Whine Of Sniper's Bullets Marks Lull In Prison Conflict

400 Rioting Prisoners Turn Cell House Into Fort and Repulse All Efforts to Dislodge Them.

FEAR 5 IMPRISONED GUARDS WERE SLAIN

Light Cannon Marshalled for Second Onslaught Against Convicts; Tear Gas Ineffective.

(By Associated Press) FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Nov. 24.—With two guards and five convicts dead and three wounded, the warden's secretary, one police officer and seven convicts wounded, Folsom prison's riot tonight settled down into a bitter siege between the revolting convicts, variously estimated to number from 1,200 to 2,000 desperate men, and more than 500 militiamen, deputy sheriffs, state traffic officers and state capital police.

FOLSOM, Cal., Nov. 24.—The wails and whine of the sniper's bullet through the prison windows tonight, marked a lull in an armed battle between 1,400 rioting convicts and 200 state militiamen and police officers in the most severe riot at Folsom state prison in years.

The first pitched battle of the revolt was staged this afternoon when more than 1,000 shots were exchanged between the armed prisoners and the rioting party.

Twenty-five rioting prisoners were wounded by the use of rioting gas in their first assault.

Physician Braved Fear
The info. of the wounded prisoners was obtained by Dr. L. S. Stanley, prison physician at San Quentin, who went inside of the cell house and was welcomed by the convicts.

Dr. Stanley, in a message relayed outside, said that rioting outbreaks had played havoc inside in the cell house.

Tonight the fall in the law enforcement forces was two dead and three injured.

One guard, Charles G. Gorman, aged gate-keeper, dropped dead from the excitement. Three others, Charles Gorman, Barnett Hughes

Business Men Ask Larger Tax Slice

U. S. Commerce Chamber Stands Pat on Demand for $400,000,000 Cut Despite Report.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—The U. S. Commerce Chamber today stood pat on its demand for a $400,000,000 tax reduction, despite the Chamber's report that it should not exceed $225,000,000, and the House Ways and Means committee's decision to recommend a reduction of $225,000,000.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States announced today that its membership in a referendum just completed had approved the revenue program of its committee on federal taxation.

In the largest ballot by its member organizations ever recorded the chamber reported that 91 per cent of the vote was in the affirmative.

The chamber of commerce announced that the action on the part of the membership committee the organization to advocate at the coming session of congress the enactment of a tax bill carrying into effect the following program.

Reductions and repeals estimated to amount to $400,000,000 in the first

GANG WAR TAKES TOLL

Store Bombed, Alleged 'Spy' of Police Murdered

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—The national day of Thanksgiving had a tinge of violence and hatred in Chicago with the bombing of a cigar store and the kidnapping and murder of a man believed to have been supplying evidence to prohibition enforcement officers.

Neither episode was linked by the authorities with the recent flare up between rival racketeers of gambling and bootlegging. The latest development of that warfare which resulted in the death of a hoodlum and a police sergeant was the roundup by police of 20 suspected racketeers.

Among them was "Pete" Genna, one of that notorious brotherhood of six one of the pioneer bootlegging organizations of Chicago.

Henry Ford's New Auto Will Be Seen December Second

Auto Magnate Makes First Official Announcement, and Strikes Optimistic Note in Review.

(By Associated Press) DETROIT, Nov. 24.—Henry Ford's new car which officials of the Ford company say will be responsible for the expenditure of nearly eight hundred million dollars for labor and materials during 1928, will be given its first public showing in the United States, Canada and England on Friday, December 2, Ford announced today.

Coinciding with the announcement of the showing of the new car, which will be known as the "Model A," came a review of world business conditions from Henry Ford in which the manufacturer explained his expansion of active sales early last summer, when flooding of the Ford plants began in preparation for the new model.

"My outlook for the coming year is based on ample evidence of continued and increasing material prosperity," Ford declared.

"National wealth is increasing. Individuals have more money. Taxes are on the decrease and governmental economy has made for better business in all lines.

"People buy when they have money. They become cautious in their expenditures only when money becomes scarce. Money is not scarce today, nor will it become so soon, in my opinion. We will have what we visualize as a prosperity.

"The outlook for 1928 is simply a matter of production. Production means the consumption of materials and labor. All production in this

Acuff Women Give Dinner Thursday Night

Members of the Acuff home demonstration club were hostesses for their husbands at the Acuff school last night in a Thanksgiving banquet. Forty-eight wives and husbands were present.

The program included a vocal selection and piano solo by Miss Mary Whit Woodcock and a series of readings by Miss Anna J. Childers of the Tech.

Acting as hostesses were Mrs. Ashley Davis and Mrs. Douglas Pounds. Mrs. Pounds gave a toast to the men, and Mr. Pounds responded with a toast to the women.

Miss Louise Baird, home demonstration agent, made a short talk.

J. V. Conner Is Found Dead Here; Suicide Is Verdict

53-Year-Old Lubbock Oil Well Machinist Alone at Time; Only One Shot Was Fired.

SURVIVING ARE WIFE, SON AND A DAUGHTER

Was Struck Over Head When Hi-Jacked Recently and Family Believed Mind Was Affected by Blow.

J. V. Conner, 53-year-old oil well machinist, was found dead, shot through the heart, in the garage at his residence, 1812 Avenue Q, yesterday afternoon at about 2:15 o'clock.

Conner's verdict given by Judge of the Peace G. R. Scott pronounced death to be due to self-inflicted wounds. A .45 caliber Colt revolver was found in Conner's hand when the body was discovered by his wife, who had returned from the postoffice.

Conner was alone at the residence at the time of his death. His son, Lewis, 17, and daughter, Irene, 18, were at the football game played between Tech and Carleton, and his wife was in town.

No reason could be assigned for suicide. Conner had been ill for the past few days, but his condition was not serious. According to Mrs. Conner, her husband had been struck on the back of his head after being hi-jacked at Breckenridge, and his mind had been affected by the blow.

Only one shot was fired, the bullet passing completely through the body.

Conner was a member of the American legion, was a veteran of the World War and the Spanish-American war.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Rix undertakers, are awaiting response to message sent to J. K. Conner, a brother, in Oak, Oklahoma.

Crown Looms For Carol Once More

Death Rumanian Premier Considered as Boost to Chance of Ex-Prince's Being Returned.

(By Associated Press) PARIS, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—Prince Carol of Rumania has moved a step nearer to his return to his country and the throne he renounced two years ago at the death of Premier Bratianu in Bucharest, in the opinion of certain Rumanian quarters in Paris close to the cabinet.

These circles believe that even though Vintila, the premier's brother, is appointed his successor in the regency, the loss of the Rumanian family over Rumanian affairs is near its close.

The defeat of the late premier in the recent trial of Niball Manoliu, in which Carol's hopes of returning at least as regent for his infant son, King Michael, played a large part, they point out as the most direct kind of evidence that the opposition elements are again in the upper hand in Rumania.

Was Carol's Enemy
Bratianu was the "arch enemy" of Carol, his death and the fall of the late unceremonious "Bratianu dynasty" are looked upon as removing the most powerful elements opposed to the prince. For that reason the "Carolists" as the French press dubbed Carol's partisans in Paris, had been watching carefully, the premier's illness, especially for any sign that would mean a political upset.

News from Bucharest that Vintila Bratianu was named by the regency to succeed in the premier-ship dampened the hopes of Carol's friends for an immediate restoration, but left them still declaring

Avalanche Editorial, Rapping Will Rogers' Wit, Draws Reply From The Famous Writer; He Defends Humor

Editor Dow Objects to Will Poking Fun at Misfortune of Senator DuPont; Will Says Dignitaries Enjoy H's Verbal Assaults and Many Are His Best Friends

Will Rogers defends his humor! And, furthermore, he breaks all precedents, and writes—free of charge—an article for the Morning Avalanche!

On November 24th the Morning Avalanche carried an editorial criticizing Mr. Rogers' article, written in a humorous vein, concerning the recent operation upon the throat of Senator DuPont of Delaware. Senator DuPont, as the result of an earlier operation, had had his voice and hearing performed another and almost miraculous operation, placing tubes in his throat which led to a sound-bbox and restored his speech.

Editor James L. Dow took the stand that Mr. Rogers' humor in this regard was poorly chosen. Mr. Rogers, seeing the editorial, replied to it below are reproductions of the editorial and Mr. Rogers' characteristic reply.

THE EDITORIAL
Editor Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Dear Sir:

Several of my friends out on that range sent me your editorial on my short coming. I am sorry my writings don't hardly come up to what you would call humor. If you were as good a friend of Senator DuPont's personally as I was I can imagine you having a kick coming. That was written because I knew he would get a little kick out of it. Ninety per cent of the public here I tell about are my best personal friends. And I doubt if even you have more personal regard for our Government or the men that run it than I do.

No Duplet needs any apologies from either you or I, I know who is out there on those Plains. (I know from my own eyes, I know from Kansas) when the wind gets to blowing, there ain't much to think of. I get that way some times when I am trying to write something. And you figured an Editorial on my lack of humor and good taste would knock me out every body right. Well, to be honest, I agree with you. I don't think any of the junk is funny. But a lot of the big men I tell 'em on are my friends, and I am eating regular. Better than I was when I was there and I was't knocking a word there. Still I don't believe there is a person living that I have got it in for. I like 'em all.

I wish I was back down there eating at Night and Slaton's wagon or riding chuck line through the U. S. D's going out to Roosevelt. One of your best citizens said dinner for my home every day. I liked Bill Haisell—maybe you know of him. Ask some of those that don't think I am such a villain. Byron Dickinson, or his good old Dad, there might hold 'up for me. I don't want you to think this thing got my good, but it is my way for anybody to take any other meaning than what I meant, that it is sorer a novelty to get such a dig. You might know it is not common or I couldn't have time to write a long letter like this to all of them and say I have time to carry on my other ordinary work.

If it had been some New England or western paper it wouldn't have been so bad. But for a western paper from a cow country, why I am going to have to believe that you ain't endowed with any sense, editors to withhold this class of verbiage from the public prints.

There is altogether too much sense expended in ridiculing the efforts of the law. Some of them make mistakes. A few of them are petty grafters. But no intelligent person would apply any of these terms generally to the men and women who do the office. Even the occupant of the office is unworthy of honor and respect, the office itself deserved a more wholesome regard than some of those who write for the public entertainment and information ever manifest.

It is about time that those absurd joke makers, who can think of nothing funnier than to make a jest out of the fact of a United States Senator suffering from a serious throat malady, were driven across in the press. Common decency, if nothing more, should cause editors to withhold this class of verbiage from the public prints.

Joel Hunt Leads Team to 28 to 7 Win Over Rivals

Alsabrook and Dorsey Both Star with Captain; Texas University Goes Down to Defeat Fighting Gamely

BOTH ELEEVENS SHOW ABILITY IN PASSING

Crowd of 27,000 Cheers as Foes of History Meet in Annual Thanksgiving Day Football Combat.

(By Associated Press) COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 24.—A mighty irresistible Texas A. & M. college football team fastened thirteenth defeat on Texas U., sobbing, fighting, but inadequate, by a score of 28 to 7, and took the 1927 Southwest Conference football championship here today. Yet no stouter hearts on the historic field than those under the Orange sweaters of Texas.

Clyde Littlefield's charges sorely missed the brilliant Bearcat quarterback, and his forward passes.

Two of the Aggie counters resulted from intercepted passes, one followed a Texas fumble and another was on a straight driving "foot ball" made possible by Alsabrook's 28 yard run to the first outpost of the Longhorn's goal line.

Joel Hunt, A. & M. captain performed brilliantly, scoring two touchdowns, but was not unusually effective in running with the pigskin. Alsabrook and Dorsey, Hunt's co-partner in the aggravated assault on Texas, showed in a clear light as able players.

Will Bill Ford kept Texas from being shut out. In the fourth quarter he passed to Wray for 28 yards and then drove the ball over the Aggie's one yard line. Higgins kicked goal. The Farmers made 14 first downs, Texas 12, six of them in the last quarter.

Thanksgiving Day Is Observed Here

Large Crowd Attend Game at Tech; Cities Over Nation Reverently Pause to Give Thanks.

Featured by the Tech-Canyon Normal football game, Lubbock's observance of Thanksgiving Day was an unusually active one.

Services in various churches over the city showed cognizance of the more serious angle of the holiday.

A large number of visitors were attracted to the city by the holiday and the football game. It was estimated that 500 or 600 fans from Canyon and Amarillo were in the city. College clubs of both Canyon and the Tech were conspicuous over the city.

Business institutions observed a general holiday.

COULIDGES ATTEND WASHINGTON SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—In keeping with the call of President Coolidge, the nation gave thanks today for another year of divine favor. In Washington as elsewhere the people assembled in their churches for appropriate Thanksgiving Day religious services. The President and Mrs. Coolidge participated in those of the First Congregational church, held before noon in Keith Theatre, the congregation being required to use other buildings while its own is undergoing repairs.

Other government officials and members of the diplomatic corps went to the churches of their faith and a large number of the Latin and South American diplomats attended the Pan-American mass in St. Patrick's Catholic church.

Returning from the Thanksgiving Day services, Mr. Coolidge was accompanied by the army band on the front lawn of the White House, several thousands having gathered there for the program. The President, with Mrs. Coolidge, listened to the music from the foyer of the executive mansion and went out under the portico when the band concluded its selections with the Star Spangled Banner. Later they posed with the band for pictures.

Flier Resents Criticism From Detroit Backer

(By Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British aviator who resigned as pilot of the proposed flight from the United States to New Zealand under W. H. Rosenwarne, his wealthy Detroit backer, retracts scolding statements reflecting on Giles' inability to get started on his flight, he told the Associated Press tonight.

DETROIT, Nov. 24.—(By AP)—W. H. Rosenwarne, financial backer of Capt. Frederick A. Giles on the proposed flight to Wellington, N. Z., is "unconvinced" that the British aviator intends to call off the project.

"He is going through with the flight," Rosenwarne said. "There's nothing to report."

Happy Reunion Ends In Tragedy As 6 Die In Blaze

Five Children and One Man Perish in Malone, N. Y. Fire; Two Give Lives in Rescue Attempts.

(By Associated Press) MALONE, N. Y., Nov. 24.—A happy Thanksgiving reunion was transformed into tragedy today when fire took six lives at the home of Walter Leary, at North Lansing, where five of Mr. Leary's children and his brother perished. Two of the victims lost their lives while trying to save others.

The dead: Arthur Leary, 50, brother of Walter; Mary Clara, 20, a senior at St. Lawrence University; Evelyn, 13; Rita, 11; Esther, 9; and James, 7; children of Walter Leary.

Arthur Leary, Martha Clara Leary and Marie Barry a niece of Mrs. Leary gathered at the Leary home last night for Thanksgiving reunion with the other members of the family. There was a happy party followed by a late supper and all retired at 1 a. m.

Walter Leary, who slept on the first floor of the house, got up at 5 this morning. As he opened the kitchen door he found the room filled with smoke. The flames at this time were sweeping through the upper part of the house and Mr. Leary could not make his way up the stairs to the second story. He tried to awaken the others by shouting from the outside.

His cries aroused Marie Barry, the niece and Mary Clara, the eldest daughter. Marie Barry attempted to run down the stairs but the flames blocked her way and

Five Thousand Fans Are on Hand to Witness Buffalo Herd in First Defeat of Matador Warriors

FUMBLE AND BLOCKED PUNT FATAL TO TECH

Neither Team Presents Any Offensive Strength; Tech Injuries Hurt; L. Walker Has Big Day.

The "impossible" happened. Shaking a Matador Turkey Day jinx, which effectively paraded them for two straight years, the West Texas State Teachers' College Buffaloes defeated the Texas Tech Matador gridsters here yesterday by a score of 12 to 9. The game was a battle of baffled defenses, both teams showing to better advantage defensively, and a blocked punt and a costly fumble paved the way to victory for the invading herd.

As far as Texas Tech and its supporters were concerned there was one gleam of sunshine in the cloud of defeat—the scintillating play of Levi Walker, "Handsome Ransome's" little brother. The Freshman flash, playing throughout the game at right halfback, clipped off a number of passes which added some creditable passing but his punting was his principal forte. Believing Woodbridge from the kicking burden Walker booted the punt far and wide, one of his skyrockets going 33 yards before being pulled down by a rival back.

Five thousand grid fans, recruited from over the Plains section, were on hand to see their rivals in their Thanksgiving clash and if they came expecting to see a battle of slashing offenses they were badly disappointed. Tech, with a backfield revamped through injury, was unable to supply the scoring punch when it was most needed and met in the Canyon line a rampart worthy of recognition. The mounted Buffalo aerial attack, which was expected to give the Freshman trouble, was from a scoring standpoint a dismal failure. Nineteen flips on the part of the Eckhardt machine resulted in only four completions for a gain of 65 yards. Buffalo stampedes at the IDALOU, Nov. 24.—The Idalou Community club met today at the home of the hostess, Mrs. G. C. Allen with 22 members and 4 visitors present.

Mrs. Sam Chatham officiated as leader of the club. A very interesting history of Thanksgiving was given by Mrs. T. S. Reynolds.

Next a reading, "A Day of Rejoicing," by Mrs. J. D. Sargent followed by a vocal number, "The Ivy Covered Shack," by Mrs. J. F. Tolson, accompanied on the piano by Miss Louis Norwood.

After a business session, refreshments were served consisting of chicken sandwiches, mince pie a la mode, and hot coffee.

The club next met at the home of Mrs. T. W. McKeehan on Wednesday, December 28th.

Beauty!

How and Why

CLEANLINESS IS THE BASIS OF IT ALL

Judging by the immense sum spent year in and year out on beautifiers of all kinds and descriptions, there is one great personal question always before the American people, men and women:

How to improve personal appearance, to approach as nearly as possible the standards of "beauty" accepted by the civilized world.

When the world was young and the human race possessed of the Lady of the "Cave" saw herself mirrored in the clear pool where she had come to bathe, she discovered herself refreshed, revived and beautified, her skin satiny and tingling, her hair in ringlets.

That discovery has spelled progress for the world. Today, though hundreds of creams, powders, lotions and hair preparations are used, water is still the universal medium through which beauty may be obtained.

Fashion Favors The Flat Fur Coat As Milady Bundles Up For Frigid Weather

Fashion's finest in fur coats—chipmunk, with scarf collars

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The flatter the fur, the more tailored the line and the more unusual the collar, cuff, flare or tier treatment—the more women love their fur coats.

Of course in such a luxuriously prosperous season as this year is, many women have flat fur coats for daytime wear smart fur jackets for sports and sable or ermine wraps for evening.

The choice of the second or third fur coat is purely a matter of personal taste. The choice of the first is a matter of great concern and deserves all the time and thought a woman cares to put on it.

They Stick to Tailleurs While the unusual fur coat—the one with intricate manipulation of pelts fashioning checked or other designs, and featuring the cape, the bolero, the tiered, paneled or "humped" skirt and muff cuff sleeves—intrigues a woman.

Baby Pullman was there

Thanksgiving dinner!—the most important meal of the whole year, when the best of everything good to eat was served to friends and loved ones—Baby Pullman was there!

Baby Pullman finds its way into the preference of those who seek the best bread. A certain standard of quality that is always certain—and a texture that invites you to "bite"—has made Baby Pullman the largest selling bread ever offered on the South Plains.

Tea Party Cakes, Snow Flake Rolls, Baby Pullman Bread.

—all are products created by and offered for sale, wholesale, by "West Texas" most modern bakery.

Heavy Vernon High Team Defeats Westerners 7 To 0

Leader Of Lions Returns Punt 55 Yards For Score

Lubbock Boys Fight Gamely but Fumble Robs Them of Chance to Tie the Count; Teams Sidestep Passes

(Special To The Avalanche) VERNON, Nov. 24.—Captain Jake Castleberry's 55-yard return of a punt gave the Vernon Lions a touchdown and victory over the Lubbock Westerners here this afternoon, the final score being 7 to 0.

Lubbock Fights Gamely. Considerably outplayed, the Lubbock team displayed a stubborn defense which held the charging Vernon backfield time after time.

With the exception of Castleberry's brilliant run, the teams played fairly evenly matched football, though statistics give the Lions an edge over the Westerners.

Vernon crashed through for twelve first downs as contrasted with five for Lubbock.

Passes Are Taboo. Neither team resorted to the air frequently, Vernon attempting only four passes, all being grounded.

The Lions also had a slight edge on punting, booting eight times for 25 yards against Lubbock's nine punts for an average of 27 yards.

Substitutions: Vernon: Cox for Moore, Newth for Thomas, Withers for Key, Moore for Cox, Cox for Brown, Brown for Nabers, Noewood for Adams, Cox for Moore, and Moore for Key.

West Coast Coach Sees the Great Welch Stampede as Game Rolls on; Stanford to Meet Pitt Soon.

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 24.—The spirit of carnival crept into Pittsburgh's smashing, undefeated eleven today and helped subject Penn State to one of the most uncomfortable afternoons the Lions of Nittany have experienced in over 20 years of football conflict with the Panthers.

With the goal of real carnival ahead—the carnival of Rome in Pasadena, early in next year—Pittsburgh rode her historic rivals all over the green sward of the huge Pitt stadium and into a 28 to 0 defeat while 68,000 chilled spectators, including Pop Warner, coach of Leland Stanford university, looked on.

Pop Warner is There. The grim old veteran of the coaching lines saw a Pittsburgh eleven crammed with holiday spirit and in brilliant uniform Garber in shining gear on jerseys with black bars down the front, white stockings and white helmets, Pittsburgh frolicked through Penn State almost at will.

Victorious Team Comes From Rear At Last Of Game

Final Score Is 14 to 3 as Slaton Lads Triumph for Third Time in Four Year History of District.

(By James R. Dow) AVALANCHE-JOURNAL Sports Editor. SLATON, Nov. 24.—The Slaton Tigers came from behind in the last period of the class B championship game of the South Plains with Floydada (Whirlwinds) here today and swept their heavier opponents off their feet in the last 10 minutes of play with a dazzling aerial attack to win the district crown by a score of 14 to 3.

The game was played before 1500 howling, screaming and frenzied fans who were cried for blood in the last stages of the contest.

Art Fletcher, former manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, who last season acted as assistant to Miller Huggins at New York, is being talked of as manager for several major league clubs that are in the field for new leaders.

It is a certainty that Jack McCallister will not return as pilot of the Cleveland Indians and Fletcher is being strongly considered for that berth.

HAVE WE DISCOVERED THE SOUTH PLAINS

We sometimes wonder if the people of this great South Plains section have really found themselves in this wonderful country. In other words we are just wondering if they really know just what the great territory is best adapted to.

Some seem to think that in years to come this country will be given over to large capital, and will be operated on a very large scale with machinery, and that the farms will contain thousands and thousands of acres of land, and supervised by expert farm managers.

We do not believe that the big idea is the best one, and we do not believe that it will ever be operated in that way. We believe that this great rich section was intended as the home of thousands of families and millions of people.

If the right to own a home, and the opportunity of doing so is not taken away from the people, this will be one of the most densely populated sections of the United States. This will be possibly by reason of the richness of the soil and naturally its great productiveness.

With the development of the gas fields, and the connection of all of the towns with the big fields will solve the fuel question and factories will be possible now, while several years ago it would have been impracticable, and impossible.

SMALL FARMS

It seems that a lot of the big fellows are getting the idea in their head that the small farms are going to soon be a thing of the past. They are looking forward to the day when machinery will do all of the work, with just a few men to operate them.

A certain class of agricultural economists are leaning toward the large, fully-equipped farm where production is secured at the lowest possible cost per unit, as a solution of our agricultural problems.

farms adapted to the use of large-capacity power-driven machines, when properly managed, can produce our staple crops, for less than the small farmer who must necessarily employ smaller machines and more man power.

But, with this evidence confronting us, Farm and Ranch is not ready to concede that the small, well-managed farm is doomed. The inventive genius of man has made available labor-saving machinery adapted to the small farm as well as the large acreage.

There is another feature of the small farm. While the large farm is operated with a view to making a profit, the small farm becomes a home as well as a place of business. The small farm will always have many sources of revenue that are deemed unimportant on a large farm.

WHAT WILL THE VOTERS DO?

Next year there will be elections held. There will be conventions held and there will be all sorts of political meetings held, and there will be much for the people of this nation to think about.

Officeholding is merely a necessary part of the business of demagogues, but it is not the main object. Profits in contracts, distribution of political plums, pardons and the various forms of official favor are the real objects.

The demagogue appeals to race hatred, religious bigotry or class consciousness, according to the attitude of his constituents toward these various appeals to our sentiment or prejudice.

Too many of us like to have our prejudices petted and pampered. We like to hear the virtues of our class extolled and the imagined vices of the other classes denounced.

THE OVERSHADOWING ISSUE IN AMERICA

In Texas, the Southwest and elsewhere, the overshadowing issue is to awaken responsible citizens from their dreams of eternal exemption from obligations to participate in the affairs of Government.

In Texas we are confronted with a campaign for court reform. This campaign is of material importance to every taxpayer or not. Victory for the proponent will be a victory for the people.

It is a sacred privilege and an unqualified duty of every citizen to exercise the right of suffrage, and yet considerably under 50 per cent of the qualified voters never go near the polls.

There are approximately 10,000,000 office-holders on the public payrolls of this country. These office-holders constitute approximately one-third of the active voters, and with their friends control the Government, State and Nation.

OUT OUR WAY

DOG COLLARS. BY J. WILLIAMS

SO THINK WE

We think that Dan Moody will do a very unwise thing should he even consider becoming the running mate for Al Smith. To begin with Al cannot be elected, and then the association of Dan's name with that of Al would do him no good.

We think that the building of the Denver road into Lubbock has already helped the Santa Fe to see that she should give the people of this section better connections to the east, and they have announced the establishment of a service that will give us mighty good connections with Dallas and other points in that section of the state.

We think that laws should be enforced, but we think too that the real intention of the offender should be taken into consideration too. A man may sometimes violate the letter of the law, yet his intentions may not be to do so, and in such instances we do not believe that punishment should be his portion in that particular case.

We think that all of the people enjoyed the Thanksgiving of 1927 to the full limit. The weather was fine, and all seemed happy and glad they were citizens of this great South Plains country.

We think that Lubbock is doing a great deal through its civic organizations and through the Board of City Development to develop the South Plains and the fact that every city on the South Plains is willing to work with Lubbock in everything that she undertakes is a mighty good indication that the city is able to hold the friendship of all of the people in all of the towns in this section.

YOUR HEALTH

OPINIONS

BIG BILL'S HISTORY

Mayor Big Thompson's own Ku Klux Klan, which calls itself "The America First Foundation," has offered $10,000 for a history of America which will meet its peculiar conception of patriotism.

That early American settlers were here not because they could not make a decent living at home, but because they wished to establish a free utopia far from the evil presence of British Kings.

It is a sacred privilege and an unqualified duty of every citizen to exercise the right of suffrage, and yet considerably under 50 per cent of the qualified voters never go near the polls.

From which it is evident that the only person who can do justice in this 100 per cent American job is Big Bill himself. Let the Windy City Herodotus take his pen in hand and cop that $10,000.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS

Surely several good purposes aside from the immediate one are served by the Lexington, Ky., newspapers in publishing lessons and assignments for school pupils of that city kept at home when the schools were closed by an epidemic.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that five hundred fans came down from Canyon to witness the football game with the Texas Tech.

It is reported that still another large building will soon be established at the Tech college soon. That institution is growing rapidly and everybody should be proud of it.

It is reported that Postmaster Vaughn is very anxious that all of the big mailing firms get their Christmas mail in the post office early so that it can get the proper distribution, on some before Christmas day.

It is reported that Lubbock is still in need of a Federal building, and it looks like we may need several years yet before we get it.

It is reported that Will Rogers is after the Editor of this paper for making wise cracks about some of the United States Senators having gold watchpots, and if we thought he meant all he said about us we would likely feel badly about it.

It is reported that the school children are a happy bunch this week. They were turned loose Wednesday and did not have to return to school today. So they are having a long rest. It will soon be time for the Christmas holidays, and many of them are enjoying the days when they will be out for two weeks play again.

It is reported that basketball is not attracting the attention of the fans, and since football is just about his last touchdown for the season, we will have to have something else for excitement.

SELL YOUR CHEAP FEED IN PIG SKINS

Mr. Foster of Plainview, who buys hogs for the Pepton Packing company, of El Paso, was in Seargraves Wednesday looking over prospective hog shipments. Since the majority of the hogs in this section will weigh around 200 pounds, Mr. Foster advised feeding for another three weeks and making them weigh close to 250 pounds as this weight is topping the market at present.

Mr. Foster informed the Gaines County Hog Shippers association that he would take any size hog and pay within one and one-quarter cents of the Fort Worth market on the different classes of hogs delivered to him at Seargraves.

Feed prices are rather low just at this time, and it is a good idea to market this cheap feed in the person of Mr. Hog. Fifty pounds make one car load, and you can get a pretty fair price for that. Other wise cheap feed, but will furnish a sure market for some classes of feed stuff that will not readily come on the market at any price.

MANY TURKEYS SHIPPED FROM MULESHOE TERRITORY

Muleshoe is not to be left off the map when it comes to the production of turkeys. Turkeys have been coming in in large numbers for the past week, one produce house having shipped and shipped a carload Monday and Tuesday. The Thanksgiving market has been good and many farmers have added to their bank account by raising these birds. Farmers all over the country are beginning to realize that the one crop system leads to ruin, and are finding that the best and most profitable way to get their feed is by the chicken, turkey, cow and hog route. In talking to the man that started the first produce house in Muleshoe, the Journal man was told that three years ago at the beginning of his produce business it took him one week to get one can of cream. Today there is approximately 700 cases a week shipped from Muleshoe, and the price is good practically the year around. The chicken market is nearly always good too, and several thousand pounds are being shipped weekly. One essential point in the success of the dairy, poultry and hog business is feed. The country around Muleshoe is blessed with plenty of good land for raising this so why not do it and market the product in a way that will bring real returns.—Muleshoe Journal.

LUBBOCK

Lubbock and the Chamber of Commerce has worked with local organizations and individuals in past years to bring as many here as possible.

For the next year, three important conventions have been secured. The first District Rotary convention will be held here November 29-30, with approximately 500 Presbyterian ministers and laymen over the state in attendance.

The Annual Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church will be held here November 29-30. From 400 to 700 laymen and ministers will attend.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce joined with various organizations of Lubbock in inviting the convention to Lubbock. This has been entered for a number of other conventions that have given Lubbock much favorable publicity.

Encouraging Dr. Hays will extend an invitation to Houston to the Association of Texas Colleges to hold their next meeting in Lubbock.—The High official publication of C. of C.

The University Land Question

Texas planners in government set aside a large acreage of land, mostly in the western part of the state, to be held for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a university of the first class.

The Constitution of Texas provides that this land be sold. In making this provision the framers of the Constitution did not stipulate when it should be sold, for at that time it was very doubtful that much could ever be disposed of except for cattle ranches. No one believed that Texas would ever become an agricultural state, much less West Texas, and that oil would be discovered and be a source of income.

As it now stands, we have strict constructionists who maintain the oil for sale, when they said the land was to be disposed of, meant within a reasonable time. There are others who claim that the sale of the land was commanded, but that an implied right was given those in authority to exercise their business judgment as to time and price.

The question will be brought before the next session of the Legislature, and no doubt both sides will be given the opportunity to be heard. The demand for the sale of land comes from seventeen counties in which there are a total of 1,239,000 acres of unappropriated land which do not contribute a single penny toward the support of the government and its various subdivisions. The citizens of these counties many of them, are anxious that the lands be sold to actual settlers, thereby making them subject to taxation as well as increasing farm population.

There are those who are giving little consideration to the constitutional question involved who offer a compromise, suggesting that inasmuch as this land is in seventeen out of 254 counties, that the state should at least tax the university lands for school purposes until such a time as conditions justified their sale. Whether or not this suggestion would bring up another constitutional question, farm and ranch would not pretend to say. At any rate, the people of Texas can not gratulate themselves that the university is well provided for, but only at the present time, but for all time to come, if its funds are hoarded in a business-like manner. Undoubtedly some means will be found to give justice to those counties which are now bearing this extra tax burden.—Farm and Ranch.

THE LESSER SPLENDORS

Take it for what it's worth, I need A line or two of truth today. What's bigger than an honest deed Which drives one honest of care away?

What's greater than a kindly word By which a faltering heart is stirred? Is all success in silver laid? Is fame the only proof of worth? And is the most heart beat the best? All that is recognized on earth? What's less in man's eyes than stands? Does he not sigh for gentle hands?

Is it not something to have stood Undaunted at a dismal point, Doing the very best you could? To assist the ones you love the best?

Are not the humblest hearts here As brave as those the people cheer? Not all the courage shines afar, Not all the great souls come to fame.

As brave the loner sitters here As those who stir the world's acclaim. True greatness in an hour of need May be a very simple deed.

REMOVING ROAD SIGNS

The signs on the right-of-way of the state highways will be taken down by the police and employees of the highway department must tear them down and dispose of them.

J. B. Wilmett, section foreman of the Hale and Floyd counties, states that this has been a rule of the department for some time, but they have not enforced it. He received orders a few weeks ago that all signs must be removed from the highways by November 1, but it is giving the people this week to remove them before he has his men tear them down.

Mr. Wilmett says the signs not only give a distinctly appropriate big kind of idea from working the road as they would like to.—Plainview News.

THE SHEET

The Manhunters' Own True Story Gordon Hines

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD—

Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher, is swindled out of $45,000 by a gang led by Joe Furey and W. H. Spencer. Following various clues Norfleet races back and forth across the country in hot pursuit. The three minor characters in the swindling are called before Norfleet succeeds in capturing Joe Furey in Jacksonville, Florida, officers at an attempt to aid Furey and Norfleet has many bitter experiences before he succeeds in getting his prisoner back to Fort Worth. He now gives thought to the adjustment of his own financial affairs and plans for the capture of Spencer. While in California Furey bribed two Los Angeles officers. Norfleet lays the facts before Thomas Woolwine, Los Angeles District Attorney who asks Norfleet's aid in the prosecution. Much to their surprise, the officers are arrested. While awaiting the trial Norfleet learns of a plot to smuggle arms into the Humbleville Texas prison to free Joe Furey. He communicates with proper authorities in an effort to defeat the plot. The attempted prison break occurs and many convicts and guards are killed but Furey does not escape. Furey then offers to reimburse Norfleet for all his losses if he will give the influence to have him removed from the state in a healthful climate. Norfleet agrees and goes to San Francisco with communications addressed to Mrs. Harrison in San Francisco, instructing her to raise the money that will pay Norfleet's losses. Mrs. Harrison is taken suddenly ill and dies. Her daughter ridicules the idea of such a settlement. The Harrison heirs inherit the large Furey estate and the man's legitimate wife and child are left almost penniless. Norfleet remains in Los Angeles for the trials of the two officers and again meets the mysterious Mrs. Street who had shadowed him a great deal. Mr. and Mrs. Street and Norfleet dine together many times and one day before the first bribery trial they make an appointment for dinner at the home of a friend in the Los Angeles suburbs. Meaning Norfleet is trying to get more evidence against the crooked officers.

Chapter Forty-one

But we needed more—something from some one who might have seen or heard something that night weave the evidence into a tighter pattern.

Considerably worried, I met the Streets and we went to our dinner. About three weeks before Mrs. Street had introduced me to a crowd of young people in the restaurant and it was agreed that we would all get together some evening for some good music, since the young folks were musicians. Nothing further had been said about it until this time, when Mrs. Street announced that we were invited to go out to dinner with this young crowd on the next evening. I was given the address and it was agreed that I would go on out and meet the Streets there since I expected to be busy until late in the afternoon.

Next morning I decided to take a run out to Glendale and look around the Furey home. I was doubtful that I would help my case but the trial was only twenty-four hours ahead and I was anxious to do something. Nothing better suggested itself.

Perhaps my uncanny luck should have the credit for the important discovery. I had got off the car in Glendale and strolled down the boulevard toward the Furey home. Several young ladies in nurses' uniforms stood and sat about on the lawn. They had all washed their hair and were drying it in the sun. I strolled up near them and began an idle conversation. My peculiar knack for starting conversations with strangers in the despair of relatives and friends who would have me more conventional. The young ladies were friendly, doubtless noting my graying hair, and they answered my questions pleasantly.

I told them I had looked at the house sometime before with the intention of buying it, and that I had returned to reconsider it. They told me that the Research Hospital had bought it and converted it into a home for the nurses. I appeared surprised and disappointed, and one of the young ladies remarked:

"Maybe you wouldn't be so crazy about the place if you knew its history." She threw a mop of wet hair back from her face and looked at me.

"History?" I seemed puzzled at her remark.

"I'll say history!" another exclaimed. "It gives us the jimjams to think of it. We have to live in the place."

"What sort of history? It must be terrible to have you all so excited."

"Why, this used to be the home of that millionaire bunco king, Joe Furey! There's a big trial coming off in Los Angeles now. A couple of deputies are accused of arresting him, then accepting a $20,000 bribe to let him go."

"Well, well!" I exclaimed. "Do you suppose they did arrest him?"

"Sure they did, replied the young lady with assurance as she pulled a comb through her damp hair. "You know they did."

"Did you see them, arrest him?" I asked, trying to conceal too great an interest, but hopeful of a clue. It was entirely possible that some one along the hospital, next door, had seen the arrest.

"No, I didn't but I have a friend, Mrs. Coover, who lives down the street a way, who saw Deputy Lips when he caught Furey in the back yard."

My heart skipped a couple of jumps as I changed the conversation to disarrange them until I could figure out a way to learn Mrs. Coover's address. After a little maneuvering, I had it and was on my way to see her.

Again my luck held. I found the lady at home and she talked to me freely. At the time of the bribery episode, she had been figuring on buying a lot next to the Furey home and at the time Furey was pursued through the backyard and captured, she and some contractors were on the adjoining lot discussing building plans. Had Furey succeeded in wriggling over the fence, he would have landed almost at her feet.

Mrs. Coover and the two contractors were quickly subpoenaed to appear at the trial next day.

I was much pleased with my good fortune and could hardly wait for the time to pass until morning. It was now time for me to be on my way to the dinner engagement to leave early, so that I would get plenty of rest before the trial. I went to my hotel to clean up and Mrs. Street telephoned me.

"We are all ready and waiting for you. Hurry on out."

I called a taxi and gave the address to the driver. He drove, and drove, the little meter clicking an endless tune. We passed through one after another of Los Angeles' many suburbs, and still he drove on. The car finally drew up before a large house in a neighborhood that was slightly improved, and I got out, telling the driver to wait. There was a dim light in the house, and I wanted to be sure I had reached the right place. I rang the bell. After a moment the door opened and I beckoned the driver to go on. I stepped inside, and the door banged behind me with a loud slam and the lights went out. I was alone in a small vestibule, from which a flight of steps led straight up. The door had opened very mysteriously and I could feel a cold sweat breaking through my goose flesh. My hand dropped to my gun and I stood still. I fidgeted nervously, afraid I might be standing on a trap door. I realized then, that this was probably a scheme to get me out of the way before the Lips and Anderson trials. I made no noise but stood awaiting whatever might happen. My eyes grew accustomed to the semidarkness, and I looked up the stairway. Outside it was just dark and a weak streak of daylight came through a window at the head of the stairs.

Then a strange feminine voice called to me from above: "Is that you, Mr. Norfleet?"

I answered, realizing that there was no mistake now. I was expected. The woman came down the steps and told me that I was to come up, that the table was ready and the others were already there. I followed her up the creaking stairs. I carried two guns, but drew the righthand gun from its holster and stuck it into my belt where my hand could rest naturally upon it. I took off my hat and hung it on my thumb, concealing my gun. My trigger-finger was tensed for quick action. The woman walked at my side, her hand upon my free arm. She tried to be very seductive and asked if I would be her friend for the evening. That convinced me in things were not quite right. I told the creature that I would gladly be her "friend" for the evening, and she struggled to me affectionately as we continued on our way up the stairway.

"We will have such a good time" she said.

We reached the upper floor and walked into a large living room. The place was lit except for a rickety little card table in the middle of the room. A whiskey bottle almost full, sat on the table. Six filled glasses surrounded the bottle. I noticed that not more than a glassful or two could have been taken from the bottle. Evidently the guests were to drink from one bottle and the hosts from another. A set of box springs lay on the floor in a corner and a torn, dirty rug was thrown across this uninviting bed. There were no other furnishings.

I realized that a housewarming was scheduled and I hoped that I would not be on the warm end. A group of windows on one side let in the rays of the setting sun, and a crystal chandelier reflected its rays with its prismatic doo-dads. The hollow silence of the vacant house seemed to pick up our voices and throw back the sounds with a reverberating echo. I looked about. Several doors led from the large room. I wondered to where and how many "friends" were concealed behind them.

The woman, still holding my arm, led me to the table.

"You'll have a little drink with me won't you?" She pressed a glass to my lips. I drew back.

"I never drink whiskey. It would spoil all my fun."

She grasped my arm tighter and let out a piercing scream. Three huskies, crouching like animals, sprang into the room from a door at the woman's back and she maneuvered to push me toward them, then let go of my arm and hid behind the corner, where she threw herself down that she might be out of the fray. The men closed in on me one on each side, and one in front. The face of the bucko in front of me was enough to send cold chills up and down anyone's spine.

"What's all this about? What's the matter with the lady?" they demanded.

"No cause for alarm as far as I can see!" I answered forcing a laugh.

My hat still covered my cocked gun, and I began backing slowly toward the door and the electric light button. I thought a little more light might help matters. The men took forward steps, following me as I moved backward. The woman lay on the bed, watching with catlike eyes. The men said nothing and I kept laughing and declaring that there was nothing to be alarmed about. I was now within reach of the button, but I hesitated about turning on the light. I saw the woman give head a flip and I emptied the glass she had offered me. Then she sat up and smiled, tipping the glass to her lips with one hand and shielding the bottom with the other so that I could not see that it was empty. She appeared to drain the glass, then gave a choking gurgle and shook her head like a novice who has taken too strong a drink.

"If you won't drink it, I will."

Then she got up and took another glass from the table. I could have flashed on the light, but I was reluctant to make a suspicious move until I could be sure what the other's plans were. The woman came to me with the glass of whiskey and put her arm about my neck, placing the glass to my lips. She was very anxious. Surely they would put me out that way to avoid a choking gurgle and shook her head like a novice who has taken too strong a drink.

"We thought we invited a sport here!" one of the men bawled out. "You're just a damned piker!" (Continued Tomorrow)

SUNDAY OBSERVER LOSES

Norman Shaw, the lighthouse keeper of Clyde, Scotland, who was dismissed for refusing to take part in wireless tests on a Sunday, has been refused unemployment aid from the government. Shaw is backed by many advocates of Sunday rest in Scotland, and his application for the dole may be taken into the courts.

Aggie Steer Wins Numerous Awards

Bonnie Anxiety X, Hereford, Sets New College Record by Winnings at Fairs in Middle West.

(By Associated Press) COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 24.—Bonnie Anxiety X, Hereford steer, owned by the A. and M. college of Texas, which added to his laurels and set a new mark for the college when he took the grand championship over all breeds at the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City recently, is 17 months old, was calved October 11, 1926, and stands out as the first grand champion of the kind ever won by the college in an out-of-state show.

The steer is the product of breeding at the college and for that reason his feat is regarded as of more than ordinary interest. Both his sire, Bonnie Anxiety, and his dam, Princess Perfecto, as well as his grand sire and his grand dams are owned by the college which has pursued a policy of breeding its own show animals.

Bonnie Anxiety X progressed to his great victory at Kansas City after having been chosen champion Hereford steer at the Texas State Fair at Dallas and later champion of his class at the Kansas National Livestock Forum at Wichita, Kan.

D. W. Williams, head of the college animal husbandry department, said the steer might be sent to the International Livestock Show at Chicago.

While the victory of the steer was regarded as a colorful news and was given great prominence, the college animal husbandry department also took considerable pride in the honor won by its livestock judging team, composed of six senior students, which took first place in judging at the Forum at Wichita and second place at the Kansas City show.

Members of the team are W. S. Amund, Iowa; J. M. Bird, Dublin; T. G. Greenwald, Whitney; H. E. Howard, Devine; R. R. Peoples, Tehuacana; and N. E. Ryall, Jasper. Ryall also was high point man at the Kansas City show where 14 college teams competed.

Valuable Prizes In Floydada Show

Premiums for Floyd County Poultry Exhibit, Due for December, Announced; Much Interest Shown.

FLOYDADA, Nov. 24.—A silver loving cup, a model poultry house and several hundred dollars in cash to be given away at the annual show will be included in the premiums Floyd County Poultry association show, which will be held in Floydada December 15, 16, and 17.

The loving cup is the property of the First National bank of Lockney and at the present time is in the possession of H. P. Coleman of Lockney, breeder of Pottridge Wyandottes. In order to become the permanent property of anyone the cup must be won three years in succession and Mr. Coleman has managed to win it the past two years. It is awarded to the owner of the best cock, cockerel and pullet.

To the person exhibiting the best twenty birds at the show the model poultry house will be presented. Members of the Floydada high school agriculture class built the house on the plans and specifications of O. T. Williams, teacher. The lumber in the house was furnished by Higginbotham-Bartlett company.

Between 600 and 1000 birds will be on exhibition the three days of the show is the opinion of A. B. Muncy, president of the organization. Being open to everyone it is believed that some of the best birds on the South Plains will be shown.

CRUDE OIL MINED Is Not Pumped on Farm Near Jacksonville, Texas

JACKSBORO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Oil is "mined," not pumped, on the W. D. Stinehouse farm near here. Stinehouse's mine is believed to be the only one in the country producing oil in paying quantities. It is 50 feet deep. At the bottom of the shaft is a reservoir, and a seepage process is used to get the oil from the sand into the reservoir.

Instead of a derrick, the symbol of an oil well, a crude tripod of oak logs stands above the large hole in the earth leading to the shallow oil sands.

NATIVE GRAND OPERA Minnesotans to Hear Piece with Home setting

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—The American grand opera "Winona" with a setting laid in Minnesota, will be produced in Minneapolis in January. It was given its premiere in Portland, Ore., a year ago.

Perry S. Williams, executive secretary of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association, wrote the libretto of "Winona." It recounts the story of the Indian maiden whose tragic love affair ended in her death by drowning in the Mississippi River.

The cast for the Minneapolis production will be recruited from the Metropolitan Opera company, and other leading operatic organizations. Maestro Bimboni is co-author of the opera, and he and Williams worked on it in their spare time over a period of 15 years.

How To Stop A Headache Use the improved method—two teaspoonfuls of Capidine in a little water. Being liquid, it acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets or powders—saves a half hour of suffering.

CAPIDINE relieves pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates. At your druggists, 60c and 30c sizes. Also trial size. (adv.)

MRS. PAYNE DIES Mother of Assistant Tech Coach Dead at Abilene

News of the death of Mrs. Victor A. Payne, Sr., mother of Victor Payne, Jr., assistant coach of the Texas Tech football team, at Abilene, was received here yesterday morning.

Coach Payne left immediately in his car for Abilene. Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night.

OXFORD IS STUNNED Student Seeking Job in Thrill for English

OXFORD, England, Nov. 24 (AP)—There is actually someone at Oxford who wants to work his way through school, and Oxford stands the permanent property of anyone the cup must be won three years in succession and Mr. Coleman has managed to win it the past two years. It is awarded to the owner of the best cock, cockerel and pullet.

The university looks upon Harding with incredulity. Even the barber shops share in the suspicion, and Harding, though he has experience as a barber, has been unable to get a job.

Gifts that Bring Yuletide Joy in the 'Gift Mart'-turn to the Classified Page This Morning!

The problem of simplifying Christmas Shopping is one that confronts all of us at this time of the year. Christmas is just a short time away, and the merchants you'll find listing Christmas suggestions on the page opposite the Classified section make a nearest plea for early shopping.

Under the column headed "The Gift Mart" you'll find worthy gift suggestions for every name on your list, young and old, women, men, boys, girls, and even the infant for whom Christmas has been the most important day of the year. It is possible under this plan, to select appropriate gifts for those whom you wish to remember on this day of days, put them on your shopping list and then go immediately to the store advertising them and get your shopping over in a hurry.

Each of the stores advertising in "The Gift Mart" will exhibit wonderful assortments and at no other time in the year is it more interesting to shop. By shopping early you get the advantage of selecting your gifts unhurriedly from assortments that have not been "picked over" and save yourself the time and inconvenience that always results from last minute shopping. Shop under the guidance of "The Gift Mart" for it affords an excellent opportunity to select Christmas gifts intelligently and unhurriedly.
