Show, banquet well-received

Oil industry recognized

By Wade Warren
Managing Editor

Well over 600 people attended the Oil Appreciation Banquet Saturday night and the effort in putting on the show drew praise from an early-day player in the Snyder boom.

"I salute everyone who had a part in the banquet and the show," said Ed Mlcak. "It was terrific."

Mlcak was the engineer for Standard Oil of Texas when the company drilled the J.W. Brown #1 well which triggered the oil boom in Snyder beginning in November of 1948.

"Let me tell you something," Mlcak said, looking around as if to see if anyone else could hear him. "An engineer friend in Crane County was working on a well down there and we were in a little competition to see who could bring in the best well."

"I may have opened the choke up a little bit on this one in Scurry County in order to show him I had a better well," Mlcak grinned. "Little did I know what impact that would have on this area and the entire United States."

Mlcak said he was glad to be able to visit with many of the people who worked with him here during the boom.

"I didn't realize that I had that many friends left in the area," said Mlcak, who now resides near Lake Texoma.

Mlcak said his memories of the boom was that it was orderly, despite the large influx of people.

"It just seemed that Snyder kept everything organized at that time, and judging from the banquet and show on Saturday, it still does," said Mlcak.

Banquet and show chairman, Riley Sterling, also said he was very pleased with the attendance at the event.

"I'm proud of Snyder and Scurry County for showing up in numbers like they did," said Sterling.

"This thing took a lot of hard work from a large group of people and for that, I am most appreciative," Sterling added.

Banquet speaker Espy P. Price, the vice president of Chevron USA's Midcontinent Basin Group, told the crowd that the banquet was a time to "recognize and celebrate the mutual success of this great community and the oil and gas industry."

"It is an occasion to reflect with pride and to feel upbeat — even as we are mired in the midst of another industry economic downturn," said Price.

"On the brighter side," said Price. "There is nothing wrong with the industry that doubling the price of oil wouldn't fix."

Price shared a saying that he said he had heard many times in the oil patch, "When you find yourself in a hole, the first thing to do is stop digging."

SHS Band wins 1st division

Snyder High School Band brought home a Division I rating from the Region 16 marching contest held at Jones Stadium at Texas Tech Saturday evening.

Early voting off to fast start

Early voting in the Nov. 3 general election got off to a fast start this morning as 53 votes were cast by noon today.

Registered voters may vote early through Oct. 30.

Voting takes place in the county courtroom on the third floor of the courthouse each week day from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

County Clerk Joan Bunch said voters need to bring their voter registration cards to vote early, or another form of identification.

There are two contested races for the Scurry County Commissioners Court, plus the State Senate race in District 70 and the 17th Congressional District race to stir up interest.

In Scurry County's Precinct 2 election, incumbent Republican commissioner Roy Idom is being challanged by Democratic political newcomer, Linda Sellars.

Idom has served as the commissioner for the past seven years, while Sellars is a 14-year employee of the county tax office.

In Precinct 4, Chloanne Lindsey and Milton Adams are vying for commissioner.

Mrs. Lindsey, a Democrat, has been deputy county auditor for nine years. Adams, a Republican, is a farmer and oil company consultant. He is a former president of the Hermleigh school board.

This race was prompted when Democratic incumbent - Jerry Gannaway decided not to seek another term.

There are a total of 3,311 registered voters in Precinct 2 and 2,798 in Precinct 4.

In the District 70 race for State Representative, incumbent David Counts (D-Knox City) is being challenged again by Scott McLaughlin (R-Big Spring).

This is the second time Counts and McLaughlin are meeting at the polls, as Counts defeated McLaughlin in 1996.

Burning okayed with permit

Citizens will have the opportunity to burn off some of the brush and debris that has piled up over the summer as Scurry County Commissioners voted this morning to allow the fire department to issue burn permits.

The motion passed 3-1, with Precinct 3 Commissioner Howard Limmer opposing.

The motion did not lift the burn ban, so anyone caught burning without a permit will be in violation of the ban and subject to fines.

In order to burn debris, a person must first contact the fire department on its non-emergency line at 573-6215 and have fire officials examine what is to be burned.

The permit period is for 28 days with each precinct area having seven allotted days.

Persons living in Precinct 1 will have the opportunity to burn debris Oct. 26-Nov. 1.

Precinct 2 citizens will be able to obtain a permit for Nov. 2-8 while precinct 3 citizens can receive a permit for Nov. 9-15.

All fires must be supervised and citizens must follow any rules and regulations set up by the fire department, said the court.

Limmer said he was personally opposed to the action because he did not approve of the city fire department overriding a decision of the court.

"We have a fire ban and we didn't lift it. I'm not against people burning debris, I just think either we have one (a ban) or we don't."

Both the county and fire department officials are urging people who burn trash to be careful and use common sense.

"We've had a little moisture, but it's still a dangerous situation out there," Scurry County Judge Ricky Fritz said.

Fire chief Perry Westmoreland added that he discouraged anyone from burning if they do not have the need to do so.

In other matters, the court discussed but took no action on the situation at Towle Park Pond.

A large number of fish that have been dying at the pond due to lack of water and oxygen.

Commissioners opened a lone bid from Wilson Motors for the purchase of two cars for the sheriff's office and one car for the juvenile probation department.

The bid priced three 1999 Crown Victoria's at $20,798 each and offered $9,900 trade-in on the three vehicles the departments currently have.

The court voted to accept the bid for the purchase of the three cars, but declined to accept the trade-in.

Sheriff Darren Jackson will check into the Blue Book Value of the vehicles and check back with the court on what action they want to take.

The court also signed a proclamation declaring Oct. 23-31 Red Ribbon Week.

Staff members of the Snyder Area Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse were present for the signing.

Commissioners also approved a three-year contract with the law office of Henry Gates Steen Jr. for the collection of delinquent taxes.

Doug Price was appointed election judge for voting box 12 in Precinct 4 with Mildred Hollis named as alternate.

The court also approved the Extension Activity Report, Scurry County Library board minutes and Scurry County Welfare board minutes.

Also approved were line-item transfers for Towle Park transferring $1,500 from general payroll to pool supplies, part time salaries and pool utilities.

The court also approved two budget amendments for the sheriff's office which include adding $2,437 to public officials liability insurance and $5,368 into equipment costs.

Former resident is shot in Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH — A former Snyder resident died Sunday, the result of a shooting that is being investigated as a possible murder-suicide.

Rhonda Lewis died while seated in a car parked behind an ice cream parlor in the Fossil Creek Park shopping center.

A man walking through the parking area heard shots and called police, said Roger Macon, Haltom City assistant police chief.

Police responding found the bodies of Rhonda L. Lewis, 37, of Keller and Mark Lee Lewis, 36, of Haltom City, in Rhonda Lewis' red 1995 Honda Civic about 2:20 p.m. at the strip mall on the Denton Highway, north of Fort Worth.

Rhonda Lewis, a security manager for an Albertsons supermarket, had been shot multiple times, police said. Mark Lewis, a stocker for a Tom Thumb grocery store, had been shot once.

Macon said police are investigating the deaths as a possible murder-suicide. Macon told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that it appeared that Mark Lewis pulled out a gun and shot her, and then shot himself.

The Tarrant County Medical Examiner's Office stated that the couple was divorced. Rhonda Lewis was found wearing a name tag that stated, "Hello My Name is Rhonda Wadleigh." Autopsies are pending.

Police reports said that the couple had driven separate vehicles to the location and had parked behind a Braum's Ice Cream and Dairy Store. When their bodies were found, Rhonda Lewis was in the driver's seat of her car and Mark Lewis was in the front passenger's seat.

Most stores in the shopping center were closed on Sunday, but a man walking betwen a dance studio and the ice cream parlor heard gunshots and called police.

The first officer on the scene observed two people in the car, and they were not moving, so he called for assistance. A worker in the ice cream store said none of the employees there had heard shots.

Mrs. Lewis had attended Snyder High School and her mother, Thelma Gardner, lives in Snyder.

No health insurance called growing problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was a lot of talk about health care this year in Washington, most of it about placing new rules on HMOs and improving the quality of care.

But recent news from the Census Bureau offers a reminder that a significant if less-discussed problem remains: access to health care.

The report found that 16.1 percent of Americans — or 43.4 million people — had no health insurance for all of 1997, up from 15.6 percent in 1996. It was the steepest increase in five years, and came despite a booming economy that created millions of new jobs.

"It's ironic and frightening," said Edie Rasell, an economist at the labor-backed Economic Policy Institute. "If the uninsured rate is going up during the best economic situation we've had in 30 years, what's going to happen when we have a recession?"

The increase drives home the point that improving the health care system involves a complex set of tradeoffs rarely acknowledged among politicians looking to solve one problem at a time — whether it be improving quality, expanding access to care or controlling costs.

"It's part of the metaphorical balloon. You press on one side and it pops out on the other side," said Ron Pollack, president of the consumer group Families USA.

For example, opponents of this year's unsuccessful drive for new rules on health maintenance organizations say any such effort will simply drive up health care costs — and thus lead even more companies to drop insurance coverage for their workers.

Supporters of these HMO rules argue the costs are minimal and worthwhile, and won't lead to more uninsured people.

Complicating the argument is the fact that it's not entirely clear why the number of uninsured Americans increased in 1997.

Economists mostly blame the increase on the prevalence of low-income jobs that offer no health benefits, along with the steep price some workers must pay to use insurance that is offered.

Last year, about 6 million Americans did not take insurance that was offered at work, a government study found. Part-time employees may not be eligible for insurance at all or be able to afford it, said Pat Schoeni of the National Coalition on Health Care.

Although the number of jobs grew, the number of people with company-sponsored coverage stayed relatively steady, with 61.4 percent of Americans getting insurance from the workplace, up from 61.2 percent in 1996.

Experts also point to welfare changes, which place people into low-wage jobs that often don't offer coverage. Indeed, the Medicaid rolls have dropped, and many of these people have not replaced their government-provided coverage with private insurance.

Domestic Violence Endangers Both Families and Communities

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1998 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Almost a year ago, you published a reader's letter that dramatically spoke to the issues that face battered women: "How do I protect my children and myself while I live with my abuser?" The reader signed herself "Living a Nightmare," and her story, though heart-wrenching, was not unlike thousands of other women's in our nation.

You provided a great service to her, not only with your answer that began, "There is always hope," but also by addressing her need to protect herself. You then offered her, and thousands of others who live in a similar situation, a resource, our booklet, "Striving to Be ... Violence Free: How to Create a Safety Plan." Because of that letter, Perspectives received more than 10,000 requests from as far away as Guam, the far corners of Canada and even Puerto Rico. We also received hundreds of heartwarming letters from women and men who were living with abuse (or knew someone who was) and were grateful for the help. Amazingly, Abby, we never received one complaint.

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness month. I can't think of a more appropriate time to acknowledge your contribution in assisting women, men and children in their desire to live a violence-free life.

You should take pride in the fact that you were one of the first to recognize that family violence is a societal problem — one you were not afraid to address no matter how much heat you took in exposing it. For decades you have been the voice for victims who were too afraid to speak for themselves. And you have become the conscience for communities who looked the other way by saying, "It's a family problem."

You are to be commended for your compassion, advocacy and understanding of this very complicated issue. On behalf of the thousands of women and men who received our booklet, and those who struggle with the horror of domestic violence, I thank you.

JEANNIE SEELEY-SMITH,
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR,
PERSPECTIVES INC.,
ST. LOUIS PARK, MINN.

DEAR JEANNIE: Thank you for your touching letter, and for the thrilling news that your booklet was helpful to so many people. The causes for violence are complex, and escaping from a batterer requires careful planning and preparation.

Readers who want a copy of "Striving to Be ... Violence Free" can order it by sending $4 to: Perspectives Inc. (Attn.: Guidebook), 3301 Gorham Ave., St. Louis Park, Minn. 55426. Include your name and address clearly printed on an address label or sheet of paper. Allow two weeks for delivery.

In order to avoid a confrontation with the abuser, the booklet can be sent to the home of a friend or relative. Again, I emphasize how important it is for the victim to have a well-thought-out escape plan before attempting to leave a batterer. Readers, if you know someone who could benefit from this booklet, be a friend and order it for him or her.

Next jackpot: $65 million

AUSTIN (AP) — The year's biggest Lotto Texas jackpot had tickets selling at more than 30,000 a minute Saturday. But nobody took home the winner.

The numbers drawn Saturday night from a field of 50 were: 12, 16, 33, 38, 49 and 50.

The $50 million jackpot, the highest so far in 1998, went unclaimed.

It was the largest prize since Oct. 19, 1997, when a $55 million jackpot was claimed by 20 Texas City residents who patronized the same convenience store but didn't know one another well before that drawing.

The trust formed by those winners, called the "Texas City Lucky Lotto Club," chose the cash-value option for their winnings and was paid $28,237,374.

Because there was no winner Saturday, the prize amount rolled over to about $65 million for Wednesday's game, lottery officials said Saturday night. One other Texas jackpot reached that amount, in August 1994.

The Texas Lottery began selling tickets in May 1992, with the lotto game starting later that year. Its largest lotto jackpot was $75 million, won by five ticketholders in March 1994.

★ for STATE REPRESENTATIVE

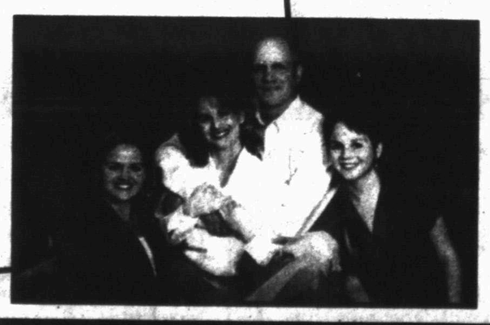

Dear Fellow West Texan:

As I have walked the neighborhoods of West Texas and District 70, I'm more confident than ever that we can solve most of our problems if we rely on the resourcefulness of our communities rather than on government bureaucracies in Austin or Washington D.C. As Governor Bush has shown, that means less interference from government, allowing working people to keep more of their hard earned dollars, and returning power and resources to local communities.

I believe that families are still the basic building of society and that we can do much more to restore the fundamental values of our nation by electing principled leaders to office - leaders who represent communities, not special interests.

More than anything else, we need elected officials who will truly take the time to listen and respond to your concerns. More than likely, I've been to your home and listened if you had an issue to discuss. If I missed you, I hope we'll meet in the near future. I look forward to hearing from you and working with you to build a better Texas.

Sincerely,
Scott

Analysts studying impact of defense mergers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is spending more than $800 million to help weapons makers merge, even though analysts worry that the defense industry is concentrated in too few hands already.

Government auditors also say there's no way to track whether the mergers save taxpayer money as promised.

A policy born five years ago, when the Clinton administration was encouraging defense companies to consolidate, continues to cost millions in government "allowances" for merged companies.

The Pentagon pays relocation costs, worker retraining, severance and plant closing expenses. The total will almost certainly exceed $1 billion as newly consolidated firms such as Boeing apply for them.

In return, the new, leaner companies agree to pass on at least two-thirds of their savings to taxpayers.

The savings don't come painlessly: The seven merged defense companies now receiving government allowances have cut 18,000 jobs.

By the gargantuan standards of U.S. defense spending — $268 billion this year — the $800 million projected for those seven mergers is not a lot. It is, however, enough for nine Navy FA-18 E and F fighters, or one Aegis destroyer.

Even as the incentive policy continues, the Clinton administration's attitude toward mergers is shifting. The Pentagon recently opposed the plan for a $8.3 billion merger of Lockheed Martin Corp. and Northrop Grumman.

After years of encouraging mergers to avoid bankruptcies and the loss of critical defense-industrial assets, the Pentagon now worries that there will be too little competition among three or four mega-contractors.

"There seems to be a real contradiction," said Rep. Bernie Sanders, I-Vt., a strident foe of the merger subsidies. "On the one hand, we're saying we're going to provide a financial incentive to merge, on the other hand, we're saying these mergers are a bad idea."

The General Accounting Office, an investigative arm of Congress, projects that the seven companies now receiving subsidies will reduce overhead costs chargeable to the Pentagon by $4.1 billion over five years while collecting $856 million in merger subsidies.

That should result in a net savings of $3.3 billion.

But the GAO found the savings generated by mergers difficult to trace to weapons prices. Critics question whether the savings are really passed on to the Pentagon and predict that the loss of competition will lead to higher prices.

Eleanor Spector, director of defense procurement, said the policy is fair and reaps "enormous savings." But she concedes it's difficult to measure.

"It's a needle-in-a-haystack problem," said Spector. "It's an impossible question to answer."

For example, a merger of missile manufacturers should lower the cost of making missiles, leading to lower prices.

But if the Pentagon orders fewer missiles, if labor negotiations result in higher wages, if a competitor goes out of business, if the cost of materials rises sharply — in short, if any of countless other factors work in the opposite direction — the price of the missile following the merger may go up.

Witches, evil doll and 'Antz' rule theaters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Halloween arrived early at the weekend box office with the success of "Practical Magic" and the horror movie "Bride of Chucky."

"Practical Magic," with Nicole Kidman and Sandra Bullock as witches in love, opened with $13.6 million in ticket sales for first place, according to industry estimates Sunday.

"Bride of Chucky," with the homicidal doll getting a love interest in the form of Jennifer Tilly, had $11.6 million for second place.

That was the best debut for any of the four Chucky movies, topping the $10.7 million opening for the previous leader, "Child's Play 2."

"It was sort of magic time at the box office," said Paul Dergarabedian, president of Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. "There were elements of the supernatural in the major openers and they played very well with the audiences."

A more serious film with a mystical theme, the post-slavery epic "Beloved," opened to strong business as well. Oprah Winfrey's labor of love was No. 5 with $8.5 million and had the best per-theater average — $5,663 — of any movie in wide release.

"We're truly of the belief that this picture is going to be in here for the long haul," said Disney distribution executive Chuck Viane.

The strong debuts of Warner Bros.' "Practical Magic" and Universal's "Bride of Chucky" provided a fall boost to two studios that have struggled this year with a string of flops. Even Warner's one hit, "Lethal Weapon 4," did little for the studio because the director and stars got so much money.

DreamWorks' computer-animated bug movie "Antz" and the cop picture "Rush Hour" both continued to do well, but Eddie Murphy's "Holy Man" lost more than 50 percent of its already-paltry audience in its second week.

"Antz" marched along in third place, losing just 23 percent of its audience in the third week to bring in $11.3 million. "Rush Hour" had $8.7 million for fourth.

"What Dreams May Come," the afterlife drama starring Robin Williams, lost 40 percent of its audience and brought in $6.5 million for sixth place.

"A Night at the Roxbury" was seventh with $3.9 million, followed by "Urban Legend" with $3 million and "Ronin" with $2.8 million.

After 16 weeks, the summer hit "Armageddon" brought in $516,000 and should become the year's first — and perhaps only — $200 million movie by next weekend.

1. "Practical Magic," $13.6 million.
2. "Bride of Chucky," $11.6 million.

Goldberg, son subpoenaed to appear before grand jury

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — New York literary agent Lucianne Goldberg and her son say they have been subpoenaed to appear before a Maryland grand jury investigating alleged wiretapping violations by Linda Tripp.

"We're going to go together so we can shop in Ellicott City," Mrs. Goldberg said in The Washington Post today. "I understand they have antique stores there."

Mrs. Goldberg's son, Jonah, told the newspaper that he received a subpoena last Tuesday and that he expected to appear before the grand jury Nov. 12.

Prosecutors are looking into whether Mrs. Tripp broke Maryland wiretapping laws by taping phone conversations with former White House intern Monica Lewinsky.

The 20 hours worth of tapes triggered an investigation by Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr and led to President Clinton's public admission that he had an improper relationship with Ms. Lewinsky.

In Maryland, it is illegal to tape record a telephone conversation without the other person's consent. The felony is punishable by five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Although Mrs. Tripp has told a federal grand jury that she knew she violated the Maryland law by recording conversations with Ms. Lewinsky, her testimony was made under a grant of immunity from Starr. That means the statement can't be used against her in the Maryland investigation.

Mrs. Goldberg said that in a September 1997 conversation, Mrs. Tripp asked whether taping her calls with Ms. Lewinsky would be appropriate.

"She said she felt sleazy doing it," said Mrs. Goldberg. "She didn't ask me if it was legal or not. She said, 'I just wondered if I'll get in trouble for doing something like that' — something to that effect."

Mrs. Goldberg said she then consulted someone who incorrectly told her that making telephone recordings of others was legal. Mrs. Goldberg said she relayed the inaccurate information to Mrs. Tripp.

Jonah Goldberg was present for a meeting last year in his Washington apartment with his mother, Mrs. Tripp and a Newsweek reporter. He said the discussions at that meeting indicated that Mrs. Tripp did not know taping the conversations was illegal.

Rather than trying to guess who holds the club queen, you should play to establish dummy's spade suit. Win the heart switch, cash the other top heart, play a spade to dummy's king, discard a club on the spade ace, and ruff a spade in hand. Let's assume West overruffs and returns the diamond queen. (Discarding isn't better.) Ruff in the dummy and trump another spade in hand. Finally, play a club to dummy's king and discard your last losing club on a top spade.

It is vital to count winners and check entries. You plan to win 10 tricks via three spades, four hearts, one diamond ruff in the dummy and two clubs. To establish the spades, assuming the likely 4-2 break, you need three entries: two for the spade ruffs in hand and one to reach the setup winner. These must be a top spade, the diamond ruff and the club king.

Which is more important?

By Phillip Alder

When you're declarer, is it more important to have your entries straight or to count winners?

Today's deal occurred during the European Union Championships, held last April in Salsomaggiore, Italy. How would you play in four hearts? The defense begins with the diamond king, a diamond to East's ace, and a trump switch.

To many American eyes, North's hand is too weak for a one-spade opening. Yet it has a wonderful six-card major, some support for the other major, and excellent controls (aces and kings). If you add two distribution points for the long spades (do not count shortage points when contem-

Yankees proving point against SD

From the very first inning, El Duque & Co. demonstrated for all — particularly the Padres — how they've won 123 games and staked their claim as the greatest team in baseball history.

Orlando Hernandez dominated on the mound, Bernie Williams and Jorge Posada homered to lead a relentless attack and Yankees fielding sparkled Sunday night in a 9-3 romp over San Diego for a 2-0 lead in the World Series.

After winning Game 1 by playing home-run derby, the Yankees showed off their whole potent package in Game 2. The Padres never had a chance, with rookie Ricky Ledee's RBI single making it 7-0 in the third and chasing ill starter Andy Ashby.

That was more than plenty for Hernandez, the Cuban defector who floated to freedom less than 10 months ago and helped save New York's season with a win in Game 4 of the AL championship series.

Exactly a year after his younger half-brother, Livan Hernandez, pitched Florida past Cleveland in Game 1 on his way to becoming MVP of the World Series, the quirky El Duque shut down San Diego on one run in seven innings.

By the time Posada's two-run homer in the fifth made it 9-1, the sellout crowd of 56,692 was going crazy while several Padres players were standing with heads down and hands on hips.

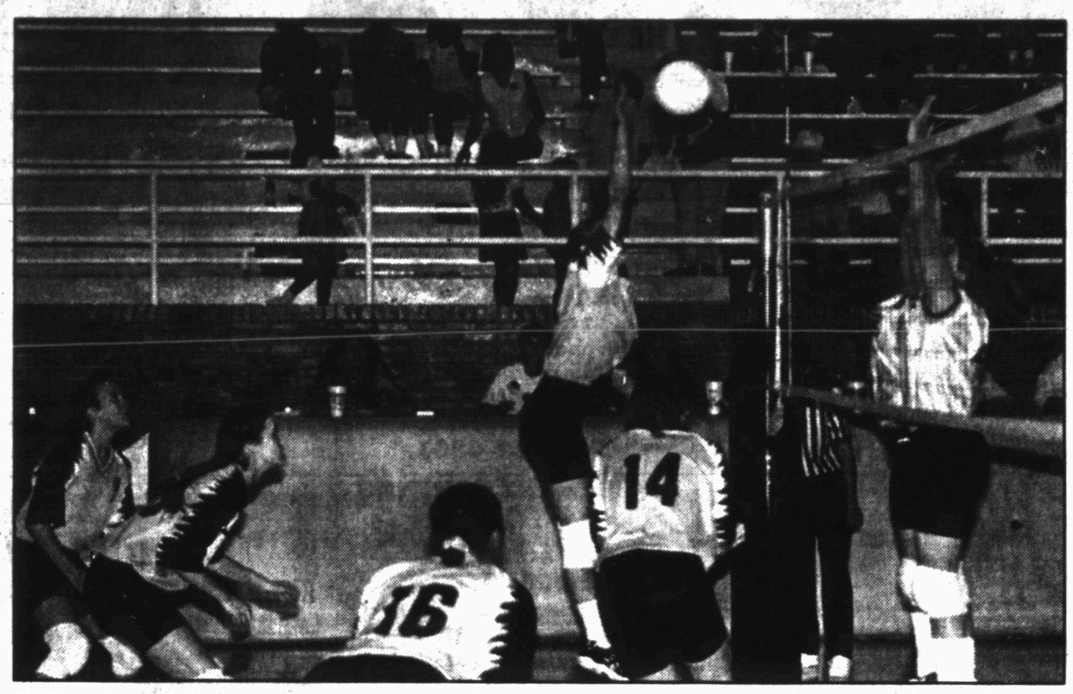

The Padres face a tough task in trying to regroup for Game 3 on Tuesday night at San Diego. David Cone will start for New York against NLCS MVP Sterling Hitchcock, a former Yankees pitcher — of the previous 44 teams to take a 2-0 lead in the Series, 33 have won the championship.

San Diego's best opportunity came in the first. Tony Gwynn got his fourth hit of the series and Greg Vaughn walked, but right fielder Paul O'Neill made a leaping catch as he crashed into the wall on Wally Joyner's drive for the final out.

From then on, it was all Yankees. Williams hit his ninth career postseason homer and Ledee, a rookie playing with exceptional poise, enjoyed his second straight night of getting two hits and a walk.

Williams' two-run homer highlighted a three-run third. Tino Martinez and Brosius, who each had three of the Yankees' 16 hits, singled to set up Ledee's RBI single in the third.

That was all for Ashby, and it wasn't until reliever Brian Boehringer pitched a scoreless fourth that Padres pitchers retired even two batters in a row.

In playoff chase...

SHS shreds Big Spring 15-3, 15-9

BIG SPRING — The Lady Tigers had business to take care of Saturday, so they went right to work.

Snyder jumped to an 11-1 lead in Game 1, before cruising to an important 15-3, 15-9 District 5-4A victory over Big Spring.

The victory gives Snyder sole possession of third place in the standings and all but wrapped up the final playoff spot. A Lady Tiger win in either of its final two matches, or a Big Spring loss to first-place Lake View, would send Snyder into the postseason.

The Lady Tigers travel to Lake View on Tuesday, before hosting fifth-place Ft. Stockton on Saturday.

"This win took a little pressure off the girls," Snyder coach Patty Grimmett said. "Now we can just go out and focus on beating Lake View on Tuesday."

Ashley Delce and Courtney Rinehart finished with five kills apiece to pace Snyder at the net.

"The girls did a great job offensively," Grimmett said. "We showed them a lot of offensive and had a lot more hits than they did and a lot more blocks."

After the lopsided first game, Big Spring actually held a 5-4 advantage in Game 2, until Kristin Martinez came to serve.

The Snyder junior served up six straight points to give the Lady Tigers a lead they would never relinquish.

Cowboys turn in dismal performance

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears don't know themselves. Are they better than 2-5 or were they just lucky to win a game they so often lose?

"We've been close a number of times this whole season," Quarterback Erik Kramer said after driving the Bears to a game-winning, fourth-quarter field goal Sunday for a 13-12 comeback victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

"We had eight turnovers last week and you obviously can't win doing that. But we've been right there all along and hopefully we convinced ourselves that we can pull out the close ones," Kramer said.

And the Cowboys? They thought they had re-established themselves as a force in the NFL but after Sunday's shaky loss, they aren't really sure what kind of team they are, either.

"They played fundamentally sound football and just outplayed us," said Deion Sanders, whom the Bears avoided with passes to the opposite side and angling punts out of bounds.

"Right now we're a team without a personality, but it's going to flourish. We need to establish ourselves and play Dallas Cowboys football. Right now, we don't know what that it is."

The Cowboys are 4-3 and ready for the return of Troy Aikman and a week off.

"I know this," Dallas coach Chan Gailey said. "To be a championship team you can't play sloppy. It doesn't matter if you're playing the best team or one that hasn't won very many. I don't know where we are right now."

Jeff Jaeger kicked two fourth-quarter field goals, including a winning 29-yarder with 11 seconds left after Kramer's passes to rookie tight end Alonzo Mayes put him in position.

"It's not a breakthrough game," said Mayes, who made tough middle-of-the-defense catches of 22 and 19 yards in the final drive. "It's a game that I know I'm able to play. I've honestly shown myself I can play on this level. I just have to go out and prove to the rest of the world that I can."

The Bears lost their first four games this season, even though they led at the half in each one. They rallied to beat Detroit for their first win, fell flat with eight miscues against Arizona last week and then came back to beat the Cowboys.

On Sunday, they limited Emmitt Smith to 78 yards, scored their first points this season in the third quarter (they had been blanked 61-0 in the period previously) and overcame a third-quarter Kramer interception.

Chicago plays at Tennessee before going into its bye week. There would be a big difference — at least psychologically — between 3-5 and 2-6.

"We've dealt with adversity all season. We got our heart broken week after week," Kramer said.

"The last time we won a game, we came out and turned the ball over eight times. Now we are going to have to learn how to deal with success."

Kramer's attempt to Bobby Engram in the third quarter was tipped by Kenny Wheaton — straight into Dexter Coakley's hands at the Chicago 47. Coakley rumbled all the way into the end zone, but the score was waved off because of an illegal block on the return.

The Cowboys scored anyway. After Chris Warren ran 17 yards to the 2, Jason Garrett hit David LaFleur with a 1-yard scoring pass. Dallas, however, missed what would turn out to be a big two-point conversion pass from Garrett to Irvin.

"We had chances to put them away offensively and defensively, and we didn't do that," Dallas corner Kevin Smith said. "Anytime you allow a team to hang around for four quarters, anything can happen."

JV knocks off Lady Steers

BIG SPRING — Snyder junior varsity upped its mark to 17-11 on the season with a 15-7, 15-13 victory Saturday over Big Spring.

Cary Brown paced the Lady Tigers' effort from the service line with 10 points. T'Leah Eicke served up eight points, with Callie Bane posting six more. Cameron Mackey chipped in three, while Rina Geiger registered a pair. Valery Haines finished with one point.

Mackey led the way from the net with four kills, while Lisa Hall posted three more. Bane had two kills on the day, with Gieger and Whitney Webb finishing with one apiece.

Geiger registered all three Lady Tiger blocks in the match.

Snyder will be in action again Tuesday against Lake View at 6 p.m. at the San Angelo Central gymnasium.

Frosh hold off Steers

BIG SPRING — Snyder's freshman volleyball squad posted its second victory of the week Saturday, knocking off Big Spring, 15-13, 15-6.

Leticia Martinez accounted for five points, with Jaci Smith notching four more. Vanesa Freeman, Meagan Hatley and Kasey Collier registered three points apiece.

Snyder will be back in action Tuesday against Lake View at 5 p.m. at the San Angelo Central gymnasium.

Dr. Gott by Peter Gott, M.D.

Talk to both doctor and pharmacist

DEAR DR. GOTT: Who should give patients instructions about the risks of prescribed medicines and the best time to take them, the doctor or the pharmacist?

DEAR READER: Both. When taking medication, you should heed the advice given by your doctor and the pharmacist. Most physicians attempt to be thorough in giving information about drugs, but this is an exceedingly complex topic. Sometimes we forget certain aspects, such as when to take medicine and how it could react with other drugs. This is where the pharmacist can be of invaluable help.

Use both resources, because they complement each other. If their instructions differ, ask the two of them to resolve the issue.

I get a lot of advice and help from the pharmacists in my community, and I am convinced that my patients are better off for it.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My tailbone has been hurting for two years, and I can't sit. My doctor blamed it on muscle spasm and gave me tranquilizers, but they don't help. CT scans show nothing. What's next?

DEAR READER: I assume that you do not have a tumor, an abscess or a spinal abnormality, because the CT scan would have shown these. Therefore, I suspect that you have an unusual affliction called coccydynia, an unexplained pain in the tailbone (coccyx). Your best bet is to treat the pain by using mild analgesics and to avoid sitting on hard, uncomfortable surfaces.

You might also consider visiting a pain clinic. These clinics help patients manage chronic pain with physical therapy, exercise, relaxation techniques, acupuncture, biofeedback, prescription medicine and other resources. Pain clinics are found in larger hospitals; they may also be independently run or part of a sports-medicine program.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Managing Chronic Pain." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, N.Y. 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have had an enlargement on the lower right side of my neck, next to my trachea, for two months. The doctor said it felt like an enlargement where the carotid artery splits and diagnosed lymphadenopathy. He didn't perform any tests. Is such an enlargement normal? Should I insist on further testing?

DEAR READER: Neck swellings can indicate serious disease, such as aneurysm (arterial swelling), lymphadenopathy (enlarged lymph glands), thyroid disease or infection. In my opinion, your doctor made a mistake in not testing you to discover the cause of the swelling. X-rays or ultrasound examinations might help to diagnose your condition. Clearly, a second opinion is in order. Ask your physician for a referral to a diagnostician, a surgeon or a head-and-neck specialist.

Astro-graph By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Tuesday, Oct. 20, 1998

In the year ahead, be ready to open that door when opportunity knocks by studying and preparing yourself early on. Advancement in your chosen field will occur if you keep abreast of current affairs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Discipline is essential in your financial affairs today. Avoid buying things you can't afford or making loans to those who are a poor risk. Show some prudence! Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Show a willingness to compromise and make reasonable concessions to others today. Let them know you're willing to cooperate. Associates will take their cues from you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It won't do you any good to dodge what you're required to do today. Your tasks and duties will not disappear by their own volition. Roll up your sleeves and get to work!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'd just be asking for a clash of wills today if you attempt to infiltrate groups or cliques whose ideals are diametrically opposed to yours. Mingle with your own kind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When we try too hard with an excess of emotion, we tend to stir up more problems for ourselves than necessary. Quiet yourself and set your sails in calmer waters.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Pisces knows being inflexible is a futile behavior. Nevertheless, you might find it difficult to yield any ground to those who oppose you today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's in your nature to be sharing and giving, but you might become uncharacteristically tight-fisted on holding onto what you deem to be solely yours today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't invite trouble or problems when reviewing issues with your spouse or partner today. Instead of taking an opposing position, look for ways to compromise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Tasks that might appear distasteful to you will only become more difficult to accomplish if you approach your responsibilities with a negative outlook.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Because you might have trouble attempting to disguise your honest feelings today, you must be extra cautious when you are around people you genuinely dislike.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There's a possibility that your aims could be thwarted by unforeseen obstacles today. However, don't take out your frustrations on innocent bystanders.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you treat others in a cool fashion today, why should you expect warmth and cooperation in return? Remember, what goes around comes around.

Documents in Paula Jones' lawsuit released

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A federal judge today released several hundred pages of previously secret documents detailing the behind-the-scenes legal maneuvers in the lawsuit by Paula Jones that thrust the Clinton presidency into crisis.

The documents include the court filing in which Monica Lewinsky, dubbed Jane Doe No. 6 by the court, tried to avoid testifying in the sexual harassment lawsuit by claiming she "does not have any relevant information."

"Plaintiff seeks to depose Jane Doe 6 to unreasonably invade her privacy and subject her to harassment through questioning, disrupt her personal life, as well as cause her to pay unnecessary counsel fees and costs," Ms. Lewinsky's lawyer argued in a motion filed Jan. 20, 1998, the day before the story of her affair with the president became public.

Attached to the motion was Ms. Lewinsky's previously disclosed affidavit denying a sexual relationship with Clinton — a document that landed her in the throes of Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr's investigation.

The documents were released on the Internet as lawyers prepared to argue the case before the U.S. Court of Appeals on Tuesday. Negotiations to reach a settlement continue without success.

The Washington Post reported today that Clinton's attorney, Robert Bennett, on Sunday rejected an offer from Mrs. Jones that would settle the case for $2 million — $1 million each from Clinton and a New York real estate developer, Abe Hirschfeld, who has volunteered his own money for a settlement.

Other documents released this morning by U.S. District Judge Susan Webber Wright, who oversaw the Jones case, included affidavits from White House counsel Charles F.C. Ruff and Bennett, denying they leaked Clinton's deposition in the Jones case to the news media.

Ruff told the court that neither he nor his deputies, Cheryl Mills and Bruce Lindsey, had released the deposition. His affidavit disclosed that the deposition was kept inside the White House by Lindsey, the president's closest confidant.

Portions of the deposition were filed in Mrs. Jones' written pleadings before the court and already have been made public.

Troubled Mideast talks break off today

QUEENSTOWN, Md. (AP)— Israel today suspended all West Bank negotiations with the Palestinian Authority except for security talks in response to a bloody attack on Israeli civilians back home.

Announcing the breakoff on the fifth day of Mideast peace talks, David Bar-Illan, a senior adviser to Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, said: "The Palestinian Authority is not doing anything to crack down on terrorist activity."

Netanyahu declared that a land-for-peace accord is impossible unless Palestinians live up to their security commitments. Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat called the grenade attack in Beersheba, Israel, regrettable and pledged to investigate.

The attack occurred as Israeli-Palestinian peace talks at a secluded conference center on Maryland's Eastern Shore stretched into their fifth day, clouded by disputes over Israeli's demand that Arafat take steps to root out terrorist cells.

President Clinton was returning later in the day to try to bring the sides closer together.

Israel suspended negotiations with the Palestinians on all issues other than security. Netanyahu already has offered to withdraw from an additional 13 percent of the West Bank if Israeli demands were met.

"If the Palestinians do not fulfill their commitments on security, an agreement is impossible," Netanyahu said in a statement issued in Hebrew.

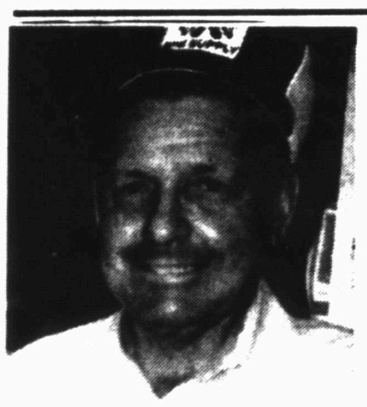

"The Palestinian Authority must fight terrorism ... and I am insisting on it at the summit," he said.

Earlier today, Arafat called Netanyahu to condemn the terrorist attack and promise that "we're going to investigate it," according to a senior U.S. official.

Netanyahu was reported to have responded that the grenade attack was further evidence that "we need clear and decisive action to root out terrorism."

In Washington, White House spokesman Joe Lockhart said Clinton "condemns the violence perpetrated by those who are the enemies of peace. And this underscores the need and the importance of the talks that are going on currently in Wye," the resort on Maryland's Eastern Shore.
