Tuition Tax Credit...

Reagan Unveils New Program

CHICAGO (AP) — President Reagan, declaring that "working Americans are overtaxed and underappreciated," unveiled a program today that would let most parents claim tax credits to help send their children to private schools.

The only ones left out would be those making more than $75,000 a year.

Taking a step administration officials acknowledged was intended to boost Reagan's standing with lower- and middle-income parents who send their children to parochial schools, the president said:

"I have come to propose a tuition tax credit for parents who bear the double burden of public and private school costs."

Reagan flew to Chicago this morning to disclose the plan in a speech to the National Catholic Educational Association, which represents 10,000 Roman Catholic schools.

His timing coincides with the deadline for Americans to file their federal income tax returns.

Reagan released the text of his plan in Washington before his departure for Chicago. It would let parents claim federal income tax credits of up to 50 percent of tuition paid for each child in private elementary or secondary school. There would be a ceiling of $100 in 1983, $300 in 1984 and $500 in 1985.

The full credit would be available for families with incomes up to $50,000. A partial credit would be available for families with incomes as high as $75,000.

One official, requesting anonymity, said the program, which will be sent to Congress later this spring, would be a help to lower income families struggling to send children to private schools.

"The one area the administration needs help with is the blue-collar voters, the Irish, Italian, and Polish Catholics in Detroit and Chicago," he said, adding that "they may not have a job, but they'll send their kids to Catholic schools."

"They're Democrats, but conservative Democrats, a constituency the president owned (in the 1980 election) and has to hold on to now," the official said. "That's who it's aimed at. It's good politics, very good politics."

But he said Senate Finance Committee Chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., and Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete V Domenici, R-N.M., might balk because the plan could increase the federal deficit.

And others in Congress and elsewhere have said that the program is being proposed too late to win passage this year.

Even before the president disclosed the plan, it drew criticism.

Paul B. Salmon, executive director of the American Association of School Administrators, said it "would undermine the public schools" of the nation, and stated: "Picking the pockets of our public schools would be counter-productive."

Willard McGuire, president of the 1.7 million-member National Education Association, said on CBS-TV's "Morning" show said his union would fight tuition tax credits for private schools in any form.

Don't Depend On Feds, Stenholm Tells Farmers

U. S. Congressman Charles Stenholm met with a group of area farmers early this morning and urged them to seek their own solutions for the current crisis in agriculture.

Stenholm told the invited group, representing farmers from Scurry, Mitchell, Borden, Howard and Fisher counties, that a return to federal price supports for cotton was politically out of the question and farmers must learn to help themselves.

He told the group that the only feasible way for them to combat the currently depressed farm prices was to band together and institute voluntary set asides and production controls.

According to Stenholm, cotton farmers must take a lesson from the dairy industry and organize themselves for the common good. The dairy farmers have come up with a plan involving voluntary production controls and the congressman is hopeful that they will be able to persuade Congress to grant them some degree of assured parity on domestic sales.

He says that it will be difficult for Texas cotton producers to get any help from the federal government due to the opposition of the cotton growers in the rest of the country. According to the congressman, cotton growers in the deep South are not backing efforts to control production.

Stenholm told the assembled farmers that they must form some sort of agricultural marketing forum and utilize the services of marketing and economic specialists in order to create proposals for solving their problems.

He also cautioned the

Ask Us

Q.—Why does Snyder have higher gasoline prices than area towns such as Lubbock, Abilene and Big Spring, and who controls it?

A.—This topic has prompted more questions than any other since Ask Us began, and we answered a similar one a few weeks ago. Since others came in, we consulted a representative of a distributor who serves some stations here as well as some other towns. We were told that the distributor, or wholesaler gets the same price in all towns. Gasoline is retailed in a free market, and dealers are free to set their own prices.

College Rodeo Opens Tonight

Collegiate cowboys and cowgirls will be in the spotlight in the Scurry County Coliseum tonight as Western Texas College opens its NIRA Rodeo.

The performance will begin at 8 p. m. Tickets are priced at $3 each for adults and $2 each for students, with box seats going for $5.

WTC's entries who will compete opening night were announced this morning by Bob Doty, rodeo coach at WTC and director of the rodeo.

Dave Appleton, star bareback competitor, is scheduled for action tonight in that event and in team roping. Appleton leads the region in the bareback event.

Other WTC riders scheduled for competition tonight include Kyle Rowland in calf roping and team roping, Todd Whatley in steer wrestling, Bradon Edwards in calf roping, Brad Fincher in bareback riding, Larry Williams in bull riding, Randel Redder in calf roping, Vannessa Haggard in barrel racing and Deborah Lewis in barrel racing and break-away roping.

Another highlight tonight will be the crowning of the rodeo queen.

Williams stands third in the region in bull riding, despite the fact that he missed one rodeo because of a broken collar bone he suffered at New Mexico State University.

Other evening performances are set for Friday and Saturday nights, both at 8 p. m., and matinees are set for 2 p. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Plans to close Ector High School in Odessa will have some side effects here. Ector is in Snyder's University Interscholastic League district, which means that schedules for athletic events already drawn up for the 1982-83 school year must be revised.

The Ector County Independent School District's plans to convert Ector into a junior high school stemmed from a federal court order to develop a desegregation plan. They decided that the best way to comply would be to send the high school students in Ector's zone to Permian and Odessa High.

Reports were already flying that Permian and Odessa High were anxious to lay claim to Ector's athletes. The plan is reported to enforce north to south boundaries for the high schools to create a pure east-west feeder system.

Meanwhile, Snyder Schools got more pleasant news on a "federal case" of its own. Some five years ago, the local district was accused of discriminating against women coaches in the area of salaries, duty assignments, etc. The U. S. Department of Education advised this week that the case had been closed, since the complainant had withdrawn the charges. But local school officials said it took much longer to get the word back than the feds allowed people here to provide information they demanded when the complaint was lodged.

But is was a happy ending, nevertheless.

Sometimes the more things change, the more they seem the same. This often applies to political offices. Platforms are developed, promises are made, and in many cases there is a sincere effort to follow through, only to learn that it is not so easy inside as it appeared from the outside.

For example, we came across these figures this week. Jimmy Carter's proposed federal budget for 1981 was $615 billion. Jimmy Carter's actual budget for 1981 was $660 billion. Jimmy Carter's proposed budget for 1982 was $739 billion.

Ronald Reagan's proposed budget for 1982 was $695 billion. Ronald Reagan's actual budget for 1982 is currently estimated at $740 billion.

What causes this? Automatic federal spending.

What Reagan backers fear most now is not that Reaganomics may not work, but that it may take so long to become apparent that voters will reject it before it has a chance. Then, they fear, nobody else will have the nerve to try to reverse the spiral of inflation, interest rates and federal waste. In other words, this is the big chance. If the benefits do not attain general visibility soon, a majority may grow weary and give up. At this point, some backers feel that if the Reagan people made one big tactical error, it was holding out hope for too much too soon.

Appraisal Unit Asked To Collect City Taxes

The City of Snyder has joined the agencies seeking tax collection service by the Scurry County Appraisal District.

The city council voted 3-2 in a special session Wednesday afternoon to request a collection contract with the appraisal district.

The city's action followed Snyder Public Schools, the largest taxing entity in the county, in a shift from the county tax office to the appraisal district for collection service. The appraisal district handles valuations for all taxable property in the county.

The county collected taxes for all entities the past year for a fee of .6 of one percent. Last February, county commissioners announced that the fee would be increased by 66.67 percent to one percent. Later, following complaints by the other entities and a formal request by the Ira Independent School District for the appraisal district to collect its taxes, the county re-instated its fee of .6 of one percent.

Councilmen Don Gressett and David Holt favored a continuation of the contract with the county. Gressett said he wanted to go with the lowest cost to the city. Based on the past year's collections, the city's fee with the county would be $3,840. The appraisal district's cost figure would be $3,166.22, provided all entities use its services. However, the county has indicated that it will collect its own taxes, regardless of what the other entities do, and without the county participating, the city's fee with the appraisal district

WTC Coed Dies In Road Mishap

Dana Mrazek, a 19-year-old Western Texas College freshman from Aspermont, was killed in a traffic crash Wednesday in Fisher County.

DPS Patrolman Martin Hernandez said Miss Mzarek lost control of her car when a tire blew out as she was passing another vehicle on U. S. Highway 180 about 22 miles east of Snyder. Her car crashed into a fence and some trees.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Geneva Chandler of Roby.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p. m. Friday at First Baptist Church in Aspermont. The Rev. Tommy Sparks, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church, will officiate, with the Rev. Elmer Ward of First United Methodist Church in Aspermont, officiating.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mrazek of Aspermont; a sister, Mrs. Frances Howle of Clyde; and two brothers, Tommy Joe Mrazek of Richmond and Bubba Mrazek of Aspermont.

Miss Mrazek was a 1981 graduate of Aspermont High School, where she was president of her senior class. She was active in Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America, and also participated in basketball, tennis, track and volleyball.

Miss Mzarek had transferred to WTC at mid term from Texas Tech University and was commuting to classes here.

Heroin Increases Noted

HOUSTON (AP) — Police here say they have seized more heroin this year than they confiscated in all of 1981, much of it 50 times more potent than that taken previously.

The increase in heroin use was noted during the first quarter of this year and follows a steady four-year decline.

Through the end of March, Houston police have made 27 heroin arrests and seized 1,152 grams of the drug, more than they confiscated in all of last year.

"In the last nine months to a year it's been steadily increasing," said Rico Garcia, a police narcotics officer here. "We're getting more and more calls from people wanting to report it because there's so much out there."

Secrecy Surrounds Session

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Federal prosecutors continued their silence about the investigation of Judge John Wood's murder — even to the point they will not reveal when the next grand jury session might take place.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Five Moslem fanatics were executed in succession at dawn today at a remote army base for the assassination of President Anwar Sadat, military legal officials reported.

Two army men died before a firing squad, and three civilians were hanged within hours after Sadat's successor, President Hosni Mubarak, rejected a plea for mercy, the officials said.

Deadline For Tax Filing Is Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scene will be commonplace tonight: A weary American rushes to the Post Office, drops an envelope into a collection box and breathes a sigh of relief. Once again, Mr. and Ms. Taxpayer will have settled accounts with Uncle Sam.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for almost all couples and individuals to file their federal income-tax returns. If the past is any guide, perhaps 10 million or more of them will wait until the last minute to complete the chore, creating monumental traffic jams around many metropolitan Post Offices.

As a rule, 20 million to 23 million returns are filed on April 13-15 each year. Although 2 million more returns, a total of 96 million, are expected this year, the number filed through April 9 was 62.8 million, or almost 1 million fewer than at the same time in 1981.

While tonight marks the close of the 1981 taxpaying year for most Americans, it will be May 5 before the average worker earns enough to pay federal, state and local taxes for 1982, according to the Tax Foundation.

The Washington-based research organization, says this year's "Tax Freedom Day" will come one day earlier than in 1981, due to the reduction in individuals' federal income taxes enacted last year.

That marks a reversal of a long-time trend that saw the date gradually become later each year. In 1930, the red-letter date was Feb. 14. It reached March 9 in 1940; April 4 in 1950; April 18 in 1960; April 28 in 1970 and May 4 in 1980.

"Tax Freedom Day" is the date on which the average worker would have earned enough to square things with the tax collector if every dollar earned since Jan. 1 had been earmarked for that purpose.

In any given year, seven of every nine taxpayers get a refund. On returns processed so far this year, refunds are averaging $704, compared with $636 during the same period last year.

Not all the letters mailed tonight to the Internal Revenue Service will be tax returns. Because they can't locate records and other necessary papers, many taxpayers will be unable to meet the filing deadline and will ask for an extension.

A 60-day extension is automatically given a taxpayer who files a Form 4868 requesting it. But that form must be postmarked before midnight, and the extension just gives a taxpayer more time to file the Form 1040 return — it does not extend the time for paying taxes.

This means a person requesting the 60-day extension must include with Form 4868 a check for the estimated amount of taxes owed.

Failure to file a tax return — or an extension request with a payment of estimated taxes owed — by midnight will subject a taxpayer to a civil penalty of 5 percent of taxes owed for each month that the return is late. This penalty may total up to 25 percent of taxes owed. There is a criminal penalty of up to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine for failure to file.

by erma bombeck

I got this straight from the Census Bureau: Marriage is coming back.

For those of you who follow trends, it marks the end of the most popular diets of the '70s: a divorce and 500 calories a day. It signals the return of the dinosaurs who roamed the earth in twos. It might possibly mark the end of Jill Clayburgh movies.

It all sounds like a scenario from "Little House on the Prairie." Family life is supposed to stabilize. Households will move out of the cities and back to the rural areas. People will know what they want before they get stuck with it. And all because the great chunk of population born during the baby boom (1946-1964) is getting too old and too tired to play the singles game.

Marriage has gone through a lot of rhetoric during the past decade. Some of the terminology I understood. Most of it, I didn't. It's a wonder any of us survived it. If marriages are to flourish again, they're just going to have to spell some things out.

Meaningful Conversation: What is it and is it fattening? No one has a clue what it means. We're going to have some guidelines on what qualifies as meaningful, and do we have to ruin a perfectly good meal with it?

Writing Your Own Marriage Contract: This has been too ambiguous. Can you get taken to court for nocturnal headaches? Lying? Wrapping your gum in the contract and pitching it?

New Sexual Freedom: How does this differ from the old sexual freedom? Why do I need a manual for it? Can you order new parts?

Shared Responsibility: Has a nice ring to it, but who gets custody of the child with intestinal flu at 3 a.m. and how come you're going to be a father in three months and your stomach is still flat?

Non-Traditional Marriage: I know it has to do with acute boredom with monogamy, but the only couple I ever knew in a non-traditional marriage that worked were Buffy and Claude—and they were two pet rabbits.

Naturally, I'm delighted with the return of marriage. It'll do a lot for matched towel manufacturers and bridal paraphernalia. Maybe we'll even get a new vocabulary that we can all understand.

Since Mike Lawrence has already won two World's Championships and a total of nine American Team championships he can afford to show some of his occasional unfortunate results. We don't know if this hand ever took place. The bidding seems to have been contrived so as to get Mike to the final seven no-trump contract. Incidentally, North's four and five club bids were Gerber to ask for aces and kings.

Mike won the spade lead which left him two lines of play. One was an immediate finesse of the 10 of hearts — a 50 percent chance. The other would be to cash the second high spade, the top clubs and all the diamonds. If clubs broke he would be home. If not, the fourth diamond might squeeze someone. Mike figured all that was about a 48 percent chance.

Fifty percent is better than 48 percent. Mike led a heart to dummy's 10 at trick two. East took his jack and led a second spade. Mike never could get to cash his king-queen of hearts and was down three.

His partners wanted to know how he had gone down at the grand slam. At the other table, North had played against a diamond lead and made it.

Plan Bridal Showers To Suit Personalities

NEW YORK (AP) — For the estimated 278,000 couples who will wed this June, bridal showers can combine practicality with romanticism, says Katherine Orr, who deals with romance in books.

"The best part of my job is keeping up-to-date on romance," says Ms. Orr, consumer relations director for Harlequin Books, a publisher of romance fiction. "And one of the nicest new twists on an old tradition is the theme bridal shower.

"We've come a long way since the days of the kitchen shower, when the bride received pots, pans and measuring spoons. Now, showers can really reflect the interests of the couple being married," she adds, offering these tips:

—Make any shower more romantic by making it more personal. Keep in mind the personality and lifestyle of the bride and consider the groom, too, when choosing gifts.

—An old standby, the ordinary kitchen shower, can be enlivened with a "theme" — a couple interested in haute cuisine will appreciate a gourmet shower. Gifts could include appliances — pasta-maker, espresso machine, spice or coffee grinder — and gourmet or regional cookbooks.

A cordon-bleu course, a winetasting class at a local university, or a subscription to a gourmet magazine are also appropriate.

Luxurious treats such as caviar, truffles, exotic teas (try ginseng for the health-conscious), and hard-to-find spices will add zest and romance. Try serving a few gourmet delights at the party itself.

—Wine lovers? A shower with a bacchanalian theme would be a smash and provide spirits for many romantic anniversary celebrations to come.

Present the couple with their very own wine cellar by suggesting that some shower guests give bottles of wine or champagne from various countries or states. Other guests can provide gift items such as a wine rack, an engraved souvenir corkscrew, a wine cooler or holder, special glasses — even a wineskin for an intimate honeymoon picnic.

—An entertainment or hobby shower is a wonderful way to show you care. Music lovers will appreciate concert or opera tickets, as well as new releases by their favorite performers, or even a portable cassette player — with a second headset!

Art enthusiasts will enjoy tickets to a special exhibit at a local museum. Several guests can team up to give a romantic evening on the town by presenting the bride and groom with theater tickets and dinner for two at an elegant restaurant. (Arrangements are easy to make; just contact the restaurant's manager or use a credit card.)

Games and puzzles that two can play alone will enliven cozy nights at home; choose a handsome backgammon or chess set or one of the other traditionally popular games. (Giant jigsaw puzzles are recommended for fanatics only.)

A sporty twosome will welcome camping or athletic equipment — a double sleeping bag is a good choice. Special backpackers' dinners for two are available in the freeze-dried foods section at sporting goods stores.

His and hers warmup suits, shorts and sweatbands — accompanied by scented massage oils might be appropriate for dedicated joggers.

Black beauty

Black women confronted with ashes — dry, flaky skin of a grayish color — can easily remedy the condition with this formula. Make a paste with two tablespoons of finely-ground cornmeal and four tablespoons of buttermilk. Apply this to the skin with circular motion to loosen flakes. Remove with water. Then heat an ounce of olive oil and apply it to the face with a cotton ball. Remove any excess oil with a moist cotton ball and allow the rest to sink in and rejuvenate your complexion.

Raiders Make A Haul...

5th New Mexico Star In Row Signs At Tech

By The Associated Press

The Texas Tech Red Raiders signed their fifth straight New Mexico schoolboy Player of the Year Wednesday, landing Hobbs' Tony Benford on national signing day.

Benford is a 6-foot-3 guard, who averaged 27.5 points and 16.3 rebounds per game. He is a cousin of graduating guard Steve Smith.

"Tony is one of the finest players we have had," said Hobbs' Coach Ralph Tasker. "He is without a doubt an outstanding college prospect."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers also signed 7-1, 245-pound center Bob Evans of Temple, Calif., who will become the biggest player to ever wear a Red Raider basketball uniform.

Evans, who did not play organized basketball until two years ago, averaged nine points and six rebounds a game last year for Cypress College, the top-ranked California junior college last season.

Tech also signed Ray Irvin, a 6-10 center from Blue Springs, Mo., Kent Wojciechoski, a 6-11 center from Moorpark, Calif., and guard Tim Ford of Graford. The All-Stater Irvin averaged 21.5 points and 12 rebounds.

Myers said, "Ray has the size that can help us inside. He has good mobility and has an excellent chance of developing into a fine college basketball player."

Ford averaged 23 points and 12 rebounds per game and was named to the Texas Sportswriters Association All-State team. Wojciechoski averaged 17 points and 16 rebounds a game in his last schoolboy season.

Baylor Coach Jim Haller signed 6-5 guard Gary Heyland, of Texas Class 5A champion San Antonio Churchill.

John Graves, a 6-10 forward from Glendale Junior College in Phoenix, Arizona who averaged 19 points and 10 rebounds also joined the Bears.

Guard Karl Willock of Albuquerque, N.M. became new Texas Coach Bob Weltlich's first basketball recruit Wednesday. The 6-3 Willock averaged 19.1 points and 10.3 rebounds per game in leading El Dorado High to a 24-2 record.

David Seitz, a 6-8 forward from Shades Valley High School, Birmingham, Ala., also signed with Weltlich.

Seitz averaged 21.9 points and 9.1 rebounds per game.

Arkansas signed 6-2 Willie Cutts of Bryant, Ark., 6-4 Mike Ratliff of Brooklyn, N.Y., and 6-8 Darryl Bedford of Smyrna, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta.

Cutts, an all-state selection the past three years, averaged 21.4 points, six assists and five steals per game last season. He also was named to five high school all-America teams.

Ratliff averaged 22 points and 12 rebounds a game last season, while Bedford averaged 20.2 points and 14 rebounds and was named player of the year in the largest classification of Georgia high schools.

The Razorbacks also signed Keenan DeBose of Killeen, 6-5, who averaged 30 points per game, and Erick Poerschke, 6-7, Houston Memorial, who averaged 14 points and 9 rebounds per game.

Texas Christian signed 6-10 center Tony Papa from Angleton and 6-8 forward Matt Minnis from Houston Memorial.

Papa averaged 16 points and 9.3 rebounds a game last season, while Minnis averaged 12 points and eight rebounds.

"We're very pleased to have Tony," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth. "He's very mobile for his size and is going to become a good player for us. We think he's a player on the rise, in that he's really only played organized basketball for the past two years."

Oakland Raider Suit Venue Change Denied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While the antitrust trial in which the Oakland Raiders and Los Angeles Coliseum Commission have sued the National Football League goes on, the league's bid to have a change of venue for the trial has been turned down.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco ruled Wednesday that U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson did not commit an error in determining that an impartial jury had been impaneled in Los Angeles.

The league had sought to have the retrial moved from Los Angeles where a jury voted 8-2 in favor of the Coliseum and the Raiders last August. This time there is a jury of six with two alternates. It takes a unanimous vote to render a decision.

The Raiders and the Coliseum Commission sued the NFL over the league's refusal to allow the team to move south from Oakland.

Meanwhile, commission member William Robertson, testified Wednesday that his meetings in early 1979 with Al Davis, the Raiders' managing general partner, did not constitute negotiations.

Robertson, in charge of obtaining a replacement tenant for the Coliseum after the departure of the Los Angeles Rams for Anaheim before the 1980 season, said his meetings were "simply discussions."

Through questioning, NFL attorneys sought to prove there were secret negotiations and an attempt to gain immediate approval from the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and the City Council.

Robertson was testifying for the third day. In his testimony, he said he met with Davis about six times in 1979 but did not consider until December that Davis was serious in his proposals for a move.

Edwin Heafey Jr., attorney for the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, asked, "During 1979 did you ever inform the (Los Angeles) commission about your negotiations with Davis?"

"Yes, I did report to the Coliseum Commisssion," Robertson answered.

"You're telling this jury you were not negotiating with Al Davis in 1979?" Heafey asked.

"Not in the true sense of the word," Robertson replied. "No."

Robertson said he took no notes during meetings with Davis, nor did he keep a file of correspondence.

Asked by Heafey if, in a second meeting in February of 1979, Davis said he was "quite serious" about bringing his team to Los Angeles, Robertson said Davis may have used that phrase, "but I didn't accept it. I didn't share that optimism."

NFL attorneys submitted as evidence a deposition by Robertson saying that "since January of 1979, I have been engaged in extensive negotiations" with Davis.

Braves Claim 8th In A Row

by The Associated Press

The Atlanta Braves are off to their best start since they played in Boston, and pitcher Tommy Boggs says there has been a psychological change.

"Now, there's no doubt in our minds we know we can go out and win," Boggs said after the undefeated Braves won their eighth game.

Boggs started but did not figure in the decision as Atlanta completed a three-game sweep at Cincinnati Wednesday with a 5-2, 10-inning victory over the Reds.

The Braves are off to their best start since statisticians began to keep records of that sort in 1930, when they were the Boston Bees. Since Boggs joined the organization four years ago, the Braves have posted a 266-323 record.

"It's easy to handle something like this," Boggs said. "It's easier to handle than what we went through for the last four years."

Boggs was long gone before the action began in ernest Wednesday. Bruce Benedict's RBI double in the ninth inning knotted the score 2-2, and he walked with the bases loaded and two away in the 10th inning to force in the tie-breaking run. Rafael Ramirez doubled home two insurance runs.

"We proved right there that we could battle back," Benedict said. "We flat out took it from them. That's the sign of a good team."

In other National League games, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 5-4, the New York Mets clobbered Philadelphia 8-1, St. Louis shaded the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Diego nosed out San Francisco 3-2 and Houston nipped Los Angeles 2-1.

Cincinnati took a 1-0 lead in the second when Cesar Cedeno doubled, advanced to third on a single by Clint Hurdle and scored when Mike O'Berry grounded into a fielder's choice.

Atlanta tied it 1-1 in the third on a wild pitch by Reds starter Frank Pastore, and Cincinnati gave Pastore the lead again in the bottom of the inning when Dan Driessen doubled home a run.

Astros 2, Dodgers 1

Alan Ashby broke up a pitching duel between Don Sutton and Burt Hooton, slamming his second homer in two games and third of the season to break a seventh-inning tie.

Steve Garvey's single gave the Dodgers a run in the top of the first but Houston got in back in the bottom of the inning on José Cruz's single.

Scheduling Woes Arise With Closing Of Ector

District 2-AAAA coaches went to work yesterday and today hoping to solve some of the scheduling problems that have come about with Tuesday's announcement that Odessa Ector High School would be closed.

Odessa school officials announced Tuesday plans to turn the predominately black school into a junior high and divide its students between Odessa High and Permian high schools.

There was no official word on whether the action would force 2-AAAA athletic directors to rework schedules or simply to try and fill the now-open dates. However, the latter is expected in most sports since reshuffling of all district games could cause havoc all through the schedules.

Conference football coaches were apparently being forced to schedule non-district games with other 2-AAAA opponents, since the 1982 lineup has been set since the end of the '81 season. Snyder Coach George Byerly was out of town, but other coaches at the high school unofficially confirmed the Tigers would probably play Pecos in a non-district game to fill the void.

Almost all other coaches were searching for games to fill the sudden vacancies. In basketball, coaches Ken Housden and Larry Scott were hoping to find opponents.

"It's going to be hard to find anybody to play at this date," said Housden, who, like Scott, has had his 1982-83 schedule set since the end of the last season. "Hopefully we can find someone to fill in our two dates, but I'm afraid we might have to have those open."

"I think we'll probably be able to find someone," said Scott, who apparently thinks the reduced number of district teams will be beneficial in the future. "With seven teams (to play) instead of eight, we shouldn't have to start our district season quite so soon, and that will be helpful. But I'm not sure that it (the absence of Ector) will have any effect on that for next year."

Ector will continue to compete in all sports - track and baseball - through the remainder of the current school year.

Tigers Compete In 'Oil' Relays

ANDREWS -- Snyder's Tigers tune for next week's District 2-AAAA Track and Field Meet by competing in the Oil Patch Relays here Saturday.

"I think it will be a fun meet," said Snyder's Coach Robert Crawford, who said the running events will be all relays except the 110 meter hurdles.

Action is to start at 1 p.m. with the long jump, pole vault and shot, followed by the high jump at 1:30 and the discus at 2.

Running events start at 2:30 with the hurdles, and follow with the 400 meter relay, a 3200 meter relay, an 800 meter relay, an intermediate hurdle relay, a sprint medley (200, 200, 400, 800), a distance medley (800, 400, 1200, 1600), a weight man relay (4 x 100) and a 1600 relay.

LL Signups Set Today

Anyone who has not signed up for Little League, Farm League or the Nine-Year-Old League should do so today at the Farm League Field, it has been announced.

All Little Leaguers that played last year but have not signed up must do so.

Those needing to sign up should be at the field between 4:30 and 6.

Angels Get 2 Victories In 27 Innings Of Play

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

There's nothing like a little baseball. Only problem is, California and Seattle don't know the meaning of "little."

They played 13 innings Wednesday night. The last 10 were your run-of-the-mill extra-inning game. The first three were tacked on to the 17 innings they played Tuesday night.

That's more than three games' worth in two nights. For the Angels, at least, it was worth it. A pair of victories, 4-3 in the 20-inning affair, then 2-1.

In the rest of the American League it was Texas 4, New York 1; Toronto 5, Detroit 4; Chicago 5, Boston 4; Oakland 7, Minnesota 5 in 12 innings; Cleveland 6, Milwaukee 2, and Kansas City 3, Baltimore 2.

"I was just glad we could walk away with a tie after 17 innings Tuesday night," said Don Baylor, who had six hits in the two games. "We were down to our last out and managed to tie it."

In fact, the Mariners were down to their last out in the ninth inning of both games but managed to tie it each time. It was in the 15th inning, after Seattle had gone ahead, that the Angels knotted things 3-3 and prolonged the agony.

"Our hitting will come around," Baylor said. "Reggie and I feel the same way, we know we have to produce or we're not going to win."

Reggie — Jackson, of course — finally found a bit of ammo in his bat. After going 0-for-20, he singled in the third inning to drive in the Angels' first run in the regularly scheduled game.

"You know we're going to hit, so the club getting pitching like it has gives us a lift," said Jackson, now batting an anemic .161.

Bob Boone of the Angels got the winning hit that brought the 20-inning affair to a close. "No, I wan't tired," he said. "After it goes on, you start getting a little slap-happy. I was glad we could get the first one over in three innings, though."

Bobby Grich had the winning hit in the 10-inning game, a double in the bottom of the 10th after his wild throw on a potential game-ending double-play ball gave Seattle a run and forced extra innings.

Rangers 4, Yankees 1

Billy Sample didn't like the idea of being relegated to the bench when Lee Mazzilli arrived from the New York Mets. He wanted to be back in left field. Against the Yankees, he was. And he also was on the bases.

He was hit by a pitch once, walked once, and stole second and scored each time, on singles by Larry Parrish and Buddy Bell.

"I was glad to play, to get out on the field and work out my frustrations with physical activity," said Sample, who returned to the lineup when Mazzilli was sidelined with an injury.

Boy Found In Basement Of House

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Neighbors said they never saw children at Olgica Kocevski's house until the night it burned and firefighters who burst into the padlocked basement carried out an unconscious, frail 7-year-old boy.

Dejan Kocevski was in a coma today and Mrs. Kocevski, his mother, was held on $25,000 bond in the Cape Girardeau City Jail, charged with abandonment.

Police said Dejan wasn't enrolled in Cape Girardeau schools. Fire Chief Charles Mills said the boy apparently slept on a sofa in the basement, where firefighters found a plate with three cookies and a banana cake. A cupboard by the sofa contained his clothes, but no toys, Mills said.

The house had been dark for four days before it caught fire Tuesday night.

Neighbors told firefighters that the house had been empty because the couple who lived there was gone and there were no lights.

"We saw them out raking leaves and shoveling snow, but no children," said Maurine Brunkhorst, a neighbor. "We saw them come and go, barbeque out, and sit on their patio, but no children."

After firefighters went into the basement, "I wondered what they were carrying out," Mrs. Brunkhorst said. "When I saw it was a child, I got sick."

The boy had collapsed from the smoke but was resuscitated. He was in critical condition today at Southeast Missouri Hospital, police said.

Reporters who toured the house Wednesday found no evidence upstairs of the child or his toys, clothing or bed.

The landlord, Cecil Pletcher, said he rented the one-story home in late December to Akbar Esker, who had moved from Peoria, Ill. Mrs. Kocevski had been living with Esker, but Pletcher said he didn't know there was a child.

Police said the boy is the son of Mrs. Kocevski, a Yugoslavian native and naturalized citizen of Canada, and her estranged husband, Branko Kocevski.

Esker and Mrs. Kocevski were in Peoria at the time of the fire and returned to Cape Girardeau for questioning, said police Lt. Michael Seib.

"They aren't talking to us at all," Seib said.

A passing motorcyclist saw flames at the house about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday. He banged on the door, got no response, and called the fire department from a neighbor's house.

Firefighters kicked in a bolted basement door and found the boy, unconscious and barely breathing, at the foot of basement stairs. They carried him outside and kept him alive with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

On Cuban Adventurism...

Senate Defeats Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has narrowly defeated a resolution that would have reaffirmed a 20-year-old policy pledging the United States to prevent Cuban adventurism in the Western Hemisphere by military force if necessary.

But the prime mover of the resolution, Rep. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, said he will continue his fight in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — where opponents said he should have taken it in the first place.

After a three-hour debate, the Senate voted 41-39 Wednesday to table, and thus kill, Symms' resolution, which had been attached to a pending measure that would permit television and radio coverage of the chamber's floor action.

The measure echoes the words of a resolution that was approved by Congress and signed by President John F. Kennedy on Oct. 3, 1962 when Washington and Moscow were facing off over the presence of Soviet nuclear missiles in Cuba.

It says, in part, that "the United States is determined to prevent by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms, the Marxist-Leninist regime in Cuba from extending by force or threat of force its aggressive or subversive activities to any part of this hemisphere."

"If the threat was serious in 1962, it is even more serious in 1982" because the United States no longer holds the "clear nuclear superiority" it did two decades ago, Symms said. He added that the Soviets have violated their agreement to keep offensive weapons out of Cuba.

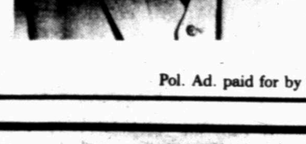

Defeat of his measure would send a signal to the Cubans and Soviets that this country lacked the will to enforce its policies, he said.

But Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said reaffirmation of the hard-line stand would play into the hands of communist propagandists and further alienate U.S. allies who have questioned Reagan administration policies in Latin America.

Delicate diplomatic negotiations with the Cubans could be jeopardized, Percy added, producing a letter from the State Department's congressional relations chief that said reaffirmation of the policy at this time would not be helpful to U.S. interests.

Symms brought his resolution directly to the Senate floor rather than through normal Foreign Relations Committee channels, Percy and Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., the panel's ranking Democrat, noted pointedly.

Percy said the matter will be considered during committee hearings on U.S. hemispheric policy later this month and may emerge as part of legislation that the panel will draft on May 4.

Family Spends Money To Track Down Dog

HOUSTON (AP) — Two boys accomplished what a hired helicopter could not, finding a lost cocker spaniel and returning him to his owners before he ate himself to death.

Chad Dishongh, 11, and his brother Steve, 14, earned a $1,000 reward when they took Raffles Blondcharley III the four blocks to his home with Larry and Arlene Lind.

The couple spent $1,500, including $354 for the helicopter search, to recover the 15-year-old cocker spaniel which has a kidney condition.

"We don't have children, and this dog is our child, definitely," said Mrs. Lind, 27.

Lind said he and his wife spared no effort to recover Raffles Blondecharley III because the dog could have died by breaking his diet of veterinarian-dispensed vegetable cakes.

"He has a kidney condition," he said of the dog, called Ralph by the family. "If he eats strange food, his chest fills up."

Mrs. Lind said the first night Ralph was back, he was so swollen from eating a bologna sandwich the well-intentioned boys fed him that he couldn't lie down.

In addition to the money for the reward and the helicopter, the Linds say they spent $40 for veterinarian bills and about $100 for posters appealing for help.

Looking at blood fats

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing for information on some tests I had done at the hospital. I am a 45-year-old male, 5-feet-7 and weigh 155 pounds. I run six to eight miles a week. Also I work out with weights three days a week. As you can see from the enclosed report my cholesterol is 208 and my triglycerides 154. Should these be lower? Do these values mean anything?

DEAR READER — There are important differences in the cholesterol levels measured by different laboratory methods. The research studies commonly quoted for risk of heart disease or strokes used a method which provides values 10 to 15 percent lower than the methods commonly employed in many hospitals and offices. In that case it is likely that your value, using the research technique (Abell-Kendall method), would have 10 to 15 percent less for cholesterol.

Even if your value was 208 using the research method it is still a good level. In general, the lower your cholesterol level is the less likely you are to have fatty-cholesterol deposits in your arteries. If your level stays this low it is unlikely that your level of cholesterol will be a significant factor in developing heart disease.

In recent years it has been learned that the amount of cholesterol in small fatty-cholesterol particles is beneficial while the cholesterol in larger particles is "bad." To be sure what your cholesterol level means it would be helpful to know what your HDL (good cholesterol) level is. If 20 to 25 percent or more of your total cholesterol is "good cholesterol" your risk is decreased.

Your triglyceride level is at the upper limits of what many physicians would consider normal. It is easily affected by what you ate the day before and if the fat you ate was rapidly absorbed. It is also affected by how much and how frequently you exercise. By itself it is not considered as important as your cholesterol level or your ratio of "good cholesterol" to total cholesterol.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 15-2, Understanding Your Cholesterol, Triglycerides and Other Blood Fats, which will help sort out saturated fats, unsaturated fats and the whole area for you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife is 68 years old and takes Elixer of Butasol from a refillable prescription. She has been taking this medicine for 10 to 12 years. Is this a dope or a narcotic? She is acting strangely. What effect does this have after prolonged use?

DEAR READER — I am sorry to say that it is a sedative or tranquilizer of the barbituate group. It is habit forming. It is not recommended for long-term use. Patients who use it for long periods of time can become dependent upon it.

In older people such drugs often cause excitement rather than sedating them. I do not know what you mean by your wife behaving strangely but it is possible the medicine could be a factor.

Now, don't have her just stop it. After taking such a medicine for that long in any quantity, stopping it suddenly is quite dangerous and can cause convulsions. So have a little talk with her doctor and see if there is a way she can be weaned and not transferred to another medicine with similar problems for long-term use.

Soviet Official Monitors News

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Sen. William L. Armstrong called a news briefing to discuss ways of keeping sensitive material from the Soviet Union, he had no idea he would end up in an impromptu debate with a Soviet embassy official there taking notes.

But that's what happened Wednesday in an episode that illustrates what U.S. officials have called a stepped-up effort by the Soviets and other communist countries to field intelligence operatives on Capitol Hill, generally in the guise of diplomats or journalists.

Unlike some Soviet bloc agents who slip quietly into committee hearings and try to remain inconspicuous, science attache Igor M. Makarov made a point of introducing himself at the briefing in Armstrong's office.

"You're welcome to sit in on this, although you may not like what you hear," Armstrong, R-Colo., told Makarov.

Makarov replied bluntly that attending the briefing was "one of the unpleasant duties I must handle here."

The embassy official sat stony-faced, taking notes as Armstrong called for a re-evaluation of U.S. policy on trade with the Soviet Union and other Soviet-bloc countries.

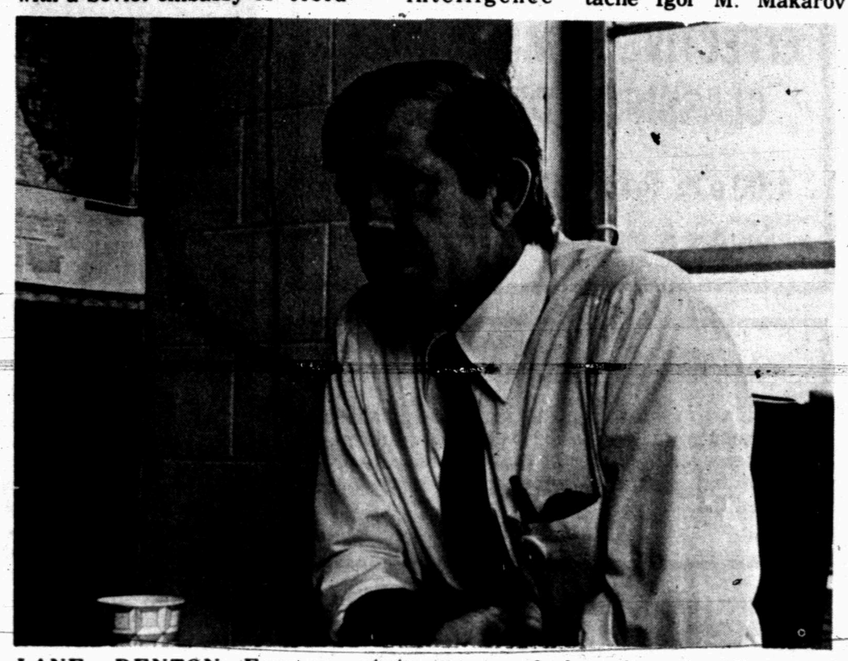

"Our present trade policy is seriously compromising U.S. security interests, imposing a needless defense budget burden on the United States, and is assisting the Soviet Union in perpetrating human rights violations on a perfectly stupendous scale," he said.

If it were not for "reckless trade policies" during the 1970s, Armstrong asserted, "We likely wouldn't need the MX missile or the B-1 bomber to counter Soviet weapons we helped the Russians build."

Afterward, Makarov strode up to Armstrong's desk, which was decked out with scale models of Soviet missiles and photographs of Red Army military vehicles that have components made at plants using Western technological help.

"Senator, I want to thank you for the opportunity to hear you," he told Armstrong. "Sometimes I wonder why here in this country you are trying to keep telling some lies all the time."

Makarov said he had been in Washington for practical way to prevent Soviet bloc agents from gathering publicly available information on Capitol Hill or elsewhere.

LANE DENTON—Former state representative and candidate for state treasurer, Lane Denton stopped off in Snyder Thursday morning for a brief visit with the local media. Denton is running against incumbent Warren G. Harding in the May 1 Democratic Primary. He served six years in the Texas House and now serves on the Agriculture Caucus of the Texas Democratic Party. Denton is campaigning on a promise to "restore the integrity and public trust of the state treasurer's office" he says has been destroyed by Harding. He vows to spread state deposits among many Texas banks at current market interest rates. Harding is currently under indictment by an Austin Grand Jury on allegations of using employees in his office for work in his campaign while they were on the state payroll. (SDN Staff Photo)

Dear Abby

Woman Wants More Than Meets Husband's Eye

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I'm 32, happily married to a wonderful man, but something has been troubling me ever since I was a young woman. I have no breasts. My husband says I am fine the way I am, but I'm not happy with myself.

I get very jealous every time I see my husband looking at girls who have what I don't have. When I see full-bosomed women on TV, in the movies or in magazines, I feel cheated and inadequate. It's depressing.

I don't even care to have sex with my husband anymore. He keeps telling me that breasts don't make that much difference to a man, but I think he just says that to make me feel better.

Please don't send me to a shrink to learn how to "accept" myself as I am. I never will. I'm not too crazy about the idea of getting an operation, but I will if I have to. I've tried all those creams and exercisers I've seen advertised, and they don't work for me.

I guess what I really want to know, Dear Abby, is just how important are breasts to a man? I'm sure you hear a lot of men expressing themselves on this subject.

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: How you feel about yourself is more important than how men feel about breasts. But for the record, an overwhelming number of men have written to say that breasts (or the absence of same) don't make one whit of difference to them, so if you're considering augmentation surgery, do it for yourself — not your husband.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter signed "Midnight Boxer," I knew I had to write. (He was the 20-year-old who woke up one morning with a black eye and a bruised jaw and didn't know how it happened.)

The same thing happened to me. I also "fought" in my sleep. Once I woke up with blood on my pillow and teeth so loose I couldn't eat solids for days. Another time I fell out of bed and broke my nose.

I was soon to learn than I was having grand mal seizures — symptoms of epilepsy. (I never had any seizures during the daytime.)

Fortunately, most seizures can be controlled by medication, and now a person can live a normal life with epilepsy. "Night Boxer" — or anyone else who "fights" in his sleep — should see a neurologist.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN THERE: Fortunately, epilepsy, a once feared and misunderstood condition, has come out of the closet in recent years. Anyone wanting more information about it should write to: The Epilepsy Foundation of America, 1828 L St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, as this is a non-profit organization.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the swinging bachelor signed "Harvey" who wanted to meet a nice woman he could date for "a few laughs" — but no commitments.

You told him to take a hyena to lunch.

Well, I'm an attractive 40-year-old divorcee who looks about 30. I am a very successful, professional real estate salesperson and appraiser. Most of the males I date either want to get married so I can support them, or start a relationship to pick my brain.

Frankly, it would be refreshing to go out with a man who wanted to enjoy my company, have a few laughs and no commitments.

I'd love to be the "hyena" he'd take to lunch.

NO COMMITMENTS IN PONTIAC, MICH.

City Request

would be $4,276.38.

The appraisal district compiled figures several weeks ago at the request of several entities. It listed total collection expenses at $68,000, which would be prorated among the entities based on their respective total collections.

Holt said he favored collections in an elective office. The appraisal district's governing board is elected by the boards of the entities rather than directly by the voters.

Gressett made a motion to contract with the county again, and Holt seconded it. The motion failed, 3-2, with Councilmen Ed Thrift, Gale McPherson and Don Osborn voting against it. Osborn then made a motion to request a contract with the appraisal district and the vote was reversed.

The appraisal district has Ira School's request for collection service on the agenda for a meeting tonight.

Two other entities---the Hermleigh Independent School District and the Scurry County Junior College District---have not made decisions yet on tax collection service.

The Peveto Bill, which set up the appraisal district system in the state, provides that a taxing entity may contract with the appraisal district or another entity to collect its taxes, or it may collect its own taxes.

Public schools, the City of Snyder and the Scurry County Junior College District all contracted with the county for collections the past year.

Discussion among governing bodies of those who have requested collection service by the appraisal district indicates that most feel that appraisals and collections should be handled in the same office.

In other business in the special session, the city council approved on first reading an ordinance changing the zone of Block 18 in the Gross Subdivision from a manufacturing to a muli-family residential zone. Request for the change was made by Lorenzo Alvarez and it had been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The bid of General Filter Co. was accepted for the purchase of new trickling filter equipment for the city's sewage disposal plant. Its quotation of $27,378 was the lowest of five received.

farmers that they must have at least 70 percent participation in any voluntary set aside program for it to be effective. With less participation, those who don't join in will be benefit from slightly higher prices and those who limit their production will be hurt.

In other agricultural matters, the congressman told the group that there is slim hope for an overhaul of the current crop insurance program in the near future but possibilities are good for changes sometime next year.

In conclusion, Stenholm told the farmers that although political action groups are sometimes unpopular, they do provide access to the legislature and some form of organization at the grass roots level will be necessary if the family farmers are to survive. He urged the group to work with and through their current organizations to reach some sort of broad based concensus on possible solutions to their problems.

Stenholm was also scheduled to appear before a joint meeting of Snyder service clubs at noon in the Coliseum.

Thefts Still Plague Local Policemen

Snyder police officers are investigating two thefts reported Wednesday.

Around 3:30 p.m. yesterday, Roy Bailey called police and reported the theft of an AM-FM stereo from his 13 year old son. The theft allegedly took place behind the Colonial Hill Baptist Church and the robber is said to have threatened the boy with a knife when he attempted to get his stero back.

Although no arrests have been made in the case, the suspect is reported to be a male around 19 or 20 years old.

Ann Wright called police around 5 p.m. and reported the theft of her purse from her locker at Snyder High School. This theft, a misdemeanor offense, was reported to have occurred between 2 and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Local officers also investigated one minor traffic accident around 7:50 a.m. Wednesday. Involved in the mishap were a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Timothy Mitchell of 2109 Payton and a concrete curb owned by the Texas Highway Department. Only minor damages were reported in the mishap in the 2000 block of 25th St.

Potatoes slice more easily when the knife has been dipped in boiling water first.
