Blasts Rip Red Wall As Berlin Tension Mounts

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—Four blasts in 15 minutes ripped the Red wall in Berlin Saturday and heightened tension over the fatal shooting of an East German border guard.

About 30 East German police rushed to the scene and West Berlin riot police appeared when one predawn explosion knocked a six-foot hole in the wall that snakes for 25 miles across the city. Another blast buckled the masonry. What damage was done by the other two detonations, if any, could not be seen from the West.

Western authorities said they did not know who set off the explosions, but speculated they were the work of resistance groups behind the wall.

The East German News Agency ADN declared, however, the blasts were a continuation of "murder attacks" begun Wednesday when an East German border guard was shot and killed in an exchange of fire with Western police.

Otto Winzer, deputy foreign minister of East Germany, fired off protest letters to the three Western Allied commandants, charging that West-German extremists set off the explosions to torpedo United States-Soviet talks in Berlin.

Saturday was the funeral of the guard, 21-year-old Peter Goering, and the East Germans gave him a martyr's honors while turning the occasion to bitter propaganda uses.

The Communist regime did not mention that its guards fired first in the Wednesday battle — on a 14-year-old boy swimming a canal to escape to the West.

Western police said they fired back when the Communist guards turned tommy guns on West Berlin police helping the seriously wounded boy out of the water. The injured boy was reported improving, his life no longer in danger.

The scene of the explosions was in the Bernauerstrasse area, where many dramatic escapes from East Berlin have been made through the wall. Several wooden screens put up by Communist authorities to block the view from the West have gone up in flames recently. Only people in East Berlin could get close enough to set them afire.

This supported speculation that the blasts too were set off by East Berliners.

ADN charged however that the blasting was a continuation of attacks which included the throwing of explosive objects over the wall at East German guards. This has been going on since Thursday night, ADN declared, and one undetonated explosive was picked up.

The Communist press has been making the maximum of the death of the border guard Goering for the past three days. All East German radio stations went off the air for a minute during his funeral.

Blame Mystery Blast In Crash Of Airliner

CENTERVILLE, Iowa (AP) — An explosive force of unknown origin caused a Continental Airlines jetliner to disintegrate in flight and crash Tuesday night, a Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman said Saturday.

All 45 persons aboard were killed in the airline's first fatal accident in 28 years.

In Denver, Robert F. Six, Continental president, Saturday asked the FBI to enter the investigation because he said the airline had "sufficient evidence to indicate the probability that a man made explosive had been set off within the aircraft."

Investigators have determined that an explosion occurred within the rear portion of the fuselage, said Edward E. Slattery, CAB public information officer.

A mockup of the structure from the rear door to the tail was being constructed at the firgrounds here. It should be completed in two or three days.

"The mockup will show the origin of the breakup and the progression of the fracture," Slattery said.

Portions of the cabin interior and fuselage structure have been sent to Washington for laboratory analysis to ascertain the nature of the explosive ingredients," he added.

The $5.5 million Boeing 707 crashed on a farm near Unionville, Mo., while on a flight from Chicago to Kansas City and Los Angeles.

Slattery declined comment on whether the explosive force was caused by nature or possibly man made.

The Kansas City Star reported Friday night the possibility of an explosion aboard the plane.

In a copyrighted story the newspaper said there were reports that parts of the tail section bore marks of an explosion and that there were powder burns on two of the bodies, indicating the possibility of a bomb.

Pieces of the plane as it broke up in flight have been found as far as 150 miles northeast of the crash scene.

Apparently only minutes before the crash the plane's pilot, Capt. Fred R. Gray, 50, had been jousting with a squall line of severe thunderstorms northeast of here.

He was starting to let down from 39,000 feet for a landing at Kansas City 30 minutes later when radio and radar contact with the plane were lost.

G. R. Coffey, assistant public relations officer for Continental, said a preliminary check of the plane's flight recorder showed the aircraft had crashed within six minutes after making radio contact with an Air Force radar station at Waverly, Iowa, about 9:15 p.m. Tuesday.

At that time there was no indication of trouble, and the plane's crew was only seeking weather information.

The flight recorder has been dispatched to Washington for further study by the CAB.

New Storms Forecast Over State

By The Associated Press

Tornado funnels boiled down out of West Texas thunderstorms again Saturday night, just 24 hours after twisters raked the same general area.

There were no reported injuries.

A tornado funnel touched ground briefly in open plains country southeast of Sagerton near the town of Anson in the area where a woman was killed Friday night.

There were three or four unconfirmed reports of tornadoes in the Stamford area for a second night. North of Stamford, a severe thunderstorm with flashing lightning and rolling thunder raked the farmland.

The area of severe turbulence was about 26 miles north of Abilene.

The tornadoes whipped eastward again while a tornado alert was in effect until 9 p.m. It called for scattered severe thunderstorms with some tornadoes, large hails and damaging winds.

The tornado forecast area was 60 miles on each side of a line from Enid, Okla., to 30 miles east of Abilene, Tex.

This section includes such cities as Stamford, Breckenridge, Vernon and Wichita Falls.

Shortly before dusk, a line of thunderstorms extended from just north of Childress to 10 miles northeast of Snyder in central West Texas.

The weather bureau said the most intense portion of the storms was west of Swenson and north of Guthrie. Guthrie, at the southeastern edge of the South Plains had heavy hail late Saturday afternoon, according to reports from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Temperatures for the day ranged from 104 at Presidio to 85 at Galveston. Most maximums were in the 90s.

Killed in a twister Friday night at Anson in West Texas was Mrs. Roy Smith. Her husband suffered critical injuries. Their rural home was destroyed.

Another tornado hit at Del Rio on the Mexican border, causing $120,000 damage. Del Rio officers said a house was unroofed and badly damaged and that several barns lost their roofs.

Despite the storms, rainfall at official reporting stations was limited to .25 inch at Wichita Falls.

An unofficial rain total of 1.4 inches fell about 12 miles northwest of Big Spring.

Tornadoes were sighted in Oklahoma at Dill City, Weatherford, Oil City, Ardmore, Pawnee, Elk City and the outskirts of Oklahoma City Friday night.

The Dill City tornado crumbled a development of new brick homes, injuring five persons.

SNYDER AREA OIL

Cities Service Petroleum Company has cored shows of oil and gas in an unidentified formation in No. 1-Z Johnson, Scurry County wildcat in the Kelly-Snyder field.

The prospect cored between 3,-526 and 3,585 feet, recovering 59 feet of dolomite with good porosity and bleeding some oil and gas. Operator then cored from 3,585 to 3,644 feet, recovering 59 feet of domomite, with slight shows of oil and gas.

It now is coring below 3,688 feet on a 4,500-foot Wichita-Albany cantract.

Location is 10 miles west of Snyder and 1,980 feet from north and 750 feet from east lines of section 200, block 97, H&TC survey.

Petroleum Producers, Inc., of Snyder will drill a 4,100-foot Scurry County Wichita-Albany wildcat, No. 9-B Stinson, two miles southeast of Ira in the Sharon Ridge field.

The prospector is 4½ miles southwest of the sole Wichita-Albany producer in the field and 1,-650 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 116, block 97, H&TC survey.

Paul C. Teas of Dallas has staked No. 1-D J. B. Slaughter, an 8,-600-foot Garza County Ellenburger wildcat, 12 miles south of Post.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 40, block 2, T&NO survey.

Shell Oil Company has completed a south offset, No. 4 W. M. Kirkpatrick, to the three-well Kirkpatrick (Pennsylvanian) field of Garza County.

The project flowed 30.264 barrels of 35-gravity oil through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,968 feet and 7,974-75 feet in 24 hours, after acidizing with 500 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 570-1. Tubing pressure was 810 pounds.

The 4½-inch casing is set at total depth, 8,227 feet.

The well spots four miles south-southeast of Post and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 3, block 2, GH&H survey.

Shell Oil Company is preparing to perforate the Fusselman in No. 1 Scott, Mitchell County prospector.

Operator set 5½-inch casing at 8,563 feet, the total depth, after a Fussleman test at 8,375-8,468 feet.

It is 15 miles southwest of Westbrook and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block 17, SPRR survey.

R. S. Anderson and Neville G. Penrose of Midland will drill No. 1-CState, a 3,500-foot Clear Fork wildcat five miles southwest of Ira in Scurry County.

Location is 2½ miles west of the Sharon Ridge field and 990 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 93, block 97, H&TC survey.

* * *

C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder No. 1-E McLaughlin Fee has been completed in Scurry County's Diamond M (Clear Fork) field.

Its daily pumping potential is five barrels of 35-gravity oil, plus 92 per cent water, daily from perforations at 3,229-61 feet, which had been fractured with 20,000 gallons.

Total depth is 3,318 feet, with 5½-inch casing set at 3,317 feet.

Location is 860 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 179, block 97, H&TC survey.

Robinson Drilling Company of Colorado City has completed No. 6-A L. C. Doak in the Sharon Ridge (Clear Fork) field of South Scurry County.

The well pumped 78.2 barrels of 30.7-gravity oil per day from perforations at 3,123-3,190 feet, which had been fractured with 4,500 gallons.

The 4½-inch casing is set at 3,-215 feet on a total depth of 3,225 feet.

The venture spots 990 feet from east and south lines of section 147, block 97, H&T survey.

Texas National Petroleum Company of Midland has announced plans to drill No. 1 Hednerson-Sterling in the Sharon Ridge (Clear Fork) field of Scurry County.

The operation is eight miles southwest of Snyder and 2,310 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 148, block 97, H&TC survey. Contract depth is 3,750 feet.

Red Strength Gets Test In Iceland Vote

By HAUKUR HAUKSSON

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Iceland's voters will choose new city and town councils Sunday in an election that will test Communist strength in this NATO country defended by 4,000 U.S. sailors and Marines.

Transcending local issues, this first countrywide vote since a coalition government took office in February 1960, will be watched closely in Washington and Moscow for clues to the effect of ceaseless Communist propaganda against the North Atlantic Treaty Organization base and its American garrison. Iceland, a nation of only 175,000, has no armed forces of its own.

The Communists, who captured almost a fifth of the vote at the last general election in October 1959, have assailed the base as a danger to the country, a blow to national pride and a threat to culture. They sought last March to cancel the American-held license for a television station at the U.S. Naval Base at Keflavik but were defeated 43 to 8 in Parliament.

The Communists claimed the station, the only one in the country, was damaging the culture of 1,000 Icelanders who owned sets and tuned in on jazz and Westerns.

Oklahoma's Ballots Up For Recount

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Sen. W. P. Bill Atkinson and Raymond Gary had their hopes for Oklahoma's Democratic nomination for governor in the hands of a ballot recount Saturday.

In an anti-climax to last Tuesday's gubernatorial primary runoff race—closest in Oklahoma history—the state election board was set to start a recount Monday of ballots in all 77 of Oklahoma's counties.

Atkinson, the apparent winner by 449 votes, expressed "cautious optimism" as he filed for a recount shortly before the deadline Saturday.

Gary filed the initial recount petition Friday. Atkinson's move was to preclude the possibility of Gary cutting short the recount at a time when he is ahead.

"I'm doing it to protect the ballots of some 231,000 persons," said the millionaire Midwest City home builder.

Gary made a surprise move minutes before the deadline by filing a supplemental petition Saturday.

It broadened his initial recount petition by alleging possible irregularities in the voting.

Gary's initial petition had emphasized only that he wanted a recount because of honest mistakes in the vote count.

"We are not alleging fraud," said the Madill rancher. "We have enough information coming in that we feel entitles us to a broader petition for a recount."

Atkinson trailed Gary by 85,000 votes in the initial primary, but made up the difference in a whirlwind runoff campaign.

Solon Urges Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., says that federal authorities should cooperate with Texas authorities in getting the facts in the Billie Sol Estes case.

The Justice Department said today that all possible relevant parts of a confidential report on the cotton allotments of Estes will be made available to a Texas grand jury.

"The case is already cloudy enough," the Delaware Republican told the Senate Friday.

A House subcommittee opens hearings tomorrow into how Estes built up a huge warehouse system of storing government owned surplus grain.

Williams said newspaper reports say that Atty. Will Wilson of Texas is having difficulty obtaining cooperation of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

98 Absentee Votes Cast By Saturday

Absentee voting is underway at the County Clerk's office in the courthouse.

At noon Saturday a total of 98 absentee votes had been cast for the June 2 Democratic run-off election. Absentee voting will continue through 5 p.m. Tuesday May 29.

Annual Sermon For Seniors Tonight

Baccalaureate services will be held tonight at 8 p.m. for the graduating seniors of Snyder High School at the high school auditorium.

REV. HARRY VANDERPOOL

The Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach the sermon. Most Snyder churches have cancelled their Sunday evening activities or rescheduled them to permit their members to attend the baccalaureate service.

Music at tonight's service will be furnished by the A Capella Choir under the direction of Roger Gee, and the processional and recessional music will be furnished by Rita Hanback at the organ and Mary Bowlin at the piano.

Durwoard Boggs, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ will give the invocation. The services will be closed with a benediction by the Rev. O. D. Carpenter, pastor of the Avenue D Baptist Church.

Commencement exercises for the graduates will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

OAS Terrorists On Rampage Again

ALGIERS (AP) — Secret Army Organization terrorists exploded a time bomb on the waterfront Saturday, rained mortar shells on a Moslem suburb and rampaged through the streets in machine-gun attacks in bloody Algiers.

Weary police counted at least 17 dead and 31 wounded in the European underground's grim fight against approaching Algerian independence. But it was not known how many other casualties there were in some of the native quarters, where the Moslems care for their own.

The day's bloodshed began at dawn, with the thunder of 29 mortar shells fired into the Moslem Bifort section in the suburb of Maison Charee. No one from the European side went to pick up the Moslem victims.

The Belfort victims were not included in the tally cmpiled by police.

On the waterfront, a small truck loaded with about 50 pounds of explosives blasted off, killing four persons and wounding 15. Hundreds of Moslems surged screaming out of the Casbah, several hundred yards away. They remembered all too well that a similar secret army bombing on the waterfront May 2 killed 62 Moslems and wounded more than 100.

The angry Moslems were intercepted by the newly organized Moslem police force, possibly preventing riotous retaliation against Europeans.

Stretcher bearers of the National Liberation Front, which enforces discipline in the Moslem quarters of this tragic city, bore off the wounded into the Casbah.

Among the victims were eight Europeans. Three were carried into the Casbah for treatment. One died shortly after arrival at a makeshift Moslem clinic.

Throughout the day, secret army killers machine-gunned Moslems who dared to leave their squalid quarters.

Panic was beginning to grip the European population of Algiers. A score questioned at random said they intended to leave Algeria before the July 1 self-determination referendum that is expected to see the big Moslem majority vote for independence.

Voters Are Urged To Have Poll Tax Ready

Frank A. Wilson, Scurry County Democratic Party Chairman, has urged voters to have their poll taxes with them when they cast ballots next Saturday in the run-off primary.

At the same time, Wilson reminded that persons who have moved from one precinct to another since they paid their poll tax must get their poll tax receipts changed at least three days before the election. The proper change may be made at the county tax collector's office.

Little Rain Falls Here

Snyder was just outside the shower and turbulent weather area Friday night.

A drizzle between midnight and 2 a.m. Saturday accounted for .03 of an inch of rain in the official gauge.

Half an inch fell at Lake Thomas, and reports were that the rainfall was substantially heavier to the south and southwest. A fall of .9 of an inch was reported eight to 10 miles southwest of Lake Thomas.

A total of .04 of an inch was reported in the northwest part of Snyder.

The showers developed after a torrid 98-degree temperature reading in Snyder. The low dipped to 68 degrees early Saturday.

Another Battalion Prepared To Relieve Unit In Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another 1,800-man Marine battalion landing team has been put aboard 7th Fleet ships to replace the one landed in Thailand, Pentagon sources said Saturday.

This makes readily possible quick reinforcement of U.S. forces in Thailand if an emergency arises.

It is standard procedure to keep a Marine battalion at sea with the 7th Fleet's operating forces. But the Navy and Marine Corps appeared to have moved with unusual speed to fill up the forward deployed elements cruising in waters off Communist-endangered Southeast Asia.

The converted carrier Valley Forge, now used as a helicopter base for Marines, and accompanying transports which carry heavy weapons, supplies and ammunition for a battalion, apparently headed back for Okinawa immediately upon putting the 3rd Battalion of the 9th Regiment ashore.

At Okinawa, the 1st Battalion of the 3rd Regiment, reinforced into an 1,800-man team, quickly embarked and the ships steamed out at once to rejoin elements of the 7th Fleet.

That force is presumed to be operating in the South China Sea and along approaches to the Gulf of Siam, within easy reach of Thailand and South Viet Nam for both ships and carrier-based planes and helicopters.

The 1st Battalion Landing Team is commanded by Lt. Col. [illegible] Hatch, 3[illegible]-year-old native of Statesville, N.C., and veteran of Pacific campaigning in World War II.

The battalion now afloat has the same beef-up of men and equipment as that now deployed in Thailand at Udon, close to the border of Laos. It consists of artillery, tanks, a rifle battalion, trucks, amphibious tractors — amounting to a self-contained and self-supporting force.

The Army has its 1,200-man 1st Battle Group from the 25th Infantry Division based near Khorat at a junction of rail, air and road routes which lead both northeastward and eastward toward Thailand's border with Laos.

The group had gone into Thailand several weeks ago to participate in joint training maneuvers with other forces of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

An Army spokesman said that unless and until a decision is made to keep the 1st Battle Group in Thailand for a prolonged period there will be no move to fill up Army strength back in Hawaii.

President Kennedy was asked at a news conference earlier this week how long U.S. forces would be in Thailand. He replied that "we will make a judgment as to how long they should stay, based on the events."

There is likelihood that the total 5,000-man U.S. force of Army, Marines and air units will grow beyond that figure.

Nike-Zeus Gets Test

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket shot straight up into the sky Saturday in a test of the solid-fuel projectile's ability to reach an extremely high altitude in seconds.

All three stages were fired in the test, which U. S. Army spokesmen termed "100 per cent successful."

The altitude reached was not disclosed. The Nike-Zeus is designed to intercept incoming warheads above heights of 100 miles.

The 48-foot finned white rocket was out of sight 30 seconds after its launching down the Pacific missile range at 11:04 a.m.

Later this year, Nike-Zeus rockets will be fired from Kwajalein Island in the mid-Pacific in attempts to intercept Atlas missiles launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Soil Stewardship Week Is Launched

Soil Stewardship Week is being observed locally this week according to J. N. Eicke, chairman, upper Colorado Soil Conservation District.

Sponsored nation-wide by America's 2900 Soil Conservation Districts and various national church organizations, the observance proposes to urge rural and urban people alike, to recognize the source and resources of the God-given soil, water and related natural resources and as good stewards to dedicate themselves to the conservation and wide use of these priceless resources. This year's theme is The Stream of Life.

Among the events scheduled during the observance are civic club programs. Sermons preached and literature distributed to all churches.

The Upper Colorado Conservation District will distribute especially-prepared church programs, bulletin inserts, and booklets to churches of all faiths who request them. These materials are prepared each year by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts in cooperation with an advisory committee of church leaders presently consisting of: Dr. E. W. Mueller, National Lutheran Council; Dr. Lewis Newman, Southern Baptist Convention; The Rev. J. G. Weber, National Catholic Rural Life Conference; Dr. Henry McCanna, Department of Town and Country, National Council of the Churches of Christ; and The Rev. William Davidson, The National Council, Protestant Episcopal Church.

The booklets and leaflets suggest that Americans consider the importance of water:

"It is the universal liquid of life and part of our very being. It is everywhere around us, in the air and earth. Without it we could not survive, nor could any plant, animal, or other living thing.

"It is a final necessity, for which man has devised no substitute.

"Water can be so abundant as to invite waste and neglect. It can be so scarce as to set man in earnest contest for its vital uses."

Twist Gets Plug From Young Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — Western rock 'n' roll and the twist, banned from Soviet dance floors, got an enthusiastic plug Saturday from the Soviet Union's most controversial young poet, Yevgen Yevtushenko.

Yevtushenko, intellectual idol of Western-oriented Soviet youth, praised the Western dances in a Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) article about his recent visit to England.

The poet said he went to a London youth club called The Establishment to watch the dancers do the twist.

"I have heard many terrible words about this dance," Yevtushenko wrote. "Someone has even said about it that it is a typical product of capitalist society. I personally do not understand how dances can be divided into capitalist and Socialist."

This appeared to be a slap at Soviet critics of the twist, who have called for creation here of dances that express the "spirit of socialism."

"I have seen how they dance the rock 'n' roll hysterically, as a parody—this is repulsive. But at the same time, in American workers' clubs they dance it simply and beautifully," he wrote.

Yevtushenko obviously referred to a parody of American rock 'n' roll created by the famous Moiseyev Dance Troupe. The satirical dance number is entitled "back to the apes."

In The Establishment, the Russian said he watched a Negro couple dancing the twist.

"They dance the twist surprisingly lightly and gracefully. They danced joyfully as if they were accustomed to the dance from childhood," he wrote.

Texas Retail Sales Show Big Increase

AUSTIN (AP) — April retail sales in Texas totaled $973.8 million, an increase of 10 per cent over April of 1961, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

Of the total, $349.1 million was in durable goods, an 18 per cent jump over April of 1961, and the remainder was in nondurable goods, which showed a rise in every category except food.

The total sales figure puts the January-April total of 1962 11 per cent above the same 1961 period. Other comparisons for the same periods show a 26 per cent rise this year in durable goods sales, and a four per cent rise in nondurable goods sales.

Five Injured When Truck Hits Bus

FORT WORTH (AP)—Four high school girls and the driver suffered injuries Saturday when the bus in which they were riding was hit from behind by a trailer-truck.

The bus was from Hamilton, about 85 miles southwest of here.

Investigators said about 30 girls were on the bus. They were en route to Six Flags over Texas, an amusement park between Fort Worth and Dallas.

Injuries to the victims were listed as minor at a Fort Worth hospital. All 30 were members of the Hamilton High School Future Homemakers of America.

The chaperson, Miss Mary Nancy Fitch, said the bus still could be driven.

Those treated were the driver, R. B. Young, 60, and Gale Delin Key, 16; Nancy Sharon Donahoo; Kathering Bottinger, 16; and Barbara Brown, 17.

Connally Spending Most In Campaign

AUSTIN (AP)—Preliminary expense account reports for the June 2 governor's race show John Connally outspending Don Yarborough by a considerable amount.

However, Yarborough reports considerable more campaign gifts since the May 5 primary than Connally.

A final accounting of contributions and expenditures for the entire campaign does not have to be made until June 12.

Connally reported to the secretary of state Saturday that since May 5 he has received $22,735 in donations and paid out $51,151, including $7,153 for the Texarkana-El Paso special train trip. He listed an addition $17,000 loan from the First National Bank of Dallas.

Based on previous reports, Connally's expenditures in the first and second primary campaigns total $357,940.

Connally's offices in Austin and Fort Worth said they did not have a grand total figure on contributions. He reported $123,634 up to April 27 and $22,735 for the period from May 5 to May 25.

Yarborough reported $113,118 in contributions throughout the campaign and $144,443 in expenditures. For the period May 5 to May 25 he reported $41,903 in gifts and $34,866 paid out, plus $5,302 in debts.

In the lieutenant governor's race, James Turman reported $27,710 in gifts for the entire campaign, $41,472 paid out and $9,621 in debts. Preston Smith reported $49,471 in gifts and $50,332 in expenditures.

In the attorney general's race, Waggoner Carr reported total gifts of $98,824 and $113,252 in expenses. Tom Reavley reported $56,148 in donations and $103,949 paid out.

Large contributors in the races included:

Yarborough — Asa Willis, Texline, $1,000; Webb, Schultz and Stokes, Abilene, $500; Franklin Jones Jr., Marshall, $500; E. B. Taylor, Dickinson, $1,000; John J. Watts, Rankin, ~~$1,000~~; Jones, Brian and Jones, Marshall, $500; Walter Hall, Dickinson, $1,000; Wilson (no address given) $500. A. Petsch, Fredericksburg, $500.

90th Getting In Shape For Annual Camp

AUSTIN (AP) — Citizen soldiers in more than 50 Texas towns and cities are getting things together for the 90th Infantry Division's trek to summer camp just around the corner.

More than 7,000 Texans will move into Ft. Polk, La., June 2. And until June 16, the Army reservists will be training in the fundamentals of individual and unit infantry skills.

"The emphasis will be on increased field training and bivouac living," Maj. Gen. Earl Rudder, division commander, said.

For the first time in a summer camp the entire division will take to the field for four days of living, training and soldiering. Only part of the division at a time has been in the field previously.

A command post exercise is another point of emphasis during the 90th's 14th peacetime encampment. The 90th headquarters staff and headquarters of subordinate commands will take part in the CPX, a map exercise in which potential battlefield commanders and staff personnel play "war games" on paper. The controllers, in this instance, the 75th Maneuver Area Command of Houston, will present combat situations and keep the commander or staff member posted on the validity of the solutions.

The 90th will be among 20,000 Army reservists from Texas and New Mexico to undergo active duty training in 1962, according to Maj. Gen. Thomas R. Yancey, commander of the two-state VIII Army Corps. Both the corps and division maintain headquarters in Austin.

'Human Error' In Orbit Is Revealed

By JOHN BARBOUR

GRAND TURK, B. W. I. (AP)—In the busy moments of re-entry, astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter made a human error that left him short of fuel to control his spacecraft's position and contributed to his own anxiety.

By accident, Carpenter left on a manual control system as he switched to a fly by wire, or semi-automatic, control system. Both were consuming fuel for three or four minutes.

This disclosure came as Carpenter prepared to return to Cape Canaveral Sunday to receive a big welcome, get a Distinguished Service Medal and hold a news conference.

Word of the error came from Lt. Col. John A. Powers, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, a day after the report that the Hawaiian tracking station had doubts about the astronauts condition during the third orbit.

The station, during a Thursday night critique among the 17 tracking facilities, said it "had the impression that he was very confused about what was going on," or at least preoccupied.

Powers said Saturday that to the extent that Carpenter should not have been on two control systems at the same time, he had erred.

Earlier, Powers quoted Carpenter:

"Yep, I had a few moments of anxiety near the retrofire (braking stage) over whether I was going to have enough fuel."

As a result of the mistake, Carpenter did, indeed, run out of fuel for his manual control system before he had put the Aurora 7 spacecraft into the proper position to re-enter the earth's atmosphere.

But he still had fuel remaining in the automatic system and was able to use this system in a semi-automatic or hand-controlled way to put the blunt end of the spacecraft forward.

This is the correct position for re-entry, so that the heat shield on the blunt end can take the brunt of the tremendous temperatures that are generated. If it had entered the earth's atmosphere in an incorrect position, the spacecraft would have burned up.

The attitude of the spacecraft is important at another point late in the flight, when the blunt end must be aimed 34 degrees above the horizontal to fire the braking rockets at the proper angle. This determines where the spacecraft will land on earth.

Population Growth Sustains Building

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' above average population growth is sustaining the state's growth in housing construction, the Bureau of Business Research said today.

"A comparison of cumulative values of permits issued for the first four months of the year shows increases in all categories of residential structures over the comparable period of 1961." The University of Texas agency reported.

Single-family dwelling permits are up 18 per cent for the first four months, duplexes up 34, three and four-family dwellings up 68 and apartment building permits up 131.

Senate Republicans Prepare To Attack Public Works Bill

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans tightened their lines Saturday for an attack on what one of them called a political slush fund provision in the administration's $1.5-billion public works bill.

The Senate will take up a modified version of the bill Monday. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he expects passage Tuesday.

Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said after a conference with GOP members of the Public Works Committee he believes most of his party members will vote against giving President Kennedy standby authority to initiate projects in a threatened recession.

"Republicans are for public works," he said, "but we are not going to give the President a blank check. We want these projects passed upon by Congress."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in a separate interview this proposed authority represents a political contrivance which the President might use to win support for his New Frontiers program.

"Just think what the President would do with such a slush fund," Aiken said. "He wouldn't have to spend any of the money. He could just promise candidates that their districts and states would be in line for it if they went along with his legislative program."

The bill represents a strategic retreat from the original request for a $2 billion standby program and $800 million in immediate projects.

The revised measure would authorize a $750-million public works program aimed at relieving chronic unemployment distress areas. A second provision would authorize an additional $730-million program for the year beginning July 1, 1963, if unemployment should reach 5 per cent of the labor force.

Under the latter provision, the President could initiate projects on individual authority or advance by Congress.

Under the weight of attacks from Republicans and some Southern Democrats on what they call "back door spending," the administration abandoned its proposal to let the President dip into appropriations for construction or emergency projects. It bowed to the demand that all must be financed through regular congressional appropriations.

Wilson Named 'Boss Of Year'

The highlight of the American Business Women's Association banquet Thursday night was the naming of the "Boss of the Year."

Bill Wilson, whom Mrs. Lloyd Eades calls "Boss" received the honor. Unsighned letters, written on plain paper, and omitting the employer's name are submitted by the members in company envelopes. The letters are removed and numbered to match the envelopes.

Then a board of impartial judges judged the letters. In the letters are the reasons that each member gives as to why her boss would qualify for the "Boss of the Year" award.

After the selection is made, the letter is matched up again with the envelope to see who the winner is. This is the letter, written by Mrs. Eades, which made her boss the "Boss of the Year."

"I think my employer should be "Boss of the Year". He is one of those rare individuals who does not ask an employee to do any kind of work that he would not do himself. In most instances he helps until all the work is finished. "Part of his makeup consists of thoughtfulness, sincerety, friendliness, and humor. He thoroughly enjoys a good laugh and often breaks the monotony of tiring work hours with some wise crack to make everyone laugh.

"He is a Christian, and faithful church member, an outstanding citizen, a devoted husband and father, and one of those unselfish persons who finds time to serve on numerous committees that work for the advancement of our community. His fine character, leadership and ability to manage business affairs make him a good example for others to follow."

GOP Panel Sets Session

Harrel McKinzie, county Republican chairman, has announced an executive committee meeting to be held at 7 p.m .Tuesday. The meeting will be held in the new Chamber of Commerce meeting room next door to Craft Studio on west Twenty-sixth Street.

The meeting is open to the public, and is called for the purpose of reporting to interested persons on the state Republican leaders' workshop held recently in San Antonio. At the workshop outlines for the fall campaign were told.

McKinzie and G. P. Proctor, Republican nominee for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, attended the workshop.

McKinzie said that he would like to urge all precinct chairmen and others who are interested in the Republican campaign in Texas to attend the meeting, and find out what they can do for the summer and fall campaign.

New Mexico Man Is Held

A Lovington, N. M. man was in county jail Saturday morning awaiting a Deputy Sheriff who was to return him to Lovington to face charges of theft.

The man allegedly stole a catamaran boat in Lovington Thursday night. He was attempting to sell the motors at Denson Gulf Service Friday at noon when the owner, Harold Denson, became suspicious and called the Highway Patrol.

The officers checked with New Mexico officials and they verified the fact that there had been a theft, and requested that the man be held. The FBI was also asked to investigate due to the interstate nature of the offense. The suspect waived extradition.

Basin Rig Count Rises

Rotary drilling activity took a 21-rig jump during the past week, according to Reed Roller Bit Company's Friday survey.

Scurry County's rig count increased from three to five, while Fisher county was up from three to six and Garza was up from one to two. Borden County was unchanged with one rotary rig in operation, and Mitchell County had one, compared to none a week earlier.

For the entire basin, there were 239 active rigs, compared to 218 a week ago and 233 the same time last year.

Lea County, New Mexico, had 40 busy rigs to pace the area activity. In Texas Ector County had 19, Crane 16 and Pecos 15.

OUR VIEW

Soil Stewardship Week Is Indication Of 'Growing Up'

Soil Stewardship Week is a relative newcomer to the list of special observances, but the need for it is another indication that the nation is "growing up."

The availability of good land was never a problem in this country until a few years ago. If depletion set in, the people could simply move on to the ever-expanding frontier. In other words, there was new land available for the taking as soon as the old began to decline in productivity.

Those days are gone forever in this country, just as they disappeared centuries ago in Europe where most countries enforce rigid conservation practices.

Simultaneously, or hand in hand, the water resources have been claimed, and today in many areas there is no extra water except that which the inhabitants are able to save through conservation practices.

Thus the only avenue for expansion is to make certain that the resources available are put to the best possible use and at the same time are preserved for future use.

Conservation of soil and water is a fundamental factor in the protection of our way of life. Use of the soil demands good judgment. They're not making any more land these days.

Backstage...

We were interested to learn last week a little more of the activities of the Highway 180 Association. One thing which distinguishes this association from most is that there are no salaried "executive secretaries" or "managers." All work for the group is done by the members themselves on a voluntary basis, and dues paid in are used to advertise the attractions along 180.

Money spent by the traveling public in our area is a runner-up to the income produced by the oil industry and agriculture. As such, it is a source of local income which should be cultivated and nurtured. Its loss would be a real blow to our economy.

Our feeling is that since there is a group dedicated to the preservation of this tourist traffic, and to the encouragement of more, they deserve our support. Of course the Highway 180 Association needs and can use money. But we can do more than that. We can always take a personal interest in "our" highway, and we can boost it every chance we get.

GOOD LUCK TO YOU!

Indictment Unlikely In Cage Fix Probe

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

WACO (AP) — The House Committee investigation of point fixing in Southwest Conference basketball may never lead to indictments but it has brought the situation into the open.

Abb Curtis, supervisor of officials in the Southwest Conference, said at the open hearing of the committee that he thought O'Dell Preston and Bill Johnson were guilty of shaving points.

Johnson and Preston, who were both taken out of officiating before the 1962 season was over, vigorously denied any participation in game rigging.

H. A. Albert of the Texas Department of Public Safety followed them on the stand and said a lie detector test given to Johnson indicated "he was untruthful when he denied participation in rigging and point shaving." He said that Preston had two inconclusive tests.

The house committee attempted to link point rigging with gamblers in the Waco area but never could get beyond the circumstantial stage.

Curtis himself admitted it was virtually impossible to detect anything wrong in the officiating by watching a basketball game because of the large number of judgment calls the official had to make. He said you had to "know the way the official is going" and study a pattern in several games. Then you might get a good suspicion, Curtis explained.

All the 22 conference basketball officials took lie detector tests in March after reports of point shaving came from a New York sports writer. Albert told the committee Friday night that the results of 20 tests showed he officials were being truthful when they said they did not participate in game rigging.

Johnson and Preston had taken the tests when all the others did, after first refusing to do so, Curtis related.

The lie detector tests were given to the officials for their own benefit since such tests are not admissable in court and can not be made the basis for criminal charges. The officials were sent their test results by the conference and told they could make them public.

Curtis said Preston and Johnson would never be used in future games "so long as this situation continues."

Chairman Charles Ballman of the house committee said "I don't believe we have sufficient evidence at this time to warrant an indictment." There may never be. The cloud that hangs over the conference may just stay there.

The conference basketball coaches meet in Dallas Tuesday morning to consider officials for next season. Curtis said 30 to 32 would be listed and he would select the number necessary from that list.

Villanova Takes 3rd IC4A Crown

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Villanova's powerful forces rolled to their third straight IC4A Outdoor Track and Field Championship—and fifth in the past six years—Saturday on the wings of a double by Frank Budd and a first and second by Pat Traynor.

Jumbo Jim Elliott's legions fashioned 49½ points in a meet which saw seven records broken and one tied and retired the championship trophy, but all Villanova really needed was Budd, Traynor and Paul Drayton. Among them, they scored 27 points, more than second place Yale, which finished with 25½ points. Morgan State had 23, New York University 22½, Maryland 17½, and Fordham 16.

Budd hustled to a 9.6 victory in the 100-yard dash and a 20.6 decision in the 200-yard dash. He was the defending champion in both, and Drayton, his shadow, finished second in both.

Traynor pulled a Hercules act, winning the 3,000-meter steeplechase in a meet record 9:19.1 less than an hour and a half after finishing second to Harvard's Mark Mullin in the mile.

Traynor's 3,000-meter effort broke his own record of 9:25.3 set last year. Had it not been for Mullin, he would have had a second first. Mullin won the mile in 4:06.4, shattering the standard of 4:07.8 set in 1958 by —of all people—Ron Delany.

Traynor was only three yards or so back in 4:06.9. Larry Rawson of Boston College was third in 4:07.1. So all the top three beat Delany's record.

That was all the Wildcats needed. But Leon Pras added a 14.2 victory in the 120-yard hurdles and Doug Kerr captured the javelin with a toss of 224 feet, 10½ inches, and Rolando Cruz tied with John Belitza of Maryland as both cleared 15-6 for a pole vault meet record. The old one was 15 feet by Don Bragg of Villanova in 1956.

Villanova's Billy Joe beaved the shot 60 feet, 6 inches to join the 60-foot club. But Gary Gubner of New York University won it with a toss of 62-1¾ in the trials. That smashed the 57-9¼ meet record set back in 1950 by Jim Fuchs of Yale.

Morgan State's swifty quartet of John Bethea, Bob Bagley, Hubie Brown and Lawson Smart, clobbered the mile relay record of 3:12, set by Villanova two years ago, twice. In the heats they clocked 3:11.6 and in the final lowered it to 3:10.6.

Before he carried the stick in the mile relay, Brown warmed up by whipping to a 46.7 victory in the 440. That broke the record of 46.9 set by Basil Ince of Brown in 1959. Jay Buck of Ale accounted for the other meet record, when he skipped over the 440-yard hurdles in 51.7, erasing the standard of 52.6 set by Jim Moreland of Brown in 1960.

John Thomas of Boston University won the high jump, clearing 6-9¾. The former world record holder tried for 7-½ three times but couldn't make it.

Twins Edge Chisox, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Camilo Pascual, cushioned by Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer in the first inning, pitched his seventh victory and seventh complete game Saturday as the Minnesota Twins ended a three-game losing streak by defeating the Chicago White Sox 4-1.

The 28-year-old right-hander yielded 11 hits in expanding his record to 7-2. Pascual, last year's American League strikeout king with 221, fanned 5 to raise his season total to 54 and walked only one in beating the Sox for the first time in the campaign.

Killebrew parked his 10th home run into the upper left field deck. Scoring ahead of him was Vic Power, who had singled. The Twins picked up another run in the fourth when George Banks singled, went to third on Bernie Allen's single and scored on an infield out.

They added another run in the fifth on three successive singles by Power, Rich Rollins and Killebrew without none out.

Ed Fisher then replaced starter John Buzhardt, whose loss left him with 5-3, and held the Twins hitless through the sixth when he was yanked for a pinch hitter. Russ Kemmerer finished with a hitless performance and struck out two.:

Mays' Blast In 10th Wins For Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays smashed two home runs, the second with a man aboard in the 10th inning, and carried San Francisco past the New York Mets Saturday 7-6.

The league's leading home run hitter belted a solo shot over the left center field fence in the eighth inning to tie the score 5-5.

The Mets went ahead by a run on Felix Mantilla's four-bagger in the 10th, but Mays won the game with a one-out blast off loser Jay Hook's 3-1 pitch, his 16th homer of the season.

Harvey Kuenn had singled to open the 10th, but Chuck Hiller was on base after grounding into a force play.

Mays, given a day of rest by the Giants Manager Alvin Dark on Wednesday, has blasted five home runs in the three games since then and has eight hits in 11 trips. He also contributed a run-producing triple Saturday.

Don Larsen, who pitched three innings of relief, gained his third win against no defeats. Hook, who went the distance, is 3-4.

Defector Is Back On Railroad Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —David P. Johnson, who sought a better life in Russia, became disillusioned and returned home, has been given back his clerking job with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Johnson, 32, said Friday he'll report for work Monday.

When he failed to return from a vacation and leave of absence earlier this month, the railroad suspended him pending an investigation of the circumstances that led him to take his pregnant wife and twin sons to Russia.

The railroad said Friday, "there is no doubt in our minds that he has learned his lesson and in view of his otherwise clean record with the railroad he will get a fresh start so far as we're concerned."

Gulf Coast Has Problem In Seaweed

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

GALVESTON (AP) —Those tilted noses along the Gulf of Mexico coast are trying to find a sniff of fresh air. It's pretty smelly along normally clean - swept shoreline right now.

The rank odor comes from piled up seaweed with its marine life trapped inside and smelling up the countryside.

Oldtimers gasp a little and say it is the worst in 50 years.

The pileup began a month ago and information here is that the situation is somewhat similar all along the Gulf of Mexico coast.

Galveston city employes have made heroic efforts to remove the seaweed but it piles up faster than they can remove it.

At many places on Galveston's 30 miles of beach the seaweed is two feet deep. Health authorities report insects have discovered the seaweed and are multiplying there.

Villian of the situation is destructive Hurricane Carla, gone since last fall but still affecting the gulf.

Albert Collier, director of the Texas A&M College Marine Laboratory here, believes Carla stirred up the gulf and brought food-rich water to the surface from lower depths, causing the seaweed to flourish.

Then southeasterly winds blew the seaweed to shore.

Reports from sea captains indicate the seaweed surge is abating far from land and the problem may solve itself soon.

Businessmen catering to tourists are upset because the seaweed is so high swimmers have difficulty reaching the water in some areas.

Business and government leaders have held meetings recently to discover a solution but found none.

Only persons happy about the situation are fishermen, who say angling will be extra good when the seaweed subsides.

Jones Heavy Favorite To Win '500' Classic

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Rufus (Parnelli) Jones, the race driver's race driver, is an almost unanimous favorite to win the 46th 500-mile classic Wednesday if his white Agajanian Special stays in one piece.

The 28-year-old Torrance, Calif. pro is the soldest choice since Bill Vukovich was practically conceded a third straight Memorial Day victory in 1955.

Bill didn't make it. He was the only driver killed while leading the race since the classic was started in 1911.

A broken axle on Rodger Ward's car produced a pileup that sent Vukovich hurtling over the outside wall.

Ward, now of Indianapolis, will be one of Jones' major opponents [illegible] in the 12th straight start. He won in 1959 and has lost none of his racing cunning at the age of 41.

Jones will be making only his second appearance in the $400,000 international sweepstakes but other drivers, including popular Jim Hurtubise, called him "the best" before he ever drove onto the old 2½-mile track.

Jones led the '61 race twice but was dropped back to 12th by a sick magneto and a flying bolt struck him in the forehead. He came back this year in the same car, an A. J. Watson creation with an Offenhauser engine, and broke the one-minute barrier for one lap. His fastest circuit in the time trials was 150.729 miles per hour.

Hurtubise, who held the old record of 149.601, twice wrecked his car in practice but qualified in the last minutes of the trial session with a car he had never sat in before. The result is that he starts in 29th place in the 33-car field, with little chance to burst into the lead as he did on the first lap of last year's race.

Hurtubise smashed a series of records for the first 75 miles but was stopped by piston seizure.

Ward was the second-fastest qualifier at 149.471 in a new Watson and Bobby Marshman, another highly regarded sophomore, filled out the three-car front row by doing 149.349.

A. J. Foyt Jr., the USAC National Big Car champion the last two years and the Indianapolis winner last year, will start from a challenging position on the inside of the second row. Staying in front of the big young Texan will be one of Jones' major problems.

Ward's teammate on the leader team of Milwaukee will be veteran Len Sutton, who has never finished in four previous starts but was the fourth-fastest qualifier. He and Shorty Templeman, fourth last year, share the second row with Foyt.

Strong contenders farther back in the line-up include Jim Rathmann, the 1960 winner, and Troy Ruttman, the '52 winner, who will start 30th and 23rd, respectively.

Rotan Cats Win, 5-1, On No-Hitter

Clyde McKinney hurled a no-hitter, Jimmy Featherston got two doubles and a single and Tom Kincaid had a double and triple for the Red Sox, who outhit the Roby Tigers by 10-8, but Roby bunched three runs each in the first and third innings to decide the issue early. Tony Foreman got two singles to lead the Roby hitters.

Morrison To Be Speaker

MEXICO CITY (AP)— William Kerr of Midland, Tex., president of the Texas State Bar, said today that Ambassador DeLesseps Morrison would address the Texas Bar banquet here July 10.

Morrison, former mayor of New Orleans, is United States representative on the Council of the Organization of American States.

About 1,500 Texas and Mexican lawyers are expected to participate in the Mexico City portion of the state bar convention, that starts July 4 in San Antonio. The lawyers will meet there three days and then be reconvened here July 9.

Morrison will speak on "The Alliance for Progress—New Hope for the Hemisphere." Thomas Mann of Laredo, Tex., the U.S. ambassador to Mexico, will introduce Morrison.

The Bar of Mexico invited the Texas lawyers here.

Giants, White Sox Score Victories

The Cubs could namage only one hit off Steve Moffett as the Giants took a 6-1 decision in National League play Friday night.

In the American League game, Kenny Sehested also twirled a one-hitter as the White Sox nipped the Indians, 2-0.

Moffett had a no-hitter going until the sixth when Sam Hea[illegible] off with a single.

Bill Grief provided offensive support for the Giants, banging out two singles and a double in three trips to the plate. The Giants also gave Moffett excellent support in the field, pulling off two double plays, one of which wiped out the only Cub hit of the evening.

Tony Suttle's first inning single was the only hit allowed by Sehested in the American League game. The White Sox pitcher struck out nine batters.

Johnny Gaona paced the White Sox hitters with a home run and two singles. His homer in the fifth came after Max Moreland had doubled and accounted for both runs in the game.

Suttle, who worked on the mound for the Indians, gave up six hits and fanned 10.

Bosox Shell Birds, 12-6

BOSTON (AP)—Boston defeated Baltimore nemesis Steve Barber, 12-6 Saturday in a hail of home runs by Gary Geiger, Carl Yastrzemski and rookie Bob Tillman.

Successive circuit blows by Geiger and Yastrzemski capping a four-run third inning put the Sox in front to stay. 4-3 and were the first homers surrendered this season by Army Pfc. Barber, the Orioles' weekend wonder.

The only previous loss tagged on Barber in five earlier decisions required a no-hitter by Los Angeles Bo Belinsky. When Tillman drove Barber out with a towering two-run belt in the sixth, it marked only the second time in nine lifetime verdicts the Sox have beaten the southpaw.

Jim Gentile of Baltimore took over the undisputed American League lead in the home run derby by hitting his 14th off winner Gene Conley with a mate aboard in the seventh. Gentile had contributed one of two sacrifice flies in a three-run Oriole third which also included a double and three singles.

Weatherman Has Key To Fishing

By The Associated Press

The weatherman still holds the key to Texas fishing this week.

Winds plagued fresh and salt water fishermen last week, and the WestherBureau was not sure what was ahead.

The first annual National-Southwest Sailfish-Sunfish Sailing Championships will be held at Offats Bayou June 1-3 sponsored by the Galveston Boat Club. Events will be held in the men, women, junior and mixed doubles classes for both sailfish and sunfish boats.

Between 300 and 400 archery Association bow hunter's jamboree at Rotary Point on Lake Texarkana June 23-24. The shoot will be under hunting conditions, mixing actual bow hunting and bow fishing with animal targets. Ay NFAA member can participate.

The Game Commission will hold public hearings during June in 30 counties in the Possum Kingdom area. Biologists will be present at the meetings to explain wildlife and fisheries conditions, and citizens will be heard. Results of the hearings will be considered at the mid-summer commission meeting to determine seasons and regulations.

Thirty-five wardens graduate from the Texas A&M warden school Thursday and will begin assignments with the Game Commission. The course began in January.

Black bass fishing is off, but deep fishing for blue cats was excellent at Inks Lake. Live bait, especially minnows or perch, are doing the trick.

Black and white bass are being caught in large numbers in late afternoons and evenings at Possum Kingdom Lake. Park Ranger B. G. Rogers said blacks are beginning to hit top-water lures.

Channel cat catches of up to 5 pounds, and white bass takes up to 2½ pounds were made at Lake Whitney.

Yellow cats up to 32 pounds were taken at Granite Shoals. One party took 375 white bass.

Two fishermen took their limits of 700 white bass in two days on live shad at Lake Buchanan.

Best catches on Lake O' the Pines were made on surface lures, skip jacks and devils horses. Crappie are being caught in depths of 4 to 10 feet. Bass fishing was slow.

Bass fishing is also slow at Lone Star Lake, but crappie, catfish and bream were biting good.

Best trout fishing on the coast has been on the protected shorelines. Founder activity seems to be improving at the Galveston jetties and along the Middle Coast. Increasing numbers of tarpon are showing up in the New Brazos River at Freeport.

Banks Just Couldn't Get Out Of Way

CINCINNATI (AP)—"I saw that ball coming all the way but I just couldn't get out of the way," said Chicago slugger Ernie Banks of the pitch that put him out of action with a concussion.

"I saw it all last night, too," he added, referring to a restless night at Christ Hospital. He said, "I'm still seeing it."

Former teammate Moe Drabowsky, who threw the pitch in a Cincinnati game against Chicago's Cubs went up to see Banks at the hospital Saturday.

Drabowsky, dismayed about the incident after the game, said the 1-1 pitch was a fast ball that got away.

Banks, the Cubs' all-time home run king as a shortstop, said the ball hit just under his left ear below the protective helmet.

"I feel good except for a little headache, but they're going to keep me here until tomorrow morning."

Dr. George Balloun the Reds' team physician who gave Banks another thorough examination Saturday, said, "He's doing very well. Were getting additional films but the original Xrays didn't show any fracture."

Whether Banks could return to the Chicago line-up for Sunday's game was in doubt.

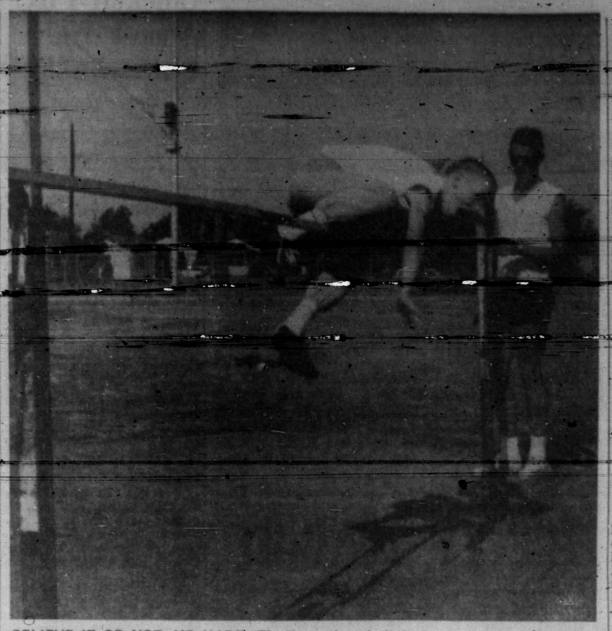

Banks, who already has 11 home runs this season, fell unconscious after the pitch Friday night but recovered before being taken out on a stretcher.

Louis To Promote Pastrano-Moore Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis ventures into the promotion end of boxing for the second time in Los Angeles when he presents Archie Moore and Willie Pastrano of New Orleans in a 10-round main event Monday night in the Sports Arena.

Moore, the over-stuffed light-heavyweight champion — in California, anyhow — is favored to win.

Stephen Spahn of Great Neck, N. Y., Dartmouth's leading basketball scorer, is the son of Moe Spahn, former CCNY basketball star.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, HE MADE IT!—Even though it looks as though he'll never make it, Benny Ward cleared the bar on this jump during high jump competition at the Boys Club track meet yesterday. Ward later cleared the bar at 4 feet 4 inches to take first place in the "Under 10" age group.

40 Take Part In Boys' Club Meet

Over 40 boys turned out Saturday morning for the Scurry Track Meet sponsored by the Boys' Club.

Competition in the various events was by age groups. First and second place winners in each age group in each event qualified to go to the Boys Clubs of America Sectional Tournament in Abilene, June 2.

Third place winners qualified as alternates and most will make the trip. For boys who were unable to compete yesterday, further qualifying as alternates will be possible at the Boys Club at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Martinez Is Still Leader

By The Associated Press

Hector Martinez, Albuquerque shortstop, continues to lead Texas League batting although his average dropped 30 points the past week.

Martinez got eight hits in 31 trips which left him an average of .377—only seven points better than teammate Jim Small.

Martinez tops in hits with 58 and Felix Maldonado of El Paso leads in runs with 40.

Charles Dees and Jesus Alou, both of El Paso, are tied for the lead in doubles with 12 each. Jesse White of San Antonio has the most triples with six.

The home run leader is Jeoff Long of Tulsa, who has knocked the ball out of the lot 16 times. Long has the most runs batted in, showing 37.

Austin pitcher Dick Kelley leads in earn run average with 3.46 but the heaviest winners are Harvey Branch in San Antonio and Vic Davis of El Paso, each having notched five victories.

Kansas City Edges Angels

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gino Cimoli's two-out single in the ninth inning scored Dick Howser to give the Kansas City Athletics a seesaw 8-7 victory Saturday over the Los Angeles Angels.

While Cimoli's one-baser was the deciding hit, Ed Charles was the A's earlier batting star with a grand slam home run and a pair of singles. Lee Thomas drove in four runs with a pair of round trip shots for the Angels, and Leon Wagner tied the score in the ninth with his 12th four-bagger.

Howser started the ninth with a bunt single off Art Fowler, the sixth Los Angeles pitcher, and was sacrificed to second by Jerry Lumpe. After Norm Siebern grounded out, Cimoli stroked the ball into left for the winning hit.

Kaline Injured As Tigers Edge Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Kaline sustained a broken collar bone Saturday while making a game-saving catch in the Detroit Tigers' 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yankee physician who treated Kaline at Lenox Hill Hospital said the Tiger outfield star will be out of action shoulder. Had he failed to come up with the ball, Lopez probably would have scored the tying run.

It was feared Kaline might have suffered a serious injury as mates gathered around him. However he started off the field under his own power. The pain became so intense that he fainted twice in the clubhouse, and a doctor was called.

After a preliminary examination in the clubhouse, Kaline was taken to a hospital for more complete examination. No indication was given as to the extent of the injury.

Gaynor described the injury as "a longitudinal fracture of the edge of the right clavicle." He said the break was at the point where the collar bone joins the shoulder.

Kaline made a diving catch off Elston Howard with two out in the ninth, landing heavily on his right shoulder.

Kaline's loss came as a serious blow to the Tiger chances. They won their fifth straight and moved into fifth place. Kaline was tied with Jim Gentile of Baltimore for the league home run lead with 13.

Kaline's catch killed off the last chance for the Yankees and dashed the hopes of 22,699 Yankee Stadium spectators. Hector Lopez, who had singled, was on first base with two out when Elle Howard drove a low liner to right center. Kaline made a diving catch and landed on his right

The Indians pounded the White Sox, 19-1, and the Giants trimmed the Cubs, 11-6, in Farm League play Friday night.

Randy Barnett had a perfect night at the plate for the Giants, picking up three singles and a base on balls in four trips to the plate.

Mike Flynn had a double and a single to lead the Cubs hitters.

The Giants scored two runs in the first inning and were never headed.

Terry Voss had a triple and two singles for the Indians, while Cliff Voss had a double and two singles. The Indians got seven hits and four runs in the first inning and then came back for 10 runs in the third. The White Sox got their only run in the third.

Carpenter Kept All In Suspense

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—At the point Thursday afternoon when astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter had disappeared somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean, NBC radio reporter Merrill Mueller paused, drew a long breath, and remarked with audible emotion:

"I don't know about you, but what can we say now? We're just waiting—for any kind of word."

Of course we were all just waiting for word on the fate of the astronaut. It finally came after those harrowing 35 minutes.

Once again, network television and radio did a magnificent job in keeping a nation informed on the astronaut's progress around the world, into and out of the ocean.

This reporter watched the launching of the space capsule on television and then followed the rest of the adventure with the help of both radio and television. Everybody performed well.

When there was worry about Carpenter's fuel supply, the situation was expertly explained. When first word came about the electronic beacon being noted by a rescue aircraft, Mueller, to whom I happened to be listening at that moment, instantly reassured the audience that receipt of the signal indicated the capsule was floating and intact.

It was a good example of the thorough preparation all the reporters had made for their jobs.

During those anxious 35 minutes, all the broadcasters devoted themselves to describing calmly the life-saving equipment Carpenter had available. Television was ready with pre-recorded film showing how the apparatus worked.

It was notable that during the period when Carpenter was lost, the sponsor of the radio program to which I was listening, omitted his commercials.

The flight, which built up to an almost unbearable climax, certainly started out on a calm, almost routine, note. The launching of the rocket with its human cargo went off almost on schedule, smoothly and without that excitement and tension one felt when John H. Glenn Jr., was shot into space.

The network reporters had their most difficult time trying to keep talking after we knew Carpenter was safe, had been reached by the paramedics, but hadn't yet been hauled out of the water.

All in all it was a pretty exciting day for the listener and viewer.

John Chancellor's first assignment when he returns to NBC's news staff (and is replaced by Hugh Downs on the Today" show) in September will be anchor man for a special series of six pre-election programs on politics.

Addition Is Set For Governor's Mansion

AUSTIN (AP) Bids are being taken on a new addition to the 109-year-old governor's mansion that just might be finished in time for the new governor next January.

Deadline for receiving bids by the state is May 31.

The addition, estimated to cost about $50,000, consists of the addition of a two-story and basement wing with 2,800 square feet of floor space. The bids include air conditioning units and electric kitchen units.

The construction work was authorized by the last legislature.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"You do not understand that it is expedient for you that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation should not perish".

John 11:50 (read verses 28-53)

Caiaphas was speaking from personal privilege and prestige. He knew that the Jewish people must survive, especially if he and his family were to continue to have a job and personal power. So if one man died for the sake of the survival of the nation, its traditions and heriatge, what was one compared to many?

As the scripture says, he didn't know what he was saying. It is true that "one man must die", but not for the reasons that Caiaphas thought. The Apostle Paul gave the right reason when he said, "Just as through one man (Adam) sin entered into the world, so by one man (Jesus) life came to men". Jesus died on the cross to take away your sin and mine, and replace it with justification in the eyes of God. So now we live and do not die because one man died for our sakes. For this we, all, must be eternally grateful.

Hollywood Lags Badly In Emmys

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If any people are really unhappy about Tuesday night's awards of Emmys, television's equivalent of the movies' Oscars, it must be the West Coast folk who proclaim so loudly that Hollywood is the television capital. Hollywood received 5 Emmys, compared with 15 for New York and 2 for Washington.

If there is another unhappy group, it can only be the American Broadcasting Co. The network garnered but one during the evening, voted to Richard Rodgers for his score in last season's "Winston Churchill" series. NBC carried off 11 statues and CBS, 10.

The award ceremonies, on NBC, was a fast, no-nonsense show, and it finished only about 20 minutes overtime, which is better than par. Instead of spending a lot of time on special material kidding Westerns and television commercials—it limited speeches to a few seconds—Julie Harris was the only one who cried—and, between presentations, used brief taped performances by the variety stars nominated for awards. This made good sense.

Speaking personally—and, after is a very personal matter—this viewer thought the awards for the most part went into the hands that most deserved them.

While I would not complain for a moment about Julie Harris' award for playing the title role, I would, however, quibble about "Victoria Regina" as television's "Program of the Year." It was a fine show but it was merely a faithful adaptation of a play which had been a Broadway hit.

CBS' "The Defenders" series made the record by picking up four of the precious statues—outstanding dramatic program, E. G. Marshall as outstanding series actor, writing and directorial awards, all thoroughly deserved.

Certainly no program merited its award more than the weekly variety "Garry Moore Show," which never seems to have an off night. Carol Burnett, of course, has no peer in her own comedy and song field. Neither does Shirley Booth have much competition in the acting field. She was picked for her "outstanding continued performance" as the star of "Hazel."

The "Bob Newhart Show" earlier won a Peabody Award for comedy, and Tuesday night it got an Emmy for achievement in the field of humor. The program has been cancelled by its sponsor, so maybe next they'll give Bob an Emmy for outstanding irony.

The Huntley-Brinkley news team continued to be unbeatable, and David picked up an extra statue for his "Journal," which was voted best in the educational and public affairs area. I was happy to see Carl Reiner get some recognition for "The Dick Van Dyke Show," as a talented, if balding, writer.

The special awards went to the right places: to CBS and Mrs. John F. Kennedy for that wonderful "Tour of the White House," and to each of the three networks for their fine pool coverage of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.'s space journey. These two top television events were removed from the general balloting by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, which sponsors the awards. The trustees also honored David Sarnoff as a television pioneer, a diplomatic gesture to the head of NBC's parent company, which should cause no undue nail-biting at the other two networks.

Johnny Carson, Bob Newhart and David Brinkley were brief and bright with their hosting chores, and they had acooperation from such "presenters" as Lucille Ball and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. It was a nice job all around.

WARREN BEATTY and Eva Marie Saint are shown as the star-crossed lovers of MGM's "All Fall Down." Beatty, sensational screen newcomer, plays a handsome vagabond with whom Miss Saint falls passionately in love in the film version of James Leo Herlihy's best-selling novel. It is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Sunday, June 3.

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

7:00 CBS "Ed Sullivan" turns the spotlight on some of the best known names in sports, comedy and music. Red Buttons headlines the comedy segment with an assist from Wayne and Shuster. Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris are on hand for the third straight week. Connie Francis and Jackie Wilson handle the vocals and Stan Kenton and his orchestra take an instrumental romp. The Hugh Lambert Dancers are also on hand.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

12:15 CBS "Game of the Week". The St. Louis Cardinals meet the Milwaukee Braves at Busch Stadium.

12:30 NBC "Major League Baseball" winds up the series between the Minnesota Twins and the Chicago White Sox at Comiskey Park.

5:00 CBS "Twentieth Century" presents a two-part series on the Allied Invasion of Europe. Today's show, "D-Day: Buildup", covers the period from January 14, 1944 to the pre-dawn hours on June 6.

6:30 NBC "Walt Disney" presents "The Wetback Hound", incorporating two warmhearted dog stories. Walter Pidgeon is featured.

8:00 CBS "Electric Theatre". Nick Adams, who starred earlier this season in a tale of suspense on this series, returns as a smooth talking, would-be business tycoon in a comedy titled "The First Hundred Years". Roger Perry and Joyce Bullifant are co-starred.

8:00 NBC "Bonanza". Special guest star Herschel Bernardi portrays Clarence Bolling, an outwardly peaceful, guitar-playing peddler who plots a strange vengeance against Hoss Cartwright for killing his brother. 'The Smiler" starts the repeat schedule for "Bonanza".

8:30 CBS "Jack Benny" has trouble sleeping and, in the pre-dawn hours, practices his violin—an act which leads to encounters with a legion of angry eighbors, a zany lawyer, an unsympathetic judge and an outrageous drunk.

9:00 NBC "Show of the Week". Dane Clark, motion picture and television star, will narrate the dramatic story of Huricane Carla and its effects on the Texas Gulf city of Galveston.

First hiker to travel the entire length of the 2,050 Appalachian Trail was Earl V. Shaffer in 1948. He hiked for four months.

The outer walls of the state Capitol at Frankfort, Ky., are ornamented with 70 Ionic columns, all carved from single blocks of stone.

Chicken Pox Almost Nabs Untouchables

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fans of "The Untouchables" will be interested to learn that a case of chicken pox almost put the television series off the air.

That's the way the story is told by Bill Shiffrin, bustling agent for head untouchable Robert Stack. Shiffrin tells quite a story. So let's let him:

"We had reached the point in negotiations when Bob was about to sign for the fourth year.

"ABC told us they had to have an answer by 2 o'clock the next day. But Bob was home sick with the chicken pox. Well, we talked it over on the phone that night before zero hour and everything was just about set. He'd let me know his final answer the next day.

"The next day Bob was having his worst siege; chicken pox can be rough on adults, you know? The doctor had put him out, and he couldn't talk very well.

"What was I to do? Desilu was screaming at me. ABC and the sponsors were waiting in New York for an answer; they had to know, so they could buy other time if 'The Untouchables' was going on

"Now it was 11:30, and I decided the only thing to do was go see Bob and somehow wake him up. But first I thought I'd better see if I had chicken pox, you know?

"My mother lives in Connecticut, but winters in Miami Beach. I called for Mrs. Rebecca Levin at her hotel, but she was out on the beach sunning. I left a message for her to call. I couldn't call my sister in New York because she was a schoolteacher and working. I couldn't reach my brother in St. Louis or my other brother in Brooklyn. My sister in Long Island was younger, so she wouldn't know if I had chicken

"So I got the network and the sponsors on a conference call and told them the whole situation.

"How far does an agent have to go?' I asked them. They decided I was sincere and I was given until the following morning to get an answer.

It all has a happy ending. The Untouchables will be back on the air next season. Bob Stack recovered from the chicken pox.

And, for the record, Shiffrin did have the chicken pox as a boy.

Powdered bananas were recommended by early Chinese for strengthening bone marrow and stimulating blood circulation.

THIS IS A SCENE from "Moon Pilot," Walt Disney's latest live action comedy starring Tom Tyron, coming to the Palace Theater here Sunday, June 3.

Marilyn Is Back On Job; All Happy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe is back at work after singing "Happy Birthday" to President Kennedy, and everyone is happy—now.

Last week it was a different matter. Twentieth Century-Fox grumbled that "Something's Got to Give" was eight days behind schedule in its first three weeks because of Marilyn's absence. The studio thought she should stay here and work.

She didn't. She left Fox by helicopter Friday noon for Los Angeles International Airport, flew to New York and performed at the party fund-raising celebration in Madison Square Garden.

"I told the studio six weeks ago that I was going," she explained. "I consider it an honor to appear before the President of the United States."

Besides, she said, she is a Democrat.

Screwworm Plan Is Working Well

There have been several cases of screwworms reported in Scurry County, and positive identification has been made on several samples.

However, officials said this by no means indicates that the Screwworm Control Program is not working, officials said. Livestock producers in the southern part of Texas have indicated that results from the program can be seen by the fewer number of cases of screwworms this year, and by observing that fly blows fail to hatch.

If the northwest movement of the screwworm fly can be halted, the producer in Scurry County can more nearly take care of the flies already here by his regular treatment and spray program, it was observed. Thus, the local producer will be helped considerably.

"Though we are just getting started, I believe we are now on the road toward eradication of the screwworm in the Southwest." This statement by R. L. Murphee, DeWitt county, expresses the feeling of officials of the Animal Disease Eradication Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission and Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

"I have had only one screwworm case up to mid-year," Murphree continiuted. "Normally I would have had 15 to 20 cases. Though part of this may be due to the winter freeze I have found several blows or egg masses which have not hatched. They have just dried up and indicate the release of sterile flies in the area is helping now."

Gillespie County ranchman Clint Hardin, Willow Springs, described how he found a baby calf with its navel covered with screwworm eggs. It was not doctored but the eggs did not hatch. This section has been a hot spot for screwworms in this county, according to County Agent C. A. Stone.

USDA officials explain the apparent leveling off of screwworm cases in many counties during the past week is just a preview of results that will be obtained once the new 75-million-per-week sterile fly production plant at Mission goes into operation. Production has been increased to almost 30 million flies per week at the temporary facilities at Kerrville, but this has not been sufficient to do the job.

Progress of construction at the Mission plant is another reason for the favorable outlook, the officials explained. Work is ahead of schedule, and the plant should be completed by mid-June. Fly production will be underway by July 1.

Eventual eradication of this costly livestock pest, will come from a combination of the release of sterile flies and work by livestock owners. Stockmen should adhere closely to good screwworm management practices to protect their herds and help reduce screwworm populations in order that maximum results can be obtained from the sterile fly releases.

First Month Of Testing Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Soviet ships snooping just outside the range area, the United States has completed a month of nuclear testing in the Pacific with the detonation of a device dropped from an airplane.

The announcement of Friday's blast—13th in a series that began April 25—was preceded by Defense Department disclosure that three Russian ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, were about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the Pacific test zone.

A defense spokesman left no uncertainty of their objective when he said the ships are "obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission."

Although the United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger, the Soviet ships are within their legal right to travel the high seas. About all the U.S. patrolling force can do is to keep them under constant surveillance.

TOP JOURNALISTS AT SHS—Pictured at the high school Publications Banquet are, standing, Felicia DoPont, 1962-63 Tiger's Tale assistant editor, Deborah Short, 1962-63 news editor, Judy Richardson, 1962-63 Tiger's Lair assistant editor, and Bettie Boren, outstanding staff member and assistant editor of the 1961-62 Tiger's Tale. Seated are Janet Head, 1962-63 Tiger's Tale editor and Charlotte Stewart, 1962-63 Tiger's Lair editor and this year's outstanding annual staff member.

SHS Publications Staff Has Banquet

Charlotte Stewart of the high school annual staff, and Bettie Boren of the high school newspaper staff were honored as the outstanding staffers of their respective publications at the recent high school Publications Banquet.

Certificates were presented to all staff members of the newspaper the "Tiger's Tale" and of the annual, the "Tiger's Lair." Presenting the certificates were Lynda Bradley, editor of the paper, and Mary Ann Moffett, editor of the annual. The two top staffers were chosen by a vote of their fellow workers, as having contributed the most to this year's staffs.

Top staff members for next year were announced by Mrs. Bob Cole, publications advisor.

Heading the annual staff next year, will be Charlotte Stewart as editor and Judy Richardson as associate editor. Janet Head was named "Tiger's Tale" editor for 1962-63. Others working with her will be Felicia DuPont, assistant editor; Deborah Short, news editor; and Jimmy Don Evefett, business manager.

The remaining staff members will be announced next September Mrs. Cole said.

Dr. Max Haddick, director of journalism from the Interscholastic League in Austin, was the speaker for the Snyder High School Publications Banquet.

Pitner To Become Second Lieutenant

DENTON—Robert Byron Pitner of Snyder will become a second lieutenant in the Air Force ROTC during commissioning exercises at North Texas State University June 1.

A field-grade officer from Carswell Air Force Base will conduct the ceremony in which 13 cadets will be commissioned.

Pitner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Pitner, 2802 Avenue M, Snyder, is a personnel management major.

Hicks Named Director Of New Center

ABILENE—Claude Hicks, 29, a member of the Hardin-Simmons University administrative staff since 1957, has been named director of H-SU's new Student Center which will open this fall.

George L. Graham, executive vice president of H-SU, announced also that Hicks will continue to serve as the director of placement for university students' administration of the student loan and scholarship progrms, which Hicks has handled, will be re-assigned.

The new H-SU Student Center, now being constructed at a cost of approximately $1 million, is scheduled for completion late this summer and will be in operation when the fall semester opens in September. As director, Hicks will be in charge of general operations and the scheduling of the various events to be held in the building.

The Student Center will include recreational facilities, lounges, banquet and meeting rooms, a rooftop terrace, cafeteria and snackbar, bookstore and post office.

Hicks graduated from Hardin-Simmons in 1955 and after two years of Army service at the Presidio of San Francisco returned to H-SU as dormitory director. He became director of placement in 1958. He has been in charge of the university's student loan program since June, 1960, and has directed the scholarship program for the past year.

A native of Hockley County, Hicks graduated from Brownfield High School and did some undergraduate work at Decatur Baptist College before enrolling in H-SU. He is married to the former Jenny Cargile of Snyder, who is a student in Hardin-Simmons. They reside at 1601 Bel Air Dr., Abilene.

Hicks is a member of the Optimist Club, the Southwestern Placement Assn., and is a Sunday school superintendent in the First Baptist Church of Abilene.

Opera house in Manaus, port city of Brazil, was built in 1896 and cost $10,600,000.

Attention Focused On Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Brokers, the men closest to the stock market, struggled Saturday to diagnose its ills and prospects, and came up with varied and sometimes conflicting judgments.

A cross-country sampling of broker opinion yielded agreement on a few points—notably that stock prices started the current plunge from dizzy heights in some cases, and that investor confidence has wilted.

There was division on whether the market, after staggering losses last week, has hit bottom.

In some minds there was frank puzzlement.

"I would expect a good rally next week," said Derry Hilgeer of Rauscher, Pierce & Co., in Dallas. "But possibly a little more decline may come later."

In Los Angeles, Ernest Ochs of Sutro & Co. said "I don't look for an upturn in the near future."

"Unfortunately, hysteria sometimes takes the place of reason and this prolongs the downtrend," Ochs added.

Attention focused on what is happening in the stock market after the market this week absorbed its worst shellacking in more than 30 years.

Based on the Associated Press average, an estimated $23.7 billion was whacked from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was the heaviest in a year, rising to 22,988,850 shares from 19,566,700 in the preceding week, itself an unusually large turnover.

Blue chips and the more volatile "growth" stocks were hit indiscriminately.

Asked why, a broker in Boston, Mass., who asked anonymity, shrugged.

"We don't know, the market's acted very poorly. When it'll turn around is anyone's guess," he added:

"We don't put out any advice to customers like some houses do. Everything's been said and who knows who's right? There just isn't any way to forecast."

A feeling apparently shared by many brokers was expressed in San Francisco by Wendell Witter, a partner in Dean, Witter & Co.

"I think it has been a matter of shaken public confidence, the market starting down about the time of the steel price situation. You take confidence out of the economic picture and people stop looking so favorably on the future," Witter said.

He foresaw an early leveling off of prices, with an increase in buying by pensions and investment funds tending to lend support.

Signs of an end to the slide were seen in Chicago by Reuben Thorson Sr., a partner in Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis.

"There has been a lot of froth in unproven growth stocks," Thorson said. "They appear to have been pretty realistically adjusted this week. But for the most part, they failed to recover ground lost in last week's sharp setback.

"I believe we're rapidly approaching a culmination."

U.S. Treasury bond prices reversed a downtrend to post a fairly good but uneven advance this week. But for the most part, they failed to recover ground lost in last week's sharp setback.

In heavy turnover, corporate bonds rallied inconclusively and finished the week about where they started.

Corporate volume zoomed to a high for the year with turnover measured in par value rising to $40.27 million from $36.99 million the preceding week.

Social Events Take Limelight In Snyder

Delta Kappa Gamma Holds Annual Founders Day Lunch

The Zeta Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Saturday at the Stanfield Elementary School for its Founder's Day luncheon celebration.

The event highlighted the year's work with a joint meeting with Beta Epsilon, mother chapter, Colorado City and Loraine, and Gamma Tau sister chapter, Rotan and Sweetwater. Other chapters represented were Epsilon Omicron Lamesa and Alpha Gamma, Cleburne.

Hostesses for the affair were Lillian Jones and Anna Belle Hensch. The colorful table arrangements carried out the program theme and harmonized with the Society emblems and colors.

Mary Devenport presented the program honoring the founders, while Virginia Grove had charge of the beautiful candlelighting ceremony. As tribute was paid to each founder a candle was lighted, five white ones for those deceased and seven red ones for those still living.

In paying tribute to the founders, Mrs. Devenport said in part:

"Today we have come together to honor the founders of Delta Kappa Gamma Society which is unique in the annals of organizations. Born of noble aspirations and nurtured faithfully for more than 30 years; the society can best be interpreted through its achievements; its future can be predicted in terms of the sustained efforts of its members in carrying out the program of work.

"Today we pay tribute to the twelve who on May 11, 1929, were imbued with the necessary wisdom and zeal to share in organizing the Society." She then lighted the candles.

Concluding she stated: "Many other noble women, inspired by the same ideals, have joined in the work begun by these brave twelve that day in 1929. Through years of depression, years of war, and years of heavy burdens for teachers, the society has grown—in extent and in favor—until membership has become one of the marks of a master teacher. Tens of thousands of women—in all 50 states, in the District of Columbia, and in Canada—have joined its ranks and contribute their labors to the carrying out of its great purposes.

"Today, where world organizations meet to act to improve the educational, economic, social, and political status of teachers and children—there is Delta Kappa Gamma, lending its influence.

"Where teachers of any land need help and encouragement to continue their studies and enlarge their services, there is Delta Kappa Gamma;

"Where legislators meet to consider proposals for improvement of educational welfare, there is Delta Kappa Gamma."

Maydell Burns, outgoing president, presided for a short business meeting following the luncheon.

Jan Vestal was chosen by the chapter to receive the Grant-in-Aid for the school term 1962-63. She will enroll in September at SMU, Dallas, where she plans to major in secondary education with a teaching major in history.

Members attending from Colorado City were, Ann Halbert, Oda Moore, Winnie Quinney, Dale Geer, Mabel Merritt, Mattie Hines, Mabel Smith, Fannie Faye Feaster and Donna Reed; from Loraine Mabel Givins, Inez Cope and Estha Coffee; from Rotan, Delila Baird, Josie Baird and Empress Day; from Lamesa; Aline Cox, and Cleburne Gloria Jenkins.

Snyder members presented, besides those mentioned above were, Vela Bell, Zaida Brown, Sallie O'Rear, Eva Nelson, Ruby Anderson, Agnes Kunkel, Esther Boren, Durelle Gorman, Marcene McCollom, Rita Carter, Leota Burris, Bess Johnson, Vestal Manor, Maryse Scott, Rosabel Watson, and Laura Holloday.

BRUNCH HELD—The patio of the home of Mrs. Joe Graham, 2700 Thirty-fourth, was the scene of a brunch Saturday morning honoring two senior girls, Jackie McNabb and Bunny Browning. A graduation theme was used in the table decor, backed by a beautiful setting of blooming garden flowers in the yard. Co-hosting the affair with Mrs. Graham was Miss Gayle Browning. Twenty guests attended.

LUNCHEON HELD—Twenty - two senior girls were honored with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Fred Bullard, 3606 Avenue X Saturday. Individual tables were beautifully laid with pink linen and centered with spring flowers. Other hostesses were Mrs. Ken Davis, Mrs. Max West and Mrs. Whit Thompson, Jr.

MRS. HUGHES—Mrs. J. T. Hughes, second from left is visiting with friends as they tour her beautiful back yard and marvel at the beautiful flowers. This home was one of the stops on the pilgramage held Thursday afternoon by the Snyder Garden Club. Beautiful display tables are seen in the background for outdoor entertaining.

WILSON HOME—This picture reveals the lovely grounds at the Frank Wilson home, 2609 Thirty-fifth Street. Members of the Snyder Garden Club, of which Mrs. Wilson is a member, opened their gardens and patios for members and out-of-town guests Thursday afternoon. Notice the lovely table setting on the patio.

The Gardeners Corner

A small, oval flower bed beside our house is a memorial to a big poplar tree, three large-size blisters and a broken ax handle.

The ailing tree had been removed the week before we moved in. A big, raw stump about three inches above the ground remained an an eyesore. So we set out to cut it below ground level. The job was tough and took many hours.

This type of chore has been simplified. Arborists and landscape contractors have a grinding machine now that pulverizes stumps to a depth adequate for planting a grass cover or flowers that don't send down deep roots.

The grinder i a s,ch's ago

The grinder is a wheel with stubby, strong teeth. The rapidly spinning wheel is moved slowly over the stump and the teeth do the work.

Tomatoes are one of the easiest vegetables to grow. They will thrive in ordinary garden soil if provided enough water and a bit of plant food. Keep the weeds down nearby. If you want nicer-appearing fruit, keep the vines staked.

If your tomatoes have a tendency to crack, you probably will do better with one of several varieties that are more crack resistant. These include Cardinal Hybrid, Fireball, Crack Proof, Pritchard, Perfection Hybrid and Glamor.

For the small garden, it is hardly worthwhile growing your own seedlings when you may buy a dozen or 15 plants for so little. We planted seeds one year but vowed never again. It was too much trouble.

* * *

By now, you should have planted your lettuce, broccoli, carrots, beets and other so-called cool-weather vegetables. You may make second planting of these items almost as late as mid-summer for fall harvesting.

Wait until all danger of frost has passed before planting more tender vegetables. Plant several varieties of corn with varying maturity dates for a fresh supply over a longer period, or stagger plantings of the same kind.

There is a hopeful word for those fighting the devastating Dutch lem disease. Dale M. Norris, University of Wisconsin entomologist, says a systemic chemical called Shell 3562 appears to be "a highly effective control agent with commercial potential."

This chemical is implanted in the vascular system of the elm and is carried through the branches and onto the bark tissue. The chemical thus kills bark beetles, which spread the disease-causing fungus.

Bird lovers also will be encouraged by Shell 3562, which Norris reported reduces the threat to bird life, endangered by sprays containing DDT.

"With systemics," he said, "we can confine the chemical to the tree. . . without contaminating the area. From the standpoint of bird life, this would be better, although there could be a hazard to the sapsuckers. . ."

The chemical is being tested this spring, according to the magazine, American Tree Farmer and Forestry Digest.

Norris cautioned that chemicals such as Shell 3562 are preventatives and that sanitation is still vital. This means DESTROY ALL DEAD ELM WOOD.

Potted plants are precious to householders but horticulturist Louis P. Politi of the New York Botanical Graden advises, "Take all those exotic types . . and throw them in the garbage can". Further, he recommends heaving out old potted plants and replacing them with vigorous, young new specimens.

Remember also, he says, that plants get spring fever, just like people, after all that dry heat of indoor living during the winter and should be repotted.

Of every $10 invested in planting, he said, $9 should be for proper soil. Otherwise, he explained, "it makes no difference what fertilizer you put on it, what vitamins you put into it. . ."

Mrs. George Light Hostess To Tri-Community H-D

The Tri-Community Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday at the Union community center with Mrs. George Light, hostess. Seven members were present.

The club will help with the 4-H swim party, the date to be announced later.

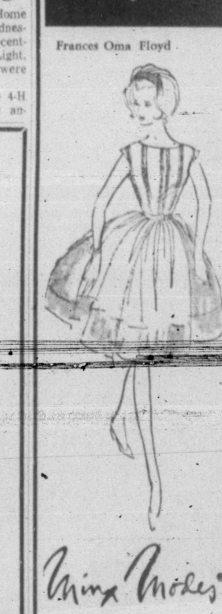

A program on "Meal Making" with recipes for quick meals was given by Mrs. A. A. Behringer, Jr., and Mrs. George Watts.

Each member brought a favorite dish to sample and the recipes were exchanged.

Betty Jo Longbotham Becomes Bride Of Jerry Allen Davis On Friday Evening

Miss Betty Jo Longbatham, 3015 Denison, and Jerry Allen Davis, 3005 Avenue T, were married at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Longbotham, Jr. The groom is the grandson of Mrs. W. N. Davis and the son of Mrs. G. I. Steadman.

At either side of the altar were wrought iron candelabra, adorned with English ivy. The baptistery was embellished with an arrangement of white gladioli.

The Reverend Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Virgil Mott played traditional wedding music. Miss Nan Hill sang "Because", "I Love You Truly, and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown with a bodice and petal overskirt of imported hand blocked lace and a full skirt of French silk illusion with hand blocked lace appliques. Her veil was of silk illusion with a border of lace and a double crown of seed pearls.

Mrs. Morris W. Williamson of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a deep rose colored dress of delustered satin with a scalloped neck and a bell skirt. Her headdress was a rose illusion scattered with seed pearls and with a crown of rosebuds. Bridesmaids were Miss Freddie Gerlach of Littlefield, Miss Judy Wallace of Snyder, and Miss Belinda Sue Davis of Snyder, sister of the groom. Their dresses were of pink delustered satin with a scalloped neck and bell skirt. Their headdresses were of pink illusion, scattered with seed pearls and with a crown of rosebuds. They carried pink Duchess roses.

Candle lighters were Johnny Phillips and Keith Longbotham of Snyder. William Phillips of Snyder carried the rings upon a pillow of white satin. Miss Cynthia Longbotham of Snyder sprinkled pink rose petals as she walked down the aisle. All are cousins of the bride.

Naxey Davis of Carlsbad, New Mexico, brother of the groom, served as best man. Larry Mullins of Lubbock, Tommy Hayes of Electra, and Bill Jennings of Alpine were groomsmen.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The dining room decorations carried out the bride's chosen colors of pink and white. The table was laid with a white net cloth trimmed with pink rosebuds. The table was centered with a large white wedding candle, adorned with English ivy and pink rosebuds. The candle filled the room with its fragrance of "Lily-of-the-Valley". The bride's three-tiered cake was embossed in pink roses with green leaves.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a striking pink silk suit, accented with a pink petal hat.

The couple will reside in Houston where Mr. Davis will be employed by Ernst and Ernst Accounting Firm and Mrs. Davis will resume her studies as a senior Home Economics major in the University of Houston. Mr. Davis is a May graduate of Texas Technological College.

What Citizen Can Do About Delinquency

KIDS, CRIME AND CHAOS. By Roul Tunley.

The American public, says Tunley, has abdicated to the experts in a field that cries for the active interest of the public: juvenile delinquency.

The experts, he argues, cherish their own individual brands of solution, agreeing only that we need more research. Or, he says, while proposing research they forwarn "there are no easy answers," thereby justifying failure to find any.

The author, a newspaper reporter, magazine editor, teacher and now free-lance writer, made a a world study of juvenile delinquency through an Armistead Foundation grant to the Greater Philadelphia Movement.

He indicts the "shibboleths and myths" of the problem and contends the greatest error of all is to believe that poverty and slum conditions are a cause of crime.

He insists that delinquency is the product of urbanization and industrializaton, and cites delinquency rates in such highly industrialized nations as the United States, Sweden, West Germany and Japan.

His attack on some established institutions and practices is certain to arouse a considerable rebuttal. He argues that the educational system needs revision because it is based on the idea that everyone should be trained for college. He says labor laws are rigid and restrictive since they keep young people from meaningful employment at an age when they well could profit from it.

Tunley writes clearly and persuasively on the basis of a first-hand study in many countries and many areas of the United States. His book deserves a wide audience for it seeks to spell out what the ordinary citizen can do, as well as inform him about what has been done and needs to be done.

Women To Be Offered Courses

Adult courses for women will be offered by the Homemaking Department at Snyder High School this summer from June 11 through June 20.

Classes will be taught in clothing construction with special emphasis on short cuts and choosing for charm. Some features to be covered in the unit on charm will be posture, line, poise, diet, social graces, and selection of accessories. This course is open to beginners as well as those who are advanced.

The classes will be held from 9:00 o'clock until 11:00 o'clock each morning in room 101.

In conjunction with the adult classes a play school, supervised by Vera Periman, homemaking teacher, will be held for the convenience of the mothers who are taking the adult courses and for the experience homemaking students will gain in working in the play school.

To register for the adult classes and the play school, please call Mrs. Waller, secretary in the Senior High School Principal's office, telephone No. 3-6301, or Mrs. Dan Martin after school hours, telephone No. 3-3413.

Texas Reading Club Is Encouraged

AUSTIN — Texas Reading Club, a summer vacation reading program for first graders through high school sponsored by Texas State Library, promises to be the largest on record, according to Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and Librarian.

Already more than 10,000 Reading Logs have been ordered by librarians over the State and the deadline is not until June 1. The purpose of the club is to encourage and stimulate interest in reading among the younger age group.

A two-color Vacation Reading Club Certificate will be issued to each member of the club by Texas State Library if the member reads a minimum of 12 books on his reading level between June 1 and August 31.

Young Texans (primary, elementary, junior and teenagers) will also receive a Reading Log that has a drawing of the new Texas Archives and Library Building and space to list the books read during the vacation period.

State Library has sponsored vacation reading programs for the past three years. Harold L. Marburger, director of Rural Library Services Division, in charge of the program reported.

Nelda Smith Becomes Bride Of Ramon M. Hedges In Double Ring Ceremony Here

The Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ was the setting for the marriage of Nelda Dean Smith and Ramon Monnie Hedges Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. C. Dale Brooks, minister of the Pioneer Park Church of Christ, Lubbock, performed the candlelight double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith, 2001 Avenue V, and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. (Bushy) Hedges, West Twenty-sixth Street.

The church decorations included branched candelabras with white tapers, bouquets of white gladiola and stock with flowing English ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length fitted sheath gown of white satin covered with silk organza and Chantilly lace. Long tapered sleeves ended in points over the hands. A portrait neckline of scalloped lace down the center back, a chapel train of satin on which was appliqued falling lace roses and lace scallops at the bottom of the train completed the exquisite fashion. The dress, an original, was designed by the bride and made by Mrs. John DeShazo.

She carried a white orchid with purple throat, surrounded with stephanotis and Frenched white mums. White leaves of Chantilly lace from the dress added the extra bridal touch.

Mrs. Kay Nell Bradley of Plainview was matron of honor. Candlelighters were Miss Peggy Smith of Lubbock and Mikey Smith, brother of the bride of Snyder. He wore a black tuxedo.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Glenda Moore, Miss Joe Ann Morgan and Miss Paulette Jones.

The matron of honor and candlelighter wore identical sheath dresses of ice pink satin with matching net hats and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were attired in rose bud satin sheaths with matching net hats and carried matching rose bouquets.

Norman Inman of Midland was best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Jody Davis, and Bobby Lockhart of Midland, Dr. P. N. N. Strong of Lubbock, Charles Smith, brother of the bride, and Keith Pitner of Snyder.

A reception was held at Martha Ann Woman's Club. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth with the couples memory candle, a bouquet of white stock and carnations flanking the three-tiered wedding cake and frosty pink punch. The groom's table was covered with a lace cloth over rose pink with a bouquet of frosty pink carnations in the center. Chocolate cake and coffee was served.

Presiding at the bridal tables were Gayle Browning, Chiva Pitner, Jackie Norris and Billie Springer.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a white linen suit with pink accessories.

They will make their home in Lubbock where both are attending Texas Tech.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By MOLLY BOSMAN
Chief Stewardess,
KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

With the summer travel season approaching, many young mothers soon will be taking baby on his first vacation trip—by air.

Most major airlines maintain extensive facilities for baby's travel comfort and mothers will find that a trip by air with baby can be both simple and pleasant. Babies travel very well by air and since the trips are quick, many of the stresses and problems of long journeys are eliminated.

To take full advantage of an airline's baby facilities, let the reservation clerk know, when you buy your tickets, that you will have your baby with you. An infant under two years of age travels for ten percent of the adult fare, unless you want to reserve a seat just for him, at 50 percent of the regular fare.

Baby's traveling basket, diapers, blankets and other necessary items are carried free of charge and are not included in the weight of your baggage. On many flights the airline will supply, without charge, a hanging baby basket which can be suspended above your seat. These should be reserved when you purchase your tickets.

Food for baby aboard an aircraft also is provided by the airline, although not every brand is stocked. Most aircraft carry albuminous and whole milk, supplies of strained vegetables, fruits and cereals and baby crackers. The stewardess will be glad to have food ready for your baby if you will inform her of baby's feeding schedule.

Airliners also carry a special "baby box" for your convenience. It contains oil, ointment, powder, baby soap and other essentials. Sterilized water is available on most flights and the galley is equipped to store formulas under refrigeration and to heat them when needed. It is advisable to prepare your own formula at home and give it to the stewardess on boarding the plane.

When an aircraft takes off or descends, it is quite normal to feel a slight pressure in your ears, even on pressurized planes. Your baby may react quite naturally and start to cry. By giving him something to drink, he will swallow automatically and relieve the pressure. It is not advisable to put cotton in baby's ears on a flight.

Airline stewardesses will do everything possible to make your baby's first trip by air comfortable and pleasant.

Ira P-TA Has Final Meet Of Year

The Ira Parent Teachers Association met recently with Mrs. O. W. Holladay, president presiding. Mrs. J. D. Hooker gave a very inspiring devotional entitled "Bring Up A Child".

Mrs. Benard Bishop who has been appointed by the executive committee to audit the treasurer's books, reported that everything was in order.

Mrs. Pete Sterling, hospitality chairman, introduced visitor, Mrs. Ladell Myer, and expressed her appreciation to those who had helped with refreshments the past year.

Committee chairmen were appointed by the president. Mrs. Travis Stokes announced that the average attendance of the year was 56 per cent and the second grade won the room count three times.

Mrs. Jesse Grizzle led the group in songs of "The Eyes of Texas", "Up The Lazy River", and "Row Your Boat".

Games played by the group "Balloon Burst", led by Mrs. Floyd House. "Objects", by Mrs. Weldon Wiggins. "Pass The Life Saver" and "Whistling Cracker" by Mrs. Pete Sterling.

Refreshments were served in the lunch room.

Use Melons Many Ways This Year

With a little imagination, delicious melons can be included on your menu almost every day during the season.

Melons are popular of course for a breakfast starter. They also can be used in a number of ways in delightful, eye-catching salads. A salad containing melon balls can be given a gourmet twist by adding a little American blue cheese, whose pungent flavor blends well with the other ingredients.

To mix six servings of a green salad with both melon and blue cheese for special flavor, toss 1 quart torn lettuce greens and about 3 cups of melon cut into bite-size balls. Combine 1 cup sour cream and ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese. Then toss lightly with melon and lettuce. To serve, lift the salad onto chilled plates.

All-Day Workshop Held By Pyron-Loraine 4-H Club

The Pyron-Loraine 4-H Club held an all day record workshop recently at the Inadale community center. Miss Butts was present to help with records.

Each member brought a sack lunch, and Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Stirl served drinks.

Present were Peggy Rannefeld, Kathryn Helm, Joyce Collier, Nelda Rannefeld, Carolyn Collier, Shirley Stirl and Margie Davis.

Peggy and Nelda exhibited some pot holders and a pajama bag.

Bulletin! Salad Time Here Again

Salad time is here again!

Most people, especially the men in your family will agree that the most important part of the salad is the dressing. One of the most popular dressings and one that has particular appeal to hearty male appetites, is made with tangy American blue cheese.

Blue cheese dressings are easy to make, and they transform an ordinary salad into a real taste treat. American blue cheese, which is made from pure cow's milk from herds of our rich dairyland, is available in supermarkets and other stores that sell cheese.

SUMMERTIME DRESSING

½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 ounces sour cream
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce.

Blend blue cheese and mayonnaise until it is almost smooth. Add sour cream and worcestershire sauce. Stir well. Additional crumbled blue cheese can be used as a garniture, if desired.

Hunger, Fear Of Famine Are Blamed In Exodus Of Chinese

By FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) —The little diesel switch engine and its string of 10 passenger crowded coaches made the 2½-mile trip six times one day.

At the end of the line the passengers got out and trudged across a wood planked bridge that had a guardhouse, flying a yellow starred red flag at the far end.

Hong Kong sent 6,000 refugees back to Red China that day. Somewhere among them was a middle - aged Chinese peasant woman who, when caught by a Hong Kong border police patrol the day before, had bitterly shouted, "You are sending us back to starve."

Hunger now and fear of famine to come sent upwards of 60,000 flooding across Hong Kong's twisting 22-mile long border since May 1. They forded rivers, climbed rock-strewn cliffs, tore down fences, crawled under barbed wire. They crossed in twos and threes and by dozens in mass waves of 500 to a thousand at a time.

Some 55,000 were rounded up by police and soldiers and sent back by a Hong Kong government that has absorbed nearly 1.5 million refugees in the past 14 years and has no room, facilities or money to absorb more.

Some 8,000 to 10,000 were believed to have escaped the helicopter-guided patrols and lost themselves among Hong Kong's 3.5 million people. Some will find jobs but most are unskilled peasant farmers who will become further burden upon Hong Kong—which spent 30 per cent of its total budget in 1961 and will spend 35 per cent this year on housing, health, education, welfare facilities and services for refugees already here. In the past six years Hong Kong has built 11 huge resettlement housing projects and moved 440,000 refugees into modern ferro-concrete apartments.

The refugee situation has not been entirely one-sided. Hong Kong owes part of its postwar industrial growth to those political refugees who fled the Communist takeover of the mainland.

The rich ones brought capital which they sank into new businesses and factories. The poor ones supplied a surplus of cheap labor and made it possible for Hong Kong products to undersell competing nations on the world markets.

A refugee who reached Hong Kong in midweek said a Communist guard ignored him as he waded the Shumchun border river and crawled under Hong Kong's boundary fence.

"The word went all through our village that the guards would not try to stop us and they did not," the escapee, 23, told relatives, who passed the story on to newsmen. He said he did not know who brought the report to his village. He said he had spent several days with would-be refugees from other villages and they all had gotten similar reports. He said he and the others had no idea why the Communist authorities were allowing them to cross freely.

The question also puzzled Western diplomats trying to assess the Communist motives. A number believe that the Reds saw propaganda value, both at home and overseas, in letting hungry people batter at Hong Kong's door and then be refused admittance. They point out that there was no Red border relaxation until after Hong Kong publicly announced in mid-April it was going to send all escapees back. Some believe the Communists saw a good opportunity to embarrass Hong Kong and the Free World and at the same time dim the beacon of hope which Hong Kong has always been for mainland Chinese in time of trouble.

U. S. Lays More Cards On Table

BY DON HUTH

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The United States is laid more of its cards on the table to keep Southeast Asia from going Communist.

There is little betting either way whether President Kennedy's new approach to this critical area of Asia will succeed. The real decision on the success or failure of U.S. moves in Southeast Asia likely lies with what the Communists do or try to do.

The United States has put 2,000 troops into Thailand, close to the Laos border. Not all officials agree that this show of force was necessary, since recent Communist advances in Laos apparently were not aimed at a complete takeover. There is some speculation that the military move in Thailand disturbed the balance in Laos, where the United States is seeking a negotiated settlement based on the formation of a truly neutral government.

Supporters of Kennedy's decision say the move was necessary to show the Communists that Laos —if it cannot be kept from their hands—is not to become a launching point for further military and subversive moves into Southeast Asia.

The U.S. moves in Thailand may spark a settlement in Laos but there are wide gaps of disagreement among the Lao factions. The outlook for keeping Laos in the pro-Western camp is dismal. The Communists virtually control the northern part of the country. The chances of a really neutral government's succeeding are slim. Yet the Kennedy administration's approach to the problem may be the best left open to it.

If there is any reason for cautious optimism from the West's viewpoint, it is in South Viet Nam. The effect of military aid and of the guerrilla warfare training by American advisors is beginning to be felt. Success will have to be measured in years, as in the 12-year campaign against the Communists in Malaya. The war will end when the Viet Cong have been eliminated or pushed into Communist North Viet Nam.

In another sector the United States is attempting to mediate the West New Guinea dispute—with little success so far.

War drums beat in Jakarta while Indonesian infiltrators parachute into New Guinea. The Dutch have resisted the intruders and strengthened their defenses.

A bright spot is the Federation of Malaya, where British Commonwealth arms and men won the most significant victory against communism since the end of the last war.

Malaya is working to build a greater Malaysia which would encompass Malaya, the state of Singapore, North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei. Communist elements are trying to block it, but it has a good chance of success.

Advice On How To Ship Hippopotamus

LONDON (AP) — When shipping a hippopotamus by air, pack it in a strongly built hardwood crate with a sliding door of iron bars.

The advice comes in a new International Air Transport Association document detailing 14 types of packing for 121 varieties of wild life ranging from oysters and crickets to lions and tigers.

"There are, however, no standard specifications for packing Giraffes," IATA says.

Valuable Books Sold At Premium

MEXICO CITY (AP)— A man robbed the Aragon library of $40,000 worth of valuable books—and then sold them for 80 cents each, police said. The suspect was arrested later. Police said he had posed as a relative of the director of the library, and had been given privileges in the building. About 300 books were reported stolen.

QUESTION: Why were the old time Turks called Ottoman Turks?

* * *

ANSWER: During the 9th centurn, bands of Moslem Warriors began roaming what are now the Arab states. These were called ghazis, which meant "fighters for the faith." They were dedicated to setting up Moslem states and they were very successful, conquering groups of people and then splitting up, some ghazis staying and some going on to conquer more people. One most successful organization of ghazis reached its bloom in the early 13th century under a man named Ertughrul. When the fighter died, at the age of 90, his son took over for him. The son's name was Osman. His people were called Osmanli Turks. This became changed, through the centuries, to Ottoman Turks, named after the son of the man who had founded their state. The Ottoman Empire lasted for centuries. It spread out over Asia and Africa. By the 16th century Constantinople had fallen to the Turks and Egypt and Hungary were taken. Finally the Turks decided to try Western Europe. It was here that they were finally stopped. During the following centuries the Empire grew smaller and smaller. After World War I, under Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Turkey became a republic.

FOR YOU TO DO: A number of years ago a young map-maker made history fighting in Arabia against the Turks. He became known as Lawrence of Arabia. See what you can find out about this adventurer.

Soviet Paper Raps Landing In Thailand

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet military paper said today the landing of American troops in Thailand "bears the hallmark of the crude work of American adventurers—particularly the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency."

Red Star, organ of the Soviet Defense Ministry, said: "The world remembers the disgraceful role played by that hornet's nest in preparing and carrying out the U.S. intervention in Cuba and later on in South Viet Nam. It seems the same dirty business is being repeated now in Laos."

EVENING SNACK

An evening snack that goes over well after an exciting game of bridge is a tray of crackers, American blue cheese and fruit served with hot coffee. Let the tangy, sharp cheese stand at room temperature about half an hour before serving, so that it will spread easily on crisp crackers and chilled fruits. This is a sociable kind of refreshment that you can linger over leisurely.

EASY DRESSING

Mix ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup French dressing and dash of dry mustard. Then lightly stir in ½ cup crumbled American blue cheese so tiny pieces are distributed throughout the dressing.

Krupp Near Victory After Long Struggle

By JOHN WEYLAND

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — Alfried Krupp, once a convicted war criminal but now perhaps the world's richest man, is within grasp of final victory in a long struggle to save his great industrial empire.

What he will do with it eventually, however, is a question mark in Germany today.

In victory 17 years ago the World War II Allies feared Krupp's concentration of power as a menace to the peace of Europe. They confiscated all the farflung holdings.

Reduced to poverty and disgrace, Krupp was put into prison under a 12-year sentence for using slave labor and plundering conquered territories to produce instruments of war at his mines, factories and shipyards.

It was a dramatic reversal of fortune for the fifth generation head of an industrial dynasty whose wealth, power and fame were unrivaled in Germany.

Today, thanks to the changing times, Krupp is once again a free man worth more than a billion dollars by conservative estimate. He has reacquired the position he held before his world crumbled around him in 1945.

There is one exception.

While cutting his prison sentence in 1951 and restoring all his properties, the United States, Britain and France insisted that Krupp give up half his empire by selling coal and iron operations at Rheinhausen in the Ruhr Valley.

This was to end his absolute control over production from raw materials to finished goods, a massing of economic power than considered potentially dangerous to democracy in West Germany.

Krupp agreed to make the sale no later than Jan. 31, 1959.

Before that time arrived, West Germany was established as a trusted ally of its onetime enemies. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, arguing that the agreement was based on outdated policy, pleaded for nonenforcement. Krupp himself, free to set any price he choise, protested that no qualified buyer ever turned up.

Under these circumstances the deadline was repeatedly extended. The newest date is July 31 this year.

The expectation prevails that no government will move to force Krupp to comply. The three governments, should they make a surprise decision to get tough, would have a hard time finding a court to hear the Krupp case.

Meanwhile, Krupp employs 115,000 persons and makes 3.50P products from diesel engines to false teeth.

Now 54, Krupp lives an apparently lonely and quiet life here. Two marriages ended in divorce. He finds his greatest pleasure in amateur photography and fast cars.

'Lost' Pilot Faces Smuggling Charge

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP)—Marcus Hooks, for whom nine United States Air Force men died in a crash while hunting his lost plane, faced charges of smuggling today.

Mexican police arrested the Dohna, Tex., man near Abasolo, 60 miles east of Ciudad Victoria at Tamaulipas. He was charged with smuggling cloth.

Hooks' plane landed near Soto la Marina May 13. Reports that he was missing started the search by a Harlingen Air Force Base plane which crashed killing all nine crewmen.

Hooks must face Federal District Judge Neceforo Olea Mendoza today.

Producer's Wife Granted Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Producer Hunsicker Bogeaus' wife testified after testifying he would leave home for as long as three months without saying where he was going or leaving her any funds.

Superior Court Judge Benjamin Landis approved a settlement giving Dolores Moran Bogeaus, 33, a former actress, a $168,000 settlement. Bogeaus, 57, also agreed to pay support for their son, Brett, 13. The Bogeaus' were married in 1946.

Eisenhower Encouraged

WAYNE, Pa. (AP)—"If the fields which we have come into we are ahead," former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said when asked how he thought the flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter affected America's position in the space race with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower said, however, the Soviets apparently still had the advantage over the United States in the size and power of rockets. The former president was at Valley Forge Military Academy for the dedication of "Eisenhower Hall," a new officers' dining hall named in his honor. Because of a thunderstorm, a helicopter carrying him here from Washington was forced to detour and he arrived three hours late, coming from Aberdeen, Md., by car.

Eisenhower learned the full story of the dramatic recovery of Carpenter on his arrival at the academy.

"It's good news," he said. "I'm delighted he's back safely."

Independents Still Battle

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)— Independent oil operators lost a round this week but say their fight for stricter limits on oil imports is not over.

They have not given up hope of amending President Kennedy's proposed Trade Expansion Act.

The House Committee on Ways and Means turned down the amendment this week by a 15-10 vote.

A 13-12 vote three days earlier had given tentative approval to the controversial amendment that would spell out a formula for White House use in limiting imports of a commodity threatening national security. The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act that expires June 30 merely authorizes the President to control such commodities.

Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., author of the amendment, had warned the independents the victory scored by the committee's first vote might be only temporary. He also said any final victory would be "by the skin of our teeth."

Steed has asked the 7,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America and the 6,500-member Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association to help muster strength for the next round.

He hopes a House vote can force the Ways and Means Committee to reconsider once more and accept the amendment.

Under normal rules, the trade bill would not be subject to amendment from the floor but the House could resubmit it to the committee with instructions to include specific provisions.

Steed told the Texas independents last week he believes a coalition of congressmen from oil and coal states can push through a motion to resubmit.

Such a motion could develop into a major test vote on the administration's trade program.

Steed said 60 Democrats have pledged themselves to support such a motion and that he believes only 47 Democratic votes are needed for a successful Democratic-Republican coalition.

The current mandatory program to control oil imports is based on the national defense clause which, with backing by oil independents, was added to the Reciprocal Trade Act in 1955 and renewed in 1958. This action opened the way for control of any commodity threatening national defense but, in effect, left the formula for control to the White House.

The Kennedy administration wants to retain this authority without basic change.

TANGY POTATO SALAD

Fold some crumbled American blue cheese into your potato salad to pep up the mixture. The pungent, salt-and-peper flavor of the cheese will add enough zest so that you probably won't need any further seasoning.

A Mink In Every Closet

NEW YORK (AP)—Mink is so accessible today that a secretary can blink mink lashes, carry a mink beer opener, or even punch her time clock fully clad in it without causing office gossip.

Yet, paradoxically, the fur that makes up 85 per cent of the market remains a status symbol. It is not only expensive now (averaging $3000 for a coat), but by Fall it will be 10 per cent more so.

The pelts of these vicious well-fed, short-lived animals drape around the shoulders of more working girls than ever before because, as Edward Langenfeld says, "more working girls earn enough to afford it."

In fact, the president of the Enba Mink Association (an organization of mink ranchers) claims the mink market is a remarkably accurate measure of the health of the nation's economy.

Approximately two dozen times during the winter months auction houses here test the economy, and, also at the wave of a gavel, improve or shatter the fortunes of some of the country's 25,000 mink ranchers.

The ranchers often accompany their bundles of blonde, brown and tan mink skins to the auction house to learn immediately how much return they will get on an investment of four mink meals a day from April through November.

The graders stamp, code and arrange them in bundles of about 36 pelts and tie them to racks. There they hand like eerie phantom trees in the blueish light. After that the ranchers' fate, and the eventual cost of a mink coat is up to the fur buyer.

He dons a white coat, although it isn't necessary just a carryover from less efficient days when greasy, untanned skins got their surroundings soiled. After examining the bundles, he notes their numbers in his market book, and descends to a long, narrrow auction room many floors below.

Bud Schulberg: Like Rip Van Winkle

By HOLLIS ALPERT
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I feel sort of like Rip Van Winkle, said Budd Schulberg. "It certainly isn't the same Hollywood that I knew."

Schulberg knew Hollywood intimately. He came here in 1919 and lived through the golden days when his father, B. P. Schulberg, was one of the town's big powers. Budd left the town in 1939 with some bitterness.

His disillusion with Hollywood resulted in "What Makes Sammy Run," the best and most successful novel about the movie business.

Schulberg was back in his old home town for a rare visit to confer with Jerry Wald on "The Enemy Within." He talked a bit about the project and about the changes that time has wrought here.

"Nothing is the same," he reflected. "I lived here in the era when the big studio was all-powerful. Now the studios have lost their power, and the big agencies seem to run the town.

"It's rather sad for me to see the changes. We had the second house on the beach at Malibu. I remember fishing off the rickety pier. Now there are houses all along the beach and on the hillside, and the pier is huge, with a cafe on the end of it."

But Schulberg loses no time lamenting over the past. He is too concerned with his script for "The Enemy Within," based on Robert F. Kennedy's best-seller about labor-management corruption.

"I am into my second year on this project," he said wearily. "It is the most exhaustive work I have ever undertaken. I have made four trips to Washington to talk to Kennedy and other government officials. I have spoken to hundreds of people and read millions of words of testimony. And the end is not in view."

Schulberg said he wrote over 400 pages for the screen treatment—just short of a novel. His script runs almost double what a script is supposed to run. And as fast as he cuts, additions are suggested.

New Job Ends Close Ties

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP) — Felix von Eckardt, for 10 years the official spokesman for West Germany, is taking a new job. The change reflects the end of a long and close relationship between Eckardt and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

It has long been an open secret that Eckardt was looking for a graceful way to bow out of the 600-man press office.

He will become his government's chief representative in Berlin, succeeding a retiring official, Dr. Heinrich Vockel. The latter has been West Germany's representative there since the little-publicized post was set up in the capital of East Germany.

Eckardt's friends talk up his appointment. They point out that he will supervise administrative contacts with Communist East Germany and these will be expanded if the U.S. Berlin settlement proposals become fact.

The more often-heard opinion is that Eckardt will drop a peg or two in the government hierarchy and be more out of policy-making than ever.

He is expected to leave Bonn in mid-June and be replaced here by Karl-Guenther von Hase.

Chain-smoking Eckardt, a one-time script writer, is as famous for his polished sentences as for his large wardrobe of stylish suits.

He has shown wit and charm in stating the government's position on issues of the day.

Hase, with an encyclopedic memory, speaks abruptly, sometimes reddens with anger, and seldom smiles. He has made a fast rise in the foreign ministry. At 44 he runs the crucial Western section after being promoted from ministry press head.

Whoever holds the official spokesman's job can influence West Germany's image at home and abroad to a degree unimaginable in countries like the United States and Britain. There government leaders frequently submit to give-and-take questioning.

Adenauer, 86 and long in office, rarely holds news conferences in a year and rarely takes part in parliamentary debates. His ministers are not known for their accessibility, either.

The day-to-day word on where the government stands comes from the press chief, seconded by spokesmen for the ministries. They are available by telephone and hold news conferences three times a week.

At the height of his career in Bonn, Eckardt, then nicknamed "Faithful Felix," ranked as one of the chancellor's closest advisers. The close relationship gave him a reputation for knowing the chancellor's mind perhaps better than anybody else.

In more recent times Adenauer has seldom consulted seriously with anyone outside his small chancellery staff.

Supposedly a drifting apart is responsible for the change. No hard feelings are evident although the press chief has been involved in mixups.

The perfect press spokesman to the last, Eckardt has given no hint in public of his feelings. At 58 he made only this comment, delivered with a characteristic ironic smile: "It will be interesting to go to the front."

Import Fight Is Pledged

DALLAS (AP) — A sustained fight against damaging excessive oil imports was pledged yesterday by Harold Decker of Houston, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA).

"We can't quit," he told a luncheon of 250 members in this section. "We are not going to be plowed under."

Decker said he was confident of winning the imports fight even though oilmen lose some skirmishes" in Washington.

A committee in Congress voted this week against a restrictive amendment to the trade expansion act, limiting oil imports.

The industry leader urged oilmen to "get into politics."

Decker said the Washington administration is not friendly to the oil industry.

"They think all oilmen are Republicans and oppose the administration," he declared.

Battle With Malaria Won

GENEVA (AP)—The fact that land values are rising in Cambodia is hardly world-shaking news, but hundreds of medical men gathered here find it a symbol of success in the greatest public health operation ever undertaken.

It means that mankind has won another small battle in a total war against the ancient scourge malaria.

Similar victories are being disclosed at the annual assembly of the World Health Organization. The WHO — directed program of malaria eradication, largely subsidized by American contributions, reports:

1. More than 700 million people are affected by the program.

2. Tens of thousands of square miles of land have been opened up for settlement by clearing infested zones.

3. Since the program was started in 1955, the number of people who annually fall ill from malaria has dropped from 250 million to 140 million.

4. The number of malaria deaths per year went down from two million to one million.

But V-Day is still many years away, WHO officials warn.

Malaria, characterized by high fever, weakness and often fatal liver disturbances, was known and dreaded in Biblical times. For thousands of years people were helpless against the disease they blamed on the foul smells arising from stagnant waters. Malaria is Italian for bad air.

"It is a real all-out war," says Argentina's Dr. Carlos Alvarado, director of the malaria eradication division. "Half measures mean defeat."

His 423 international experts cooperate with thousands of local helpers. They must spray millions of huts and houses, check millions of blood samples, and feed drugs to countless people.

WHO experts believe that, barring a major setback, the malaria zones of Latin America and most of Asia will be cleared within 10 years. No one dares guess when the malaria fighters will conquer tropical Africa.

Hanns Neuerbourg, a member of The Associated Press staff in Germany, frequently travels to Geneva and other points in Europe to cover news stories.

Jet Pilot Would 'Jump' At Chance For Duty On Blimp

(EDITORS NOTE: What are the sensations of a jet pilot who takes a day off and flies a leisurely blimp? Lt. James A. Willess Jr., freshly graduated from Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, was asked to try it. He did and wrote this story. Willess is from Dallas and is a graduate from Texas A&M.)

By LT. JAMES A. WILLESS JR.
U.S. Air Force
Written for The Associated Press

I've been flying jets at 400 miles per hour. This week I piloted a limp and lazed along at 40 miles per hour.

The sensation? Absolutely fantastic! I'll take as much blimp time as I can get.

Here's why.

You can put your feet up on the dashboard, lean back in the seat, which doesn't even require a seat belt, shoulder harness. And you see 10 times more country than you ever do in the cockpit of a jet.

In this Goodyear limp, a craft 150 feet long, I floated along over Dallas at 200 feet; actually peering into people's backyards. Once I saw a dog fight. I watched children scurrying around, saw kids racing their bikes.

Dean Monty of Akron, Ohio, flew the craft as the 11-man launching crew got us into the air. Then he turned the controls over to me after five minutes instruction, and I was the pilot for a delightful hour.

My Air Force jet carries 813 gallons of fuel and burned 230 gallons an hour. The limp gets along on five gallons an hour for each of its two small engines. If you want to take it easier, you can cut off one engine and throttle the other one back to three or four gallons an hour.

The limp can go along at 25 miles per hour or it can just hover. Once I trailed after a couple of young ladies who were wandering along a lane. They looked about 19 and attractive, but you can't always be sure from 200 feet. Well, from a jet they wouldn't even have been a blur.

The tanks of the blimp hold 100 gallons of gasoline and you can park 100 more gallons in the six-passenger seat room if you desire. And if you want to, you can fill the two close-up little engines right from the cabin, in flight. Mealy has done it.

Worst experience he ever had was when the 8,000-pound blimp, which carries 132,000 cubic feet of helium, was caught in a thunderstorm.

"Thought I never would get down," said Al. "I wallowed for hours but the ship stayed together."

If you don't have weather to contend with, you've got it made. You can stick your arm out the window and get less wind than from your auto. You don't have to watch out for planes—the regulations say they must give you a wide berth. You have the right of way over everything but free balloons, and the skies are not exactly filled with free balloons, are they!

Move the controls and the blimp lazily responds. Point the nose up or down and the air speed doesn't decrease or increase by more than two miles per hour. No stalls to worry about, either.

Just float along, watching the leisurely cigar-shaped shadow and peering into backyards and country club pools.

This is the worthwhile pace. Next week I think I'll try a horse and buggy.

Hardee Initiated By Cornell Society

DUNN—D. B. Hardee, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hardee of Dunn, was recently initiated as an associate member into the Cornell University Chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi, a society devoted to the promotion and improvement of research in the biological sciences.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

SAN JUAN TEOTIHUACAN, Mexico—About a mile north of here (or maybe it is east or west) is one of the oldest cities in the world. The historical gentlemen claim it is the third oldest on the planet. I do not recall what the other places were and besides, I could not pronounce the names much less spell them.

But this is not much of a town now since it is a collection of uninhabited pyramids, temples and such. Tourist guides sometimes refer to it as archaeological ruins. I personally do not see anything so ruined about the place since the pyramids, walls and other equipment appear very solid and colorful.

Frankly, it looks more unused than ruined.

Anyhow, the curious thing about this city is that nobody seems to know much about it. Other than the measurements and that the Teotihuacan Indians are suspected of having built it. The zone covers an area of 3.5 miles long by 2 miles wide, if that helps. Probably it was the Los Angeles of its day.

But the chronicles state that ancient Teotihuacan was a collection of archaeology when the Spaniards drifted in more than 400 years ago. Mr. Hernan Cortes called in some of the local Kings and asked them what Teotihuacan was all about.

"All we know is, our grampaws said it was like this when they were kids," the Kings said. "And our grampaws stated that their ancestors gave them the same story."

Some of the men of science calculate the abandoned city to be as much as 12,000 years old. This type of mystery makes travelers go absolutely wacky with cameras and looking around the big museum there.

As near as the experts can peg things, the ancient town was built by the Teotihuacan Indians. And the only thing they can figure about these citizens comes from pictures on the walls of temples and other structures. And bits of pottery and obsidian gimmicks they dug up.

The big pyramid of the sun is about 700 feet square and reaches halfway to the sun, when you try climbing it. At least, that is the way it seemed to me. And since it is made of wearever volcanic rock, this took considerable hammering and chiseling to get such a pile of archaeology in one spot.

Personally, I have my own theory about this city. And since the historians admit they are in somewhat of a fog, consider my idea will fit a slide rule just as well as theirs.

Now the way I see it (and mind you, I am only thinking out loud), the Teotihuacanos came walking into the valley a few thousand years ago and started setting up their tents. Life was so pleasant, what with the hunting and fishing good and plenty of shade trees about, that they became very jolly people. And jolly people are known to be practical jokers by nature.

One day, the King called everybody around and said, "hey fellers, I got a dinger of an idea. Let's build a bunch of ruins and then walk off without telling anybody what it is all about. What a headache that will give the scientists a few centuries from now."

So the troops hailed in large stones to build things the architects designed. And the elderly folks sat around thinking up eccentric names to write on the walls. Names like Quetzacoatl, Chalchitlicue, Tlaloc and Huitzilopochtli.

After the place was almost finished and some odds and ends of pottery buried around the grounds, the Teotihuacanos went off behind a mountain and laughed themselves to death. Thinking about the fits everybody would have trying to figure what it was all about. And pronouncing the names.

There is also a long avenue called the Street of The Dead. I am informed that this name was derived from the fact that ghosts used to stroll about on moonlight nights for a bit of air. After while, they gave up the night walks because, I suppose, even spooks get old and tire easily. Either that or somebody busted all the pulque jugs and no more ghosts nor feathered snakes were seen thereafter.

But it is a mighty strange and beautiful city. And if you re ever in the vicinity, you might as well stop by and take a gander. And knock heads with the scientists as to how, when and why the pyramids were built.
