Legion Session Draws 175 Veterans From Over District

Business Will Occupy Day's Session Here

Activities Start Off With An Early Breakfast At Hilton This Morning; Dance Is Held Saturday Evening

To Hear Sermon

Rev. Bryan H. Keathley Of Mineral Wells, National Chaplain, Is To Preach At Presbyterian Church

WITH approximately 175 representatives of the American Legion and its women's auxiliary having registered, the first day of the two-day 19th district convention was climaxed when a representative crowd attended a dance in Lubbock hotel ballroom Saturday night.

After a breakfast for commanders, adjutants and service officers, at 8:30 o'clock this morning, delegates are invited to attend the First Presbyterian church, where Rev. Dr. Bryan H. Keathley, national chaplain and pastor of the Mineral Wells First Presbyterian church, will conduct services.

Luncheon At Hilton

Following a luncheon for both men and women representatives at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at Hilton hotel, legion members and delegates will meet at Legion hall at 2:30 o'clock for a program. Drury Phillips of Huntsville, department commander, will make the principal address. Other speakers will be W. O. (Dan) Daniels of Lubbock and Jack Woodward of Plainview. Other guests to be introduced are Fred Young of Austin, department adjutant, and Jack Thoman of Levelland, 5th division commander.

A business meeting conducted by C. B. Quante of Brownfield, district committeeman, will be held immediately afterward.

Auxiliary guests are scheduled to

Three Injured In Accidents

One Man With Papers On Him Indicating Identity As E. M. Roscoe Reported To Be Seriously Hurt In Crash

Three persons injured in two South Plains accidents about 10 o'clock Saturday night were rushed to Lubbock sanitarium for treatment.

A man in whose pockets were found papers indicating he was Eugene M. Roscoe and approximately 40 years old suffered chin and head cuts which were sutured, and remained unconscious at midnight, his condition not completely determined. He was deemed seriously injured, however.

Mrs. J. F. Kerr, 52, of Idalou, suffered a dislocated left elbow.

Were Pushing Car

The man believed to be Roscoe, and two other men were pushing a car the gasoline tank of which was empty, approximately four miles this side of Idalou, said Kerr, Idalou filling station proprietor and driver of the Kerr automobile.

Kerr said lights of an approaching automobile blinded him and that he saw the car ahead, being pushed in the same direction he was driving, just before he "struck it or the men after whipping to the left as far as I could." He said another of the three men complained of a hip injury and had indicated he would "go to the hospital later" for treatment.

Saw Three Wrecks

Jim Wetsel of Tahoka, a passerby who was quoted as saying he had "seen three wrecks since leaving home at dark," brought Mrs. Kerr, who did not know how she received her injury, and the man believed to have been Roscoe, who was born at Snyder, to the sanitarium.

The Basinger boy was riding in Cold Wave Is On Way, Reports Say

Temperatures Of From 16 To 22 Degrees In Area Forecast; Stock Warnings Issued

IN the face of forecasts of from 16 to 22-degree temperatures today and a tossed-in warning to stockmen, mercury readings up to midnight reflected only a slight drop from early night recordings.

Midnight reading on a partially sheltered thermometer was 39 degrees, 22 degrees below the day's maximum buy only four degrees below the 9:25 o'clock reading, when the mercury had dropped for degrees in five minutes.

Forecast for today read: Partly cloudy and colder, much colder in the north portion, temperatures of from 16 to 22 degrees in the Panhandle Sunday; Monday partly cloudy and colder in southeast portion. Livestock warnings in the Panhandle.

Whether the forecast was to "pan out" or whether it was to be refuted by another such weather vagary as that of Thursday night and Friday, when the mercury kept above the 36-degree mark despite predictions of a fall to from 12 to 18 degrees, could not be ascertained by midnight indications.

Dispatchers of two railway lines here said conditions over their divisions were similar to those at Lubbock, but said light snow had been reported for restricted areas "outside the divisions."

Light carpet of snow had fallen along the Fort Worth & Denver city line from Texline to Dalhart, and Santa Fe dispatchers said snow had been reported "above Amarillo."

Canyon reported slightly colder temperatures.

Saturday's weather was unseasonably warm, street crowds appearing with collars unbuttoned and without coats. There was bright sunshine.

Temperatures the day before, when cold weather had been expected, ranged from 37 to 44 degrees, but cold, dripping mist made for discomfort and traffic was retarded on slippery roads.

Colder weather for late Saturday and for today had been predicted as early as Friday night, especially for the Panhandle.

Parking Meter Hearing Given Postponement

Hearing On Injunction Suit In City Postponed Until 9 A. M. Monday; Absence Of Lawyers Is Reason For Action

Hearing on an injunction suit against the operation of parking meters in Lubbock's business district yesterday was postponed until 9 o'clock Monday morning in 72nd district courtroom.

The posponement resulted from an agreement between legal representatives of parties to the suit and was sanctioned by Judge Homer L. Pharr yesterday morning.

Attorneys Not Here

Attorneys for 17 plaintiffs asking temporary restraining orders against the meters, Charles C. Crenshaw and George W. Dupree law partners, were in Lamesa on a land suit being tried in 106th district court, and City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley said an attorney from the Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City who was to assist in the defense had not arrived.

The hearing had been set down for 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Judge Pharr deferred action on a petition filed in his court Wednesday until both sides of the case could be presented.

Opposition against parking meters here was brought into court on the allegations of plaintiffs that their property rights were encroached upon, the establishing ordinance was illegal and invalid, and that

Security Blanks Deadline Extended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—With the registration of 26,000,000 workers for federal pension accounts falling short of it plans, the government decided tonight to extend the deadline for applications until midnight Tuesday, December 15.

The action climaxed a busy day in which the Social Security board divided attention between a last-hour rush by workers to return their forms and unemployment insurance activity in various states.

The original workers' deadline was midnight tonight.

C. H. Matthews Of Eagle Lake Named Secretary Of Farm Unit

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (AP)—C. H. Matthews of Eagle Lake was named secretary of the Texas Agricultural association at the closing session of its three-day annual convention yesterday. He was named by directors.

E. H. Grimes, White Deer; C. H. Day, Plainview, and Miller Harwood, Taft, were named the executive committee.

Directors will name later the site for the 1937 convention.

Miss Lillian Peek Resigns As State Home Economics Leader

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Department of education officials declined comment today on the resignation of Miss Lillian Peek as director of the division of homemaking, a position she had held 10 years.

Miss Peek is president of the National Association of State Supervisors of Home Economics and announced her resignation, effective Jan. 1, at a meeting of the organization in San Antonio. She gave no reason for her action.

Five Cases Up For Decisions

Supreme Court May Decide In Record Number Of Cases Of New Deal Legislation In Session Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Five disputes involving New Deal legislation—a record number for any one time—may be decided Monday by the Supreme court.

The controversies involve:

1. Whether PWA can provide money for publicly owned hydro-electric projects. The Duke Power company is attempting to halt a project at Buzzard Roost, S. C.

2. The right of Congress to authorize President Roosevelt to impose an embargo on sale of munitions for the recent Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay. The government contends its neutrality legislation is at stake.

3. Whether the government can postpone decisions of lower courts on constitutionality of the public utility holding company act until the Supreme court rules on a test case it has brought against the Electric Bond and Share company.

4. Constitutionality of the Ashurst-Sumners act forbidding transportation of prison made goods into states that prohibit their sale, and requiring that the products be labeled as convict-manufactured.

5. Constitutionality of the 50 per

Edward Given Documents By His Minister

Three Things Are Believed To Be Contained In "Certain Documents" Handed King By Baldwin Last Night

Ministers To Meet

Ministers Called Into Session This Afternoon Prior To Full Cabinet Meeting Monday; Sentiment For Edward

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 6. (Sunday) — Britain's king early today studied "certain documents" handed him in secluded Fort Belvedere by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

What the documents were, or what the portended was not revealed, but

BELIEF IS STRONG

LONDON, Dec. 6. (Sunday) (AP)—The Sunday newspaper, Reynolds News, today reported there was "a belief, strongly held in certain highly placed quarters, that the king (Edward VIII) already has announced his intention to abdicate—that he has indeed signed the instrument which would make abdication final."

The paper added that if the Duke of York succeeded his brother on the throne, he would be proclaimed "King George the Sixth."

authoritative sources said they might be:

1. First drafts of voluntary abdication papers.

Opinions From Dominions

2. An expression of opinion on the crisis from his majesty's dominion governments.

3. New proposals from his cabinet ministers.

Reports from Canberra, Australia, that Edward might abdicate Monday were unconfirmed in London where officials asserted that the summoning of the British cabinet to meet Monday showed there had been no decision reached as yet by either the king or his cabinet.

Ministers Meet Today

Although the full cabinet was not scheduled to meet formally until Monday morning at 10:30 a. m., a meeting of the ministers was called for Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m.

These developments were disclosed while a growing sentiment "to give Edward more time" spread through both supporters and opponents of a marriage between the monarch and the twice-divorced Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The former Baltimore belle, meanwhile, reached the Cannes villa of

Tingley Calls For A Special Session

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 5. (AP) — Governor Clyde Tingley, declaring an emergency exists, today called the twelfth legislature of New Mexico into special session here December 14 to consider an unemployment insurance law.

The move was made by the governor in an effort to "retain some of the $380,000 in revenue" to the state under the Social Security act.

The governor said the proposed law had been drawn up and will be submitted to Washington for the approval of the Social Security board.

Warning Is Issued On Sending Intoxicating Liquors By Mail

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—With an eye on the growing pile of Christmas mail, Harllee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, reminded postmasters in a formal notice today that "intoxicating liquors found in the mails are subject to confiscation and the mailers are subject to heavy fines."

CHILDRESS MAN KILLED

CHILDRESS, Dec. 5. (AP)—C. P. Furr, janitor of a ward school here, was killed tonight when struck down by an automobile near the city limits east of town.

Little Girl Wants Santa To Give Her Quints For Christmas; She's A Sister

(By The Associated Press)

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 5.—A little girl wants Santa Claus to give her the Dionne quintuplets for a Christmas present.

She is Rose Dionne, the eight-year-old member of the family who lives just across the road from the nursery which the famous five occupy.

She wrote Santa Claus, in French:

"Dear Santa. I am the quintuplets' oldest sister. I am eight years old. I was well pleased with what I got last year. This time I would like a ski suit, some nuts and candies.

"But what I would like best of all, Santa, if you could bring my little quintuplets sisters back, then I wouldn't want the suit, as when I leave my little sisters they always cry to come home with me.

"I don't think you could bring me anything else in the world to please me as well as my little quintuplet sisters. Then I would be the happiest child on earth."

Eyes Of The World Are Focused On These Two People

The crisis in Great Britain focused attention of the world on King Edward and Mrs. Ernest Simpson, former American society girl. The king won his first show of strength in his fight with Britain's government when the Laborite colonel, Josiah Clement Wedgwood, asserted every effort would be made to avoid the King's abdication. The youthful monarch and Mrs. Simpson are shown in these unusual closeups. (Associated Press Photos)

Tech Debaters Win First In Kansas Meet

Alton Hankins And Junius Carter Take First Place Over Large Field Of Colleges In Southwestern Contests

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

WINFIELD, Kas., Dec. 5.—More than duplicating a feat one of its teams had accomplished last year, a senior men's debate club of Texas Technological college tonight won first place in its division of the southwestern college annual tournament here.

Alton Hankins, who with Junius Carter composed Saturday's winning team, last year won second place at the event when paired with Clay Thompson.

The Tech team defeated the Southwestern (Edmond, Okla.,) State Teachers college.

Tech's freshmen debaters, Warwick and Waggoner Carr, lost in the semi-final round to Hutchinson college, in the junior college division.

Jane Woodruff and Betty West, girl debaters, won three out of four contests, Hazel Pollard and Johnnie Birdwell one out of four, before being ousted from further competition.

Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, coach of the Tech entrants, said 70 men's teams were represented in the competition, 42 junior college teams and 42 women's teams. A total of 10 states sent teams from 58 colleges, she said.

Tech defeated Drury college of Springfield, Mo., in the quarter-final round; Commerce, Texas, Teachers college defeated Tech's No. 2 women's team; and Tech's No. 1 women's team defeated Denton's No. 1 team.

Tech's freshmen defeated Miami in the third round, and Tech's No. 1 men's team retired Kearney, Neb., No. 2 team in the fourth round.

Simplicio Godino Dies Last Night

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Simplicio Godino, 29-year-old "Siamese twin" died at York hospital tonight.

Godino, who was surgically severed from his Filipino brother, Lucio, after the latter died of rheumatic fever Nov. 24, had been recovering rapidly until 24 hours ago, when, doctors disclosed tonight, he took a turn for the worse.

They declined to state the cause of death, but his ailment had been reported by doctors earlier in the evening as cerebro-spinal meningitis.

The twins, both married vaudeville performers, entered the hospital Nov. 17, when Lucio was taken ill with an ailment diagnosed as pneumonia.

Term Of Six Years Proposed For President By Nebraskan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Some congressional leaders of both major parties reacted approvingly today to a proposal that the president be elected for one term of six years, but most of their colleagues reserved judgment.

The suggestion was advanced in Omaha by Senator Burke (D-Neb) who said he would introduced a constitutional amendment carrying such a provision.

Edward Is Determined To Wed Mrs. Simpson Even In Face Of Consequences

Highest Sources Declare King Continues His Stubborn Defiance Of His Ministers

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—King Edward, continuing his stubborn defiance to the British cabinet, is determined to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, the highest sources asserted today.

The ruler has not yielded to the government's ultimatum that he renounce—formally and unconditionally—the American woman who is the choice of his heart.

The most authoritative sources declared this information was conveyed to the cabinet today during a gloomy 40-minute session at Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's home.

The ministers—weary over the romantic, empire shaking crisis—left the official residence in a drizzling rain just 40 minutes after they first had entered.

They will convene to discuss the tense situation again at 10:30 a. m. Monday (5:30 est)

During the interval they had been instructed to "stand by" and remain in or near London.

Promised In 48 Hours

The government has been promised the king's final word within 48 hours, it was understood.

Twenty ministers attended the session of the cabinet. As some were leaving the Baldwin residence, automobile bearing banners urging the king not to surrender appeared in nearby streets.

"Confound the clerics," said one of the signs on the cars. "a free country and a free king," declared another.

The popular movement, which reached its climax in widespread demonstrations in the king's favor throughout London, was reported spreading even among conservative members of parliament.

CROWDS FOR KING

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP) — Chanting crowds, paced by blue-coated bobbies, roamed London today shouting themselves hoarse in praise of King Edward and in denunciation of an obdurate government.

Sailor Is Held For Extortion

Twenty-Year-Old Gob Says He Wrote Letter To Ginger Rogers, His Favorite Star, Demanding Money

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—A confessed attempt to extort $5,000 from dancing Ginger Rogers of the films led a 20-year-old sailor into a department of justice trap today.

J. H. Hanson of the department announced the arrest of James F. Hall, whom he identified as a sailor on the navy's aircraft carrier Lexington, on the streets of Long Beach about midnight near a cafe where Miss Rogers had been directed to bring the money.

The officer declined to reveal details of the arrest, but declared Hall confessed he was the author of letters which threatened death to the red-haired actress, his screen favorite, unless she paid.

Fascists Continue Dropping Of Bombs On City; Two 'Downed'

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Dec. 5.—A Fascist aerial bomb wrecked an occupied house near the American embassy today in a raid apparently aimed at razing an entire section of Madrid not half a mile from the U. S. official building.

At least a score of Madrilenos were killed in the second raid in as many days.

Two of the raiders were shot down in a spectacular battle in the skies against government pursuit ships which took the air when the invaders were first sighted.

New Chief Goodfellow Is Elected To Head Charity Organization This Year

A NEW Chief Goodfellow was elected yesterday as a program of carrying Christmas cheer to underprivileged Lubbock children was started by the Goodfellows again.

Assistants to Chief Goodfellow and chairmen of several committees were named.

As last year, neither Chief Goodfellow nor his aides will be identified publicly. The object of the Goodfellows organization is to distribute Yuletide happiness without personal advertisement.

Church, civic, patriotic, and other organizations will send representatives to meet with the Goodfellows some time this week, when final plans will be made for the Christmas program.

Virtually the same system used last year is expected to be retained this season.

A campaign for funds will be conducted, with lists of contributions being published daily in the Avalanche-Journal news-

Britain Tense Over Outcome Of Situation

Personal Battle Between King Edward And Premier Stanley Baldwin Expected To Come To Head Next Week

King Is Supported

Compromise Said To Have Been Attempted But Too Late; Cabinet Is To Meet Today To Consider Affair

EDITOR'S NOTE: Frank H. King, chief of the London bureau of the Associated Press, telephoned tonight to New York his behind-the-news picture of the British empire crisis. His call was put through to T. F. Hawkins at the Associated Press desk at 4 p. m.

BY FRANK H. KING

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP)— By Trans-Atlantic Telephone To New York)—A "showdown" is expected Monday on Edward's wish to wed Wallis Simpson and England tensely is awaiting the outcome.

"It's a personal battle between Baldwin and the king. There is a basic difference in viewpoint between them.

"A close friend of both has begun efforts to make a compromise between them. But it appears now that the effort will be too late.

Resents Baldwin's Attitude

The king has resented all along Baldwin's attitude toward the whole affair. They have never hit it off any too well.

"Baldwin is the epitome of tradition in the empire.

"Edward is as streamlined in thought as the modern motor car which right now is speeding his sweetheart across France.

"Incidentally, few people in England know Mrs. Simpson has left England. The papers aren't touching it.

Returns From Audience

"While I'm talking, Hancock (Witt Hancock of the London office) just telephoned in that Baldwin is back in Downing street. He's just returned from an audience with the king.

"The cabinet is going to meet tomorrow afternoon, but it won't be an official gathering. The big decision will come Monday, I feel sure.

"Probably the biggest development today was Lord Rothermere's story in the Evening News and Lord Beaverbrook's support of the king. (Both

Pope Is Suffering Paralysis Stroke

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—Partial paralysis of the lower limbs confined Pius XI today to his first day in bed since he became pope, but the holy father insisted on using his keen mind and unimpaired arms to carry on the duties of his church.

Serenely confident that God's will would permit him to rise shortly, the 79-year old pontiff nevertheless resigned himself even to death should it come.

Major Burns Named Personnel Director Of State Commission

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—R. B. Anderson, director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, today named Major D. B. Burns personal director.

Major Burns, a native of Bowie, received his education at Texas A. & M. and Northwestern. At A. & M. he won fame as quarterback on the football teams. He has had experience in personnel and administrative work in the army and as a private citizen.

TO INAUGURATE SERVICE

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 5. (AP)—Captain E. V. Rickenbacker, general manager of Eastern Air lines, announced today that the first direct air route to be established by his organization from New York to Houston, Tex., through here and New Orleans would start with a dedicatory flight December 15.

New Russian Constitution Is Adopted; War Powers Granted

Clause Empowering Government To Declare War Is Believed To Bolster Defense Alliances With Other Nations

MOSCOW, Dec. 5. (AP)—The congress of Soviets today approved the new Russian constitution after amending it to create a commissariat of military industry and empowering the government to declare war "in case of necessity."

The clause empowering the government to declare war was believed to bolster the Soviet union's defense alliances with France and other nations.

Under the original draft war could have been declared only in case of "an armed attack against the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics."

The constitution as amended grants the government power to wage war "in case of necessity to fulfill international obligations arising out of mutual assistance pacts."

The congress accepted the constitution by a unanimous show of their red voting cards after Joseph Stalin, secretary-general of the communist party, spoke for ten minutes in a low voice explaining the changes which had been made by the editorial commission.

Forty-three amendments, most of which were of slight importance, were made to the original document. Many of the changes were merely re-wording for clarification.

Among the more important revisions was one establishing two houses of parliament of equal numbers to be elected by the direct vote of the people.

Another guaranteed ownership of private property acquired by inheritance and made grants of land to peasants for their use forever free of charge.

Three Bucks And Two Turkey Gobblers Bagged By Hunters

Three bucks and two yearling turkey gobblers were bagged by Charles Adams of Lubbock and Luther Reese, Hereford and a former Lubbock man, on a 3-day hunt near Cotulla, near San Antonio, they reported on their return Saturday morning.

One of the bucks, with a 10-point horn, will dress out about 225 pounds, Reese said. The other two, one with an 8-point horn and the other a small 4-point horn with three "nubbins" will not dress out more than 125 to 150 pounds.

The two men hunted from day light to dark for three days through a rough, wet country, they said. The deer were killed on the ranch of a Mr. Bell.

Farmers Are Receiving A Higher Price On Their Wool

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The agriculture department reported today that farmers received considerably more for their wool Nov. 15 tha nthey did a year ago, but were paid less for sheep and lambs.

The wool market value jumped from 22.6 cents Nov. 15, 1936, to 27.2 about three weeks ago while 100 pounds of sheep dropped from $3.89 to $3.58 and lambs dropped from $7.57 to $7.23.

The Texas wool price Nov. 15, 1936, was reported to the department's crop reporting board as 27 cents, compared with 31 cents in eastern states and 21 cents in Oklahoma, 23 cents in New Mexico and 24 cents in Arizona.

Lambs brought Texas growers $6.20 in New Mexico. Sheep were worth $4.40 in Texas, $4.20 in Oklahoma, $3.20 in New Mexico and $3.25 in Arizona.

School Meeting Set For Friday

First meeting of a recently formed West Texas School Executives' association, a department of the West Texas Teachers' association including the 19th state senatorial district of 25 counties, will be conducted at Hilton hotel Friday night.

From 150 to 200 school principals, superintendents and school board members are expected to attend, said Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of the Lubbock schools system and a member of the association executive committee.

J. M. Rankin, Ralls school superintendent, will preside. The meeting is to be opened at 6:30 o'clock in the hotel ballroom with dinner.

Principal speakers on the program include J. W. O'Banion, state supervisor of high schools, and L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction.

Although an attempt has been made to invite all school principals, superintendents and board members in the district, Oberholtzer said, those who have not received an invitation are invited.

Reservations for the dinner, he said, should be made not later than Wednesday.

Rail Empire Faces Change

Herbert Fitzpatrick Chosen To Throne Of Van Sweringen Affairs; Immediate Problems Are Faced

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5. (AP)—Herbert Fitzpatrick, 64-year-old bachelor attorney, presided today at the throne of the former Van Sweringen rail empire, the seat formerly occupied by the late O. P. Van Sweringen.

Fitzpatrick's appointment as president of Midamerica corporation was announced last night in a joint statement by George A. Ball and George A. Tomlinson, mid-western capitalists who control the top holding company of the far-flung rail and real estate system.

To Co-Ordinate Activities

"We shall expect him to co-ordinate even more closely the widespread activities of these varied interests, although realizing fully the great loss the properties have sustained in the passing of both the Messrs. Van Sweringen," Ball and Tomlinson said.

Fitzpatrick, vice-president and general counsel of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway company, faced two immediate problems:

(1) Reorganization of the Missouri Pacific railroad, the 12,000-mile final link of the nearly 30,000-mile rail system acquired by the Van Sweringens.

(2) Reorganization of the Van Sweringen company, the principal real estate holding company.

Fitzpatrick's offices with the various railway lines represented in Midamerica are, vice-presidencies in the Chesapeake & Ohio, Pere Marquette, New York, Chicago & St. Louis, Missouri Pacific, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico and International-Great Northern.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Band Directors From All Sections Of State Will Attend Clinic In City

Two-Day Event Planned Here

Several Bands Will Be Here To Aid; Selections In 1937 Band Contests To Be Played By Organizations

Instruction to be offered at the band clinic for Texas directors and band members Friday and Saturday in Lubbock will reach, directly or indirectly, 15,000 players in Texas.

More than 75 directors of high school and college bands in all parts of the state have notified D. O. Wiley, one of the sponsors, they will attend and several said they would bring bands. Approximately 100 directors and between 200 and 300 band members will attend, Wiley estimated.

Bands Will Aid

The clinic, which will be conducted for the purpose of playing selections for 1937 band contests, will be sponsored by Wiley, Tech band director, and Klein Ault of Fort Worth, head of the Ault Music company. Sessions will be in Senior High school auditorium, with the Senior High, Slaton and Texas Technological college bands playing numbers during the clinic.

A feature for the general public as well as musicians attending the clinic has been scheduled for Friday night, in the form of a concert by the Tech band. Several directors attending the clinic will be guest conductors.

A. R. McAllister, director of the Joliet, Ill., high school band, will direct the clinic. McAllister, widely known in band circles, has directed several Joliet bands which have won in national contests.

Schedule Is Given

From 9 to 10:30 o'clock both mornings of the clinic the Lubbock High school band will play, from 10:30 to 12 o'clock, the Slaton band will play, and from 2 to 5 o'clock the Tech band will play.

The Tech band will play the required numbers for the 1937 West Texas School Band contests, which will be conducted in Lubbock April 29-30. Some of the numbers are the same as the required numbers in other sections of the state. The Lubbock and Slaton bands will play selective lists.

Some Not Chosen

As many numbers as possible of the 1937 contest list of selective numbers will be played, said Wiley. Some directors have not chosen their selective numbers.

The following directors have notified that they will bring all or part of their bands: Herman Trigg, Brownfield; Robert L. Maddox, Cisco; Conway E. King, Lamesa; M. A. Armstrong, Midland; R. C. Davidson, Plainview; Burgess Brown, Spur; E. W. Sheperd, Vernon; Lyle Skinner, Waco; Paul Branom, Levelland. Clyde H. Rowe is director of the Slaton band and H. A. Anderson of the Lubbock High band.

Other directors who have notified Wiley they will attend the clinic are: R. T. Bynum, Abilene High school; D. W. Crain, Abilene Christian college; Walter Dickenson, Albany; Oscar Wise, Amarillo Senior High; S. M. Bagwell, Amarillo Sam Houston school; Col. Earl D. Irons, North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington; Weldon Covington, Austin High; Perry A. Sandifer, Bangs; D. W. Conley, Big Spring; J. Richard Walker, Bowie; J. C. Burkett, Breckenridge; James E. King, Coleman; R. G. Stephenson, Canyon High; C. E. Strain, West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon; M. B. Ethridge, Cleburne; W. H. Howard, Comanche; Graham Smoot, Blanket; A. B. Rose, Colorado; Joel C. Trimble, Corsicana; R. M. McCown, Crane; Williams, Dalhart; George Royster, Dallas; probably Ralph Beck, Dallas; Floyd Graham, North Texas State Teachers college, Denton; G. Merry-C-Saw, Newest Device In Amusement Field, Given To Sanders School Friday By Members Of Lubbock Lions

The scene above enacted Friday at Sanders school when members of the Lubbock Lions club presented the Merry-C-Saw to the school.

Newest device in the amusement field is being manufactured in Lubbock by the All-American Device company, a Merry-C-Saw, designed to avoid as far as humanly possible, all accidents to school children from defects in playground equipment. Two of the machines have been installed here, one in the city park about two months ago and the other last week at Sanders school.

The device is a combination merry-go-round and see-saw, with two beams made of steel pipe, 14 feet long, worked through a 4-foot post. The upper of the pipes is bent so as to overlap the other. Shock absorbers are used to keep down danger of shock from unexpected jolts.

Can Be Set In Concrete

A base, 6-feet wide, of steel, is made for movable devices, so as to insure no danger of the machine becoming unbalanced. The base can be set in concrete, as desired, for use where a permanent location is had.

On the ends of the two beams are seats, built to accommodate two children. While it is intended to have but eight passengers at a time, it has been demonstrated that as many as 24 to 28 "ride" the playground equipment at one time. Moving parts are ball bearing, the machine is practically noiseless, except for the human passengers. The machine weighs about 350 pounds, but can be moved by a small child.

Dr. C .C. Craig is president of the company manufacturing the devices. A patent ha sbeen sought. Claude Gray is sales manager. It is expected that during the school year equipment will be sold to schools, largely through Parent Teachers associations, with sales to parks, municipal and privately owned, coming in the spring. Lubbock Machine shop, for the present, is manufacturing the devices. Several tentative orders are on hand.

City To Be In Market Survey

Corpus Christi And Waco Other Texas Cities Selected For Survey By Holland's Magazine Of Dallas

Lubbock has been chosen as one of three communities in which a market survey will be made by Holland's and Farm and Ranch magazines.

Representatives of the two publications will arrive today to start such a survey. In the party will be James H. Hunter, advertising manager of Holland's; Lee Hainline, advertising manager of Farm and Ranch; J. F. Spalding, manager of the New York office; Garland Robertson, manager of the Chicago office, and J. T. Mann, Fred A. Jones, Porter Holland, jr., W. D. Matthews, and Herman Brown.

Similar studies have been made at Corpus Christi, for South Texas; at Waco, for Central Texas.

The survey will be started Monday.

William H. Lipp may boast he is no "rolling stone." He's been on the same job at Chattanooga, Tenn., for 69 years.

Official To Aid In Installation For Grange Chapters

H. W. Gaulrapp, state organizer for the National Grange, will be in Lubbock this week assisting local members in installing five granges recently given charters.

Schedule of installation of chapters are: Monday, at Shallowater; Tuesday at Southwest Ward; Wednesday at Slaton; Thursday at Whitharral; Friday at Crosbyton.

Two more were organized last week, Anton and Ropesville, both on Friday night. This gives Hockley county three granges and it can now set up a county grange. Lubbock has three granges and also may organize the county group.

Representatives of a cooperative group in the North Panhandle are interested in a grange. They have discussed plans for the work in that section. Seven counties have asked for organizations.

Lubbock county vocational agriculture teachers are cooperating in the work.

FARM LEADER DIES

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 5. (AP)—Lewis Taylor, 71, president of the Indiana Farm bureau and prominent middle-western agriculturist, died today in his hotel room of a heart attack.

Mother Of Lubbock Man Is Death Victim In Missouri

V. H. Moore, commercial representative of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, left Lubbock yesterday afternoon a few hours after he had received word of the death of his mother, Mrs. H. T. Moore, at Clarence, Mo.

Mr. Moore will attend funeral services expected to be held late this afternoon at Clarence. She had been ill for several months, and Mr. Moore had returned here a month ago after attending her bedside.

Other survivors are her husband, two sons, E. L. Moore of Macon, Mo., and W. Moore of Edina, Mo., and two daughters, Mrs. Annie O. Barr and Mrs. Esther Wood, both of near Clarence.

Future Of Lubbock County Children's Council To Be Determined Monday

State Leaders To Speak Here

B. E. McGlamery, State Director, And Miss Winifred Eastham To Speak In Meeting At First Baptist Church

The future of the Lubbock County Children's council will be determined tomorrow when the group meets at 1:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. B. E. McGlamery, Eastland, director of vocational rehabilitation and director o' crippled children's work in this district, will speak.

Miss Winifred Easthan, consultant of child welfare services, division of child welfare of the board of control, will address the council. Official of the children's union expect a revival of the council.

Groups Asked To Attend

Invitations to attend have been extended to groups which had representatives in the council, which has been inactive for about a year and a half. It was organized several years ago to serve as a clearing house for various organizations which conduct children's projects.

About 50 civic, educational, welfare, religious and other types of organization had representatives in the council. One group helped children needing tonsil operations, one encouraged doctor's examinations, the Kiwanis club sponsors the Knot Hole gang. Representatives of those groups formerly reported to the council.

Delegations Asked

Miss Mae Murfee, president of the children's council, asked that each club president have a delegate present at tomorrow's meeting.

Decision will be made Monday as to whether the group will continue.

Miss Eastham is here gathering data on Mrs. W. T. Milam's orphanage for records of the state board.

Children In Area Aided

The crippled children's division in the state department of education aided more than 100 children in the Lubbock territory in the year ending Sept. 1, 1936, according to McGlamery.

State Supt. L. A. Woods, in an annual report, showed that 1,797 children with an average age of 9.6 years had received assistance through the crippled children's division of the state department. Of the total 1,043 were boys.

The work in the state cost $217,626.08, expended for hospitalization, surgeons, x-ray examination, major and minor operations, barces, laboratory tests, casts, dressings, serums, and for many other items necessary in the treatment of physically handicapped children.

Hospitalization Major Expense

The major expenditure was for hospitalization. As a result of the state's program, 895 major operations and 414 minor operations were provided for crippled children. Braces, costing an average of $28.90, were provided for 624 children. Casts were provided for 687 children.

Ailments of th youngsters receiving treatment were classified. Greatest number of disabilities was 428, infantile paralysis. Osteomyelitis was second, with 196 patients. Among other disabilities for which children received treatment in the state's program were spastic paralysis, club feet, harelip and cleft palate, burns, curvature of the spine, arthritis, rickets, tuberculosis of the bone, fractures, congenital dislocated hips, accidents.

The program reacehd Mexicans and negroes, as fell as white children. A total of 146 Mexicans and 107 negroes was among the group receiving treatment.

King Edward Not A Stubborn Man

Psychologist Says That British Ruler Is One Of The War Generation Who Change Modes Because World Is Changing

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A prince who has had the feminine world at his feet, but does not develop a yearning for permanent romance until he has won authority, is psychology's explanation of King Edward's sentiment for Mrs. Simpson.

Psychology sees Edward as a type likely to choose one woman in this climax, at the "romantic period" of his life.

Of War Generation

It sees him not as a stubborn man, but as one of the millions of the "war generation", who change their modes because the world is changing.

The psychological viewpoints were expressed by Dr. Joseph Jastrow, former president of the American Psychological association, for 29 years Wisconsin university's professor of psychology and author of numerous books.

"There are many men who continue to develop between 25 and 40, and often after 40," said Dr. Jastrow. "The king appears to be in this class.

"Most men who grow in this manner, reach a romantic period unlike the popular view of the glamorous twenties. They let the twenties and thirties go by, and then mature to the feeling of necessity for feminine influence at a much later date.

"In his type romance develops often as a part of a direct connection with life purposes. The romantic period is likely to coincide with the time of maximum power."

Grand Jury Is To Be Called Back For More Work Monday

A 99th district grand jury will be reconvened Monday morning by Judge E. L. Pitts to investigate cases based on complaints referred to the body by justices of peace and to "clean up" probes left over from the first week of November, when recess was declared after it had reported 13 bills of indictment.

Included in the grand jury's work will be investigation of the wounding of Alton Shuffield, against whom a complaint of armed robbery was filed in the court of J. T. Trigg, justice of peace, charging an attempt on Hub Tourist camp the night of Nov. 10. In addition, two burglaries, two forgeries, one kidnaping, and one wife and child desertion cases likely are to be considered, it was reported by Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney.

Miss Thelma Edith Shankle Of Petersburg Dies Saturday

Following a prolonged illness, Miss Thelma Edith Shankle, 15, of Petersburg died Saturday morning in a sanitarium here.

Funeral services for the young woman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shankle, will be conducted at Petersburg this afternoon, said Rix Funeral home.

The Shankles have lived near Petersburg for about 30 years. They have two other children, J. B., 13, and Della Doris, 12.

Equity Cases To Be Heard

Special Week Of May Term Of U. S. Court Set Aside For Next Week; December Term Opens Dec. 14

Eqiuty cases are scheduled for a special week of the May term of United States district court, which opens Monday morning in the district court room in the federal building. Judge T. Whitt Davidson, Dallas, judge of the Northern district of Texas, will preside.

Regular December term is not scheduled to begin until December 14. At that time criminal docket will be called. There are a number of cases scheduled on the criminal docket.

Davidson To Arrive Today

Judge Davidson is expected to arrive some time today with his court reporter and stenographer. George W. Parker, court clerk, also is expected this morning. He is to come by train.

Grover C. Leigh, chief deputy marshal; John Alderman, probation officer and W. P. Stokes, deputy clerk, were scheduled to leave by car this morning and will arrive some time in the afternoon, Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy stationed here, said.

No jury has been called for the week. The regular jury is to report December 14. Clyde O. Eastus, district attorney, is expected here some time this week, with an assistant, to handle work preparatory to opening of the criminal docket.

Judge Davidson is expected to set equity cases Monday. He hopes to get the docket from the spring term cleared before close of the week.

Lindsey Funeral Conducted Friday

Business associates and friends of the late C. C. Lindsey, Lubbock theater executive, were returning to their homes in several states Saturday, after Friday afternoon rites.

The 42-year-old secretary-treasurer of Lindsey Theatres, Inc., was buried at Lubbock cemetery after 2 o'clock services read at First Christian church. Rev. Walter P. Jennings of Plainview, former pastor of the church, and Rev. W. R. Vivrett, present pastor, officiated.

Floral tribute was banked in the church and at the cemetery, and the church scarcely was large enough to accommodate all who wished to attend services.

First National bank, of which he was a director, and theaters at Lubbock were closed for services, out of respect to him.

Lindsey died Thursday morning at a hospital at Lubbock, of pneumonia and a heart condition.

County Line Is Planning To Conduct Community Activities

County Line community, in the northwestern part of the county, is planning some community work along terracing and hog killing lines, Homer Thompson, assistant county agent, said yesterday.

While there the other day, Mrs. L. H. Battin, principal of the school, asked about the work and how to get it started. Told of the county plan for communities, she said she hoped to get the community together soon to discuss what to do.

Edward Given "Documents"

King's Ministers Called Into Session Today And Full Cabinet Meeting Is Due Monday; Sentiment For Edward

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers, former New Yorkers, after a two-day automobile flight across southern France.

Whether Mrs. Simpson would remain with her old friends or would avail herself of Mrs. Reginald Fellowes' 70-ton steam yacht in the harbor off Monte Carlo, no one professed to know.

There were some who thought Edward himself might join Mrs. Simpson in the Rogers' villa, but there was no indication that the sovereign was considering such a plan.

Urge Play For Time

With Mrs. Simpson safely secluded, for the time being at any rate, from the eyes of a startled world, friends urged the king to play for time in what they said was his continued determination to surrender neither his throne nor his right to marry as he chose.

The partisan support and opposition to the match hardened more stiffly throughout Saturday with at least one influential statesman, Winston Churchill, publicly championing the monarch against the repeated demands of his prime minister to choose between Mrs. Simpson and the throne with no alternative.

Churchill May Be Premier

While prime minister Baldwin motored to Edward's Belvedere retreat for yet another appeal to Edward to give up Mrs. Simpson, the brilliant Churchill, who may be king's premier if Baldwin resigns, attacked the government for not consulting parliament and challenged its right to advise the sovereign to abdicate.

Parliament Not Consulted

"Parliament has not been consulted in any way or allowed to express any opinion. The question is whether the king is to abdicate upon the advice of the ministry of the day . . .

"No ministry has the authority to advise abdication of the soverign. Only the most serious parliamentary processes could even raise the issue to decisive form."

Pointing out that the present crisis concerned a marriage that "in no circumstances can be accomplished for nearly five months and may conceivably, for various reasons, never be accomplished at all," Churchill asked for "patience." (Mrs. Simpson's divorce decree nisi becomes final next April 27, shortly before Edward's coronation is scheduled.)

Can Resign

The cabinet could, he suggested, advise the king against his reported request for legislation to permit a morganatic marriage, and added pointedly:

"If the king refuses to take the advice of his ministers, they are, of course, free to resign."

"If an abdication were to be hastily extorted the outrage so committed would cast its shadow forward across many chapters in the history of the British empire."

Baldwin remained with Edward tonight for an hour and a quarter.

Believed Determined

Secluded in his Belvedere castle, the monarch was believed determined to wed Mrs. Simpson, even though it cost his throne.

His antagonists were confident the monarch would be forced to abdicate to follow the distates of his heart but the king had not reached a decision on this.

While the American born Mrs. Simpson sped across France to a haven, Edward spent the day at rural Belvedere castle.

The longer he could delay a showdown on the constitutional crisis concerning his right to marry whom he chooses, the better appeared his chances of rallying public opinion.

Reaction Favors King

The average reaction of the young Englishman, who admires the king, is "let him have her." There is growing belief here that the same reaction prvails throughout the empire, although Baldwin claims sufficient backing from the dominions to crush any attempt to pass legislation permitting Edward to have Mrs. Simpson as his wife but not as his queen.

Lord Rothermere, powerful British publisher and brother of the late Lord Northcliffe, in an interview in the London Evening News asserted a "concerted effort" was being made to hurry the king from the throne and opposed this with the warning:

"No government, which on this matter of supreme importance, runs counter to the wishes of the people of England can survive.

"You cannot smuggle the greatest living Englishman off the throne of England during the weekend. Time must be given for a solution to this matter. The present haste is indecent and is giving rise to unpleasant rumors affecting high political and other personages."

CALLS PALACE DIRECT

VIENNE, France, Dec. 5. (AP)—Mrs. Wallis Simpson, on her way to a southern France haven from Great Britain's crown tempest, lunched today at a Vienne restaurant and put through a telephone call which, the operator said, went direct to Buckingham palace.

ANNOUNCE BONUS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—A bonus amounting to 2 per cent of each worker's base wage was announced today by Gimbel Bros., department store operators. The total amount will be $300,000.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Specialties ran the gauntlet of light selling in today's stock market for gains of fractions to 2 or more points, but most recent leaders were unable to get far out in front.

Encouraging business news and less worry over foreign happenings tended to brace market sentiment, but many traders seemed to find their positions on the side-lines fairly comfortable.

An assortment of low-priced issues was again quite lively. A few oils, aircrafts and rail equipments pushed up briskly for a time. Offerings in most cases, however, were sufficient to keep the so-called "blue chips" in a comparatively slim groove.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 70.4. Transfers for the two-hour session totalled 1,000,000 shares against 1,434,280 last Saturday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5. (AP)—Prices slid off approximately 25 cents a bale on the cotton market today.

Volume of business fell off on the decline and the gradual point-by-point dip was not accompanied by much activity.

Cables were favorable.

Dec. ended the week at 12.18, March at 11.94, May at 11.82 and Oct. at 11.30. Spot cotton sold at 12.44 for middling at New Orleans.

Weather reports told of unfavorable conditions in many sections for picking. Talk of crop abandonment in some areas persisted.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP) — Cotton was generally lower today under pre-bureau liquidation and southern selling.

March declined from 12.03@11.96 and closed at the low final prices 3 to 8 points net lower.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS Dec. 5. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.35 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—More than a cent a bushel setback of wheat prices at times today resulted largely from wet weather over much of the domestic crop belt.

July wheat, representing the 1937 harvest, displayed more of a downward price tendency than did old crop months, December and May.

Chicago, wheat futures closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛ lower. Dec. 1.34⅝@1.34⅞, May 1.36⅝@1.36¾, July 1.07⅞@1.07⅝, corn ⅜ off to ⅝ up, Dec. 1.07@1.07⅛, May new 1.03⅛@1.03⅜, July new 86⅝@86⅜, oats at ⅛ decline to an equal gain, May 46⅛, and rye ⅛ to 1 cent down, May 85⅛. The provisions outcome varied from 15 cents setback to 5 cent advance.

Unfavorable weather in the cornbelt made prices average higher.

Profit-taking sales weakened rye. Oats trading lacked feature.

Increasing stocks on hand gave an easier tone to provisions.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. . (AP)—Demand for grain at the week-end here was fair.

Wheat No. 1 hard 1.43⅛@1.44⅝.

and the cabinet over Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The man-in-the-street (and woman) rallied on the one hand to King Edward's side, on the other to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, while a number suggested compromises.

Typical comments of those favoring King Edward were:

"A Richmond Hill housewife: "Hands off of King Edward. We should be thrilled by his courage."

A man in Surrey: "We can do without Mr. Baldwin; we won't do without our king."

A shopgirl: "I like the looks of Mrs. Simpson. He (the king) should go the way his heart tells him."

Among the comments of those rallying to the support of Prime Minister Baldwin were:

A dining room steward: "The king has let us down."

A filing clerk: "Well done, Mr. Baldwin. You have the support of those believing hearts in the home."

A nurse: "The king should not marry Mrs. Simpson. His duty is to sacrifice love for the empire. But I would have liked to have seen a queen on the throne."

Broadway Sides With Edward In His Romance

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Broadway sided with England's King Edward VIII today in his determination to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

A matinee performance of "Victoria Regina," the play about the marriage of King Edward's great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, was stopped by an outburst of applause at the line:

"English kings have married commoners in the past. They'd better do it again."

Queen Marie Says "Rely On King Edward"

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 5. (AP) — Queen-Mother Marie of Rumania counseled the British empire to "rely on King Edward," her second cousin, in a telephonic interview from Bucharest printed today in the Sydney Sun.

"Let the empire keep steady and the king will do the right thing, for he's an Englishman," Marie said.

"I know what the empire means, for, remember, I was an Englishwoman."

publishers indicated today their opposition to any efforts to force the king to abdicate quickly if he persisted in his intention to marry Mrs. Simpson.

Churchill Has Weight

"Churchill's appeal to give the king time to make his decision will have a lot of weight, too.

"But Baldwin still is the master of Westminster.

"Whatever happens, there is bound to be a great public reaction one way or the other.

"What I said this morning still stands—the only definite decision is that the king is bound he will marry Mrs. Simpson but whether he will follow Mrs. Simpson to France and give up his throne no one can say now.

"That's all for now. We've got a busy hour ahead. Good night."

Rites Today For Mrs. H. J. O'Hair

Funeral services for Mrs. H. J. O'Hair, 67, of Coleman will be conducted today at her home there, it was learned here yesterday. Mrs. O'Hair, former president of the Texas Women's Press club and the only woman ever to serve on the University of Texas board of regents, died Friday night. She was well known in Lubbock.

Two grandsons, Robert McClellan and Rob O'Hair, are popular Lubbock residents. Survivors also include her husband, a sister, Mrs. Walter C. Woodward, and a brother, Claud McClellan of Coleman.

Mrs. O'Hair had lived in Coleman since 1891. She was appointed by former Gov. Pat. M. Neff in 1923 to serve a six-year term on the university board of regents. She was later appointed by former Gov. Dan Moody to serve two years of a retiring member's unexpired term.

A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hattie O'Hair, and grandson, Rob, now a student at the university, were at the Coleman home at the time of Mrs. O'Hair's death.

Teal Case To Open Monday

Prosecution And Defense Both Announce Unofficially As Ready For Trial In 18-Year-Old Murder Case

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

MULESHOE, Dec. 5.—Prosecution and defense in the case of John Teal, indicted for the 18-year-old murder of Miss Evelyn Monts in Bailey county, announced unofficially Saturday night that they were ready to try the case Monday in 64th district court.

Teal has been transferred to the Bailey county jail here from Lubbock, where he has been held most of the time since his arrest in Pendleton, Ore., last January.

Dean Announces Ready

"The state's ready to go to trial," said District Attorney Chas. H. Dean of Plainview.

"We're ready, and we were ready for trial last May," said George W. Dupree, who with Chas. C. Crenshaw, will defend Teal.

Dennis Zimmermann, Tulia, is a special prosecutor.

A special venire of 72 men has been summoned for the trial. Teal's case originally was called last May, but illness of the husband of Mrs. Onetta Crutchfield, Dacoma, Okla., caused the state to ask a continuance.

Mrs. Crutchfield, who in a habeas corpus hearing testified she had seen Teal, gun in hand, standing over the body of Miss Monts, will be the prosecution's star witness.

State To Ask "The Chair"

The state will ask "the chair" for Teal, District Attorney Dean said.

Teal's wife has arrived from her home in Pendleton to attend the trial and possibly to testify for her husband. Two Pendleton residents are expected to testify for the defense that Teal lived unimpeachably as William Owens in Pendleton.

Miss Monts, a Bailey county school teacher, was shot to death late Sunday, April 7, at the M. McCarty residence in southern Bailey county. Mrs. Crutchfield, then 13-year-old Oneita McCarty, was inside the house when the teacher was slain.

Teal left the South Plains section, went to Oklahoma, thence to the Pacific northwest where he took a new name, William Owens, and worked for years in a railroad roundhouse. He twice was married, his first wife dying.

The present Mrs. Teal came to Lubbock soon after her husband was returned here by Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock county and Sheriff Jim Cook of Muleshoe. She declared she was "standing by" her husband. The Teals have no children.

Texas Student Is Named Leader Of Student Assembly

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (AP) — Harvey Pulliam of the University of Texas was elected president of the general assembly of the Student Government congress this afternoon at Texas Christian university.

J. O. Tyler, Abilene was named first vice president and Miss Altrene Allen of Houston, second vice president.

Twenty-nine schools were represented as compared to 15 last year in Austin, while 107 delegates were present this year and only 50 in 1935.

The executive committee of nine members will be chosen by the new president and will select next year's meeting place.

Jim Lindsay of Texas Technological college, Tech's representative to the congress, was named to the nine-member executive committee which will select next year's meeting place.

Tech Ties Arizona, 7-7; Arkansas Downs Texas, 6 to 0

Neill's Aerial Barrage Gives Chance To Tie

Alan Plummer Goes Over For Touchdown On Sawdust Grid After Arizona Scores In Second Period Of Play

(By The Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 5.—Texas Tech's Red Raiders broke loose with a spectacular aerial circus on a sawdust covered field during the closing quarter today and tied the University of Arizona Wildcats, 7 to 7.

Arizona went into the final period with a 7 to 0 lead, but in the face of the terrific onslaught of the Texans saw their hopes for a victory in the final Border conference game go glimmering.

With Neill, halfback, doing the passing, Tech opened its scoring advance as the fourth period began. After receiving a punt on Arizona's 48-yard line, Neill whipped a 17-yard pass to Cannon. Three line plunges failed and Neill tossed to Ramsey on the 19. Repeating the play, Ramsey received a throw on the six-yard stripe.

WILDCATS ON RUN!

The following telegram from Tucson, Arizona, was received by the sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal last night:

"The boys dedicated today's game to the coaches, and played the greatest game of year. Had Arizona on run during all of colorful game. We missed field goal by inches and missed a pass in the end zone in last three minutes. Our boys really hustled and we are proud of them. Tex Oliver is sure down. (Signed) Dutchy Smith."

Plummer Bends Line

Plummer crashed the line for four yards. A line buck and a pass failed and Plummer again bore into the line. He bent the Arizona forward wall and was pushed back, but officials ruled he had crossed the goal. Neill passed to Ramsey to convert the extra point.

Bronko Smilanich, who replaced Wynne at halfback, at the opening of the second period, gave Arizona its touchdown and produced the outstanding performance of the game.

He intercepted two of Tech's passes shortly after the period began and in mid-period raced 30 yards to a touchdown, shaking off half a dozen tacklers in his sprint. Preininger converted through the line.

Except during these scoring drives the teams played evenly. The game was witnessed by 7,500 persons.

Neeley Misses Field Goal

After its successful scoring attack, Tech came back with another drive that threatened Arizona with defeat. After an exchange of punts Cannon resumed his aerial onslaught, passing 18 yards to Ramsey who reached the Arizona 32 yard line. Neill then tossed to Baze who was downed on the 12. With a score in sight, Neill threw over the goal line, but Smilanich knocked it down.

Coach Cawthon sent Neeley into the game to try for a field goal, but the kick was wide and Arizona punter out of danger. From then until the end of the game the two teams battled in mid-field without advantage.

10 First Downs To 4

Tech picked up 96 yards from passes and 112 on plunges. Arizona gained 141 on the ground and 41 in the air. Tech made 10 first downs to four for the Wildcats. The game was rough and penalties were frequent. Arizona lost 85 yards for rule infractions and Tech 65.

Big Ten Turns Down Plan To Offer Athletic Scholarships

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Western conference faculty committee on athletics turned down the Wisconsin "Reynolds plan," devised to provide a modified system for subsidizing athletes, at the annual meeting today.

The proposal, presented during a long session of the committee, by Prof. Robert L. Reynolds of Wisconsin, was rejected on two counts, as read:

1. That the section providing for $400 scholarships for Wisconsin prep school athletes qualifying after attendance at a six-weeks summer "institute" in athletics and academic work, definitely would be a violation of big ten elegibility rules.

2. That the "institute" proposal was of "doubtful legality" under conference rules.

Mustang Reserves Turn Rice Owls Back In Final Go, 9-0

Tech Cagers Take Spotlight Now; To Open Season Friday Night; Southern California Trojans Here Next Week

Texas Tech wrote finis to its 1936 football campaign yesterday, and the sports spotlight at the college shifts over completely to Coach Berl Huffman's basketball department.

The Red Raider cagers, never defeated for the Border conference title until last season, have been working out, "of and on," for weeks, but daily sessions did not get under way until recently.

Double Header Friday

But it's basketball time at Tech, and the season opens Friday night with a double header. Spike Henninger is bringing two teams of Cosden Oilers from Big Spring here, and the "A" teams will play the main event, starting at 8 o'clock. Friday night at the Tech gymnasium. The "B" teams will start the preliminary at 7 o'clock. There'll be one admission charge for both games.

Coach Huffman has lined up an attractive home schedule this season, a pre-Christmas highlight being the appearance of the University of Southern California Trojans here for a one night stand, Wednesday, December 16.

The Trojans, kings of the Pacific Coast, are making a tour through the south and southwest. Coach Huffman lined up the game here when he attended a basketball clinic conducted at Los Angeles last summer by Coach Sam Barry of the Trojan cagers.

Border Teams Here

Border conference teams from Flagstaff, El Paso, Tempe and Tucson come to Lubbock for two games each in January and February, the conference season starting January 11 when the Flagstaff Teachers come here. The Texas Miners play Tech February 1 and 2; Tempe Teachers are here February 19 and 20, and University of Arizona on February 22 and 23.

A veteran team reinforced by sophomore and transfer eligibles makes Tech's basketball prospects anything but poor."

Nine letter men are available, and the regulars of last year have added weight and height necessary to a winning team. Coach Huffman is pleased with workouts so far, and believes he has a good team coming up.

Letter men are Russell "Curly" Wilkinson, 6 feet, 4-inch center who has lettered twice; Hugh Snodgrass, all-conference guard, 6 feet tall, who has earned two letters and will be playing his last year; Judge Garrett, the New Mexico giant who led the scoring last year, a 6-foot, 3-inch forward playing his senior year; Bob Case, a 6-foot, 1-inch letter man who plays at almost any position; Paul Morris, 5-foot, 9-inch guard; Maurice Wiginton, a junior, standing two inches over six feet; Bob Hale, Lubbock senior and guard, 3 inches over six feet; Dan Corbin, 6-foot, 3-inch forward or center and Leroy Crews, twice a letter man, an inch short of six feet, and a goal-shooting ace when he's right.

Promising Newcomers

Among newcomers to the squad this year are Sam Garrison, a transfer from Wesley college, who stands 6 feet, 4-inces and will try for the center postion; George Underwood, transfer from Haskell institute, short but fast and an accurate goal shooter; Winston Brummett, a Lubbock boy coming up from the freshman squad, a 6-footer plus 2 inches; Herp Currie, from Westbrook and the freshman team, a hustling guard; Elmer Tarbox, the Higgins flash completing his first year of varsity football and ready to start his first year of varsity basketball, and Frank Moore, transfer from Wayland college, a husky six-fooser. Wayne Wilkins, heavyweight guard from Lubbock and last year's squad, is hustling for a shot at the regular lineup.

Indications are that the lineup will be much the same as last season's, with the addition of Crews, who was out part of the season.

Anton High Invites Cagers To Tourney Opening Friday

ANTON, Dec. 5. (Special)—Anton High school is to play host to girls basketball teams of the South Plains Friday and Saturday, December 11 and 12.

All girls teams of the district are eligible, and invited. Deadline for entries is Tuesday, Coach Bob Rich announced today, and coaches of teams desiring to enter are urged to signify their intentions immediately. Several entries already have been received, including that of the strong Southland team.

Coach Rich's Anton teams won two games at Muleshoe Friday night, the Anton boys winning, 26 to 15, and the girls triumphing, 21 to 16.

Alabama Not To Participate In Post Season Grid Battle

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 5. (AP)—Henry "Hank" Crisp, University of Alabama athletic director, announced today the Crimson Tide will participate in no post season football game.

The announcement eliminated Alabama as a possible contestant in the new year game in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Hardin-Simmons Eleven Rides To Easy Victory Over West Coast Club In Game Played At Wichita Falls

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 5.—The heavy Hardin-Simmons university Cowboys today rounded up Fresno State's lighter Bulldogs with ease, battering them into submission 28 to 6.

The Cowboys combined heavy-handed groundwork with fancier aerials to score in every period but the third, Fresno's lone tally came in the opening period.

Buns McKinney, a Wichita Falls boy, gave the home fans a fine passing and broken-field running display. He pitched a 15-yard pass to Ed Cherry for the Cowboys' first touchdown in the first, and threw one 12 yards to Harris in the second to place the ball on the Bulldogs' eight. Cherry then rammed it across for a touchdown.

In the fourth, McKinney topped his performance off by dashing wide around the Fresno right end, outrunning the Bulldog secondary and streaking 67 yards for a touchdown. Hardin-Simmons had scored earlier in the period when Emery, substitute back, rifled an 11-yard pass to Pete Tyler for the touchdown. Calloway kicked goal after three of the Cowboy scores and Hendricks converted the other.

The Bulldogs scored late in the first when Gleason went to the one-yard line on a reverse, then charged over in two tries at the line. Dittenbir's attempt at conversion from placement was low.

Simmons made seven first downs to Fresno's five, gained 263 yards from scrimmage to Fresno's 97.

The lineups:

Baseball Market Moves To Gotham

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—The baseball market shifted from Montreal to 42nd street today as officials rolled their hopes and problems South for the major league meetings.

Officially the meetings do not start until Tuesday, but most of the club owners and managers were around singing the praise of players they want to get rid of.

The possibility that Commissioner Landis would declare Bob Feller of the Cleveland a free agent and that the St. Louis Cardinals would trade Dizzy Dean still dominated the conversation.

A difference of around $150,000 was holding up the Dean-to-Cincinnati deal, according to one high official. It semed evident Dean would be sent to the Rhineland if and when the Reds are willing to add $150,000 worth of ball players to their offer of $200,000 in cash.

Goodson Makes Up For "Goat" Act To Beat Owls

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Sudden outbreaks by a fiery collection of second stringers brought on a touchdown, field goal and a 9-0 victory for Southern Methodist's Mustangs over a battered Rice Owl in the season's finale here today.

Shot into the game after the first string had missed fire on two scoring chances inside the 12 yards stripe in the first two periods, the reserves had a touchdown within three minutes after the third period, kickoff and added the clinching field goal soon after.

Kenneth Goodson, famed "goat" of the Methodist eleven, came into his own in the third period splurge, firing passes and jolting the tackles for most of the gains in a 65 yard drive that carried from the Mustang 35 to a touchdown. Stapp, bulky reserve halfback, started it with a 22 yard reverse over left tackle, Goodson found Carroll on a 13 yard pass and then ran the ball three times to the six.

The gallant Owl line stood off three Mustang line thrusts but Goodson circled end on fourth down for the touchdown. George Sanders' kick was wide.

Stidger Boots Goal

Pudgy Johnny Stidger hurried into the game and with the substitute line holding out Rice's charging warriors, kicked a perfect field goal from placement on the Rice 22 yard marker.

The defeat dropped Rice into a last place tie with the University of Texas in the final Southwest conference standings and shoved the Methodists into fifth place.

Big Bob Finley, great Methodist kicking star, closed out his college career with a smashing exhibition of ball carrying and phenomenal out of bounds kicking with and against a high wind.

It was his perfect toe work in the first half that kept the Owls constantly in the hole, despite a first period advantage gained when they won the toss and started out with their backs to the wind.

Keith Ranspot, Methodist end, dived on a loose ball in the Owl backfield in the second period and the Methodist, starting from the Owl 16, blasted to the six on thrusts by Finley and Harlow. Stidger circled end and carried across but the play was called back and S.M.U. penalized. Stidgers attempted field goal went wide.

The Owls, paced by Co-Captain Buck Friedman, also finishing a brilliant career, started a fourth period drive that bogged down on the Methodist 14.

Helped along by a Rice kick that sailed out of bounds at midfield, the Methodists, featuring Finley's terrific line cracking, started goalwards again in the fading minutes o' the game. The huge fullback ripped the guards down to the Rice 15 but Meyers was spilled for a 10 yard loss on an attempted wide end run and Rice took over the ball just before the game's end.

The lineups:

S. M. U.	Pos.	RICE

Shake-Up In Administration Seen Today; Warnings For Peace Unheard By Factions At Houston Convention

By ALAN GOULD

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The amateur Athletic union's 48th convention, due for a complete shake-up of administration before it closes tomorrow, battled today through a broken field of arguments that brought into the open, for the first time, echoes of the stormy 1935 split on Olympic issues.

Despite warnings at the outset from President Avery Brundage against "bickering" and "sniping" that threatened to wreck the organization, the delegates wrangled most of the day over subjects ranging from a sharp factional fight over the seating of the district of Columbia representatives on the board of governors to furious debates over new legislation barring backhand punches in amateur boxing.

Gavel Used Frequently

During the double barreled session that found Brundage constantly wielding the gavel to halt shadow boxing or verbal passages at arms, the convention accomplished the following results:

1. Defeat of the administration proposal for an "Olympic tax" on admissions to athletic events by an overwhelming vote.

2. Retention of the metric system of measurement for national track and field championships, with "local option prevailing otherwise for club or sectional competition.

3. Adoption of numerous technical rules—changes in swimming, boxing and track and field sports, all designed to bring American regulations into conformity with international standards.

4. Partial lifting of restrictions against the amateur eligibility of life-guards with retention of the so-called "90 day clause," for probationary purposes and with discretionary power resting in the hands of district registration committees.

Harmony Program Wrecked

5. Rejection, for the time being, of proposals to establish a new definition of active and associate memberships in the A. A. U. because of numerous border-line cases developed by the effects of the depression years.

The convention's "harmony program" came close to being tossed out of the window during the heighth of the day's most acrimonious discussion. This centered around the election of District of Columbia delegates to the board of governors. It was touched off when Charles L. Ornstein of New York, floor leader for the forces backing Jeremiah T. Mahoney for the presidency, challenged the nomination submitted by Winfree E. Johnson, secretary of the D. C. association.

The convention overrode the objections of the legislative committee in voting to reduce the entry fees for the national senior water polo competition from $10 to $5 and the junior fees from $5 to $3. William S. Haddock of Pittsburgh joined metropolitan delegates in fighting for the change.

Backhand Blows Taboo

Life guards, barred from amateur swimming competition previously, will be permitted to compete after expiration of the 90-day probationary period, under certain restrictions. Brundage explained that the bars still are up against life guards who do any coaching or otherwise professionalize themselves. The new rule gives registration committees power to decide individual cases on their merits.

Demonstration punches were flying all over the room, jeopardizing sundry chins, before the convention adopted the new boxing rule, barring backhand blows. Benjamin Osthues of the New England association, a veteran official, argued for clarification of the rule to prevent putting referees "on the spot" but his contentions received a theoretical knockout.

Tut, Tut, Boys!

Notre Dame's Luck Deserts; Southern Cal Scores With 100-Yard Spring And Dash Of 65 Yards

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Dec. 5. (AP)—The luck of the Irish deserted Notre Dame today and University of Southern California's Trojans scored once on a 100-yard sprint and again on a 65-yard dash to tie the famed Green of South Bend, 13 to 13.

Seventy-five thousand fans at the home-coming saw fullback Dick Berryman run 65 yards for the opening Trojan score. A moment later they went into hysterics when Bud Langley, a substitute halfback, intercepted a Notre Dame pass on his own goal line and ran the length of the field for another tally.

BOOS FOR BOWL

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (AP)—The announcer at the Notre Dame-Southern California football game today told the crowd of 70,000 that tickets were on sale for the Washington-Pittsburgh battle in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

A tremendous thunder of boos greeted the announcement.

Coach Elmer Layden's decided favorites made their touchdowns on smashing, battering football, and outgained the men of Troy in top heavy fashion. Southern California made but one first down, and that late in the final period on a holding penalty against the Irish. Notre Dame made 18 and outrushed U.S.C. 223 yards to 24.

Troy got the luck, Notre Dame a moral setback.

Quitaque To Stage Tourney For Boys Cage Teams Jan. 8

QUITAQUE, Dec. 5. (Special)—Quitaque High school's first annual invitation basketball tournament for high school boys teams of this section is to be staged January 8 and 9, it was learned this week.

Approximately 40 teams have been invited to participate in the tournament, which will be conducted according to Texas Interscholastic league rules. Teams interested in entering the tournament are urged to contact Roy Morris, principal of Quitaque High school.

Five large team trophies will be given to the winner, runner-up, third place winner, consolation winner and runner-up. Rooms will be furnished teams who come from a long distance.

Porkers Pass For Victory And Title

Arkansas Spurts In Third To Hang Up First Pennant

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 5.—Dwight Sloan, Slim University of Arkansas junior, drove his passing Porkers to their first undisputed Southwest conference championship and a 6 to 0 victory over the University of Texas here today on a field reduced to a morass by a cold driving rain.

Approximately 7,000 madly cheering fans braved the elements to witness a game drab throughout with the single exception of Sloan's sensational scoring drive that culminated in a touchdown pass across the goal to Jim Benton, all-conference end.

Texas Carries Fight

Texas had every advantage in statistics except forward passing. Arkansas completed eight out of 16 forwards for 71 yards.

The scoring break in the game of punts and fumbles came late in the third period. Texas had the ball on its own 45-yard line. Halfback Wallace Lawson dropped back and heaved a long forward intended for Collins. Sloan, took the ball on his own 30. He dashed back across the field through the disorganized Texans before he was finally smothered on the 44.

Sloan then shot a forward to Martin for eight yards and another neat pass to Benton for ten more giving Arkansas a first down on the Texas 25. Faking a pass, Sloan drove through the line for five and then heaved another pass to Benton for a first down on the Texas 13. Sloan again ran with the ball, slashing seven yards through the mud to the Texas six.

On the next play he shot a hard, fast one across the goal to Benton who came up between two Texas backs to fold in the forward and stumble on his face, safe with the winning touchdown. B. A. Owen's attempted placement was blocked.

First downs were evenly divided six each. Texas netted 70 yards rushing compared to 30 for Arkansas.

New Deal To Conduct Girls Cage Tournament This Week

New Deal High school of Monroe is sponsoring a girls basketball tournament, starting Wednesday of this week and continuing through Saturday, to which all high school girls teams of the section are invited, A. L. Paubion, superintendent, announced yesterday.

The tournament will be held in the new gymnasium, which is as large and adequate as any in the section.

Paubion pointed out that it would not be necessary for any team to lose any time from school, due to the fact that play will start Wednesday night, December 9, and teams playing then will not play again until Saturday morning.

An attractive array of prizes has been assured.

St. Mary's Gaels Beat Temple 13-7

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. (AP)—St. Mary's Gaels capped an indifferent football season in brilliant fashion today with a 13 to 7 intersectional victory over veteran Glenn "Pop" Warner's light but tricky Temple university Owls.

Outcome of the game traced directly to poor punting on the part of Quarterback Davidson. His weak kicks in the second and third periods paved the way for St. Mary's touchdowns through possession of the ball within striking distance of the Temple goal.

The boys from the other side of the continent, small compared to the warriors tutored by Edward "Slip" Madigan, were outscored but were far from outclassed.

Denver To Make Strong Bid For National AAU Cage Cup

DENVER, Dec. 5. (AP)—Practically assured of getting the national A. A. U. basketball championship for the third straight year, Denver will make a redoubled challenge for a national cage title this season.

No Rocky Mountain team has won basketball's most coveted blue ribbon since a powerful University of Utah outfit triumphed in 1916.

Denver is staking its hopes for national honors on two teams—the Safeways, who in several years of trying never have advanced past the quarterfinals of a national meet, and the Kansas City Life team, which made a good showing last year.

Aggies Defeat New York Club At Tyler 13-6

Dick Todd, Bob Nesrsta Lead Farmers To Triumph Before 5,000 Fans; Manhattan Gets Over In Fourth Period

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF

TYLER, Dec. 5. (AP)—The flying feet of Dick Todd and Bob Nesrsta ground the Manhattan college Jaspers of New York into 13-6 defeat before a crowd of 5,000 fans here today.

The Aggies scored twice in the third period, Nesrsta leading a one man drive from the Manhattan 38-yard line and Todd later racing around the Jasper left end for 76 yards and the counter. Byrne scored for Manhattan on a plunge from the 1 yard line.

The game was played on a muddy field but this did not prevent both teams trying all their plays. The backs held their footing remarkably well.

The Manhattan touchdown came as the result of two penalties in a row, the last giving the Jaspers the ball on the Aggie 1 yard stripe.

A. and M. gained the ball on the Manhattan 38 yard line on a fine punt returned by Waylon Manning. Nesrsta smashed the line twice and made a first down on the Manhattan 25. Shockey passed to Nesrsta for six, then Nesrsta crashed tackle for 14 more. Nesrsta made one and a pass from Shockey to Seago carried to the Manhattan 1. Nesrsta circled right end for the touchdown. Morrow added the point.

The first half was rather colorless with most of the play between the 30 yard lines. The only outstanding feature was a 40 yard dash by the fleet Todd, who took a lateral from Vitek and raced to the Manhattan 47.

Things picked up in the third when the driving Nesrsta led the smashing surge over the Jasper line. The Aggie back was injured but remained in the game long enough to score the touchdown. Boyd replaced him and missed the try for extra point.

Todd's long run in the third was of the sensational variety. Shaking off several eager Manhattan tacklers the fleet boy from Crowell, outran the field for a touchdown that transplanted this game from a commonplace affair into one that brought the crowd to its feet.

The Jaspers were not daunted and came back with a dash of fire in the last two periods, causing many anxious moments for the backers of the Texans.

Ole Miss Halts Tennessee In Scoreless Tie; Gun Ends Drive

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 5. (AP)—The Mississippi Rebels halted Tennessee's great comeback campaign today by fighting the Vols to a scoreless tie before 16,000 fans.

They battled valiantly but there wasn't enough steam in the attack of either to bring any serious scoring threats until the final minute of the game. Then Mississippi drove to Tennessee's six yard line in a desperate passing attack that was cut short by the final gun.

Bobby Jones Sues Collector Of Revenue For Tax Refund

MACON, Ga., Dec. 5. (AP)—Robert Tyre "Bobby" Jones, pr., former international golf champion, today sued Internal Revenue Collector W. E. Page for a refund of $53,338.84 paid in income taxes on receipts from his work in the movies.

Jones asked return of $27,396.80 paid the federal government in 1931 and $25,942.14 paid in 1933. The suit will be heard in the March term of federal court.

DECISION SUSTAINED

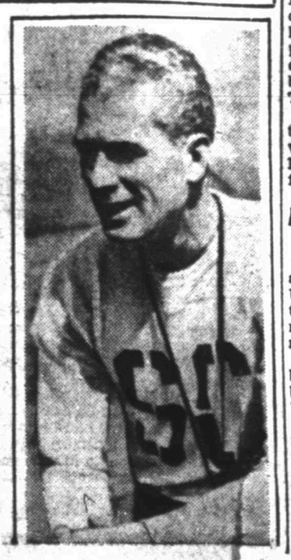

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. (AP) — On appeal by the Gladewater club of the East Texas league, the executive committee of the National Association of Baseball Leagues today sustained the decision of President W. G. Branham ruling that Gladewater could not re-acquire the services of Pitcher Jennings Poindexter until a draft period intervenes.

These Four Pigskin Pilots Sure Of Job In 1937

Due to the preponderance of football upsets this year, a lot of gridiron coaches are going to be looking for new jobs, due to an unsuccessful season—but these four won't. They turned in seasons among the best in the nation—Lowell (Red) Dawson, left, giving Tulane a fine club in his first year as head man; Maj. Bob Neyland, upper left, bringing on Tennessee with a rush after returning to that school from army duty this year; Raymond (Ducky) Pond, upper right, giving Yale the championship Big Three team, and Buck Shaw, right, turning out an undefeated and untied squad in his first year at Santa Clara.

Abilene And North Side Of Fort Worth Join Schoolboy Quarter-Finalists

Eagles Defeat El Paso 34-7; Meet Amarillo

Fort Worth Team Beats North Dallas, 7-0; To Play Next Against Gainesville; Port Arthur Game Is Set

(By The Associated Press)

Abilene and North Side of Fort Worth went into the quarter finals of the state interscholastic league football race Saturday with clean-cut victories over El Paso and North Dallas respectively.

Abilene trounced El Paso 34 to 7 at El Paso while North Side was beating North Dallas 7 to 0 at Fort Worth. They joined Corpus Chisti, Gainesville, Lufkin, Amarillo, Port Arthur and Kerrville as contestants in the quarter-finals.

PLAY AT ABILENE

The Abilene Eagles and Amarillo Sandies will clash at Abilene next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the decision was reported last night. Abilene won the toss when officials met at El Paso and elected to play the quarter-final game at Abilene.

The Kerrville-Lufkin game will be played in Waco Saturday at 2 p. m., officials of the schools decided in a meeting at Waco yesterday. Fort Worth and Gainesville officials are to meet in Fort Worth today to decide on time and place for their game.

Here's Schedule

The schedule next week will match Amarillo against Abilene; Gainesville against North Side; Lufkin against Kerrville and Port Arthur against Corpus Christi.

The Corpus Christi-Port Arthur game will be played at Port Arthur Saturday. No announcement had been made regarding site and time of the other quarter finals.

Kimbrough And Herman Lead Eagles To Win

EL PASO, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Abilene High school Eagles advanced into the quarter-finals of the state interscholastic league grid playoff by trouncing the El Paso High school Tigers 34 to 7 in their bi-district battle today.

A recovered ball on a blocked kick by J. D. Beam, Abilene back, brought El Paso's lone touchdown in the first quarter. E. Carrasco, right tackle, picked up the ball in midfield and scored. Woolverton converted.

From then on it was Abilene's game. John Kimbrough, giant Eagle quarterback, made four touchdowns and Odell Herman fullback, made the other. Kimbrough tied the score in the first period when he went over from the 45, his longest scoring dash; added another from the five in the second quarter; scored from the one-foot line in the third and went over from the seven in the fourth.

Herman's touchdown came in the second quarter, going over from the one-yard stripe. Morman Cumpton added four points to the Eagles score on kicks after touchdowns.

Abilene outgained El Paso on the ground 306 to 104 yards, and made 14 first downs to five by the Tigers. El Paso attempted 14 passes and made five good; Abilene tried three and completed two.

Pugh Is Star For North Side Steers

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (AP)—Powerful plunging by Big Marion Pugh, their ace quarterback, gave the North Side Steers of Fort Worth a 7 to 0 victory over the North Dallas Bulldogs in a bi-district game here Saturday afternoon. The scrap was waged on a heavy field at T. C. U. stadium.

The North Siders had a clear edge all afternoon. They held the Bulldogs to three first downs and made nine themselves. They were inside the Bulldog 20 yard line five times. North Dallas got no nearer than the Maroon 30.

After losing one chance when they fumbled on the goal line the Steers marched 45 yards for their score in the third quarter. Pugh made the last 19 yards on five plunges and he kicked goal.

The North Siders now play Gainesville in the quarter final round.

Mississippi State Trounces Florida University, 7 To 0

GAINEVILLE, Fla., Dec. 5. (AP)—Mississippi State lashed out with one brilliant touchdown thrust today and ended a successful season by defeating a grimly fighting Florida team 7 to 0.

Kepeckle, playing his final game as a Maroon back, snatched a 30-yard pass from Bernard Ward in the first period and sprinted 20 yards across the Florida goal line. Then he sent a placement between the uprights for the extra point.

GONZAGA BEATS COUGARS

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 5. (AP)—Gonzaga's one-touchdown "jinx" over Washington State college held for the third successive year here today as the Bulldogs snatched a 13 to 6 victory over the Pacific Coast conference runner-up.

Sparked by the brilliant running and punting of George Karamatic, all-coast fullback, Gonzaga came from behind to tie the score in the third period and clinch victory under the final period floodlights.

SPORTOGRAPH by COLLIER PARRIS

ACCORDING TO THE Dick Dunkle football forecasting and rating system which is one of the most accurate and reliable of the various "system," University of Minnesota is the No. 1 team of the nation for 1936. Louisiana State is second, Pittsburgh third, University of Washington fourth.

After that come Nebraska, Notre Dame, Duquesne, Alabama, California and Santa Clara, in that order, making up the top ten for the season.

Mr. Dunkel, whose press agents contend that "his is the most accurate football forecasting system ever devised," and who point out that "its six-year record of 80 per cent accuracy and 95 per cent 'efficiency' speaks for its soundness," offers final rating on 481 college teams of the country, the "batting averages" running from Minnesota's .863 to Marquette Teachers' .145.

Texas Tech is rated in 177th place with an average of .344, tied with Willamette university of Salem, Oregon.

SO IT does appear that Louisiana State would have been the logical choice for the Rose Bowl, and that Pitt would have been second choice. Alabama, the object of affection by most critics, is rated in eighth place, four slots below the host Washington university team, so there must have been more behind Washington's choice than the idea the Huskies had a better chance to win from Pitt than from either of the Southern teams.

Naturally, we of the south would have been more pleased had Louisiana State or Alabama received the bid. A lot of other folks feel the same way, judging from the hue and cry set up in different parts of the country when Pitt got the invitation. L. S. U. deserves the invitation perhaps more than Pitt.

We imagine a lot of politics is played in the Rose Bowl selections. When an invitation means from fifty thousand to a hundred grand to a school, you do not have to be psychic to figure out a little of what goes on through the private channels.

But according to Mr. Dunkel's ratings, the Rose Bowl teams are well matched. It should be quite a ball game, but it is doubtful if it will attract the crowd which stormed the Pasadena gates when the flying Mustangs went to play the daffiness boys from Palo Alto early this year.

(By the way, wonder when that sequel entitled "From Rose Bowl to Pink Slip" is coming out in the Sat. Eve. Post?)

AS FOR TEXAS Tech being rated far down the line in 177th place, maybe that's all right, too, according to Mr. Dunkel's way of figuring. It does seem sort of out of line, however, considering that Tech defeated Texas Christian, which is ranking in 18th place with a .441 average; Centenary, rated 69th with a .361 average and outplayed DePaul, which ranks at .351. University of Arizona was rated 91st, with an average of .325, as compared with Tech's .244.

The Red Raiders started the season in place 88, with a .351 average, and it went higher after victories over Texas Wesleyan, Texas Christian and Oklahoma City U. Tech got up close to .400 after beating the Frogs, then slumped pitifully in the figures when Wichita university, who is rated finally at the 201st place with .232, measured the Matadors. There was a slight pickup after Tech doused Centenary's lights, then the figures started going down.

There's some consolation in knowing that a lot of teams rated far ahead of Tech would not make even a close match with the Red Raiders in their top condition. There's also consolation in knowing that a lot of teams such as Kansas university, Brown, Rutgers, Kansas Wesleyan, Texas Mines (claimant to the Border conference title and one of the Sun Bowl teams), Grinnell, Wyoming, Montana State and Slippery Rock are rated BELOW Texas Tech.

HARDIN-SIMMONS university, played a rather weak schedule, winning most of its games and getting the bid to the Sun Bowl, rates high, in 36th position with a standing of .410. Below it are Colgate, North Carolina, Purdue, Southern California, Iowa, Baylor, S. M. U., in that order, and still further down are Ole Miss, Indiana, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Washington State, Rice and Stanford, the latter in 87th place.

SHORT STORIES: Juicy Owen, who with Stud Harris, coaches the Electra High school teams, is weekending in Lubbock . . . the ex-Tech tackle had a good year at Electra, and doesn't believe the district's strongest team played in the bi-district game. . . . Wichita Falls, Owens believes, like so many others, should be the strongest team in District 2 every year, like Amarillo in District 1, but . . . Bill Sanders' Littlefield Wildcats sure looked tough in winning from Snyder Friday. . . . They may have more trouble with Midland, but we like them Wildcats. . . . Sam Rosenthal's independent gridders, made up largely of former Lubbock High stars, may play a New Years Day game in Hobbs, N. M. . . .

AND how about a few expressions regarding a Christmas Day game here between the 1936 grads of Lubbock High and Tech, and a team comprised of older heads? . . . Harold Crites, Ed McKeever, Aubrey Butts and the other boys still in town are hot and ready. . . . Juicy Owen said he probably would be here and would like a backfield job. . . . Gaines Davis and Mule Dowell, our delegates to the professional circuits, are to be here. . . . one could make a pretty fair team out of that bunch. . . . Pat chance of Tech replacing Arkansas in the Southwest conference now! . . . but the Porkers deserved the victory. . . . Jimmie William is going to dress up his independent basketball team in flaming red masks, like the Masked Marvel wears. . . . And it's to be known as the "Mystery Marvels," or something. . . . Has anyone written to George White yet?" . . . Terrible boner, that one he made about Centenary beating Tech. . . .

Smith Leading Miami Tourney

Chicago Pro Posts 137 For 72 Holes To Lead Guldahl By Stroke; Lawson Little Fires 66 To Tie Record

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 5. (AP)—Horton Smith, pallied Chicago professional, retained the lead in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore golf tournament today with a 72 hole score of 137.

Right behind him was Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, who scored 68 today—thanks to his chip shots—for a two day card of 138.

Jimmy Hines, of New York, third with 139, had a 67 today and W. Lawson Little of San Francisco, making his winter debut as a money golfer, tied the competitive course record with a 66 to take fourth place with 140. Tony Butler, Harlingen, shot 76-81—157.

Ralph Chips 'Em Close

The field was trimmed to the low 75 pros and ties for the final 36 holes to be played tomorrow and Monday.

Guldahl had a weird round. He was on only three greens as he should have been but his chip shots were dead to the pin and he needed only 22 putts for the 18 holes, even though he missed a five-footer on the tenth.

Smith, who won the $2,500 first prize last year, and Little playing in a threesome with Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., attracted a big gallery and rewarded it with a brilliant exhibition.

Smith had five birdies and was over par on three holes. Little, known for his long wood shots, scored an eagle three on the 480-yard 18th hole and birdied five others. Picard took a 72 for a two day 145.

It took 151 to come in under the wire for the pros.

Kilgore Rangers Win Jaycee Title

BEAUMONT, Dec. 5. (AP)—Kilgore's Rangers won the Texas Junior College football championship here this afternoon, defeating a stubborn Lamar Cardinal aggregation 10 to 7. It was a thriller from start to finish.

Ripper Remmond booted a field goal in the first quarter to account for Kilgore's first three points but in the following period Lamar blocked a Ranger punt deep in Kilgore territory, the ball bounding back over the goal line, where Bahn covered for a touchdown. Gernard's placekick was good.

In the fourth quarter Kilgore advanced to the Lamar one-yard line. On the second smash at the line Muchowich ployed over the touchdown and Reppond added the extra point.

Walter Stratton To Meet Bennett In Main Event This Week; Pair Of Newcomers To Change Rassle Scenery

Walter Stratton, whose bulging muscles and fine muscular control have prevailed against every main event opponent thrown at him in this wrestling circuit, is to clash with George Bennett, pleasant fellow from Oklahoma, in the main go at Sled Allen's Auditorium Wednesday night.

The Des Moines, Iowa, strong man came back to the circuit last week, and overpowered Bob Cummings of San Francisco after toying with the tall grappler for more than 10 minutes. A sudden burst of strength, a few flip-flops over his head, and Stratton had won himself another match. He'll have more trouble with Bennett, who stands out as somebody come in this league.

Art Perkins Returns

Two newcomers and another grappler who hasn't worked these parts in several months will give the fans a further change of scenery this week. Red Byrd, from Kentucky, and Russell Riley, who claims Carlsbad, N. M., as his home, are paired off in the preliminary. Neither has appeared in the local ring. They are said to be fast and clever, and their records show they are also effective.

Art Perkins, from Detroit, was in the circuit last year, and fans no doubt will remember him as a rather tough customer. He gets a tough assignment in his re-debut here, meeting Sailor Moran, conqueror of Herbie Parks last week, in the semi-final.

Rose Bowl Officials In Happy Mood

Ticket Orders Are Pouring In; Also Hot Protests

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 5. (AP)—Rose Bowl football officials opened up the morning mail today and sighed with relief.

Bombarded for 24 hours by a cross fire of criticism over the selection of Pittsburgh as the Eastern opponent in the annual New Year's Day game, they had reason to welcome the mail.

It contained checks and requests for tickets to the game. They hoped the mailman comes again, and again.

Athletic Director Ray Eckman of the University of Washington Huskies, the host team of the West, remained confident the Panthers and Huskies would sell-out the huge bowl.

Close observers in Pasadena and Los Angeles were not so confident, and dissatisfaction over the fact that undefeated Louisiana State or Alamaba was not invited to the coast continued in evidence.

Thomas At Banquet

Eckman, sitting at a football banquet last night, grinned good naturedly when the toastmaster, Pat O'Brien, introduced Coach Frank Thomas of Alabama, with the comment:

"—And up to 48 hours ago, Frank Thomas was practically leading his boys from Alabama into the Rose Bowl."

Huskie officials announced that arrangements for the ticket sale will get underway Monday at their headquarters (132 East Colorado street) here.

John Henry Lewis Suspended By National Boxing League

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The District of Columbia boxing commission, through Secretary Harvey Miller, announced today John Henry Lewis, world's light heavyweight champion, had been suspended by commissions affiliated with the National Boxing association.

The suspension stands until Lewis has satisfied his obligation to Promoter McDonald of Washington. The N. B. A. charged Lewis failed to keep an agreement with McDonald.

Frenship Girls Win Another Cage Game; Beat Shallowater

The Frenship High school girls basketball team added another victory Friday night by defeating Shallowater, 51 to 8, on the Shallowater court.

Welch, forward, led the Frenship team with 24 points. Shallowater was held to two field goals. Frenship reserves played most of the second half.

Shallowater is to return the game next Wednesday week.

Midland Routs McCamey 56-2 To Advance To Region Finale

Dave Wafford Leads Bulldogs To Crushing Victory; Play Littlefield On Friday At Midland For Region Title

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

McCAMEY, Dec. 5.—The Midland Bulldogs barged through to the championship of Districts 7 and 8, Class B, by completely crushing the McCamey Badgers, 56 to 2, before a crowd of 3,000 persons here this afternoon. The Badgers were badly outclassed in every department of the game.

Big Dave Wafford, Midland quarterback, was again the leader in today's victory. The 196-pounder accounted for three touchdowns and passed for another. Barber shared honors in the scoring, making three touchdowns. Taylor and Bryant made one each. Wafford also made two extra points after Taylor and touchdowns, while Adams accounted for four.

Each club scored safetys on blocked kicks. McCamey threatened to score on only one occasion.

Wafford Strings Out

Touchdown runs of 79 and 91 yards by Wafford were highlights of the game.

Midland scored 19 first downs to 4 for McCamey, and the Bulldogs gained a total of 469 yards from scrimmage against 85 for the Badgers. Midland completed five out of 10 passes, and intercepted three of McCamey's 16 heaves. McCamey completed four and intercepted one. The Badgers were penalized a total of 35 yards against 30 for Midland.

Officials of the Midland and Littlefield bi-district championship teams met here immediately following the game. Littlefield accepted Midland's invitation and a large guarantee to play the game in Midland next Friday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

Baugh Lands On All-America Picked By College Writers

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Dec. 5. (AP)—An "All-America" football team picked by 53 editors of college papers in 34 states was announced today by Robert Kunkel of the University of North Dakota who is president of the National Intercollegiate Sports Writers' association.

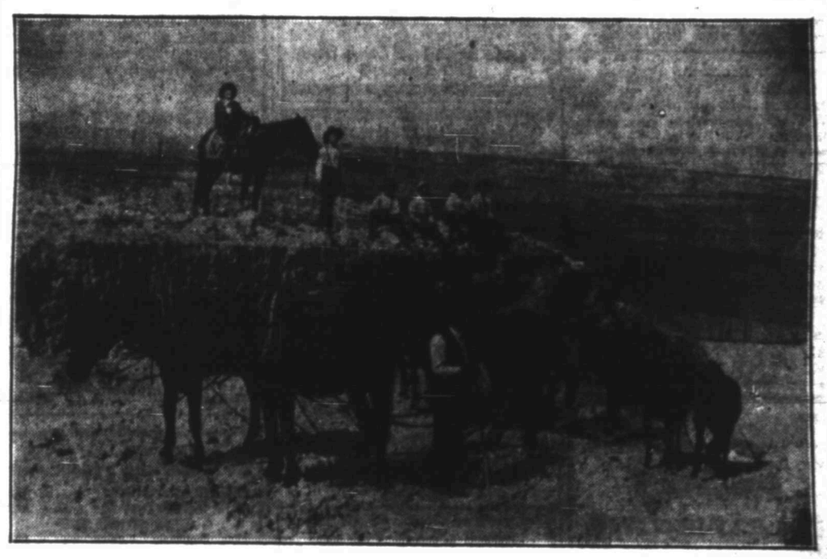

Kunkel, editor of the Dakota Student, conducted the poll for the third successive year.

HIGHWAYS

Road Grading Scene North of Lubbock in 1911

The dirt roads of the early days in this area were graded and had no drainage. Roads were generally laid off according to sections and were hardly wide enough in some places for two vehicles. Ranchers and farmers would atlernate dragging sections of roads.

Engineering skill and experience of today now build roads or highways practically perfect in every respect. A location, cross section, profile of the land, drainage and grade are all taken into consideration in constructing highways. The highways are now made of gravel or caliche base and generally have a triple asphalt surface treatment.

Continuous maintenance work is necessary to protect and prolong life of improved highways. A continuous construction program is also important to keep pace with the rapid development in the South Plains area.

Like good highways, continuous expenditure of money is required on improvements and maintenance work on gas lines. Without such expenditures gas lines like highways would last only a few years.

Lubbock is growing, about 114 new homes have been built and about 113 homes remodeled since the first of the year. It is estimated that 200 new homes will be constructed in Lubbock during 1937. It is important that your gas company keep in step with this rapid development.

Deed Revealed In Land Suit

Seventeen Thousand Acres Of Land In Loving County Is Deeded To G. E. Lockhart In June, 1935

LAMESA, Dec. 5. (Special) — Seventeen thousand acres of Dawson and Gaines counties land, in litigation in 52 suits, has been deeded by Loving county to G. E. Lockhart, a Lubbock attorney, for $2.25 the acre. The land has been estimated to value $20 per acre.

That information was disclosed when defense attorneys in the suit of Loving county against R. L. Higginbotham, jr., and others produced a deed executed by Loving county June 27, 1935, to Lockhart. The Lubbock man is an attorney for the plaintiff.

Produced By Lockhart

The instrument was produced by Lockhart at the request of defense attorneys, who offered it in evidence.

The attorney had executed a note to the county for $39,000, due in 40 years with 5 per cent interest.

Judge Gordon B. McGuire adjourned 106th district court at noon and excused jurors in the land suit until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Higginbotham case involves about 1,200 acres of Dawson county land.

County Disorganized

Loving county first was organized in 1893. The following year the county's commissioners court issued an order selling its four leagues, or about 17,000 acres, of school land. In 1897 the county was disorganized by the legislature and Loving county was attached to Reeves county until 1931, when it was reorganized.

The suits are predicated on a contention, by the plaintiff, that the original court order selling the land was void and that the county failed to receive any money for the sale of its school lands.

Had Not Been Filed

Lockhart, in Lubbock after adjournment of court, said deeding of the land to him was part of an agreement whereby he was to bring suits in the name of Loving county for possession of the land. The deed has not been filed. Loving county also has asked recovery of rents and revenue from the land in litigation.

The defense contends that the order selling the school lands in 1894 was legal, as was the first organization of the county.

Defense attorneys in the Higginbotham suit are Crenshaw & Dupree, Lubbock; Carl Rountree, Lamesa, and Wagstaff, Harwell, Wagstaff & Douthitt, Abilene.

Lockhart, Franklin D. Brown, and Mullican & Nelson, Lubbock are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

First Semester To Close, January 19

First semester of the 1936-37 school year at Lubbock Senior High school will end Tuesday, Jan. 19, and the second semester will be started the following day.

Examinations will be given Friday, Jan. 16. Regular classes will be conducted as usual on the following Monday, but all classes will be shortened Jan. 19 to permit teachers to record grades. Schedules are to be completed and approved by that afternoon.

TICHENOR IMPROVES

J. A. Tichenor, 48, of Logan hotel Saturday night continued apparent improvement at Lubbock sanitarium from injuries suffered Friday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile at Texas avenue and Main street.

Charges Filed On Six In City

Vagrancy By Prostitution Is Charged Against 5 Women And A Negro As Result Of Investigation Saturday

Complaints of vagrancy by prostitution were filed by County Attorney Jess C. Levens Saturday afternoon in the court of J. T. Trigg, justice of peace, naming five women, and a negro porter associated with a small hotel on Broadway was held pending charge, after a court of inquiry asked by the county attorney had been conducted before Trigg.

Eight witnesses, summoned by subpoena, made statements. Subpoenas met criticism that courts of inquiry sometimes brought illegal practices, specifically that persons hailed before such courts without being summoned as witnesses properly are under arrest and therefore would not be required to testify.

Alleged accosting of a white woman by the negro being held and making of improper advances led to the inquiry.

Another porter testified four prostitutes stayed at one small hotel and admitted he "made dates" for the girls, getting tips of 25 and 50 cents from both girls and men, who usually asked for the girls by name—indicating the girls had a clientele.

He said the girls had been cautious about making "call dates" to other hotels, because "some of the men get drunk and treat the girls so brutal."

Charged as a result of the court, which was convened at 11:30 o'clock that morning and adjourned at 3:30 in the afternoon, were Lola Dixon, Tressa Murphey, Thelma Roberts, "Mary . . .", and "Toots . . . .".

The negro being held had been arrested at 7:50 o'clock that morning by police partolmen, Tom Cannon and Lewis Kittrell, and transferred from city to county authorities, said James P. Posey, deputy sheriff.

The sheriff's department late in the night said four of the girls had arranged bond and one had not been arrested.

Traditional Receptions And Dance Are Given

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

IF you would aspire to become an author, get a job — even as a scrubwoman — and write on the side, is the advice of Blonde Vicki Baum of "Grand Hotel" fame. Get a job first because it puts you in touch with many people and second because there isn't much money in writing books.

Yes, but if your job takes all your time and energy, Miss Baum? How can you write books then?

She has the answer ready: "One of the first conditions of success is to be able to work 12 or 14 hours a day. If you're tired after eight hours you'll never be a success."

PARDON OUR ACCENTS

OFFICIAL plans for the cycle of lectures intended for delivery in the Ford Exposition building at the Texas Centennial which consumed 90 minutes in tryouts at Detroit, were upset when it was discovered that 18 minutes more were required for delivery when southerners spoke.

WE JUST WONDER

HIS hat, evidently expensive bore that look of having been slept on (like Dutchy Smith's), his mustache was closely cut and his voice had deep Robert Taylorish tones. He wore a plaid suit and a tweed topcoat. His left wrist was encircled with a bracelet like those made in Taos, N. M., and the left hand's third finger bore a turquoise ring. He sat by us in a shine parlor and ordered slick papered magazines and the New Yorker and inquired for others missing on the shelves.

We sat still and looked at a movie magazine covered with the smiling face of R. T. and left empty handed.

SCATTERINGS

TRUCK loads of Christmas trees and foggy weather make for that holiday spirit. . . . Sad state of affairs as expressed by a clerk, "They've commercialized Christmas so much I can't afford to celebrate anymore." . . . No one looks more out of place than a man in a beauty shop, waiting for his wife or sweetheart or waiting for a manicure. . . . Increase of men's manicures is a sure sign that the depression is lifting say the cosmeticians. . . . Toy manufacturers are presenting the Dionne quints as little girl dolls now instead of the babies that were so popular last year. . . . Mickey Mouse and Shirley Temple are inspiration for many children's novelties. . . . Business girls have learned that the slogan, "ringless hose," does not necessarily mean that. Clerks agree that sheer hose are a common extravagance with most women who earn their own livings. . . . Manufacturers claim a woolen hose that can hardly be distinguished from silk ones.

TELEPHONE call to a Clovis man revealed that he was "over in Texas." . . . Almost everyone who does any amount of daily walking has a corn on his little toe. . . . J. D. Corcorran looks like pictures of Governor Allred. . . . Pete Bynum could almost double for James Cagney. . . . The improvised "Life" sells out in local newstands like extras on election nights. . . . L. G. Phares, chief of the Texas Highway patrol and drivers' license division, who visited here last week, said women are better drivers than men and have fewer accidents in highway traffic. Can you imagine a man saying anything that congratulatory about a woman's driving? . . . We can't see any cause for American newspapers going so wild over printing pictures of Mrs. Simpson made in pre-war days. They look as awful as college annual snapshots. . . . Congressman Mahon's Texas drawl is as pronounced as when he first went to Washington. . . . Graduated gold bead necklaces are the fashion again after an absence of several years. You're lucky if you have a pair that was in your grandmother's jewelry box.

TRUE YULETIDE SPIRIT

THAT most people look prettier and more handsome around Christmas time is further proof that happiness makes for greater beauty. Holiday joy, or for that matter any other other kind of joy, gives eyes a softness that is lovely. It is important that we learn to create a quiet happiness within ourselves, regardless of outside forces that make life difficult. The perennial Pollyanna may be as big a nuisance as is insinuated, but, providing she isn't unsympathetic to other peo-

Christmas Greeting Cards Show Variety

Modernity Is Main Feature

Religious Significance, Fun And Landscape Beauties To Be Found In Selections Of Yuletide Greetings

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff

THE cards that say "Merry Christmas" to your friends this year may do it with gay nursery figures —wooly lambs or a rocking horse —or with city sky-scrapers, western landscapes, traditional holly, candles or fir trees. Or they may emphasize the religious significance of the day.

More - handsome - than - ever coloring and finer design distinguish them. Many of the cards (some of the cheapest as well as some of the most expensive) bear the artists' signatures, proof that artists take pride in their greeting designs. You can pay as little as a nickel or as much as a dollar for signed cards. The cheaper varieties are small and printed. The expensive types are larger and hand-done to order.

About Holiday Stationery

There is, also, an immense variety of charming Christmas letter paper —for friends you write to only once a year and those to whom you have more to say than "Best Wishes." Sheets that have diminutive reindeer skittering across the top, laughing Santa Clauses and seasonal scenes.

Landscapes are depicted galore. They range from a snowy hill-side, showing a line of cottage roof-tops, to California missions, backed by orange and blue skies, and New York skylines. Forests, frosted by sifting snow, and tiny cottages with lighted windows sending out gleaming rays of light, are beautiful in their simplicity. Sea-scapes, showing old-time sailing vessels, ultra modern liners or foaming breakers, are also numerous.

Christmas Fun

Among the newest cards are those humorous in a dignified way. Like Santa Claus, sprinkler in hand, thoughtfully watering a tiny Christmas tree, or a tiger cub, looking too, too docile, with a holly wreath draped across one ear.

One of the handsomest religious cards is a drawing of a ringing church bell and, in the background, a bit of Bethlehem as it looks today. There are many reproductions of famous religious paintings in rich colorings. Biblical verses, exquisitely lettered in black with touches of

Utility And Decoration Reflect Trend In Gifts

BY RUBY LEE LEARY

THE person who doesn't know what to give Aunty Mandy or Uncle Jim for Christmas is guilty of one or two things. He hasn't looked around any of the numerous gift displays or he is one of those unfortunate souls who can't recognize what he wants when he sees it.

Now if Aunt Mandy wouldn't appreciate one of those fancy "cook - the - entire-meal-in-one-pot" aluminum affairs being featured in several hardware and department stores, she just doesn't have an eye for efficiency or else she has one already. The new coffee brewer with chrome base holding two corresponding glass bowls makes a beautiful gift. If the lady delights in her morning coffee and toast, the small chrome plated electric toasters would be appreciated.

For the woman who loves dainty, exquisite lounging robes and pajama sets the array found on the Christmas counters will cause the purchaser much difficulty in deciding which one to buy. Quilted robes are prominent in the more expensive gifts while the satin and crepe pajama sets trimmed with lace designs are very lovely in the less expensive ones.

For the girl friend for whom you have long ago exhausted your supply of gifts, there are the metal belts that can be worn with sport or evening clothes. The new evening bags

Yearly Charity Ball To Be Given This Month By Junior Welfare League

Jimmy Garrigan's Dance Band Is Secured For Event That Opens Social Season

Jimmy Garrigan's orchestra is to play. Price of admission is a dollar cheaper than it was last year. More tickets have been sold to date than were sold last year a week before the big event.

Amid all the activities, an angel of security seems to be hovering over a bunch of little Lubbock orphans.

The second annual charity ball, formal opening of the winter social season, has been scheduled for Wednesday night, December 16, by the Lubbock Junior Welfare league, sponsor. The management of Hotel Lubbock has donated all three of the hotel ballrooms for the occasion.

The Garrigan recording and dance band is well known by local radio fans and those residents who visited the Ringside Night club in Fort Worth last summer and this fall.

The leader, a graduate of Gulfport, Miss., Military academy where he gained his first recognition playing for dances in many cities of the South, also is a graduate of the Dominion Conservatory of Music, Montreal, Canada. His present orchestra first gained recognition in Pittsburgh where it played a hotel engagement and broadcast radio dance programs, in 1926.

Lubbock residents who visited the World's Fair in Chicago heard the orchestra at the Congress hotel, the Oriental Gardens or the Granada Cafe, depending upon the time of their visit during a two-year fair season.

Since the Welfare league ball is a charity entertainment, there will be no amusement tax on the tickets. Admission price is $2.00 for couple or stag and $1.00 each for extra women. A limited number of tables for eight are available at $2.00 each.

Tickets are being sold by members of the Welfare league, Mrs. W. D. Girand, jr., being chairman of the ticket committee. Table reservations may be made with Mrs. R. T. Canon whose telephone number is 1726.

Mrs. W. H. Evans is general chairman of arrangements for the dance. Included in her committee chairmen are Mrs. John D. Mitchell, league president, Misses Coleta Baker and Margaret Turner and Mrs. Sherrill Boyd.

The dance is one of two projects sponsored each year by the welfare league to raise money for its charity projects, the other being a benefit bridge.

1930 Club Is At Luncheon

Officers Elected Following Annual Social; Christmas Decorations Used; Exchange Of Gifts Is Made

The home of Mrs. C. E. Love, 2317 Thirteenth street, was the scene for an annual Christmas party for the 1930 Friendship club Friday afternoon. An election of officers was conducted after a turkey luncheon.

Green and red Christmas decorations were used throughout the rooms and a scene of the Nativity was arranged on the mantle.

Mrs. L. N. Lipscomb, a special guest, was presented with a potted plant; a shower of canned goods was boxed for the Mexican Methodist pastor and the hostess was presented with an Irish linen luncheon set by the club. Gifts were exchanged among members.

Officers are: President, Mrs. A. H. Crawford; vice-president, Mrs. R. T. Campbell; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Campbell; reporter, Mrs. J. B. McCauley. Others present were Mesdames Erle Thompson, C. C. Webb, W. D. Benson, Pebble Talley, M. A. Welch, B. F. Hodges, A. G. Odom, Poe Hess, C. M. Mitchell, C. Y. Partain, Fred Adkins and A. B. Ellis.

Brazil Residents Visit In Residence Of J. L. Quicksall

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Quicksall, 3102 Twenty-first street, are Mrs. Quicksall's sister, Mrs. John G. Hollman, Mr. Holiman and their daughter, Miss Clarice Hollman, of Sao Paulo, Brazil and Mrs. Quicksall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trautwein of Shiner. All have visited here numerous times.

The Hollmans landed in the United States November 2 and visited in South Texas before coming here. They will visit here only a few more days. They plan to sail January 9.

Officers To Be Elected At Episcopal Auxiliary Meet

Officers will be elected at a meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Seaman hall. Mrs. M. V. Gray will be leader for a program on "Influence of Religion on Music".

Rooms Decked In Colors Of Blue, Silver

Patronesses Of Ko-Shari Are Hostesses With Reception; Invitations Sent To Town And College People

BLUE and silver, colors of Ko-Shari club, were selected by patronesses as a featured theme for decorations when they entertained with an annual open house in the W. G. McMillan residence, 2121 Thirteenth street, Saturday night between 7 and 9 o'clock.

The word, "Ko-Shari," was spelled in tiny Christmas lights over the doorway and a silver and blue decked tree stood in the reception room.

Mrs. Overton At Door

Mrs. M. C. Overton greeted callers and presented them to Mrs. McMillan and the receiving line, made up of four new patronesses, Mesdames Dan A. Blair, Wright Kerr, C. J. Wagner and R. F. Hinchey; the sponsors, Mrs. W. C. Holden and Miss Dorothy Rylander, and the club officers, Misses Doris Jobe, Marian Bullock, Helen Sims, Dorothy Walker and Frances Cooper.

Other patronesses present were Mesdames H. L. Allen, R. J. Allen, W. H. Bledsoe, J. P. Blitz, H. M. Crain, V. L. Doughtie, H. F. Godeke, R. C. Harvey, A. J. Humphries, W. A. Jackson, Frank M. Maddox, Clark M. Mullican, M. C. Overton, W. S. Posey, O. A. St. Clair, A. B. Strehli, Frank Winn, Misses Sannie Callan and Agnes True.

A madeira cloth was used on the refreshment table, which was centered with silver and blue flowers and lighted with blue tapers in silver candelabra. Silver service was used. The buffet repeated the color scheme.

Wassail, cookies and nuts were served by pledges. Mesdames Godeke and Allen and Harvey and Jackson alternated in presiding at the punch bowls.

The pledges also presented at a guest book that had been placed in Mr. McMillan's den, where a Christmas tree and holly were decorations. They were Misses Vida Harston, Agnes Rowley, Beverly Chamblee, Ann Buckley, El Ray Lewis, Geraldine Norris, Lois Marie Daniel, Helen Harston, Geraldine Jordan, Geraldine Slider, Marjorie Cofer, Ellen Kennedy, Gretchen Liser, Mary Louise Walker, Betty Mildred Abbott, Frances Wilson, Frances Real, Mary Alice Carnes and Ferrelline Tucker.

About four hundred guests called.

Homebuilders Are In Election Hour

An election of officers featured the first anniversary observance of the Homebuilders club in the home of Mrs. Louie Shell, 1921 Twenty-first street, Friday afternoon. Elected were: President, Mrs. Nolan Hart; vice-president, Mrs. Virgil Young; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Cockerell and reporter, Mrs. R. H. Woolam.

After the business session, Burl Brown and Jack Shell played a French horn duet and Phillip Lowrimore played mandolin and harmonica numbers. Mrs. J. E. Walter gave the club's history.

Individual cakes, each bearing a candle, were served on the refreshments plate to the above mentioned and Mesdames H. E. Armstrong, M. G. Bowles, J. C. Dean, Luther Howard, J. D. Hinson, Freeman Shell, T. A. McInroy and a Mrs. Cathey.

Tea And Open House To Be Sponsored By Club Women

The Twentieth Century club will be host with tea and open house Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the men's residence hall lounge at Texas Technological college. Guests will be members of the two clubs originally sponsored by the group, Sorosis and Junior Twentieth Century clubs, and the Browning club of Plainview which is studying the same program on Mexico that the host club is studying this season.

Miss Frances Benge, instructor of foreign languages at Tech, will interpret some Mexican poetry and pupils of the Sophie Sproul School of Dance will interpret some Spanish and Mexican dance numbers. Musical entertainment will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Julien Paul Blitz and son Eduoard who will play cello and piano selections.

Business, Missionary Hour Is Planned By Christians

First Christian Woman's Council will meet at the church annex Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for missionary and business session. Mrs. R. L. Howell will direct the lesson and Mrs. T. Teal will preside for a business session.

UDC Is To Meet Wednesday For Monthly Business Hour

There will be a meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy with Miss Della Wilkinson, 1301 Seventeenth street, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Gulbranssen Book Will Be Reviewed

"Beyond Sing The Woods" by Gulbranssen will be reviewed by Mrs. Sam J. McFarland at a meeting of the American Association of University Women Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in room 102 of the home economics building. Miss Dorothy Lomax, chairman of the A. A. U. W. Bookman group, will direct the program.

Members of the Bookman group units will be guests for the occasion.

After the review, refreshments will be served in the tea room.

This will be the December meeting of the association.

F. A. Kleinschmidt To Be Speaker On Bible Program

F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the Texas Technological college department of architecture and allied arts, will show some slides of Biblical and other religious scenes at a Lubbock Woman's club program Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the engineering auditorium at the college. Husbands of members will be guests.

Mrs. C. C. Schmidt Will Be Main Speaker At P-TA Meet

Mrs. C. C. Schmidt will speak on "Friendliness" at a meeting of the Sanders Parent-Teacher association Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the school building. A mixed chorus from the school glee clubs, directed by Miss Lois Mangum, will present a Christmas pageant.

Entries Are Already Made

Additional Donors Announced By Chairman; Commissioners Agree To Decorate Streets In Business District

That cash prizes, offered for the first time this year in the Lubbock Garden club's annual Christmas lighting campaign, are to be substantial in size is responsible for a great general interest in the campaign, Mrs. Frank Winn, vice-president, said Saturday.

Money for the prizes was donated by Lubbock merchants, other individuals and business firms. Fifty-one donors were listed in the Avalanche-Journal last Sunday. Additional donors are George A. Meiser, G. H. Watkins, Dr. Millard F. Swart, Grimes Motor company, Kuykendall Chevrolet company, Lubbock Auto company, Silver Grill Cafe, Hilton-Sansom Paint and Paper shop and Anderson Bros., jewelers.

As early in the season as the night of December 3, Christmas lighting was noticed in windows and doorways of several Lubbock homes. Greater interest than usual is being shown in the contest, the vice-president said, and a list of early entrants will be announced next Sunday.

In cooperation with the campaign, the city commission has agreed to place Christmas trees in downtown street intersections. Colored lights, as usual, strung across downtown streets will complete the decorations.

Entries in the home lighting contest may be made, not later than Saturday noon, December 19, with Mesdames Elmo Wall, Paul Barrier or M. C. Overton. Judging will take place sometime between December 20 and December 25, during which time all lights must burn continuously, the contest rules state. Three cash prizes will be given in each of these divisions:

General display, doorway, window and scene. A person may enter only one division. The prizes range from $2.50 to $20.00.

Junior High School Foods Class Entertains At Tea

The first period foods class at Junior High school entertained with a children's hour Friday afternoon from 3 until 4 o'clock in the home economics department followed with a study of "The care of small children."

Class members present were Opal Pille, Coreen Blair, Oleta Bates, Thelma Clarkson, Billye Jean Fincher, Edith Gardner, Ruth Fewell, Mamie Calhoun, Loreen Stephens, Velma Keller, Eleanor Porter, Lola Mae Holcomb, Elnora McAteer and Jewell Gregg.

Children present were Nadine Cox, Billy Stanley, Delight Hardin, Charlotte Cranford, John Wilkerson, Maxine Brownley, Stella Jo Blair and Roy Linn Gaines, all of whom were between the ages of one and six years.

Miss Jean Bain is the teacher.

Modern Needle Group Will Meet Thursday Afternoon

The Modern Needle club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Bob Graham, 1614 Avenue L. Members sewed for the hostess.

The group decided to meet Thursday, instead of Friday, this week in the home of Mrs. V. B. Power, 1707 Fourteenth street, at 3 p. m.

The refreshment plates were decorated in Christmas motif.

Attending were Mesdames Troy Womack, E. E. Brock, R. J. Campbell, J. A. Peel, Rufus Womack, O. R. Justiss and E. E. Rodgers.

Blue Velvet Hostess Gown Selected By "Most Talked Of Woman In World"

Mrs. Simpson ordered this midnight blue velvet hostess gown from Helene Yrande. The intricate sleeves are covered with pailletes in the same shade. Though there has been intense rivalry for her patronage, Paris couturiers agree that Mrs. Wallis Simpson is an easy-to-please, agreeable client who not only knows what she wants but also what she should wear. She prefers beautiful fabrics and simple, almost tailored lines to anything flashy or fussy.

Blue is the favorite color of the "most talked of woman in the world." But, for indoor gowns at least, she likes absinthe green and orchid. She favors rich, sumptuous fabrics such as heavy satins, velvets, brocades and crepes. She is enthusiastic, too, about pailletes and colorful bead embroidery, but she insists that these be used subtly and sparingly.

From the collection of Helen Yrande, Mrs. Simpson selected a hostess gown of midnight blue velvet with intricate, short sleeves decorated with pailletes in the same color. It has a short train, a mou'ded bodice and a draped neckline. So much did she like this model that she ordered it in several colors besides blue.

Ace Trey Club Honors Husbands

Ace Trey club members entertained with a dinner party for their husbands Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. St. Clair, 1508-B Avenue L.

Forty-two was played after a turkey buffet dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Forbess and Mrs. C. P. Cox were special guests. Members and their husbands attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Ben R. Beck, Stanton Rhea, Lewis Tatum, C. A. Henderson, Carl Killman, Bailey Wright, John Langford, J. B. Jones, A. R. Osborne and Cliff Elliott.

The club will meet with Mrs. Rhea, 1627 Eighteenth street, on December 18.

from Lou to Louella . . .

DEAR LOUELLA: I wish you could see the calendar of social events stacked up for Christmas. A couple of open houses last night started the ball to rolling and from now on until the last day of the year there is to be a merry round of dress up affairs in Lubbock.

The Junior Welfare league's annual charity ball, December 16, is almost upon us and I haven't a thing to wear. Everyone is talking about getting new formals for dancing to Jimmy Garrigan's orchestra that night.

As early as next week, several gigantic Christmas affairs are to jingle the Yuletide chimes. The Twentieth Century club is having Tuesday afternoon tea and open house for its two Lubbock offspring clubs and the Browning club of Plainview.

I'll Be There

The following week, of course is chuck full of interesting events. The Lubbock Garden club is having a Christmas tea, December 18 and December 19 the Lubbock Woman's forum is having an old-fashioned box supper. I have been invited to both and am going.

Incidentally, I've never been to a box supper. Already I'm all atwitter as to whose goodlooking husband will buy my gaudily decorated box.

I almost forgot one of the main events of the season: A twilight musicale the City Federation is giving next Sunday. Music will be by Mr. and Mrs. Julien Paul Blitz.

EVERY so often in the course of any school year, a teacher gangs up with her pupils and takes an educational tour of downtown business joints. The other day a bunch of third graders from Dupre school were down looking over the newspaper office.

An hour or so later, the office was flooded with letters of appreciation written by the children. One observing little girl said: "What I liked best was the switchboard, the corkscrew stairway, the funnypapers and the advertising editor".

About Vacations

People about town have already started taking mid-winter vacations. The road to Mexico has been trod by several Lubbock folk within the past month and I've heard any number planning trips to Monterrey or Mexico City for Christmas. I'll be telling you about them later.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Garrett left Saturday to spend about ten days in California. They went by train.

Do you remember Jack Hawkins? He was here last week from Pecos where he is editor of the Pecos Enterprise. He was telegraph editor and quite a hit with the women here in his post college days. He was bubbling over with enthusiasm last week over his newly established radio career. He is part owner of a station at Pecos and is opening one at Carlsbad soon. His ambition is to own a whole chain of them before many years have elapsed. He will too, because anything Jack touches seems to turn to gold.

SPEAKING of people with fortunes reminded me of Blanche Evans and Alene Benson. They are crazy about fortune tellers, according to rumors about town.

Ever so often I miss out on a morsel of gossip until it is too old to be of interest. But here is a bit that you might enjoy. I wish I could tell you his name. Experience teaches one a lot of things, so I will do my part in keeping his identity a secret.

Tech artist course before last, one of the college profs walked into the high school auditorium, forgetting to remove his hat. It was not until the program was well under way that his wife noticed the error, nudged him, whispered into his ear and finally succeeded in attracting his attention to his conspicuous head piece.

I Miss A Treat

I just missed meeting the governor-elect of Colorado, Teller Ammons, and Mrs. Ammons Friday. He was about town all-day with his old school-mate, Robert Allen, and family. Ammons and Allen are graduates of the same class at law school.

The town was running over Friday with politicians. There was Congressman George Mahon who showed sympathy because he found my cohort and me working late that night. Representative-Elect C. L. (Freshman) Harris of the 118th district, a McAdoo ex-Tech lad (only Tech doesn't claim him), stopped in the office on his way to Austin. He is just a kid, you know, and fairly glowing with ambition and the sort of self confidence that makes a man a success.

I think I'll go take a walk in the rain or something.

Yours, Lou.

Miss Corinne Brown To Be Honored At Several Events

Miss Corinne Brown who arrived here Saturday from Weatherford to assume duties as young people's director in the First Baptist church will be honored at a series of parties between now and Christmas.

Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, the Baptist Student union of the church will be host with a reception, honoring Miss Brown. Miss Virginia Noell is chairman of arrangements.

The Amoma Sunday school class will entertain the entire young people's department, as a courtesy to the new director, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Frances Cleveland, 2303 Fourteenth street.

CLUB TO MEET

The Needlecraft club will meet at 3 p. m. Thursday with Mrs. Arthur Wright, 1912 Avenue K.

Miscellaneous Club Plans Party In Parker Residence

Mrs. J. W. Gray was hostess to the Miscellaneous club Friday afternoon at her home, 1921 Avenue O. Games were drawn for a Christmas party which the club will give December 18 at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. E. D. Parker, 2213 Seventeenth street. Husbands of members will be guests.

Mrs. D. C. Russell was a guest at the Friday party and Mrs. J. K. Cawthron. Others attending were Mesdames Parker, C. R. Cagle, T. C. Reynolds, Homer A. Moore and E. S. Long.

Party Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. Winston W. Doran, Frenship Teacher, Is Complimented By Mrs. Casey In Wolfforth Home Friday Afternoon

WOLFFORTH, Dec. 5 (Special)—Mrs. Winston W. Doran, bride, was honored at a surprise shower given by Mrs. M. E. Casey Friday afternoon at the Casey home here. Before her marriage, November 25, Mrs. Doran, a teacher in the Frenship High school, was Miss Verna Mae Sullivan of the community. Mr. Doran teaches at Hobbs, N. M.

The house was decorated in holiday motif with poinsettias and chrysanthemums as floral pieces. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with red tapers and a poinsettia centerpiece.

Program And Shower

Paul Haskins, acting as Santa Claus, presented the gifts to the honoree, from a Christmas tree. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Haskins. A program of piano and violin music was presented by Misses Mary Louise Revier, Winnie Daniell and Dorothy Casey. Misses Hester Hitt and Katherine Bailey poured tea and Misses Revier and Hazel Sullivan served refreshments. Holly sprigs were plate favors.

Guests were Mesdames Ray Martin, A. C. McWhorter, O. F. Corley, G. P. Wright, T. J. George, Travis Tubbs, Fred J. Stryker, R. S. Hobgood, J. D. Fraley, June Bailey, J. D. Brown, W. B. have been dipped in gold and lined with satin. It may be old, but the habitual purchaser of vanities finds a new baked enamel case trimmed in rhinestone with matching comb and comb case a charming new accessory. The gold beads and chokers are the latest rage in the costume jewelry line.

Dressing up the bottles of bath salts, the containers are designed like pelicans, dogs, and cats and at first glance one would think they were statuary. After using the salts, the empty jar could be used as bric-a-bracs, ash trays, or match holders. Finger nail sets have achieved the shape of cameras and the leather cases come at about half of their former cost.

Gifts for the book lover will be a pleasure to buy with the beautiful silver bindings that popular books are being bound in now. Complete works of Shakespeare can be found in one volume bound with a red colored back. Dictionaries are being published in inexpensive volume to resemble the other books on the library shelf.

The stamp collector, and the person who clips recipes, articles, and pictures would delight in the new imitation leather bound books with indexed envelopes.

Uncle Jim and the boys don't have to get shirts, ties, and socks this year—although there are some beauties in that line about town—since Santa Claus has at least taken them into consideration. For instance, the electric razor, for the first time since it was introduced to the general public, is being sold at a price Christmas purchasers can afford to pay.

A miniature bar complete in every detail—except the liquor—can be purchased for the young man-about-town. The gadabouts would enjoy the new incidental kit shaped as a traveling bag with a zipper top. Cocktail and wine sets are beautiful in the colored glass sets set in chrome trays. Sets for men include more than the shaving sets. One may get sets with brushes and compartments for traveling incidentals, and suspenders with tie racks put in leather cases with zipper tops.

Mrs. George W. Foster, Jr., Is Given Farewell Courtesy

Mrs. George W. Foster, jr., and 11-month-old son, Don Lyn, left Saturday morning for Bartlesville, Okla., to join Mr. Foster who has been there several weeks as manager of a Goodyear Tire company store.

On Thursday, Mrs. Foster was complimented when Mrs. Lofton Baugh was hostess with a coffee in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Baugh, 1811 Thirteenth street. Guests were Mesdames Robert Crawford, Joe Leaverton, R. M. Shanklin and O. H. Falkenstein of San Diego, Calif., and Miss Nancy Ruth Leaverton.

Mrs. Foster is the former Miss Elaine Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Henry, 1901 Thirteenth street.

Scheduled Meeting Of Club Postponed; To Hear Lecture

Because the West Texas Art Museum building is not completed, a lecture planned for Junior Twentieth Century club members for Tuesday afternoon has been postponed until January. At that time Mrs. C. E. Hooper will lecture on an exhibit of Guatemalan costumes and textiles.

The club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in room 204 of Tech engineering auditorium to hear a lecture on Nineteenth Century literature by Dr. W. B. Gates. At 3 o'clock members will attend a tea in the men's dormitory lounge as the guests of the Senior Twentieth Century club.

Houston Man Is Slain In Holdup

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Gunmen killed J. H. Reich, 28, bus driver, here early today in an apparent holdup.

The driver's body, sprawled on the floor of the municipal bus, was found by police at the end of the line in a negro section.

Reich had been shot twice. Both bullets tore through his chest. One struck him in the heart.

Police said the driver's money changer was missing. The fare box apparently had not been touched. Some money was scattered on the floor of the bus.

Lum Treadville, porter for a newspaper, said he was running to catch the bus when he heard two shots. Treadville said he saw the body of the driver on the floor and saw the forms of two men as they disappeared down the dark street.

'BACK TO NATURE' GOWNS

LONDON (AP)—In a "back to nature" drive Schiaparelli shows the figure tightly silhouetted in her evening gowns and marks veins, finger nails, and palmistry lines on her gloves to effect a "nature" accent.

In Silver Horse

A coat of dappled silver horse caused a sensation in Heim's Paris salon. For sports or informal country wear, it is new both in pelt and coloring. The amusing little cap is also in silver horse and a gay neckerchief provides the touch of color.

Church Memorial Class Has Christmas Party On Friday

Members of the First Presbyterian Stephens Memorial Bible class met at the home of Mrs. I. E. Barr, 2112 Fifteenth street, Friday afternoon for a Christmas party. A box was prepared for the Pres-Mex school at Taft and cards were prepared for shut-ins.

Those present were Mesdames D. F. Wulfman, Ed Ainsworth, J. W. Boyd, G. W. McCleary, Roberta Doughtie, J. M. Gordon, J. A. Pressley, Eva Waddill, J. E. Melton, J. W. Holloway and R. W. Amick.

Mesdames Barr, F. A. Knox and R. E. Overstreet were hostesses.

ples' troubles, she's a lot easier to have around than a grouch.

Our day was made brighter Friday through the arrival of preseason greetings from a friend in the form of Grace Noll Crowell's poem "Leisure." Are you familiar with it? Vowing that she shall attend to errands early this year in order to have the "brief days before Christmas unhampered and clear of the fever of hurry," the poet ends her lines with

I shall have leisure—I shall go out alone
From my roof and my door,
I shall not miss the silver silence of stars
As I have before,
And Oh, perhaps if I stand there very still
And very long,
I shall hear what the clamor of living has kept from me:
The angel's song!

Shall you? Shall we?

Ranges Aided By Furrowing

Pasture Furrowing Said To Be Principal Factor Which Is Bringing Recovery Over Panhandle Section

AMARILLO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Pasture furrowing, experts of the United States Soil Conservation service say, is the principal factor in the recovery of ranges in the Panhandle. Prairies that a year ago were almost nude have made conspicuous progress toward normal in recent months, regardless of sub-normal moisture.

R. E. Dickson, manager of the experiment farm at Spur is credited with establishing that furrowing is the most effective method of storing rainfall on Plains pastures. The Soil Conservaton Service and the Texas Extension service put his theories to work.

Six Inches Deep

Furrows usually are about six inches deep and run in pairs across pastures at intervals of 12 to 100 feet. All are on the contour, that is, plowed around a slope instead of up and down.

CCC workers, doing the furrowing in this section, clipped grass "as close as a horse would eat" on 20 one-rod square plots, 10 on furrowed and 10 on unfurrowed land. Grass on furrowed pasture weighed 106 pounds and 41.6 pounds on "untreated" land. Tests on pastures 20 miles northwest of Amarillo, owned by the United States bureau of mines, showed moist earth 108 inches below the furrows, and penetration between furrows was 32 to 84 inches.

A comparison between "treated" and "untreated" pastures is visible near Hereford, where blue grama and buffalo grass on the farm of C. V. Burgess is seven inches high. An adjoining pasture of a neighbor has none.

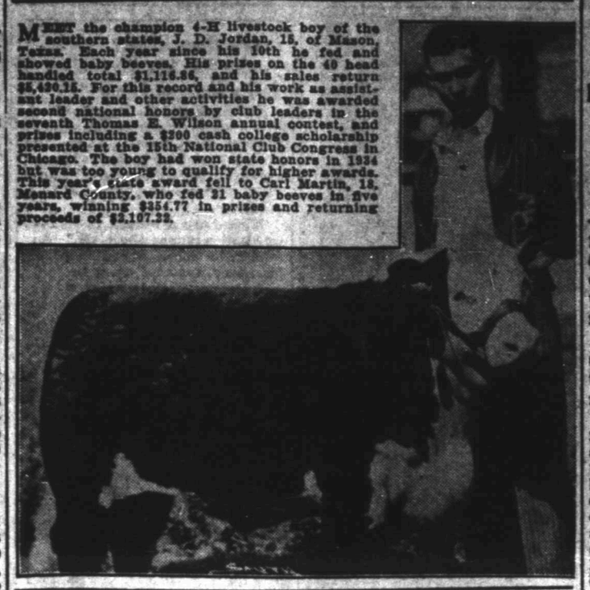

Demonstrations Made

Pasture furrowing is being done in 26 demonstration acres of the Soil Conservation service's region six, which includes the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, and Kansas. The Hereford demonstration, for instance, includes 4,763 acres of grasslands. Others are larger.

The Soil Conservation service operates also several seed-gathering machines to obtain seed for use in returning submarginal lands to grass. Officials expect the furrowing program to spread next year when ranchmen are to receive AAA benefits for range-building practices under a new program being formulated.

Thirteen-month calendars are in use in more than 700 business firms in the United States.

Texas 4-H Club Boy Wins Scholarship

MEET the champion 4-H livestock boy of the southern states, J. D. Jordan, 15, of Mason, Texas. Each year since his 10th he fed and showed baby beeves. His prizes on the 40 head handled total $1,116.86, and his sales return $5,490.15. For this record and his work as assistant leader and other activities he was awarded second national honors by club leaders in the seventh Thomas E. Wilson annual contest, and prizes including a $300 cash college scholarship presented at the 15th National Club Congress in Chicago. The boy had won state honors in 1934 but was too young to qualify for higher awards. This year's fiesta award fell to Carl Martin, 18, Menard County, who fed 21 baby beeves in five years, winning $354.77 in prizes and returning proceeds of $2,107.22.

And Now Everything Is All Right

Slight Mixup In Marital Relations Brings Trouble To Man And Woman But Kindly Local Officers Patch It All Up

Two Mexicans, Adon Garcia and Gregorita Lucero, were not the only ones who figuratively wondered Thursday which "direction was north."

J. T. Inmon, "marryin' justice", "hitched" them in civil rites and then decided he smelled an irregularity.

Directly after pronouncing them man and wife, he looked at the marriage license preparatory to making a return of the instrument to county clerk as required by law and saw it was dated Dec. 28, a year ago.

Obtained Year Ago

With the visibly worried man and woman in tow, Justice Inmon went to the county clerk's office for a check, which revealed:

That the two had obtained the license almost a year ago and, despite the woman's having been married before, had lived together since, although contractual vows had not been repeated before any authorized to administer them;

That, presumably, they believed they had been married "all the time";

That the woman had not given her right name in obtaining the license, signing her maiden name, rather than that obtaining from marriage with her late husband, one Lucero;

That, on Nov. 30, the two had been named in a criminal complaint filed in county court and charging illicit relationship by virtue of living together without being "lawfully married to each other," Y Nes Lucero, mother of the late husband, swearing to the complaint, and

Ceremony Urged

That Rev. Fr. Gabriel Diamante, learning there was an irregularity in the marital state, urged the two to go through a ceremony.

Repercussions included the endorsement of "Married" on a warrant at the sheriff's office and an announcement from County Attorney Jess C. Levens he would dismiss the county court suit against the Mexicans.

"Dismissal of the action will be the county's wedding present," said Levens. "Apparently, they had intended no wrong, as evidenced by having procured license before living together." Furthermore, he said, their status in answer to prosecution might be defined as a common law relationship, since they introduced each other as man and wife, a fact, we since have learned."

Louie F. Moore, deputy county clerk, added the name Lucero to the woman's name of Gregorita Torres before Thursday's ceremony.

Old Dances To Be Seen Again

Exotic Matachine Dances, Expressing Religious Fervor, Will Be Seen In Guadalupe Day Ceremonies

MONTERREY, Mexico, Dec. 5 (AP) — Exotic matachine dances, expressing religious fervor of the Spanish conquest and native rhythm of the primitive Mexican Indian, will be seen here again this month in Guadalupe day ceremonies.

The ritualistic dance, weird and acrobatic in character, has fallen into disuse except in remote Mexican mountain villages.

Spanish Conquistadors observed natives used ritualistic group dances and rhythmic timing at most of their festivals and, as Christianity became implanted, Indians were encouraged to merge their dances into ceremonies celebrating saints' days and other fiestas of the church. As a result, matachines flowered with Mexican innovations, as proper dances for the day of Mexico's patron saint, Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe, Dec. 12.

Always Are Masked

The dances always are masked (the word 'matachin' meaning masked) and the characters wear head dresses decorated with feathers, mirrors and ribbons.

There are set steps executed in a shuffling tap, with feet close to the ground and elbows held back stiffly. At a given signal the leader leaps, turns, and starts a new step, followed by the other dancers in the procession. The dancers also may improvise acrobatic variations at will, says Santiago Roel, Monterrey lawyer and student of Indian customs.

The dances here are performed in the Plaza in front of the Guadalupe church across the Santa Catarina river, south of the city. Flower, candy, and toy vendors set up rustic stands around the plaza to serve the spectators.

The music for the dance is of Indian origin played on a single violin, and dancing usually starts hours before dancers and spectators parade into the church to attend services.

Roel believes the dances come from Arabic and Latin antiquity (the name is of Moorist origin), and costumes resemble Indian, Roman, and Arabia garb of bygone centuries. Monterrey residents sometimes go to remote Indian villages in the hills to watch the natives dance in their own surroundings.

Gly-Cas Alone Is Responsible For Her Present Health

Mrs. Laura Hill Says It Is The First Medicine Not To Disappoint Her; Entire System Toned, New Strength And Energy Given, Years Of Poor Health At An End

"My entire family join me in praising the merit of this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Laura L. Hill, 2300 Willow Street, Austin, Texas. "I did not think any medicine could help me. For years I had been miserable with rheumatism, stomach and kidney disorder and growing worse each day. I could not sleep, my kidneys got me up at all hours of the night, my rest was broken and I was always tired and worn-out. I had no appetite, nothing I ate would agree with me and I lost all desire for food for to eat meant suffering afterwards. The poisons clogged my entire system and it seemed there was little I could do about it. Finally rheumatism got the best of me and at times I was almost crippled with the awful pain, could hardly get around and for six years had not been able to walk to town. But all of this was soon changed once I gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me."

"I did not realize a medicine as remarkable as Gly-Cas had been discovered," she continued. "My entire system was toned almost at once. My body was cleansed of all its poisons, stomach and kidneys regulated and even that dreadful rheumatism has been relieved. I now eat and sleep good, have a wonderful appetite and am enjoying more strength than I have had in years. I just finished my second box of Gly-Cas and I went to town for the first time in six years, walked for three hours without any ill effects whatever. No medicine today can be compared with Gly-Cas—it gives the results sufferers need."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—(Adv.)

...od Now Is Becoming ...ge Conscious For The First Time In Years

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—For the first time in five years Hollywood is becoming "stage conscious."

Broadway stage producers, who for years have been throwing up their hands in despair because of the way film moguls have grabbed off each new discovery, again are smiling over the big names they are getting on contracts.

Margaret Sullavan, who deserted the stage several years ago for even greater laurels on the screen, already has made a big hit in a Broadway production, "Stage Door".

Katharine Hepburn now is in New York for rehearsals of "Jane Eyre" which she will do for the Theatre Guild. Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, are strongly considering appearing together on the Broadway stage this winter. Leslie Howard now is doing "Hamlet" behind the footlights. And Sylvia Sidney, now vacationing in New York, is being tempted by numerous offers to do another stage play.

All of these players, whose names definitely are associated with motion pictures today, received their celluloid breaks only because of their previous stage achievements. With the exception of Howard, however, they have steadfastly steered clear of the footlights for several years.

But now they're all trooping back—for a lark and to see how far the legitimate theatre has progressed during their absence.

New Feminine Director

DOROTHY Arzner, who for years has held the laurels as Hollywood's unrivaled woman director, is about to have a rival. And that rival, Helen Broderick, is in dead earnest about becoming a full fledged megaphonist.

"I never have liked acting, anyway," the comedienne relates. "However, I think directing pictures would be extremely fascinating. And if Dorothy Arzner can succeed, I don't see why I can't. I'm starting by learning to be a film editor. I know a number of directors who started that way and all of them are in the upper brackets now."

Romance Of Friendship!

ROMANTIC Note: It begins to look as if the Bob Taylor-Barbara Stanwyck "romance" really is nothing more than a very sincere friendship. While they are still seen together frequently, Bob also can be spotted in various night spots with Ginger Rogers quite frequently.

Business Man

YOU may think "dead pan" Ned Sparks is one of the screen's funniest fellows. And he is—on the screen. But in private life—well, that's a different story. When there are no cameras around, Ned is one of Hollywood's smartest and most active financiers. He even has an office with a stock market leased wire running right into it so he can get up to the minute details on the nation's finapcial happenings.

Busy Star

IF you ever wondered what a screen star does in her spare time, Sally Eilers' Diary might be a big help. Facts gleaned from this little book reveal that Sally has posed for 70,000 still photos, has answered nearly 100,000 fan letters, has sent out 200,000 fan pictures, has had more than 200 special wardrobe fittings, and 800 hair dressing appointments.

News Flashes!

GEORGE Brent has been set for the top spot in Peter B. Kyne's "The Go-Getter."

Lewis Milestone is working on his own original story which he will direct for Walter Wanger with Madeleine Carroll starring.

William Powell, Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery will be teamed in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney."

Production on "The Road Back", sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front" will start next week.

All four of the Doyle sisters — Adalyn, Catharine, Patsy and Mimi —have at one time or another been stand-ins for Katharine Hepburn.

"The Charge Of The Light Brigade" Featured On Movie Program

Action Packed Films Offered

'Crash Donovan' At Broadway; 'Polo Joe' Is At Lindsey; 'Page Miss Glory' Offering Today At Lyric

PALACE — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "The Charge Of The Light Brigade" (Warner). Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland.

Tragic love story of two English brothers who love the same girl and the plot is laid at an army outpost in India where a bloody war between the troops and tribesmen is being staged.

BROADWAY—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Crash Donovan" with Jack Holt.

Action packed story of a stage highway patrol and the dangers encountered by its riders. A carnival motorcycle rider is invited to join them but scoffs at the idea, believing the job one for a sissy. But he later learns he was wrong.

LINDSEY—Sunday and Monday: "Polo Joe" (Warner). Joe E. Brown, Carol Hughes, Fay Holden.

A globe trotter returns home to his gushing aunt and falls in love with a beautiful girl who believes the only man worth having is a polo player. He brags a lot about his polo, never having played a game in his life, but in the big game he manages to make some accidental starring shots and win the tilt and the girl.

LYRIC — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Page Miss Glory" (Warner). Marion Davies, Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien.

A trio of promoters concoct an idea to make the most beautiful girl in the world. They make a composite photo but run into trouble. Through an accident a chambermaid comes to their rescue.

TECH—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Wife Versus Secretary" with Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow.

He loved his wife and respected his secretary. Which was he to choose?

TEXAN—Sunday and Monday: "The General Died At Dawn" with Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll.

An adventurer in the Orient runs into all sorts of trouble when he falls in love with a beautiful woman who, circumstances indicate, plays him false. But through a clever trick he escapes with her and with his own life by playing on the vanity of a Chinese desperado.

PALACE — Wednesday and Thursday: "Along Came Love" with Irene Hervey and Charles Starrett.

A girl tries to find on earth a man as handsome and romantic as the ancient classic figure of Orion. She finds him in a young doorman but they find they cannot marry and live on their meagre salaries and support her mother.

BROADWAY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Seven Sinners" with Edmund Lowe and Constance Cummings.

LINDSEY — Tuesday and Wednesday: "Adventure In Manhattan" (Columbia). Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea.

A story concerning efforts of a former newspaperman turned crime novelist to solve a series of robberies engineered by a master crook.

LINDSEY — Thursday: "Sworn Enemy" (MGM). Robert Young, Florence Rice.

A picture dealing with the various ramifications of the underworld and instructing citizens in ways to meet its characters. It concerns a young fight manager and square shooter whose brother was killed by gangsters because he knew too much.

LYRIC — Wednesday and Thursday: "Case Of The Missing Man" with Roger Pryor and Jean Perry.

Adventures of a young photographer who took a picture of a crowd in front of a building, one member of which turned out to be a crook who had just committed a murder and staged a jewelry robbery.

TECH — Wednesday and Thursday: "Exclusive Story" with Franchot Tone and Madge Evans.

The inside story of the numbers racket revealed by the one man who knows the whole truth.

TEXAN—Tuesday and Wednesday: "Stage Struck" with Dick Powell and Joan Blondell.

TEXAN — Thursday: "The Law in Her Hands" (First National). Warren Hull, Margaret Lindsay.

Two women lawyers nearly starve as honest and upright barristers. They decide the whole game is one of tricks and go in for criminal law and become successful as the "mouthpieces" of a band of gangsters.

PALACE—Friday and Saturday: "Tarzan Escapes" (MGM). Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan.

Story of human deceit directed against a primitive man of the jungle, and of the treachery of civilized man against the jungle friend of wild beasts who has never known the tricks of his "enlightened" brothers.

BROADWAY — Friday and Saturday: "Little Lord Fauntleroy" (United Artists). Freddie Bartholomew, Dolores Costello Barrymore, C. Aubrey Smith, Guy Kibbee.

The story of a kid from Brooklyn, a human sort of little fellow who is yanked up from his surroundings to become a lord in England. He had a bootblack for a pal, thought the neighborhood grocer the greatest guy on earth and loved his mother dearly. Then he stole the heart of a hard-boiled old earl.

LINDSEY—Friday and Saturday: "Unknown Ranger" (Columbia). Bob Allen, Martha Tibbetts.

Galloping action and romance revolving around a young ranger of the west and a pretty girl.

LYRIC—Friday and Saturday: "Imitation Of Life" (Universal). Claudette Colbert, Warren William, Ned Sparks, Rochelle Hudson, Louise Beavers.

A young widow strives to make a living for herself and young daughter. She and a negro maid go in partnership in the pancake business and make a fortune. Tragedy arrives when the mother and grown daughter fall in love with the same man.

TECH—Friday and Saturday: "Million Dollar Ransom" with Edward Arnold, Mary Carlisle, Phillip Holmes.

The story of a man who kidnaped himself to save the woman he loved.

TEXAN—Friday and Saturday: "Trailin' West" (First National). Dick Foran, Paula Stone.

Thrilling melodrama of the west during the Civil war period when guerillas were undermining the government and spies were on the watch to catch them.

Fred Astaire's pet economy is turning out lights.

Franchot Tone has an extensive library of classical phonograph records.

Myrna Loy is spending her spare time inspecting old California farmhouses to get ideas for the interior of her new home.

Program Will Be Given Here

First Formal Christmas Event Scheduled Thursday Evening At Sanders School; Pageant Will Be Staged

For the first formal Christmas program given by Lubbock school children this season the Sanders school glee clubs, directed by Miss Lois Mangum, will present a pageant, "Christmas Night" Thursday evening at the school building. The pageant will be given at the regular Parent-Teacher association meeting at 7 o'clock.

Following the regular business session Mrs. C. C. Schmidt will give a talk on "Friendless".

To Sing Carols

The Christmas pageant will open with a scene showing the Christ child in the manger, with an angel posed in a cathedral window in the background. Familiar Christmas carols will be sung during the pageant.

Characters are: Mary, Capitola Tollison; Joseph, William Whitley; angels, Venita Reed, Lucile Ham, Elmeta Reed, Geraldine Dickson, Margaret Graves; shepherds, Milford Cross, Claud Ham, Winford Griffen; wisemen, C. M. Whitaker, Bennie Beardsley and F. D. McDonald; little children, Mary Lo Griffen, Evelyn Davis, Della Ruth Haddock, J. D. Stagner, Earl Johnson, jr., Caylor Bessent; representatives of other nations, Amos Mills, John Harry Beeson, W. K. McCreary, Juanita Savell, Virginia Green, and Grace Burrows.

Second Annual Short Course For Dairymen Will Be Held

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 5. (Special) — More than 100 dairymen from different sections of the state are expected to attend the second annual short course of dairy herdsmen and cow testers to be sponsored by the dairy husbandry department of Texas A&M college from Dec. 14 to 18, inclusive. Program plans for the course have been worked out by Prof. A. L. Darnell, director.

Instruction during the short course will include dairy herd management, inspection, classification, sanitation, shelter and feeding. A conference of dairy herd improvement association testers and a contest on culling dairy herds on type will be among program features. Staff members of the dairy husbandry department, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Extension Service will be assisted in carrying out the program by Dr. H. L. Darby, of Fort Worth, chief inspector for Texas of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture; and D. T. Simons, field man for the American Jersey Cattle club.

Forty per cent, or 320,000, of the restaurants of the world are in the United States.

Safety Program Will Be Presented By Lubbock Students On Thursday

Stressing ways Lubbock citizens should observe safety during the Christmas season, Central Ward school will present the regular feature program of Lubbock Public schools over station KFYO Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The program will feature an interview conducted by Bill Fox, Central Ward student, with Captain W. W. Legge of the Lubbock division of Texas Highway patrol. Billy Pool will be master-of-ceremonies for the program.

Thursday afternoon the Junior High school students presented their first amateur hour, and will announce on Tuesday of this week which one of the ten numbers entered has been voted winner.

Have Theme Song

Central Ward's safety program will be introduced with their theme song, "Safety Trail," sung by Jacquelyn Lewis, Kittie Pearl Bonds, Nell Rose Horton, Ella Frances Norman. Safety jingles will be given by La Juanda Moore, and "Yankee Doodle" sung by the girls' chorus. A skit telling about the necessity of safety with Christmas toys will be given by Bobby Comer and Bobby Hickok. The girls' quartet will sing "Safe and Merry," after which a skit on safety and Christmas trees and Christmas costumes will be given by La Juanda Moore and Virginia Kellam. Onita Lane will give a humorous reading, and the chorus will sing "Safe Play." The interview between Captain Legge and Bill Fox will conclude the program.

Mrs. Ance English, Mrs. Willie C. Smith, Miss Anna Casey and Cecil Schwalbe are the Central Ward teachers in charge of this program.

Girls in the chorus are Zanalee Jones, Oneita Lane, Vada Lois Graham, Mary Katherine Jones, Willy Ruth Sinclair, Ina Whitney, Verda Beth Eidler, Doris Jean Bond, Kitty Pearl Bonds, Jacquelyn Lewis, Ella Frances Norman and Nell Rose Horton.

Christmas Plans Of Club To Be Discussed At Meet Here

Members of the board of governors of the American Business club and committee heads will meet Monday at 7 p. m. at the Hilton hotel to discuss Christmas plans of the club, Wyatt L. Hester, chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

Several other matters of importance are to come up. The board will recommend to the club the number of Christmas baskets to be filled and how distribution will be made, among other matters. Plans for the coming inauguration of new officers will be completed also.

Menu Covers For Ships Are Made By Children In City

Men who eat Christmas dinner aboard the U.S.S. Dobbin, San Diego, Calif. and the U.S.S. Kingfisher, San Diego, Calif. will be indebted to children of Central Ward school, Lubbock, for their menu covers. The children in the art department, directed by Miss Opal Sloan, recently completed 200 of these covers in connection with their Junior Red Cross work.

According to Mrs. Guy L. Trow, acting chairman of the Lubbock Junior Red Cross, K. Carter, George M. Hunt and Dupre schools are planning to furnish 100 gifts for the State Orphan's home at Corsicana. Sixty-six rooms in Lubbock's elementary grades have paid their dues in Guadalupe, Sanders, K. Carter, Dupre, Hunt, and Central Ward schools.

Throughout the year the children in these rooms are engaged in various activities which link them with other Junior Red Cross chapters over the world.

Texas Managing Editors Are In Convention At Houston

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A record attendance at the Texas Managing Editors' association convention opening here Sunday was predicted by James R. Record, association president. Mr. Record is managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Managing editors of the Houston Chronicle and the Houston Post will be convention hosts.

A boat trip down the Houston ship channel and luncheon at San Jacinto Inn were planned for Sunday.

Monday will be devoted largely to business sessions with Alan Gould, sports editor of the Associated Press; Fred Dye, Texas bureau chief of the Associated Press, among speakers.

A dinner dance Monday night will climax the convention.

Here's The Truth About That Word Branded Maverick

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 5. (AP)—That word maverick needs a little explanation, and Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas is just the man who can do it.

"Maverick" as a term for an unbranded calf or cow originated from the Maverick family, all right, said the congressman—but not because any of his relatives went around putting his brand on unmarked strays.

Wasn't A Cowman

"The truth of the matter is that my grandfather, Samuel A. Maverick, wasn't a cowman at all. He became a San Antonio businessman and never owned any cattle until somebody gave him 400 head of longhorns to pay a debt.

"My grandfather put the cattle on Padre island, just off the Texas coast. When the tide was low some of them waded ashore. Grandfather hadn't bothered to brand them, so someone else did. He thinks he lost most of them that way.

"People would see one of the unbranded animals and would say, 'that's Maverick's.' Pretty soon they began calling any unbranded cow a 'maverick'."

REV. GREEN OF LUBBOCK GOT QUICK RELIEF FROM MISERY WITH VAN-TAGE!

Rev. Green, Of 6th St., Suffered 10 Years—Recently Thought That He Wouldn't Live Through The Night Due To Gas, Bloat And Kidney Pains —Now Van-Tage Has Relieved Him, He Says: "I Feel Like A Different Person!"

Never before in local history, say Leading Druggists, has any medicine created such a sensation in this section as has VAN-TAGE. This is the "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents" now being introduced to crowds daily here in Lubbock, by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway. All over Lubbock, and throughout Texas, people are praising this Remarkable Compound and are saying, "I never saw anything like VAN-TAGE. It relieved me after other medicines HAD FAILED. It is GREAT!" For instance, just a few days ago, the Rev. H. H. Green of 1924 6th St., Lubbock, made the following statement. Rev. Green is a Prominent retired Congressional Methodist Minister who is known and respected throughout this whole section. Read this widely-known man's testimonial. Read it through and through. Find out—for yourself—what Van-Tage CAN DO! Rev. Green says:

REV. H. H. GREEN, Prominent Retired Local Minister, Had Suffered 10 Years. He Started Taking VAN-TAGE to Ease Suffering and Says: "I Got Relief From the Start!"

Could Hardly Breathe Due To Awful Pains

"I had suffered terribly during the past ten years with an upset stomach, but in the last six months this condition got much worse. For the last five weeks it has caused me Untold Trouble. My stomach and bowels had gotten so bad that when I ate my food it would turn to awful gas and bloat that would crowd up into my chest and around my heart. This caused me such agonizing pain and would be so bad that I WOULD WONDER IF I WOULD SURVIVE THE NIGHT! One night recently I was in such an awful condition that I Could Hardly Get My Breath and I was in doubt of Getting Through Until Morning because I was so very sore.

Van-Tage Brought Him Immediate Relief!

"The morning after this horrible experience, I happened to read about Van-Tage in the local papers and I came down to the drug store to see the Van-Tage Man. I told him of two years of suffering I had gone through and I got a small bottle of this Medicine and a box of Mosby's Tablets. I went home and took this medicine as he told me and I GOT RELIEF FROM THE START! I slept better that night than I had for a long time. Now I have taken Van-Tage for four days and I can truthfully say I Feel Like a Different Person! My kidneys, which were weak, are already feeling better and the soreness has left my stomach organs. I no longer bloat up as I used to. I think Van-Tage is Wonderful and I am telling everyone about it!"

Is Like Taking Several Medicines At Once

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 ingredients. So it is like taking several medicines all at once. Some of its ingredients clear gas and bloat from stomach; others cleanse bowels; still others help sluggish acting liver and kidneys; and others relieve rheumatic and neuritic pain, due to contaminated system from the sluggish action of these organs. Van-Tage acts as a carminative, laxative, cholagogue and diuretic. Weak, miserable people daily write us they soon feel different in general. Another thing — due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. So don't hesitate. Get Van-tage — TODAY!

Wide-Eyed Kiddies Thrill To Ultra-Modern Toy Displays In Lubbock Stores

Santa's Gifts Go Streamline

Mechanical Gadgets That Are Really Workable Featured; Martial Strain Is Shelved As Science Steals Show

BY OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

LATEST developments in the adult world of work and play will be apparent in the streamlined, modernized toys which Santa will deliver into Lubbock homes this month, if toy displays are any indication.

Johnny and Mary can even illustrate to Mother and Dad a few developments. For instance there's the television telephone. Little Mary picks up her telephone—it's dial, of course—and in a lighted circle in the base flash pictures of imaginary playmates.

Latest Gadgets Really Work

A-RIDING THEY WILL GO

sembling the latest streamlined models, trains, trucks, all are fixed with the latest gadgets found in the real thing, and they WORK. They have lights and brakes and windshields and rubber tires.

Then there are airplane hangars, two-car garages, filling stations, and other conveniences to make the picture realistic.

Dad might do well to copy a small streamlined automobile Santa may bring to his son. The car runs until it hits something, retraces its tracks until it again collides, and so on.

Constructive toys may be seen as never before in Lubbock toy displays. There are chemical sets, paint sets, clay sets, litho-art sets, blocks, tool sets, letter games, printing games, tapestry and sewing sets and dozens of other sets with which children may construct things.

The chemical sets are expected to be popular, according to Lubbock merchants, who have stocked up on sets ranging from 50 cents to $12.50. They cannot explain the extreme interest in the sets. Perhaps the children want to be doctors or perhaps they just enjoy mixing the chemicals and seeing the reactions.

Girls Not Forgotten

Dolls which walk, talk and look real, modernistic furniture, ovens, unbreakable dishes, ironing boards, baby buggies which also have gone streamlined, miniature brightly-painted kitchenette sets and dozens of toys to delight the small girl may be found.

The Dionne quintuplets, at the toddling age, and Shirley Temple may be found in most doll displays in Lubbock.

Noticeably little wartime equipment may be found. Reflection of the national report that 99 per cent of America's Christmas playthings are geared to peacetime pursuits may be seen. A few war tanks and guns are about the only war equipment found, other than G-Men and cowboy toys.

A secretary resembling that owned by mother may be seen, besides the latest in desks. Miniature living room sets include radio, card table and floor lamp.

Mickey Mouse and Pop-eye may be seen in any toy display. They grace all sorts of games. There are also Minnie and Olive Oil, Donald Duck and Pluto, and others.

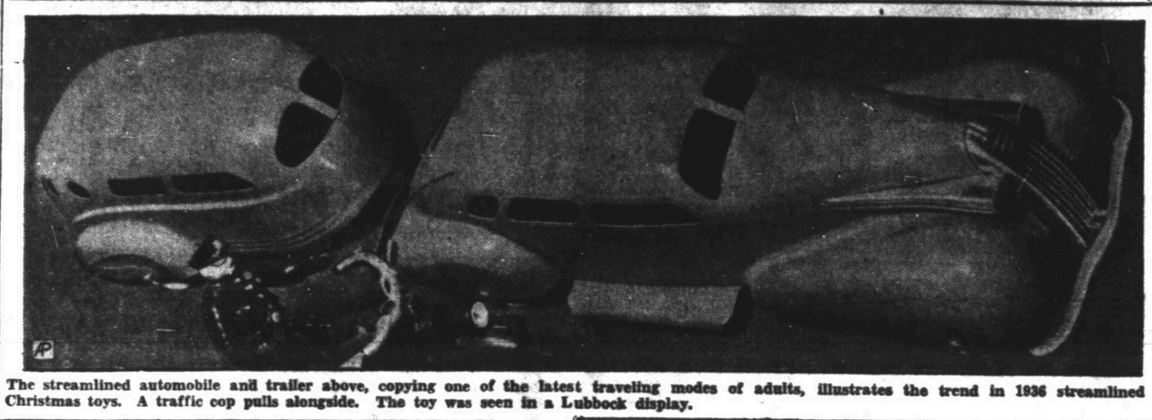

Movie projectors, typewriters, radio sets, telegraph and other sets may be found for the ambitious junior.

Children may be seen daily streaming through Lubbock toylands and uttering Oh's and Ah's over toys they hope to find in their socks Christmas morning.

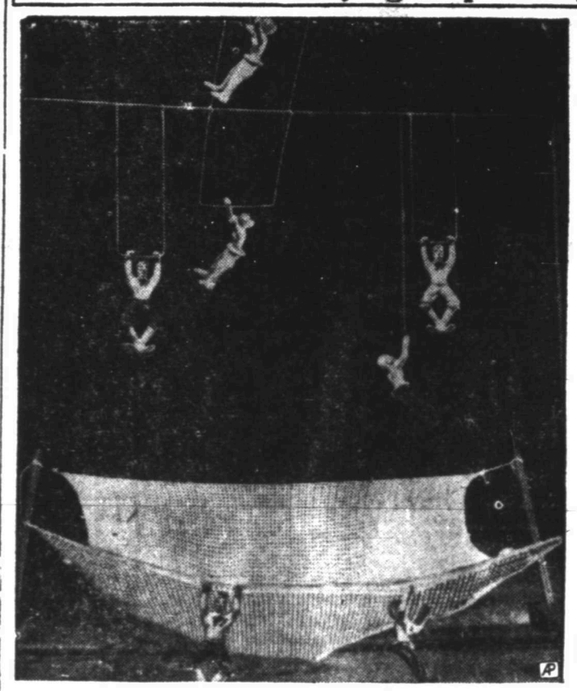

Santa's pack this year will contain $215,000,000 in toys for American children, according to an Associated Press report from New York.

Play Autos And Trailers Catch Children's Attention This Christmas

The streamlined automobile and trailer above, copying one of the latest traveling modes of adults, illustrates the trend in 1936 streamlined Christmas toys. A traffic cop pulls alongside. The toy was seen in a Lubbock display.

Yessir! It's The Flying Trapeze

The "man on the flying trapeze" is no more carefully protected than the small figures above which drop into the net when they fall from the miniature trapezes. The toy, seen in a Lubbock store, closely resembles the adult equipment, which is typical of modern toys.

Patrolman Quits After Roosevelt Declared Victor

AMARILLO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Patrolman Buck Miller, 73, oldest man on the Amarillo police department in age and length of service, resigned because President Roosevelt was re-elected.

"I promised my three sons in California if Roosevelt was re-elected, I would resign and take a trip to the west coast," he says.

Before entering the police service 13 years ago, Miller was a Panhandle cowman, and a policeman at Henrietta. He was serving under Tex Rickard, famous fight promoter, when Rickard resigned as chief of police at Henrietta. He became chief, and later went to Alaska with Rickard for a summer.

He left Alaska because he "heard how cold the winters were."

Shipment Of Texas Stock To Market Points Shows Drop

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Shipment of Texas livestock to Fort Worth pens and interstate points decreased 15 per cent in October compared with the same month last year.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports 5,632 cars forwarded, against 6,637 last year.

Cattle shipments, 3,536 cars, dropped 19 per cent; calves, 1,326 cars, dropped 11 per cent; sheep, 473 cars, dropped 33 per cent, but hogs, 388 cars, increased 106 per cent.

Texas hog shipments to Los Angeles were 15 times greater than in October last year. A moderate increase occurred in shipments to Fort Worth.

Receipts of live stock from out of state points, 1,845 cars, increased nearly 60 per cent.

22 ENTER CONTEST

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—A total of 22 high schools entered the Interscholastic League one-act play contest. Deadline for entries is Feb. 1. The 1936-37 season is the final in which a rule limiting entries to comedies or farces is applied.

Doorstep Baby 42 Years Ago Unravels Mystery Of Parents

Brothers And Sisters Are Met For First Time; Has Lived With Kindly Man And Woman In Houston

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP) — Mrs. Ronald Rand, a doorstep baby 42 years ago, unraveled the jig-saw puzzle of her parentage today.

Since she was 10 years old she has known that a kindly man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Elliot, who live on Houston's north side, were her foster parents. They took her from another couple on whose doorstep she was left in a basket in 1895. They showed her a newspaper clipping of the incident and gave her two notes, neatly penned in a woman's handwriting. The notes asked that the child be given good care.

Story Is Revealed

Today, having met some of her brothers and sisters for the first time, Mrs. Rand told her story.

"I was advised by a psychic several years ago that my mother was still living, and that she was in Houston," she said.

Later, she said, the psychic told her her mother had died but that acquaintances of Mrs. Rand could direct her to a cousin, who could unravel the mystery of her identity. For years she asked each friend if they could assist her. Finally, an elderly woman told her the name of a woman in Porters, Texas. The Porters resident was a cousin.

Mother Died In 1929

From the cousin, Mrs. Rand learned that her mother had died in 1929 but that her brothers and sisters were living in Houston.

Wednesday night she telephoned a sister, Mrs. W. S. Gardner, and the two met. Mrs. Gardner said the mother, on her death bed, had told the other children of the missing sister.

Thursday night, a brother, Jimmie Roberts, saw the eldest sister for the first time.

"We just sat and looked at each other a while and then I went over and kissed him," Mrs. Rand said.

Another brother and another sister live here. Mrs. Rand has not yet seen them. She hopes to go to San Antonio soon for a visit with another sister, Mrs. Molly Smith, wife of a minister there.

Important Fossil Bed Said To Be Located Near Canyon

CANYON, Dec. 5 (AP)—A fossil bed within 17 miles of Canyon promises to become one of the most important in the United States, C. Stuart Johnson, paleontologist at West Texas State Teachers college, says.

"These fossils represent the life of the Pliocene age about 5,000,000 years ago," says Johnson. "We found a great variety of animals which enables us to fill in a wide gap in our pre-history."

Mrs. Stuart Johnson is supervising the excavations by a crew of 10 WPA laborers.

New York Man To Be Texas Speaker

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 5. (AP)—Dr. Earl R. Carlson of the New York Neurological Institute will address the annual convention of the Texas Society for Crippled Children here Dec. 15 and 16, Abe Goldberg, first vice-president announces.

Major projects, including a general program for spastic paralysis, educational preventive program, assisting children in obtaining transportation to and from hospitals, and a follow-up program of crippled children after release from hospital, will be considered, Goldberg says.

It is planned to have group meetings of special teachers for speech correction and lip reading.

The society, of which C. H. Ashcroft of Sulphur Springs is president, was organized in 1929 with the object of obtaining necessary medical attention for indigent crippled children. Last year the society sent 2,200 children to 25 approved hospitals in Texas at a cost of $148,052.25; paid 33 orthopedic plastic surgeons $33,117.50 for treatment of 1,418 children; $19,158.95 for 624 braces and 17 artificial limbs; and $297.37 for transportation of 41 children. Administration costs totalled $19,483.79.

Sam Whitley of Commerce is second vice president; O. O. Touchstone of Dallas third vice president; and Dennis W. Macken of Austin is treasurer.

WOOL IS SOLD

ALTURAS, Calif., Dec. 5. (AP)—Sale of approximately 100,000 fleeces of the Modoc county wool clip for spring delivery was announced today by Roy R. Baker, local representative of eastern buyers. Baker said the sale constitutes approximately one-third of the average clip here. The average price quoted was 30 to 32 cents.

PALESTINE OUTLAWS BEGGARS

JERUSALEM (AP)—The picturesque old beggar of the Orient will soon be a thing of the past in Palestine for begging and mendicancy are completely prohibited under the new general criminal code.

BUDAPEST EATS MORE HORSES

BUDAPEST (AP)—More than 2,200,000 pounds of horsemeat were consumed by Budapest residents in the past year—a 20 per cent increase over the previous year. This is taken to indicate growing poverty here.

WHY GYPSIES WANT SCHOOL

MOHACS, Hungary (AP)—Parents who demanded the reopening of a separate school for gypsy children here advanced the point, among other, that young gypsies came to school smoking pipes.

Harvard College was opened in 1638.

Big Ranch Is Reported Sold

Yellowhouse Ranch In Hockley And Lamb Counties Is Sold To George White; Transfer Set About Jan. 1

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 5—Sale of the great Yellowhouse ranch of 23,000 acres, the old Littlefield property, by the J. Phelps White Co., of Roswell, N. M., to George White, is announced here.

The sale includes besides the acreage, the old Yellowhouse headquarters in Yellowhouse canyon, on the Hockley-Lamb county line south of here. The ranchhouse was built nearly two years ago by the late Phelps White, father of Geroge White and nephew of Major George W. Littlefield, who bought it from the old Capitol Freehold Land and Development Co., in the early 1900's.

Built In 80's

The original ranch house was built of native adobe mud in the 80's. It was a part of the old XIT at one time. The building was destroyed by fire in August, 1930 and nearly cost the life of Will G. Murray, son of W. G. Murray of Lubbock, who had the ranch leased at the time from the Yellowhouse Land Co. Later the land company resold the ranch to Mr. White.

Transfer to the new owner will be about the first of January.

Mr. and Mrs. George White have resided at the ranch since their marriage. They recently rented a home in Littlefield and moved here.

Vinson Boreing, manager of the ranch, will occupy headquarters.

Warning Is Made

The ranch is stocked with about 1,000 head of cattle. The ranch has been posted against hunting for years, but recently ranch employes have found cattle shot. A warning that trespassers will be prosecuted, was made by the new owner.

A state game refuge may be established on the ranch.

Recently an oil company had a crew of men making geological tests on the ranch. No report of their findings has been made known.

The ranch is one of the historic properties of the South Plains. It was used for years for cattle and some years ago sheep were run on the property.

Two large potash lakes, containing minerals of several kinds, are in the canyon. Both have been prospected for years.

Articles Written By Tech Leaders Appear In Magazine Of This Month

Two articles by Texas Technological college faculty members, "The Drouth of '36" by Dr. W. C. Holden and "Texas Tech College Trains in Textile Engineering" by M. E. Heard, appear in the December issue of the Southwestern Sheep and Goat Raiser.

The front cover of the magazine pictures woolen fabric woven at Tech.

Drouth Described

A drouth far surpassing the 1935 "dust bowl" period was described by Doctor Holden. "From the advent of the white man, drouths have periodically be-devilled West Texas. The first severe one of which there is an account was in 1854," he wrote. "But of all the drouths before or since, the one of 1886 was the grizziest of them all". He described the period when "exodus from the drouth-stricken districts assumed the proportions of a panic." Dr. Holden is acting head of the college history department.

Important Industry

Heard, acting head of the textile engineering department, described the textile industry as the most important branch of manufacturing in this country today.

"The textile engineering department at Texas Tech has complete equipment for instruction in cotton manufacturing and the work has been principally along these lines. For the past four years we have felt the need for instruction on wool and mohair, and hope some day to have sufficient equipment to care for these animal fibers. There is no textile school in the South so equipped and Texas is the logical state for such instruction due to the large clip of wool and mohair," he wrote.

Charles Furthmann and Jules Furthman, of Hollywood, spell their surnames differently to avoid confusion. They are brothers and both are writers.

America Should Prepare

ONE gets the impression, reading the news from Europe these days, that the world is standing on the threshold of great and terrible changes; that European civilization is taking the social fabric which it has woven with such pains from the days of Charlemagne and is preparing to rend it down the middle, bringing to a close a whole cycle of human progress and making way for something new, chaotic, and utterly unpredictable.

Is that too dark a picture? Then how else can the dispatches from overseas be read?

Already the civil war in Spain is more than a civil war, and is rapidly becoming an actual conflict between two opposing concepts of social organization, stemming directly from Rome, Berlin, and Moscow.

Germany and Japan form an anti-Communist alliance, and it is openly hinted that they will go to war in the spring. Britain arms with feverish haste, Moscow boasts of 7000 war planes, and every correspondent agrees that the only reason a new world war has not yet begun is that the nations are not quite ready for it.

NO American can contemplate that prospect without prayerfully asking what his own country's course should be when the break-up begins. What must we do, when the rest of the world resorts to violence to make earth-shaking changes? Can we keep out of it—and, if we can, should we?

We can, if we insist upon it; we should, if we can.

In 1916 we heard a great deal of hifalutin talk to the effect that we owed a high duty to the rest of the world, that it was somehow ignoble and unworthy for us to sit peacefully at home when great issues were being settled by the sword overseas. If and when this new European bust-up comes, we shall certainly hear more of that kind of talk.

We ought to prepare our defenses ahead of time. Let us get it clearly in our heads that if Europe goes to war again, we can best serve the world by staying at peace—by preserving, on one continent at least, an oasis of sanity in a world gone mad.

If we can put ourselves in shape to resist the war propaganda, the material part of the job ought to be easier.

We can resolve not to let our land be turned into a source of supply for either side—for the last war taught us how perilous that is. We can follow the lead of the Buenos Aires conference and cement the trade and political relations of the new world.

We can make ourselves see that no matter how painful might be the industrial depression which a European war would create in America, the remedy of a war-made boom would be a cure worse than the disease.

IT is not too soon for us to begin thinking earnestly about these things. The European catastrophe may take shape overnight. The time to make our desire for peace effective is now, before the passions of a great war drown out the voice of reason.

Naturally our oyster industry is upset over a threat of Japanese competition. A Japanese oyster will work for practically nothing and never complain.

When Russia has dropped a battalion by parachute on enemy soil, and the foe has done the same in Russia, all will be confusion.

Nature, as usual, is providing the annual clear-cut solution to the nudist problem.

Why involve ourselves in Europe? Floods and windstorms give us all the chaos of war without the expense of medals.

After trying vainly some 15 minutes to get it out, it occurs to us that they blow the bottle around the tomato catsup.

A correspondent is amazed that the Japanese raise no cry against the mounting burden of taxes. It is a penalty of speaking a language that has no profanity.

Civilization consists of finding new things to worry about.

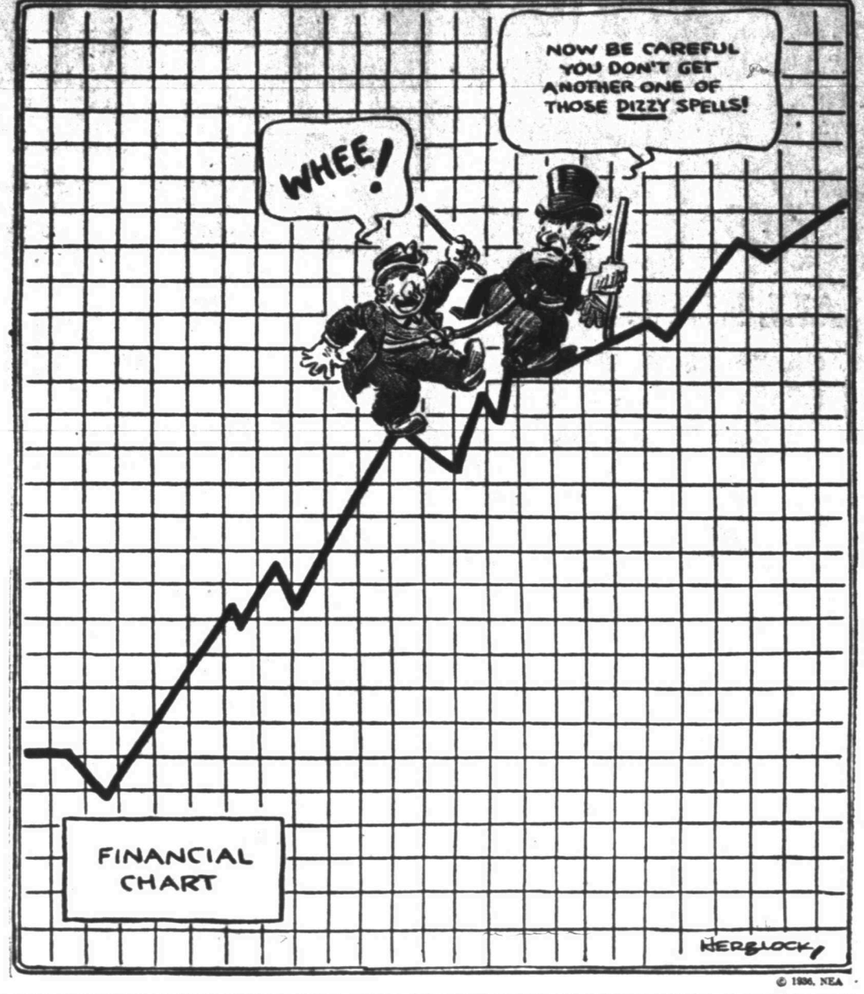

Jealousy is a green-eyed monster, but it may turn one or both of your eyes black.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

God is not a man, that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?

Behold, I have received commandment to bless: and he hath blesses; and I cannot reverse it.—Numbers, XXIII:19-21.

THE NEW BOOKS

Lloyd George Pens More Of His War Memoirs; Pearl S. Buck Writes Of Her Missionary Father In "Fighting Angel;" Willa Cather Has Collection Of Essays Published

"WAR MEMOIRS OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE: 1917-1918;" (Little, Brown, Boston).

LLOYD GEORGE writes on and on. Patiently or otherwise, all the heroes and ex-heroes of the World war wait to see what the peppery little Welshman will say about them. One by one they are rewarded, unless in the meantime they have been called to join the millions who died in the slaughter 20 years ago.

In his fifth volume, Lloyd George ---tes of the years 1917-1918, of the great depression when, after a summer of blundering through the mud of Flanders, the total gain was a couple of untenable sectors, and the total loss was 399,000 mangled in the British army alone.

If They Had Listened

As usual, Lloyd George's underlying point is that if only people had listened to him, things would have gone much better. To make this point perfectly clear, he shows up each of the persons who crossed him—Haig, for example, who is flailed about the ears, and later Pershing and Wilson and heaven knows how many others.

This is a type of special pleading of which one example may serve to illustrate the whole case. Lloyd George has been obsessed almost from the first page of his Memoirs with the idea that he could have won the war in Europe if only his ideas about macerating Turkey and other hostile eastern powers had been followed.

Full Of Information

The book is full of information of great value to students of war and diplomacy. But there is no blinking the fact that to arrive at the simple facts, a good deal of "adjusting" must be done.

The long and bitter quarrel of Lloyd George with Pershing is a perfect example. This volume of the Memoirs is full of the most insulting comment on Pershing.

There is probably no reason why Lloyd George should not speak his mind, as long as he keeps its channels reasonably open. But apparently it never occurs to Lloyd George that throughout the quarrel with Pershing he was undermining the general with his superiors as ably as possible—and that the long-suffering general knew it all the time. There are men who would commit mayhem under similar provocation.

Frank And Sympathetic

"FIGHTING ANGEL," by Pearl S. Buck; (John Day, in association with Reynal and Hitchcock, New York).

THERE simply is no way to measure in advance the effect of Pearl S. Buck's "Fighting Angel" on the public. One can only say what effect it has had on oneself, and perhaps suggest an avenue of approach.

It seemed to us that "The Exile," which is the story of Mrs. Buck's mother and her life in China, was the best thing she had written up to that time—more important, even, than "The Good Earth," which made her reputation. "Fighting Angel" seems a still finer book.

Is Less Resentful

It is as frank in its approach and in its estimate of the missionary father as its predecessor was in its story of the mother. But it is less resentful, and so perhaps even more honest. It is as if Mrs. Buck had worked something out of her soul with "The Exile," which left her free to draw her father justly. This she does and nobly.

For the father was, as readers of "The Exile" know, what we call euphemistically "difficult." He married because his mother had said that he should not give his life to the heathen unless he had a wife to care for him. He forgot to buy a ticket for his bride when they set out for China.

Never Knew His Wife

He never really knew his wife, however many children he had by her and what is more pitiful, he never missed knowing her. He was a man single-minded beyond the imagination of us temporizing humans; God had called him to save China, and save China he would. He did as much as any human could do, too.

It cost him a balanced homelife, and for it he sacrificed the world. He was not by nature bold, but he went places and did things that armies might have failed in. He had no doubt, which perhaps was the secret of it all. In any case his duty sustained him even to the age of eighty.

When he died, he still was planning his ruthless campaigns in the name of Jesus. But he had mellowed a little; "and so he lived, a happy soul," Mrs. Buck concludes, "and never knew he died."

This is a great book.

Simple And Complete

"NOT UNDER FORTY," by Willa Cather; (Alfred A. Knopf, N. Y.)

"NOT Under Forty" is Willa Cather's first collection of essays and, as might be expected, the six included are essays that could have been written, in their simplicity and completeness, only by Miss Cather. The one time Miss Cather has touched the commonplace in all her career was in her latest novel, "Lucy Gayheart." That is a unique record, and it is emphasized by the new volume.

Miss Cather prefers to introduce her subjects in "Not Under Forty" more or less concretely. For example, what she has to say of Flaubert is draped around the three dimensional figure of the "Caro" of the "Lettres a sa Niece Caroline," whom Miss Cather met in 1930 at the Grand-Hotel d'Aix, quite by chance.

Firm And Undefeated

Caroline then was Mme. Franklin Grout, an old lady of eighty-four, but an old lady still firm and still undefeated. Mme. Grout had survived two husbands, and innumerable friends. She had had something of a career herself, and had been a kind of lighthouse beckoning toward her famous uncle all her life.

It was this devotion to a memory and to an epoch which sustained her; this and an inborn determination to see things through which kept her sketching throughout the heat, attending concerts and opera, living life as she understood it.

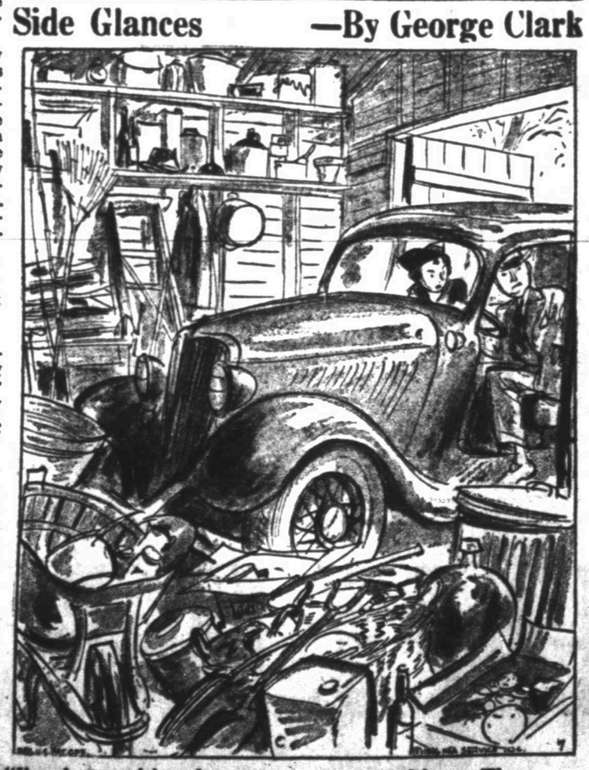

So that when she and Miss Cather came together, the latter was able to see in her older friend the embodiment of a period long lost, and later, when Mme. Grout had died, Miss Cather was able to use her as the starting point for one of the best and most intelligent estimates of Flaubert (Balzac also) we have today.

AND there might be Webb Waldron's charming, at times almost eerie, "Uncharted". Mr. Waldron is telling of the influence of a southern island you never heard of (nor anyone else) upon the lives of a diverse group which landed there. It is a strange little story, and a grand book for a winter night.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

EUROPEAN nations in debt to Uncle Sam hold an ace card which they may toss on the table if Washington becomes too hard-boiled in backstage negotiations. Federal Reserve Chieftain Eccles warned of the danger in private talks with FDR before the latter left for South America.

British and French nationals own about $1,000,000,000 worth of fluid securities which can be dumped on the market overnight, depressing leading stocks and forcing others to dive downward. Should American negotiators seek harsh terms in settlement of the debt question, it would be no trick at all for foreign interests to retaliate with a wholesale unloading. Consequent losses might equal a large percentage of the unpaid war obligations.

It has been done before. When the French were scheming for a moratorium on war debts in 1931, they suddenly withdrew about $600,000,000 in gold from the U. S. They accentuated the depression on this side—but they got their moratorium.

ORPHAN: The United States was without a responsible head of the government on hand for two weeks—an unprecedented situation. Mr. Roosevelt left for South America on November 17, and Vice President Garner did not arrive in Washington until December 1. The nearest approach to an executive was Secretary Stephen T. Early, who kept in contact with FDR via naval radio.

The President tried to bridge the official gap by asking Mr. Garner to return to the Capital before the cruiser Indianapolis left American shores. But the Vice-President had planned a turkey dinner and family reunion at Uvalde, and begged off from an early trip to Washington. So, despite the maritime strike and other pressing problems, the President shoved off and left the government leaderless.

The incident involves more than train timetables and ship schedules. It reflects the spirit of confidence—almost nonchalance—which the November 3rd returns have given the President. Had he not won such a sweeping victory, it is doubtful if he would have orphaned the government for two weeks in these critical times.

NESTOR: Mr. Garner was hauled back to Washington not to supervise affairs of state, but to restrain the enthusiasm of sophomoric and freshmen members of the next Congress. As an old hand on Capitol Hill, Mr. Garner has no equal in diagnosing and curing growing pains among legislators.

Most vice-presidents are legislative nonentities, as were Messrs. Coolidge and Dawes. That's due largely to the fact that they are newcomers and, in the eyes of veterans, carpet-baggers of politics. But Mr. Garner, because of his long service in the House and Senators' affection for him, has become a dominant personality on the legislative end of Pennsylvania Avenue. He has short-circuited more potential rebellions and rounded up votes for more administration measures than any of his predecessors.

Mr. Roosevelt's aides are fearful of the wonders and wickedness which the next Congress may produce. Its potentialities for trouble are enormous. So Mr. Garner, as official welcomer and unofficial counsellor, is depended on to hold the legislative fort until FDR returns to the White House.

INVASION: Louis Ludlow of Indianapolis is a wholly backbench member of Congress. For years he trampled Congressional and departmental corridors as a reporter for small town newspapers, and in a Democratic landslide achieved his ambition of supplanting a member he used to write about.

But Mr. Ludlow seems to have hit a popular target with his proposal that the United States cannot declare war (except in case of invasion) without a plebiscite. It is doubtful if any proposal in recent years has evoked such a favorable batch of letters. According to the Hoosier Congressman, about 150 members signed up overnight in favor of his scheme to let the people who must fight determine whether they shall fight.

The reaction to his suggestion reflects the legislators' perplexed mood in the face of a threat of world war. They seem to favor neutrality legislation which will keep us out; they are strong for a big army and navy in the event we get caught; but they are almost unanimous for the idea that Europe's quarrels are none of our business. It is quite possible that Mr. Ludlow's revolutionary invasion of the Chief Executive's prerogative may pass, provided Congressional bosses permit it to come to a vote.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

KEEP an eye on Major George L. Berry, the industrialist-labor leader who still retains his long quiescent job as "Coordinator of Industrial Cooperation". Major Berry intends to be the principal liaison channel between the administration and business.

That doesn't mean he will be. Most big-time industrial leaders distrust him violently as a result of the pro-labor show he put on in the dying days of NRA and will have as little to do with him as possible. Moreover, Major Berry hasn't the unstinted White House support he had before. His words no longer carry the prestige of administration endorsement.

Still further, he has a competitor for the honor of representing business in its contacts with the government in Secretary Roper's Business Planning and Advisory council. The latter has received an even warmer blessing from Mr. Roosevelt since election than Major Berry, and industrial chiefs in general certainly prefer it to Berry's outfit as a connecting link with Washington.

ISSUE: But Berry is much closer to reality than the Roper council in one important respect. The coordinator recognizes labor questions as of paramount importance in the adjustment of future relations between business, labor and government.

The council will by its very nature seek to minimize them. Its principal concern in labor matters will be to preserve the status quo by stalling along on generalities. Keen New York observers call this a natural reaction to distasteful problems, but as futile in the long run as an ostrich concealing its head in the sand.

The council and other conservative influences will shy off especially from any question of a constitutional amendment to broaden the powers of the federal government in regulating labor relations. Berry and his group are likely, on the other hand, to go after such an amendment hammer and tongs and thus become the active agents in the livest issue this country has seen since the Civil war.

WISE: Leaders of the new American Labor party are well aware of the dangers of entangling alliances. Its executive council recently passed a resolution barring any other political party or any member of another political party from affiliating with it. Moreover, certain communist and quasi-communist groups which aided the Labor party in the recent campaign will shortly be given the bum's rush.

Socialist overtures for an alliance have been rebuffed rather tartly. The labor party's primary concern at the moment is to avoid any taint of the red or socialist label. Any groups that want to come in with it must give up their own identity and consent to complete absorption.

New York political sharps call this attitude a wise precaution by the embryo party's sponsors. They comment that a definitely left wing outfit with serious aspirations to become a major party must escape association with names of proven unpopularity with the great mass of voters.

DIFFERENT: The program for this month's session of the National Association of Manufacturers has been carefully planned. Not a single speaker will be permitted to use harsh words about the New Deal, no matter how sorely tempted.

This reservation will differentiate this year's NAM sessions very sharply from those of last year and the year before.

Mexico's Amazing Social Experiment

Peons Get Fertile Region For Collectivized Farming

BY MARSHALL HAIL
NEA Special Correspondent

TORREON, Mexico, Dec. 5.—Less than 400 miles below the American border, an advanced social experiment, perhaps the most radical in the Western Hemisphere, is being relentlessly pushed forward.

The government is taking land away from big owners without paying them, and giving the ground free in small tracts to the peons, or landless tenant farmers.

The peons, ground beneath four centuries of oppression, are suddenly being made owners of Mexico's richest irrigated farming district, the fertile Comarca Lagunera in the state of Coahuila and Durango.

This is the flowering of what Mexicans call the social revolution, which started in theory when Dictator Porfirio Diaz fell in 1910. The core of this program was wide land distribution to the poor farmers, or peons.

But the expropriation of land and its parceling out proceeded only piecemeal and at intervals. Here in the Laguna district, this method is impossible, as under its flood-type irrigation, large tracts have to be irrigated at once, and hence cultivated systematically.

Work Land Collectively

So the government now, in addition to a widespread land distribution, is embarking on a gigantic collectivization scheme. The farmers will work their new lands collectively. When the crop comes in, they will market it collectively, and split the proceeds.

The expropriations are being made according to the long-standing agrarian laws in what President Lazaro Cardenas insists is a strictly legal and constitutional manner.

Cardenas is about to sign a new law giving the government still wider powers to expropriate property in the public interest. This law seems to imply that the government may take over any property from a house to a silver mine or power plant, not only if it wishes the property for a specific public use, but if it considers such expropriation generally in the public interest.

New Idea Of Property

THE preamble to the act states clearly that an entirely new conception of property is involved.

"The new juridic conception of property does not consider it an absolute right, but as a social function," the act reads. "Thus, the expropriation may be made not only because of public utility, but also for reasons of social interests, for the individual does not have the right to maintain his property non-productive, nor to cut off the founts of life, work, or of consumption, disregarding the general welfare."

The Laguna district consists of 1,250,000 acres, of which 500,000 acres are cultivable. It produces 48 per cent of Mexico's cotton crop. Its average annual crop production is valued at 70 million pesos (about $20,000,000).

President Cardenas is in process of taking over the entire district and distributing it free to 30,000 peons. He has been personally in the field, supervising the undertaking.

No Payments For Land

The government has made no payments to the 300 firms and individuals from whom the land was expropriated. The dispossessed have no hope of ever receiving indemnization. In the past the government has issued agrarian bonds in payment, but these have turned out to be practically worthless.

The owners complain, though seldom openly, that the whole program is "Communism, straight from Russia."

Each peon receives four hectares (about 10 acres) of irrigated farm land, and additional brush and pasture land if any is available. These parcels are organized into ejidos, or communal districts.

Here the government steps in with its agricultural credit bank. It advances seed and farm machinery to the peons and enough money to live on until the harvest.

360 Acres For Owners

AS in Russia, the collectivization program in Laguna has been hard on the wealthy landowners. Their "liquidation" has brought financial ruin and tragic despair.

The government, however, leaves each hacendado 360 acres, enough officials say, to assure an income of 20,000 pesos a year.

Peasant unions helped to bring on the program in Laguna. During the cotton-growing season of 1936, an unprecedented series of farm strikes broke out on the haciendas.

Many of these were fostered by the Confederacion de Trabajadores Mexicanos (C. T. M.), most powerful labor union in Mexico.

Members of C. T. M. address one another as "comrade." Their red strike banners float throughout the district. But Jose Isabel Garcia, secretary general of C. T. M. in Laguna, denounces as "lies" the reports that his organization is Communistic.

Socialistic, He Says

"We are Socialistic," he said. "Our ultimate aim is overthrow of the capitalistic system, but for the present we are concerned with obtaining political and economic liberation for the masses."

The farm strikes in Laguna district culminated in a general "red strike." This agitation was followed by the order for expropriation of the big haciendas and their partition to peons.

Organized opposition to the land expropriation has crumbled. Owners' unions are preparing to disband. Owners are afraid to criticize the government openly. Cardenas has the army behind him, and nowhere on the horizon is there a challenger.

A paralyzing fear hangs over business and industry.

Business in Torreon, a city of 67,000, and commercial capital of the rich region, is suffering a 50 per cent reduction.

Foreign Firms Menaced

FOREIGN interests, including American, are nervous. The Electric Bond & Share Co., a huge American utility enterprise, owns the Torreon power plant, which supplies current for 800 wells used in supplementary irrigation.

Suppose, industrialists ask, the communal peon societies refuse to

The local players made up for their last trip to Amarillo. Last week a Lubbock team defeated a team of four from Amarillo by scoring 127 points to 65 points. The play of B. J. Dad) Greer was the outstanding feature. In playing 6 games around he defeated every man by the same score—four wins, one loss, and 1 draw, to place next to Vinson Stamphill. The scores:

LUBBOCK

	W	L	D	Pts.
Vinson Stamphill	19	1	4	42
B. J. Greer	16	4	4	36
H. A. Cooper	9	6	9	27
Wayne Ashley	9	11	4	22

Judge Culwell	7	12	5	19
Wm. T. Smith	5	14	6	15
W. M. Stratton	2	15	7	11

We give the first game of the match, played between the team captains, Stamphill and Smith: Notes are by Otho Clebdennen: Black, Stanphill. White, Smith. 11-15, 21-17, 9-13, 25-21, 8-11, 29-25 (A), 15-18 (B), 23-14, 11-15, 24-19, 13-24, 28-19, 4-8 (C), 26-23, 8-11, 30-26, 11-16, 27-24, 6-9, (striking now that the iron is hot) 24-20, 5-27, 32-23, 3-8, 20-11, 7-16, 31-27, 9-14, 19-15, 10-19, 17-10, 16-20, 23-16, 12-19, 27-23, 19-24, 23-19, 24-27, 26-23, 27-31, 23-18, 31-27, 18-15, 27-23, 19-16, 2-7, 22-18, 7-14, 18-9, 23-19, 9-6, 19-10, 6-2, 10-14, Black wins.

(A) A surprise move from a player like Smith, for it is a published loss.

(B) Stanphill quickly starts the attack allowed by White's previous move.

(C) A beginner might be tempted to play 6-9 here, but Stanphill develops his game by 4-8 and waits.

D. C. Hulsey, Hochester, has become champion of the West Texas tourney held at Abilene. On Thanksgiving he defeated Allen Chambers of Maytown 3 to 1 in a 10 game match.

At the last regular Tuesday meeting, the local boys made plans for a round-robin tourney to determine a Lubbock county champion. It will be played over several weeks, and those wishing to enter are urged to be at the next Tuesday's session.

Two answers, both correct, came to the last problem. The first was from Stanphill, and the second from a new solver, Raymond Phillips, Lubbock. Here's the position, and their moves: Black on 13, 15, 17. White on 28, 27, king on 26; White wins by 26-22, 17-21, 26-30, 15-19, 30-26, 21-25, 26-30, 25-29, 30-26, 29-25, 26-31, 25-18, 27-23, 18-27, 31-15, 13-17, 15-18, 17-21, 18-22, white wins.

This week's problem is also a tricky one: Black on 3, 6, 8, 9; White on 17, 18, 21, 30; White to move and win. Solve it and win a pamphlet.

The Chess Board

The average Lubbock chess player is stronger than he was in 1934 when the first city championship tournament was conducted under the sponsorship of the Avalanche-Journal.

That fact is shown clearly by the scores made against the field by Dr. R. S. Underwood and Dr. Alan L. Strout, the city's strongest players.

In the first round robin of the current championship tournament Doctor Underwood scored 13½-2½ against the field for a percentage of .844. Doctor Strout's record was 13-3, .812. In their encounters with each other, the professors split their games.

Every player finished his schedule in the first round robin, a record never achieved here before.

A greater percentage of drawn games was reported, too, indicating also that Lubbock players have improved their chess.

As a matter of record, the completed scores of the preliminary tournament are given: Underwood 14½-3½; Strout 14-4; Webb 13¼-5½; Spencer and O'Neal 11½-6½; Jennings 9-9; Allen 6½-11½; Pardue 5-13; Greer 4-14; Root 1½-16½.

Play in the second round robin will be continued at a meeting of the club at the home of Doctor Underwood at 2822 Twenty-third street Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Club meetings are open to all persons interested in the royal game.

The following game, from the New York Post, was played in a Brooklyn Chess league match. It has a piquant finish.

University of Texas Chess club has challenged a Lubbock team to play an inter-club correspondence match. The challenge was addressed to a non-existent club at Texas Technological college. The Lubbock Chess club has written it will play such a match, however.

Harvesting Of Large Feed Crop On South Plains Off To An Early Start

Livestock To Be Fattened

Preparation Of Crop For Feeding Now Under Way; Average Yield Per Acre Runs High, Survey Reveals

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

WITH cotton harvesting out of the way, and much of the grain sorghums cut and shocked, harvesting of the 1936 crop on the approximately 2,000,000 acres in grain sorghums is off to an early start for the winter season.

Much of the expected late feed crop failed to materialise, as an early November freeze killed off the late, undeveloped heads. However, the late crop provided plenty of bundle feed.

To Feed Livestock

Reduction in the number of farm stock animals, horses and mules, has made available a larger percentage of the crop for feeding of livestock, cattle, sheep and hogs. For this reason there will be a larger number of head of livestock fed out this winter on the South Plains than before.

Horse and mule buyers estimate as high as 25,000 head have gone from this area in the past three years.

More than 800 trench silos, with a capacity of 40,000 tons or more, have been built by farmers and filled. In addition, Fred Snyder will have from 30 to 40 silos and probably 25,000 to 30,000 tons of silage for his operations.

Have Largest Acreages

Castro and Lamb counties have probably the largest grain sorghum acreages, each estimated by county agents at around 200,000 acres. The former will probably average 500 pounds of heads per acre and the latter up to 1,500 pounds.

Lubbock, and Swisher counties are next, 150,000 acres or more each; the former will show about 750 pounds of heads per acre and the latter around 1,000 pounds. Lynn county has an estimated 135,000 acres in the crop that should produce 1,000 pounds of heads per acre.

Bailey, Cochran, Dawson, Hale and Hockley counties will average 125,000 acres each, ranging in production from 200 pounds of heads, or more, up to 1,000 for Hale; 1,200 for Bailey and Dawson and 1,000 for Hockley counties.

Crosby's 112,000 acres in the crop will average 1,000 pounds per acre.

Other counties have smaller acreages. Briscoe's 80,000 acres will average 1,000 pounds, or more; Parmer's 75,000 acres will run 2,000 pounds; Terry's 70,000 acres, 1,200 pounds; Floyd's 70,000 acres, 2,000 pounds; while Gaines and Garza will each run 40,000 acres. The former is expected to average 1,000 pounds of heads and the latter 500. Yoakum county will have around 12,000 acres, averaging 1,500 pounds.

Bundles will run anywhere from 200 to 500 per acre, depending on the yield.

Cattle feeders have bought heavily of bundles and heads. Several hundred carloads of threshed grain have been shipped out of the territory. Total may run up to 1,000 cars, if conditions are good and there is a demand for the grain.

Some heads may be shipped out, a few having already been sold.

Many buyers have large ricks of heads at railroad stations over the territory. The buying season is picking up.

After the holidays, Terry county's famous corn crop will begin to move out. Whether there will be many carloads move by rail, will depend on the truck shipments and the feeding operations.

Feeders south and west of Lubbock have used the corn from Terry, Gaines, Yoakum and Cochran counties for several years, in their feeding operations, supplementing sorghums and other feeds. They have paid a higher price than the current market price, as a rule, for corn, with the result that rail shipments are down.

Crop conditions in the corn producing areas are reported good, although few estimates of the probable acreage or yield have been heard.

Prices are said to be higher than for some time and farmers will stand to make a fair income off their grain sorghums this season, is the general belief.

Farmer, Forgetting Weather Man, Makes Rain Whenever He Needs It; His Irrigation System Is "Revolutionary"

On Miller Hotchkiss' ranch near Firebaugh, Calif., is a network of pipes. When Hotchkiss thinks his crops need rain, he connects a hose to an outlet, shown here with pressure gauge, runs the hose across a portion of the field and turns on the water.

FIREBAUGH, Calif., Dec. 5 (AP)—Many a farmer depends on rain for his crops, but not Miller Hotchkiss.

Hotchkiss, growing a variety of truck garden crops, thinks he needs a good rain every 10 days. When that period rolls around, he decrees a precipitation — and gets it.

For in the man-made agricultural empire of California's San Joaquin valley — where there is very little rain—Miller and other farmers make their own.

Is "Revolutionary"

Described as something "revolutionary" in the way of irrigation, the system consists of portable pipelines which are laid down on various parts of his tract and which throw out 500 gallons of water a minute.

Unlike ordinary irrigation, Hotchkiss' moisture falls like rain from the skies. One hour's operation gives crops an even inch of water — a phenomenon seldom witnessed in sunny California.

Hotchkiss started last year with a system of pipes covering only 25 acres. He quickly found that while one laborer can attend to irrigation of only two and a half acres by the old fashioned ditch method, he can attend to five by the pipe method.

Other Benefits

Other benefits appeared in the form of saving water that normally "lodges" in irrigation canals, elimination of alkali, and the ability to introduce insecticides into the flow and thus save a separate spraying.

The principal argument for "made rain," as Hotchkiss sees it, is the elimination of land levelling. To irrigate by the ditch method, land must be carefully prepared with reference to the law of gravity. With the pipe method, crops can be grown on sharply slanting hillsides. Heretofore hopeless tracts can be placed under cultivation, Hotchkiss points out.

Convinced that he has found the best method of irrigation, Hotchkiss has now installed 10,000 feet of main pipeline and 6,000 feet of secondary, portable line. The latter breaks down into 40-feet sections that are easily taken apart and transported. A pumping plant is an essential feature of the system.

Hog Butchering Demonstration Set

A two-day hog butchering and dressing school is planned for Friday and Saturday at Hurlwood, at the farm of D. S. Tucker, near there.

On Friday a dozen hogs, belonging to farmers of that community, will be butchered and left to cool over night. Saturday the cutting of the meat will be held; A. and M. methods being demonstrated.

Mr. Tucker will supervise the killing. County Agent C. C. Jobson will instruct in butchering methods. Mr. Tucker said he would furnish the dinner on Friday.

G. K. Horton will handle arrangements for the crowd at the demonstration.

Seventy-Six Acres Of Legume Crops Planted By Llano Man

LLANO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Agricultural Agent D. D. Steele reports that 76 acres of summer legumes planted on the farm of S. N. Redford, 10 miles northwest of here, is the largest field of soil-building planting measured in the county in connection with the agricultural conservation program. Redford is turning under the legumes, together with 14 acres of oats, thus devoting 82 per cent of his cultivated acreage to soil-building, Steele says.

More Than 3,000 Acres Given Terracing Lines In November

More than 3,000 acres of Lubbock county land had lines run on it for terracing during the last half of November, County Agent C. C. Jobson reported yesterday.

Homer Thompson, new assistant county agent, ran the lines, assisted by J. Walter Grist, a Tech graduate and clerk in the office. They have scheduled a number of meetings for this month.

Terracing lines on 3,120 acres and contour lines of 1,150 acres were run.

Five method terracing demonstrations, attended by 23 farmers, also were held.

BUDAPEST (AP)—A paragraph advocating discrimination on the basis of race, nationality, and religion was eliminated by the cabinet from new laws governing the establishment of a Rumanian chamber of lawyers.

Boys Feeding Out Animals

Twenty-One 4-H Club Boys In County Have 39 Calves On Feed; 73 Are Feeding Out 139 Pigs For Shows

Twenty-one 4-H club boys in Lubbock county have 39 calves on feed for spring livestock shows, Homer Thompson, assistant county agent, reports.

Seventy-three boys are feeding out 109 pigs for the shows. In addition 32 boys are feeding 37 dairy calves.

Enrollment of members for 1937 is under way. There are 234 boys belonging to 14 clubs, in the 1936 membership. A still larger number is expected for the new year.

Each boy has at least one major project for the year and is to select his own project. Calf, pig, dairy calf, chicken or turkey, grain sorghum, cotton, etc., are included in the projects.

The assistant county agent visited nine communities during the past week or ten days, to discuss club memberships for 1937. He reports of 91 boys lined up, 59 were taking club work for the first time.

Communities visited included: Hardy, County Line, Grovesville, Becton, Posey, New Hope, Slide, Southwest Ward and Union. A dozen more will be visited during the next week or ten days.

Harris County Woman Reports $306.65 Profit On Food Work

HOUSTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Mrs. E. O. Ploeger, one of 25 Harris county women conducting food conservation demonstrations this year, reports a profit of $306.65.

In addition to providing fresh vegetables and fruits in season for her family, Mrs. Ploeger stored winter food worth $138.90, realized $106.80 on her home milk supply, a profit of $42.05 on the family meat budget, and netted $19.50 on an investment of $4.50 in 50 baby chicks.

Mrs. Ploeger, explaining that her husband earned a salary adequate to care for the family needs, says she did not attempt to sell surplus products.

"I give them away," she says.

Mrs. Ploeger's half acre garden produced 30 varieties of vegetables and fruits—13,000 pounds in all. She planted three times during the year

SHIPMENTS NEGLIGIBLE

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (AP) — Poultry shipments from Texas to interstate points in October were almost negligible.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports only three cars of chickens and two of turkeys shipped in October. However, only two cars were shipped out in October last year.

Egg shipments totaled 18 cars

TO CLEAN FELT HATS

The slightly porous body and rough surface of a small sponge or hand towel make them excellent for removing light soil spots from felt hats. If spot does not come off easily, sprinkle with fuller's earth and rub in with a piece of soft cloth until soil and powder disappear. Never use cleaning fluid over powder. If dirty spot is bad enough to show through powder, have the hat cleaned by a renovator.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 115

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Bobolo and his warriors returned to the river, their minds full of plans to raid some downstream village to acquire the food which the pygmies demanded for keeping Kali Bwana hidden for a few days. Eagerly they seized paddles and pushed out into the stream. . . . .

At that moment, Old Timer was busily propelling his large canoe through the turgid river. Tarzan had cautioned him to flee the country of the Leopard Men, but he was ignoring that warning. Instead, he was seeking some trace of Kali Bwana and her captors.

Old Timer's venture might easily prove suicidal, but his love for the beautiful girl outweighed all reason. The vision of her melancholy face shone before him like some brilliant light, blinding him to all hazards, illuminating a precious goal he might never reach.

But the light of his love sharpened his eyes for every clue to the missing Kali Bwana. Thus he caught sight of Bobolo and his villainous crew paddling out into the river. A minute later the black men saw him and shouted excitedly: "Get him! Get him!"

Awards Given Local Scouts

Regular District Court Of Honor Is Staged On Friday Night; 109 Awards Presented To Boy Scouts

One hundred nine awards were presented at the regular district Boy Scout court of honor held in 99th district courtroom Friday night, as approximately 400 scouts and parents attended despite disagreeable weather.

Dr. J. B. Jackson presided over the regular court, and was assisted in presentations by Milton Adams, George Hamilton, Joe Kennedy, Frank Fisher, Lyndon Grant and Earl McClure.

Three members from each troop attempted to pull a pair of official Boy Scout trousers apart, but all failed.

Troop 6 Wins

The attendance, mothers, and appearance awards were won by Troop 6.

Shake-up in court of honor ladder placed the troops in the following order: 3, 8, 7, 5, 10, 4, 2, 11, 12, 6, 13.

The highest award went to Joe L. Kennedy, scoutmaster of Troop 10, who received a gold Eagle palm. Milton Adams and Bill Coffman received 5-year veteran awards for continuous service.

There were 15 tenderfoot, 14 second class, 7 first class, 5 star, and 5 life awards, and the remainder of advancements were merit badge awards. Sixty badges were given to 39 boys of nine troops.

Tiny Black Beetle Is Being Imported To Australia From Texas To Attack Cockleburs

UVALDE, Dec. 5 (AP)—"Baris", a tiny black beetle, is being exported from Texas to Australia to assist in ridding the country of cockleburrs.

Several years ago the government of that Commonwealth turned to Texas insects in its fight against the prickly pear after other methods failed, and now is turning its attention to the cockleburr.

Ten thousand of the insects recently were shipped from here to Canberra, N. S. W., headquarters for burr control work in Australia, where they will be used in experimental work. Other shipments will be made at intervals.

Investigation in this country are in charge of Leith F. Hitchcock, who was in charge of the prickly pear investigations for his government, with headquarters at Uvalde.

The tiny beetles attack the roots of the cockleburr plants. They, along with numerous other insects, are thoroughly tested at the Uvalde station to determine that they will not attack other vegetation. At the Canberra station they are placed in cages and permitted to multiply and, when sufficient numbers are obtained, are liberated "to do their worst against the cockleburr.

Mexico Experiment

The Hacienda de Tlahualilo, a 135,000-acre farm 45 miles north of Torreon, is owned by British and American bondholders. The Purcell Perimeter, almost as large, is British owned. Two smaller farms, owned by Americans, are in the region. All have been expropriated.

Might Bring Civil War

If the plan is unsuccessful—and the peon finds himself worse off as a small hacendado than as a hired farm laborer—the experiment conceivably could plunge Mexico into a civil war like that in Spain. Incidentally, Spain's present republican constitution was borrowed in part from Mexico.

If successful, the Laguna program will lead to more and more collectivization throughout Mexico—perhaps extending to industry and resulting in a collectivist state.
