

American Airmen In Russia 31 Killed In Oklahoma City Tornado

250 Injured In Two Blocks Of Capital Homes

Army, Red Cross Rush
Aid To Stricken Area;
Destruction Complete

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Red Cross and other relief agencies cared Saturday for 250 homeless victims of a tornado that killed 31 persons in a residential district here and roared off "whistling like 10,000 devils."

The Army sent soldiers from the air base who toiled through the night bringing dead and injured from the debris, then stayed on tirelessly through the day to help tend the survivors.

An area two blocks square in the southwest corner of the city was scoured bare of houses, and only a few trees, limbs and leaves wrenched away by the wind, still stood.

Survivors told of a blast of hot wind that preceded the blow, of a half-dressed man who had seen the funnel bearing down and ran through the streets sounding a police whistle to give the alarm.

But there were not enough storm cellars, and many of the dead and the 25 critically injured were caught in their automobiles as they tried to escape the storm's wrath.

What had been a residential district a few minutes before was a barren waste, swept clean in some instances even of the foundations on which the houses stood.

The dust that always falls immediately after such storms was broken by the cries of injured, soldiers, state police, city police, and the Red Cross were on the scene quickly and all through the night.

Volunteers and the disaster relief professionals poked side by side through the ruins of homes and buildings.

Set Up Relief
A school outside of the storm's path was turned into an emergency shelter and here the Red Cross set up cots and passed out food.

The Army put an emergency field dressing station on the scene.

In its vortex, the tornado sucked up whole houses with their furniture and scattered them no one knew where. Soldiers scouted the country for miles around but found little that could be salvaged.

Army Took Command
Col. Earl H. DeFord of Will Rogers Base took command of 400 soldiers who piled into 30 Army trucks, ambulances and civilian buses and rushed to the scene when advised of the news.

With them went wrecking trucks and other Army emergency equipment.

It was a hot, sultry night, a night for tornadoes, one of which flashed the disastrous wind.

More than an hour before it struck, another twister dropped down in the Lake Overholser area, several miles farther west, ripped up small oak trees but lifted before doing any great amount of damage.

This twister broke up a political meeting at a rural school, where some of the persons who had gathered there wrenched the lock from the door of the school storm cellar and found safety inside. The building was not damaged.

Thousands Reach Ireland In U. S. Greatest Convoy

WITH THE AEF IN NORTHERN IRELAND (AP)—Thousands of heavily armed United States troops, equipped with 28-ton tanks and other offensive weapons, moved into camps in Northern Ireland Saturday night from the "Greatest American Convoy" which ever crossed the Atlantic.

In grim evidence of Allied hopes of opening a second front against Germany this year, warships flying the U. S. ensign shepherded the convoy through Nazi submarine hunting grounds without incident, and this fourth announced AEF contingent swung family down the gangplanks as if impatient to get along with the business of fighting Germans.

From at least nine states they came—an indication in itself of the diversity and size of the newest force. Troops from Pennsylvania, California, Georgia, Illinois, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky shouted cheerily at uniformed women of the British Army Auxiliary Forces while military bands piped out "Deep In the Heart of Texas," "Jersey Bounce" and other tunes.

Texaco Deep Test In South Gains Hits Air Pocket

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor
Showing of air which partially unloaded the hole was encountered at 2,370 feet by The Texas Company No. 1 J. Bay Robertson, closely watched wildcat in Southern Gaines County.

No. 1 Robertson is drilling ahead past 2,700 feet in salt and anhydrite. Yates sand top is expected at approximately 2,850 feet. Operators plan to set 10 3/4-inch casing at 3,050 feet. The wildcat, scheduled to go to 8,000 feet for a test of deep horizons, is two and three-quarter miles west by northwest of the old Landreth Production Company No. 1 Kirk, lone discovery pumper of the Kirk area. However, the Texaco well is classed as being on the "Eubank" structure which takes its name from a structurally high well drilled six years ago. Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Eubank, nearly six miles to the northwest. No. 1 Eubank found the upper San Andres non-porous and was junked at around the 6,000-foot level when an unsurmountable fishing job developed. No. 1 Robertson is credited with high structural position on the anhydrite marker, topped at 1,780 feet, datum of plus 1,532.

Kilday Wins Court Bout With Germany

FORT WORTH (AP)—James E. Kilday carried his fight for exclusive listing on the ballot in the Democratic primary for the railroad commission place from which Jerry Sadler resigned to district court Saturday, obtaining an order restraining State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany from certifying names other than his.

The order was issued by District Judge A. J. Power in Fort Worth, and a hearing on issuance of a temporary injunction in the case will be held there at 8 p. m. Monday.

Kilday continued his court battle after the State Democratic Executive Committee in a recessed hearing at Corpus Christi Friday certified his name along with 10 others.

A few hours earlier, the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals at Dallas held that it was powerless to forbid the committee to certify names other than that of Kilday, and that it was the duty of the committee to certify Kilday's name as a candidate.

The Rubber Salvage Campaign Starts Monday

Rubber Salvage Will Keep West Texas Oil Wells Open

Oil Companies Join In Great Campaign To Save
All Rubber Scrap Here

Every filling station in Midland, Midland County and in all West Texas will accept any rubber scrap and will pay 1 cent per pound, if it is wanted. This program goes into full effect Monday and already is in effect in most filling stations, and at all bulk stations of the oil companies.

Every West Texan should feel this to be one way in which he can keep automobile rolling, can keep all industry keyed to the highest, and to avoid the possibility of gasoline rationing for the area. To bring in all scrap rubber is as much a patriotic duty and privilege as is any other contribution to the nation's welfare, and should be taken to heart seriously by every man, woman and child.

Executives of oil companies which operate in Texas met Saturday in Dallas, and instructed their dealers, both bulk and individual filling station operators, to begin at once the buying or acceptance of any and all scrap rubber. Action of the oil companies was unanimous and immediate. Action of the populace should be as unanimous, and as immediate.

President Roosevelt has delayed the rationing of gasoline in this area until it is seen what can be done about getting sufficient rubber. If the rubber can be had, there may be no rationing of gasoline. If rubber is not brought in, then tires will be so scarce that gasoline will be rationed, in order to conserve tires.

MacArthur Sends Word
Of Deep Appreciation

By The Associated Press
Across the length and breadth of the nation war-stirred Americans will tribute this weekend to the Flag for which they fight, and bound by ties of war, joined their sister United Nations in reaffirming their will to final victory.

In populous cities and in tiny villages bands played, troops marched and the "home front" paraded Saturday in honor of General Douglas MacArthur and Flag Day.

From his headquarters in Australia, the hero of the Philippines sent a message calling the designation of June 13 as "MacArthur Day" a rededication "to the immortal ideals of West Point: 'Duty, Honor, Country'."

Celebration of the anniversary of his entrance into West Point "fills me with humble thanksgiving," he said.

Emphasizing the comradeship of the 27 nations united against the Axis powers, their representatives will meet with President Roosevelt at the White House Sunday. A recording of a speech by the President at that time will be broadcast by all the networks and to the world by short wave at 4:55 p. m. (OWT).

President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines and Dr. Don Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican Ambassador, also will attend the celebration.

Bombing Of Black Sea Ports Is Revealed As Planes Reach Turkey

Berlin Boils Over; Incident May Bring Nazi Pressure Down On Turkey, To Force Passage
To Oil Fields; Hunt Down Japs In Aleutians

Associated Press War Editor.
America's growing air might was reported thrown into the battle of Russia even as other U. S. planes hunted through the North Pacific fog Saturday night for Japanese detachments which landed on the westernmost Aleutians in the war's first "invasion" of North America.

Four or possibly five multi-motored U. S. bombers with some wounded crewmen landed in Turkey, and the British agency Reuters said they had bombed Odessa and Nikolaev, Black Sea bases seized by the Germans from Russia last year.

If the U. S. squadron did attack the Germans, this is the first information of direct action against the prime Axis enemy by this country's air forces.

After two days of rumor, mostly from disturbed German sources, the Turks confirmed that the U. S. fliers had landed in their neutral country and were interned.

Fliers Interned
Exchange Telegraph Agency, also British, said 23 fliers were interned and that the flight "would seem to be the first indication that a powerful American bomber command exists in the Middle East."

Reuters said a German fighter plane pursued the great four-motored bombers into neutral territory and turned back before Turkish fire. All details were vague and veiled in official silence.

The anguished cries from Berlin, however, suggested the Nazis might be building up the incident as a cause celebre to overawe Turkey, which could provide a Nazi short cut to the desperately needed oil of Iran, Iraq and the Caucasus.

Turkey has been receiving leasehold aid—including planes—from the United States, and other equipment from the British. Thus the planes might conceivably fly again against the Germans.

If the United States indeed had intervened directly in the crucial battle of Russia, the action was most timely because of the growing violence of German attacks on the hard-pressed Black Sea base of Sevastopol and the Ukraine front below Khar'kov.

Thousands of miles to the east, U. S. Army and Navy fliers ceaselessly sought out and harassed Japanese invasion forces at Attu, an Aleutian Island off the string stretched from Alaska to within 700 miles of Japanese soil. Others hunted warships reported in Kiska.

Mexico Gives War Medals To Texans

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The War Department issued a statement Saturday saying the decision to confer decorations of military merit on William Prescott Allen, publisher of The Laredo (Texas) Times and on Phillip A. Kazen, district attorney at Laredo was in recognition of their "constant work in favor of Mexico and their decided friendship toward the Mexican Army."

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian soldiers fighting against German tanks and infantry on the Kharkov front repulsed the Nazi attacks and inflicted great losses on the invaders Saturday, the Soviet bureau of information announced early Sunday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Saturday created an "Office of War Information," headed by Elmer Davis, the writer and radio commentator, who was given authority to handle all the information functions of the government.

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Probably eight Japanese aircraft carriers were sunk or so badly damaged in the Midway and Coral Sea battles that they will be unfit for early action it was shown Saturday by communications and reports of battle participants.

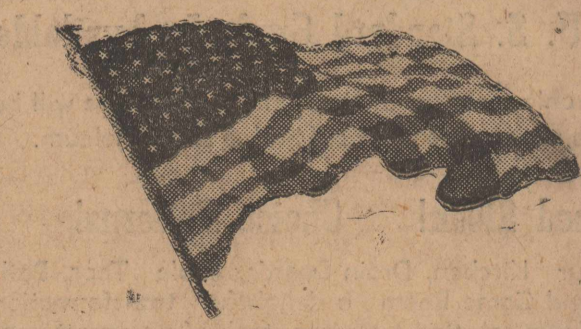

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A thorough cleanup of all possible centers of Axis espionage or other fifth column activity in the jungle country bordering Guatemala probably will result from a government order taking control of 30 German-owned coffee plantations in that region, informed sources said Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said Saturday that the House Naval Investigating Committee had saved the Treasury approximately $675,000,000 by promoting renegotiation of war contracts "wherein excessive profits have appeared."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Labor Board delivered an ultimatum Saturday to 125 strikers at the Arkwright Corporation, Fall River, Mass., textile concern, to return to work Monday or forfeit their jobs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new type torpedo bomber with a top speed of 270 miles an hour was disclosed Saturday by the Navy to have been "one of the surprises that met the Japanese at Midway Island." The new plane is designated officially as the TBF but is known as the Grumman "Avenger."

YOU CAN keep it flying!

And speaking of cost . . . it's going to take billions of dollars to keep our priceless American Flag flying. Our soldiers and sailors need ships, planes, and tanks in increasingly large numbers. We at home are asked to supply these ships, planes, and tanks by putting at least 10 percent of our income into War Bonds and Stamps every pay day.

Thus, while thousands of our boys are giving up their lives for their country, all we are asked to do is lend—not give—our Government the money it needs to finance the war.

This can't be called a sacrifice, for each time we invest $18.75 in a War Bond in 1942 we're insuring ourselves an income of $25 in 1952.

War Bonds and Stamps can be purchased easily at post offices, banks, and many stores throughout the city, or through a pay-roll savings plan at your office or factory.

So remember . . . when you pledge allegiance to your Flag today, pledge also to put at least 10 percent of your income into War Bonds for your own sake and your country's sake!

Our Rubber Situation

Four leading war agency officials have joined in a statement designed to clarify the facts about the severe rubber shortage.

Issued because many confusing and conflicting stories have been circulated about rubber, the statement points out that the shortage is extremely serious, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, and that no rubber of any kind can be spared for purposes not directly connected with the war effort.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board; Arthur B. Newhall, Rubber Coordinator; Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, and Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Price Administration and director of WPE Division of Civilian Supply, all joined in the statement.

There has been a great deal of confusion about the rubber situation, much of it caused by optimistic stories about the availability of synthetic rubber at an early date, or the large amount of scrap rubber which can be reprocessed.

But there is little real basis for such optimism. Our rubber shortage is one of the worst materials shortages we face. We can spare no rubber of any kind for non-essential uses. Statements to the contrary are misleading, and do the country a great disservice, for the facts as we see them are grim, and we need one hundred per cent cooperation in conservation measures by the general public and by industry.

Before Pearl Harbor, it appeared that our nation had an adequate supply of rubber in the light of the situation as it then existed. We had stockpiled substantial tonnage in anticipation of interruption in shipments from the Far East, and steps had already been taken to regulate civilian consumption.

Events following Pearl Harbor, however, created a wholly new series of problems. The President announced a new military program on January 6. This very greatly increased our military requirements for rubber. Then, our major sources of rubber supply were lost. In addition, our Allies were forced to look to the United States as a source of military rubber.

Thus, despite precautionary steps taken in 1941, it has become necessary to develop a rationing program for rubber which eliminates all but the most necessary uses.

War Production Board figures show three facts:

1. We cannot spare any rubber to make new tires for ordinary passenger cars; the tires we do have must be strictly rationed to essential uses.
2. All the synthetic rubber we get must go to the war effort.
3. The most optimistic estimates for this year and next indicate no rubber for anything but the most essential uses.

Actually, the rubber shortage is far worse than most people seem to realize; the enemy controls 90 per cent of the world's rubber-producing areas, and every ounce of our stockpile is needed desperately for the armed forces.

Worst of all, the optimistic stories may keep us from recognizing what we are up against until too late. Our biggest stockpile of rubber is on our cars; these tires must be preserved. Autos shelved for the duration for lack of tires put more burden on already overcrowded buses and trolleys.

Every citizen can and must adopt a five-point conservation program:

1. Stop driving your car except when necessary; make it last.
2. Drive under 40 miles an hour.
3. Shift tires from wheel to wheel, inflate them properly.
4. If you drive to work, drive your friends and neighbors; car-pooling is essential.
5. Remember that rubber is precious; save it; every car is now a vital part of the nation's transportation system.

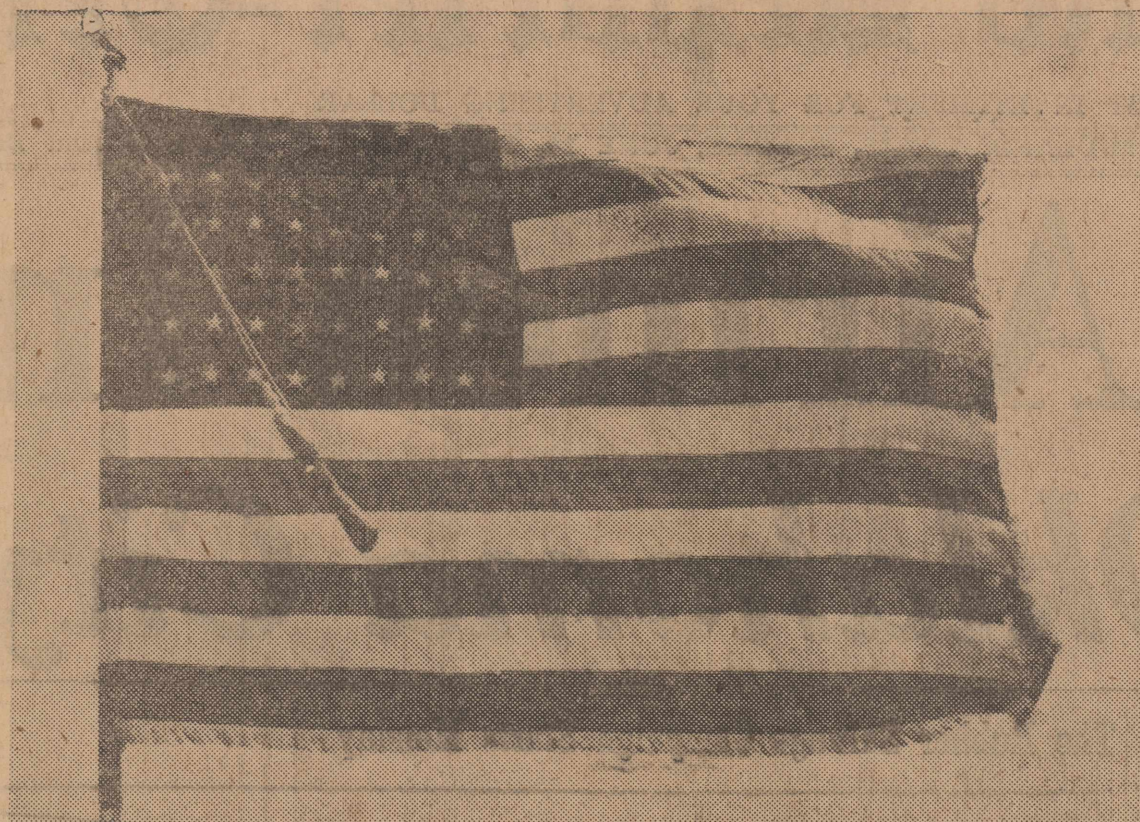

Needless driving is unpatriotic. Deliberate waste of rubber helps the enemy. We call on Americans to ration themselves strictly.

This is the situation which faces us: the amount of rubber which can be made available for civilian, industrial, and essential transportation purposes this year must be held down to not more than 150,000 tons, which is 79 per cent less than the 700,000 tons consumed for all civilian purposes in 1941. The actual current rate of use—10,000 tons a month—is 83 per cent less than the 1941 civilian consumption.

Reports say some drivers are not taking conservation measures seriously, in the belief that eventually their tires will be requisitioned.

But if we wear out the tires on the 30 million passenger cars, the truck, bus, and train transportation systems of the nation will be swamped. On the other hand, if it is possible to preserve cars in the hands of their owners, it will be an advantage to all transportation and to the war effort. If the time should come when the government had to call on civilians to sacrifice their tires, we know they would respond patriotically. In the meantime, no American should deliberately waste the mileage left in his tires.

Boston Takes Sixth In Row Defeating Tigers

BOSTON. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox won their sixth straight game Saturday by beating the Detroit Tigers 6 to 5 in the first game of a series. It was the fourth time in the streak that the Soxers have come through in the last inning to win a game. Catcher Bill Conroy's single brought Bobby Doerr home from second in the ninth to decide the contest.

Valdina Orphan Takes Constitution Handicap

BOSTON. (AP)—Valdina Farms' Valdina Orphan scored a five and three-quarters lengths victory Saturday in the $5,000 added Constitution Handicap at Suffolk Downs—a mile prep for the $25,000 added Yankee Classic on July 4.

In registering its third triumph in a row, Valdina Orphan covered the route in 1:36.4—only a fraction over the track record and had an easy time in outclassing four rivals.

Southern California Wins NCAA Track Tournament

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Southern California won its eighth straight N. C. A. A. Track Championship Saturday with 85 1/2 points.

The Trojans gained but one first, by Cliff Bourland in the 440, but scored in 10 of the 14 events. Ohio State was second with 44.

Sports Slants

By Shorty Shelburne

Sports Slants was out on a night mission Thursday night, and in the course of beating around town he ran into Pinkie Byers. Pinkie hails from Ballinger, Texas, where he played some mean football for the Bearcats up until last season.

Big, red-headed Pinkie is playing softball for one of the teams in the Midland Softball loop. He is employed at Midland Army Flying School. He was quite a big gun at Ballinger. I recall seeing his picture, taken when he was in football togs, posted in one of the leading cafes in his home town.

And I saw him play against Wink's Wildcats in a B-District clash on Odessa's Fly Field in 1940. Pinkie played a rough and tumble brand of football that day, and all reports show that he played that brand for three years in high school.

Hunting The Golden Eagle

The State Game Department gives us a nice hunting tale.

A game warden and a pilot have been shooting golden eagles from an airplane. Several hundred have been brought down.

It is unlawful to shoot any game bird from an airplane, but since the golden eagle is no longer protected it is not a game bird and hence this airplane hunting is legal. The warden kills the eagles with a shotgun loaded with BB shot. To date he has 400 flying hours to his credit on eagle hunts, with a record of one eagle per hour.

Superman In Person

Anyone who thinks Americans are getting too soft ought to have a chat with Fred McGlone. The Boston College distance runner played 36 holes of golf in the Hale America qualification round, knocked off an extra nine for practice, worked as a railroad brakeman from midnight to 8 a. m. and then ran the three-mile at the New England A. A. U. meet that afternoon. He had better not tell that story too loud or Uncle Sam may decide to melt him as scrap steel.

Of Diz Puts Fast One Over

He's still the same Ol' Diz. Radio broadcasts are forbidden to mention the weather, but leave it to the ingenuity of "Me" of the "Me and Paul" set of Deans. When a recent game was interrupted by a downpour, the irrepressible Dizzy orated:

"Folks, over the air I ain't allowed to tell you why the umpires stopped this here game, but if you-all will jus' go stick your heads out of the window, you'll find out. . . . Just leave it to Diz."

Dodgers Catch Fifth Postponement Of Week

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Postponement of the Brooklyn-Cincinnati baseball game here Saturday was the fifth straight for the Dodgers, who have been idle since last Sunday.

The National League leaders had an open date last Monday, ran into three straight postponements at St. Louis and a fourth at Cincinnati Friday night.

Cubs Score In Eighth For Win Over Braves

CHICAGO. (AP)—Bill Nicholson's triple in the eighth inning and a wild pitch by Tom Earley gave the Chicago Cubs a 1 to 0 victory over the Boston Braves Saturday. Rookie Bill Fleming pitched a one-hit shutout to administer the Braves their eleventh straight defeat.

Young Ray Kenny Wins Texas Golf Title Saturday

By Harold V. Ratliff

DALLAS. (AP)—Nerveless Ray Kenny, who doesn't believe there is any such thing as a favorite, won his first golf tournament Saturday and he couldn't have picked a better spot.

The Dallas schoolboy became the youngest champion in Texas amateur history—a 17-year-old conqueror of some of the stoutest competition the tournament ever has furnished in its more than three decades.

Kenny, an Irish lad as cool as a machine, beat the National Collegiate champion—20-year-old Earl Stewart of Dallas to sack up the title and he did it convincingly. The count was 6 to 5 with Stewart's game badly shattered at the finish.

Stewart had been the outstanding favorite to win the crown. Kenny, in fact, was figured playing on borrowed time every match he won. But the Highland Park high school junior turned in cool, calculating play featured by some of the finest shots in golf and he had the college champion groggy at the finish.

Beat At His Own Game

Manager Bert Neihoff of the Knoxville Smokies plays a little game of "start-and-send" when his pitchers blow up out on the mound. Instead of going out to the mound and asking how the pitcher feels, Bert starts out of the dugout and sends the pitcher to the showers. But Orin Collier now beats the boss at his own game. When he sees Neihoff start out, he chucks his glove and heads for the showers.

Random Sports Story

Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees, who has caught in 100 or more games for 13 straight seasons, may have trouble registering his 14th "century." Benched for the second time by a foot injury, Dickey must work in 70 of the remaining 103 games on the Yankee schedule to reach 100 for 1942. . . . The Yankees lost another catcher Thursday in a short game with the Tigers. Warren Rosar sprained an ankle while running to second base and had to be helped from the field.

Little-Mangrum Team Leading Inverness

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Lawson Little, former grand slam amateur champion, and partner Lloyd Mangrum won two matches Saturday in the Inverness Invitational four-ball golf classic, jumping far ahead of the field at the end of five of seven rounds in the race for the $7,650 best-ball pot of gold.

The leaders, with a plus 13 for the five rounds, handed Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper, MIami best-ball winners, a one-down defeat Saturday, and then came back to tour the front nine in 28 strokes, seven under par and one under the previous tournament record, for a five up decision over Jimmy Hines and Herman Barron.

Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, the Texas products who copped first prize a year ago, also won two matches to take over the runner-up spot with a "plus 7" count. The defending kings beat Hines and Barron, one up, and then copped a two-up decision over Horton Smith and Chick Harbert.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Floyd and daughters, Mary and Esther, left Saturday for a trip through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Arkansas. They will be away about two weeks. Accompanying them were Mrs. A. D. Smith and two daughters, Marga Ruth and Paula Jean.

The Ohio State team-of-four championship was won this year by Miss Mary Malchie and Ray Malchie of Detroit, brother and sister. C. W. Churchill of Detroit and S. Morgal of New York. This is the first time in the history of the event that a Clevelander was not on the winning team. In fact, the championship has always been won by an all-Cleveland team except in 1939, when the winning team included some out-of-town players.

Miss Malchie and her brother Ray gave a nice demonstration of partnership bidding in today's hand, and then Miss Malchie exhibited brilliant play. She was in on the opening lead and made her brilliant play by returning the king of clubs. The object of the high lead was to force South in, if possible, since if North got in, he would lead a trump, South won the club king, and not liking to lead trumps from his tenace, he exited with a low heart. Dummy won and Miss Malchie proceeded to ruff out all her losing clubs, South winning only his two high trumps and the club ace.

At the other table of the match, East also played four spades doubled. When he got in he led a low club. North won and led a trump and two rounds of trumps slaughtered the contract.

Mrs. S. O. Love and granddaughters, Alma Ruth Streeter and Anna Joyce Streeter, left Friday for an extended trip to North Texas to visit relatives.

Jessica Turpin and Jane and Jean McMillan have returned from a week's visit with Nona Trent on a ranch near Del Rio.

Kimona Sleeve

Let's have cool comfort in the dresses we wear every day! The kimona sleeve does the trick in this simple style — relieves the shoulders from tight sleeves and lets in the air. Neckline is very open, too, and you'll find the front button-opening a special comfort in getting the dress on and off during the sticky days. The decorative detail is the clever tulip shaped pocket to be outlined with contrasting braid.

Pattern No. 8201 is in sizes 12 to 20, 40, 42 and 44. Size 14 requires 4 yards 36-inch material, 10 yards bias fold to trim.

Drilling In China Plan Of US Oilmen

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Plans to draw oil for the armies of China from her own vast, unexploited plains were disclosed Saturday by Sam J. Rhoades, co-director of the oil and gas development division of China Defense Supplies, Inc., a lend-lease agency.

The Tulsa oil man flew here from Washington to discuss with officials of an oil field equipment company the manufacture of portable drilling rigs which could be taken into China by plane. He said he was promised that a rig a day could be turned out.

Already, Rhoades revealed, arrangements have been made to purchase and dismantle a number of refineries in this country and take them to China and roustabouts are being recruited from American oil fields for duty in China.

The most pressing problem facing

Rhoades and his co-director, Hassie L. Hunt, independent oil producer of Dallas, is that of transportation. "We must have planes," said Rhoades. "It means little to draw plans, loan money and talk war on this side of the Pacific. We must get into China."

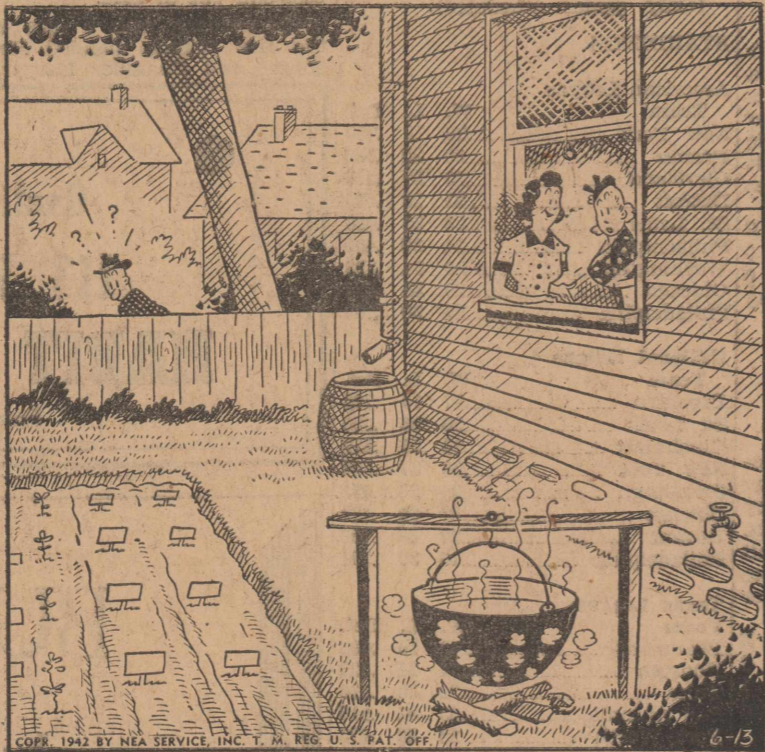

We know the oil is there and if we can get our drilling equipment and refineries into China we can be working in 30 days."

The Tulsa firm with which Rhoades is negotiating has been manufacturing portable rigs for Russia and many now are in operation. Rhoades said he was dealing with Moscow for a loan of some of them until his own equipment arrived.

He would not predict when his crews and equipment could start moving across the Pacific but declared that "it won't be long."

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Carter and family left Saturday for Stephenville and Tolar to visit relatives.

SERIAL STORY SPORTING BLOOD
BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

THE STORY: When Hunter
Dent, Strickland Ballard's farm manager, finds Ballard's dissipated son, Junior, lying unconscious beside a sack of money, he thinks he has a weapon against his rich but unscrupulous employer.
Hunter has but the elder Ballard that the latter will return the prize horse and new strain of corn which Ballard has stolen from him.

Junior's bank messenger has been shot and robbed of $17,000, the amount in the sack. Hunter puts the money in a safe, carries Junior, whom he thinks is drunk, to his own room. Next day he discovers that Junior has been wounded and is near death.

FATE OF THE MESSENGER
CHAPTER IV
HUNTER DENT could hear the butler telephoning in an agitated voice. Hunter listened again to Junior Ballard's heart. There was just a faint throb of life there yet. A great remorse came upon Hunter. When he brought the boy here last night, thinking he was only drunk, he should have made sure. Everything now was complicated. The bank messenger near death; this young dissipated boy dying; Hunter had the missing $17,000 in his safe. His mind was addled. He could hear Warwick's voice.

Red entered breathlessly. She stopped, met Hunter's eyes straight and hard. "Hunter! Is Junior in there?"
"Yes, but you'd better not—"

"There was a long moment between them. "Is—is something wrong?"
"Not serious, I hope. Warwick has called Dr. Ferguson and your dad—"

"Look here, Hunter Dent. Tell me the truth. I can take it. What has happened to my brother?"
She started past Hunter. He stopped her. She looked into his face. "Will you let me go ahead, Hunter?"

"All right," he said, dropping his hand from her arm. "But pull yourself together. He's had hurt.
I guess he's finished. He's lost his last bet, I have a hunch."

HUNTER opened the door. Red went quickly in. Hunter watched her closely. She stepped across the room, stopped with a small gasp. If he expected her to throw herself across the body of her brother and become melodramatic he was hated for disappointment. She stood there breathing fast and looking upon the motionless youth. Hunter moved up to Red's side, a half-pace behind, just in case she could not take it.

Then she turned. Her brown eyes were swimming. She went into his arms and put her face against him.

It seemed hardly more than a few moments before Strickland Ballard appeared. It was so early in the morning yet that the man had not had time to shave. Dr.
Ferguson was but a moment behind. Hunter remained by the bed while the doctor made his examination. Ballard's face was a study in worry, fear, and anger.

"How is he, Doctor?"
Dr. Ferguson said his instruments in his bag. "He's not gone
yet. I can't say how it will turn out. We've got to get him to the hospital for X-rays and then maybe we will know." He glanced at Warwick. "Did you call the ambulance?"

Hunter said, "We could use the big new farm truck. It is as comfortable as the ambulance and we'd save time."
As Hunter went out to get the truck Strickland Ballard followed him into the yard. He took his battered wrath out on Hunter.
"Whatever's been going on around here? How did this happen? I thought I left things here in your charge, sir."

Hunter was in a mood to hit Ballard where he lived—in his ego. "I am in charge of the animals, sir—and the crops. Including the famous Ballard Prolific strain. There was nothing said when I was employed here about being father to your children. I supposed you assumed that responsibility yourself." He strode off. In no time at all he came back in the powerful new truck.

They gently carried the unconscious boy out and bedded him in the truck. Hunter drove. Until he was almost in town he

Rubber--

there an old scrap of an inner tube, an old tire . . . or any article made of rubber, and which you can possibly get along without . . . at your home, your place of business? Then bring it in . . . it will come back to you a hundredfold by keeping traffic . . . and the oil . . . and the cattle business rolling.

Keep 'Em Rolling Meet
The Midland Keep 'Em Rolling Association will meet Monday night, in the County Courtroom, at 8 o'clock, to complete plans for handling all scrap rubber, and to name proper committees to cooperate in all respects in making the campaign an immediate success in this area, said Fred Wemple, president. Dealers Notified

All bulk dealers were notified in Midland Saturday afternoon, with all being instructed to lend every aid immediately to the drive. Percy Bridgewater of the Sinclair, Fred Wemple of Magnolia, Johnson Phillips of Humble, Harry and Dick Hinkle of Standard of Texas, Fred Girdley of Gulf, Anton Theis of Conoco, and Ralph Lowe of Texas Company, issued instructions to all dealers with their respective firms, as did Shell.

Bull Pen--

a cowboy . . . or a leasebroker . . . and that's durability . . . plus.

Anyway . . . we got a sneaking notion . . . Clarence likes that Bull Pen . . . and he did a good job of building it--it has withstood all that wear and tear . . . with not a rail down, Clarence . . . every day . . . himself . . . often there . . . knows everybody . . . adds his share . . . to the wild cow trail yarns . . . and to the oil yarns . . . at home on both sides of the corral.

There . . . some masters of the trail . . . Uncle John Gist . . . J. V. Stokes . . . Andy Fasken . . . Tom Nance . . . Bill Pyle . . . Leonard Proctor . . . Frank Cowden . . . B. H. Blake . . . Charley Allen . . . Foy Proctor . . . Big Boy Whatley . . . John Dublin . . . Elliott Cowden . . . George Ratliff . . . Walter Cowden . . . Earl Ray . . . Ray Holloway . . . Charley McClintic . . . Dun Reiger . . . Bum Cowden . . . Jess Miles . . . Geo. Glass . . . Dick Cowden . . . Hilary Bedford . . . old and young . . . rich and poor . . . all look alike . . . talk alike . . . all comen . . . in the Bull Pen. And . . . now there's a nice calf crop . . . a bunch of young bulls! . . . coming along . . . see them . . . listening in . . . around the edges . . . and we know that Bull Pen . . . will be a going strong . . . years from now . . . on the cattle side.

Some of these boys . . . fought the Indians . . . went over the old drive trails . . . harnessed the water . . . built the fences . . . held on to this country . . . in spite of hell and high winds. Some . . . sons . . . are taking over . . . having gone over the trails . . . with their dads . . . and they know what it takes . . . to raise fine cattle . . . how to pick a good horse . . . and break him. The cow business . . . it always was in good hands . . . and its gonna stay in good hands.

But . . . we said that Ferdinand . . . can take it . . . for the old cuss catches it . . . from front . . . rear . . . and both flanks.

And . . . over here . . . folks is where the real digging in is done. Here are the men who . . . have made a lot of millions . . . mostly for the other fellow . . . though not all . . . of course . . . the boys who eat . . . sleep . . . drink . . . and talk oil. Cap Lyman . . . Jack Bodkins . . . Fred Fuhrman . . . Harry Watson . . . Holton Black . . . Jimmy Greene . . . Buck York . . . Pete Droppelman . . . Ben Dausby . . . Claude Duffey . . . Ray Rhodes . . . L. G. Beyerly . . . O. C. Harper . . . Fred Hogan . . . Tom Sloan . . . Bill Simmons . . . George Abell . . . Ross Williams . . . and others . . . men who found . . . it . . . and sold oil to the world.

Cussing Ikes . . . or the majors . . . or the independents . . . or both . . . or neither . . . a happy bunch of dealers in futures . . . rearing to go . . . if there's a chance . . . almost no chance . . . for oil! And . . . they have done the job . . . for West Texas . . . plenty well.

And . . . old Ferdinand . . . that rascal . . . has horned-in . . . on both bunches! Heard him a-bawling . . . late the other night . . . asked him what the trouble was . . . "taint no trouble," he bellered . . . "just a laughing . . . another oil man look to wearing boots today . . . he's half a oil man . . . half a cowhand . . . now. Boy . . . this old Bull Pen . . . has done a mighty lot to get good fellers together . . . makes your pap sorta happy!" Yep, folks . . . Clarence has hisself a Bull Pen . . . what IS a Bull Pen!

More Than 220,000 18-20-Year Old Texans To Register

Plans are under way to register approximately 220,000 young Texans between the ages of 18 and 20, inclusive, on June 30, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, has announced. All men who were born on or after January 1, 1923, and on or before June 30, 1924, must register between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., on Tuesday, June 30, General Page warned, and they must be careful to give their correct addresses where official communications will reach them without delay.

A Marine's life is not an easy one—but if there's a lovely lass like Maureen O'Hara around it's much more fun. Zanuck for 20th Century-Fox, the inside, on-the-scene story also stars Randolph Scott.

MAFS--Prop Wash

The "Arsenal of the Offensive" turned out another group of its priceless weapons last week. Which means that wings were given to third class of Midland bombardiers in graduation ceremonies here last Thursday. Midland's Major, M. C. Ulmer, told the future Axis-blasters: "America places its utmost faith and confidence in you as protectors of her freedom and liberty." To which the men of MAFS add a salvo of cheers and heartfelt good wishes to the new AAF Lieutenants.

Squadron stags continued apace in the past seven days. Tables were groaning under food loads and bowls were overflowing at picnic grounds in Midland and Odessa as the soldiers celebrated.

487th School Squadron
The squadron softball team's winning streak of 16 consecutive victories was broken this week by a loss, 6 to 3, to the All-Stars, a combination of the best talent in the Midland League. The tide of wins carried the 487th's team to the top of both the MAFS League and the Midland town League, having conquered all comers with the able pitching of Corporal Wayne W. "Pete" Halford, who hasn't lost a game. Scores this week, 487th, 5, Safeway, 2; 487th, 5, Medical Detachment, 2; 487th, 3, All-Stars, 6.

Ten promotions announced. This week brought added chevrons to the following: to sergeancy, Corporals Arthur M. Councilman, Lem E. Dickey, Randolph B. Bass, Kenzie M. Turner, James H. O'Boyle; to corporals, Privates First Class Lawrence B. Cayton, Herman E. Boyd, Harry Fivehouse and Pvt. Philip A. Holland; to Private First Class, Pvt. James E. Kidd.

Signs of the times, Pvt. James Moody, the Memphis gas-pipe maestro, marching triumphantly through Midland and Odessa on successive afternoons. Moody has a knack for giving a personalized touch to advertising.

Tech. Sgt. Howard Berry has started a curio collection, a bull being the first item perhaps a souvenir of a night at the Carnival. The toy animal wears technical sergeant's stripes.

A new barber, Benny Bennett, is on duty in the squadron shop. He previously worked in the PX hair-cutting establishment. Pfc. Leo P. Christianson, a frugal New Englander, recalls the time when he could quench his thirst with a nickel soft drink. Now it costs him a quarter when the boys put the "bee" on him.

The Judge, sometimes known as Pfc. John Woods says it's all the bunk about his being an expert at bed-making. However, he has been observed to put his sleeping equipment together in "big-time" and during the past week his work along this line received a special citation.

Squadron members enjoying furloughs the past week included Sgts. Vernon L. Parsons, Sidney Boone, Jewell R. Germany, Corps. Lawrence A. Billman and Anthony C. Dooley, Pfc. Glen Smith, and Pvt. William Fitzpatrick.

Sgt. Charles O'Dell is back on the ground after a furlough spent in mile-high Denver and Pfc. Charles P. Campanella is back from a furlough to Boston, enjoyed except for a tooth. Those tough beans, no doubt.

Pvt. Marvin E. Lynch and Chris S. Freyer have left for Randolph Field for mechanics' training. On Wednesday, June 17, a squadron pool tournament gets under way in the recreation room. Pvt.

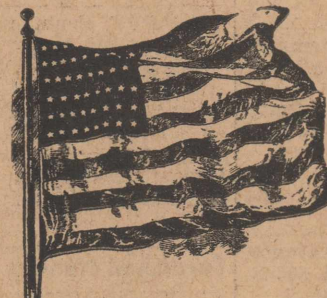

W. L. White Of Andrews Died Late Saturday

ANDREWS.—W. L. White, 70, long-time resident of Andrews, died here Saturday afternoon of a heart attack. He had served this county as a commissioner for several of his 17 years' residence. Survivors of White besides his widow are two sons, Clyde of Kermit and Jim of Colorado City. City by a coach from Ellis Funeral Home, Midland. A short service will be held at Colorado City preceding interment in the cemetery there. BRAZIL, PRODUCES SILK Brazil is the only American country which has produced silk commercially for a relatively long period.

On The 165th Anniversary Of Our Flag

We Are Thankful That OLD GLORY
STILL FLIES!

To remind us of the fight we must wage to keep a free America

We have seen the flag flying in front of the post office, watched our boys and girls pledge it's allegiance. We remember it on many a Fourth of July picnic in the long ago.

All of our peaceful yesterdays we have taken for granted. Today it is fiercely and proudly at war. We know now what we never knew in the days of our illusion, that the last great test had to come. Long ago it was written that those who would keep their freedom must ever stand ready to die for it. Such, sooner or later has been the destiny of every free people and it was too much to hope that with us it could be otherwise.

Once more we march with our brothers of Bunker Hill and Valley Forge, of Gettysburg and the Argonne. Once more the flag moves forward, hope of the world, light of the oppressed and downtrodden everywhere, a promise to our children the living, magic symbol of all that we once were, all that we still can hope to be.

Yes, we are thankful that Old Glory still flies and we are doubly thankful that destiny placed us under that flag.

Chaplain Cosmas Dahlbaiser read the service before the altar where massed ferns formed a background of greenery for baskets of white gladiolus and tall candelabra holding flame-tipped white candles. Private Gillette was at the chapel organ for the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organdy with sweetheart neckline, short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt made of rows of ruffled embroidered organdy banding. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a triple headress composed of a frill of the illusion, a frill of white grosgrain, and a banding of shattered white carnation petals.

She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of shattered white carnation petals surrounding a cluster of gardenias.

Her maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Virginia Crain of New Orleans, sister of the bridegroom. She was gowned in blue chiffon made with tightly-shirred basque and short sleeves. Wife Of One, Mother Of Another Army Man Really Tries To Do Her Part In War Work

Mrs. Joseph L. Doakes is just an average American mother.

She has a son in the Army, and one in the Navy. Her husband, Joe, is a veteran of the last war and she wouldn't complain if the Army agreed to let him be a veteran of this one.

Mrs. Doakes doesn't consider that she deserves and special praise for mothering two service men. She thinks fighting is their job, and she'd hate them to dodge it.

And that's why she is determined to do her part—however large or small the task—to help her sons and their country toward victory.

So, She Is Busy

Friday Mrs. Doakes read in the paper that all American housewives can help the war effort by turning in every scrap of old rubber they can find.

The United States will get no more new rubber until we chase the Japs back to Japan. What we've got on hand must go into tires, gun mounts, bulletproof gasoline tanks of our bombers and fighting planes. It must go on the wheels of jeeps and the treads of tanks. It must go into gas masks and raincoats, into life rafts and sailors' boots—into a thousand and one things our fighting men must have to win the war.

But old rubber can be reclaimed, the story said. The nation's rubber plants can reprocess 360,000 tons of it—if they can get it.

Mrs. Doakes saw a job for herself. She put on a big apron and tied up her hair and went to work. Gets Started At Once

For a start, she looked into the hall closet. Before she looked out again, Mrs. Doakes had unearthed three pairs of worn-out rubbers and two pairs of galoshes, an old raincoat that Joe had been treasuring for years past its usefulness.

Encouraged, Mrs. Doakes charged on the attic. With wifely instinct, she made for Joe's workbench under the window. There she retrieved an old pair of waders which he'd been talking about patching for more fishing seasons than she could remember. In the tool-chest she found several pairs of old rubber gloves left over from the boys' phase of developing their own snapshots. And behind an old trunk she spied a real find—a fifty-foot length of old garden hose, discarded for leaks. Flabby tennis balls, a rubber-tired velocipede and a little red coaster wagon finished out the attic's hoard.

Into the torn shower curtain went a retired rubber bath mat. From the pantry Mrs. Doakes salvaged old rubber rings from jam and jelly jars the family had emptied. To the growing pile she added two leaky hot-water bottles, a pure rubber reducing girdle she hadn't been able to stand, a worn-out rubber doormat, old rubber doorstops, and a plumber's suction cup that dated back to the little house the Doakes had moved into when they first married.

On to the garage! Mrs. Doakes looked a sight by now. But she found old tubes, two hopeless castings, some bits of patching and re-liners.

With pride Mrs. Doakes surveyed her collection. Uncle Sam can make good use of that, she thought, and now for a bath.

Twilight Ceremony Read At Conner Home Unites In Marriage Miss Hines And Sergeant Moore

In a twilight ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Miss Dorothy Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hines, became the bride of Staff Sergeant Ray P. Moore of Midland Army Flying School, Saturday evening.

Only members of the bride's family and a few friends were present.

The bride was dressed in a two-piece costume of dusty-pink crepe with white accessories. Gardenias formed her corsage and for the traditional "something borrowed" she had a handkerchief carried by Mrs. Conner at her wedding.

Miss Helen Powers as maid of honor and Paul Blair as best man were attendants of the bridal couple.

Miss Powers wore royal blue crepe.

An informal reception was held immediately after the wedding, with Miss Bessie Mae Cook pouring punch.

Pink larkspur and fern wreathed the base of the wedding cake which bore wee figures of a bride and groom.

Roadside Development Programs Joins In Big Scrap Metal Campaign

An intensive campaign to collect scrap metal in this area and throughout the entire state to go to steel mills where it is urgently needed now in the manufacture of steel for the nation's war effort is being launched by the Texas Roadside Development Program.

All persons living in unincorporated towns and in rural areas are urged to collect their scrap metal from their properties and deposit it on the right of way lines along state highways. It will be picked up by State Highway Department trucks as they return to section warehouses evenings and then will be made available to the government for shipment to mills.

All district engineers of the State Highway Department have been instructed by State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer to have the personnel in the field throughout the state cooperate with the members of the Roadside Development Program organization in order to make the undertaking effective as quickly as possible.

Thomas L. Mullican, representative of the War Production Board in Texas, states that there is a large amount of scrap metals uncollected in this state. A number of the country's steel furnaces recently have had to close down due to the acute shortage of scrap. From 60 to 90 per cent scrap is mixed with pig-iron to make steel, it is pointed out.

Donald M. Nelson, chief of the War Production Board, says the winning or losing of the war may depend on our ability to collect and move scrap metal to the mills. The War Production Board points out the following scrap equivalents as essential in the manufacture of armament:

Five pounds, four hand grenades; 420 pounds, 210 rifles (.30 cal.); 850 pounds, 150 light machine guns; two tons, eight anti-tank guns (.37 MM); 15 tons, one tank; 15,000 tons, one battleship.

A Look at Mrs. Hobby Tells She's Right for WAAC Job

She's Neither A "Battleaxe" Nor "Glamor Girl"

By Ruth Millett Other qualifications being equal, it was a good idea to put a woman as femininely good looking as Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby at the head of the women's army.

Men will have more respect for a woman's army headed by a womanly woman, and an attractive one at that, than they would for a feminine army headed by a woman who could be dismissed as a "battleaxe".

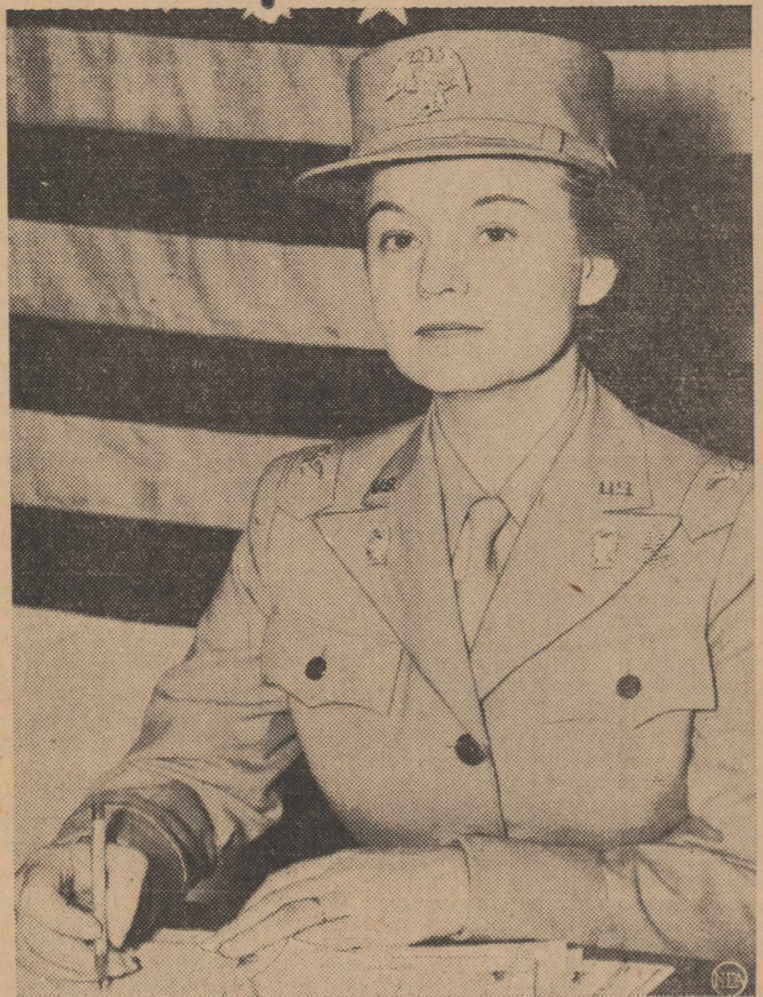

SHE SUCCEEDED AS CAREER WOMAN

She is right about that, too, for she is good looking enough to find herself being called a "glamor girl"—despite the fact that she is a successful career woman who is also a wife and mother—and that wouldn't help her any in doing an important job.

It is hard for a woman with an important job to steer a middle course so far as she as a person is concerned. If she affects clothes and a personality so shorn of femininity that they border on the masculine she soon becomes a target for ridicule.

But if she has a glamor tag hung around her neck, she loses the respect of a lot of people who still find it hard to believe a woman can have both glamor and brains.

It looks as though Mrs. Hobby will be able to steer a middle course. It really is important that she do so, for a woman's army is a new idea to Americans—and the work of that army will be easier if it is established right away that the women who wear the uniform of the WAAC aren't either glamor girls or battle axes—but intelligent young women who are as eager as the country's young men to help win this war, and who are entirely capable of doing the work that is assigned to them.

Quick Sellout, Good Prices At Texas Cattle Sales; Needed Much More Stock

Sales were fast and at fine prices Thursday at the regular Texas Cattle Sales barn, with not enough stock to go around, though receipts of all kinds of livestock were fair. Abilene, Sweetwater, Austin, Big Spring, Lamesa, Monahans, Stanton and several other points had buyers here, and the demand was not filled.

Started about two years ago, the Texas Cattle Sales have had a remarkable growth. Not only has it become a big buying center, but it has given the farmers of the region a market for their surplus feed, and has brought them to discover that they have actually increased their annual income by raising feed and feeding out a few cattle, instead of planting so much cotton. When cotton acreage was cut, feed was planted; when feed was planted, stock was bought to feed out, and then along came the sales group, and now a ready, quick, weekly cash market for all stock is at hand.

Demand on the local market is always over a broad range. Some buy to feed out, some to butcher, and some to breed. So, all types of stock are marketable every week.

A. & M. Packing Co. Asks Federal Agency For Meat Inspection

The A. & M. Packing Company Saturday filed application with A. W. Miller, acting chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington, for federal meat inspection at the plant here so the Midland company can bid on Federal contracts.

President Roosevelt has signed a law authorizing the Department of Agriculture to provide Federal meat inspection during the war emergency to meat and meat products moving in interstate commerce.

Previous regulations made the inspection available only to meat moving in interstate commerce and many packers were ineligible to bid on Federal contracts because government agencies could purchase only inspected meat.

Press Both Applications
The A. & M. Company previously had filed application for inspection, proposing to go into interstate business by selling meat in New Mexico as well as bidding on meat supplies for Army flying schools and camps in West Texas.

Officials of the concern said they still intend to expand to do the interstate business and will press that application as well as the one dispatched to Washington Saturday.

Midland Chamber of Commerce directors have endorsed the program of the packing company and the organization has worked closely with the packers to expand their business.

Midland Men Sell New Mexico Oil Wells And Acreage For $305,000

HOBBS, N. M. —One of the largest production sales in New Mexico in some months recently was consummated when Barney Cockburn of Artesia paid L. H. Choate and C. W. Brown, both of Midland, Texas, $305,000 for four wells and leases on 440 acres in the Square Lake pool of Eddy County.

Brown announced the deal Saturday, stating that of the total amount $145,000 was cash and the other $160,000 will be paid out of one-eighth of the oil produced. The four producing wells already completed on the properties have a combined daily potential of 920 barrels. The other seven locations are considered in proven territory.

Acreage is described as the north half of the north half of section 2-17s-30e; the north half of the south half of section 35-16s-30e; the east half of the southwest quarter of section 36-16s-30e; and the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 31-16s-31e.

Drilling Two Wells
Choate & Brown now are drilling two wells on the property for Cockburn on a contract basis and eventually will drill up the entire group of 40-acre wellsites. It is understood Cockburn has contracted to deliver oil to the Valley Refining Company at Roswell. He recently laid a pipe line from Square Lake to the refinery, using 3-inch and 4-inch pipe salvaged from the old water system in the Slaughter field of Hockley, Cochran and Terry counties in Texas.

Three more wildcat tests, two in Lea and one in Eddy, have been added to the roster of exploratory operations in the State. In the Red Lakes area of Eddy, E. Orcutt located No. 1 F. E. Koppie 900 feet from the south and 1,650 feet from the east line of section 19-17s-27e.

Gordon M. Cone of Lovington is spudding his No. 1 State, Lea wildcat 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 30-18s-37e. Also in Lea wildcat territory, Neville G. Penrose No. 1 Roggus has been located 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 19-22s-37e.

New Eddy Pool
Eddy's newest pool opener, Culbertson & Irwin, Inc. of Midland and Sam Sanders of Artesia No. 1 H. M. Vandagriff, swabbed three barrels of oil per hour after a 130-quart nitro shot from 3,303 to 3,353 feet. Hole was bridged back to 3,353 feet from total depth of 3,570 feet prior to shooting. Operators have set 5 1/2-inch casing above the pay section and the well is idle while cement sets. It logged main pay in sand from 3,326 to 3,343 feet. The discovery is in the center of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 6-19s-31e, two and one-half miles southwest of the Shugart area.

Culbertson & Irwin and Universal Consolidated Oil Company of Los Angeles No. 1 Hale permit, wildcat two and one-half miles southwest of the No. 1 Vandagriff, temporarily halted drilling at 468 feet in anhydrite and has mudded 10 3/4-inch pipe at 327 feet, through a water sand. It will resume drilling shortly. Location is in the center of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 11-19s-30e.

A failure for Lea was chalked up with the abandonment of Culbertson & Irwin No. 1 Shepard, five miles west of the Lynch pool in Southwestern Lea. The wildcat logged only a slight showing of oil from 3,485 to 3,490 feet and ran into three and one-half ballers of sulphur water per hour at 3,493 feet, the total depth where it was plugged. It was in the center of lot 16, section 1-21s-32e.

Double X Marks the Spot

It seems the Red Sox had a pretty good idea what was coming before Jimmy Foxx was sold to the Cubs. A couple of days before the deal was made, Manager Joe Cronin came into the dressing room and asked: "Has anyone got a first baseman's glove?" "Who hasn't, on this ball club?" retorted Tony Lupien, a first sacker himself.
