indication at present regarding the possibility of holding a naval disarmament conference of the powers in London this winter or next spring, well-informed persons here believe progress of the Daves-MacDonald conversations warrants belief that the date for the conference, set by the Washington arms agreement for 1931, may be advanced.

This five-power conference would have an important bearing on the work of the preparatory commission of the League of Nations on disarmament, which eventually will consider the general question of disarmament of both land and sea forces.

"While the modern woman has been forging ahead, the man has remained stationary. Indeed, he has been so smugly complacent about his superiority, both physically and mentally, that he hasn't realized he has been gradually losing it. If he doesn't take himself in hand, we will undoubtedly have, within the next 50 years, women as the stronger and superior sex."—Gertrude Atherton.

"You must be hungry," remarked Jack when they had sat in silence for a long time. "Let's go out somewhere and eat. Make you feel better."

She roused herself, shaking off the apathetic melancholy that had smothered her all day.

"I thought it would be nice to stay here," she said. "I'd love to cook something for you. Show me what a smart little wife I'm going to be. What do you feel like, juicy steak, big lamb chops, nice fresh lobster?"

"You sound like a butcher," he teased. "I don't want you bothering me. Let's go somewhere."

"But I want to bother," she insisted. "I don't pretend to be domestic, when I'm alone. But it's lovely acting up to a man in the house. You stay here, and I'll go out and buy some things. I like shopping, honestly. It won't take long. I've almost everything here. How would steak and mushrooms go?"

"Fine!" he applauded. "Here, let me pay for the stuff." He tried to put some bills in her hand.

"Oh, this is my party," she decreed. "You've bought me a million meals, honey. Now I'm entertaining."

"Now, Molly," he protested. "You can't buy the groceries when I'm around."

He took her hand, and forced a note between her fingers. "You may be rolling in wealth, but you can't buy your old beefs groceries, say, Molly, how much do you suppose I've saved since I've been in New York? He grinned ruefully. "Honestly there's no such thing as saving."

"Oh, I don't know. Five hundred?" she guessed.

"A hundred and twenty," he confessed.

"That's exactly what Claudia Cabot's wedding bouquet cost," remarked Molly.

Jack flushed. But he did not add that he had also met the last installment on the white and shining little diamond that was lost in the mud and slime of the pond in the Gardens. Molly, he reflected, seemed to have forgotten she was bustling about prettily. Heaping cushions on the sofa for his comfort. Drawing up a lamp, and a smoking stand.

"There!" she said. "The magazines are on the floor, and I've some new books on the lowest shelf. They come into the office, to be reviewed, and I've been begging them to let me do some reviewing myself. Next Saturday I'm to have a column."

The statement was in reply to questions asked by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, who inquired as to the source of loans filed with the clerk of the House by the anti-Smith democrats of Virginia.

The SHINING TALENT

By ELEANOR EARLY © 1929 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, reporter was entertaining old friends at a little dinner party, when she learned of the death of RUTH WOODS.

Molly and RITA BELNOTTE and Ruth were dearest friends at college. Now Ruth is dead, and Rita is experimenting disastrously with a companionate marriage.

Only Molly has achieved the triumphant happiness of which they all dreamed—and even Molly's joy is not complete. She is very much in love with JACK WELLS, who has no money, and she is unable to make any. She and Jack quarrel a great deal, over money matters, and because Jack hates Molly's work, and is resentful of her intimacy with newspaper men.

But, when Ruth dies, Molly forgets their later difference, and telephones Jack, asking if he can leave work to be with her for a few days. He comes for the funeral, and to comfort his sweetheart.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

Ruth was buried in her wedding gown, with her lips touched with scarlet. Molly thought she looked like Isolde, with her white face and white eyelids, and her little white hands folded so chastely.

She bent to kiss the soft cloud of her hair, and thought of what it was that Tysam had whispered to Isolde " . . . your gold hair."

That is not gold. Only God knows, who made it.

What Isolde it is exactly.

Bob and Rita and Molly and Jack had bought a blanket made of roses, to throw over the casket. And Zip had filled her arms with sweet-heart roses.

The people from upstairs came down, and a few curious neighbors called. Their faces were long, and their words were right. And the woman from upstairs, wearing her hands, and called Ruth "the poor dear," and said how awful it was.

"The neighbors brought in a cold ham and some potato salad, and their voices quivered with the proper degree of feeling."

And Molly, though she despised herself for it, though, wondered if people felt an exhilaration in other people's troubles. Those people, for instance, who brought the ham, and the woman from upstairs, also.

She turned fiercely to Jack. "Look!" she whispered. "That woman is fingering Ruth's gown! She is indecent!"

"She's admonished," she means well, poor soul. She doesn't know any better."

"Poor dear!" murmured the woman at the door. And, putting her handkerchief to her streaming eyes, leaned a little closer to the dead girl.

They buried Ruth in a lonely graveyard, beneath a pine that dropped its needles softly about her head. Everything was quiet and still. And only a little brook laughed as it ran over the stones and moss.

After the funeral, Bob and Rita took Zip home with them. And Molly and Jack returned together to her apartment.

He put his arms about her very gently, and brushed her forehead lightly with his lips. One didn't somehow want to kiss, after that open grave, with only roses to covet the brown earth that would go thudding down on Ruth. Ruth in her wedding gown, with her arms full of sweetheart roses.

"You must be hungry," remarked Jack when they had sat in silence for a long time. "Let's go out somewhere and eat. Make you feel better."

She roused herself, shaking off the apathetic melancholy that had smothered her all day.

"I thought it would be nice to stay here," she said. "I'd love to cook something for you. Show me what a smart little wife I'm going to be. What do you feel like, juicy steak, big lamb chops, nice fresh lobster?"

"You sound like a butcher," he teased. "I don't want you bothering me. Let's go somewhere."

"But I want to bother," she insisted. "I don't pretend to be domestic, when I'm alone. But it's lovely acting up to a man in the house. You stay here, and I'll go out and buy some things. I like shopping, honestly. It won't take long. I've almost everything here. How would steak and mushrooms go?"

"Fine!" he applauded. "Here, let me pay for the stuff." He tried to put some bills in her hand.

"Oh, this is my party," she decreed. "You've bought me a million meals, honey. Now I'm entertaining."

"Now, Molly," he protested. "You can't buy the groceries when I'm around."

He took her hand, and forced a note between her fingers. "You may be rolling in wealth, but you can't buy your old beefs groceries, say, Molly, how much do you suppose I've saved since I've been in New York? He grinned ruefully. "Honestly there's no such thing as saving."

"Oh, I don't know. Five hundred?" she guessed.

"A hundred and twenty," he confessed.

"That's exactly what Claudia Cabot's wedding bouquet cost," remarked Molly.

Jack flushed. But he did not add that he had also met the last installment on the white and shining little diamond that was lost in the mud and slime of the pond in the Gardens. Molly, he reflected, seemed to have forgotten she was bustling about prettily. Heaping cushions on the sofa for his comfort. Drawing up a lamp, and a smoking stand.

on the book page."

"You're too darn smart," he reproved lovingly. "No wonder you don't want to marry me."

"But I do!" she cried and kissed him swiftly.

She surveyed the luxury of her little apartment complacently.

"And I love nice things!" she breathed. "Really Jack, I couldn't bear to be poor. Could you? It's too severe a strain on love. I think. You see I know lots more about life and love than I used to."

"You and Life!" he bantered. "Run along, child, and buy you a banquet."

First she went to the market on the corner. A pound and half of steaks, and the bone cut-out. Jack must be starved. Mushrooms and tomatoes, and some big Bermuda onions. A bunch of celery, with a package of cream cheese, a bit of Roquefort and taste of camembert to stuff it. Endsives for a salad. Oh, yes—and a jar of sweet pickles.

There was a man standing on the corner, when Molly left the store. She had noticed him before, when she came out of the apartment. A short, dark, dirty looking person, with pock marks on his face.

On the corner, where the woman's exchange, where they sold little warm rolls, and delicious sweets. Molly seldom went there, since fresh bread and pastries, as everybody knows, are awfully fattening.

"I'll tell Jack I made them myself," she thought. "He'll never know the difference."

Smiling, she hurried up the street. The dirty looking person spit generously, and trotted along.

Lubbock Urged To Join Car Caravan To Carlsbad Cave

Lamesa C-C Invites People Of City To Make Trip To Famous Caverns; August Third Is Date

A letter received Wednesday by the Lubbock chamber of commerce from Lamesa cordially invites a representative delegation from this city to join the All-Texas tour to the Carlsbad Cavern in that city on August 3, when the motorcade is expected to arrive early in the morning.

The tour will begin August 1 at Marshall, traversing the Dal-Paso Cavern highway and adding delegations to its personnel in practically every city on the route. William A. Wilson, secretary of the Lamesa chamber of commerce and secretary of the Dal-Paso highway association, announces that indications point to a record attendance from cities of the west.

Present plans call for the motorcade to lunch in Seminole on August 3, at which time Lubbock citizens may join it continue through Carlsbad and visit the cavern August 4. The following day the remainder of the itinerary will be completed to El Paso, where the group will disband. This is the third annual motorcade sponsored by the highway association and, according to officials, has every indication of being the most successful.

Speed Record In Sight For Bremen

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—The speed-conquering liner Bremen today was nearing two more trans-Atlantic records as she skimmed the Atlantic toward the English coast at an average of 28.3 knots.

In a message to the New York office of the North German Lloyd line, Capt. Leopold Ziesenheim reported the liner would arrive at Plymouth, England, at 9 p. m. today, a journey of 3,100 miles in four days and 12 hours, eight hours and 51 minutes less than the Mauretania's record.

Arrival of the Bremen at Cherbourg at 3 a. m. tomorrow would make her time for the passage of the 3,600 miles from Ambrose lightship, via Plymouth four days, one hour and 40 minutes lowering the record by six hours and 49 minutes.

Vestris Claimed Unfit For Voyage

LONDON, July 31. (AP)—That the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris when she set out on her fatal voyage from Hoboken last November was overloaded and unfit to encounter the perils of her winter trip was the main finding of the board of trade's inquiry into her sinking with a loss of 112 lives rendered today.

The inquiry court also found that when peril did overtake the ship her SOS warning was too long delayed, the court declaring it should have been sent out six hours earlier.

The court, which had sat for a record period of 40 days hearing evidence in the case which previously had been dealt with by two American investigating bodies, went minutely into all the circumstances of the ship's tragic end.

Cotton Hits High Mark; Bulls Active In Market

Weather Reports And Crop Advances Cause $1.50 Rise

Demand Active Following Publication Of Private Reports Which Placed Crop Conditions Low

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Unfavorable feature in the weather and crop reports combined with relatively steady Liverpool cables seemed responsible for advance of about $1.50 a bale in cotton today. After selling up to 19.35 December reacted to 19.17 but firmed up again selling at 19.43 in the late trading. That delivery closed at 19.40 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 26 to 34 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 14 to 20 points. Active months showed net advances of about 18 to 22 points.

Demand Active
The demand was more active following the publication of a private report which placed the condition of the crop at 68.9 compared with an end-June condition of 71.0. October contracts sold up to 19.18 and March to 19.60 making net gains of 30 to 36 points and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best on most positions.

Trading was active at the start and again in the late trading but comparatively quiet during the middle of the day.

Exports today were 13,572 making 8,240,838 bales so far this season according to preliminary figures. Port receipts 24,386. C. S. port stocks 331,875.

Cotton Reaches High Ground At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 31. (AP)—Cotton reached new high ground for the present movement in today's trading following a period of morning irregularity. A sharp rally after mid-season carried October up from 18.78 to 19.02 and the option closed at 19.00 or 23 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 23 to 31 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively firm and the market here opened 2 to 4 points in response. Prices continued to advance after the start on buying. Active positions traded up from 78 cents to 81 a bale above yesterday's close with October at 18.97 and December 19.17.

Later the market turned irregular. In late trading the market rallied sharply on a private report giving the condition average of 68.9 December advanced to 19.20 or 28 to 29 points above the previous close. Final prices were at or near the best.

Receipts 9,721 for week 19,537 for year 241,604 last year 8,556-783 Exports 13,572 for week 32-306 for year 7,949,925 last year 7,600,839 Stocks 503,227 last year 433,150 Stock on shipboard 30,807 spot sales 5,472 last year 4,772

Suit Would Halt Proposed Baptist Missionary Meet

Damages Of $10,000 Asked In Motion For Injunction To Restrict Convention At Longview

PORT WORTH, July 31. (AP)—Suit for $10,000 damages and request for a temporary writ of injunction against the holding of an annual meeting of the Baptist Missionary and Educational State Sunday school convention in Longview, August 12-25, was filed today in Seventeenth District court against H. J. Wise, Port Worth president of the convention.

The suit was brought by the Texas Baptist State Sunday School convention, the annual meeting of which is scheduled to be held in Marshall, August 20-25. Judge Culver of the Seventeenth District court set hearing of the case for Saturday, August 3.

Echoes Controversy
The suit grew out of a controversy in October, 1928, when a meeting of the Baptist Missionary and Educational State Sunday School convention was held in Sherman. A disagreement over the election of officers resulted in a suit which still is pending in the court of Civil Appeals of the Fifth District. The faction to which Wise belonged later declared all officers of the organization, Grant and Wise were named president.

Previously in August 1928 when the Texas Baptist State Sunday School convention was held in San Antonio W. F. Blescoe was elected president and Wise vice president. Organization of the other body later and Wise's selection as its president has seriously conflicted with the other organization's activities and resulted in loss of both members and funds the plaintiffs petition states.

The petition further alleges that Wise has incorrectly called the Longview meeting of the Forty-Ninth Annual convention of the Baptist Missionary and Educational State Sunday School association, claiming that there is no such organization and that Wise and others are endeavoring to get control of the original body.

(Special To The Advance)
SNYDER, July 31. (AP)—Company O. 142nd Infantry with Captain John E. Sentiell in charge will entertain here Saturday for the annual camp meeting at Camp Palacios. Co. 3 of this city has always won honors at the yearly meetings and is now going strong again this year.

Dull Cattle Market Wednesday Sees Subtraction From Livestock Values

PORT WORTH, July 31. (AP)—U. S. D. A. reported dull cattle market in which packer buyers made further subtractions from values developed here today. Slaughtered cows, low-cutters and bulls were sold at lower levels. Lower bids were reported.

Common grass slaughter steers 7.40 to 9.00. Good fed steers, unsold. Declines of about a quarter shown by most sales of beef and butcher cows, low-cutters and bulls. Fat cows 8.50 and other desirable slaughter cows sold at 7.25 and 7.75. Butcher grades 8.50 and 7.00. Low cutters 4.25 and 3.00. Heavy bulls 7.85 sausage steers 6.50 and 7.50.

Yearlings Unchanged
Slaughter yearlings and other classes of cattle unchanged. A few fat yearlings 13.00. Grass sorts sold around and under 11.00. Choice heavy stock calves 11.00 and 11.50. Straight steer calves at the latter price.

A bearish tone was apparent in the demand for slaughter calves and weaners and while trade was featured by more or less dullness the market failed to register a clear-cut decline. Most sales ranged steady to a quarter lower. Choice heavy fat calves 11.00 to 11.25. Other heavy averages at 10.75. Choice light veal calves topped at 12.00. Cull sorts 6.00 and 6.25.

Demand Slow In Livestock Mart
KANSAS CITY, July 31. (AP)—S. D. A.—A sluggish demand at eastern dressed beef markets reflected itself on the live trade at most all points around the 11 market circuit. Killing cases of cattle ruled weak to grade only lower with the exception of a few leads of highly finished native grain fed.

Chicago had a ton of $16.60 on highly finished 1412 pound steers. Aggregate receipts estimated at 33,400 a decrease of 3,800 from last Wednesday but 2,500 more than a year ago.

Curtail supplies and a fairly broad shipping demand prompted a 10c to 25c price upturn on hogs at most centers. The day's top of $12.15 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings 56,800 against 63,732 a week ago and 61,053 the corresponding day last year.

Choice range lambs in Chicago scored $13.75 and a few native made $13.50. The supply numbered around 42,900 a small increase over a week ago and a year ago.

Wheat Values Are Sent Upward When Demand Broadens

Corn Prices Soar Following Report Of Grain Crop Failure: Purchasing Is Active On Wednesday

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—Gigantic broadening out of breadstuff demand both for shipment overseas and for home use sent wheat values flying straight upward today. Corn soared also, with much of the new crop reported near to a failure and the price of December delivery of corn outdoing top quotations this season.

Wheat, closed strong 3c to 4 1/2c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 2c to 3 5/8c up, oats 1 1/2c to 2c advance. Provisions unchanged to a rise of 30c.

Purchasing Active.
Export purchasing of domestic hard winter and red winter wheat was estimated at 2,000,000 bushels in addition to a huge amount of American wheat. A big American baker was credited with having bought another 1,000,000 barrels of flour indicating to consumers here and abroad.

A trade estimate was made today that the 1929 United States crop of wheat, winter and spring together, will be only 97,000,000 bushels against the 1928 monthly official forecast of 100,000,000 bushels and compared with a 200,000,000 bushels harvested in 1928.

Texas reports today said the wheat movement is about over. Drought reports came from the greater part of the corn belt today with damage already shown in numerous places. Oats ascended with corn and wheat.

Provisions responded to upturn both in hog values and in grain.

NEW MYSTERY ANGLE
Murder Takes Different Turn In Probe

LONDON, July 31. (AP)—One of the murder mysteries involving the deaths of at least three members of the same family by poison took a new turn today when the coroner's jury at first decided Mrs. W. J. Sydney had been poisoned and then decided there was no sufficient evidence to show that.

Legge Gives Views
Alexander H. Legge, chairman of the farm board in addressing the institute last night declared for expansion and strengthening on the cooperative marketing movement rather than the arbitrary raising of commodity prices. Prices he said are determined by basic economic conditions.

Carl Williams of Oklahoma City, member of the board, advised that the professional promoters he dodged.

Reports Cited
"There has come to the ears of the Federal Farm Board from all over the United States word of professional promoters who are going about attempting to organize cooperative associations," said Mr. Williams. "I want to emphasize that farmers should get in with organized cooperatives rather than attempt to organize for themselves."

He declared the board is thinking of agriculture in terms of the individual farm family back home. We all have down in our hearts the spirit which impels us to give these farm folk our thought which they who have placed in us their hopes and given us our responsibility.

Earnings Provide Impetus For New Vitality In Mart

More Than Score Of Issues Rise Twenty Points To Record High Levels As Trading Pace Quickens

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Given renewed impetus by further excellent earnings, carloadings and steel trade reports, bullish operations developed renewed vitality on the stock market today. More than a score of issues rising 20 to more than 30 points to record levels. The pace of trading was accelerated from that of the past two dull sessions, but was kept within moderate bounds. 3,497,040 shares changing hands.

Call Money Holds.
Call money held at 10 per cent. Time money rates, however, did not indicate that there is much prospect of substantially easier credit after the turn of the month. Some 30-day money was placed at 9 per cent. Renewed weakness of Sterling made an early increase in the Bank of England's discount rate seem even more likely.

While there have been no intimations that the Federal Reserve will again act to check speculation, the New York Reserve banks monthly bulletin pointed to the stock market as one of the principal causes of the credit scarcity.

RIVERSIDE TIRES

You can't buy better quality, service or appearance... So why pay $2 to $15 more for any other tire?

THERE are no "deep, dark secrets," any more in tire building.

Super Service and First Quality RIVERSIDE Tires, for example, cost as much to build as any of the five or six other leading makes on the market. For rubber, cotton cord, and skilled labor, Montgomery Ward & Co. pays current market prices and rates the same as other well-managed tire factories pay.

In addition... for sturdy design and fine appearance RIVERSIDE Tires rival any tires built, regardless of brand or price!

As for service—RIVERSIDES offer you no vague substitutes in the form of phrases... but definite, specific, absolute mileage guarantees—16,000 miles for the First Quality RIVERSIDE—30,000 miles for the Super Service RIVERSIDE.

Then, to clinch the reasons why RIVERSIDES are now being used by millions of motorists throughout America—Ward's tremendous sales volume and nationwide distribution bring these tires to you at prices ranging from $2 to $15 less per tire than comparable tires of any other make on the market.

Since there are no secrets about tire building—why should there be any in tire SELLING? In the sale of RIVERSIDES there are none... because none are needed! You can PAY more in price, yes, but you can't BUY more... in quality, service or appearance!

Knowing these facts—is there any reason in the world why your next tires should not be RIVERSIDES?

Step into our store today, and see these good-looking, high-quality, guaranteed-performance tires for yourself. Study their construction; see how they're built. Then try to find their equals at Ward's exceptionally low prices... try to match their GUARANTEES in any other tire at ANY PRICE. Those are the facts on which to buy quality tires at a big saving!

And remember—we have all sizes to fit all cars, and we provide free mounting service on every tire purchased.

College Fraternity Will Discard Styles

Delta Upsilon Will Campaign For More "Solid Comfort"

By ROY J. GIBBONS
Central Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, July 31. — Clothes don't make the man, and just to have beyond all shadow of a doubt that they don't, 700 members of the local alumni chapter of Delta Upsilon, college fraternity, will launch a national campaign in favor of solid comfort.

"The war cry is 'down with the tyranny of tailors' and their purpose is the disregard of convention in the interest of comfort."

"Pipe the B's knees" — meaning loose—may soon mean exactly that when the B's of Delta Upsilon stroll in any morning now loosely clad in their suits of B. V. D's.

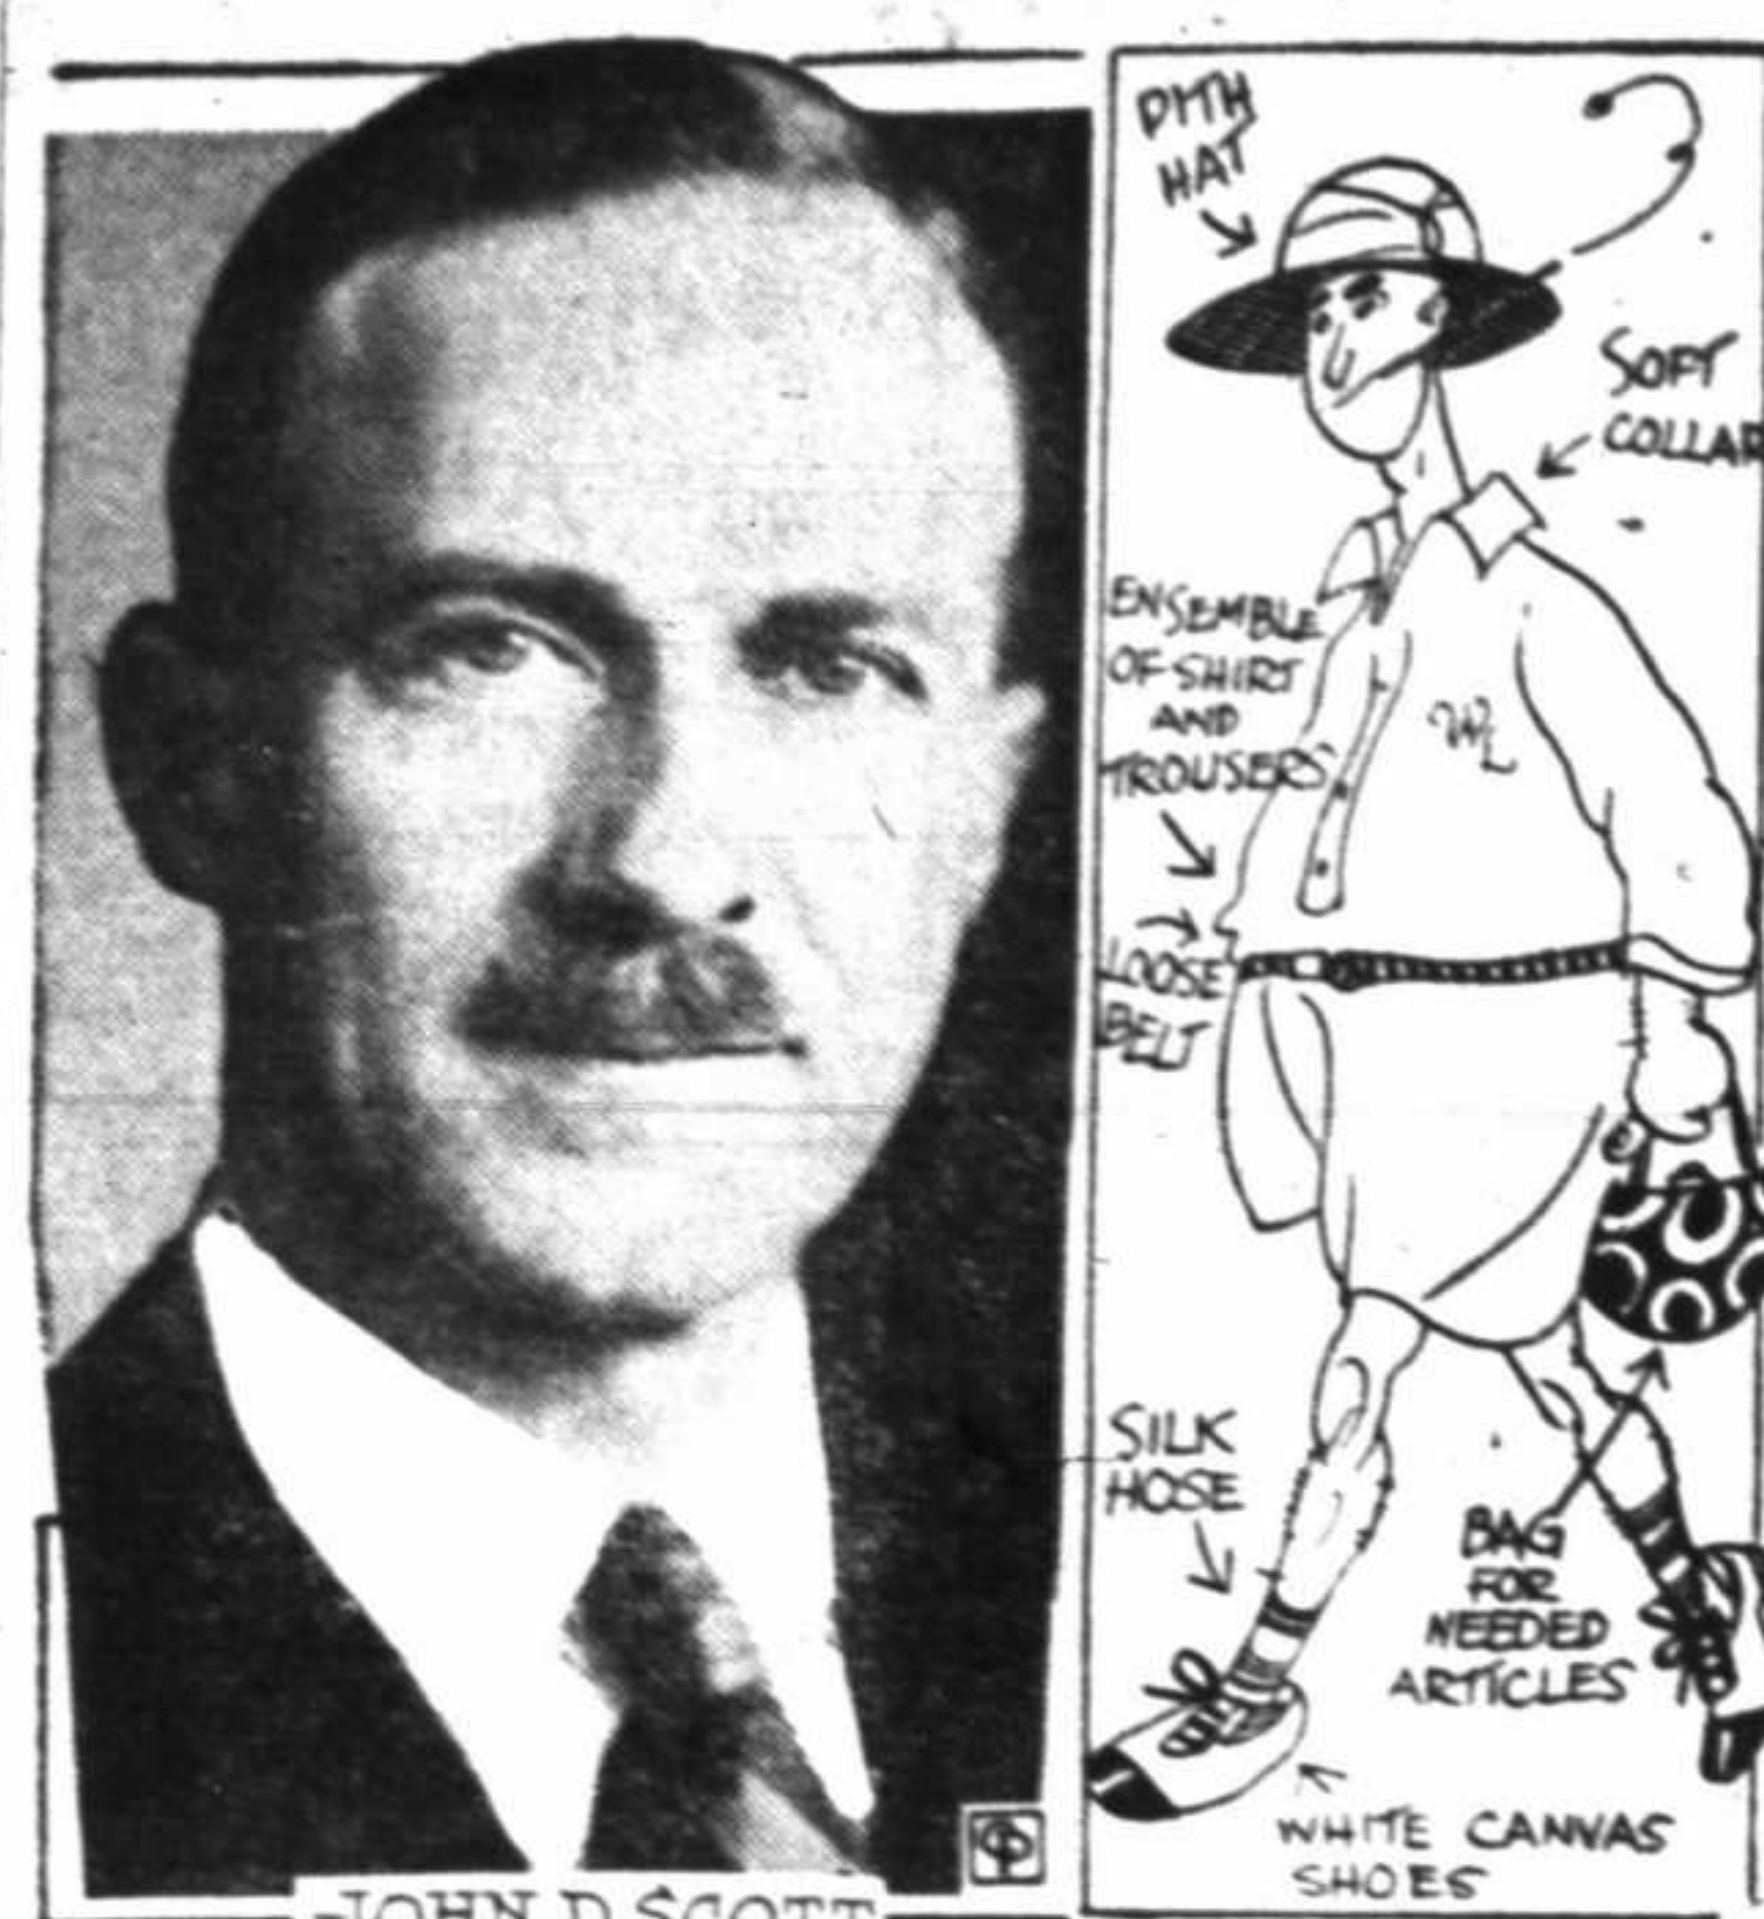

Tropical Ideas
"In the interests of health, simplified clothing is vitally necessary," declared John D. Scott, national president of Delta Upsilon, and an enthusiastic backer of the crusade for less and simpler sartorial display. "Not only would we feel better, but lives would be saved. We can get many good ideas from the tropics."

"It has been suggested that the rank and file of Americans might adopt the attractive oriental pith helmet, closely woven of light straw and covered with white linen. It keeps away the sun's heat and at the same time gives to the head and scalp perfect circulation of air."

"We should abandon all stiff collars, lay off our coats and wear an ensemble of shirt and trousers loosely belted, of pongee or rajah silk of light weight and color."

"Pockets should be empty except for a handkerchief and money, and needed articles carried in a bag or brief case. White canvas shoes and silk hose complete a cool attire."

"Briefly, there should be about four pounds less clothing for men."

JOHN D. SCOTT

to carry around, and what there is should be immaculate."

Off with the chains, or rather harness, of convention. Back to the days of Father Adam.

And the D. U.'s intend to reverse with speed, which is not to be confused with whoopee.

Insist on Action
"We insist on action," said Rockwell P. Clancy, chairman of a special committee of the fraternity, appointed to look into the matter.

"Why should a man go on wearing more clothes in the heat of summer than a woman does in the dead of winter? There hasn't been an im-

"I am confident that men could do 25 percent more work in hot weather than they do if comfortably clothed. The other is the development of the inferior complex."

"Men want to be clothes-cool, but for fear of being ridiculed, they haven't the past dared to be so."

Large Membership

Delta Upsilon has 17,000 members in hundreds of chapters at colleges and universities throughout the United States. General Herbert Lord, director of the United States budget is a D. U. So are John F. Sloan, president of General Motors; Rufus C. Dawes, Chicago banker; Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, and scores of other prominent men.

Nobody has approached Ambassador Dawes on the subject of less and simpler clothes, but since athletic you-know-whats would be even less protection than knee-breeches, it is generally conceded that the idea is out as far as he is concerned.

Clothes don't make the man. And the D. U.'s intend to prove it.

Los Angeles—Airminded Champion!

California Metropolis Has 53 Airports, 26 Schools, 12 Factories, Survey Of City Shows

By NEA Service
LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 31.—

With climatical and geographical conditions favoring the development of aviation in southern California, Los Angeles is making a heavy bid for honors as the aviation center of the world.

Support of this statement is illustrated by a recent report of the Department of Commerce, which showed that 32 per cent of all the air activity in the country is registered in this part of California.

The initial appearance of the airplane more than a quarter century ago failed to indicate that it would, in a comparatively short time, become the backbone of another major industry. It was tolerated as a new idea but not until 1909 did any community attempt to put it on a commercial basis. In that year the first commercial exposition of aircraft opened here.

Has Many Airports

Since that first exposition 20 years ago the industry has advanced with rapid strides until now Los Angeles county boasts: Four airplan motor factories, 53 airports, 12 producing airplane factories, 3000 pilots who fly 1000 registered planes, two air mail terminals, four passenger transport companies which operate over 2000 regularly scheduled lines, 26 aviation schools training 2200 students.

Aircraft production here in 1928 amounted to $4,000,000 and it is estimated that the total this year

Regulations For Border Should Be Construed Loosely

(By Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, July 31.—Felipe Canales, acting Secretary of Interior, clarified the situation with regard to Americans residing in Mexico today with a statement to the Associated Press in which he said border regulations controlling such movements should be construed loosely.

He said the "regulation" which required those who earned their living by working in Mexico to reside in Mexico should be considered as a request rather than a demand, and hence any persons not wishing to comply with it would not have to do so.

The secretary explained it was Mexico's desire that persons working inside the Mexican border live in Mexico so that they would spend their money on the Mexican side and contribute to the prosperity of Mexican border towns. He declared, however, it was not the government's intention to create misunderstandings or ill feeling along the border.

FARMERS WARNED
Britisher Tells Texans Of Shortening Of Staple

COLLEGE STATION, July 31. (AP)—American cotton growers should be concerned seriously with the decrease in the length of staple of their product, John A. Todd, principal of the City School of Commerce, Liverpool, England, told the general session of the 20th annual Farmers' Short course here today.

Great Britain, he said, is encountering with growing success to develop long staple cotton in other parts of the world. Price fluctuation due to volume fluctuation of the American crop creates a "serious business difficulty," he explained, and to this is added the growing loss in length of staple.
