Government Opens Case Against US Communists

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WAHINGTON (AP) — The United States opens its case against the Communist party today before 12 jurors who swear they've never heard, said or read a bad word about it.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Joseph Lowther was prepared to call upon a list of eight prosecution witnesses — including at least one who will testify he made himself available to the party to register with the government as required by law.

The absence of such testimony in the party's December 1962 trial cost the government a victory. The U.S. Court of Appeals, reversing the conviction and $120,000 fine, said the government had to prove such a volunteer was available.

The party is charged with failing to register with the government as a Soviet agent and could face a maximum fine of $230,000.

Lowther read the names of his witnesses to the prospective jurors Wednesday. He later identified all but one — Herbert Oscar Marriott — leading to speculation that Marriott is the "willing volunteer" the government needs to close the loophole that spelled defeat in the Court of Appeals.

When the panel of 37 prospective jurors was ushered in with government workers already eliminated by general agreement — Judge William B. Jones posed some 30 questions to the group.

Those who stood in response were summoned to the bench for a private discussion with Jones and the opposing lawyers, Lowther for the government and Joseph Forer and John J. Abt for the Communists.

When Jones, 58,—who once played football at Notre Dame under legendary Coach Knute Rockne — asked if anyone had heard about the case, only one woman said she had.

When Jones asked if "any of you hold any hostility, ill will or dislike to the Communist party," nobody stood up. Equal silence greeted the question of whether "any of you have ever said or written anything favorable or derogatory" about the party.

Only one man got to his feet when the group was asked if it had ever "heard, seen or read anything derogatory about the Communist party." He was dismissed.

And while one man volunteered that he believed the party is an enemy of the United States, not even he arose when Jones asked if anyone believed it to be a subversive organization.

A-Team To Study Sites In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission team will be in the Dallas area Nov. 15 to inspect two proposed sites for a $340 million national atomic accelerator laboratory.

The visit will be the first of a series of Texas inspections by the group. The four will go to Amarillo Nov. 16, Lubbock Nov. 17, Odessa Nov. 18, Austin Nov. 19, San Antonio Nov. 22 and Houston Nov. 23.

Leo Hurley, project manager for the joint Dallas-Fort Worth proposal, said inspecting team members will be Dwight Ink, assistant general manager of the commission; Walter D. Hughes, assistant director for administration in the commission's division of research; Olaf Pruss of the division of construction and supply, and Dr. Robert Walker, investigator in high-energy physics at California Institute of Technology.

One of the Dallas-area sites proposed is 18 miles north of Arlington and Grand Prairie, just west of Lewisville. The other is 13.7 miles east of Lewisville.

Dallas and Fort Worth have committed themselves to underwrite land purchases up to $2 million for such an installation.

Teams are visiting all 85 sites in the nation under consideration for the 200 billion electron-volt accelerator.

The teams are expected to have their studies completed in four to five weeks, and will prepare summaries for an evaluation committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

The academy will make site recommendations to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Huge Gem Displayed

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—A diamond the size of a small matchbox estimated to be worth $150,000 to $450,000, found in the Indonesian jungle two months ago, was displayed at the Asscher diamond plant here today.

Jan Asscher Jr. said the 166.85-carat gem was one of the biggest diamonds to be found since World War II.

It was found by a group of 40 persons who handed it to the police. President Sukarno, who named the stone tri sakti (three supernatural powers), rewarded the group with a pilgraimage trip to Mecca.

Asscher said the diamond's value depends on its quality and color.

The Indonesian government and Asscher jointly control diamond mining in Indonesia, with the government doing the actual mining and the Dutch firm advising and marketing.

JUST IN TIME

Johnson Inks Farm Bill

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson just got under the pocket-veto wire in signing into law a four-year omnibus farm bill with an estimated $14-billion price tag for the 1966 crop year.

Johnson's signing of the masure — one of the major bills of the 1965 congressional session — was announced by the Texas White House Wednesday night shortly after 11 p.m. The President had until midnight to affix his signature or see the legislation die by pocket veto.

There was no explanation for the late signing of the bill. In fact, official sources indicated he was happy with the new law.

However, Congress defeated an administration proposal to have a wheat price support increase paid for by millers. The House killed the plan, making payment come from the federal Treasury. Opponents of the administration plan had dubbed it a bread tax, saying its cost would be passed on to consumers.

Wheat producers will receive a combination of support loans and payments giving them an over-all return of at least $1.84½ a bushel. They will receive payments equal to the world price on wheat shipped aboard. Wheat grown for domestic consumption will be supported at $2.75 a bushel—$1.25 of basic support plus a 75-cent payment by millers and a 57-cent payment by the federal government.

Cotton growers for the first time will be eligible for direct price support payments if they don't use their entire acreage allotments.

Next year's cotton support price will be pegged at 21 cents a pound. The world price is 24 cents.

In addition, producers who cut their allotments by at least 12 per cent will get a direct federal subsidy of about 9 cents a pound — and can get more by reducing their acreage up to 35 per cent.

Of importance mostly in the Western states, big growers who don't want controls and who can compete at the world price without subsidies can plant up to 250,000 acres next year.

Cotton surpluses now total more than 15 million bales.

Authors of the legislation hope these will be reduced under the new program.

The law also authorizes the government to get into the business of selling dairy products through the Commodity Credit Corporation, even when they are not in surplus.

Heavy Rain Falls In Freeport Area

Rain measurements of 2 to 3 inches were frequent.

The Freeport rain total came in 24 hours ending at 9:30 a.m.

Few Freeport streets had as much as 2.5 feet of water in them, delaying traffic during the morning's rush hour and stalling cars.

US Planes Join Search

PANAMA (AP)—A score of U.S. and Nicaraguan air force planes searched today for an Argentine air force transport missing in Central America with 69 cadets and crewmen aboard.

The DC4 disappeared Wednesday morning after reporting an engine on fire. En route to the United States via El Salvador and Mexico, it was 75 miles from Puerto Limon, on Costa Rica's Atlantic coast, at the time.

Bad weather made the search difficult. Planes flying the route of the missing transport said visibility was only 500 feet in some places.

Guard Unit Here Has Inspection

The annual administrative, supply and personnel inspection of Battery B, 1st Battalion, 131st Artillery, Texas National Guard was conducted Wednesday at the Snyder Armory by the 4th U.S. Army.

Chief inspecting officer was Lt. Col. Robert L. Westholm, from the 4th Army's inspector general's office, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio. He began the tour at noon Wednesday with an inspection of supplies. The administrative and personnel inspection was held Wednesday night.

Observing the inspection from Battalion Headquarters were Capt. Ray N. Walker, battalion staff assistant; Major Richard H. Tarpley, battalion operations officer; Capt. Willard R. Harral, battalion communications officer; Major Robert W. O'Sullivan, Army advisor; and M-Sgt. Herbert B. Waters, enlisted Army advisor, all from Abilene.

Commander of the local battery is Captain Eddie R. Isaacs. Second Lieutenant Robert G. Ryan is assistant executive officer. There were 53 officers and men present for the inspection Wednesday night.

The purpose of the inspection is to determine the local battery's efficiency and state of readiness for active duty, according to battalion officers.

"This is a routine annual inspection," said Capt. Walker, battalion staff assistant. In answer to questions, he said he did not foresee a call to active duty of the Snyder guard unit in the near future.

Battery "B" is equipped with 155 millimeter howitzers. The battalion is comprised of five batteries: Snyder; Stamford; Sweetwater, and two in Abilene. Battalion headquarters also are in Abilene.

Results of the inspection will not be known for several weeks.

BBB Warns Of Phony Charities

By MARGARET SCHERF

CHICAGO (AP) — Fund raisers whose favorite charity is themselves are getting ready to capitalize on the spirit of giving engendered by the approaching holiday season.

The busiest time of year is beginning for the charity swindlers who, by the time Christmas is over, will have frisked generous Americans of millions of dollars, the Better Business Bureau says.

"They're stepping up their activities now," John Nichols, vice president of the Chicago bureau, said in an interview Wednesday night. "Little storefront so-called religious groups, for instance, count on people being in a warmer mood."

Charity swindlers net about $100 million a year, the bureau said. Although there's no telling what amount is made during the Christmas season, the volume of complaints then indicates it's considerable.

There are numerous ways by which gypsters and crooked professional fund raisers enrich themselves. Often, legitimate and worthwhile causes are their victims.

"When they sign up for the services of professional fund raisers they aren't aware how much will be siphoned off as administrative or solicitation costs," said Nichols.

"We have cases in which as much as 90 per cent of the money collected is skimmed off," he said. And although inefficiency occasionally is to blame, usually somebody is fattening himself on the public generosity.

How can the individual donor be sure a major portion of his charity dollar actually is going to aid a worthwhile cause?

Telephone the Better Business Bureau before donating, Nichols advised.

Panel Provoked By Klan's Silence

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities are beginning to show some impatience with the string of refusals to answer that they are getting from Ku Klux Klan leaders.

"Frankly, I don't think you look very good to the American people coming here and taking the Fifth," Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., told Charles Bartlett of Jonesboro, Ga., Wednesday.

Bartlett, 38, a bulldozer operator, was identified as the grand klorogo, or inner guard, of the Georgia Klan and a Klan instructor in the use of dynamite bombs, karate, judo and guerrilla warfare. Like practically all the other Klan witnesses, Bartlett declined to answer any questions on Fifth Amendment and other grounds.

Pool told Bartlett, "I certainly think if you consider yourself a good American citizen, you would cooperate with this committee." He invited Bartlett to make some kind of statement.

A dead silence ensued, and Pool added, "I guess he has none."

[illegible] told Bartlett, "[illegible] in this way [illegible] who shows contempt for this committee is in fact showing contempt for the American people."

To another witness, Daniel Bruce, also identified as an instructor in the Klan dynamite school, Buchanan complained that he was unwilling to admit he was a klansman, "yet you boldly and rather brazenly wear this Klan pin," a small triangular lapel pin with the initials KKK intertwined on it.

Committee investigator Philip Manuel said Bartlett had taken part in a demolition training session for klansmen at the Henry County, Ga., farm of Robert L. Bing, said to be the exalted cyclops, or leader, of the Jonesboro Klavern.

Bing's farm is known as "Klansmen's Hill," Manuel has said.

Manuel said at this session Bartlett had demonstrated how to set a booby trap, spanning a path with a trip string attached to a battery device that would explode a dynamite bomb when anyone touched it.

He said Bartlett actually had [illegible]

Plane Crash Kills Two

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — A twin-engine airplane crashed in flames 2 miles southeast of here late Wednesday night and both occupants were killed.

Authorities identified them as Caly Northcutt, 50, of Enid, Okla., and his wife, 48.

The Beachcraft plane took off from Lawton airport for Enid at 10:25 p.m. and smashed into a small hill. Wreckage was strewn around a small farm pond. The bodies were found 300 feet from the main wreckage.

Northcutt owned an auto agency in Enid.

Don McMahan, on whose farm the plane crashed, said he heard a loud roar, looked out of his window and saw the craft about 50 feet off the ground. A moment later it plowed into the ground and exploded.

Reds Surprised Near Cambodia

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A company of U.S. 1st Division air cavalrymen ambushed a column of North Vietnamese regulars near the Cambodian frontier Wednesday night and then stood off four counterattacks with the help of airlifted reinforcements, participants said today.

At least 20 of the North Vietnamese were reported killed as they hiked talking and laughing on the last three-mile stretch of a jungle trail leading into Cambodia, which has repeatedly denied Saigon charges it is a haven of the Communist forces.

A U.S. spokesman said American casualties were light. There was no word on what losses the North Vietnamese may have suffered later in the action, which they broke off after helicopters opened up on them with rockets.

One helicopter was shot down, but the four-man crew reached American lines safely.

The ambush was staged 12 miles south of Duc Co and 18 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me, which the Viet Cong [illegible]

Hope Fades For Cuban Refugees

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Mexican navy searched today for 36 Cuban refugees feared drowned off the Mexican coast after their fishing smack cracked up in the reefs.

As hope of finding them alive dwindled, the Cuban government's order to halt the exodus of small boats from Cuba to Florida was in effect.

The Ministry of the Interior said the action — effective at noon Wednesday — was taken due to bad weather and an imminent agreement between the United States and Cuba for an orderly airlift of refugees.

U.S. Coast Guard cutters braved 28-foot swells in the Florida Straits to search for two refugee boats long overdue at Key West from Camarioca, the port emigrants must use.

The straits, which separate Cuba from Florida, were dotted with [illegible] boats left behind when the Coast Guard transferred refugees to its cutters.

The Mexican navy searched for the 36 off the northeast tip of the Yucatan Peninsula, where their fishing smack, Jose Marti, struck reefs. The navy said nine survivors were rescued, including four women, and six bodies were recovered.

Mexican officials said the vessel left Cuba Oct. 25 and apparently was trying to reach Isla Mujeres. It sank Tuesday.

A Havana radio broadcast identified the vessel as the Jose Martinez and said it sailed from Cuba's westernmost Pinar Del Rio Province "in a clandestine manner."

The newscast, monitored in Miami, said the boat carried 44 persons, 11 of them minors, and that only nine survived.

At least six persons have drowned previously and hundreds of others have been rescued from small craft trying to navigate the 90 miles between Cuba and the Florida Keys.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In spite of my 66 years, I am a healthy, active woman who does a lot of "baby jumping," not "sitting."

My problem is when two young mothers go out together to the same place, they ask me if I "mind" taking care of two sets of children. It involves twice as much work, as both sets may need baths, diapers changed, supper, etc. Also, small children from different families usually don't get along very well together, and I have to watch them carefully and settle their squabbles and keep them entertained. I don't mind the extra work involved, but when it comes to paying me, the mothers split the cost. So four hours of freedom costs them a dollar each. Is this fair to me? Your answer in the column might help many of us who are imposed on in this way. Thank you.

OLD SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: When you are asked if you "mind" taking care of two sets of children, speak up and say, "Not if each mother pays the going rate." When you buy two quarts of milk, you don't get the second one free!

DEAR ABBY: I know it was wrong, but I read some letters my daughter received from her boy friend and I've been crushed, frustrated and heartsick ever since. She is 22, works in a university town and has been dating a student there. She's brought him home for week-ends and he seemed so fine. She has repeatedly condemned girls who have had to get married, but her sin is worse because we are Catholics and do not believe in birth control, which she apparently has been practicing. She goes to church and confession, yet she continues in this behavior which the boy's letters reveal. He writes of looking forward to another week-end at her apartment because her roommate will be out of town again. And he refers to "wonderful" nights in a motel, and says he is sorry that next week-end they can't go because he is broke and "Mom" hasn't come through with the money yet. (His mother is a widow and works hard. He should be helping HER instead of taking her money for illicit week-ends.) I haven't told my husband as I am deeply ashamed and sorry I read those letters. But, nevertheless, the problem is there. Shall I tell the young people I know what they are up to, and suggest marriage?

HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If you were to tell the young people you read those letters, it would destroy (for a long time, and possibly forever) the relationship between your daughter and you. Don't suggest marriage. People should marry because THEY want to and for no other reason. Try to improve the mother - daughter relationship. Perhaps she will confide in you and you can advise her accordingly. Parents have no sure weapon against their children yielding to temptations such as these. They can only instill in their young people high moral standards and pray that they are stronger than temptation.

DEAR ABBY: I have to agree with the woman who resented having a "working mother" who didn't really have to work. I had one, too.

I hated to come home from school to an empty house day after day. When my mother did finally come home she had to catch up on her housework and everything was hectic and hurried. During my teen years I had to stay home all summer and look after my younger brothers. It was awful. Brothers rarely obey their older sisters and I worried myself sick when they'd run off. There was much mutual resentment and bitterness.

Well, that's over now. I am grown and married, and my mother is still working. It's funny, but I can't remember any of the "extras" the additional money provided by my mother's working. But I can remember how miserable and lonely I was. My mother and I will never be close. There just wasn't enough time for us to become acquainted.

CYNTHIA. By H. Montgomery Hyde.

Her code name in British intelligence was Cynthia. But she was born in Minneapolis in 1910, as Amy Elizabeth Thorpe, daughter of a world-wandering Marine officer and a socially ambitious mother.

Cynthia's real-life story has the snap-crackle-pop of a television serial, though television programs wouldn't be able to portray the long string of bedroom exploits that led to her espionage feats.

As the wife of a minor British diplomat - they were incompatible - she was familiar with embassy life in many capitals. During the Spanish Civil War she engaged in tomboy adventures across the battle lines, helped rescue her Spanish lover from prison, and was accused of spying.

In Warsaw in 1938 she undertook her first assignment for British intelligence, carrying on an affair with an aide to the Polish foreign minister and collecting information on Hitler's intentions.

Early in the war she was in Washington, where she seduced the Italian naval attache as a prelude to obtaining the Facists' naval code.

But her most important stroke was to acquire the navy cipher of the Vichy French, from their Washington embassy. When seduction fell short of the ultimate goal, she stole the code books with the help of a professional safe-cracker. As a result, the Allies' North African landings went off surprisingly well.

If a fiction writer had created Cynthia, scarcely anyone would have believed him. And if comparisons with the Mata Hari of World War I seem inevitable, certainly Cynthia's espionage career offers more specific proof of actual results. Her story is a spicy chronicle of feminine daring.

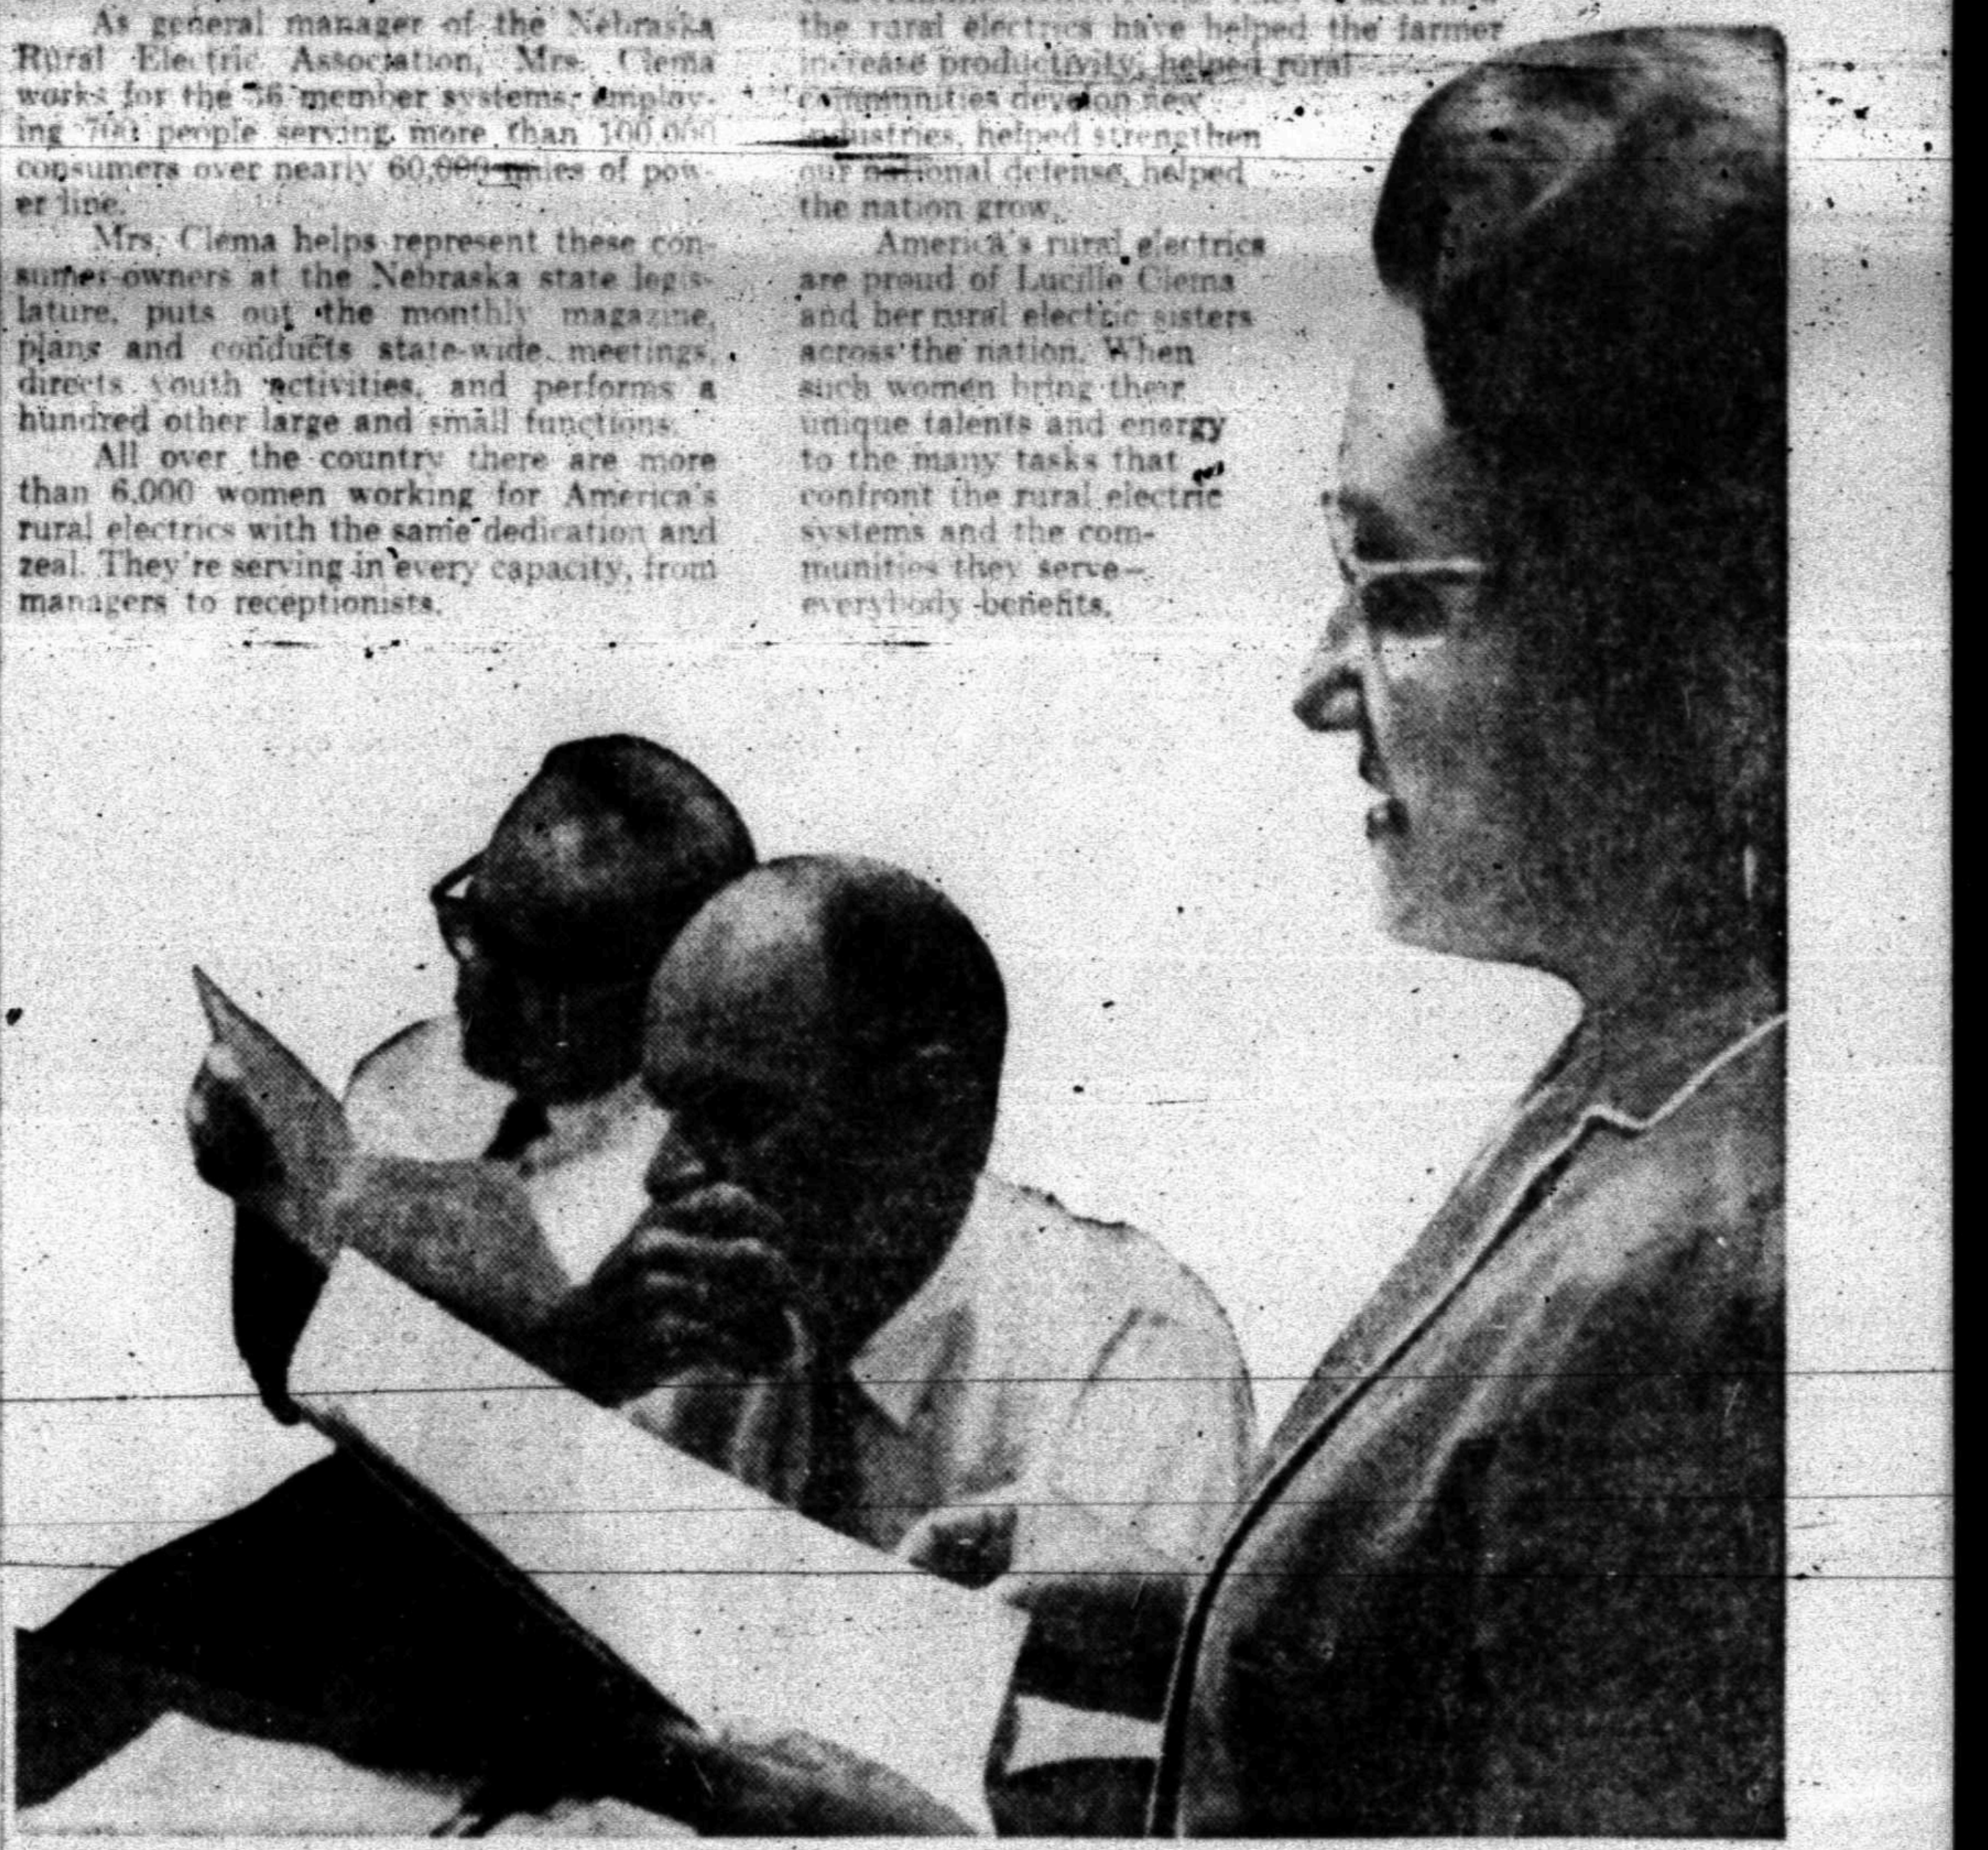
Art Guild Hears Rev. English

"Portrait of a Woman", was the subject of Rev. John A. English when he spoke to the Art Guild Club and guests at the Martha Ann Woman's Club on Tuesday evening, November 2. The occasion was the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the club. The tables were beautifully decorated in keeping with the season.

Mrs. Porter King and Mrs. Delia McPherson were hostesses for the evening. Mrs. King first gave a profile of Deborah, a Jordanian woman of wisdom who gave sound advice to help people of her day. She became a counselor in the troubled nation of Israel and challenged the men to move out to meet the armies of attacking nations. In the way of comparison to women of the modern world, Rev. English showed an excellent film in which women of Brazil, Korea, Africa and Asia were featured in their leadership activities.

Fifteen guest were introduced and Mrs. Maxine Bush was honored as a new member.



EVERYBODY BENEFITS

from the woman-power in America's Rural Electrics

One of the most valuable assets of the nation's rural electrification program is women - like Mrs. Lucille A. Ciema of Lincoln, Nebraska.

As general manager of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, Mrs. Ciema works for the 36 member systems employing 700 people serving more than 100,000 consumers over nearly 60,000 miles of power line.

Mrs. Ciema helps represent these consumer-owners at the Nebraska state legislature, puts out the monthly magazine, plans and conducts state-wide meetings, directs youth activities, and performs a hundred other large and small functions.

All over the country there are more than 6,000 women working for America's rural electrics with the same dedication and zeal. They're serving in every capacity, from managers to receptionists.

With their husbands and neighbors, they've helped build the rural electrification program, with the aid of Rural Electrification Administration loans. They've seen how the rural electrics have helped the farmer increase productivity, helped rural communities develop new industries, helped strengthen our national defense, helped the nation grow.

America's rural electrics are proud of Lucille Ciema and her rural electric sisters across the nation. When such women bring their unique talents and energy to the many tasks that confront the rural electric systems and the communities they serve—everybody benefits.

Many Posts Decided By Personalities, Not Parties

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tuesday's elections didn't prove a thing about the chances of a comeback for the Republicans as a national party whose history for most of a generation has been a succession of disasters.

Even the Republican national chairman, Ray C. Bliss, was guarded in his optimism and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon refrained from calling a Republican's victory in the New York mayorality race a Republican victory.

Besides New York, Republicans won major city elections in Philadelphia, Louisville, Ky., and Akron, Ohio, but they lost in Cleveland, Ohio, and they lost two governorship races: in New Jersey and Virginia.

Bliss, looking at the city victories, said they would have "a great effect on the party." Good candidates would be encouraged to seek places on the party ticket, he said.

But an examination of the biggest of those victories — by Rep. John V. Lindsay who beat a Democrat, Abraham D. Beame for the New York mayor's job — is a good explanation of why Bliss and Nixon didn't get overexcited.

Lindsay, playing down his Republicanism and running on what he called a fusion ticket, barred GOP leaders like Nixon and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower from jumping in to help him.

And while Lindsay, who refused to support Barry Goldwater in 1964, had Republican party support he was also backed by New York's Liberal party. On the ticket with him he had a Liberal and a Democrat.

One wanted to be president of the City Council, the other comptroller. Both lost to regular Democrats. Against this background the whole business looks like something less than a party contest.

It was more like a personality contest between the lively Lindsay and his colorless opponent, Beame, who bought full-page newspaper ads to remind voters Lindsay was a Republican.

It wasn't the first time, or on a scale as small as this, that voters placed personality above party. While Eisenhower was twice elected president, the voters gave his Republicans control of Congress in his first two years only.

For the remaining six years, even while re-electing him, they put the Democrats in charge of Congress and have done the same since. In fact, since 1932 Republicans have controlled Congress only four years: 1947-48 and 1953-54.

Lindsay, with this triumph, became a Republican national figure overnight. But he still has to prove he is of truly national stature. He says he has no presidential ambitions and New York's City Hall has proved a poor launching pad for anyone with greater hopes.

In the Virginia governorship race Republicans never had a chance against the Democratic organization. The Democrats haven't lost the governorship there in generations.

In New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes seemed sure to win re-election over his Republican rival, and he did, with a record 318,000 vote margin. And his victory swept Democrats into control of both houses of the state Legislature, the first time the Democrats have had the governorship and the Legislature since before World War I.

Elsewhere on the state level Republicans in New York got control of the Senate, Democrats retained control of the House. In Virginia Republicans made one-man gains in both House and Senate where, however, both houses are overwhelmingly Democratic. And in Kentucky Democrats strengthened their grip on the Legislature.

There's not much in all this to indicate a Republican resurgence.

Junior Editors Quiz on CANADIAN MOUNTIES

ONCE THINGS WERE ROUGH IN THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST
THEN CAME THE MOUNTIES
coulton waugh

QUESTION: Do the Royal Canadian Mounted Police still use horses?

ANSWER: In 1869, the Canadian government took over large areas of the great unsettled Canadian Northwest. This wild region lured settlers because of its mining, fishing and fur trade. It is said that in this area almost every known mineral is present. But it was dangerous country in the old days, for various lawless bands had made it their headquarters. To protect the decent people who wanted to settle in the Northwest Territories, the Mounted Police was organized in 1873. This body of fine men quickly became famous for their reliability and devotion to duty. Liquor smuggling was stamped out, as was the trade in stolen horses and cattle. From this beginning the 'Mounties' were used to uphold law and order in all parts of Canada except Ontario and Quebec. They patrol thousands of miles of wild country and have a splendid record of keeping crime under control. The horse, nowadays, has been largely superseded by the faster patrol car; yet the riding tradition of the Mounties remains, as they still put on riding exhibitions for ceremonial occasions. The Mounties also use various types of ships, boats and airplanes in their far-flung activities.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the Mounties' costume in the picture. The tunic is brilliant scarlet with hat, gloves, revolver, holster and boots brown. There is a bright yellow stripe down the side of the breeches, and the edge of the saddle blanket is also bright yellow.

Reflections Of A Man Nearing 50

By LEO MARKS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Reflections of a man nearing 50; or, things my father (who's nearing 80) never taught me:

There's no such thing as growing "old" gracefully. Whoever coined that must have been in his 30s looking back on his 20s.

Old soldiers don't just fade away. They just keep talking about their military exploits, some of which sound so good with age and repetition that they wish they really had experienced them.

Here's one of mine I remember vividly. My artillery outfit on the Rhine ran out of our regular eight-inch gun ammunition and had to send back to one of the French ports for more. There was none, but they sent us some shells from the cruiser Minneapolis, in port at the time, and we fired those until ours showed up.

Can you imagine what the Germans must have thought when they picked up shell fragments painted, "U.S.S. Minneapolis," on the other side of the Rhine?

Shortly after that they surrendered.

And have you noticed lately:

How old politicians never seem to disappear? They keep showing up every Fourth of July. And only you recall who they are?

How much prettier and younger the girls who walk by (without looking at you anymore) seem every year?

How everyone in the office you've been working with for years suddenly seems older, and a casual stroll over to the corner mirror doesn't exactly vindicate you, either?

And you try sneaking up on the tattletale mirror from another angle, and it's worse?

How your kids treat you with deference instead of defiance?

And the wife starts giving you that "Well, how-are-we-today?" once-over every morning?

If you've answered any one of these questions with a "yes," stop rocking the boat, brother.

Dope Pushers Are Jailed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Four men described by investigators as the biggest narcotics dealers in South Texas were jailed Wednesday on federal charges.

Narcotics agents accused them of obtaining heroin worth millions of dollars from a ring in Mexico and selling it in this country.

Armed with indictments returned by a federal grand jury at Del Rio, officers arrested brothers David Tenorio, 31, and Pedro Tenorio, 28; Martine De Leon Ovalle, 3, and Epifanio Sanchez, 35, all of San Antonio.

Federal agents said the heroin came from a ring led by Gustavo Campos, a Mexican national arrested recently in Mexico City. They reported he was carrying more than two pounds of heroin, valued at $1.5 million in the underworld market.

Investigators said the San Antonio men are accused of peddling the narcotic in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Chicago.

Sandy Koufax Cited As Cy Young Winner

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For the Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax, the 1965 Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher climaxed "the most gratifying season I've ever had."

The 29-year-old left-hander, who pitched the Dodgers to the National League pennant and a victory in the World Series, was notified of the award Wednesday.

It was the second time — the first was 1963 — that Koufax has been the recipient, and on both occasions the vote was unanimous.

"It was a great thrill the first time," said the handsome bachelor, "and a greater thrill this time.

"It was particularly satisfying this year to win it in a league which had so many good pitchers. It was a pitchers' year."

In spring training Koufax came up with an arthritic condition in his throwing elbow that threatened his career, but the Brooklyn native came back to record the most impressive statistics of his 11 years in the major leagues.

He won 26 games, including eight shutouts, in the regular season and blanked the Minnesota Twins twice in the World Series — the second a 2-0 clincher in the decisive seventh game.

He recorded baseball's lowest earned run average, 2.04, and broke Bob Feller's season strikeout record of 347 by fanning 382.

His most striking achievement was a perfect game — only the eighth in baseball history — Sept. 9 against the Chicago Cubs. It was the fourth no-hitter of Sandy's illustrious career.

Commissioner Ford Frick, when told of the selection by the Baseball Writers Association of America, complimented Koufax:

"The way Sandy has pitched the last few years, his name belongs right up there with Cy Young as one of the great pitchers of all times."

And Sandy's reaction?

"To be able to climax the season with a pennant and a world championship is the greatest thrill of all.

"To have this kind of year and win this sort of award after wondering in the spring whether I'd be able to pitch once a week or at all just adds up to the most gratifying season I've ever had."

Tee Off Set In Tall City

MIDLAND (AP) — Thirty-two members of the women's golf tour tuned up in a pro-amateur today for the 54-hole Tall City Open that starts Friday over the Hogan Park course.

The tournament is minus a defending champion. Mickey Wright, who won last year, retired to go to college.

Heading the entries is Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, the leading money-winner with $24,158.

Tigers Don Pads Again

For the third day in a row, the Tigers of Snyder High School took to the practice field Wednesday for some rough work in preparation for the Brownfield Cub invasion here Friday night.

The squad scrimmaged the "B" team again Tuesday. Wednesday, following team exercises, the ends and backs worked together on offensive maneuvers while the linemen had a session with blocking dummies.

Only light work was scheduled Thursday with overall game strategy coming in for a review. Most of the gridders are in good health, although Jackie Rice, who scored a touchdown against Levelland two weeks ago in the final 35 seconds, did not suit out. Jim Sartor's hand has healed completely. The squad is enjoying its best health since the season began with only minor ailments bothering a few of the players.

Coaches were hoping the "off" week does not throw the team off stride. The Tigers reached a peak against Levelland in the 13-12 victory there two weeks ago Friday and seem to have the impetus to win their remaining games.

Four teams — Snyder, Sweetwater, Levelland and Lamesa — still are in the running for the District crown.

Rain Hampers Drills In Southwest Camps

By The Associated Press

Rain hampered workouts in Southwest Conference football Wednesday but it gave the injured another day to recover and indications were that most of the squads will be in their best condition of the season in Saturday's games.

Texas Christian, which doesn't have a game this week, didn't practice at all.

Both Rice and Arkansas, who meet at Houston in the big game of the week, had some injury worries.

Arkansas was moving offensive players into defensive spots to fill in for three regular defensive backs who are on the shelf. Among those being shifted is Harry Jones, the ace wingback and second leading runner in the conference.

Rice had several players nursing injuries but the only doubtful one for Saturday's game was linebacker Craig Christopher.

Otherwise, the injury situation was brightening over the league.

Tight end Willie Walker and defensive end Ronny Lawrence were back at Baylor and there were no new losses to injury. Walker and Laurence are expected to be ready for the game with Texas at Austin Saturday.

Texas Tech welcomed Johnny Agan's return to practice, his injured ankle well enough for him to practice at top speed. The halfback is expected to play Saturday night against New Mexico State at Lubbock.

Texas A&M practiced in the rain while its opponent at College Station Saturday—Southern Methodist worked indoors. But Coach Hayden Fry of SMU said "We'll work outside tomorrow come rain, sleet or snow."

Texas worked in a gymnasium in basketball gear when heavy rains swept the practice field.

There were no injuries of importance reported at Texas A&M, Southern Methodist and Texas.

Johnnies Move Up

KANSAS CITY (AP) — St. John's of Minnesota, with eight victories and no losses this season moved up to No. 1 this week in the college football poll sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Findlay of Ohio skidded from first place to ninth after absorbing a 21-19 defeat from Northern Michigan Saturday.

Other teams in the top 10: Sul Ross of Texas, Eastern Washington State, East Stroudsburg State of Pennsylvania, East Cetral Oklahoma State, Southwest Texas State, Ottawa of Kanas, Northern Michigan, Findlay and Omaha of Nebraska.

The next 10: Fairmont State of West Virginia, Concordia of Minnesota, Southern Colorado, Willamete of Oregon, Morgan State of Maryland, Illinois Wesleyan, Linfield of Oregon, Georgetown of Kentucky, Mayville State of North Dakota and California Lutheran.

Lamar 11's At Lamesa

The Lamar 8th grade and 9th grade football teams will journey to Lamesa tonight to take on the Green Hornets. Game time for the younger boys is 6:30 p.m., followed by the clash between the 9th graders at 8 p.m.

Travis' 8th and 9th grades will not go into action until Saturday night, when they will be at Big Spring for contests with Runnels. The "B" team hosts Lamesa in Tiger Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Henderson Is Highly Rated

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — Coaches in the National Junior College Athletic Association ranked Henderson County of Athens, Tex., No. 1 in their football poll for the fifth week in a tow.

The Texans have an 8-0 record. So does McCook, Neb., which held second place for the fifth straight week. Ferrum, Va., ranked third.

The other teams in the top 20: Grand Rapids, Mich.; Missouri Southern of Joplin; Ellsworth of Iowa Falls, Iowa; Boise, Idaho; Coffeyville, Kan.; Arizona Western of Yuma; Kilgore, Tex.;

Taft, Calif.; Fort Scott, Kan.; Norfolk, Neb.; Northeastern Oklahoma of Miami; Navarro of Corsicana, Tex.; Wilson Branch of Chicago; Chowan of Murfreesboro, N.C.; Gardner-Webb of Boiling Springs, N.C.; Dean of Franklin, Mass., and Fairbury, Neb.

Laredo Coach Is Filed On

LAREDO (AP)—A hearing is scheduled in justice court today on charges of assault and battery filed by Jeff Cohane, sports editor of the Laredo Times, against Albert Ochoa, assistant coach at Nixon High School here.

The complaint was filed Wednesday after Cohane said he was struck in a disagreement over a column he wrote Oct. 26.

The column had said Ochoa failed to call in the result of a game the Nixon B team played at Eagle Pass.

"It seems that his Ponies played a football game in Eagle Pass last Thursday but Coach Ochoa failed to call in the game, principally because the Ponies lost 0-33" Cohane had written.
