School Census is Up 106 Over Last Year

Results of the recent scholastic census held in the Perryton schools show that there has been a gain of 106 pupils in the school system over the 1946 census. This year, there were 723 pupils listed in this census, while the 1947-48 term will begin with 829 pupils listed. This increase is due in large measure to an increased number of children who will start to school for the first time this fall and who are listed for the first time in the scholastic census. State per capita apportionment for pupils is based upon this census.

Mays had used his truck to assist another car out of a bar pit and had started south toward Panhandle when the Butler car crashed into the rear of the truck. The Ford coupe was demolished. The truck was only slightly damaged, and Mays was not injured.

Equity Buys Grain Elevator In Beaver

Announcement was made this week of the purchase of the Texoma Grain Co., of Beaver, by the Perryton Equity Exchange. For the past several weeks, work has been underway in Beaver in securing stockholders for the new venture, and the final money was raised last week.

Approximately 130 Beaver county farmers have bought shares in the Perryton Equity and will be members of the organization. A petition was presented to the Equity requesting purchase of an elevator in Beaver and it was in response to this petition that the purchase was made.

About $32,000 was raised in selling shares to the Beaver county farmers. Present plans call for the installation of a complete feed warehouse and retail store in Beaver in connection with the grain elevator.

The capacity of the Beaver elevator is 20,000 bushels. This new Equity elevator brings the total number of elevators owned and operated by the organization to 11. Equity elevators are maintained in Perryton, Lord, Waka, Farnsworth, Spearman, Morse, McKibben, Huntoon, Twichell, Hardesty and Beaver.

A manager for the Beaver Equity has not been hired.

Until recently, Boyer was the only candidate in the race, but last week the Hereford Lions Club announced the candidacy of John McLean, prominent Lion from that section, and a real race is now assured between these two candidates.

The Perryton delegation at the convention will be headed by Vance Apple, campaign manager, with the other delegates as assistant campaign managers.

Since formation of the district 24 years ago, District 2T now has 92 clubs and 6,000 Lions. The district extends from El Paso to Sweetwater and from the north boundary of Texas to Mexico, an area of approximately 100,000 square miles.

Baptist Church Starts Work on New Building

Work was started Monday on the construction of the new Baptist church educational building, with Stanley D. Key as contractor in charge.

All excavation work for the basement of the building has been completed for several months, and work has now started on erecting the building proper.

A building permit was received recently, allowing the construction to proceed. All materials are on hand for the building. The educational building will be located immediately back of and adjoining the present church building. It is 110 by 50 feet, outside dimensions, and consists of two stories above the ground and a full basement. It will be the same height as the church building.

Of brick construction, the cost of the building will be approximately $100,000. It is planned to have classrooms and meeting space for the Sunday School, Baptist Training Union and other church activities.

Kengle and Pearson Move Into New Hospital Office Building

Part of the staff of the Perryton Hospital moved to new quarters Monday, when the new hospital office building just south of the hospital was opened.

This new building contains the reception room, offices for Dr. G. L. Kengle and Dr. D. B. Pearson, four examination rooms, a treatment room, laboratory, X-ray room and library. It is 72 by 38 feet in dimensions, of red brick construction, and is one story in height, with a full basement.

Exceptional interest has been shown in this bindweed problem, Hood Willis, county agent, reports, and the meeting is expected to draw a good sized crowd.

Estimates on the number of acres in the county infested with bindweed range from 5,000 acres to 15,000 acres. Since the plant grows in scattered patches, it is extremely hard to estimate accurately the total number of acres infested.

A program was carried out last fall in the county, with results ranging from poor to excellent. It was found that the use of 2-4-D chemical was successful when used on the plant at a time when its growth was lush and there was plenty of moisture. Intensive plowing had good results in some sections.

Conditions will be nearly ideal to start the eradication program in about ten days, Willis stated, since the recent moisture will cause a speedy growth of the weed. The county has at present one sprayer, with a 200 gallon tank, which is available for use. Another new sprayer, with a 400 gallon tank, is being ordered. See No. 1, Page 6

Marriage Licenses

Fred Frazell and Miss Annie Beatrice Bowen, both of Follett, were issued a marriage license on Tuesday at the county clerk's office.

Guymon Boosters Visit in Perryton

Forty automobiles, loaded with Guymon boosters, arrived in Perryton Tuesday at noon, advertising the annual Pioneer Day celebration in Guymon on May 2.

George Spenser, superintendent of the Guymon schools and F. Hiner Dale, district judge, headed the delegation, which included a square dancing group and the 75-piece Guymon high school band.

Earlier that day, the motorcade had visited Liberal, Forgan, Beaver, Tyrone and Booker. Plans for the May 2 celebration include an old timer's breakfast, pilot's breakfast, parade, rodeo, and a dance with the music of Will Osborn's famous band.

One unique feature of the Pioneer Day Celebration will be a cow chip picking contest, when Brother Nall, King of the Cow Chip Pickers, will defend his crown against all comers. This contest will be held on Main street.

Williams is also an X-ray technician, and will be in charge of that department. The hospital has two X-ray machines, one at the hospital and one at the new building.

The added space in the hospital made possible by the moving of the offices to the new building will allow the addition of five more beds to present hospital facilities. There will be room for 19 hospital patients with the addition of these five more beds.

Texas Today

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN, Tex., April 30 (AP)—The question of whether or not former governor Coke Stevenson owes Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel a political debt may add some personal zip to the senatorial campaign next year if both these men are candidates.

There doesn't seem to be much doubt about Stevenson's candidacy. Anybody's guess is good on O'Daniel, and it is still a long time until 1948.

The argument is based essentially on two factual circumstances.

One is that O'Daniel endorsed Stevenson for lieutenant governor in 1938 when Stevenson was in a close runoff race with P. Pierce Brooks of Dallas.

Another is that O'Daniel's election to the Senate put Stevenson in the governor's office.

Stevenson recently said he felt he had no obligation to O'Daniel. And when he was inaugurated to succeed the junior senator on Aug. 8, 1941, he said the same thing in effect with these words:

"Some men are born to fortune; others achieve it; and still others have it thrust upon them. Regardless of the classification which fits my position today, the people of Texas have another occupant in the office which belongs to them. A combination of circumstances requires the duties of this office be performed by one who was not originally elected thereto.

"Governor O'Daniel was twice chosen by the people to be chief executive of this state. By choice on his part, and with the approval of the people, he is now a representative of Texas in the United States Senate. We wish for him every success in his earnest and energetic endeavor to represent Texas in this age of destiny."

In other words, Stevenson—a great believer in doing things strictly according to the constitution and statutes—felt then that it was O'Daniel's choice, in combination with the successive deaths of two men who had represented Texas in the Senate plus what the law says to do with those circumstances, that put him in the office of governor.

It was no secret that Stevenson's friends took full advantage of the situation and threw a lot of support to O'Daniel in full knowledge that it would advance Stevenson.

On the other hand, O'Daniel's friends are convinced Stevenson would never have been lieutenant governor in the first place if O'Daniel had not endorsed him in the tight race with Brooks. O'Daniel endorsed six candidates in that runoff race, and four of them, including Stevenson, won.

Stevenson's friends will tell you they don't think the endorsement helped very much. That's an argument that could go on and on.

If Stevenson is not planning to run for the Senate, then the signs don't mean anything. He says he is getting as much personal mail as he received while he was governor. Most of it is from people all over the state urging him to run for the Senate.

Almost everywhere Stevenson appears for speeches—and he is making a good many these days for a man not holding public office—something is said about it. His friends see to that, and it is a well-established political technique.

Stevenson appears to be enjoying his stay at the ranch 16 miles up the South Llano river from Junction.

"For nearly six years, I have had to neglect this place," he said. "The fences were run down, and the ice storm badly damaged my sheep sheds."

One of the first things he did was join a hired hand in cutting big cedar timbers for new rafters on one side of the sheds. Then he and his helper built a solid masonry wall on the north side of the shelter.

He is also clearing out the cedar on his ranges, giving the grass a chance to grow. But there isn't any political grass growing under his feet.

Stevenson is batching it in the big native stone ranch house just across the river from Telegraph, a one-store, one-house community on state highway 29. He has always cooked his own breakfasts but now it's dinner and supper, too.

They are rounding up the sheep for the spring wool clip on the ranch. And Stevenson's political friends are doing some rounding up of their own—not sheep.

Paul Davis, employed by Earl Glasgow, spent several days in Oklahoma City with his parents. He returned last Thursday.

Library Collects Underground Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Quarterly Journal of the United States Library of Congress gives an estimate that 80 different secret newspapers were being published in the Netherlands, with a total weekly circulation of 1,500,000 copies, toward the end of the recent war.

Of these newspapers, it said, the Library "has samples of about 30 (1,000 pieces)" which compares favorably "with the 406 similar titles (1,975 pieces) from 10 other countries, which the Library had acquired prior to June, 1945."

About its collection of wartime underground newspapers, the Library says: "All shades of political opinion find expression in the present collection with one noteworthy exception: there is no paper reflecting the views of the Roman Catholic section of the population, an absence of which is particularly regrettable in view of the Roman Catholic People's Party's overwhelming success in the first postwar elections."

Common Trees May Be Grown From Cuttings

Many of the common trees, shrubs, and vines may be grown easily from cuttings, and altho they can be planted most any month in the year, from February to July 1, gives good results in this county. Cuttings set out early will give you larger plants to put in the open ground next fall.

Virdie P. Wheeler, home demonstration agent, outlines this procedure for selection and planting cuttings: choose a limb that grew last year... one about the thickness and length of a new pencil. Be sure you select a healthy, unbruised cutting. If the plant has no leaves, two or three left at the top of the cutting will make food for the new plant.

Plant your cuttings in rows four to six inches apart... in the garden or in a cutting bed. Leave only an inch or two out of the ground. If the cutting has no leaves, see that at least one strong bud is growing about an inch from the top.

Planting four or five extra cuttings for each plant that you actually need is a smart move, says Mrs. Wheeler. Then the surplus plants can be exchanged with neighbors, or given as presents when rooted in pots, cans or boxes.

Sharp, clean sand is good rooting soil, but Texas gardeners have been very successful in rooting cuttings in all soil types which grow crops in the state. But good drainage and plenty of moisture are necessary in growing young plants... and a two or three inch mulch... and half shade... promote growth in the summer.

Prune forsythia, spirea, flowering quince, redbud and pyracantha immediately after they bloom. These plants will start making growth for bloom next year and should be pruned immediately after blooming.

In the case of flowers, cutting back moderately will give the gardener more and larger flowers and improve the shape of the plant by getting rid of awkward limbs. Pruning also relieves plants of cross branches that rub each other and form places for diseases to enter, and taking off dead limbs is also insurance

DESOLATION AFTER BLASTS—This desolation, reminiscent of war scenes, is the remnant of the Monsanto Chemical plant at Texas City on April 21, five days after explosions and fires which ravaged much of the Texas coastal community. Marine Romulus On Guard in Rome

ROME (AP) — The Marines who boast they are to be found anywhere from the Halls of Montezuma onwards, are on guard at the United States Embassy here.

The Embassy is in huge Palazzo Margherita, including three buildings behind a big wall which closes in an out-size block in the center of the Eternal City.

against plant disease. From a landscaping standpoint, says Mrs. Wheeler, probably the best reason for pruning is that it keeps plants near the size needed to fit into the landscape picture. Overgrown plants spoil the yard.

For pruning instruction, call at the home demonstration agent's office and ask for a copy of 1826, "Care of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs."

Britain Increases Her Baby Crop

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's baby population is soaring. More children were born in Britain last year than in any year since 1923, British Information Service reports, and the mortality rate was the lowest on record.

Sir Wilson Jameson, chief medical officer of the Ministry of Health, announces in his annual report that last year, 43 babies under one year died for every 1,000 births; it was 46 in 1945 and 52.8 before the war. Out of every 1,000 babies, 11 less died at birth last year than pre-war. Little more than a third of the pre-war number of mothers died in childbirth.

The birth rate—19.1 per 1,000 of the population—was higher than the last pre-war year by four per 1,000.

Charlie Roach of Texhoma and Paul Roach of Spearman visited their sister, Miss Sammie Roach and their mother, Mrs. A. E. Roach several times last week. Miss Roach is convalescing following an operation.

Birth Control Urged By Berlin Paper

BERLIN (AP) — The American-licensed Berlin newspaper Der Tagesspiegel has stepped right into the middle of one of the hottest arguments in post-war Germany and recommended birth control and the wide distribution of contraceptive devices.

The Tagesspiegel, in giving its opinion in favor of birth control, said a decrease in the number of births was necessary. "It is necessary for two reasons," the paper said. "First because of the miserable conditions in which we find ourselves and second because every increase in the population in Germany only furthers the nationalistic 'people without space' propaganda."

"Only those parties whose program contemplates a dictatorship of the masses could have an interest in it. The quality of these masses under the present conditions must constantly decrease. The way out is the prevention of conception. Contraceptives must not only be produced again on a large scale, but also publicly propagandized."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis and children, of Tullia, visited in Perryton Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Allen and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hearn are in Corpus Christi this week, visiting with their son, L. and Mrs. H. D. Hearn and their new grandson, H. D. Jr. Mrs. Hearn is the former Miss Suzanne Sellers.

All games in the league were washed out during the past week, as water stood on the diamond, making play impossible. The game scheduled for the past week will be made up by mutual agreement of the teams concerned and the league schedule will continue as announced.

The Legion team withdrew from the league during the past week and their place was taken by the Perryton Implement team, managed by John Bolin.

All of the teams will see action at least once this week, with two games being scheduled on Tuesday night and Thursday night.

Rangers Play Spring Football Game on May 2

An intra-squad football game between the "Reds" and the "Whites" will climax spring training for the Ranger squad. The game will be played Friday afternoon May 2 at 2:30 on the practice field just south of Ranger Field.

The regular playing field is being re-sodded with grass and it will be impossible to have the game there.

Coach Floyd Murry reported that the two teams have not been selected definitely for the game, but that it is planned to divide the lettermen equally between the two teams to insure an even contest.

Two new backfields will see action in this contest. Missing from the game, and from the remainder of spring training, will be Keith Flowers and Raymond Powell, regular backs on the 1946 team. Flowers injured an ankle and Powell injured a knee in practice this week and will be out of action until next fall.

The other returning backfield regular, Vernon Flowers, has been out of spring training because of an arm injury sustained when he accidentally shot himself through the right forearm over a month ago.

Dean Slaughter, backfield letterman, also received an ankle injury this past week, but the coaches think perhaps he'll be in shape to play next Friday. Glen Johnson, letterman guard, is nursing an injured knee, but is expected to play in the game.

Backfield men who will play in the spring game are Bob Thurston, Edward Merydith, Don Rogers, Jerry Key, Wayland Cook, Bobby Stone, Dean Morgan, Donald Graves, Virgil Oimstead and Buhay Pletcher. Eight ends will be available for the game, including regulars David Hummer and J. B. Seago, Sammy Phelps, Merion Smith, Jim Records, Laverne Hoy, Billy Herndon and Jerry Ward.

The tackles are Don Stephenson, Carl Cummings, Bill Stephenson, Morrison Osborne, Jimmy Cameron and Jerry Cartwright. Guards are Gene Stinson, Glen Johnson, Gale Ferguson, Harry Brummett, Bill Chase and Dean Mayberry.

Four centers will see duty, including Wilbert Seedig, Larry Slaughter, Delbert Trew and Bobby Dunlap.

There will be no admission charge for the game, stated Murry, and everyone is invited to come out and see this preview of the 1947 Rangers in action.

He was 80 years of age at the time of his death.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Chaptin of Adams, Okla. Pall bearers were Bert Manning, D. W. Springmeyer, J. D. McDonald, Fred Hamilton, Cecil Watson and John Sillers.

OBITUARY

Charles C. Ragsdale, born Oct. 8, 1866 near Nashville, Tenn., departed this life at his home in Hardesty, Okla., on April 22, 1947 at the age of 80 years, 6 months and 14 days.

While a small child he moved with his parents to Limestone county, Texas, where he grew to manhood and at the age of 21 years he was married to Alice Armfage.

To this union seven children were born. Three children and his wife preceded him in death. Those children living are two daughters, Mrs. Ray Tindle, Hardesty; Mrs. H. R. Peery, Hooker, Okla.; two sons, Russell of Gray and Cleot of Hardesty. His children and his wife, Mary, whom he married in 1903, were with him during his illness and death, each trying to comfort and attend to the least of his wishes to the very last.

At an early age he was united with the Church of Christ and lived a very devoted Christian life until the end.

In 1905 he moved with his family from Archer City, Texas to Beaver county, where he homesteaded and ran a general merchandise store for 35 years. He moved to Hardesty this year to make it his home in his last days.

He was a very devoted husband and father. Always wanting to do some deed of kindness or help others, he was never too tired or too busy to render any aid within his power. He always had a kind word and a smile for everyone he met. He worshipped his children, grandchildren and friends.

He leaves to mourn his departure, his loving wife, Mary, and his four children: three brothers, George of Liberal, Kans.; Eugene of Coolidge, Texas; and Ernest of Dove Creek, Colo.; 13 grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren, 8 step children and a host of other relatives and friends.

"There never was a purer heart, than that of our dear father, whose love and care goes on and on."

Far beyond all others, friends are made by folks like us.

Or perhaps by many others. But at journey's end, we'll always find

Only God can give us fathers."

Tornado Pictures to be Shown Sunday at Ellis

Newsreel pictures of storm damage at Higgins, Glazier and Woodward will be shown at the Ellis Theatre on Sunday and Monday, May 4-5. Those who didn't get to see the extent of the damage in these cities will be able to see how the area looked the day following the storm.

Grave Problem!

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Members of an American Graves Registration team tell how they made a 300-mile trip to investigate a burial plot which had been tended lovingly by a German priest. Perplexed when they found only refuse under the green mound, they looked at the cross the priest had erected and asked him what kind of marker had been there originally. He said he would fetch it and returned quickly with a crude cross roughly printed "Old Dump."

Annual Cost of Universal Military Training Estimated at $625,000,000

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The annual cost of peacetime Universal Military Training under the American plan as embodied in H. R. 9888 and S. 651 now before Congress, would be approximately $625,000,000 or some $30,000,000 less than the nation spends a year in going to the movies.

In contrast, a peacetime standing army equal to the reserve under UMT would cost American taxpayers in the neighborhood of $8,400,000,000 every year. These figures have been disclosed by Milt D. Campbell, national defense director of The American Legion, as demonstrating the low cost and high security factor of UMT. They will be presented to Congress, he said, when hearings on UMT begin.

"Americans spend about $675,000,000 a year on the movies," Director Campbell pointed out. "The whole cost of UMT would be only $625,000,000. UMT is the cheapest national protection we can buy."

Breakdown of Cost Director Campbell based his UMT cost figures on carefully compiled estimates prepared for The American Legion by The Civilian Military Education Fund, a privately endowed institution here.

Based on an average annual enrollment of 845,875 trainees, the cost per military trainee would be $739.17 a year, Director Campbell said. For an estimated 84,608 physically handicapped non-military trainees the cost per trainee would be $1,083 a year.

Director Campbell explained the breakdown of the overall UMT cost per year showed the following estimate schedules:

- 1—Basic period (16 weeks) military training $306,814,546
2—Advanced period (26 weeks) 61,314,201
3—Non-military trainees 91,630,469
4—Schooling as second period option 35,282,694
5—Clothing 25,433,202
6—Medical 2,394,537
7—Housing 21,286,750
8—Training equipment 23,262,075
9—Administration 48,276,192
10—Contingency expenses 9,304,830

Total $625,000,000 "The Civilian Military Education Fund reached these UMT cost figures only after months of painstaking research and

Papers are Found In Kansas Pasture After the Tornado

The twists of a tornado are legendary—but Sunday another story of the Glazier-Higgins storm was unfolded in a letter from Harold Bragg of Wilmore, Kansas.

Enclosed with the letter was an old John Deere invoice made to Carl Freeman and a photograph of Harold Taylor of Higgins. These two pieces of paper were picked up by Bragg in his pasture in the northeast corner of Comanche county, Kansas, along with a blank check on the First National Bank of Higgins.

Freeman states that the invoice was filed in a steel filing cabinet in Glazier. This invoice is the only evidence yet found of the steel cabinet or its contents. The other material is assumed to have been picked up by the tornado in Higgins, and all carried 150 miles into Kansas—Higgins News.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes and daughter, Hollis, Okla., were weekend-end guests in the home of his brother, E. L. Barnes, Mrs. Barnes and Lola Belle.

144, the Chamber of Commerce now has 205 members. Of these present members, 136 are business establishments, 49 are business and professional men and 20 are farmers.

Telephone Progress

Alton Boxwell, member of the city council, stated that work is now in progress on improving and replacing present telephone lines. On May 1, he said, a crew will arrive to work on building another toll line from Perryton to Spearman, and work is being done on rural lines in the Farmington vicinity. Latest information received relative to the installation of a dial system in Perryton was that dial equipment has been promised the telephone company in 14 months and perhaps in 12 months.

Paving

All money has been collected for the paving of Sixth avenue. W. L. Herndon, Chamber of Commerce director, reported, and work will begin when the weather permits.

Other streets being considered as a C. of C. paving project are Ninth avenue and S. E. Second street, he added.

Herndon pointed out that other towns, such as Spearman and Gruver, have paved nearly every street in their towns, while Perryton still has many blocks of dirt streets.

Sanitation

Raymond Powell, director in charge of the fly and mosquito eradication program, stated that a DDT dusting program will begin when the mosquitoes begin to hatch. According to a report of the State Board of Health, Powell stated, the species of mosquitoes in Perryton migrate for two miles only and are carried into town by a prevailing south and southwest wind.

DDT is not effective on mosquitoes in the egg stage, but kills in the larvae and adult stage. It is planned to spray the lake south of town, the city dump, and carry on an eradication campaign in every street and alley in Perryton.

Celebration

Plans for the August celebration are being formulated. Drew Ellis, celebration chairman, told the group. It is planned to have an air show, rodeo, parade, free barbecue, a dance with a name band, and street entertainment.

Postal

The three things which must be done in Perryton to insure city mail delivery are (1) connecting sidewalks in every block (2) adequate street markers on every block (3) house numbers and standard mail box on every house. In reporting on the progress of these three things, Gilmer LaMaster stated that street signs have been ordered, and some house numbers have been correctly placed. Little sidewalk construction is in progress and the majority of the houses have not changed the numbers to correspond to the city ordinance passed last fall.

Summer Play Program Lewis Emerick, in charge of the summer youth program, stated that registration for the program would be held on May 19 and that it would run 14 weeks. Children between the ages of 7 and 14 years are eligible to participate. All equipment has been ordered for every sport. Approximately 150 youngsters are expected to take part in the summer program.

Street Signs The street signs that have been ordered for Perryton are of four-way construction, enameled steel, and will be placed at each intersection in the city, reported Walter LaMaster. Delivery is expected by fall, he added.

Highways No new developments on highway promotion have taken place, stated W. E. LaMaster, chairman of the highway committee. Three projects are in the making. One is the Pampa-Perryton road, another is the cut-off from Spearman to highway 83 south of Perryton, and the other is the highway from the Texas state line east of Follett on to Woodward.

Retail Merchants R. B. Oerill, member of the retail merchants committee, pointed out that retail merchants were the backbone of the Chamber of Commerce and that Perryton merchants were probably the best in the country as far as cooperating with each other. Closing dates have been set for all retail stores during the year. No special projects are underway by this committee, he added, stating that retail merchants were on all Chamber of Commerce committees.

Fair Association Work on establishing the Fair Association has slowed almost to a standstill, reported Glen McGibbon, temporary chairman of the committee. Main problem is how to raise the money to erect a grandstand, buildings and the other equipment necessary for a complete community center. Detailed drawings for a master plan have been secured, and a lease can be obtained on the grounds, but no satisfactory way of financing the center has been found, he stated.

No. 5 Continued from Front Page

The new building will allow ample space for the present Sunday School enrollment of 450. The present basement space being used for educational purposes was built to accommodate only 150, stated Rev. O. C. Curtis, pastor.

A portion of the church building, where the rear street entrance is located, is being remodeled and a brick tower belfry will be built at this point. The entrance will be made so persons will enter at street level to go into the church.

The main entrance to the educational building will be on the south, facing Fifth avenue. It is estimated that the building will be completed within the next six or nine months, Key stated.

Ray Easter Killed Saturday By Accidental Electrocutation

Ray Easter, lineman for the local telephone company, was the victim of a tragic accident Saturday afternoon, when he met death by electrocution as he came in contact with a 33,000 volt high tension line. He was making repairs to a telephone line and was standing on the cross bar of the telephone pole when his head touched the above high tension line immediately above him.

The accident occurred north of the railroad tracks, along the first street north of the Southwestern Industrial Works building.

Verla Hummer, who was standing in front of the Southwestern Industrial Works building, saw him fall from the telephone pole and ran inside to tell the men working there of the accident.

When Easter fell, he landed in the water filled ditch below, and was pulled out by Jack Holden and Roy Bohn.

Death came instantly, according to the examining physician. Easter is survived by his widow Inez; a daughter, Carmelita Joy; a son, Benny Ray; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Easter of Pampa; and six most of the hard work in the fields and in the kraals, and it is reasoned that when a woman of one of the patriarchally organized groups is desired in marriage, the man naturally should be prepared to turn over to her family something valuable in return. As tribal communities set greatest store by cattle—which are not sold in the ordinary ways of husbandry nor slaughtered except for great feasts—women are "lobola'd" for from five to fifteen head, the average being ten, and installment payments permitted among some tribes.

To the bride "lobola" is proof of marriage; to the groom it assures his right to fatherhood; to the girl's parents it is a fine embellishment of power and prestige, for a family is nothing at all if it does not own cattle, whether they be lean or fat, cheap or dear.

Before these negotiations are completed and the two settle down in a kraal, however, a long courtship takes place, lasting not infrequently four or five years and starting when the girl is 15 or 16. And it is the girl who makes most of the overtures. As the greater number cannot read or write, the messages are transmitted by means of different colored beads, each string representing standard sentiments.

The bead language is authentic enough basically, but is often embroidered for—and by—the giamorizers."

Bead Language

If a string of beads is predominantly white, visitors are told, the message means: "My heart is white and I am true to you." Light green signifies: "I will remain true even to the depths of the sea." Vivid green expresses the candor of innocence: "I am getting thin with longing for you and my heart is sore." Blue conveys: "The dove is a lucky bird, for it can see you every day." Red, white and blue stand for: "Do not close your door to me; I wish to be made a part of your family."

Should anything go amiss the girl puts beads of all colors on the string, thus letting it be known: "I am disappointed. Come and explain." A serious estrangement calls for a flash of yellow beads: "Break off engagement."

But a message in pink means that a long and successful courtship is virtually at an end: "If you have the necessary cattle to pay my father I am now grown up and ready to come to you." And, finally, in black: "I have now prepared my sidwaba (black wedding skirt fashioned from hides) and am ready to come to you."

Once married, the Zulu girl pitches into hard labor and is obviously thankful for tenacious polygamous practices, varying among the tribes, to which indeed she lends her own good offices by hymning the good qualities of her husband to eligible young women.

Nation Makes Plans To Stamp Out Flies

COLLEGE STATION, Apr. 29—A nationwide drive is under way to kill out millions of pests that have been hampering health since Adam and Eve. Flies are the pests, and DDT is the weapon.

Launched by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the drive is being taken up in the Lone Star State by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Extension entomologists state that the people of Texas, both rural and urban, have never had the chance they have this spring to make war on flies. DDT has proved itself as a fly-killer.

Most recent research has shown that the worst of the disease-carrying flies can be killed by spraying DDT around the places where the flies rest. The entomologists are not only asking farmers to use the DDT around sheds, barns, pig pens and cow lots, but are also urging city officials to spray garbage cans, curbs and gutters, stock yards and other places where flies swarm. In the home, 2 1/2 to 5 per cent DDT is very effective against houseflies.

"The more people that get in the fight against flies early in the season, the less bother we'll have with flies this summer," the entomologist says.

ed and proffer such reputed physical stimulants as fat crocodile, hippopotamus and lion.

The Zulus are esteemed an essentially moral and truthful race, which explains why divorce is not easy among them, adultery being the sole ground for dissolution of marriage. White educators with long experience among the Zulus explained however, that adultery is by no means generally looked upon as an unforfeitable sin, and that the woman, though she may have been the inciter, is almost always considered the injured person. In earlier times a cuckold revenged himself upon the defiler of his home by spearing him. Softer influences have reduced the number of retributive homicides in favor of the more practical and profitable settlement. More than a few aggrieved husbands have been mollified by payment of sufficient head of cattle.

The Zulus are friendly, humorous, proud and stout-hearted. The males—inheritors of battle traditions—are imposing figures in their karosses and bearing oxhide shields, as the British royal family saw them. The women are picturesque, the married ones wearing their hair stiffened into a round cone, about a foot tall. The children, the younger ones naked, seem unduly grave as they squat by the kraals or wander in the meale or kaffir corn fields chewing the native sugar cane.

Much of the Zulu life and temperament is expressed in theatrical arts, especially wood-carving, which may lack a sense of perspective but not of proportion, and is reminiscent of Egyptian craftsmanship. Here there is a tendency, due to contact with the white man's schools, to fall under the spell of formal European techniques, but most of the instructors try to discourage influences which would produce only another hybrid art.

Christian Science

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 4.
 The Golden Text is: "Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth, therefore despise not thou, the chastening of the Almighty" (Job 5:17).
 Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world" (Titus 2:11,12).
 The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Thru the wholesome chastisements of Love, we are helped onward in the march toward righteousness, peace, and purity, which are the landmarks of Science" (page 323).

AMERICANISM

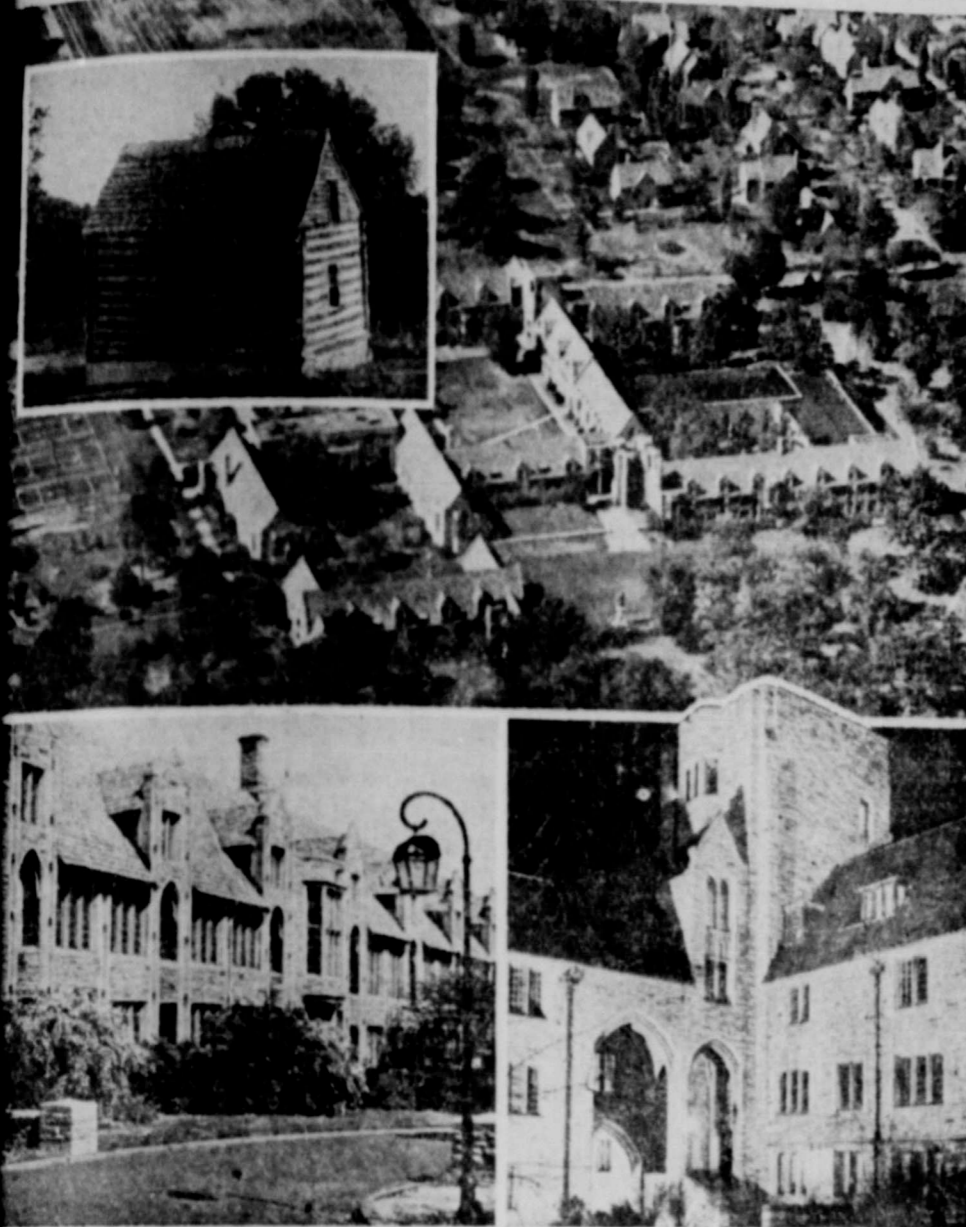

TYPICAL of millions of young Americans is this young fisherman . . . healthy, energetic and craving action. Whether in the sandlot bull pen warming up for his chance to hold under control the bats of the opposing team, rounding up the herd on branding day at the ranch, or on the bank of a quiet river anxiously waiting for a "big un" to strike . . . he is young America! The blood in his veins is genuinely red. He welcomes a tattered hat and looks ambitiously for tomorrow to bring his portion of responsibility. His conception of morality is well grounded . . . he claims to be his brothers keeper. He fishes for men and his boyfriends on Sunday and takes to the river for scaly ones on week days.

HE is exactly like millions of other young Americans who had a christian home, parents who cared enough to help in planning his program . . . his life. His parents regularly took him to Sunday school. They NEVER SENT him. Don't neglect your youngster. Accompany him every Lords day to the church of your choice.

A LOG CABIN TO MILLION DOLLAR SEMINARY — Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., founded by the pioneers of the Missouri Synod in a log cabin in Perry County, Missouri, has become the largest Lutheran theological seminary in the world. Completed in 1926 at a cost of over $1,000,000 and completely paid for by a synod-wide thankoffering of that year, this beautiful building is one of the show places of St. Louis.

Custom Combine Operators Needed To Help Harvest 1947 Wheat Crop

COLLEGE STATION, April 30 — A call to custom combine operators to be ready for the 1947 wheat harvest is being made by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

J. B. Kidd, farm labor field assistant in charge of the Extension wheat harvest program, announces that more "outside combines will be needed this year than ever before." Texas wheat and small grain acreage is eight per cent larger than the record acreage of 1946.

"The wheat crop is in better condition at this time of the year than in many seasons," says Kidd. "The subsoil moisture is good and Texas County agricultural agents report 98 per cent of the wheat in good condition, the other two per cent in fair condition. Some green bug damage is reported but the present prospects are for a bumper Texas wheat crop."

Kidd also urges combine operators to plan to bring their trucks to the harvest. Independent truckers, not attached to combine outfits, may be needed, he says, and harvest labor of all types will be in great demand if the crop develops as it looks now.

The farm labor field man invites custom combine operators to contact him for any information regarding the coming harvest. His address is: Extension Service District Farm Labor Office, Box 1110, Plainview, Texas. The farm labor office will keep operators posted on crop conditions; combine, truck and labor needs; and what counties need help.

Great Outdoors is Classroom for Geology Students

AUSTIN, April 30 — Geology students at the University of Texas will go into the field for their information and study of geology this summer, rather than to textbooks and drawings.

Four summer field courses will be held this year. Arthur H. Deen, chairman said. In the past only one field course has been held. Each course will be limited to 25 students because of lack of housing facilities.

Field geology, a course in methods of surveying and detailed mapping, reconnaissance, and interpretation of structure and stratigraphy, will be offered both six weeks terms of summer school: June 4-July 18; July 19-August 31. Headquarters will be at Curtis Field, Brady, formerly an Army air field.

A course in tertiary field geology will be offered the second term only. Emphasis will be on geological surveying, mapping, interpretation of the area, collecting fossils, and preparation of geological reports. Site for the work will be at Palestine, in Anderson county.

Graduate students will study in the Trans-Pecos area, with headquarters at Fort Davis. For sophomore students, a course will be offered between the summer school term and fall term.

Aug. 31-Sept. 29. One week will be spent at Llano, one at Mason, and one at Marble Falls.

Six Months, Wheeler Farmers Make Years Progress, Dairy Development

COLLEGE STATION, Apr. 30 — Companies in the Panhandle saying that Wheeler farmers have made progress in dairy development in six months than most make in two years.

September of 1946, relates County Agricultural Agent H. Martin, there were 25 in operation. The last time he made a survey which was near the end of the war, there were 25 in operation, six others going up, and 100,000 lbs. of milk were produced.

Farmers have brought their head of dairy cows into the last few months, says agent. Many of the females have bought registered herds, and high quality milk is in wide use throughout the county.

The herds are made up of both Jerseys and Holsteins.

County Agent Martin, whose office has assisted the dairymen by sponsoring dairy schools to bring producers up on recent information, reports that milk company representatives are surprised at the work accomplished by the dairymen. They have made two years' progress in six months.

Q. I am an honorably discharged World War II veteran, and would like to know of what benefit is a guaranteed loan if I purchase a home under the G. I. Bill?

A. The guaranty provides or increases the security you have to offer for a loan by the amount of the guaranty; it tends to induce the lender to lend more nearly the full purchase price of the property and to give you a better rate of interest, and finally 4 per cent of the amount guaranteed is paid to the lender by VA and is an outright gift to you.

Q. My wife and I plan to purchase a $9,000 home. We are both World War II veterans. Can we acquire the property jointly and so increase the amount which may be guaranteed?

A. Yes, you may acquire the property jointly, but the maximum guaranty may not exceed 50 percent of the loan.

Q. I have a G. I. loan on my home and would like to know if I can have the loan extended?

A. Yes, you can have the loan extended if the lender is willing to give you more time, but the extension must provide for complete payment of the loan within the 25-year maximum period provided by law.

Q. What is the largest amount I can borrow under the G. I. Bill and still have the loan guaranteed?

A. There is no limit on the amount which can be borrowed under the G. I. Bill. The limitation by law is on the size of the government guaranty and not upon the size of the loan.

Explosion

A ship explodes. A great industrial plant explodes. Then another. In fact, a city explodes. There is something new to think about in this situation. We live in an era of new danger even during times of peace.

The catastrophe at Texas City probably is second only to the Galveston storm, among Texas tragedies. But the implications of this new disaster are greater. Throughout its existence, man has been subjected to the blind fury of natural forces. Lately, by tampering with the molecule and the atom, he has introduced a new sort of synthetic natural force that threatens to be more terrible than anything with which nature itself has confronted him.

There will be a flood of suggestions for remedying conditions which made possible the disaster at Texas City. There will be a demand for better inspection and regulation of the manufacture and transportation of chemicals, for the wide-spacing of chemical industries and for similar preventive measures. And all this should be done. But all that is done on this level of prevention will be dealing in so much minutiae and largely ineffective in the long run unless we can have the greater preventive—the general human realization of the potential and actual dangers in our industrialized civilization. And the program must go even beyond that. It must extend to not merely human realization but to human acceptance of responsibility on the basis of that realization.

When the news of the Texas City disaster flashed around the world, there was a logical turning of most minds to a comparison with what can now happen because of the discovery of atomic fission with thousands of times the force of the chemical which brought so much tragedy to the Texas coast city. These new forces can be made a means to the end of a happier world, if we will. But we must realize that our whole civilization rests upon power and that in power there is danger unless there is the right mental and spiritual attitude among those who control it.

There was a time when explosions were confined to such things as shells and bombs. Now a ship explodes. A factory explodes. A city explodes. Will we, through negligence, witness the explosion of whole countries—of the world? —Dallas News

How Business Becomes Big

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, has an article in the American Magazine under the refreshing title, "BIG Business is GOOD Business!" Here are some of his observations. Now that the war is over the open season on big business has begun again. It is natural that people should attack big business. Because it is big, it attracts attention. Because it is successful, it provokes envy. Because it is powerful, it engenders fear. Any yet I submit to you that no attacks on any institutions were ever less justified. Big business is big for just one reason: because it deserves to be.

In this day and age there is just one way a business can grow big: by giving the public what it wants at fair prices. When a business stops serving the public, it soon ceases to be big, and some small competitor grows large to take its place.

Even the people who rail most loudly against big business instinctively know this. I'm acquainted with a state Senator who devotes much of his time introducing bills to tax chains out of existence. His wife does all her marketing at a chain grocery.

Practically every big enterprise in America was small and struggling at one time. The great manufacturing concern started as a machine shop—run by a man with energy and ambition. The great retail chain began as a hole-in-the-wall store—owned by a man with little money but big ideas. They produced and sold what the people wanted—and they gave the kind of service that attracts and keeps customers. That is the way and the only way that business becomes big and successful under the free enterprise system.

Babson Looks Ahead Five Years

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

EUREKA, KANSAS, April 25—I hope I am wrong; but the following is a brief summary of my vision for the next five or more years whatever Russia may do. This, moreover, is based upon forty years of forecasting experience and the expenditure of millions of dollars on business research.

(1) I am reasonably sure of at least two more years of fair business. If the U. S. adopts the right international policy, this can be extended to five years or more. Certainly, the agricultural sections out here are happy and see no reason for any business depression.

(2) My manufacturing friends are very much upset by labor's demands and believe that "sooner or later" we will witness a Great Depression with millions of unemployed. Commodity, real estate and stock prices will be very much lower than at present, they claim.

(3) When visiting Washington, I find a belief that unless Russia collapses in the meantime there will then be a communistic uprising in the U. S. If our Federal Government is not then taken over by the Communists, through democratic procedure, certain state and city governments certainly will be. Yes, Washington is very jittery, and President Truman is scared blue.

(4) If these Congressmen are right, a panic of tremendous proportions could take place with people leaving the big cities and seeking refuge in the self-sustaining sections of the Central West. I refer to areas with their own food, fuel and housing supplies and which are not dependent on railroad transporta-

(5) If that time comes, or when the danger is fully evident, it will be too late to prepare for it. You cannot take out fire insurance on your house when it is burning! Yet, today there are several ways to prepare yourself and family both against communistic uprisings from within and Russian bombs from without.

Both of these factors would dangerously affect industry in and around many large cities. The first "hedge" would be to migrate with your families to some small interior city in the Central Area of the United States. If you don't care to take so definite a step now you can at least now make a start by re-arranging your investments. In the light of this situation there are three classifications of investments to be considered.

These are Safe Investments, Bomb Targets and Semi-Protected Investments.

Safe Investments should include those companies whose assets or sources of materials are decentralized, or underground or certain Lumber, Chemical and Mining companies most of whose assets are well scattered, well buried or obtained from the sea. Also, companies processing or packing food products whose assets are in or near Agricultural Areas, Some Lumber and Sea Food companies should be included in this group.

Bomb Targets should include most heavy industries such as Steels, Locomotives, Automobiles and Machinery. Other companies whose principal income is derived from Food Distribution in large cities would be vulnerable. Utilities, including transportation, gas and electricity, Electrical Equipment Manufacturers, large Department Stores, Drug Companies and Restaurant Chains would all be open to attack.

Semi-Protected Investments are those based upon somewhat scattered assets with at least the greater portion in "safe" areas. I have in mind such industries as the Container Companies, certain Meat Packing Companies, Oil Companies, Chain Store Systems, Communication Companies, and finally Publishing Companies whose good will and reputation are in the same category as trademarks and cannot be "bombed" out.

Conclusion
When I am in New York City with my banking friends, I am inclined to be bullish. When in manufacturing centers with those plagued by severe labor troubles, I become bearish. When, however, I am out here at the very center of the U. S., viewing our great virgin areas of grain, forests, minerals and happy people, I am neither bearish nor bullish. I, however, do advise my readers now to get and keep out of debt. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst.

Surplus Buildings Add Class Room Space at Tech

LUBBOCK The first of 32 war surplus buildings are expected to arrive next week at Texas Technological College from Camp Berkeley, Abilene, according to the contractor. Moving is expected to be completed in time for use by the college next fall.

These temporary structures will add about 50 per cent to class room space on the campus, college officials have estimated. In addition to classrooms and laboratories, buildings will be used to house the veterans' guidance center at the college, a cafeteria, band, dispensaries, an auditorium to be available for student recreation, ROTC and two mechanical engineering shops. Considerable additional office space will also be made available.

MEMORIAL TO REVELLE—Melvin Pruitt of Refugio, Tex., dedicates a memorial at Texas State College April 21 to Reveille, Aggie dog mascot which died in 1944. The memorial was dedicated in 1947. Cadet staff officers, a color guard, and buglers, stand by. (P) Photo in educational institutions on April 1, Texas accounted for 154,313, Mississippi for 33,098 and Louisiana for 36,076.

VA estimated that 2,500,000 World War II veterans have been granted certificates of eligibility but have not yet entered training or educational courses for reasons of their own.

Men and women who served in World War II are enrolled in 25,000 colleges and other educational facilities and are taking on-the-job training in 365,000 factories, farms and offices.

Educational facilities being utilized in VA's Dallas Branch Area included 1,534 in Texas; 1,469 in Mississippi; and 887 in Louisiana.

Factories, farms and offices approved for veteran training in the same Southwestern area numbered 31,608 for Texas; 11,233 for Mississippi and 6,055 for Louisiana.

Veterans attending school under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (GI Bill) who plan to continue their education this summer in a different school should apply immediately for a supplemental certificate of eligibility, VA warned this week. VA said it is necessary that applications be filed with VA well in advance of the end of the spring semester in order to insure receipt of the certificate by the veteran before he enrolls in a different school.

A veteran may obtain an application from the registrar, veterans' coordinator, or training officer at the school he is now attending, or from any VA office. Applications should be sent to the VA Regional Office having jurisdiction over the school the veteran is now attending. Veterans cannot be admitted to a new school without the certificate.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; makeshift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

The 1947 Gas Kitchen

It won't be a 1947 Model unless it contains:

1. A Modern Gas Range which makes cooking faster, cleaner and better.
2. A Gas Refrigerator — the silent cooler which has no moving parts to wear out. Two million families own them.
3. An Automatic Gas Water Heater which provides a dependable around-the-clock supply of hot water.

It won't be a "Dream Kitchen" without these essential gas appliances.

Mom Will Keep on Working Much as Ever in Brave New Postwar World, Survey Reveals

By JOHN L. SPRINGER
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK—Despite increasing use of labor-saving devices, mothers will do as much work in the future home as they did before, it is suggested by experts of the Twentieth Century Fund who have made a survey of what conditions may be like in the next 13 years.
The experts say that by 1960 electricity, in homes should be almost universal, with big increases in the use of mechanical workers like washing machines and vacuum cleaners. But they cite studies to show that housewives with labor saving equipment spend almost as much time at work as those without.

houses destroyed through fire, flood, etc.; and the replacement of 65 per cent of all the substandard dwellings that should be torn down. Even so, there would be 5,573,000 "substandard" dwellings in 1960.
An expected boom in rural electrification will give many farm families new kitchen, laundry and cleaning equipment they never had before.
The decline in the size of the family is expected to continue. That means there may be a greater demand for smaller apartments or houses. Since there is a "fixed demand" for a kitchen, and bathroom whether the family is small or large, this

Reasons cited for this are that when good devices come into the home cut down on the amount of help they give. Mothers also do other things more thoroughly than they used to, find some new tasks, or just reduce their speed. Assuming that high employment and income continue, the Fund authorities foresee numerous changes in the country's housing and household operations. They say:
There will be an estimated demand for 16,052,000 new homes between 1946 and 1960. This number will provide for all new and involuntarily doubled-up families; for replacement of LUBBOCK—A shortage of automobile parking space has been noted at Texas Technological College, despite the fact that the campus covers well over two square miles and is said to be the largest in the world. More than 3000 cars were counted on an average morning recently, and it has been estimated that as many as 4000 vehicles crowd the grounds at times.

Soviet Finds Water Under Eternal Frost

LONDON AP—Residents in the Soviet arctic city of Yakutsk, which is situated 62 degrees north, get their drinking water from under the 720-foot deep layer of eternally frozen ground, says a Tass report.
Drinking water is a complicated problem due to the extremely scanty rainfall.
The Institute for the Study of Eternally Frozen Soil, founded 15 years ago under the USSR Academy of Sciences, came to the conclusion that in the vicinity of Yakutsk there was ample water under the frozen ground layer.
Last year a 1640-foot deep well was drilled and more than sufficient good drinking water was found to meet the requirements of the city.

Germans to Run U. S. Military Trains

FRANKFURT AP—Operation of military trains in occupied Germany are being returned to German control.
American Army officers have been supervising military trains, which are reserved for Allied occupation personnel and goods. These trains have priority over civilian trains which are operated by a de-Nazified German staff.
However, American personnel will be removed from military trains as fast as German civilians can be trained to fill their places, headquarters said.
Although, for a while at least, an American officer will be assigned to each military train, he will have no authority except to report faults in German operation, the announcement said.
Mrs. Wesley Bryan had the misfortune to break a bone in her leg Saturday after lunch when she started out the back door and fell. She is convalescing at her home.

The survey indicates that the trend of the "disappearing housemaid," under way since 1909 and accentuated by the war, may be reversed. But it may take higher wage rates and better working conditions for household help to do it.

Starlight Banquet Is Courtesy to Graduating Class

Silver stars suspended by blue cellophane ribbon from the ceiling, and artistically decorated walls depicting a night sky with the moon rising in the east formed the background for the starlight banquet the Baptist Missionary Society gave for the Senior class of Perryton high school on Thursday night, April 24.

The banquet tables were made attractive with unusual decorations; beams of light were shed on the table through the blue cellophane windows of miniature silver lighthouses, and spring blooms of blue colors interspersed with greenery surrounded the lighthouses and lay along the center line of the banquet tables. Place cards were silver stars hitched to silver cards which formed nut cups. The program and menu for each guest was written inside a blue folder cut in the shape of a lighthouse.

Blue spotlights in each corner of the room gave light for the occasion lending atmosphere in keeping with the decorative theme, and blue hydrangea plants were used at vantage points throughout the entertainment rooms of the Baptist church where the banquet, an annual affair, was served.

Opening the program, Rev. O. C. Curtis gave "Thanks to the Giver of Life." "Delights" were the welcome address by Mrs. Oscar Flowers and the response given by Don Stephenson, a senior class member. "Searchlights" were given by Geo. M. Parker, toastmaster; "opera-light" was the vocal solo, "Stardust" by Hoagy Carmichael which Gene Stinson sang. The "neon light" was Bob Watchous' talk, "He Who Has Vision." "Highlights" were the vocal trios, "Moonlight and Roses" and "Star Eyes" which Ruth Wade, Carol Lawrence and Pat Adams sang.

"Spotlight" of the evening was Rev. Curtis' introduction of the guest speaker, Dr. Dick O'Brien of Big Spring, Texas. He addressed the group on "beacon lights" to climax the evening's entertainment.

Plates were laid for approximately 80 members of the senior class, the faculty of Perryton high school and guests.

Miss Anna Tevis, Auxiliary president, urges all members to be present.

Pasturage Recommended for Eradication of Bindweeds

Since the bindweed problem has caused great concern among Ochiltree county farmers, the Herald is reproducing the following article, which appeared in the April issue of Copper's Farming.

The new way to kill bindweed is with sheep. Main outlay for the man who owns a flock will be for plowing the field four times and cost of seed for two crops of rye and two of Sudan.

Sheep may do the job in short or long time as required by tillage. The old way took two years, required 15 to 20 costly irrigations and two crops were lost. The seeds give up for the same reason in both cases because the root system is starved.

The pasture method of eradication was developed at Lamberton station in Minnesota. Heavily infested land plowed Sept. 15 was seeded to rye. Plots were grazed May 1 to June 20, when they were plowed and put to Sudan which was grazed until Sept. 1. Ground then was tilled and put back to rye to be handled as in the previous year. After the second year's Sudan was ready to graze, no bindweed plants could be found. The kill had been completed in one and one-half summers of grazing.

The rye and Sudan were managed to maintain several inches of top growth. That produced partial shade for vines and helped to weaken them.

No records were kept to show how many days of grazing were provided or how many pounds of mutton were produced an acre. Clippings taken showed a year's yield of rye and Sudan, dry basis, ranged from two to four and four-tenths tons an acre. The yield was well above that of well-established bluegrass pasture and feeding value was higher.

Protein content of grazed material was: rye 27.1 per cent, Sudan 23.5 per cent, and bluegrass 20.5 per cent. The yield and the high feeding value suggests that mutton and wool, at present price levels, ought to pay all costs of destroying stands.

Farmers long have known that bindweed was grazed readily by sheep when pasture mixtures were seeded on infested land. But when they tried to graze it to death in such a mixture they failed. If it and other weed growth only were available, bindweed remained thrifty longer than the sheep. Reasons for these failures were brought out in other phases of the Lamberton tests.

Alfalfa-brome and alfalfa-canary grass mixtures on bindweed land were grazed May 29 to Sept. 30. They produced heavy yields of high-protein feed, but 25 per cent of the bindweed remained.

On another plot no crop was seeded and an attempt was made to kill bindweed by heavy grazing. Plots never were permitted to get more than four inches long. By this method the stand was reduced only 53 per cent in four years.

When sheep had a choice of pure stands of bindweed or the rye-Sudan combination, they hardly touched the bindweed. In contrast, in the seeded crops, they ate the weed in preference to rye or Sudan.

Alfalfa, brome and bindweed were eaten evenly, with the sheep showing no preference. It is not clear whether this was because the stand was so dense they could not go to the ground to clip off bindweed or whether the brome and legume were more palatable than rye. In the alfalfa-canary grass mix, the grass proved unpalatable and the alfalfa was grazed so hard that it killed before the bindweed stand was affected.

Winter wheat, as well as rye, was tried for the spring pasture crop. It yielded about as much feed as rye but it was not as winter hardy for Minnesota. The wheat was not as palatable as rye. They might cause sheep to graze bindweed more closely.

Wheat and rye harvested as grain proved no check for bindweed, even when the ground was kept black from harvest to seeding. The stand thickened under such treatment. Alfalfa-grass mixtures harvested for hay also showed heavier infestation at the end of the test than at the beginning.

Tests will be required to show whether these methods will work in other areas as they did in Minnesota. Obviously there are questions yet to be answered. What variation will be necessary when weather is too dry to germinate Sudan? What a bout prussic acid poisoning when heat and drought stunt young Sudan?

In such cases tillage might be substituted for the grazing crop. Until these and other questions are answered, farmers who try the method should proceed cautiously.

Woman Bandit Hunted in Burma

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Described as a "virago on horseback" and paramour of all the dacoits in the Pyinmana district of central Burma, Mai Khin Nyunt, a Burmese girl, is being hunted by army forces for her activity in robbery and lawlessness in Burma, according to an official report.

The report added that the dacoits were quarrelling among themselves for her favors and two leaders had already been murdered.

The woman bandit was last seen during a dawn attack by the Rajputana Rifles on a small town south of Pyinmana, the report stated. The Rajputs, in a pitched battle with more than 200 dacoits, killed nine and captured 11. Rajput casualties were two killed and three wounded.

The report revealed that the Rajputs had discovered four horribly mutilated dead bodies in the dacoits' jungle hide out. The bodies had been tied to trees and mutilated in order to prevent identification.

Stanley Key and John Murry were in Oklahoma City last Thursday and Friday on business.

New Coats for Germans 'Every 350 Years'

HAMBURG (AP)—The German newspaper Hamburger Allgemeine reported that the total clothing coupons available for the 430,000 population of Dusseldorf in one month would have bought two handkerchiefs, 26 men's suits, 15 boys' suits, 33 workmen's overalls and three women's coats.

The rationing director of Dusseldorf commented that at that rate it would take a man in Dusseldorf 38 years to get a new suit, 18 years to get a shirt and 29 years to obtain underwear.

It would take 350 years to supply all the women of the city with coats.

R. P. Hurn returned Tuesday from St. Louis, Mo., where he had been buying merchandise. Mrs. Hurn met him in Higgins.

Packard Produces Its Millionth Car

Packard Motor Car Company has just produced its millionth automobile—a 1948 Super-Eight Convertible.
As the car rolled off the assembly line, it was met by (left to right) George T. Christopher, president and general manager; Alvan Macauley, chairman of the board; and Ed Jones, oldest long-time employee, who helped build the first Packard (above) in 1899.
"We expect to produce as many cars in the next five years as we did in the past forty-eight," Christopher said.
The first Packard was built in Warren, O., Nov. 6, 1899. Now in the James Ward Packard Engineering
Laboratory at Lehigh University, old
Model A was loaned for the event.
Nearly 500,000 of the first million Packards are still operating, according to 1946 car registrations, Christopher noted.

Growing Pains are Real to Adolescent Boys and Girls

By MRS. MARION L. FAEGRE

WASHINGTON — Doctors say there are no such things as growing pains, but any teen-ager knows better. What about the fiery-furnace blush that surges up when you try to introduce the speaker at high-school assembly?
How about the agony of not having anything to talk about on your first date?
Will the rest of you ever grow up to match those great big feet? Who said it's not painful to have your parents utterly unaware of how hard it is for you to make friends in the new town you've moved to?
Shyness, awkwardness, fear of not being good-looking are sometimes so deceptively hidden that

... even parents don't suspect them.
But some of the adolescent's most puzzling behavior may spring from his growing awareness of himself as a person, and his uncertainty about whether that person is going to be accepted by his peers.
If Jim has been given no help sail him, he may be hard put to

No parent wants his or her

We parents need to keep tuned to the subtle changes that are occurring in our children. These go on right under our noses, but our boys and girls aren't going to confide in us as they used to.
How can they ever begin to lead separate, independent lives, unless they keep something of themselves inviolate from us?
Our longing to continue the intiplace to acceptance of the teen-

But there'll be no rude break in our relations if all along we

Near Blind Vet Sees Brilliant Future in Films

HOLLYWOOD — When Paul Lees was fighting the Japanese, battling lizards and losing his eyesight at less than $20 a week, he never dreamed that he'd become a movie actor at $200 a week.

The laughing, likable "most decorated enlisted man in the U. S. Marine Corps" has only 10 per cent of normal vision. Picric acid in Japanese artillery shells yellowed the rock of Corregidor and infected his eyes as he crouched in a machinegun emplacement. A prison-camp starvation diet permanently atrophied the optic nerves.

Yet Ex-Cpl. Lees, who's as handsome as Alan Ladd and nearly as ebullient as Mickey Rooney, can see well enough to turn and appraise the (for him) hazy outlines of a pretty girl, I noticed as we walked toward the Paramount luncheon.

More important, he played a lead role recently in a musical short, "Smooth Sailing," so well that Joseph Egl, studio casting executive, calls him a natural actor with star potentialities.

His blue eyes look normal, but, too nearly blind to read a script, he learns a page of dialogue by having someone read it aloud just twice.

Paul was born 26 years ago in Pratt, Kansas. He joined the Marine Corps at 17 after being expelled twice from St. Michael College, Santa Fe, N. M., for campus misdeeds. Two years later, in Shanghai, he won the middleweight professional boxing title of the Orient.

On Corregidor, Paul shot down seven Japanese planes with his twin .50-caliber machineguns. He doesn't know how many hundreds of the enemy he killed with gun and bolo knife before he and his buddy were captured.

One of 15 survivors of the 1,800-man Fourth Regiment, he holds 32 decorations including the Legion of Merit. "But a lot of other guys who didn't get 'em," he says modestly, "deserve 'em just as much."

At the Fort McKinley, "starvation camp," he shrank to 97 pounds on a diet of filthy rice, boiled weeds, fried cockroaches, dogs, lizards and rats.

"I can cook rat legs so you can't tell 'em from frog legs," he announced while wolfing thru

Even Posts Steal Slay Budapest Police

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—For some weeks "strippers"—something like American "muggers"—have been robbing Hungarian men and women not only of their money but all their clothing down to and including underwear and socks. A few days ago all Budapest papers reported that shortly after midnight a completely nude drunk floundered into a Buda police station, screaming he had been robbed by strippers not more than a block from the police station. Police found a broken post partially blocking a narrow alley. At the foot of the post lay the drunk's clothes and money where, police surmised, they had been "willingly deposited by a drunk who thought the unyielding post was a robber."

Monkey, Cobra Battle to Death

BOMBAY, India (AP)—A crowd of Hindus, to whom both participants are sacred, witnessed a mortal combat recently between a monkey and a cobra at Ahmedabad.

The monkey dropped from a tree to a previously unnoticed cobra, seized the snake by the hood and ground its head into the soil. The snake wriggled free, struck the monkey with its fangs, and crawled away bleeding as the monkey died.

Accounts of the battle were published in several Indian papers.

Eldon Strickland, who was dismissed from the Veteran's Hospital, in Amarillo, last Friday and returned to his home in Perryton became ill and was readmitted for treatment on Monday.

FROM THE TEXAS BUTANE DEALERS ASSOCIATION:—

An Important Message

TO THOSE WHO USE OR PLAN TO USE BUTANE or PROPANE

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to check up on your present system. If your tank is not capable of serving you through the four winter months, you may find yourself without heat in the coldest season of the year.

New Industries developed during the War—plastics, synthetics and chemicals—now demand tremendous amounts of butane and propane. These industries use gas in equal amounts all year 'round. Meanwhile, domestic gas users burn four to seven times more in winter than in summer, but your dealer will be able to furnish you very little more in winter than in summer. To ease this high winter demand, users must spread that demand over the warmer months as well. The solution is a tank which will hold a four-months supply.

For "Winter-Insurance" the farmer stores his grain early, just as housewives do their canning early. For your "Winter-Insurance" you'll have your four-months supply in your tank when you need it most. And by taking less time for your dealer's services, he can supply you and your neighbors more efficiently and economically at the very time when road conditions are worst for gas delivery.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to drop in to see your local gas dealer as soon as possible. Consult him before you buy any system. He knows butane and propane, and he will do everything he can to cooperate with you for next winter—Now!

See Your Local Butane Gas Dealer Today!

French Plan Work For Prison Labor

PARIS (AP)—To meet the French manpower shortage, all convicts serving sentences under five years of imprisonment are to be employed at work in the national interest, such as agriculture, mines, reconstruction and textile. It was announced by the French ministry of labor.

This is in line with a recent statement by Communist Minister of Labor Ambroise Croizat that "all parasites must work." There are now about 30,000 persons serving sentences under five years, including 12,734 political offenders and 2,887 persons sentenced by military tribunals. None of them was sentenced to hard labor—which is only applied to people condemned to more than five years.

Difficulties however may arise because of lack of qualified guards and lack of credits to promote new ones, a spokesman for the ministry of labor said.

Shakespeare Study Planned in England

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 200 American teachers of English literature who visit Britain this summer will have a chance to get even better acquainted with William Shakespeare. Under the sponsorship of the British Council 30 British experts on Shakespeare will lecture, the British Information Service reports.

There also will be visits to neighboring points of interest: the site of the parish church where Shakespeare was baptized; Shottery where, as an 18-year-old boy the dramatist courted Anne Hathaway; and Tudor dwellings restored to their exact appearance when Shakespeare used them.

Mrs. Lony Bull and Darlene and Mrs. Edna Watson were among the Peryton women in Higgins Tuesday night helping at the Red Cross canteen.

District Judge E. J. Pickens ruled that the beer election held in Peryton on March 29, 1937, was illegal and that the sale of beer could be continued. His ruling was based on the illegal wording of the ballot and notice of election. County attorney Oscar Flowers announced that he would appeal the decision.

Future Farmers of America made plans for holding a district leadership meeting in Peryton. Towns represented in this meeting were Canadian, McLean, Wheeler, Pampa, Claude, White Deer, Panhandle, Miami, and Peryton. Sponsor of the local FFA chapter was C. H. Williams, agriculture teacher. Officers of the local chapter were Grover Crum, president; Harold Horne, vice-president; Harold Witt, secretary; Bob Lawrence, reporter; Phillip Daley, treasurer.

E. J. Kent, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce motorcade committee, announced that the Ranger Band and a Peryton delegation would attend the annual Guymon celebration on May 2. All persons who planned to attend the celebration were asked to meet at the schoolhouse and receive Peryton badges.

The spring Golf Tournament got underway, with 36 contestants in the meet. "Duffers" were paired with experts in an attempt to make the tournament more interesting and more competitive. Winners of the first match were Carl Ellis and H. C. Sanford, Garland Redfern and Ed Lynch, O. C. Rogers and M. P. Browning, W. A. Eaton and W. E. Foglesong, W. E. Perry and Roy Orrill, W. F. Haggard and O. A. Bush, C. W. Hargraves and H. P. Richardson, Lester Bowen and A. R. Hawkins, J. O.

My niece and nephew know that figures tell the truth when the figures deal with the results of systematic savings through the Payroll Savings Plan. Take a look at this chart. Circle the figure you need to achieve some goal for yourself or your family. Then move over to the column which tells you how much you need to save each week in U. S. Savings Bonds to attain your objective. The whole thing is as simple as adding one to three, because your Uncle Sam pays you an extra dollar for every $3 you put in Series E Savings Bonds when you hold the Bonds to maturity 10 years hence.

Poachers Destroying German Forests

BERLIN (AP)—Many German forests, once tended with thrift and almost-loving care, have taken a beating this severe winter from poachers who chop down trees indiscriminately for fire wood.

The famed Grunewald in Berlin's western suburbs, already thinned by last winter's authorized and planned cuttings, has been the victim of night pirates who poach in the darkness to elude British and American guards and German police.

Sometimes when police attempt to rout them the poachers resist with clubs.

This Is No Circus, Horse Decides

COOTAMUNDRA, Australia (AP)—A cart horse which saw an elephant for the first time in this country town of southeastern New South Wales dropped dead in the main street.

The horse, tethered to a post, shuddered and collapsed as the first elephant in a circus parade passed by.

Later motorists and motor cyclists were sent out by Secretary Ted Williams of the local Diggers' Race Club to warn horse trainers of the elephant danger.

Coal for Poland

KATOWICE, Poland (AP)—Polish coal production continues to climb steadily. Miners produced 2,825,400 tons of coal in the first 26 days of March, 98 percent of the total target for the month. A total production of 60,000,000 tons is planned this year in Poland.

Bonds Are Found in Sewer Plant

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)—A tank at the sewage disposal plant here yielded $150 in government bonds.

Sheriff C. L. Kief said the bonds, apparently part of the contents of a stolen cash box dumped into an open sewer a half mile away, floated free and into the sewage plant. The box was empty upon recovery.

Poles Move Germans

WROCLAW, Poland (AP)—Forty thousand Germans on farms of state-owned estates in Lower Silesia are shortly to be repatriated to Germany and their jobs taken over by the Poles. The Germans represented 70 per cent of the total working upon approximately 2,500,000 acres of land.

This is the Sap That Puts Out Fires

WEST FRYEBURG, Me.—With maple syrup scarce and high-priced in Maine this season, two orchard owners used five gallons of sap—as a fire extinguisher. Willis Farrington does not regret the sacrifice of four gallons as the sweet extinguisher checked the blaze that threatened his farm home. And in nearby Greenfield Glenn Henry gladly parted with the first gallon he had collected to put out a fire on the sap house roof.

This Book 'Cheap' At a Mere $27,200

LONDON (AP)—William H. Robinson, dealer in rare books of London's famous Pall Mall, has added a new item to his "stock"—at a cost of $27,200. This price was paid at Sotheby's auction room for a copy of the Apocalypse, printed in Germany in 1460, and containing color block illustrations of the life of St. John.

Consisting of 48 leaves arranged in three quires of eight sheets each, the text was engraved on scrolls, carefully colored in the style of the period.

An official of Sotheby's said that so far as he knew this was the highest price ever paid for a book.

Robinson told the Associated Press they had got the book "cheaply." "There is no comparable piece," they said.

O Carry Me Back To Glocca Morra Pure Imagination

NEW YORK—Now that the warm season is but a few calendar hops and skips away, the dopes who soon will be asking "Is it hot enough for you?" are biding their conversational time by querying: "How are things in Glocca Morra?"

The conversational bores who use just a little more imagination have switched it slightly to "How are things in Dannemorra," or some rhyming word of the same sort. And since the song hit from "Finian's Rainbow" is climbing swiftly toward the top, the lads and lassies who have such a magnificent grasp of the obvious really are having the time of their dull lives.

Having picked the name of Glocca Morra right out of the filmiest thin air, E. Y. "Yip" Harburg, who wrote the lyrics for the song, and Fred Saisy, who worked with Yip on the book of "Finian's Rainbow," are not too sure right now either that they did right by making up the name of an Irish town which sounds so utterly Gaelic.

Both fellows constantly are being grabbed by the lapels in whatever saloon or restaurant they happen to drift into and are all but beaten into an explanation of how they picked that particular name for their fanciful town.

Of course, some boastful folk insisted for a short and uninformative bit that there is too such a community in Ireland. One loud lady from Staten Island even informed the show's press agent that her folks came from "Glocca Morra" and that she had spent her honeymoon there. The tub-thumper accepted the explanation without a smile, although he had a tough time keeping from telling the gal what a harmless, hopeless phonny she is.

Geographically, there still is no Glocca Morra in Ireland, despite the antic attempts of Sam Friedman, the show's demon drumbeater, to convince the Irish Tourist Association that it would be economically and promotionally a handy situation to change the name of some lesser Irish hamlet, that is providing there is a lesser Irish hamlet, to Glocca Morra, thereby affording a peg upon which to hang reams of subsequent theatrical publicity.

Aside from the geographical absence of a town by that name, the folks concerned with the show insist that Glocca Morra indeed exists in the same fashion as does Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny and Irish leprechauns.

"Glocca Morra is the never-never land you'd like to be in," the normally more down-to-earth Lee Sabinson, producer of "Finian's Rainbow," told me the other evening.

"Its inhabitants include the beautiful young lady you'd like to meet on whom the subway door closed as she smiled at you. Your home in Glocca Morra is the beautiful cottage just around the bend from the railroad station which you'd like to stop off and buy but never do.

"And the people? They're all folks you'd like to know."

On which whimsical note Lee turned back to his boxoffice receipts and calmly started counting the almost but not quite unbelievable returns from such an otherwise intangible creation as a dream town. Lee, like Alexander Woolcott, seems to be a dreamer with a mighty fine sense of bookkeeping.

Senate Chaplain Holds God Has No Political Affiliations

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Senate's new chaplain, Dr. Peter Marshall, says he doesn't believe "God has any political affiliations."

He says the chaplain offers prayers at each day's opening session of Congress for divine guidance "because we still believe God governs the affairs of man."

"The prayer is an expression of the needs we all feel," he says adding that as far as he knows there is no "directive" for what the prayer should be.

The chaplain's job, on the other hand, set off the first political debate in the Senate last January.

The Republicans had used their newly won power to force a change and elected Dr. Marshall, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in Washington. He was chosen by voice vote divided on party lines.

Democratic leader Barkley, after attempting to win reelection of the outgoing chaplain, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, declared the chaplain's office "should be above politics."

The chaplain was born in Coatsbridge, Scotland, and speaks with a soft and entrancing "brogue." He says he is not disappointed at the very small number of Senators present to bow their heads as he delivers the prayers before the Senate roll call.

"I know what keeps them away," he says, explaining he knows how so many get tied up in committee meetings before the high noon convening of congress.

"They know they are being prayed for, not only in the Senate, but by the whole people."

Dr. Marshall says he feels it is possible to find God's will in every specific question and "that while we talk about America's being 'God's own country' we ought to begin doing what God wants us to do.

In his prayer before the Senate the day I met him Dr. Marshall asked God to "help us to cultivate proper speech."

"Surrounded as we are in this city with noble inscriptions of the plain, stirring words of wise men may we say what we mean and mean what we say," he prayed.

The prayer which opens the Senate session and requires not more than two or three minutes may seem unimportant, but in January 1946 the Senate debated for days on a motion to include the prayer in the Senate's official Journal.

In this instance, however, it wasn't the omission of prayer the Senators were weeping ora-though he had a tough time keeping from telling the gal what a harmless, hopeless phonny she is.
