Special Farm Session Of Congress Forecast As Demands Increase

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—Increasing demands for federal crop loans led today to the possibility of a special October session of congress to consider general farm legislation.

President Roosevelt may call such a session, said Democratic Leader Barkley, if the senate agriculture committee is ready to present a detailed crop control and price stabilization program.

Senators La Follette (Prog-Wis), Shipstead (FL-Minn) and Lundeen (FL-Minn) joined 37 of the 75 senate Democrats in urging that course.

Simultaneously, it was learned that Secretary Wallace will lead a squad of top-ranking farm administration officials into the corn belt in the next two weeks to discuss next year's soil conservation program.

The senate and house agriculture committees decided a week ago to abandon farm legislation until January because they could not agree on details.

Southern senators and representatives, however, expressed concern over a slowly falling cotton market and the possibility of a huge crop. They advocated federal help to guarantee a cotton grower 12 cents a pound for his yield.

Talk To President

A committee talked to Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. The members said he told them he would consider making loans not only for cotton but possibly for wheat and corn if congressional leaders agreed to pass acreage limitation regulations at once, at a possible special session, or at the start of the next regular session in January. Shortly afterward the 40 senators offered their petition for an autumn session, contending legislation next winter would be too late.

If a special session is not called, leaders said there was one other possible solution of the impasse: congress could accept a resolution offered by Senators Black (D-Ala) and Bilbo (D-Miss) directing the Commodity Credit corporation to make loans of 12 cents a pound on this year's cotton crop.

(Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said recently both the Commodity Credit corporation and the RFC were ready to make loans "assuming the president approves and he always has.")

Bilbo told the senate yesterday that unless crop control legislation is passed, southern farmers will be "robbed of millions of dollars by speculators."

Little Item Of $189,039,000 Charged To Bad Memory Of American Bank Depositor

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — The federal reserve board has a little item of $189,039,000 charged up to the bad memory of the American bank depositor.

The money at the last counting, was kicking around dormant and unclaimed in the nation's banks.

It represents accounts of 5,646,045 persons. Most of the amounts are small, some just a few cents, yet

1,211 accounts are between $10,000 and $50,000.

65 are over $50,000.

Wow!

All sorts of people forget money.

Wading through the dormant accounts not long ago, a capital teller dusted off this name—P. H. La-Guardia.

A letter to the mayor of New York and his reply established him as the phantom depositor. The mayor explained he opened the account 18 or 19 years ago when he was in the militia here and forgot it.

Later, when he came to Washington as a representative, he continued to forget it.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont), introduced a bill in the last congress letting the government take charge—after notice—of money forgotten for over 20 years.

Still before the senate banking and currency committee, the bill is beginning to look as if it's been — forgotten.

Senate Is Busy Voting On Housing Bill Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The senate voted, after a warm debate today, to put administration of the Wagner housing act under Secretary Ickes' interior department.

The chamber adopted 40 to 37 an amendment giving the department "general supervision" over the housing program. Ickes asked for the provision.

Reflection On Secretary

In the debate preceding adoption, Senator Lewis (D-Ill) supported the pending amendment to the Wagner bill to place the program under Ickes, contending creation of a separate agency would be a reflection on the administration by the interior secretary of Public Works administration housing.

Senator Clark (D-Mo), who had opposed the amendment, b Senator Logan (D-Ky) to place the agency under the interior department, replied that he intended no reflection on Ickes. He said interior did not now have anything to do with housing, and the proposal was an effort by the department "to reach out and grab new authority."

Legislation Discussed

Discussing the legislation at hearings before the house banking committee, Samuel F. Clabaugh of Birmingham, Ala., chairman of the housing committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, urged reliance upon construction and operation of housing projects by private enterprise.

Local governments, he said, should be encouraged to clear slum areas. This, he said, would stimulate private building of new housing for persons in middle-income groups.

He said his committee estimated a deficit of some 2,500,000 dwelling units at the present time.

Administration leaders negotiated, meanwhile, for a lightening of restrictions which the senate has imposed on the Wagner housing bill.

While they worked on a compromise, Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) called the senate into session at 11 a. m. EST), an hour earlier than usual, in order to hasten a vote.

Leaders said they hoped to dispose of a major controversy by revising an amendment adopted Wednesday to limit the cost of dwelling units.

The amendment, by Senator Byrd (D-Va), would withhold federal aid from projects in which the construction cost exceeds $4,000 a family unit or $1,000 a room.

Other Ideas Held

Other senators said they will ask that the limit be made $1,400 a room with no figure fixed for the family unit.

The senate voted yesterday to prohibit expenditure of more than 20 per cent of housing funds in any one state. This restriction was sug-

Rebel Forces Said Trapped

(By The Associated Press)

Insurgent commanders admitted today that a powerful government siege force, including the rejuvenated Catalan army, virtually has encircled Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's upper Aragon stronghold, Huesca.

Government troops were reported facing "almost impregnable" insurgent fortifications on three sides of the city and government air squadrons were blasting it from the skies.

Madrid Is Shelled

Insurgent artillery again pumped explosives into Madrid, killing several persons and wounding others.

Communiques from both sides reported demoralization in the other. Insurgents declared Gen. Jose Miaja, commander of government troops in central Spain, was to be replaced because of the failure of his offensive west of Madrid. Government reports said Franco had resorted to mass executions because of uprisings in his army, particularly among Moors on the southern front.

In London, the non-intervention committee, unable to break a deadlock over plans to isolate the Spanish civil war, arranged for a vacation.

Gratitude Expressed

Insurgent Spain's new ambassador to Germany, Rear Admiral the Marquis Antonio De Magaz, expressed Franco's "immense grati-

Americans Are Fleeing For Safety In China

Big Battle In Central City Is Expected

All Americans In District Are Warned By Consul To Seek Places Of Refuge

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Aug. 6. — Americans were reported today to be fleeing across the Yellow river to safety in the south as the threat of armed conflict between Chinese and Japanese troops spread to the central China city of Hankow, capital of Hupeh province.

Hankow is the southern terminus of the strategic railroad from Peiping along which the main body of the Japanese army is advancing from the north. The city has been the principal concentration point for Chinese armies being rushed by troop train from the south and west to halt the Japanese advance.

Isolation Is Broken

The isolation of Peiping, now completely under the domination of the armies seeking to bring all North China under Japanese influence, was broken with the departure of the first train for Tientsin. Service on the Peiping-Tientsin line has been interrupted throughout the month-old undeclared war for possession of the area.

One hundred Americans and other foreigners were aboard the train. Most of the Americans were visitors who had been stranded in the historic Manchu capital by the crisis.

There are an estimated 100 Americans in Hankow proper with additional missionaries in the outlying countryside. At Kikungshan, in Honan province 100 miles to the north, 300 American missionaries and their families are spending the summer.

Americans Are Warned

In view of developments and the likelihood of hostilities spreading with the advance southward of the Japanese forces, the American consul at Hankow was said to have warned all Americans in his district north of the Yellow river to withdraw to places of safety.

Americans in the interior of Shantung province already were concentrating at Tsingtao, eastern port city where part of the United States Asiatic fleet is based. The U. S. consul at Tsinanfu, capital of the province which lies on the Yellow river, has advised American nationals to flee the interior in view of the seriousness of the situation.

HARD STORMS HIT TEXAS

Out Of Death Comes Drama Of New Life

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 — Out of death came life today.

In a stirring drama of modern surgery, a three and one-half pound baby girl was delivered — with a faintly flickering heartbeat and a temperature of 109 degrees — one minute after her disease-doomed mother had died.

Has Raging Fever

Physicians struggled to keep the new-born infant alive despite a raging fever temperature.

Immediately after the post-mortem operation, the baby was placed in an incubator and fed oxygen. Hospital attaches said there was a "fair" chance the baby would survive.

Doctors had waited for the mother, Mrs. Mary Boccassini, 27, to die. Incurably afflicted with tubercular meningitis, she was on her death-bed as the time approached for the birth of her child.

She was too weak to endure an operation for the delivery and at the same time her consuming fever was endangering the life of the unborn baby.

Father Grief-Stricken

Dominick Boccassini, the father, was grief-stricken at his home.

"I went to the hospital last night to see my wife," he said. "I knew when I saw her she was going to die. I'm glad, though, they saved the little bambino's life. I'll do what I can for her, but it isn't much."

Dr. John Carbit, who performed the operation, said there was nothing unusual about the case.

Six hours after the baby was born its temperature had been reduced to 102.

Two Steamers Are Shelled

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 6 — Lloyds, the British underwriters, reported from Gibraltar today that an Italian and a British steamer had been bombarded by warplanes at almost the same spot off the coast of Algeria, near war-torn Spain.

The British tanker British Corporal flashed an SOS that she was being bombed, later cancelled it, and steamed into Algiers, 30 miles Southeast. Her crew of 43 was safe and her wireless receiver, which she had reported smashed, was repaired.

Another Sends SOS

A few hours later, Lloyds said the Italian steame Mongioia dispatched an SOS saying that she was bombaded from the air. The ship, of 6,113 tons, was bound from Genoa to New Orleans.

The first flash from the Corporal en route from the port of Abbadan in the Persian gulf to Land's End, England, said "we are being bombarded . . . hurry!"

In neither case was the aerial attacker identified.

Heavy Damage Caused Over Wide Areas

One Death Reported, Several Are Injured; Homes In Some Communities Are Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

One death and thousands of dollars worth of damage to buildings and crops was the toll of capricious windstorms, laden with rain, hail, sand and electricity, that struck in a half dozen Texas communities last night.

Roy Hedrick, negro youth, was killed at Terrell when an awning collapsed during a windstorm, attended by heavy rain.

Several Are Injured

Several persons received minor injuries as wind, hail and lightning swept a strip two miles wide running through the northern portion of Navarro county. Reports from Corsicana said all houses in Tupelo, 12 miles northeast of Corsicana, were wrecked or damaged. Lightning started a fire that destroyed a barn in the Rice community and a similar fire was reported from Dawson.

An oil well near Laird Hill, two miles south of Kilgore, was brought under control several hours after it ran wild because wind had blown over the derrick.

Roof Is Ripped Off

A 20-minute twister swept a roof from a Falls City school building, wrecked windows and ripped down telephone lines. An inch of rain fell. The Kilgore baseball park was torn up and buildings were damaged when a heavy windstorm struck. Three oil derricks toppled.

Flying sheet iron torn from Sulphur Springs roofs smashed residence windows during a sand-laden windstorm. Another gusty wind blew down a home, destroyed small structures and damaged business houses in Hubbard. Damage was set at $10,000.

Homes Are Demolished

A number of houses and barns near Barry, about 12 miles northwest of Corsicana, were reported demolished and many other homes and buildings damaged by being blown off blocks, unroofed or windows broken out by wind and hail. Similar reports were received from Blooming Grove in the same section of the county.

Approximately 50 toll lines were disrupted by the storm last night according to telephone company officials. Local power company workers reported distribution lines badly disrupted for several hours last night and large crews were rushing repairs today.

Crops were reported seriously damaged in the main storm sector with corn, cotton and feed stuffs reported stripped or beaten to shreds.

Man Hacks Hand To Shreds, Stabs Self With An Ice Pick As He Discovers Cash Gone

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6—Albert Sutton told a grim story last night of hacking his hand to shreds and stabbing himself 10 times with an ice pick when he "went crazy" on discovering $100 entrusted to him had been stolen.

In the presence of police and newsmen he said his previous story of battling two robbers was false.

The 52-year-old injured man was induced yesterday to tell the "true story" of what happened last Sunday.

"While I was counting the money I went across the street to get a cup of coffee," he said. "The money, more than $100, was gone when I got back. When I found the money gone I tried to kill myself.

"I stabbed myself with an ice pick and about five minutes later I took a meat cleaver and tried to cut my arm. That was the quickest way to commit suicide, I guess. I wasn't dying quick enough after I had stabbed myself and I wanted to end it."

Officers D. S. Harris and A. C. Howerton heard the story.

Bullet-Pierced Bodies Of Four Found Today

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6. — Frank Gregor found the bullet pierced bodies of his mother, two sisters and a brother in a bedroom of their west end home today.

Homicide detectives said they found a note signed by Bernard Gregor, 20, the brother, stating:

The Only Way Out

"Oh, if there were some way other than this out of our misery."

Bernard lay near the bed, a rifle beside him. The sisters, Marian, 13, and Betty, 17, were sprawled close together, bullet wounds in their heads. They were in night clothing.

The body of Mrs. Anna Gregor, the mother, lay crumpled at the foot of the bed.

"Maybe I Am Right"

"At one time or other I've heard all these say something exactly like they wished they were dead.

So maybe I am really right. There is absolutely nothing ahead.

I am the only one who knows what I intend to do. I told mother to have some kind of a will made out in case something would happen to her at any time."

Building Work Upon Project To Be Rushed

Fourteen Cities Had Entered Bids; Construction Cost Of Institution Is $817,000

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 6—The board of control announced today selection of Big Spring as the site of the new state hospital for the insane.

Fourteen cities had sought the hospital, which by act of the legislature was to cost $817,000 and be located in West Texas.

Is Definitely Chosen

Claude Teer, board chairman, said Big Spring had been definitely chosen with the only condition that it complete certain proposals contained in its bid.

"The board of control is of the opinion the city of Big Spring offers the best opportunity of conveniently serving the people of West Texas," a statement said, "and will locate the hospital on a site offered by Big Spring if and when the terms of their application and proposal and all legal requirements have been met."

Start Work Immediately

The board said it desired immediately to begin construction of the buildings and "architects and superintendent of the institution are standing by ready to carry on the work in an efficient and rapid manner."

It will very likely take a year to complete various units provided for by the legislature and when they are completed it will be necessary for the legislature to make an appropriation for support and maintenance and for the staff of the institution," it said.

Appropriation In 1939

"Very likely that appropriation will not be made before the legislature meets in January, 1939, unless perchance the legislature should make it at some special session in 1938. The board of control hopes to make this the most modern institution in the system of seven state hospitals."

Dr. George Thomas McMahan recently was chosen as superintendent of the institution. He was graduated from Baylor medical college, at Dallas, and was a member of the staff of the San Antonio state hospital for six years during which time he served as senior physician and clinical director of psychiatry.

Site To Be Given

Big Spring proposed to give the state 580 acres of "fertile tillable" land overlooking the city about one and one-half miles north of the center on the west side of highway No. 9 and bounded on three sides by public highways.

It also agreed to furnish water, electric power, sewage, and natural gas facilities, as well as a railroad spur to the buildings without cost to the state.

The city would furnish sewage service at five cents a day per person and give the state the choice of two things with reference to

New Governor To Take Over

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. — Texas' capital awaited with open arms today the advent of another governor, Claude M. Isbell of Rockwall.

Isbell, president pro tempore of the senate will become acting chief executive when Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul leaves the state tonight for Oklahoma where he will visit scenes of his youth.

Woodul has been acting governor since Governor James V. Allred left Sunday for a two-weeks vacation in Mexico.

To Reign But 24 Hours

Isbell will hold the position only 24 hours, but in that time will have all the powers that go with the office. If he wishes, he may reprieve any convict under death sentence, call a special session of the legislature or appoint colonels on his honorary personal staff.

If he follows the example of other presidents pro tempore who have served as governor, however, he will do little but receive congratulations and bask in his temporary glory. Four other senators have also acted as governor in the last three years.

A highspot of the capital reception of Isbell will be a dinner tomorrow night at which former Senator George Purl of Dallas will be toastmaster. Mrs. Isbell also will be an honor guest, and many members of the legislature, as well as state department officials, are expected to attend.

CCC Officials Make Probe Of Air Crash Near Littlefield

Disclosure that ambitions of G. A. Baxter, 18, CCC enrollee from Wellington, Texas, to become a pilot apparently led him to make the airplane flight which ended in a crash near Littlefield Sunday with the death of its four occupants was made this morning following an all-day investigation at the scene Thursday by CCC authorities.

CCC regulations specifically forbid enrollees to make airplane flights, it was explained. Youn Baxter had enrolled only 13 days before and still was in the probationary or "conditioning" period of 14 days required of all enrollees before their enrollments become final.

Companions of Baxter quoted him as having declared on various occasions that it was his life's ambition to become an airplane pilot.

Findings of the investigation, which were made by First Lt. Harry Jacobson, medical corps reserve, assistant district surgeon newly assigned to Lubbock camp, and Lt. Chas. C. Cook, in

Crops Reported To Be Better On Top Of The Caprock

Crops, both cotton and grain sorghum, on the South Plains are in better condition than off the Caprock, in the opinion of R. H. Forbes, division freight agent of the Santa Fe, and I. M. Robinson, traveling agent, who made more than 900 miles in two days, covering the territory. They were on the road Tuesday and Wednesday.

While cotton off the Caprock is higher in some places, it is not so uniform in height or condition, Robinson said. The feed crop is not as large in acreage nor as good in condition as on the plains.

Tuesday the two men drove to Tahoka, Post, Snyder, Abilene, Anson, Stamford, Sagerton, Spur and into Lubbock. Wednesday the trip included Tahoka, O'Donnell, Big Spring, Stanton, Midland, Monahans, Hobbs, Seminole, Seagraves, Brownfield and into Lubbock.

Conditions in Dawson county are very good, Forbes said. Cotton and row crops from Ropes to Lubbock were better than those beyond the Hockley county town.

Midland, Monahans, Hobbs, Seminole and Seagraves are busy with oil activity.

Blast Is Blamed On Pranksters In City

Puzzled authorities attributed a mysterious blast heard late Thursday in the business section to pranksters — after they found remnants of a toy rubber balloon, a dynamite fuse and shredded paper.

The noise said to have followed a similar explosion an hour and a half earlier was traced to 1300-block Texas avenue, in a parking lot just south of Draughon's Business college. From indications, a dynamite can had been attached to the fuse, but no powder charge had been affixed.

From evidence the balloon would not carry the load attached — or the explosion was premature.

Several hundred persons trudged on the heels of officers who investigated. A traffic crash at Texas and Fourteenth street a few moments after the blast cause had been determined set the crowd off at the double to investigate the new noise. None was hurt.

Annual Influx Starts Soon

Numerous temporary residents who will come here for opening of Lubbock public schools and Texas Technological college are expected to begin arriving about Aug. 15, said local transfer men.

But the thing that is bothering the transfer men is where the newcomers are going to locate. There are almost no vacant houses to be had.

Situation Not Improved

Construction of some 150 or more new homes since the first of January, in addition to some remodeling and building of several apartments, does not seem to have alleviated the situation any. Likewise, the returning home last May and June of families with children in school, did not make places to live very much more plentiful.

School work in Lubbock in both high school and college has in recent years, attracted more and more people here. With two or three children in high school or college, or in both, families have found it more economical for the children to move here. The husband and father remains in his home town, in many instances, attending to business. In other cases he comes along, too.

Some Become Permanent Residents

Several hundred families in this manner come to Lubbock for the winter season. They rent apartments and homes and become, for the season, temporary residents. Sometimes these families stay here five or six years, going back to their home in the summer, and returning in the fall. In numerous instances the families have become permanent residents.

Moving of household goods just now is at a low ebb. About the only jobs, transfer men report, are those where a new home has been completed and the family has moved into its new abode.

A few out-of-town concerns have had large vans here recently, moving families into Lubbock from a distance.

Development of the oil industry is expected to bring many people to Lubbock. High officials of the concerns engaged in development will make Lubbock their headquarters, visiting the fields daily and returning home at night.

When and if this situation arises, there will be a big rush to secure homes.

Commissioners Are To Meet Saturday

Formal authorization of issuance of $28,000 in city warrants to purchase a tract of land for sewage and garbage disposal purposes is scheduled at City hall Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, according to announcement late Thursday. The meeting originally had been planned Saturday afternoon.

The commission also may consider the appointment of a new city recorded to succeed C. E. Lace, who resigned last Saturday to accept appointment as deputy U. S. marshal here. The appointment, however, may be passed until the regular commission next Thursday afternoon.

Lewis Kittrell, a member of the police traffic department more than three years, has been serving as temporary recorder and, according to city officials, is likely to receive the appointment. He has the endorsement of his superiors, is in line for the promotion because of meritorious service in the department and is qualified by education and experience for the job, those officials pointed out.

Approval of warrants is expected to be a matter of brief routine, as members of the commission thus far have been unanimously in favor of the plan as a necessary step toward solution of a problem which will be of major importance within the next year or two.

The money realized from the warrants will be used to purchase what is known as the Boles tract a short distance southeast of the city limits in the canyon. The warrants will draw not more than 4 per cent interest and will mature serially over a period not longer than five years.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Of Mexico's typical dances, the "jarabe tapatio" is most likely to delight the eye of the spectator from the United States.

The dance, which originated in the southwestern state of Jalisco, features rapid heel-and-toe work, swooping spins, flourishes and "cake-walking" around an inevitable Mexican sombrero.

Night club patrons see it, but often it is danced in the open air—at village fiestas and the like.

This charming miss performed it at recent celebration of national teachers' day.

Lubbock Real Estate Board Holds Banquet Thursday

A banquet was attended by 23 members of the Lubbock Real Estate board Thursday night in Chimayo room at Hilton hotel.

S. J. McFarland, program chairman, introduced Glen Hess, Lubbock realtor, who spoke on "Housing Situation in Lubbock Today." Principal speaker was Durwood H. Bradley, attorney. His address dealt with the oil situation west of Lubbock. He also incorporated in his talk the need for additional business buildings and housing units.

Suggestions Are Heard

A brief business session in which each member was given an opportunity to express views on the housing situation and suggest possible ways of taking care of it followed.

Board members pointed out that normal number of vacancies in a city is 15 per cent. In Lubbock vacancies are less than half of one per cent.

It was explained at the meeting that a crisis in the need for housing may result next month when families move here to send children to school and teachers return after having spent vacations away from here.

Next meeting will be a banquet session a month from last night.

Hope Of Expansion For ROTC Blasted

A telegram blasting hopes for expansion of the Reserve Officers Training corps unit at Texas Technological college this fall was received from eighth corps area headquarters at Fort Sam Houston Thursday by Dr. Bradford Knapp, Tech president.

The telegram quoted communication from the chief of staff at Washington, stating that no new units would be added this fall.

Application had been made for a full artillery unit at Tech. The new unit had been recommended in the war department report made last spring on the Tech engineering unit, which has been in operation only one year.

Office To Be Opened Here

V. B. Watson, of the state department of education and rehabilitation, will be stationed in Lubbock in charge of education and rehabilitation of adult cripples in this area after Sept. 1, according to his announcement Thursday.

This division of the state includes the Panhandle from San Angelo to the Oklahoma state line, he said. He said when he left Austin July 1 he was told by J. J. Brown, director of the state department of education and rehabilitation, he would be stationed here. However, he said, there is agitation on the part of Amarillo persons to have the office placed there.

The work is a combination federal-state affair, it was explained, with expenses divided evenly.

He outlined the work as:

"We take persons handicapped and unable to work and train them in a vocation of their own choosing and pay trainer tuition.

"We also furnish artificial limbs, braces or other equipment of that nature. After we have completed training courses, we find them jobs."

He pointed out that usually a person on direct charity costs the county or state $300 to $500 a year and "they still are on charity."

"Under the rehabilitation plan, the average cost of rehabilitation is $300 and then cripples become valuable citizens," Watson said.

Only requirements for the city's obtaining the district office, he said, was that he be furnished an office, desk and filing space.

The rehabilitation plan is proposed to allow cooperation with civic clubs, welfare organizations and other groups sponsoring projects for crippled persons.

Statistics show that one person in every one thousand is physically disabled, he said.

He, accompanied by Mrs. Watson and their two children, arrived here Wednesday and will leave Sunday. They are en route to Austin and are returning from Colorado where he attended a special short course relative to this type of work.

The swimming party will begin at 5 p. m., and will be featured by several contests. The program to be given by the boys will follow the watermelon feed, Dr. Schmidt said.

Rapid Progress In Plans For Lamb County Fair Reported

(Special To The Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 6. — Rapid progress was reported today by new officials of the recently organized Lamb County Fair association for the first annual county fair here three days of the week of Sept. 19. Exact dates have been tentatively set as Thursday, Friday and Saturday of that week.

Contract has been signed with the Silver State shows, which will have the carnival concession. Announcements also are being distributed that a big time rodeo will be staged. Amateur nights and an old fiddlers' contest will be other events in which prizes will be offered.

Exhibits To Be Featured

Special emphasis will be placed on agricultural exhibits, according to E. O. McIver, president of the association. Don Turner, county farm agent, plans to fill a pit silo during the fair, to be opened at the second annual exposition a year hence. An elaborate home demonstration exhibit also is planned, directed by Mrs. Ruth Perry, Lamb county agent.

The Silver State shows is described as an entertainment organization traveling by rail which includes 30 concessions, eight shows, eight rides and two free acts.

Preparing Catalogue

The immediate task of preparation is the compilation of the fair catalogue and premium list for distribution to every farmer in the county. It will go to press about Aug. 15 and 2,500 to 3,000 copies will be printed.

Officers of the fair association, additional to McIver, are Glenn Burgess, manager of the chamber of commerce, manager; J. C. Elms, treasurer and Ila Greene, secretary. Also serving as vice presidents are J. D. Strickland of Olton, Fred Nix of Earth and Mrs. C. M. McFall of Amherst. Another vice president, to represent Sudan vicinity, is to be chosen. Directors, additional to officers, are Ed Seeley, Jack Branner, Gus Shaw, George Sandidge, W. R. Heathman, Lowell Short and W. H. Cunningham.

Missing Nurse Is Reunited With Sister In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6. (AP) — Miss Martha Pifer, government sanatorium nurse, who was found here July 30 after she had disappeared at Albuquerque, N. M., May 14, was reunited with a twin sister and a brother at St. Louis city hospital today.

Miss Pifer's twin, Mrs. George Chapman, of Shenandoah Caverns, Va., and Dr. H. I. Pifer of Winchester, Va., arrived here to take charge of her but declined to discuss the case.

Dr. Pifer consulted St. Louis physicians regarding his sister but said he had made no immediate plans.

He indicated she would be removed from the hospital soon. Walter J. Overton, superintendent of the hospital, said Miss Pifer might leave "at any time."

Dr. Pifer described his sister as "much better" and reiterated the opinion, expressed when he first was notified she had been found here, that she had been suffering from amnesia.

Fair Carnival Is Signed Up

T. J. Tidwell Shows, an entertainment organization rated among the best in the business, have been signed as the carnival midway attraction of the approaching Panhandle-South Plains fair, according to announcement at the chamber of commerce Thursday afternoon.

The signing of the contract, chamber officials added, solves a problem which a few weeks ago had caused grave uncertainty as to whether the fair could be held this year.

Itinerary Altered

Emergency had arisen from the fact, it was explained, that a carnival company signed last fall for the approaching fair had altered its itinerary so as to leave out both Amarillo and Lubbock. Charges both here and in Amarillo that contracts had been breached by the carnival company drew the retort from company officials that technically they were in the clear.

The fact that such traveling organizations invariably work out their itineraries almost a year in advance raised a serious question as to whether a desirable one could be found with an open date. Members of the fair directorate were agreed that a successful fair could not be held without a carnival, and that they would not seek any company not among the best.

Playing Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas

Tidwell shows now are playing a circuit through Kansas and Oklahoma and into Texas which includes the fairs next in size to statewide expositions. The company has just completed playing at the Eureka, Kan., fair and next week will be at Enid, Okla., for a fair corresponding in size to that in Lubbock.

The company was described as now having 12 shows, 12 rides and one spectacular free feature. Management of the company said, however, that the number of shows, rides and features probably will be increased before the fair here begins next Sept. 27.

Manslaughter Charge Filed Against Youth in Death

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6. (AP)—The district attorney's office issued a manslaughter complaint today against Carl Long, 18, driver of an automobile which plunged 300 feet down a Hollywood hill, killing his college girl sweetheart, Betty Tighe, also 18, despite the fact that a coroner's jury yesterday exonerated him of blame.

At the inquest, Long denied he had any reason for harming the girl, saying "she was about the only girl in my life I really respected."

He said his automobile plunged off the highway when lights of an approaching car blinded him.

He and the girl had quarreled, he said, because she objected to his dancing so much with another girl at a country club dance which they had just left.

Robbed Of Jewels

Mrs. Josephine Ogden Forrestal (above) is shown leaving New York police headquarters after reporting she was robbed of more than $100,000 in jewels while returning from a night club.

MAN IS KILLED

GALVESTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Henry Hensel, 38, connected with the United States engineering department here, was fatally injured and two other persons were injured in an automobile collision at a street intersection.

Retail Prices Upon Cars Are Boosted

DETROIT, Aug. 6. (AP)—Plans for stepping up the retail prices of all General Motors automobiles were announced today.

Following closely upon the price increase announced by the Ford Motor company and the statement of General Motors' chairman, Alfred P. Sloan, jr., that price boosts were inevitable, Cadillac, La Salle, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Chevrolet and Buick divisions of the corporation disclosed that the retail listings are to be increased.

Effective August 9, Oldsmobile prices are to be increased $45. After August 14, Cadillac units will be raised $100 and La Salle $60. Buick will raise retail prices about three or four per cent (from $30 to approximately $60) on August 9. Pontiac and Chevrolet have not yet determined the dates for their advances.

Because many producers were understood to be awaiting price actions by Ford and General Motors, authoritative sources indicated today a belief all other producers will follow the same course. All have been affected in the increased cost of materials and higher wage scales.

CHILDREN EXAMINED

AMHERST, (Special)—As a project of the Parent Teachers association, 30 pre-school children who will enter the first grade were examined for physical defects. Recommendations for the correction of some minor defects were made. Dr. B. Zeldin of Amherst and Mrs. B. Egbert of the State Health department at Austin assisted in the examinations.

The project is known as "the summer round-up".

Preparations For Tax Survey Project In District Made

Preparations have been completed for a tax survey project in Lubbock WPA district to be made under direction of seven area supervisors, according to announcement late Thursday by Edgar Hutchins, district supervisor.

The new set-up which will operate under seven area supervisors instead of under direction of 24 county managers, became effective Wednesday. The meeting of supervisors was directed by Hutchins and Miss Ruth Owen, assistant district supervisor.

County Units Were Separate

Until early this week, the survey in each county was a separate unit with a county manager in charge.

Area supervisors and headquarters offices will be: Jess H. Dulaney at Anson, Walter L. Taylor at Lamesa, Reece Scoggin, jr., at Post, Poynor Roberts at Floydada, Curtis Taylor at Muleshoe, Mrs. Ora E. Patterson at Matador, and J. W. Sampson at Lubbock.

Dulaney will be director of the survey in Jones, Fisher and Stonewall counties; W. L. Taylor in Dawson, Lynn and Terry counties and Yoakum and Gaines if projects are started there; Scoggin in Garza, Kent and Scurry and Borden if started there; Roberts in Floyd, Hale and Lamb counties; Curtis Taylor in Bailey, Cochran and Hockley; Mrs. Patterson in Motley, Cottle, Dickens, and King counties; and Sampson in Lubbock and Crosby counties.

At the two-day session, plans were made for completion of the survey.

CONDITION IMPROVED

AMHERST, (Special)—Condition of Dr. Barth Milligan, Amherst physician, is improved, according to letters received here by friends. Dr. Milligan is confined in St. Joseph's sanitarium at El Paso, where he will be under treatment several more weeks.

Elopement Balked

The latest romance of Mrs. Nancy Hoyt Curtis (above) struck a very rocky road. Balked from marrying James Baker, 27-year-old taxi driver at Bar Harbor, Me., by Maine's five-day law, the twice-divorced society author set out with him for Canada. They were turned back at the border, then police detained Baker "for his own good" while Mrs. Curtis wept.

Chicken eggs to the number of 2,160,906,310 dozens were produced in the United States during 1934, latest available year for figures.

Yanks Stretch Lead To Nine Full Games

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ask any National league pitcher to describe an egg crate, and the answer, nine times out of ten, will be the Phillies ball park.

"You can stand at home plate in that shoebox," is the general reply, "and pretty near throw a grand piano over that short right field wall."

That's the reason the Phils are playing cellar ball at home in the National league, and show nearly a first division record on the road. It also explains why two of the better flingers Bucky Walters and Rookie Lefty Lamaster, each have better than .500 averages away from home this season, and get their ears knocked off more often than not in Philadelphia.

Haven't A Chance

Every club is supposed to show to better advantage in their own back yard — but the Phils haven't a chance. To date this year, they've won 24 on the road and only 16 at home and have dropped 23 on tour and 34 in Baker bowl. No wonder they're in the cellar.

In the ten games they've played on their current road trip, they've won six. They're the first outfit to take two in a row from the league-leading Cubs since June 26. Lamaster started it against the pace-setters in Chicago with a seven-hitter Wednesday. Yesterday Walters tied the Cub bats in knots, allowed just four hits and finished on top 4-2, to make his season record nine victories and four losses away from home, compared to three wins and six setbacks in Philadelphia.

Giants Take Decision

Yesterday's whipping cut the Cubs' lead to five games as the second-place Giants outlasted the Cincinnati Reds to take a 2-0 decision in 12 innings. Clyde Castleman allowed eight hits to best Lefty Lee Grissom in a close one.

Iron-Horse Lou Gehrig found the range with a pair of homers, and the Yankees swept their four-game series with the White Sox and stretched their American league lead to nine full games with a 13-8 decision. Jake Powell was sent to the hospital after being tagged by one of Monte Stratton's fast ones.

The Red Sox staggered through with a 5-4 edge over the Indians, thereby extending their streak to ten games without a loss. Hank Greenberg's homer gave the Tigers a 5-3 win over the Athletics. The Browns belted the Senators 7-4.

Brooklyn's Dodgers made it two in a row over the Pirates by a 9-6 margin. Danny MacFayden, tight in the pinches, pitched the Bees to a 4-1 win over the Cardinals.

Ederle Record 11 Years Old

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—The page one streamers said: "Trudy swims channel."

That was 11 years ago today—and today Gertrude Ederle sat on the little porch at her frame home as some of those who remembered came by and said hello.

She said she might go into the water later in the day. "Not for a swim," she explained. "I don't go swimming any more; I go bathing."

Still In Condition

She still keeps "in condition," even though it was only recently, after months of suffering, that she came out of a plaster cast. She had hurt her back in a fall.

"But I'm out of swimming competition forever," she said. "I'm thirty now, getting to be an old lady. Besides that, the swimming records they're hanging up now make some of my old marks look silly."

She didn't even mention the fact that her crossing of the English channel in 14 hours, 31 minutes still is the record for women.

"What do I care?" said Trudy. "The only thing left to swim is the Atlantic ocean, and nobody can do that."

Denver Post Tourney Growing Hot

Two Unbeaten Clubs Are To Meet Today

DENVER, Aug. 6. (AP)—The battle for the winner's purse—worth probably $5,000 or more—grew hotter in the Denver Post baseball tourney today with the two undefeated clubs clashing tonight.

These are the negro all-stars from the Dominican republic and Huber Carbon of Borger, Texas. Each has won three games, the negroes holding all three opponents scoreless.

Grover Cleveland Alexander's Springfield, Ill., outfit, fighting to stay in the running, was paired for this afternoon's game with the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., runnersup last year, at 3 p. m., Mountain standard time.

On Even Terms

Each team has won two and lost one.

Borger stayed in the undefeated class by handing the other Texas entrant, the Pampa Oilers, its first licking last night by a 7-5 score. The Oilers were handicapped by the loss of "Slinging Sammy" Baugh, sparkling shortstop and former Texas Christian football passing ace, who hurt his leg when a Borger runner slid into him.

Baugh was confident he would be able to play against Rogers Hornsby's Denver Refiners team in one of tomorrow afternoon's two contests. Two Oklahoma teams, the Duncan Halliburtons and the Seminole Redbirds, will tangle in the other game tomorrow.

Stays In Running

Duncan, winner of the national semi-pro tournament crown at Wichita last year, stayed in the tournament, yesterday by the narrow score of 4 to 3, beating Denver Midget when Otto Utt, 250-pound second-string catcher, pounded an inside-the-park home run with the score tied in the eighth inning.

Borger's guns did their hottest firing in the last two innings when six runs were chased over. The winners mixed two singles, a walk, an error and a double steal for three in the eighth after Pampa had run up a 4 to 1 lead.

Catcher Frank Warren's sizzling two base knock off Sammy Hale's glove with the bases full in the ninth broke up the game.

Credited With Victory

Jim Carrithers, Borger southpaw, was relieved by Byron Chody in the eighth but was credited with the victory. Pampa used Drefs Hutton and Mills on the mound.

Left-handed Mike Pruitt did a great job of relief hurling for Duncan against the Denver club granting only one hit and one walk in 5 1-3 scoreless innings.

Every team except the two undefeated leaders has won two and lost one. The eight survivors include the negro club, three from Oklahoma, two from Texas and one each from Colorado and Illinois.

TO FINANCE BUILDING

ROARING SPRINGS, (Special)—Final arrangements have been made to finance a building to house the Motley-Dickens Old Settlers association, according to a report of the finance committee of the association.

A building that formerly housed the Spur Fair association will be moved to Roaring Springs.

Definite arrangements are being made for a two-day reunion this summer.

There are 6000 sizes and shapes of tin cans in use in the world.

Santone Back In Running

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio again pops up as the challenger to Oklahoma City's Texas league title hopes.

The Missions took a long jump from fourth to second place last night, returning to a height they failed to hold on several recent occasions. They go there by mauling Beaumont 16 to 6 in a game in which seven San Antonio players got at least one hit. A trio of Beaumont hurlers had no luck against the Padre powerhouse.

The loss dropped Beaumont from second to fourth.

Galveston also applied a thick shellacking jumping on Houston for 16 hits and a 11-5 victory. Houston did its best to lose the game by fumbling the ball to let in six unearned runs in the first inning.

Fort Worth and Dallas couldn't play because of rain and Tulsa and Oklahoma City were idle.

Two Classy Polo Outfits To Be Seen In Action Sunday

Polo enthusiasts of Lubbock may see two classy outfits in action Sunday at the Fair Park race track field when teams of Lubbock and Plainview meet at 4:30 o'clock.

Claude Hurlbut announced a change for the Lubbock lineup that will send Murphy May from the No. 4 position to No. 3, with Jack Cooper, former Pampa polo star playing the No. 4 position for Lubbock. Bob Hester will be at No. 1, and Hurlbut at No. 2.

Another new member of the Lubbock team is Tom Simmons, former University of Oklahoma star. Simmons' horses are not here at present, but if they arrive in time, he will alternate with Hurlbut at No. 2.

Plainview's lineup will find Bob Crenshaw at No. 1, Bradley at No. 2, Shubert at No. 3 and Phillips, No. 4.

The Plainview team ran over Clovis, 17 to 3, on the Plainview field last Sunday, and the local outfit expects a tough battle Sunday.

Admission to the game will be 25 cents per person.

Ash Hillin Is Due To Crack League Mark

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Aug. 6 (AP) — Workhorse Ash Hillin has a couple of "first cousins" and a castiron right arm to thank for an amazing season that should label him the Texas league's leading pitcher.

Unless ill luck clips him in the last month, the rangy Oklahoma City elbower is headed for a climax that will put his name down in Statistician Bill Ruggles' little red book as the hardest working twirler in the league's 49-year-old history.

Owens Held Record

Back in 1926 Tiny Owens, gangling San Antonio pitcher, became a box score fixture when he worked in 57 games, mostly as a relief pitcher, to set an all-time mark for mound duty.

Hillin, with still a month to go, should make Owens look like a piker. He has toed the pitching slab in 48 games to date, 13 of which were complete. Owens, according to Ruggles' musty records, worked but one or two full games.

The 33-year-old former Texas Aggie diamond hero has bagged 20 victories to date and could almost double that amount if a schedule rearrangement could send either Dallas or Beaumont his way for several evenings. Records show those two clubs are his closest "cousins", both of them having fallen for his curves six times.

Always Beats Dallas

Dallas has never been able to beat Hillin while Beaumont has only two victories against their six trimmings. Only Corbett, Beaumont hurler, has been able to beat a team six times this season. He picked on Houston for a half dozen of his wins.

Hillin, who ranks fourth in total innings pitched at 212, thrives on work. He explains that his sinker ball gets better and better as the work increases. With a normal amount of rest, his pitch becomes too fast and the hitters begin to find him. He also explained that "sinker" pitches produce ground balls and the Oklahoma City infield is not one noted for errors.

Three seasons ago with San Antonio, Hillin hurled 24 victories against 12 defeats. In 1935 he fell off and picked up only 4 victories against 17 defeats. Last year he didn't look like a prize with his 11 games won against 20 defeats, but Jim Keesey, upon his appointment as manager of the Oklahoma City Indians, immediately asked for Hillin and Clay Touchstone. Oklahoma City got him both twirlers and between them they have won 37 games — a very good reason why the Indians are stampeding through the league.

Hillin started meekly enough this year, breaking even in his first 10 starts, but he suddenly found himself and won 10 games in succession.

He has been in 48 of the Indians' 120 games and likes it. In fact, demands it.

Even The Vanquished Concedes That The Better Boat Won; Strain Now Closed

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 6. (AP)—Even the vanquished conceded today the better boat won when Harold S. Vanderbilt's record-breaking Ranger thwarted Britain's 16th attempt to recover the America's cup by taking four straight races from T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II.

Sopwith would not say whether he would challenge again, and Vanderbilt, "glad the strain is over," declined to indicate if he would attempt a fourth successive defense of the famous trophy if a challenge were forthcoming.

Sopwith and Vanderbilt both turned attention today toward a series of races scheduled by the New York yacht club during its annual cruise, which will start at New London, Conn., Aug. 16.

Competing in these races will be five class J boats, a record for this country.

Sopwith, among the first to congratulate Vanderbilt after Ranger's decisive triumph yesterday, said without reservation the defender possessed more speed than his big blue challenger. He predicted Ranger had ushered in a new era in yacht construction.

SEEMS STRANGE NOT to be carrying the torch for a Sunday baseball game, but at this writing the Hubs haven't a thing to do Sunday.

The Hubbers originally were scheduled to play the Amarillo Phillips Oilers Sunday, here, but the date was moved up to last Sunday and it was believed for a time that the Hubs would return the game this week, or Aug. 8. But Manager Jack Thompson and his crew decided against visiting Amarillo for one reason and another, and it was too late to line up a high cotton team to come here.

Efforts were made to bring the Sinclair Oilers of Coahoma here, but evidently the idea didn't go through. Jack McClure, manager of the Western Pipe & Supply company team of Amarillo, which has beaten the Phillips club, was contacted, promised to "let you know by tonight," but that was early yesterday afternoon and no further word was heard last night.

Fred "Public Enemy" Rich, he of Wolfforth and Anton fame, offered last night to get his club together and play the Hubbers Sunday, but this information arrived too late to do anything about it last night. Something may have been done by the time this hits the street.

So watch tomorrow's paper for more baseball news. Maybe there'll be a game here Sunday, maybe not.

Another reason that schedule-makers didn't push plans in advance for a ball game Sunday was that Stewart Champlin and his Lubbock Red Shirts, motorcycle polo champions, had asked for an August date, and thought they might play Sunday, opening the 1937 motorcycle polo season here. But it seems that a special T-T race at Wichita Falls is scheduled Sunday, and the club won't be available.

Still another reason the ball association is caught short is that the somewhat mythical Hawaiian All-Stars halfway promised to get back to Texas and maybe to Lubbock early in August. They "owe" Lubbock a game, having taken a powder on a previous engagement, and Buck Lal insisted that "we'll surely make it up when we meander back into Texas in August." But that was last May. Nothing else has been heard from Lal, since he was served with a citation to appear in September district court here and show why he didn't live up to the previous contract.

If Thompson can bolster his Hubber lineup here and there, he would like to bring the popular Hubber Carbons of Borger and the Oilers of Pampa to Lubbock for a couple of feature games this month.

The Carbons and the Oilers clashed in a feature game of the Denver Post tournament last night, Borger winning a 7-5 battle. The North Texas clubs would be a bit rough for the Hubbers, but the games should be interesting.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES:

T. West, younger brother of Sammy of the Browns, visited the Texas Tech campus the other day and expressed his wishes to become a student there this fall. . . . Coach Pete Cawthon would welcome him, not primarily as a football prospect because West isn't built along football lines, but possibly as a basketball and track hopeful. . . . and he'll be a big help in baseball if Tech ever decides to take up the game again. . . . Washington football fans already are training their optics on the ozone. . . . What with Sammy Baugh and Dixie Howell both in the Washington Redskins' backfield, there should be a lot of aerial action. . . . That is, if a deal by another pro club to buy Baugh off Washington falls through. . . .

Winfred Bane, dependable halfback and fullback at Tech for the past couple of seasons, now a professional hopeful, writes from the Cleveland training camp that he's the "smallest player in the whole Indian shebang." . . . Bane, hefty enough for a college backfield man, finds they grow pretty big in the pro game. . . . Bill Holcomb, 240-pound tackle graduate from Tech, leaves this weekend to join the Pittsburgh Pirates in training, and Jim Neill, pride of Brownfield and Texas Tech, takes off today or tomorrow for New York to join the Giants. . . . This corner wishes a heap of good luck and many touchdowns for the professional freshmen. . . .

Which reminds that the boys are gathering around the old fireside at Tech these days, doing impromptu drilling, without aid of official supervision of course, on the football field and otherwise being exposed to the football fever. . . . There'll be no foreign camp for the Red Raiders, but they'll be all together out at the campus for a tough pre-season siege. . . . The Westerners, impossible to keep together for a pre-school training grind at home, will be carted off to New Mexico hills late this month for a ten-day training period, and it'll do 'em a lot of good. . . .

We sort of like the Northern All-Stars in tomorrow night's football game at Waco, just in case you're interested. . . .

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Tobacco-Less Road

QUITMAN, Ga.—There is, said Walter C. Perkins, Georgia's assistant agriculture commissioner, a definite relationship between pavements and the nation's tobacco chewing habits.

He said a tobacco salesman blamed the increase of concrete streets and sidewalks for the decrease in chewing tobacco sales. "Folk get their real pleasure spitting in the dust," the salesman declared.

Union Indians

PITTSBURGH — Allegheny county offered a tribe of Salamanca, N. Y., Indians $3 a day each to perform tribal dances at the annual fair. They refused.

"These Indians won't give a whoop except at prevailing union rates," a fair representative reported back.

He explained the braves were earning $9 a day from the WPA. The county hired 40 at the $4 rate.

Love In The Zoo

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Loud growls and woof-woofs disclosed a courtship in the zoo's bear pit today.

Papa grizzly bear, gift of Yellowstone park, arrived a month ago.

Mama bear came yesterday. Love-making began immediately.

Park Superintendent Ralph E. Griswold smiled:

"It's a bit deafening, but it's a fine romance."

Stocks And Bonds

ABILENE — This is a story about a man's cow which tried to send him to jail.

J. M. Waltrip, facing a liquor charge, had completed preparing a $250 bond when he went out to water his stock. A milch cow nosed the document from Waltrip's hip pocket and ate it.

Officers permitted him to prepare a new one.

Dutcher's News And Views Of Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—It looks as though some rather horrible things may be written about this Congress after it adjourns, but this correspondent begs to report on one act of Congress—generally overlooked—which was rather nice.

Perhaps it was one of those things the boys sometimes do in a moment of absent-mindedness. Anyway, they voted to save the last great grove of sugar pines left standing in the world. John Muir, the naturalist, once called it the world's most beautiful grove of trees. Irving Brant says "it is majestic beyond all human concepts of majesty."

• • •

Just In Time

Congress authorized Secretary Ickes to buy 7000 acres of sugar pine land adjacent to Yosemite Park in California at a cost of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. This tract contains what's left of the "Cary Inn grove."

There are trees which took 500 years to grow and lumber men were cutting them down as fast as they knew how when the bulk of them were saved. Growing 5000 feet above sea level, some of these trees reach 240 feet in height.

The movement to save the trees began 20 years ago. Only the depression saved them in 1930. Within the last year the owners ran a logging railroad right into the heart of the grove's finest section and began creating a stumpy waste. There was a strange amount of opposition to the bill, some of which originated in the Forest Service and was tangled up between that outfit and the National Parks Service. Finally Ickes, Brant, the Emergency Conservation Committee of New York, Senator McAdoo, and Congressman McGroarty of California got behind a bill to save the pines and put the purchasing bill through.

And the sugar pines, it is said, will be there for thousands of years.

• • •

Sportsmanlike Gesture

Something else rather decent also happened. The tax loophole committee looked over a report on President Roosevelt's income tax return after Republicans had suggested that F. D. R. might be evading or avoiding.

One of those who inspected it was Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts. Treadway is one of the most persistent administration critics in the House. According to the way politics is, Treadway might easily have kept silent, thus implying that something was funny about the return. But he showed his good sportsmanship when he insisted on saying publicly:

"In my opinion the report showed that the President had made an eminently fair return."

• • •

Old Houses, New Uses

It is practically impossible to think of anything else very nice here in Washington and readers are referred to a public statement by Congressman Tom Amlie of Wisconsin, in part as follows:

"The climate in the District of Columbia is probably the worst in the country, not excepting Death Valley. For three months in the summer sustained mental effort is impossible."

Nevertheless, it is more or less pleasant to report that the home of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes is being saved from the wreckers to become a sort of a shrine, and that the famous old turreted, brownstone Henderson Castle on 16th street has become a rooming-house.

The Holmes house on I street was about to be torn down and the land used for a parking lot. The National Home Library Foundation, which publishes books on a non-profit basis at 25 cents each and in which Holmes was much interested, moved in to establish what it will call "Holmes House," with a first floor of memorial rooms in honor of the "liberal, dissenting tradition."

Henderson Castle always tried to give the impression of being the most high-hat mansion in Washington. Through many years after the Civil War Washington society was ruled by its mistress, Mrs. John B. Henderson, wife of a Missouri senator who died only a few years ago. She sold tract after tract to foreign nations for embassies. The two men who have leased the castle are renting rooms and apartments in it now—it has a nice swimming pool—but hope to turn it into some kind of a club later.

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon decides to rebuild her burned ranch house and barn, though Neighbor Josh Hastings, whom she hates, wants to buy her ranch and marry Kay. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl (Marion) nurses him a week before the sheriff arrests him due to a tip unconsciously given by Kay. The sheriff and his posse start off with Ted for Clear Water Basin jail.

Chapter 38
The Cards Are Stacked

"Wait a minute!" Ted reined in by the stream where he had so nearly breathed his last. "Where was Scrap Johnson found?"

"Exactly where you dropped him. Ain't that a surprise, now!" Sam Cutter winked at one of his men, who guffawed in appreciation of his chief's sarcasm. "Come on! The state ain't asking you to do any investigating."

Biting his lips to cut off the retort that sprang to them, Ted obeyed the order. But there was one more question he had to know. He turned to the man following him.

"How did you find me? And how did it happen that both posses got there at the same time?"

The other one grinned. "Tipped off by a girl," he answered with relish. "You're sure one hell of a fellow with the ladies!"

"A girl!" Ted echoed, his grip on himself shaken for a moment with the surprise and shock of this news. "What girl?"

Ted's mind reeled before the thought that Marion might have crept away while he was sleeping, and have betrayed him. She certainly was the only girl that knew his whereabouts! But the next instant he cursed himself for even harboring such a thought.

Marion would have been utterly incapable of such a sneaking act! She could no more have done a thing like that than Kay could.

"Search me!" It was evident that the man he was questioning was greatly enjoying Ted's stupefaction. "It was some Jane over in the Red River section. You seem to have girls all over the place!" he ended with mock admiration.

"Red River!" Ted had a gone feeling at the pit of his stomach, and for a moment he swayed dizzily in the saddle. "The Red River section?" he repeated incredulously. "There must be some mistake there! No one in those parts had any idea where I was!"

"Pears she was prowling around doing a bit of investigating on her own. Hi, there, Sam!" he called ahead to the sheriff. "What was the name of that girl that tipped Zeke Parley off about this bird's whereabouts?"

"Crandon," the sheriff called back. "Old Man Crandon's daughter, who's been running the Lazy Nine since he kicked off, about a year ago."

Ted gripped the saddle horn to keep himself from toppling over as a rushing blackness closed in on him. Fighting with all his power against the faintness that assailed him, he gradually felt the roaring in his ears give way, and the reeling landscape steadied itself.

"It must all be a mistake," he kept telling himself, but a terrible conviction persisted that Sam Cutter knew what he was talking about. As though in a nightmare, Ted listened to the conversation of the two men, who were still talking back and forth, over his head to each other.

"I didn't stop to ask Zeke any more about it." Sam Cutter was saying. "The Crandon girl was staying at Josh Hastings' ranch, and she telephoned in from there. Said she saw him up there, with the black haired filly." He turned around in his saddle and leered at Ted. "Take it from me, it don't pay to have too many of 'em on the string at one time! Get 'em jealous and they raise hell!"

Ted was too dazed even to attempt a retort. Kay! Kay Crandon had betrayed him! He felt like shouting aloud that it was all a wild lie, but the shout died in his throat.

Pride To His Aid

They said that Kay had seen him with Marion! How . . . a sudden groan escaped Ted. He remembered now that Marion had thought she had heard something the afternoon before, when they had been talking. But if Kay had happened on them, why hadn't she made her presence known? Why . . . suddenly, the significance of Sam Cutter's jeering, advice flashed over him. Jealous! Could it be possible that Kay had been jealous?

Ted's heart quickened at this thought and what it implied, but the next minute he was in the depths again. Fool that he was, he told himself savagely, to think for a moment that Kay cared enough about him to be jealous!

For a long time, Ted rode on in silence, his mind turning this way and that in an effort to find a way out of the labyrinth of despair that this act of Kay's had thrown him into.

Any way you looked at it, the conclusion was forced upon him that he had been mistaken in Kay. There was no excuse, after what had passed between them, for her to have given him up to the sheriff without allowing him a chance to explain his side of the story to her.

He could forgive anything but treachery. And that was what Kay's act had been.

A reckless despair closed over Ted, but pride finally came to his aid. If Kay had done that, there was all the more reason to prove his innocence! If he was convicted, she would feel justified in her treacherous act. But when he was proved innocent, she would know what a despicable thing she had done.

Not that he ever wanted to see her again, Ted told himself fiercely. This time, he was finished with women, now and forever.

A vision of his mother and sister flashed before him, and he reproached himself bitterly for having concentrated so on Kay, to the exclusion of them. For their sake, he must fight himself clear of this web that he had become enmeshed in! For their sake, and for no one else.

It was nearly dark before the lights of Clear Water Basin showed up in the distance, and Ted was hanging on to his ebbing strength by sheer force of will.

When they at last reached the county jail, he heaved a great sigh of relief. Anything was better than that endless ride, with the desperate fight against physical weakness and those torturing thoughts.

He swayed as he dismounted, and reeled like a drunken man into the jail. The only thing of importance at the moment was sleep!

Like a man in a trance, he answered the questions put to him, and at last, after what seemed an eternity, he was led to a cell at the end of a corridor, and the key grated in the barred door behind him.

Dropping down on the iron cot, he fell into a deep sleep of exhaustion.

Wheels Within Wheels

It was dawn of the second day of the trial. Ted Gaynor sat on the edge of his bunk, and watched the gray light steal through the bars of the high window opposite him.

For seven days now, he had watched that light change from drab gray to a sunny radiance, and back to gray again; then had come the long period of black void, through which he snatched fitful hours of sleep.

As he sat now, with his chin in his hands, he was forced to admit that things were going badly. There was no doubt that feeling was being stirred up to run fiercely against him, and it was not hard to recognize who was behind it.

Josh Hastings was out to get him convicted, and Ted knew that from that source he could expect no quarter. He held a damning knowledge of Josh Hastings' past that would utterly ruin him, if Ted could ever bolster it up with tangible proof.

Knowing this, Josh Hastings naturally was out to make the most of this chance to get him out of the way once and for all.

As Ted had sat in the courtroom the day before, watching the forces arrayed against him, he had realized that far more than the murder of Scrap Johnson was involved. There were many wheels within wheels, and he was being made the victim of varying passions and desires.

Sam Cutter was determined to have a conviction to his credit before election. Josh Hastings wanted Ted out of his path. And Tom Runyon, Ted suspected, wanted to gain credit in Kay's eyes by helping to convict him.

Ted writhed inwardly as he remembered Tom Runyon's testimony yesterday. He had described finding Kay on the trail, and how she had told him about Ted and Marion. He had carefully left out any word of her real condition, and her delirium. Ted had heard only the damning confirmation of the account of his capture that had been given him on the trail by Sam Cutter.

The gun Kay had given him had been exhibited, and the bullet that had killed Scrap Johnson had been indisputably proved to have come from that gun.

They had also produced as witnesses the men who had been in Kelly's place the time Ted had fought with Scrap Johnson, and they testified, one after the other,

SOMETHING SOUNDS "FISHY" HERE

That is an interesting but, in The Evening Journal's opinion, not particularly convincing story from Washington to the effect that President Roosevelt may fool all the boys when he comes to make his one available appointment to the Supreme Court. It is to the effect that he will not seek an extremist, meaning a person committed to his own views and purposes, but rather will seek a person whom sane congressmen can support.

The argument has been advanced to the President that the wounds of the Supreme Court battle might be healed best through appointment of somewhat of a "middle-of-the-roader," particularly someone from the South. The President is said to have been receptive to the suggestion with the results that several new names have come into prominence.

As a piece of gossip, all this may not be without point. But after all, one must remember that Mr. Roosevelt is most persistent in pressing his ideas upon others. His position during the fight over the court-packing proposal has shown that he is not readily given to compromise. Though he was thoroughly trounced in that fight, there are no evidences that he has relinquished one whit of his desire to make the Supreme Court his subservient servant. The existing vacancy on the Supreme Court bench gives him an opportunity which he is not likely to relinquish.

A Thought . .

Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way, shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.—James 5:20.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6. — The tourist season is at its height. Last month brought about 215,000 visitors to Southern California, and August should roll up a total of a quarter million. Practically all of 'em are celebrity hunters; the movie people will testify to that.

It's sheer force of numbers, though, that makes tourists something of a trial for the studios and their people. Actually the folks from Clay Center and Sioux City are a lot better mannered than the brash, insistent local yokels. The former merely want to have a look.

An out-of-town lady visitor who got into the studios on a sheaf of credentials and written requests was insistent that she not be introduced to any of the stars.

She said, "Good Heavens!—if I were to shake hands with Tyrone Power or Don Ameche or Clark Gable I'd faint dead away on the spot!"

There are few instances in which tourists attempt any stratagems to crash studio gates. Sometimes youngsters scale walls or fences to gain entrance to back lots, and from there they wander around open-mouthed until picked up and ejected by company police.

Quite a number seek admittance by claiming to be bosom pals, from home-town days, of prominent players. But busy players have short memories. They seldom send word to the gate that they'll receive their old friends.

• • •

Friends—Or Pictures?

My favorite receptionist is one Martha Malloy, at the main entrance at 20th Century-Fox. She says that about 300 people daily come in with frank requests to be shown how pictures are made.

For these she has a stock explanation, and a kindly one, to the effect that sound stages are crowded with people who have to work on them, that players are upset by tiptoeing visitors, and that it is patently impossible to admit everybody.

Most visitors take the refusal in good spirit. A few declare that they'll never again patronize a 20th Century-Fox picture.

With fair reason they argue that they're the people who pay admissions, and so deserve a glance behind the scenes.

Movie companies realize this fact, and would like to clinch their patrons' favor. But they just can't make friends and make pictures, too.

Fake correspondents for out-of-town newspapers presented a real problem until the Motion Picture Producers' Association established an office from which writers were investigated, imposters exposed, and credentials extended to qualified reporters.

Previously, a studio was likely to receive a dozen visitors daily who claimed to be working on special articles for their hometown papers, when all they really wanted was the satisfaction of their own curiosity.

• • •

Letters "From The Editor"

Quite a few forged letters of introduction have been picked up. Some of these letters have been used to get work as extras, the bearers claiming that they want to write articles from the extra players' viewpoint.

Such a procedure is impossible now, the new Screen Actors' Guild code requiring guild membership of every person to appear before the cameras.

Recently two burly genis presented such a letter at 20th Century-Fox. The wording and spelling were considerably under journalistic par, and the men were investigated.

They turned out to be a couple of wrestlers who had appropriated some stationery while visiting the sports editor of a mid-western newspaper.

They had thumbed their way to California with the hope of getting into a studio and selling some sports-minded star on the idea of sponsoring their mat careers.

At this writing none of the major studios permits bus tours within the gates. Universal had such an arrangement for years, but even then the sightseers merely were whisked through studio streets and were not allowed to leave the buses.

Universal still has the only public restaurant, and here come hundreds of tourists for lunch, to dine in the main room and watch film players passing through to their inner sanctuary, the Indian Room.

Picture previews, restaurants and night clubs, and boxing and wrestling matches, still are the best places to see the stars at close range. But of all these spots, the Vendome at mid-day and the Trocadero at night are the only ones invariably patronized by numerous celebrities.

that Ted had threatened to kill Scrap if he ever heard him mention a certain girl again.

Kay springs a surprise at the trial, Monday.

Kitty O'Brien Drives A Cab In Land Of A Midnight Sun

Kitty O'Brien has worn out two taxis, no brisk is her business in Fairbanks, Alaska.

* * *

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 6 (AP)—Northern Lights or Midnight Sun—it's all one to Kitty O'Brien, "world's farthest north woman taxi driver" who has trundled passengers 94,000 miles since she started her cab service here in 1930. She is on her third cab.

Native of Leadville, the Colorado mining camp, Miss O'Brien came here from Spokane, Wash., in 1913.

She traveled in the dead of winter over the famous Valdez Trail in a double-ended sled Robert E. Sheldon used for stage service. Sheldon, now postmaster here, built Alaska's first automobile, which is in the territorial university museum in Fairbanks.

Miss O'Brien charged a flat rate of $1 a trip within Fairbanks city limits. Then men began to compete so "Kitty's Taxi" dropped to 50 cents a trip.

In winter, with the mercury at 60 below, Kitty O'Brien's "uniform" is a reindeer-skin parka. It's warm, and, besides, tourists expect it.

"I get all kinds of letters from 'the states,'" she remarked. "Most are from taxi drivers who want to drive for me. But I prefer to go it alone."

Iowa is the leading corn-producing state in the Union, with Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri following.

Huge Fortune Given To Relief Of Men He Had Discharged

TOKYO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Because his profits from munitions manufacturing increased so phenomenally during the past year, Tokujiro Hirata contributed 1,000,000 yen for the relief of workers whom he discharged in 1923.

When the big earthquake and fire of 1923 demolished his engineering plant, Hirata was forced to discharge more than 1,000 men. In 1930-31, when a new plant had been erected, Hirata was unable to re-hire the men because of the depression.

Now, however, the manufacturing of munitions has exceeded all previous records in Japan.

Early 19th century Frenchmen took no chances on not having enough to eat. Shelves beside the table contained hams, sausages, cured meats, and preserves for use in case the cook underestimated the appetites of the diners.

Tax Board To Close Work

Their protest hearings finally completed, members of the city board of equalization devoted this morning to inspections of property concerning which there were valuation disputes preparatory to an expected final adjournment early this afternoon.

In most cases, the board decided immediately whether protests against their increases in valuations from renditions by the owners should be granted in a few, however, decisions were held under advisement pending today's personal inspections.

Valuations Unchanged

Completions of hearings for approximately 220 property owners protesting changes in valuations, city officials disclosed today, left valuations as made by the tax assessor and approved or revised by the board virtually unchanged. Few of the protests were granted, the report continued, and they of small amount in comparison with general valuations. What the aggregate change may be, it was explained, cannot be determined until the laborious task of tabulating them has been completed.

Public adjustments of the board will permit City Tax Assessor E. C. Young and his staff to concentrate upon obtaining a tentative total of property valuations in the city so that the city commission can proceed with the work of considering the city budget for the next year and establishing the tax rate. Hope is that preliminary totals will be available for the semi-monthly meeting of the commission next Thursday afternoon, but the task is voluminous and uncertainty exists as to whether it can be completed by that time, city officials were advised.

All Are Problematical

What valuations may total, the city budge, may be and what tax rate may be set are problematical, each depending somewhat upon the other. "Guesses" as to valuation totals range from about the same as last year to an increase of perhaps $2,000,000. An increase in the budget, in the opinion of officials, is inescapable, but valuation totals will determine in large degree whether improvements now needed will be made at once or be postponed another year or two. A slight increase in the present tax rate, say the officials, is likely, but members of the city commission have declared that the boost will be ordered only as a last resort and then will be held to a minimum.

Work of the tax equalization board elicited warm praise from various members of the city commission. The task was described as having been larger than faced by any such board in several years because of the many changes in tax rolls, resulting from a survey in the city to revise valuations in keeping with Lubbock growth, which was made just before compiling of present rolls was begun.

During its session, according to the report, the board held an average of about 50 hearings a day. The fact that the valuations originally set were generally satisfactory, officials said further, was reflected in that fewer than one-eighth of those invited to make protests made any appearance to offer objections to valuation changes. Members of the equalization board are Rufe Williams, W. E. Inmon and W. E. Baskin.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

WERE it not for the cat's ability to retract its claws, they soon would be worn down by constant contact with hard ground and stones. Without its sharp, curving claws, a cat would be unable to hold prey of any size. A dog, however, uses its claws only for digging, scratching, and possibly for better contact while running. Its prey is held in the powerful jaws.

Development Of Small Wirephoto Set Is Being Announced By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Development of a wirephoto receiving set forty inches high — about the size of a radio cabinet — was announced today by the Associated Press.

The newest technical step forward in the science of transmitting pictures by wire, it was conceived and built by Associated Press technicians under the direction of W. J. McCambridge, assistant general manager, and H. M. Biele, chief engineer.

The machine has been fully tested and will be put into operation immediately, McCambridge said.

A Big Development

He pictured the new receiver as a development comparable to the introduction more than a year ago, of the portable wirephoto transmitter, which doubled Associated Press picture coverage by wire at the time. Twenty-eight portables are now used in the nation.

Like the portable transmitter, the receiver will operate on any telephone circuit and on any available electric current.

The radical design of the receiver makes possible its small size and the elimination of the control "bay."

McCambridge said that quality of pictures received in tests compares favorably with the regular wirephotos received on the large stationary machines — with certain advantages in favor of the smaller machine.

Pictures as large as a full page or a double truck when needed may be delivered under the new setup to member papers participating. The time consumed in transmission of any picture when the rearrangement is effected will be eight minutes. Scanning lines are imperceptible to the eye even in the largest double page pictures.

The new receiver doubles the field of wirephoto, since it may be installed in cities connected with the wirephoto network through telephone call operation.

It took eight months of intensive experimentation to produce the novel picture receiver. Its creators said that the largest picture laboratory in the country made an examination of the pictures produced and pronounced them superior in tone quality and in tone numbers to the present system.

Speed Is Constant

No synchronization is necessary between stations, the individual driving mechanisms being sufficiently constant in speed to make that unnecessary. How constant that speed must be is understood when it is explained that in the transmission of a picture the tiny beam of light travels a total of 12,000 inches over the surface of the picture and ends up within a sixty-fourth of an inch or less of the pre-determined end point. This fine degree of accuracy is achieved by controlling the driving motors with a vibrating tuning fork which does not vary its frequency or pitch by more than one ten-millionth of the rate of speed desired.

More than 70 members of the Associated Press now use wirephoto and nearly every member benefits from the speed of moving pictures by wires through the telemat service, which services newspapers with news picture mats made from wirephoto pictures.

Commissioner On River Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—A Texas delegation asked Secretary Hull to appoint a special commissioner to negotiate a treaty with Mexico for division of water along the lower Rio Grande.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas and Representative Milton West of Brownsville headed the group. They said that 70 per cent of the water in the river originates in Mexico and that the construction of many dams in that country is seriously jeopardizing American citrus fruit interests.

Answer Expected Soon

"Hull said he probably would give us an answer within a day or two," said West. "Meanwhile, he will continue to formulate more specific plans which we can present to the state department."

West said it was generally agreed upon that if a commissioner is named, he should be recognized and able member of the state department.

Others in the delegation were Carl Magee, McAllen editor; R. T. Stuart, Harlingen fruit grower; F. S. Robertson, manager of the San Benito irrigation district; C. L. Hunter, Brownsville, manager of the El Jardin irrigation district; A. L. Cramer, Edinburg manager of the Engleman Gardens irrigation district; Judge Oliver Aldrich of Hidalgo county and T. M. Melden, manager of the Texas Fruit Growers association.

It agreed to furnish 300,000 gallons of water from the city's sources at 10 cents per 1,000 gallons, or to deed the state a tract of land on which five water wells are located and which will produce 300,000 gallons daily. The state, under the latter arrangement, could pump water through the city's lines for $1 a year.

"In other words," the board said, "the state can pump its own water or purchase it from the city of Big Spring, whichever it finds the most economical and satisfactory."

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce was informed of the board's decision and advised to proceed in carrying out terms of the city's proposal; namely, obtaining assurance from the railroad company and county as to construction of the spur, furnishing an abstract on 580 acres of land to be approved by the attorney general and "such other necessary and legal steps and conveyances as may be proper." The board also suggested that the city prepare a contract covering the water and sewage situation.

NACOGDOCHES, Aug. 6. (AP)—County Attorney Vernis Fulmer and Constable Joe Allen were friends again today after arresting themselves, filing charges against themselves for fighting, and paying fines of $14 each.

The two played softball on the same team last night to show there was no hard feelings.

Senate Joins House In Passing Omnibus River, Harbors Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The senate joined the house today in approving an omnibus rivers and harbors bill, providing for projects in 40 states at an estimated cost of nearly $50,000,000. The senate added numerous projects to the list which won house approval and the bill must go back to the house for action on the additions.

Senator Copeland (D-NY) said the net estimated cost of the projects was $48,715,000. He said that no appropriations would be asked this year.

The bill merely carries authorization for the projects covered. Appropriations would have to be made separately.

Two measured more than five feet, one four feet, 10 inches and the fourth better than six feet. The first three were landed on light tackle.

Paralysis Cases Show Increase

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. — The public health service reported today the number of infantile paralysis cases increased from 275 to 324 in the two weeks ended July 31.

Officials said the number of cases was not unusual, was not epidemic and there was no feeling of alarm. They described the increase as "seasonal." Poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, is most prevalent in hot weather.

The number of cases reported in the week ending July 31 and the number two weeks earlier in states where the disease is most prevalent:

Texas, 42 and 52; Oklahoma, 28 and 46; Arkansas, 26 and 46; Ohio, 48 and 14; Indiana, 15 and 8; Illinois, 26 and 8; Kentucky, 33 and 5; Mississippi, 13 and 20; New York, 11 and 10; Pennsylvania, 6 and one.

Dry Goods Peddlers Still Exists But In Seaport Cities Now

HOUSTON, Aug. 6. (AP) — Dry goods peddlers of the type that used to trudge dusty country roads with enormous packs still exist because of certain traits of sea-going men.

Vendors of shoes, pants, shirts, socks and other articles are seen frequently along the waterfront. What takes them there is the desire to sell their goods advantageously before the seamen have a chance to part with their money on shore.

The dry goods salesman boards the ships and deals with seamen who have had a payday since last shore leave. Business usually is brisk enough to deplete the vendor's stock.

One peddler, who owns a store in New Orleans, often comes to Houston to deal with his customers before the ship continues toward New Orleans. Another salesman holds the exclusive right to sell on ships of one fleet. He owns a store here.

Still another salesman in Texas waters his store on a boat. When a ship docks he ties alongside and sailors climb down a ladder to trade. The floating store has a complete line of goods.

There appears to be little competition in the business. Two peddlers rarely are on a vessel at the same time. Permission to sell on the ships has to be obtained from the ship's owner or agent.

Texas Agricultural Association Joins In Fight For Crop Loans

EASTLAND, Aug. 6. (AP) — The Texas Agricultural association has joined the fight to secure a 12-cent loan on cotton according to H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, president of the association. He was here today to attend a meeting of peanut growers.

Lucas said Texas congressmen and senators had been asked by the association to work for such a loan, considered an imperative need of Texas cotton farmers again facing the prospect of low-priced cotton.

The association, Lucas said, urged that congress pass house resolution No. 75, known as the farmers' bill, which would prevent recurrence of cheap cotton when there is a surplus.

Funds Care For 21,000 Miles

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 — The highway commission alloted $7,766,612 today for road maintenance in the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, giving special attention to the safety factor. The funds care for 21,000 miles of thoroughfare in the state system.

It earmarked $6,993,376 for the regular maintenance budget in 25 divisions, ranging from $198,230 for the Childress division to $362,850 for the Tyler division, and in addition appropriated $773,236 for eliminating traffic hazards.

To Improve

The latter fund, together with seven per cent of the regular budget, will be used for improving shoulders adjacent to the pavement, widening slopes and narrow structures, erecting signs, markers and guard rails and painting center stripes.

The commission also set aside two per cent of the budget for extraordinary expenditures caused by floods and fires.

To Study Signs, Markers

Another factor likely to bring increased safety was appointment of a committee to study signs and markers. Members were E. J. Amey, administrative assistant; J. B. Farley, maintenance engineer, and C. F. Woodward, Wichita Falls division engineer.

Numerous appropriations for immediate improvements included: $6,000 for a non-skid seal coat on highway 66 from Edinburg to Pharr in Hidalgo county; $15,000 for widening concrete structures on highway 1 between Abilene and Sweetwater in Nolan and Taylor counties; $6,500 for widening crown and improving surface on highway 30 from Tom Green county line south 4 miles; $7,886 for reflooring Wichita River bridge on highway 25 between Electra and Kemp city in Wichita county, and $3,814 for a warehouse at Abilene.

New Legislation On Court Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Senator Logan (D-Ky) proposed legislation today intended to remove any doubt about the existence of a vacancy on the Supreme court.

The issue was raised earlier this week by Senator Borah (R-Idaho). He said Justice Willis Van Devanter, who retired in June, is still a member of the court so there is no legal vacancy.

Logan proposed that congress clarify the judicial code by providing that the Supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and eight associate justices in addition to those who retire.

Senators Hatch and Chavez, New Mexico Democrats, urged President Roosevelt today to appoint former Senator Sam G. Bratton of New Mexico, now a federal circuit judge. After a conference with the president, Hatch said:

"We are quite convinced that Judge Bratton is right at the top among names that have been mentioned for the post."

Senator Lewis (D-Ill) also submitted to the White House data on Illinois Supreme Court Justices Orr and Jones, urging that they be considered for the appointment.

Demo Book Sale Is Criticized

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) called upon the Democratic national committee today to halt such a "deplorable practice" as soliciting campaign donations from a New York railway executive, Robert R. Young, at the time he faced a senate investigation.

Wheeler, chairman of the senate railroad finance investigating committee, condemned the solicitation at the outset of an inquiry into Young's plan for reorganizing the nation's largest transportation system, the so-called Van Sweringen empire.

Purchased Convention Books

Young had testified yesterday that he purchased $15,000 worth of Democratic national convention books a few days before he was summoned before the committee this spring.

He declared, however, that the solicitors had never mentioned his dealings with Washington agencies, and that the gift was a personal contribution.

Snapping out his words, Wheeler asserted that "there always is an inference" that such donations might obtain special favors, even when such things are not discussed.

"I resent the Democratic committee going to people just prior to their coming here and soliciting funds," he said.

"It reflects on this committee and every other branch of congress."

He added that "some groups who denounce economic royalists are getting handouts from the very people they denounce."

A moment later the Montanan criticized Young's plans for merging Alleghany and Chesapeake corporations, the dominant holding companies in the 73,000-mile transportation system which he controls.

Would Perpetuate Set-Up

He argued the consolidation would perpetuate the holding company set-up.

When Young, a youthful broker, conceded he has had no railway training, Wheeler remarked:

"One of the chief troubles with the railways is that they haven't got responsible ownership."

Young agreed that the proposed reorganization would leave him in "effective control" of the system, although his holdings of controlling securities would be reduced from 43 to 33 per cent.

Ownership To Be Spread

He contended, however, that ownership would be more widely spread after the consolidation, and that it would make dividend and interest payments on securities which now produce no income.

He indicated he intends to dispose of his one major western line, the Missouri Pacific, when he can do so "in the best interests of the security holders."

Workman Nearly Faints To Find Himself Alive

PORTOLA, Calif., Aug. 6. (AP) James Christoff nearly fainted today when he woke up and discovered he was still alive.

The last thing Christoff had remembered was being carried slowly toward what looked like certain and agonizing death in the teeth of a big band saw.

Christoff, a lumber worker, tripped and plunged headlong onto a big conveyor chain which was carrying logs to the saw. He became wedged against a log and was unable to free himself. As the chain drew him nearer and nearer to the whirring saw he fainted.

Fellow workers stopped the conveyor when Christoff was only four feet from the saw.

Texas Has Army Of 9,400 Men

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 6—Texas has an army of 9,400 officers and men with 179 units spread throughout the state.

Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead of San Antonio, commander, recently reported the strength of the Texas National guard—which is available for use in any state emergency—at this figure.

Main divisions of the group are the 36th division with 662 officers, nine warrant officers, and 7,651 enlisted men, and the 56th cavalry brigade with 81 officers, two warrant officers, and 951 men.

Follow Various Vocations

National guard officers are doctors, lawyers, business men, accountants, architects, bankers, and city managers.

All officers, from war times to date, have been appointed by various governors on recommendations of commanders of the division and brigade. General officers are confirmed by the United States senate because the national guard also is a component part of the regular federal army.

Gen. Birkhead reported the federal government spent $1,475,050 in 1936 for pay, subsistence, transportation, and miscellaneous items of the national guard. Of this $424,038 was for expenses incidental to the annual encampment at Palacios.

The adjutant general's department in Austin handles all administrative matters requiring attention of the governor or the war department. Brig.-Gen. Carl Nesbitt of Mineola is the adjutant general and is assisted by Maj. Gaston S. Howard of Dallas and a state staff of 20 officers.

San Antonio Mayor Considering Race

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6. (AP) — Mayor C. K. Quin is strongly considering entering the 1938 race for Texas governor to succeed James V. Allred, the San Antonio executive revealed today.

Quin said he spent the past two days in Houston conferring with political friends who are urging him to make the gubernatorial race.

He has not definitely made up his mind to be a candidate, but is giving the matter serious consideration, the mayor declared.

Texas Project Gets Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Senator Morris Sheppard said today President Roosevelt signed a $4,500,000 grant for construction of Possum Kingdom dam on the Brazos river, and that only the signature of the comptroller general is necessary to permit allocation of funds.

Sheppard said he believed the comptroller would approve the grant. The budget bureau and the Works Progress administration already have passed on it.

To Start Soon

John A. Norris of Temple, Texas, chief engineer-manager of the Brazos river conservation district, said as soon as funds were awarded engineers would complete the dam. It will be built 18 miles northwest of Mineral Wells. Norris said work might be started in December.

The structure will rise 150 feet above the river bed about 20 feet above the expected lake level, and will be about 2,000 feet in overall length, Norris said, creating a lake 40 miles long with a maximum width of 5 or 6 miles and a shoreline of approximately 300 miles.

Not included in the grant is the cost of installing hydroelectric generators which Norris said will be paid by the conservation district.

End Of Long Fight

The president's signature marked the apparent end of a two and a half year fight for the project, Sheppard said. The president once approved a $3,100,000 allocation through the Works Progress administration but Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator withheld the money and ordered a survey by army engineers.

The army engineers estimated the cost of the work at $6,700,000. The difference between their estimate and that of conservation district engineers led the president to order reclamation bureau engineers to make a third survey.

Immediate Start On Actual Work Now Said Assured

TEMPLE, Aug. 6 (AP)—Release by President Roosevelt of $4,500,000 for the Possum Kingdom dam was regarded here as assuring immediate start of actual work on the $50,000,000 Brazos river project.

Contract for engineering and construction will be in the hands of the district," Congressman W. R. Poage wired the Temple Telegram. "We think this assures the immediate construction of this dam and ultimate construction of the entire project."

Use Own Engines

Later John A. Norris, general manager of the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district, said in a telephone conversation that the dam would be built by the district with its own engineers.

The president's action means that the U. S. corps of army engineers, which originally was assigned by WPA to build the dam, will step out and the Ambursen Engineering corporation of New York will take over the work. The Ambursen corporation drew preliminary plans for the entire Brazos project.

Army engineers and the WPA have spent about $600,000 on the Possum Kingdom dam, making preliminary studies, building roads to the damsite and making core borings.

The district is ready to go ahead promptly because complete surveys and studies have been made. The reservoir area has been surveyed and final maps completed here in the offices of Major Eric Haquinius, chief of surveyors.

Staff At Work

The army engineers have had a staff of men at work at Mineral Wells for more than a year under direction of Captain H. A. Montgomery.

When President Roosevelt approved the original Brazos project in September 1935, $3,001,598 was allocated for the Possum Kingdom dam, and that amount was turned over to the Texas WPA for building the unit. Harry Hopkins assigned the army to the job.

The $4,500,000 is the estimate which engineers figure the dam would cost under increased prices in the next two years and since the first estimates were made.

The army engineers had asked for $6,700,000 to build their type of dam. President Roosevelt called in the reclamation bureau to compromise the differences because he could not see the need for that much additional money. However, the reclamation figure was rejected and the district given the job of building its own.

Surveys have been completed on all 13 projects contemplated in the district's flood control program, and aerial photography and mapping have been completed on eight of the 13.

Registrations For Convention Will Be Open Today

Registrations of Lubbock druggists was scheduled to start today in preparations for West Texas Pharmaceutical association convention Aug. 17 to 19, following a meeting of the local committee on arrangements at the chamber of commerce Thursday.

Early registrations, those in charge said, will tend to reduce the rush when out of town visitors begin arriving, will simplify the matter of appointing local committees which will have charge of seeing that out-of-town delegates are welcomed and cared for, and will provide a working fund to meet expenses in connection with preparations. Registration fee will be $2.50.

Expect More Than 500

The making of committee assignments was described as a particularly important matter, in view of the expected large attendance at the convention. Reports thus far indicate that the number present will be in excess of 500, including a considerable representation from New Mexico as well as from all parts of West Texas.

Discussions of entertainment and program features of the convention also occupied Thursday's meeting of the committee. One announcement following the session was that merchandise golf prizes will be awarded to winners of the golf tournament to be staged at Lubbock Country club on opening day.

Attending the committee meeting were Mark Halsey, chairman of the steering committee; Bert Pinson, in charge of arrangements for the golf tournament; John Powers, directing preparations for the drug salesmen's banquet the opening night of the convention, and D. Jarrett, Hop Halsey and Vernon Herndon.
