Democrat Bigwigs Gather For Two-Day Party Rally

"WELL IT LOOKS all right," Ben Brookner, local merchant, right, tells Benny Waller, left, as he tries on several felt hats for the coming winter season. Labor Opens War On Ike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—UP—Union leaders Friday took the resignation of Labor Secretary Martin P. Durkin as a signal for open political warfare with the Eisenhower administration over revision of the Taft-Hartley law.

They predicted any attempt by President Eisenhower to heal the breach by bringing another union leader into his cabinet will be rebuffed.

Administration sources said it was unlikely Mr. Eisenhower will even try to make peace with labor in that fashion. They said he has been urged to go outside the ranks of organized labor to find a successor.

Durkin Charges Welshing

Durkin, president of the AFL plumbers union and the only Democrat in the Eisenhower cabinet, resigned Thursday with an angry blast at administration handling of the Taft-Hartley revision issue. He accused White House aides of welshing on an "agreement" to throw administration support behind a slate of 19 changes he proposed in the labor - management law.

Union leaders have been increasingly doubtful in recent months the Republican administration would support the kind of Taft-Hartley changes they want.

"Now we'll take off the gloves," said a union source when Durkin's resignation was announced.

'Had No Choice'

His prediction was promptly borne outby scathing statements from AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther.

Meany commented Derkin quit "because he could not continue serving on a team where agreements are not kept."

Reuther echoed the welshing charge and said "Durkin, in all good conscience, had no choice but to resign."

Returns to Union Job

Durkin blew the lid off the controversy at a hastily - summoned news conference after the White House announced his resignation. He said White House aides promised to support his program of Taft-Hartley revision, but then reneged. Durkin said the President himself was not a party to the original "agreement," but he sided with his White House aides when the dispute was carried to him for a showdown.

Durkin, who returned to his $20,000-a-year union job, refused to identify the White House aides. It was learned, however, he referred principally to Bernard M. Shanley, White House counsel who has played a leading role in shaping policy on Taft-Hartley legislation.

At State Session

Morrow To Appear At Demo Meeting

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Sept. 11 —UP—Wright Morrow said Friday he will "appear as the national Democratic committeeman from Texas" before Thursday afternoon's State Democratic Executive committee meeting.

The disputed party official, who drew the ire of the national Democratic party for his announced support last November of President Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, will share speaking honors with Gov. Allan Shivers at the first state committee session in almost a year.

"I'll appear as the national Democratic committeeman," Morrow said.

About his reported resignation, Morrow said: "I don't know where that story got started."

The Democratic State Executive Committee meeting, billed as "routine," was scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Third Term for Shivers?

As the top Democratic brass of Texas gathered in this North Texas spa, meanwhile, speculation mounted that Shivers would seek an unprecedented third term as governor.

The governor was one of the earliest arrivals at Mineral Wells, flying in from Austin Thursday with several aides. He checked into his suite, then left for an afternoon of golf.

Shivers, like Morrow, supported President Eisenhower in last year's general election. The governor, through his firm control of Democratic party machinery in Texas, led the state Democratic party with him into the Republican fold.

Preliminary political chatter at Mineral Wells Friday speculated that Shivers would not now abandon leadership of conservative Democrats, the faction now in control of the party.

No Successor Ready

One well - informed source, who declined to be named, pointed out that there was no successor ready to step into Shivers' political shoes and assume state Democratic leadership.

"We have found out one thing," said this source, "the party can't be run in Texas by an elder statesman."

This implication that Shivers can not retire from politics and still retain control of the state Democratic party apparently left the governor the choice of either seeking a third term or opposing U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in the Senate Democratic leader's certain bid for re-election next year.

Indians Set To Receive Progressives

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Sept. 11—UP—An Indian spokesman said Friday the Indian custodial forces expect to receive in a few days, possibly Monday, the first Communist-held American refusing to go home.

The spokesman's announcement came as the last of 3,597 Americans accepting repatriation left Inchon for the United States, winding up "Operation Big Switch."

United Nations command guards turned over approximately 1,000 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners to the Indians Friday. The prisoners shook their fists at Chinese Communist observers.

"Crush Mao (Dictator Mao Tse-Tung)" they shouted. "Why are you here, you renegades? We will kill you all when we return to the mainland."

Again and again the prisoners shouted, "We are determined to go to Formosa," the stronghold of Nationalist Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek.

Indian Brig. Gen. Gurbukash Singh, deputy commander of the "Peace Village" brigade, said the prisoners will be given the right to decide in privacy whether they wish to go home or not.

Little is known about the Americans and South Koreans who refused to take part in "Big Switch." Not even the number is certain, although the Communists indicated there were "about 20" non-Koreans and some 380 South Koreans who have elected to remain behind the Iron Curtain.

Prisoners of both sides who refuse to go home will have three months to make up their minds. During this "grace" period, they will be guarded by the Indians in "Peace Village," while fellow countrymen attempt to change their minds.

North-South Dispute May Mar Meeting

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 —UP— Democratic bigwigs were arriving in Chicago Friday for one of biggest off year rallies in party history, a meeting that may be marred by sectional disputes between North and South.

Three presidential possibilities, Adelai E. Stevenson, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and W. Averill Harriman, will be on hand for the Monday - Tuesday forums.

Other guests will include former President Harry S. Truman, who recently took his first bare-knuckle punch at the GOP since leaving office, and defeated vice presidential candidate Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama.

A host of party workers and national committee members will also be here.

A Democratic wheelhorse who may prove to be important in preserving party unity is former House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. He will meet Sunday in a private luncheon conference with Stevenson, Mr. Truman and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

The bald congressional veteran staved off an all-out Southern revolt at the 1952 national convention, of which he was chairman, by gaveling "Young Turk" Northern Democrats into line during heated floor fights.

Among the first leaders to arrive were Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburgh, secretary to the national committee, and Mrs. India Edwards, vice-chairman, who showed up Thursday.

Most of the Democrats will arrive Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Truman, who made a Labor Day attack on the administration, will move into a Blackstone hotel suite Saturday. He will have more than one chance during the two-day rally to repeat his "Give 'em Hell" criticism.

U-T Regents Seek Hart Replacement

EL PASO, Sept. 11 —UP—There was no indication Friday who would be chosen to replace Chancellor James P. Hart of the University of Texas, who resigned his $18,500-a-year job to return to his Austin law practice.

His resignation was received Thursday "with deep regret and reluctance" at a special meeting of the Board of Regents in El Paso.

Hart, a practicing attorney since 1928, said he wanted to return to his law practice, but was making his resignation effective Jan. 1 so the Regents would have time to choose a successor and "this will give me the opportunity to complete a number of tasks I have started."

Heads Entire System

As chancellor, Hart heads the entire university system, and receives a $1,000-a-year house allowance in addition to his $18,500 salary.

Regent Chairman Tom Sealy, who announced acceptance of the resignation with "much reluctance and deep regret," said that "Jim Hart has made an outstanding success as the chief administrative officer. . ."

University of Texas President Logan Wilson will perform the chancellor duties until the post is filled.

Harvard Graduate

Hart was graduated from the University of Texas and Harvard Law School, and was named to the Texas Supreme Court in 1947. The 48-year-old administrator resigned as associate justice to take over the first chancellorship of the university system in 1950.

Sealy said 'the loss of Mr. Hart as chancellor will be keenly felt by everybody concerned with the university."

"Because of the deep personal friendship that we have enjoyed with him, and because of his accomplishments in the position he has held, it is a matter of deep disappointment to all of us that Mr. Hart has resigned."

REV. PORTER BROOKS . . . Episcopal Vicar

Former Army Chaplain New Episcopal Vicar In Pampa

The Rev. Porter Brooks, former U.S. Army chaplain, arrived in Pampa Thursday afternoon to assume duties as new vicar of the St. Matthews Episcopal Church, 707 W. Browning.

The young minister was discharged from the Army last month after having served as regimental chaplain of the 110th Infantry Regt., 28th Division, in Augsburg and Ulm, Germany. He visited members of his family near Topeka, Kan., immediately before coming to Pampa.

Rev. Brooks was reared at Dalhart, where he was graduated from high school in 1943. He served in the Philippines during World War II as an infantry officer with the 86th Division.

After discharge in 1946, he entered McMurry College in Abilene, where he was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in 1948. He then attended the Virginia Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., where he graduated in 1951. He was ordained at Amarillo in July, 1951.

Unmarried, Rev. Brooks makes his home at 2109 Hamilton.

North Korean Premier Given Big Welcome By Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Sept. 11 —UP—Pravda welcomed North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung to Russia Friday and said the Soviet Union will do everything possible to insure a "peaceful life" for his people.

The Communist party newspaper said in an editorial the Korean armistice was an important step toward peace which lessened international tension but warned that "peace-loving nations cannot forget that international aggressive forces have not abated their evil designs."

Kim, North Korean Foreign Minister Ham Il and other members of the Pyongyang delegation arrived in the Soviet capital Thursday. Elaborate welcoming ceremonies gave an indication of the importance attached to the visit to Moscow of the North Koreans.

The Soviet government already was appropriated one billion rubles ($250 million) for North Korean reconstruction work, but foreign observers believe the present talks wil result in even closer economic cooperation.

Pravda said that peace-loving peoples can not ignore the warlike "declarations by several leading politicians of the United States."

"They cannot but note provocative noises of the Syngman Rhee clique which serves the United States which openly proclaims its readiness to torpedo the truce," the editorial said.

SCIENTIST ANNOUNCES

Radio-Active Dust Bomb Deadlier Than Cobalt Type

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 11 —UP—A University of Arizona scientist told Friday of plans for a radioactive strontium dust bomb which would contaminate all food and water on which the dust landed.

The scientist, Dr. Wallace H. Fuller, said the bomb could prove even more deadly than the dreaded cobalt bomb.

Dr. Fuller, who was a staff member of the first large-scale radioactive research in agriculture, said he based his conclusions on experiments conducted in Arizona for the past 2 1-2 years.

Fuller said the dust bomb could be used to knock out of production any of the world's food-producing lands, and could make large bodies of water completely useless.

Fuller said bombs of radioactive strontium dust could so contaminate farm lands that complete removal of crops and abandonment of the land would be necessary.

He explained that strontium has chemical characteristics similar to calcium and will take the place of calcium in plant and animal tissues if it is available. For this reason, he said, radioactive strontium introduced into soil or water would be taken up by plants and in turn transmitted to animals and humans.

He said one of the characteristics which make strontium biologically hazardous when it becomes radioactive is that it will last for many years. In 73 years, one third of the radioactivity of strontium would still remain.

Fuller said the Atomic Energy Commission was studying all aspects of the use of radioactive strontium and other fission products and had sponsored the research into strontium uses and effects at the University of Arizona.

McCarthy's Report Said 'Restricted'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 —UP— The Army said Friday that when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) disclosed to reporters a military report on Soviet Siberia it was still "restricted - security information" governed by espionage law.

McCarthy displayed photostatic copies of the "restricted" document to reporters late Wednesday afternoon. He charged then that the report, drawn up by the intelligence section of the Far East command in Tokyo in January, 1952, was "clear cut Communist propaganda."

The army said Friday that at the time McCarthy showed the document to reporters it was still classified "restricted - security information." An Army spokesman said the document was not declassified until 10 a.m. Thursday.

The army made the document available to Pentagon reporters as it challenged McCarthy's charge that the content of the document was communist in tone.

The Army said that "any conclusion that quoted portions of the document reflect the views of the United States Army is refuted by a reading of the entire document and particularly the conclusion of the study, set forth on pages 74 and 75."

Unknown Thief Couldn't Wait

ELYRIA, Ohio, Sept. 11—UP —A promotional display in the window of Bell's Men Shop backfired.

Bills were pinned to clothing on display, with cards advising the public $5 down would hold any item until fall.

A thief couldn't wait. He took six $5 bills and a pair of $18.50 shoes after smashing the plate glass window.

St. Paul Church To Break Ground

A new Pampa church building is in the making.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new St. Paul Methodist Church Fellowship unit, located on Hobart St., will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, according to Rev. Edwin L. Hall, pastor.

The new structure will serve as a Sanctuary and Fellowship Hall, Hall said, adding that it will house 250 worshippers and provide enough space for 150 persons to dine.

Organized about a year ago with the 198 charter members, St. Paul Methodist Church now has 320 members, an associate minister, Rev. Eugene Bonny, and a church secretary, Miss Frances Lenning.

Upon completion, the building is expected to be able to care for 1,000 persons, Hall concluded.

Pampa Students Hold Howdy Day

It was Howdy Day at Pampa High School today.

All students—most of them garbed in Western togs—attended a 40-minute school assembly at 9 a.m. today, according to Principal Jack Edmondson.

In the first formal assembly of this school year, the home-room presidents were presented and a musical group from Amarillo played music. In charge of program was James Pippen, student body president.

To round out the day's activities, a get-acquainted party was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria, Edmondson said.

Police School Ends Here Today

Today was the last day of the Pampa police school.

Capt. J. W. Blackwell, Amarillo, and Joe S. Fletcher, Austin assistant director of the Department of Public Safety, were scheduled to give one-hour lectures that would wind up the two-week course.

Blackwell was to talk on directing traffic and Fletcher, on public relations. School was to be held from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. today.

At the completion of today's class certificates were to be handed out to all personnel who have completed the course, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

During the two-week period, others have also led the classes: Inspector C. G. Conner, Austin, brother of the Pampa police chief, Sgt. Jack Higginbotham and Sgt. W. E. Spier, both of Amarillo.

MOTHER A SEMI-INVALID

Family Of 4 Lives In Car

HOUSTON, Sept. 11 —UP—A family of four, the mother a semi-invalid since she was a baby, have been living in their old, battered coupe since Aug. 31 when they were forced to move from a tourist court, it was disclosed here Friday.

During the daytime Mrs. William Albert Lahte and her two small daughters, ages 7 and 5, stayed in the car under a shade tree while the father worked helping haul dirt for the city of Houston street department.

At night, she said, "my husband and I hunch up in the seat. I hold the baby in my arms. Mary Helen (the seven-year-old) just 'hunkers' up in the back the best she can."

Mrs. Lahte, who has been partially crippled since she suffered from infantile paralysis when she was two, admitted she stayed awake most of the night brushing mosquitoes from the rest of the family.

She said when she wanted to be moved her two daughters helped her. A folded wheel chair was in the car.

For meals, the family lived chiefly on wieners, bread, cookies and food they could eat directly from a grocery.

Their plight was called to attention of police Thursday when a woman called to report a family had been sleeping in a car near her place.

He said money he has earned with the Street Department has gone to pay some old grocery bills and to make a $50 payment on the 1938 model automobile they call home. They had no money to pay for rent on another home.

A woman in the neighborhood took the family in for their first "coked" meal since they were evicted and welfare workers Friday began searching for a place for the family to live.

Jackson Suggested For Chief Justice

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 —UP— Some of President Eisenhower's advisers are urging him to elevate Robert H. Jackson to chief justice and appoint Gov. Earl Warren of California to Jackson's present seat as an associate justice of the Supreme Court, it was learned Friday.

Authoritative sources said the Jackson - Warren shift was one of several concrete proposals laid before Mr. Eisenhower Thursday at a White House conference on filling the vacancy created by the death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

The meeting was attended by Mr. Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., White House counsel Bernard M. Shanley and legislative aide Gerald Morgan.

While Mr. Eisenhower returned to Denver without reaching a firm decision, informants said he evidently was impressed by the argument, advanced at meeting, that was that he is a Westerner, and eminent jurist, rather than a political figure.

It was understood that the names of several prominent Republican judges were discussed, including Orie L. Phillips of Denver, chief judge of the Tenth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals; John J. Parker of Charlotte, N. C., chief judge of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and Arthur T. Vanderbilt, chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court.

A point raised in Phillips' favor was that he is a westerner, and the western states are not represented on the court at present.

The suggestion that Jackson be named Chief Justice and Warren nominated to be an associate justice was bolstered by the observation that it would serve three ends: It would take care of Warren, give the West a representative on the court, and put an experience and respected jurist in the chief justiceship.

Arguments against the plan included the fact that Jackson is a Democrat, was attorney general during the latter days of the New Deal and was appointed to the court by the late President Roosevelt in 1941.

Felony Indictments Against Couple On Plane Shooting

HENDERSON, Tex., Sept. 11—UP— Unusual felony indictments for shooting at airplanes were returned by a Rusk County grand jury against a couple living near the $700,000 Rusk County airport.

Four indictments each were returned Thursday night against Jesse R. Madden and his wife, Emma Dollar Madden.

They were accused of firing on an Oklahoman's private airplane after its Labor Day takeoff from the Rusk County airport, and with shooting at airplanes here three other times dating back to Sept. 1, 1952.

The grand jury which indicted Madden and his wife immediately filed a lunacy complaint against Madden, an unprecedented action in Rusk county. The complaint was signed by the grand jury foreman, Herbert R. Knauth of Joinerville, Tex.

District Attorney Robert M. Allen said it was the first time he had ever heard of such grand jury action.

Allen said Madden and his wife were indicted under a Texas statute prohibiting shooting at an airplane on the ground or in the air, and making violation a felony offense with a maximum one to five-year prison sentence.

The latest shooting incident at the Rusk County airport occurred Labor Day, when a plane owned and piloted by J. A. Carlton of Muskogee, Okla., and occupied by Mrs. Carlton and the couple's son, Jerry, 9, took off here.

"You just missed him! I just this very minute sent him to town for some things!"

Vinson's Body To Kentucky For Rites

LOUISA, Ky., Sept. 11 —UP— The body of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson was returned for burial Friday to his Kentucky home town, where he began a law practice which carried him to the nation's highest judicial office.

Bereaved relatives and friends, who had known Vinson as a small town lawyer, viewed his body at the Curtwright Funeral Home.

The mahogany casket holding the noted jurist's remains arrived in a special railroad car from Washington, where memorial services were held Thursday.

The Rev. Charles Perry, pastor of Louisa's Southern Methodist Church, will officiate at funeral services. Burial will follow in the Vinson family plot at Pine Hill Cemetery, on a bluff overlooking the Big Sandy River.

Vinson, who was born here in 1890, died unexpectedly of a heart attack early Tuesday at the age of 63. His death created the first vacancy on the Supreme Court since President Eisenhower took office.

Honorary pallbearers will include the Supreme Court's associate justices, Sens. Earl C. Clements (D) and John Sherman Cooper (R) of Kentucky, Kentucky Gov. Lawrence V. Wetherby and Chief Judge James W. Cammack of the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Justice Sherman Minton, the only colleague of Vinson's who was missing from the memorial service, planned to attend the funeral service.

The farewell tribute to Vinson in the nation's capital was attended by President Eisenhower, who interrupted his vacation in Denver, and by former President Truman, both of whom counted themselves as close friends of the jurist.

Hollywood Foursome To Tour Nation As Forum On Kinsey

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11 —UP— It could only happen in Hollywood dept.: Two movie glamor dolls, a minister and a psychologist Friday were launched — a nationwide lecture tour on the Kinsey report.

Show business and science will be welded into one big boxoffice, they hope when this "drama quartette" of the birds-and-bees circuit tours several California cities this month. The group premiered on Thursday night in San Bernardino.

The four are Marie Windsor, veteran actress; Joan Arnold, hopeful starlet; Dr. Mason Rose, lecturer and psychologist often quoted in Hollywood press agent stories about movie stars, and the Rev. M. E. Wilcoxon.

"It's like Charles Laughton's 'Drama Quartette'," explained the willowy Miss Windsor as she packed her bags for the tour.

"They read Shaw's 'Don Juan in Hell,' discussing sex in an oblique way. Ours is a panel discussion of the Kinsey book on women and the public's reaction to it."

Miss Windsor will wear an ink blue draped satin evening gown with a "wide" neckline. Miss Arnold will be attired in a strapless white dress.

"I hope this tour won't hurt my acting career," said Marie. "I do not think it can because I believe in the truth. I admire Kinsey for writing the book and I hope I can be helpful in easing the shock of it to the public.

"I'll discuss the book from the standpoint of a woman's emotions. There'll be some pros and cons on the panel. We'll talk on an intellectual basis and not go in for sensationalism."

Miss Arnold, on the other hand, will pursue a different theory in her lecture.

According to her speech, she thinks sex started with the bathtub, or, subtitle, in the days when people didn't bathe much they did not have many children.

"Early Christians rarely bathed so as a result of unclean bodies sex came to be considered unwholesome, something to be avoided," her speech reads. "That attitude persisted until the advent of bathtubs and modern plumbing."

Miss Windsor, whose latest movie role is Randolph Scott's leading lady in "Bounty Hunter," said the admission for the tour would be scaled from $1 to $3.

The Reverend Wilcoxon said he decided to join the tour because his work at the First Congregational Church involved marriage counseling.

John Hoshor, a lecture booker who got the group together, said the tour was scheduled for civic auditoriums throughout California and then would invade the South, Midwest and East.

C-C Personnel To Big Spring

E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth was a man without a secretary today, and the same story will be true Saturday; Red will have to do all the work around the Chamber of Commerce.

This morning Mrs. Clotilde Thompson, chamber office manager; Mrs. Mary Osborne, bookkeeper; and Mrs. Mary Ann McCloskey, corresponding secretary, left for Big Spring to attend the two-day short course for chamber of commerce secretaries.

The course is being sponsored jointly by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas. It will include panel discussions, roundtable discussions and lectures on chamber activities and office procedures.

The course is being held in the Settles Hotel. The three women expect to arrive home sometime Sunday morning.

Labor Scoreboard

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 —UP— The arguments that persuaded President Eisenhower to keep the Taft-Hartley act and let his labor secretary resign added up to this:

That the amendments proposed by Secretary Martin P. Durkin were loaded against management and would stymie important Republican political strategy.

There were 19 amendments proposed by Durkin and substantially backed by organized labor. No single amendment was wholly unacceptable. But Durkin's cabinet and White House opponents argued that when read as a whole, the Durkin program chipped dangerously into the underpinnings of the Taft-Hartley act.

Trend Alarms Labor

Durkin's proposal for a federal ban on state laws forbidding the closed shop would have checked a trend of local legislation which is becoming increasingly alarming to organized labor.

Such a federal invasion of state's rights would have hit the Eisenhower administration in both policy and political program. The President and his party are committed to some degree of decentralization, the passing back to the states of powers and responsibilities which tended to center in Washington during 20 Democratic years. That decentralization is basic in Eisenhower administration policy.

The Eisenhower political program looks confidently toward development of a two-party system in the South where the President found substantial support in last November's election. Conservative Southerners are the only hope of the Republicans for the development of a two-party system there.

Bid For Southern Support

A sock at state's rights with such a closed-shop amendment as Durkin proposed would have jarred Republican hopes for Southern votes more than somewhat. The entire Durkin bill of amendments would have soured Republican prospects below the Mason-Dixon line.

Events will prove, finally, the political significance of Durkin's resignation. There is considerable ground for belief, however, it will have less long-run importance than it seems to possess under the big headlines of today's papers.

Leaders of organized labor in general were against the Eisenhower administration with Durkin in the cabinet. No great change is possible in that area. Durkin's resignation may aid in some degree efforts to consolidate organized labor under one tent. But such is far from just around the corner.

No Change in Parties' Positions

The administration still is committed by platform and campaign promises to amend the Taft-Hartley act to "protect the rights of labor, management and public."

The Democratic platform called T-H "unfair and unworkable" and demanded its repeal.

Durkin's resignation leaves the two parties just about where their presidential platforms put them more than a year ago.

Judges Perplexed In Beauty Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11 —UP— The experts were up against it Friday at the Miss America contest. They couldn't pick a favorite at this late stage in the judging for the nation's top beauty and talent crown.

At this point in the Miss America judging a year ago you could look down the long ramp at Convention Hall here and feel confident in predicting a winner.

Neva Jane Langley, a native of Florida who carried the flag of Georgia in last year's contest, caught the eyes of judges and spectators early in the elimination and had been pegged as a likely winner even before she was crowned Miss America.

But this year there doesn't seem to be a standout.

The so-called experts talk about Carol Segermark, who is Miss Chicago. Also about Miss Pennsylvania. Evelyn Ay, and likewise Miss Wisconsin, and Miss Oregon and a lot of other misses and near misses.

All of which simmers down to this: Up to now there are four girls in the running and any one of them — or all — could stub a toe or lose a treble.

Miss Pennsylvania took the honors hands down in a swimming suit on the first night of the judging, Wednesday. She could hardly miss with a 37 bust, 24 waist, and 8AAA shoe.

Elaine Holkenbrink, a 19-year-old ash blonde from Wyoming, wowed everybody Thursday night including the coldblooded judges and the smudged wretches in the press coop. Her 36 bust and 36 hips and 24 waist snuggled nicely into a white nylon swim suit to put her ahead for the moment in that category.

Robertson, Borger; 12 grandchildren, and 3 sisters: Mrs. Arge Ash, Mrs. Nora Cogburn, and Mrs. Joe Glenn, all of Throckmorton. One daughter, two sons, three brothers, and three sisters preceded him in death.

Gibson Funeral Slated Saturday

Funeral services for George Dewey Gibson, 55, of 321 E. Francis, have been scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel.

A resident of Pampa since 1946, Mr. Gibson died at 11:30 a.m. Thursday in the Veterans Hospital Amarillo.

Officiating at the last rites will be Elder Eugene Barnes, pastor of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Pampa. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

A veteran of World War I — he served in France—Mr. Gibson moved from El Reno, Okla., to Pampa in 1946. He was born July 10, 1893, in Galveston.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edry Gibson, Pampa; a son Ralph, Pampa; and a brother, Henry.

Accident Victim In Critical Condition

Mrs. Ted Cunningham, wife of an area cattleman, was understood to be still in critical condition late this morning in a Sayre, Okla., hospital, following an automobile accident.

On her way to Clinton, Okla., Thursday morning when the mishap occurred, Mrs. Cunningham and Jimmy Reeves, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reeves, Pampa, were flung from the car upon impact. The boy was reported not seriously hurt.

Homer Taylor and Cunningham, business partners, were in Sayre today, following notification of the accident. The car was a total loss.

Rogers Forecasts Tax Legislation

The present status of the federal tax laws will almost necessitate some kind of tax legislation early in the second session of the 83rd Congress, Rep. Walter Rogers said today in his weekly newsletter to the 18th Congressional District.

The congressman said it would not necessarily mean higher taxes, but could mean a general sales tax to replace some of the revenue loss by the removal of some excise taxes and automatic cutback of income taxes.

The proposal, Rogers said, is to set up the general sales tax where it can be collected at the source—from the manufacturer—which is looked on as cutting administrating costs in collecting the tax.

The expiration of the increased income tax and some excise taxes will result in a revenue loss of 10 to 12 billion dollars.

"If present expenditures are continued (and, I hope they won't), these expirations will mean a larger deficit. There are two ways of balancing the budget—increase taxes or reduce expenditures. Frankly, I am a strong supporter of the latter," the congressman said.

The Pampa congressman also voiced his distaste for retaining questionable employes on the United Nations payroll, and predicted tough sledding for the UN until thise people have been released.

Lions Entertained By McLean Girls

It was more "spice" than "education" at this week's meeting of the Pampa Lions Club.

For five McLean girls were on hand at noon Thursday to provide the program.

Accompanied on the piano by Miss Floella Cubine, a quartet—comprised of Misses Jo Ann Stevens, Donna Gail Stubblefield, June Stubblefield and Bethie Mantooth—sang a half a dozen old-time numbers.

To top off the program, Lester Campbell, McLean newspaper publisher, gave his version of "It's in the Book."

At the beginning of Ralph Thomas' reign as Lions Club president, it was announced that each program would consist of spice and education. Thursday saw the proper proportion—practically no education.

Also at the head table were Miss Beverly Rogers, Lions Club sweetheart for September, and Miss Jackie Robertson, club pianist.

In the absence of the top three Lions Club officials, Lion-Tamer Dick Crews was master of ceremonies. Bringing the program to Pampa was McLean Lion Lester Dysart.

2 To Fill Carver's Pulpit Sunday

Two preachers will take the place of Dr. E. Douglas Carver at services Sunday in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Lawrence Barrett, son of Mrs. E. C. Barrett, 609 N. Frost, will officiate at the 11 a.m. service, while Rev. Bill Colson, San Antonio, associational missionary, will be in charge at the 8 p.m. service.

Reason for the changes is that Dr. Carver is attending a revival meeting in Olton, according to J. E. Stroble, minister of education.

Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, local music teacher and a church member, will sing a special solo Sunday morning, Stroble said.

Barrett is the son of a former deacon in the First Baptist Church and lives on the Barrett ranch, south of town. Colson is a former pastor in Childress, has been in San Antonio for the last three or four years.

Mrs. Richardson's selection will be "The Voice of the Savior."

Pioneer Pampan Honored By Friends Here Thursday

The Boer War was behind him as were only a few of his adult years when Montagu Kingsmill Brown turned his head west to a new adventure.

That as 50 years ago. And, yesterday, the man who came here 50 years ago with $150 in his pocket celebrated by throwing a big barbecue for his friends and long-time Pampa industry.

More that 400 people attended the affair at Hobart Park to congratulate their host and listen to speeches by Rep. Walter Rogers, Russ Allen, of Cabot Co. who presented Brown with a gold service pin from his company and the Drilling and Exploration Co. Fred Neslage, manager of West Pampa Repressuring Association, introduced the guests.

Terming Brown as being to Pampa as Winston Churchill has been to England, Rogers attributed this nation's strong oil and gas position in the world to companies like those being entertained here and then defended the depletion allowance on oil and gas as, "legally sound and moral." He also called it necessary to the continued growth of the oil and gas industry.

Reflecting on his early days here, Brown recalled the cattle drop after World War I when the conditions were said to be worse than they are now. "And, we had no government agencies to help us then, thank God!"

He reflected, too, on the first few days following April 29, 1903, the day he alighted from a train at the little wayside station of Pampa, when he bought a horse and saddle giving up less than one quarter of his worldly wealth—$150 at that time—for the equipment. He declared to those at the barbecue "these have been the happiest years of my life—the past 50 I have spent here."

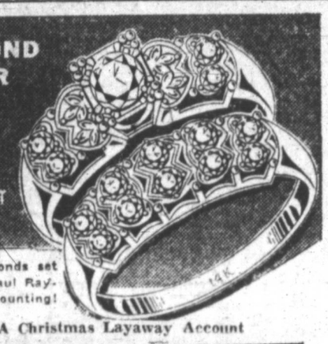

Delving into the history of the area, since his arrival, Brown recalled the first drilling operations in 1920 when Gulf brought in the first exploratory well on land near his and the late Bill Jordan's property. Later oil wells dotted Brown's property west of Kingsmill.

Retiring in 1935 after years of service with the White Deer Land Co., Pampa's second mayor didn't lean back in his rocking chair to dream of the past. He kept up his civic work, and has been a familiar sight in oil and gas company offices ever since, showing considerable interest in activities of all of them.

A check for $100—less deductions for taxes, insurance, charities etc.—was presented the celebrant by Allen "for his services to Cabot." Stating, jokingly, that he "had been fired this morning," Allen let Brown take the check, watered down to $53.10. "I just want you to know how us poor folks live," Allen said.

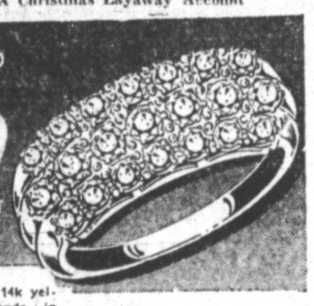

Ulysses S. Grant's father was a tanner and the boy who was to become president started as an apprentice in the family tannery.

RUTH MILLETT

Any wife is foolish who doesn't make home a place where a man is comfortable, where he feels important, and where he can find peace to work or relax at the day's end.

Yet here is a young wife who, through indolence, is neglecting all of those important points.

She sleeps late in the morning while her husband gets up and cooks his own breakfast, or if he is in a hurry, leaves for work without eating.

Hiding behind the excuse that two small children keep her so busy she can't keep up with her work, she seldom has dinner ready when her husband comes home at night.

She presses him into service as soon as he gets home, demanding help with the children, the meal, the dishes, etc. Then she decides the ideal time to get the washing done is when the children are asleep—and so she starts on that.

Her husband claims that in the evening their small house sounds like a boiler factory. If he has paper work to do at night, he has to go somewhere else to find a quiet place to work.

That young wife is, by her own lack of foresight, driving her husband away from her.

What comfort does home offer a man if his meals aren't even considered important? How can he feel that he is important to his wife, if she doesn't understand his need for rest and recreation or a quiet place to work in the evening?

It may take a good deal of organization and more effort than she is putting into her jo bas she is doing it how, but this wife could make the kind of home for her husband that he needs.

If she doesn't, she is asking for trouble, and it isn't likely to be long in coming.

Shamrock Students Honored With Dinner

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A recent traveling dinner honored the students who will soon be leaving Shamrock for colleges. A group representing about a half-dozen schools had tomato juice cocktail in the W. F. Holmes home with Mrs. Holmes their hostess. They progressed to Mrs. Ruby Adams' home for the salad course, Mrs. Curtis Hamill was hostess for the main course and dessert was served by Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dodgen.

A series of games was played during the evening and concluded with after dinner speeches by the guests on topics drawn from a hat following the dessert course. Rev. Frank Beauchamp spoke to the group while they were at the Dodgen home. Mrs. Rufus Dodgen organized the party which was sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

"Leicester," a play by William Dunlap, given in 1794, was the first American tragedy produced. It also was known under the title of "False Deception."

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Helen is 15. She and some friends have decided she should have a room of her own. That none is available in her parents' home is of no consequence.

Feeling runs high. Helen behaves in a manner that suggest she thinks her mother has a bedroom in her apron picket, and is withholding it through malice and spite.

This afternoon she came bounding into the kitchen where her mother was draining the washing machine, and said accusingly: 'It's not my fault if there's not enough money around here to take a bigger apartment. I'm not the one who should have to share my bedroom. You and daddy are. I think you and daddy should take Sissy into your bedroom and let me have mine to myself. Everyone I know has privacy but me!"

Helen's mother has been so badgered ately with her child's ideas on privacy that she hasn't got around to figuring out her own ideas at all. In no time at all, Helen's badgered parent is not only agreeing to refer her child's bad proposal to her husband, but finds herself apologizing for his income.

In these days of crowded living space, it is intelligent to get set on what we mean by "privacy" so we can't be bullied by young and thoughtless ideas about it.

Helen's definition, for example, is pretty superficial. She believes privacy is cubic feet, a lock on a door and the absence of other people.

Privacy is really ease of mind. Physical space acquired at the cost of her family's trust and respect will not give Helen privacy. Instead of ease of mind, it will give her nagging, uncomfortable, ashamed feelings and thoughts. She will have to defend herself by being so disagreeable to those who have allowed her to hate herself that there'll be no joy for her or anyone around her.

The truth is, Helen's demand for "privacy" is not craving for personal space at all, but for personal freedom from restrictions she has outgrown. What I think she really wants her mother to say is something like this:

'No, your idea would make you ashamed of yourself. However, I think I know the kind of privacy you're really after, if you'll let me prove it to you.

"Suppose Daddy and I give you an extra hour for weekend evening dates? I'll have a serious talk with Sissy about her habit of interrupting your phone conversations. And I know you get angry when Daddy fusses over giving you the use of the living room. If he and I give you these privacies, darling, I think you'll find they are what you've been missing. Let's try them out—and see what happens."

Helen has just sounded as though she wants equipment for more abundant living. What the child is really after are values for it.

It's my conviction that seven times out of 10, young people's belligerent demands for things are actually appeals for help on how to feel and how to think about their problems.

They are appeals for release from suspicion that they lack desirable qualities of character—not appeals for dresses, rooms, fair allowances or just shares in the car.

Seven times out of 10, we are being asked for help, not with the acquiring of possessions, but with the acquiring of self-understanding, self-respect and peace of mind.

Child Cosmetics Million Dollar Business Now

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—UP—Children's cosmetics are a $2 million-a-year business now.

One man who foresaw the possibilities of kiddies' toiletries as recently as eight years ago now has a thriving business and a new $300,000 factory.

These impressive figures immediately suggest painted faces on little girls. But the products are for the most part colorless, made to satisfy a child's desire to imitate mother's grooming steps without the visible results.

Teach Good Grooming

"We don't try to make children more beautiful," explained Arnold Perlman, the man with the brand new factory exclusively for such items as kiddies' bubble bath, cologne and lipstick. "We try to teach them good grooming.

"We don't have tems like rouge or cold cream in our line. These would be hypocritical. Besides, girls start using these things on their skins soon enough. We don't encourage children to use them."

Perlman is a Rumanian architect who came to this country in 1940, happened to meet a cosmetician named Helen Pessl, and suggested to her that children's toiletries would be a good business. He now is president of the company.

"Don't call them cosmetics," he warned. "They are toiletries. Our first item was bubble bath."

One Item For Boys

First he put the bubble bath out in liquid form. Then one of his four young sons suggested individual packages of granules would be better, since a five-year-old might well pour a whole bottle in one tub.

The lipstick for "little lady" customers looks pink in the tube but is completely colorless when applied. Kiddies' nail polish is colorless too, though it looks slightly pink in the bottle.

Only one item is listed for boys by Perlman's company. It's a bottle of hair trainer. Nothing make believe about it, either.

"Advance in Stewardship," which was the program topic, was given by Mmes. Huelyn Laycock, W. B. Carey, Eugene Richardson, C. R. Pickens, S. L. Young, Bob Lutz, Glendon Young and Jay Phillips. Mrs. Clifton Kelly dismissed with prayer.

Red Chinese Air Bases Would Be New UN Target

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The United States now has a firm commitment from the 16 United Nations allies in Korea, authorizing the bombing of Chinese Communist air bases north of the Yalu River if peace talks break down and fighting is resumed on the Korean peninsula.

This is the interpretation put on one section of the 16-power declaration of Aug. 8, pledging quick UN resistance against any new Communist aggression in Korea. It declares:

The inside story of how this sentence got into the 16-power declaration provides the necessary background for its meaning.

During the armistice negotiations, the question of repairing bombed-out airfields in North Korea came up. During the fighting, the U. S. Air Force, naval and UN aviation kept these fields under constant attack. The result was that these fields were useless to the Communist air forces. Their planes never were able to damage UN forces south of the battle line.

General Mark Clark and the UN commanders were naturally anxious to keep these fields from being put back into usable condition after the armistice. So a clause in the cease-fire agreement was proposed to restrict the building up of air bases by both sides during the armistice and the peace talks.

Communists Protested

The Communists protested vehemently. United Nations negotiators, anxious to get a cease-fire agreement, put pressure on the United States to relax on this airfield repair restriction. And to comply with the UN wishes, the U. S. gave in.

This surrender of principle was made only for a price: if the Reds broke the armistice and fighting resumed, the UN allies would agree to waive their previous restriction against bombing north of the Yalu River. And so the deal was made.

It was covered by the 16-power statement that if there is a renewal of armed attack, challenging again the principles of the United Nations, the fighting would not be confined to Korea.

This declaration puts the United Nations in an extremely strong bargaining position. If the Reds want to resume the fighting, they now have fair warning of what to expect. They will no longer have their sanctuary in Manchuria from which to attack.

In a number of other respects, this 16-power declaration to the United Nations, plus the mutual defense agreement negotiated by Republic of Korea President Syngman Rhee and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are advantageous to the U. S.

U. S. and UN military commanders are not too unhappy at having a large number of Chinese Communist troops pinned down in North Korea. This does provide a constant threat of new aggression and while an agreement to get the Red China armies out of Korea is hoped for eventually, forces there now cannot be moved for a new aggression elsewhere, against Indo-China, Thailand, Burma, Nepal or even India.

Build Up South Korea

In the meantime, the job of building up the South Korean army to the previously announced force of 20 divisions can be carried on. The United Nations and the Chinese Communists are restricted by the armistice from bringing new troops into Korea except as replacements. But there are no restrictions on building up either the North or South Korean forces.

No new military equipment can be brought in. But equipment now in the hands of UN troops could be given to Republic of Korea forces. In the same way, Chinese Communist equipment could be given to the North Koreans. Then if and when a peace settlement is reached, the foreign troops evacuated from Korean soil would go out empty-handed, for re-equipment elsewhere.

There is now believed to be little danger that President Rhee will start up the war again on his own. The threat was a shrewd bargaining gesture to get all that he could from the United States in a mutual security pact. But now that the pact is initialed, there is no incentive for Rhee to restart the war.

This pact does not obligate the United States to maintain troops in Korea. This subject is left to mutual agreement after the pact has been ratified by the U. S. Senate and Korea.

Furthermore, the U. S. is not bound automatically to resume fighting if the peace conference produces no results within 90 days. The agreement is that the U. S. and ROK will each take a new look at the end of 90 days. If the UN allies believe there is some hope of achieving peace within 180 days or longer, the talks go on.

JOHNSON ★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Guys and Dolls: "What's all the talk about the new Deborah Kerr? That's not really true. It's just that Deborah Kerr had a break."

The British-born redhead on the subject of her sizzling performance as Karen Holmes in the film version of James Jones' army saga, "From Here to Eternity."

People have accused Deborah of being cold but she tells it:

"I was cold — the parts were. All Hollywood let me play were pure, sweet, virginal, crystal-clear, dull heroines. I've said, 'Lord Cecil don't leave me' so many times. How can you get any sex or feeling into parts like that?"

Despite printed reports that she has re-signed with MGM for a picture a year, she denies that she's anything but free as the wind after she completes a season on Broadway in "Tea and Sympathy."

Deborah's reason for cutting studio ties:

"I can't take a chance after 'From Here to Eternity.' I can't spoil that. I hope I can get the kind of parts people haven't thought of me being in before. I hope I've bridged the whole thing. Of course, I'm a very skeptical creature. Everybody who's seen the picture talks about a whole new career for me.

"But I never believe anything till somebody takes a mallet and hits me over the head."

No More Scientists

Richard Carlson doesn't have anything against Dr. Einstein, but he's notified his agent to turn down all film offers in which he would have to play a physicist, a nuclear scientist or an expert on flying saucers.

With four science-fiction flickers in a row, Dick's saying: "I've had it. I don't want to be typed as a scientist. For a while, they called me every time a wronged husband part came along. Now the minute there's an earnest young scientist, they tag me. It's not funny."

Dick directed his last science flicker, "Riders to the Stars," but he won't be on the DeMille side of the camera for the rest of the year.

Carmen Miranda's popping her eyes about being asked to star in Italian films a la Anna Magnani with a sweater, a tight skirt and a cigaret dangling from her lips.

The offers poured in after the Brazilian doll wowed 'em in Rome during a European concert tour, but she doesn't see herself as a dramatic star blowing smoke into the face of a Vittorio Gassman.

"Honee, weedout de turban ees no Carmen Miranda," she flashed it. "Take away de pine-happles and de bananas, w'at you got? Pipples won't stand for eet. Honee, I be scare be playing what you call drama."

It's a three month rest for Carmen before she embarks on another tour or gets down to brass tacks about the TV show she will headline with Xavier Cugat.

Won't Quit Hollywood

Dewey Martin, the lad who clicked in "The Big Sky," is denying printed reports that he had quit Hollywood for good to settle down in the hills of Tennessee.

"I've never had any doubts about myself," he told me, "I'd never think of quitting Hollywood."

He has a new contract at MGM, with a fat role of a blind pilot coming up in "Panhter Squad 8."

"I had a bad year and a half," he admits. "Howard Hawks owned my contract and wanted too much money for a loan-out. But the checks didn't make up for the heartache. I'm grateful to Hawks. He had big plans for me, but the movie business took a dive and he couldn't go through with them."

With A Name Like That

DENVER, Sept. 11—UP—Judge H. Joe Rawlinson fined a man $25 for drunkenness, $10 for disturbing the peace and sentenced him to 10 days in jail for firing his 20-gauge shotgun in the city. The man was Jesse James Greene.

Lots of Bounce

CHICAGO, Sept. 11—UP—Tippy, a cocker spaniel, fell from a third-floor window Thursday. When his owner, Mrs. Elsie Spisak, rushed downstairs, Tippy met her on the second-floor landing. A veterinarian said he hadn't suffered a scratch.

In 1632, the King of England granted to Lord Baltimore a charter to found a colony in Maryland. Settlers in the colony found an oriole that was black and yellow in plumage. These being the colors of Lord Baltimore's coat-of-arms, the settlers gave it the name of Baltimore oriole.

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP*

Boosts power as much as 15%! Increases spark-plug life up to 150%! Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

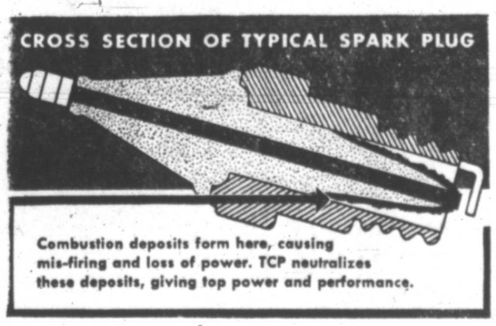

Here's the most revolutionary advance in motor fuels since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922—new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP, brought to you by special arrangement with Shell Oil Company. TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive originally developed for aviation fuels.

Now you can actually enjoy the benefits of an engine tune-up—just by changing to new Conoco Super Gasoline. Chances are, by the time you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel the increase in power. And you'll keep that extra power just as long as you use Conoco Super.

For Conoco Super with TCP is a new kind of gasoline. It overcomes the greatest single cause of power loss affecting most of the cars on the road today. Now, you can enjoy all the power that was built into your car.

Why you need Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP

In the average automobile, the by-products of fuel combustion constantly build up deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First, they actually short-circuit your spark plugs. This causes mis-firing. Second, deposits in the combustion chamber get red hot and cause the fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The effect of fouled spark plugs and pre-ignition is a loss in power and a waste of gasoline.

Combustion deposits form here, causing mis-firing and loss of power. TCP neutralizes these deposits, giving top power and performance.

How TCP works

TCP is a special chemical additive which is added to Conoco Super Gasoline. It was specifically developed to overcome the loss of power and fuel caused by combustion deposits. TCP neutralizes harmful deposits on spark plugs—your plugs spark as they should. It prevents deposits in the combustion chambers from causing pre-ignition—"wild ping" is controlled. Thus, every time you fill up with new Conoco Super, it's like getting your spark plugs cleaned and your engine tuned-up.

TCP helps your car, whether new or old

If you are driving a new car, with a high-compression engine, you need Conoco Super Gasoline to keep your car delivering all the power that was built into it. It will actually increase spark-plug life up to 150%. If you drive an older car, with tens of thousands of miles on the speedometer, Conoco Super can restore much of the "new car" performance and power you've been missing.

Yes, a great new era in motoring is here for you. Drive into your Conoco station today and fill your tank with new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. You'll feel the difference by the second tankful!

Questions and answers about New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP

Q. What is TCP?

Answer. It is a cresyl compound, originally developed for aviation gasoline and used with great success in both military and commercial aircraft.

Q. Has TCP been tested?

Answer. Yes, for millions of miles, in all kinds of cars, under all kinds of driving conditions.

Q. What does TCP do?

Answer. It overcomes the power loss caused by deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers.

Q. What does TCP do for new cars?

Answer. It helps them keep their original power.

Q. What does it do for older cars?

Answer. It's like cleaning your spark plugs and getting a motor tune-up. You'll get back much of the power you're now missing.

Oilers End Season With Twin Wins

Barbee Hits 2 Homers In Twin Win

The Oilers wound up their season slate last night with a pair of 9-4 wins over the Borger Gassers at Borger.

The double win ended rather a successful season for the Oilers although they didn't make the first division. The Oilers finished with 77 wins against 75 setbacks.

Eddie Hughes and Porky Pawelek hurled the double victory last night. Hughes gained his 12th win, Pawelek his first.

Porky and Borger manager, Hershel Martin, started the second game in a battle of the managers. But Martin was batted out in the fourth inning while Pawelek stayed in all the way.

Quincy Barbee led the Oiler attack in the 'inbill in the two games, getting a homerun in each tilt. The two homers were Barbee's 18th and 19th of the season.

Doug Lewis, who broke the two-base hit record in the WT-NM several days ago, hit a double in first game to raise his total to 70 for the season.

In addition to Barbee's two homers, Ben Felder also hit one out for the Oilers in the first game. It was Felder's 5th round-tripper.

Ponies Take Over Third

By UNITED PRESS

The Plainview Ponies regained third place in the West Texas - New Mexico League Thursday night with a 3 to 2 triumph over 1953 champion Albuquerque.

The Ponies overcame a 1 to 0 Albuquerque lead in the fourth inning with one run, then went ahead with a single run in the sixth. They took a 3-to 1 lead in the top of the ninth and stopped a Duke rally one run short in the last of the ninth.

Lubbock swept a twin bill from Amarillo, taking the first game 10 to 8 and romping to an 8 to 2 victory in the second game. In the first game Lubbock collected 12 hits, and scored the winning run in the top of the ninth. In the finale the Hubbers picked up an early lead and coasted behind a two-hit pitching job by Jose Fernandez.

Pampa took a twin victory from Borger, beating the Gassers 9 to 4 in both games. In the first game the Oilers took a four-run lead in the third inning and added the insurance runs in the last three innings. In the second game the Oilers piled up a six-run lead in the first three innings, then iced it with a three-run rally in the sixth inning.

Abilene and Clovis split a doubleheader. Abilene took the first game 4 to 2 and Clovis won the nightcap 7 to 0.

Both teams collected seven hits in the opener, but Abilene took a 4 to 1 lead with a three-run uprising in the fifth and held on.

In the nightcap Bud Parker shutout the Gold Sox on three hits, while his mates slammed two Abilene pitchers for nine hits and seven runs.

Lefors, McLean In Openers Tonight

It's football time in the Panhandle.

Several games are on tap in the area tonight. The feature game is the Dalhart-Lefors game at Lefors. Dalhart of 1-AA will be the favorite over the Lefors team of 1-A but a close game is expected. Game time will be 8 p.m.

McLean's Tigers, who have been tabbed as the 1-A favorite, will open the season tonight, hosting the Stinnett Rattlers of the Class B ranks. This game will also start at 8.

In other top games of the area, Childress will go to Phillips, Spearman travels to Canadian, Clarendon takes on Groom, Hereford meets Muleshoe at Muleshoe, Memphis goes to Tulia, Perryton plays host role to Panhandle, Shamrock's Irish invade Quanah, Stratford meets Texline at Texline and Wellington goes intersectionally into Hollis, Okla.

At Lefors tonight, Coach H. W. Callan's team will be gunning to upset the Dalhart Wolves. Led by co-captains Dick Redus and Joe Martin, the Pirates are in the right frame of mind to stage an early season surprise.

Gone from the defending champion Pirates are Jimmy Doom and Billy Watson but the Pirates still have several holdovers from the '52 team. Besides Redus and Martin, Eddie Clemmons, a back, R. J. Wooten, a tackle, and end Phil Earhart were mainstays on last year's Pirate team.

The probable starters for the Pirates tonight will be as follows:

Ends—Earhart and Alfred Bennett.

Tackles—Rondall Cole, Wooten or Mac Nichols.

Guards—Hugh Braly and Fred Brister.

Center—Franklin Hankins.

Backs—Clemmons, Redus, Kenneth Cox, Martin or Johnny Ross.

The McLean starting lineup for tonight's game hasn't been released but the team will be loaded with veterans from last year's team.

Indians Win 2nd In Row From Dallas

By UNITED PRESS

The Oklahoma City Indians, always tough when they get in the playoffs, proved they were not kidding Thursday night when they stepped out in front in the Texas League Shaughnessy playoffs by trimming Dallas 7 to 2.

The victory was Oklahoma City's second to none for the Eagles.

Tulsa evened the series with Fort Worth at one game apiece in the other game of the second night of first round play by shutting out the Cats 4 to 0 on Al McNeilance's four-hit pitching.

Friday night finds the action shifting with Dallas at Oklahoma City and Tulsa at Fort Worth. Dallas will try to win its first game of the best-of-seven series with Howie Anderson (13-9) going against the Indians' Bill Greason (16-13), Pete Wojey (14-9) pitches for Fort Worth against Tulsa's Howard Rodemoyer (10-4).

The 1953-regular season champion Dallas Eagles ran into trouble early as the Indians scored six runs in the first two innings to chase Starter Joe Kotrany and tag him with the loss.

Oklahoma City, which soured Dallas' Dixie Series hopes in 1952 by whipping it four games to one, tallied three times in the first inning and three more in the second on Russ Burns' home run. Dallas was held scoreless until the seventh.

McNeilance held Fort Worth to four hits, walked only two and contributed a single and a run to Tulsa's 10-hit attack in gaining the shutout victory. The Oilers scored once in the fifth frame and got their three other runs in the seventh, one of which came on Ed Bailey's homer.

Schoolboy 11s Begin Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

The first big week end of the Texas schoolboy football campaign got away to a sputtering start Thursday night without an upset in the lot.

Although Alamo Heights defeated San Antonio Tech 14 to 0 in the only Class AA game on the schedule, the big news erupted in Northeast Texas where both Atlanta and Mount Vernon showed intentions of being back in their old familiar grooves.

Atlanta crushed Class A Jefferson 56 to 6, while Mount Vernon breezed by Class AA Clarksville in the feature games in that division.

Bowie, too in North Texas, displayed plenty of scoring punch in brushing aside the Wichita Falls B team 34 to 0.

In the Class A ranks, Timpson blasted out a 50 to 0 rout of the Jasper B team, Pleasanton downed San Antonio Central Catholic B 15 to 6, Abilene Wylie whipped South Taylor 25 to 13 and Thorndale downed Cameron B 33 to 0.

These games were only a prelude to the big slug of contests on tap tonight, highlighted by the Port Arthur-at-Odessa and Vernon-at-Wichita Falls games.

Longhorn Playoffs Are All Square

By UNITED PRESS

The Longhorn League playoffs were all square Friday, with everybody on an even plane as the first-night losers turned the tables Thursday night.

Midland edged San Angelo 3 to 2, and Artesia beat Carlsbad 7 to 5.

Friday night finds Aretesia at Carlsbad with Hermino Reyes pitching for the Drillers and Audie Malone going for the hometown Potashers. San Angelo is at Midland with Ben Bonine opposing either Midland's Glen Selbo or Mike Rainey on the mound.

With but 766 fans looking on, Midland squeezed by the Colts in a pitchers' duel which saw winning hurler Freddie Rodriguez give up but two hits for eight innings. The Colts had the winning run on base in the ninth, but couldn't get it across the plate.

A three-run homer by Les Mulcahy broke a 4 to 4 tie in the eight inning and gave Artesia its victory. Elias Osorio had knotted the score in the top of the inning for Carlsbad with a homer and after Artesia took a 7 to 4 lead in the bottom of the frame, Bob Hobbs knocked in the losers' last homer with the bases empty in the ninth.

HAPPY OILER FAN — Despite the fact the Oilers failed to gain a first division berth, Mary Kay Foster, above, a close "follower" of the Oilers this season, isn't sad. Here she displays a victory smile following the Oilers' double-win over Borger last night that closed out the season for the Pampans. Mary Kay, 5 months old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Speedy Foster, 204 N. Sumner. (News Photo)

SWC 11s Drill In Earnest For '53 Openers

By UNITED PRESS

Southwest Conference coaches took advantage of Thursday's hot weather to run their teams through extensive drills.

At Austin, Coach Ed Price concentrated on defense as the Texas Longhorns entered their final week of hard work before the Sept. 19 opener with Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

The defending champions' No. 1 team proved a stingy outfit on defense, yielding little yardage. The defensive secondary of Dougal Cameron, Bunny Andrews and Billy Quinn was impressive.

Coach Abe Martin scrimmaged the TCU Horned Frogs on both offense and defensive plays and said the defense looked "pretty good for a change."

Martin also announced three changes on his No. 1 squad. He moved up three sophomores, Hugh Pitts to center, replacing Bob White; Ray Hill, replacing senior tackle Marshall Harris; and Byron Engram for end Johnny Crouch.

The Arkansas Razorbacks continued a rough two-a-day scrimmage schedule and Coach Bowden Wyatt appeared well pleased with his inexperienced line.

But he wasn't happy with the backfield, where both the punting and passing looked weak.

Jerry Norton, Don Miller and Hayes Gilliam stood out as Southern Methodist scrimmaged for the fourth straight day.

A great deal of time was devoted to pass defense. The No. 1 backfield showed alertness in guarding against passes but the other units showed a need for more work.

The training tempo increased on the Rice practice field at Houston with the season opener against Florida scheduled Sept. 19.

Coach Jess Neey directed a pass defense drill, then divided his squad tentatively into first, second and third teams.

The Texas A&M Maroon first team defeated the White second team in a hard, two-hour offensive scrimmage.

Fullback Pete Mayeaux went 35 yards for only White score. Don Ellis quarterbacked the Maroons and tossed a 15-yard touchdown pass to end Bennie Sinclair while halfback Joe Boring pushed across the winning Maroon tally from the one-yard line.

Baylor Bears spent the morning posing for photographers and answering sports writer's questions. It was "Press Day" on the Baylor field.

But they toiled under a hot sun in the afternoon, running plays and working on defense.

Football Season Making Debut In Panhandle As Baseball Bows Out

FOOTBALLS WILL FILL the air in the Panhandle tonight. While Pampa pigskin fans are awaiting the opening game for the Harvesters which will be next week, they won't have to go far to get their first taste of the grid sport tonight.

The two closest games are at Lefors and McLean. Lefors takes on Dalhart at Shaw Field in Lefors while McLean hosts Stinnett.

Hap Rogers will be making his debut as McLean coach in tonight's game against Stinnett's Rattlers. Rogers, in his first year, has already been put on the spot by one of the state's top grid prognosticators—Mitchell Williamson.

Williamson says McLean will win the 1-A title.

Lefors is going out of its class in meeting Dalhart in the opener. Dalhart's Wolves are in 1-AA, Lefors in 1-A. You can reasonably expect a good game at either of these towns tonight.

A little farther away but not too far out of driving distances tonight finds Phillips and Childress meeting at Phillips, Canadian hosting Spearman and Panhandle going to Perryton.

Any of these games will be worth attending for all grid-hungry fans.

BASEBALL SEASON IS DRAWING to a close. The Oilers already are finished for the season. After tonight, only four of the WT-NM teams will still be in action and that, of course, will be Albuquerque, Lubbock, Plainview and Clovis, the first division teams.

First place Albuquerque is the only team assured of finishing in a certain spot—on top of the heap. But the other three teams aren't sure which of the other three spots they will occupy until after tonight's games.

The three will be battling for second place since the runnerup will open the playoffs at home. Right now Lubbock owns the No. 2 spot but they could drop to fourth place tonight and fourth place Clovis could get into second yet.

We're doing some checking now and it will probably be a few days before we'll find the answer but the Oilers possibly own the best record for a fifth place team in the county. Winning 12 more games than they lost and still not finishing in the upper bracket is a rarity.

Deck Woldt remarked after the Amarillo series the other night that "this is the first time of eight years of professional baseball that I've played on a team winning 75 games and not getting into the playoffs."

And the Oilers went better than this with their double win at Borger last night, ending with a 77-65 slate.

In comparison, the third and fourth place team last season in the WT-NM race each wound up with an even .500 percentage, winning 70 and losing 70.

The Oilers will hold a farewell party tonight at which time all the fellows will be completely relaxed and just have a good time. It has been a gruelling season for the Oilers who weren't eliminated from the playoff contention until the final two days of the race.

JUST ONE OTHER BIT of baseball on part of the Plainview Ponies before closing out today's garb.

Oran Stoker, hitless in his first 37 trips to the plate this season, hit the jackpot in the recent Plainview-Lubbock series when he got his first hit.

The Ponies were playing at Lubbock when Stoker dribbled one in the front of the plate and beat it out for a hit. Despite being on the road, Pony fans, which there were as many in the stands as there were from Lubbock, took up a collection for Stoker that amounted to $105.

The hit was a fluke one all the way. The catcher picked up the ball in plenty of time to throw Stoker out but no one covered first and a throw was never made.

THE PAMPA AMERICAN LEGION, who sponsored the opening Boys Club boxing matches the other night, made an "unexpected" donation to the Boys Club following the matches.

The Legionnaires took up a donation from the fans present which amounted to $26.69 and then turned it all over to the Boys Club to help defray the boxing expenses of the club.

A nice gesture on the part of the Legionnaires.

Williams Raises HR Total To 11

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—UP—Lou Boudreau says Boston would have won the pennant with Ted Williams around all year, but even without playing a full term the hero from Korea has exerted a big influence on the current race.

The slender slugger kicked Cleveland's corpse closer to the coffin Thursday when he slammed two more homers to pace the Red Sox to a 14 to 4 victory as the Yankees blanked Chicago 1 to 0 and went 10 full games in front.

The Yankees now can clinch the flag through any combination of seven victories or Cleveland defeats.

Brooklyn Loses Tie Clincher

At the same time, Brooklyn missed a chance to clinch at least a pennant tie by blowing an 11-inning 6 to 5 decision at Cincinnati. In the only other major league game, the Cardinals edged the Giants 7 to 6 with a three-run eighth inning rally in which Enos Slaughter hit a homer and two other tallies came over on errors as rookie Al Worthington suffered his eighth straight loss.

Williams boosted his total to 11 homers since returning from the battle front as Boston pounded out 17 hits. Williams and winning pitcher Mickey McDermott each batted in four runs while Tom Umphlett drove in three with four singles.

Ed Lopat gained his 15th victory against only three defeats, blanking Chicago with just four hits, three of them by Al Carrasquel. Gene Woodling's homer gave Lopat all the margin he needed in the second inning as the crafty lefty lowered his earned run averaged to 2.50, lowest in the American League.

Belardi Hits Historic Homer

Brooklyn battled uphill to erase a 5 to 2 deficit, then lost in the 11th when Cincy scored with none out as Andy Seminick walked with the bases loaded off usually brilliant Clem Labine.

A historic two-run homer by Wayne Belardi cut the Cincy margin to 5 to 4 in the eighth. That blast broke the all-time National League mark set in 1950 for it was the 1,101st hit in the circuit this year, most in history.

Brooklyn tied the score at 5 to 5 in the ninth on Rube Walker's single, Jim Gilliam's double for his fourth hit, and Jack Robinson's scoring fly. In the 11th Kluszewski singled and pinch-runner Johnny Temple beat the throw by Billy Cox to second on an attempted force when Jim Greengrass hit a grounder. A bunt by Will Marshall which Labine fielded badly loaded the bases and Seminick walked on five pitches.

Thursday's Star: Ed Lopat of the Yankees, who pitched a four-hit 1 to 0 victory over Chicago for his 15th decision and third shutout, lowering his earned run average to 2.50, best in the American League.

Tennessee Uses Movie Talent To Lure Promising Gridsters

By HENRY McLEMORE

The University of Tennessee has a new wrinkle—a whole new prune, in fact—to the business of procuring and maintaining a top-flight football team.

Last week Bob Hope headed a show in the University's stadium, with all the proceeds tabbed for football scholarships.

If other schools fall in line, as they doubtless will, it shouldn't be too long before we read a story like this on the sports pages:

"Thanks to Dinah Shore, Danny Kaye, Frankie Laine, and Professor Edwards' Performing Dogs, the University of Florida was a top-heavy favorite to defeat Harvard in their battle today for the national football championship.

"Florida's 275-pound backfield, which, it will be remembered, was assembled shortly after the show headed by Miss Shore, Kaye and Laine poured upwards of $100,000 into the University's athletic treasury, is expected to gallop through Harvard's lightweight line.

"Harvard, as you know, ran into box office trouble last spring when Stokowski played to a small house on a rainy night. The receipts were barely enough to plug two weaknesses at tackle."

Or like this:

"With its traditional game with Santa Clara only two Saturdays away, Gonzaga University today called on its most celebrated alumnus, Bing Crosby, to sing it to victory.

"Gonzaga's coach, John (Red) Pepper, said he was positive that if the crooner would give four concerts in Spokane and neighboring communities, he would be able to add four men to the squad who would assure victory.

"Coach Pepper said Gonzaga was in dire need of a rugged guard who was fast enough to pull out of the line and lead interference, a good spinning fullback, a sure kicker of place kicks, and a left-handed passer. He also said that if Crosby could manage a fifth concert he, Pepper, knew where he could get a T-formation quarterback who would make Gonzaga a cinch to win."

Genuine football fanatics will not be satisfied with just what they read on the sports pages. They'll have to subscribe to Variety to see how their alma maters are faring at the box office. Can't you just hear the moan from Madison when Variety has a story headed: ICE SHOW LAYS EGG: WISCONSIN BADGERS PICKED FOR BIG TEN BOTTOM.

And can't you see the guys who bet on football games poring over the box office receipts, which might read like this:

Georgia Tech: Rosemary Clooney, $68,534. Two ends and halfback.

Univ. Washing: Tommy Dorsey, $55,000. Line backer, broken field runner.

U. S. C.: Red Skelton, $71,245. Star back, ambidextrous passer, two enders, defensive end.

Notre Dame: Jimmy Durante, $87,335. Two smashing ends, 60-yard punter, three guards, one tackle.

West Point: Marilyn Monroe, $100,000. Entire new line and promising halfback.

There is certain to be bitter rivalry between the college booking agents and the Las Vegas resorts. Don't be surprised to read a headline such as this:

STANFORD TOPS DESERT INN, OFFER TO LUCY AND DESI

Tennessee may have really started a waltz this time.

Phillips Employes Schedule Picnic

A Phillips Petroleum Company production department picnic has been scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday in the Hobart Street Park.

An annual affair, it will feature food donated by production department officials and family games, according to A. N. Rogers, company employe on the publicity committee.

There are some 180 persons in the production department, Rogers figured, adding that the majority of them were expected to attend the get-together with their families.

Coffee Break Deal

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11—UP—Police reporters looked for Chief of Inspectors James English to ask him about a new rule forbidding inspectors to go out of the traditional morning "coffee break."

They found the inspector and Capt. Otto Meyer, traffic director, leaving a coffee shop next to the Hall of Justice.

BETTER TO HEAR YOU WITH—The Shetland pony social register raised their eyebrows when Trixie announced that she had given birth to a youngster with long ears. Reason for all the wondering glances was the knowledge that the little colt's daddy was a mule. The long-legged, long-eared newcomer is shown at his mommy's side on an Omaha, Neb., farm.

Treasury Works On Federal Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—UP—The Democratic national committee says treasury officials are working on a federal sales tax plan, and the final decision on whether to submit it to Congress will be political rather than economic.

The committee indicated, even if the Republican administration does not request a sales tax, the committee will try to convince the voters a Democratic victory is necessary next year to prevent imposition of a sales tax sometime in the future.

The lead article in the October issue of the Democratic committee's monthly magazine, the Democratic Digest, said the Democrats have consistently fought a sales tax because it "soothes the rich and soaks the poor."

But it said the new GOP administration, faced with an "ugly two-horned dilemma" of how to balance the budget without slashing defense needs or hiking corporation or individual income taxes, is "pushing" a sales tax proposal.

"Treasury department officials are hard at work on nation's first administration - sponsored federal sales tax plan," the Digest said.

"Whether or not the sales tax proposal will actually be submitted to Congress next January will depend largely on public reaction to the idea in the coming months," it said.

The October edition of the Democrat's 25-cent magazine, issued on Thursday, was rougher on President Eisenhower than the two previous issues.

Whereas last month the lead article was entitled, "How Democrats Saved Ike From His Own Party" in the first session of the 83rd Congress, the latest issue showed a trend toward dropping any "rescue" role in the 1954 election year. It indicated an all-out fight would be made against Republicans from the White House down.

President's Son Receives Welcome

DENVER, Sept. 11—UP — Maj. John D. Eisenhower, the President's son, flew back to his home town of Denver Thursday night and received a glowing welcome from his parents at the same airport where he told them goodbye 14 months ago on his way to Korea.

The young Army officer and his wife, Barbara, arrived from San Francisco about two hours after Mr. Eisenhower returned from Washington where he attended funeral services for the late Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

John and Barbara let most of the other passengers alight from the airliner ahead of them.

It was the third time the First Lady had been in public since she began her vacation in Denver Aug. 8. She was attactively dressed in a grey pin-stripe suit with a black stole and a huge orchid corsage.

When John stepped out of the plane, Mrs. Eisenhower threw her head back to smile at him and nearly lost the white feathery hat she was wearing, but she quickly readjusted it.

Peak Of Polio Thought Passed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 —UP— The Public Health Service said Thursday the peak of the 1953 poliomyelitis outbreak apparently has been passed.

The service reported 2,130 new cases occurred last week, compared with 2,238 for the week of Aug. 30 and 2,251 cases for the week of Aug. 23.

"It now appears that the peak for 1953 was reached in the week ended Aug. 22," the health service said. In 1952, the worst polio year in history, the peak did not occur until the third week in September.

Thus far in 1953, there have been 20,339 cases. In the comparable period of 1952, there had been 27,209 cases. Last week's 2,130 cases compared with 3,817 in the comparable seven days of 1952.

Good Appointment

Appointment of Dr. Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the University of Notre Dame School of Law, as head of a new committee to study overlapping of governmental agencies, ought to prove to be of great benefit to all Americans.

The Committee on Intergovernmental Relationships, to give its full name, is to study the relationship of federal, state and local governments and recommend measures to put them in better balance.

Those who have heard Dr. Manion speak know that he brings exceptional qualifications to his task as a lawyer, student of government and as a legal philosopher. All may take confidence in the fact that he was once a supporter of the New Deal but recognized the inherent errors of this governmental philosophy and since has done what he can to correct the situation.

As things have stood since the advent of the New Deal, the federal government has become a huge monster feeding on the state and municipalities and robbing them of their proper functions. This has been done, largely, by the federal government grabbing the lion's share of the tax money and then doling it back to the states and cities less the usual Washington carrying charges.

The combination with the new organization studies to be undertaken by a commission under Herbert Hoover, the Manion Commission can contribute to basic alterations in the American governmental structure. Unlike the previous commission which he headed, Mr. Hoover's new group is empowered to examine federal functions with a view to elimination of many unneeded and costly activities. The result can be a fundamental overhaul of federal organizations, with the consequent chance of major reductions in expenditure and the tax burden.

Dr. Manion's inquiry is complementary to the Hoover study and should fill out the gaps in defining the appropriate spheres of governmental activity at the several levels. The two studies together should result in a contraction of all governmental activity and a substantial elimination of waste and reduction of bureaucratic staff. The farther the process goes, the greater will be the gain to personal liberty, which suffers from governmental encroachment at every hand.

Lately he has been a strong proponent of the Bricker amendment, which would write into the Constitution restrictions offering protection against abuse of the treaty power.

It is interesting that Dr. Manion has been in opposition to Mr. Eisenhower on this particular issue. We have no fear that his selection by the President will result in any sacrifice of his forceful opinion on this much needed change in basic law, for the treaty issue is as important to the preservation of American institutions as is the restoration of a proper balance among governmental bodies.

'Cheap' Power

How "cheap" is socialized electric power?

On the face of it, this kind of power may seem like a bargain — the rates are generally lower than those charged by the private utility companies. But that doesn't tell the whole story by a long shot.

C. J. Green, an expert who spent 20 years with the Federal Power Commission, made a special study of the rates charged by the Tennessee Valley Authority. He concluded that these rates would be twice what they are if TVA had to pay full taxes and interest rates on its money — which would make them much higher than those of the business-managed, taxpaying companies.

Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn recently write, "In the five year period prior to 1952 we find that if TVA had to pay full taxes as well as interest on its investment at 3 per cent annually the taxpayers were robbed of $164,000,000 or about $33,000,000 a year!"

"Cheap" socialized power is an illusion, created by tax freedom, tax subsidies, and dubious bookkeeping methods that would never be tolerated in regulated private enterprise. Every taxpayer has to help pay the bill.

A Sacred Right

The meaning of few words has been so perverted as that fine old term "liberalism."

To many people "liberalism" has come to mean more and more laws designed miraculously to cure this or that trouble; more and more politically-inspired "security" measures; more and more government direction of and meddling with our lives.

In the light of that, something written in 1928 by Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, who holds a high place as a liberal thinker, deserves reprinting. He said: "The makers of our Constitution sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the government, the right to be let alone — the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized men."

Since history began, that has been the attitude of the real liberal. It is the only attitude which can perpetuate the freedoms men won through centuries of bloody conflicts and incredible sacrifices.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Spreading Of Creeping Socialism To Start Soon

Tax supported schools throughout the nation will soon start, or already have started, operation.

As far as government is concerned, they can no more teach a limited government than a bank robber can teach that it is wicked to covet and to steal.

Of course, the bank robber can teach how to count and maybe how to read and the mechanics of unlocking doors and safes, but he cannot teach that men should earn what they get or that the Golden Rule is the best guide of human conduct. Just so, the tax supported schools can teach children how to count and add and read (often without understanding) and write and play and even learn a trade. But the important part of life — the rules and principles that promote harmony and peace and good will and prosperity, they cannot teach. And the reason they cannot teach them is because they are violating these moral laws, just as the bank robber is violating them.

Children, and most all of us, are imitative animals. We learn by imitating. And when we are sent to schools by our parents who call the schools education and call it free at that, when it is neither education nor is it free, it is only natural for the youth to imititate the superintendents of school who do not believe they need to administer efficiently enough that people will voluntarily employ them to direct education. When people regard such a man as an educator, it is only natural that the youth, when they grow up, believe that it is right to get things on an involuntary basis so long as it is made legal by the state or the majority.

And when the youth of the land is supposed to be educated under the direction of men who are not enough interested in truth and the understanding of moral law that they will answer a few questions on what they are doing for the desire of understanding or for $500, it is certainly not treating the youth of the land fair and just. The youth of the land, if they are to be educated, should come in contact with men of intellectual courage — men who are themselves seeking to learn and to grow and develop rather than men who want tenure laws and security and do not want to have their acts tested by open discussion to determine whether or not they are doing great harm to humanity.

Creeping Socialism

So public schools are the best way for those who believe in creeping socialism to make state socialism grow. As Pope said: "'Tis education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

These schools have been in operation in an ever-growing crescendo for 50 or 100 years. They are making government grow. They are teaching the individual that he is not responsible for his welfare and his education, but that others are responsible for his welfare and education. They are in fact teaching the exact opposite from the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence. If the parents to not believe this, let them take a little time and read the books used in tax supported schools on social problems. They will not find a single book used in any tax supported schools that advocates that taxes should be paid in proportion to benefits derived but they advocate that taxes should be paid on the Karl Marx theory — in proportion to ability to pay. They will not find a single textbook that opposes drafting soldiers, labor union monopolies, government controlling credit and banking, government attempting to control prices and rents, or that takes a real moral stand against immigration quotas or protective tariffs, or that the parents is responsible for the well being of his own children, or that men should so live that when they get in trouble someone wants to voluntarily give them assistance rather than have the state use power to force A and B and C to take care of D.

So the institution to make state socialism grow will soon be in full operation and the children will be receiving their indoctrination in collectivism and that might makes right and the end justifies the means — a complete denial of the Commandments and the Golden Rule.

US Land-Grabbing Operations Is Studied By Administration

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam's land-grabbing proclivities are now under scrutiny by several top Eisenhower agencies, and property worth hundreds of millions of dollars may eventually be returned to the dwindling tax rolls of complaining states, counties and cities. It will be an indirect form of tax reduction to millions of individuals.

The vast holdings, which comprise an area almost three times the size of Texas and ten times the area of New England's six states, have been accumulated in a haphazard, unbusinesslike way. There has never been a central, land-coordinating agency at Washington. Until now, there has never been a survey to obtain a cost-and-loss inventory.

Uncle Sam is, perhaps, the only landlord who does not know how much property he owns, where it is located, how much it is worth, or how much he can turn back to its original owners with mutual benefits.

A special panel of the Hoover Reorganizing Commission is now studying the problem, and will report to the next session of Congress. The committee set up by Eisenhower to examine federal-state relationships has also tackled it.

UNCLE SAM'S VAST HOLDINGS —The Interior partment has been the principal agent in the acquisition of land, buildings and equipment. In 11 western states, it now holds more than 60 per cent of the total area, reaching as high as 85 per cent in Nevada.

Under its conservation policy, the Department of Interior has appropriated forests, grazing and mineral land, vast water-power resources, national parks, etc. It has constantly increased its domain in the last 20 years on the ground that the government must thwart ruthless and predatory exploitation by the "interests."

In the process, however, it has sometimes expanded simply for the sake of power and expansion. It has irrigated worthless land, and cased heavy losses to homesteaders, including veterans. It has adopted a dog-in-the-manger attitude toward needed, private development of these locked-up resources, according to its critics. LAND-GRABBERS—Federal landlordism, once only a western concern, has now become a national problem as a result of defense expansion during and since World War II. The military rank second only to Interior as Washington's most rapacious land-grabbers, especially along the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific seaboards. And they resort to court-martial tactics when they take it into their head that they need property, giving no consideration to local interests, public or private.

From Maine to Miami, on the coast and inland to great depth, they have commandeered choice sites. They harass such important industries as fishing, shipping, beach resorts, recreation, valuable real estate developments, and coastal plants. They bid up prices for land required by communities for their water supply, suburban outlets, parks and schools.

WHAT MILITARY HAS TAKEN OVER — Urban expansion has cramped cities and aggravated management problems.

The military and other agencies have taken over office buildings, warehouses, parking areas, railroad facilities, airports, etc. In many communities the telephone books need several pages to list only the federal numbers. The area around Washington and other great centers has been transformed into a military reservation.

Along the Potomac and Chesapeake Bay the services retain title to forts built during the Revolution, when British gunboats could navigate upstream to Washington and Baltimore. Many are now used only as country clubs, yacht basins and picnicking grounds.

"GIVEAWAY" PROGRAM — Opponents of a review and revision of Uncle Sam's holdings denounce it as a "giveaway" program. It may be a major political issue next year, especially in the West, which gave all its electoral votes to Ike last year. Democrats count on it as a winning issue. But the Hoover group believe they will find millions of dollars worth of property which should not have been rendered unto Caesar.

BID FOR A SMILE

A young man, not regarded as a very desirable suitor, had called upon a young lady a number of times, each time to be told by the maid that "Miss Florence was not well today."

One day, in response to his card, the young lady's mother who was a recent accession to the newly-rich ranks, and whose education was not as sure as it might be, appeared and explained once more to the young man that the daughter was not well.

Young man — I am very sorry, indeed, (as he rose to go) that your daughter is so delicate.

Mother — Delicate? Florence delicate? Not at all. Why, she is the most indelicate girl you ever met.

Employer — (seeking office boy) So you want a job, eh? Do you ever tell lies?

Office Boy — No, sir, but I can learn.

Wife to husband: "I've got to get some flour, sugar, matches, butter, bread, a new fur coat and some clothespins — okay?"—George Wolfe in The Saturday Evening Post.

Coach — A fellow who will gladly lay down your life for the good old Alma Mater.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Asthma is both a common and miserable affliction. Someone troubled with asthma will cough, have wheezes in the chest, and probably suffer shortness of breath.

It is not too difficult for the physician to diagnose asthma by listening to the chest through a stethescope, and by studying X-ray films. These methods not only aid in making the diagnosis, but also give invaluable information on how serious the condition is and what treatment would be best.

The seat of the trouble is principally in the brochi, small tubes leading from the main breathing tube, or trachea, into the lung tissue itself. The walls of these bronchi become thickened, narrowed and filled with mucus.

Sometimes the bronchial tubes also undergo contractions or spasms which still further narrow the space through which the air can pass. This narrowing explains the shortness of breath—it is simply that not enough air gets through to the lungs. The coughing associated with asthma is nature's way of trying to enlarge the openings.

Asthma is usually due to allergy, that is, to sensitiveness of the patient to some substance outside his body. Such substances may be inhaled proteins like horse dander or something eaten. When the offending substarce can be identified and eliminated from the vicinity of the 'asthma' victim, the results may be highly satisfactory. Even when that cannot be done, treatment which is not aimed at the allergic cause is sometimes quite successful.

TREATMENT MAY HELP

Treatment of a sinus infection, for example, often helps. Other treatments which have been used include the direct application of an iodized oil, the use of X-rays and breathing gaseous mixtures containing oxygen and helium. Lately cortisone and ACTH have been found most useful in some cases.

New York Murder Dramatizes Governor Dewey's Negligence

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A little gunplay in the Bronx has knocked a sprig of tail-feathers off Gov. Tom Dewey's pretensions to supervising authority over the Eisenhower administration. Dewey has work to do in his own state and the beneficient murder of Tom Lewis, a versatile racketeer doing business under charter of Dewey's own union, has dramatized both his negligence and his impudence.

This assassination will be deplored with the reservations commonly associated with ill winds. Lewis was a rodent easily to be spared and his liquidation brought to prominence the indolence, at best, of Dewey's State Commission on Harness Racing and the inadequacy of his Insurance Commission.

Harness-racing, an old county-fair fixture, never was innocent, but normally is a quaint competition of larcenous drivers and trainers faithful to David Harum's homely dictum, "Do the other feller and do him fust."

Under the eyes of Dewey's racing authority it became an underworld racket operating in collusion with typical union crooks of the Building Service and Teamsters' unions. The commission surely had awareness of this, for sworn facts during the ribald scenes of the Tobey-Kefauver carnival.

Having long ears for scandal and pipelines to sources of underworld information, Dewey doubtless had more than an inkling himself. Yet it took the commission a whole week to notice the stench and by then the scandal was so far along that Dewey assigned an assistant attorney-general to guide the honorable commissioners.

The commission has wide powers, including arbitrary authority to lift a track's license, but it excuses its toleration of a notorious condition on the ground that a state labor law forbade the fingerprinting of ex-convicts who were planted at the tracks by the union.

But it wasn't necessary to fingerprint these racketeers. Almost any Pinkerton could have fingered them on sight and the records of the FBI and the Board of Parole are within 30 minutes' call.

The murder, of itself, and even the putrescence of harness racing are less importantly however, than the fact that the union most concerned is Dewey's own union. Dewey volunteered to be its patron and sponsor and used it, politically, as the nucleus of his "labor" front, when Dubinsky, Hillman, Green and the CIO all ridiculed him.

The Building Service Union is the loathsome old Scalise racket which Dewey himself cleaned up to some extent when he was district attorney of New York County. The little man was very hard for indorsements in those days and William McFetridge, a submissive vice-president under the white-slaver, George Scalise, was easily had after Dewey threw Scalise into prison and made McFetridge president.

He also planted two of his bright young men, Victor Hurwitz, and Aaron Benenson, as counsel in the office of 32-B, known as the Big Store because of its large revenues, at rates of income to dazzle green assistants just entering private practice. Hurwitz was said to be getting $40,000 and Benenson $25,000 a year. Later Hurwitz went into the Army and there have been social rumors in the hierarchy that he and Benenson had a bitter scrap over their rival ambitions in 32-B.

In any case, the BSU is known as Dewey's political province and now it turns up as lousy as ever. It is argued, and in no tones more plaintive than Benenson's, that 32-B, as distinguished from all the other locals, is "clean" and should not suffer for the sins of others.

One answer to that is that cleanliness may mean only that 32-B is clean for all that the public knows to the contrary. It certainly treats its officials and counsel with more than an austere minimum of panoply and pay.

But the officers of Mr. Benenson's 32-B included two vice-presidents of the international, or parent, body, David Sullivan and Thomas Shortman, whose principal activities in recent years have included attendance at the grand galas and posing for their pictures. One single edition of the slick-paper journal of 32-B, published for no conceivable [illegible] fit of the meek and voiceless [illegible]ermaids, bath-maids and el[illegible]pilots, but at their expense, [illegible]ned eight such pictures of [illegible], eight of Shortman and tw[illegible] Benenson, who is duty bound to strike down the rank and file in any dispute with the Hicogalori.

Sullivan and Shortman and, of course, Dewey's acknowledged political protegé, McFetridge, had a duty to keep aware of corruption in other locals and to put it down. Instead, they permitted Lewis, an old Scalise racketeer, to carry on brazenly in the old Scalise tradition and let out two of their big notorious parties on Nassau and Suffolk counties, Long Island.

In Detroit, another nest of locals of uncertain virtue muscled into a group of harness tracks under similar conditions. McFetridge ordered them to give up their jurisdiction and the Detroit locals went tween McFetridge and Dave Beck's teamsters to take their rakeoff and disemploy their subjects. Finally, McFetridge sent a satrap out from New York to take over.

Ten years ago Dewey announced that, having cleaned up the union rackets, he was about to investigate the entire field of insurance. He had been elected governor in the meanwhile.

To the naive observation that Charles Evans Hughes had cleaned out that stable, Dewey made the knowing rejoinder that such institutions don't stay clean.

He forgot that the same applied to unions.

He never did make his investigation of insurance. Things may have been better than he thought.

But a great rottenness has developed since the Taft-Hartley Law went through. Some genius, doubtless a lawyer, hit upon the safe, rich and legal trick of forcing "group insurance" in lieu of raises in pay. Their employers pay the premiums direct to the union treasuries.

The "agents" in almost all such deals are officials of the unions or members of their families. Their commissions run as high at 15 per cent. The "business" written for the late and sparingly lamented Lewis of the Bronx paid fabulous returns to his wife in the role of "broker."

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

REMAINDERS: This is a day to confess a few judgment errors and the confession is that Miss Martha Wright of a bright scamper called "South Pacific" has for a long time been on the wrong page of my book. . .My first encounter with this Seattle girl was in a musical disaster having to do with a haunted house and in it she was an ingenue with not much to do except show her trim ankles and work the dross out of a tune or two. . .My major memory about this ghostly stumble is that I left the theater thinking: "There's a girl who is not going anywhere at all.". . .And now Miss Wright has knocked off more than the 900 performances which Miss Mary Martin racked up before she quit that deathless show, and Miss Wright is still in there, eight times a week, fresh as a daisy and almighty charming. . .Any time I put a girl singer down as destined for nothing in the future, I like to check up later and prove myself either right or wrong. . .In Miss Wright's case I was woefully wrong. . .She is fine in the role of Nurse Nellie Forbush and she gives it humor, loveliness, charm and ingratiation. . .For the moment I can't think of anything else the role requires. . .Miss Wright, whom I have never met in my life, my sincere apologies . . .You are going somewhere — and quickly.

Sometimes the little people of Manhattan are good stories. . .Bartenders, in a sense, are little people. . .They aren't tycoons, industrial kings, electronic scientists or just plain money bags. . .They stand there trying to make an honest buck at a legal trade and they pay their bills and have to listen to a lot of maudlin guff from people who ought to be home in bed instead of teetering on the other side of the mahogany. . .Bob Bernardini is a bartender, by a lot of people's measurements the best one in Manhattan. . .He had a job in a little restaurant where you'd meet anyone from Toumanova or Markova, the ballerinas, to the newest and most amazing tenor at the Met. . .From just plain actors to Clark Gable, from newspapermen to magazine publishers, from the Philharmonic's Konzertmeister to a little guy from Wall Street distracted by his love for a harmonica. . .Bob's hours were from 4 in the afternoon until 2 o'clock in the morning and he had a bell . . .The whole place loved him, found him colorful and engaging, and then Bob fell in love — with a house. . .In time he bought the house, moved into it and things never were the same again. . .He longed to get up at 6 o'clock in the morning and putter with flowers, trim grass, get to work at 8 a.m. and leave it at 6 p.m., so he'd have an hour or two in the garden at home. . .He made the switch the other day, from the fascinating Santa Lucia, the home port of the arts, to the Subway Inn, a bar and grill on Lexington Avenue, where he can get to work at 8 o'clock in the morning and quit at 6 in the evening and go home before dark. . .It's no major fable of Manhattan, but a simple story of a man who had the greats of opera, ballet, publishing and theater as close friends and traded them in for a day job with a flower bed at the end of it.

Memo for psychiatrists: What peculiar and unusual conditions are set up in the last two weeks of each August which cause people to try to jump to death in New York? . . .I have kept semi-accurate records for 10 years now . . .The jump incidence rises each year during those fourteen days and involves both men and women without special regard to economics, romance or low spirits. . . People suddenly want to jump from a high place and quite often are successful at it. . .In these last two weeks of August 33 persons in New York suddenly decided to try to jump to death from roofs, windows, parapets and other high places. . .This was two more than similar attempts for the entire preceding year. . .Is it depression over the end of summer, inability to face the hard fats of winter, or is there an atmospheric condition peculiar to the date? . . .Whatever it is, even the lice become alert for would-be jumpers during this period.

The Upward Call

The ladder is there. God put it there for your help... for your encouragement. The loftier your purpose, the higher you will climb. You are exactly what you honestly and persistently seek to be. A man way down can climb way up if he really wants to. Here is a ladder that leads upward to the same God you hear about from the pulpit of your church every Sunday. Church going people are upward climbers. Jacob was pretty well down when God set up his ladder, but he climbed to be a Prince with God. "Out of the lowest depths there is a path to the loftiest heights."

Weird Opening, But It Had A Plan

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's bid of three clubs in today's hand may seem a little weird, but it was actually quite clear at the time. Most experts use a response of three clubs after an opening bid of two no-trump to ask for a biddable major suit. (It is part of the Stayman Convention, which usually begins with an opening bid of one no-trump and a response of two clubs for the same purpose.)

South duly showed his biddable heart suit, and North thereupon raised to game.

The Stayman Convention is of doubtful value when the responding hand has 4-3-3-3 distribution, and this is especially true when the opening bidder likewise has the same distribution. South was certainly no better off at four hearts than he would habe been at three no-trump.

Not wanting to lead away from his high cards, West opened a trump. South looked at the dummy with something like despair but roused himself enough to draw three rounds of trumps. He then cashed the ace of clubs and led a low club towards the ten.

West, rather naturally, put up the queen of clubs on the second round of that suit — and East made the fatal error of playing a low club. East should have overtaken with his king of clubs in order to cash the jack and then lead either a spade or a diamond.

When West was allowed to hold the trick with his queen of clubs, he found himself obliged to lead away from one of his kings. He chose to lead the jack of spades, and South won with the queen. Declarer promptly cashed the ace of spades and got out with the nine of spades. West had to win the trick and now had to strike a second blow in the opponent's cause.

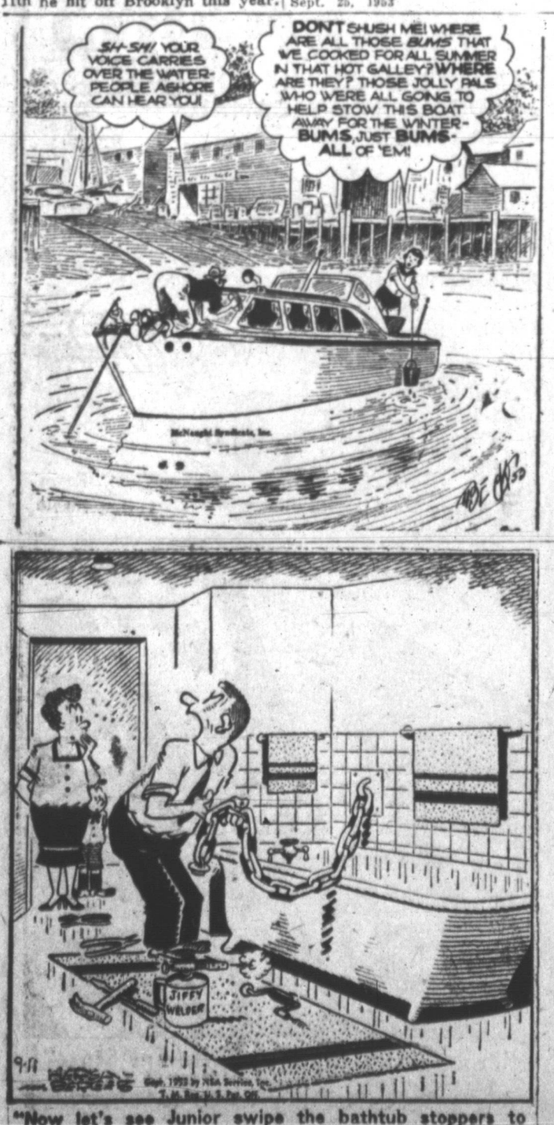

West decided to lead a fourth spade, hoping that the ruff and sluff would do declarer no good. South ruffed the fourth spade in dummy, discarding the losing club from his own hand. He then led a low diamond from dmmy and finessed the nine, putting West into the lead again.

End-played for the third successive time, West had to lead a diamond back to declarer's ace-queen, giving him a free finesse.

"A very sound contract," West commented bitterly. "All you needed was three end-plays and an outright gift!"

Bell Likes Dodger Pitching

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11—UP — If the Yankees want to find out how to hit the Dodgers' pitching in the World Series, they should ask slugger Gus Bell of the Cincinnati Redlegs. Bell's eighth-inning homer Thursday in the 6 to 5, 11-inning victory over the Dodgers was the 11th he hit off Brooklyn this year.

"Now let's see Junior swipe the bathtub stoppers to replace the busted wheels on his toys!"

Southwest Expects Scattered Rains

Forecasters expected a few scattered showers over the Southwest Friday and Saturday, but little change was expected in the hot temperatures.

Showers were predicted for extreme South Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico. But early Friday morning, skies were generally fair over all states.

Ponca City and Hobart, Okla., tied for the highest temperature in the Southwest Thursday, with 97 degrees. It was 96 at Wichita Falls, Tex.; 91 at Lamar, Colo.; 89 at the New Mexico towns of Clayton, Tucumcari, Carlsbad and Albuquerque, and 86 at Moorcroft, Wyo.

Meanwhile, a drouth committee in West Texas reported conditions nare worse than before recent rai A committee from Pampa, Tex., said there is "absolutely no surface moisture and no sub-surface moisture. It said moisture from the rains already had been used, leaving land just as bad or worse than before.

However, other areas reported improved conditions, and 104 Texas counties were removed from the critical drouth list.

Second Group Of Missing Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 —UP—The Defense Department Friday identified a second group of 247 Americans believed captured in Korea but never accounted for by the Communists. This brought to 400 the men identified out of a total of 944 Americans of whom the United Nations have demanded an accounting by the Communists. The first list of 126 names was made public Thursday.

The department said, in releasing the lists, "there is reason to believe that the Communists hold or have knowledge of the fate of these men, but no information concerning them has been received." Defense officials fear many of the 994 men officially listed as missing in action, died in Communist prison camps.

Ike's Leisure Skips To Time Of Decision

DENVER, Sept. 11 — UP—President Eisenhower's leisurely vacation shifted to a period of difficult decision Friday as he and Vice President Richard M. Nixon worked together on a collection of knotty administration problems.

The President and Nixon flew from Washington late Thursday and the Vice President planned to remain in Denver until Sunday.

Top items in their discussions the rest of the week will be the selection of a new Chief Justice of the United States to replace the late Fred M. Vinson, plus a new secretary of labor to replace Martin P. Durkin who quit Thursday because he did not like administration proposals for changes in the Taft-Hartley law.

Dewey Counted Out

The President and Nixon also were expected to discus administration plans for the next session of Congress.

The recess appointment of a chief justice may come along within a few days. Sources close to the President dicouraged speculation the post might go to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

This attitude was based on Dewey's long-standing desire to remain governor of the Empire State rather than taking a federal post. The confinement of the court would not appeal to him, according to persons usually in a position to know.

Labor Post Hard To Fill

Without benefit of official guidance, speculation about the post still seemed to center on Gov. Earl Warren of Califonia or some high-ranking jurist now on a federal district or appellate bench.

The selection of Durkin's successor actually seemed to be a much more difficult task than find a new chief justice, because Durkin set off a new controversy by bowing out with parting shots at the administration.

Wedding Guest Spree

CARRIZOZO, N. M., Sept. 11 —UP—Sheriff William G. Bradley, called to quell a fight among 60 of the 500 guests at a wedding feast here, settled the issue by firing tear gas into the crowd.

"Nobody would listen to us," he said. "They just kept on fighting and throwing rocks and dancing and celebrating. So we fired a tear gas bomb into the crowd.

"It wasn't really anything too bad, though," he said. "We did not see anyone with knives or guns out."

B-I-E Host Firms Meeting Today

The Host Firms Committee of the Business-Industrial Education Day Committee was meeting at 12 noon today in the Blue Room of the Schneider Hotel.

The group will be discussing procedures to be followed the day local school teachers will be the guests of business and industry. Details for the day will also be worked out at the meeting. The next meeting of the committee will be held on Sept. 21, with participating firms to work out details with them.

It was not known this morning who would serve as chairman of today's meeting in lieu of Floyd Watson who is in Highland General Hospital where he underwent surgery this week.

Construction Set On Airport Home

The three-bedroom dwelling to be used by the airport manager at Perry LeFors Field was well under construction today, one week after the contract was let to the Lynn Boyd Lumber Co. by the Gray County Airport Board last Friday.

The home is being constructed at a cost of $5,750. The county had appropriated $8,000 in the budget for, its construction.

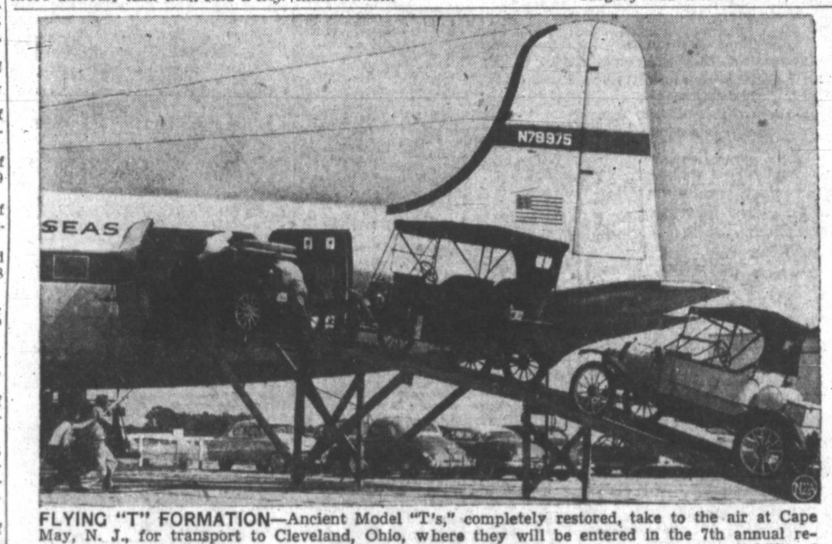

M. W. Alford, Littlefield, hired by the board as airport manager, will be the first one to use it.

In all, eight bids were handed the board by county builders. Boyd's was lowest. Closest to the lumber company was H. R. Jeter at $6,892 and White House Properties at 7,390.

The next regular meeting of the board will be at 4 p.m., Oct. 13, at the airport.
