IDENTIFIED AS ARMED ROBBERY SUSPECT

Policeman Kills Fleeing Negro

DALLAS (AP) — A Negro accused by police of armed robbery died today of a wound inflicted by an officer, who said he fired as the fleeing man appeared to reach for a weapon.

Authorities identified the dead man as Charles Davis, 20, of Dallas. They reported two companions blamed with him for a holdup three and one-half hours earlier were still being sought.

Police officials related these details:

Patrolman P. D. Gardner fired two shotgun blasts as three men ran from a car which smashed into a barricade on a dead-end street after a 20-block chase. A single pellet hit Davis in the head.

FATAL MOVE

Gardner was quoted as telling fellow officers he fired after Davis turned toward him and reached toward the pursued man's belt.

It was the sixth shooting of a Dallas black by policemen in the past month. In all cases, officials said, the blacks either threatened policemen or tried to flee in order to avoid arrest.

James Logan, 22, and Lee Campbell, 20, of suburban Arlington told them three Negro men offered a lift while they were trying to thumb a ride in South Dallas. Logan and Campbell informed Gardner the trio produced a pistol and two knives, and robbed them of $23, a wrist watch, a jacket and two belts before putting them out of the car.

As the patrolman was driving Logan and Campbell to the home of a relative, they pointed out a car at a hamburger stand and identified the occupants as "the men who robbed us."

'ROBBED US'

The automobile sped away and the pursuit by Gardner, still accompanied by Logan and Campbell, followed. Several times the holdup victims told the patrolman, "The driver is the one who had the pistol."

Officers later identified the man who was driving as Davis.

His two companions escaped in a thicketed, hilly section behind a paper mill, authorities said, and police later found a pistol and a jacket in the brush.

The earlier police shootings of Negroes were followed by a series of demonstrations by South Dallas blacks under leadership of directors of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

One of the larger demonstrations ended in a confrontation at city hall, and Dallas black leaders subsequently presented several demands to Police Chief Fran Dyson, including one for the hiring of more Negroes by his department.

RESIGNATION

A county grand jury later cleared the officers involved in three of the shootings and Dyson asked for an investigation by a committee of the Dallas Community Relations Commission.

Monday night's shooting occurred a few hours after a group of Negroes occupied the Dallas city council's chamber, taking chairs reserved by the mayor, city manager and councilmen.

Led by George Holland of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the occupants demanded the resignations of Mayor Wes Wise, City Atty. Alex Bickley and the police chief.

After being warned that they were disrupting a public meeting, the demonstrators were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

McGovern Goes To Bat For Chairman, Reforms

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, the defeated Democratic presidential nominee, urged his party today to delay a decision about replacing Jean Westwood as its national chairman.

Five Democratic governors, meeting in Washington, have called on Mrs. Westwood to resign on grounds that the party needs a "new sense of direction." Mrs. Westwood was chosen by McGovern to be national chairman.

McGovern, at a news conference in this island resort, also suggested that party leaders mark time before deciding to change party reforms that he helped make.

MISTAKE?

The South Dakota senator said the Democratic National Committee should have the final say in changing the party's leadership. If the majority thinks there should be a change, he said, then there should be one.

"But," he said, "I think it would be a mistake to do things so quickly before final assessments of the election are completed."

McGovern said he has not talked to Mrs. Westwood since the election.

The call by the governors came as both the public and private campaigns moved into high gear to out Mrs. Westwood.

McGovern told his news conference that it appeared there might be some attempt to roll back party reforms he helped shape after the 1968 election.

"There is a certain group that never accepted the reform," McGovern said, mentioning specifically President George Meany of the AFL-CIO and his political director, Al Barkins.

NO TURNING POINT

McGovern said he could pinpoint no single turning point in his campaign, although he said, "I think the Eagleton affair was the severest single blow."

He referred to the revelations by his original choice for running mate, Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri, that he had undergone treatment three times for mental depression in the past decade. Eagleton was replaced on the ticket by Sargent Shriver.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, one of the five governors who called on Mrs. Westwood to resign, said: "when you can't win a national election, its time to reappraise the leadership of the party."

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew agreed, saying the party must be reunited and adding, "No personal offense toward Mrs. Westwood at all. I just happen to believe she is not the person who can do that."

DUMP-JEAN

Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers, chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus and spokesman for its executive committee which met Monday, said their recommendation will be presented to the full caucus at its Dec. 3 meeting in St. Louis.

Also present at the meeting were Govs. Kenneth Curtis of Maine and Wendell Anderson of Minnesota. Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton, the sixth member of the executive committee, was in Hawaii, Bumpers said.

Among those often mentioned by the dump-Westwood forces for the chairmanship are former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas, New York state Democratic Chairman Joseph Crangle, and Mrs. Westwood's predecessor, Lawrence F. O'Brien.

MINK RANCHER

Mrs. Westwood, a Utah mink rancher turned political organizer, was said by her office to be vacationing with her husband in Florida Monday. She could not be reached for comment.

Last Thursday, when the anti-Westwood move was mostly underground, she told a news conference she intended to remain on the job.

BRISCOE CONVINCED

Should Welcome Back Connally

HOUSTON (AP) — The Democratic Party must face a national reorganization, Texas Gov.-Elect Dolph Briscoe said Monday, adding he believes John Connally, who headed Democrats for Nixon, should be welcomed back into party ranks.

Briscoe made his first public appearance here Monday after winning the election last week by a squeeky 100,000 votes over Republican Hank Grover.

Asked if he saw a place in the party for Connally, Briscoe chuckled and said, "I tell you what, I think it's obvious we need to get a lot of people back in the Democratic Party. I think we need every Texan we can get."

The staggering defeat of George McGovern by President Nixon is proof the party needs reorganization nationally, Briscoe added.

"I think reorganization is essential. We need to move back to where the party represents the majority of the people in the party."

He declined to specifically say he thinks McGovern's hand-picked Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood should be replaced.

Instead he said he wants to meet with all the Texas party national committee members and also go to a meeting called by Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers next month to discuss party reorganization before making a decision.

SLOW TO RESPOND

Unemployment In Southwest

DALLAS (AP) — Although the economy has been recovering for more than a year and a half, the Southwest's jobless rate has been slow to respond and remains about one percentage point higher than at the beginning of the recession, it was disclosed today.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas business review for November notes that the unemployment rate in the five Southwestern states reached a recession peak of 5.1 per cent by the end of 1970. By last August, however, it had fallen to about one percentage point less than the national average 4.3 per cent, while Louisiana and New Mexico fairly constant since the end of 1970.

The review notes that since 1969 unemployment rates in Texas and Arizona averaged less than four per cent — well below the five per cent national average. The rate in Oklahoma averaged 4.3 per cent, while Louisiana and New Mexico both averaged six per cent.

Unemployment also varied widely inside Texas, the Federal Reserve Bank said, with local pockets of high unemployment persisting.

Only eight out of 22 cities for which the Texas Employment Commission regular publishes figures had rates less than the average in August. Two of them were Dallas and Houston.

Adoptive Mother Wins Custody Fight

MIAMI (AP) — "Baby Lenore belongs to God and we intend to take good care of her for Him," vowed the adoptive mother of the 2½-year-old toddler after winning a widely publicized custody fight which went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jean De Martino and her husband, Nicholas, held an emotion-charged news conference Monday after the high court refused to hear an appeal from Lenore's natural mother, Olga Scarpetta.

LOVE

"We intend to provide her (Lenore) with all the necessities, most importantly, love," said De Martino, who gave up a Brooklyn law practice and fled to Miami with his family in April 1971 after New York courts ruled they had to return Lenore to her natural mother.

"We hope she grows up to be an independent and self-providing individual, happy and well educated," Mrs. De Martino added.

The Supreme Court ended the two-state custody fight when it refused to hear an appeal by Miss Scarpetta, who had asked that a Florida appeals court ruling granting custody of the child to the De Martinos be overturned.

Miss Scarpetta went to New York from her native Colombia to give birth to the baby on May 19, 1970. She turned the child over to a public adoption agency four days later, but changed her mind after a month and asked that Lenore be returned.

PASSES BAR

After winning the ensuing court battle in New York, Miss Scarpetta followed the De Martinos to Florida to resume the custody fight. But the Florida 3rd Circuit Appeals Court ruled that more damage would be done if Lenore, then 2, were returned to her natural mother.

Three Dozen Communities File Industry Aid Appeals

Over 100 community and industrial leaders from some 40 West Texas communities presented written and oral appeals to representatives of the Texas Industrial Commission at a regional hearing held at Howard County Junior College auditorium this morning.

This was the second of four hearings being held in Texas for the purpose of determining what communities and what areas are eligible for industrial development aid under the new Texas Rural Development Act.

SOLONS ATTEND

Two state representatives, Renal Rosson, Snyder, and Charles Finnel, Fort Worth, were among the legislators on hand for the hearing. Representing the Texas Industrial Commission were A. B. (Stormy) Shelton, Abilene, member of the commission, and Jerry Hare and E. F. Sheffield from the state office in Austin.

Shelton presided during the hearing as industrial presidents, leaders of inter-governmental agencies and chamber presidents presented their oral pleas during the morning session.

A court reporter recorded all presentations, which included facts and figures on lack of growth and problems of the rural areas in West Texas.

FRUSTRATION

The tales of frustration presented by the rural communities included statistics on number of young people returning to their areas for employment, census figures, economic figures and other information in their years of battle to obtain industry for their various communities in an effort to survive.

At the end of the presentations, Shelton often asked for specific figures in terms of ability of the various groups to raise needed finances.

Many of the communities presented written requests to be studied by the commission and others presented both oral and written briefs. Winston Wrinkle, president of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, was the spokesman for the Big Spring group.

Other towns represented included Coahoma, Brownwood, Garden City, Big Lake, Pecos, Midland, Morton, Hereford, Lamesa, Abernathy, Stanton, Anson, Sweetwater, Abilene, Seymour, Knox City, Floydada, Andrews.

JANUARY DECISION

Others were Levelland, Eden, Gail,, Kermit, Tulia, Roby, Ralls, Perryton, Childress, Merkel, Tahoka, Stanford, Eldorado, Crowell, Hamlin and Farwell.

Representatives included chamber managers, chamber presidents, representatives from city councils, presidents of inter-governmental groups, und industrial foundations. No decisions will be announced until the commission meets in January.

The next hearing will be Thursday in Kingsville and the final hearing in Henderson. The first was held last week in Austin.

Law Regulating Campaign Finances Faces Battles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new law regulating campaign finances, fresh from its first election-year test, faces sure-fire attempts to roll back its key reform provisions early in the next Congress.

A key target is expected to be a provision banning indirect contributions by government contractors.

The Federal Elections Campaign Act, which limits the amount candidates for Congress and president can spend on advertising and requires full reporting of the sources and uses of campaign funds, was passed by Congress last January.

But during the closing days of Congress, efforts were made to salvage affiliated political funds, a poly used by big corporations and labor unions to contribute to political campaigns.

These gifts are virtually outlawed under the out-of-court settlement last summer of a lawsuit by Common Cause against one of the funds. Attempts at repealing the section on which the suit was based failed only after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., threatened a filibuster.

But both sides expressed the certainty that the battle would be resumed in the new year.

Other efforts are expected to try to reduce the number of reports candidates are required to file on their gifts, to eliminate reports in off-years and to strike the requirement that reports include the occupation and business address of each donor.

The new rules brought some howls during their first testing this fall from those who thought they were too restrictive and liable to shut off the sources of campaign financing.

The affiliated political funds brought the loudest complaints. These funds are built from collections taken by corporations and unions from their employes or members and given out by the company or union to candidates who can help the donor.

Unions and corporations are not allowed to give their own money to political candidates, but by using money collected from employes, they can achieve the same effect. It's not company money, but the recipient knows full well he gets it at the company's grace.

New Format For Banquet Studied

Two changes in Chamber of Commerce procedures were suggested Monday at the regular monthly board of directors meeting at Coker's.

One innovation would combine the annual banquet with support of an outstanding community event — the band's Campus Revue 1973." Under this plan, those attending an early dinner for installation of officers, directors, and receiving reports of the year's work would also then attend the CR-73 show for the entertainment. R. H. Weaver, president, said a decision of this will be reached soon.

The other change is to return nominations for directors only for the number of vacancies which occur. Members still will be able to write in names of those they prefer for the directorate. The nominating committee has proposed the names of Gerald Miller, Don Reynolds, Bill Jackson, Dub Pearson and Johnnie Walker, said Weaver.

Weaver also told the board that the initial meeting to consider the investigation of possibility of a community center, something like a coliseum, evoked considerable enthusiasm and support from all sections of the county. This study will be pursued, he said.

More than 70,000 labor survey forms have been distributed in the area, Pearson told the board. He is chairman of the committee surveying the labor supply potential for a nationally known garment manufacturing concern which is considering a location here. He pointed out that these seek to locate not only those in the market for work now, but those who might consider seeking employment later. At any rate, he urged good response and prompt return of the forms. Jimmy Taylor, vice president in whose division the industrial committee functions, said all other details apparently had been worked out.

McAlister Nominated

The nominating committee for the Chamber of Commerce will place the name of George A. McAlister in nomination for next president of the organization.

Election officers will come at the December meeting of the board of directors. At that meeting, possibly five new directors will be installed on the board.

McAlister has been a resident of Big Spring for more than 20 years, coming here as mathematics instructor at Howard County Junior College. During this period he developed math teaching aids which he manufactured at home, and eventually which led to creation of Gamco. McAlister, and other stockholders, eventually sold to Siboney, which operated the Gamco plant here as a subsidiary.

He also established Datamate and currently is developing a summer camp on his ranch in the Nueces Canyon country. McAlister has been active in numerous civic affairs, also in the U.S. Marine Corps reserve.

MRS. DALTON MITCHELL

Mrs. Mitchell Dies Monday

Mrs. Dalton (Nettie) Mitchell, 74, died at 9:40 p.m. Monday in a hospital here after an illness of several weeks.

She was a member of one of the county's earliest families and had lived here all her life.

Services will be held 2 p.m. Wednesday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church (the former sanctuary) with the pastor, the Rev. Earl Price, officiating, assisted by Dr. Shirley Guthrie. Burial will be in the Masonic section of the Mount Olive Cemetery with River-Welch Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Mitchell was born Nettie Carpenter, Jan. 25, 1898, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carpenter. Her father was a cowboy on the legendary Slaughter ranch in the 1880's, and her mother was a daughter of Dr. J. W. Barnett, one of the earliest physicians here.

She was married to Dalton Mitchell here April 25, 1925, and he died July 20, 1960. From that time until her retirement in 1971, she was receptionist for the River-Welch Funeral Home. Mrs. Mitchell also was a member of the Order of Eastern Star chapter and was a past matron of it.

Surviving here are three brothers, Henry Carpenter, Tulsa, Okla., Boyd Carpenter, Jacksonville, and Sidney Carpenter, Fayetteville, Ark.; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Joe Carpenter, Big Spring, and Mrs. Ben Carpenter, Orange, Calif.; five nephews and seven nieces.

Cotton May Escape Freeze

The U.S. Experiment Station here recorded two hours of 30 degree weather Monday night and a 32 degree reading at 5:45 a.m. today, but unofficial reports from around the county called the weather less than a killing frost for cotton.

Bill Fryrear, location leader at the station, said such low temperatures would kill most cotton. He predicted major harvesting may begin in the next 10 days to two weeks depending on subsequent weather.

At Coahoma, farmers said the frost didn't kill much cotton, except in spots. Cecil Long, Lomax, said the temperature dropped to 32 and 33 degrees but didn't stay long enough to hurt much.

Cotton farmers reported still seeing green leaves despite temperature as low as 29 degrees.

Board Approves Sound Unit For Auditorium

The Big Spring Independent School board voted Monday to purchase a new sound system for the high school auditorium.

Lengthy discussion centered around the type of equipment desired and whether or not to have part of the original request from the bid.

Board members agreed quickly that they preferred the Balco Sound bid from Lubbock, even though it was higher than a bid from Audio Visio in Amarillo, because it bid the type of equipment which the school has leased on sevcral occasions.

However, the discussion centered around trying to keep the bid within a projected budget figure of $6,500. The board finally agreed to let the local maintenance shop build the sound booth and cabinet work and approved the balance of the bid, which was $7,139. The budget was amended accordingly.

OLD SYSTEM

It was pointed out that the sound equipment had never been improved in the high school auditorium, since it was constructed 20 years ago, although the lighting and other equipment was redone when the building was remodeled. With each major production by band or choir, in recent years leasing sound equipment had become necessary.

In other action, the board added a teacher and a portable building at College Heights Elementary. Administrators told the board that the enrollment on that particular campus continues to increase in the third and fourth grades. Since the beginning of the year, split sections had been run and the reading supervisor gave additional help.

However, administrators reached the conclusion that these children were not receiving the same educational advantages of others in the systems. The board approved moving in a portable building and hired Mrs. T. Christine Mullins, graduate of Angelo State for the new position.

George Thorburn, Certified Public Accountant, presented the annual audit, commending the school system for its business management and handling of finance. He reported that all was in order in accordance with proper bookkeeping procedures and kept with efficiency by the school's financial department.

TAX EVALUATOR

The board heard a report from Jerry Jenkins, one of two members on the inter-governmental affairs committee. Jenkins reported that he regretted not being able to obtain a joint tax evaluating service manager, who lived in Big Spring; but since it was not possible, that he joined other governmental agency representatives in recommending Southwestern Appraisal Co. at the same cost as the present service. The board approved the action.

Don Crockett, business administrator, reported on a study underway concerning joint tax billing through the city computer.

The board agreed to take bids on salvaging what is left of a building on the Center Point school property. It also amended the Title I, ESEA budget and the Public Service Careers Budget to include a new $15,000 grant for continued work in this area.

Trustees agreed to bypass the second board meeting in November, due to the holidays, unless it becomes necessary. The board offered a detailed study of current board policies and administrative regulations in relation to recent court decisions. Jim Bill Little, board member, requested that the policies be left as they stand for the present time. The board agreed.

TEXTBOOKS NAME

This year's textbook committee was named including Supt. S. M. Anderson, John Bagnall, vocational administrator; Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction; Fern Alexander, homemaking; Rodney Allison, social studies; Paul Chappell, American History; Wilbur Cunningham, trigonometry; Martha Fielder, Rueleen Freeze and Helen Gladden, base reading; Betty Lou Green, business education; Oakey Hagood, health education; Mary Hefley, elementary reading; Bernard Rains, civil government; Colleen Slaughter, French and German; Jane Walker, history and Faye Welch, base reading. Bagnall and Hise are ex-officio members.

The board held an executive session at the end to discuss a personnel problem.

Roy Watkins presided and members present included Delnor Poss, Thomas Fetters, Jerry Jenkins, Dan Wilkins and Little.

Pilot Program Makes Use Of Bilingual Counselors

Big Spring State Hospital will be the location of a pilot study to see if bi-lingual counselors and a follow-up at mental health centers can assist alcoholics, according to Dr. Preston Harrison, director of the hospital here.

The Texas Commission on Alcoholism rapidly followed the regional inter-governmental agency in approving a $50,000 grant to the state hospital here for the counseling for in-patient alcoholics.

The state hospital selected Lubbock and San Angelo as the cities in which they would follow-up on alcoholic treatments, since these two cities have a large number of patients treated here and since they both have community mental health centers.

"It is often believed that the breakdown in the treatment of alcoholics is not having a good follow-up program after they leave the state hospital," Dr. Harrison pointed out.

The community health center counselors will work with alcoholics after they are dismissed and also serve as a diagnostic advisor to help decide which ones need hospitalizing in the first place. The bi-lingual counseling will be here in Big Spring at the State Hospital only, for the present time.

"We have discovered that patients who speak Spanish, in their alcoholic state, do better with a bi-lingual counselor even if they understand English," Dr. Harrison added.

The hospital director added that they were pleased to be able to conduct this pilot study in the treatment of alcoholism.

Enrollment Steady

Enrollment in Big Spring schools was steady last week, showing a net increase of one. Elementary enrollment of 3,498 was down one; secondary enrollment of 3,206 down two; hospital and homebound enrollment 93, up four, for a grand total of 6,797. This is 352 less than a year ago at the same time.

Two Members Of Vagabond Family Wanted In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Two members of a vagabond family being questioned about 22 murders in seven states, including three in Florida, are wanted here on charges of stealing two rental cars and writing bad checks, Pinellas County Sheriff Don Genung said Monday.

He said a routine check uncovered warrants issued in 1971 for Sherman McCrary, 47, the father of the family, and his daughter Ginger McCrary Taylor, 22, on charges of stealing two autos from a St. Petersburg rental agency and paying rental charges with bad checks.

In addition to kidnap—robbery—murders in Texas, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma, authorities are questioning five members of the family about the slayings of two Starke, Fla., beauty shop operators and the 16-year-old daughter of one of the victims. The two women were shot in November 1971, and the body of the girl was found in a nearby wooded area last June.

The five family members are now jailed in separate prisons in three different states on various charges, unrelated to the murders. None has been charged with any of the slayings.

The senior McCrary and his son-in-law, however, are expected eventually to be extradited for trial in Nevada or Utah. A federal warrant charging kidnap already is on file at Salt Lake City in the abduction of doughnut shop waitress Sheri Lee Martin, 17, one of the murder victims.

But authorities believe Miss Martin was actually shot to death near Elko, Nev., after being kidnaped, so officials are considering filing murder charges in Nevada rather than Utah.

Malcolm S. Clark, owner of the auto rental agency, placed the family, including McCrary, his wife Carolyn, 45, his son Danny 19; his daughter and her husband, Carl R. Taylor, 38, in St. Petersburg in June 1971.

Clark said Mrs. Taylor first rented a car, stating that she had just arrived from Texas with her mother and small child and that her husband, father and brother were on their way to Florida from Texas in a rented truck.

According to Clark, the other members of the family arrived about a week later and Mrs. Taylor's husband rented another car. Clark quoted Taylor as saying he planned to open an auto repair shop, but said the family disappeared with the two autos about six weeks later.

In addition to the three murders in Starke, about 130 miles north of St. Petersburg, Sheriff Genung said several unsolved killings in Pinellas County were being reviewed for any possible connection to the McCrary family.

McCrary and Taylor are currently serving sentences of five years to life in a California prison for robbing a supermarket and wounding a policeman.

Carolyn McCrary, the mother, is in custody at Santa Barbara, Calif., where the family first was charged in a holdup shooting. Danny McCrary was returned to Dallas, Tex. authorities on a parole violation charge and Mrs. Taylor was picked up by officials from Lakewood, Colo., on a bad check charge.

Congressman Bow, 71, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, 71, a member of Congress since 1950, died early Monday in Bethesda Naval Hospital, a spokesman for the congressman said.

Bow, first elected to the 82nd Congress on Nov. 7, 1950, entered the hospital for tests after the 92nd Congress closed in October. He has had a history of medical problems in recent years, an office spokesman said.

"His heart just gave out," she said.

Bow, generally regarded as a conservative, had decided to retire from Congress. He had been confirmed as ambassador to Panama but had not been sworn in. Republican Ralph Regula, a former Ohio state senator, won last Tuesday's election and was to succeed Bow.

Missing Plane Search Waged

DALLAS (AP) — Civil Air Patrol planes from throughout the state took off again this morning to continue their search for a light plane lost during Sunday night's storms somewhere between Abilene and Mineral Wells.

The plane was piloted by James F. Thompson of Dallas who had filed a flight plan from Redbird Airport here to Tahoka, south of Lubbock.

Col. E. H. Tout, who is directing the search from Luck Field near Fort Worth, said Thompson's white and red Cessna had enough fuel for a five-hour flight when he left shortly before 6 p.m.

Six planes participated in the search Monday after the plane was reported missing.

Tout said the last word received from Thompson was 13 minutes after takeoff when he said he was flying on top of the clouds at 8,000 feet. There was a 500 feet overcast when he took off and he was faced by a squall line of thunderstorms stretching north and south on a line just to the west of Abilene.

"It was pretty rough and turbulent in that storm at the time," Tout said, "and there is a great possibility he ran into it."

Cast Moves 'Peanuts' From Comics To Stage This Week

Charlie Brown and the whole "Peanuts" gang will march right off the comics page and onto the stage Thursday and Friday nights when the Howard County Junior College Drama Department and the college choir present the happy musical, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

The loveable moppets from Charles Schulz's famous comic strip will perform their backyard antics at 8 p.m. in the HCJC Auditorium.

Tickets are $1.50 and $1.00 at the door. Pre-schoolers will be admitted free.

"BOOK REPORT"

Music and lyrics are simple and establish the mood of "Peanuts." But the best song is expected to be a book report on Peter Rabbit, which begins as a fugue and finshes as an operatic quartet.

Davis Wallace, a sophomore microbiology major, is Charlie Brown who says people always eat peanut butter sandwiches when they're lonely. Wallace was a member of the a cappella choir and played the role of Herr Zeller in "The Sound of Music" while at Big Spring High School.

Scholarly Linus is played by Michael Pope Thompson. A 1971 graduate of Big Spring High School, he appeared in "Spoon River Anthology" and is active in oral interpretation at HCJC. In high school, he was active in speech and drama.

SCHROEDER AND LUCY

Kelly Draper (Schoeder the pianist) won applause last summer for his role of the comic soldier in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." The freshman drama major participated in "Up the Down Staircase," "The Sound of Music," "The Mouse that Roared," "David and Lisa" and "Tom Jones" in high school here.

Ruthless and yet sympathetic Lucy is Karen Carlton, a freshman studying library sciences. She sings in the college choir and plays saxophone in the HCJC Stage Band. She was active in the Steer Band and participated four years in "Campus Review" at BSHS.

Kelly Thames, art editor of the "Jayhawker" yearbook is seen as uncomplicated Patty. Now an art major, she was graduated from BSHS where she was Key Club sweetheart and member of the Gold-Diggers, a pep squad.

AND SNOOPY, TOO

Durward (Woody) McDonell, instructor of voice at HCJC, plays Snoopy, the foe of the Red Baron — Also McDonell is musical director of the adaptation of "Peanuts."

He earned a master of music degree from The University of Texas after completing undergraduate work at the University of Florida. He has had leading roles with the Austin Opera Theatre and Beaumont Civic Opera. In addition, McDonell has appeared as soloist with the San Antonio Choral Society, Austin Civic Chorus and numerous University of Texas choral groups.

Rickie Messenger, assistant director, is a 1970 graduate of Kubasaki High School, Okinawa. He also will play the flute in the production's orchestra-combo. He has appeared in "Bye-Bye Birdie" and "Once Upon a Mattress." Messenger is a member of the College Choir, the Hawk Players and the stage band.

Experience with professional theatres helped prepare Robert Lauderdale as stage manager and technical director. A graduate of Yorktown High School, Arlington, Va., Lauderdale worked with The Common Glory in Williamsburg, Va. and Arena Stage in the nation's Capitol. A freshman he is majoring in technical theatre production.

A LOVELIER YOU

New Styles Require Overhaul Of Figure

By MARY SUE MILLER

The feminine figure, like a chameleon, changes to blend in with its environment, the fashion environment. One year the lady is straight as a stripling, and all gentle curves the next. And simply to fit the fashion image of the day!

At present, topside problems come into focus owing to the upswing of chemise dresses, of classic sweaters, of fluid jerseys and knits. The now formula for the bosomline is high, rounded, and very firm. The making of it comes to the needy with the performance of these reducing routines:

1. Stand erect with feet together. Reach for ceiling with right hand, for floor with left hand. Keeping elbows straight, swing right arm down to full extension, then back as far as possible.

At the same time, swing left arm up and back, high up and far back. Reverse arm swing and, without stopping, continue for 20 counts. It's a fast, semaphore action.

2. Sit cross-legged on floor and place palms of hands against inner sides of knees. Push down with hands and up with knees — forcefully. Continue for two minutes, working to feel increased pull in chest muscles.

It works. Keep at it!

SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES

Spot reduction — key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges . . . to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new leaflet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines — 40 in all — for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles . . . Plus ideal measurements . . . other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Orientation Scheduled At Hospital

Denning will preside at the program with a welcoming address by Jack D. Powell, hospital director. Dr. H. C. Ernsting chief of staff and chairman of the volunteer services committee, will discuss hospital professional services. Other program participants will be representatives of dietetics, medical administration service, social work service, chaplain, engineering, personnel and nursing services. Registration will begin at 9:45 a.m.

New Girl Scout Law, Promises Are Adopted

The West Texas Girl Scout Council semi-annual association meetings continued today with the Association 5 meeting being held in the Scout House at Snyder. Convention reports were given by Mrs. Carl Voss Jr., Snyder; Mrs. Gene Slover, Lamesa; and Mrs. Louise Ward, Abilene.

There are five associations in the council. The meeting for Association 3 will be held Wednesday in the Community Center, Colorado City; and the Association 1 meeting will be held Thursday in the First Christian Church, Abilene.

There are five associations in the council. The meeting for Association 3 will be held Wednesday in the Community Center, Colorado City; and the Association 1 meeting will be held Thursday in the First Christian Church, Abilene.

The luncheon meeting at Snyder was chaired by Mrs. Kenneth Smith of Snyder.

At each of the association meetings, delegates were named for the next annual council meeting (Jan. 18, Lamesa) as well as members of nominating committees. Several workshops were held in conjunction with the meetings.

During the October convention of the Girl Scout National Council, re-wording was proposed for the Promise and Laws; the current version having been in use since 1920.

The new proposed version is the result of a three-year study by a Girl Scout volunteer and task group, designated to ascertain the contemporary relevance of the traditional wording. Troop samplings were taken, representing more than 80,000 girls.

As adopted, the Promise reads: "On my honor, I will try to serve God, my country and mankind, and to live by the Girl Scout Law.

As adopted the Law reads: "I will do my best to be honest, to be fair, to help where I am needed, to be cheerful, to be friendly and considerate, to be a sister to every Girl Scout, to respect authority, to use resources wisely, to protect and improve the world around me and to show respect for myself and others through my words and actions."

Maybe Not Wrong

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Eleven years ago I suffered what the doctors called a nervous breakdown. They said I would be well in a couple of years.

Now my doctor tells me I am suffering from low blood sugar. Is there any cure for this? Are the two sicknesses related? If not, how could such a mistake be made? — M.M.Y.

Slow down. And don't oversimplify. And don't take it for granted that any mistake was made.

"Nervous breakdown" is a term that can be applied to any condition involving emotional reactions that get beyond a person's control. It may be because the patient is neurotic, or outright psychotic, or merely collapsing emotionally under too much stress.

Low blood sugar is a physical condition. It means that the amount of sugar in the blood falls at times to too low a level. It can cause temporary weakness, spells of feeling faint, blackouts or near-blackouts, and similar symptoms, including visual aberrations.

It is true that in some instances patients suffering from undiagnosed low blood sugar have been regarded as "nervous," and been told that their troubles were "all in their mind." But that does not mean that one cannot have a "nervous breakdown" without having low blood sugar — nor does it mean that a person cannot have the two kinds of trouble, not necessarily at the same time.

Since I have no idea of the type of "nervous breakdown" you had, I cannot comment on that. But as to the low blood sugar, I suggest that you read my booklet, "Help for Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar)." You can get the booklet by mail — send 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Doctor: I am a firm believer in the "Pap smear." I tried to get the Pap smear every six months but was discouraged by the doctor.

So I went elsewhere. I asked the receptionist if I could come at six-month intervals. She told me people generally make it once a year. What say you about that? I am almost 40 years old. —Miss M.V.

An annual Pap test is the usual practice, say I.

If symptoms, such as abnormal bleeding, occur, or a report shows a grade 2 rating, the test is repeated at more frequent intervals. However, if you request a test every six months, you should be able to get it whether the doctor thinks it is too often or not. Many I know recommend the six-month interval for women past 40.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was recently talking to a friend about sleeping habits and mentioned that I sleep on my stomach. She got very excited and said that sleeping on the stomach decreases the bust line. I am 17 and find it comfortable sleeping on my stomach but I don't want to lose any inches. Could you help me? — A.P.

Your friend has fallen for some folklore that has no basis in truth. Sleep whichever side up you choose; it won't change the size of your breasts.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Medicaid Benefits Restored

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Persons who lost their Medicaid benefits when their Social Security benefits increased Oct. 1 will have those benefits restored, State Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell said Monday.

The benefits will be retroactive to Oct. 1.

When Congress passed the 20 per cent Social Security increases it stipulated that the additional income would be counted when states determined eligibility for welfare. Some 20,000 Texans lost their eligibility, and along with it their Medicaid benefits.

Then Congress passed a new law restoring Medicaid to persons who had lost it because of the Social Security increase, and the state welfare department this week is mailing notices of the restored benefits to the Texans involved.

NEW CIVIL DEPUTY — Russ Kraus, a former police patrolman, was approved as the new civil deputy in the Sheriff's office by the Commissioners Court Monday. He succeeds Ed Cherry, who was appointed juvenile officer. Kraus is married and has two children.

Mail Service Reminds Overseas Dates Are Near

The U.S. Postal Service is encouraging customers to deposit Christmas mail by recommended dates to assure delivery prior to Dec. 25. Overseas mailing deadlines are near at hand.

This doesn't mean one can't deposit Christmas cards and packages after these dates. Postal employes will do their best to deliver them. However, like those who do their shopping on Dec. 24, late mailers take their chances. To help everyone receive the best possible mail service, it still pays to be an "early bird" and meet these holiday mailing dates.

There is a more-liberal weight allowance on packages sent by space-available mail, known as SAM, for Christmas packages sent overseas. Parcels may weigh up to 15 pounds, compared with a previous 5-pound limit, the U.S. Postal Service announced.

The mailer pays only the regular parcel-post rate to the APO or FPO mailing address. The package goes by surface mail to that point, then by military airlift to destination.

Also available is parcel airlift, known as PAL, for which the sender pays parcel-post plus a $1 fee. That insures that a package goes all the way by air. There is a 30-pound limit.

EDWARDS TRIPS — San Diego running back Cid Edwards is tripped up by Bill Andrews, Cleveland linebacker, after a short gain in Monday night's National Football League game in San Diego. The Browns went on to a 21-17 victory in the nationally televised contest.

SKORICH ISN'T GROANING

Cleveland Clips San Diego, 21-17

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The trade that sent Cleveland Brown receiver Paul Warfield to Miami for a draft choice three years ago was greeted by cheers in Miami—and groans in Cleveland.

Both reactions grew louder last year when Warfield helped the Dolphins into the Super Bowl and Cleveland's draft choice, quarterback Mike Phipps, didn't play often or well.

But Brown Coach Nick Skorich isn't groaning today.

"I think it was one of the greatest trades the Browns have ever made," he said Monday night after Phipps' 38-yard touchdown pass to Frank Pitts with 41 seconds to play gave the Browns a 21-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers. It kept the Browns' National Football League playoff hopes alive.

"We had to give up a super receiver but we got a great young quarterback in Phipps," Skorich said. "He'll play 15-18 years."

The victory, before 54,202 and a national television audience, was the Browns' fourth straight and gave them a 6-3 record, one game behind Pittsburgh in the American Conference Central Division. They meet the Steelers twice in the next four weeks.

The Chargers, 2-6-1, dropped their fifth straight game after taking the lead with 1:21 to play on Mike Garrett's three-yard run.

Phipps, who spent his first two NFL seasons in the bench behind veteran Bill Nelsen, said he had planned to set up a game-tying field goal when the call for a long pass came in from the bench.

"It's hard to score in less than a minute," he said. "You have to think 'field goal' in a situation like that."

On the winning play, Phipps said, "I thought the pass was a little bit out of his (Pitts') reach."

The veteran Pitts had a wrenched back and said he hadn't expected to play. But besides the final pass, he caught four others and also got the Browns moving late in the first half with a 13-yard run on a flanker reverse.

San Diego Coach Harland Svare said his team "blew pass defenses all day long."

"Everybody wasn't playing the same defense, particularly on that last series," he said. "It's downright silly to let them go that long, that fast for a score."

San Diego's mistakes weren't limited to pass defense.

The Chargers fumbled the ball away twice, once on the Cleveland four-yard line after a 73-yard march.

Garrett gained 89 yards and running mate Cid Edwards rounded out 91, also catching a four-yard touchdown pass from John Hadl. On the Cleveland side, Leroy Kelly rushed for 67 yards, Phipps one yard for a touchdown and Ken Brown two yards for a score. Brown also ran 19 yards with a swing pass, on the play before the winning touchdown.

Hawks Open Home Slate

Game Designated 'Jam Jayhawk Gym Night'

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks open their 1972-73 home basketball season tonight when they tangle with Southwestern Christian College. Tipoff for the contest is set for 7:30 p.m.

Tonight's contest has been designated "Jam Jayhawk Gym Night" by HCJC and all Jayhawk fans are urged to attend the contest.

Howard County brings a 2-2 slate into tonight's game. The Jayhawks opened their season with a four-game road trip last week. On four consecutive nights, the Jayhawks played as many opponents.

In the season opener, Howard County dumped Alvin Junior College, 85-75, behind the 25-point, 18-rebound performance of freshman postman Taylor Williams. In that win, Tom Bledsoe hit for 19 points.

Sparked by the performance of a quartet of freshmen, the Jayhawks overcame a sluggish first-half to rip Brazosport College, 100-78, in the second game of the season. Four Jayhawks finished the night in double figures with Bledsoe and Williams tied for the lead with 20 points. The other two Jayhawks in the double figures column were guard Leroy Lumzy with 15 points and Bobby Beall with 11 points.

The first loss of the season came in the third game when the Jayhawks were defeated by Angelina College of Lufkin, 88-87. A basket by James Hunter with 12 seconds left gave Angelina the narrow win. Three Jayhawks broke the 20-point barrier against Angelina. Bledsoe again led the Howard County charge with 29 points. He was closely followed by Lumzy with 24 points and Williams with 22 points.

The Jayhawks dropped the second game of the season in Texas City when College of the Mainland claimed an 80-77 win. Lumzy led the Jayhawk scoring parade with 22 points. Also in double figures were Herbie Lee with 16 points and Bledsoe and Williams with 13 points apiece.

One of the bright spots of the road trip had to be the improving performance of Lumzy. Against Alvin, the freshman guard was ineffective; however, he started clicking against Brazosport and improved with each game.

Head Coach Harold Wilder will open tonight with Lee and Lumzy at guards, Mike Randle and Bledsoe at forwards and Williams at the post.

Expected to see much action will be Beall, Blip Cummins, Mike Britton and Tony Goeke.

Celtics Rally For Victory

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics have reached the stage where even a no-count game seems important, but stiffer tests lie just around the corner.

All teams in the National Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association enjoyed a break in the schedules Monday night, but the Celtics and the Detroit Pistons kept busy.

A crowd of 8,804 turned out at the new Civic Center in Springfield, Mass., for the first Basketball Hall of Fame benefit game. The fans were rewarded with plenty as the Celtics rallied for a 119-117 exhibition victory.

The Celtics, who have won 13 of 14 NBA starts for the lead in the league's Atlantic Division, repeated their official 121-118 victory over the Pistons Saturday night at Boston Garden. They came from behind with a 30-point fourth period.

The game was strictly an exhibition, but there was some hot action. Detroit's Dave Bing suffered a three-stitch gash over his left eye in the first period, and Boston's Paul Silas and the Pistons' Willie Norwood exchanged punches without damage in the third quarter.

Dave Cowens led the Celtics with 27 points and 11 rebounds, while Jo Jo White contributed 20 points. John Mengelt of the Pistons topped all scorers with 28 points.

Aeros Get Help From Front Office

By The Associated Press

Just about every pro team has a bench or farm team to turn to in the event of an emergency, but how many can dip into the front office for help?

That's what the Houston Aeros have done in activating goalie Bill Hughes, a former Michigan Tech star, for duty in the World Hockey Association.

Hughes turned in a spectacular job in his pro debut Monday night as the Aeros held on for a 4-4 tie with the New England Whalers before a Boston Garden crowd of 8,311.

It was the only game played in the WHA and the National Hockey League.

About a week ago, Hughes was working in the Aeros' front office, concentrating on club promotion and ticket sales. However, Coach Bill Dineen knew Hughes was around.

With Don McLeod missing because of the death of his father in an auto accident and Wayne Rutledge injured, Dineen called upon Hughes to face the Whalers, who are in the thick of the East Division race.

"He did a great job, just outstanding," Dineen said after Hughes stopped 46 shots, including 14 in the 10-minute sudden death overtime featured by the WHA. "He'll see a lot more action with us."

The Aeros jumped to a 3-0 first-period lead on goals by Duke Harris, Murray Hall and Gordie Labossiere. Brian MacDonald hiked the count to 4-0 before the Whalers got going and struck for goals by Tom Webster and Tim Sheehy in the second period.

Thomas, Hite Take Second

AMARILLO — Ray Thomas of Big Spring and Tom Hite of Odessa teamed up to take second place honors in the Open Doubles competition in the annual Golden Spread Handball Tournament held here over the past weekend.

Thomas also claimed second place honors in Class B singles competition.

A. J. Pirkle of Big Spring was the consolation round winner in B Singles.

BRYANT BOOSTS 'BAMA

Southern Cal Holds Top Spot

By The Associated Press

The best football team in the country is only No. 2 in the Associated Press college football poll, according to Alabama Coach Paul Bryant.

"The way I see it, the team that improves the most over a season should be No. 1," says Bryant. "And I think that we have improved tremendously."

Alabama, still second to Southern California in this week's poll, won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday with a 35-21 rout of sixth-ranked Louisiana State. Bryant thinks it proved something.

"It was a great win for a great football team against a great team," said Bryant, overflowing with superlatives.

Before Saturday's convincing victory over the Tigers, Bryant said he thought that perhaps Southern Cal and Michigan might be better than his team.

But not now.

"The polls have not been important until now," said Bryant. "But with the season coming to an end, they become very important—especially at the top of the list. As I see it, there's plenty of room at the top for us."

Southern Cal, Alabama and Michigan, the only major teams with perfect records, remained 1-2-3 in the AP ratings, released Monday.

Pacesetter since the first week of the season, Southern California received 42 first place votes and 984 points from nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Alabama held onto second with five ballots for first place and 890 points. Michigan, the only other team to get first-place votes with three, was third on a total of 812 points.

Nebraska, most everyone's pre-season choice to maintain its No. 1 spot from last year, fell to fifth place as a result of Saturday's 23-23 tie with Iowa State. The Cornhuskers dropped out of the top spot after losing to UCLA on opening day.

Oklahoma, a 17-6 conquerer of Missouri this past weekend, rose from seventh to fourth. The rest of this week's Top Ten included: sixth ranked Penn State; seventh-ranked Texas; No. 8 Louisiana State; No.9 Ohio State and No. 10 Notre Dame.

ROCKNE WOULD HAVE BEEN PROUD

Quite A Pep Talk By Al

HOUSTON (AP) — It was the kind of pre-game pep talk that would have done Knute Rockne justice.

Rice's vigorous, impulsive new head coach Al Conover didn't like what he saw in the warmups prior to last Saturday's game against Arkansas.

He returned to the dressing room, pointed out that Rice must "throw a fit" to beat the Hogs and demonstrated his point by heaving a chair through a convenient window.

The Owls went out and shocked the pre-season Southwest Conference favorites 23-20 and Owl middle linebacker Rodrigo Barnes testified Monday that the chair-throwing incident had a lot to do with it.

"Basically, I think everyone on the team just wanted to get out of the dressing room," Barnes said. "It really excited a lot of our guys. We got out on the field and looked at Coach Conover and at Arkansas and we decided we'd rather face Arkansas."

Conover couldn't explain the incident but said he looked in the eyes of his players before the game and didn't see any electricity. "I felt I had to do something to get them ready to play," Conover said. "That's when I threw the chair."

But Conover wouldn't let his actions take any of the credit for the victory, Rice's first in four games.

"Any dummy can throw a chair through a window," Conover said. "That doesn't take any ability. Give the credit to the guys who played the game."

Conover praised the Owls for the effort against Arkansas.

"I've never been around a group of young men like these," Conover said. "They've had so many reasons to quit. But they didn't quit. They tried hard all the time."

The Owls travel to College Station this week to battle the revitalized Texas Aggies and Conover certainly won't be looking at A&M's record. "They're young, but they've started to get together the last few weeks," he said.

Conover probably won't have much trouble getting the Owls ready to play this week. The players will remember the chair incident and they're glad Conover did it to help the cause.

They're just glad no one was sitting in it at the time.

NEBRASKA STAR

Rodgers Contender For Heisman Award

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney said Monday he doesn't think Johnny Rodgers' brushes with the law should have anything to do with the Cornhusker football star's consideration for the Heisman Trophy.

"Johnny should certainly win the Heisman Trophy," said Devaney. "I can't see how any problems he had over two years ago should affect him for the Heisman."

Rodgers, a receiver and kick return specialist, pleaded guilty in 1971 to a felony charge growing out of a gas station holdup. He was placed on probation for two years.

Early this year, Rodgers was arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana. The charge was dropped. Rodgers was convicted last month of operating a motor vehicle while his driver's license was revoked.

Devaney, talking by telephone from Lincoln, Neb., during a Big Eight Conference briefing session, said if the Heisman Trophy "is to be a character award, they ought to list it as such.

"I certainly don't think anything that has happened to Johnny since then (the larceny conviction) like driving with a suspended driver's license should keep him from winning the trophy.

"Johnny has played excellent football. He continues to amaze me with the things he does on the football field."

Generally, the other Big Eight football coaches agreed with Devaney.

Vince Gibson, the Kansas State coach, was one of them. Asked if a player's off-the-field activities should be a factor, Gibson replied:

"If you're asking me if Johnny Rodgers is the best football player in America, the answer is yes. If he's the best player in America, he shoudl get the Heisman Trophy."

Coaches Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma and Don Fambrough of Kansas also indicated the award should be based solely on a player's football ability.

"I'm not qualified to know what Johnny's been doing off the field," Fairbanks said. "I think the award is supposed to go to the best football player."

Fairbanks did not elaborate probably because one of his own players, halfback Greg Pruitt, is regarded as a prime candidate since he finished third in last year's voting.

Leaks Widens Rushing Lead

Dallas (AP) — The Southwest Conference statistics give a good insight into why the Texas Longhorns have clinched a tie for the SWC title.

Fullback Roosevelt Leaks, the bruising leader of the Longhorn ground game, increased his rushing lead with a two-touchdown, 162-yard effort against Baylor last Saturday.

He's now averaging 117.8 yards per game rushing and he also leads in tandem offense, rushing and pass receiving, although he has only caught two passes. His average in that department is 120.3 yards per game.

Leaks also moved into a tie for second in scoring at 6.3 points per game behind the 8.3 average of Southern Methodist's Alvin Maxson.

Texas replaced Texas Tech as the total offense leader with 371.1 yards per game to 370.2. Texas also increased its rushing offense lead over Tech to 290.9 yards per game against 253.4 yards per contest for the Red Raiders.

The Texas offense is averaging a touchdown for every 26.3 offensive snaps.

The Longhorns also threaten season-long leader SMU in rushing defense. The Mustangs are allowing 119.1 yards per game to Texas' 123.4.

Rice's Edwin Collins moved into a tie with teammate Gary Butler in receptions, both with 33 for an average of 4.1 per game.

MAZUR RESIGNS

Bengston New Pats' Boss

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Phil Bengtson, who helped Vince Lombardi take the Green Bay Packers from a doormat to five National Football League championships and victories in the first two Super Bowls, was set to tackle another tough job today as interim coach of the New England Patriots.

Bengtson, an outstanding tackle at the University of Minnesota before his graduation in 1935, was named to lead the Patriots for the remainder of the season Monday night, just a few hours after John Mazur resigned in the wake of a 52-0 blitz by unbeaten Miami.

"It's for five games," New England General Manager Upton Bell said. "The money the terms, just for five games. There was nothing else discussed with Bengtson. He is a man respected throughout football and he's our head coach for the next five weeks."

Bengtson, who left the San Francisco 49ers after eight years as an assistant coach to answer Lombardi's call to join him in Green Bay in 1959, was a surprise choice after Mazur became the Patriots' third coach in less than four years to leave the club.

Mazur, a former Notre Dame quarterback who also helped to build a couple of champions as an assistant coach with the Buffalo Bills, took over the Patriots midway through the 1970 season when Clive Rush was asked to step out.

Mazur was given a one-year contract for 1971, before Bell was lured from the Baltimore Colts' front office. It was no secret that Bell wanted his own head coach, but he had to accept Mazur.

With the arrival of quarterback Jim Plunkett, the Patriots surprised everyone last season, compiling a 6-8 record. Bell thought he had authority to hire a new coach, but found out differently as the club's board of directors handed Mazur a new one-year contract.

Mazur and Bell disagreed on many things. Both had difficulty containing themselves to prevent a public airing of their troubles. The Patriots lost their season opener to Cincinnatti, but then fashioned one-point upset victories over Atlanta and Washington.

Everything since has been downhill with both the offense, including Plunkett, and the defense at fault in six consecutive losses. After the 52-0 humiliation by the unbeaten Dolphins in Miami, and a review of a 2-7 record with only 109 points scored and 296 given up, Mazur called it quits.

Bengtson, an assistant coach at Missouri and Stanford before joining the 49ers in 1951, comes to the Patriots from the San Diego Chargers, where he was defensive coordinator last year and director of pro scouting this season.

New Home Drops Sands

ACKERLY — Rene Roman's 24 points sparked Sands Junior High to a 37-18 win over New Home in basketball action here Monday night.

In another junior high cage clash, New Home nudged Sands, 37-36, despite the 16-point effort of Sands' Stan Feaster.

In pee wee basketball, New Home claimed wins in both boys' and girls' games. In the girls' game, New Home defeated Sands, 24-18. Jill Floyd had 10 points for Sands.

In the pee wee boys' game, New Home edged Sands, 24-22. Sommer Shaw led Sands with eight points.

Coahoma Clubs Westbrook, 42-31

COAHOMA — Marge Nail pumped in 19 points and Donna Perry contributed 16 points to spark Coahoma to a 42-31 win over Westbrook in junior high cage action Monday night.

Dana Dorn led Westbrook with 20 points.

Westbrook defeated Coahoma, 50-33, in boys' action behind the 20-point output of Larry Ellett. Bobby Matlock had 14 points for Westbrook.

Injuries Talk Of SWC Camps

By The Associated Press

Injuries were the talk of the Texas and Texas Christian football camps Monday as they prepared for Saturday's important Southwest Conference title in Fort Worth in which the Longhorns can clinch their fifth consecutive title.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal was concerned about All-American offensive tackle Jerry Sisemore who suffered what X-rays revealed to be only a sprained ankle in the 'Horns 17-3 victory over Baylor.

"The side of his foot looks like my (black) shoe," Royal said. "Jerry's limping real bad. He can't walk. It's the kind of injury that usually takes two to three weeks to heal. We might be lucky if he's ready for Texas A&M."

Halfback Don Burrisk underwent successful surgery to repair his damaged right knee and will be lost for six months. Don Ealey and Mike Bayer suffered injured shoulders and may see only limited action against TCU.

In Fort Worth, Coach Billy Tohill said that senior defensive tackle Ken Steel would probably be lost for the season. Steel injured a knee in Saturday's 31-7 victory over Texas Tech.

"This is a blow to our defense and to Ken," Tohill said. He promoted 250-pound sophomore Tommy Van Wart of Garland to the first unit.

"Van Wart has seen a lot of action," Tohill said. "He started against Tulsa and has been our top defensive reserve. He's not exactly like a baby in there."

Tech Coach Jim Carlen promoted three freshmen to the varsity Monday. They are split end Willie Kent, tailback Rufus Myers and fullback Angel Berlingeri.

Carlen said starting defensive tackle Tim Schaffner, who underwent knee surgery Sunday, will be lost for the season.

Tech meets Baylor in Waco Saturday.

Wilt Leading NBA Stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, who holds the National Basketball Association record for field goal percentage, continues to outdo the field in that department again this year.

Chamberlain, who set the mark of .683 during the 1966-67 season, is currently shooting at .800 through games of Nov. 12, NBA statistics revealed Monday.

The Los Angeles Laker center hit 10-of-12 shots last week to bring his season's total to 92 field goals in 115 attempts.

The big guy also made his presence felt in the rebounding race, taking over the No.1 spot with an average of 16.5. He replaced Golden State's Nate Thurmond, who dropped to third.

CRAIG MORTON

The Man They Hate In Dallas

Copley News Service

Only in Big D could such a handsome, All-American-boy type from California be regarded as a symbol of futility. But that is how Craig Morton is viewed by many Texans, who equate him with droughts and dry wells.

It was Morton's misfortune to be quarterback of record when the Cowboys lost to Cleveland in the 1969 conference playoff and to Baltimore in the 1971 Super Bowl. That branded him with the same loser tag as was affixed to Don Meredith during the dark days in Dallas when the Cowboys became infamous as the team that couldn't win the big ones.

The people's choice remains jolly Roger Staubach, the retired tar, who led the Cowboys into the promised land by beating Miami in the Super Bowl last January.

Even though Staubach has not played a down this fall, the former naval officer leads Morton by more than 1,600 votes in the Favorite Cowboy poll.

"As long as Roger and I are in competition," said Craig, "there will be Staubach fans and Morton fans. It's a way of life for me in Dallas but all I can do is perform.

"Let 'em boo. When I'm throwing touchdowns and the Dallas Cowboys are winning, I can live without cheers."

He is throwing touchdowns; Dallas is winning. Staubach, although fully recovered from shoulder surgery Aug. 13, still views proceedings from the sidelines.

Incidentally, Morton, who had his throwing arm carved on after the 1969 and '70 campaigns, claims a 2-1 edge in operations. "If I'd had the problems he's had," said Roger, "I'd be a cook on a ship somewhere."

Morton is abetted by one of footballs finest offensive lines, possibly the best receiving corps in the game and a punishing set of runners, featuring Calvin Hill, the NFC's No. 2 rusher, and Walt Garrison, only real, live cowboy on the Cowboys.

Garrison, who demanded a horse trailer as part of his bonus when he signed, is a working cowboy on his father-in-law's ranch when he isn't riding the rodeo circuit as a calf roper and bulldogger.

'TOUGHEST MAN'

Dallas trainer Larry Gardner calls him "the toughest man I ever saw." Meredith calls him "Little Puddin'." And everyone calls him "Ol' Reliable." If you need four yards, he'll get you four. If you need 10 yards, he'll get you four.

Second leading all-time Dallas rusher, Garrison also is a coiner of bucolic expressions.

For instance, after the Cowboys beat the College All-Stars, 20-10, last summer, he recalled his experience as an All-Star in 1966. "The Packers," he said, "beat us like a borrowed mule."

DAVE WHO?

That's the offense. Then there is the Doomsday Defense, the most disciplined defense in the league, some say. It features a superb linebacking trio of Chuck Howley, Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards.

Dave Edwards has been a starter since 1965 but a household name only in his own household. Even trivia connoisseurs respond with "who?" when they hear his name.

Dave's problem is a lack of ink. There is a mysterious force working to keep his name out of the papers. Bob St. John of the Dallas Morning News tells about it.

St. John, wanting to write a story about Edwards, telephoned Dave's wife, Gail, and told her to have the player contact him.

The reporter waited and waited but Edwards never called, and the story was not written. Later he asked Edwards about it.

"My wife wrote down your number on a piece of Kleenex," explained Edwards. "Then she blew her nose."

Broyles Calls Pony Backs 'The Best'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Broyles said Monday that the Southern Methodist Mustangs' running backs and split receivers are "the best" the Razorbacks will face since the Southern Cal game.

Arkansas plays SMU in Fayetteville Saturday afternoon.

He also said SMU's defensive front four are as big as Southern Cal's.

Broyles said quarterback Joe Ferguson missed the practice and will be out for a couple of days because of a bruised knee. Tailback Dickey Morton and linebacker Scott Binnion were absent because of the flu, and linebacker John Wheat was out with a sore neck.

Campbell's Idea Temporarily Off

NEW YORK (AP) — President Clarence Campbell's announcement that the proposed series between a touring Russian team and four National Hockey League clubs has, for the moment at least, fallen through is the latest twist in hockey's cold war with the Communist world.

Campbell said Monday that current negotiations between the NHL and the Soviets have been suspended and that he has cancelled a scheduled trip to Moscow next weekend that was to wrap up final details.

"I think some obstacles have been placed in their way," said Campbell. "Negotiations have been halted and as of now, there is a stalemate."

Campbell did not rule out a resumption of negotiations.

"We'll expect some explanation and verification from them if they desire to continue negotiations," Campbell said.

The NHL's relations with the Russians have been extremely sensitive ever since September's series between Team Canada and the Soviet national squad. That eight-game set was replete with problems but in the midst of it, the Russians expressed interest in a possible return series against several NHL clubs.

Campbell pursued the idea and it seemed set for January. Then, suddenly came a stumbling block—unidentified by Campbell—that appears to have scuttled the plans.

Campbell did not name the problem but hinted that it involved the International Ice Hockey Federation. Russia is a member of the Federation which requires consent of the countries involved before sanctioning an international competition.

Brothers To Battle In Top Grid Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The McNeill brothers try to beat each other Saturday in Memorial Coliseum but they call it just a football game with high stakes, not a civil war.

Rod McNeill, 6-foot-2, 218 pounds, is a tailback for the University of Southern California and brother Fred, an inch taller, is a 198-pound defensive end for archrival UCLA.

They surprised themselves by choosing different schools and they live together about half way between the two campuses.

"We kid each other a lot," says Fred, "He makes statements like he's going to run me over when he comes around my end and I say I'm going to stop him."

Rod, a year older at 21, says, "I'm not going to try to think about running at my brother. If I do too much thinking, I'm not going to get too far. I'll do the best I can but I'll try not to think that he's my brother.

"When I'm running, I try not to hurt anybody but we're taught to punish tacklers, to give more than we receive. I've just got to try to keep emotions out of it.

"I haven't told him, 'No, you can't stop me,' but I have assured him it won't be an easy thing for him to do.

"I've seen him in films," says Rod. "He's pretty vicious out there. A defensive man has to be a virtual animal and it will be hard for him to think of me as his brother."

Fred says he won't let up when he sees Rod coming.

"I heard a story of two brothers playing pro ball," says Fred. "One guy hit his brother and knocked him out. After recovering, he said it was just football and that he was proud of his brother. That's the way I'd feel."

Many GI's Returning From Viet May Have 'Silent' Gonorrhea

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A team of doctors has reported evidence suggesting that appreciable numbers of troops returning from Vietnam may have "silent" undetected gonorrhea that could have national implications unless the men are found and treated.

Indeed, the doctors told a scientific meeting Monday, it is possible that much of an already noted increasing resistance of gonorrhea germs in the United States to antibiotic wonder drugs has been due to "importation of resistant strains" by Vietnam returnees whose own transmisible infection was overlooked because they showed no symptoms.

'SILENT' DISEASE

The doctors recommended that all Vietnam returnee be screened by a new test they described as a way to detect "silent" gonorrhea.

The doctors—of the University of Washington, Seattle, and the Army's Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.—made their report to the centennial meeting of the American Public Health Association.

They did so in reporting evidence from limited studies of both civilians and military men that "asymptomatic" gonorrhea apparently is much more prevalent among males than previously thought. They defined asymptomatic gonorrhea as a gonorrhea infection which produces no symptoms in the male or female infected but may produce active disease if transmitted sexually.

EXPOSED

The team, headed by Dr. H. Hunter Handsfield of the University of Washington, said of the latter findings:

"Traditionally, it has been assumed that gonorrhea produces a symptomatic disease in men and (an) asymptomatic infection in women. This has produced the corollary assumption that the principal resevoir of gonococcal infection in the community is the silent female carrier. Consequently, a great deal of effort is expended toward tracing these asymptomatic women."

The doctors reported finding, by a special diagnostic test, a "high prevalence" of asymptomatic gonorrhea among a small group of civilian men known to have been exposed to infected women.

They also reported testing 2,000 Vietnam returnees who were undergoing routine physical examinations at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and at Madigan Hospital immediately prior to discharge from the Army.

FIND GERMS

And they said that of those who had had sexual exposure during their years in Vietnam—a number they did not specify—2½ per cent were found to be infected but showing no symptoms.

Declaring the germs uncovered from the men were relatively resistant to antibiotics, the doctors said: Even though no more than 7,000 men per year carrying gonococci would have returned from Vietnam during peak involvement the rapid spread of these organisms through the community would have been facilitated by their resistance to the antibiotic regimens (lower dose schedules) in use prior to this year . . ."

Amtrak To Begin Route To Mexico

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — An official of the Amtrak railroad system said here that passenger service to Mexico from St. Louis will begin about Christmas.

James Bryant said the service will be routed from St. Louis through Little Rock, Texarkana, Dallas and Austin to Mexico. Bryant said the rail link may be extended to include Chicago.

A bill providing $9.1 million for expansion and improvement of the system has been approved by President Nixon with $4.1 million earmarked for the St. Louis-Mexico route.

Bryant said negotiations are still underway with the Mexican government for operation of the train south of the border.

He said the Mexican government "does not want to furnish cars, is reluctant to share in the cost of cars and will not guarantee maintenance."

To Bathe . .?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In recommending that one bathe and change undies daily, you are contributing to both a water and power shortage!

I was surprised to learn that my physician husband, who is quite acceptable in polite company, bathed only once a week, which is proof of the adage, "What you don't know can't hurt you."

According to dermatologists, unless one's work creates excessive perspiration or exposes him to grime, unpleasant odors or contagious diseases, daily baths are neither essential nor recommended.

Madison Avenue hucksters have sold us the myth that daily baths, deodorants, soaps, and mouthwashes are necessary to life and the pursuit of happiness, when actually earthlings have survived remarkably well without them for thousands of years. In fact, they have come into general use only the last 50 years or so, along with the increase of divorce. Probably more dissension and divorces are caused by hogging the bathroom and appropriating all the hot water than by failure to take a daily bath.

CLEAN BUT NOT FANATIC

DEAR CLEAN: Perhaps I have been brainwashed by Madison Avenue, but I happen to believe that a man should bathe daily, and a woman can't bathe enough! Fifty years ago when one had to bathe in a tub in the kitchen in front of the coal stove, the Saturday night bath made some sense, but not any more. (P.S.: People with naturally "dry" skin should use a moisturizer.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband did something recently that worries me. He insisted that I sign a paper stating that if he should die first I would never Get married again. To tell you the truth I never gave it a thought one way or the other, but I signed it just to satisfy him. We aren't old. I'm 44 and he is 45, and I don't now why he is worrying about such a thing now. Far as I know, he's in good health.

I would like to know if this paper I signed is legal. I mean, can he hold me to it?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: After he is gone, he can't "hold you" to anything.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I travel to and from work by bus and would like your advice as to how to handle two problems which I encounter quite often.

The first is when the person sitting next to me dozes off and starts slumping against me. I once had a man's head on my shoulder And another time a lady was practically in my lap?

I never know whether to wake the person, ignore him or what. It's embarrassing. I can't change seats because the bus is usually packed.

The second problem is sitting next to someone who has a wad of chewing gum in his mouth. He's usually preoccupied with reading a newspaper and is most likely unaware of the noise he is making with his slurping, cracking, and popping. It is most annoying to me and, again, I can't change seats because there are none vacant.

This may seem trivial to you, but it's not to me because I usually arrive at work (or home) in an extremely agitated mood. I HAVE to ride the buses, so I hope you'll print this with some advice.

TEED OFF IN D.C.

DEAR TEED: If a fellow rider slumps on you in his sleep, gently awaken him. As for the rude and noisy gum chewer, he may have a short fuse, so I suggest you silently recite a long prayer and thank the good Lord he is only a stranger you'll probably never see again.

Locals Attend TML Parley

City officials attend the 60th Annual Conference of the Texas Municipal League this week in Dallas.

Attending the statewide interchange of ideas and problem solutions will be approximately 2,500 municipal officials and wives from Texas cities.

Local government finance will be one of the principal matters of concern at this year's conference. Revenue sharing and the property tax dilemma will receive consideration in the general session as well as several departmental sessions.

Departmental program subject matter includes labor relations, environmental protection, equal employment opportunity, computer security, utility regulation, state-municipal relationships in personnel, acquisition and use of open space, fire prevention legislation role of the public safety officer and employe motivation. Attending the conference from the City of Big Spring are Commissioner Harold Hall, City Manager Harry Nagel, City Attorney James Gregg, Director of Public Works James Campbell, Chief of Police Vance Chisum and Director of Finance Robert Massengale.

Robbers Loot Cowboy's Boot

Robert Bridge told Salt Lake City police Sunday he put $150 in bills inside his stocking, then put on his cowboy boots.

Bridge said he was listening to a record player and fell asleep. When he awoke, the boots and stockings had been removed and the money was missing, he said.

Opening lead: Ace of ◇ Altho West got off to the killing lead against South's four spade contract, he did not follow up his inital advantage, and in the end his efforts went for nothing.

Holding four trumps, West chose to launch an assault against declarer's trump holding by playing a forcing game. He accordingly opened the ace of diamonds and when partner gave him a come-on by playing the eight, West continued with the jack which was ducked by all hands. A third round was covered by North's queen, East's king and ruffed by South with the deuce of spades.

The dummy was entered with a club, and the jack of spades was put thru for a finesse. West won the trick with the king and exited with a trump. South had just enough spades to draw all of his opponent's trumps. When he was finished, he claimed his contract, announcing that he would discard his small heart on North's fourth club.

West erred in winning his trump trick so quickly. The initial attack in diamonds had brought declarer down to his size in spades, and West should have endeavored to preserve the initiative by exhausting the dummy of its trumps first.

Observe the effect that can be obtained if West ducks not only the first, but also the second spade lead. The best declarer can do now, is to cash the ace of trumps, leaving the king outstanding, and then begin to run the clubs. West trumps the third round of clubs and returns a diamond, forcing out South's last trump and leaving the latter permanently disconnected from the dummy. In the end, South must surrender a heart for the setting trick.

THE ELECTRIC ROCK

Flashing and pulsing with a kalideoscope of vivid colors, the "Electric Rock" combines multiple-bulb circuitry with the light piping properties of optical Plexiglas in a creative action light that will "turn on" everyone, young or old.
A unique, hand-formed "rock" sculpture of Plexiglas is mounted over a trio of colored bulbs which flash on and off independently. Dazzling colors flood the rock, change, mix, and pluse on and off, creating an entrancing, ever-changing lighting effect.
A black, reflective-vinyl, wrap-around reflector amplifies the color and flashing action. Black Plexiglas base, 6-ft. cord, on-off line switch. Hot pink, amber and blue bulbs. Colors can be changed with any standard candelabra base flashing bulb.

Warning Of Close Shave

As one veteran observer put it, "Dolph Briscoe almost snatched defeat from the jaws of victory, and he worked hard at it."

Democrat Briscoe was elected but only after a strong challenge by Republican Henry Grover, La Raza Unida candidate Ramsey Muniz siphoned vital votes from Briscoe.

Grover put on a tough campaign with clear stands on all issues. Briscoe was mainly nebulous and ran a rather cavalier non-campaign.

While Grover benefited from the Nixon landslide in Texas and Sen. John Tower's added pull, the voters seemingly decided they weren't going to be taken for granted by Briscoe.

Many voters also must have recalled Briscoe's flip-flop from George Wallace to George McGovern on national television at the Democratic convention.

As governor, Briscoe must be prepared to exert more leadership, to take a stand and to force the issues. He will be at the head of an all-new state government. Bill Hobby will be lieutenant governor and Price Daniel Jr. is expected to be the new speaker of the House.

The legislature has gone through the biggest turnover in two decades, with more than half the House being replaced and 15 new senators of the total 31.

Texans turned out the old crew with good reason. The new leadership is obligated to restore integrity and public confidence in the state government. To do this, Briscoe will have to become more forceful than he has been in his campaigns to be more persuasive even when seeking to be conciliatory. His close shave should remind him of that.

Needed: Better Alternatives

Although employment figures for October show an increase in employment and a tiny decrease in unemployment, there are disturbing aspects to the figures.

The jobless rate remained unchanged at 5.5 per cent of the work force, meaning 4.5 million Americans are out of work. Thus the increase in employment is merely keeping pace with the increase in the labor force, it would appear, and not yet cutting into the core of the problem.

More disturbing still, the rate of unemployment for nonwhites — mostly blacks — remains almost double the over-all rate. In October, 10.1 per cent of the nation's nonwhite work force was unemployed; that is a staggering and unacceptable figure.

There is no instant answer. Many of these nonwhite jobless form the unemployment in line for jobs and only a full-employment economy is likely to reach them. Meanwhile, they represent a tinderbox in our central cities, and it is a flag of warning that something better than unemployment or welfare must be found.

Something Deeper

William F. Buckley Jr.

Moderate Democrats are taking satisfaction from the proposed liquidation of Mrs. Jean Westwood, whose four-year plan ended in Democratic disaster. Eight years ago the Republicans went through the same kind of thing, with regulars calling for the ouster of Dean Burch, who was closely identified with candidate Barry Goldwater and therefore with the great Goldwater defeat. Mrs. Westwood says she intends to stay on, that they will have to oust her if they want to get rid of her, and that probably they don't have the votes. Dean Burch did not fight publicly, but Goldwater loyalists were certain they could hang on to him if Barry Goldwater stood by. He chose not to, for complicated reasons.

IT ISN'T known whether George McGovern will enter now into that listless period characteristic of defeated candidates. Adlai Stevenson went into relative hiding, issuing only one or two belletristic missiles to his supporters. Richard Nixon, in 1960, became almost a recluse for a period of months. Hubert Humphrey went an entire fortnight, or so the hyperbole goes, without giving a speech. George McGovern's behavior is not absolutely predictable, and we cannot know whether he will fight to retain Mrs. Westwood.

THOSE OF US who are in no particular hurry to see the Democratic party repair itself should be prepared to take in happy stride Mrs. Westwood's victory, if in fact she prevails. Her dismissal, after all, would be nothing more than a ritual execution, another agricultural commissar sent to Siberia, unrelated to the prospective emancipation of the kulaks. The only thing the Democratic party could do to appease American anxiety is to repudiate not Mrs. Westwood, nor even George McGovern, but McGovernism. It is not at all clear that the party will do this, however.

THE DEMOCRATIC party has strategic difficulties which are largely the making of the Republican party. It has, really, no other vision than the socialist's vision. The Republican party, particularly under Richard Nixon, has accepted the notion of federal responsibility for human welfare. It has done so fitfully, in the American way: preferring the empirical to the abstract approach, as exemplified by the difference between, say, Elliot Richardson's various public health proposals, and Edward Kennedy's.

But you name it, the Republican party is pretty much there: charging government with looking after health, education, old age, child care, recreation. In foreign policy there is no direct ideological line that issues out of existing public differences between Republicans and Democrats.

WHAT THE Democratic party needs at the moment, if it is to provide sassy tough opposition for the Republicans, is not less McGovernism, but a great deal more of it. More precisely put, it needs McGovernism without McGovern. Drastic redistribution schemes without silly arithmetic. Anti-busines legislation without opportunistic petulance. In short, a sharp turn toward orthodox, or neo-orthodox, socialism.

THE ALTERNATIVE is too dizzying to contemplate. It would involve a genuine rediscovery of the ideal of the community, of the primacy of the individual, of the spontaneity of the private sector. A genuine revulsion against over-weaning government. For a government stalled by the Republican cooption of New Deal gradualism, and public hostility towards socialism, one might hope that a new Democratic radical would emerge calling attention to something much more exciting than the replacement of Mrs. Westwood.

Sex Difference Myths

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — We live in an age when myths are exploded like strings of firecrackers, unmindful that, before the echo is lost and the debris settles, we will have developed another set of rules.

This is revealed by an investigation of male-female job attitudes and beliefs, made at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

One conclusion, reported in the ISR Newsletter: "Much of the difference in attitudes and beliefs can be attributed to early childhood socialization which prepares males and females to fulfill different work and family roles as adults.

"But, additional social forces which act on men and women workers later in life, such as educational and professional training or the demands of the job itself, have some influence on job-related attitudes."

For the most part, however, the stereotypes were destroyed by facts. Among the stereotypes:

—"American women work just for pin money." The assumption is that they are supported economically by men. But, say the researchers, the data proved it wrong.

"Two out of every five working women could not be regarded as economically dependent on a male wage earner, be he either a husband or a father. A third of the women in the sample were the sole wage earners . . ."

—"Women are less concerned than men with getting ahead in their jobs." The researchers found "no difference between men and women in terms of the importance they attached to having a job where the chances for promotion are good."

However, there is a difference, probably the result of conditioning. When asked of their present job, "Approximately when would you like to take on a job at a higher level?" many women said they never wanted to be promoted.

—"Women are more concerned than men with the socio-emotional aspects of their jobs." The researchers found only one basic difference between men and women on this score and, therefore, found the statement essentially correct.

The one difference was that more women than men said that it was very important to them that their coworkers be friendly and helpful. The researchers tended to discount even this difference and explained:

The source of the sex difference was really the fact that women are over-represented in jobs demanding interpersonal relations. "Without friendly and helpful coworkers, their job performance might be impaired."

Wrong Message

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) —"I am sorry you were not successful in the recent election," read the telegram from U.S. Sen. John Tunney to Walter Ingalls, a fellow Democrat who ran for the California Assembly.

Ingalls says he certainly intends to continue in public service because he won the election.

Why the telegram of condolences? "I guess my name got in the wrong stack," Ingalls said.

Strategy Ahead

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — To win 49 states and 521 electoral votes is quite an achievement for a presidential candidate, and Richard Nixon can be proud of the result. He received approximately 17,500,000 more popular votes than his opponent, who carried only one state and the District of Columbia, with 17 electoral votes.

SEN. GEORGE McGovern got more than 28,000,000 million votes — or 38 per cent — to President Nixon's 45,800,000 — or 61 per cent of the popular vote. Approximately one per cent went to minor party candidates.

Four years ago, Mr. Nixon won the election with 301 electoral votes in 32 states. He received 32,000,000 votes — only 500,000 more than did Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, who won 13 states and the District of Columbia, with 191 electoral votes. Gov. George Wallace, running as the third-party candidate, got approximately 10,000,000 ballots and 46 electoral votes.

SO, IN CONTRAST TO 1968, President Nixon can feel happy over the 1972 election. He was lucky that neither George Wallace nor any other third-party candidates with vote-getting strength around the country was in competition with him.

But questions are being raised as to why, in view of the landslide for him, Mr. Nixon didn't carry on his "coattails" more Republican candidates for Congress. In the senate, 41 Democrats and 26 Republicans were not running this year. In the contests that did take place, the Republicans won 17 and the Democrats 16. Actually, the Republicans took four seats from the Democrats, but the Democrats picked up six of the Republican seats. The line-up for the new Senate is 56 Democrats and 43 Republicans, with one independent. There were 54 Democrats and 45 Republicans before the election this week.

ALL MEMBERS of the House of Representatives were up for election, and the Democrats won some Republican seats while the Republicans obtained some Democratic seats. The previous totals had been 256 Democrats and 179 republicans, with 218 necessary for control. The estimate for the new Congress is 243 Democrats and 191 Republicans.

AS PEOPLE have become familiar with the voting machines, split-ticket voting has increased. This means that local campaigns can be carried on which will bring about victory for one party in Congress and another party in the White House. It all depends on the efforts of party organizations and the kind of candidates who are chosen as nominees.

Mr. Nixon doubtless will receive the support of members of Congress from both parties on important pieces of legislation in the next four years, just as he has in the past four. So it would not be surprising if the 1974 election developed a concentrated campaign on the part of the Republicans to win more seats in both the House and the Senate. Mr. Nixon himself is not likely to participate in any of these efforts.

Strange Deaths

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

When you get to thinking how important you are, you might consider this: You are only one of several people on earth; the sun is large enough to contain a million earths; there are 100 billion stars like the sun in the Milky Way, and there are at least 100 million galaxies like the Milky Way in known space.

One out of eight Americans snores. And about one in every three who snores denies it.

Few who ever lived could have loved a garden more than Sir William Temple, 17th century English statesman and author. In his will, he directed that, while the rest of his body was to be interred in Westminster Abbey, his heart should be removed and buried near the sundial in the garden of his estate.

Quotable notables: "A conference is a meeting of a group of men who, singly, can do nothing but who, collectively, agree that nothing can be done." — Fred Allen.

Know your language: Many people think that the word longshoreman, for someone who loads ships, is descriptive of the robust appearance these men often have. Actually, it originated from "along the shore men," a designation of where they work.

Expensive surface: It takes 50,000 gallons of paint, varnish and lacquer to coat a battleship.

Sign in a Manhattan taxicab: "I love to be told where to go—but not how to get there."

Good advice, bad example: Horatio Alger Jr. never practiced what he preached. In more than 100 books, he assured young people that luck followed pluck and hard work always led to prosperity. But he liked to step along the primrose path, and he died penniless.

Strange deaths: Most men die uneventfully in bed, but all don't. Here are a few weird exits from life:

Aeschylus was killed when an eagle dropped a tortoise on his bald head.

Otway, a starving poet, was given a coin, bought a loaf of bread and died swallowing the first mouthful.

Francis Bacon contracted a fatal cold while stuffing a fowl with snow as an experiment in refrigeration.

It was Walter Bagehot who observed, "Men who do not make advances to women are apt to become victims to women who make advances to them."

Old Con Game

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

One larcenous scheme seems to flourish as fast as another is exposed. Sometimes, it's an old con game with a new look, and, at others, it's a brand new angle — a completely new way to separate some unsuspecting soul from his money.

DESPITE ALL the Federal Trade Commission, the Better Business Bureaus and the Postal Service can do, this season of the year is a particularly vulnerable time for trusting citizens who are either anxious to spend or earn money.

"Changing Times" magazine reminds the unwary of the most prevalent gyps, frauds and unethical dodges currently in the marketplace.

PHONEY CREDIT certificates: You are mailed a "valuable certificate" to entice you to buy goods. For example, your $50 certificate is to be applied to the purchase of a sewing machine tagged at $109.50. But the price has been boosted from its normal $59.50, so the machine may be no bargain at all.

Something for nothing; People are hooked by the appeal of something for nothing. It may be an offer of a "free" wig, actually worth only a few dollars, for which you pay dearly in styling costs. Or a set of stainless steel tableware that you get "free" with the purchase of a set of china. Actually, the price of the combination offer covers the cost of both items.

VANITY PUBLISHERS: The solicitation for inclusion in a biographical directory, most often accompanied by a request for a 'Membership fee" or an order for one or more copies of the directory. The directory is often never distributed to anyone except those who order copies because their names will be included. That's how the publisher creates his own market. (Public libraries and trade associations have the names of legitimate directory firms.)

BAIT ADVERTISING: The bait-and-switch gambit is used to sell everything from sewing machines, carpeting and cars to appliances, food and furniture. The company advertises an item at exceptionally low cost. You take the bait, but while you are looking it over with obvious disappointment, the salesman himself disparages the product and talks you into investing in one of the "better grades" of merchandise.

HEALTH QUACKERY: It's the old snake oil salesman's pitch, but it is forever fresh for the gullible. He's still peddling the same old false promises — balding cures, breast developers, electrical reducing gadgets, diet plans, cosmetic miracles, etc.

Take care.

No Coattails

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Everyone is asking why President Nixon, with his tremendous victory, was unable to bring in any of the other Republican candidates on his coattails.

I CAN NOW clean up the mystery: The President did not have any coattails for anyone to hitch on to.

What happened was that a few months before the election Pat Nixon decided the President needed a new suit for election night. She called his tailor and made an appointment for the President. The tailor came to the White House and measured Mr. Nixon for his suit.

TWO WEEKS later the tailor came back to give Mr. Nixon his first fitting. The President, aware that candidates all over the country were depending on him, asked the tailor, "What about the coattails? Wouldn't a double vent give me a longer coattail for the other candidates to hitch on to?"

"A double vent is just as good as a single vent," the tailor said.

"I HAVE TO think not only of my party, but of all America. My choice of a vent should not be decided because of one special interest group or another. It's true some people in this country, honest people with the best of intentions, believe in the single-vent jacket. They have a right to their opinion, and I respect them for it, but I hope they also respect my right to have a double vent in my jacket if I believe it's best for the country."

"You make me proud to be an American tailor," the suitmaker said.

THE TAILOR WENT away and worked on the suit. He tried to get an appointment for another fitting, but every time he got someone on the White House phone they told him the President was too busy to see him. The tailor was desperate; he hadn't measured Mr. Nixon for his coattails.

On election morning at San Clemente, the President asked where his new suit was. The White House staff panicked and an aide called the tailor in Washington, "Bring the President's suit right away."

"BUT," PROTESTED the tailor, "the coat has no back to it."

"Never mind the back," Bob Haldeman said. "We're sending the President's plane for it and you'd better have it at Andrews Air Force Base when we get there."

The tailor met the President's plane with the unfinished suit and it was delivered just before Mr. Nixon was scheduled to vote.

As in the case of the emperor who had no clothes on, no one dared to tell the President his suit had no back.

And that is why every Republican candidate who tried to grab the President's coattails on Election Day found himself with a handful of muslin instead.

Birds Slept During 2-Minute Eclipse

A unique piece of British research, the behavior of birds during a total eclipse in Canada, has confirmed researchers' expectations.

The group reported that during the two-and-one-half-minute eclipse that all birds went to sleep except the Olive Black Thrush, which throughout the eclipse sang its typical dusk chorus song.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Another person and I were discussing our beliefs and he refused to open his mind to my opinions, but tried to force his beliefs on me. When discussing religion I believe it is important to keep one's mind open. All he said was that Satan was working through me, and that he felt sorry for me. I would like for you to give me your opinion on this. M.M.J.

Addison once said: "Our disputant puts me in mind of the scuttlefish, which when unable to extricate himself, blackens the water about him till he becomes invisible."

I have found that one cannot "argue" another into truth. Someone has said, "he that is convinced against his will, is of the same opinion still." This is why I do not use a great deal of argument and apologetics in my preaching. People have their opinions, and when I put mine up against theirs, nothing is generated but heat. I use the Word of God, which is "sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart." (Hebrews 4:12.) Truth, anyway, is not so much a thing of the mind, as of the heart. Keep this in mind when you are drawn into vain arguments with people.

When the Pharisees could not cope with the truth as given by Christ, they resorted to the same tactics: "He can cast out demons, because he is Satan, king of devils." (Matthew 12:24.) Your friend used name-calling to protect his position.

There is, however, a happy compromise between the vacillating open mind you claim, and the conviction which can be quietly shared. I hope, regarding Christ, the latter is true of you.

A Devotion For Today . .

I go unto the Father. (John 14:28)

PRAYER: Lord, Thou didst call me once to follow Thee, and with Thy grace helping me I began to do so. I confess I have many times stopped trying. Give me strength now to begin again. Amen.

CARROL RIGHTER

WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 15, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is excellent for whatever has to do with getting emotions and health problems improved. The afternoon and evening bring delays in working out a suitable course of action. Later you can replace depression with constructive action.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Show that you are able to put a fine new plan in operation that can bring real success. One who is usually helpful becomes irritable today, so avoid this person. Relax at home tonight.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have a fascinating plan but it needs to be studied well from a standpoint of details. Show patience where new social conditions are concerned later in the day. Don't pressure anyone.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are able to understand how to handle obligations well, so get busy on them until they are completed. Do whatever will make your mate approve of you more. Be more conscientious.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) An associate is most cooperative during the morning but stubborn later in the day. A public affair is best handled tomorrow since today could bring problems. Think cleverly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your intuition is working well in the morning so be sure to follow it at that time, since changing conditions later would do you no good. Show devotion to mate. Avoid gossipy time wasters.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have the right slant to make a fine deal with an associate in the morning, but it would be more difficult in the afternoon. An outside matter requires a calm attitude for right results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A new approach at your work is fine, but don't neglect perseverance that is so much a part of your nature. Don't overfox yourself with too much concentrated work. Plan some time for rest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time for pleasure but don't permit a demanding friend to pull you away from important work you have to do. Use special care in handling project that is vital to your welfare.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) There are problems at home that need early handling or they can get out of hand. Do away with articles that are no longer usable. Replace with the new and the functional. Be modern.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Buy the appliances that will make your work easier and more efficient, but don't make radical changes. Take time to do necessary shopping but don't buy anything you don't need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go along with the advice a financial expert gives you although you are not in complete agreement. Study your budget well. Make sure not to invest more than you really can afford.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are more clairvoyant in the morning so carry through quickly and get right results. A new plan you have for entertaining should have the kinks ironed out so do just that.

Bar Mayors From Sitting As Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred small-town mayors from sitting as judges when the fines collected upon conviction are a major sources of village revenues.

The 7 to 2 decision in a traffic case from Monroeville, Ohio, will have an impact in 17 states with laws authorizing such dual roles.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. delivered the majority opinion, which drew dissenting votes from Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist.

Brennan said a citizen charged with violating an ordinance is entitled by the Constitution's "due process" provisions to a "neutral and detached judge."

He said a mayor or official whose responsibilities include the village's finances could be biased on the bench.

The case involved a local man, Clarence Ward, who was convicted by the Monroeville mayor of failure to stop his truck at a police checkpoint and refusing to produce his driver's license. He was fined $100.

The mayor in Monroeville had both executive and judicial powers. Besides sitting on the bench, he was president of the village council, had general over-all supervision of village affairs and had to account to the council on village finances.

A major part of the village's income came from the fines collected in the mayor's court. In 1968, for example, this was about $23,000 of the $53,000 village revenue.

The ruling reverses Ward's conviction and invalidates the state law that authorized the mayor's court and casts a shadow on similar laws in 16 other states—Alabama, Arkansas, Deleware, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Cub Enrollment Rallies Slated

Boys who want to take part in the adventure of being a Cub Scout will have that chance today and Thursday. A rally is being held at 7:30 p.m. today by Pack 202 at Parkhill School, and every boy 8-9-10 years of age interested is asked to come and bring his parents.

A similar meeting will be held Thursday 7:30 p.m. at Marcy School by Pack 46.

Check Charge

Chessie Mincs, 31, of 623 McEwen, was released this morning on $1,000 bond set by Peace Justice Walter Grice. She is charged with defrauding by check.

A $75 check was made out to Foodway on Sept. 12, according to the complaint.

Permian Junior College Regents Pay Prof Bundle

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Permian Junior College System regents have paid a $48,000 out-of-court settlement to an instructor who was fired in 1969 and carried his case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bob Sindermann, now staff director of the Texas Senate's Committee on Public Junior Colleges, flew here over the weekend and picked up the check, representing back pay and attorney's fees.

Sindermann, 43, alleged his contract as a government teacher was not renewed because of his lobbying activities in Austin to get a teacher tenure law for junior college teachers and to have Odessa College elevated to four-year status.

Dr. Jack Rodgers, Odessa College president at the time and now system chancellor, said he discharged Sindermann for missing classes without permission to go to Austin.

At the time of his dismissal, Sindermann was president of the Texas Junior College Teachers Association.

Sindermann filed suit May 22, 1969, two days after he was told he would not receive a new contract. A federal district court judge issued a summary judgment in favor of the college and against Sindermann. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit reversed that ruling, and the school's regents appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court ruled June 29, 1972, that Sindermann had an unwritten right to job tenure and sent the case back to trial court for a hearing.

Budget Board Considers State Parking Garage

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board is considering a state parking garage on the downtown Austin site that lawmakers have twice said they don't want used for an 11-story Texas Highway Department building.

What to do with the 11th Street and Congress Avenue lot was kicked around at the board's meeting Monday.

Later, Tom Keel, board staff director, said he would prepare a proposal transferring $1.5 million from the State Building Commission to reimburse the highway department for what it had spent on the site.

"What we'll recommend is that the property be secured and developed by the building commission as a parking garage. Beyond that, the legislature can do what it wants to do," Keel said.

The property includes foundations of a former state capitol, and the legislature said in June it thought the land should be developed into a park. But Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the item from the current general appropriations act.

Lawmakers opposed the highway building because it would block views of both the Capitol and the Governor's Mansion.

Last month, the legislature approved a resolution recommending "an underground parking garage for state employes and visitors consistent with the preservation of (the site's) heritage value and dignity of surrounding buildings."

Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, Senate Finance Committee chairman, said a downtown park would be a "24-hour maintenance job."

"If we were going to build a high rise parking lot, now I'd be for that," said Sen. Tom Breighton, Mineral Wells.

The board recommends expenditures to the legislature.

Aged Nuns Seek Welfare Funds For Room, Board

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 30 elderly Roman Catholic nuns, living in a historically self-sufficient Dominican convent here, have asked the state for welfare money to pay their room and board.

The unprecedented applications were made to the local office of the Texas Welfare Department about a week ago.

If their applications are approved, the nuns, all over 65, would receive about $120 monthly in Old Age Assistance payments from the state of Texas. They reportedly plan to continue living in the convenants and turn the checks over to their superiors for payment of their room and board.

Sister Josephine Martin, treasurer of the Sacred Heart Convenat of the Dominican Sisters, declined to comment on the applications. However, she did say the applications are being processed.

Welfare officials declined to release the exact number of applicants and their names.

Sally Horton, program director for the Texas Welfare Department here, said the legal question centered on whether a convent can be interpreted as a "family" or as individuals belonging to a group.

The legal office ruled that the nuns are individuals belonging to a group. Consequently, each nun's income is figured separately and welfare rights are based on each nun's particular situation.

A "family" ruling would have required the income of all 170 Dominican nuns in Houston to be averaged and that figure used as a basis for eligibility.

Welfare workers also plan to visit the convent to help in processing the claims.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PARKED: (Q.) Paul and I had parked before, but nothing serious had happened. This time we were having a good time at a party, and he talked me into leaving early. He stopped in the park and took advantage of me.

He is older than I am. He is 17 and I am 14. I look 17, though, because I am well developed for my age.

I have talked to his friends and my friends and I can't decide whether Paul is just physically interested in me or if he really likes me. I know I really like him. What should I do? — Outtalked in Ohio.

(A.) Stop parking, with Paul or any boy. If a boy has to keep his hands on the wheel he can't talk you into things. But, just as important, it is dangerous for both you AND Paul to be parked at night in a lonely place. A boy and a girl can lose their money or their car or their lives in a situation such as that.

Also stop talking to your friends and Paul's friends about your personal lives. Talk to him, or your parents.

Also, if you have started something heavily physical, drop it.

FORBIDDEN: (Q.) My mother won't let me go out with any guys.

I am 15 and other girls my age go out. Already two different boys have asked me but I had to tell them, "My mother won't let me."

She won't let me invite boys to visit me at home, either. She acts like she thinks it is a sin to have a boy friend at 15. Help. — No Dates in Wisconsin.

(A.) It is not a sin for a girl to have a decent boy friend at 15. It is healthy for boys and girls to be together at your age. Your parents should be open-eyed and aware of what is going on, but they should not try to prevent ANY goings on at all. To have boy-girl friendships out in the open is much safer than to have them on the sneak.

Show this to your mother.

Cotton Flow On Increase

The USDA cotton division classing office at Abilene graded 2,282 samples for the week ending Nov. 10, bringing the season total to 26,000 samples classed.

Due to wet fields, sample receipts dropped to practically nothing during the past two weeks. During the last two days receipts began picking up and are expected to increase considerably this week, according to B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge at Abilene.

The total classed at Abilene this time last season was 1,456.

Grades classed during the week were 9 per cent white, 81 per cent light spotted, and 10 per cent spotted.

Staples were predominantly 31 (52 per cent). Staple distribution showed that 21 per cent was staple 30; 18 per cent staple 32; and 6 per cent was staple 33.

Micronaire readings are good, with 86 per cent in the 3.5-4.9 category, with 10 per cent below, and 4 per cent above the premium range.

Prices range from 3 cents to 4 cents per pound above the CCC loan prices. Most of the current ginnings are selling for 17.50 cents per pound to 21 cents per pound. A 3231 premium mike will bring around 21 cents per pound. A 5231 premium mike brings around 18.50 cents. It appears that there will be a better price paid this year for the higher grade cotton, therefore it should pay producers to harvest their cotton carefully, and to be sure that every step is taken to preserve quality, said Manly.

Fund Established To Aid Cancer Patients' Families

Families of cancer patients, who travel to specialized cancer clinics and hospitals, can be facing a tremendous expense for board and lodging, according to Mrs. Skeet Harrington, Vincent Route, Coahoma.

Mrs. Harrington is the widow of the late Skeet Harrington, who died Oct. 19, with cancer.

Mrs. Harrington has established the Skeet Harrington Memorial Fund for the purpose of aiding financially the families of cancer patients who must travel to medical centers for treatments.

"We were lucky. We had friends to stay with in Houston," Mrs. Harrington recalls of her experience. Her husband received treatments at M. D. Anderson Hospital before his death.

Her friends and church here were helpful, she said, and she wants to return the help in some way to those who need it later on.

Although motels do give a discount to families of hospital patients, at $10 dollars per day for a month while a patient receives treatments, the cost becomes overwhelming.

"It's just really difficult to realize the need until the experience has been personally encountered," she said. "Some families sleep in chairs and use the hospital rest rooms."

Mrs. Harrington commended the work of health service organizations, but said they could not meet the complete needs of victims and particularly their families.

The fund is to be available to persons of the area, and contributions are welcomed, Mrs. Harrington said.

Contributions will be received by Coahoma State Bank, Coahoma, Skeet Harrington Memorial Fund.

MOM, QUADS DOING WELL

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Cathearina Snoek and her 2-day-old quadruplets were reported doing well today.

The three girls and a boy were born Saturday to the 26-year-old wife of a chemical worker. The couple has been married since 1967, and these were their first children.

The babies were born after a pregnancy of 34 weeks and fourdays. Three were being kept in incubators today.

Prince Charles Celebrates 24th

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, was 24 today, moving the London papers to much purple prose and in the case of the Daily Mirror to a royal purple masthead.

The official birthday portrait showed the prince romping in the Scottish highlands with his cousin, Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 8-year-old daughter of Princess Margaret.

"Here," cooed the Daily Express, "is Bonnie Prince Charlie doing a little highland jig in the heather with his cousin."

The Mirror gave its whole front page to the picture and bent the family tree to give it the headline "Bonnie Uncle Charlie."

Officials Will Not Comment On Kissinger's Whereabouts

By The Associated Press

North Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, Le Duc Tho, flew to Paris today for what Radio Hanoi said was another meeting with American negotiators on the Vietnam war.

TRAN VAN LAM

There was speculation that two key U.S. negotiators, Henry A. Kissinger and Gen. Alexander M. Haig, also were en route to Paris. They flew to Andrews Air Force Base near Washington late Monday after conferring with President Nixon at Camp David, Md. Officials would not disclose where Kissinger and Haig went after landing at Andrews.

U.S. spokesmen said they could neither confirm nor deny that the private talks to end the war were about to resume as was widely anticipated.

PRIVATE TALKS?

South Vietnam, meanwhile, announced today it would agree to withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South by stages instead of the total withdrawal at once that it had demanded earlier.

The Radio Hanoi broadcast today said North Vietnam, "to show its good will and seriousness," had agreed to "another private meeting between the United States and the Democratic Republic of Vietnam to solve the signing of the agreement on ending the war and restoring peace in Vietnam."

It said the meeting was proposed by "the U.S. side."

Kissinger and Haig conferred with Nixon for one and one-half hours at the President's Camp David retreat Monday following Haig's return from four days of talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon.

PEACE PROGRESS

Both men next went by helicopter to Andrews AFB, which is a frequent departure point for official missions abroad.

There was no announcement on the details of the Camp David discussions, but U.S. officials in Saigon said Haig, who is Kissinger's top aide, had narrowed the differences in his talks with Thieu on the American and South Vietnamese positions on a cease-fire.

Haig carried a personal note to Nixon from Thieu, but its contents were not disclosed.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam announced today that, while his government is agreeable to a partial withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South, it wants the rest of the troops regrouped in specified zones for gradual withdrawal under international supervision later.

South Vietnam also said it wanted to be represented in any further secret talks between Kissinger and Tho, who reached agreement last month on a tentative cease-fire proposal. South Vietnam's chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, was reported en route to Paris, too.

Protest Against 'Savage' Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers and B52 Stratofortresses hit wide areas of Indochina Monday and today, flying about 500 strikes on both sides of the demilitarized zone, in Laos and in Cambodia to blunt the North Vietnamese supply buildup in anticipation of a cease-fire.

Below the DMZ, the South Vietnamese command said, nearly 700 rounds of artillery, rocket and mortar fire hit government troops operating north and south of Quang Tri City and south of Hue, and several firefights broke out. At least 32 North Vietnamese troops were killed, while government casualties were five killed and 34 wounded, the Saigon command reported.

U.S. Navy yets roared in from their carriers off the coast to support the South Vietnamese troops in one battle nine miles southwest of Quang Tri City.

The U.S. Command reported 220 fighter-bomber strikes in the southern half of North Vietnam and another 171 in the northern provinces of South Vietnam. Bombing in the Hanoi-Haiphong region and the rest of North Vietnam north of the 20th parallel has been halted to improve the atmosphere for cease-fire negotiations.

Sources said U.S. fighter-bombers carried out more than 50 strikes in Laos and Cambodia.

The B52s made more than 60 strikes on both sides of the DMZ and in Laos and Cambodia, U.S. military sources said.

The U.S. Command announced the B52s today made their deepest penetration into the North since last April, attacking stockpiles of war material 59 miles below the 20th parallel.

North Vietnam, issued another protest against the "savage" air attacks in its central and southern provinces. Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency claimed a number of civilians were killed or wounded and nearly 100 homes were destroyed in Ha Tinh and Quang Binh provinces by B52 "carpet bombing" Sunday.

There was no comment from the U.S. Command.
