Hospital must release records

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — A federal judge on Friday ordered a hospital to respond by Tuesday to the federal government's unprecedented demand for the records of a deformed infant girl whose parents decided she should not undergo life-prolonging surgery.

The administration had said its intervention in the case may offer "Baby Jane Doe" her "only realistic chance" for survival, but a government lawyer said officials hadn't decided "if we will intervene with the medical care." The attorney said at this point the government only wants the child's records.

Normally, the defendants in such a case are given 20 days to respond to such a request, but the Justice Department had asked for an answer by today. Instead, U.S. District Judge Leonard Wexler — without deciding on any issue — ordered the parents of the 24-day-old child and the University Hospital in Stony Brook to answer the request for records by Tuesday.

"This is an extraordinary case," Wexler said. "The government is asking that the answer be filed in a less than normal time."

The child's parents decided against surgery, after being told it would leave the child severely retarded and bed-ridden for life, and were supported by New York's highest court.

Dead deputy's car used in bank robbery

LA VERNIA, Texas (AP) — Two men kidnapped a Wilson County deputy sheriff Friday, used his uniform shirt, badge and patrol car while robbing a bank, then killed him with a shot between the eyes, authorities said.

The body of Deputy Ollie "Sammy" Childress, 51, was found in the trunk of his patrol car, authorities said. He had been shot in the head after being handcuffed and forced into the trunk, Department of Public Safety Trooper Alan Kempf said.

More than 200 lawmen from Wilson, Bexar, Atascosa and Guadalupe counties were joined by the DPS, Texas Rangers and the FBI in the manhunt.

During the bank robbery, the men "did state they had a deputy in the trunk of his car," one investigator said. The two men left the State Bank of La Vernia with $50,000 and the patrol car.

"Nobody would look at him (one of the robbers) twice, if he was wearing a police shirt and driving a patrol car," Kempf said.

The bank robbers also had Childress' radio, service revolver and shotgun, Wilson County Sheriff Marvin H. "Pete" Baumann said.

Wilson County Deputy Sheriff Bill Cates said one of the robbers wore Childress' shirt and badge during the robbery. The second man wore a Halloween gorilla mask, Cates said.

Board to investigate sinking of drilling ship

From Staff and Wire Reports

HOUSTON — A Marine Board of Investigation began looking Friday into the sinking of a U.S. drilling ship in the South China Sea as rescuers searched for the 81 crew members for the 10th day.

On that ship were two Permian Basin residents: Bernard Patrick Cates of Midland and John Lawrence of Odessa.

The five-member panel will be looking for clues into the sinking of the Glomar-Java Sea about 200 miles east of Vietnam and 60 miles south of Hainan Island.

Panel members said they believed it was the first American drilling ship to sink because of bad weather.

No survivors have been found, and the order for the panel to begin its investigation assumed a "multiple loss of life." But officials of the company that owned the sunken vessel said they hope crewmen safely escaped, saying a SOS signal picked up last week apparently originated from one of the ship's hard-top lifeboats.

Coast Guard Capt. Walter McDougall, chairman of the board, said the panel will reconvene in four to six weeks to hear testimony about the accident. He said they also will seek a joint investigation with the Chinese government.

The 5,930-ton ship, leased to ARCO China Inc., apparently sank Oct. 25 when Typhoon Lex rumbled through the area, packing 75-mph winds and pushing 26-foot waves. Sonar confirmed Tuesday that the vessel was lying on its side in 300 feet of water.

Meanwhile, the air search for survivors was suspended Friday, but Chinese and private ships continued to look for the missing crew, according to a statement released in Hong Kong by Global Marine Inc., owner of the ship.

Global Marine also said it had requested assistance from the International Red Cross.

Suicidal terrorist blows up Israeli post

TYRE, Lebanon (AP) — A suicidal terrorist raced his "truck bomb" through a wall of gunfire and blew up an Israeli command post Friday, in a grisly replay of the Beirut Marine attack. At least 29 Israelis and 10 Arab prisoners were reported killed.

Israel lashed out swiftly in reprisal, sending waves of warplanes against Arab targets in Lebanon. As many as 60 people were killed in the air strikes, Lebanese reports said.

Farther north, outside the port of Tripoli, fighting raged on for a second day between Syrian-backed PLO mutineers and Yasser Arafat's loyalists. At least 200 people were reported killed there.

And, as this bloodsoaked land continued its never-ending strife, Lebanese peace talks recessed in Geneva, Switzerland, for 1½ weeks.

Responsibility for the bombing of the Israeli headquarters here was claimed by a group calling itself "Islamic Holy War," state-run Beirut radio said.

This same shadowy Shiite Moslem extremist group, professing allegiance to Iran's revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, had claimed responsibility for three earlier truck bombings — the attack on the U.S. Embassy in Beirut last April, which killed 17 Americans and 32 others, and the twin bombings of U.S. Marine and French military command posts in Beirut Oct. 23, which killed at least 230 Americans and 58 French soldiers.

AN ANONYMOUS telephone caller told the French news agency in Beirut that Friday's bombing was carried out in retaliation for Israel's continued occupation of southern Lebanon and the arrests of Shiite Moslems here, Beirut radio said.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv reported 29 Israelis killed in the Tyre blast, along with 10 of several dozen Palestinians and Lebanese under detention at the Israeli compound. Beirut's state-run radio earlier said 25 Arab prisoners were killed.

The Tel Aviv command said another 29 Israelis and three Arab detainees were wounded.

Friday's killer struck at about 6 a.m. as Israeli soldiers, border policemen and civilian security men slept in the two-building, L-shaped compound, which served as a security base for policing the Tyre area, 12 miles north of the Israeli border.

The pickup truck, carrying about 1,000 pounds of explosives, passed three unmanned checkpoints on the Mediterranean coastal road, and then veered off toward the compound, Col. Yona Gazit of the Israeli northern command told reporters.

"THE SENTRIES at two posts opened fire as it crossed through the barrier into the compound," he said. "The driver was hit but the truck rolled on. Just before reaching the two buildings it exploded."

Sheriff, police chief differ on parole amendment

EDITOR'S NOTE: Eleven constitutional amendments will appear on the Nov. 8 ballot. This series examines the arguments for and against each proposal and how each would affect the state's citizens. This part looks at Proposition 11.

By RICHARD ORR
Staff Writer

Sheriff Dallas Smith and Chief of Police Wayne Gideon have different opinions as to the merits of a proposed constitutional amendment that would alter state parole policies.

Basically, the proposal — Proposition 11 on the Nov. 8 ballot — would allow the governor to appoint all members of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, but take away his power to veto paroles recommended by the board.

THE AMENDMENTS

Proposition 11, as it will appear on the Nov. 8 ballot, reads: "The constitutional amendment to change the Board of Pardons and Paroles from a constitutional agency to a statutory agency and to give the board power to revoke paroles."

The state constitution calls for the three-member board to consist of one person appointed by the governor, one appointed by the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas and one appointed by the presiding justice of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

The constitution has been interpreted to require the governor's approval before a parole is granted. And he has the power to revoke paroles.

Responding to overcrowded conditions in the state prison system, former Gov. Bill Clements created a commission to study the problem. Included in 24 commission recommendations was that the parole process be streamlined by doubling the number of parole board members and removing the governor from routine parole decisions.

According to a Texas Legislative Council report, proponents argue that requiring the governor to approve parole board recommendations is "a duplication" that slows the parole process by up to three weeks.

Advocates also contend that expansion of the board to six members would spread out the work load and result in more thorough reviews of parole cases.

In addition, proponents maintain that public interest would be better served if responsibility for designating all parole board members lay in the hands of a single elected official.

Smith says he "leans" in favor of the change: "Based on my experience (14 years in law enforcement), eliminating duplication has merit. And I wonder how effective the governor's ability to veto paroles really is.

"I don't see where we'd be losing anything — especially if he were given the power to name all the parole board members. In fact, he might have even more control over the board because he appointed its members.

"The disadvantage is that we don't have all the facts as to what problems the change would bring. But I lean toward seeing no real difficulty. We (local law enforcement officials) usually have the opportunity to object to a parole anyway."

Opponents, with whom Gideon sides, argue that "sensitivity" of pardons and paroles requires the governor's participation in the process.

Furthermore, advocates claim, because paroles and pardons are directly related to court action, the chief justice of the supreme court and the presiding justice of the appeals court should have a say in appointing board members.

Hospital must release records by Tuesday

Over the objections of the parents and University Hospital in Stony Brook, the government filed suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court alleging that the hospital, by siding with the parents, may have violated federal law.

Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds said the records were needed to determine if the decision to withhold surgery was a proper one.

Doctors said that without surgery she is likely to die within two years. Surgery, they said, could extend her life into her 20s, though she would be bedridden and severely retarded.

"The issue here has been misperceived," Edith Marshall, a trial lawyer for the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, said Friday. "We are not asking for a change in treatment for the child...What we want right now is only records. We simply don't know the present condition of this child.

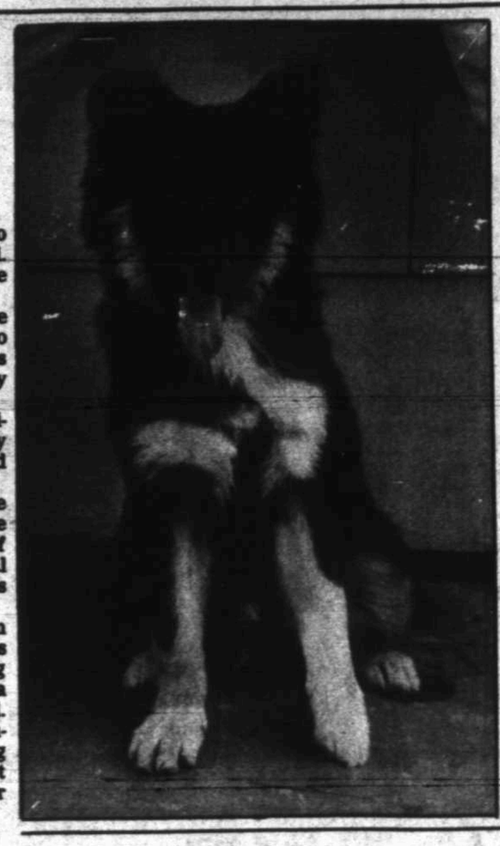

"There's no way of knowing what the government will do or not do upon getting the records," she said. "We don't know if we will intervene with the medical care."

The suit marked the first time the federal government has gone to court claiming that the civil rights of an infant with a birth defect may be in jeopardy.

"Intervention by federal authorities...may represent the child's only realistic chance of survival," said Reynolds in announcing the move.

But Paul Gianelli, attorney for the unidentified parents, said, "We're getting very close to a '1984' type of situation in which we have federal review of the most private decisions of individuals."

"Some bureaucrat in Washington who has no knowledge of the case is indicating that the doctors on Long Island are performing euthanasia when that's not the case," he said. The baby's father said the government "can't feel what we're feeling now — they can talk about life, but they can't feel what we feel for our baby."

Suicidal terrorist blows up Israeli compound

The blast, several yards from the buildings, devastated the yellow, two-story structures, leaving an uneven pile of masonry, twisted metal mixed with blood-stained jackets and helmets. Soldiers who survived scrambled over the debris, some digging with their bare hands in search for their comrades.

One of the sentries, David Illouz, 31, later told Israeli radio he shot at and hit the driver, but the man managed to smash through the gate and toward the buildings. Illouz was recuperating from slight wounds at a Haifa, Israel, hospital.

Another sentry was blown into the air and landed almost unscathed in an army medical corps tent 20 yards away, Israeli soldiers later reported.

Through the day, cranes, bulldozers and soldiers with blowtorches worked at the scene, pulling out bodies of soldiers and Arab prisoners, and placing them on stretchers under gray blankets. Three Israeli soldiers were rescued unhurt from the rubble, the command said.

MANY OF THE Israeli casualties were part of the paramilitary border police, a force made up in large part of Israeli Arabs, assigned to Israeli-occupied territories.

The death toll was one of the highest from a single act of violence against Israel since the founding of the Jewish state. The worst was the 1978 highway bus massacre in which 35 Israelis and six Palestinian guerrillas died.

Israel's defense minister, Moshe Arens, standing amid the ruins of the Tyre post, condemned the "murder in broad daylight," blaming it on a "terrorist network" linked to Syria.

"We will hit back and we will hit back very hard," he vowed.

Within hours Israeli jets were in the air. They did not, however, hit back directly at the elusive Shiite fanatics, but at other Arab enemies.

Israeli Kfir and Phantom F-4 fighter-bombers pounded Palestinian guerrilla and Syrian targets in Lebanon's Syrian-controlled central mountains, Beirut radio reports said.

The jets battered command posts, artillery and tank positions into smoking wreckage, the reports said. The targets, around the towns of Bhamdoun, Sofar, Aley and Mansourieh, straddle the Beirut-Damascus highway about nine to 14 miles east of Beirut.

THE BEIRUT radio reports said between 30 and 60 guerrillas and Syrian soldiers were killed. But a Syrian military spokesman, quoted by Syria's news agency, denied that any Syrian targets had been hit. The Israeli command said all its jets returned safely.

The air strikes were Israel's first in 14 months against targets in central Lebanon.

Meanwhile, around Palestinian refugee camps outside Tripoli, anti-Arafat guerrillas pressed their attack on PLO loyalists for a second day.

Rocket and artillery fire rained down from nearby Syrian-held highlands onto Arafat's 8,000 fighters, trapped with their backs to the sea at the Nahr el-Bared and Baddawi camps.

The Palestinian mutineers are seeking to dislodge Arafat from his last Lebanese stronghold.

Despite Syria's repeated denials of any involvement, Arafat claimed to visiting reporters Friday the Soviet-backed government of Syrian President Hafez Assad has fielded two army divisions and 150 tanks for the "final push" to depose him.

"BUT WE shall fight irrespective of the odds," he said. "We shall die hard. We shall not bow to Syria."

Tripoli hospitals reported some 200 people were killed and 500 were wounded in the two days of fighting.

Seven-month-old girl reunited with her parents

RICHLAND HILLS, Texas (AP) — A 7-month-old girl kidnapped from a Fort Worth hospital last spring by a woman posing as a nurse was returned to her parents Friday night in a tearful airport reunion.

Cherie Ann Kennedy, the abducted infant, looked into bright television lights and smiled broadly as she was placed into her mother's arms.

She was taken from a woman at the Mexico border in El Paso and flown to the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport after a positive identification was made, authorities said.

Cherie Ann was identified through blown-up photographs of her footprints, said Fort Worth police Capt. Ben Dumas. He said blood and saliva tests also would be run on the baby.

"She's a lot different. She's grabbing, pulling hair and getting into everything," said the child's 21-year-old mother, Penny Jo Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy said she was afraid that Cherie Ann, who continued to smile and laugh after returning to her grandmother's house in this Fort Worth suburb, had suffered psychologically during the abduction.

"I was worried, but now I'm pretty happy," Mrs. Kennedy said.

Cherie Ann suffered from mosquito bites, not chicken pox as reported by Fort Worth police, but otherwise was in good health, said officials at Thomason General Hospital in El Paso who checked the infant.

Linda Lee Ashmore Gomez, 32, of Fort Worth, was charged with kidnapping and three unrelated charges and was also flown here, in the custody of FBI agents and Fort Worth police, on the same plane with the infant.

Authorities said Cherie Ann was taken from Ms. Gomez after she was stopped Thursday at the border. A dark-haired 3-month-old girl taken into custody apparently was the woman's, said El Paso police Lt. Ed Agan.

Cherie Ann was 7 weeks old when she was abducted May 10 from John Peter Smith Hospital, where she was due for a checkup and immunizations. Mrs. Kennedy said a woman posing as a hospital nurse told her she wanted to show Cherie Ann to the other nurses, but then left the hospital with the baby.

"We've had our hopes built up in the past. They've never promised us anything but they said they had a lot of leads and then the leads began dropping off and then all of a sudden last night I knew it was her," said the girl's father, Andrew Kennedy.

"People have told me all along that they were praying for her safe return and maybe it did some good," added Kennedy, a machinist. "People have really been wonderful to us."

"I know Penny and Andy will want some time alone with the baby...They'll have to get reacquainted — Penny, Andy and the baby," said Kennedy's mother, Jean Walker. "I'm sure the baby had become used to being with the person she was with."

Ms. Gomez was arrested about 11:30 a.m. Thursday after she was stopped by U.S. Customs agents on a Rio Grande bridge. She was booked on charges of forgery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Two kill deputy, use car, uniform in bank robbery

The gunmen forced several bank employees and Mayor Chuck Malloy, who was in the bank at the time, to lie on the floor. One teller was forced to empty all the cash drawers, investigators said.

One of the men was described as 5 feet, 10 inches tall weighing 165 pounds and the other as 5-feet-10 and 230 pounds. Witnesses said the heavier man "waddled when he walked."

Investigators said the employees were told to stay on the floor for 10 minutes after the gunmen left.

Cates said he was about to enter the bank shooting when the robbers exited through a rear door. Several people reported seeing the patrol car parked on a side street alongside the west side of the bank which faces south on La Vernia's main street.

A local farmer reported seeing a yellow and black Mercury Cougar on Farm Road 539 about seven miles south of La Vernia at 11:15 a.m. with two men inside heading toward Floresville.

Officials differ on Proposition 11

They also contend the current system has served Texas satisfactorily over the years and that other bills passed by the 68th Legislature eliminate the need for a constitutional change by addressing the issue of prison overcrowding in other ways.

Noting his 28 years in law enforcement, Gideon said: "My personal feeling is that I'm reluctant to see the governor removed from the mainstream of the parole process.

"While it may eliminate duplication and certain paperwork, I think it's a safeguard that needs to remain. The power to deny paroles is perhaps what the public wants.

"It's a buffer and a very important safeguard."

Mishap sends man to hospital

A rural Midland man is reported in satisfactory condition at Midland Memorial Hospital with several fractures.

Garland Martin was transported to MMH after an accident at Whitney and Garfield streets Friday morning. Also involved in the 9 a.m. incident was Bobby Huckabee, 2812 Moss, and Cheryl Goodey, 1504 Butternut.

East German claims he's just university professor, not spy

BOSTON (AP) — An East German charged with trying to steal U.S. military secrets said Friday he is merely a university professor, not, as the government claims, a "highly trained spy."

Alfred Zehe, 44, was ordered held without bail after a federal prosecutor called him "a trained East German espionage agent."

"It would be his duty to escape," Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Mueller told U.S. Magistrate Robert Collings during a brief bail hearing.

But Zehe told Collings, "I am an honest person."

"I have a dignity and honesty," he said. "I can't imagine that I would flee or how I would flee.

"There are accusements that I must reject. A highly trained spy? I am very sorry, I am a university professor."

Zehe, who was led into the small courtroom in handcuffs, was not represented by an attorney. He said he would contact his embassy.

"I hope they will help me," he said.

The FBI alleges that Zehe contacted an American civilian employee of the U.S. Navy in Mexico City in October 1982 and requested secret documents dealing with military technology. The American civilian, who was not identified, was cooperating with the FBI and the Naval Investigative Service.

According to an affidavit filed by James E. Lancaster, an FBI agent in Charleston, S.C., Zehe is "scientific-technical expert" with the Minesterium Fuer Staatsscherheit, the East German Ministry of State Security.

Lancaster said it was Zehe's job to acquire and evaluate classified documents supplied by a civilian employee at the Naval Electronics Systems Engineering Center in Charleston, S.C. The civilian was not identified.

The affidavit said that in December 1981 the civilian met with a consul at the East German embassy in Washington and later with Dieter Walsch, an embassy attache who Lancaster identified as an officer with Ministry of State Security, East Germany's chief intelligence-gathering organization.

An official at the East German embassy in Washington said Walsch was not available. "We have no comment," said the spokesman, who declined to give his name.

The affidavit said Walsch offered money for classified defense information. Instead, Lancaster said, the American civilian worked with the FBI and the Naval Investigative Service during the two-year investigation.

The civilian met with Walsch on several occasions at the East German embassy, providing documents in exchange for $2,000, the affidavit said. The civilian was told that future exchanges would take place at the East German embassy in Mexico City, Lancaster said.

The civilian first met Zehe at the East German Commercial Office in Mexico City on Oct. 25, 1982.

Gov. Mark White, at a news conference Friday, says he will vote for all 11 constitutional amendments on Tuesday, including one that will take away his direct power to approve or disapprove paroles.

White to vote for amendments

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says he will be voting for all 11 constitutional amendments on Nov. 8, including the one that strips him of the power to approve or block prison paroles.

"I believe this is an advance and believe it will be helpful, speeding up the parole process," White told a news conference Friday.

The proposed constitution change would make the State Board of Pardons and Paroles solely responsible for action on paroles, instead of the current method of letting the governor have the last say.

However, the change, if approved by voters, would let the governor appoint six members of the paroles board, instead of naming one of the present three-member board.

"Basically, no matter what happens the governor is going to get blamed for a bad parole," White said.

"It is very easy to look back and say you shouldn't let so-and-so out on the streets. That's true, there are tragedies that occur as a result of unfortunate parole of persons who later are involved in crimes. At the same time, the prospects of parole really are important for rehabilitation of prisoners and also the function of the prison system.

"I think we are going to find that most people who go to prison ultimately return to society in better condition, we hope, than they went in," White said.

Official: Suit isn't hurting Wurstfest

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Attendance at the annual Wurstfest celebration, which began Friday, should not be hurt by a lawsuit filed in connection with a drunken driving incident that claimed four lives last year, an organizer said.

"Our indications are that the critics have caused people who supported Wurstfest to rally around the flag," said Wurstfest executive secretary Tom Purdom.

A lawsuit was filed here Thursday against the Wurstfest Association and a former Army soldier contending the group was negligent in allowing the ex-serviceman to consume an excessive amount of beer.

Army Pfc. William Dale Savage, since honorably discharged, has been convicted of four counts of involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of a Mexican-American family.

The four were struck and killed by Savage in October 1982 as he left Wurstfest, an annual event celebrating the town of New Braunfels' German heritage.

Attorney Ruben Sandoval said it was merely a coincidence that he filed the suit the day before the Wurstfest celebration opened.

The petition seeks unspecified damages to cover funeral and medical expenses and mental anguish for the family of Ruben Sauceda Jr., his pregnant wife, Hortencia, and their two children.

"We've been trying to talk to them (Wurstfest officials) and they say, 'We don't have any money because we're non-profit so ha, ha, ha,' " Sandoval said.

But Purdom said Sandoval never made any attempt to contact him or other association officials.

"This is obviously a frivolous, harassment suit," he said.

Richard Woods, Savage's attorney, said that a single establishment cannot be held responsible for a person's actions.

"What if Bill Savage went to Wurstfest and stopped off and had a couple of beers elsewhere?" he said. "They want to get the Wurstfest Association, not Bill Savage."

The Saucedas' deaths prompted protests from Hispanic leaders after a jury convicted Savage of one count of involuntary manslaughter and sentenced him to 10 years probation.

Comal County prosecutors refused to try the private for the other three deaths, which touched off protest marches and a hunger strike by four jail inmates.

Savage eventually pleaded guilty in the deaths of Mrs. Sauceda and the children and received three more 10-year probated sentences after Attorney General Jim Mattox ordered the case reopened.

Rescuers find body of 12-year-old at city's sewage treatment plant

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Rescuers recovered the body of a 12-year-boy from a sewage treatment plant late Friday, more than a day after he had tumbled into an open manhole cover while playing soccer.

The body of Raul Perez floated more than eight miles though the underground sewer system before drifting into the plant, said Assistant Fire Chief Jimmy Saldana.

"After we couldn't find him for so long, we just waited for him to float in there," Saldana said. "We were afraid he had snagged on something but after so long, we knew he was dead."

The sixth-grader could have died by striking his head, inhaling the poisonous gas fumes underground or drowning, the assistant chief said.

The boy had fallen through the uncovered manhole about 2 p.m. Thursday during a physical education class at Tafolla Junior High School.

Rescue crews worked around-the-clock until Perez' body was found, including using a special underground remote camera and sending "spelunkers" to search the system, Deputy Fire Chief Jim Miller said.

"It's quite a maze of conduits in there, but we've done everything imaginable — putting men down there, the cameras, floating things through, even the spelunkers," he said.

Earlier, District Fire Chief George Christensen had said, "I don't think we'll find him alive."

Witnesses said the boy jumped over a fence in pursuit of the soccer ball and just disappeared.

"He was just hanging on the gate and he pushed off and fell (feet first) into the hole," said eighth-grader Roy Ramon. "He hit his head.

Buying parents house can bring rewards

NEW YORK (AP) — Do a financial favor for your retired parents: Buy their house.

If the purchase is done right, in the right circumstances, there may be some nice rewards for all the parties involved.

That's the suggestion of the moment from Ayco Corp., a firm that specializes in providing advice on matters of personal finance.

Obviously, Ayco isn't making a blanket recommendation for people of every age, occupation and income level. But it is making the point that there are tax-advantaged strategies available to people who are in a position to help support home-owning relatives.

"For example, assume that an individual furnishes his parents with funds for their support on an after-tax basis," Ayco advisers say in a recent report on the subject. "As an alternative, he should consider purchasing his parents' residence and renting it back to them."

This needn't be done with a big up-front cash payment. The sale can be financed with a loan from the parents to the child, on which the child pays interest.

So each month the child is sending a loan payment to the parents, and the parents are in turn giving the child a rent check. What's to be gained by this back-and-forth shuffling of money?

If the parents are 55 or older, they can benefit from the tax rule that allows them a one-time exclusion from capital gains taxes on the sale of their residence, up to a maximum of $125,000.

"In addition," points out Ayco, "by converting this property into business property, most current expenses would be deductible, and capital items, such as the building and capital improvements, would be depreciable.

"In contrast, under present circumstances, only real estate taxes and any interest payments would be deductible by his parents. Further, unless his parents itemized their deductions, even these amounts would not be deductible."

In an hypothetical case, worked out by Ayco, of a $50,000 home, the after-tax cost of such a deal to the child came out to a little more than $2,000 a year. But the parents' cash flow improved by more than $5,000 a year.

Assuming that the child planned some outlays anyway to help the parents, this strategy would seem to minimize the amount contributed while achieving generous results. On balance, the family as a group is better off by $3,000 or so.

All members of the family should find such an arrangement emotionally, as well as financially, satisfactory before committing themselves to it. Furthermore, says Ayco, there are several things to check beforehand to make sure the transaction will yield its desired effect in dollars. Among them:

—Tranfers of home ownership involve closing costs. Will these be large enough to offset much or all of the benefits to be gained?

—Similarly, a sale may incur state or local transfer taxes.

—A sale could bring the tax assessor around to put a higher value on the home, increasing the property taxes on it. If the current owners are eligible for any property-tax breaks granted to older people, these would be negated by a sale to a younger child.

Authorities raid mushroom farm

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Tipped by a poorly wrapped parcel, authorities found hundreds of bags filled with hallucinogenic mushrooms at a Marin County psilocybin farm. Six people were arrested, investigators said.

Sheriff's investigators estimated the cash value of the illegal crop at up to $500,000. They also said they found an ounce of powder believed to be cocaine and five pounds of Thai sticks — a potent form of marijuana.

The investigation began when a United Parcel worker in San Francisco found the mushrooms as he re-wrapped the improperly wrapped package. Inside was one pound of mushrooms bound for St. Louis and a note.

The note reportedly explained that, although only a few ounces had been ordered, a pound was being shipped in hopes the recipient could establish a market in St. Louis.

They traced the package to three homes at a single address in Marin County and, after obtaining a search warrant, found mushrooms growing in three nearby garages. One was equipped with a humidified and mushrooms were growing from its floor to its ceiling, investigators said.

Acid rain a worldwide problem

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — European countries have taken the lead in the battle to curb acid rain and other types of air pollution, while the United States lags far behind, an environmentalist told U.S. newspaper editors.

The governments of Sweden, Norway, Greece, the Netherlands, Switzerland and West Germany all are attempting to reduce domestic emissions of sulfur dioxide, a primary cause of acid rain, Gregory Wetstone told editors attending the Associated Press Managing Editors 49th annual convention Wednesday.

In North America, Canada plans by 1990 to reduce by 25 percent the amount of Canadian-produced sulfur dioxide emissions in the eastern part of the country, said Wetstone, director of air and water pollution research with the Environmental Law Institute in Washington, D.C.

But the United States is dodging the issue, he indicated.

"Over the past two years, while other nations have been responding to new evidence on acid rain damage with tougher pollution controls, the United States has not only opposed (sulfur dioxide control) programs but has adopted policies promoting increased (emissions)," he said.

At a conference last summer in Geneva, Switzerland, the United States was the only country among the more than 30 in attendance that refused to sign a resolution calling for a reduction of emissions where feasible, he said.

"Historically, the U.S. is the global leader in environmental protection and air pollution control," he said, adding that U.S. air quality control programs have been copied by many countries.

Yet, despite a multitude of federal Clean Air Act programs and "billons of dollars spent in this country every year on air pollution control, the U.S. releases an estimated 24 million tons of sulfur dioxide into the atmosphere annually. That's more than western Europe and all of Canada combined," he said.

Wetstone was joined on an acid-rain panel by Kentucky Energy Secretary William B. Sturgill, Tennessee Valley Authority Chairman David Freeman and Ronald A. Irwin, chairman of the subcommittee on acid rain in the Canadian Parliament.

Freeman told the editors he believes the United States can bring its air pollution under control with a three-pronged attack — forcing all utilities to comply with existing laws, conserving energy and cleaning coal before burning it in power plants.

However, he said, "to cut back substantially, as the experts suggest is necessary, we are going to have to either install control technology or switch to low-sulfur coal for a number of existing coal-fired plants."

President and Mrs. Reagan protect themselves from the rain as they attend a memorial service Friday at Camp Lejeune, N.C., for those killed in Beirut and Grenada. Next to Mrs. Reagan is Marine Corp Commandant P.X. Kelley.

Reagan comforts families, friends of dead soldiers

CHERRY POINT, N.C. (AP) — President Reagan on Friday told the families and comrades of American soldiers killed in Lebanon and Grenada that "If this country is to remain a force for good in the world, we will face times like these." Privately, he called it his most difficult moment.

The president and his wife, Nancy, joined 5,000 other mourners at a rainswept memorial service at nearby Camp Lejeune. They met with about 200 members of the victims' families, then spoke at a separate ceremony honoring the Marine unit hit by a devastating suicide attack in Beirut on Oct 23.

The American dead, Reagan said, "now are part of the soul of this great country and will live as long as our liberty shines as a beacon of hope to all those who long for freedom and a better world."

"If this country is to remain a force for good in the world, we will face times like these, times of sadness and loss," said Reagan. "But let no terrorist question our will, no tyrants doubt our resolve."

"America seeks no new territory, nor do we wish to dominate others," he added. "Yet we commit our resources and risk the lives of those in our armed forces to rescue others from bloodshed and turmoil and to prevent humankind from drowning in a sea of tyranny."

Reagan's address was at the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station, home of the 24th Marine Amphibious Unit, which counted among its members nearly all of the 230 servicemen killed in the Beirut truck-bombing.

Earlier, the president and first lady sat silently during the chill, wet service at Camp Lejeune.

Unemployment rate falls to 8.8 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian unemployment tumbled to 8.8 percent in October, slashing the ranks of the jobless to below 10 million for the first time since February 1982. President Reagan's chief spokesman Friday proclaimed the report "exceedingly good news."

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said it was fresh evidence that Americans "are going back to work." He got little quarrel from private economists, who said they were surprised by the healthy decline. The AFL-CIO, a harsh critic of Reagan's economic policies in past months, said it was "very happy."

In human terms, the 0.5 percentage point decline from September's 9.3 percent unemployment rate translated into these vital statistics: Some 320,000 people went back to work; total unemployment decreased from 10.4 million to 9.9 million, and joblessness declined among every population group.

The decline in the jobless rate was attributable in large part to the fact that the number of people looking for work plunged by 553,000, when statistics were adjusted for seasonal variations.

Because two-thirds of the 553,000 were between the ages of 16 and 24, it was clear that by mid-October, when the figures were gathered, most of these labor force dropouts who previously had been categorized as unemployed had returned to schools and colleges.

Total employment, as measured by the Census Bureau's random survey of 60,000 U.S. households, actually fell by 17,000, from September's record 101,945,000 to 101,928,000, when adjusted for seasonal variations.

Commissioner of Labor Statistics Janet L. Norwood, testifying before the congressional Joint Economic Committee, cited "the volatility of the monthly change" in household survey figures on the employment count and said these figures "may have been overstated somewhat."

She said, "Our experience suggested that a reduction in this employment count could be anticipated, and the data for October suggest that such a reduction has taken place."

But Ms. Norwood insisted that there was "a real increase in employment." She cited a companion "establishment survey," which is not used in computation of the unemployment rate, which showed the addition of 320,000 to business payrolls last month.

The slight fall in the total number of unemployed measured by the household survey had little effect on the jobless rate, given the contraction of the labor force by more than a half-million.

Several private economists said they were confident that the latest labor force figures reflected genuine improvement in the job market. Donald S. Strazheim, vice president of Wharton Econometics, said it was evidence of a "rock-solid" recovery.

The 8.8 percent rate returned civilian unemployment to the level of March 1982.

Senate searches for ways to cut deficits despite Reagan's opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate searched for a multibillion-dollar package of spending cuts and tax increases to reduce budget deficits Friday, but President Reagan stood firm in his opposition to any measures which do not conform to the original budget he sent Congress in February.

"The president's plan, as submitted, is the only deficit reduction plan we support," deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said.

Efforts to fashion a package of budget savings appeared to have lost steam in the face of opposition from Reagan and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

On Thursday, Reagan reiterated his intention to veto any tax increases and O'Neill said he wants no further domestic spending cuts.

Nonetheless, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, carried on with the series of private meetings he has been holding this week with Finance Committee members.

"Damn the torpedos and full speed ahead...I think we're still in business," Dole said.

He said the timing of the president's comments "was unfortunate."

Disabled Soviet submarine continues to wait for rescue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet submarine disabled in the Atlantic Ocean bobbed for a third day off the South Carolina coast Friday as it awaited help from a Soviet sub tender, the Pentagon said.

A U.S. Navy destroyer, the Peterson, arrived on the scene 470 miles east of Charleston, S.C., on Friday and took up watch about a mile from the Victor-3 class nuclear-powered sub.

The sub surfaced in the international waters early Wednesday, disabled by an unknown mechanical problem. It was spotted by a Navy P-3 Orion flying a routine anti-sub patrol.

U.S. subs commonly operate in the same area as they enter and leave the Charleston Navy Base, one of three major U.S. submarine bases on the east coast.

The Soviet ship has not asked for help nor has it sent out a distress signal as it bobs in the four-to-six foot ocean swells, according to Navy officials who declined to be identified.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Sunday, Nov. 6, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: The philosopher Erasmus, Polish composer-patriot Jan Paderewski and rousing band master John Philip Sousa were born on this date. Also sharing your birthday: actress Sally Field and model Jean Shrimpton. You must stabilize your private life in order to achieve greater business or career success. Stop making romantic promises you do not really expect to keep. A financial discussion makes a family member uneasy. A business venture gives you reason to be optimistic. Money from a secret source is a fantastic help. A work associate makes disclosures that speed a promotion.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Intellectual achievement makes this a happy day. Base your choices on what is best for the whole family. Loved ones offer support when you are open about a financial problem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): For your own good, accept romantic partner's apology. Travel lets you escape from your regular responsibilities for a day. Be specific when making a request of a teenager.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You can escape from a romantic trap if you really want to. Begin a self-improvement project that will have long-term benefits. A financial situation needs no guesswork.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your enthusiasm for history rubs off on another. He/she may use it to start a romance this weekend. Keep your head when competing in an athletic event and you win.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Exercise leaves you tired but content. A good day to return something that was borrowed long ago. New privileges are granted. Accept the responsibility that comes with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your frustration over a personal matter ends. Asking too many questions could cool a budding romance. Actions speak louder than words. Surround yourself with people who share your interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Things are looking up financially. Do not take the good news as a signal to go on a shopping spree. Careful money management is still a necessity. Reserve time for family affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov 21): Political differences could leave you and a family member at odds today. Financial help arrives from an unexpected source. Keep your arrangement under wraps. A unique relationship requires a special approach.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be diplomatic, but let others know that you alone can decide what is best for you. Humor relieves the tension at a family dinner. Your chances for happiness multiply.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Ignore someone's tantrums. He/she only wants attention. Couples benefit from spending time away from other people. A newspaper article gives you a brilliant idea for making money.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A social event opens new doors to you and loved one. Adhere to what you know to be right. Giving in will not help a youngster. Community service leaves you tired but satisfied.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Many of the people around you today are sensitive. Try not to rock the boat. An opportunity arises to launch a splendid friendship. Refuse to speculate on the outcome of a personal relationship.

'Princess Daisy' airs on NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — Who would have thought NBC could rinse the suds from Judith Krantz' best-selling novel?

Princess Daisy loses her mother in a car wreck. She watches her father die in a plane crash. Her half-brother rapes her twice. Her twin sister is retarded. Yet viewers won't shed any tears. Throughout all this adversity, Daisy never seems to suffer.

"Princess Daisy," NBC's four-hour miniseries on Sunday and Monday nights, is a victim of too stiff an upper lip. There's no trauma, no convincing anguish, no real deprivation and, what's deadly for this genre, no excitement. The story of the beautiful Daisy, forging an independent life after the tragedies of her past, is too much of a plain Jane.

If TV soap opera has any value, it's the chance to mindlessly wallow in other people's miseries and feel better about our own lots in life. Miss Krantz' "Princess Daisy," "Scruples" and "Mistral's Daughter" obviously work as escapist entertainment — she's sold more than 7 million books.

BUT THIS NBC production, with Miss Krantz' husband, Steve, as executive producer, is emotionally distant, even though it is not as intellectually insulting as most prime-time soaps.

Classy performances from Stacy Keach, Lindsay Wagner, Sada Thompson and Claudia Cardinale manage to rescue even the cheapest dialogue. One affirmation of acting ability is that Miss Cardinale can say, "The love of a good man can make the best moments live forever," without viewers grimacing too much.

Merete Van Kamp, who plays Daisy, is not in their class, but the acting novice — who won the role over 700 candidates, according to NBC — doesn't embarrass herself.

Although the Danish-born former model's delivery sounds the same in anger or delight, for a newcomer she's remarkably natural and open in front of the camera.

The miniseries keeps the eye interested with some foreign locales, including the medieval village of Honfleur, France, and several estates in England.

BUT THE mind wanders because the story never rivets. At times, it is so lethargic that the characters even seem to be walking slowly. You could probably read a Krantz book while watching "Princess Daisy" and do justice to both.

Stash Valensky (Keach) is a Russian prince living in Switzerland who marries Francesca, an American film star (Miss Wagner). Five minutes into the miniseries, Francesca has twins — Daisy and Dani, who is brain-damaged. Stash, terrified by his family's history of insanity, tells Francesca that Dani died and hides her in a mental institution.

The Valenskys' nurse (Miss Thompson) discovers the deception and informs Francesca, who moves both infant daughters to California, where they begin a new, less opulent life.

But Francesca, while traveling to an acting assignment, drives off a cliff. Daisy and Dani, young girls now, are returned to their father in Europe, and in the movie's most wrenching scene, Stash welcomes Daisy with a hug but ignores Dani. He sends her back to the mental institution.

STASH now lives with Annabel de Fournament (Miss Cardinale), a sweet woman who makes peace between Daisy, who cares deeply for her sister and visits her every week, and Stash. Daisy, Annabel and Stash live in harmony, except when Stash's son from another marriage, Ram (Rupert Everett), a sullen, European preppy, visits. He later falls in love with Daisy.

Ram's lust for Daisy, after the death of their father, serves as the central conflict in the movie's second part. Back in the United States, Daisy attempts to gain financial independence as a producer and, later, star of commercials.

Her love interests are played by Paul Michael Glaser as a commercials director and Robert Urich as a millionaire corporation president. Urich gets to utter the memorable line, "If you're glad to see me, whistle the 'Stars and Stripes Forever.'"

Man gives his life to save 3-year-old granddaughter

NEW YORK (AP) — A 62-year-old man gave his life to save his 3-year-old granddaughter when the two of them fell in front of an oncoming subway train, police said Friday.

Gennaro Garrisi of Corona, Queens, pushed the child off the tracks to safety under the overhanging platform but had no time to save himself. The subway motorman saw Garrisi and put on the brakes but was unable to halt the train in time, police said. The first car rolled over him and killed him.

Police said Garrisi was standing hand-in-hand with little Simona Luraghi at 11 a.m. Thursday at the edge of a Manhattan subway platform. The grandfather apparently lost his balance and fell to the tracks, pulling the child with him as a train came roaring in. Garrisi just managed to push the child to safety before the train crushed him.

Soldier prosecuted for drug use

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — A soldier who refused to give a urine sample after one test showed traces of drugs is being court-martialed on charges of wrongful use of marijuana and disobeying an order.

Spec. 5 David McCowan of El Paso, stationed at White Sands Missile Range, decided to contest the validity of urine tests after evidence of THC, the active ingredient in marijuana, was found in a sample he gave in February. He refused to take another test in May when his name was drawn at random.

Lt. Col. James Collins of the drug-detection lab at Brooks Air Force Base in San Antonio, testified Thursday there was a "very remote" possibility that someone who had not recently smoked marijuana would come up with a positive test for THC.

Coalinga lacks rental units

COALINGA, Calif. (AP) — The federal government has reserved $625,000 in rental housing aid for earthquake-damaged Coalinga, but the recovering city may not have enough rental housing left to use it all.

The community is repairing $31 million damage from a May 2 earthquake that leveled much of its downtown and destroyed many of its rentals.

"People are out looking for units," said Robert Wilson, director of the Fresno County Housing Authority. "I had thought they would pack it, but people are hanging tough and want to stay."

The agency has no money to build new rentals, just authorization from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to provide rent subsidies to 150 families.

Mother of 20 to be buried

YORK, Ala. (AP) — Mary Presswood Ray, mother of 20 children, including four sets of twins, will be buried on Wednesday in her hometown of York.

Survivors include 18 children, 189 grandchildren and 98 great-grandchildren, according to Weatherly Funeral Home in Sumter County.

Mrs. Ray was 78 years old when she died at home Wednesday night. In a 1977 newspaper interview, Mrs. Ray said she didn't have too much trouble keeping track of her own children, but the grandchildren and great-grandchildren were a different story.

Reagan attacks bill to make commission arm of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan opened a campaign Friday to stop legislation supported by more than half the Senate that would make the Civil Rights Commission an arm of Congress and strip away the president's power to appoint its members.

Instead, Reagan urged passage of a House-approved plan that would extend the life of the commission for five years as an independent agency under the executive branch. The House bill also contains provisions the administration opposed, such as a ban on firing commissioners except for good reason.

In a letter to Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker, the president said, "I very strongly urge you and your colleages to adopt the House-passed bill..."

He called the House measure "the quickest and least controversial way of ensuring that the commission's life will be extended."

The move was the latest salvo in a months-long battle between Reagan and congressional liberals over the makeup of the six-member panel, which investigates cases of alleged discrimination.

Reagan, who already has installed two of his own candidates on the commission, fired three other commissioners last month who had been critical of his administration. The firings were intended to make room for Reagan's own nominees, who share his opposition to quota systems and mandatory busing as tools to fight discrimination.

In supporting the House bill, Reagan abandoned his own plan for the commission. He had proposed giving its members fixed terms of six years instead of serving indefinitely at the pleasure of the president.

Reagan's proposal also provided a 20-year extension of the life of the commission, which now is scheduled to expire this month after a 60-day winding down period.

Reagan said he still believes in the merits of his original plan, but added, "I believe that we should all come together behind a reauthorization bill that will pass quickly, in the interest of saving the United States Civil Rights Commission from extinction at the end of this month."

Reagan's move came as 54 senators lined up behind a bill to create an eight-member panel appointed by House and Senate leaders rather than the president.

Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., who joined with Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., as chief sponsors of the measure, had suggested it was a tool for moving Reagan toward a compromise.

Senate delays consideration of controversial amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, working fitfully on a $252.5 billion defense spending bill Friday, put off until next week amendments that would cut money for MX missiles and add dollars for numerous other military programs.

In a day of sporadic action on the appropriations measure, senators adopted a handful of non-controversial amendments, two of which would grant new benefits to troops and relatives of those sent to Lebanon and Grenada.

One, adopted 86-0, would direct the secretary of defense to set aside up to $100,000 to reimburse relatives of those who died on duty for the cost of travel to the funeral when they could not otherwise afford the fare.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said he developed the provision after his office learned that the widow of a Marine killed in the Oct. 23 truck-bombing massacre in Lebanon could not afford to travel from Camp Lejeune, N.C., to Cincinnati for his funeral and had been turned down for help.

Metzenbaum said the travel expenses were provided after his office intervened with the Marine Corps.

Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., also won approval of an amendment that would grant free mailing privileges to troops stationed in Lebanon and Grenada, a benefit traditionally given to those serving in a war zone.

Other amendments adopted would add $10 million to employ 400 more contract auditors in the Defense Department

Mother jailed for truancy released

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — A mother was released from jail Friday just hours after she began serving a 300-day sentence imposed when she could not pay a fine for failing to make her son attend school.

Frederick County District Judge Stanley Bennett on Wednesday sentenced Donna Blair of Brunswick to serve the sentence in the Frederick County Jail because she could not pay the $3,000 fine.

Mrs. Blair was released from jail Friday after Bennett signed a stay pending an appeal, according to court papers.

Mrs. Blair's lawyer, William L. Haugh said earlier in the day he did not expect Mrs. Blair to serve the entire sentence. He said Bennett apparently imposed the jail term so that the Department of Social Services could take custody of the 14-year-old youth.

Chrysler, union near settlement

TWINSBURG, Ohio (AP) — A United Auto Workers official said Friday that the union and Chrysler Corp. were drawing closer to an agreement in a local strike that has all but halted the company's auto production.

"We're getting movement that could lead to a settlement late tonight," said Bob Weissman, president of UAW Local 122, whose 3,200 members struck the Twinsburg stamping plant Tuesday in a dispute over forced overtime and working conditions.

But he added, "There's no certainty that it will."

The workers had been forced to work seven days a week to keep up with production as Chrysler surged back to profitability.

Weissman declined to specify which issues remained unresolved, but indicated that they were the more difficult ones. Negotiators were bargaining at a motel near here.

"We have agreed it would be very desirable to drive hard for a settlement today, so as to be able to schedule a ratification meeting for Sunday and resume normal operations," Weissman said. "We want to meet our target of getting back to work on Monday."

Members of the Chrysler bargaining team have declined comment on the status of the negotiations.

Castro greets Cubans home from Grenada

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — President Fidel Castro and applauding spectators greeted 126 Soviet-bloc diplomats, dependents and Cubans Friday as they got off an Aeroflot jetliner after being expelled from Grenada.

U.S. officials in Grenada had said earlier the group included 49 Soviets, 53 Cubans who had taken refuge in the Soviet Embassy, 15 North Koreans, six East Germans and three Bulgarians.

Their departure from Grenada had been delayed for seven hours because of a search by U.S. Army officers of the Soviet luggage. The search revealed 38 automatic rifles, five pistols, ammunition and bayonets.

The arms were confiscated and those expelled were taken on two U.S. Navy DC-9 jets to Merida, Mexico, early Friday. There they transferred to the Soviet Aeroflot plane for the four-hour flight to Havana's Jose Marti airport.

About 1,000 Cubans had gathered at the airport. They cheered as Col. Pedro Comas Tortolo emerged from the jetliner — the first person to leave the plane.

Castro and Comas Tortolo exchanged salutes and the colonel said: "Commander-in-chief, the mission you, the government, the party, and the people of Cuba gave me, has been accomplished."

Comas Tortola had been sent to Grenada two days before the Oct. 25 invasion by U.S. forces to organize resistance by some 600 Cubans helping build a new airport at Point Salines, several miles south of the Grenadian capital of St. George's.

Several women fought back tears as they left the jetliner and one man, weeping openly, blew a kiss to a woman waiting with other spectators behind a barricade.

Castro, wearing a green fatigue uniform and surrounded by high-ranking officials, greeted each returning Cuban with a handshake.

A military band struck up a march and the Cubans passed in front of an honor guard to three buses for the

Evacuation of Cubans from Grenada begins

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — U.S. Army officers seized 38 loaded rifles, five pistols, ammunition and bayonets that Soviet diplomats tried to "smuggle" onto American planes evacuating them from Grenada Friday, a U.S. official said.

The 49 Soviets were among 126 Communist-bloc diplomats, dependents and Cubans evacuated from Grenada.

Late Friday, the evacuation of about 600 Cuban prisoners held in a detention center at Point Salines began. Officials at the joint military information center in Barbados said 60 prisoners were flown aboard a U.S. C-130 transport plane to Barbados' Grantley Adams airport where a Cubana Airlines jet was waiting. Cuba had wanted to send its own planes to Grenada to pick up the prisoners.

The officials said more prisoners would be flown to Barbados during the night and when the Cubana jetliner was filled it would leave for Havana. They said they did not know how many Cubans would be on that plane, when it would leave or when the evacuation of the prisoners would be completed.

Meanwhile, 14 Congressmen flew to Grenada from Washington, via Barbados, for a three-day fact-finding trip. The group is led by Rep. Tom Foley, D-Wash. He told reporters on the flight that Congress "would like to see the United States withdraw all military forces as soon as possible from Grenada," even if the interim government set up by Grenada's governor general, Sir Paul Scoon, asked them to stay.

About 1,800 U.S. soldiers boarded 12 C-141s Friday and flew back to their camp at Ft. Bragg, N.C. That leaves about 4,000.

Envoy claims 'concrete steps'

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — President Reagan's special envoy, Richard Stone, said his talks Friday with Guatemala's chief of state included "concrete steps and procedures to achieve democracy in Central America."

Stone, on his fourth tour of Central America, said he and Gen. Oscar Humberto Mejia Victores discussed peace proposals by Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama — known as the Contadora group.

Stone refused to give details of the talks before leaving for Costa Rica.

"We discussed the peace proposals and the process of democratization" in Guatemala, he said. "I feel very optimistic about the direction in which we are heading, not only in the diplomatic realm but also in the political realm in Central America."

Mejia Victores, who seized power from Gen. Efrain Rios Montt in an Aug. 8 coup, has promised elections for a constituent assembly next July as a first step toward restoring civilian rule in Guatemala.

The country has been ruled for decades by military or military-backed rightist governments, which also have been fighting a prolonged leftist insurrection.

Neighboring El Salvador has been engaged in a similar conflict since October 1979.

Stone called the Contadora effort, which calls for a demilitarization of Central America, "an important step" toward restoring peace in the region.

In Honduras, his first stop on the current trip, Stone talked with President Roberto Suazo Cordova in La Paz, the president's hometown 50 miles northwest of Tegucigalpa, where he is recovering from a heart attack.

Water desalter portable

A portable device that can take the salt out of sea water has been developed by a British Columbia firm. A reverse-osmosis machine, it allows fresh water to cross a semi-permeable membrane when pressure is applied on it. The device uses this principle in a hand-held converter pumped by a 12-volt DC motor.

Archaeologist unearths altar which Joshua may have built

This 30-century stone altar in a town on Israel's Occupied West Bank, may have been built by Joshua. The 29.52-foot by 23-foot stone structure was discovered by Adam Zartal from the Haifa University during digs on Mount Ebal, 1.2 miles north of Nablus.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A stone altar 30 centuries old has been unearthed on a West Bank mountain where the Bible says the prophet Joshua built his altar after leading the children of Israel into the promised land.

Israeli archaeologist Adam Zartal told The Associated Press that sheep bones, ashes and a dark substance that may have been blood from ritual sacrifices were found on the 29-foot by 23-foot stone structure near the peak of the 3,100-foot Mount Ebal, a little more than a mile north of Nablus.

"We have never before found a structure of an altar from the period of the Old Testament," said Zartal, whose discovery was reported in the daily Haaretz newspaper and confirmed by Haifa University.

What excites archaeologists about the find is the possibility that it was constructed by Joshua, who the Bible says blew down the walls of Jericho with a trumpet. Joshua succeeded Moses as leader of the Israelites.

Zartal said the location fit the description of Old Testament reference to an altar Joshua built on Mount Ebal.And in the book of Deuteronomy, God instructs his people to build an altar of stones with chalk markings after the Israelites crossed into the holy land across the Jordan River.

If the altar is proven to be that of Joshua it would lend support to those who argue the literal nature of the Scriptures rather than their allegorical value.

"Mount Ebal is known by all accounts of the settlement of the people of Israel in the ancient land and here we have found archaeological remains that are testimony to the holiness of the site," said Professor Benjamin Mazar, 77, of Hebrew University.

Mazar, who helped Zartal in research on the project financed by the government and Haifa University, is one of Israel's most respected archaeologists.

He said further research was needed to establish the link with Joshua.

"There is no doubt that this is a very significant holy site but it still needs further archaeological and biblical research, Mazar told the AP in a telephone interview.

Both archaeologists said the site dated from the 12th century B.C., based on ceramic pottery found at the scene and subjected to a carbon dating test.

Zartal said the stone structure and two adjacent open courtyards could give insights into the rituals and religious practices of the ancient Israelites. Excavations have been under way for a year on the three-quarter acre site near the mountain peak. It is a restricted area controlled by the Israeli army.

Zartal, a resident of Kibbutz Ein Shemer south of the port city of Haifa, is a doctoral student who has specialized in the wanderings of the Menashe Tribe of Israel.

The tribe is said by the scriptures to have settled in what is now the West Bank, which Israel captured from Jordan in 1967. Three years ago, Zartal uncovered the site of an ancient city named Narbata that dated back 3,000 years to the period of King Solomon.

Soccer teams have tough time of it

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — It turned out to be tough finding a winner in the Under Eight division of the Council Bluffs Youth Soccer Association.

Everything kept coming up in a tie between the Nixon Body Shop Eagles and a team sponsored by C.B.& O. Equipment.

When the regular season ended, the teams were tied for third in the division.

A mini-game, two 15-minute halves, was arranged to separate them.

When that ended in a 1-1 tie, officials went to penalty kicks, the next step in the tie-breaking procedure.

In a penalty kick, one player tries to score on the opposing team's goalkeeper from 12 feet in front of the goal. All 11 members of both teams were unsuccessful in scoring on their penalty kicks.

A new ball was put into play on the 23rd round of kicks after the first ball got too muddy, but both teams promptly scored.

Neither team was able to score again despite 44 rounds of penalty kicks, and the coaches agreed to a coin flip to decide.

As the referee did the flipping, an Eagles player called "tails," and the coin landed in the soft ground — on its edge.

C.B.& O. won on the second coin toss.

The referee commented: "God meant for those two teams to be tied."

Turtle interrupts Monopoly

BOSTON (AP) — Playing Monopoly is fun, but challenging — especially if a 450-pound turtle is sitting on Park Place.

That's only one of the problems a group of scuba divers ran into over last weekend while playing the board game under water in a 23-foot-deep tank at the New England Aquarium in Boston amid 300 sea creatures.

Myrtle, the turtle, felt hungry, explained diver Paul Barrington. He said turtles "associate divers with food."

Nearly 70 Massachusetts divers took turns in groups of four playing to raise money for the American Heart Association.

Special equipment was needed. Avenues on the board were metal, the pieces magnetic and the money laminated.

Midland Lee fullback Isaac Garnett leaps for a big gain against Midland High Friday in a 35-0 playoff producing victory for the Rebels. Garnett rushed for 133 yards, giving him 1,397 for the year and making him Lee's all-time leading rusher. MHS' Ronnie Hernandez (21) makes the stop here as Jimmy Essman (45) and Brad Edgar (68) come to help.

Rebels end suspense with win over Dogs

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

The 1983 season came to a crashing halt for Midland High when the bi-district bound Midland Lee Rebels pounded out a 35-0 District 4-5A victory over the Bulldogs Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

Lee, 8-2 overall and 5-2 in 4-5A play, will meet Amarillo High Friday night in the bi-districts. "I'm just tickled to death with this victory," said Lee head coach Spike Dykes. "It was just a big win for us. I thought our kids played well and I was real pleased for them (about clinching the playoffs)."

The loss ended Midland High's season at 4-6 and 2-5.

The Rebels got off to a quick start, doing the same thing they've done all year: bust Isaac Garnett loose and let him take care of the rest. The rest in this case was a 59-yard run off right tackle that gave Lee a 6-0 lead with 2:53 remaining in the first quarter. Craig Kamradt followed with the first of his five extra points on the night.

Overall, Garnett rushed for 133 yards on 16 carries and the lone score. "He's a great back, a hard runner," said Midland High coach Pat Culpepper. "He broke some tackles and went all the way on one. He just broke off tackle and hit the seam."

THE REBEL coaches must have seen something in the Midland High defensive scheme they liked because the next two scores were firsts for Lee: touchdowns through the air.

Early in the second quarter Lee quarterback Jeff Motley, on a third and six situation, hit wide receiver Curtis Alexander for a 29-yard touchdown pass. It was also Alexander's first reception of the year. There was 10:05 remaining.

Following a Michael Wallace interception of a James Welborn pass deep in Rebel territory, the Rebels started going outside to speedsters Walter Jones and Tyrone Thurman. The two backs picked up 18 quick yards on three carries and, on second and one from the 40, Motley hit tight end Kevin Marburger for a 60-yard score and a 21-0 lead thaT held to the end of the first half.

IN THE third quarter, Lee made it a 28-0 ball game when Jones broke free on a 37-yard touchdown run. The Rebels came up with their final score in the fourth quarter when Billy Gibbs scored from 32 yards out.

"We tried to make a game of it but couldn't do it," said Culpepper. "We tried to jam them up but didn't get the job done. We did all we could do. We tried to spread out their defense but they did an excellent job on coverage."

And, an "excellent job," it was. Though they gave up 208 passing yards, the Rebel defense refused to allow a touchdown. Three times in the first half when MHS was threatening, Lee picked off passes to stop the drive, one by Wallace and two by Andre Mayfield. Wallace came up with a second interception in the second half and Billy Cornelius added the game's fifth.

"I thought our secondary played extremely well," said Dykes. "It was a super ball game for us. We have a lot of respect for James Welborn. He's a gutsy player."

It wasn't just the secondary that played well for Lee, the front line was also getting the job done, limiting the Bulldog running backs to a mere 52 yards on 19 carries.

"We did a good job on the defensive line and did a good job controling the line of scrimmage," said Dykes. "Our linebackers played the run real well and dropped back to help on pass coverage."

"We couldn't run the football against them," said Culpepper and added, "I hope Lee goes all the way. They did a great job and have a very fine team. They are a well coached, tough football team."

GARNETT, WITH his 133 yards led all rushers in the game while Jones, Thurman, Motley and Gibbs added 59, 40, 48 and 44 yards respectively.

For Midland High, Randall Collins could manage only 23 yards on eight carries while Willie Swindell picked up only 16.

Wide Receiver Todd Shiplett had a good night for the Bulldogs, catching five Welborn passes for 75 yards while Darren Thorpe added two for 64.

TERRY WILLIAMSON

At last, it's time to talk playoffs

As late as Wednesday, Midland Lee head football coach Spike Dykes was asked, "Coach, do you have any plans made to meet with the District 3-5A people Saturday if you defeat Midland High?"

It was a question that shouldn't have been asked. "I don't want to talk about any playoffs," was the response and the first time I nearly got kicked out of the Lee Fieldhouse.

IT SEEMS this business with Midland High was of the utmost importance to the Lee coaches this week. The word "playoff" was never mentioned.

Rebel business ended in a 35-0 win over the cross-town rival Bulldogs Friday. That win not only returned the city championship to Lee, but vaulted the Rebs into the playoffs for the first time since 1976.

Lee will face 3-5A winner Amarillo High, a 41-0 winner over Lubbock High Friday, next weekend in the bi-district round of the state's run for football gold.

Lee enters the playoffs as District 4-5A's No. 2 team since Odessa Permian defeated Odessa High Friday by a 15-10 count to win the district title for the fourth year in a row.

Dykes and Gil Bartosh, Midland athletic director, will meet with Amarillo High officials at 10 a.m. today in Lubbock to decide when and where that bi-district game will take place. Dykes is even going to let this poor soul ride with him.

BUT TAKING care of MHS was the order this week and the Rebels did just that. As fair as one would like to be for both teams in a city championship effort, this night simply belonged to Lee.

This game produced the highly hearlded return of MHS quarterback James Welborn. He missed two weeks due to a knee injury, and his return Friday produced no MHS points. As awesome as the Lee offense looked against the Bulldogs, it is the Lee secondary which must take a bow in this one.

Andre Mayfield intercepted Welborn twice. Michael Wallace added two more and linebacker Billy Cornelius got the fifth. Welborn did throw for 208 yards, but errant missles were stolen at gunpoint when it counted.

"We've been working hard all week for this one," said safety Mayfield. "Welborn got some yards, but they don't have any points on the boards."

WALLACE NOTED, "This one meant the playoffs and I think we did a good job. How many passes did Welborn complete against us? I know he hit a lot, but they don't have any points to show for it."

And if there was a surprise in this one, it was two passes by Lee quarterback Jeff Motley that burned MHS. He tossed TD bombs of 29 yards to Curtis Alexander and 60 yards to Kevin Marburger. Lee had not thrown for a TD pass all year until Friday.

The Bulldogs really don't have to hang their head after this one, despite the score. They pulled out the kitchen sink and tossed it on the field. MHS coach Pat Culpepper did everything in the world to strike at Lee. He ran twin sets with shifting formations. He had Welborn throwing out of the shotgun. He used the I-formation. On paper, it looks like murder. But to Lee's cat-quick defensive unit, it was another day's work.

And here was supposed to be Lee's Achilles heel. This was where Lee was the most inexperienced heading into the season. The Lee secondary can now be listed as veterans.

"I'm sorry we couldn't do more, but we gave it everything we had," said Culpepper. And with that the 1983 football season ended for MHS, a team that finished with a 4-6 record but also a team that gave us so many passing thrills through the season. MHS was a fun team to watch.

But no matter how you look at it, this was Lee's night. And this night made it possible for another night.

Lee defensive end Nicky Tomlin said, "We have practice Monday. A lot of teams can't say that. It's playoff time."

Permian rally nips stubborn Bronchos

ODESSA — Odessa Permian picked up a safety in the fourth quarter and added a one-yard touchdown by fullback Brit Hager to lift the Panthers to a 15-10 victory over Odessa High and the District 4-5A championship Friday night at Ratliff Stadium.

Odessa High opened the scoring in the second quarter when Charles Hunter broke free on a 70-yard run. Freddy Alvarado made it 7-0 with his extra point kick.

Hager followed with the first of his two touchdowns, a 25-yard run, and Kirk Strahan tied the game at seven with the conversion.

Before the half, Alvarado connected on a 34-yard field goal for a 10-7 scre which held until Permian came up with the safety and touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The Panthers dominated the rushing game with 296 yards while the Bronchos picked up 168. Permian also led the passing category, 64-30 as they picked up 23 first downs to Odessa's seven.

Crane bags CC Wolves

By BRUCE CASTLEBERRY
Sports Writer

CRANE— When push came to shove Friday night in a tense struggle for a playoff position, Crane coach Rickey White knew exactly what to do.

White continued to get the ball into the hands of Jim and Joe Vasquez, two speedy twins that had gotten Crane into the playoff picture. The boys responded with 287 yards combined rushing, with 213 coming in the second half. Ultimately, Crane won the do-or-die game 21-14 against Colorado City's Wolves.

It was a classic battle. Going into the game, the stakes were obvious. A win meant the playoffs. A loss spelled the end of the season.

Entering the final quarter, Crane held only a slim 7-6 margin. The game swung, however, on the Cranes' two possessions in the final frame. Crane scored touchdowns on both, with the conviction of men at work.

Jim Vasquez, who had 218 yards rushing on 31 carries, was the hero again. With 37 seconds left in the third quarter, the Cranes had gained control of the ball on their 15 after a punt. Vasquez got the drive started with a 17-yard scamper around end. After taking a late hit two plays later, Vasquez retaliated, and swept right end for a 51-yard, tackle breaking score.

Crane got the ball again barely one minute and a half later, and the Cranes impressively closed out their 9-0-1 season. Starting at their 25, Crane went the distance, taking 15 snaps and consuming 7:57 off the clock. Jim Vasquez got the TD from four yards out, and the Cranes clinched a playoff berth.

The Wolves faced a 14-point deficit with only 1:12 to go, but gave a heroic effort to try to salvage the game.

Starting at the C-City 39, quarterback Doug Chitsey hit two quick strikes to receiver Dennis Rivera, a 19-yarder and a 40-yard beauty that went to the Crane two. Two plays later, Sammy Rivera scored and added a two-point conversion to cut it to 21-14. The drive took only 39 seconds.

McCamey gains playoffs

STANTON—McCamey's Badgers rode the all-around brilliance of quarterback Ray Zarate to a 31-6 over Stanton and a place in the state Class 2A football playoffs.

Zarate threw two touchdown passes, kicked a 25-yard field goal and four extra points as the Badgers nailed down second place in District 8-2A and the playoff spot. The win gives McCamey a 7-3 record for the season while Stanton finishes 4-6.

The Badgers took charge from the outset, driving 65 yards with the opening kickoff to send Robert Day, a 198-pound fullback, in from the one.

Moments later defensive tackle James Kennedy, a 233-pound junior, pounced on a Stanton fumble at the Buffalo 31. On second down, Zarate lofted a pass over the middle to his big tight end David Stephens for a a 30-yard touchdown.

Early in the second period, linebacker Eddie Thomas picked off a deflected Zarate pass at the McCamey 25 and returned it to the nine to set up Stanton's lone touchdown, a one-yard sneak by quarterback Darren Sorley. That made it 14-6 with 10:18 left in the half.

However, Zarate, who completed seven of his first eight passes for 128 yards, had McCamey back on the scoreboard less than two minutes later, hitting Stephens again on a 15-yard scoring pass to wrap up a four-play 52 yard drive. That made it 21-6 at half.

The second half settled into a defensive tug-o-war and it wasn't until Heath Stephens intercepted Sorley late in the fourth period and Zarate kicked his 25-yard field goal with 4:32 in the game that either team scored.

Zarate then intercepted Sorley on the first play after the kickoff and returned 30 yards to the eight. Day took it in from the five with 3:06 left.

After building up a 21-6 halftime lead, the Badgers went conservative in the third period and concentrated on defense. Stanton didn't cross midfield in the final half until Sorley and Darren Hagan hooked up on a 44-yard pass to the Badger 28, but Liones Baica gave McCamey its fourth interception of the game to blunt the drive.

Greenwood faces Klondike next

GARDEN CITY — The Greenwood Rangers put the finishing touches on its first football playoff trip in history here Friday night by defeating Garden City by a 35-15 count, sewing up the District 7-A title in unbeaten fashion.

The Rangers end regular season play with an 8-2 record and are 7-0 in district play. Greenwood will meet Klondike next week in the bi-district playoffs, but school officials were to meet today to decide on the date and site of that contest.

Greenwood broke open a tight 7-3 game in the second period when Chad Longley ran for a one-yard TD and passed five yards to Keith Dove for a 21-3 halftime margin. Greenwood had 374 yards total yards in the game.

Garden City, trailing 35-3, got a fine 57-yard TD run from Abelarado Madrid. Roger Smith scored two TDs for Greenwood on a pair of five-yard runs and John Ellis caught a 14-yard pass from Longley for the other score.

Garden City finishes 4-5 on the year and 2-5 in loop play.

Crane reaches 3A playoffs

Naturally, Colorado City tried the onsides kick, but it went straight to Crane's Bobby Ryan.

"I feel good," an exultant coach Rickey White said. "Our kids played as hard as they could. We knew C-City had a good football team."

White has reason to be proud. His first Crane team two years ago was 0-10. Last year, the Cranes began 7-0 but folded to finish 7-3. This time, the Cranes went unbeaten.

"People don't know the price these kids have paid," said White. "Tonight, five kids started that were on that team that went 0-10."

For now, though, the Cranes' memories are all pleasant ones.

Crane got on the board first in the game, but were dominated statistically in the first half.

On Colorado City's initial drive, tackle Don "June Bug" Bishop, a 260-pound kicker and All-District 6-AAA performer, made his first ever interception of a Chitsey screen pass. Bishop showed some moves, and trucked 21 yards to the Wolves' 24.

Todd Rodgers, a surprise starter at quarterback for Crane, threw to Joe Vasquez for the score. Vasquez outraced the defender on a left-to-right crossing pattern for the 13-yard TD pass.

Colorado City struck from above in the second quarter for their first TD. On first down at midfield, Chitsey hit streaking receiver Don Randle at the 20, and Randle took it in. Colorado City coach Tom Ramsey, who needed a win only, went for two, but Chitsey's pass was caught out of bounds.

The Wolves had outgained Crane 13-4 in first downs and 213-87 in yardage at the half. But Cranes' duo of Vasquez and Vasquez had only begun to do damage.

In the second half, C-City managed only two first downs and 105 yards of offense. 59 of those yards came on the two big passes.

Polls really important now

Although it's nice to finish No. 1, the final poll is no more important to many teams than it is right now, especially if your conference doesn't have a tieup with one of the major bowls.

It's this time of year when the jockeying for ratings is converted into cash by the post-season extravaganzas, helped no little by the TV loot, and games become more critical and maybe a little tougher to predict.

The higher the ranking, the better the bowl possibilities.

The SWC...

TCU plus 8 over Texas Tech—With Tech coming off the all-out effort against Texas last week, TCU and points looks good in what should be a dandy game.

Houston plus 19 over Texas—Cougars have a new quarterback and are have added incentive of last year's 50-0 defeat. UH should keep it closer than 19.

SMU over Rice (no line)—Mustangs can name margin, perhaps.

Baylor plus 8 over Arkansas—If Bears play up to capabilities, this one should be close.

The others...

Alabama minus 8 over LSU—Things aren't going well for the Tigers.

Auburn minus 7½ over Maryland—Plainsmen, Poly, Tigers, whatever, convinced us last week against Florida.

Florida plus 1 over Georgia—Cocktails for everyone.

Iowa minus 6 over Wisconsin—Hawkeyes take aim at bowl and can't afford another misstep if they are to remain attractive to one of the big ones.

Illinois minus 25 over Minnesota—That's a lot of points, especially with the Illini coming off win over Michigan and in danger of a letdown, but Gophers can do it.

Clemson plus 7 over North Carolina—Tigers play Tar Heels close, sometimes even better than close.

Pitt plus 7 over Notre Dame—Irish are streaking, but this is the toughest test since Miami. Get those green jersies out.

Oklahoma minus 3 over Missouri—With no distractions to worry about, Sooners are on a roll.

Oregon plus 11½ over UCLA—But don't bet on it.

Arizona plus 1 over Washington—Wildcats haven't lived up to preseason billing. Maybe they can salvage some pride from this one. The Huskies are an inviting target.

Michigan minus 16 over Purdue—Boilermakers almost as capable as Minnesota.

Penn State over Brown (no line)— Joe Paterno must have a grudge against his alma mater to even schedule this game.

Stanford plus 12 over USC—Deserves consideration for "rotten" game of the week from the guy that rates the Bottom 10.

The pros...

Dallas plus 6½ over Eagles—Cowboys played best game against Philadelphia a few weeks back, but this one should be closer...but not that close.

Steelers minus 4½ over Chargers—Pittsburgh doing quite well without Terry Bradshaw, thank you. The same can't be said for Chargers without Fouts.

Tampa Bay plus 7 over Minnesota—Bucs are 0-9, but eight of losses have been by seven or less.

Seattle minus 3 over Denver—Both teams are hot. Seattle has beaten Raiders-Steelers-Raiders the last three weeks and Broncos have won four in a row. It's at Seattle, so...

Rams minus 7 over Bears—Mike Ditka gets another opportunity to throttle his temper.

Miami plus 2 over 49ers—Can the kid beat the master? With Marino and Montana pulling the triggers, it should be a wild scoring game.

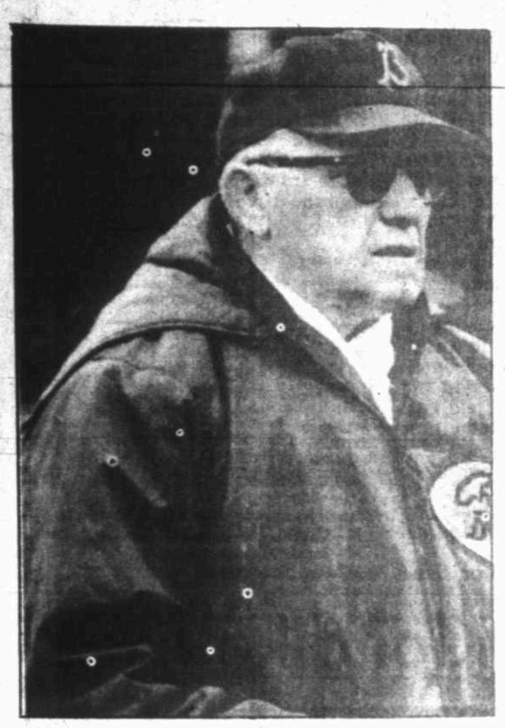

Cincinnati minus 4 over Houston—This may be the Oilers' week, still...

If you got rich off our picks two weeks ago, you went broke last week: Won 5, Lost 7. We did go 3-1 in the SWC, however.

None has rivaled Halas' impact on NFL football

George Halas
...Monsters of the Midway

By SHIRLEY POVICH
Los Angeles Times-
Washington Post News Service

WASHINGTON — It was a common sight for most of 63 years on National Football League battlegrounds — Papa Bear prowling the sidelines, probing the action, searching for an advantage for his beloved Chicago Bears.

George Halas was owner-coach and former player, taskmaster, softie, frugal, generous and determined that the Bears should win every one of their games. He was also the National Football League's founder, rules maker, innovator and legend. None rivaled his impact on the game. Death came to him this week at 88.

Halas didn't invent the T-formation, but he brought it back to life long after all other coaches had discarded it for the Pop Warner single and double wing, or Knute Rockne's box formation at Notre Dame. In 1940, when Halas' Bears, in a cold-blooded, premeditated massacre, wiped out the Redskins, 73-0, in a title game, his T-formation made them both famous.

"They said we were the perfect team that day," Halas said later, "but I can't quite agree. I can see where we should have scored another touchdown." He could also be droll, this Halas, the driven man.

THE NFL, AS such, didn't exist until 1922 when Halas decided there should be one. As the chief mover of a loosely knit group called the American Professional Football Association, Halas voted for a name change. Hence, the National Football League.

The Bears were always the best-drilled team in the league, with Halas the first coach to order two-a-day workouts. His passion for basic, head-knocking football was signified by a succession of games against the late Curly Lambeau's Green Bay Packers in which the scores were 3-0, 3-0, 3-3, 6-6 and 3-3, from 1923 to 1927.

"Finally," Lambeau later related, "Joe Carr, the league commissioner, got Halas and I together and said that all those low scoring games were becoming boring to the fans. He asked Halas and me to open it more, do some more scoring so there would be more excitement for the fans."

So, the next time they met, Halas' Bears scored on a long pass on the play following the kickoff for a 7-0 lead. [illegible] the Packers came right back with two long passes to tie it at 7 in the first two minutes of play. "This was too much for George and me," Lambeau said, "and we [illegible] quit quibbling all that nonsense. [illegible]"

[illegible] Monsters of the Midway [illegible] of his seven NFL titles. Bronko Nagurski exemplified their bulk and ferocity. And the Bears' front line in the 1930s (they played bothways then) were Danny Fortmann, George Musso, Aldo Forte, Joe Stydahar, Bill Hewitt and Dick Plasman, as fearsome a crew as was ever assembled.

When fullback Nagurski lost a step or so, Halas found a spot for him at tackle, where he was also an all-pro presence. Big Joe Maniaci took his place at fullback, Sid Luckman came along in 1939 to quarterback the team and Bill Osmanski and Ray Nolting were also in the backfield. In 1934, they had a 13-0 season.

In the Bears' later, non-winning years, Chicago fans called Halas a skinflint owner, paying only meager salaries. The Bears' pay standards probably reflected Halas' own hard-grubbing beginning as a graduate of a Chicago tenement district, but many a Bear has called him a good friend.

Halas was not only a devotee of the work ethic but a stickler for principle. When George Allen breached a contract with him, quitting as assistant coach to take over the No. 1 job at Los Angeles in 1966, Halas sued him. After Halas established his rights and won the case, he told the court Allen could go his own way. He wouldn't hold him.

Eagles to put heat on White

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Eagles coach Marion Campbell says the Eagles have to pressure quarterback Danny White if they hope to beat the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in a National Football League game.

"One thing about White," said Campbell, "in the last three games he's hardly been touched. People are just not getting to him. Either you have to go for the rush or try to defend. We'll start out normal (rush) and go from there."

White has been having a good season despite 15 interceptions. He's the key to the Cowboys ranking as the second-highest scoring team in the NFL with 291 points.

He has thrown for 19 touchdowns, including a club record-tying five last week against the New York Giants. White has completed 176 of 301 for 2,231 yards and a 56.8 percentage.

Campbell ticked off the names of Cowboys' receivers the Eagles have to defend against — Drew Pearson, Butch Johnson, Ron Springs, Tony Dorsett, Tony Hill and Doug Cosbie.

"They've got all those guns to go to," said the coach. "White will throw right at you and there is nothing you can do about it. He does not let interceptions affect him. He's got the confidence to go for it and throws into coverage. You can be aggressive when you've got receivers like that."

Campbell also is concerned with Dorsett's running and his ability to cut back for substantial gains. Dorsett, the ninth leading rusher in NFL history with 7,434 yards, has gained 819 yards, third in the National Conference this season.

Despite an 8-1 record, Dallas coach Tom Landry says the big play has hurt his team a lot. He concedes that Dallas has made a lot of its own big plays, but also has made [illegible] errors.

"I've got to feel if you're going to go to the playoff and the Super Bowl, you're going to have to keep playing good defense and have a good kicking game and keep your errors down to a minimum," Landry said.

"I was solicited on the street," he said. "And they stole some things from me. I retained those things."

He said the girls took $100, but "I got my money back."

SWC works on its bowling games

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference works on its bowling game Saturday as the football season enters its final month.

Four members of the SWC are strong bowl candidates and all four are in action this weekend. Texas, SMU, Arkansas and Baylor are among the prime names for post-season bids, depending on the outcome of the race to the Cotton Bowl.

In the latter, Texas, Texas Tech, SMU and Arkansas are still squabbling over the host's role. Texas retained its conference lead last weekend, pushing its record to 4-0 in conference play, while Tech, SMU and Arkansas are tied for second with 3-1 marks.

And by the fortune of the round-robin schedule, all four leaders are in conference action Saturday against teams in the bottom half of the conference standings.

Arkansas hosts Baylor at 1 p.m. in a contest that could go far in determining both teams' post-season fate. The three 2 p.m. kickoffs all include contenders — Texas at Houston, Texas Tech hosting TCU and SMU hosting Rice.

Although the Bears appear to be out of the race for the conference title with two losses and a tie, they are being watched by several bowls on the strength of their 5-2-1 record. Both Baylor and Arkansas have already won five games and each has lost only two.

And both have considerable recent bowl experience–Arkansas has gone bowling for the last six straight years, a school record for consecutive post-season invitations, and Baylor has been in two bowl games in the last four seasons.

Saturday's schedule in order of Central starting times, with full-season and Southwest Conference won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

BAYLOR (5-2-1, 2-2-1 in SWC) at ARKANSAS (5-2, 3-1 in SWC), 1 p.m. — Both teams have two-game winning streaks going and Arkansas has lost only one of last 12 at Fayetteville. Baylor is top SWC passing team (202.6 yards per game) but last against the pass (214.7)...Hogs well balanced with 163.1 per game rushing and 179.9 passing...Bear's Alfred Anderson returned from injury and ranks second among SWC rushers (98.1 yards per game) and first in tandem (yards gained rushing and receiving) with 107.7 yards per game...Bears' Gerald McNeil leads SWC receivers with 5.4 per game and is fourth in all-time SWC receptions with 142...Arkansas QB Brad Taylor is SWC total offense leader (182 yards per game) after he threw four touchdown passes against Rice Saturday...Razorbacks third in SWC pass defense (143.9) giving up only two TD passes this year.

TEXAS (7-0, 4-0 in SWC) at HOUSTON (3-5, 2-3 in SWC), 2 p.m. — Top SWC offense Houston (410 yards per game) hosts national defensive leader Texas (193.3 yards per game)...Houston lost four straight before getting 28-21 road win over TCU Saturday...after losing 25 fumbles in seven previous game, Coogs just lost two to Frogs ...No. 2 ranked Texas had problems with Texas Tech, trailing 3-0 before second-half effort netted 20-3 win and lead for SWC crown as one of two undefeated-untied teams in Division 1A ...Houston boasts top SWC rusher Donald Jordan (103.5 yards per game)...Tech's Robert Lewis was first SWC runner to gain more than 100 yards on Texas this year...Longhorns' John Teltschik still leads SWC punters (45.8 yards per kick) and Jitter Fields took over punt-return lead (11.3 yards per return)...Cougars third against the rush in SWC (145.9), but eighth against the pass (212.4)...Texas leads nation by allowing 95.6 yards passing per game and 7.6 points per game.

TCU (1-6-1, 1-4 in SWC) at TEXAS TECH (3-4, 3-1 in SWC), 2 p.m. — Both teams try to rebound from losses last week, Tech raising eyebrows in Austin after taking 3-0 halftime lead before losing 20-3 and TCU coming back to tie Houston before Cougars scored late 28-21 win...Tech in three-way tie for second in SWC but still has the teams it's tied with (SMU and Arkansas) left to play...Frogs have big passing lead (190.6 yards per game to 99.7) but Tech has rushing edge (173.4 to 154)...TCU QB Anthony Gulley regained starting job vs. Houston but Anthony Sciaraffa relieved and led Frogs to two late TDs...Gulley and Sciaraffa make Frogs second-most -accurate passing team (100 of 187 for 53.5 per cent)...Tech tailback Robert Lewis would rank second in SWC rushing (102.2 yards per game) but four games played isn't enough to qualify.

RICE (1-8, 0-6 in SWC) at SMU (6-1, 3-1 in SWC), 2 p.m. — Mustangs hope they have started a new winning streak with win over A&M Saturday after Texas ended SMU's 22-game string two weeks ago...upset could salvage losing season for departing Rice coach Ray Alborn, but statistics don't support it as Owls standing ninth in offense (217.6) and defense (403.9) while SMU third in rushing (362.7) and second in defense (261.9) ...

NBA ref dispute still going

NEW YORK (AP) — Another round of negotiations was scheduled for Monday in the labor dispute between the National Basketball Association and its officials that has left substitutes working NBA games in place of locked-out referees for the first week of the regular season.

The NBA, which announced the re-opening of talks Friday, said the negotiations would be held in Philadelphia at a site to be determined. The league said the talks were requested by Richie Phillips, general counsel for the referees' union, whose offices are in Philadelphia.

The officials' contract with the league expired Sept. 1. Substitute refs have worked the exhibition season and the regular season, which began Oct. 28.

Impact of Halas unparalleled

Halas knew when the era of the forward pass had arrived. In 1931, the NFL slimmed the football one-quarter inch and some years later narrowed it by an additional full inch, favoring passers. Halas knew the quarterback he wanted: Luckman, out of Columbia.

IN 1937, Halas called in Clark Shaughnessy, then the University of Chicago coach, to help open up the Bears' T. Shaughnessy put in the man-in-motion maneuver, split one or both ends wide and began to ready the Bears for their big, ultimate day against the Redskins.

So intricate was the Bears' T, that Halas had Luckman play halfback for most of one season, the better to understand the formations before moving in at quarterback.

For the Bears, a terrible thing happened in Washington three weeks before the memorable 73-0 affair. They were beaten by the Redskins, 7-3, when a last-minute, 49-yard pass to George McAfee fell a yard short of the winning touchdown.

Two final passes failed to get the Bears a score, and they complained there should have been a holding call against the Redskins.

Redskins owner Marshall quickly labeled the Bears "front-runners and crybabies. They aren't a second-half team."

DURING THE WEEK of their final practice for the return game in Washington, Halas plastered the clubhouse walls with clippings of Marshall's insults. The Bears were a grim gang on the train to Washington.

From the opening whistle, the Bears poured it on. On the second play from scrimmage, Osmanski scored on a 68-yard run. By the half, it was 28-0. Eleven touchdowns would be scored by 10 different Bears.

The team that Marshall called "not a second-half team," scored 45 points in the second half. Near the end, the referee requested the Bears try for their extra points by pass or run. They were running out of footballs.

Memorable was the public address announcement by the Redskins' front office at the 54-0 point of the debacle: "Redskins season tickets are now on sale for next year."

Halas, who had whipped his team to highest fury before the game, did not gloat during the postgame interviews. "I thought," he said, "the better team won." He would take all his satisfactions secretly.

Bruins lose goalie for at least a week

BOSTON (AP) — Goalie Pete Peeters will be lost to the Boston Bruins at least a week and possibly longer because of a concussion he suffered in Thursday night's game with the St. Louis Blues, the Bruins said Friday.

Peeters, who was injured when he struck his head against the goal crossbar, was in good condition at Massachusetts General Hospital and was expected to be released later Friday or on Saturday.

"The doctor says he can be back in uniform in seven to 10 days," said Nate Greenberg, a team spokesman. "But it's hard to say when he will get back in a game. I would say it was a question of getting his legs in shape and getting ready to come back."

Greenberg said no one on the team had been allowed to see Peeters on Friday, but his doctor, Earl Wilkins, said tests showed no injury beyond the concussion.

The Bruins turned to backup goalie Doug Keans after Peeters was hurt at 8:27 of the third period of the game, won by Boston, 9-5.

Peeters, 26, Vezina Trophy winner as the National Hockey League's best goaltender last season, was in the midst of his 200th career NHL game when a St. Louis defenseman caromed into him after being pushed by Bruins rookie Nevin Markwart.

Bruins trainer Jim Kausek and two team doctors — Wilkins and Bert Zarens — examined Peeters for several minutes, then had him taken off on a stretcher to the dressing room.

"He was conscious in the dressing room, but not totally coherent," said Kausek.

Boston Coach Gerry Cheevers, a former goalie, said, "I'm sure the Peeters injury was unintentional."

The Bruins will call up goalie Mike Moffat from the team's Hershey Bears farm team of the American Hockey League, as second to Keans.

The victory Thursday put Boston in a tie with Quebec for first place in the NHL's Adams Division.

Portales beats Goddard

ROSWELL (AP) — Ed Loehr and Tony Pena of Portales teamed up for a 52-yard touchdown pass play late in the fourth quarter to give the Rams a 14-6 win over Goddard and the District 4AAA title.

Goddard got the first touchdown of the game on a 23-yard run by Todd Andes.

But Portales came back in the second quarter when Mark Poyner scored on a 4-yard run. The Loehr to Pena connection broke the 6-6 deadlock and Paul Pacheco added a 2-point conversion run.

The win gave Portales a 6-3 season record and their fifth straight win. They ended district play with a 4-0

CRAYON CATHEDRAL

This is just one of the masterpieces completed during "project time" in Mrs. Emrich's class last Sunday. On the back was the artist's own signature: "Glenn J."

You may never again see a work of art by Glenn. But you know something about this young artist that is tremendously important.

He isn't sent to Sunday School, or dropped off at the church with his sister. Glenn is one of those fortunate youngsters who belongs to a church-going family.

It shows now in crayon.

It should be increasingly evident in life.

The gospel-singing WesternAires will perform at the First Church of the Nazarene, 1208 W. Wall St., Sunday at 10:45 a.m.

In addition, the film, "The Sun Never Sets in the Morning," will be shown Sunday at 6 p.m. This film focuses on the life and ministry of the Rev. Phineas F. Bresee, founder of the church. It was made as part of the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the church.

The WesternAires is composed of members of the Central Church of the Nazarene, Dallas. They are Dan and Georgia Flynn, Shelly Herd, David Leverett, Ron Ebby, Robby Bell, Lyle Duyck, Bruce Phillips and Stan Bennett Sr.

This group has presented gospel concerts and taken part in camp meetings and revival services throughout the continental United States, Panama and Hawaii.

The church's minister, the Rev. Harold L. Quarles, invites the public to attend the concert and the showing of the film.

Chaplains do more than say invocation

By The Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service

Rev. James Ford

Rev. R. Halverson

WASHINGTON — Senate Chaplain Richard C. Halverson frets about partisan strife on Capitol Hill — so much so that during the 1982 lame duck session he took his concern to the Senate floor.

"Humpty Dumpty sat on the wall," the Rev. Halverson reminded some of the nation's most powerful men and women in his invocation one morning. "Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again. Dear God, don't let the Senate come apart..."

A vaudeville performer before he entered the Presbyterian church, Halverson, 67, relishes the opportunity to zing his political parishioners with "relevant prayers." But he gets serious very quickly when asked what the $57,494-a-year Senate chaplain does in addition to giving his daily one-minute invocation.

"That's the only official required duty," he concedes, "but there's much more to the job of watching over this group."

CONGRESS HAS hired preachers since its inception, but only in recent years have the two houses retained full-time chaplains. In July, ruling on a Nebraska suit, the Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of legislatures hiring chaplains. The decision focused attention on Halverson and his $67,200-a-year House counterpart, the Rev. James Ford, though neither man will comment directly on the case.

"I do my work best by not being a defendant," says Ford, 52, a five-year veteran of Capitol Hill.

Says Halverson, who arrived in 1981: "We're needed here."

The chaplains explain that their days are filled with building dedications and congressional prayer breakfasts, meetings with visiting foreign delegations and an occasional wedding or funeral.

Ford, who unlike Halverson wears a clerical collar, emphasizes that "a chaplain is on call at all times" — and for all sorts of crises.

For example, says Ford, when House Majority Leader Jim Wright recently had some friends up from Texas, they found themselves short on entertainment.

"THEY NEEDED an extra harmonica player for a duet (with Wright) to play 'The Saints Go Marching In.' Well, I happen to play harmonica, and I was happy to join."

Most important of all, the chaplains agree, is their responsibility to minister to the steady stream of troubled souls who seek their advice on personal and political matters.

"I could write the most interesting book that will never be written," says Ford, 52, smiling. He says he has counseled representatives considering a run at the Senate.

His congregants' insecurities and improprieties, will, however, remain confidential.

Journalists "ask about specifics, Abscam and so on — what I said to people then," says Ford. "Those things are sacred, a trust. They can't be told by me or by any minister."

Halverson is equally tight-lipped about naming those who visit his cramped office in the Hart Senate Office Building, saying only that his parishioners fear terribly for their privacy.

"YOU REMEMBER what happened to Sen. (Thomas) Eagleton, D-Mo., when he was running for vice president and word got out that he had had therapy," Halverson says. "I don't know that opponents would take advantage of it, but they're all sensitive to that type of thing."

RELIGION

In the 1950s, Halverson had a church in Hollywood that many movie stars attended, so he is especially sensitive to the pressures on "all people who live their lives in glass houses...They have a tendency to believe their own publicity — senators just like actors."

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., often consults with Halverson when they attend the weekly Senate prayer breakfast. "There are many times when a concerned, compassionate ear is important," says Hatfield. "I know there are many, especially staffers, who seek out his counsel."

Rep. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., praises Ford for being "quite sensitive to the fact that he represents all religions and denominations here."

Weiss, a Jew, says Ford recently sought him out, "somewhat chagrined," after a fundamentalist Christian guest preacher delivered "a particularly strident prayer."

"He wanted to reassure me that the guy might be popular at home, in a parochial setting, but that he could not adjust well to another setting."

THE CHAPLAINS received strong support from many members during the recent constitutional challenge before the Supreme Court. But the Rev. Robert Drinan, a former representative who is a Jesuit priest and now teaches law at Georgetown University, says "the presence of chaplains is not one of those pressing issues" in Congress.

"I myself don't feel strongly either way," adds Drinan. "I'm not sure it's all that important whether they're there or not."

Like many of their predecessors, Ford and Halverson had high political connections before they were asked to serve Congress. Halverson preached to many legislators at the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Bethesda, Md., for 23 years. Ford, a Lutheran, served at the pleasure of the president for 18 years as chaplain at West Point.

They say they have no desire to influence legislation, commenting only when asked and even then with considerable caution.

"I would say right away that I oppose abortion," says Halverson. "But I also believe very strongly that God endowed us with free will and the responsibility for free choice. I am not here to make up (the senators') minds for them."

A CHAPLAIN'S prayers, says Halverson, are "directed to God, not to the senators." Yet a careful listener cannot help noticing Halverson's efforts to frame worldly matters, such as security leaks, in a broader perspective.

"Lord God," he began one recent offering, "Thou art acquainted with all our ways. For Thee no plans are classified."

Halverson says he keeps in mind one political prayer that failed to enlighten a crucial listener. Preaching in the White House in 1969, while still a minister in Bethesda, he warned Richard Nixon of politicians "who take responsibility so seriously that they think they can do it all themselves, without God."

"That's where I felt, frankly, Richard Nixon was then," says Halverson. "I felt he didn't like it, didn't listen."

Could the whole Watergate coverup have been prevented if Halverson had broken through to Nixon?

The pastor shrugs, then frowns. He says, "I often wish that somehow he had had more humility. It remains a good lesson."

Leader resents conversion efforts

LITTLE SWITZERLAND, N.C. (AP) A Jewish leader urges Southern Baptists to "leave Jews alone" in Israel and send their missionaries somewhere else "where people need the word of the Lord."

Rabbi Howard Singer, director of interreligious affairs of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, told a Jewish-Baptist colloquium he resented Baptist efforts to convert Jews to Christianity, adding, "I don't think Jews need Christianity — they need Judaism."

Southwestern Singers of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

First Baptist presents free concert

First Baptist Church will host a free concert by the Southwestern Singers of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary, 2104 W. Louisiana Ave.

The performance is part of a four-day tour of churches, colleges and universities in Texas. The choir represents the school of church music at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth.

The 50-voice choir is composed of students from the schools of music, religious education and theology. It is directed by Robert L. Burton, a professor of conducting and ensembles at the seminary. The group will perform motets and anthems from the Baroque period to present day, including works by Hassler, Roman, Mathias, Pfautsch and Walton.

Southwestern Seminary, the largest of six such institutions owned and operated by the Southern Baptist Convention, provides graduate training for persons preparing for Christian ministry.

The public is invited to attend Sunday's concert.

Minister-photographer will speak

Sune Richards will speak on "Begin Where You Are" at the Permian Church of Religious Science Sunday at 11 a.m. The church is meeting at Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave.

An ordained minister of the Unity School of Christianity, Mrs. Richards says her ministry is opening the pages of the Bible and finding the people that have been out of sight and out of mind for so long and making them live again.

Mrs. Richards, who has a background in photography, seeks out subjects whom she "instinctively" feels resemble the ancient Biblical characters. Her resulting portraits are combined photos and paintings which she uses to illustrate her lectures. Her portraits won for her a masters degree in photography by the Professional Photographers of America.

She has lectured throughout North America, Hawaii and the East Indies. She has served as minister of Unity churches in Newport Beach, Calif., Tempe and Tucson, Ariz., Fort Wayne, Ind., Topeka, Kan. and Lakeland, Fla. The church in Lakeland Mrs. Richards helped build. She served there for five years.

More than one million copies of the photo-paintings of the "Disciples," "Women" and "Children of the Bible" have been printed and circulated in many parts of the world. She is the artist-author of three books.

She says her dream is to bring to life as many Bible personalities as she can. She has just completed "Paul and His People" and is working on "Mothers of the Bible." Next will be "Prophets," then "Little Known People of the Bible" and people out of the stories of Jesus.

"I may be 99 by the time I have completed then all, but if Grandmother Moses did it, so can I," says Mrs. Richards.

Her lectures are non-denominational and open to anyone who wishes to attend.

IRA bomb kills two, injures 33 police officers in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A bomb exploded in a Belfast college lecture hall where police officers were attending a criminology class Friday, killing two policemen and wounding 33 people, police said.

Hours later, a car bomb went off outside a pub in Strabane, County Tyrone, wounding at least eight people and trapping several others in the rubble, police said. The pub, Jack's Bar, is frequented by off-duty members of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, Northern Ireland's predominantly Protestant police force.

The outlawed Provisional Irish Republican Army claimed responsibility for the Belfast bombing in a statement telephoned to Belfast news organizations.

Inspector John B. Martin, 28, was killed in the blast and Sgt. Stephen Fyffe died in a hospital two hours later of "appalling injuries," police spokesman Dave Hanna told The Associated Press.

He said at least two of the wounded were in critical condition and 10 more were in serious condition.

The blast wrecked the classroom on the top floor of a block in the Ulster Polytechnic in Jordanstown, a north Belfast suburb.

Hanna said 20 police men and women were attending the weekly class in the third-floor lecture room when the bomb exploded.

Man tries to approach plane carrying cruise missile parts

GREENHAM COMMON, England (AP) — A man drove onto a U.S. base Friday and sped toward a plane loaded with equipment for cruise missiles, but two police vehicles rammed his car before he reached it, police said.

Ministry of Defense police questioned the man for six hours and released him, a spokesman said.

The man, in his 50s, was not identified, But the spokesman said authorities did not believe he was connected with any of the peace groups that have demonstrated outside the Air Force base before the missiles' arrival.

Sixteen nuclear-tipped cruise missiles, the first to be deployed in Western Europe, are due to be operational at Greenham Common U.S. Air Force Base by Dec. 31.

Quake's victims need clothing

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Between 10,000 and 12,000 children were left homeless by the killer earthquake that struck eastern Turkey and they urgently need warm clothing as winter approaches, a U.N. official said Friday.

The Turkish military command in the city of Erzurum lists the death toll from Sunday's quake as 1,330.

Firuz Yasamis, the United Nations Children's Fund representative in Turkey, said many of the children in the area lost one of their parents but very few were orphaned.

The quake jolted a wide area near Turkey's borders with the Soviet Union and Iran, devastating 44 villages.

The military put the total number of homeless — both children and adults — at 33,000, although estimates by other sources have been higher.

PEMEX officials deny oil spill

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Authorities Friday denied Mexican news reports that 400,000 gallons of crude oil had spilled off the isthmus of Tehuantepec and were contaminating marine life along the Pacific Coast.

"I have no idea where these reports came from," said Rafael Marquet, a spokesman for the state oil monopoly PEMEX in Coatzacoalcos, 640 miles southeast of the capital. Other local authorities also denied the reports.

"A month ago we had a little leak from a ten-inch pipe carrying dirty water, but there has been no leakage of crude," he said.

Burma: North Korea behind bombing

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The Burmese government on Friday accused North Korean agents of planting the bomb last month that killed 21 people — most of them senior South Korean officials — and broke diplomatic relations with the communist country.

The announcement on state radio said Burma ordered North Korean Embassy personnel to leave the country within 48 hours. The two countries had previously had warm relations.

The broadcast said evidence examined by Burmese investigators "firmly established" that the Oct. 9 explosion during a state visit by South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan was "the work of saboteurs sent by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

Burmese authorities have been holding two men captured in a dragnet set up immediately after the bombing. A third man died while trying to escape, authorities said.

The broadcast identified the three as a major and two captains in the North Korean army. It said the two still alive "will be tried according to the jurisdiction of the Socialist Republic of Burma."

North Korea, which has denied involvement in the bombings, said it "resolutely regrets" the Burmese action, according to a dispatch from the (North) Korean Central News Agency monitored in Tokyo.

The dispatch said the North Korean government rejected the Burmese measures "as an unjustifiable act ignoring international law and usage and infringing upon the dignity and authority of our republic."

Connie Chung to fill in for Jane Pauley

NEW YORK (AP) — Connie Chung, anchor of an early morning NBC News broadcast, will sit in for Jane Pauley for part of the time that the "Today" show co-host is on maternity leave, a network source says.

Ms. Pauley, who is married to "Doonesbury" cartoonist Garry Trudeau," will take a three-month leave beginning Nov. 26. The source, who declined to be identified, said Ms. Chung will replace her for one month.

The source stressed that Ms. Pauley would return to "Today" and Ms. Chung to "NBC News at Sunrise."

Before NBC newswoman Jessica Savitch drowned last week, the network had planned to divide the three-month period among Ms. Savitch, Ms. Chung and Mary Nissenson, an NBC reporter who has covered the Midwest.

Ms. Nissenson is still being considered as a replacement, and Carol Marin, a broadcaster with WMAQ-TV in Chicago, is also a possibility.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country singer Loretta Lynn wants to "bring some smiles to the boys away from home" so she's going to spend 17 days overseas performing for free at Army and Air Force bases, her manager says.

"It's been a long time since I've seen her looking forward to something like she's looking forward to this tour," manager David Skepner said.

Miss Lynn is scheduled to leave Nov. 15. She plans to perform a dozen shows, mostly in Germany.

THIS ISUZU GETS MORE MILES A TANKFUL THAN ANY OTHER ECONOMY TRUCK IN THE COUNTRY.

Today, a lot of diesel truckmakers are spending a lot of money to advertise the mileage figures of their new diesel trucks.

Toyota is telling people that their diesel longbed can get a whopping 640 highway miles on a tankful of fuel.

Datsun has proudly announced that their diesel longbed has a high way range of an amazing 659 miles.

And yet, perhaps the most amazing thing of all, is that both these trucks get substantially fewer miles per tankful than the diesel longbed from Isuzu.

The Isuzu Longbed Diesel, with its 19.1 gallon tank, delivers a highway range of over 878 miles per tank.*

That's 219 miles per tankful more than the economical diesel Datsun.

That's 238 miles per tankful more than the fuel efficient diesel Toyota.

238 miles!

Which means that you'd have enough fuel to drive from Memphis to Jackson in an Isuzu Longbed Diesel, after you ran out of fuel in a Toyota.

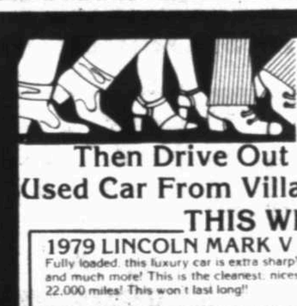

The new Diesel Longbed from Isuzu.

It gets more miles per tankful than any imported economy truck in the country.

ISUZU. TOUGHER THAN THE WORLD'S TOUGHEST ROADS.

"I'VE SEEN EVERY APARTMENT COMMUNITY IN MIDLAND."

"My feet hurt and my patience was wearing thin. I'd seen every apartment community in Midland, and none met my standards... until I discovered Oakridge Apartments. Just a little off the beaten trail, Oakridge has the quiet, private location I'd been looking for. Plus all the other extras I'd just about given up on. Like new construction, nice, friendly neighborhood appeal and superior amenities—indoor spa and sauna, clubhouse and pool, to name just a few—Oakridge is the greatest. I should know, I've seen them all."

1- and 2-bedroom and 2-bedroom studio apartment homes are available now. Take Loop 250 to N. Holiday Hill Road and look for the giant American flag.

"It's good to have a place where you really like to live."

Debbie Allen talks about living at The Clusters:

"There's a lot of activity around here. Like this aerobics class.

"I can swim, play tennis, aerobics, jog. I can stay in good physical shape just living at my own house.

"I've lived here 8 months and I've been an apartment dweller for several years. I looked at several other complexes, but they were all the same...just four walls, a bathroom and a kitchen. This one is quite different. It has all the other luxuries."

No other Midland apartment community combines a multitude of activities with truly luxurious living. Featuring your choice of decorator wall coverings, side-by-side icemaker refrigerators, built-in micro-waves, ceiling fans, dishwashers, washers and dryers, trash compactors, mini-blinds and French doors to patios/balconies.

Come and visit and you'll see why Debbie Allen says, "I would really hate to move from here...I love it."

The Clusters. Midland's finest adult community. Special pricing now available.
