ALL PREVIOUS GINNING RECORDS ARE BROKEN

AMOUNT GINNED TO NOVEMBER 13TH EXCEEDS PREVIOUS RECORD NEARLY 1,500,000 BALES.

A BIG GAIN IN GEORGIA

2,103,979 Bales Ginned in That State. Total in United States is 11,269,986 Bales.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—In no previous year has so much cotton been ginned to the same date in November as shown by today's census bureau report of 11,269,986 bales. This is almost a million and a half bales more than was ginned to that date in the record year of 1904. The feature of today's report was Georgia's figures showing 2,103,979 bales ginned in that state, which is more than was ever ginned before in that state. Every state except Oklahoma and Mississippi show a greater amount of cotton ginned than during the past two years.

While the totals are larger it is significant that the amounts ginned between November 1 and 14 this year were not so large as the amounts ginned last year during the corresponding period.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The Census Bureau's fifth cotton ginning report of the season, issued at 10 a. m. today and showing the number of running bales, counting round as half bales, of cotton of the growth of 1911, ginned prior to November 13, with comparative statistics to the corresponding date for the past three years, is as follows:

United States—11,269,986 bales, compared with 8,780,433 bales last year, when 75.9 per cent of the entire crop was ginned prior to Nov. 14; 8,112,199 bales in 1909, when 80.5 per cent was ginned, and 9,595,809 bales in 1908, when 73.3 per cent was ginned.

The number of round bales included were 76,011, compared with 92,364 bales last year, 123,757 bales in 1909 and 173,985 bales in 1908.

The number of bales of Sea Island cotton included were 71,199 compared with 52,631 bales last year, 68,495 bales in 1909, and 56,701 bales in 1908. The distribution of Sea Island cotton by states was as follows:

Florida—26,818 bales, compared with 19,669 bales last year, 23,453 bales in 1909 and 23,629 bales in 1908.

Georgia—41,725 bales, compared with 28,088 bales last year, 38,825 bales in 1909, and 56,701 bales in 1908. The distribution of Georgia cotton by states was as follows:

Alabama—1,198,194 bales, compared with 956,894 bales last year, when 75.1 per cent was ginned; 805,849 bales in 1909, when 77.5 per cent was ginned, and 1,020,724 bales in 1908, when 76.6 per cent was ginned.

Arkansas—52,238 bales, compared with 47,122 bales last year, when 69.9 per cent was ginned; 55,857 bales in 1909, when 80.9 per cent was ginned, and 66,232 bales in 1908, when 66.8 per cent was ginned.

Florida—52,238 bales, compared with 46,847 bales last year, when 69.7 per cent was ginned; 51,612 bales in 1909, when 83.4 per cent was ginned, and 51,497 bales in 1908, when 72.9 per cent was ginned.

Georgia—2,103,979 bales, compared with 1,436,997 bales last year, when 79.3 per cent was ginned; 1,559,828 bales in 1909, when 84.3 per cent was ginned.

Neither Hines Nor Tilder Was Custodian of Lorimer Fund

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., Nov. 21.—Neither Edward Hines, the lumberman, nor Edward Tilder, the packer, was the custodian of the fund of one hundred thousand dollars or of any other funds which were to be used to pay off the expenses of William Lorimer's election to the United States senate, according to expert reports submitted today at the Senatorial Lorimer investigation.

MANY HUNTING PARTIES FROM WICHITA FALLS

The almost ideal weather which has prevailed here for the last several days has infused the hunting spirit into many of the local sportsmen, and nearly every day, parties leave the city bound for points where the game is reported to be plentiful. Even if nothing is bagged on the trip, the pleasure of being in the open air in this kind of weather is considered by many of those who go as sufficient compensation for all the trouble of such a trip.

Y.M.C.A. CLOSING RULE HAS BEEN MODIFIED

On account of the inconvenience caused to some of the members of the Y. M. C. A. by the strict enforcement of the rule of closing the doors of the association promptly at eight o'clock each night during the progress of the Ham revival meeting, it has been decided by the management of the local organization to allow the freedom of the building to members until 9:30 o'clock on three nights of the week during the further duration of the revival meeting, after the end of which, the doors will again be open to both members and visitors as formerly. The nights chosen on which to open the Y. M. C. A. during the Ham revival meeting were Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, and from now on, members will have a chance to enjoy the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. until after 9:30 on each of these nights, except Saturdays, when in order to give the business men and others a chance for a shower bath and plunge, the doors will remain open until after ten o'clock.

NEGRO CHILD FATALLY BURNED YESTERDAY

While playing around a bonfire yesterday afternoon Berta Hunt, the 5-year-old daughter of Columbus Hunt, colored, ventured too close to the flames and her clothing was ignited. Before assistance reached her she was so badly burned that she died at about midnight last night. The funeral was held from St. John's Baptist Church this afternoon.

REFORM SHOULD BE NON-PARTISAN

CURRENCY AND BANKING REFORM SHOULD BE KEPT OUT OF POLITICS.

PRESIDENT WATTS SPEAKS

Head of American Bankers' Association Says That No Party Principle Is Involved.

New Orleans, Nov. 21.—If the proposed plan for the reform of the currency and banking system of the United States be kept non-partisan, its enactment into law will be an easy accomplishment. And it could be kept non-partisan, said the 4,000 bankers here would work zealously to that end upon their return home.

So declared F. O. Watts, President of the American Bankers' Association, in addressing the convention of its members here today. Mr. Watts, he said, from the beaten path of precedent, to discuss the theme which has been made the keynote of the convention proceedings.

"Surely there is no good reason why the question should become a partisan one," he said. "There is no party principle involved in such a co-operative agency and nothing but prejudice or the extremity for an issue, which certainly does not exist in this day, could cause either of the two great political parties to treat the subject differently from what they should proposals for good health or pure food, or river improvements, or the building of a great canal. If by any chance it drifts into a partisan alignment, the only hope of making it an effective issue to the party opposing the plan would lie in its ability to appeal to prejudice through talk of centralization and control by special interest."

Neither proposition could be maintained before the thoughtful citizenship of this country, and when the light of reason entered, the party making such an appeal would suffer as such parties have always suffered in the past.

"We can show that instead of being centralization the proposal is decentralization, the power coming to the central agency for all banks in just such a way as the power is placed in the Chief Executive of the nation. The President becomes the composite of American ideas, and when not so there occurs a shifting of authority. So the Central Reserve Association would always be the composite of the shareholding banks, and therefore, standing for the best in our business life."

"The Currency Commission and officers of your Association have been in a number of conferences with the Chairman and members of the National Monetary Commission, and those having the responsibility of forming a plan showed remarkable willingness to hear and adopt any suggestion tending to keep the control away from speculative marts, keep it apart from political control or prevent its being at any time a political issue. Keep the investment of a character that would make any control of little value compared to such an outlay as necessary to acquire it."

Those expressing a fear on the question of control seem to deal only in generalities instead of giving some good reasons for the belief that any selfish interest would seek control, or that if sought it could be attained. The plan expressly prohibits the holding of shares by any individual or other trust banking corporations, so that direct stock control is forever impossible, and therefore, to get even indirect control it would be necessary for such interests to purchase control of the majority of the shares of more than twenty thousand independent banks of the country. The use of such a stupendous sum as necessary is highly impractical. The suggestion appears foolish to those analyzing the situation and to be a serious reflection on the good sense of those in mind when special control is mentioned."

"Undoubtedly those interests which according to passing speech and hurried composition are designated as 'Wall Street' favor the National Reserve Association or any plan of monetary reform making for stability and prosperity and relieving the best brains of New York from the great strain of crop movements, trade expansion and panics. Passing the relatively small number of stock gamblers around New York's Stock Exchange, we find there banks, business houses, industrial and railway corporations vitally interested in every section of the country and who have learned what an aptly expressed during the year in saying that his institution and allied interests 'makes dollars out of the general prosperity of the country where they could make only pennies out of special privilege.' The real Wall

TABERNACLE WILL BE OPENED TONIGHT

Gas Men Worked Until Midnight Laying Pipe in New Auditorium.

"Yes, tell them there will be services at the tabernacle tonight," said Evangelist Ham when seen at the site today noon. There is a large force at work getting the building ready for the service tonight. The gas men worked until 12 o'clock last night piping the building so it can be heated and the electricians are busy today wiring the building.

The street force of the city worked on the building yesterday afternoon, an experience that came rather as a surprise to many of the prisoners. Committees of the ladies are this afternoon engaged in the work of canvassing the entire city and taking the religious census, a work similar to that done throughout Texas last February. It is to be hoped that they will not experience so great a difficulty in accomplishing the task this time as they did the last. Many people who do not understand the nature of the work have sometimes turned a cold shoulder to the workers and they have been unable to gain a hearing or get that have sometimes been refused the information desired.

The revival campaign will be launched anew tonight and with greatly increased vigor the battle will be pushed to the last ditch in an effort to reach and help the unsaved of the city.

Street prefers prosperity to special privilege, and knows that they serve themselves most when building up the commercial, manufacturing, agricultural, transportation and banking interests of the whole country."

CHAIRMAN NAMED ON COTTON ACREAGE

Governor Colquitt Names W. C. Myers, of Burk Burnett—Offers Suggestions to Cotton Growers.

W. C. Myers of Burk Burnett has been named by Governor Colquitt as chairman in Wichita county to call mass meetings and to organize the county to carry out the recommendations made by the conference which was recently held at New Orleans.

One man has been named in each county in the state for this purpose and in making the nominations Governor Colquitt issued the following address:

"To the Public: In pursuance of recommendations made by the conference of Governors called to meet in New Orleans, Oct. 30 for the purpose of considering the decline in price of cotton, I hereby appoint the following named persons to act as chairmen in their respective counties, as recommended by the address of said conference for the purpose of calling mass meetings and organizing by precincts and school communities with a view of regulating and reducing the cotton acreage for next year, and to consider the other suggestions and recommendations made by said conference."

"It is my intention to appoint two farmers in each county who will cooperate with each other in carrying out the recommendations made at the Governors' conference recently held in New Orleans, one of said farmers to be a Farmers' Union man, and the other a non-union man, the purpose being to have the co-operation of all farmers in the movement and to try to better conditions of the cotton grower."

"As soon as the Governors of the other cotton-growing states appoint their committees we will try to fix a uniform date for holding mass meetings throughout the cotton producing states. In the meantime I appeal to the aforementioned gentlemen in each county to organize, reporting to me any progress made."

GRIM TALES OF THE TAR PARTY

EVIDENCE GIVEN IN TRIAL OF KANSAS OUTRAGE CASES CAUSES HUSH TO FALL.

STORY OF BARBARITY

Laborer Calmly Tells of the Tarring of Pretty Woman School Teacher.

By Associated Press. Lincoln, Kan., Nov. 21.—In the tar party trial the testimony of Edward Ricard a barber who led Mary Chamberlain, the school teacher to the rendezvous, has caused a hush to fall upon the corner concaves in which the tar party previously had been discussed in the light of a joke. The grim tales given in evidence have created more serious views. Ricard was under cross-examination today. He said the conspirators planned that Miss Chamberlain should go driving with him and be found in a compromising position.

While the young victim listened calmly, Chester Anderson, a laborer, Monday related to a jury the story of how ten men, including himself, dragged Miss Mary Chamberlain, a school teacher, from a buggy and poured warm tar on her naked body.

Anderson said that he had never heard and gossip besmirching the character of Miss Chamberlain. He told how the tarring was planned and of the marks various men wore.

Anderson said he arranged with Edward Ricard, a barber, to take the girl for a buggy ride so that she might be captured by the men, and told of going back to Clark's mill to notify the gang.

Ricard told the witness stand just before court adjourned for the day and corroborated Anderson's story of how Miss Chamberlain was deceived by him and of how they were held up and the girl was tarred.

The night of the tarring Anderson and Delbert Kindelsperger drove to the scene in a buggy, while the other men went on motorcycles. When he got to the scene of the tarring Anderson said he laughed, for there stood Everett Clark, a wealthy miller of Beverly, his head covered with a gunny sack, through which holes for his eyes and mouth had been poked, adding that by Clark's side was Jay Fitzwater, his head covered with a mill bag.

When Miss Chamberlain and Ricard came along, Anderson said, that he and Kindelsperger stepped out into the road and pointed toy pistols at them and halted the pair. Two other men wearing masks took the school teacher out of the buggy and Ricard told him and hid. Another man held the tar can.

Anderson said two of the men were Everett Clark and Fitzwater. The third one he did not know. After the tar had been rubbed on, Miss Chamberlain was helped into her clothes. With tar dripping from her, she got into the buggy and drove away with Ricard.

Alfa Lindermuth, one of Anderson's companions, corroborated the testimony. He said he took no part in the tarring, merely hiding behind a fence to "see the fun."

A huge crowd filled Judge Grover's court room almost to suffocation. The judge told the deputies to be careful that no minors were admitted.

Edward Ricard in the tar party trial, testified that on the ride to the scene of the tarring he made two advances in the buggy to Miss Chamberlain, which she repulsed.

Miss Chamberlain took the stand late this afternoon and began her story.

Hetty Green 76 Years Young.

New York, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the wealthiest and most successful business woman in the United States, today completed the seventy-sixth year of her strenuous and eventful life in perfect health and vigor which many a younger man or woman might well envy. Mrs. Green is not much given to sentiment and did not in any ostentatious manner celebrate the anniversary of her birth. She went to her business offices, which she shares with her son, Col. Edward H. R. Green, as usual today to attend to the business matters connected with the administration of her enormous fortune. Notwithstanding her age Mrs. Green continues to look after her business interests and only lately has she shown any inclination to turn over part of the incidental work to her son. The latter will probably return to Texas in the near future, partly on account of his own business interests in that state, partly to look after the interests of the Texas Midland railway which is owned by his mother.

REYES' MANIFESTO IN HANDS OF THE POLICE

REV. H. J. WHARTON GOES TO KINGSTON, OHIO

Pastor of First M. E. Church Here Receives Appointment to Charge in Ohio.

Rev. H. J. Wharton, pastor of the First Methodist church, left today for Kingston, Ohio. Rev. Mr. Wharton has just been appointed pastor of the Methodist church in that place, and leaves a large circle of friends in Wichita where he has been pastor since May. Mr. Wharton is a minister of unusual culture. He is a graduate of Harvard University, and of the Boston University Divinity school. He comes from a family of preachers—his father is pastor of one of the leading churches in Columbus, Ohio. The people of Wichita wish the best for this zealous, growing minister of the gospel. The successor to Mr. Wharton will be announced at the Fort Worth conference next Monday.

DIRECTORS OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEET

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their regular weekly session this morning voted to continue the industrial committee until they could submit a definite report in writing to the directors regarding the purchase of a land for an industrial site addition.

The committee informally reported this morning that it had received an oral proposition for a site of 900 acres immediately southwest of the city and 350 acres on the north side of the river and west of the Fort Worth and Denver tracks. Owing to the absence of Mr. Kell, manager of the traction company from the city they had been unable to learn whether the company would extend its tracks through either of these sites and if so under what conditions.

The committee which comprises R. E. Huff, C. W. Bean, J. L. Jackson and J. B. Marlow was given further time for receiving propositions, in writing from land owners and to confer with the officer of the traction company.

Little business was transacted at the meeting of the directors this morning. The manufacturing committee reported unfavorably on the proposition submitted by Mr. Graham for the establishment of a sewer pipe and stove foundry here. A proposition from a novelty glass manufacturing company in which a site and bonus was asked was referred to that committee. Frank Kell, chairman of a special committee reported that Mr. McSweeney had failed to comply with the requirements of the Chamber of Commerce regarding his packing house proposition within the time limit designated and that the committee had ended negotiations with him. Their action was ratified.

KEY ROTE REDUCTION WILL BE DISCUSSED

A representative of the State Fire Rating Board will be here soon to discuss with members of the city council some steps whereby the key rate in Wichita Falls may be lowered. G. D. Anderson, chairman of a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce recently to investigate the insurance rates and to recommend some action has been in communication with the board and as a result a representative will be sent here to confer with the city council.

The Lake Shore Assembly Endorsed By M. E. Conference

The North Texas Conference which has just closed its forty-fifth session at Gainesville heartily endorsed the Lakeshore Assembly. Rev. Jno. E. Roach went before the Epworth League board. Rev. O. T. Cooper represented the Assembly before the Sunday School board. Both boards gave enthusiastic endorsement, and pledged to cooperate in helping put a great throng at Lake Wichita the coming summer.

MEXICAN CONSUL DELIVERS DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE OF CONSPIRACY

REYES' TRIAL IN APRIL

Manifesto Bearing His Name Called Upon Mexican People and Army to Revolt.

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 21.—Copies of three manifestos calling on the Mexican army and Mexican people to revolt and signed in print with the name General Bernardo Reyes, were today placed in the hands of H. A. Thompson, chief of the secret service here. He will lay them before the United States district attorney. These manifestos were brought by a courier from Mexico counsel Lugo, at Laredo.

All manifestos are dated at Saltillo the State of Tanguipus, Mexico, which state was believed to be the one most likely to rise in insurrection first. The full texts of the manifestos have not yet been made public but the general nature of their contents have been divulged. Soldiers and officers are called on to quit their allegiance to the present government which is characterized as impious, unjust and usurped. The soldiers are told that revolutionary leaders have been placed over the regulars and that in every possible way President Madero has shown his distrust of the men who stood by the falling government of Diaz. It is understood that promises are made of reforms in the army and greater pay to those enlisting in the new cause. The people are told that if the Revista government succeeds they will have a chance to vote for their own candidates and not have candidates thrust on them.

The secret service men are trying to discover where these manifestos were printed.

Hutchins' Report.

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Nov. 21.—Adjutant General Hutchins today advised Colquitt that the Mexican situation was well in hand at Laredo and was ordered to proceed to Brownsville.

Reyes Will Be Tried in April.

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 21.—Reyes will be tried on yesterday's indictment at Laredo in April.

Cavalry Ordered to Brownsville. Laredo, Texas, Nov. 21.—General Duncan today ordered troops of the U. S. Cavalry sent from San Antonio to Brownsville, Texas. Six more rifles were found here last night secreted in a gas main.

COTTON FUTURES DECLINE 10 POINTS

Cotton futures in the New York exchange dropped ten points and more from the day's highest quotations on receipt of the U. S. Government's ginning report this morning. December option opened at 9.28 and closed at 9.18. January option, opened at 9.32 and closed at 9.20. March which opened at 9.25, closed at 9.12.

White middling, sold around nine cents in Wichita Falls today and some of the dealers are predicting eight cent cotton within ten days. Very little good cotton is being marketed now, most of the staple being off color and off grade.

Three Burned to Death.

By Associated Press. Middleboro, Ky., Nov. 21.—Three persons were burned to death in a business building fire here today.

Do You Reflect Prosperity?

A well-dressed man always gets more attention and consideration than a poorly dressed one. If his clothes are correctly styled and neat appearing they create a good impression for him. Our New York made clothes are just the kind that enable a man to dress stylishly and neatly, yet economically. They are fashioned in the very latest and most popular styles.

House Committee Recommends Changes in Election Laws

Austin, Texas, Nov. 21.—The report embodying suggestions of the prohibition majority of the late house investigation committee as to needed amendments for the State's election laws has been received. There is not with it the bill which the committee intended to draft to cover needed amendments, but the pro-majority suggests that the entire system of election laws of the State needs revision because of its cumbersome phrases and defects and that in time it will be able to submit simplified election laws.

This report, signed by Representatives Nickolls of Hill, Nichols of Hunt, Cureton, Rowell, Brown, of Tarrant, and Hunt of Randall is a much milder report than that of the pro majority of the senate. It condemns no one. In its findings of fact it merely gives different excerpts from the testimony adduced before it with regard to that provision demanding an investigation of charges of the unlawful use of money before the legislature. It merely quotes the so-called Sam Levy letters with the explanation given with regard to them by Chairman J. F. Wolters of the late anti-prohibition organization.

The majority files with its report as exhibits copies of the Oregon corrupt practice act, the penal provisions of the election laws of Nebraska, the New York corrupt practice act, penal provisions of Wisconsin election laws, crimes against the election franchise in Montana, Federal laws for publicity of campaign funds of interstate committees after the election, the Nebraska publicity of campaign funds law and extracts from the democratic campaign book of 1910. The recommendations follow:

Poll tax receipts should be issued only at a regular and established office of the tax collector in charge of the tax collection in person, or some regular deputy, who has qualified by written oath, and given bond and whose appointment and qualification has been approved by the commissioners court or by some official or officials whose duty it may be to approve such bonds. The law should be amended so as to exclude poll tax collectors and traveling tax collectors.

There should be but one place to pay poll taxes in any town and a regular office should be established wherever poll taxes are issued.

No person should be permitted to pay the poll tax of another except where such other person is personally without the country or physically unable to go to the collector's office. In this event the person paying the tax should have power of attorney, stating in full the reasons why the taxpayer can not pay his tax in person. The suggestion that the duplicate poll tax arrangement should be used, a duplicate copy of the poll tax to go to the election office with the signature of the holder submitted of worthy of consideration. Publicity of poll tax lists within ten days within payment closes is recommended also, ample prevention for challenging illegal receipts and speedy disposition of such cases by the courts.

Challenged Ballots. It is suggested that a separate box should be kept for disposition of challenged ballots on election day and provision made for challenging ballots, and that before challenged ballots are counted it should first be determined whether or not there is election without counting them. If not, challenged ballots should have their validity established in the courts and the results declared by law. The right of contesting elections, however, should not be denied.

The suggestion that an election officer should read and mark the ballot of the illiterate voter in the presence of all election officers is given worthy consideration. Short and simple ballots are urged.

For intimidation severe penalties are recommended. It is suggested in intimidation should be defined; that landlords and employers should not use position or authority; that parades and displays of any character should be limited or prohibited on election day or six hours before opening of the polls. Electioneering should be defined and activity or workers, their names should be posted conspicuously with the name of the person or cause for whom they work; that severe penalty should be provided for workers compensated before or after the election.

Exemption Certificates. Exemption certificates should be issued only once, unless lost or destroyed.

Provision should be made for reports of political parties or factions at the polls; also for the challenging of voters by any citizen.

The passage of a law forfeiting the office of anyone for whom there has been cast one or more fraudulent votes affect final result of the election's suggestion if it be found that such fraud was brought about by the candidate or with his knowledge.

"The present election laws are cumbersome, hard to find and difficult to understand; the entire law should be rewritten, systematized and simplified."

Delicious Gingerbread

(Recipe by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln)

Children are great lovers of gingerbread, and grown folks, too, if it is the rich, "melt-in-your-mouth" kind. Here is something the children can eat freely without fear of "tummy-ache".

Mix two cups flour, one-half level-teaspoon salt, one level-teaspoon soda, one level-teaspoon ginger; stir in one cup molasses, two tablespoons softened lard, and one-half cup boiling water. Bake in shallow pan. If for dessert, take in layers. Fill with whipped cream, flavored with lemon.

Cottolene makes light, rich-pasty that digests with ease.

Methodist Brotherhood Meets

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21.—The annual meeting of the board of managers of the Methodist Brotherhood of the United States began in Omaha today, with headquarters at the First Methodist Church. Among the prominent speakers on the program of the two days' meeting are Dr. H. F. Hall of Denver, Dr. F. L. Thompson of New York and Dr. W. A. Wilson of Ithaca, N. Y.

Political experts of the two leading parties are generally agreed that the battleground for the presidential campaign of next year will be in the following States: Oregon, California, Wisconsin, Ohio, New Jersey, New York, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana.

CONFIDENCE.

We Back Up Our Statements With Our Personal Reputation and Money.

We are so positive that we can relieve constipation no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine free of all cost if we fail.

We think that it is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Cathartics may do much harm. They may cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels, and make constipation more chronic.

Constipation is often accompanied and may be caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or colon. To expect a cure on must therefore tone up and strengthen those parts and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of skillful research chemists. This remedy produces results such as are expected from the best of the best known intestinal tonics, and it is particularly prompt in its results.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are exceedingly pleasant to take and are ideal for children. They apparently act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels, having, it would seem, a neutral action on other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause inconvenience. If they do not positively cure chronic or habitual constipation and thus relieve the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, your money will be refunded. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk.

Three sizes of packages, 10, 25 and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, O. F. Marchman Drug Store.

Held Without Bail.

Frederick, Okla., Nov. 18.—In the preliminary hearing of Albert Parks and Irwin Parks, charged with being implicated in the murder of T. A. Phillips, a traveling salesman of Bonham, Texas, held before county judge M. C. Campbell, Parks was held without bail, while his brother, Irwin was released. The evidence was circumstantial. An immense crowd attended the hearing. Parks was killed Nov. 17, and the bullet which ended his life was intended for Marshall Weaver, judge S. M. Cunningham of Lawton, assisted in the prosecution.

"Danny" Dunn, a former newsboy is pretty sure of retaining his present job as mayor of Willimantic, Conn. Mayor Dunn is a Democrat but he appears to be very popular with the Republicans as well. When the Republican city convention met the other day it named fifty candidates to run for mayor, and all declined the nomination. The convention adjourned without nominating an opponent to Mayor Dunn.

ONLY TEN CASES OF TYPHOID AT ELECTRA

F. D. Woodruff, real estate dealer and prominent citizen of Electra, called at The Times office this morning to protest against the report printed in The Times to the effect that there are now about 30 to 40 cases of typhoid fever at Electra.

Mr. Woodruff says that according to reports from physicians there are but ten cases at Electra. There have been only five deaths from typhoid fever cases that originated at Electra. Three of these were brought to Wichita Falls and died at the sanitarium, and two occurred at Electra. Mr. Woodruff also says that water is being piped to Electra from springs located on Red River, and there is a general clean-up move on in his town. There has been no let up in the development of the oil field, except that caused by the late freeze.

Two more deep wells are expected to be brought in today, and the daily production of the field is about 12,000 barrels.

Away Goes Pimples, Black-Heads, Eczema, Dandruff and Other Skin Affections

When Zemo and Zemo Soap Are Used

The Miller Drug Store says, "We are so confident that ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP used together will rid the skin or scalp of infant or grown person of pimples, blackheads, dandruff, insect bites, or any form of itching, irritated, disfiguring skin or scalp trouble, that we do not hesitate to recommend these clean refined remedies to every person who desires quick relief and a cure from any form of aggravated skin or scalp affection. Oftentimes one bottle and one cake of soap will cure a chronic case of skin trouble."

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP produce swift and sure results. You will not suffer another day after you commence to use them. You will feel like a new person.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP can be obtained from one leading druggist in every city or town in America and in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store.

Three wells have been bored, and a large reservoir excavated with a storage capacity capable of irrigating fifteen acres of land. A gasoline engine is now being installed to pump water from the wells to fill the reservoir. Mr. Smith intends to devote his entire time to raising vegetables.

When the prohibition national committee meets in Chicago next month it will have no lack of applicants from which to select the meeting place for the presidential nominating convention of next year. Among the cities that would like to entertain the convention are Milwaukee, Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland, Ore.

The session of congress to begin next month will be the last long one of that body to be held under the apportionment of the census of 1900. The next long session will be that of a house of representatives made up under an apportionment according to the census taken in 1910.

305 WICHITA FALLS 305

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 21, 1911.

Mr. Edgar P. Haney of Henrietta, has suspended the publication of the Searchlight in that town and has moved his plant to this city and will soon begin the publication of a weekly paper. The Times extends to Mr. Haney a hearty welcome to Wichita.

According to an article in Collier's Weekly, the people in "poor old prohibition Kansas" have become so prosperous that it has brought on a craze for banks, and now every little hamlet of 300 or 400 inhabitants wants and must have one or more banks. Some counties have on an average one bank for every 300 families and nearly every farmer has become a stockholder in "our bank." In fact, the creation of banks seemingly has become a burden to the State of Kansas, and a law has been made to regulate the issuance of charters, and it is now up to the authorities of the State to decide the matter as to just how many banks each and every community is entitled to. The controller of the currency at Washington, without any such law as that enacted in Kansas at his back, has turned down over 200 applications for national bank charters in the past year. But if nothing worse than the "banking craze" is afflicting Kansas, she will get along all right.

A few weeks ago the Times contained an editorial containing some very severe strictures and rather scathing denunciations of District Judge Thomas L. Blanton, of Abilene, Texas, (although his name was not used in the article) criticizing him for his action in making an order of court prohibiting the publication of the evidence in certain criminal cases, in which two prominent business men of the county were convicted of the crime of statutory rape. The article was written immediately after reading several severe roasts in Oklahoma papers in all of which the judge was taken severely to task; and the Times concluded that their statements were true as a matter of course. Since the publication of the article we have been furnished with a complete copy of the judgment in the case, together with the order of court in question; and have received a courteous letter from Judge Blanton in which the true status of the matter is set before us. The Times was too hasty in its criticism and denunciation, and we are quick to acknowledge it. It appears that the case against the defendants wherein the publication of salacious, scandalous, misrepresenting details would have had a prejudicial effect on the minds of the people of the community and prevented them from securing a fair-minded jury. In addition there are several large girl's schools in Abilene, and if the details had been published they would have undoubtedly been read by a large number of these students to their unquestioned detriment. Judge Blanton should have been commended for his action in this phase of the matter, instead of being condemned. In fact, since reading the judgment and order of court the opinion of the Times in the matter has been entirely reversed and we publish this retraction and explanation in order to repair, so far as is possible, any damage we may have done; and to restore Judge Blanton to good favor in the eyes of any who have read the former editorial, and formed a wrong opinion concerning him. And we trust this explanation will fully serve its purpose.—Altus, (Okla.) Times.

...THE RUBY...

WILL ROOSEVELT COME BACK?

For some time past it has been frequent with newspaper paragraphers to inquire, in one form or another, "What has become of Theodore?" The implication being that he had fallen from public notice and his influence from its one-time position of power in the affairs of the nation.

Public addresses he has not been making, and his weekly observations in The Outlook have been attracting no more than casual attention.

But now he has in a measure answered the paragraphic inquiries and in addition set the tongues of political gossip going as they have not gone since the days when he ceased being the great American maker of news.

It was all done by an editorial in The Outlook, in which he characterized the anti-trust policy of Taft's administration as "chaotic," and insisted that it should be replaced by something radically different. Thereupon has arisen the pertinent question, "Will he come back into national Republican politics to champion the policy of 'something different'?" Taft, he charges in effect has made a failure of handling the problem of big business. Why, therefore, is it not reasonable to suppose that the ex-president who has so vigorously pointed out the failure will in addition offer himself to point out the way to success? That's how runs the gossip.

The ex-president describes the "failure" as follows: "The attempt to meet the whole problem not by administrative governmental action, but by a succession of lawsuits, is hopeless from the standpoint of working out a permanently satisfactory solution. Moreover, the results sought to be achieved are achieved only in extremely insufficient and fragmentary measure, by breaking up all big corporations, whether they behaved well or ill, into a number of little corporations, which, it is perfectly certain, will be largely, and perhaps altogether under the same control."

The "better plan" which he submits is that of the establishment of an administrative commission to supervise all corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and to control them, even to the fixing of the prices of their products, if that should be necessary.

It can not be gainsaid that there is much virtue in this plan if, as now seems will be the case, the total effect of the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law will be to dissolve offending combinations, yet allow them to be reassembled in a technically but not essentially different form—a form wherein monopoly is still enthroned and competition crushed.

Such a course of action is like running around in a circle—it gets nowhere. Nor can it be doubted that there is something the matter with the Sherman law, either in its provisions or in the enforcement that has so far been accorded it. It does not produce the results.

It may well be concluded that American statesmanship has still before it the task of evolving a workable plan of controlling the great industrial combinations before a proper balance can be kept between justice to the people on the one hand and the business growth of the country on the other.—Atlanta Georgian.

When President Taft said: "I love the judges; I love the courts; they are my ideal on earth and typify what we shall meet afterward in heaven under a just God," did he have in mind the supreme court of the United States that decided the Sherman anti-trust law to mean every restraint of trade, or did he have in mind the supreme court of the United States that decided the Sherman law to mean only those restraints that the judges may regard as reasonable? Did he have in mind a court like the federal court presided over by Judge Sanborn which decides that the states have "practically no power to regulate railroad rates," or a federal court like the one presided over by Judge Warrington which decides quite the opposite? When the federal courts exhibit such remarkable differences of opinion as to what constitutes justice, what kind of courts does President Taft have in mind when he says "they typify what we shall afterward meet in heaven under a just God?"—La Follette's Magazine.

Just at this time a great deal is being said about the initiative, referendum and recall—particularly the latter in connection with the recall of judges. The State of Oregon has had the recall now for three years, and but one instance is yet recorded where an attempt has been made to recall a judge. This occurred a few weeks ago and was aimed at a judge who had charged a jury in a murder trial in a way that nothing but a verdict of acquittal could be returned. A movement for his recall was started, but hardly got any further than that. The recallers failed to get the necessary 25 per cent of the voters to sign the petition. Therefore, those who imagine the recall is such a bad thing, and contend that it is an easy matter to get 25 per cent of the voters to sign a recall petition in the case of judges, will have another thing to think of. The people, as a rule, are not going to abuse a privilege, such as the recall, for the sake of putting some man out of office, a considerable number of whom might have opposed his election in the first instance, and if the man elected conducts himself half decently there is not much danger of his being recalled.

When it comes to the evils growing out of high prices, a striking illustration can be found in the price Gov. Ross had to pay for the office he holds in Massachusetts. He paid $16,828 for an office that cost only $3,000, to say nothing of the energy and the sleepless nights he spent.—Dallas News.

But he got the office. Some candidates for the same office in Texas have paid more than half that amount just for the privilege of getting "snowed out."

Every effort heretofore put forth to reduce cotton acreage in Texas in order that the supply would not be greater than the demand has always resulted in an increased acreage.

All Other States—71,396 bales, compared with 35,829 bales last year, when 45.3 per cent was ginned; 43,700 bales in 1909, when 76.0 per cent was ginned and 46,751 bales in 1908, when 62.9 per cent was ginned.

To one who does not realize that Thanksgiving is almost here, it is only necessary for that person to wander around to the Union Station about the time of the arrival of the Valley and Northwestern trains in the morning. Crate after crate of turkeys are unloaded here every day, and it seems that the supply is so plentiful in Oklahoma, that prices have been forced to such a low ebb that it is necessary to ship the birds to this city before any profit can be made on them.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon C. J. Filipeu by making publication of this Citation—once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 30th Judicial District, but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 30th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Wichita County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, on (the First Monday in December, A. D. 1911, the same being the 4th day of December, A. D. 1911, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1911, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 4159, wherein Anna Filipeu is plaintiff, and C. J. Filipeu is defendant, and the said plaintiff is claiming damages for the defendant's alleged failure to support plaintiff, but was not lawfully married and lived together as man and wife until about the 1st day of March 1909; that on or about said date defendant abandoned plaintiff, and since that time plaintiff and defendant lived together, defendant was not lawfully married, but was living with plaintiff, and defendant refused to support plaintiff, and while they lived in Abilene defendant cursed and abused plaintiff in many ways, and said acts of cruelty on the part of defendant were such a nature as to render their further living together insupportable. That said acts were wholly without fault of plaintiff. Premise considered, plaintiff sues, prays for absolute divorce from defendant and restoring to plaintiff her maiden name, Anna Dwork, for cost of suit and such other and further relief as she may in law be entitled to. Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, A. F. Kerr Clerk of the District Court of Wichita County.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, this 4th day of November, A. D. 1911.

News From the Oil Fields

Producers' Wagoner No. 9 was drilled into the 1900 foot sand at Electra Saturday afternoon and according to advices reaching here today is producing at the rate of more than 1,000 barrels per day. Wagoner No. 8 was also drilled into the 1900 foot sand Saturday and is a good well, although not as strong a producer as No. 9. These wells are the furthest southeast of the wells in the deep sand in the field and their completion is the most important development in the field since the Benson well was drilled in on the Douglas tract several weeks ago. From these recent developments in the field it seems that both the shallow and the deep sands extend over a far greater area than was believed a few months ago and make the Electra field one of the most promising in the country.

After having once been blown down by a high wind the derrick owned by Price and Robbins at Crowell, in Ford county has been completed and it is expected that drilling will start this week. J. G. Witherspoon has been elected president of a local oil company there. The money to sink the well was raised through the sale of lots in a deep well addition to the town.

NEW METHOD FOR MAKING DIAMONDS IS DISCOVERED

By Associated Press. Berlin, Nov. 21.—A new method of making diamonds is said to have been discovered by Dr. Werner Von Bolton, chemical expert with the Siemens-Halske Laboratory here. The process is based on decomposition of lightning gas by a mercury amalgam whereby the carbon in the gas is crystallized into diamonds. As these diamonds are extremely minute small bits of diamond dust are introduced into the apparatus, where they serve as mother crystals upon which large diamonds are gradually built up.

The process is still in the experimental stage and the diamonds are small, but it is believed possible that Dr. Von Bolton's discovery may result in the solution of the problem of manufacturing diamonds artificially.

The board of trustees of the public schools was held last night at the High School building, and some current business was transacted although all of the business on hand was not disposed of.

The board authorized the appointment of a new janitor for the High School building to take the place of the man who recently resigned, after which the order for the purchase of the new domestic science department was approved. The board next discussed the advisability of purchasing new single seats to take the place of the old double ones at the Austin school house, it being finally decided to order the new seats. Other business which was to have been discussed last night was postponed until the next meeting in order that all of the members of the board might be given a chance to cast a vote.

The meeting last night was attended by only five of the members of the board, two trustees being absent. J. L. Downing and L. C. Hinkley were the men who did not attend.

Sewing Class Starts at High School.

This morning at the high school building a beginning was made towards installing the new Domestic Science department when a class in sewing began work under the instruction of Miss Etta Alder, the Domestic Science teacher. About twenty-five girls compose this class, many of whom were members of the higher grades of the high school. The Domestic Science equipment is expected to arrive before long, when the department will be opened up fully prepared to handle this feature of the course of study at the high school.

Alma Where Do You Live?
An advance notice says: One sign of the advance which has been made by American managers and librettists may be found in Joe Weber's production of "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which will be at the Wichita Theatre Thursday night, November 23.

Here is a farce originally done in Paris, then turned into a German version.

for the Berlin audiences, and then brought to the German Theatre in New York City. Here it proved the sensation of two seasons ago. But this was on account of the wonderfully pleasing music of Jean Briquet. All went to hear it. Then it became known that there was much in the book to cause criticism. This was so much so that the attention of Mayor Gaynor of New York was called to it. And here's where the advance of the Americans came in. Mr. Weber, in the face of all this opposition, took the American rights of the piece and had it rendered into a book with which even the most capricious could not find fault.

The first thing that Mr. Weber did was to order all of the original numbers of Jean Briquet returned to the score. There is naught but purity in music and this action helped the final result. The play ran a whole season at his theatre and that without the slightest objection on the part of anyone. The original and catchy songs, the positive charm of the music, all have been retained. And the book is as dainty as the music.

George V. Hobart, the prolific American comedy writer, was engaged by Mr. Weber to make the English version. The success he made of it was phenomenal. He went back to the original French story and paid little attention to the German as an immediate precedent. It is for this reason that the sluggishness of the German "Alma" is entirely omitted. Hobart's natural American wit combined with the Frenchness of the original proved the most entertaining bit of work presented to New York theatregoers in some time.

The excellent company which will make Mr. Weber's presentation here is headed by Nanette Flack, with Charles Murray and Mathand Davies, the clever brother of the brilliant critic of the New York Sun, Acton Davies; prominent in the cast. Others are: Chas. Walton, Edwin Carey, Henry Sherwood, Pickering Brown, J. Herbert Crowley, Vivian Gill, Mary Goff, and Bee Hamilton.

The farce begins in the morning. It is the usual "night before" while starts the trouble. Theobald Martin and his prospective son-in-law, Gaston Duval, arrive at home and find domestic wrath awaiting them. Their adventures have included a meeting with Miss Alma, once the fiancée of Gaston. Presently Alma appears and complicates things for the returned prodigals. An unexpected happening, however, reconciles her prejudice to the woman of the household.

An eccentric millionaire relative of the Martins leaves his fortune to his adopted son, Pierre le Poche, on condition that he shall not fall in love with or propose to any woman before he comes of age, which event is to happen on the morrow. In the event of Pierre's surrender to some shrew Theobald and Gaston are to divide the fortune between them. They immediately suggest that Miss Alma shall win a proposal of marriage from the young heir presumptive. It is not an easy task for the youth makes his appearance singing melodious waltzes against womankind. These his bene factor had instilled in him.

Moreover, Miss Alma is an idealist as well as a Parisian milliner. She determines to save the lad's fortune for him, despite the conspiring pair. And then she falls in love with this farce comedy Parsifal, who is all in innocence. And finally she wins the fortune and its possessor for herself.

MADAM SHERRY CLEVER, SPICY AND ENTERTAINING

Without doubt the best pleased audience of the season left Wichita Theatre last night after the performance of "Madam Sherry." Madam Sherry is a musical comedy, with real music and sure-enough comedy, and from the up going of the curtain in the first act to the down letting in the last, it is clever, spicy and entertaining.

With one or two exceptions the cast of the company here last night was good, and well adapted to the play. The story of the piece deals with a family mixup, the result of an uncle's visit to his nephew whom he thinks is a married man with grown up children. Entering unexpected, the nephew to substantiate the stories to the uncle, introduces his housekeeper as his wife, his sweetheart as his daughter, and his rival as his son. The uncle has with him a niece, a young girl just out of a convent, who falls in love with her cousin. All these complications make opportunity for lots of clever comedy, with a rhythm of music of the dance and song. "Every Little Motement Has a Meaning All Its Own," running through the piece.

Miss Ada Meade, as Yvonne Sherry, the convent girl, has the leading role, and she is splendid. She has a beautifully sweet voice, a graceful, charming stage presence, and is a very clever dancer. Miss Alta Virginia Houston, as the housekeeper and the adopted "Madam Sherry," was also decidedly clever, and divided with the star the honors of the evening. Miss Houston sings Irish brogue-songs and near-dialect rag time with equal ability and is besides a really funny comedienne.

Tom Nichols, as Leonard Gomez, through a secondary part has away the best male voice, and is withal a clever actor. Phil H. Riley, as the uncle, is a good comedian, one that makes you laugh because he's funny, and though he is no singer, he made a great hit with a topical song, "We're Only Poor Weak Mortals."

The chorus was also good last night and the scenery, especially in the last act, was splendid.

Danger in Overstimulating Young

(Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin)
The entrance of his 13-year-old son into Harvard University as an advanced student has called wide attention to the theory of Professor Boris Sidis, under which the unusually forward youth has been reared, that the energy children ordinarily devote to play should be turned to account for the promotion of their intellectual development.

Here are propositions formulated by Professor Sidis to serve as maxims for parents and teachers:

We must begin the child's training between the ages of two and three, not fearing brain fog and kindred bog-shoos.

Discuss abstract matters with the child from the first, teaching him to think. He should be able to construct his own education by the time he is seven years old.

At the age of nine he should be as familiar with the ordinary branches of mathematics as the college entrant.

At 12 he should be ready for the regular college course. He should complete this in two years.

He should be doing a man's work before he is 20.

The same amount of mental energy used in those silly games thought specially adapted for the childish mind can be directed to the development of his interest in intellectual activity and love of knowledge.

Being in a barbaric stage, we are afraid of thought. We are under the erroneous belief that early thinking and study cause nervousness and mental disorders.

President Guy Potter Benton of the University of Vermont, takes a very different view. Here are sentences selected from an article condemning "household methods in education" which appears with his signature in the New York American.

Educational infanticide is a wicked crime against the child and against civilization.

Man is an infant until he reaches the age of twenty-five years.

Prematurity hinders the preparation for large usefulness.

A young man should not be ready to take up his life work until he is twenty-seven years old.

Children should be encouraged to play until they are twenty-five.

A child taught too early dies an old man twenty-five years before he ought.

The age limit of efficiency is extending itself; from fifty years at the beginning of the century it is now near sixty-five.

This is not, as is often said, the age of the prepared man. It is the age of the prepared man.

It is better to start in one's life work too late than too early.

The longer the period of infancy is protracted the more efficient your man will be.

Elaborating on the main branch of his theme, President Benton observes: The effect of child labor is familiar to every one. It may be seen most frequently in European cities. The streets are full of queer little figures with prematurely grave faces, old before their time. They are men when they should be playing around in some one's back yard. When they should be men, a few years later, they are most often mental and physical wrecks.

It is the same way with too early and too strenuous brain work. The child can do it all right, just as the child laborer can tend the machine or pick the slate from the coal, or drive the mule team in the coal mine.

But the effect is sure to make itself felt. And ten or twenty years later, when the mind should be at its best, the "household" child is a mental wreck and good for nothing.

The discussion thus epitomized is not new. Like many other problems in education and life the problem of how far it is wise to push instruction in the early years of childhood has been constantly recurring in different ages of the world. There were advo-

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time-tested woman's remedy, upon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

ELECTRA OIL FIELD
$10.00 EACH

The Powell Oil and Development Company owns in fee simple 311 acres of land situated about three miles south, 62 degrees east from the Electra Oil Field. This company is putting 37 acres of this land on the market for the purpose of developing holdings.

The land is a part of the H. & G. N. R. R. Survey of land located in Wichita County, Texas, Survey No. 31, Abstract No. 142. Oil men of experience consider holdings as being in the heart of the oil bearing territory for the reason that the geological survey marked by the government shows that the oil strata runs northwest and southeast from the town of Electra.

The first shallow oil encountered is about three and a half miles southeast from our holdings. This 37 acres of land is near enough the railroad to afford shipping facilities. It is also within one mile of a two hundred acre tract bought by the Fordyce Oil Company for tankage purposes.

OUR PLAN.

The 37 acre 6188 oil lots as shown by plat on file with the county clerk of Wichita County. Each lot contains 600 square feet. The purchaser of each lot is entitled to one share of capital stock of the company, when same is legally organized. When one half of the lots are sold we will at once begin operations on a deep well to be put down to a depth of 2,000 feet, unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a less depth, and when well is completed it will be turned over to the stockholders to be managed by a Board of Directors. 100 lots in the center of the field will be reserved for the deep well. The price of these lots is $10 each in hand.

THE TIMES EMBROIDERY PATTERNS

By SARAH HALE HUNTER

BASKET IN CROSS STITCH.

This is a beautiful pattern when finished. The ribbon should be blue, the basket yellow or brown and the roses pink, with the leaves in green. All the stitches which slant in one direction should be worked first, and then crossed by those which slant in the opposite direction. Use mercerized cotton No. 16 for the work.

"A man can no more change his reputation than he can change his face or his arms," said Senator La Follette, at a banquet in Madison. "There was once a wicked old Madison millionaire, who took his pastor aside and said: 'I'm going to retire Doctor Thirdly. I am going to devote the remainder of my life to doing good.' Doctor Thirdly, an outspoken man, retorted: 'Do you mean John H. Good, the wealthy farmer, or young Sam Good, the Socialist millionaire?'" —Exchange.

Among the qualifications of a cabinet minister discretion ranks high. Lord Broughton notes in his diary a fracas between Lady Holland and Lord John Russell. After a little while, Bunn was annoyed by feeling somebody butt in to him. Looking around he saw that he had been hit by a boy who was carrying a tray full of ginger ale bottles and peanuts. A little color from the Potero—so a genial friend informs the San Francisco Chronicle. Far out on the very edge of town is a little schoolhouse, the first and second grades of which are commanded by a pretty little normal school graduate. Her pupils are all sons and daughters of the farmer sort of impulsive foreigners and have all reached a state of adoration for their queen and vie with each other in ways to please her. One day she had dwelt especially upon loving and caring for dumb animals. The next day little Pietro remained in his seat when his schoolmates dropped out to play. Teacher was busy at her desk and did not notice him until she felt a little tug at her sleeve. "Why, Pietro!" she exclaimed, "what is the trouble?" "Nothing, teacher. I just wanted to tell you how I was good to dumb animals yesterday," he promptly replied. "Why, isn't that nice! Pietro, just what did you do?" Pietro drew himself up to his full three feet and proudly asserted, "I chased the cat."

SOON

comes the day when the stately American gobbler places his majestic head beneath the guillotine, the cranberry merchant gets as busy as a prairie dog with two holes, and the small boy begins to make mental measurements of his stomach capacity, wondering if it will hold more than it did last year. The good housewife busies herself preparing all the highly palatable indigestion promoters that have tickled the tastes of the epicurean kings since Methusalem got out of the Castoria division. Everybody seems glad, even the town dog adds an extra wag of cheer to his caudal appendage, on which has hung so many tomato cans and even the grouch so far forgets himself as to smile and admit that the Sun has a perfect right to rise and set. All this is occasioned by the fact that the foremost nation of earth worships at the shrine of the Prince of Peace, who in Gethsemane paid the greatest debt that mankind ever owed and is about to give thanks to Him who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, and at whose beck and call this system of worlds and myriad of men move. But there is a pain for every pleasure, a grief for every gladness, and an awakening to every dream—in the cold gray dawn of the morning after—Don't forget we have what you will want. The sequel to the story is mustard plasters, dyspepsia tablets, headache stoppers and Epsom salts. Our delivery service is ball bearing.
