Attorney General to represent CED

Suit filed against newly formed CED

Twenty-five Mitchell County residents from the Westbrook area, represented by Graves, Dougherty, Hearon & Moody of Austin, filed suit against the Mitchell County Education District and its officers in the 32nd Judicial Court of Mitchell County on Thursday.

The plaintiffs filed a petition and application for a temporary restraining order seeking to restrain the Mitchell County Education District (CED) from taking any action to levy, assess or collect taxes.

In response to the notification of the suit and being served papers, the Mitchell CED called an emergency meeting Friday night.

Attorney Tom Rees appeared before the board at the request of board chairman Dwayne Harris to offer advice and counsel to the board.

Rees noted that he contacted the Attorney General's office Friday and was told that they would defend the CED in the proceedings.

"We're in a battle to see if the law is constitutional," Rees said.

The suit seeks to have the tax imposed by the County Education District Bill (Senate Bill 351) declared unconstitutional.

Rees noted that the lawsuit was seeking a temporary restraining order on the CED.

As of this time a temporary injunction or restraining order does not exist, Rees said.

Because an order does not exist, Rees told the board members that they should continue as directed by law and plan to move forward with the CED plan until such time as directed not to by a court order.

He recommended the board members authorize the paperwork to be sent to the Attorney General's office.

Due to the Attorney General defending the Mitchell CED the district will not have to spend money for legal representation.

Defendants in the suit are Mitchell County Education District, Board Chairman Dwayne Harris of Colorado City, Vice-Chairman Warren Zant of Westbrook, and Secretary Robert Dale Finley of Loraine.

In the petition, the plaintiffs state that the "Texas Constitution provides, 'No State ad valorem taxes shall be levied upon any property with the State' and that the County Education Districts have no discretion whether to impose the tax."

"The County Education Districts have no say in the tax rate," the petition notes.

The petition goes on further to See SUIT, page 4

CISD board approves collection

The board of trustees of the Colorado Independent School District approved the collection of County Education District (CED) taxes within their jurisdiction at Thursday night's called meeting.

School board members discussed the collection of Colorado City Independent School District (CISD) and options available for collecting Mitchell CED taxes.

A motion was then approved for Colorado ISD to collect the local taxes for both entities.

Board members then approved a motion to make a proposal to the Mitchell CED regarding Colorado ISD serving as administrator.

The CED administrator is in charge of preparing and posting notices of meetings, preparing the board agenda, keeping official minutes, preparing the budget, making reports to state agencies, pay bills, and distribute tax collections.

Grading system revamped

A new grade point distribution system for Colorado High School was adopted by school board trustees Thursday night.

Kitten Arthur presented the system to the school board and noted that this year's seniors will remain under the present method of grade point averaging.

This year's freshmen, sophomores and juniors will begin the new system.

The reorganized grade point system will divide classes into three divisions and abolish the current 9 point grade system used for computing class rank.

CED election absentee voting begins Monday

Absentee balloting for the August 10 election begins Monday, July 22, at the County Clerks office for both the State Constitutional Amendment election and the Special Election of the Mitchell County Education District (CED).

County Clerk Joan Beach noted that absentee voting will be conducted during the hours of 8 a.m. til 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. til 5 p.m. at her office in the Court House.

Voters will decide on two Constitutional Amendments in the State election: Propositions 1 and 2.

Proposition 1 is being voted on "to allow the voters of a CED to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads and to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property."

The vote on Proposition 2 would "provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students."

Voters have three propositions to consider on the CED ballot.

The three proposals include a 20 percent market value homestead exemption, a $10,000 homestead exemption for disabled and for those over 65, and taxation of all tangible personal property other than manufactured homes.

Area Independent School Districts approved the election called for by the newly created CED and entered into a contract to have the County conduct the election.

"The school system has a lot of potential," McSwain noted, but added that his predecessor left "big

"Night" Golf tourney slated for July 26th

The Second Annual 'Night' Golf Tournament sponsored by the American Cancer Society will be held Friday, July 26, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the Wolf Creek Golf Course in Colorado City.

Ray Mayo, president of the Mitchell Unit of the American Cancer Society, said this year's event promises to be another fun-filled evening for both participants and spectators.

The contest will be conducted as a four person scramble with handicaps formatted to form an ABCD team.

The teams will tee-off to begin the first nine holes of the tournament at 5:30 p.m.

A rib-eye steak dinner will be waiting for the teams as they make the turn to complete the first nine holes of the eighteen hole tournament.

Participants in the golf tournament will eat at no additional charge. Others may eat for only $12.50 each. Tickets are available from American Cancer Society board members as well as from various businesses.

"We're still hearing comments about last year's delicious meal, and we're hoping for a repeat this year," said Mayo. "In addition to the tender steaks from Cox Quality Meats, the dinner will feature homemade rolls from B&B One Stop, green beans prepared by Alicen Smith at Fort Wood Cafe, baked potatoes from Mac-Michael's Restaurant as well as famous Turner cantaloupes grown right here in Mitchell County. Homemade pies will top off the dinner."

"The response by these generous business people has been wonderful and will ensure a successful event," said Mayo. "In addition, many other local merchants have been generous in donating items to be given away during the golf tournament and during the dinner."

After the completion of dinner and the drawings to be held in conjunction with the meal, golfers will return to the tee boxes.

The back nine is expected to begin at 9:30 p.m. as the sun goes down.

Besides the drawing to be held at the dinner, a number of prizes await to be awarded to contestants of the tournament.

Prizes will be awarded to the first and second place teams, and longest drive, closest to pin, straightest drive and first eagle on designated holes during the tournament.

"Last year's event raised several thousand dollars for the American Cancer Society to help in our battle against cancer," said Mayo. "We hope to surpass that amount this year."

"Of course, this golf tournament would not be possible without the generosity of Clay and Gwen Feagan at Wolf Creek Golf Course which is donated free of charge to the Cancer Society for this event," Mayo said.

The $40 per person entry fee includes dinner and one night golf ball.

Under the proposed plan, each school district in the Mitchell CED would collect the school and CED taxes within their respective jurisdictions.

Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook would each collect their own school taxes as well as the CED taxes for their district.

The CED taxes would then be deposited into the CED depository bank and a deposit copy sent to the administrator.

Board members were told that Colorado ISD is qualified to serve as the administrator of the CED with both a certified tax collector and tax assessor collector already on the staff.

Colorado ISD also has a IBM System 36 computer on-line which could be used to maintain financial records for the CED.

The proposal will be made to the Mitchell CED at their next meeting, scheduled for August 5.

Beating the heat

COLLEGE STATION--If you're looking for ways to keep cooler in the Texas summer heat, a clothing specialist suggests taking a look at your wardrobe.

The type of clothing you wear can make a big difference in how comfortable you are indoors and outdoors, said Dr. Ann V. Beard with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Color, design, fiber, finishes and the fit of a garment are factors that affect clothing's ability to keep you cool," Beard said. "Choosing clothes that allow your body heat to escape, and those that reflect rather than absorb radiation in direct sunlight will make you more comfortable."

Clothes can absorb moisture through evaporation -- the primary means of body heat loss -- to keep you cool. However, if moisture stays on the surface of the fabric, you will feel hot and sticky, Beard said.

When selecting outfits to wear on hot summer days, keep these tips in mind:

*Absorbent fibers such as cotton, linen, silk, rayon and wool are good choices, although wool is seldom worn during summer months in Texas.

*Soil-release finishes increase absorbency while stain-resistant and wrinkle-resistant finishes decrease absorbency.

*Open-weave and open-knit fabrics allow for ventilation unless they are so open that they require additional layers of inner garments. Lightweight fabrics are more comfortable than heavy or bulky ones.

*Smooth-textured fabrics are cooler than rough ones. And fabrics that do not cling to the body are more comfortable because they allow air to circulate.

*White and light colors reflect the sun's rays, so wearing these colors makes you cooler. Dark colors absorb heat and will be warmer.

*Loose-fitting clothing is cooler because it allows for air circulation and the evaporation of body moisture. Look for garments with open or large necks and armholes. Wear full skirts or pants with straight rather than fitted legs. Wear shirts and blouses outside skirts and pants for maximum comfort. Avoid anything that fits tightly. One layer is cooler than several.

*Inner garments, accessories and cleanliness of clothing affect heat retention, too. Wear absorbent inner garments and be sure to keep all clothing clean. Choose loose, lightweight accessories that do not restrict air flow.

"By making the right clothing choices," Beard says, "you'll be a step ahead in beating the Texas heat this summer."

state that "the tax is in violation of...the Constitution."

The document states that the Legislature may authorize a "school district to impose and ad valorem tax upon itself, but...may not impose."

"No such tax is valid unless "a majority of the qualified property taxpayers voters of the district voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax."

It is noted in the petition that "no election has been held and none is scheduled."

Also noted is that "the Constitution provides that two or more whole school districts may be consolidated, and the resulting district may continue to tax at the rate previously voted in the district which had the greatest scholastic population before the consolidation."

The petition also notes that the "tax rate required to satisfy the mandates of the Bill when fully implemented is likely to be higher than the tax rate previously charged by Colorado City Independent School District, which is the school district within the County Education District with the greatest scholastic population."

Exchange student expresses gratitude to Rotary Club

Rotary Exchange Student Karin Larsen spoke to members and guests at a meeting of the Rotary Club on Wednesday, expressing her gratitude for the sponsorship which allowed her to come to Colorado City.

Larsen will be leaving on Monday to return to her home in Boreing, Denmark.

"I am very glad I was able to come [to Colorado City]," Larsen said. "I had a wonderful year."

She told Rotarians about experiences she had the past year in America and about her host families from Colorado City.

Robert and Lanette Ramage and Don and Leada Wood hosted Larsen in their homes this past year.

Larsen also mentioned some of differences from her native Denmark such as switching class rooms at school, sports, and riding around the drag.

She found the Texas heat the most difficult thing to get used to.

During the past year she traveled to New Mexico, Colorado, Nevada and California as well as much of Texas.

Larsen, who graduated from the Denmark school system last year, will return to school four days after returning home.

She will begin a three-year course at a business school, which she explains as being similar to an American junior college.

Larsen is fluent in English, Danish, German and French which she hopes will help her land a job in the field of international corporate business after her schooling.

She likes American food, but has already asked her parents to have some Danish food ready for her when she gets home.

Larsen expects her first meal to consist of black bread and pork.

As she thanked the Rotary Club for their work, Larsen noted she would be jealous of the next exchange student that comes to Colorado City because she knows how well they will be treated.

She hopes to return in two years to visit her friends in Colorado City, during a summer break in schooling.

Karin Larsen is holding the proclamation which commissions her as an honorary Texan. The presentation was made by State Rep Rob Junell's aide Dorothy Shertleff at Wednesday's meeting of the Rotary Club. With her are members of her host families and friends. From top left: Lynn Hargrove, Jeremiah Wood, Robert Ramage, Leada and Don Wood. Bottom: Celeste Hargrove, Joanna Hargrove, Karin Larsen, Crystal Wood and Adam Wood.

Thursday- Sausage pizza, buttered corn, cut green beans, sliced bread, plain cake with chocolate icing, milk.

Friday- Beef and bean burrito, tater tots, seasoned spinach, fresh strawberries, milk.

CISD board hears committee reports on ISS, CTBS scores

Committee reports on in-school suspension (ISS), the technology program, CTBS scores and building updates were presented to trustees at the called meeting of the Colorado Independent School District on Thursday.

Mark Merrell, assistant principal at Colorado Middle School, updated board members on the ISS program.

He reported on the Zeros Aren't Permitted (ZAP) program initiated last year, noting that changes would be made.

Merrell also noted that an increase is expected this year in the ISS program due to policy changes instituted.

One of the policy changes is that a student will be sent to ISS after four unexcused tardies.

Janice Giddens updated trustees on the technology program which has been mandated for the school system.

She noted the need for computers and computer training by the school system.

Computers are needed as instructional tools to provide "instruction without replacing the role and expertise of the classroom teacher."

Sam Huffman presented CTBS scores to the trustees and noted that the numbers received by Colorado City school children were "encouraging."

He also noted that next year the CTBS test will be replaced by a standardized state-wide achievement test.

Trustees were also updated by principals Juan Espinoza of Kelley Elementary and Bobby Lemons of Hutchinson Elementary.

They updated trustees on the gifted/talented evaluations, the dyslexia program at their schools and the classroom requirements for the upcoming school year.

Lemons also reported on the success of the Hutchinson

Computer Lab held this summer for the first time.

Kitten Arthur presented the high school gifted/talented evaluation for new principal James McSwain.

In her report, she noted the successes and learning experiences with last years initial program and recommended building onto the existing structure.

It was noted that a report on Chapter One classes will be heard at a later meeting.

A wise man once said, "AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE"

Cotton Producers who follow that wisdom will be interested to know that:

One pair of TRICHOGRAMMA WASP can multiply to forty pair in 7 to 10 days after release in their field;

One pair of adult LACEWING FLIES can produce 400 to 600 aphid-lion larva in 4 to 21 days;

With a timely investment in BENEFICIAL INSECTS you can avoid the necessity of spending the money for a "POUND OF CURE" later.

Ben Franklin was the wise man who understood and espoused the main principal involved in BIOLOGICAL INSECT CONTROL. Throughout Mitchell County, Cotton Producers, who share Franklin's wisdom, are releasing BENEFICIAL INSECTS to optimize insect control in their fields. If Ben Franklin was producing cotton in Mitchell County today, he would act now and be reminding you to: "Close the barn door before the horse gets out!"

Tuition fees announced

ODESSA (July 18, 1991) -- Odessa College tuition for in-district students has been set at $12 per semester hour for the fall 1991 semester, a decrease from the $13.50 rate announced this month.

The OC Board of trustees July 2 adopted the $13.50 rate -- the minimum rate state legislators had been expected to adopt for community colleges. At the same time, trustees voted to drop the rate to $12 per semester hour for in-district students if legislators did not adopt the higher amount.

OC President Dr. Phil Speegel said Thursday that if a state-mandated minimum tuition increase is passed, it will not take effect until the 1992-93 school year.

For the 1991-92 fall semester, a student residing in Ector County will pay $156 to take 13 semester hours at OC. In-district tuition is "capped" at 13 semesters hours, meaning a student taking more than 13 semester hours still pays $156.

For Texas residents residing outside of Ector County, the per-semester-hour tuition rate is $17 or $221 for 13 hours. Tuition for out-of-district students also is capped at 13 hours.

Students from outside of Texas will pay a flat $250 a tuition, regardless of the number of hours taken.

All students also pay building use, activity and ID fees.

Early registration for fall is July 22-Aug. 8. Students may register from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays in the registrar's office on the second floor of the Student Union Building.

Classes begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28.

No Texan better ask, "What's a horny toad?", unless he wants to be laughed at.

Like mockingbirds, armadillos, and road runners, they have long been considered an ordinary part of Texas landscape.

As I think back, I had more experiences with horny toads than other 'Texas' animals.

I chased the toads across lots and fields with my friends as a kid.

We'd catch them and put them on our shirt, letting them hang as ornaments, until we could sneak up on unsuspecting-squeamish girls.

Of course we did the other things boys must do with horny toads, like rubbing their soft bellies to paralyze them and riling them enough to squirt blood from their eyes.

Maybe that had something to do with the fact that Mom never let me keep horny toads in the house. I thought she was extremely unfair.

I envied my best-friend down the street, who was allowed to keep them in old cardboard shoe boxes overnight.

I had to start each new day chasing down a fresh batch of horny toads. But I knew their hang-outs so it was easy to do.

Experts report that you're like me and aren't seeing as many horny toads as you used to.

The Phrynosoma cornutum, as the horny toad is known to scientists, is facing some of the roughest obstacles in its estimated 4 million year existence and is listed by the state as a 'threatened species.'

The biggest enemy of horny toads is fire ants, for a number of reasons.

Fire ants are wiping out the red harvester ants that are a horny toad's food supply, fire ants kill horny toads, and many horny toads have died from the poison used to kill fire ants.

Being listed as a 'threatened species' with the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife means that it is against the law to kill one or to capture one and take it out of the wild.

So in case you see the horned lizard, the law states you should leave it alone.

But with the battle the horny toad faces, you'll probably be seeing less and less of them.

It's sad to think about the four-legged creatures becoming extinct. They serve as part of almost every Texan's youth and I can't imagine the experiences of growing up in Texas ever being quite the same without them.

One of these days a true-Texan may even ask what a horny toad is without anyone laughing at the naive question.

I hope I don't find out.

Heat-related illnesses pose deadly threat

An early heat wave, combined with high humidity, could lead to the deadly threat of heat-related illness for many Texans.

Health officials warn that heat stress, or hyperthermia, contributed to 1,700 deaths in the U.S. during the humid summer of 1980. The victims of heat stress are usually the elderly, the very young, the poor, or people weakened by illnesses such as heart disease or alcoholism.

Dr. Jim Cheek, of the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Disease Control and Epidemiology, said, "The first few days of a heat wave with high humidity are particularly dangerous." He explained that generally four to seven days are needed for people to acclimate to elevated temperatures. Dr. Cheek noted that most cases of serious heat-related illness occur early in the summer.

Heat-related illness includes a broad spectrum ranging from simple heat cramps to life-threatening heat stroke. Although many persons with heat stroke have some form of debilitating disease, healthy young persons may develop heat stroke following strenuous physical exertion. The warning signs of impending heat stroke may be few, and loss of consciousness may be the first sign. Heat stroke is a medical emergency and care should be sought immediately.

Dr. Cheek stated that "people can prevent heat-related illness by drinking more fluids, preferably water, before exposure." In addition, he noted, "Particularly susceptible people such as the elderly and the very young should wear light, loose-fitting clothing, take frequent baths, avoid strenuous activity, and remain in a cool place."

Local weather forecasts can be a guide to the danger of heat-related illness. The "heat stress index," obtained from the National Weather Service reflects how hot the air feels to humans. A heat stress reading of 105 is considered very dangerous, yet can occur while temperatures are in the mid 80's. To calculate heat stress, find the index number in the column under current humidity (top line) that is directly to the right of the thermometer reading (left column).

Girls All-Star teams play hard at tourney

Colorado City's Division I, II, and III all-star teams have been hard at play in the UGSA tournament in San Angelo.

Divisions I and III began the tournament with victories as they defeated their opponents, Breckenridge and Brownfield, in their first games on Wednesday night. A disappointed Division II team lost to the so far undefeated Lovington girls.

Play resumed Thursday leaving Divisions II and III with both a win and a loss on their record while Division I added two losses to theirs. Division II defeated Kermit, but lost to Brownfield. They also played Coahoma but we are uncertain of the results of that game. Division III edged past Coahoma before they were defeated by a tremendous Lovington team. The Division I team suffered losses to both Kermit and Coahoma.

Once again the girls hit the field Friday morning leaving Colorado City with victories for both Divisions I and II. Division I defeated Jal while Division II flew past Breckenridge.

All teams still have several games to go in this round-robin tournament to determine the best girls fast-pitch softball team. Division I must face Brownfield, Holly, Wink, and Lovington. Jal, Holly, and Wink are the teams Division II must defeat, and Division III has not yet faced the Breckenridge, Jal, and Kermit teams. Hopefully all three Colorado City teams will make it to the championship games on Saturday.

County Agriculture Notes

By BRYAN LIMMER, County Extension Agent-Ag

The table below shows the lethal level of several common pesticides (insecticides, fungicides and herbicides) and some common household chemicals including medicinal drugs. Toxicities are expressed as acute oral LD50's—usually defined as the lethal dose (in grams) required to kill 50% of a population of rats. The LD50's in this table represent the approximate grams required to kill an average 150 pound person. LD50's express the direct toxicity of a chemical, but they do not necessarily reveal anything about less descript side effects that any chemical might cause over a longer period of time.

These figures are given to help put some of these pesticides into perspective with other chemicals that we use on a daily basis. They are certainly not meant to be an endorsement for the careless use of any pesticide.
