DOLLY GOES TO CHURCH—After a little girl came to the vicar of St. Botolph's Church, Northfleet, England, and asked him to have her doll "christened," he thought it would be a good idea to hold a service especially for children and their dolls. Here is the first "Doll Sunday," with the dolls sitting sedately in the pews as their young mistresses pray.

Letter On Happy Christmas Is Stopped Cold By Report Of Drownings In River

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)—"John and Jack," wrote Mrs. Lorenzo Prather, "got a basketball, football, shirts, airplanes and a BB gun."

Waiting for her sons to return for lunch yesterday, she had started a letter on Christmas to an older son, George, in New York with the coast guard. She continued writing:

"I let them go out to Bales lake this morning and they were to be home by noon or not later than 1 o'clock. Here it is after 2. So their gun is going to be hidden . . ."

Just then the telephone rang. The caller told Mrs. Prather her sons, John, 14, and Jack, 12, had drowned in the Blue river.

Coming home after shooting their BB gun, they tried to cross the river on thin ice. Jack broke through. John tried to rescue him and also broke through.

A companion, George McKinstry, 14, fell in during an attempt to pull both out. He scrambled out on the shore and watched his friends sink out of sight.

Light Rainfall Is Recorded In Area

Fog and drizzle darkened the western half of Texas this afternoon and more cloudiness, and moisture was predicted for tonight.

Lubbock had received .25 inch of rain during the night and up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Most other South Plains areas received the same and the rainfall was general, the Santa Fe railroad found in a survey.

Planes Not Landed

No airliners had taken off or landed at Lubbock today, Braniff, Pioneer and Continental airliners were flying over, although several remained over Lubbock for periods up to half an hour hoping the ceiling would rise.

The slow drizzle raised the year's rainfall total here to 30.36 inches, far above the average rainfall of 19.15 inches. The December rainfall total is now .43 inch, still below the 38-year mean rainfall of .79 inch for December.

Flights Are Curtailed

This morning's fog and low clouds which curtailed airline operations over the entire western half of the state extended roughly in a line from Oklahoma City south through Corpus Christi, and as for as west of El Paso, Carsbad, Roswell and east of Albuquerque on the west. The northern boundary of the fog was between Amarillo and Guymon, Okla.

Jack Pales, observer at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport, said some rain might continue to fall throughout the day, and the morning fog and low clouds were expected to close in on the area again tonight.

General nature of the rain is indicated by these fainfall figures for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m.: Amarillo .09 inch, Big Spring .23, Abilene trace, Roswell .27, San Angelo .07, El Paso .38.

Rain Is Forecast

At Dallas, the weatherman forecast occasional rain today in West Texas and tonight and Saturday in East Texas and east of the Pecos river. Temperatures were slated to remain fairly mild, except for slightly colder weather late Saturday in the Panhandle and South Plains, the United Press reported.

The bureau at Dallas announced it was too early to predict whether a cold front moving in from Canada would have much effect this far south. Early today the front was located in southern Idaho.

Cloudy skies covered the state, accompanied by a moistness which

Ex-Banker Is Kidnap Victim

FORT SCOTT, Kas., Dec. 30 (AP) A retired Shreveport, La., banker was found tied in a field near here today and he reported he had been left there by two kdnapers who identified themselves as escaped Texas convicts.

The man, R. B. McPherson, 60, of 224 Forest Ave., Shreveport, was not harmed.

Undersheriff Nick Atha said McPherson reported he was kidnaped about 5:30 p. m. yesterday when he went to a parking lot in Shreveport to get his car, a 1948 Cadillac convertible.

Drove Off In Car

After a fast all-night drive McPherson said, the men took him to a field 10 miles west of here. His hands were tied together with his shoestrings and his hankerchief and his ankles were bound with handkerchiefs carried by his captors.

McPherson said the men drove off in his car. They also took $16 and a wristwatch from McPherson.

McPherson remained in the field

Mailing Date For NSLI Dividends Set

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray today said the first service life insurance dividend checks will be mailed from Washington January 16.

He said some 200,000 checks will be mailed daily and that the task should be completed by June 30.

Gray, who has been here several days conferring with regional VA officials, made the announcement following a telephone conservation with treasury department officials in Washington.

He said the treasury advised him that the date had "leaker out."

Two Persons Injured In City Bus Mishap

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30 (AP) Two persons were hospitalized today with injuries received when a loaded residential-bound city bus hurtled into a downtown taproom.

Investigating officers said the bus was driven by Dan N. Crain and went out of control last night after colliding with a car.

About 20 other persons were injured, none of them seriously.

Joe Elliott Isaacs, of Oklahoma City, and Albert Nuss, of Stockton, Calif., were the most severely hurt. Isaacs was driving the car.

Chain Letter Is Used To Boost Solon's Funds

All-Out Drive By Labor To Defeat Senator Is Noted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) added something new to the political pattern today by trying to halt campaign contributions.

The full story of a unique sort of fund raising drive came to light with Taft's assertion that he is trying to discourage a nationwide chain letter campaign.

Taft told reporters in Cincinnati yesterday that he and his aides had nothing to do with—and are trying to stop—chain letters asking recipients (a) to donate $1 to the Ohioan's re-election expenses and (b) to send the letter on to 10 other persons.

Labor After Scalp

Friends of Taft here said the idea was hatched by well-wishers who have come to regard the Ohio senator as "Mr. Republican" and who want to be sure he has funds for an all-out campaign.

Taft himself has charged that organized labor plans to spend "millions" to defeat him in the Ohio race next year. Labor is after his scalp largely because he sponsored the Taft-Hartley act passed by the Republican 80th Congress and had a big hand in preventing its repeal in the last session.

The AFL and the CIO have asked members to donate $1 each, with indications that a hefty chunk of this cash would be used in Ohio.

Business Retaliates

Some business men have retaliated by starting interstate fund raising drives for Taft. Former Senator Hawkes, New Jersey Republican who once headed the National Association of Manufacturers, is said to have been active in this cause.

As a result, contributions are reported to have been coming in to Taft headquarters from all over the country.

Taft's friends here reported that, as an example, a Missouri industrialist sent along a check for $200, noting that 200 unionized employes of his had been asked to contribute $1 each to a fund that would be used—in part at least—against Taft.

Dents GOP Efforts

A Chicago business man, visiting in Washington, told a reporter he had sent along a check for $10. He said nobody had asked him to, adding that he just wanted to see Taft re-elected.

This fund raising is said to

Road Projects Gain Approval

The State Highway commission today authorized two farm road projects for Lubbock county, the United Press announced from Austin.

One would be built from the end of farm road 40 at Acuff eastward to the Crosby county line, totaling three and a half miles.

The other would be constructed from farm road 1316, two miles south of Wolfforth, eastward to the Slide road intersection, totaling five miles.

Officials Attend Hearing

County Judge Walter Davies and R. O. Short, county precinct 1 commissioner, returned Thursday night from an Austin hearing. Fred Wemple, highway commission chairman, presided.

The state officials were informed that all right of way had been acquired and that money for the county's part, 75 per cent, of the construction is on hand. The state pays the other 25 per cent in cooperative plan, as well as doing the engineering, construction and maintenance.

The two roads, including the state's part, will cost an estimated $72,000, Judge Davies said.

"Stars And Stripes" Chooses Cheesecake

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 30. (AP)—Stars and Stripes, U. S. Army newspaper, tonight selected Mary Collins, 20-year-old brunette, of Beaumont, Texas, as "Miss Cheesecake of 1949."

Her predecessors have included Virginia Mayo in 1948 and Rita Hayworth in 1947.

Miss Collins, now a New York model, won the 1949 national swim health beauty contest, and was chosen "queen of hearts" by New York photo editors, the newspaper said.

Injuries Fatal To Laborer At Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Calvin Character, 42, Dallas, died last night of unexplained injuries suffered Dec. 21.

He was found unconscious under a streetcar overpass, apparently having fallen from the structure. Police said the fatal injury apparently was accidental.

Character was a city laborer in the city public works department.

Gift Puts The Bite On Lubbock Visitor

Minor cuts and bruises on the ring finger of her left hand serve as reminder to 13-year-old Virgie Bell Pickrell that some Christmas gifts are not built to be played with.

The girl was taken to a welding shop Thursday afternoon with the finger lodged in a hole for a pipe in an electric smoking stand. A piece was cut from the metal top of the smoking stand to release her finger.

The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pickrell of Fieldton and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. McCurry of 2416 Thirty-first.

She was visiting her aunt, Mrs. Lewis Suttle of 2609 Edna, and began sticking a finger into holes in the smoking stand. When the ring finger lodged and she began pulling, the finger swelled.

Lamesa Man's Spree Is Over

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 30 (U.P.)—A 27-year-old Texan, whose car theft and bogus check spending spree through six states was ended here by the state patrol, was returned to Newton, Ia., today to face prosecution.

Robert Douglas Davis of Lamesa, Tex., was arrested late yesterday at the city limits. He was driving a car reported stolen near Amarillo.

Sheriff Ray E. Barber of Newton came to Jefferson City last night to claim the prisoner after he waived extradition.

Deposited Worthless Check

Barber said Davis deposited a worthless $800 check in the Newton bank, then used the deposit slip to "guarantee" further bad checks in Iowa.

State patrolmen here estimated Davis had taken the stolen car across six state lines, extending as far north as Minnesota, and financing his travels with worthless checks.

The Texan was captured after two troop patrol officers noted the stolen car as they began a bird-hunting expedition.

Decision Is Delayed On AEC Headquarters

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Dec. 30 (AP)—A decision on location of an Atomic Energy Commission regional headquarters is not expected for some time, an AEC official declared today.

Carroll L. Tyler, Los Alamos AEC manager said that bidding for the headquarters are Albuquerque and Santa Fe, N. M., Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo., and Amarillo, Tex.

Pampa Resident Is Found Dead In Cell

ENID, Okla., Dec. 30 (U.P.)—Calvin Smith Brumley, 25-year-old Pampa, Tex., resident, was found dead last night in a Garfield county jail cell a few hours following his arrest on charges of drunken driving.

Highway patrolmen said Brumley was found on the floor of his cell, a belt connecting his neck to the end of a bed.

Union Accepts Plan Proposed By Governors

Deadline Tomorrow If Bell Refuses To Approve Suggestions

(By The United Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30—A strike of 50,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employes will start tomorrow midnight unless the company agrees to arbitrate the current contract dispute, Everett E. Cotter, attorney for the CIO Communications Workers of America, announced today.

Southwestern Bell spokesmen, however, refused to commit themselves on the subject of arbitration, which was suggested at a six-state governors' conference here yesterday.

Strike Will Start

Cotter said flatly that, "as things stand now, the strike will start at midnight Dec. 31."

Following separate meetings with company and CIO Communication Workers Union officials, the governors of four states and representatives of two others recommended:

1. Continuation of wage contract negotiations for at least 15 more days. (The present 10-day truce between Bell and the union expires at midnight tomorrow.)

Union Accepts Proposals

2. That if a complete settlement hasn't been reached at the end of the 15-day negotiation extension period, all remaining issues would be submitted to an impartial board of arbitration.

D. L. McCowen, president of division 20, which covers Missouri, part of Illinois near St. Louis, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas, immediately accepted the recommendations in full.

"The union would like to settle the differences through negotiation if at all possible, and will make every effort to do so within the 15-day period, McCowen said. "Failing to reach an agreement, we will accept the governors' arbitration proposal."

Strike Threatened

Dick Horner, Bell public relations consultant, replied:

"We're ready to resume negotiations at the present time." He added that that the company wasn't accepting or rejecting the governors' recommendations in their entirety.

Then Everett Cotter, union attorney, stated that if Bell didn't accept the state officials' proposal in full the union would feel free to call a strike Jan. 1 "if that seem-

Votes Of Confidence Are Given Bidault

PARIS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Premier Georges Bidault won two votes of confidence in the national assembly today. Both were on 1950 budget questions. The first count was 305 to 287, the second 307 to 288.

The first vote was on the question of whether to raise the tax on industrial production from 12.5 per cent to 13.5 per cent. Communists and followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle opposed it, Bidault's cabinet had recommended it.

This was intended to raise about 45,000,000,000 francs $128,000,000) in additional revenue to meet the outlays n Bidault's 1950 budget, calling for expenditures of about 2,257,000,000,000 francs ($6,440,000,000).

Parliament already has agreed in principle to this budget, but is balking at raising the revenues to meet it.

Death Of Stalin In Spring Predicted

"Psychic" Professor Gloomy On Prospects For New Year

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 30.—La Mare, professor by profession and psychic by his own description, gazed over the border into 1950 today and frowned.

"It is bad," said La Mare, who insists that his given name be ignored. ("My name is just Lamare.")

Even without a double handle, Prof. La Mare could see black clouds of pessimism darkening the 1950 horizon.

"You can blame this on nine occultations of the moon to Saturn," said he.

La Mare said he first studied psycho-analysis under the master, Dr. Sigmund Freud, in Vienna. He also has traveled around the world four times, and he claims "considerable" success with predictions during World War II.

La Mare uses no crystal. He just "looks."

A few of his predictions for the coming year:

1. Stalin will died early in the spring.

2. Germany will be more

Physician Charged With Mercy Killing

Accused Of Injecting Air Into Veins Of 59-Year-Old Sufferer With Cancer

(By The Associated Press)

GOFFSTOWN, N. H., Dec. 30.—A young doctor was under a charge today of murdering a suffering patient by injecting 10 cubic centimeters of air into her veins, but a medical referee admitted that was not enough to kill a human being.

Dr. Herman H. Sander was charged with administering an injection of that amount of air into the veins of Mrs. Abbie Barroto, cancer paient who died 26 days ago.

But Dr. Robert E. Biron, medical referee, admitted to a newsman on questioning that 10 cubic centimeters of air was not enough to kill her. He claimed, however, that more air had been injected than the amount specified in the charge.

An assistant to County Solicitor William H. Craig confirmed that this amount was specified in the charge and added he had no comment on Dr. Biron's statement.

Meanwhile, Dr. Sander sought liberty on bail. The brothers of the woman told newsmen they held "no malice" towards the doctor who had been quoted as saying her death was an "act of mercy."

He pleaded innocent to a first degree murder charge yesterday and was held without bail pending grand jury action.

Hillsboro County Solicitor William H. Craig said Dr. Sander, in the presence of witnesses, orally admitted injecting the lethal dose of air as "an act of mercy."

Craig quoted Dr. Sanders as saying the woman had suffered a long time and that members of her family had asked him if any-

CONGRESS MAY APPROVE SLASH

Solon Claims Tax Hike Plan Doomed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—President Truman might as well abandon any hope he may have for a tax increase next year, Senator Millikin (R-Colo) said today.

The Republican leader declared that on the other hand there is "a very good fighting chance" that Congress will approve a cut in excise taxes at the session starting next Tuesday. Those taxes are the levies on such items as telephone bills, electric light bulbs, furs, jewelry and transportation tickets.

Tax Cut Blamed

Millikin is chairman of the conference of all Republican senators. He also is the senior GOP member of the tax-writing Senate finance committee. In 1948 he steered through the Senate the $5,000,000,000 income tax reduction which congress passed over Mr. Truman's veto.

The President has blamed that tax cut for most of the federal deficit, which administration officials estimate will amount to about $5,500,000,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30. And Mr. Truman has said he knows of no way to wipe out the deficit without raising taxes.

There have been important indications, however, that the presidential messages being prepared for Congress might call for a cut in taxes as well as for increasing some other taxes.

Not Slightest Chance

As for an increase, Millikin recalled that Congress did nothing at the last session about Mr. Truman's request (later withdrawn) for a $4,000,000,000 hike in taxes.

"I don't think there is the slightest chance for any kind of a tax increase next year, either," Millikin added.

But he said he found "rooting-tooting" sentiment in Colorado for a slash in excise levies.

The Senate finance committee already has approved a measure which would pare excises to the 1942 figure in most cases—a re-

Screwballs In Crime League

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 30 (U.P.) If the underworld league were to make a "most valuable player" award for 1949, it probably would pick the chap who removed $600 from a 750-pound New Orleans theater safe during the picture, "Strike It Rich."

But not far behind would be the optimistic thief who stole from a Kansas City, Mo., flower shop $21 worth of grass seed—and a lawnmower.

The lineup for top honors in the field of screwball crimes was announced today by the Travelers Insurance companies, after a survey of the nimble-fingered and nimble-brained crooks of 1949.

An Eye For Future

For instance, there's the fellow who was looking out for his future when he stole nine burglar alarms from the car of salesman in Newark, N. J., and the reptile lover who walked away with 23 alligators from a menagerie at Ocala, Fla.

The heavy hitters n the "crime for pay" league included the crooks who lifted a government-owned bridge at Oakland, Calif., stole 17 manhole covers from the streets of Detroit and spirited away a 200-pound granite tombstone at St. Thomas, Ont. But the cleanup man was the mastermind who got away with two locomotives from a California lumber camp.

Another screwball crime which baffled the law was the theft of 6,000,000 aspirin tablets valued at $40,000 from a drug company's warehouse in Dallas, Tex. The company was not able to salvage enough for its own headache.

154 New Polio Cases Reported Last Week

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—There were 154 new cases of polio during the week ending Dec. 24, the Public Health service said today.

The five-year average for that week is 90 cases, the agency said. During the preceding week there were 243 new cases.

The cumulative total for 1949 through Dec. 24, is 42,184, compared with 27,483 for the same period of 1948.

The previous all-time record was set in 1916, with 30,000 cases.

Cabinet Chiefs Are Called To Study Policies

Economic Advisers Urge Cooperation To Help Business

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—President Truman met today with his cabinet for a detailed discussion of his forthcoming State of the Union message. The White House session lasted two hours and 20 minutes.

Mr. Truman called in the cabinet after releasing a report of his economic advisors calling generally for closer cooperation with business.

Cabinet members refused to comment on reports from White House aides that the President now favors elimination of at least some wartime excise taxes, but with an accompanying increase in corporation taxes to offset losses in revenue.

Cabinet members told newsmen there was a point-by-point discussion of the State of the Union message.

White House plans call for sending the President's economic message to Congress next Friday with the annual budget of spending and revenue estimates to follow a week from Monday.

Rent Controls Favored

Congressmen and others who studied the "fourth annual report to the President by the council of economic advisers" agreed most of it would be pleasant reading for business, industry and democratic politicians.

Prepared by Chairman Leon Keyserling and John D. Clark, the 38-page document stressed repeatedly a policy for cooperation between "free government and free enterprise."

Although the two White House economists warned against trying specific proposals from its text, they came out for:

1. Continuation of federal rent controls due to expire June 30.

2. "Immediate expansion of federal old-age security."

3. Government policies that "can place foremost emphasis upon encouraging steady business expansion and thus minimizing the fluctuations in business activity."

Consistency Urged

4. More consistency and stability in government programs and planning, including federal taxes.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the Senate-House economic committee which specializes in the same field, told a reporter that encouragement of "free enterprise" had long been the aim

Loss Is Minor In Burglaries

Two burglary investigations this morning were tacked onto case lists city detectives already were working on, including a reported Thursday night hijacking of a service station, official reports showed.

Detectives Lee Rice, jr., and Pete Hubbard said approximately $10 in currency and silver was taken from the cash register of Newman Service station, at Nineteenth, and Ave. V. They said $4 in "change" was taken from Kerr and Middleton, contractors, office at 2206 North Third.

Windows Are Broken

Glass was broken in windows to make entrances, a pattern noticed in several recent burglaries here.

Frank Barnes, 24, of 704-A Ave. X, told officials a nervous bandit who earlier had walked past the place, went into the J&K station owned by James Kirkland and demanded, "I want all the money in the cash register." It was about 7:40 o'clock.

The man, about 35, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing about 155 pounds, had what appeared to be a .38 caliber blue steel revolver, Barnes said.

Took About $50

The man left after taking approximately $50 and warning Barnes not to follow him, the station attendant said.

Barnes said he was alone at the time.

A suspect arrested for investigation into the case later was absolved of any connection, police said. He was arrested at Seventeenth and Ave. G.

Theft of $8 from James Jimerson, of a hotel in the negro section of Lubbock, was reported to police today, as well as theft of a tire and wheel valued at $36 from Leon Rhineheart of 3112 Twenty-sixth.

Church Is Entered

Police said burglars entered the Parkdale church at Fourth and Ave. D Wednesday night, but that nothing apparently had been taken. Rev. I. W. Walker, pastor, said the church had been ransacked. A screen was torn from

Mary Haworth's Mail

Mother Distressed Because Daughters Are Jealous Of Each Other's Rating In Family

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We have two charming daughters-in-law and are fond of them both, but their jealousy of each other threatens to destroy a happy family relationship. Both were reared in the same small town but they were not friends and hadn't seen each other for years before they married into our family.

Our elder son Bud brought his bride Georgia home to us six months after their wartime wedding. We helped them construct a new home into which they moved shortly after their first child was born. We did our best to make Georgia happy during her stay with us and she seemed appreciative. After she was settled in her new home I was careful not to impose myself, but she turned to me constantly for love and companionship (due to loneliness, I suppose) and I was only too glad to respond. Although she wasn't a young girl she was an only child and never had been separated from her parents before.

Enter Nona, our second son's wife, three years later. They had met abroad and when they came here for a honeymoon visit Georgia insisted on having them stay with her, as our home is too small for company. Not having seen Jules in two years, we were disappointed not to have the newlyweds with us, but happy to have the four young people together. Fate decided that Jules and Nona would settle here too.

SHE AIMS TO LOVE FOURSOME EQUALLY

NONA is an independent girl who asks nothing, but we want to do as much for one young couple as the other, and now Georgia finds herself compelled for the first time to share our time and gifts with another "daughter." Antagonism has developed between the two girls and although Nona will not admit jealousy she did tell me that Georgia, always sweet to our face, had tried to influence her against dad and me.

I find Nona good company and we seem to have many interests in common, but I don't like to have her talking about Georgia, who, although I cannot understand her, has always let me mother her, and makes me feel that I am still useful to my family. As for the two boys, neither says a word against his own wife, of course; and neither will they anything against each other; but they are beginning to show prejudice against each other's wife to such an extent that family parties seem a bit strained.

Can you offer any helpful suggestions? We've always been a peace-loving family, not too intimate but very loyal; and dad and I love our two sons equally and want to feel the same about their wives, our only daughters. Thank you for listening to our problem.

Signed A. A.

IS MOM FUELING THE ANTAGONISM?

DEAR A. A.: In reorganizing and cutting your letter for brevity, much of flavor, if not of fact, has been sacrificed; but taken in entirety, as told in your words, your story suggests to me that you are magnifying and perhaps even fueling the antagonism between Georgia and Nona, as neurotic relief of sorts from unsuspected jealousy that lurks in your own bosom.

As I see the picture: 1. You've always unconsciously felt a "rejecting" attitude towards Georgia, due to envious resentment such as a very possessive mom-mother often feels towards the beloved bride of her first born or only son. 2. Quite conscientiously, however, you've tried to be generous, loving, more than fair to Georgia—because your conscience, or maybe your sense of diplomacy in handling the boys, won't let you be actively (or at any rate openly) mean.

3. You don't "understand" Georgia because, being much alike, you are cautiously defensive with each other. Overtly close, you are subjectively in conflict, because each of you is after the same thing unconsciously—namely, top hold on Bud's love and allegiance; and that's because both of you are basically infantile in your principal attachments; extremely dependent; insidiously demanding and anxiously possessive.

IGNITING SPARKS, FANNING FLAMES

FOR various reasons you are less hostile to Nona and more at ease with her, although not much more receptive essentially, I think.

You get on with her better, firstly because she's the second son's bride, hence not a rival for your dearest treasure; and secondly because she is a stronger, freer personality than you — not wholly tangled up in anxiously self seeking calculations in her emotional relationships. But even with her you aren't quite straightforward, as witness your two-edged use of her inside remark about Georgia's views—a remark you use to discredit her and Georgia both, while making yourself sound large minded in the telling.

For advice, wake up to the fact that, figuratively speaking, you've been igniting sparks and fanning flames of ill will in the young people's attitude towards each other, for the unconscious purpose of "showing up" the girls to their husbands, so as to persuade the boys that, after all, there's no women on earth to compare with angel-mother. Study Dr. Edward A. Strecker's book "Their Mothers' Sons," and when your maternal treatment of the girls is four-square, party strain will melt away.

Wedding Is In Parsonage

Miss Betty Jo Flowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Flowers of Ropesville, became the bride of Wayne Diebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Diebel of Lubbock, in a ceremony performd Sunday afternoon at the home of Rev. C. J. McCarty, officiating minister.

The bride wore a turquoise brocaded satin dress with a winter white hat, adorned with pale pink and blue forget-me-nots. She carried white gloves and wore coffee colored accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. For something old, she wore a class ring belonging to an aunt, Mrs. J. A. Turner of Broncho, and for something borrowed, she wore a bracelet belonging to Mrs. Walt Fraley of Ropesville.

Miss Tommie Lou Walls and Tommy Cox were wedding attendants. The maid of honor wore a gray suit with black accessories and a red carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Diebel are making their home in Lubbock.

Roy Davis Will Serve As Judge In Maid Of Cotton Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Davis and two sons, Dan and Bennett. 1901 Twenty-ninth, are leaving Saturday morning for Memphis, Tenn., where they will attend the annual Cotton Carnival staged by the cotton interests of the country.

Mr. Davis has been selected as one of the seven judges for the Maid of Cotton contest, one of the features of the carnival, which will be staged Jan. 1, 2 and 3. Davis, manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, was named as a representative of the cotton industry of the Southwest to the judges committee.

Chairman of the judges committee is Virginia Pope, fashion editor of the New York times.

The Maid of Cotton will make numerous appearances throughout the U. S. and Europe during her year's reign.

Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, 1402 Ave. T, has recovered from flu and will resume her classwork Tuesday.

Long Beach Family Is Returning From Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Stephens and children, Leonard Wesley and Diana May, are returning to their home in Long Beach, after spending the Christmas holidays here as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley T. Red, 2401 Twenty-sixth.

Mrs. Stephens is the former Miss Virginia Elixzine Red. Her husband formerly lived in Amarillo.

Miss Betty Reagan, daughter of Mrs. G. A. Reagan of Abernathy, and Bill Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Riley of Abernathy, are to be married Monday morning in Lubbock.

The wedding will take place at 10 o'clock at Broadway Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kimbro, Austin, are visiting her mother, Mrs. A. L. Robertson of near Slaton. They are former Lubbockites. The Kimbros will be accompanied by Mrs. Robertson to the Cotton Bowl game.

Radio City Music Hall Claims 30,887 Attended Pageant Show

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Radio City music hall today claimed a new world record attendance mark.

A total of 30,887 persons yesterday paid to see the music hall's annual Christmas pageant, "The Nativity," always a big attraction and a Frank Sinatra-Gene Kelly film, "On The Town."

A spokesman for the theater, Fred Lynch, said the one-day attendance exceeded by more than 1,000 the previous record set by the music hall last Easter.

At one time yesterday, a waiting line four abreast wound around Rockefeller Center skyscrapers for seven blocks leading to the entrance.

Crowds Line Up

Officials estimated that there were 10,000 persons standing in line outside, 2,000 lined-up inside, while every one of the theater's 6,200 seats was occupied.

It required about six hours to pass around the line and into a seat to watch a show about three hours long.

Columbia university dispatched fifteen sociology students to the scene to try to find why people would stand so long to see a show. They reported about as many answers as people in line.

One woman was asked to guess the number of persons ahead of her. "Oh, I suppose there are hundreds," she said. Told there were over ,000, she exclaimed:

"Good heavens, that's more than the entire population of my home town!"

White-Collar Prospector Finds Plenty Of Red Tape In Buying Gold For Prize

DENVER, Dec. 30 (INS)—A white-collar prospector from an advertising agency was convinced today that finding gold isn't too hard, but digging it out of the red tape is another matter.

James Eddy came to Denver to buy $25,000 worth of gold. He wanted the pretty yellow stuff for a grand prize to end all grand prizes on a give-away program to raise money for the national kids day foundation.

Not Commercial Use

The tenderfoot soon learned you can't buy $25,000 worth of gold—even providing you have the money—unless you are willing to pay about $30,000 for it.

The government can buy $25,000 worth of gold for $25,000, at the established price of $35 an ounce. It will even sell gold—in limited quantities for commercial use—at $35 an ounce.

A give-away contest does not qualify as commercial use, Eddy learned.

He explained, "We can buy $25,000 worth of gold at $41 an ounce. But if the winner tried to sell it to the mint, he would get only $35 an ounce or $21,315."

Law Is Cited

"Even if the winner got it for nothing," said Eddy, "he would feel he had been short-changed."

Cause of Eddy's dilemma is the law requiring all gold which has been heat treated to be sold to the U. S. mint at $35 an ounce. This includes practically all mined gold.

Placer gold is not controlled and is selling on the free market at around $41 an ounce—but a contest winner would only get $35 for it from the mint.

Egypt now compels every farmer to plant a certain acreage to wheat and barley.

Vows Read In Home

Miss Virginia Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Tucker of 2501 Thirtieth, and Billy Gene Lam, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lam, 2810 Sixth, were married in the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Cecil A. Ray, Saturday, Dec. 24. A double ring service was performed.

The bride wore a light tan dressmaker suit with aqua and brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Frances Tucker, sister of the bride and maid of honor, was dressed in a gold wool jersey dress with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage. Bill Dane, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Guests attended a wedding reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tucker, 2702 Second, after the ceremony. Miss Frances Tucker and Mrs. J. L. Crosno served guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Law will make their home in Lubbock. The bride attended Lubbock High school and the bridegroom went to school at New Deal.

UPSURGE IN SHOPPING REPORTED

Post-Christmas Bargains May Boost December Sales To Peak

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — December sales may hang up a record for the 12th year in a row —dependng on the response to this week's offerings of "after-Christmas bargains."

A roaring climax to Christmas shopping in its final week sent department store sales soaring 14 per cent above the same week of record-setting 1948, Federal Reserve board records showed today.

This upsurge, in turn, pushed dollar-volume figures for the four weeks ending December 24 even with the comparable period of 1948—and still higher in volume of goods, since prices have gone down some.

Extra Day Noted

The upswing, although it spread across the nation, wasn't due entirely to a last minute easing of consumer purse strings.

The reserve board said it reflected in part an extra day of Christmas shopping this year. This Christmas fell on Sunday; last year it came on Saturday.

The single week's splurge lifted department store sales for 1949 to date within five per cent of the comparable period of last year, trimming down a lag that previously had stood at six per cent.

The boom in department store turnover was sure to be reflected in ovrall retail sales data, which is slower in compilation.

Retail sales in general have bettered the department store record by far this year, holding within 1½ per cent of last year's record level through the period up to December.

Trade reports indicated that for some items, demand exceeded supply in pre-Christmas shopping — notably in such lines as television sets, where some merchants reported running out of stock under surprisingly strong orders.

Luxuries Move Slower

That could augur well for after-Chrstmas business.

On the other hand, the sales boom didn't extend to all lines. Some retailers complained that people held off buying items subject to the 20 per cent federal retail tax because of talk about a cut in those levies next year.

An internal revenue bureau report on tax collections showed November receipts from the levies on furs, jewelry and luggage — which includes women's handbags —down substantially from Novembe rof last year.

Cosmetics, the other class of goods subject to the 20 per cent tax, returned a greater amount in taxes, however.

Total retail excise tax collections in November amounted in round figures to $31,124,000, off $3,718,000 from November, 1948. For the first five months of this fiscal year, which began July 1, they were down $15,300,000 from a year ago at a total of $144,216,000.

Tax receipts from these tems rise or fall with sales themselves, since they are a direct percentage of the retail sales figure.

Negro Accused Of Unusual Dodge To Avoid Detection

Arrest of a 25-year-old Hobbs, N. M., negro who had managed to evade detention about seven months disclosed that he had hidden behind more than an alias.

He operated behind a "false front, sheriff's deputies said.

Marion A. Rhodes has been returned to Lubbock and placed in county jail on a forgery warrant charging he passed a $54.44 check Aug. 13 to D. P. Trammel.

Officers charge he rigged false diamond mounted caps to fit over his teeth; that he'd wear them into a store and grin broadly when cashing a check so that clerks would notice the flashing "dental work."

Once outside the store, officers further charged, he would remove the caps and be transformed instantly into "another person."

But that's an old one to peace officers. County officials filed a charge and began writing letters to places where they suspected Rhodes would show up. One of those places was Vernon. Rhodes did sow up there, and was arrested. Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder returned him here for grand jury investigation, teeth caps and all.

The instrument given to Trammel was made out on a blank check stolen earlier from Anton Grain company, officials said.

TO BUY EGGS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)— The Agriculture department announced today it will buy nest-run ungraded eggs in the midwest at prices averaging at least 25 cents a dozen at the farm during January and February.

Prices At Night Clubs Range Up To $60

Miami Merry-Makers To Pay Dearly For New Year's Fun

By CLAUDE SITTON
INS Staff Writer

MIAMI, Dec. 30.—Night-clubbing merry-makers in the magic city of the nation's winter playground will run the price gamut from $4 to $60 in singing their auld lang synes to $49 on New Year's eve.

Miami night spot managers have jammed their entertainment packages with top performers and the maitre d's have conjured up their most appetizing menus with an eye to packing in capacity crowds.

But although the city is flooded with tourists and Orange Bowl fans, most clubs were still offering reservations for the big night.

Price Is Dropped

Swank Copa City, which sold ringside spots at $25 a person last year, dropped the tag to $20 a cover, but most agreed that dinner and enough drinks to grease the skids for old man 1949 would run the bill to $6 for a couple.

Papa Bouche's lush Villa Venice was ready to provide the continental touch for champagne-sipping celebrants who didn't mind picking up the $35 tab after seeing the club's European revista — Paris style.

Club Boheme announced that singer Kay Thompson would be on hand with "sophistocated songs" to herald the arrival of 1950 along with Ted Powell's orchestra. The necessities—dinner and a table for the night—were priced at $20 per couple.

For the stag with $2 or the couple with $4, the Red Barn promised to swing open its doors on entertainment that reportedly would outstrip anything patrons had seen.

The rival Sky Club listed the fan dance artistry of Sally Rand at a $5 minimum.

New Schuyler's Beachcomber scheduled a full-course steak dinner plus the singing and clowning of movie and radio stars Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis for a minimum of $22.50 per couple, which includes dinner.

Broadcast Is Slated

At the hotels, the Sea View marked its evening dinner-dancing combination at $20 a couple while the Sherry Frontenac's Pompadour room came up with a latin orchestra, dinner and the dancing of Nino "The Great" Yacavino for $15 a couple.

And the Saxony, with tables for two priced at $30, will be the setting for one of ABC's New Year's eve broadcasts on a nationwide hook-up at 11 p. m.

On the whole, it did not appear that Miami will be in for a record-breaking New Year's eve celebration—but the merry-makers who do seek night club entertainment will still pay dearly for it.

A gun flash set fire to a reporter's hair in a mock naval attack in England.

British Colony Facing Strike

HONG KONG, Dec. 30. (AP)—This British crown colony, faced with the possibility of a general strike, today gave its governor virtual war powers to use at his discretion.

Emergency regulations were published empowering the governor to take steps to meet attack or internal disorder. He was authorized to requisition manpower, property, bar strikes and lockouts in essential services and to utilize extraordinary police powers that would put the colony on a war footing.

Trolley Workers Out

The stringent regulations have not yet been applied to present labor strife in the colony.

The regulations came as the colony suffered from a rash of labor difficulties which may develop into a general strike.

Trolley workers already are on strike and the company has discharged several hundred employes and locked out the rest for refusal to collect fares and for slowdown tactics.

Other utility workers are threatening to strike. They demand, like the tram workers, an increase of three Hong Kong dollars (about 50 cents U. S.) daily in their living allowance.

Wage-Hour Rules Relaxed Temporarily For Apprentices

Wage-hour regulations applicable to employment of apprentices at sub-minimum wage rates have been relaxed temporarily in order to assure continued employment of the apprentices after Jan. 25, 1950, according to information received here from the U. S. Department of Labor, wage and hour and public contracts division, in Washington.

Jan. 25 will be the effective date of the 75-cent minimum wage and other amendments to the Fair Labor Standards act.

Amendment Cited

William R. McComb, administrator of the wage and hour and public contracts divisions, has signed an order under which apprentice regulations are amended "so that the requirement that approved agreements be sent to the divisions with requests for special certificates need not be met in the case of those agreements which have been properly approved and registered prior to the effective date of the new amendments to the act," according to the announcement, which was received in Lubbock by V. J. Southwick, field representative of the apprentice bureau.

"The approved certificates themselves will be considered by the administrator as special certificates authorizing the wage rates specified in them unless and until they are revoked, rescinded or modified," the announcement continued.

Regulations require that apprenticeship agreements entered into after Jan. 25 be submitted to the wage and hour division for issuance of special certificates.

The administrator said many apprenticeship agreements are in effect that provide for wages about the current 40-cent minimum but below the 75-cent minimum established by amendments to the act. He cautioned that nothing contained in his order shall relieve an employer from complying with requirements of the present act, which remain in effect until Jan. 25.

Rites Set Saturday For Borden Pioneer

SIBERIAN WAR TRIALS CONTINUE

Japanese Charged In Plot To Drop Germ Bombs On Russia

MOSCOW, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Communist party newspaper, Pravda, reported today from the germ warfare trial in Siberia that the Japanese plotted during the war to drop bacteria-filled bombs on all major Soviet cities in the Far East.

Groups for the germ campaign were trained and ready, said the Communist party organ in a dispatch from the war crimes trial of 12 Japanese charged with preparing bacteriological warfare

Pravda said the Japanese also had planned to hide germs in candy, in canes, and in fake fountain pens which were to be distributed behind the allied lines by spies.

Chinese Bayoneted

According to the dispatch, Gen. Otozoo Yamada, former commander in chief of Japan's Kwangtung army and one of the defendants, testified his men in training exercises used bayonets on live Chinese prisoners tied to posts.

Yamada, said Pravda, used this teaching method to accustom his soldiers to the sight of blood. The army commander said he had been ordered to do this and could not disobey orders, Pravda reported.

Pravda related that a Japanese witness testified he saw cages in Japanese germ experiment stations in Manchuria in which germ-infested prisoners were placed.

The witness, a Japanese named Khotta, said he had been ordered in 1945 to estimate food requirements for 3,000,000 rats on which germ-infested fleas were to be nourished. Later, Khotta testified, the fleas were to be dropped to spread plague and other diseases.

Horses Infected

Pravda said the trial also heard a statement that the Japanese had carried out germ warfare in China with "devastating effect."

Khotta also testified Japan spent 10,000,000 yen (about $2,300,000 at the war's outbreak) a year on the germ warfare "unit 731" in Manchuria, the Moscow radio reported.

Moscow radio said another witness, described as a technical worker in germ warfare unit 100 named Kuwabara, told the court 60 horses infected with glanders were driven into the ranks of advancing Soviet forces late in 1945.

Glanders is a deadly and highly contagious disease affecting horses and other non-ruminant animals.

In Tokyo the wife of Lt. Gen. Shiro Ishii, whom the Russians claim headed the germ warfare organization, said yesterday her husband had been missing from his home for 48 hours.

Pravda had accused the United States of "deliberately protecting" Ishii and other alleged war criminals. An officer at General MacArthur's headquarters said Ishii's whereabouts were unknown. Another official said the Russians had questioned Ishii during the major war crimes trials there "and apparently were satisfied he was innocent."

Ishii has been practicing medicine in Tokyo. His wife said he had left home two days ago and had not returned.

Charges Are Filed In Hit-Run Death

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)—A charge of failure to stop and render aid has been filed against Ardis Doyle Elliott, 24, allegedly the driver of a gravel truck involved in a collision that killed a high school boy Tuesday.

Elliott was charged, authorities said, on the basis of laboratory tests which showed red paint from the body of his truck embedded in the green paint of the automobile in which Raymond B. Vance, jr., 15, was riding.

Vance was killed when a red gravel truck rammed the automobile, throwing him out of the car, and then ran over his head. The driver of the truck sped away.

Members Pan-Tech Farm Staff Report To Tech Officials

Five members of the Pan-Tech farm staff visited the Texas Tech campus Thursday for consultation with Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel.

The group reported to Dean Stangel that equipment for a laboratory to be set up at the farm is expected to arrive soon, enabling the staff to analyze materials without sending them elsewhere. The farm is located near Amarillo on the site of the former Pan-Tex ordinance plant.

Included among those making the trip to Lubbock were J. P. Smith, manager of the farm; L. A. Maddox, animal husbandryman; Dr. H. R. Crookshank, animal nutritionist with the bureau of animal industry of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, stationed at Pan-Tech; Dr. M. R. Callihan, associate veterinarian for Texas A. and M. college, stationed at Pan-Tech; and Dr. Rado J. Kinzwieber, head of the farm's weed control division.

The laboratory to be set up on the farm is expected to facilitate current experiments into animal poisoning, especially that regarding poisoning of cattle grazing on wheat pasture. In the past, all materials to be analyzed have been sent to Texas A. and M. or the USDA station in Beltsville, Md., for study.

Progress Report Expected

A progress report on the feed poisoning project itself is expected to be ready within a few days on that part of the experiment finished up to the present feeding period. More than 400 ewe lambs have been added to the farm for additional studies along the same line, but no results have been tabulated on that portion of the project as yet, the group told Stangel.

The cattle portion of the research is being conducted with 105 head of cattle, all grazing on wheat, with varying types of mineral supplements. Aim of the experiment is to determine the cause and the cure or preventative of wheat poisoning in cattle.

Aiding in the research is blood taken from cattle which have contracted the poisoning. As a service to the cattlemen in the area, the farm treats cattle stricken with the poisoning in return for blood samples which are used in trying to track down the cause and symptoms of the disease.

Also being conducted on the 16,000 acre farm is an experiment into methods of killing bindweed. Directed by Dr. Kinzwieber, the research will move into its second stages early this spring, following initial experiments on six patches of the weed on a 10-acre plot of ground last fall.

Solutions attempted in the control of the pest so far have included 2-4D, acid, salt, and four different soil stirilants. No conclusive results have been reported to date, the farm officials said. Cultivation and crop competition methods of trying to control bindweed will be used in future tests, they said. Other weeds will follow.

The Thursday visit was the first to Tech since all the farm staff members, except Smith, became associated with the college in September. Experiments on the farm are being conducted in co-operation with Texas A. and M., and the USDA.

Meat Costs Slashed On New Year Dinners

DENVER, Dec. 30. (INS) — The cost of New Year dinners, a problem for many housewives whose budgets were badly dented by Christmas, may be cut down by serving ham or turkey.

Whole and half hams were featured at many Denver markets today at 45 cents a pound. Meat buyers at the stores pointed out that pork marketing is at a peak right now, and as a result, ham prices have declined 5 cents from a month ago.

Hams cost from 15 to 20 cents more in early fall than at present.

Tom turkeys were selling at 39 cents a pound, and hens at 49, a drop of 10 cents from a week ago. The bargain turkey prices were attributed to the large 1949 crop of gobblers and the fact that Christmas brought the peak in turkey buying.

Scurry Lease Award Halted

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—The state school land board today was blocked temporarily from awarding leases on 555 acres in Scurry county.

A temporary restraining order against such award was issued yesterday by Judge Jack Roberts of 126th district court. His action was based on a suit filed by O. H. Wolters of Fayette county, challenging the state's claim of ownership.

A hearing on Wolters' request for a temporary injunction will be held Jan. 6.

Wolters challenged constitutionality of a 1941 legislative act under which the school land board declared the 555 acres forfeited to the state in 1946. The act allows the state to reclaim public land if a private owner does not reinstate a contract declared forfeited within five years.

Bought In 1935

Wolters said he bought the land at a sheriff's sale in 1935 and was never notified by the state that it had declared the land forfeited in July, 1941. He said he learned of the forfeiture from a man to whom he leased the land this year.

He contended the 1941 law was unconstitutional because it did not require the state to notify land owners of forfeiture.

The suit lies against land commissioner Bascom Giles, Gov. Allan Shivers and Attorney General Price Daniel, members of the school land board. The board offered the acreage for oil and gas lease bids Dec. 6 and was scheduled to award the lease Jan. 3 before the court action intervened.

The acreage is not within the known productive limits of the recently discovered Scurry county oil pool, a land office spokesman said.

Damage Is Light In Fire At University

GEORGETOWN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Southwestern university officials today took stock of the damage done by yesterday's fire at the Moody hall power plant.

Earlier estimates revealed that the damage was not extensive. Mostly, it was believed confined to the roof of the plant, where a spark from electrical equipment ignited leaking gas. The fire did not spread to any other campus building.

AGED MAN BURIED

LUFKIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—B. A. (Uncle Bev) Jones, 100, was buried here yesterday.

"Uncle Bev" had lived in Angelina county 85 years, but was a native of Louisiana.

An Italian peasant digging in Liri Valley found a giant elephant skull with tusks attached, believed to be 60,000 years old.

Greece exported 42,100,000 pounds of tobacco in the first five months of this year, a gain of 51 per cent over 1948.

New Jobs And Ranks Ordered For Many U.S. Navy Officers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—A sweeping series of Navy orders and promotions sent one critic of Pentagon policy to what looked like a lesser post today, but named another for a raise in rank.

Vice Adm. Gerald F. Bogan—whose statement that unification policies had damaged Navy morale helped set off a bitter admirals-vs.-the Pentagon row before a House committee—was transferred from his command in the Pacific to a shore job now held by a rear admiral.

But Capt. Arleigh A. Burke—chief of the now-abolished Navy unit which reportedly prepared material for the admirals' unification attack in Congress—was one of 23 officers nominated for promotion to rear admiral.

New jobs and ranks also were in store for a whole boatload of other high Navy officers, subject to Senate approval.

Denfeld Not Mentioned

The letter about morale which Bogan sent to Secretary of the Navy Matthews was made public several months ago—along with the comment of the then chief of naval operations, Adm. Louis Denfeld—by Capt. John G. Crommelin, longtime critic of unification.

Crommelin's action touched off a series of hearings by the House armed services committee at which a long parade of admirals testified that defense policies were weighted in favor of the Army and Air Force, and were damaging the Navy.

Denfeld, one of those who testified, was fired as chief of naval operations soon after. Both Matthews and Secretary of Defense Johnson denied that any reprisals were involved.

The new assignment list contained no mention of a job for Denfeld, who earlier had turned down an offer to be commander of the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean forces.

In the list of orders for "rotation of Navy flag officers between sea and shore duty," Bogan was set down for transfer next February from his combat command of the first task fleet in the Pacific.

The Navy announcement said Bogan would go to "shore duty in the aeronautical organization," probably to Jacksonville, Fla., to take the job of Rear Admiral John H. Cassady as commander of fleet air there.

Whether that meant Bogan also would revert to two-star rank was not made clear.

There had been no serious expectation that Crommelin's name would be in the promotion list, although he was 12 numbers above Burke in Navy seniority.

There had been reports that Burke's name was once crossed off the list, then put back. Because all considerations of Navy selection boards are secret, there was no official explanation of why Burke's name was plucked from far down on the list of eligible officers.

Blandy To Retire

While he has a brilliant combat record in the Pacific naval war, there was an impression that it might have been intended in part:

1. As a conciliatory move toward Navy men made resentful by the unification row.

2. To counter the charges from congressional quarters that reprisals are being made against Navy officers involved in the controversy.

The interest which fastened upon the names of Burke, Bogan and Crommelin almost overshadowed the name of a famous naval officer who figured in the developments.

Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Atlantic fleet, will retire Feb. 1, to be succeeded by the present deputy chief of naval operations for personnel, Vice Admiral William M. Fechteler.

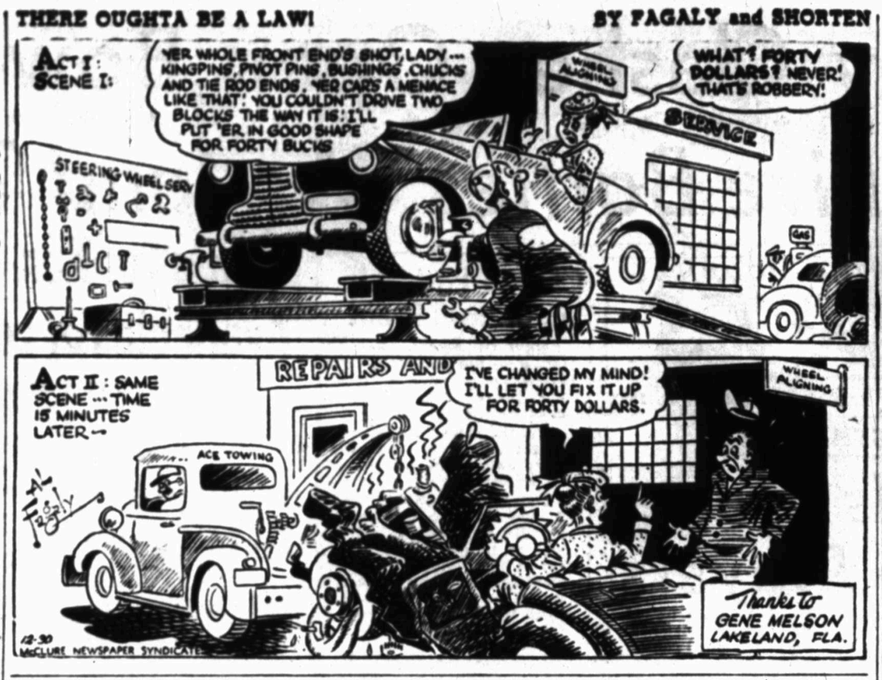

The official announcement gave no reason for the retirement of the 59-year-old four-star admiral who holds one of the three highest jobs in the Navy. When a Navy public relations man called him at his Norfolk, Va., headquarters, Blandy said he expected to retire "because of partial disability."

But those who know Blandy thought perhaps one important reason was that he thought he could rise no higher in his long naval career. He twice had been passed by when men were picked for the top job of chief of naval operations. The first time the choice was Denfeld; the second time it was Admiral Forrest P. Sherman.

Although Blandy testified at the unification hearings, he was not closely identified with the group of outspoken officers who denounced the Defense department's strategy-making.

Blandy, an ordnance expert, was director of the joint Army-Navy-Air task force which conducted the 1946 atomic bomb tests at Bikini. He held wartime combat commands in the Pacific naval and amphibious campaigns.

Man Killed In Train Crash

CALGARY, Alberta, Dec. 30 (AP) One man was killed and more than 40 persons injured in the collision in sub-zero weather of two Canadian Pacific railway trains 95 miles southeast of here yesterday.

A survivor said the injured, some "with an arm or a leg torn right off, were lying in the wreckage, exposed to the raw winds."

"It was pitch black," said Capt. Jay Turner of Niagara Falls, Ont., "and the crying of the injured was heart breaking."

Snow Hampers Rescue

Heavy snows hampered rescue efforts. A wrecking train was rushed to the scene and bulldozers cleared the way for other rescue groups. Six of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

The dead man was Reid B. Heffern, 23-year-old railway employe, traveling as a passenger.

The wreck occurred on the Canadian Pacific's main line. A late-running east-bound train sideswiped two day coaches of the west-bound passenger train from Toronto as the latter was being pulled into a siding to make way for another train.

Mexican City Ousts Red Light Districts

REYNOSA, Mexico, Dec. 30. (AP) —The Red light districts in Reynosa and Matamoros will be moved several miles outside the cities' limits by Jan. 1.

The order was given by Gov. Raul Garate of the Mexican state of Tamaulipas.

Roy Rendon, chamber of commerce manager here, said yesterday the reason for the move was objections from residents living near districts in both cities.

Cat Warns Widow As Fire Threatens Home

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 30. (INS) —A Siamese cat named "Miss Hitty" was credited with saving the home, and possibly the life, of Mrs. Mary Rose Bradford, widow of writer Roark Bradford, in Santa Fe early today.

The cat awakened Mrs. Bradford, who had been dozing over late reading shortly after midnight, when a candle set fire to Christmas decorations.

"Another few minutes and it would have been impossible to extinguish the flames," Mrs. Bradford said.

Three Saturday Clashes Open Bowl Slate

Raiders Meet San Jose Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Like a firecracker that's been spewing for weeks, football explodes again tomorrow with opening bursts in what has come to be affectionately known as the "New Year's bowl madness."

The nation is as lathered up as usual, if not more so, over the 15-game program dotting the warm weather belts of the Pacific coast, deep South and Southwest.

A record crowd of 650,000 fans is expected to shell out more than $2,500,000 for their holiday entertainment, most of it on Monday when an even dozen of the frays are scheduled.

Three games tomorrow will merely whet the appetite of the gridiron gourmet. The fans get a breathing spell Sunday. New Year's day, before the main bowl outburst.

Tomorrow's headliner is the traditional East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, which is figured to lure more than 60,000 out to watch hand-picked college seniors clash for charity.

The game offers the intriguing prospect of seeing Arnold Galiffa, Army's great all-America quarterback, pass to Leon Hart, the big gifted end from Notre Dame.

This awesome combination makes East a 7½ point favorite over a western team that will be spearheaded by Texas Christian's Lindy Berry and College of the Pacific's Eddie LeBaron.

Rivaling this attraction will be another well-established all-star senior feature at Montgomery, Ala. —the Blue-Gray game, sending northerners against southerners.

Tech Plays San Jose

The Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Calif., completes the New Year's eve lineup. San Jose (Calif.), which won eight games and lost four, will square off against Texas Tech, with a 6-4 record.

Tickets are as scarce as pullets' teeth for the major bowl games Monday, with the heaviest jamup looming at Pasadena where some 103,000 are expected to elbow their way into the Rose Bowl renewal.

California, third in the national rankings, will defend its perfect season's record against once beaten and thrice tied Ohio State, sixth in the final Associated Press poll. The Bears are a one touchdown favorite.

This is one of two games, by the way, matching "top ten" teams in the final AP standings.

The other is the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans, sending second-ranked Oklahoma against ninth-rated Louisiana State in a joust expected to entertain 83,000.

Oklahoma's Sooners are unbeaten and untied and favored by a touchdown.

Rice Is Favored

Rice, the champion of the Southwest conference, and North Carolina, the kingpin of the southern, are the attractive principals in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. This game is a 75,500 sellout and will reward the competing teams as handsomely as any.

Jess Neely, Rice's drawling coach, warned that his Owls are "as ready as can be" and will play a "good game." Rice is a touchdown choice over Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice and his Carolina mates.

Santa Clara's Broncos pulled into Miami yesterday for their orange Bowl engagement with Kentucky after a cross-country train ride. Bronc Coach Len Casanova said, "we're okay and ready to go after a little scrimmage and getting acclimated."

The betting boys rate Kentucky's great defensive outfit a three-point choice over the Broncos. Kentucky's Coach Bear Bryant, bemoaning injuries, said guardedly: "I respect Santa Clara but the record shows we have a pretty good defense."

The Miami game figures to draw 65,000.

The closest of the major games is figured to be the Maryland-Missouri clash in the Gator bowl at Jacksonville, with one-half a point going first to one side and then the other in the preliminary odds-juggling.

The other bowls are the Sun at El Paso; Cigar at Tampa, Fla.; Pineapple at Honolulu; Tangerine at Orlando, Fla.; Oleander at Galveston; Salad at Phoenix; Prairie View at Houston.

RAIDERS HOLD LENGTHY DRILL

Parade Is Staged For Tech Players

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 30 (Spci.) An official welcome and parade through downtown Fresno greeted the 36-man Texas Tech squad when it arrived here Thursday afternoon for its Raisin Bowl date on Saturday, and entertainment for the squad and alumni has been furnished by the local townspeople.

Included were a party Thursday night and a breakfast early today before the Tech squad went to Ratcliff field for its morning workout. Another was scheduled for the afternoon.

Long Workout Held

A long, spirited workout was held Thursday, and Coach Dell Morgan reported that the squad was in fine shape. Morgan did not work his men on the trip.

"They are as ready as they ever will be, and all we need now is some finishing off work," Morgan said. "If the team members show signs of needing body contact work they will get it."

Mayor Gordon (Slinger) Dunn, one time Stanford university discus throwing star, led the official welcoming party, made up chiefly of Fresno Junior Chamber of Commerce Raisin Bowl game committee members.

A warm, balmy sun greeted the Texans, but the weatherman is predicting a light rain Friday and possibly a slow field on Saturday. This figures to aid the Raiders as San Jose State, their opponent, is fast and goes to the air a great deal.

Techsans Dress Up

Over the full season, the Spartans built up a .518 pass completion percentage. A total of 228 passes were attempted, with 118 being completed for 1,882 yards and 18 touchdowns. Only 15 were intercepted.

Some 250 persons greeted the Texans, who showed up garbed in cowboy hats and boots, typical of the Lone Star State.

In addition to Morgan, coaches making the trip were G. B. Morris, Tipp Mooney and Allie White, plus Mason Gorby, trainer, and team managers E. J. Hutchins and Edgar Hawkins.

Barber Quint Gets Victory

ANTON, Dec. 30. (Special)—Top game of the American Legion Independent basketball tournament here tonight will be the game between Barber college and Mason Ramblers of Levelland.

Thursday both teams kept their records unblemished, and tonight's winner will be very near the championship of the tourney, which ends Saturday.

The Ramblers defeated Thomas Tinkers, 53-44, in the best game of the night Thursday, taking an early lead and holding it all the way despite several Tinker rallies.

The Barbers had little trouble with Reese Air Force Base, winning, 57-42.

Anton kept in the double elimination tourney by downing Spade, 45-23. The loss dropped Spade from the tournament with its second loss.

The final game saw Morton down Plains Ice Cream, 42-36.

Friday's pairings match Barber college vs. Levelland at 7 p. m.; Reese Air Force vs. Anton at 8 p. m.; and Thomas Tinkers vs. Morton, at 9 p. m.

Murphy of Barber college led scoring for the night with 24 points, and Willis with 15 for Morton was next high. Other individual scores were Jake Broyles, Thomas Tinkers, 10 points; Wolley, Reese AFB, nine; Woods, Anton, 13; and Dodson, Plains Ice Cream, 11 points.

Penn State Battles Favorite In Finals

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 30 (AP) — An upsetting crew and the tourney favorite square off tonight in the championship finals of the Dixie basketball classic.

Penn State, twice a surprise winner, runs up against host North Carolina State, which had been figured all along to be one of the finalists.

The Pennsylvania club swept into the title match by knocking off West Virginia, 46-41, last night after N. C. State had brushed past Georgia Tech, 57-34.

North Carolina gained the consolation finals by upsetting Duke, 59-52, last night. Rhode Island State whipped Wake Forest, 61-57.

East Is Favored In San Francisco Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30 (AP)—The East is favored in the annual all-star Shrine football charity game tomorrow. But that's the usual pattern and the West apparently is not afraid.

More than 60,000 fans are expected to jam Kezar stadium.

Listen to Lindy Berry of Texas Christian, who will probably start in the tailback spot for the West:

"Don't forget some of our fellows play in just as tough a league as the Big 10 and anything they have in the East. I mean the Southwest conference. Brother, the competition is really rugged down there."

Berry is a co-captain of the West team.

Charlie Parker In Sugar Bowl Event

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Five top collegiate track events are expected in the annual Sugar Bowl invitational meet New Year's day.

But the hottest of them may be the mile relay that features teams from three A. and M. colleges.

Defending champion Texas A. and M. is back to defend its title. Oklahoma A. and M. will be trying to recover the crown that Texas A. and M. won last year. The Oklahoma Aggies have one man back from the 1947 team that set the Sugar Bowl record of 3.18.4.

Louisiana State university, which forgets to use the rest of its name "and A. and M. college," is back to try to better the third place it won last year.

Oklahoma A. and M. has Dick Stolpe back from the record team.

Gloves Ducats On Sale Here

Ticket reservations for the 1950 Lubbock regional Golden Gloves tournament are going at a rapid rate.

More than 100 reservations for tickets to all five nights of the Jan. 30-Feb. 3 mitt meet have been accepted since they became available Wednesday, Tourney Director Morley Jennings has announced.

Reservations Accepted

Reservations still are being accepted by Jennings at the Texas Tech athletic office. Tickets are priced at $1.80 reserved and $1.20 general admission per night.

Meantime, word was received from Roswell stating that that New Mexico city again would have a team in the open class of the Lubbock tournament.

Roswell last year sent a small, but efficient, squad to Lubbock, and walked off with second place in team ranking. This year, according to Roswell GG officials, a full eight-man team will compete in Lubbock. The Roswell squad will be chosen from a field of more than 100 fighters in a district tournament there Jan. 12-14.

Two Roswell representatives won regional titles here in 1949, and a third lost a disputed decision in the finals of his division. All three of these fighters—Flyweight Carlos Martinez, Welterweight Mario Hernandez and Featherweight Albert Pacheco — are entered in the forthcoming Roswell tourney, and may return to Lubbock.

Stanley To Fight

Two additional local entries for the regional meet were received Thursday.

Fred Stanley, a Texas Tech student residing at 2606 Twenty-fifth, will fight in the open welterweight division. Stanley, 19, has had no previous competitive ring experience.

Alex Garcia, 17, a Latin-American residing at 123 South Avenue N, has entered the novice lightweight division. Garcia has had three previous amateur bouts, winning one.

Tickets For Non-Loop Tussle Available For Lubbock Fans

Texas Tech's basketballers return to action on their home court tonight meeting the Wayland college Pioneers at 8 o'clock in Tech gym.

An ample supply of tickets for Lubbock townspeople will be available at the gym box office, since the Tech student body currently is on holiday vacation.

Ducats will sell for $1 each.

Coach Polk Robison's Raiders will be seeking their sixth victory in 10 starts this season. Earlier this month, they tacked a 58-50 defeat on Wayland in a game played at Plainview, thanks to a fast getaway which saw Tech run up a 17-3 lead in the first few minutes of play.

The Techsans lost their last outing, bowing by 61-55 to the independent Checker Cab quint at San Angelo Wednesday night.

Probable Raider starters tonight are Verdell Turner and Charley Pinnell, forwards; Gene Gibson, center; and Chester Jackson and Jack Alderson, guards.

For Coach Harley Redin's Pioneers, the likely starters are Ed Billings and Bill Knighton, forwards; Leon (Runt) Burch, center; and Billy McClellan and George Goodson, guards.

In games to date, Jackson, Alderson and Gibson have sparked the Raider scoring, while Billings, Burch and McClellan have been the top point-makers for Wayland.

LUBBOCK WESTERNERS TO GET WEEKEND VACATION

Lubbock Westerner cagers were scheduled to workout early today and then take Saturday and Sunday off, with practice for Tuesday's game in Big Spring to resume on Monday.

The locals went through a long drill Thursday at Chapman fieldhouse after a hard game the previous night in Abilene, where they avenged an earlier setback by the Eagles, winning 38-35.

After early shooting drills from close in and far out, the team worked on controlling the ball Thursday.

In the "control" drill the team with the ball tried to freeze it without losing possession in a fast exercise against a defending team.

Emphasis was placed on dribbling and passing the ball while freezing it, and at times the offensive quintet was able to keep possession for several minutes.

One of the most obvious shortcomings of the team as a whole was in passing the sphere, and Coach David Cook stopped the drill several times to demonstrate how passing should be done.

Oklahoma City Wins Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30 (U.P.) —The Chiefs of Oklahoma City university, who gave this city a championship it didn't expect in the All-College basketball tournament, were hallowed local heroes today.

The Chiefs, fourth-seeded at the start, climaxed their brilliant play by nipping Wyoming, 36-35, last night in overtime in the championship game.

For a time in that tense tussle, it seemed the Chiefs would finally meet defeat. They trailed the Cowboys by 21-19 at the half, but as both sides played top-notch defensive ball, Oklahoma City moved up to knot the count at 32-32 when the regulation time ended.

Player Gets Trophy

Jack Key of the Chiefs slipped in a layup to start the overtime and Wyoming never caught up.

The trophy for the "most valuable player in the tournament" was awarded to Farrell Craig, Chiefs' scrappy floor general.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who had won the tournament five straight years, settled for third place by trouncing Arkansas, 57-33. Texas took down fifth with a 49-41 victory over Baylor and Vanderbilt took seventh by defeating Alabama, 53-44.

Aggies Beat Porkers

Oklahoma A&M, the pre-tourney favorite bounced out by the Chiefs a night earlier, took out some of their vengeance on a hapless Arkansas team which had given it trouble in two previous meetings. The Aggies led Arkansas 30-14 at halftime and breezed in with a long lead. Jim Catchcart's 9 points led the Porker scoring.

The Texas-Baylor contest, marking the first meeting of Southwest conference teams in pre-title play, saw Texas come from behind a 27-21 deficit that grew to 40-30 seven minutes into the final period. Baylor got only one point in the final 13 minutes as the Longhorns rallied to go ahead 43-41 with three minutes left. Tom Hamilton of Texas and Bill Srack of Baylor tied for individual scoring honors with 11 points each.

Sun Carnival Cage Tourney Will Open

EL PASO, Dec. 30. (AP) — The University of Arizona meets the University of New Mexico here tonight in the opening game of the first annual Sun carnival basketball tournament.

Tht two-day event also features teams from West Texas State and Texas Western college, which meet in the second game tonight.

Tomorrow night the consolation and championship game will be played.

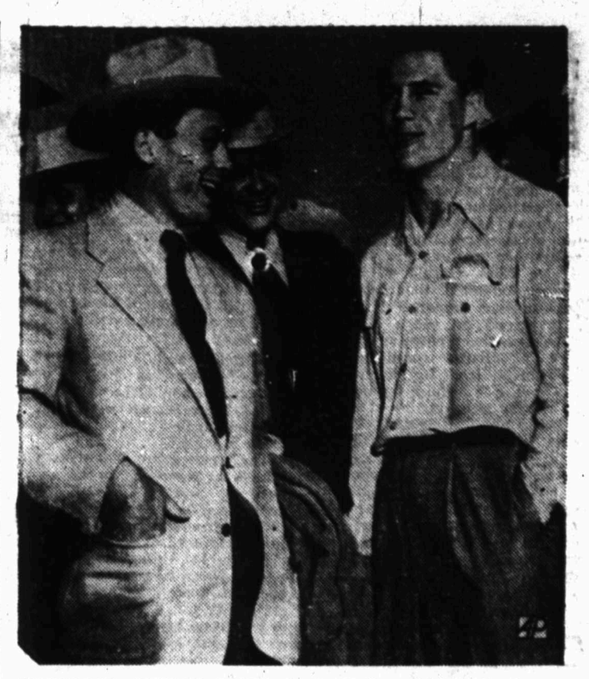

All four teams are members of the Border conference. West Texas state and Arizona are favored to battle for the loop championship as well as the tournament title here.

Odessa, Pampa Win In Brownwood Meet

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 30 (AP)—Second-round play in the seventh annual Howard Payne college basketball tournament opens today. Finals in the high school competition are slated tomorrow night.

First round results yesterday:

Big Spring 38, Early 35; Polytech (Fort Worth) 32, Temple 26; Burkett 34, Olney 32; Sweetwater 55, Throckmorton 24; Odessa 44, Mineral Wells 28; Port Arthur 52, Memphis 37; Pampa 66, Kerrville 18; San Angelo 51, Brownwood 50.

NAVY, ST. LOUIS FAVORITES

Cotton Bowl Cage Tourney To Start

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Southern Methodist meets Navy and Baylor plays St. Louis tonight as the Cotton Bowl opens its first intercollegiate basketball tournament.

The easterners and mid-westerners are given solid votes to kick Southern Methodist and Baylor out in the first round and clash tomorrow night for the championship.

Far from a capacity crowd of 5,000 is expected this evening. In fact, officials will be pleased with a 3,000 turnout. They do think, that if there's some good, close basketball tonight the place will be jammed for the finals.

Southwest Teams Weak

The southwest doesn't put its best foot forward, however. Southern Methodist has one of the worst records among major colleges in the country, having won only two games while losing seven. Baylor has a 5-5 mark and is the lowest scoring outfit in the tournament, averaging 49.8 points.

Undefeated Navy, which rolled up 267 points in four games—an average of 67—and St. Louis, with a 4-1 record and an average of 58 points per game, would be humiliated if they dropped a game to the erratic Southwest conference quintets.

High scoring individual is Jack Brown, Southern Methodist forward, who has looped in 133 points. But his average is under that of Bill Wilson, the Navy hot-shot, who has flipped in 67 points in four games—an average of almost 17. Brown has made under 15 ptr game.

Lou Lehman tops St. Louis with 69 points in five tests.

Bill Hickman is the top pointmaker for Baylor with 83. The ace Bear cager, however, is Don Heathington, a tall forward, who has missed several games because of an injury. He is due to play tonight.

St. Louis already has drubbed a couple of Southwest conference teams, beating Texas A. and M. 55-51 and Texas Christian 80-53. Navy hasn't played a quintet from this section as yet.

The Southern Methodist-Navy game is set for 7:30 p. m. (CST) with Baylor and St. Louis clashing at 9. Tomorrow night the winners get together to decide the title at 9 p .m. with the losers playing for tihrd place at 7:30.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

The sporting scene in and around Lubbock has settled down to a slow walk the past few days, with the transition between football and basketball being completed. Only the bowl games remain of football.

Except for scattered basketball tournaments over the state, basketball itself is at a virtual standstill.

The Lubbock Westerners, originally scheduled for the Brownwood tournament, lost their chance at that tourney and other tourney competition when the South Plains Invitational set for Lubbock Dec. 28-30 fell through. But Coach David Cook's Westerners did get a pair of games with Abilene.

In the first Abilene game, the locals came out on the short end of a 43-41 decision, winning the second Wednesday by a 38-35 margin in Abilene. They are inactive now until Jan. 3 when they engage Big Spring at Big Spring. District play for the Westerners begins Jan. 6, with Odessa's Broncho's invading Chapman fieldhouse, and on Jan. 7 Borger comes to Lubbock in a non-district tilt.

Borger owns the distinction of being the only other team besides Abilene to have defeated Lubbock this year, and the Borgans did it by an overwhelming, 49-28 margin. The Westerners have 10 victories.

Tech returned to the hardwoods Wednesday, losing to Checker Cab of San Angelo, 61-55, and tonight the Raiders go against Wayland college at the Tech gym.

Local fans will get a chance to see Texas Tech in action tonight without being crowded. Since school is out at Tech, the gym should accommodate all who wish to see the game. Starting time is 8 p. m.

Next week Coach Polk Robinson's Raiders leave on a conference campaign into New Mexico. On Jan. 5 the Techsans play Texas Wester nat El Paso; New Mexico A. and M. is next on the slate on Jan. 6 at Las Cruces; and Jan. 7 the Raider quintet goes to Albuquerque to meet New Mexico.

The only tournament in these parts is at Anton, that being an independent tourney sponsored by the American Legion there. Teams entered are Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock Barber college, Anton American Legion, Thomas Tinkers, Spade, Levelland Ramblers, Morton and Plains Ice Cream.

Making a brief stop here Wednesday night before leaving early Thursday for Fresno and the Raisin Bowl was Joe Kelly, who reported a nice (but not white) Christmas in Washington, D. C.

Kelly had time to unpack and then pack again before departing for California.

One of the highlights of his trip to Washington was professional basketball games which, according to Kelly, "will make college games seem slow."

But you, the readers, will be hearing more from Joe soon, so the tales he has to tell will be left for his telling.

A report on boxing deaths incurred this year was recently released, and it showed that 18 boxers were killed by injuries connected with the sport. Of this number 12 were profession deaths, and six were connected with the amateur ring.

A look at the "Encyclopedia Of Sports" discloses that football deaths, from sandlot through professional, have averaged more than 28 per season for the 15-year period between 1931-1946.

In recent years the number has been decreasing, due largely to better equipment and stiffer rules for flagrant roughness.

In 1946 there were 21 direct deaths from the sport and four indirect deaths. The year 1945 was an all-time low, nine fatal injuries reported.

Other sports such as baseball, baseball, hockey, and automobile racing did not have a list of fatalities, in the book.

Several of the team members of the Westerner basketball team were planning to make a trip to Dallas today for the Cotton Bowl basketball tourney which features SMU, Baylor, Navy and St. Louis university . . . Navy and St. Louis are the natural favorites . . . Baylor lost in the All-College tourney to the University of Texas in the consolation finals . . . Westerner Coach David Cook is planning to spend some time today at the Brownwood tourney in hopes of seeing Odessa play. The Bronchos are one of 16 teams entered, and a look now might help the Westerners when they play Odessa next week.

O'Neal Weaver Pacing Tyler

TYLER, Dec. 30 (AP) — Lanky O'Neal Weaver, who was a national sensation last basketball season as he made 1,086 points in 43 games at Martins Mill High school, is up to his old tricks with Tyler junior college this year. He's leading the team in scoring with 182 points in nine games.

But there's one complaint from Coach Floyd Wagstaff: Weaver doesn't shoot enough. Wagstaff thinks if he'd just pitch for the basket more instead of passing to teammates the sky would be the limit.

Scoring Record Given

The big fellow has made 71 field goals and 40 free throws and in one game scored 33 points. That was the game in which a teammate got more after him for not shooting more.

Tyler was on the last leg of a trip which took it 4,000 miles to the state of Washington. The Apaches had played five games in five nights from Hutchinson, Kans., to Bremerton, Wash. They were playing their second game with the Olympic college Rangers of Bremerton and were leading 33-32 at half-time.

Little Jerry Champion, a former all-stater from Crozier Tech in Dallas, and a junior college All-American guard last season, told Weaver:

Hit 10 Attempts

"Listen, it's hard enough for us to get that ball down court to you and harder when you pass it off to us to shoot."

So O'Neal shot during the second half, and the Apaches won 83 to 65. Weaver shot 13 times during the second half. He missed three times.

That victory over the Rangers gave the Apaches a clean sweep on their tour. It was their eighth consecutive win for the season. They scored 643 points during nine games for an average of over 71 per game compared to 510 for their opponents.

CROZIER TECH WINS

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Crozier Tech of Dallas downed Adamson, also of Dallas, 28-26, here last night for the championship of the Cotton Bowl high school invitation basketball tournament.

Cage Sport In Brazil Booms

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Part two of the Vadal Paterson report on sports in Brazil:

One reason for the popularity of basketball, says the Utah coach, is that Brazil's one big sport up to a few years ago was soccer football . . . "Now," he says, "they have found a game they can play with their hands instead of their feet . . . They're eager to learn about American sports, but they're very suspicious of Yankees . . . They get their basketball rules and interpretations from Europe, with the result they're using the old 1935-1940 rules . . . I think we owe it to them and to the game to send more teams down there. They wanted us to return next year but we can't . . . Some other team could arrange to do it earlier in the fall—The end of their winter—and the boys wouldn't lose so much time trying to make up their classes." . . . P. S.: St. Francis of Brooklyn already is negotiating for just such a tour next year

Players Beat Fan

The socc r players, Peterson explains, have learned how to take care of violent fan reactions . . . "We were at one game in Rio," says Vadal, "when a player had the ball out of bounds . . . I could just see some object shining in the sun a sit flew out of the stands see them pointing up into the stands . . . As they stood there trying to locate the thrower, the crowd began opening up like a big V. . . . Then the players started up into the stands and the V widened out as they climbed . . . They went up to where the guy was and really took him apart; then they dragged him down on the field and beat him some more . . . Finally about 50 police came out and salvaged the remains and the players went on with the game . . . They're building a new football stadium there which will seat more than 100,000 . . . And they're going to have a 25 foot moat filled with water between the field and the stands."

Player Offered Bonus

George Stanich, the UCLA basketballer who looked so good here Tuesday night, has been offered $30,000 by the Yankees but wants at least 10 G's more. He's a pitcher with a terrific fast ball—and his coach, Johnny Wooden, also predicts Stanich will be the world's first seven-foot high jumper . . . Chuck Fonville, Michigan's sensational shot putter of two years ago, is working out daily but it's too early to tell whether his back injury is completely healed . . . Vincent Richards, the ex-tennis star who is Bobby Locke's American contact man, figures Bobby is trying to make up his mind whether to return here next year or play in Europe, Africa and Australia . . . Bobby will be approved if he apologizes to the PGA . . . Weather permitting, Stanford and California alumni in New England will stage a Rost Bowl rally on the Harvard campus Jan. 2 . . . It would be quite a novelty to have 'em cheer for a winning team in the Hahvahd yahd.

LOW SCORING

AUSTIN, (AP)—The fewest points ever scored by the University of Texas in basketball was against Texas A. and M. in 1921, the Aggies winning, 23-5. The lowest game aggregate in which Texas participated was an 8-7 game won by A. and M. in 1918, a decision that was later forfeited to the Longhorns because the Aggies used an ineligible player.

Rainstorms in Chiapas and Guatemala proved a severe blow to Mexican coffee dealers.

Ben Hopes To Play In Meet

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30. — The man they said would never play again is getting out his clubs and taking long, loving looks at one of his favorite courses.

Bantam Ben Hogan, back from death's door after that auto crash in Texas last February, arrived here last night full of plans for making a few "test runs" over the Riviera Country club, where the Los Angeles Open will be played Jan. 6-9. Hogan has won three L. A. opens over the same course, in 1942, 1947 and 1948.

"It all depends on my legs," said Ben, hefting some 20 pounds more than his old weight. "Except for them, I feel great. I'll probably wait until the day before the Open before deciding whether or not I'll play."

He says the'll try to get in 18 holes a day between now and tournament time.

Doaker Finds Fame Has Its Problems

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Being an all-America is swell but it has its trials, says Doak Walker, who three times won the honor of college football.

Walker, the Southern Methodist great, in his life's story, a copyrighted feature being published in the Dallas Times Herald( tells of the burden All-America places on the back of a youngster.

He first made it in 1947. "I wouldn't be honest if I didn't admit that it meant a great deal to me," the Doaker writes. "I was very proud but at the same time I realized that the attention which comes from such an honor also carries new responsibility. I knew that from now on the pressure would be on and that I would really have to produce."

But there were some humorous moments, too. There was the time teammate Kyle Rote told a man who was about to buy a football magazine: "Don't take that one, mister it isn't official. It hasn't got Doak Walker's picture on it."

He said he took a lot of ribbing not only from teammates but opponents. There was the time he went to Austin to play Texas. "The first thing I saw when I walked into the dressing room before the game was a large replica of a cover on which Norma (Norma Peterson, his girl friend) and I appeared," Doak said "Under this, in big letters, were the words: 'Which Pony has the Toni?"

The Southern Methodist football team, you know, is known as "the Mustangs" or "Ponies."

BUT LOWER TAXES ARE UNLIKELY

1950 Roads Construction May Cost $200,000 Less Than '49

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP) — American taxpayers are expected to put up a record $2 billion next year for roads and highways. Today they have the cheering word they might save $200 million on the deal.

That is because road construction costs are down about 10 per cent from their 1948 peak, and may even drop another five percent, while highway labor productivity is reported up.

The resulting saving on next year's road bill could mean either $200 million for more roads, or a $200 million reduction in taxes. However, don't count your tax savings before they are hatched. Taxes often go up, rarely come down.

Borne By Motorist

Part of the cost of building highway is borne by taxes motorists pay. The annual burden of state and federal gasoline and automotive taxes now runs "alarmingly close to $100 a vehicle," according to Baird H. Markham, director of the American Petroleum Industries committee of the American Petroleum institute.

Markham elaborates on a subject naturally very close to the institute's heart: "The gasoline tax nationally averages about 33 per cent of the retail price of this product."

Richard H. Wilson, assistant state highway engineer for California, reports on some reasons for the cost drop:

1. Increased labor productivity, which he thinks may be due to more competition for jobs.

Building Costs Down

2. End to uncertainties—ready availability of materials at guaranteed prices, plus the stable supply of labor, lets contractors cut the contingency items in their bids.

3. The drop in material prices for the first time since 1940. Under this he lists excavation costs down 23 per cent from last year; class B Portland cement down 12 per cent; bar reinforcing steel down 12 per cent; and structural steel down 24 per cent.

Costs, however, are still well above prewar levels. The U. S. Public Roads bureau's index uses 1925-29 costs as a base of 100. The index had dropped to 72.6 in 1939. During the war and since the index rose steadily to its peak of 165.3 in the fourth quarter of 1948. By this October it has receded to 148.7.

INFILTRATION OF FORMOSA BEGUN

China Loyalist Forces Smash Red Attacks On Island Bases

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONG KONG, Dec. 30—Chinese Communist attempts to land on two islands of Nationalist retreat off the mainland have been smashed, government reports said today.

The most determined Red attempt was against Matsu island, off China's east coast about 100 miles northwest of the Nationalist island stronghold of Formosa, the official Central News agency said.

The second was a smaller, fuller operation against Hainan, big island off the south coast. But the Nationalists asserted that even here the attackers lost heavily.

Infiltrate Formosa

These claims coincided with first reliable reports that the Communists have begun the infiltration of Formosa itself.

These accounts said Red troops made small, isolated landings from junks along Formosa's long coastline, then vanished hastily into the interior.

The assault on Matsu appeared the most serious. Many military observers believe the Reds must subjugate Matsu and strongly-defended Quemoy island, about 160 miles to the southwest, before attempting the big operation against Formosa.

Attacks Repulsed

Both islands help to screen Formosa, as does the blockade base of Chusan island, nearly 300 miles north of Matsu.

Central News said several thousand Communist troops landed on Matsu Christmas night from a nearby island and were repulsed with heavy casualties.

Nationalist military sources said Matsu is being reinforced against another Red attack expected at any moment. Nationalist warships assisted the defense by bombarding Red positions on the Min river delta opposite Matsu.

Planes Hit Coast

The Nationalist air force asserted that a two-day aerial attack on mainland targets had disrupted Communist plans for the invasion of Hainan island.

Hainan's coast artillery was said to have broken up several small-scale Communist landing attempts.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on Hainan's Communist guerrillas, who tried to seize a 10-mile strip of the coast opposite Liuchow peninsula, the Nationalists said. The peninsula reaches out to within 10 miles of Hainan.

Landing Crafts Shelled

Nationalist gunboats were reported to have moved in close to Liuchow's shores and shelled small craft being massed for the invasion.

The government on Formosa announced that 35,000 Formosans between the ages of 20 and 21 would be recruited for defense of the island. This is the first conscription of Formosans, who oppose both the Nationalists and the Communists.

A Nationalist military spokesman on Formosa announced that beginning New Year's day the war of attrition against the Communists on the mainland would be stepped up.

Bombers Raid Shanghai

He expressed belief that intensified air raids and a tighter naval blockade would do much to forestall Communist attacks on Formosa and Hainan.

In this connection, the Central News agency said medium bombers from Formosa raided Shanghai, bombing an airfield and strafing shipping on the Yangtze.

Reports from Peiping, the Red capital, said the Communist regime was taking steps to guard against sabotage and assassination by Nationalist agents.

duction of 50 per cent or more on individual items.

That bill or one like it almost certainly will be offered as a rider amendment when the Senate calls up house-passed legislation to repeal the federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Ordinarily the House would act first on any general excise revision because tax measures, under the constitution, must originate in the House. But the oleo bill already approved by the House is actually an excise measure, so the Senate can broaden the bill's scope by amending it to cover other excise taxes.

Bell spokesmen reiterated Horner's statement when asked to comment on the union's stand.

A. E. Johnson, federal mediator from the St. Louis office, said he would try and arrange a resumption of negotiations between Bell and the union today.

The union seeks a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, job reclassifications in some cities and shorter hours for night-shift workers.

Bell claims that no pay boost is justified and that the union hasn't presented any definite new-contract proposals.

The present contract, which expired on Dec. 1, has been continued on a day-to-day basis since then.

Stock Market

MARKET ADVANCES

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—The stock market advanced over a broad front today, taking a cue from fast demand for motor issues.

Final prices were tops for the day.

Buying interest first centered on automobile shares, with gains running to around two points. In late dealings demand began to spread, particular attention being given to steel issues.

Selected stocks and, later, steel issues accounted for a substantial portion of heavy turnover. Sales totaled around 1,900,000 shares for the full session.

Chrysler, up about 2 points at one times, and Studebaker, ahead a point or so, reached new highs for 1949. General Motors improved fractionally.

Stocks leaning ahead included Wheeling Steel, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Dome Mines, Dow Chemical, American Cyanamid, Westinghouse Electric, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Warner Bros.

Holding back were J. I. Case, Anaconda Copper, International Paper, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (NJ), and Celotex.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Cotton futures were steady today on persistent trade buying and short covering, prior to the year-end. The market established new highs for the season, although the best levels were pared by commission house profit taking.

for about two hours until George Harper, who lives nearby, heard his shouts for help. Harper released him and brought him to Fort Scott.

Atha said the Louisiana man told officers his captors called each other "Tony" and "Jerry." The one answering to the name of Tony had two bullet wounds in the leg. The man said one of the slugs had been removed but that the other still was in his leg.

On Way To Canada

In their conversation, McPherson related, the men said they "hoped to make it to Canada" by way of Kansas City and Chicago.

The Shreveport man said his kidnapers forced him to write a check for $75. They said they planned to have him cash it at one of their stops, but failed to do so.

McPherson said he was not mistreated on the ride, although the men kept him covered with a .45 revolver.

At Kansas City, Dwight Brantley, special agent in charge of the FBI, said he had asked McPherson to come to Kansas City for an interview. Brantley said McPherson will be shown pictures of three Texas fugitives in an effort to identify his captors.

Seven convicts tunneled out of the Huntsville state prison last Monday. Four have been recaptured.

1949 Crops In State At Peak

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Texas farmers will finish their most prosperous year in history with the end of 1949, the United States department of agriculture said today.

The USDA reported that the value of Texas farm crops reached a record high of $1,552,043,000, some five per cent above the record year of 1947.

The 1949 total exceeded the 1498 farm income of $1,148,845,000 by some 32 per cent, the USDA said.

The largest cotton production in history accounted for a major portion of the record-breaking income. The situation was also bolstered, the USDA said, by larger crops of wheat, oats, peanuts and sweet potatoes.

Cotton Yield Greatest

Cotton and cottonseed, valued at $917,000,000 represented 60 per cent of the total value of all crops and accounted for $356,000,000 of the total $373,000,000 increase in value over 1948.

The wheat crop was valued at $66,000,000 more than the 1948 crop and represented about 12 per cent of the total 1949 income.

Oats, peanuts and sweet potatoes together, the USDA said, brought about $15,000,000 more than last year. However, these increases were partially offset by reductions in the value of most sorghums and forage crops, valued about $27,000,000 under the 1948 figure.

Rice was off about $10,500,000, and all hay was down $7,000,000.

Home Folks

Mrs. Charles L. Bomar, 1505 Avenue L, and son, Michael, flew to Pecos today to visit Mrs. Bomar"s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnston, for a few days.

It was a sort of "unofficial sheriff's convention" here Thursday afternoon, Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank said. Sheriff John Stotts of Matador, Sheriff C. C. Kimmel of Dickens, Sheriff Foy Addison of Crosbyton, former Lubbock Sheriff Tom Abel of San Angelo and former Dawson Sheriff Buck Bennett of Lamesa visited the sheriff's office. Plainview Chief of Police Hoyt Curry and former Texas Ranger Norvel Redwine of Tahoka also dropped in.

Two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Aniceto Albarez were admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital at 6:15 p.m. Thursday suffering effects of carbon monoxide gas. The children, Carmen, three, and Mary Lou, 18 months, were left with their four-months-old sister in a car while their parents shopped at a grocery store. Hospital attendants said fumes from the car's motor gathered inside the vehicle, causing the older children to become ill. The family's residence address was not available.

City firemen said they answered three alarms before midmorning today: At 12:15 o'clock to 1118 Main, where Christmas decorations became short-circuited in the rain; at 2:55 o'clock to Home Lumber and Supply company, at Nineteenth and Ave. L, where a $25,000 to $30,000 fire broke out Wednesday night; and at 4:45 o'clock to Twenty-fourth and Adams Ave., where a transformer on a power pole was sparking. No appreciable damage was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Meredith, jr., Houston, are parents of a seven-pound son born in that city Thursday. Mrs. Meredith is a daughter of Dean and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh, 1710 Ave. X.

thing could be done to bring an end to her suffering.

The county solicitor added that Dr. Sander made no attempt to conceal the fact he gave the woman a fatal injection.

It was an entry over Dr. Sander's signature in the records of the Hillsboro county hospital—where Mrs. Borroto died last Dec. 4—that led to his arrest.

Dr. Robert E. Biron, Hillsboro county medical referee, said hospital staff members he refused to identify had called his attention to a notation that the air was injected into the woman's veins.

Dr. Biron said the notation was made and signed by Dr. Sander.

Craig said Dr. Sander told him his patient died within 10 minutes after the injection, adding that her death from cancer "might have been a matter of a few hours."

Neighbors said Mrs. Borroto had wasted from 140 pounds to a mere 80 pounds since she was stricken with cancer.

Her death certificate, signed by Dr. Sander, said she died of carcinoma of the large bowel and metastis of the liver.

The dictionary defines that as a cancer originating in the membrane-like lining of a large cavity spreading to the liver.

Craig said that no autopsy was performed and because of the written record of the injection it may not be necessary to disinter the body.

have made something of a dent in Republican efforts to collect cash for general campaign use in some of the states. Most of his colleagues, however, don't blame Taft.

The Ohio senator has always financed his campaigns through Ohio contributions and apparently would like to continue to do that.

He also is seemingly well aware of the danger of being tagged as a "money" candidate, preferring the role of the financial underdog being attacked by the well-heeled labor unions.

Fishing Tales Dominate Top Awards By Burlington Club

Ohioan Is Named "World's Champion Liar" After Story Of Stabbing Trout To Death

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 30. (AP)—A fantastic fishing fib involving the death of a Colorado trout today gave a fabricating Ohioan the title of "World's Champion Liar."

The Burlington Liar's club said it's annual award goes to "honest John" Goerlich of Toledo "with a sigh of relief and by unanimous vote."

Goerlich's tall tale related that, alone in Colorado he caught a trout on a cane pole but in his excitement forgot about his landing nets and gaff hooks.

Story Is Revealed

He reeled his prize up to the tip of the pole which he then heaved out of the water into an upright position. The pole was so long he couldn't reach the fish and he dared not put the pole back into the water for fear the trout would escape.

"I stuck the butt of that long, limber pole into the ground, drew my trusty hunting knife, climbed up the polt and stabbed that fish to death."

Honorable mention was awarded to Bob Elverman of Louisville, Ky., and C. E. Berry of Maumee, Ohio. The judges, reviewing efforts by modern Munchausens, eliminated a contribution from retiring champion L. W. Tupper of Patricia, Alberta, Canada.

Tupper last year was crowned for his yarn of 2,000 postholes which were blown out of the ground and over cactus until they were so full of holes they wouldn't hold dirt.

Elverman Won honorable mention with his story about a large fish which towed his boat so fast he blacked out. When he awoke in a hospital he was told he had been traveling so rapidly motor boats could not catch him and there was fear he would starve to death. He escaped a lingering death after friction burned out the bottom of his boat and he tumbled into the lake.

Berry offered this story; It became so cold in his town the mercury in a thermometer "dropped through the bottom of the tube and was three bricks below zero."

Legion's Toy Drive Pushed

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. (AP)—A Delaware river pier is beginning to groan today under a steadily mounting pile of picture books, dolls, blocks and cowboy suits bound for the children of Europe.

The flood of playthings is the nation's response to the American Legion's "Junior Marshall plan"—A drive designed (1) to provide toys for European children born during or after World War two and (2) by so doing combat Communist propaganda.

The "Tide Of Toys"

Officially designated the "Tide of Toys," the project got underway the day after Christmas and was originally scheduled to end Jan. 7, 1950.

The response has been so great, however, that Legion officials announced today the final date for shipment of toys to Philadelphia has been extended to Jan. 15.

All the nation's children have been asked to participate by sending new toys or cash contributions. Each toy should have a letter attached from the young donor.

Appeal To Children

While the primary appeal was to children, toys and money have been flowing in from churches, youth groups and civic organizations. Local American Legion posts are aiding in the collection while distribution of the gifts abroad will be handled by the CARE organization.

Gifts may be shipped direct to the American Legion, pier 38 south, Philadelphia. Toys which are fragile or difficult to pack should be avoided, the Legion said.

Electrical playthings also are of little value because they cannot be used in many sections of Europe. And above all else, Legion officials warned, do not send any war toys—such as toy guns, tanks, planes or metal soldiers.

Car And Ambulance Collide In Lubbock

A Rix ambulance on an emergency run was in collision with an automobile about 12:50 p. m. today at Eighth and Ave. H, police said, but none was injured.

The ambulance, driven by P. C. Turpen, 22, of 1601 Thirteenth, was en route to the Tenth and Ave. C power plant of Southwestern Public Service company, where Bill Gryder, about 27, a line man, of 307 Temple Ave., had been injured by a falling A-frame. Later, at West Texas hospital, it was announced that Gryder, apparently not seriously injured, was getting x-ray examination. A leg bruise was the only apparent injury, his company announced.

F. D. Wilson, 71, of 611 Ave. N was driver of the car. He told H. W. Burdett and H. B. Hayes, police patrolmen, he stopped at a stop sign then started across the intersection. His window glasses were rolled up and he "didn't hear" the ambulance in time to avoid a crash, he said.

Safe At Dallas Club Looted Early Today

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP) — Safecrackers early today knocked the knob on a safe at the Sky-Vu club and its owner, Joe Bond, said $2,158 was taken.

It was in front of the Sky-Vu club that Lois Green, Dallas gangster, was shot to death Christmas eve.

Estate's Attorney Sues For Tax Refunds Of $33,000; Says $10 Bills Not "Money"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30. (AP)—Are those $10 bills in your pocket or the last Wallace Berry's cash box honest-to-goodness money?

Attorney Adrian Kragen for the Beery estate says they are not.

How does the man get that way? Listen to Kragen:

"If you look in the corner of what you call a $10 bill, but which is a Federal Reserve bank note, you will see that it says 'this note is legal tender for all debts, public and private, and is redeemable in lawful money at the United States treasury, or at any Federal Reserve bank.' Notice how it calls your ten-spot a 'note' and that it's 'redeemable in lawful money.'

"That's our whole point—it isn't money, it's a note. And notes, if they are taxed at all, should be taxed under the county's solvent credit classification, like accounts receivable or bank accounts, at only $1 a thousand instead of more than $5 a hundred."

The estate is demanding a refund of some $33,000 which Los Angeles county taxed the $670,000 in currency which Beery left in safety deposit boxes. The county took the orthodox view that it was money and levied a personal property tax of about $5.50 a $100.

Kragen says he'll carry the issue to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Double Slugs May Chase The Butterflies

Sure-Fire Cures Claimed For Hangovers From New Year's

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Almost everyone has a cure for a hangover. Each swears that his cure is sure fire.

Anyway, that's what I learned during a survey of various people in Washington and books in the Library of Congress.

A hotel manager showed me his New Year's day breakfast menu already printed. First item was a "hangover breakfast." It lists lobster stew, English muffins, and black coffee. A footnote in Italics suggests a "generous douse of vinegar on the stew."

Many of the remedies offered call for something alcoholic.

Egg In Your Beer

One bartender said a "sure cure" for chasing the butterflies is a pint of steaming hot broth, with a double slug of rye in it.

Another said if you wake up with your tongue feeling like an Oriental rug, try a raw egg in a tumbler of stale beer.

A society matron who often has overnight guests said she offers the bleary-eyed ones a jigger of rye with hot tomato juice for a chaser.

Another lady invented a concoction which she calls "nurse's aide." It's a fine thing, she vowed, and consists of two eggs beaten up in a large tumbler with the rest of the container filled with champagne.

A senator said that he never has a hangover if he remembers to drink a quart of milk before he hits the feathers. A congressman said that after a night out with the boys there is nothing like a bowl of onion soup seasoned with bitters.

There are many old remedies for keeping sober and preventing hangovers. The old New Englanders used to consume a few doles of butter before taking their first drink of an evening. Some people advocate drinking a pint of cream. Some claim they can keep sober and wake up with a clear noggin if they down a few ounces of olive oil before they set out.

A search through some old volumes in the Library of Congress revealed that man has been experimenting with things to relieve a big head for many, many years.

After a riotous celebration that followed the Battle of Hastings, William the Conqueror said:

"I care not who makes these barbarians' wine; send me the man who can remove the beehive from my overwrought brain."

Hair Of The Dog

The mention of "hair of the dog" or a morning drink appear frequently in the books.

The first such references is thought to be in Richard Surfelt's English translation of Liefault's "Maison Rustique." That was in 1616. It went like this:

"If the head complaine itself of too much drinke, there may be made a frontlet of wild time, roses or else to drink of the shavings of Hart's Horne with fountain or river water, or if you see that your stomach is not sicke, thou mayst take of the hair of the beast that hath made thee ill, and drink off a good glasse of wine."

Congratulations to:

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pittman of Plainview on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds at 4:08 a. m. today at Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Weathersby of 3707 Ave. R on birth of a daughter weighing six pounds, 6½ ounces at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday at West Texas hospital. The father is a carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker of Route 2, Anton, on birth of a daughter weighing six pounds, 11½ ounces at 8:05 p. m. Tuesday at West Texas hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McEntire of 2108 Indiana on birth of a son weighing seven pounds, 7½ ounces at 5:48 p. m. Thursday at West Texas hospital. The father is a barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Thompson of 1524 Twenty-sixth on birth of a daughter weighing six pounds at 12:40 a. m. today at West Texas hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Oldham of 1626 Ave. E on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds at 5:10 a. m. today at the residence; reported by Porter clinic-hospital. Oldham is employed by a spring and axle shop.

Dr. Travis White Luncheon Speaker

Dr. Travis White, pastor of First Christian church, today expressed hopes that the second half of the Twentieth century will be less troubled than was the first half at a luncheon meeting of the American Business club in the Hilton Hotel.

The clergyman then went on to say that two world wars and the worst depression in history "do not speak well for the first half of the century."

He recommended that citizens of the United States follow the pattern set by the Jews "who built a wall with use of one hand while guarding their rights with a weapon in their other hand."

Dr. White warned against the peril of Communism and asked for the strengthening of "our Christian way of life to produce men of moral backbones—not wishbones."

E. O. "Doc" Stewart introduced the minister. George Dale presided and John Austin gave the invocation.

A highlight of the meeting was the exchanging of ties between members.

of Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

"I think the report is a clear statement of the thinking upon which was based the maximum employment act of 1946", he said, referring to the act which set up the White House economic group as well as the joint congresional committee.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) was less certain.

"It's good to know that the report is encouraging to the free enterprise system," he said. "I certainly hope the President's messages reflect that viewpoint."

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Senate GOP conference, always cautious, said he was "studying the report as background but the real issues will come in the presidential messages."

The entire report stressed "the merits and responsibilities of free enterprise" and warned against "extremist doctrines" of Communism and Socialism.

Missing from it was the name of former chairman Edwin G. Norse, generally regarded as most conservative of the trio, who resigned recently and has not yet been replaced.

Nourse refused to testify before congressional hearings but Keyserling and Clark said in the report they saw no dangers or problems in aiding Congress while "occupying a confidential relationship to the President."

It was Nourse's thesis that the council should be professional and non-political and should not make recommendations to Congress. The Keysterling-Clark report proceeded to make some recommendations.

Among its points:

1. President Truman's forecast of a "300 billion dollar economy within a few years" will be reached if government and business continue to cooperate.

2. Additional methods must be found to improve the "productivity and incomes of low - income groups."

3. Government programs must be carefully tested to see if they "promote general stability and expansion, or rob Peter to pay Paul."

4. Agricultural programs, such as farm price-supports, should be "consistent with the need of urban consumer incomes."

5. There is room in America for both "well conducted big business and for small business."

a window by intruders to effect entry.

L. G. Wilhite, proprietor of a clothing store at 1211 Ave. G Thursday complained to police that two Latin-American women had taken $25 in cash from a strong-box in his store.

The women entered the place with several children, Wilhite said, and asked to look at some coats. The complaint stated he had left the room briefly and returned to find the people gone—along with three $5 bills and one $10 bill from the cash box.

R. P. Johnson of Shallowater informed officers here that an overcoat valued at $45 had been taken from his car parked in the 1000-block Fourteenth. The vehicle was not locked, he said.

Roosevelt Darty, 30, an Anderson county negro charged here recently with assault with intent to murder another negro, was delivered to county jail Thursday afternoon by Dep. Sheriff Gene Lewis. Lewis went to Athens to accept custody.

Texas Weather

discouraged freezing temperatures. At 5:30 a. m. the low reading was only 40 degrees at Guadalupe Pass. Dalhart, normally the Panhandle's icebox, was 43. In the Rio Grande valley before dawn, Brownsville reported 53 degrees.

Meanwhile, Lubbock's minimum temperature was a mild 49 degrees.

U. S. Shifting Naval Power

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The United States was reported today to be shaping a vigorous new policy—backed by a beefed-up Asiatic fleet—to block the spread of Communism in the Far East.

The Navy said the 27,000-ton, 45-plane aircraft carrier Boxer and two destroyers have been dispatched to strengthen the seventh task fleet based in the Philippines.

Announcement of this shift in naval power late yesterday followed a session between President Truman and his top military and diplomatic strategists. Members of the national security council wouldn't say what went on, but it is known that planners have prepared a blueprint on Asiatic policy for Mr. Truman's approval.

Shanghai Blocked

At the same time, the State department broadcast to U. S. shipping lines a warning from the Nationalist government of China that the approaches to Shanghai, the Chinese Communists' largest port, have been completely blocked by mines.

That brought a prompt response from H. J. Isbrandtsen, president of the Isbandtsen line. That company, practically the only one operating American ships in the area, has run into frequent trouble recently with Nationalist blockade ships.

Isbrandtsen said in New York he has wired Secretary of State Acheson asking that a "strong protest" be sent to the Nationalist government on the ground that mine-laying is a "clear breach" of American-Chinese treaties.

The Nationalists, led by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, now have their headquarters on the island of Formosa, not far from Okinawa.

Mission Favored

The new policy recommendations, said to have been prepared for Mr. Truman by the State and Defense departments, reportedly call for an American military mission to Formosa—a proposal which was offered separately in an interview by Senator Knowland (R-Calif).

Knowland said such a mission, even though "relatively small," would be invaluable in directing American military aid and in helping to train Chiang's troops.

Besides the provisions for a mission to Formosa, the policy blueprint was said to lay down lines of action around the whole Communist perimeter in Asia for Mr. Truman's consideration.

There was no indication how quickly a final decision might be made. Some authoritative informants said the President would like to have his main stop-Communism program blocked out before the session of Congress opening next week gets very far along.

Death Toll In Texas Mounts

(By The United Press)

Violent deaths over the lengthening Christmas-New Year's holiday period in Texas mounted to 117 today.

The latest total was divided between 54 traffic deaths, 14 killed in fires, two in a plane crash and 47 in miscellaneous incidents.

San Antonio chalked up its 45th traffic death of the year this morning when Mrs. Adelina Martinez, 52, died shortly after being struck by a hit-and-run car on a residential street.

Three Are Killed

Yesterday, three persons were killed at Sanger, two persons died of injuries received last weekend, and oilfield worker died and a young hunter was shot to death.

Mrs. Jake Keith; her daughter, Peggy, and Burl Taylor, a relative of the Keiths, were killed at Sanger when a passenger train hit their pickup truck.

Pastor Fatally Hurt

Rev. Grady M. Fellers, 42-year-old pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church in Brownwood, died in a Waco hospital of injuries received Christmas day when his car overturned near Oglesby.

Jesse McCauley, 36, died in El Campo after being shot by a night-watchman near a grocery store there Christmas eve.

A drilling cable snapped and struck Jack Gilbert Jones, 26, of Goodwell, Okla., near Morse, Texas, fatally injuring him.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Hollywood In '49 Did Best To Retain Zany Reputation

(Second Of Two-Part Series)

Hollywood Insanities of 1949:

Johnson

Monogram studio's preview of "Bomba, the Jungle Boy" for an audience of 20 monkeys. The monkeys sat there with their popcorn and crackerjack and I sat there with my large, economy-sized Air Wick. After the preview the film's producer, Walter Mirisch, nervously stopped me outside and asked:

"Did they show any signs of liking it?"

I assured him they voted it a four-banana picture.

Press agent Paul McNamara's campaign on David O. Selznick's "Portrait of Jennie." It wound up with an airplane towing a huge portrait of Jennifer Jones through the Southern California skies.

Ralph Edwards' fake premiere at a Hollywood Boulevard theater. A plumber, a carpenter and a housewife arrived in limousines and were interviewed over a lobby microphone. The searchlights and grandstands attracted as many fans as a legitimate premiere.

Press agent story of the year: As written:

"Ernest Meer, an ex-GI, is clicking big in Hollywood, decorating homes to fit the neurosis. Meer creates furniture to flatten frustrations, lounges to lick loneliness and cozy chairs to calm complexes. More over, Mr. Freud."

FINALLY TALKED

Confession of the year by Hollywood's highest paid actor, Humphrey Bogart:

"I used to get $40 a week pocket money but Baby talked me out of $20 so our business manager would let her have a full-time gardener. Don't tell anybody, but after I spend the $20 I write checks."

Comeback of the year: Gloria Swanson's return to the screen in "Sunset Boulevard." It's still Glorious Gloria. After 50 years, five husbands and three grandchildren, Gloria had to be "aged" to look 50. Grayer hair. Lines in her face. The studio insisted on it.

Gloria was indignant.

"Photograph me like I look," she said. The studio said she would look like 30. "Okay," said Gloria, finally, "make me look like 50. But I won't feel like it."

Premiere of the year: Hollywood's junket, by special train and chartered planes, to Houston, Texas, for the premiere of Glenn McCarthy's $20,000,000 Shamrock Hotel and his movie, "The Green Promise."

Dorothy Lamour's radio program was cut off the air during the riot of the Emerald Room. I still remember it as Johnson's Last Stand—the only time I wished I'd ordered a Mickey.

MAGNETIC APPEAL

Movie convention of the year: The Independent Theater Owners of America, who met in convention in Los Angeles. They were so busy previewing 38 new types of popcorn and candy vending machines that they didn't have time to see a single new movie.

Best underplayed scene of the year: Princess Aly Khan's reply to newspapermen in London when they asked her about her husband vacationing in Switzerland with Rita Hayworth.

Replied the princess:

"I wish they would leave the poor boy alone."

Unhappiest actress of the year: Jeanette MacDonald, after being voted "worst reincarnation" of the year by the Harvard Lampoon.

Best scene not in the script: While working in "Samson and Delilah," Vic Mature muffed some dialog and C. B. DeMille started to rant. Vic cooled him off with the remark:

"Take it easy, C. B. You can't replace me you know. Where else can you find anything this big that can talk."

Funniest scene of the year: Clifton Webb getting that bowl of mush in his face in "Sitting Pretty."

Most embarrassing moment: Esther Williams, walking along the street and being stopped by a woman who asked: "Aren't you Esther Williams?" Esther confessed she was and began fishing for her pen in anticipation of a request for her autograph.

Instead of asking for her autograph, the woman said: "You have a run in your stocking," and walked away.

Shelley Winters is doing a fan magazine story titled, "Monty Murders Me." She suffers her sixth movie death at Montgomery Clift's hands in "A Place in the Sun." Shelley is the girl all the boys love—to murder.

Grocery Firm Awards Buttons For Service

Managers of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico branches of the Waples-Platter grocery wholesale company were presented with buttons of service at a banquet in the Yaqui room of the Hilton Hotel Thursday night.

J. W. Shugart, vice-president and general sales manager, and D. A. Fielder of the Fort Worth office of the company received buttons for 50 years of service

Fred H. Rea of the Lubbock house was presented a 35-year service button. C. C. Files manager of the Lubbock office, received a 25-year award. He has been with the company for 26 years, but the awards were for periods of five years. Files will complete 25 years in Lubbock on Feb. 6.

The program for the meeting concerns work for the coming year, which company officials look to with optimism. The managers also reviewed work of this year in the meeting which began Thursday morning and will continue today.

The West Texas-Eastern New Mexico district of the company led in sales for the company again this year, it was announced at the meeting.

Shugart is in charge of the meeting and C. C. Braggans, general buyer, and Claude Ferbee, credit manager, of Fort Worth contributed to the program Thursday.

The Thursday afternoon program following the banquet Wednesday night concerned modern food merchandising problems. The men saw a film on food merchandising, having to do both with retail and wholesale selling.

The meeting will continue today, adjourning at 3 p. m. after a noon luncheon.

More than 60 officials of the company are attending the meeting from Amarillo, Clovis, Roswell, Odessa, Abilene, Vernon, Memphis, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

Sex Offender Denied Probation By Judge

BELVIDERE, Ill., Dec. 30. (AP)—George Frost, 34, convicted of raping a 13 years old girl, was denied probation yesterday and must serve a five year prison sentence.

Circuit Judge William M. Carroll said he would have considered probation if Frost were about 17 years old. But, he said, he could not consider probation in the case because of the ages of the defendant and the girl.

Frost was convicted by a jury Dec. 6 of raping Clara Jane Grelee last October. He was the first of 10 men to be tried on morals charges involving five tenn-age girls. The state charges the men, ranging in age from 17 to 24, bought the girls sodas at ice cream parlors and then took them to neighborhood fields and haymows. Clara Jane testified she was intimate with Frost in a field.

In winter the lynx grows tufts of hair on its feet that act as snowshoes.

Wider State Highway Urged By Delegation

A last-minute appeal for the widening of State Highway 51 from Andrews to Odessa was made by a two-county delegation before the State Highway commission in Austin Thursday, the Associated Press reported.

The delegation, from Ector and Andrews counties, was among 11 county groups asking for farm roads to be built jointly by county and state before the law governing such agreements goes out of effect Jan. 1. Under the plan, counties pay 75 per cent of costs and the state pays the remaining 25 per cent and provides maintenance.

No actual commitments were made by the highway commission, although it promised to study all requests.

Ector County Judge Raymon Stoker of Odessa led the two-co nty delegation in asking the widening of the Andrews-Odessa highway. They asked that their request be granted in an effort to relieve the hazardous conditions contributing to 163 traffic accidents and 10 deaths on the highway this year.

Other counties trying to get projects "under the wire" included Falls, Leon, Cass, Zavalla, Frio, Cherokee, Howard, Milam and Orange, the AP report said.

The weasel is yellowish brown in summer and white in winter when its fur is known as ermine.

Air Force Denies Rocket Ship Flew At 1,989 Miles Per Hour

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — The Air Force has denied a report that its experimental X-1 rocket plane has flown 1,989 miles an hour.

"Recent reports of specific speeds which have appeared in the press," it said in a statement late yesterday, "are not correct."

The report was printed by Marvin Miles, aviation editor of the Los Angeles Times. He said he had received it from "reliable informants" who had related that the needle-nosed little plane had made the flight over Muroc Dry Lake, Calif.

Military and aviation experts, commenting on Miles' story before the Air Force statement appeared, said the X-1 probably could reach such a speed. But they expressed doubt that the necessary engine changes could have been made in the relatively short time since the plane was reported to have flown 964 miles an hour.

That flight in excess of the speed of sound—which is about 663 miles an hour at high altitude — was made while the X-1 could stay aloft only two minutes. It was still picking up speed when its fuel ran out. New turbine fuel pumps will boost its flying time to four minutes.

The plane glides to a powerless landing after each flight.

The Air Force said it still is collecting performance data on the X-1 for use in building improved models.

For this reason, it said, "security considerations preclude specific announcements of speed."

Pilot Blamed In Air Crash

NED DELHI, Dec. 30. (AP)—An Indian government enquiry committee today reported that a pilot's error or judgment was the direct cause of the crash of the Dutch K. L. M. Constellation that killed 13 American news correspondents near Bombay July 12.

The 13 correspondents were among the 45 persons who died in the crash. They were returning from a tour of Indonesia.

The plane crashed into a hillside while attempting to land in bad weather. The pilot, said the enquiry committee's report, "committed an error of judgment in attempting to land on runway 23 by executing a circling procedure which put the aircraft back into a cloud."

Instead, said the report, the pilot should have asked "for holding or diversion instructions after he became aware of weather conditions prevailing at the airport by visual observations."

Causes Listed

At the Hague K. L. M. officials said they agreed in general with the Indian government report but had reservations on the wording of the statement.

As indirect causes of the crash the report listed:

Unfamiliarity of the crew with the terrain around the airport and "possible unawareness" by the pilot of height and location of the hills, or "temporary forgetfulness of their presence;"

Advice from air traffic control at the field to the plane to land on runway 23 and lack of advice to "hold" until the weather improved or to divert to another airport;

Lack of specific weather data for the Bombay airport by K. L. M.

The report said no evidence had been found to indicate a structural or mechanical failure. It said the wreckage had been examined by representatives of the Dutch and Indian governments, and the Lockheed and Wright aircraft companies.

The committee's report on the crash has been accepted by the government of India and agreed to by a representative of the director general of civil aviation of the Netherlands.

Actress Jean Parker Gets Divorce Decree

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 (INS)—Jean Parker, the stage and film actress, was awarded a divorce today from movie financial adviser Dr. Kurt Grotter after testifying that he was jealous and made "unfounded accusations."

The actress, whose testimony was corroborated by New York Actress Darin Jennings, charged that Grotter "nagged me night and day." She related:

"My husband even herded me about between matinee and evening performances and after the night show would keep me awake many hours with his false accusations."

She blamed Grotter for her three nervous breakdowns and loss of several film and stage ofiers. The actress' former mates were New York newsman George MacDonald and radio news caster Douglas Dawson.

Teen-Agers Of Year Selected

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 (INS) — Joan Evans, touted in many quarters as the movie teen-age discovery of the semester, today selected the outstanding teen-agers of 1946.

Joan, currently emoting in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Edge of Doom," peked a group ranging from royalty to a beauty contest winner. The ten include:

Princess Heads List

Princess Margaret Rose, "for her individuality."

Jackie Lee Barnes, of Albuquerque, N. M., "for winnng a national contest for the most beautiful 15-yearold cutie in the country."

Joseph Edward Nelson, of Chicago, "for his scholastic achievement."

(At 17 he is studying for his master's degree in mathematics, his entrance examinations at the University of Chicago having proved him worthy of a bachelor's degree.)

The teen-age group at Topeka junior high school in Topeka, Kan., who started a movement to raise $75,000 needed to build a children's polio wing to the local hospital.

Houston Votes Today On Annexation Issue

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Houston voters are deciding today if they want to annex 79 miles of land with an estimated 110,000 residents.

A light vote is expected.

If the proposed annexation ordinance is approved it becomes effective tonight. The city council already has approved the ordinance on two readings.

Mayor Oscar Holcombe and city councilmen began the annexation proceedings a year ago but the original plans had to be changed because of conflicts with territory claims posted by several nearby towns.

BOND VOTE SET

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Residents of Harris county will vote Jan. 2 on a $7,500,000 county improvements bond issue. At the same time Houston voters will consider a $1,500,000 bond issue for a new central police station and city jail.

GREAT MEN OF 50 YEARS CHOSEN

Lubbock Residents Name FDR As Most Influential Person

Franklin Delano Roosevelt made the greatest impact on the lives of the persons living in the first half of the twentieth century, or at least as far as Lubbockites are concerned, a survey here has shown.

For the last two weeks staff members of The Avalanche-Journal have conducted a survey in Lubbock by means of telephone and personal interviews to see which ten personalities in the world have affected more people in the last 50 years.

Adolf Hitler was a good second place winner, proving that those interviewed took seriously the comment that the impact made by the personalities could be for either good or evil.

Winston Churchill barely edged Joe Stalin out of the third place spot, moving the Russian leader down to the number four post.

The other ten selected by the residents of the city for their prominence in world affairs thus far in the century were:

5. Woodrow Wilson
6. Thomas A. Edison
7. Mussolini
8. Mahatma Gandhi
9. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower
10. Albert Einstein

Personalities gaining votes, but not enough to include them within the ranks of the top ten, were Nikolai Lenin and Karl Marx, Communism's early luminaries; Henry Ford, Guglielmo Marconi, the Wright brothers, inventors; Dr. Alexander Fleming and Madame Curie, scientists; master thinkers Dr. Oppenheimer and Sigmund Freud; national heroes Will Rogers and Charles Lindbergh;

Soldiers and military leaders Marshal Tito, Chiang Kai Shek, Gen, J. Pershing, Kaiser Wilhelm and Gen. George Patton; famous women Sister Kenny, Mary Baker Eddy and Eleanor Roosevelt; religious personalities Jesus Christ and Pope Pius XII; writers George Bernard Shaw and Will James; politicians John Dewey, Herbert Hoover and Wendell Willkie; labor leader John L. Lewis; gangster Al Capone; financier J. P. Morgan; and ruler Hirohito.

Many Lubbockites cast votes for Jesus Christ, explaining that His presence here on earth in the last 50 years has been just as real as that of any human being.

Named On Most Polls

Most of the people selecting President Roosevelt for the number one spot justified their choice by saying that he lifted the depression-ridden citizens of this country back onto the road to prosperity and because of his major role in fighting the world-wide powers of evil during the last war. Roosevelt was only omitted from five ballots and usually held a high position on the lists of all of those interviewed.

The reasons for selecting Hitler for the second most influential personality of the period was because he typified the dangerous leaders of the "ism" variety and plunged the world into its most dreadful war.

Winston Churchill was named third, voters said, because he was an early prophet of the Nazi menace and because of his leadership during the war.

Voters were also asked to name the biggest personalities of Texas during the first part of this century. Tom Connally, dean of the United States Senate, was the first place winner by a wide margin. W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas governor and senator for many years, was second choice. John Nance Garner, former vice-president of the United States, was third.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, present speaker of the House, was the number four choice and Jim Ferguson, controversial Texas governor, was number five.

Others nominated by voters were Jesse Jones, Ma Ferguson, Homer Rainey, W. C. Post, Admiral Nimitz, James A. Hogg, George W. Truett and Amon G. Carter.

Those polled in the election included in person and over the phone teachers, students, farmers, housewives, salesmen, oil field workers, carpenters, machinists, store owners, Air Force personnel, policemen, government employes, laborers andd professional men.

Those interviewed by telephone were selected at random from the city phone directory.

The students at Texas Tech in general leaned more toward current political figures such as Roosevelt, Stalin and Hitler, while their professors were more apt to consider men of the past like Wilson and Wilhelm.

The older men and women also seemed to feel that men of the first part of the century had more impact than those of the last 25 years.

Male interviewees were more forward and definite with opinions than were the women.

UNION-BARGAINED PLANS FLIMSY

Federal Controls Sought For Regulating Old-Age Pensions

By STERLIN F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The administration nods unspoken approval of labor's headlong rush for privately bargained old age pensions. But many officials today have misgivings.

Some think it is time to frame a national policy, in terms like these:

1. That some standards for pensions should be applied to all workers—a standard at least based on the needs of the worker more than on the sheer power of his union to bend the employer to its will.

Regulation Talked

2. That if, as seems likely, potent new econor ic forces are being turned loose by the piling-up of huge private pension reserves, the government should at least know their probable impact on the national goals of constantly rising production and standards of living.

Already some agencies are considering whether the government should not regulate, or at least inspect, the hastily-planned pension plans sprouting in every corner of industry.

They suspect that some flimsy built, single-company plans may collapse in times of business stress. That would leave the workers with disillusion, instead of old age security.

More Benefits Sought

Meantime the federal social security system, still geared to the "basic minimum" needs of an elderly person during the depression, has started to move forward.

And when Congress sets up shop again next week, labor won't be alone in the push for bigger social security pensions. A large section of industry will be in there quietly pushing too.

The reason is obvious. The current fashion in private-industry plans is for the company to foot the whole bill or most of it. In the federal system, workers and management split the cost equally.

To Broaden Coverage

Congress is expected to approve an enlargement of social security benefits roughly in proportion to next Sunday's boost in the social security payroll tax. It goes up 50 per cent, from 1 per cent to 1½ percent on employers and workers alike.

The coverage of social security may be broadened to cover 11,000,000 more persons, bringing the total of protected workers to 46,000,000.

The union drive has raised this question: Should 8,000,000 workers (the number estimated covered by private pension plans) receive relatively high pensions which are paid out of the cost of the goods which 60,000,000 workers buy?

$100 Pensions Talked

Republican Senator Taft is proposing that Congress study the "feasibility" of $100 pensions for all 65-year-olds, says: "If a steelworker is entitled to a pension of $100 a month, why not a waiter?"

Privately, officials state unanimously that the government is bound to favor any achievement of workers in bettering their economic status.

Some of the government's top economists are concerned right now about this prospect: that in 1950, when more companies have figured out what pensions will cost them, there will be a wave of price increases.

Arguments Differ

And that this wave may come about the time that industry is facing a moderate deflation, with the result that sales fall off and the mild decline becomes a real downspin.

Not that labor's pension demands are any more inflationary that wage demands. They are less so, because they don't put ready spending money in the workers' pocket.

An opposite view is held by many. They point out that pensions, by improving the buying power of retired citizens, will be a boost for business. Also, that to stabilize the income of this large section of the public will lessen the chance for wide swings of inflation and depression.

Verdict Awaited In Inquest At Abilene

ABILENE, Dec. 30. (AP)—An inquest verdict is expected today in the death of Mrs. Harrietta Johnston, 36, Abilene nurse, who was found dead at her apartment home here Wednesday.

Sheriff H. T. Fleming said a scarf was knotted tightly around her neck. Her husband, Davie J. Johnston, told officers he found her body on the floor of the kitchen.

Two Sisters Journey To Mexico To Become Bullfighters

Successful Lobbying In State Legislature Highest Achievement Of Texas Women In '49

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Man's world grew smaller in 1949.

Women moved into new fields to conquer, and Texas women were in the fore.

Two sisters from Jolleyville near Austin chucked their jobs in Austin and Houston and gallivanted off to Mexico to seek their fortune—in bullfighting.

Now every day Essie and Winnie George, 19 and 22 years old, twirl their capes practicing in a Mexica City bullring.

Stage Grid Game

Up in the Panhandle the girls got down to the serious business of football. Put on their second powder puff bowl game with few of the frills and lots of know-how.

Down in Austin the women showed the men a few things about lobbying in the state legislature.

School teachers in their Sunday clothes packed the galleries by the hundreds, cornered the legislators and got the Gilmer-Aiken school reorganization bills passed.

Less in number but no less successful were the women from the Texas League of Women Voters. They practically lived in the capitol until they got two bills passed—a more secret ballot and a change in the juvenile court procedure.

WCTU Unsuccessful

Less successful were the Business and Professional Women's clubs and the Women's Christian Temperance union. The women lobbyists for the B&PW got the proposed constitutional amendment allowing women to serve on juries passed in the legislature. But the voters of Texas turned it down in the November election.

The WCTU wanted stricter liquor control laws. But they failed. Undaunted, state WCTU president, Mrs. Claude De Van Watts of Austin, said they would keep on fighting toward their goal of prohibition in Texas.

Three women served in the state legislature — State Senator Mrs. Neveille Colson of Navasota, Rep. Rae Files Still of Waxahachie and Rep. Persis Henderson of Groesbeck.

Woman Scout Quits

Arthritis took Mrs. Roy Largent, 66, of McKinney from a man's world—baseball scouting. She was a scout for the Chicago White Sox for 18 years. The Dallas baseball team honored her at a game at Rebel stadium in Dallas Aug. 21.

Down in Central Texas Mrs. H. E. Harton of Briggs, weighing only 105 pounds, was out pounding the beat, calling square dances. Out near Junction Mrs. Fally Loeffler, 33 years old, was doing the same thing.

Temple women took their annual night out, left the dishes and the children's homework with papa and went to the annual everywoman's party around Thanksgiving.

And just to show that Texas women may stray into new fields to conquer but still know how to make a home—

Mrs. Pearle Owens Gillis of Fort Worth was named U. S. mother of the year by the Golden Rule foundation of New York. Entries were from over the entire nation.

MEET THE MANAGER—George A. Jacks, manager of Western Roofing and Supply company, 605 Twenty-seventh, was born in Ellis county, Okla., July 10, 1912. He went to high school at Arnett in that county, graduating in 1931. He had been raised on a farm and ranch, and in 1933 he went to Amarillo to attend business college. He worked for Ellwood Estates here beginning in July, 1935. In 1942 he went into the Army Air Corps, serving 18 months in this country and 18 months in the European theater of operations, attached to the First Army part of the time. He returned to Lubbock and on Jan. 26, 1949, became manager of the firm, owned by W. E. Kenney. Single, Mr. Jacks lives at 1410 Main street. He is a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars. His hobbies are football, hunting and fishing. (Staff Photo).

TEXAN TO RETIRE

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—T. J. Arnold, general attorney for the American Republics Corp. here for the past 10 years, has announced he will retire, effective Sunday. He is a native of Henderson.

India Approves Chinese Reds

NEW DELHI, Dec. 30. (AP)—India today recognized the Chinese Communist government and said diplomatic relations with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime would cease immediately.

Premier Jawaharlal Nehru's government thus became the first member of the British commonwealth—and the second country outside the Soviet orbit—to accept Mao Tze-tung's Communist regime as the legal government of the vast Asiatic nation.

India's next-door neighbor and former sister in the British colonial empire, Burma, also has recognized the Peiping government and turned her back on Chiang Kai-shek.

Others To Follow

Great Britain and her dominions are expected to take similar action, probably after the conference of commonwealth foreign ministers which opens Jan. 9 in Colombo, Ceylon.

There was no explanation immediately forthcoming of why India preceded the other commonwealth countries in proclaiming recognition. But informed sources gave these three reasons for the recognition itself:

1. The Communist government controls practically the whole of China.

2. There was no evidence that the mass of the Chinese people was opposed to the Communist regime.

3. The new government had agreed to abide by its international obligations.

Cary Grant's New Wife Thinks Babies Should "Just Happen"

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30—Betsy Drake, bright new bride of Cary Grant, says their family will "just happen."

In her first interview since the Christmas day wedding, the pixy young actress said she was baffled by the usual question to newlyweds: "Do you plan to have a family?"

"How do you plan those things?" she replied. "After all, that matter is actually in other hands.

No Plans Needed

"Besides I think it is bad to plan to have a large family or to plan not to have one. I think those things should just happen. I think it would be very depressing for one to know that he was a planned baby. That's so cold and unromantic."

Mrs. Grant is back at work in "Pretty Baby" after a one-day vacation. "But we're having a honeymoon anyway," she smiled. She indicated a full-fledged honeymoon appears doubtful for many months, since Grant starts a picture Jan. 3.

The bride admitted that the wedding party's dash to Arizona was hectic, but said she preferred that to a big splashy affair.

The actress couldn't recall when Cary popped the question. "We discussed it for a long time—whether we should or shouldn't." Did he ask her father for her hand? "Of course not!" replied the actress, who is free, white and 26.

Motion Picture Herald, a movie trade paper, has polled U. S. film exhibitors for their list of the top moneymaking stars of 1949. The selections, in order: Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Abbott and Costello, John Wayne, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Betty Grable, Esther Williams, Humphrey Bogart, Clark Gable.

NEWS EVENTS OF 1949 IN PICTURE REVIEW

BERLIN BLOCKADE ENDS — Crowds line highway as first convoy takes off from Helmstedt for Berlin when Soviet Russia's blockade of arteries from the west was broken May 11.

THE VEEP AND BRIDE—Vice President Alben W. Barkley and his bride, the former Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, cut their wedding cake after their November marriage in St. Louis.

TORONTO TRAGEDY — One of the year's major tragedies was the burning of the steamship Noronic at its Toronto pier, September 6. The blaze brought death to more than 100 persons.

RESCUE EFFORT — A doctor is hoisted into the tube for a 95-foot drop in an attempt to rescue little Kathy Fiscus, found dead in April in an abandoned well at San Marino, Cal.

CARDINAL TRIED —Cardinal Josef Mindszenty appears apprehensive during trial in February at Budapest on charges of treason, espionage and black market activities.

WINTER'S WESTERN GRIP — A relief train with two locomotives and a plow bucks drifts between Sterling, Colo., and Cheyenne, Wyo., during February's record snowfall in the West.

STORY-BOOK WEDDING—International romance came to a fabulous climax on the French Riviera in May when actress Rita Hayworth became bride of Indian Prince, Aly Khan.

COW MAKES NEWS — Assisted by co-owner Bill Mach (right) and veterinary L. J. Crump, Grady, the cow, escapes from her prison in a silo on the Mach farm, Yukon, Okla., Feb. 26.

ROYAL TOURIST— Princess Margaret of Great Britain, a grownup girl in her own right, often was in the limelight during the year, even visiting the Continent.

CHINA PRESIDENT — Dr. Li Tsung-Jen, Acting President of Nationalist China, arrives at LaGuardia Field, New York Dec. 7, on visit to United States for medical checkup.

GRIM LEWIS — John L. Lewis was in the headlines almost daily but his features rarely were more graphically pictured than in this November 9 Chicago appearance when he reversed his normal "no contract no work" policy by ordering miners back to pits temporarily.

AFTER MIDAIR COLLISION — Rescue workers carry body from Potomac River, Washington, November 1, following collision in air between a fighter plane and Eastern Airliner.

CONVICTED — Henry Winston (left) and Eugene Dennis are escorted by Marshal Mulcahy (right) from Federal Court, N.Y., after they and nine other Communists were convicted in October of conspiracy to teach overthrow of U. S. government by force.

FIVE PER CENT STORY — Chin in hand, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughn listens intently to testimony in "five per cent" investigation before a Senate committee, Washington, in August.

The PLAINSMAN

FIRST thing you know it's going to be New Year's Day again, so it might be a pertinent idea to look into the general subject, to find out what's what.

January 1 has been generally accepted as New Year's Day only since 1582, when a majority of nations decided to string along with the Gregorian calendar. Prior to that year, the day had been variously celebrated on four earlier and a couple of later dates.

However, the Gregorian calendar was not the first to put New Year Day on January 1. The Julian calendar, previously the "official," originally made January 1 New Year's Day by order of Julius Caesar. But some years following his reign, the date was changed and didn't get back to January 1 until 1582.

The Egyptians, Phoenicians and Persians, when they were the big dogs of the earth, used to celebrate New Year's Day enthusiastically, but at the autumnal equinox, September 21, rather than on January 1. The Greeks, when they ruled the known world, used December 21, until the fifth century before Christ, to wish each other a Happy New Year.

Before J. Ceasar first hit on January 1, the Romans—apparently due to the prior Greek influence—also employed December 21 as New Year's Day.

In early mediaeval days, most Christians used March 25 as the first day of the year, but in Anglo-Saxon England our present Christmas date of December 25 was New Year's Day. But after the Norman conquest, William the Conqueror picked January 1 for his coronation day and, at the same time, told the peons that from there on out that would be New Year's Day, too.

THE JEWS have always reckoned their civil New Year's Day as the first day of the Hebrew month of Tishri, which month coincides with the Gregorian calender's September 6-October 5 dates. But their ecclesiastical year begins on March 21, coincidental with Spring equinox.

It is very probable that early peoples for several centuries both before and after Christ used various dates within their own national borders. However, there are so few records available for the ages prior to Christ's birth that it is impossible to know for certain which nations and tribes observed which dates, and why.

New Year's Day as we know it was changed considerably in observance since the days of the early Christians. Then people observed the day as a religious holiday, spending the hours in meditation and fasting.

The meditation and fasting, however, opened up the way for New Year's Eve as we know it.

The early people, knowing that January 1 would be spent in fasting and meditating, ate and drank more prior to midnight on the day before New Year's and, resultantly, had "whooped it up."

Thus New Year's Eve has becomes today a period generally viewed as a time for letting down the hair.

THE custom of serving punch, or drinks, to visitors on New Year's Eve started with the early Saxons.

They used to whip up a bowlful of hot spiced ale, or wine, to be served to visitors on New Year's Eve—prior to the fasting of the next day—and as they ladled out the drinks would holler "Wass Hael," meaning "to your health." Thus was born not only the wassail bowl, but also the acceptance of the word "wassail" as meaning "making merry," especially at holiday time.

The custom of "wassailing" spread to the Scotch and then they added another feature. After toasts were drunk, Scotch families used to go "first footing."

Armed with flasks, buns, bread and cheese, etc., they'd make New Year's Eve calls on their friends. First one to set foot in a friend's house was supposed to give the friend some of the food and drink in order to assure that the friend would have plenty throughout the year to come.

BY DREW PEARSON: ACHESON AND JOHNSON DOING A-1 JOBS IN PRESIDENT'S CABINET

Defense Secretary Steps On Toes Of Many People

PEARSON

Actually there have been differences of opinion between them on three important policies, but both men are now leaning over backward to get along with each other. The three policies are: 1) sending a steel mill to Yugoslavia, which Johnson opposed but Acheson favored; 2) Occupying Formosa with U. S. troops, which Johnson favored but Acheson opposed; 3) General American policy in the Far East, where Johnson believes the United States should have vigorously supported Chiang Kai-shek.

Acheson has particularly resented Johnson's barging into the Far Eastern situation; and the belief has been expressed around the State department that Johnson's interference could not be entirely divorced from his law firm which once represented the brothers-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek and the Soong dynasty.

Argument Over Airplanes

One small part of the Johnson-Acheson irritation came when the secretary of defense balked at giving the secretary of state a special White House plane to fly to the big three foreign ministers conference last November.

Acheson wanted the "Dew-Drop," the de luxe liner which the Air Force had built for "President" Dewey. But Johnson refused on the ground that the President's special plane, the "Independence," was en route to Iran to bring back the shah, and that Mr. Truman wanted the Dew-Drop" kept in the United States in case of emergency.

Johnson offered his cabinet colleague the President's one-time plane, the "Sacred Cow," but the Sacred Cow does not make as much speed as the Independence or the Dew-Drop. So, without arguing any further with the secretary of defense, the secretary of state quietly rented a special plane from American airlines.

This cost the taxpayer around $12,000 and was the first time a cabinet member has rented a special plane, since Air Force planes are available at considerably less cost.

SHORTLY after Acheson returned from Europe, Walter Winchell broadcast an item that Washington in 1950 would not be big enough for both Acheson and Johnson.

Acheson didn't know anything about the broadcast—until 9 a. m. next day, when he got a phone call from Johnson asking if he could come over to see him right away. Acheson agreed; and Johnson, arriving a few minutes later, asked:

"Did you hear what Walter Winchell said last night?"

Acheson hadn't, but thought it was interesting that the secretary of defense should go to so much trouble to say that he had nothing to do with inspiring the broadcast.

As a matter of fact, if either of the men departs, it will probably be Johnson—not because he isn't doing a good job; he is. But he has occasionally stepped on Truman's toes.

Johnson's Double Job

Johnson is doing one of the most difficult jobs ever tackled by any administration—pruning the military budget and at the same time putting across unfication. Cracking Army-Navy heads together is difficult enough and contributed to the death of his predecessor. But simultaneously cutting the budget is bound to make any cabinet secretary of defense unpopular inside the government.

However, Johnson, in his zeal to get things done, doesn't always clear his appointments with either the Democratic national committee or the White House secretariat. On major appointments, he clears with the President himself, but he goes over the heads of the men around Truman to do this, and they don't like it.

Result has been a steady trickle of well-placed anti-Johnson venom in the President's ear. This, plus perhaps the fact that Truman may see a 1952 presidential rival in the dynamic secretary of defense, explains why he dropped the remark to intimates that someday he's going to "get rid of that so-and-so."

Truman, however, has been known to fly off the handle and then forget about it.

Meanwhile, Johnson is doing one of the best jobs in the cabinet, and would not be easy to replace. So also is Acheson. And as of the present moment they seem to have climbed out of each other's hair and put aside their differences.

CORRECTION: A recent column may have been unfair to Stephen Downey of Sacramento in linking him with his brother, Sen. Sheridan Downey of California. The fact is that Stephen Downey is an able liberal; and, unlike his senatorial brother, fights for his convictions . . . Just received from Sidney Hyman, Washington, D. C., a letter which reads: "I've just read your column about toys for the kids of Europe, including the German children. I have no love for their parents. Some of them wiped out every member of my own family in Europe; others among them were on the other side of the line when I was at the Kasserine pass, at Cassino and Anzio. But I agree wholeheartedly with the thesis you advance in your column and am grateful that something remains of your backsliding Quaker conscience so that you still can advance such a thesis. Since I have no children of my own, and thus will have no opportunity to salvage toys from any after-Christmas shambles, I am enclosing this check to buy new ones. Would you be so good as to attach any name to the gift you think wise. You might simply say, America."

Firm Spending $5 Million On Hawaii Nut-Growing Project

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 30—About five years from now the nut-and-raisin bowl on most holiday boards will include a plump, crisp specimen of nut, flavored somewhere between a brazil and an almond, called macadamia. It is available on the mainland now, but at about $3.50 a pound, or roughly 10 cents a nut, and is deemed generally too dear for plebeian purchase.

RUARK

Reason I mention five years is that I have just looked at about five million bucks worth of experiment, based on the bet that Americans will like this nut, an Australian export that is more capricious than a red-headed actress, and twice as hard to tame. It is a fascinating example of modern farming.

Back in 1920, one outfit blew about a million dollars trying to get this nut to grow. The firm of Castle & Cooke is back now, after a breather, with some more hunch money and considerable more know-how. This know-how was made possible by the Seabees, the airplane, and the orchid industry.

Cramped For Space

The Hawaiian islands are exceedingly cramped for vailable lands on which to practice their top industry, which is agriculture. The island chieftains have been prowling around for some way to utilize the jungles which grog lushly from "A-A" lava, a rocky volcanic substance on which only certain plant growths thrive. It looks as if the macadamia nut one day may run a close third in importance to sugar and pineapple.

Some 3000 acres of tangled jungle have just been bought by Castle & Cooke, after the area was charted according to vegetation by aircraft. This survey was so precise that as little as 10 feet mark the margin between desirable and undesirable soils.

Using huge bulldozers and Seabee techniques, they are clearing and planting this jungle at the rate of 20 acres a month, or about 14,000 trees a year. All vegetation save the stone-hard ohia tree is left to rot for compost; the ohia is burnt and the ashes used.

The macadamia is a temperamental nut, as mentioned. It will only grow on certain soils, and it won't take wind. So a special project of planting Norfolk pines as windbreakers is necessary. The nut is tender; it cannot be allowed to fall on the lumpy lava in which it grows. So a vast grass project is underway, to find a cushion for the nut to drop on, but which will not grow so high as to make finding the nuts difficult.

IT IS necessary to coddle the trees in their early growth with a special compost. After much experiment it was decided that orchids—the kind that cost a lover $5 or $10 a copy—were ideal as food for the baby trees. These orchids are rejects from Flowers of Hawaii, Ltd., and it is not unusual to see a huge truck lumber up to the fields completely filled with orchids. Three or four hundred thousands of these blooms may be scattered on a single nut orchid at one time—a fantastic sight when you consider how much they slug you at the florist's.

Scratching holes in the lava for planting by hand was considered impossible; a special machine was invented for the purpose. Manpower could only dig four holes an hour; the machine drills 27. Building roads and running electricity and water into the jungle were staggering feats of mechanized labor which would have been impossible before the war.

Harvest Not Problem

It will be a good five years before the firm sells a single nut, so they are not fretting too hard about how to harvest the crop. Special experiments are running at the University of Hawaii to develop a harvester along the lines of a vacuum cleaner, to pluck the nuts from the trees. By that time about $5 million will have been invested on a scientific hunch.

It is already estimated that more foot pounds of energy have been sunk into the macadamia project than were expended in the building of the biggest pyramids, and there is a constant running battle against nature fasinating to behold. This is modern farming, children—and right now the farmers aren't even sure that America will cotton to the crop.

NEW OIL PROCESS

Research workers in Hydera bad State, India, have developed a new process for using castor oil instead of linseed oil in making paints and varnishes — which may be significant to Hyderabad, as it produces 85 per cent of India's castor seed.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

AMERICANS have 10 common failings, says an educator. We may argue about some of the 10 faults he claims are common to Americans. But we can't talk ourselves out of his number eight accusation: "We are unprepared for family life. Men and women don't know how to get along together."

MILLETT

That's a sad but true fact, which our divorce rate serves to underline.

What's the trouble? Why don't the men and women in this country know how to get along together?

I think it is because both men and women have been brought up without the proper respect for each other's jobs.

That can result only in both the husband and the wife feeling misunderstood and unappreciated.

POP MUST PITCH IN

MAMA is convinced that Papa's life in the business world is not only easier than her job at home, but that it holds far more glamor. So she expects Papa to come home at night and pitch in and help her with whatever jobs are left to do, or at least agree with her that she leads a hard life. If he doesn't, she thinks he is a mighty poor husband.

On the other hand, Papa thinks Mama has it easy. Because he isn't home to see what she does all day long and because he has never had to handle all of the various problems and odd jobs that daily confront the homemaker he has an idea that her job is a snap. When a husband asks: "What did you do all day, Honey?" he really hasn't any idea. But if his wife sat down and told him, he would think she was complaining.

And so both Mama and Papa carry small chips on their shoulders.

When either one admits of being tired or of having had a hard day the other thinks "YOU'RE tired! What about ME?"

And that chip-on-the-shoulder attitude is evidenced throughout the husband-wife relationship.

A NEW PAGE IN HISTORY

A good many years probably will have to elapse before there can be any pretense of a correct evaluation of the historical importance of the creation of the Indonesian Republic.

If the designation merely is intended as a disguise for continued Dutch overlordship, then the birth of the pretended new government will have little significance.

But the prospects appear encouraging that an event of great historical and humanitarian importance has occurred within the past week. The Dutch undoubtedly will and should serve in the "big brother" role to the new nation for an indefinite period. They may find it necessary to intervene on occasions to quite internal disturbances, as the U. S. did in Cuba following the liberation of that little nation from Spain.

Unless and until actions prove to the contrary, the Dutch are entitled to credit for furthering a magnificent example by making possible for the Indonesians the self-rule which should be the right of all people everywhere.

COMEDIAN NOSES OUT HIS PAL

Bob Hope Is Ruler Of The Box Office

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30. (AP)—Bing's no longer king.

Crosby, after an unprecedented five years as movie box-office ruler, has been deposed by the heir apparent, his companion over many a gag-strewn movie road and divot-pocked golf course—Bob Hope.

Hope went to the top of the heap in the 1949 Motion Picture Herald survey of the nation's theater owners. It marks the comedian's first trip to the throne room, although he has been knocking on the door some time.

Ninth Appearance

This is Hope's ninth appearance in the first 10 on the annual trade paper audit. He was second in 1943, his closest, and fifth last year.

Crosby wound up second this time, his 10th trip to the inner circle.

At a late hour last night, both Hope, Crosby and their gag writers were at a loss for words. In their files, apparently, C always comes ahead of H.

Two other gents just as close—Abbott and Costello—finished third in the shekel derby.

Biggest leap was credited to John Wayne, who came from nowhere to fourth place on the strength of several strong roles. Behind him, in order, the top ten included: 5—Gary Cooper, 6—Cary Grant, 7—Betty Grable, 8—Esther Williams, 9—Humphrey Bogart, and 10—Clark Gable.

Grable Legs Skid

The famed Grable legs skidded from the second rung in 1948's poll. It was the first appearance on the list for Miss Williams. The 11th for Cooper.

If your favorite still isn't here, look in the list of the next 15: James Stewart, Randolph Scott, Red Skelton, Clifton Webb, Loretta Young, June Allyson, Alan Ladd, Roy Rogers, Dan Dailey, Olivia De Havilland, Robert Mitchum, Claudette Colbert, Gregory Peck, Spencer Tracy and Jane Wyman.

In the strictly western field, Roy Rogers was the top "draw" with Gene Autry, Gabby Hayes, Tim Holt and William Elliott rounding out the first five.

British exhibitors rated Anna Neagle their top attraction, with Michael Wilding second ahead of Hope, Danny Kaye and Crosby in the international balloting.

Here Hope was two notches up on Bing.

Ah, box office, where is thy Bing?

SAFE FOR BABIES — Mrs. Patricia Capella, 26, Detroit-born dancer, cabled five world leaders asking them to get together and make the world safe so she can have babies. She said she and other married women would like to have babies but are afraid of a forthcoming war and that "our children will be used as cannon fodder." She is married to Jacques Capella, a French classical dancer. Her cables were sent to President Truman, Pope Pius XII, Premier Stalin, King George and French President Vincent Auriol. # Four Hurt In Haskell Blast

Store Rocked By Explosion

HASKELL, Dec. 30 (AP)—"All of a sudden the floor seemed to raise up . . . and parts of the building came tumbling down from everywhere."

That is the way a witness described a mysterious explosion which rocked the Hassen department store here late yesterday, injuring four persons.

Damage Is Heavy

The property damage is estimated at more than $35,000.

The blast took place as Shahir Hassen, about 60, the store owner; his son, Rajah, about 20, and two women clerks were closing the store for the day.

The father was knocked unconscious and suffered possible internal injuries. The son had severe burns on his face, arms and hands. Mrs. Marvin H. Hancock, about 50, a clerk, was knocked unconscious and received a fractured left leg, a possible jaw fracture, and cuts on her hands and face.

Mrs. Lucille Clifton, about 35, escaped with minor injuries.

Occurred In Basement

Fire Marshal Marion Reeves said the blast occurred in the basement of the two-story structure. It raised the floor of the store, shattered all glass show cases inside, blew out the store front, cracked an eight-inch sidewalk, and shattered glass windows a half block away.

Reeves said last night that the cause of the explosion had not been determined. He said there was no sign of fire after the blast, and no smell of gas.

Mrs. Clifton said she and Mrs. Hancock were standing near the center of the store.

"All of a sudden," she said, "the floor seemed to raise up and merchandise and fixtures and parts of the building came tumbling down from everywhere."

Thomas B. Roberson had just walked past the store and the flying debris narrowly missed him. He said he ran into the wrecked building to find Mrs. Clifton still standing. He dug Mrs. Hancock from under debris which covered her.

Burglars Work Hard To Get Empty Safe

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30 (U.P.)—Burglars who carted off a 400-pound safe from a second floor gymnasium in the West End here got a workout.

To enter the place, the thieves had to climb to an adjoining one-story roof and then remove iron bars imbedded in the brick wall about the window of the gymnasium. They pushed the safe across the floor, hoisted it out the window to the roof from which they loaded it into a machine and drove off with it.

The safe, not yet recovered, was empty.

Law Enforcement In Longview Is Scored

LONGVIEW, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—District court Judge Earl Roberts was expected to act today on a grand jury report that white slavery and prostitution are practiced in Longview because of a lack of law enforcement.

The Gregg county grand jury turned its report over to Judge Roberts yesterday, demanding an investigation of vice in the East Texas town.

The report criticized "a lack of supervision" of local taxicab companies and said most Longview crime was "connected with taxi drivers."

THE QUESTION

What do you think would be a good new year's resolution for anyone to make this year?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. JOHN T. ASHFORD, 1912 Twenty - First, housewife: "I think that most of us would be better off if we would take a more active interest in being American citizens. If we don't, we won't have a democracy very long. I think that we should all resolve to take an active interest in our government this year."

ROBERT A. HILL, JR., 2709 Twenty - Third, manager of Household Supply: "I think that we should all try to be more considerate of people moving to Lubbock this year, since West Texas is noted for its hospitality. I think that this should apply especially to the army personel."

R. A. PENDERGRASS, 4206 Av. P, manager of Sunset Motor Lines: "I think that we should all resolve to take a more active part in voting for the leaders of our community, state and national governments. We should investigate them thoroughly and try to pick ones that we think will do our country the most good."

SHIP IS LAUNCHED

France's first launching in La Seyna area since the war was the recent one of the 2,000-ton Ville de Marseille, to carry 980 passengers on the North African run.

L. Z. BRIDGEMAN, 4514 Ave. G, sales representative Sunset Motor Lines: "I would say that we should all try to get along better with the foreign countries this year, and try to co-operate with them. I believe that if we would do this, we would have less trouble with them."

MRS. FRANK ROGERS, Littlefield, housewife: "I think that we should all begin at home first and become interested and acquainted in the affairs of the community in which we live and then progress to state and national affairs. I think if we would do this, we would be able to vote more intelligently on all important questions"

MRS. S. N. GANN, Anton, housewife: "I think that we should all resolve to love our fellow man more; to try to keep the Christian spirit. As long as you can be interested in others and love them in spite of their faults, you will always be in demand."

ACCIDENT IS FATAL

EDINBURG, Dec. 30 (AP)—James Emory Burns, 68, was killed when a pistol fell from his bed and shot him through the leg and groin. The accident happened yesterday apparently while he was making the bed.

His body was found lying in the doorway of the two-room house where he lived alone.

Murder Count Facing Youth

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 30 (Special)—A 20-year-old youth Thursday was charged with murder in the death of Jimmy Metzger, 21, of Brownfield, after Metzger died that afternoon from a head injury allegedly received in a fist fight.

Louis Loe, 20, of near Brownfield, was released on $2,000 bond last night, after waiving examining trial before Justice of Peace J. W. Hogue. His case will come up for grand jury action Monday.

Brought To Hospital

Metzger was brought unconscious to the Treadway-Daniell hospital here at 11:35 a.m., over five hours after County Attorney George W. Neill said that he and Loe had engaged in a fist fight. Metzger died at 4:45 p.m., without regaining consciousness.

Neill said the fight occurred about 6 a. m. Thursday, at a cotton gin north of town where both men worked a late night shift. After the fight, Metzger and Loe went back to work. Metzger drove home after work, and, according to his wife, appeared to be normal when he entered the house.

Half an hour later, he collapsed, and was rushed to the hospital. Dr. T. L. Treadaway, attending physician, said cause of death was due to a brain injury, probably brought about by a blow to the head.

County Attorney Neill said wit-

Speed Record Set By Prop-Driven Airship

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Dec. 30. (AP)—Jacqueline Cochran lays claim today to a new world speed record for a propeller driven plane.

The noted woman flier was timed at 444 miles per hour yesterday as she piloted her F-51 Mustang around a 500 kilometer closed course.

Miss Cochran flew from Desert Center, using Mt. Wilson as a turning point. Her flight was under controlled conditions set by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The National Aeronautic association appointed judges and clockers.

The closed course was reestablished by the NAA last fall.

STANDARD PLANS SCURRY TEST

More Wildcats Are Set In Area Fields

Standard Oil Company of Texas is to start drilling at once on an Ellenburger wildcat in northeast Scurry county, 10 miles northeast of the town of Snyder, and three miles northeast of the nearest completed oil wells from the Canyon reef lime on the northeast side of the North Snyder field.

The prospector will be Stanotex No. 1 Goldie West. The drillsite will be in the southwest corner of section 268, block 2, H&TC survey.

It is expected that the venture will drill to around 8,000 feet in order to explore the Ellenburger. Material for the rotary drilling rig is now being moved to the location.

PERMITS SOUGHT FOR NINE NEW SCURRY WELLS

Applications for permit to drill nine new locations in Scurry county have been filed with the Midland office of the Railroad commission of Texas.

Wilshire Oil company plans to drill six new projects within the next seven months in an unproven area on the northwest side of the Kelley field.

Wilshire Oil No. 2 Lunsford is to be 1,817 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of section 253, block 97, H&TC survey, six miles northwest of Snyder. Drilling will start March 6, 1950, on the rotary operation, which has a contracted depth of 7,000 feet.

The other five operations will be in the same section as the No. 2 Lunsford, and have the contracted depth of 7,000 feet.

The locations are:

Wilshire No. 3 Lunsford will be 3,167 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of the south half of section 253. Drilling will begin April 15, 1950.

TERRY WILDCAT TO TEST FUSSELMAN ZONE

Tide Water Associated Oil company, and others, No. 1 Nystel, Southeast Terry county deep wildcat, 14 miles southeast of Brownfield, and four miles east of the shallow Adair-San Andres field, bottomed at 12,094 feet in the Ellenburger, and will plug back to approximately 11,715 feet in the Silurian and run casing and test the Fusselman zone of the Silurian, which showed considerable free oil in the section between 11,469 feet and 11,595 feet.

The Ellenburger had only water. The last drillstem test in that horizon was at 12,000-094 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes.

Recovery was the 1,115-foot water blanket, 94 feet of drilling mud, cut with sulphur water, and 280 feet of clear sulphur water.

Revised top of the Ellenburger has been placed at 11,905 feet. Elevation is 3,171 feet.

Operators plan to set 5½-inch casing at 11,715 feet, and then perforate it between 11,500-600 feet, for the first testing in the Fusselman.

If that zone fails to develop commercial oil and gas production the project probably will be plugged back further to test the Pennsylvanian between 9,350 feet and 9,400 feet, where an oil flow was developed on a drillstem test. The pay zone there is extra thin and the water comes near the top of the oil zone.

The wildcat is located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey.

Amerada Petroleum corporation, Cities Service Oil company and The Texas company are interested in the exploration, and are contributing to it.

RESULTS OF TEST ON WILDCAT DISAPPOINTING

Showings for oil and gas production so far developed from the Canyon reef at Ted Weiner, and others, No. 1 Moore Creek Baptist church, central-west Scurry county wildcat, eight miles west of Snyder, and seven-eighths of a mile northwest of the nearest completed producer from the reef lime, were disappointing.

The prospector was bottomed at 6,910 feet in the reef, at last report, and was circulating while waiting on orders. At that depth operators figured the project is only a short distance above the water level in the reef.

Located 208.335 feet from north and west lines of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey, this exploration topped the Canyon reef at 6,830 feet, to give it a datum of minus 4,388 feet on that marker.

It drilled to 6,910 feet and then took a one hour and 50 minute drillstem test at 6,834-6,910 feet. There were a few weak bubbles of air at the surface at the start of the test. The air gradually increased to a good blow and continued in that volume until the end of the test.

Recovery was 90 feet of gas cut drilling mud, 90 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud and 30 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from zero to 150 pounds.

STRATEGY IS MAPPED ON HOUSING PROPOSALS

Truman May Be Willing To Turn Rent Control Problem Over To The States, Official Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Current speculation that President Truman will ask Congress to continue rent controls bumped today into a report he might be willing to turn the job over to the states.

The latter possibility was raised by an official familiar with administration housing proposals slated for early consideration by Congress.

That President Truman will ask the lawmakers for some form of continued rent control appeared certain. Plans to turn rent ceilings over to states, however, would mark a major shift in administration housing policy.

Compromise Gesture

A high-ranking authority, who asked not to be identified by name, said such a policy change would be designed to lessen possible congressional opposition to other points in President Truman's overall housing program.

"It's highly likely that administration strategists will be willing to accept an end to federal rent ceilings and turn the matter over to states," the official told a reporter.

He said such a move might gain support for expanded government aid in the construction of dwellings for families in the low and middle-income groups.

"The President might ask for continued nationwide ceilings," said this official, "but the states' rights idea would not be too objectionable to the administration of the federal government retained some authority to impose ceilings if severe rent gouging would occur under such a system."

Control Declared Need

On the other hand, the President's council of economic advisers said flatly yesterday, in a discussion of wartime federal controls, that "rent control is still necessary."

Also, Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House banking committee, said after a White House call that rent control is still needed in some areas, including Washington. He wouldn't say whether Mr. Truman would ask an extension of the present law.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), who handled rent control and housing legislation this year, said he favors waiting until April before passing on continuation of rent controls.

Sparkman said that by then Congress should have a clearer idea of the needs, and of the ability of state and local governments to handle controls, if they are necessary. He was commenting on the rent recommendation of the President's advisers, not on the states' rights possibility as such.

Early Decision Likely

Congress is likely to face a fairly early decision on rent controls. A spokesman for Tiche Woods, national housing expeditor, reported today that his agency will be "forced to ask for more money immediately" if controls are to be continued under existing laws.

These developments were accomplished by announcement of formation of a 10-meber nationwide committee to oppose abandonment of federal controls.

Known as the National Tenants' council, the group is headed by Harry Mopsick, of Linden, N. J., and is made up of renters, labor officials, clergymen and representatives of local tenants' associations.

Under existing laws, states and local communities have power to lift controls when specified steps are taken which indicate that rental housing demands have been met in areas under their jurisdiction. Housing Expediter Woods also may remove ceilings on his own initiative and when such action is recommended by local advisory boards.

It is understood, however, that the new "states' rights" proposals would end all federal ceilings after a certain date when individual states could—if they so desired—impose their own regulations. Otherwise all controls would be dropped.

The question of continuing federal ceilings after next June 30, when the present law terminates, has prompted rising controversy among lawmakers.

Some congressmen cite the lack of widespread local decontrol actions as proof that housing shortages still remain in much of the country and that rents should continue under controls. Others take the view that record new home construction—estimated to total more than 1,000,000 units during 1949—has all but solved the problem.

Since April when the present law became effective, about 2,000,000 dwellings have been decontrolled. Another 12,000,000 of the some 40,000,000 dwellings in the nation still have federal ceilings.

NATIONAL POLICY IS SOUGHT

Lawmakers Expected To Probe Problem Of Private Pensions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Three lawmakers said today that Congress is certain to take a sharp look in 1950 into the whole problem of what to do about pensions.

Senators Sparksman (D-Ala), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), and Millikin (R-Colo) said in separate interviews that a study is necessary to help develop a national policy in that field.

They spoke out after Director Cyrus Ching of the Federal Mediation service said the cost of any failure to set up such a policy might well be a round of bitter strikes.

Harm May Be Done

The senators also had in mind Bernard M. Baruch's criticism of the trend toward privately financed pension plans. The elder statesman told a Scripps-Howard Newspaper alliance editor "some of the things being done may cause more harm than good, especially if there are private pensions only for the strong."

Millikin said the Senate finance committee is sure to go into the pension situation thoroughly when it holds hearings on the House-passed bill to broaden the social security program and increase old age benefits. Millikin is the senior Republican member of that committee.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), also a member of that group, called some time ago for a committee study.

O'Mahoney said he looks for the Senate-House economic committee which he heads to dig into the pension issue when it investigates the steel price increase put into effect recently by the United States Steel corporation. The inquiry will get underway sometime next month.

The strike-ending contract won by the United Steelworkers union last month provides for a $100 monthly pension, including federal social security. Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, has said the average increase of $4 a ton for steel resulted in part from the pension and insurance benefits granted to workers.

Sparkman, a member of the joint economic committee, said he wants Congress to find out:

1. What conflict, if any, there is between private pension plans and federal social security.

2. What impact the various pension plans have on the national economy—that is, what their effect is on taxes and consumer prices.

3. What the effect is on workers' freedom to move from one job to another and to work as many years as they want to.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., observe their 50th wedding anniversary today at the executive mansion.

Repeal Predicted On Oleomargarine Taxes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) said today that victory seems to be in sight at last in the long fight for repeal of federal taxes on oleomargarine.

A house-passed repeal bill, approved by the Senate Finance committee last April, is slated to be the first legislation taken up by the Senate after it reconvenes next Tuesday.

It would wipe out the present 10-cents-a-pound levy on yellow colored margarine, as well as special taxes on manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Fulbright, a persistent battler for the legislation, told a reporter he is confident it will pass the Senate if it can be brought to a vote.

He was referring to the threat of a possible filibuster by dairy state senators who contend colored margarine is a deceptive imitation of butter.

Real Estate Board To Install Officers

An installation ceremony for newly-elected officers of the Lubbock Real Estate board will be held during the annual Ladies' night banquet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, in the Hilton hotel, the board has announced.

Ray Chapman will be installed as president by Hugo H. Loewenstern of Amarillo, president of the Texas Real Estate association and a member of the board of directors of the National Real Estate association.

Also to be installed by Loewenstern are Joe B. Phillips as first vice-president; A. R. Osborn as second vice-president; Paul W. Pattillo as secretary; and the following as members of the board of directors: retiring President Louis Murfee, jr., Robert W. Wright, A. T. Cocanougher, C. W. Aydelotte, and Tom Sawyer.

Approximately 100 persons are expected to attend, with guests expected from Littlefield and the Plainview Real Estate board. Loewenstern will be accompanied by his wife, and by Mr. and Mrs. Porter L. Oakes of Wichita Falls. Oakes is executive secretary of the state association.

L. D. Casey is serving as chairman of the Arrangements committee.

DEAD GIVEAWAY

CHICAGO (UP)—Charles Douglas, 18, inked his name and address in the lining of his cap because he was afraid someone might steal it. The next day he and his two companions staged an unsuccessful robbery attempt at a hotel. In his haste to escape, Douglas left his cap behind. Police went to Douglas' home and in short order arrested all three.

More Wildcat Tests Slated To Be Launched In Plains Fields

Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 20 minutes built up to 700 pounds.

There is a possibility that the venture will be drilled on down to the Canyon water—and there is also a probability that arrangements may be made to carry it down to the Ellenburger.

There is no official confirmation of either of those surmises.

SKELLY PLANS NEW KELLEY EXPLORATION

Skelly Oil company has one exploration planned for the Kelley field. Their No. 1 Jake W. Smith is to be 467 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of 157.5 acre lease in section 15, block 1, J. P. Smith survey, three miles northwest of Snyder. Contracted depth is 7,200 feet.

Su. Oil company No. 2 G. D. Boyles will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeastern quarter of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey. That location is in the Diamond M field, nine miles west of Snyder. Contracted depth is 6,900 feet.

James L. Woods, of New Orleans, No. 1 M. M. Maule is planned as a possible addition to the North Snyder field. Location is 330 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of southeast quarter of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey. That is 10 miles northwest of Snyder. Drilling is to begin Feb. 15, on the planned 7,000 foot rotary operation.

THREE COMPLETIONS ARE REPORTED IN SCURRY FIELDS

Scurry county fields have reported the completion of three more wells.

Lion Oil company has accounted for two of them in the Diamond M-Canyon Lime field, 12 miles west of Snyder. No. 26 McLaughlin flowed 389.81 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil on a 24 hour test. Flow was through a 16/64th-inch choke. No water was developed in the test.

The pay area had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Tubing pressure was 625 pounds, and gas-oil ratio was 742-1.

Pay was topped at 6,677, and total depth was 6,901.5 feet. A 5½-inch oil string was set at 6,901 feet. Location of the Lion Oil producer is 610 feet from south and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey.

Lion Oil No. 30 McLaughlin flowed through a 16/64th-inch choke on a 24-hour test 522.31 barrels of 44.1 gravity oil.

The pay had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 731-1. Pay was topped at 6,679 feet, and total depth was 6,896.5 feet. A 5½-inch oil string was set at 6,896 feet.

Location of the No. 30 McLaughlin is 660 feet from south and 1,988.61 feet from west lines of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey.

Sun Oil company No. 2 Mae Lemons, et al, in the Kelley field, flowed natural 110.04 barrels of 39 gravity oil on a 24-hour test. A ¼-inch choke was used, and no water was developed.

Tubing pressure was 50 pounds, and gas-oil ratio was 790-1. Pay was topped at 7,643 feet, and total depth was 7,680 feet. A seven-inch oil string was set at 7,667 feet.

Location of the Sun well is 853 feet from south and 1,787 feet from east lines of section 205, block 97, H&TC seurvey.

BORDEN COUNTY WILDCAT ABANDONED AS FAILURE

Don Ameche, and associates, No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, central Borden county wildcat, five miles west of Gail, and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 30, block 31, TP survey, T-5-N, has been abandoned and is to be plugged as a failure.

This prospector drilled to a total depth of 9,554 feet in the Ellenburger. That formation was entered at 9,524 feet. A drillstem test in that horizon recovered 3,100 feet of sulphur water during one hour.

It plugged back to 8,630 feet and ran one hour test on the Pennsylvanian lime section between 8,550 feet and 8,630 feet. Recovery was 8,050 feet of salt water. There were no shows of petroleum in either section.

This venture was on a checker board spread of 10,800 acres which Ameche and his associates acquired in the Borden county district several weeks ago. They paid $10.00 per acre cash for the leases. Stanolind Oil & Gas company owns alternate quarter sections in the spread of acreage with the Ameche group.

It is understood that Ameche and his associates are obligated to drill another Ellenburger wildcat somewhere on the block during the next few months.

No official information has been released regarding the location of that project, or when it will be started.

Business, Professional Industrial Review

Presenting Each Week News About Live, Progressive Firms and Individuals of Lubbock

SOUTH PLAINS INSTITUTION—Here is the plant of Keeton Packing Company located east of Lubbock and north of the Idalou highway. Twin smokestacks make it a distinctive landmark in the industrial picture of the area. The present plant shown here, was built in 1946 after fire destroyed the original plant. In re-building, the company tripled its size, and other additions have been matle since that time. Meat products from this plant are sold throughout the South Plains and the North Plains. The Keeton area including Matador, Dickens, Spur, Lamesa, Andrews, Morton, Muleshoe, Plains, Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

FIRM HERE FOR 10 YEARS

Keeton Packing Co. Has Major Role In South Plains Business

What makes the South Plains continue to gain in population and business? And what makes Lubbock the center of this amazing development?

There are a lot of answers to these questions, but one thing is certain—firms like Keeton Packing Company are playing a large part in making the South Plains grow with Lubbock as the center.

Meat products from the Keeton Packing Company are sold throughout the South Plains, and on into the North Plains country of Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

To the west, the Keeton territory extends to Muleshoe, Morton and Plains. The Keeton area goes east to include Matador, Dickens and Spur, while to the south, it's Lamesa and Andrews.

And, of course, Lubbock and all the area between those points is serviced by Keeton Packing Company.

The plant, located east of Lubbock, was completely re-built after the fire burned it out in 1946.

What might have bten the finish of some businesses was actually a blessing of a sort for the packing company, for in re-building, the corporation partners constructed an even larger plant and expanded its operations.

The firm began business on April 4, 1937, and since then has grown into a South Plains institution with te highest reputation for quality meat products at reasonable prices.

Owners of the Keeton Packing Company corporation are Claud Keeton, Ralph Keeton, Sidney Keeton and Rogstad Zachary.

Principal products sold are beef, pork, sausage, lunch meats—a complete packing house line. In addition, the company sells such by-products as hides, tallow and tankage.

A year ago, the company added Plainsman sliced bacon to their line, and already this product has firmly established itself in the buying habits of West Texas housewives.

After the 1946 fire, the plant size was tripled in the rebuilding program. In 1948, a garage was built. The general maintenance shop, with a portion of it used for dry storage, has 11,000 square feet of floor space.

And the building plans still continue. A compound and lard processing plant with the most modern machinery available should be ready for operation on a limited basis by February, 1950. Plans for this plant call for a floor space of 2,500 square feet.

The plant and office buildings occupy an area of 11½ acres inside the Keeton Packing Company property of 36½ acres. The company also owns 10 acres of feed lots a mile south of the plant for holding animals prior to slaughtering.

Keeton Packing Company has a Texas-size fleet of trucks to distriute its products and to carry on its operations. There are 45 trucks in this fleet .

While the 1946 fire may have brought the big expansion that might have taken years without the fire, Keeton Packing Company isn't asking for another fire.

The company has underground storage tanks for 250,000 gallons of water north of the plant, for fire protection and for plant use. Two new wells have been drilled recently. While necessary for fire protection, water is used in tremendous quantities in the operation of te plant. When in full operation ,the plant uses from 75,000 to 100,000 gallons of water a day.

Keeton Packing Company regards its plant as the most modern in te area, and its machinery on the bacon-slicing line is the only such unit in Texas west of Forth Worth. This machine, as large as they come, can process 1,200 pounds of bacon in an hour.

All beef sold by the plant is a Western brand, and all of it comes from this area.

Students from the animal husbandry department of Texas Technological college hold class tours through the plant to study meat packing operations. In addition, high school students frequently make tours through the plant. Any group can arrange for tours by giving notice in order that a suitable time might be set when the plant will be in operation. Heaviest activities are usually in the morning hours.

Machinery For All Farm Needs At C. H. Scales Implement Co.

Farming is big business on the South Plains—the biggest business of all—and the size of their yields is dependent to a great extent upon the type of machinery they use.

One of the most reliable dealers on the South Plains is the C. H. Scales Implement Company at 2214-16 Ave. G, which has the reputation for machinery that does the job at a price that is right.

The firm began business in December of 1939, and during those 10 years has built up a reputation for fair dealing with South Plains farmers.

Principal products sold are J. I. Case farm machinery, irrigation supplies, milking machines, Mayrath grain loaders, Shafer one-row plows and Jeffroy chisel plows.

In addition, the firm has a complete stock of parts and offers shop service on those makes of merchandise sold by the dealership.

Growing with the South Plains, the company added 6,000 square feet of floor space in December of 1944.

C. H. Scales, owner, invites all farmers in the area to visit the implement company while in Lubbock to see the time-saving and money-saving machinery sold by the firm .

The company handles tractors, combines, plows, feed mills, manure spreaders, planters, cultivators, harrows, grain elevators, hay bailers, hay rakes, power mowers, moldboard plows, disc plows, disc harrows, spike tooth harrows and irrigation engines.

Farm hardware also is available at the C. H. Scales Implement Company, along with such items as Titelock syphon tubes, Rainbow plastic syphons, bailing wire, exide batteries, Firestone tires and P. & C. wrenches.

The company handles Ideal milking machines, a product known for dependability.

C. H. Scales Implement Company has complete shop facilities with well-trained personnel. Its extra-large parts department gives complete coverage of genuine parts, which means the farmer doesn't have to run all over town to find the part he needs.

Cotton controls in 1950 will mean that many farmers will be growing new crops, or expanding operations in crops other than cotton. This change will call for new machinery, and the C. H. Scales Implement company has the equipment for every farming purpose.

Henry Electric Company Has Contract On Housing Project

This job calls for the electrical wiring of 246 apartments in the housing development.

While Henry Electric is equipped to handle such large projects, it also will take the smaller jobs—even it is only the repair or installation of one switch.

Cleaning Most Important Step In Care Of Fine Rugs, Carpets

Proper care of rugs and carpeting gives them a longer life—and periodic cleaning is the most important part of proper care.

While cleaning is important, it must be done right, and the Frenchway Rug Cleaners at 1905 Ave. O knows how to do that.

Sand and dirt, if allowed to remain in rugs, cuts through fibers and takes many months off the wear. Further, soiled rugs fast lost their original colors through chemical action by the foreign substances.

Even when the surface of rugs may not look soiled, they may need the expert attention of Frenchway Rug Cleaners.

In addition to rugs and carpets, this firm also specializes in the cleaning of furniture. Other quality services offered are rug binding and mothproofing.

Put new life in your rugs and carpets by sending them to Frenchway Rug Cleaners at 1905 Ave. O, where the finest methods of cleaning are used. As soon as the holiday season ends, dial 2-1628.

SANDERS FOR RENT

Working over your hardwood floors? Home Lumber and Supply Company at 1220 Nineteenth street has electric floor sanders and waxers for rent. Dial 2-2142 a day ahead to be sure the machine you want is available. Rental rates are reasonable.

Western Brick and Supply Co., Inc., at 2301 Ave. G lets this slogan guide its business practices: "Prompt service, time-tested products and reasonable prices."

UN CHIEF CLAIMS PROGRESS MADE

Trygve Lie Urges Settlement Between The East And West

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Trygve Lie, worried by the continual east-west squabbles in the United Nations says the time has come for the two camps in the U. N. to resume real step by step negotiation for a settlement.

The U. N. secretary-general made known his ideas on the conflict in a year-end statement published last night in the United Nations bulletin, a publication put out twice each month by the U. N. department of public information.

Lie was elected to his $40,000-a-year position in the early days of the U. N. and in a moment of rare agreement between the Russians and the west. Since that time he has seen tense situations arise, but he said in his statement that he believes the U. N. has turned in a constructive record in 1949 despite the deadlock.

Resolution Cited Again

With the turn of the year, Lie brought up once more the Mexican resolution approved unanimously at the Paris meeting of the general assembly in 1948. This calls for the great powers to renew their efforts to find a settlement.

"If we have not made much progress during 1949 toward settling or adjusting the basic conflict that has delayed peace and hampered the United Nations since the end of the war," he said, "we have at least moved forward to a point where the world has a right to hope for a step-by-step resumption of real negotiation between both sides.

Lie said that the Mexican resolution continued to be the wish of the U. N.

"Those who believe that agreement and accommodation among the great powers must be achieved in the years ahead should dedicate themselves in 1950 to extending the area of political understanding between east and west at every opportunity," he said.

China Big Issue

One of the worst problems now facing the U. N. is the issue of China.

This bobbed up in the security council yesterday with a declaration by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik that the Soviet Union does not recognize the Nationalist China delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, as the representative of the Chinese people.

There was no further word from Malik whether he would present a formal challenge after Jan. 1, when Tsiang becomes council president.

Tsiang replied to Malik yesterday that the council could not accept dictation from the minority members (the Russian bloc) and that he represented a constitutional government. The discussion ended when the council chairman, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada, said both sides had been heard and the incident was closed.

The U. N. hoped to close offices early this afternoon for a start on the new year holiday. No important meetings are scheduled, but it is expected that private talks between Gen. McNaughton of Canada, retiring president of the security council, and the Indian and Pakistan delegations on the Kashmir case will continue in Manhattan. The council probably will meet on the Kashmir case against next week.

Railway Travel Cut Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — The governmetn has decided that three-day work week for coal miners has not yet created a transportation emergency.

The Interstate Commerce commission, which yesterday delayed plans to curtail rail passenger service as a coal saving measure, indicated it may take this step next week if coal stocks drop further.

The ICC said a special advisory committee has figured there is a 30-day supply of coal available above ground at present. J. Monroe Johnson, a member of the commission, said another coal survey will be made Tuesday to determine whether the passenger restrictions will be needed.

This decision was made following a meeting with representatives of the National Coal association and the Association of American railroad.

The ICC said that eight or ten railroads might be short of coal but there is no really critical need.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, put his 400,000 soft coal and 80,000 hard coal miners on a three-day work week Dec. 5 in an effort to weaken the operators' unusually strong opposition to his 1949 contract demands.

Lewis, seeking higher wages and a richer welfare fund, has been unable to get a contract after seven months of sporadic negotiations. The miners are working on an extension of their old contract, which expired last June 30.

Negotiatons are underway in New York between the United Mine workers and anthracite operators but there have been no contract talks covering major soft coal operations since early October.

RITES SET TODAY

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30. (AP)—Funeral services will be held today for William Hervey Allen, 60, author of "Anthony Adverse" and other books, who died Wednesday.

Sovereignty Granted To Indochina State

SAIGON, Dec. 30 (AP) — France today bestowed a large measure of domestic sovereignty on the Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

An agreement giving the Indochinese greater control over their own affairs was signed by French High Commissioner Leon Pignon and ex-Emperor Bao at the city hall here as 50,000 watched.

Bao Dai heads a French-backed Indochinese government which is opposed by the Nationalist forces of Moscow-trained Uo Chi Minn.

The agreement implements a treaty signed last March by Bao Dai and French President Vincent Auriol. That treaty, which the French parliament still must ratify, gives the new Indochinese state of Viet Nam a sort of dominion status. Viet Nam includes the Indochinese coastal states of Tonkin, Annam and Cochin China.

The agreement signed today gives the Bao Dai government control of local courts dealing with Vietnamese, police services, primary and secondary education and local administration. French prosecutors will serve in the courts at Saigon and Haiphong for 10 years.

The French high commissioner will retain reduced security forces under his command and mixed courts will settle disputes between the Vietnamese and other citizens of the "French union."

In addition French officials will act as "advisers" to the Vietnamese administration and the president of the French republic will name the head of a new university to be created.

Schooling During Work Hours Urged

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)— A government committee urged British employers to give their employes a chance where possible to go to school during working hours when studying for special qualifications.

"When employes areenabled to pursue part at least of their study in working hours the result is far better than that obtained by evening study after the day's work," the committee said.

Cooperation With GOP Asked In Shaping Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) called on the administration today to deal the Republicans in on foreign policy decisions all over the world.

Smith, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, told a reporter that unless the Republicans are consulted in advance they can't be expected to support policies they had no voice in forming.

"Bipartisanship means to me bipartisanship in the making of the policy as well as in carrying it out," he said. "If they will play the game with us, we will go along with them."

Smith said he would regard as a test the course the administration takes on deciding what should be done, if anything, about keeping the island of Formosa out of the hands of Chinest Communists.

Toured Area

New recommendations are reported to have been prepared by the State and Defense departments, calling for an American military mission to Formosa.

The military chiefs of staff held several months ago that Formosa, where the remnants of the Chinese Nationalist government now have retired, was not necessary to American defense.

Smith, who returned recently from a tour of the area, said he is confident that Gen. Douglas MacArthur believes strongly Formosa should not be allowed to fall into the hands of the Communists.

"I believe I am interpreting MacArthur's position correctly when I say that he has not suggested that Formosa be used as an American defense base but neither does he want it to be used as a base of possible opposition to us by the Communists," Smith said.

Smith said he had discussed the Formosa question with Secretary of State Acheson.

But it was evident that Acheson had made no pledge to consult the Republicans in advance about a Formosa decision.

He has promised to talk to a bipartisan group on the Senate foreign relations committee, however, before any decision is made about the possible recognition of the Chinese Communist government on the mainland.

Smith said he would oppose any move toward recognition of that regime at this time.

The New Jersey senator is a strong supporter of the bipartisan foreign policy which Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) has helped shape.

Smith said he fears, however, takes the Republicans into its confidence on all major decision—as he said it had not done in the past—there will be serious trouble within the GOP ranks in the Senate.

Chairman Connally D-Tex) of the foreign relations group called for political unity on international matters.

He told a news conference some Republicans seemed willing to use th bipartisan policy for political advantage. He denied that President Truman ever had done so.

"Polite" Limburger Cheese Developed

URBANA, Ill., Dec. 30 (AP) — The University of Illinois is making polite limburger cheese—it smells, but not insultingly.

The art is to handpick the bacteria that make the flavors and aroma. Limburger is made of whole milk. The process is described by Dr. S. L. Tuckey, associate professor of dairy technology.

Poland's Embassy In France Hit By Blast

PARIS, Dec. 30. (AP)—A violent explosion blew in the door of the Polish embassy here this morning and slightly injured a watchman, the only casualty.

Police said explosives placed at the embassy entrance destroyed the heavy glass door and iron grill, and broke many windows in the embassy and surrounding buildings.

The damage to the embassy interior was insignificant, the police said.

Officials made no immediate link between the explosion and the recent tension between France and Poland over the arrests and expulsions of Poles from France and Frenchmen from Poland. Poland also recently sent four Frenchmen to jail after convicting them of spying.

Terrorists Blamed

Polish sources said the explosion appeared to be the work of "Polish terrorists who oppose the government in Poland."

The blast echoed through the center of Paris. The embassy's night watchman, a Frenchman, was cut on the cheek by flying glass.

Twenty windows were shattered and shutters were ripped from the window of Polish Ambassador Jersy Putrament's apartment, directly above the chancellery entrance where the explosives had been placed.

Foot-long pieces of steel bars were ripped from the grilled doorway and were hurled 30 feet into the building. Two cleaning women arrowly escaped the flying steel and glass.

U. S. Aid For Iran Pledged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — President Truman today assured the Shah of Iran that the United States will support Iranian requests for loans from the world bank.

Mr. Truman also informed the Shah that the U. S. intends to helps the Iranian government through the point four program which the President has proposed to Congress. This program would grant American financial and technical aid to underdeveloped countries.

In a statement released by the White House, the President said, too, this country "is currently prepared to offer certain military assistance essential to Iran."

To Back Loan

It noted that the Iranian government has planned a seven-year program for economic and social progress, and added:

"The President appreciates the importance of this program to the economic development of Iran, and applications by the Iranian government to the International bank for reconstruction and development for economically justifiable loans to be used in the furtherance of the program will therefore receive the support of the United States."

The statement said the young Iranian ruler is leaving for home today after a tour of the United States. During his visit here he met with high government officials in a bid for American aid to his country which borders on the Soviet Union.

Tech Offices Moved To Aid Construction

Dean of Women Margarette W. Walker of Texas Tech got "kicked upstairs" Thursday.

The dean's office was moved from the ground floor of the Administration building to the third floor in order to make room for construction activities on the building's two new wings.

She will occupy space formerly utilized by the history faculty until the wings are completed. The history faculty is moving into the new Museum building on the campus.

Dean of Men James G. Allen and his staff will also be moved to other quarters in the Administration structure some time next week. The two dean's offices are located directly adjacent to the excavations for the new wings and will be partially undermined and torn down during the construction work.
