Amelia Gonzales Wins First This Week

A couple of upsets in college football last Saturday threw quite a few of the football contest entries off in this week's contest. All of the contestants but four missed four or more games. The number of games missed that was most popular this week was seven.

Amelia Gonzales won the contest, missing only two games, Nebraska-Missouri and Washington-Oregon State. She will win $5 and 10 points in the contest.

Second place went to Homer D. Long who missed three games, Nebraska-Missouri; Washington-Oregon State and Arkansas-Baylor. He was off 43 points on the two tiebreakers. Second place receives $3 and six points.

Donnie McDonald came in third this week missing three games also, Illinois-Purdue, Nebraska-Missouri and Washington-Oregon State. He was off 44 points on the tiebrakers. He will receive $2 and four points in the contest.

Only one other person missed three games this week and that was Ricky King. He was off 51 points on the tiebreakers.

At the present time, W. E. English is still ahead in the contest having 20 points. The closest contenders have 10 points.

The winner of the contest at the close of the season will win $50 cash and two tickets to the Cotton Bowl Game to be played in Dallas on New Year's Day.

Officials Confirm Funding To Refuge

By Gordan Zeigler

Speculation that Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge would be closed to tourists and its management transferred to Roswell, N.M., apparently has been dispelled, at least untill July 1974.

Top refuge officials Monday confirmed the Muleshoe refuge, along with Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge near Umbarger, and two other in the southwest, will likely remain open and staffed through fiscal year 1974.

The announcement was anxiously awaited by West Texas naturalists and Audubon society members, who took a sudden interest in keeping the refuges open following reports last July that the four refuges were programmed for destaffing as a budget cutting measure.

Marcus Nelson, director of refuges for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the Intereior Department's Region II in Albuquerque, said Monday he had received verbal confirmation from Washington that money has been allocated to continue operation of the facilities.

"We've gotten word that the same monies appropriated in 1973 will be restored," said Nelson. "Right now I would guess the refuges would probably continue in their present pattern until the end of the year."

The Muleshoe refuge was orginally programmed to be closed July 1 and its management moved to the Bitter Lakes Wildlife Refuge near Roswell. It was being kept open under authority of the in terior Department untill the new approapriation bill became law.

President Nixon signed the Interior Department Appropriation Bill October 4, but until Monday it was not known whether funds had been allocated to keep Muleshoe and three other refuges open.

Since the refuge budge cuts were announced earlier this summer, Sen. John Tower, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and U.S. Rep. George Mahon had actively opposed the measures.

Nelson late Monday theorized that funds to keep Muleshoe open would come from several catagories in the new budget, including land management and bird management programs.

Bert Blair, Muleshoe refuge manager, said he was not aware of the reinstatment of funds for the facility when contacted at his home Monday.

Blair is currently the only permanent employee. He has an "intermittent clerk" on his staff. A heavy equipment operator quit recently due to the reported uncertainity of the refuge job, Blair said.

The manager said he would

Caution Given ON Seed Desiccants

Pollinator rows, in hybrid seed production which is to be used or sold as grain, should be harvested prior to using a desiccant on seed rows, according to Grain Sorghum Producers Association Executive Director Elbert Harp. Harp stated that no desiccant is registered for grain sorghum to be fed or grazed.

"Since EPA has not approved the use of chlorates and other chemicals for desiccating grain to be fed, farmers are urged not to use these chemicals on seed fields before cutting the pollinator rows," warned Harp.

Grain that has been treated could be condemned if residual carryover were found by EPA. Harp stated that such grain should not be hauled to an elevator.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association has been working to get clearance for the use of sodium chlorate and urea on grain sorghum for feed, but to date clearance has been granted for seed production only.

be checking with officials in Albuquerque in hopes he could rehire the maintenance man.

An important resting and wintering area for many of the Central Flyway's migratory waterfowl, Muleshoe is slowly seeing a boost in its population of sandhill cranes, which numbered 90,000 last year.

Blair said the cranes number about 1500 so far this year, but the poor water conditions in three playa lakes may hold populations of ducks and geese down from usual totals.

One playa lake on the facility is dry and two others are holding only four feet and 1.8 feet of water, respectively. The total water holding capacity of the facility is 745 acres. Blair said the absence of water, caused by an absence of runoff water this summer, is a key consideration when refuge officials place priorities for budgeting and may have future implications if conditions do not improve.

Refuges be reinstated besides the ones at Muleshoe and Umbarger include the Gagerman barger include the Hagerman refuge near Sherman and the San Andres refuge near Las Cruces, N.M.

The Mueshoe refuge attracts several thousands tourists annually including youths from nearby cities who visit the facility on class trips to view plants, wildlife and water fowl.

The tourist aspect of the refuges was originally threatened under budge cuts, as the facility was destined to return to its original purpose of merely supporting wildlife.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen's office informed the Muleshoe Journal by telephone Tuesday that the refuge would remain open and receive funds until July of 1974.

Our hearts are filled with sympathy for Shirley Richardson and family and her mother, Mrs. Evans and family in the loss of their wonderful father and husband, Leonard Evans. His was alife devoted to his family , his church and his friends. Truely he lived a life devoted to God and Savior. Jesus Christ and there seems to be no words to deeply express our sympathy in their grief and loss of their loved one. The following little verse partly expresses our thoughts for them it follows "As the life of a flower as a breath or as sigh true today we are here but tommorow must die."

Jesus said "I go to prepare a place for you"..."and will come again and receive you to myself that where I am there ye may be also". Blessed thoughts and hope eternal, May God comfort you in our sincere prayer daily.

Mini- Vacations

COLLEGE STATION -- Ever felt like you've been away for a week when you only spent a day in the country?

"Such mini-vacations can be memorable events for all concerned," Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, said.

"The whole family will enjoy an unexpected outing more if they occasionally take time off to spend the day together in some special way.

"This time off doesn't necessarily mean going away overnight or taking the children out of school. It can mean just leaving the usual weekend chores and running away for a day of fun," the specialist explained.

Mini-vacations or time off has another value.

"While promoting a sense of responsibility, adults can help children become spontaneous and flezible enough to meet life as it is.

"While still young, children can learn from parents and other adults the importance of setting limits for work as well as pleasure.

"Young people can grow up to accept obilgations when they recognize the option to put burdens aside every once in a while to enjoy themselves in other pursuits.

"Otherwise, routine becomes so oppressive that the ultimate purpose gets lost in the shuffle," the specialist warned.

"So, what are you and your family doing this weekend?"

OFFICERS AND NEW MEMBER . . . . . New member of Llano Estacado is Mrs. Steve Hamilton. New Vice-President is Mrs. Jim Barnes with Mrs. Jimmy Bruton as new parliamentarian.

Doll Fair

The Amarillo Doll Association presents the Amarillo Doll Fair at the Amarillo Civic Center, Friday and Saturday, October 26 and 27, from 1 to 9 pm, and Sunday, October 28, from 1 to 6 pm. The hundreds of dolls on display and the other fun events will provide truely delightful entertainment for doll lovers of all ages and at the same time will benfit the Nurses Scholarship fund at Northwest Texas Hospital.

Twenty-five exhibitors from eleven states will be coming to display and sell their dolls, both these people nationally famous in the doll world and provide an opportunity for you to meet and talk with authorities in serveral fields.

Johanna Gast Anderton, a noted author of reference books on dolls and acknowled edon dolls and acknowledged authority on dolls, old and new, will be on hand to autograph her books and discuss your dolls and doll collection. Johanna is combining her visit to the Fair with a photographing trip and is actively seeking out interesting and rare dolls for upcoming books. Johanna wants to meet people and talk with them about photographing their dolls, so everone who owns dolls should come by and talk with her.

Jo Morrow, Granny Jo's Doll Hospital, Dallas, will give workshops on wig making every hour on the hour. Jo specializes in doll wigs and she will show you how to make doll wigs out of "people" wigs in 15 minutes. She will also have a large supply of ready-made doll wigs for sale. Her new wigs make old dolls look new, and her techniques will quickly and inexpensively refurbish a doll whose rooted vinyl hair is balding.

Frnaki Von Bloomberg of Phoenix, Arizona, is well known among dollers for her fashion patterns. She will be on hand to give expert costuming advice and her famous French fashion doll pattens will be available.

A competitive booth will provide a great opportunity to learn about old dolls. Doll collectors will compete for ribbons, and the display will be marked and labeled so that all can learn from the finest dolls in the area. Anyone who has old dolls is is encouraged to bring them in to compete. Bring them by the Civic Center on Thursday, October 25, from 1 to 6 pm, or Friday, October 26, from 10 am til noon. Ora Henson is in charge of that booth and can get more details from her by calling 373-1128 in Amarillo.

DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS, ... Jewel Parker, president of the Amarillo Doll Association, prepares a blond friend to compete for ribbons in the Competitive Booth-just one of the attractions at the Amarillo Doll Fair.
