Carl Goodspeed Given 20-Year Term For Slaying Officer

CLAY COUNTY JURY ASSESSES PEN SENTENCE

Nocona Man Found Guilty Of Slaying A. R. Gooch In January

JUROR IS STRICKEN

Physician Called for Third Time During Trial To O. A. Bates

Special to The Record News

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 17.—Carl Goodspeed was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment by a jury which late tonight found him guilty of a charge of murder growing out of the fatal shooting last Jan. 19 of City Marshall A. R. Gooch at the Goodspeed home in Nocona.

The jury reported it had reached a verdict shortly before midnight Sunday, after having had the case in its hands nearly 26 hours.

Court Deserted

The courtroom, which had been packed since the opening of the trial last Monday, presented a deep contrast tonight, with the judge, the jurymen, the defendant and his counsel, and a few others the only ones present. Goodspeed showed no emotion whatever at the verdict.

The convicted man's wife, however, wept when she heard the jury's verdict. She has been here during most of the trial and was a chief defense witness.

The jury was kept from deliberations nearly six hours Sunday by the illness of Otis A. Bates, Byers, one of the jurors. Bates, suffering from nervous strain and stomach disorders, was stricken about 1 p. m. and placed under the care of a physician. He rallied about 6 p. m., however, and the jury got back to work. This was Bates' third attack during the trial, the same ailment causing him to be placed under observation last Tuesday.

Staying at Home

Goodspeed was charged with slaying the Nocona officer as the latter entered the Goodspeed home, allegedly to serve a liquor search warrant.

Nearly 150 witnesses were called by both sides, and testimony occupied nearly five days.

The trial was characterized by several tilts between attorneys, and bits of amusing evidence.

Upturns Reported In Steel Industry in 1928

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Annual reports of the United States Steel corporation and the Bethlehem Steel corporation, both published today, describe a marked upturn in this basic industry in 1928.

The U. S. report, however, pointed out that steel prices were somewhat lower during the year, while production reached a new high record, explaining that this reflects a substantial excess producing capacity in the industry.

Federals Drop Bombs on Torreon, Killing Woman and Three Others

Non-Combatants Victims of Shrapnel From Busting Aerial Bombs; 200 Reported Dead in Battle

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, March 17. (AP)—Four persons have been killed in air raids on Torreon by Mexican federal airplanes during the past two days. One woman died today from injuries received in the explosion of a bomb Saturday.

The French consulate was ready to file a complaint at the wounding of Salvatore I. Izarrague, struck by shrapnel from a bomb which exploded close to his headquarters. Citizens were indignant at being exposed to air raids of federal airplanes.

The federal plane appeared over the city shortly after 10 a. m. and dropped two bombs. The first struck in the heart of the city and the second near the American consulate. The plane was reported to have left Empalme at 9:45 for its raid, indicating that the federal forces were nearby.

FEDERAL PLANE REPORTED DOWNED

JUAREZ, Mex., March 17. (AP)—Revolutionists at Torreon today sent word to rebel military headquarters here that a federal airplane was brought down Saturday near Torreon. The aviator was shot through the head, the advices said.

Revolutionists here had no word concerning any military operations in the Torreon area, and officers discredited reports that the Calles army was menacing rebel forces under General Escobar.

Rebels held a rally in a plaza in front of a church.

S. M. GOSE SR. DIES SUDDENLY

Former Wichitan Stricken Sunday at San Antonio

Word was received here Sunday afternoon of the sudden death in San Antonio of S. M. Gose Sr., 58, a lifelong resident of Texas, and a citizen of Wichita Falls for eight years prior to his removal in 1928 to the city where his death occurred Sunday.

Came Here in 1920

Mr. Gose was born and reared at Decatur, in Wise county, where he lived until his removal to this city in 1920. Retaining his interest in farm lands in Southern Texas, he entered the oil business here, and in company with John Scott of Decatur, developed a considerable amount of production. He was elected a director of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company, which connection continued until Jan. 1, 1929. At the time of his death his holdings in this community were said to be a producing section of land near Holliday, and numerous other small leases in Wichita territory. He had been engaged in the real estate business in San Antonio for the last few months, and also had a large ranch near that city.

While in Wichita Falls, Mr. Gose was a member of the Floral Heights Methodist church. He was a member of the Masons, with membership in the lodge at Decatur. He spent last Sunday and Monday with his son, S. M. Gose Jr., and other relatives in this city, leaving here Tuesday for San Antonio.

Funeral Undecided

Mr. Gose is survived by his wife, who lives in this city; two sons, S. M. Gose Jr., Wichita Falls, and Jarrell Gose, San Antonio; three sisters, Mrs. T. J. Waggoner, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Henrietta Perrin, Haskell; Mrs. W. W. Hanna, Alvord, and three brothers, Judge John G. Gose, Decatur; Dr. J. C. Gose, Krum, Texas, and Dr. J. M. Gose, Haskell. Relatives also include a large number of nephews and nieces in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Gose, wife of the deceased, and S. M. Gose Jr., left Sunday night for San Antonio. Funeral arrangements had not been announced at a late hour, but local relatives stated that the body probably would be brought to Decatur for interment.

Atlanta Pen Warden Quits Post Under Fire of Woman Dry Sleuth

ATLANTA, March 17. (AP)—Warden John W. Snook of the Atlanta federal penitentiary announced today that he had tendered his resignation to Attorney General Mitchell effective April 1.

The warden said his letter contained an unqualified determination to leave the service. He came here as warden in 1926.

The request for his resignation followed Warden Snook's protest against the "planting" of department of justice agents in the prison here as prisoners.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prisons at Washington yesterday said the warden had been asked to resign "because of utter lack of administrative ability." It was also said other things entered into the request, but that the warden's integrity and character were not involved.

It was made known at the department of justice in Washington yesterday that Snook had been given 30 days in which to resign, the period expiring on April 4.

Attorney Defends Mother's Memory

DENVER, Colo., March 17. (UP)—Thirty-nine years after his mother's death, George A. Miller, Kansas City attorney, is scheduled to resume in Denver district court tomorrow a 20-year-old legal fight in defense of her memory.

Miller seeks to refute the contention that a desire for a baby led his pioneer parent to arrange with a roomer in her crude log cabin to become the father of her child.

Miller was born in a cabin, at the mining camp of Buckskin Joe, Colo., in 1863. In his present legal fight, the law is on his side, because it stipulates that a child born in wedlock is presumed to be legitimate. But Miller has dedicated his best years of his life to prosecuting lawsuits to establish his paternity—in defense of his mother's memory.

'MOTORS' BUYS GERMAN WORKS

Sloan Announces Purchase Of Opel Concern

BERLIN, March 17. (US)—Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, today made official announcements of the completion of the negotiations by which General Motors takes over the Opel Motor works, one of Germany's greatest automobile manufacturers. President Sloan issued the statement from his Berlin headquarters in the Hotel Esplanade.

"It is premature to discuss the plans of General Motors in exploiting Opel automobiles in other countries," said Sloan to Universal Service tonight. "But we have no intention either of bringing the Opel car to the American market for which it is not suited."

Sloan ridiculed the statement in the German press that General Motors intended to close up the Opel works in order to kill off competition with General Motors' cars on the German market.

"The charge is so fantastic that it hardly needs to be answered," he said. "General Motors is not throwing away millions of dollars for such purposes."

Deep gloom pervades the German automobile world and Der Montag says:

"We wonder now if the German authorities will now consider the Opel car a German or a foreign car."

The paper suggests that Wilhelm von Opel, head of the Opel works, will have to resign from the German automobile industrialists' association.

SURVIVORS OF FLOOD REGION CROWD CAMPS

All of Refugees Believed In Good Care; 12,000 Are At Troy Station

30 BODIES FOUND

Death Toll Expected to Soar Above 100; Rivers Are Now Falling

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 17. (US)—With 12,000 refugees from flood-stricken Southern Alabama being cared for at Troy, 50 miles south of this city, indications tonight were that practically all of the marooned were being given adequate care.

The death toll is expected to reach 100 to 150 with property damage running into the millions. More than 20,000 have been made homeless in the wire-grass section of the state. Reports state that a total of 30 bodies have already been recovered.

Tales of Suffering

Stories of intense suffering in the towns of Elba and Geneva of Pea river were being told today by the refugees who were brought to safe ground by national guardsmen, law-enforcement officers and citizens.

Many of the refugees taken to Troy were suffering from typhoid fever and measles. State health officers are innoculating each refugee with typhoid serum in an effort to stop the spread of the malady.

Four bodies have been recovered from the vicinity of Elba, Coffee county, which has been standing under 15 feet of water for four days. None of these have been identified.

Three bodies have been recovered near Andalusia on Conecuh river. Although the waters are receding at Elba, the town of Geneva, 40 miles south on the Pea river is under 15 feet of water. It is believed that the casualties at the latter town were few as the inhabitants had ample warning of the flood and the majority of the population fled to the hills.

Other Bases Established

In addition to Troy, refugee bases have been established at Enterprise and Dothan. Governor Graves has requested that 15,000 cots be rushed to these towns from the regular army post at Fort Benning. These are now arriving on army trucks. The governor said that thousands of dollars were needed to aid the stricken and appeals for money and supplies are being broadcast throughout the country.

The governor in an interview with Universal Service asked that those who wished to contribute to the sufferers should send their checks to Charles A. Moffett at Montgomery, who is in charge of the financing. The governor said:

"I am gratified over the responses received from various states in our appeal for aid, particularly New York, which has responded nobly."

At Careyville, Fla., across the river from Geneva, Gov. Doyle E. Carlton had personal charge of a party of rescuers. Rain, which fell steadily all day Saturday stopped this morning.

The Conecuh river, which flooded many small villages, began a downward march this morning. River Falls suffered a big property damage. Two persons were reported drowned here last night.

Water Is Receding

Reports from Brewton, county seat of Escambia, which has 5,000 inhabitants, indicated that the water is receding there.

Flomaton, Escambia county, reported one death today with the waters having passed the crest.

Train service south of Montgomery on every railroad has been suspended and several days will be required before even skeleton service is maintained. Telegraph and telephone companies have established temporary communication in several towns of the stricken area.

The Alabama river at Montgomery, which made over four hundred homeless, started falling this afternoon.

Negro Shoots, Then Butcher Wields His Knife

GALVESTON, March 17. (AP)—A negro identified as Robert Barksdale, about 25, was killed here early today when he and a companion attempted to rob A. Flores, owner of a butcher shop.

Stab wounds inflicted with a butcher knife by Flores were fatal to the Negro.

The Negroes, thought by police to have been involved in several holdups during the past weeks, entered the shop and asked for meat.

Flores started to comply with the order, and as he did, Barksdale pulled a pistol and ordered him to stick up his hands. Instead, Flores grabbed a large butcher knife, turned and shouted, "shoot." The Negro did but missed and Flores, a large man grabbed the Negro's hand, holding it upward and at the same time stabbing him in the chest and abdomen.

The wounded Negro called to his companion for aid, but the latter fled. A neighbor saw the second bandit and gave chase, but lost him.

A techincal murder charge was filed against Flores and he was released on bond.

'Tail Lights' on Pedestrians May Result From Traffic Safety Tests

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 17. (AP)—By fastening to pedestrians various substitutes for tail lights, engineers of the General Electric company have found out when and how walkers may venture on highways at night with greater safety.

The object was to learn what natural conditions make for safety, and not to find any kind of a warning signal to be worn by pedestrians. White objects on the pedestrians or as part of his clothing, proved to be the only sort of signal of the tail light class that worked with any reliability on unlighted roads. A white suit of clothes did very well; while a man standing in a dark suit about 100 feet ahead in the beams of bright headlights was found to be virtually invisible to the auto driver.

One of the best signals was a white handkerchief, held with the arm hanging full length at the side. In this position the handkerchief caught and reflected in the top of the bright light beams. If it happened to flare open, it became momentarily a true beacon. The engineers concluded that pedestrians could not be expected to be wearing or carrying clothing of the signalling type.

They rated bright headlights as inadequate in themselves, because unless assisted by good reflecting qualities in the clothing of the pedestrian, they brought him into clear view after it was too late to be sure of avoiding accidents.

Two Men Found Alive As Scores Rush to Wreck Of Monoplane

NEWARK, N. J., March 17. (US)—In the worst aviation disaster in the history of the Metropolitan area, 13 men were killed this afternoon when a sightseeing all-metal monoplane crashed into a Jersey Central sand car a mile from the Newark municipal airport.

The pilot and a passenger were injured and were rushed by locomoive to a hospital in Jersey City.

Ten thousand horror-stricken men, women and children at the airport saw the huge machine waver in the air and watched in panic as the pilot suddenly swooped downward for a forced landing. The impact was so terrific that the crash was plainly heard at the field.

Seen From Sky

Other planes, carrying sightseeing passengers, were in the air at the time and the disaster was witnessed from the sky by men and women who hysterically cried to be landed.

Score of passengers had been taken up during the day in the monoplane, a 14-passenger and pilot tri-motor Ford machine of duraluminum construction.

The plane crashed into the sand car with such terrific impact that the metal wings were stripped and crumpled around the car. The center engine was hurled back into the cabin. Bodies were mangled and crushed together. Several bodies were hurled through windows and the metal sides.

Trainmen Reach Wreck

The first to reach the scene were train crews. Hundreds of others followed quickly.

Only two men were alive in the wreckage. One was a passenger. The other was the pilot, named Foote. They were placed on a locomotive, which sped to Jersey City with them.

The huge tri-motor was owned and operated by the Colonial Airways corporation of New York.

Officials of the airport said they believed the necessity for a forced landing was due to motor trouble, though it was intimated the machine may have carried too much weight.

Plane Kept Busy

In the few months the plane has operated at the field it has carried hundreds of persons on sightseeing trips over New York. The round trip usually required only 12 minutes. Several New York booking agents send bus loads of passengers to the field every day. Business has been particularly heavy on clear Sundays.

The machine had been kept busy all today except for periods in which stiff winds prevailed. Other craft at the field had taken up parties. These others, however, were con-

AIR BOMBERS RAID TORREON

Four Persons Killed in Attack on City

the casualties on both sides. Three hundred federal troops were captured, the rebels said.

FEDERALS THOUGHT WITHIN TORREON

MEXICO CITY, March 17. (AP)—Presidential headquarters late today said that federal preparations for occupation of Torreon, industrial Coahuila city and the rebel stronghold in central Mexico, were continuing. It was believed that federal troops possibly might be there now or might enter the city tonight, although reports had said only that the armies commanded by General Calles were closing in on their objective from every side.

The reports said nothing of what the rebels were doing although previously it was reported that they apparently had begun to abandon Torreon to retreat northward. In every movement of the insurgent forces so far in the present revolution they have torn up railroad tracks behind them as they retreated. If they repeat this maneuver the Calles army might have to move as slowly northward as it has on Torreon, rebuilding the railroads as it goes.

The federal government continues positive that it is certain to crush the revolution, and believes it already crushed in the sense that any hope of a rebel triumph has passed. It does not predict, however, how long the insurgents by retreating and tearing up railroad tracks can prolong military operations.

Some observers here doubt that rebel General Gonzalo Escobar can hold his forces together very long and feed and pay his rebel army in desert country if he retreats to Chihuahua City. They think that this section does not now contain enough cattle and crops for the armies to live upon, as it did in the days of Madero and Pancho Villa. Those holding this theory believe that the rebel forces will break up quickly if they withdraw from Torreon.

Labor Stands Chance To Win English Election

LONDON, March 17. (AP)—Three striking facts stand out on the eve of England's general election on May 30.

The first is that if the election was held at this moment labor might sweep from power the conservative party with its majority of some 200 in the house of commons.

The second is that in any event the conservatives must wage a bitter struggle to keep from being ousted by labor.

The third is that women voters for the first time are in the majority and will decide the election.

siderably smaller in passenger capacity than the big Ford.

Passengers Turned Away

With dusk fast approaching, it was decided that only one more trip could be made. Several prospective passengers were disappointed at having to be left behind.

They, with thousands of others on the field, saw the silvery craft take off heavily from the field, about 200 feet from the hangar. It rose slowly, circled and turned toward New York.

It was about a thousand feet in the air when the pilot suddenly maneuvered toward the ground.

The tri-plane carried three engines of 220 horsepower each. One was located directly in front of the pilot. This was the one forced back into the cabin. The other two were in the front of the wings and higher than the center engine. The engines were nine-cylinder Wright whirlwinds. The glass was of the non-shatterable type. The wings, of the full cantilever construction without supports, contained the gasoline tanks.

Major General John F. O'Ryan is president of the Colonial Air Transport company. The company has affiliated concerns extensively engaged throughout the country in transportation of passengers, mail and express.

On Dec. 14 last the Colonial Airways, Inc., announced that it was rounding out its first year of service without the loss of a passenger's life, without injury to a passenger and without loss of an ounce of mail. In that period it had flown its machines 165,809 miles, carrying a total of 1,295 passengers.

The company contracted a few months go for a fleet of tri-motor air liners. The first to be placed in service was the one that crashed this afternoon.

"I reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet"

"Whirling along the ground at 231 miles per hour to a new world's record was a thrilling experience. It was speed in breath-taking fashion. When I finally brought 'The Golden Arrow' to halt, the nerve let-down was terrific. But out came my pack of Lucky Strike and I soon was smoking in complete happiness. After the strain of my ride the toasted fragrance of Luckies was like a tonic. I reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. I want to keep trim and fit. I want to feel the glow of pep and health at all times—the thought of excess weight really frightens me. I welcome a Lucky instead of sweets and things that would make me soft."

Noted Automobile Racer who broke the world's record on March 11th at Daytona Beach, Florida

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

BRITISH VETO GRAF ZEP TOUR

Capital's War Against U. S. Seen as Motive

BERLIN, March 17. (US)—With British capital having openly declared a "defensive and offensive" war on America on one hand, British statecraft is apparently becoming increasingly concerned about British prestige anywhere it comes into contact with anything American or Germany.

The British government, it was officially announced today, has granted permission for the Graf Zeppelin to fly over Palestine on its coming flight over the Orient.

For reasons of prestige, and, it is reliably learned, also because American newspapers are connected with the air voyage, the British stand immobile on their veto of the projected flight over Egypt.

"Why should we spoil our own plans just for an American newspaper stunt?" was the frank statement of a British official.

Might Annoy British

Although Dr. Hafiz Afici, the Egyptian foreign minister, plainly invited the German government to make the request for the flight over Egypt by stating this week that the Egyptian government would gladly give the request consideration, the German foreign office flatly declined to make application lest it annoy the British government.

In view of the fact that American money has largely financed the Graf Zeppelin's previous flights, this raises the increasing question as to what will be the attitude of the German government in the future in any clash of American and British interests in which Germany must support one or the other.

Without any hesitation or delay, France promptly granted Dr. Hugo von Eckener's request to fly over Syria, as did Italy, Turkey, Jugoslavia and Rumania, which makes the British edict "keep away from Egypt" all the more remarkable.

Sixty-four Will Go

With 64 souls aboard—38 in the crew, and 26 passengers—the Graf Zeppelin will start the first airship voyage to the southwest corner of Asia toward the end of the week.

Among the prominent passengers will be Dr. Otto Braun, Prussian prime minister; Dr. Boelz, state president of Wurtemberg; Herr Loebe, president of the reichstag.

Three women will make the flight; Countess Brandenstein-Zeppelin, Lady Drummond Hay and Frau Toni Sender, socialist deputy in the Reichstag.

The first Egyptian to have the distinction of making a trip on the huge passenger airship will be Mahmoud Abul Fath, who will represent the Arabic language press.

Hen Lays Four Eggs in One Day

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., March 17.—It is a smart housewife that can check up on her hens, but Mrs. J. E. Jones, wife of a prominent physician of Hollis, certainly has a low down on a certain hen of hers.

This creature laid four eggs in one day. And Mrs. Jones only has one hen and it is easy to know the truth.

The industrious chicken had been very sickly for several days, and this fact prevented her from being sold along with the rest of the flock, when the Jones disposed of their chickens. Mrs. Jones found four eggs which she knew had not been in the nest a few hours previously.

And the hen was out in the yard, cackling merrily, chirping about with a carefree air.

ALLISON SAYS HE HAS SOLD 16,481 BOTTLES ORGATONE

Prominent Texas Druggist Declares Customers Invariably Come Back

Mr. J. H. Allison, one of the most prominent and best known druggists in the state of Texas in an interview says:

"In October, 1928, we were fortunate in being appointed agents for Orgatone in Wichita Falls, Texas. Since that time we have sold 16,481 of this sensational medicine and the demand for same is increasing daily.

"One significant feature in connection with the sale of Orgatone is the fact that most of our customers come back and buy more, many of them making a purchase of six bottles. In my mind this big repeat business is one of the greatest recommendations that a product, a product especially a propreitor remedy can have. I have personally talked with many of our customers, and never before have I heard such pronounced praises of the benefits received from taking a medicine. I can certainly congratulate Orgatone for its meritorious formula.

"J. H. ALLISON."

Wife's Expenditures Spell Financial Success or Failure for Her Husband

"A Man's Prosperity, the Realization or the Failure of His Ambitions Are All in the Little Bag on His Wife's Wrist—It Is What She Spends That Counts."

"The most pathetic figures on earth," said a man to me the other day, "are the poor old men who have worked hard all of their lives and who, at the end of them, have nothing to show for their work. Haven't even saved up enough money to enable them to slow down and take the last lap of the journey easily.

"You see them everywhere. Poor old, haggard-eyed clerks showing their goods with fumbling hands, living in mortal dread of losing their jobs. Gray-haired old bookkeepers working overtime because they cannot keep the pace the youngsters set. Weary, spent, bent-shouldered old men flogging themselves on to their daily grind like a wornout old dray horse. And all with death in their hearts, because they know the inevitable hour is bound to strike soon when young men will be put in their places and they will be forced to become dependent on their children or some grudging relative.

"All of my life the fate that I have most dreaded was to become a member of this company of the old down-and-outers, but now as I near the 70s I see it looming before me. I have worked hard. I have been efficient in business. I have spent very little on myself, and with no fear for the future. Instead of that I have practically nothing saved out of all the many thousands of dollars that I have earned and I am racked with anxiety over not only what will befall me, but my wife, when my earning capacity is gone.

"It is all my wife's fault. She is a good woman, but one of those who believe in enjoying today and letting tomorrow take care of itself. She has never been able to deny herself anything she wanted or to see the wisdom of providing against some possible catastrophe. In vain I have preached thrift to her and pictured to her the horrors of a dependent old age. She has laughed at me and mocked me and gone her way, living up to the last dollar of our income and often beyond it.

"I have never been niggardly with her, because I wanted her to have everything we could possibly afford. Even my desire to safeguard our old age was more for her than for myself, for a poor old woman is even more helpless and pitiful than a poor old man. But she absolutely refused to co-operate with me in saving, and I was helpless to do it without her.

"Queer, isn't it, that a man's prosperity, the realization or the failure of his ambitions, are all in the little bag on his wife's wrist. It doesn't make any difference how much money he makes, it is what she spends that counts. It is useless for him to try to be economical if she is a waster."

This man is right in saying that a husband and wife must do team work if they get along in the world and save up any money. No man, no matter how thrifty he is nor how much he personally denies himself, can make any headway in nourishing a savings bank account if he has a wife who is extravagant. For, as the old proverb truly says: "a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than a man can put in at the front door with a shovel."

No men in the world are more entitled to our sympathy than those who are cursed with wives who are spenders. For no experience can be more heartbreaking, none more discouraging, none more exasperating than for a man to spend his life toiling just to keep ahead of the bill collector, and to see other men of no more ability than he has forging ahead of him because he is tied down with the ball and chain of his wife's debts.

The door of opportunity opens only to a golden key, and if a man has a few thousand dollars saved up he can often pass through the portals that lead to fortune; he cannot do this if his wife has spent everything he made as they went along. The man without a dollar in the bank is a bond slave who is owned body and soul by his employer, because, no matter how badly he is treated, he dares not throw up his job if he has no money to live on for even a week. The man who has no money laid by that would see him through sickness or loss of position lives in a sort of panic that turns his blood to water and his bones to chalk when he thinks of what would become of his wife and his children and himself if any catastrophe should befall him.

We talk about evil women, about women who are vamps, who are gold-diggers, who are harlots, but the worst of them cannot ruin a man's life more completely than do these good, kindly, affectionate wives through whose fingers money slips away like water. These wives who literally sell their husbands' liefblood for silk stockings and Paris hats and bridge prizes and automobiles.

If these extravagant wives only had sense enough to look at the matter straight they would see that it was even more important for themselves that the future should be safeguarded than it is for their husbands. For a man can practically always get something to do up to the very end of his life that will make him some sort of living, but under heaven there is no other creature so helpless and piteous as the middle-aged woman who is penniless.

She knows no way of making a dollar and she is too old to learn how. She cannot compete with girls. Nobody wants her around a business office. Nobody will even give her a show at any work but the most menial, and there is nothing left for her but to find out how steep are another man's stairs and how bitter the bread of dependence.

Every woman knows a dozen other women who used to live on cakes and ale, but who have not even bread to eat in their old age. How much misery it would save if they could only realize that that fate is bound to be their own unless they save up a competence against their old age.

If they did, if the extravagant wives would only look into the future, they would clutch every dollar so tightly that they would make the eagle scream upon it, and they would back their husbands up in saving for that rainy day that comes to us all and in which we get so very wet if we have not provided ourselves with a competent umbrella. —DOROTHY DIX.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, March 17. (US)—Gordon Thorne of Chicago, taking his fourth bride, was so nervous he trembled and signed the wrong name. Fancy that!

Men have trembled before at the altar, and they have signed wrong names, but rarely on marriage licenses.

Right after the item that told how Queen Mary shopped for gifts for a charity bazaar in one of England's five and ten cent stores, there was an item telling that the Prince of Wales is selling horses.

The doctors in England must charge almost as much as they do in America.

Oregon has passed a law that no stenographer can be a witness against her employer. "A law designed to create a more confidential relationship between stenographer and employer."

The next crying need, will be one to the effect that employers' wives cannot bear witness against their husband's stenographers.

Then Oregon will be what is comically known as a state of perfect happiness.

Chicago boasts a wife who wants a divorce because her husband is positively killing her with kindness. Everytime she opens the door a box of candy or flowers drops in. He awakens her each morning with a kiss. He tries to be helpful about the house. It's awful, simply awful!

And to make things worse Judge Sabbath says she can't have a divorce. That kindness is not a crime.

Now how is the lady ever going to find out what it would be like to have the kind of husband other women have? It's like a play with one of these unsatisfactory endings.

Why is it that the plainest women clerks, who are thin and pale and need fresh air desperately, are always made to work in the stuffy basements of stores? You go down there to buy something and hurry out so you can get a couple of lungs full of fresh air. These women stand it all day, and then you snap at them if they become impatient.

Groom Installs New Utilities

Special to The Record News

GROOM, Texas, March 17—Lights, water and gas are the three major public utilities that have been installed in Groom during the past year. With these conveniences and with good crops during this year, the town should experience a general growth during 1929, according to local citizens.

A great deal of pride is being manifested in the new water system, now being completed at a cost of $40,000. Two 50,000-gallon reservoirs, one elevated and the other an underground tank, three miles of mains, will adequately supply the water needs of Groom for years to come, according to S. K. Roach, mayor. Every block in the town has access to one or more of the two, six or eight-inch mains. In order to increase the water supply, a second well will be drilled soon, Roach said. This project will cost approximately $5,000 when completed with a pump capable of furnishing 100 gallons of water per minute.

The light and power service of Groom will be increased through the construction of high light through this territory by the South west Public Service company, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been informed. A small generating plant, installed eight months ago by Groom citizens, was purchased two months ago by the major company, which is to construct the electric high line.

SERVICE TEST OF CHRISTIAN

Moreland Speaks on Oneness of God

Under the title of "God Laughs," Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church, delivered a sermon on the oneness and the universal fatherhood of God at the evening services at his church Sunday.

Neither God nor Jesus Christ is a respecter of race, location, class or name, Rev. Mr. Moreland declared. Not a place of worship, nor a form of worship, but a life more abundant in love and humble service comprises the fulfillment of Christ's preaching, the speaker said.

Rev. Mr. Moreland's sermon in part follows:

"Does God kill babies to punish parents? Does He kill?"

"Does He afflict the disobedient with sickness, disease, deformation or blindness? Is He cruel?

"Does God love one individual, denomination or nation, and hate the less favored? Is He partial?

"Does God prefer the white man to the black or yellow? Is God prejudiced?

"Does God create, and put into the world, booze and dope to damn and destroy? Is God reckless?

"Does God save the sect or individual baptized by immersion, and repudiate other groups who worship with different ceremonies and formalities, but with consecrated minds and hearts? Is God sectarian?

"Does God love the southerner better than the man born north of the Mason-Dixon line? Is God sectional?

"Jesus who healed the blind, forgave the scarlet woman, associated with Samaritans, publicans and sinners, who proclaimed not a form of baptism, nor a church government, but a life more abundant, said: 'He who hath seen Me hath seen the Father,' and 'I and the Father am one. Before Abraham was, I am.'

"'Come unto Me, ye who are weary and heavy laden,' He said. 'Go, and sin no more,' to the woman taken in sin. 'I am come to seek and save that which was lost,' to those who censured him commingling with the poor, the sinful and the hated publicans.

"God is like Jesus. He is not cruel, narrow, capricious and vengeful, but is a Father to all men."

Film Dulls Teeth

It is a constant danger

It is the chief source of decay and pyorrhea. The way dentists urge to combat it.

FILM is the great enemy of teeth and gums—a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth and gum disorders. Film absorbs the stains from food and smoking and gives that cloudy look. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film use the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent It acts to curdle film and easily remove it in gentle safety to enamel.

Don't expect the same results from old-time dentifrices. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

GOLD IS FOUND IN PANHANDLE

Colorado Company May Start Mine at Alanreed

Special to The Record News

ALANREED, Texas, March 17—The Texas Panhandle, long noted for its agricultural possibilities and oil production, may yet yield gold, according to local citizens and mining experts from the Rocky Mountain region.

A discovery of gold in sands found two miles south of Alanreed several months ago may lead to the development of a placer mining project, according to R. Burton Haviland and James J. Cully of Denver, Colo., who were here Thursday to get samples of the earth said to contain the precious metal. The sand will be tested in Colorado laboratories to determine whether or not the gold content will justify mining operations. J. H. McCracken of Amarillo, also interested in the project, came to Alanreed with the Colorado men.

Big Gold Content

Sand containing gold in small quantities is thought to cover from 640 to 1,000 acres of land in the southern part of Gray county, taking in portions of ranches owned by W. J. Ball, Alanreed merchant, and F. R. McCracken, local banker. The gold content of the sand assayed recently showed to be worth from $2.64 to $3.20 per ton of earth. Should the entire area yield as much as $1.25 worth of gold per ton, the area may be mined profitably, Haviland said.

"Of course, the mine will be purely a steam shovel affair," the Denver man said. "The gold has been found on the surface and it is not expected that a lode or bonzana will develop. Shafts will be sunk to determine the depth of the sand."

W. J. Ball tells the story of the discovery of the mineral.

"For years we have been hearing of the finding of gold in the Red River section," he said, "but nobody believed the tales. I did not know that there was gold on my place until a few months ago when one of my former tenants came to me to ask about buying sand for concrete work. I told him that I didn't know that I had sand suited for building purposes. 'Mr. Ball,' he said to me, 'you have other things that you don't know about.' After that he told me about finding gold south of Alanreed on my property. It seems that he and an old prospector from Arizona had put in a great deel of time digging holes over the ranch.

Panned Some Himself

"A lot of people laughed at the idea of finding the yellow metal in the Panhandle, when the story leaked out, so I went to the ranch and panned some sand found in a dry creek bed just to show them that the metal was present. I was as much surprised as were my friends when the gold was actually found.

"No, we don't expect a 'gold rush' to Alanreed," Ball said when asked if he thought that the Gray county find would cause a duplication of the California ''49' stir. The first reason is that the metal will have to be mined on a large scale to be profitable, and secondly, because the land is under lease and we expect to carry on the work ourselves should the engineers advise development."

Test For Oil

Acreage in the gold producing area has been leased to the Bluebonnet Oil company of California for oil and gas development and it has been indicated that a test will be drilled in the block, which is approximately 15 miles south of the Lefors oil fields.

Fullers' earth, used in the refining of crude oils, also has been discovered in the Alanreed section in commercial quantities, Ball said. Iron and coal have been found in small quantities in this area, he added.

Another interesting feature planned for the fair will be a baby show each afternoon, with prizes for the high score babies. Entertaining programs will be arranged for the night performances.

Further details of the affair will be published at a later date. A similar show was put on by the same organization last year, and proved a distinct success.

Equipment for Olney School Library Arrives

OLNEY, Texas, March 17—Equipment for the library at the high school is beginning to arrive, and it is hoped to have the library functioning systematically within a few weeks. R. O. Kenley Deals With Three Laws In Sermon on Importance of Baptism

Observance of the moral law, the ceremonial law, and the civil law is necessary to the fulfillment of the requisites for salvation, according to a sermon given by Judge R. O. Kenley Sunday morning before the congregation of the Buchanan Street Church of Christ.

Speaking upon "The Importance of Baptism and the Lord's Supper," Judge Kenley declared that the moral law becomes known to most men merely through the light of reason "because of the fact of their essential agreeableness with the constitution of human nature." Ceremonial law, the speaker said, differs from the moral in that it must be taken on faith, and that it often changes. The ceremony of baptism is requisite to Christian salvation, he said, because "it is a physical enactment of the gospel."

Choosing the fifteenth, twenty-first, twenty-third and twenty-fourth verses of the fourteenth chapter of John as his text, Judge Kenley spoke in part as follows:

"The great stumbling block in the way of people who want to become Christians and live a Christian life is the fact that they are not taught and do not take into consideration that as Christians they are required to obey, respect and live under three laws:

"1. The moral laws.
"2. The positive laws of God.
"3. Laws of civil governments.

The Moral Laws

"The moral law is probably the older law of the three. It emanated from God and was probably given to human beings before the giving of any positive laws. It has never been subject to changes, under different dispensation, as has been the positive law. It was ordained and designed by Jehovah for man through all ages. It has been defined to be 'a rule which so necessarily agrees with the nature and state of man that, without observing its maxims, the peace and happiness of society can never be preserved. Moral laws are also called natural laws, 'because a knowledge of them may be obtained merely by the light of reason, from the fact of their essential agreeableness with the constitution of human nature.'

"The moral law, or law of nature, came into existence with the creation of man. Man has been slow in many ages to discover and apply all the truth and principles of the moral law, notwithstanding the fact that many of them have been in all ages enacted into statutes, both by ecclesiastical and civil governments. The law of Moses is replete with them. They are all embraced in the second great commandment:

" 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.' (Matt. 22:39; Gal. 5:14; James 2:8.)

Or as Christ put it in his sermon on the Mount, 'Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets.' (Matt. 7:12.)

"The moral law embodies the duties that we owe to our fellowman, as noted in the parable of the last judgment, Matt. 25:31-46.

Positive or Ceremonial Law

"Positive or ceremonial law is different from the moral law or natural law, in that human beings cannot see the reason for it. Its validity is dependent wholly upon the fiat of Jehovah. It is defined to be 'laws founded upon the will of God only.' The observance of the positive or ceremonial law is dependent wholly upon man's faith in God. Its observance is embodied in what is known as the greatest commandment:

" 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.' (Matt. 22:37.)

"The positive or ceremonial law is unlike the moral law in that it has changed often. However, regardless of the many changes, God has never permitted man since his creation to live without being subject to some positive or ceremonial law in addition to the moral law.

"Adam and Eve and their immediate descendants were required to offer sacrifices of animals to God at stated times. We have the first example in the case of Cain and Abel offering sacrifices to God. Abel offered a sacrifice according to faith, that is, according to the commandments of God. Cain offered a sacrifice that according to human reason was just as good as the one God commanded him to offer. The sacrifice offered by Abel met with God's approval. The sacrifice offered by Cain was rejected by God.

"The law of Moses, or Jewish law was given exclusively to the descendants of Abraham, and did not repeal the moral law or the patriarchal law, but only supplemented same. As all Bible students are aware, the Mosaical or Jewish law was filled with many positive or ceremonial laws, among which at all times was the offering of animal sacrifices. The Mosaical or Jewish law continued for a period of 1,491 years.

Instructions for Man

"Under both the patriarchal and Jewish law, God gave to man specific instructions as to how he should worship Him. Under the patriarchal law the father or the head of the family was held responsible for the family worship to be rendered unto God. Under the Mosaical law of Jewish law, tabernacle service and the Temple service was instituted and these services were to be conducted under the minute direction of the law. Those familiar with the architecture of both the tabernacle and temple, will recall that the outer court of the temple or tabernacle could be entered by all people; the inner court could be entered only by priests, and that before entering said inner court the bodies of the priests were washed and cleansed.

"The tabernacle or temple service was a type or shadow of the great and perfect spiritual church and kingdom that was afterwards to be set up and instituted by Jesus Christ.

"Jesus Christ, the only begotten son of God, appeared as the intercessor or mediator for man. His purpose was to enact and put into effect a law by and through which man could be reclaimed from his lost condition.

"Justice, after the violation of a positive law of God by Adam and Eve, had driven them from the tree of life and brought temporal death upon all mankind. The laws of Jehovah are just and unchangeable. Jesus Christ, since the fall of man, made constant intercession with God for man and through mercy or grace, and not justice, God gave his Son, Jesus Christ, as a sacrifice, and Jesus Christ accepted the office of the great sacrifice, in order to put in existence a law through which man might be redeemed.

"As a forerunner to Jesus Christ, John the Baptist, as a messenger of God, preached repentance to the Jews, and instituted the ceremony of baptism. This was known as the gospel in preparation. John baptized Jesus, not that it was necessary for any moral reason, as Jesus was sinless, but for the sole purpose of fulfilling all law. Jesus Christ, after his baptism, preached and taught the people, baptized, and commanded people to be baptized, which activities were limited to the Jews.

"Jesus Christ proclaimed the great fundamental truths of the new kingdom He was to set up and be the head of. These truths were largely merged into what is known as the Sermon on the Mount. Matt., chapters 5.6 and 7.

"The principles taught in this sermon are very properly referred to as the constitution of the Church or Kingdom of Christ. The Church or Kingdom of Christ was set in order 50 days, or on the first Penecost, after the resurrection of Christ from the grave. After Christ's resurrection, and before His ascension to heaven, He gave to His apostles what is known as the great commission. Matt. 28: 18-19-20.

" 'And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto Me in heaven and in earth.

" 'Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:

" 'Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen.'

"We learn that Jesus, before His ascension, gave to His apostles the power to legislate and make laws for the purpose of putting into effect the fundamental truths that He taught His disciples while associated with them, including the great commission. However, they were not to attempt any of those things until the Holy Spirit or Comforter appeared and called to their mind, and directed them in carrying out these truths:

Baptism

"The first Christian baptism that we have any record of in the New Testament, and after Jesus had ascended to His throne and become King, is recorded in Acts 2:38-39, 40 and 41. The Book of Acts, which is commonly known as the Book of Conversions, is replete with examples of just how and for what purpose baptism was administered. In every case, the concluding part of every conversion is baptism. The great trouble with people is that they have been taught 'character only salvation,' and from early childhood have heard the preacher at the funeral of the man who was not a member of the church, state that membership in the church was not required for man's salvation, but only a good character, and always wound up by placing the deceased in heaven.

"In chapter 10 of the Acts of the Apostles, we have the case of Cornelius, the first gentile convert of which the New Testament gives any account. The book says that he was a devout man, one that feared God with all his house, gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always. No better moral example could be found. Peter was sent to preach the gospel to him, notwithstanding his good moral character, he commanded Cornelius and his household to be baptized.

"Was it necessary for Cornelius to be baptized in order to translate him into the Kingdom of Christ, and for him to receive the forgiveness of his past sins? I am sure that no Bible student would accuse Peter, under the direction of the Holy Spirit, of doing some needless thing.

Lord's Supper

"On the night before the betrayal of Jesus, just as He and His apostles were concluding the Feast of the Passover, and after Judas Iscariot had left them for the purpose of betraying the Lord to His enemies, Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper, intending thereby to supersede the Feast of the Passover with a spiritual institution. Matt. 26:26-28; Mark 14:22-24; Luke 22:19-20.

"This ceremony was instituted by Jesus and given to His apostles like many other things, its performance to be carried out by them under the direction of the Holy Spirit, after the Church or Kingdom of Christ was set up. We find many references to this institution being observed by the apostles and the early church, and its observance being enjoined upon the members of the early church during the lives of the apostles.

"The Lord's Supper is related to the forgiveness of sins for the Christian in the same way that baptism is related to the forgiveness of sins for the alien sinner. We are baptized into one body. I. Cor. 12:13.

" 'The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles,' a book giving an account of the early church, says that for more than 700 years after the resurrection of Christ, the Lord's Supper was observed by the church each Lord's Day. The time of its observance by some congregations was changed, and of this change John Calvin said, 'The change is a contrivance of the devil.' John Wesley urged the observance of the communion on the first day of each week. There is no doubt but what the apostles, and the Christians during the first seven centuries after the resurrection of Christ, recognized in the weekly observance of the Lord's Supper a connection with the remission of sins.

"As we partake of the bread broken, we become partakers of His broken body, of all the suffering which brings us life. As we partake of the cup, we have communion of the blood which for us was poured out. But it is not only communion with suffering and death, it is more than that; it is a communion with life, His life.

Symbol of Baptism

"Baptism, as before stated, proclaims in a symbolical manner the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ. The Lord's Supper, when observed, likewise proclaims the three great facts of the gospel of Christ, the death, burial and resurrection of our Lord; it being observed on the first day of the week, the day of His resurrection, by baptized believers.

"The positive or ceremonial laws of God have always been the stumbling blocks of the worldly wise. Naaman was instructed by a prophet of God to perform a simple, positive or ceremonial act for the cure of leprosy, and but for a simple minded little Jewish child, who knew no better than to take God at His word, Naaman would have failed to take advantage of the remedy offered.

"Through the gospel of Christ, man has been freed from the observance of all positive or ceremonial laws, save and except baptism and the observance of the Lord's Supper, both of which were commanded by Jesus Christ, recognized, legislated and put into practice by the apostles, and observed by the whole church for 700 years after the resurrection of Christ, only to be set aside or substituted by and under the wisdom of man.

"I do not want anyone to understand that I contend that a person can be a Christian simply by observing the ceremonial or positive laws of Christ, but on the contrary, I insist that in order to be a Christian he must observe not only the positive or ceremonial laws of Christ, but the moral laws and laws of civil governments as well."

CABBAGES AND KINGS

Daily Editorial

THE seed catalogs have just come, to remind us Spring is turning the corner.

And also, that the American garden offers a greater variety of foodstuffs than all of Europe could once provide.

Our vegetable patches are international melting pots.

Corn, potatoes, pumkins, squash, limas and tomatoes are native stock—and almost all the root and broad leaf crops, naturalized citizens of direct English origin, but original Flemish descent.

The early Britons lived practically on grains, game, fowl and fish.

Refugees from the Low Countries settling in Sussex and Eessex, brought along the carrot, the beet, celery, spinach, various legumes and cherished salad greens.

Several centuries elapsed before their general adoption. Meanwhile common folk mainly subsisted on coarse bread and such indigenous edibles as chance, the long-bow and net could find.

Potatoes, a world-benefaction from Peru, were recommended for the making of delicate conserves and sweet-meats, or as a stew with prunes.

AS in this country, tomatoes, or Love Apples, were long considered poisonous and raised as decorative plants for flower borders.

Pippins, pears, cherries and plums flourished throughout the kingdom, but were chiefly used for cider and wines.

Honey (the only sweetening until "the Indian salt called sugar" wandered from the East) was fermented into a heady beer—the mead of Scandinavian sagas.

John Bull first tasted ale when his Flemish citizens sowed hops and set up breweries.

But the instant pepper demonstrated its quality, demand was so prompt for the unique seasoning, that traders by dozens braved Oriental seas to crowd their hold with cargoes for an insatiate market.

"Pepperers" grew incredibly wealthy. Later, they formed an all-powerful guild under the title of "grossers" (that is, wholesalers), from which the modern term "grocer," derives.

But of all luxuries and rarities, the paramount tid-bit was cabbage.

That could be procured only from the Netherlands, whence an occasional head drifted, by way of the wars and wool-boats.

Kings greeted a present of kraut with the delight that Queens now bestow on a pearl of price.

Boiled dinners could tell many a strange tale if they'd a mind to.

Autobiographies of rhubarb and lettuce, alone, would fill a fat volume.

There are sermons in soups, as well as stones.

Romance, like gold, is where you find it.

Another way to clean up some real money without takin' any chances is to bet that a passenger train an' an auto 'll be nose an' nose at a crossin'. "You can't have a divorce, fer you could see what you wuz gettin' when you married her," roared Judge Pusey today, as he ordered Lile Kite to go back to his wife.

Our Travel Story

THE history of the United States has been, in a way, largely a history of the advance in methods of transportation. Tell the story of the different ways men have found of transporting themselves from one place to another and you have outlined the development of the country.

Perhaps it is a dim realization of this truth that makes the average American so interested in everything on wheels, from a stage coach in a museum to a shiny new automobile. Much of the romance in this new land of ours centers about transportation; where a European town clings to memories of ancient wars and takes pride in stone towers that date back many centuries, an American town puts its pride and its affection into its railroads or its concrete roads.

Thus the advance in traffic in the air is highly significant. The railroads brought a new era, and the automobiles brought still another and it is more than possible that the airplane is about to usher in a third.

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce announces that commercial planes in this country last year flew a total of nearly 10,500,000 miles, carrying 52,934 passengers—an increase in passenger traffic of 420 per cent over the previous year.

Even by itself, this news item is interesting enough. Hook it up with the whole history and it becomes part of a great pageant. The far-flung spaces of the continent have been shrinking for a century; New York and San Francisco are closer now than New York and Boston were a century ago.

Look at the whole picture. First there were the ox-teams and the lone riders, struggling along over roads that were no more than trails, proud of their speed if they accomplished 20 miles in a day. Then, as roads were improved, came the stage coaches—picturesque, colorful and slow, linking together the infant cities of the east, and followed by the wagons in which all of the inland freight was carried.

The west began to beckon. Huge wagons labored over the Alleghenies. Pittsburgh was a distant outpost, to be reached only after a long journey. The wagons were neither fast, capacious nor cheap enough; canals were dug, and the ungainly canal boats became all-important.

Then came the railroad. Slow and crude at first, it quickly won the favor of everyone. Towns vied with each other for places on the right-of-way. Places that the railroads missed shriveled and died; more fortunate ones grew great and rich. The railroads made it possible for the country to develop as a unit; when they were once established, the great industrial and commercial growth of the last half of the 19th century got under way.

More recently the automobile emerged to change things again. It made a rover out of the settled city man and ended the isolation of distant farms. It altered countless customs, changed the layout of cities, brought in a whole new set of standards and habits.

And now—the airplane. Look carefully at the amazing growth of this newest form of transportation. It may be the beginning of yet another era in our national life.

Dawes Is a Chance fo Chicago

OF COURSE, it's Chicago's own business. Maybe Chicago has already thought of it, and maybe the idea doesn't appeal to it; but anyhow, we think it's a hunch—

An extremely distinguished, capable and energetic citizen of Chicago has just returned to private life. After years in government service, he is, so to speak, out of a job again.

Chicago, as it happens, has an extremely perplexing and pressing problem on its hands—a problem that has to do with gangs and crime and racketeers and crooked politicians and such like phenomena. It needs a big man to give it a lift out of its present situation; a man who can't be scared, a man who knows about government and about business, a man in whom the public has confidence.

So, we repeat, Chicago might ponder on the fact that just such a man, a citizen of Chicago, is returning to private life and might be pressed into service.

His name? Charles Gates Dawes, until recently vice president of the United States.

Taft Is Esteemed

IT IS to be hoped that the rumors that Chief Justice William Howard Taft will retire in the near future are incorrect. The chief justice has revealed a good deal of ability and a vast fund of level-headedness and devotion to duty during his time on the bench. Judges of his caliber are not too easily found.

It is true that he has never been numbered among the court's "liberals" with Brandeis and Holmes. But few liberals, for all that, would be pleased if he were to step down. The country needs him where he is, and his retirement would be met with almost universal regret.

A Bad Bet If You Win

WHEN you make a bet, be careful whom you make it with. A Detroit man not long ago bet $10 on a prize fight—bet it with a bartender in a speakeasy. His fighter won and he went to the speakeasy to collect. The bartender was prepared to pay—but he insisted that the winner take it out in trade.

Manfully the lucky bettor struggled to consume $10 worth of drink. He succeeded, but the effort left him woozy and awry-eyed, and when he left the place he staggered into the arms of a policeman and was taken to the station house to sober up.

And next day he had to appear in court and pay a fine.

Sometimes the winner of a bet is worse off than the loser.

GOOD PROFIT FROM SHEEP

An accurate record on a small flock of farm sheep kept by Carl Stiles in Ellis county for the last six years shows that from an average investment of $104.66 per year he has realized an annual profit of $132.64 or a return of 126 per cent. Mr. Stiles follows the practice of turning his sheep into the fields after crops are off to clean up the waste and weeds. The carrying capacity of his pasture for stock has been increased one-third by running sheep there, due to their keeping down weed growth. —McKinney (Texas) Courier Gazette.

WAITING FOR THAT PROSPERITY

Much is being said about Hoover taking Mellon in with him, or Mellon taking Hoover in with him, but it is to be hoped that a final analysis does not reveal the fact that we have all been "taken in" by the two of them.

Which reminds us of prosperity and it is nice that there is something to remind us of it, for about the only contact we have had with the financial world since Hoover ascended the throne, was through a rather brief and to-the-point note from our banker.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, March 17.—The same Broadway that so readily acclaims the stars in their ascension can as quickly ignore and forget them. Sometimes it is the fault of the public, quite frequently it is due to the failure of a star to discern the real causes.

There comes to mind Miss Lucile La Verne. For six years she starred as the widow, Cagle, in the overwhelming success, "Sun-Up." It was a hit both here and in London and during all that time Miss La Verne exactly fitted that type. But when the run of "Sun-Up" finally came to an end, her friends decided she should be made a star in her own right. They even secured a theater for her.

Since that time her theatrical adventures have not taken her far. She tried out "Hot Water" but it failed after three weeks, and the public forgets her in spite of her charm, her intelligence and her abilities.

Miss La Verne, like a number of other actresses, has a certain appeal and only when good plays that call for her particular type appear, can she hope for success. Even an actress with such a wide emotional range as Mrs. Minnie Fiske is idle because there is no current play calling for her "type." Margaret Anglin is another. Marjorie Rambeau, once a Broadway character star, is now appearing in stock. Charles Coburn is reviving "The Yellow Jacket" in his own theater.

George Arliss, one of the greatest of living actors, has had to go back to Shakespeare to get a suitable role. There are no plays like "The Green Goddess" or "Disraeli" and "Old English" being written these days. It proves, perhaps, you can't always hook a wagon or a vehicle of any sort to a star quite often the star must be hooked to the wagon.

Willard Keefe, the playwright and one of the closest observers of trends in Broadway, tells me that the chief reason for the dimming of once brilliant stars is due to the present-day demand for plays with youth. Playwrights and producers are bringing forth, not masterpieces in which certain sterling characters are set forth on the stage, but plays with young love, young adventure—youth, youth, always youth!

The public demands youth, the playwrights keep this in mind and the producers look only for those thespians who typify it and exude it in every utterance and action.

Thus, some of our finest actors, even those who are this side of the borderline of middle age, must stand aside while youth trips lightly out from the wings.

While on the subject of the stage, it might be interesting to note that a rebellion is threatened against that part of the theater audience which goes in heavily for indiscriminate applause. Not only are the critics objecting to this practice but so are the actors and producers.

Whitney Bolton, the first of the critics to direct an attack upon what he regards as a demonstration of thoughtlessness by the audience, calls attention to the repeated interruptions of a show, at the most important moments, by people who insist upon clapping their hands. The custom of friends signifying to an actor, he says, that they are in the audience and will stand by him "through high water and falling scenery" has lost its courteous meaning and has become a rather habitual bore. In a number of cases, he adds, minor actresses instead of being helped by such demontsrations, are embarrassed and sometimes their careers are injured.

Toscanni, the gifted orchestral conductor, has arrived in New York to conduct the Philharmonic Orchestra. And it brings to mind that he has been among the leaders in taking a firm stand against people who disturb the audience by unnecessary noises.

As the cigaret and cough-drop advertisements hastily point out, even coughing is looked upon with askance by the great conductors. But Toscanni also takes a decided stand against those who insist upon whispering and talking during an overture. On several occasions he stopped the orchestra in the midst of an overture and waited until the talking and whispering had ceased.

During the rendition of an overture, at that point where there is a pause and, to all intents and purposes, the score has been finished, people who make a great pretense of being musical really show their ignorance by applauding. They think the overture is ended and so they applaud on general principles, without really knowing what they are applauding.

It proves embarrassing to the orchestra and chagrins those in the audience who want to hear the overture through. And the individual who goes to great pains to applaud during a brief pause usually has a big blushing red spot on his face when he realizes that the overture wasn't over, after all.

How Diet Affects the Teeth

It has long been claimed that teeth are necessary for chewing hard food, but only recently has it been discovered that food is needed for hard-chewing teeth.

As in every other part of the body, the teeth are formed from elements obtained from our food. Especially are fluorin and calcium necessary. Dentists have been very progressive in understanding the importance of food. They realized that many structural defects of the jaws and an early decay of the teeth are often caused by a lack of the right food elements during the formative years of life. It has been found that a deficiency of fat-soluble A vitamin causes the odontoclasts (the cells which form the dentin of the teeth) to form a much softer bone structure instead of dentin. This causes of dentin of the teeth to be less dense and much less resistant to decay.

In experiments upon rats it has been found that when the diet is deficient in the antiscorbutic vitamins, the dentin-forming cells cease to function, but upon the administration of orange juice or other foods containing these vitamins, new dentin begins to form within one or two days.

The diet of the child from birth until the teeth have all appeared is of the utmost importance. After a tooth has once been formed the diet has very little effect upon it, but during the years when the teeth are forming and growing, it is possible to determine whether the permanent teeth are to last throughout life or whether they will decay in the early twenties.

Excess acidity of the stomach is directly responsible for most of the diseases which affect the teeth and such diseases as pyorrhea cannot be cured by direct treatment to the teeth alone, but must be eliminated by constitutional measures which will affect the general health, with the principal care given to correct diet and especially to food combinations.

Once the teeth have become fully developed they must be guarded carefully, even though they have not been nourished as well as they should have been during childhood. One can prevent decay to a large degree by keeping the teeth thoroughly clean.

The American custom of finishing a meal with a sweet, starchy dessert is not a good one, as some of this stick, fermentable food usually clings to the teeth or within the crevices and forms the first focal point of decay. Not only should the teeth be brushed regularly before retiring, but it is also a good plan to end a meal by chewing some raw vegetable, such as carrots or celery. The mechanical action of the cellulose is a very good scouring agent for the teeth, and tends to remove the clinging food particles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nephritis

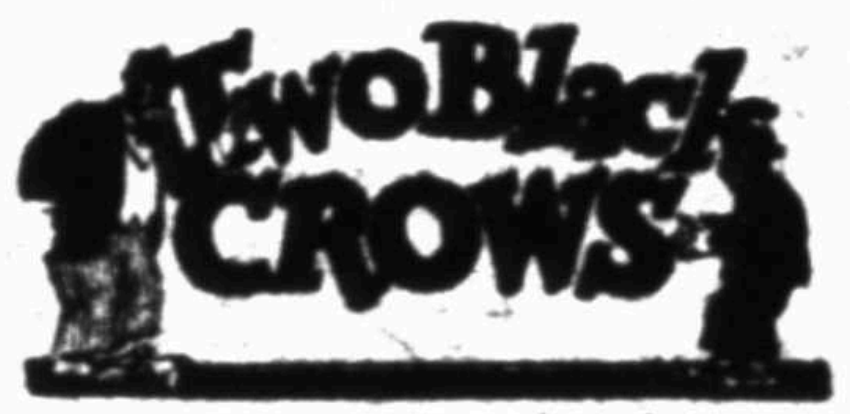
Question: Mrs. R. J. G. writes: "I have a son 6 years old. About two months ago he had an acute attack of appendititis and since then has had nephritis, which he also had a year ago and we thought him cured of. Will you please send me a diet for him and anything else you think beneficial? He also has a cyst in the upper part of the ear, extending as far back as can be probed. It exudes pus, and we have been to specialists, but they will not remove it. Do you think it should be removed surgically? If so, where would you advise taking him?"

Answer: I suggest that you put your little boy on a short fruit fast and follow this with a well balanced diet, instructions for which I am sending you by mail. I believe in the course of time you will notice great improvement in his condition. It would be unwise for me to attempt to give you advice about the cyst in the upper part of your little boy's ear, without first having the opportunity of making a personal examination as to whether or not it should be removed. It is possible that this cyst will be absorbed as his general health is improved.

No Food Makes High Blood Pressure

Question: H. O. S. writes: "Tell me which foods affect blood pressure, sending it up or down. Also what do you advise to keep it down?"

Answer: There are no specific foods for sending the blood pressure either up or down. The only foods which I have discovered which will affect the blood pressure in susceptible people are the starches and sugar, which often produce a rise in high blood pressure patients. However, in low blood pressure patients they sometimes have an opposite effect. I have prepared articles and diets on high blood pressure which I will gladly send to you if you will send me your name and address on a large stamped envelope. The explanation and diet instructions are too long to be given in this question and answer column.



MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: Big Boy, what is yo' doing now?

MACK: Egghead, I'm a stenographer in a feed and grain store.

MORAN: What does a feed and grain stenoggrapher do?

MACK: He takes down oats.

MORAN: I'se got a good job, too. I'm life guard in a restawrant.

MACK: What does yo' do?

MORAN: I rescues dishes from th' sink. How come yo' quit that job in th' animal cracker factory.

MACK: The' man wanted me to pose for th' squirrels.

MORAN: I kin get yo' a job in th' restawrant.

MACK: There's only one job I want in a restawrant.

MORAN: What's that?

MACK: Eatin'.

MORAN: That's my job.

MACK: Yo' is got an assistant right now.

Health Conditions In Mangum Favorable

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., March 17.—Mangum schools compare favorably with other schools in health conditions, says Miss Bess Kilogh, public health nurse who has been conducting a physical examination in the schools here. The number of children underweight is less than average, although the per cent of poor vision is high. The low percentage of dental defects she attributes to the fact that Mangum is in an agricultural district, and the children receive a more balanced diet than in some localities. Expenses of the examination were met by the Christmas Seal sale, of which County Supt. C. B. Overby was chairman.

WILTSE AND SMITH HURL SPUDS TO 3-1 VICTORY OVER SAINTS

HOME TOSSERS CLOUT TIMELY

Crouch, Snyder, Spiers And Fitz Lead Attack

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Capturing ball games has been a habit for Spudder nines for several seasons and it didn't take long for the 1929 edition of the Wichita Falls Texas league entry to start its winning way. In fact, the second spring contest of the year was put in the old hit and run bag by Jim Galloway's athletes yesterday, when they trounced the St. Paul Saints out at the orchard.

The score of a sparkling pastime for this early in the season was 3 to 1 and the victory gave our Spudders an even break with the American association club in the two-game series. It was a highly-relished triumph, not only to the tossers, but to some 1,000 fans and fanettes, also.

Harold Wiltse, the lefthander from the St. Louis Browns, and Cy Smith, the righthander from the Piedmont league, flashed some superb pitching to hold the AA aggregation safe all the way.

Superb Pitching

After being struck a terrific sock on the shin (a sock on the sock, as it were) from the bat of Bill Rogell, a former teammate with the Boston Red Sox, Wiltse continued in the ball game for the four innings Jim had him figured to work. Hal yielded the Saint run with two hits in the first round but limited the foe to a brace of knocks the remaining three innings. He gave evidence of the pitching mastery that is his by keeping ahead of the Saint batters all the way. Only one base on balls was given by Wiltse.

Smith held the Saints to three hits, scattered along as many innings, in the five innings he worked and gave two free transportations. The big fellow turned in a highly impressive mound performance and seems to be a foremost contender for retention by the Spudders.

The Spudders hit Van Atta, a southpaw, and Hopkins, a righthander, with runners on bases, combined with ineffective hurling by the latter. They pounded Van Atta for six blows in the first four innings, which they converted to two runs. Hopkins gave up only two knocks the last four frames but he was wild as the proverbial March hare, issuing seven bases on balls and uncorking two wild pitches.

Catchers Hit Timely

Spudder catchers had a heavy hand in the attack. Both Jack Crouch the kid from Joplin and Bob Snyder, the veteran formerly with Kansas City, smacked timely hits that sent teammates scampering home.

George Spiers and Howard Fitzgerald led the Spudder offensive with two hits each. Rogell and Davis, the latter playing left field in place of Bruno Haas, also smacked a pair of blows apiece, including a double and a single. Those two-base knocks were the only extra-base hits of the afternoon.

Fast fielding marked the game. Both clubs turned in two double plays apiece and only one error was made, while there were several bits of sparkling fielding.

George Spiers had a great day, the diminutive shortstop handling nine chances and making only one boot. Swenson and Grabowski also played some scintillating defensive baseball. Anderson roamed the outfield to pull down potential base hits.

The Saints scored their lone tally in the first inning. Rogell smashed a harsh liner that bounced off Wiltse's shin. Anderson sacrificed, Crouch to Clements. Chapman singled to left, Rogell scoring; Chapman was thrown out at second, Bennett to Swenson to Turgeon. Cooke was hit by a pitched ball. Roettger struck out.

Spudders Tie and Win

Wichita Falls tied the count in the second. Swenson, first up, was safe on a hit to deep short. He went to second on a passed ball. Best grounded to Grabowski, Swenson ambling to third. Crouch singled to center, scoring Swenson. Wiltse lifted to Anderson.

The Spudders went ahead in the third. Spiers led off with a sharp single to right. Turgeon, after hitting a foul by inches over the left field wall, hoisted to Rogell. Fitzgerald singled to right, Spiers going all the way to third. Bennett's tremendous smack backed Anderson against the center field fence and scored Spiers. Swenson forced Fitzgerald at second, Roettger to Grabowski.

Their third tally was scored by the Spudders in the eighth. Bennett, first up, walked. Swenson also strolled. Roettger came in for Best's pop bunt. Clements' fly to Cooke sent Bennett to third. Crouch hit through short, Bennett scoring and Swenson stopping at second. The runners moved up on a wild pitch. Smith was passed. Spiers forced Smith, Grabowski to Rogell.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Foreman Galloway is suffering from a heavy cold and he directed play from the bench, with Buddy Tanner, chief lieutenant, on the coaching lines.

Crouch is a great young catching prospect. The kid worked like a veteran yesterday and his throwing was beautiful. Jack made a perfect peg to catch Davis trying to steal in the second and Spiers tagged the runner, though he slid on his nose.

George played with his right hand taped but it didn't seem to bother him. He made a wow of a leaping snatch of Van Atta's drive in the fifth.

Anderson went far back to make a running one-hand grab of Crouch's terrific smash in the fourth.

Swenson handled nine chances without a bobble and started a double play in the eighth.

Allday also launched a two-ply killing in the ninth that helped Cy out of trouble.

Cheering word from the hospital is to the effect that J. Alvin Gardner, Spudder president, is mending rapidly from his recent major operation. The boys handed him a victory yesterday to speed his convalescence.

Skipper Jim will take 18 athletes, a majority of them rookies to Abilene for games with the Tulsa club tomorrow and Wednesday. Those who will make the trip include Wiltse, Smith, White, Stiely, Cromer and Schroeder, pitchers; Crouch and Snyder, catchers; Clements, first base; Allday, second base; Schairen, third base; Spiers, Garms and Andrews, shortstop; Bennett, Anderson, Best and Orr, outfield.

Andrews, first name Ray, is a youngster from the sandlots of California. He reported yesterday and showed a lot of speed in fielding drill. He is another protege of Milt Steengrafe.

The Kid Looks Great

Score another "find" for J. Alvin Gardner. Debs Garms, the rookie shortstop, is the latest Spudder youngster to loom as a potential big leaguer. Garms was "discovered" last spring playing for the Howard Payne college nine and when school was out joined the Abilene club, farm of the Spudders. He played such fine ball for the Aces that he was brought here for a trial in the fall and his work in a few Texas league games was so impressive that he was retained for this spring.

Now Debs is in a hot three-cornered fight with Rabbit Benton and George Spiers for the Spud shortstop assignment and even if he doesn't land the job this year, it seems a certainty that he'll be a Texas leaguer by next season—if not this campaign.

The SPORTLIGHT

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.; Trademark Registered, U. S. Patent Office)

The Amateur Scramble

With the amount of money being displaced in one spot or another around this country, the amateur situation doesn't face any gentler days. It may grow tougher and tougher.

In some places the athletes are under charges. In other places the clubs are viewed with deep suspicion.

Now Mr. George F. Smith, a Texas editor, brings up a situation which doesn't leave the A. A. U. any too well placed, as far as one can peer into the situation.

The complaint follows:

Dear Mr. Rice: We want to call your attention to our A. A. U. basket ball tournament last week and the further fact that there is nothing amateurish about the financial ends of the Southern association of this well known body.

Twenty-one girl teams entered our meet here. Each team paid an entry fee of $7.50, plus 25 cents for each player that averaged over $10 a team, a total of $210 that went to the A. A. U.

Twenty-five per cent of the gross receipts of $1,129.75, went to the A. A. U., calling for another check of $282.43.

A. A. U. referees, their traveling and eating expenses, added $206.50 more.

Trophies cost $250 and purchased from the A. A. U. (when they were worth about $150).

That results in four checks paid them that totals $948.93, and while the A. A. U. might be extolling and yelping the amateur idea in sport, we believe they have "Jesse James' horse" attached to their ballyhoo wagon some place.

Knowing of several times that you have used publicity in one way or another for amateur sport, we are sending this data on to you for further expression if you see fit to do so.

Thanking you in advance, I am very sincerely yours,

GEORGE F. SMITH,
Editor "Scurry County Times-Signal."

One of the vice presidents of the Southern A. A. U., admits that he can't see where the 25 per cent "cut" comes in. Neither can the Texas delegation that had to pay the same.

Three Types

There are three types or brands of athletics—as follows:

1. Amateur athletics—where there are no gate receipts, no money involved, no restrictions on where or when the amateur can play his or her game.

2. Organized amateur athletics—where gate receipts are charged and where the clubs or the competitors, or both, profit financially in one way or another.

3. Professional athletics — where every one involved gets paid. The first brand is the foundation of amateur sport. The second may be necessary, but wherever gate receipts are charged and money is collected, there is bound to be a certain amount of scandal and trouble and evasion. This all may be a necessary evil, but no one is going to develop a formula that will clean away all the spots.

The first and the third branches are the easiest to handle, since most of the details are simplified in advance. In these two cases they either get no reward at all, or the financial reward is the basis of operation.

A Month Away

It wasn't much further back than yesterday when the Yankees nailed the Cardinals in the fourth and final game of the last world series.

Now the calendar shows that a new season is just a month away, and there are early indications that this season may be the most interesting in some years.

There are four clubs pretty well matched in the National league, with a fifth not so far behind.

In the American league there is no great chance that the Yankees will wreck the race as they did last year through most of the summer, where at one time they were 13 games in front. They don't figure to leave the Athletics and Browns, among others, stranded that far back this spring and summer. Later on the Athletics came back to make a race out of it all, but the rally was a little too late for spring and summer gate receipts.

Where "Yankee" Came From

A reader sends us the origin of the name Yankee, from William Gordon's "Independence of the United States" (1788):

"It was a cant—favorite word with Farmer Jonathan Hastings of Cambridge, about 1713. The inventor used it to express excellency. A Yankee good horse—or Yankee cider and the like. The students of Harvard used to hire horses of him; their dealings with him and his use of the term on all occasions, led them to adopt it."

Well, it has been a Yankee good ball club since 1921, with six pennants out of the last eight starts.

So far as the heavyweight division is concerned, the facts of the case seem to be that no one yet has proved any championship class. Mediocrity can make a lot of headway, but it can't reach and hold the top.

It likewise marked the Miller's fourth defeat in five starts against Texas league clubs.

Johnny Brillheart, Miller southpaw, blew up in the seventh to give the Steers the winning tally. After Pete Jones, former Baylor star, had reached second on a hot drive to third that Mudlaff heaved wild over first, Brillheart issued three straight passes to Stock, Boggess and Jeffries to force Jones across the plate. BUFFS EXTEND GIANT VARSITY

HOUSTON, March 17. (AP)—The New York Giants first string beat the Buffs here today, 4 to 3, but the cohorts of Snyder have the consolation of knowing they gave the Giants their closest battle of the spring training season.

All of Houston's runs were scored in a rousing fourth-round rally off the delivery of Larry Benton, leading pitcher of the National league in 1928.

But for a questionable fourth-inning decision by Umpire Brennan, the Buffs might well have won the game. Brennan called Eddie Hock out at third, when some 7,000 spectators, and around 50 ball players apparently thought he was safe. Brennan's like some of the ball players—he hasn't as yet got his eye on the ball. Score:

New York ....101 200 000—4 10 1
Houston . .....000 300 000—3 7 1

Benton, Walker and O'Farrell, Schalk; Rose, Moon, Freeze and Hoffman, Funk, Abbott.

EXPORTER REGULARS DEFEAT YANNIGANS

BEAUMONT, March 17. (AP)—The Beaumont yannigans licked the regulars, 6 to 5 in six and a half innings today by scoring all their runs in the final stanza on one hit. Blackwell, promising southpaw sandlotter from Waco, developed a grand streak of wildness and lost the practice session for the first stringers.

CUB REGULARS ALSO VICTORS

WACO, March 17. (AP)—In the first regular full length workout today, the Cub regulars defeated the yannigans, 5 to 3. Two home runs featured the batting.

Return of Borotra Gives Rise to Indoor Tennis

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—The return of Jean Borotra, French Davis cup star, to the national indoor tennis championship has brought the tournament back to its former important position. The entry of the Basque, winner in 1925 and 1927, brought Frank Hunter in and made the entry list much better than last year when William Aydelotte swept through a mediocre field to the title.

Borotra started along the road to his third victory and permanent possession of the U. S. L. T. A. tennis trophy yesterday with two easy victories. Drawing a first round bye, he conquered Arthur S. Cragin, 50-year-old New Yorker, in the second round, 6-1, 6-0. Later he won his third round match from Harry Sachs in two 6-1 sets.

Sunshot Wins $100,000 Handicap at Tia Juana

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Mexico, March 17. (UP)—Sunshot stock farm's Golden Prince won the $100,000 added Cofforth handicap, the richest stake in the racing world, here today, with Naishapur second and Scimitar third.

Nearly 20,000 persons witnessed the race. The weather was clear and the track fast.

St. Louis Soccer Team Wins Western Title

ST. LOUIS, March 17.—The Madison Soccer club of St. Louis won the western championship of the United States Football association here today by defeating the Sparta club of Chicago, 6 to 4.

Madison will later meet the eastern champions for the national title. Ideal weather brought out a crowd of approximately 10,000 at today's game.

Dallas Claims Crack Pitcher

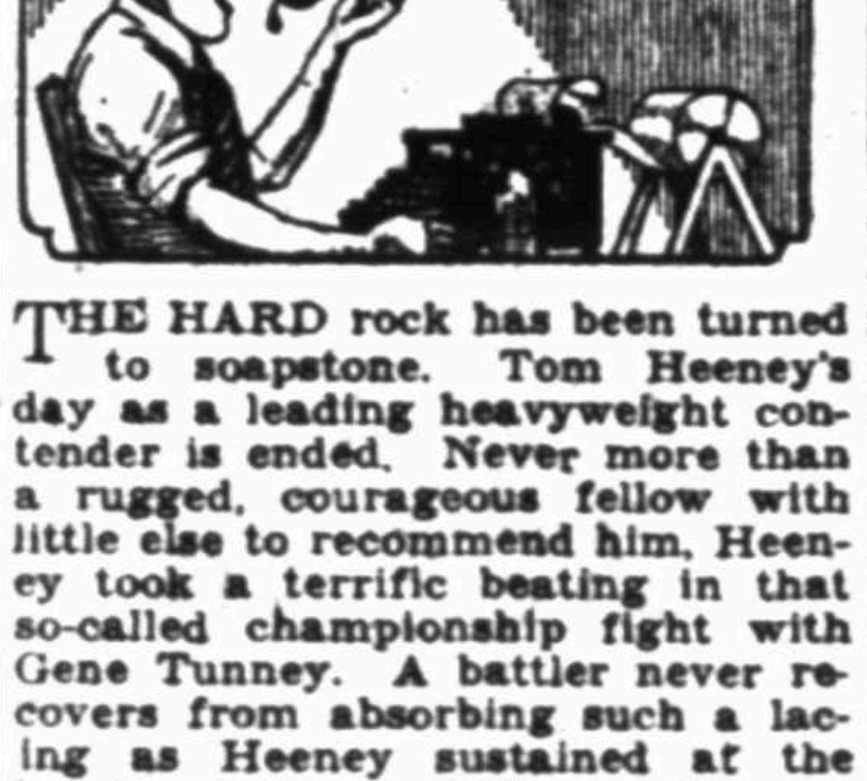
Glazner Won 22 Games For Mobile Last Year

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—Charlie Glazner, righthanded pitcher who won 22 games and lost 10 for Mobile in the Southern association last season, became property of the Dallas Texas league Steers tonight, Business Manager Bob Tarleton announced.

The deal was closed by telephone. Glazner was one of nine players made free agents Saturday by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, after investigation of alleged "cover up" deals.

After talking with Glazner, Tarleton immediately notified Secretary Farrell of the National association that he would claim the pitcher on the strength of his acceptance of terms by telephone.

Tarleton said it had been reported that Glazner since had received an offer from another club involving $1,500 more than the Steers offered.



THE HARD rock has been turned to soapstone. Tom Heeney's day as a leading heavyweight contender is ended. Never more than a rugged, courageous fellow with little else to recommend him, Heeney took a terrific beating in that so-called championship fight with Gene Tunney. A battler never recovers from absorbing such a lacing as Heeney sustained at the hands of Gene. Witness Carpentier, Willard, Gibbons and others who were ruined for all ring intents and purposes by Jack Dempsey.

Jimmy Maloney, staging a somewhat successful "comeback," but himself far removed from topnotch class, administered a trouncing to Heeney in Tom's first fight since his affair with Tunney. Then along came Otto Von Porat, the youthful Norwegian, to hand poor old Tom the most stunning and decisive reversal he ever sustained, with the exception of his beating from Tunney.

VON PORAT looms as a possible championship contender. He has youth and hitting power to particularly indicate he is a fine prospect. The Scandinavian, however, possibly still is somewhat removed from the class of more experienced fighters like Sharkey and Paulino, who with Max Schmeling, the German, look the best of a mediocre bunch.

IN THIS day of free and easy fellowship of baseball players, which is an excellent thing off the field but not so good when they are out there supposedly battling with all their worth to win games, the spirit of George Suce stands out glitteringly like a Kohinoor. Suce is a 20-year-old catcher from the University of Pittsburgh, who is with the Philadelphia Phillies. Little of his baseball ability has been indicated in press dispatches. But there is no denying the spirit of the youth.

Suce provided the first real thrill of the spring training season the other day when he tried to whip two members of the Philadelphia Athletics, whom his team was meeting in an exhibition game. He first became riled when he thought Eddie Rommel was trying to "dust him off." After he had swung his right at Eddie and affairs had been smoothed down, and the Athletics came to bat, Suce was catching.

Bing Miller, the veteran outfielder of the Macks, got on base. Bing came tearing into the plate, and hit the dirt. Suce thought Mr. Miller's spikes were unnecessarily close. So he swung on Bing. It required the umpire and two policeman to lead George from the park.

A young man who plays baseball to win, even in the spring, evidently is this young man.

THIS is an important week in sports in Wichita Falls. Alex Ross stages an interesting boxing card Wednesday night with a double windup of two 10-round bouts, with Speedy Sparks facing Cyclone Hall and Howard Scott meeting Joe Hooks. The Spudders meet the Oklahoma City Indians of the Western league in games Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Athletic park.

Reagan and Zundelowitz junior highs resume their championship basket ball series tonight on the latter's floor. Zundy won the opener Friday night, 29 to 10. The city bowling tournament opens today on the Spudder alleys, with all players of the City and Commercial leagues competing.

Reorganization of the Twilight Baseball league is to be completed at a meeting this week, and the membership drive of the Weeks Park Golf club will be in full swing.

Training Camp Chatter

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns piled up four runs in one inning and again defeated Columbus of the American association in an exhibition game here today, 5 to 2.

Herb Cobb pitched well for the Browns. He is from Wichita Falls. Score:

Columbus ....000 000 110—2 4 2
St. Louis ....000 040 01x—5 9 2

Wycoff, Wysong, Miller and Shinault, Pankratz; Cobb, Coffman and Manion.

REDS SEEK PLAYERS

ORLANDO, Fla., March 17. (UP)—Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was dickering tonight for the services of Claude Jonnard, pitcher, and [illegible] Spencer, catcher, who were declared free agents by Commissioner Landis Saturday.

ROBINS AFTER WINGARD

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17. (UP)—The Brooklyn Robins probably will take part in the scramble for the services of the several players declared free agents by Judge Landis. The Robins, are known to be interested in Ernie Wingard, the Athletic's southpaw, who was declared a free agent.

YANKS FISH, GOLF

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17. (UP)—The Yankees golfed and fished today and got ready for another busy week, which calls for a set of four games with the Boston Braves.

Babe Ruth had an active day on the links while Lou Gehrig went out on the gulf.

CVENGROS IN FORM

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 17. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs got pitching as well as hitting practice today, plastering Los Angeles, 17 to 0 in an exhibition game.

Hal Carlson and Mike Cvengros, two question marks of the Cub pitching staff, limited the Angels to five scattered blows, while their mates smashed out 18 hits. The Cubs put a finishing touch to their triumph by pushing seven runs across in the ninth inning. Score:

PIRATES BREAK EVEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 17. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates divided two games today with San Francisco's coast league teams, winning from the Missions, 10-2 in the morning and losing in the afternoon to the Seals, 5-3.

Smead Jolley, Seal right fielder and leading batter and home run hitter last year, won the afternoon game single handed by pounding in all five runs.

The Pirates had things easy in the morning, pounding Ernie Nevers and Lefty Cole for 18 hits. Scores:

SISLER'S HIT COPS

MIAMI, Fla., March 17. (UP)—George Sisler's single in the ninth inning scored Jack Smith from second with the run which gave the Boston Braves a 5 to 4 victory over the Washington Senators today. Smith had walked and stole second.

Sisler's hit was the only one made off Irving Hadley in the three innings he worked.

TIGER REGULARS WIN

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 17. (UP)—The Detroit Tiger regulars nosed out the Yannigans, 10 to 9, in a training camp exhibition game here today.

The rookies pressed the regulars all the way.

SHORES HELPS A'S WIN

MIAMI, Fla., March 17. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics evened the count in their exhibition series with the Newark Internationals today, shutting them out, 3 to 0. Shores, Malicky and Quinn held the minor leaguers to a total of three hits Shores allowed one, Quinn two and Malicky none. Each pitched three innings. Score:

Newark ....000 000 000—0 3 1

Radio Corporation To Compete With Telegraph

NEW YORK, March 17. (UP)—The possibilities of radio merely have been touched and vast good—particularly through free radio programs—still is to be forthcoming, Owen D. Young, chairman of the Radio corporation of America, said in a cabled statement from Europe today.

Young's statement came after the announcement Saturday by General James G. Harbord, president of Radio corporation, that the company has formed a new subsidiary to take over its communications business. The new company, R. C. A Communication, Inc., it is understood, will compete directly with Western Union and Postal telegraph.

INDIANS BEAT PELICANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (AP)—A one-handed catch in center field by Earl Averill, the $30,000 purchase of the Cleveland Indians from the San Francisco club, was the bright spot of the exhibition game here today between Cleveland and the New Orleans club of the Southern association, which the Indians won, 6 to 4. Score:

New Orleans ..200 000 200—4 9 1
Cleveland .....301 110 00x—6 8 3

Granger, C. Williams, Sullivan and Anderson, Simmons; Grant, Shaute, Hudlin and L. Sewell, Hartley.

Delaney to Manage Arena at Montreal

MONTREAL, March 17. (UP)—Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, will manage an arena seating from 10,000 to 12,000 persons here, if plans outlined by Georges Jarry, Montreal theatrical man, today are carried through.

Jarry left Montreal tonight for New York where he will confer with Delaney on behalf of the Canadian International company, the corporation which will back the scheme.

According to Jarry, Delaney will be asked to come here this spring to manage a series of boxing bouts at the Montreal baseball stadium, in which he may take part. If these bouts prove financially successful plans for the arena will go ahead.

7 Cars at Indianapolis For 500-Mile Speed Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 17. (US)—Seven of the 40 cars expected to be entered in the international 500-mile race here Memorial day are already in the paddock, according to speedway officials tonight.

PIRATES HEAD FOR 3RD PLACE

Strong Outfield and Pitching Held by Bucs

(This is the sixth of a series of articles by George Phair on the pennant race in the National league.)

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 17. (US)—Donie Bush, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is endowed with a swift and powerful outfield and a pitching corps of much efficiency, but his infield does not stand up with the rest of the club.

After a couple of minutes of heavy cogitation, this humble historian of the national pastime takes his stylus in hand to predict that the said Buccaneers will not finish better than third in the National league race of 1929.

As this screed is being written, the Waner boys are still holding out. The chances are 1,000 to 1 that they will be on the job when the season opens. These two agile lads in conjunction with George Grantham, form a sweet outfield—one that any manager would like to own.

Aided and abetted by Jess Petty, the Pirate pitching staff is a thing of beauty. With heavy hitting, Jess is bound to win a flock of ball games. Then there is the old reliable Burleigh Grimes, the most industrious pitcher in the National league last year. Burleigh performed in 48 games, won 25 of them and kept the Pirates out of the cellar.

Ray Kremer, once the ace of the Pittsburgh staff, did not show his customary efficiency last year. Carmen Hill, another old standby, won 16 games. Fred Fussell got away with eight, while losing nine, and Ralph Dawson split even with seven won and lost. One good minor league prospect in the Pirate camp is Steve Swetonic, young righthander who labored well with Indianapolis in 1928.

Charley Hargreaves, once with Brooklyn, and Ralston B. Hemsely, who came up from the minors last year, will do the bulk of the catching. Hargreaves is the steadier of the two, but Hemsley is gifted with a lot of speed.

With more experience, the kid may develop into a great backstop. They both hit around the .270 mark, which is nothing to brag about in these heavy-hitting days. As a whole, the Priate catching staff is nothing to rave about.

The infield is the throbbing problem in Pittsburgh. It will not be surprising to see George Grantham switched back to first base before the campaign has gone any great distance. Earl Sheely, slated to cover that position, was a capable first sacker at one time, but slowed up so much that the White Sox let him go in 1927. It is not customary to develop a new burst of speed at the age of 33 or more. At second base, Sparky Adams is a hard workman, a dependable fielder and a fair hitter, but his work slumped last season and did not compare with his endeavors as a member of the Cubs.

The other side of the infield is even more problematic; it is planned to station Pie Traynor at short and allow a rookie, Jim Stoner, to cover the third base job. Traynor is a great third baseman, a faithful athlete, who is always trying, and a hitter of much power.

Special Monday, Giant Pansy plants, 50c dozen. Morgan Floral Co.—Adv.

Suit for Tax Fees May Be Delayed

The suit of M. L. Tittle, former county tax collector, asking more than $13,000 back delinquent tax commissions from the county, to be called Monday morning, will probably be set over until the morning of Thursday, March 21, Wayne Somerville, county attorney, announced Sunday. A similar suit, in which Guy C. Raley, present collector, asks a little more than $18,000 under the same provisions, has not yet been set.

The suits, filed by T. R. Boone, representing the plaintiffs, are designed to test the legal status of the collectors' claim to a 5 per cent commission on delinquent taxes collected during the years in which repealing statute, now held invalid by the supreme court, was in effect. The plaintiffs claim that they turned into the county money which belonged to them under the present interpretation of the law.

Parents 'Convicted' In Girl's Trial for Theft

The trial of a little girl accused of theft in the 78th district court room Saturday morning turned into a trial of her mother and father instead— and it was the parents who were held delinquent.

The child had stolen a watch, some money, and some empty milk bottles that could be sold for a nickel each, she admitted to Judge Cook. James A. McDonald, juvenile officer, explained to the court that the small defendant was under-nourished, too thin, nervous, and probably in need of money for the purchase of absolute necessities.

Investigation showed the mother an epileptic and the step-father a hopeless ne'er-do-well, with several other children as underfed and neglected as the girl on trial. Judge Cook turned the little girl over to Mr. McDonald who placed her in the care of the Children's Aid society where she will be kept until a suitable home can be found for her.

WIDER OBSERVANCE OF SABBATH URGED BY DANIEL IN LECTURE

SOME WHEELS MUST TURN

But 'We Should Stop As Many as Possible'

Citing the Genetic account of creation which designates the seventh day as a day of rest and sanctification, and declaring that history proves such observances of the day an absolute necessity to progressive humanity, Roy J. Daniel Sunday morning before the Kay Bible class urged a more universal and quiet Sabbath in this country.

The strict observance of the Sabbath among the Hebrews of Moses' time, the speaker said, had become almost a meaningless ceremony with which the Pharisees hedged themselves apart from the crowds in the time of Christ. Jesus by his teaching renewed the significance of the Sabbath, Mr. Daniel stated. Referring to more modern abuse of the day, he said:

"Remember that no nation has ever prospered that has tramped the Sabbath in the dust."

Urges Observance

The address given by Mr. Daniel follows:

"The average span of a man's life is three score years and 10, or 70 years. So when we talk about the Sabbath we talk about 10 years from the life of the average man. 'In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. But the earth was without form and void, darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the spirit of God moved over all. And God said, Let there be light; and there was light. Then God divided the light from the darkness; He called the light day and the darkness night, and thus completed the first day's work.'

"The second day's work began when God made a firmament in the midst of the waters, and divided the waters under the firmament from the waters above the firmament. And God called this firmament Heaven.

"The third day's work began when God gathered the waters under the heaven into one place, and let the dry land appear. God called the dry land earth, and the gathered waters the seas. The work of the third day was completed when the earth brought forth grass, when the herbs yielded seeds and when the fruit trees yielded fruits each after its own kind, as commanded.

"The work of the fourth day consisted of placing lights in heaven to divide the day from the night and to give light upon the earth. God made two great lights; the greater lights to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night—He made the stars also. The greater light he called the sun, the lesser light the moon.

Reviews Work

"The fifth day's work saw God create the great whales and every living creature that lives and moves in the water. That day saw also the creation of all the winged fowl of the heavens.

"The sixth day began with the creation of the beasts of the field and cattle and all creeping things upon the earth. And the God said, 'Let us make man in our own image to have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air and over the cattle and beasts and all creeping things.' So God created man in His own image; both male and female. And God blessed them and said unto them, 'Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth and subdue it.'

"And now when the seventh day came God ended His work, and rested from all the work He had done. He blessed the seventh day and sanctified it.

"The Hebrew race became God's chosen people because it was the first race that came to know the all-powerful, the all-loving personal Jehovah. They believed that Jehovah was a jealous God, and they obeyed the injunction, 'Thou shalt have no other Gods before thee.' The patriarchs of the Hebrew race heard God's voice and obeyed it and were blessed. Abraham did not hesitate when God told him to leave all and go into a strange land. Because they lost sight of God, for a season the Hebrews were slaves and pyramid builders in the land of Egypt. Then a merciful God, through Moses, led them out into the promised land.

"To the children of Israel and to the whole world God gave, through Moses, the fourth commandment, which concerns the Sabbath. That commandment is, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath day unto Jehovah thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days Jehovah made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day.' Jehovah blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it. Now this commandment does not say for us to loaf or rest for six days and then remember the Sabbath. It says to labor six days and do all of our work, and then keep holy the Sabbath. The children of Isreal believed in this commandment and sought to observe it literally. They went to God's house on the Sabbath and spent the day in worship of Jehovah. The only persons in all Isreal who were exempt from the commandment were the priests of the temple who had to perform the necessary rites and ceremonies.

Reasonable Observance

"On one Sabbath day Jesus and His disciples were passing through a grain field. His disciples were hungry and began to pluck the grain and eat it. The Pharisees who saw them exclaimed, 'Why your disciples are laboring on the Sabbath day, and that is not lawful. In rubbing the grains together to get rid of the chaff they have worked—they have thus labored on the Sabbath!' Jesus replied, 'You Pharisees claim to know and follow the law. Haven't you read in the law how David was hungry on the Sabbath and how he and those with him went into the temple and ate the showbread there, which had been placed upon the table of gold? You know it was lawful for only the priests to eat the showbread. Don't you know the law says that the priests are held not guilty of profaning the Sabbath? The son of Man is lord of the Sabbath. He is greater than the temple.' Jesus could have further said He was a descendent of David and greater than David. By speaking thus to the Pharisees Jesus meant to show their ignorance of the true spirit of the law, and to give it a sensible liberal construction. Jesus said the Sabbath is made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. On the Sabbath He cured the man with a withered hand, and answered criticism by saying, 'You would save your sheep on the Sabbath—is not a man of more and greater importance than a sheep?' In this day we cannot stop every wheel and cog on the Sabbath but we should stop as many as we can and spend the day worshiping God and listening for His voice. It was on the Sabbath day that John received his glorious vision on the Isle of Patmos. Let us seek to make the Sabbath a day of spiritual rest and enjoyment.

"Remember that no nation has ever prospered that his tramped the Sabbath in the dust. Show me a nation that has done this, and I will show you one that has in it the seeds of ruin and decay. You remember that in France during the terrible French revolution they tried to wipe out the Christian era and bring in the age of reason. The week of seven days was abolished, and a period of 10 days substituted, the tenth day being set apart for rest. Atheism was declared to be the faith in France. Immortality was denied. On the public cemeteries was placed the inscription, 'Death is an Eternal Sleep.' The churches were rifled and the treasures of gold and silver were carried away with laughter and song. Notre Dame was made into the Temple of Reason. Into the temple was borne the beautiful goddess of Reason, dressed in white with a mantle of azure blue hanging from her shoulders. But something happened which proves to me that the Sabbath day as the day of rest out of seven is of divine origin. The 10 day week in France failed to work. Both man and beast broke down under the strain, and they restored the seven day week before the people could recover their sanity and return to the worship of the true and only God."

THE GAY LIFE

Seven Jailed by Cops Who Visit St. Patrick's Revel

Seven men and four women who chose to spend St. Patrick's day in a "drinking bee" Sunday afternoon were lodged in the city jail for their revelry.

The party was conducted much in the manner of an open saloon with the patrons of the bootleg residence arrayed around a table getting their drinks served to order by two maids, according to W. P. Timmons, Ellis Summers and Fred Fountain, city officers who made the call.

The officers surprised the celebrators and escorted them to the police headquarters where they were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Slightly more than a half gallon of whisky which was on the table in fruit jars was confiscated by the officers.

Pauper's Oath Filed on Behalf Of Hoobler as First Step in Appeal

Attorneys for D. J. Hoobler, sentenced to death last Thursday evening for the murder of Arthur Pendergraft, wealthy Oklahoma farmer in Wichita county on Jan. 27, Saturday filed a pauper's oath in his behalf in the office of Miss Eunice Jackson, district clerk. The oath sets out that the defendant is unable to pay the costs of preparing the records for an appeal of his case, and makes it incumbent upon the state to have such records made and to pay for them, according to Sam Spence, district attorney.

A formal motion for a new trial has already been filed in the 89th district court and will be argued before Judge P. A. Martin late this week after the district attorney has returned from his attendance upon the 30th district court in session in Graham.

The motion and the filing of the oath are the preliminary steps in a fight to save Hoobler from the electric chair, announced immediately after the death verdict by Joe Carrigan and Temple Shell, attorneys appointed by the court to represent the defendant.

C.-C. HEADS TO MEET IN BRADY

Association to Assemble Next May

Special to The Record News

COLEMAN, Texas, March 17.—The next meeting of the Heart of Texas Chamber of Commerce Secretaries' association will be held in Brady in May on dates to be announced later by Pres. J. D. Motley of Ballinger. Dates of the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce scheduled to be held in El Paso May 13, 14 and 15 will likely be changed to early dates in June.

In spite of rain, cold weather, muddy roads and slim attendance the meeting of the Heart of Texas Secretaries held here recently was interesting. Pres. J. D. Motley and Carl A. Blasig of Brady, secretary, braved the elements and were here in time to enjoy the noon luncheon as guests of Secretary Sim O'Neal of the Coleman organization. Soon after noon Miss Tena Miller, secretary of the Rotan Chamber of Commerce and Homer D. Wade arrived and a round table discussion ensued. The establishment of business colleges in West Texas and industries seeking admission were discussed and secretaries said they had been benefitted by the discussions.

Mr. Wade said that the dates of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention would be changed from May to June if Pres. Herbert Hoover can come to Texas in June. The president was urged to visit Texas by the delegation that attended his inauguration and since that time letters have been mailed insisting that he attend. Pending definite answer no change will be made in the date of the El Paso convention. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to Wade, will wait until the middle of April on an answer from the president. If he can come in June the date will be changed. If he cannot come the May dates will be kept.

A 20 minute intermission between the two evening periods will be devoted on Monday and Tuesday to special programs. Recreational programs will be given during the same periods on Wednesday and Thursday, while the Friday night's assembly of the entire school will be the commencement event.

Dr. G. M. Gibson of Dallas is in charge of the school. Assisting him as teachers of different courses are Miss Willette Allen, Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. C. W. Kent, Waxahachie; Mrs. E. W. Shaw Willing to Part With Head If He Can Write Books Eternally

Russian Scientists' Efforts to Revive Dead Come in For Shavian Drubbing

BERLIN, March 17. (US)—George Bernard Shaw is willing to let his head be cut off and by means of artificial circulation through the brain continue to write books and plays long after his body is dead.

With characteristic Shavian wit the famous Irishman in a letter to a German woman, published in the Berlinger-Tageblatt, suggests however, that he is not willing to part with his head until several vivisectors first submit to the gruesome experiment by the Russian physiologist, Prof. Brjuchenenko.

Tried on Dogs

The professor claims to have cut off the heads of living dogs and by means of tubes attached to a pump succeeded by artificial circulation of blood in keeping the heads alive as long as three and a half hours, during which the dog showed every symptom of life, wanted to bark and show his teeth.

Shaw's letter, which was dated March 12, says:

"Dear Madame:—I find the experiment awfully interesting, but I cannot think of anything more thoughtless than the suggestion to test it on criminals sentenced to death. To prolong the life of such a person is not desirable.

'Relief' for Scientists

"The experiment would have to be tested on men of science whose lives were endangered through some incurable organic ailment such as cancer of the stomach which threatened to deprive mankind of the service of their brain. What could be easier than to save such a genius from his deathbed by cutting off his head by which the necessary circulation of blood through the arteries and veins of his neck could be kept up so the great man could proceed to hold his lectures and teach us and give us counsel without the hindrances and deficiences of his body.

"I really feel tempted to have my head cut off so I could continue to write books and plays without being disturbed by disease, without having to dress and undress, without having to eat, and without having to do anything except to produce masterpieces of dramatic art and literature."

Keyes' Second Trial May Be Called Off

LOS ANGELES, March 17. (UP)—A second bribery trial in which Asa Keyes, former district attorney recently convicted of corruption, is accused with four others, probably will be placed off the calendar when called Monday. Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart indicated he would not oppose such a defense motion, providing the court rendered the charge could be reinstated at any time. He also indicated that the second charge will not be pressed if the appellate court upholds Keyes' previous conviction.

CRIMM FLAYS HAM 'N EGGERS

Job Hunting Preachers Are Raked Over

The church of Jesus Christ is going through the darkest period today of its history, Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist declared Sunday night when he addressed a crowd that completely filled the tabernacle at the corner of Twenty-second and Yale.

It was necessary to obtain many additional seats to accommodate the large crowd which heard the evangelist preach on the subject of "What Is the Matter With the Church."

"The church is dying because of its enemies inside who are supposed to be its friends," Crimm declared. "If the church is not a soul saving institution it has no excuse for an existence in Wichita Falls.

Preachers "Job Hunters"

"The church has lost its power for several reasons and one of these is that the preachers have lost their power. The ministry has been made a profession instead of a divine calling. A large per cent of the preachers are job hunters and ham and eggers.

"Super - denominationalism has also helped the church to lose its power. A lot of folks are loyal to their denomination before they are loyal to Jesus Christ.

"Another reason is that hospitals, Sunday schools, Christian Endeavors and B. Y. P. U. leagues have been placed on the main track while on the side track has been placed the work of the Holy Ghost and the preaching of God's word.

"If you still enjoy drinking and dancing just as well after you say you become a Christian as you did before you are bound for hell just as sure as a nickel is bound for an Eskimo pie.

"The great need of Wichita Falls today is a back-door revival. You need to open the back door and swept out the mess that you have."

Woman Suffrage

Although he gave advance notice that he was not going to preach on women, Crimm said a few words which he termed composed his "personal opinion."

"I am against woman suffrage," he declared. "I think it is the worst thing the women of America have ever had. I am afraid that it makes women too mannish and I hate a he-woman. There is just one thing that I hate worse than a he-woman and that is a she-man.

"I think that the greatest calling in the world is motherhood and that the greatest need of the world is Christian motherhood. A good woman is the best thing this side of the cross of Jesus Christ but a bad woman is the worst thing this side of hell.

"But since we have woman suffage I think that every good woman should vote."

On Monday night Mr. Crimm will preach on "God's Plan of Redemption."

TALKING TURKEY
Only Four Million Turkeys, "Our National Fowl," were consumed in the United States last year.
Yet Four Million, Five Hundred Thousand Automobiles, of the total production, were consumed by individual purchasers last year in the United States.

Knowing the value as we do, of "Turkeys for Food," and Dodge Brothers Cars for transportation, we are surprised that more Turkeys were not consumed and that at least Four Million of these automobiles were not Dodge Brothers cars.
