BIG SPRING LAKE PLAN

Protests On Dam Foiled

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Commission refused today to dismiss the Colorado

Dam Help Unexpected

Colorado River Municipal Water District officials got unexpected help in Austin today, when the Upper Colorado River Authority withdrew its protest and endorsed the Robert Lee site for a new lake to be built by the CRWMD.

Pat Hall, San Angelo, attorney for UCRA, said that Charles Perry, CRWMD president, had in his statement to the Texas Water Commission, cleared up the points which had concerned the UCRA. He said further that since a question of jurisdiction had been raised — namely whether the CRWMD could come into UCRA territory — the latter would waive the question.

Perry told the commission that by 1969, Lake Thomas would no longer be adequate to serve the needs of the fast growing area.

Mayor Hank Avery, Midland, presented a resolution by his council endorsing the project, and said, "In Midland, we are seeking a drink of water."

Judge W. W. Thetford, Coke County, presented a statement endorsing the project, as did Robert D. Vaughan and W. D. McAdams, president of the Robert Lee BCD.

Yank Combat Dead At 236

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Americans and 36 Vietnamese soldiers killed in the crash of a paratroop transport plane are reliably reported to have been training for operations against the Communists outside South Viet Nam.

The two American deaths and that of another U.S. serviceman in a ground action against the Viet Cong Sunday brought to 236 the number of Americans killed in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

FEARED DROWNED
Another U.S. serviceman was presumed drowned when he disappeared Sunday while crossing a river near the location border. It was not known whether he was taking part in a combat operation.

The C123 paratroop plane crashed into a mountain Friday night after taking off from Da-nang airport, 90 miles south of Communist North Viet Nam. The crash was kept secret for two days.

IDENTIFY DEAD
U.S. officials identified the dead Americans as Maj. Woodrow W. Vaden of Clarksville, Tenn., and Sgt. L.C. Dominick Sansone of Wolcott, Conn.

The officials would make no comment on the crash.

CHEER FUND NEEDS HELP

Help Wanted!
The Christmas Cheer Fund is still less than half way to its goal to see that all needy children are remembered at Christmas. More generous friends helped today, but the total so far is only $622.50.

If you can help provide for these youngsters — to see that food and medicine is provided — please make your check to the CHRISTMAS-CHEER FUND and mail it to The Herald, TODAY.

These had a part in the program today: Silent Class of First Methodist Church, $5; Nell Hatch, $5; Century Class of First Presbyterian Church, $4.50.

River Municipal Water District's request for permission to build a dam and reservoir near Robert Lee.

The commission rejected arguments by State Sen. Charles Herring and other opponents of the project that the district's request was improperly filed.

The action set the stage for a full hearing on the project's merits.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring seeks a permit to build the $13 million reservoir in Coke County on the upper Colorado in an amendment to an application approved by the commission in 1960 for construction of a reservoir in Mitchell County.

NEW BID
Herring contended that the Robert Lee request was in fact an entirely new application and should be handled as such, with establishment of water priority rights and satisfaction of other statutory requirements. He said a commission ruling that the permit request was only an amendment would set a dangerous precedent allowing present safeguards to be bypassed.

Frank Erwin, Austin attorney representing about 50 Runnels County water interests, said the Mitchell County project is "completely unfeasible" and the Colorado River Municipal Water District never met conditions set for final issuance of a permit to build a reservoir.

CLAIM MADE
The Lower Colorado River Authority contends the Robert Lee project would lower the "Highland Lakes" of Central Texas.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce came out solidly for the project a week ago, appointing J. W. Buchanan of Dumas and R. M. Wagstaff of Abilene, both prominent in past state water legislation, to present its case to the commission.

The water district seeks to shift a reservoir site—approved more than four years ago—from the Colorado in Mitchell County downstream to Coke County, near the town of Robert Lee.

BIGGER LAKE
It also wants to build a bigger reservoir than was originally approved—488,760 acre-feet instead of 403,700 acre-feet. (An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.)

The LCRA did not oppose the Mitchell County site, which the commission approved in June 1960.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District owns and operates Lake J. B. Thomas on the Colorado, selling water to Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder. Robert Lee Reservoir would supplement that lake.

Enlargement Of C-C Field
Headquarters Air Training Command today announced the opening of bids for extension of Colorado City Auxiliary Field to accommodate the supersonic T-38 trainer.

Real estate directives to the Corps of Engineers has been issued by Headquarters USAF for the acquisition of 46 acres of land near Colorado City.

The land is required for the construction of a 600 foot runway extension and a 1,000 foot over run at the southeast end of the runway. New construction and programmed additional use of the auxiliary field will not interfere with civilian air traffic.

Expected completion will be announced.

U.N. Financial Focus On Soviet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The emphasis has been mainly on the Russians in behind-the-scenes negotiations seeking to resolve the U.N. financial crisis.

The Soviet Union and six Communist-bloc nations are more than two years in arrears on peace-keeping assessments. France also becomes two years in arrears Jan. 1.

Soviet Attache Ousters Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today ordered the ouster of three Soviet embassy military attaches in retaliation for restrictions Russia imposed on three American attaches in Moscow.

Rites Set For Ray D. Ulrey

Services for Ray D. Ulrey, 73, pioneer railroader of Big Spring, will be at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Robert F. Polk, First Baptist Church, will officiate, and burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park with Masonic graveside rites by Big Spring Lodge No. 1340 AF&AM. Nalley-Pickle will be in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Ulrey, who had been a railroader for 53 years at the time of his retirement on Feb. 14, 1959, died unexpectedly at his home, 420 Dallas, at 10:50 p.m. Saturday.

He was born July 14, 1891, in Crete, Neb. He began his career with the railroads at Pratt, Kan., in July, 1907, at the age of 16. He served as fireman on several lines and became a locomotive engineer on the MK&T in 1918 at Wichita Falls.

He moved to Big Spring in 1928 and maintained his seniority during the depression by reporting regularly for duty. He was assigned a regular run on the T&P in 1941.

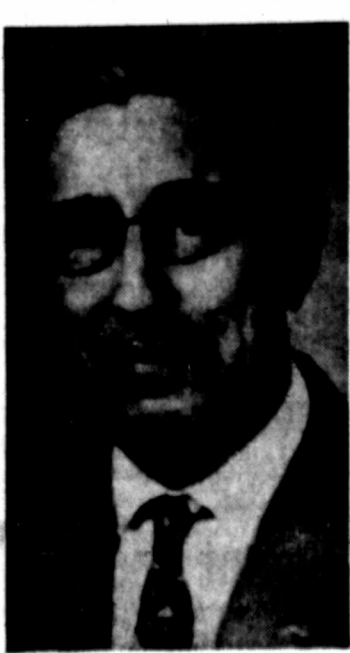

He was married in Woodward, Okla., to Miss Pearl Buley in 1917. He served for 18 months overseas in World War I.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church, a member of Lodge No. 1340 AF&AM, and affiliated with the chapter, council and commandery. He was a Shriner and belonged to Suez Temple in San Angelo.

His membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers dated back to Feb. 6, 1918. He was awarded a 40 year pin by the brotherhood in 1957 and served as local chairman for the organization at one time.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Owen Scott, Silver Springs, Md., and Mrs. A. W. Dekker, Albuquerque, N.M.; one son, John Ulrey, Pasadena, Texas, and eight grandchildren.

Palbearers will be Jim Allen, R. L. Baber, R. C. Williams, W. L. Clayton, Lester Wise, G. C. Ragsdale, Mack Simmons, and Fred McGowan.

Fight To Flare Over Abolishing Reserves

Texas Guard Gains Seen From Shift

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas National Guard "will have more men, more facilities and better equipment than ever before," under the proposed merger of the Army reserve and the guard, the Texas adjutant general said today.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop told his staff and the press that the merger plan will "produce a strong, well-equipped and responsive reserve structure to meet all the requirements of the national war plan under any emergency."

Assuming Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara's plan to wipe out all Army reserve units and merge some with the guard is accepted, Bishop said Texas will have three brigades under the new setup—the 49th, 38th, 90th and also the 75th maneuver area command at Houston.

ARMORED UNIT
Although nothing is definite on the reorganization plan, Bishop said he assumed one of these brigades, all of which will be high-priority, will be an armored unit, one will be a mechanized brigade and all will be commanded by brigadier generals.

He said the new reserve force structure will be fully equipped, manned to at least 80 per cent of full strength and will be trained to go into combat within 30 days of call up. Currently, the guard's program calls for 60 per cent of its units to be combat ready within 6-8 months of a call up.

Nuclear Ship Visit Hailed

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The U.S. nuclear ship Savannah on its recent visit accelerated Portuguese scientific progress.

"It put us a year ahead in atomic research by creating awareness of the nonmilitary uses of nuclear energy," said a scientist.

The visit of the American cargo and passenger ship in November soon will be followed by a U.S. government nuclear exhibit, including a working reactor.

Portugal hopes to have its first atomic power station operating by 1973.

Barry's View: Nixon In '68

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater pointed today to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Govs. Mark O. Hatfield, George Romney and William W. Scranton as potential contenders for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

He said he thinks that as of now Nixon "has the biggest hand upon the wheel."

NO MORE
For himself, the beaten GOP nominee shunned the role of national party leader and ruled out another race for the White House.

He said he will be "a working member" of the party. Goldwater, in a copyright interview with U.S. News & World Report, defended GOP National Chairman Dean Burch, insisted his landslide loss to President Johnson did not cripple the conservative movement and declared his presidential bid was over before it really began.

IKE POWER
He said only former President Dwight D. Eisenhower could have beaten Johnson for the Republicans.

"Frankly," he said, "I think that I was beaten July 15." That was the day the Republican National Convention nominated him for the White House.

Goldwater said the whole campaign "was run on fear of me," and that fear was planted before he was nominated.

Gen. Momyer Named C-C Banquet Speaker

Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of the Air Training Command, has accepted an invitation to be the speaker for the annual banquet of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Announcement of Gen. Momyer's acceptance was made Monday noon at the monthly meeting of the C-C board of directors. At the same time, the board approved Saturday, Jan. 16, as the date for the banquet, which will be held in the Goliad Junior High gymnasium.

Other program details are being shaped by a committee composed of Bill Crocker, A. J. Prager and Joe Pickle.

Regarded as one of the most brilliant of the Air Force commanders, Gen. Momyer is due to be making his first public address here since assuming responsibility for the entire Air Training Command on Sept. 9.

Campus Rebel Arraignment

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — More than 700 demonstrators today face mass arraignment in a community theater-turned-courtroom as the aftermath of an all-night protest sit-in at the University of California on Dec. 3.

The dispute is over student demands for more freedom on campus to advocate off-campus social and political activities without fear of university discipline. University regulations now permit advocacy at certain campus points, but call for university discipline of students convicted for off-campus actions such as demonstrations in which civil disobedience techniques are used.

The defendants are charged with trespassing, failure to disperse and resisting arrest. Some went limp when arrested and were dragged from Sproul Hall, the campus administration building, scene of the demonstrations.

Early Rail Strike Out

CHICAGO (AP)—Three shop craft unions made known today there will not be any nationwide railroad strike until after Jan. 1.

Alex Elson, lawyer for the Machinists, Electric Workers and Sheet Metal Workers unions, made the announcement in U.S. District Court.

Elson told Judge Joseph Sam Perry he had been authorized to state there "will not be a strike until after the first of the year."

Officers Ask Plan Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the plan to abolish the Army Reserves is "prudent and wise."

The Reserve Officers Association disagrees and demands a thorough investigation of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's plan to do away with the Reserves by merging some units into the National Guard and placing the rest on inactive status.

The association said the Air Force Reserve will be the next to go.

FACES BATTLE

McNamara's proposal — aimed at saving $150 million yearly by abolishing units which the defense secretary says are no longer needed — faces some stiff opposition on Capitol Hill. Congress has control over such proposals at least to the extent of providing money to carry them out.

Plans involving Army National Guard changes also are under discussion. Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes said Sunday night that current planning concepts call for the six high-priority and two special-purpose divisions of the Guard to be converted into a division base and one brigade. But he said this was a concept "and not a firm plan," to be considered by the Army in conjunction with Reserve and National Guard authorities.

CRITICISM SHARP

Some congressional criticism on the Reserve plan has been sharp and two congressional inquiries have already been promised in the wake of Saturday's announcement by McNamara.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., of the House Armed Services subcommittee on the Reserves and National Guard, said McNamara "demonstrated his contempt for Congress" by issuing the plan.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, said he'll do his utmost to maintain the Reserve force and expressed the belief Congress must approve the plan before it can go into effect.

HEARINGS AHEAD
Both men said their subcommittees will hold hearings on the plan next year but no dates were set.

Rights Law Core Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously upheld today the heart of the 1964 Civil Rights Act—the public accommodations section.

In the first test of the controversial accommodations provision to come before the tribunal, the Supreme Court ruled that "Congress possessed ample power" to enact the legislation under its authority to regulate interstate commerce.

The provision prohibits discrimination in such places as hotels, motels, theaters and restaurants.

Many of the Civil Rights Act's critics had questioned the constitutionality of the public accommodations section.

The court dealt today with two challenges of the section — one from Atlanta and a second from Birmingham.

In writing the opinion in the case brought up by an Atlanta motel, Justice Tom Clark said Congress' commerce power under the constitution was sufficient foundation for today's ruling.

The Heart of Atlanta Motel had filed suit in U.S. District Court in Atlanta to block enforcement of the act within two hours after it had been signed into law by President Johnson last July 2.

The section was upheld in district court and the motel's attorney appealed to the court.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., Atlanta attorney and official of the motel, handled the motel's suit.

GIFTS OVER $1,000Demos Big Contributors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats were the big contributors of the 1964 political campaigns, supplanting Republicans in their traditional role.

Democratic records on file with the clerk of the House show nearly 2,000 individuals gave some $3.5 million in gifts over $1,000.

On the Republican side, more than 1,100 persons contributed $2.5 million in gifts of $1,000 or more.

The law forbids any political group to spend more than $3 million and also limits an individual's gifts to one group to $5,000. Thus both parties establish several campaign committees.

Through nine national committees, the Republicans collected a total of $11.8 million. The Democrats reported receiving $8.6 million in 16 different groups, for records through the period ending Oct. 28.

Figures through the Nov. 3 general election will not be available until January.

Following are individuals or families listed as giving $5,000 or more to the various Republican and Democratic fund-raising groups in amounts of $1,000 or more this year:

Arkansas—Republicans: Winthrop Rockefeller $5,000; Democrats: Charles R. Murphy Jr., El Dorado, $5,000; Jackson T. Stephens, Little Rock, $5,000.

Louisiana—Republicans: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Glassell, Shreveport, $5,000; Democrats: James A. Noe, Monroe, $5,000.

Texas—Republicans: T. R. Armstrong, San Antonio, $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Briggs, San Antonio, $6,000; Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Braman, $6,000; C. Beal, Midland, $5,000; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Harrington, Amarillo $10,000; C. S. Menckle, Galveston, $5,000; J. E. Mayor, Ingram, $5,000; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ward, Dallas, $5,000.

Democrats: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Butt, Corpus Christi, $10,000; L. F. Corrigan, Dallas, $5,000; Julius M. Gordon, Beaumont, $5,000; W. W. Heath, Austin, $5,000; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Lindsey, Dallas, $10,000; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ling, $7,750; C. P. McGaha, Wichita Falls, $5,000; S. McAshan Jr., Houston, $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mecom, Houston, $7,000; Troy Post, Dallas, $7,000; Corbin J. Robertson, Houston, $6,000; E. Stroud, Dallas, $5,000.

Trio Held In Church Blast

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Police held three men without bond today in connection with an explosive device that went off outside the Negro First Baptist church Sunday.

Although there was a large crowd of church goers, no one was injured and the church escaped damage.

The three men, arrested by a plainclothes policeman who witnessed the incident, were charged with setting off explosives in or near an inhabited building. The charge carries a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair.

Police identified the men as Henry Alexander, 35; James White, 31, and Donald Landers, 19, all of Montgomery.

The First Baptist was one of four Negro churches dynamited in Montgomery in 1957 — and one of the men arrested was among four indicted for the church bombings almost seven years ago.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠KQ6 ♥K7 ♦AQ10854 ♣A4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♦ Pass 1♥ Pass

2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. Theoretically this hand is one point short of the required 19 for this call but the fine six card suit is adequate compensation for the deficiency.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠AQ10653 ♥4 ♦AJ62 ♣AK

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

3♦ 4♣ Pass 6♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Seven spades. A pass at this point would be the height of cowardice. Partner is surely marked with the king of spades, the ace of hearts and extreme shortness in diamonds as indispensable values for his bid. His hearts should be good enough to provide a convenient parking place for whatever diamonds you are unable to ruff out.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠J1063 ♥4 ♦AQ1032 ♣863

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

Pass Pass Pass 2♥

Pass 2NT Pass 3♥

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand has suddenly grown to slam proportions. In fact a direct leap to six would not be at all unreasonable. The safest course, however, at this juncture would be a bid of four diamonds, followed by an overbid of game in spades. This allows for partner's having a highly distributional hand with weakness in clubs.

Q. 4—The opponents are vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠1083 ♥43 ♦KQJ6 ♣Q1073

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1♠ Pass 1NT 2♦

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. This situation contains many of the elements of the classic sacrifice bid. The vulnerability is in your favor, your hand is practically worthless defensively and the length in diamonds serves to vitiate the defensive possibilities of partner's holding. The three card length in spades combined with East's announced long suit marks your partner to be extremely short.

In that suit. At worst you should lose 300 points and there is the prospect that such a small profit may not appeal sufficiently to the opponents who could be goaded into bidding five spades which might be defeated.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠Q4 ♥3 ♦Q9653 ♣A10874

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass 1♦ Pass 1♥

Pass 1NT Pass Pass

2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. We are not partial to partners who overcall in the opponent's suit, especially when we are vulnerable. However, since North is also vulnerable we must presume he knows what he is doing. No rescue should be seriously contemplated even if partner gets doubled.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠AQ1062 ♥K732 ♦10854 ♣54

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

Pass Pass 1♠ Double

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. This hand should produce a reasonable play for game even facing a shaded take-out double. If you bid just three spades partner may feel you are acting under pressure. Even tho such a call constitutes a free bid in this position he may pass with a minimum double.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠J9532 ♥86 ♦10874 ♣63

The bidding has proceeded:

Final Count: Record Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record 70,621,479 Americans voted in last month's presidential election, official totals tabulated by The Associated Press showed today.

The popular-vote totals which showed an increase of almost 1.8 million over the 1960 election were:

President Johnson 43,126,218
Sen. Barry Goldwater 27,174,969

Others 320,363
Although the total set a record, there was a percentage decline in voter participation compared with 1960 — based on the number of Americans who were of voting age on Election Day.

1960 RACE
In the 1960 race, 63.1 per cent of the persons the Census Bureau estimated were of voting age cast ballots for president.

This year, with the number of age-eligible voters estimated at 113.9 million by the bureau, the participation rate was down to 62 per cent.

In all, 35 states showed declines in participation over 1960. Where four years ago 29 states had 70 per cent or more of their voting age population at the polls, this year only 16 could surpass that figure.

But the Southern states, always on the bottom of vote participation charts, scored dramatic gains. All of the 11 states of the old Confederacy had increases in their total presidential vote and 10 of the 11 showed percentage increases — some of them marked.

Georgia, for instance, was up from 30.2 per cent to 43.2 per cent; Arkansas was up from 40.9 to 49.9; South Carolina jumped from 30.3 to 38; and Virginia climbed from 32.9 to 41.

OVER 2 MILLION

Over-all, the Southern popular vote rose by a little more than 2 million — from 10.2 million to 12.3 million — in contrast with the national increase of 1.8 million.

Goldwater's total in the 10 Southern states was 5,993,319, an increase of 1.27 million over Richard M. Nixon's total there in 1960. Goldwater ran about 8.5 million votes behind Nixon in the rest of the nation.

Johnson's total was 8,899,122 higher than John F. Kennedy's in 1960.

Growers Vote Tuesday On Cotton Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers will decide Tuesday whether they want marketing quotas continued on upland cotton and extra-long staple cotton.

More than 860,000 growers are eligible to vote. These include 835,000 upland cotton farmers in 22 states, and 26,000 extra-long staple cotton farmers in 6 states and Puerto Rico.

Two-thirds of those voting must approve quotas if they are to continue. Cotton has been grown for years under marketing quotas.

The cotton vote will be on whether the 1965 crop will be grown under quotas.

If upland cotton growers vote for quotas, they will be eligible for price supports ranging between 65 and 90 per cent of parity if they do not exceed their farm allotments. Under the cotton program approved last year, if quotas are voted farmers who stay within their domestic acreage allotment additionally will be eligible for a price support payment as well as a price support loan.

If growers vote for quotas on extra long staple cotton they will be eligible for price support loans at the full level of effective support. If quotas are rejected, supports to those growers who stay within their acreage allotments will be only 50 per cent of parity.

The marketing quota system is used in an effort to keep down production of commodities which are in surplus.

Sentencing By The Court

The 59th Legislature next session will again be charged with responsibility for approving a remodeled code of criminal procedure. Error required the governor to veto a new code passed by the previous session, but the complicated issue is certain to be with us again next winter.

The new code will give the defendant an option, on conviction, whether to have his penalty or sentence set by the judge or the jury, according to some reports. Presently, sentence is set by the jury.

Jury sentencing is contrary to the common law tradition, where in a jury determines guilt or innocence and the judge affixes the penalty. There is much to suggest that the sentence should be entirely in the discretion of the judge.

A jury is allowed to hear only admissible evidence on a specific crime, though it can hear some limited evidence on the character and background of the accused from character witnesses. In determining a sentence, the entire background and character of the convicted person, including evidence from professionals, should be taken into account, alike for the public safety, the consideration of taxpayers and the probable effect of rehabilitation of the person involved.

If sentencing is made a responsibility of the judge, as it is in most other states, he should have the benefit of an examiner's report, a defense counsel plea in rebuttal or clarification, and probably a separate pre-sentencing hearing.

Judicial sentencing has many advantages. No civil right is violated. The probability of uniform or equitable punishment is much higher, relieving a complaint that makes prison administration exceptionally difficult in Texas now. Justice is more likely to be served by an experienced judge than by a lay jury in such a matter. Conditions modifying a sentence could contribute to returning the convicted person more quickly to a useful place in society. And conditions calling for a severer sentence might better serve the cause of public safety.

Great Scientist

Science has produced a number of men who achieved greatness not only in their chosen branch of science but as interpreters of science to the layman. By no means least among this select company is J. B. S. Haldane, who died in India recently at the age of 72.

Professor Haldane was one of the outstanding geneticists of our time. He also made notable contributions through helping to lay the groundwork for the use of high-pressure oxygen in therapy and surgery, and for development of the heart-lung machine. He made significant findings in physical endurance, defenses against gas, and other fields, often using himself as a guinea pig for experiments.

While this was going on, he also wrote much about science and made an informative, as long ago as the 1920s, with "Possible Worlds" and other books, he was describing for laymen the wonders and possibilities of science. This is among his most important achievements. The vital communication between scientists and laymen would be better if there were more J. B. S. Haldanes.

The 'Great Society' Of 50 Years Ago

WASHINGTON — There is nothing new under the sun — not even the "great society," which has suddenly entered the political vocabulary in America. For just 50 years ago, Graham Wallas of the London School of Economics and Political Science wrote a book entitled "The Great Society," which gave an analysis of the modern state.

Mr. Wallas was dedicated to the concept that the proper organization of the economic and social life in a country could create "happiness." He was a moderate rather than an extreme socialist. Although written five decades ago, his book deals with the very same trends and problems that are in existence today.

MR. WALLAS described himself as a "social psychologist," but in sponsoring the "great society" he did not say it was original with him or with his fellow intellectuals. He said that 50 years before, in 1864, "the practical men who were bringing the 'great society' into existence thought, when they had time to think at all, that they were thereby offering an enormously better existence to the whole human race." They were convinced that, even if the "great society" should deprive people of some of the romance and intimacy of life, the increase of security would be far more than an equal return. Fame, it was assumed, would be bestowed, like "when a laborer could buy flour and bacon from the world-market in his village shop," and that "wars would be few and short if they meant disaster to an international system of credit." Mr. Wallas, however, gave his criticism as follows:

"NOW, HOWEVER, that the change has come, hardly any one thinks of it with the old undoubting enthusiasm. Actual famine has, it is true, disappeared from the 'great society,' but there remains the constant possibility of general and uncontrollable depressions of trade. The intervals between great wars are apparently becoming longer, but never has the expenditure on armaments been so great or the fear of war so constant."

THE AUTHOR stressed the fact that village life, with its self-sufficiency and individual handicrafts, had given way to the monotony of large-scale production, and he saw few signs of "that harmony of the whole being which constitutes happiness."

But Mr. Wallas declared that the "great society" could not turn back. He did not think that the problems of the world would be solved "either by piling up armaments or by strengthening our police," and he expressed doubts whether "worldwide coercion" would ever be possible.

MR. WALLAS suggested that men should be given more variety in the handling of machines and some leeway for individual initiative, and urged team work. He proposed ways to give individuals some sense of responsibility in their work, and recommended "classrooms out of school hours, clubs, gymnasiums, or parks" and transportation facilities to give access to quiet countryside.

The author even advanced what some employers and unions are now promoting — long vacations. He suggested that these be on a half-year or quarter-year basis, and that the sabbatical idea be applied in occupations other than educational facilities. But, above all, he urged that a man be given the work that fits him. He said happiness as a social criterion instead of efficiency should be considered more often.

ALTHOUGH Mr. Wallas criticized the failure to achieve the "great society" which had been advocated more than 50 years before he wrote his book, he continued to raise doubts as to how "happiness" could be attained in the "great society." It is a problem which President Johnson, too, may find difficult to resolve.

What is your opinion on Christians belonging to fraternities and sororities?—P. L.

If you are asking if it is necessary to belong to a fraternity or sorority to be a Christian, I would say, "No." Many students cannot afford the luxury of living at a "frat house," but as to the problem of whether it is right or wrong, that would depend on the convictions of the individual, and what fraternity or sorority he or she was pledged to. Most campus organizations are pledged to high ideals. But we also know that some have participated in the wrong things.

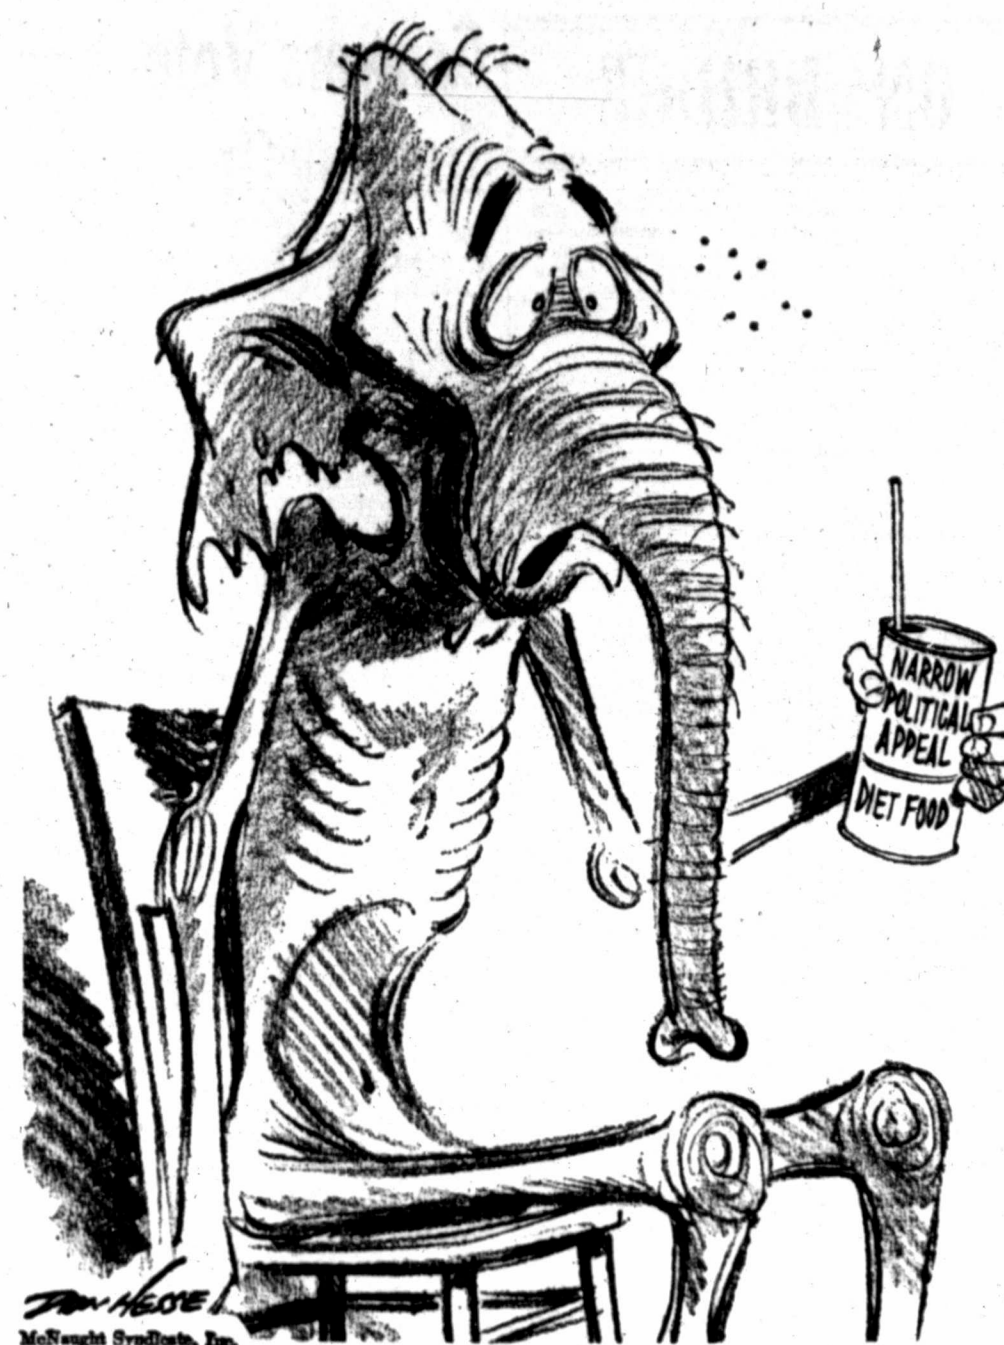

The main purpose of college is to help develop character and get an academic education. These formative years should not be over-balanced with social activities, though they are important. Because too many American students have thought of college as a lark, we have fallen behind Europeans in some phases of education. The world of tomorrow calls for serious, forthright leadership. I believe that Christians should make themselves felt in every legitimate, worthwhile position in life, and I would not rule out a fraternity house as one of them — all other things being equal.

If you belong to a fraternity or sorority, then live as a Christian should.

Johnson Likes McNamara's Thrift

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a favorite word, "frugality." Since Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara takes it seriously, as he showed again over the weekend, they get along.

McNamara's brand of frugality, like plans for closing military and naval bases and merging the Army Reserve with the National Guard, won't win him a popularity contest with the people and places affected.

This is true with some members of Congress, where there are some of the tallest cries for economy, either because they are in the reserves or their states lose income when bases are closed.

But McNamara's thrift, which he was practicing before Johnson moved into the White House, endears him to the President. It's a case of just what the doctor ordered.

Johnson was in office less than three weeks when he said the Defense Department must make "the largest effort" toward economy and "achieve the biggest savings."

HE PATTED McNamara ahead of time by saying: "This country has never had 'an abler or more dedicated secretary of defense, and I have known them all.'"

All this paid off. Early this year Johnson, facing an election and therefore doubly concerned about spending, was able to produce a budget under $100 billion. It was $97.9 billion.

The Defense Department's share of this was $31.2 billion, a cut of $1.1 billion from last year.

Last April, McNamara, writing about his job, said that when he took office he could have adopted either of two broad philosophies of management.

He could be passive, meaning he could make the decisions on recommendations made to him; or he could be aggressive by "questioning, suggesting alternatives, proposing objectives, and stimulating progress."

He said "this active role represents my own philosophy of management."

HE HUSTLED around, visiting bases that he thought could be eliminated, reducing the Defense Department payroll.

And last October, after the Kremlin leaders threw out Premier Khrushchev and the Red Chinese had their first nuclear explosion, McNamara said neither will mean any significant increase in next year's budget.

Speaking of American nuclear power, he said: "These forces are adequate to survive a surprise attack upon this country and survive with sufficient power to strike back in such a way as to assure the simultaneous destruction of the Communist Chinese and the Soviet societies."

"If there should be any indication of significant increases in Soviet forces or Soviet military budgets, for example, we shall be able to take the necessary steps to counter these increases before they become effective."

Gastritis Is Inflammation Of Stomach Lining

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is gastritis? What causes it and what effect does it have on the system? Is it curable? — A.B.

Gastritis is a rather loose word describing inflammation of the upper digestive tract. Strictly speaking, it means inflammation of the stomach lining. However, sometimes it is applied to most any old discomfort in the mid-section — gall bladder disease, constipation, gas and others.

An ulcer, not yet diagnosed but causing pain, burps, or nausea, might be called gastritis, and with fairly good reason, since the surrounding tissues will be inflamed.

Causes of gastritis? Tainted food, for one. Or sometimes poisons which may not be deadly but will inflame the stomach. Or some infection, including the ones we call intestinal flu.

Excessive use of alcohol is a notorious cause of gastritis. Too much highly-spiced foods can cause it, too.

With a temporary cause, the stomach calms down and heals itself when given half a chance. The treatment, in general, is much like that for an ulcer:

Bland food, no seasonings or many times a vitamin supplement and sometimes a medication to neutralize stomach acid. Probably the hardest cases to treat are those which have developed gradually over a period of many years of overeating, overdrinking, or excessive use of spicy condiments.

A healthy stomach may take the abuse for years or even decades before it begins to rebel. Then the patient is inclined to refuse to follow the treatment, outlined above, with such arguments as, "I've been drinking whisky for 30 years and I never had any trouble—that can't be the reason." So he takes his pills and vitamins and does everything EXCEPT stop doing what really caused his gastritis.

The sudden and acute cases of gastritis, from tainted food or toxic materials, are usually quickly cleared up. Those that took years to develop require some time to correct.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is a painter who works in a tuberculosis sanitarium. He is afraid he will catch TB there and give it to our baby. Is there any danger?—E.L.C.

First, close and relatively prolonged contact is necessary to transmit the disease in most cases. Second, in the sanitariums with which I am familiar, and this includes a number of them, employees actually are safer than the average citizen, because it is the practice to see that everyone has regular chest X-rays and patients have been instructed to muffle their coughs.

I've known skilled craftsmen (including painters) who have worked in such sanitariums for 20 and 30 years in perfect safety so far as TB goes.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Lots Of Figures, And They're Growing

One thing and another: Are you a figure filbert? Then have a few:

Americans last year drank a total of two billion gallons of beer, smoked 550 million cigarettes, chewed six billion sticks of gum, ate two billion pounds of candy, took 16 billion aspirin tablets, ate three billion quarts of ice cream and mailed over three billion Christmas cards.

And those figures will probably be outdone by our people this year, since there are more of us than there were last year and there will be more tomorrow than there are today.

RAREST OF the animals in the world today is supposed to be the Bali tiger, which used to be fairly common on one of the Sunda islands east of Java.

Only three or four of the cats may now be alive in the extreme west end of Bali. In other words, they haven't built a highway with roadside parks that way yet.

AN ORGANIZATION known in London as the Fauna Preservation Society, which has conducted a census of the rare quadrupeds and bipeds for the Survival Service Commission for the Conservation of Nature, is gravely concerned about such hard-to-find species as the orangutan of Borneo and Sumatra, too, along with the Thylacine, a wildlife pouched animal found only in isolated areas of Tasmania, two Asian species of the rhinoceros family (the Javan and Sumatran), the Caribbean monk seal, various deer and antelope and three species of the Madagascar Lemurs, including one called the Aye-Aye.

The Bali tiger rapidly becoming extinct is smaller and more brightly colored than the common variety, so if you run across one on your way to the smokehouse, call London.

WHO WAS IT that said, "Recreation is wearing yourself out on your own time?"

A MOST misused word is "gravy." The word can often be found on the outside of tin cans when in many cases what the huckster really means is water. When the contents are advertised as "rich gravy," be prepared to view a little water that has been tinted with a substance that can blend with the meat. —TOMMY HART

We Don't Have The Oriental Patience

WASHINGTON — The Viet Nam casualties for 1961 were 9000 in round numbers, in 1962 they were 13,000, in 1963 they were 19,000 and, for the incomplete figure, there are 11,000 for 1964. These figures do not describe a people who are unwilling to fight their battles, but most of the troops are like our own frontiersmen in that they divide their time between the family hearthstone and the fields of battle. They have been at war for 20 years, and have no reason to believe that a limited number of decisive battles can end the contest and grant them peace and freedom.

IT NOW appears that Ambassador Taylor has returned to Viet Nam to continue the fight on Asian terms of patience and part time effort rather than the American terms which historically have always called for forcing the battles, destroying the enemy's will to fight, dusting off our hands and bringing the boys home.

There are a good many men walking around Washington who have had experience in Viet Nam and who believe that General Taylor ought to have received a much different set of instructions than he did on his recent visits to the State Department and White House. Here are how the criticisms and the constructive suggestions go:

1. AMERICAN policy should purge itself of the polite fiction that South Viet Nam is a "sovereign state." The whole of Indochina is still a political vacuum produced by the withdrawal of European colonialism. The fragment called Viet Nam is close to being an airy nothing when politically and economically considered.

2. American policy has not leaned upon the Saigon government to take advantage of two factors that might help us in Viet Nam. One is the presence of a Filipino group, which is the best set of credentials that the USA could have of its honorable intentions. The idea of increasing the role of the Philippine Republic in Viet Nam is wandering almost unnoticed around Washington. There are men here who would advise President Johnson to bring it front and center.

ANOTHER unexploited idea is to induce some Viet Nam Labor leaders into the Saigon government, thereby broadening its popular base and cutting the concentration that has been heavy on military and bureaucratic representation. The stronger injection of trade unionism into the central government could logically be an American purpose.

WE HAVE two well-known crises running tandem in Viet Nam — one being political and the other being military. But before long, and lacking some signs of progress and success, we may find another crisis building up at home. Asians are patient, but Americans are not. Part of the official policy had better be to show the American public some results of this investment in men and money.

The Jobless Problem And Ike

WASHINGTON — Poor Ike. Poor, poor Ike! He is full of years, honors and the uncritical esteem of the people. If only he would let it remain so. But he won't. He speaks, and every time he speaks he helps explain why nothing happened during his term in the White House.

IN A SPEECH to the Life Insurance Association of America, former President Eisenhower flailed out angrily against a world that is troubling his golden years as it never troubled him in his prime. He charged his audience that we must "set our faces firmly against Federal programs that erode away citizen, local and state self-reliance."

"Why," he demanded, "should the Federal government assert and assume a priority interest in the problems of the youth and aged, the ill and the poor, and the temporarily unemployed?"

WHY, INDEED, should the Federal government concern itself with the "temporarily" jobless? With a generation of rootless, aimless, half-educated young people who are grossly under-equipped for the technologically sophisticated world of automation? With predatory special interests bent on completing the rape of the continent's dwindling land and water resources?

Attempts by the Federal government to dissolve the hard core of unemployed have never been marked with any conspicuous success. It is granted. It is further granted that some embraced in unemployment statistics are so shiftless they would risk starvation rather than toil, and others are unemployable. But that still leaves many Americans who cannot find jobs.

EISENHOWER's nonintervention in the problem is scarcely the solution. When he took office the jobless level was 3.3 per cent—due, of course, to the Korean War. But by midpoint of the Eisenhower epoch, the jobless figure was 4.2 per cent. And when the general bade a grateful nation farewell in 1960, it was 5.6. The latest figure (for November) was 5 per cent.

Let 'em eat laissez faire is a comforting philosophy to the affluent majority, but it is something less for the jobless miner in Harlan, Ky., or the automation-displaced industrial worker in Akron.

STATISTICS are a bore, even to those whose attention span exceeds Eisenhower's, but the truth is that even in periods of high productivity automation is calculated to destroy jobs. It has been proven—notably in West Germany—that full employment can be more than an empty election year promise. Why not in the U.S.? Eisenhower is an equally poor witness on the problems of youth. We'll grant that his own experience shows it is possible to emerge from a government trade school without having learned a great deal, but with the problems of youth (as with those of old age) Washington is assuming a burden only after it has been grossly defaulted at the family, city and state levels.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Too much competition in water conservation efforts is a luxury that Texas can no longer afford. This was the warning which chairman Joe Carter of Texas Water Commission recently gave directors of West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He congratulated river basin authorities, water districts and cities upon the good job they are doing in providing for their own requirements. But he added, "competition for water supplies on an every-man-for-himself basis is harmful."

Addressing the same group of West Texans, commission member O. F. Dent estimated that Texans are consuming about 15 million acre-feet of water yearly. But total rainfall runoff in Texas is approximately 40 million acre-feet (or about 13,000,000,000 gallons).

By 1980, Texas population is expected to be about 14.5 millions, and industrial and agricultural consumption of water also will be greater.

Pointing out that some of the codes that govern basic water policies in Texas are 50 years old, the water conservation authority questioned whether this state can meet tomorrow's needs with yesterday's rules.

Obviously, as The News has frequently said, they cannot. And it should be equally obvious to cities and others that they will lose, in the long run, if they selfishly "hog" water for their own immediate and short-time future needs.

The chance of doing anything about revising water codes at the next session of the Texas Legislature is small, indeed. But the time has come for a little head-knocking among cities and water districts to force them to plan together and work together. Users of irrigation water should be required to fit their own activities into this broader water program, too.

Despite the many planning programs for water that Texas has had, and perhaps because of some of them, there still is need for an over-all program that gives equal consideration to every area, from Brownsville to Dalhart, from El Paso to Texarkana. —DALLAS NEWS

DeBakey, 56, professor of surgery at Baylor University's College of Medicine, works 20 hours a day and sleeps 4.

NOTE URGENCY

"When you first meet him you get this feeling of urgency," an associate said in describing DeBakey, who very much resembles comedian Groucho Marx without the mustache.

"He is a man in a hurry. If he sits down, it is for a specific purpose, not to rest."

Aides say it is not usual for DeBakey to perform six to eight major operations a day.

He reports to Methodist Hospital at 7 a.m. daily, but he is out of bed long before that, working on scientific papers and business correspondence. He introduced the use of synthetic tubes to replace blood vessels injured by aneurysms.

His operating team, which also helped develop a heart-lung machine which permits open heart surgery, includes Dr. Denton Cooley, an originator of open heart surgery; Dr. George C. Morris Jr., whose specialty is surgery on the vessels in the abdomen; and Dr. Arthur Beall, Baylor's director of experimental surgery.

CASES RECOVER

In the past six years the team has performed 5,000 major cardiovascular procedures. It has a 95 per cent recovery record.

DeBakey, a slightly built man who eats lightly and does not smoke, has developed more than 70 surgical instruments.

OIL REPORT

Two Counties Get Explorers

A wildcat location has been staked in each of Borden and Sterling Counties, while Dawson and Mitchell County tests were abandoned.

The Borden County wildcat is an old well worked over. It was drilled to 9,140 feet by Camp Oil Co. in 1959. Pan American Oil Co. will clean out the hole to 8,350 feet to test the Dean sand, three miles southeast of Ackery. The No. 1 W. J. Beckham is spotted 1,980 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of section 17-32-3n, T&P survey.

R. P. Fisher Jr., Abilene, will test the Ellenburger at a contract depth of 8,800 feet, three miles north of Sterling City, in Sterling County. He has spotted the No. 1-263 F. E. Davis 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 26-3-2, H&T survey.

Plugged and abandoned were the Dawson & Shelton No. 1 W. T. Pomeroy in Dawson County, and Robinson Drilling Co. No. 1 Virginia Lotspeich in Mitchell County. The Dawson County wildcat was contracted to go to 5,000 feet to test the San Andres, but was drilled only to 4,830 feet. Location was 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 51-35-6n, Georgetown RR survey, seven miles north of Lamesa.

The Mitchell County wildcat was probing for the Wolfcamp at a contracted depth of 4,200 feet, six miles southwest of Westbrook. Operator drilled to 3,716 feet. It was spotted 2,173 feet from the south and west lines of section 14-29-1s, T&P survey.

DAWSON
Cinca Production Co. No. 1 H. A. Serpas, was drilling ahead in time and shale at 11,220 feet. The Montana explorer is contracted to 12,000 feet and is spotted 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 12-34-1s, EL&RR survey.

Kingree, Pendleton & Ruler No. 1 Canon-Whitely, 15 miles east of Lamesa, was making hole of 2,500 feet in shale and time. It was spotted 467 feet from the east and 660 feet from the north lines of section 22-35-5n, T&P survey.

Standard Oil of Texas No. 1 T. C. Watson, a wildcat to test the Montana in the Texas-Hamilton field, was drilling at 8,320 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 4-30-4n, T&P survey, eight miles southeast of Lamesa.

STERLING
Boden Oil Co. No. 2 B. Reed, 2,800 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 10-30, W&NW survey, 14 miles northwest of Sterling City, was drilling ahead at 2,475 feet. Location is 660 feet from the south and 660 feet from the north and 2,000 feet from the east lines of section 4-30-4n, T&P survey.

DAWSON
Summit International Petroleum Corp. No. 144 Sellers, 17 miles south of Coahoma, was drilling at 5,836 feet. Operator does not give formations. It spotted 667 feet from the north and 2,000 feet from the east lines of section 4-30-4n, T&P survey.

STERLING
No. 243 Sellers 18 miles northwest of Sterling City, was drilling at 3,960 feet. Location is 660 feet from the south and 2,067 feet from the west lines of section 6-17, SPRR survey.

Rites Set For Mrs. E. V. Smith
BURIAL RITES for Mrs. E. V. Smith, 78, who died unexpectedly Saturday night, were set for 3 p.m. today in the Evergreen Cemetery in Paris, Texas. She died in Root Memorial Hospital, Colorado City. Local services were held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Kiker and Son Funeral Home chapel.

She married Edward A. Smith in 1907 in Sulphur Bluff; he died in 1962.

Survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Stephens, Dallas, Miss Mary Harris, and Mrs. Velda Barnett, Oklahoma City.

Minor Crashes
Two minor traffic mishaps were reported to police Sunday. Locations and drivers involved were West Fourth and Ayford Streets, Rodney Buchanan, 1605 Harding, and John Clay, Knott; and 1007 E. 15th, James H. Wak, 1206 Blackmon, and a parked car, owned by Judson Lloyd, 1007 E. 15th.

Grandstaff Visits
COAHOMA (SC) — Coahoma Lions Club met Thursday in the Village Restaurant with 17 members present and two guests, Dan Burrow and Delton Costlow. Ebb Grandstaff, district governor from Ballinger, was speaker.

Big Mailing Is Foreseen

Promise of a bigger Christmas mail than in 1963 is being held out as December advances, E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said today.

All types of mail handled for the first 12 days of the Christmas month hit 815,702 which was 79,171 ahead of the figure for the same date in 1963. The total on that date was 736,531.

Mountains of Christmas packages are piling up in the post office and the workers are up to their chins receiving and dispatching gift parcels.

The supply of special Christmas postage stamps sent to the local office has been depleted and Boatler has ordered an additional emergency shipment of 10,000.

"If these can be sent to us from Dallas," said the postmaster, "we will have a supply for the patrons who want them. If they have to come from Washington, it may be they will arrive too late for use."

It is too late, Boatler pointed out, to mail early, but he did recommend that any packages or Christmas mail which has to be dispatched should be on their way as quickly as possible.

Inspection Set

Howard County Commissioners will probably inspect the new county shops building Monday, and if it is found satisfactory, will accept it from the contractor. The workmen have finished the building and it would have been inspected Thursday, if all of the board had been in attendance at the meeting. R. C. Nichols was absent and Rufus Stallings had to leave soon after the session opened.

Award Winners

Two area soil conservation leaders were among 104 conservationists from throughout the United States and Puerto Rico who last week had a behind-the-scenes look at Good-year Farms, 13,500-acre desert ranch near Phoenix, Ariz. They were among champions in the Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards Program. Looking over a huge subsoiler used to break up desert soil to a depth of 30 inches are: J. M. Sterling, Vindost, and R. A. Carey, Colorado City.

Behind The Scenes On Viet Nam Front

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two young Vietnamese sat in a coffee shop on Saigon's Le Loi Boulevard this week comparing notes on how they had evaded the horrors of war. Both are 21 years old. Both come from good families. Both wore the tight-fitting tapered slacks that are the rage here now, and both sported ducktail haircuts.

"They almost got me," one laughed. "I got as far as the Quang Trung induction center, but I never made it through the physical. A friend had told me how you can rub metal powder into your chest and it shows up in the X-rays. It looks just like tuberculosis."

"I wasn't so lucky," the youth's companion said. "I was sworn in and all, but last month they were grabbing so many people there just wasn't room for all of us at Quang Trung. After a couple days of starvation they sent me home and told me to wait. I'll wait all right — about 50 years. I figure I can hide out in Dalat or some place."

LOOKS OUT
At an office in a big military compound in another part of town a 38-year-old captain stared listlessly out of his window at the sun-scorched street below.

"Ah, how much I would give to get out of this," he said. "I suppose I'm lucky I don't have to fight, and in the last year I have been promoted twice, but I'm sick of it all the same. For the enlisted men it's only three years, if they're lucky. But for the officers it's forever. Once they get you as an officer you never get out until the end of the war or until you're too old to work. As for the war, my children will be fighting it and their children too."

The sun also was beating down on a grimy yellow stucco building about 30 miles south of Saigon. The concrete supports under the building left a space of about three feet between the floor beams and the ground and about 40 troops were camped in this space. It affords protection from the sun and rain if not from the rats. The building had been taken over as a headquarters for one of the units involved in pacifying the Mekong River delta. It was sista time and hammocks were strung under the building, in the building and from trees all around.

ASLEEP ON COT
In a cubicle in the building, a young Vietnamese artillery officer was dozing on a cot, a cloud of mosquitoes droning over his head. A U.S. adviser strode in, his face hard with irritation.

"I realize you need your beauty sleep, lieutenant," the American said, "but we have some fire missions coming up this afternoon and those guns need to be moved. Let's go, huh?"

The Vietnamese stirred. "Oh, I'm sorry but I go My Tho this afternoon. Capt. Thanh said OK I go."

"I know many pretty girls in My Tho but we gotta war to fight. Can't you go tomorrow?" the American asked.

The lieutenant smiled and shrugged and the American knew he would have to find someone else to take care of the guns.

War in South Viet Nam is like that. War is also a mob of soldiers with fire in their eyes storming a line of Viet Cong bunkers, fighting and dying with courage that would be a credit to any army.

But it is a long war and the times for courage are rare. The main thing is just to last it out, somehow, without getting killed.

Rep. Pickle Speaks To Y Delegates

Over 600 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y youths from 37 Texas cities, heard Congressman J. J. Pickle tell them to "walk on the sunny side of the government street," in Austin Friday morning. It was the opening joint session of the Hi-Y Senate and House, following elections Thursday night. Fourteen young men and women from the Big Spring YMCA clubs were at the meeting.

Two bills introduced in the house and senate by the Big Spring group survived among the 14 which passed out of 70 introduced. The Friday session saw 50 bills killed in committee while the remaining 20 went before the legislature. Thirteen were introduced in the house and seven in the senate. Of the 20 getting legislative approval, three were vetoed by the governor.

The judiciary met in the State Bar Building Friday with Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and met Saturday in the Supreme Court Building for its program.

Associate Justice Meade Griffin of the Texas Supreme Court, administered the oaths of office to officers elected.

Congressman Jake Pickle, formerly of Big Spring, was introduced to the members of the joint session by Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

The congressman outlined the major problems youth of today would face as leaders of tomorrow. He listed some observations that comprised a framework for the students to follow. "I think the first problem you will have to face is job opportunity. In Texas alone, you must find one million new jobs in the next 10 years," he said.

Latins Prosper In Big Leagues

CINCINNATI (AP) — Latin America has good reason to be proud of its top ball players today.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, a Puerto Rican, and Cuban Tony Oliva won major-league batting titles last season. Clemente was officially crowned Saturday when the final National League averages were released.

They showed that Clemente led with a .339 mark in capturing the title for the second time. The 30-year-old outfielder also finished first with .351 in 1961.

Rookie Rico Carty of Milwaukee was second in the 1964 batting competition with .330. He was followed by teammates Hank Aaron, .328 and Joe Torre, .321.

Willie Mays of San Francisco was the home-run king with 47. Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals, the circuit's most valuable player, led in runs batted in with 119.

Richie Allen, Philadelphia's rookie third baseman, was No. 1 in runs scored, 125.

Olivia, Minnesota's rookie outfielder, was named the American League's batting champion last week. He hit .323.

Baylor And West Stars In Win
Elgin Baylor returned to the Los Angeles Lakers line-up Sunday night and for awhile it looked like he was all Coach Fred Schaus' club would need to defeat the Detroit Pistons. As it turned out, Jerry West was the man who made the difference.

West's two free throws, in the final 30 seconds gave the Lakers a 116-115 victory over the Pistons and extended Los Angeles' Western Division lead to 1 1/2 games over idle St. Louis.

In the only other NBA game scheduled Sunday, Philadelphia snapped a two-game New York Knickerbocker winning streak with a 121-115 victory on a neutral court in Syracuse.

Baylor, who had missed three games with a leg injury, scored 35 points and had 26 rebounds pacing the Laker victory.

Brownwood Wins Third In Meet
SNYDER — Brownwood beat Andrews, 65-53, in the battle for third place in the Canyon Reef Basketball tournament here Saturday night.

Consolation honors were captured by Phillips, which turned back Kermit, 67-56.

Breckenridge knocked off Brownfield, 56-33, in the battle for seventh place. Snyder earned the championship by beating Big Spring in a double overtime, 50-41.

"Also remember that our state has nearly 40 per cent of high school enrollees who never finish."

In other problems, he said youth would face, he listed: "The world-position of the United States and the responsibilities of world leadership; and finally, you must decide what kind of government you want."

"Never lose sight of individual initiative, for that is what made this government what it is. And you must not criticize the government, because it is so easy. Instead, try to build. You must realize that the government is you."

Sessions ended Sunday with a final joint meeting of the senate and house.

The students elected Greg Hooser, 18-year-old McCallum High School senior, as governor for the 17th annual Youth Legislature.

Presidential Electors Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential electors meet across the land today to make official the elections of Lyndon B. Johnson as president and Hubert H. Humphrey as vice president.

If the 538 electors do the expected, and follow the instructions given them Nov. 3 by some 70 million voters, Johnson and Humphrey will each defeat their Republican opponents, Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, by margins of 486 to 52.

The reason: there are 486 Democratic electors and 52 Republican ones.

The Democratic electors come from the 44 states and the District of Columbia, in which the Johnson-Humphrey ticket polled the most votes on Nov. 3. The Republican electors come from the six states in which the Goldwater-Miller slate was victorious.

The electors meet and vote in the 50 state capitals and in the District of Columbia. The votes will be mailed to Washington where on Jan. 6 a joint session of Congress will count them and proclaim the winners.

Funeral Held
Funeral for Mark Allen Lemaster, infant son of S. Sgt. and Mrs. C. N. Lemaster, Webb AFB, was held in Oberlin, Ohio, Thursday. The child was born in the base hospital at 4:18 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7.

Shooting At Fort Worth Tavern Fatal

FORT WORTH (AP)—A San Antonio airman was killed and a Fort Worth man critically wounded early today in a shoot-out at a tavern. More than a half dozen shots were fired.

Madaleno Ibarra, 26, stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, was hit by three bullets and died later in a hospital. Richard Ayala, 23, of Fort Worth also suffered three wounds and was hospitalized.

Police said the gunfire erupted outside the tavern while a woman watched. Three slugs, which apparently penetrated a window, were recovered inside the building. No one in the tavern was injured.

Puzzle of Saturday, December 12, Solved

Texan, 3 In Bribe Case

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—Nelson Jacobs of Clifton, Tex., was one of four men charged here Saturday with offering bribes in connection with water hauling and seeding work on Interstate 40.

The four men were charged specifically with "corruption in office by offering or paying employees of the Arkansas highway department anything with the intent of influencing them in the performance of their duties," deputy prosecutor Fletcher Long said.

Charged with Jacobs were Coy Hinds of Kingston, Okla., Clyde Smith of Claremore, Okla., and Clay Wilson of Chickasaw, Okla.

Jacobs is an independent contractor for hauling and placing water. The other three were seed and nursery contractors. State Police Capt. Larry Quinn said an employee notified the highway department he was asked by a contractor to give the contractor credit for water not actually hauled.

Long said conviction could result in prison terms of from one to five years.

Church Leader, Educator Dead

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Flint, 86, former Methodist bishop of Washington, D.C., and Syracuse, N.Y., and former chancellor of Syracuse University, died Saturday.

Autopsy On 44-Year-Old Zoo Elephant

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—An autopsy was scheduled today on Queen Tut, a 44-year-old elephant which died of an apparent heart attack at the Forrest Park zoo Sunday.

The elephant, a main attraction at the zoo, was credited with saving the life of former zoo superintendent Jim Brown in 1940.

Brown was being savagely trampled by another elephant, Penny, when Queen Tut intervened and stood protectively over the critically injured man until he could be rescued. Penny was destroyed.

Shootings Claim 10

By The Associated Press
Gunfire killed 10 persons in Texas over the weekend.

And for one of the rare times, traffic fatalities failed to dominate the list of deaths compiled by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

In all, 22 persons died violently across the state. Highway accidents killed 9.

The shootings occurred in suicides, during police investigations, at taverns or in troubled homes.

The deaths included:

Luther Hernandez, 22, was charged with murder Sunday after Fidel Garza Robledo, also 22, was fatally wounded 8 miles west of Seminole in West Texas. Officers said Robledo was killed by four rifle shots fired from a passing auto.

Joe Bennett Darling, 19, a University of Texas student, was found shot to death in his parents' home at Smithville Sunday. A justice of the peace ruled the death accidental.

A Carthage policeman, J. M. Woods, was killed early Saturday in a scuffle with two men he had stopped when he recognized their car as fitting the description of a robbery get-away car. Another policeman was injured. Charged with murder were Thomas Shaw, 39, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Otis Webb, 39, of New Orleans; and Edna Liotta, 18, of New Orleans.

RIFLE SHOT
Mrs. Margaret Reid, 37, died Saturday in San Antonio of a rifle shot in the chest. A verdict on the death was withheld pending an autopsy.

Ira Lee Thompson, 43, was electrocuted Saturday as he installed a neon sign in Houston.

Wilmer Allen James, 34, was shot to death at his Fort Worth home late Saturday night. Police questioned a woman.

Mrs. Nelda Berry, 39, of Houston was struck and killed as she crossed a street near her home Saturday night.

Ronald Charles Murphy, 20, of Pasadena, Tex., was killed Sunday in a two-car crash 20 miles south of Brownwood. He was a ministerial student at Howard Payne College.

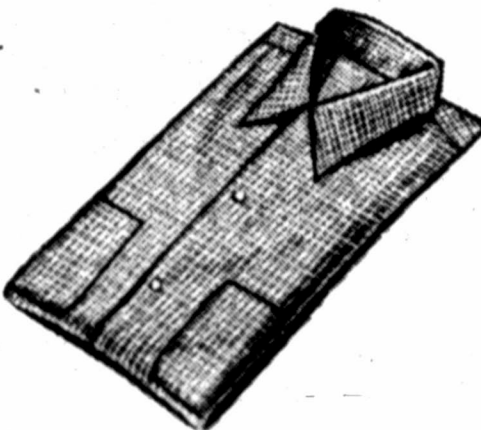

BULLET WOUND
Virgil C. Gee Jr., 28, died Sunday of a gunshot wound at Dallas. Police chasing a suspect in a drug store robbery said Gee shot himself after they ordered him to surrender.

Benjamin S. Warren, 39, was found shot to death at Houston Sunday. Investigators said he was holding a .38 caliber pistol. Police rushed to the home after receiving a telephone call that a man was firing at his family. Warren's wife and stepson were wounded.

Robert Lee Moore, 19, and Herman Ray Corley Jr., 15, died Sunday when their car missed a bridge and smashed into a bayou at Houston.

Hoffa Opens Appeal Try

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Claiming the government committed numerous errors, lawyers for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa begin an appeal today of his jury-tampering conviction.

The defense and the government each were allowed two hours for oral arguments in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Hoffa's appeal is being considered along with those of three other men convicted with him last March 5 in a federal trial at Chattanooga, Tenn. All are free under bond.

The codefendants are Ewing King, former head of the Nashville, Tenn., Teamsters Local 327; Larry Campbell, Teamsters business agent for Detroit Local 299; and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville, Campbell's uncle.

Defense lawyers asked for reversals of the convictions because they said 16 broad categories of prejudicial errors were made by the Chattanooga trial judge and also on federal grand jury proceedings before the trial.

It was expected that the three-judge appeals panel would take weeks to study the arguments before deciding to uphold the convictions or set them aside.

The conviction was the first for Hoffa, 51, who heads the nation's largest labor union with 1.7 million members.

The Chattanooga jury convicted Hoffa of trying to rig a federal court jury during his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville, Tenn., which ended with a hung jury. He was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson. King, Campbell and Parks were sentenced to three-year terms.

FRAUD CONVICTION

Hoffa was convicted six months later in Chicago of fraud in obtaining loans from the Teamsters' pension fund. An appeal on that conviction is pending.

The Chattanooga jury found Hoffa, Campbell and Parks guilty of trying to offer $10,000 to the son of a juror in the Nashville trial. It also found that Hoffa and King tried to influence another juror by offering to help her husband get a promotion on the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

Rusk, French Leaders Open Crucial Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk scheduled a busy round of conferences with France's top officials today in advance of the North Atlantic Alliance's annual ministerial conference.

The American secretary was to confer with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Premier Georges Pompidou and President Charles de Gaulle.

Later in the afternoon Rusk was to review U.S.-West German relations with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder.

Tonight he and Schroeder were to join Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker for dinner and discussion of the situation in Germany and Berlin.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization's annual year-end conference of ministers opens Tuesday.

Rusk on his arrival Sunday again tried to counter De Gaulle's contention that the United States will not risk a nuclear war to protect Western Europe from Communist aggression.

Viet Nam Flood Deaths At 500

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. officials in central Viet Nam reported today that 500 persons drowned and 2,000 were left homeless as the result of a new flood in two provinces over the weekend.

Stock Market Some Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was a little higher in active trading at the opening today. Changes of most key stocks were small.

Opening blocks included: Westinghouse Electric, up 3/4 at 46 on 7,000 shares; and General Motors, off 1/4 at 93 3/4 on 5,300.

Trio Exonerated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today the new Civil Rights Act requires dismissal of charges made against sit-in demonstrators before the act was passed.

The decision announced by Justice Tom C. Clark, freed three Negro demonstrators specifically involved in appeals. The court was told, during argument of the appeals by the three, that about 3,000 criminal prosecutions for sit-in demonstrations were still pending in Southern states.

Conversion Of Key Guard Divisions In New Concept

WASHINGTON (AP) — The six high priority and two special purpose divisions of the National Guard would be reorganized under current planning concepts involving Guard units and the Army Reserves.

Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes, disclosing this Sunday night, said the concept calls for each of the eight divisions to be converted into a division base and one brigade. The Pentagon did not elaborate on what is meant by a division base.

The other 21 divisions, both

National Guard and Reserve, would each be converted into a high priority brigade under the concept.

Ailes emphasized that firm plans for the changes have not been drawn. He said the concept is to be considered by the Army in conjunction with Guard and Reserve authorities.

The six present high priority Guard divisions are: 26th Infantry of Massachusetts, 28th Infantry of Pennsylvania, 30th Infantry of New York, 50th Armored of New Jersey, and 30th Armored of Tennessee.

The two current special purpose Guard divisions are the 38th Infantry of Indiana and the 47th Infantry of Minnesota.

Dirksen Wary On GOP Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said today he is concerned with "the problem of diffusion" that might beset a proposed Republican party policy council.

Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, said in a telephone interview that he had been giving serious consideration to a proposal unanimously approved by 18 Republican governors and governors-elect at a Denver, Colo., meeting for establishment of a policy group on which all shades of party opinion would be represented.

Dear Abby

Worth The
'Production'

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago a friend asked me to escort his cousin, who is in a wheelchair, to a party. She turned out to be a charming girl and we had a most enjoyable time. Since then I've dated her several times. (Mostly drive-ins because getting her in and out of a car is, in her own words, "quite a production.") I am a college senior and a big dance is coming up. She loves music and is an excellent conversationalist and I'm sure once we got into the place and settled down she would have a fine time. She has a collapsible wheelchair and uses a "transfer board," but I am sure I could get someone to help me carry her. She doesn't seem sensitive about her disability, but my question is, do you think it is proper to ask a girl in a wheelchair to a dance? "G" IN JERSEY

DEAR G.: Get on the subject of dances, and ask her how she would feel about attending one. In escorting a handicapped person, the stairs present the greatest problem. Investigate beforehand and if the place can be entered without too big a "production," explain what is involved and let her make up her own mind.

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a woman who telephoned a minister and asked him for a prayer she could say for her mother, who had just died. He replied, "I am too busy to help you . . . and besides, what good will prayer do her now?"

The minister was wrong in his first remark. But he was right in his second.

When a person is dead, it is too late to pray for him. If he died and went to heaven, he doesn't need our prayers. If he died and went to hell, our prayers will not reach him.

Sincerely yours,
A PENNSYLVANIA MINISTER

DEAR ABBY: My husband comes from a large family and so do I. Between us we have 22 nieces and nephews. In the past we have always bought them Christmas gifts, but now that they aren't "children" any more (some are now married) a little toy or trinket to put under the tree is no longer adequate. We can't afford expensive gifts, so I told all the nieces and nephews on MY side that I wasn't giving gifts this year and not to give us anything. They all understood and agreed. I think my husband should call everyone on HIS side and tell them. He says it's MY job! What do you think? I'm not as close to his relatives as I am to my own. WOE IS ME

DEAR WOE: Your husband probably isn't any closer to HIS nieces and nephews than you are, so be a good sport and shoulder the load.

DEAR ABBY: I don't blame the husband for getting sore because his wife asked the television repairman to zip up her dress. The way those guys charge, he will probably find at least a $2.50 extra "service charge" on the bill. "MURPH"

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Pete Cook of Big Spring had an interesting weekend. He popped up in Burger to officiate a District 3-AAAA basketball game Friday night and then scooted to Houston to help Burns McKinney and Alton Bosstick work the football playoff game involving Vidor and San Marcos.

The way they play basketball in the Southwest Conference, they probably could dignify the game more by taking burros into the gymnasiums with them.

No matter who wins the SWC championship, they always fare poorly in the playoff toward the NCAA championship. If the SWC king survives one round of the playoffs, they build their season and their basketball brochures the following year around it.

Blame it on the emphasis placed on football. They'll never compel much respect in the titular rounds until they integrate their teams and make use of some of the fine Negro talent available in all parts of the country.

Quarterback Joe Namath of Alabama University, who'll be trying to outguess the defenses of the University of Texas New Year's night in the Orange Bowl at Miami, originally signed to attend Notre Dame but was talked out of it by coach Tom Nugent of the University of Maryland.

Namath defected however, after hearing Bear Bryant's sales pitch and went to Alabama.

The Tall City Golf Open in Midland (for women pros) showed a small profit this year and definitely has been booked again for 1965.

Don Robbins, the Big Spring football mentor, used to play opposite Texas A&M's new head mentor, Gene Stallings, in practice drills at College Station.

Neutral observers said Robbins usually got the better of the scrapping.

A Texas A&M ex, Charley Krueger, recently was named winner of the "Most Inspirational Ball Player" award on the San Francisco 49er club.

The following day against Los Angeles, Krueger went out and lived up to the honor by leading a pass rush that threw Ram passer Bill Munson ten times for 62 yards lost attempting to pass in a 28-7 49er victory.

Conway Craig, a member of that 1959 Big Spring High School football team and now publisher of the San Antonio Express, has written to some of his former teammates suggesting that they have a reunion sometime here next spring.

If such a thing can be arranged, E. H. Potet, coach of the club that year, will be urged to be on hand, too. Postmaster Elmer Boatler, who played halfback on the club, says Potet was a strict disciplinarian who (1) invoked a curfew, (2) started a rule against swearing and drinking carbonated drinks and (3) told his boys a group of business men was agreeable to the idea of helping him maintain his rules.

Boatler also recalled the lone defeat Big Spring suffered that season, a 20-0 drubbing at the hands of a Sweetwater club that earlier had lost to Big Spring by a 26-6 tab.

According to Boatler, Sweetwater installed a tricky lateral the locals weren't able to defense. Potet incorporated enough trick plays into his offense that season he could have played an entire game without using an orthodox maneuver.

Potet was here two seasons. He later became president of Texas A&I College at Kingsville.

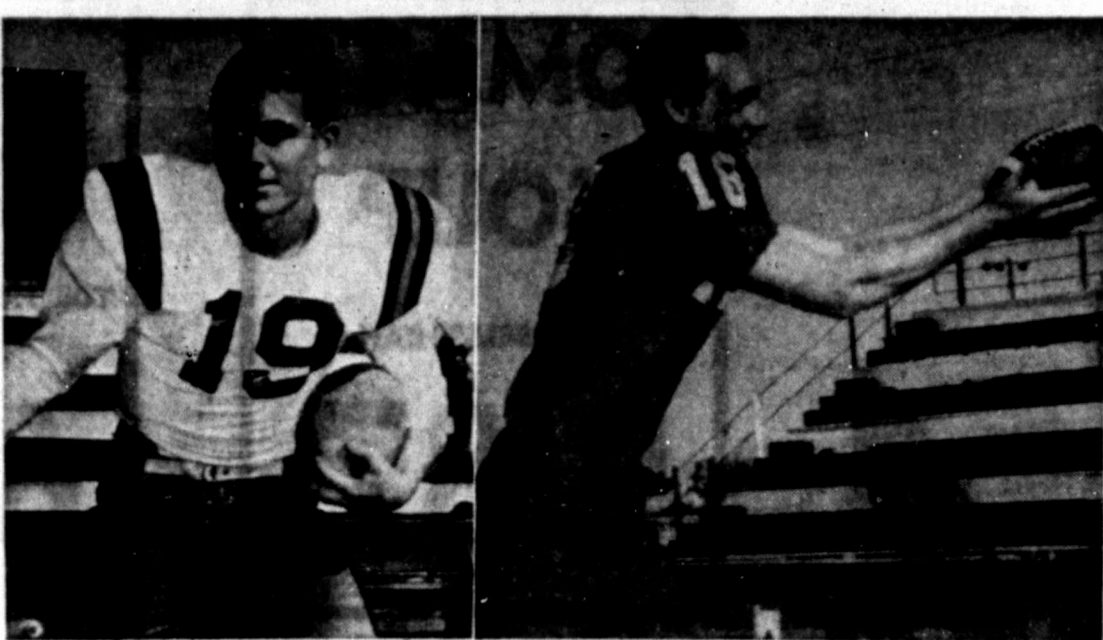

Cowboys Finish In Fine Shape

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys beat Pittsburgh 17-14 Sunday to wind up their fifth season in the National Football League and that victory gave them a tie for their best finish.

Dallas had a 5-8-1 record in 1962 and that's what they had Sunday when Don Meredith finished passing them to fifth place in the Eastern Conference.

The Cowboys also drew 35,271 attendance and that gave their top showing at the gate in the five years. Seven home games drew 268,661—an average of 38,380.

The Cowboys defense was still on the ball Sunday and held Pittsburgh, noted for its ground attack, to 78 yards rushing. In its finest moments, the Cowboy defense dug in and stopped Pittsburgh on the one-foot line in the second period.

GARDEN CITY — Balmorhea muscled its way to victory over the Ozona B team in the finals of the boys' division in the annual Garden City Invitational Basketball tournament here Saturday night, 72-29.

In the contest for third place, Norton outlasted the Robert Lee B team, 36-35.

In the girls' title game, Garden City vanquished Balmorhea, 44-36, in a contest that saw the Jacob sisters, Brenda and Beverly, hit 35 points between them.

Third place in that division went to Westbrook, which turned back Norton by a score of 68-30.

Sue McGee of Balmorhea was named the Most Valuable player in her division while Richard Granada of Balmorhea won the same distinction in the boys' division.

Members of the girls' all-tournament team were Sue Landford, Westbrook; Claudene Reed, Westbrook; and Beverly Jacob, Garden City, all forwards.

Seidenberger, R. Chandler Are Honored

Dennis Seidenberger, an elusive 160-pound senior, has been named football Back of the Year at Garden City High School while junior Riley Chandler, 168-pound right end, has been declared the school's line-man of the Year.

The two will be forwarded gold-engraved certificates by the Daily Herald.

Seidenberger won his fourth varsity letter with the Bearkats and was an all-district selection his last two years. He carried the ball 129 times for gains netting 995 yards, which averages out to 7.7 yards per carry.

He caught seven passes for 113 yards and three touchdowns. He ran for 17 TD's and two conversions for a total of 124 points for the 1964 season.

On defense, he played line-backer and halfback for the coach Jack Woodley's team.

Seidenberger was the district's selection to play in the summer all-star game, which will be played as a part of the annual six and eight man coaching school.

Woodley said of Seidenberger: "Desire and attitude plus a lot of ability made him the football player he is."

Chandler plays the same position both on offense and defense. He caught 20 passes for 297 yards. He scored seven touchdowns and added six conversions for a total of 58 points.

He made 78 tackles on defense for the Kats. As the team's punter, he averaged well over 30 yards a boot. On one occasion, he faked a fourth-down punt and ran for a 35-yard gain.

The Wildcats scored all their points in that fabulous fourth quarter in a mighty comeback engineered by that passin' man Bill Bradley.

San Marcos, which hasn't yet lost a game although twice tied, beat out undefeated, untied Vidor on penetrations in a 21-21 deadlock. This also was a thriller.

Marlin is the Cinderella team of the year. The Bulldogs whipped mighty Denver City 22-7 and emerged as a finalist in Class AA although having a defeat and tie on its record.

Palacios, undefeated and untied, showed a blistering ground attack and a team able to take advantage of the breaks in a 27-16 triumph over hitherto perfect record Taylor.

Archer City upset Big Lake 7-6 to gain the Class A finals while Ingleside, which has been in the playoffs now 13 times, blazed out unbeaten Rosebud 18-0.

Ingleside was in the finals in 1962 but succumbed to Rotan 39-6.

Here is the schedule and team records for the four finals:

Baylor Faces Big Challenge Friday Night

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference teams have a dozen intersectional games this week and that's where Baylor, the surprisingly undefeated outfit that scores from any angle, gets its first big test.

The Bears will be in Nashville Friday to play in the Vanderbilt Classic, meeting first Vanderbilt itself. Vandy is one of the highest ranking teams in the country and held the No. 3 spot last week before getting knocked off by Virginia Tech.

In the second round Baylor will clash either with Oklahoma State or Florida State.

Texas A&M, which has dropped only one game and made up for that last week when the Aggies beat Memphis State 81-71, also will be on the tournament trail. A&M plays in the Bluebonnet Classic at Houston Wednesday and Thursday, taking on Rice and Houston.

The Aggies don't seem to be in as much danger as Baylor since Rice is winless and Houston is 50-80.

A&M starts off the week by playing Houston at College Station before going to the Bluebonnet Classic, which is not a tournament exactly but two double-headers with Rice meeting Auburn in addition to the Aggies.

Baylor was the big noise last week as the Bears cracked all kinds of conference records with a 138-58 victory over Trinity.

That's the most in a conference team ever scored and is within 15 of the all-time collegiate record held by Furman.

Texas A&M whipped Sam Houston State 75-58 and Memphis State to bring its record to 4-1.

Arkansas finally won a game and it had to be Hardin-Simmons, which was boasting the longest winning streak among the major colleges—13 straight.

The Razorbacks won 68-63. Southern Methodist broke its losing streak that had stretched to three straight when it clouted Louisiana State 98-75 and Texas Tech snapped a two-game losing skid by toppling Wyoming 98-87.

Texas continued to sink with an 83-75 defeat at the hands of Louisiana State and an 86-73 licking from Oklahoma.

Texas Christian beat Arlington State 95-71 but took a 67-62 drubbing from Houston and an 82-73 lashing from Loyola of New Orleans.

Giardello Seeking 7th Straight Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Midweight champion Joey Giardello gambles on his ability to lure paying customers tonight when he takes on dangerous

Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in a 15-round title fight at Convention Hall.

The 34-year-old champion from nearby Cherry Hill, N.J., is the 7-5 betting choice over the second-ranking contender from Paterson, N.J. Starting time is 10 p.m., EST.

There will be no national television. It will be seen on home television or in theaters and arenas in several cities as the result of some late sales.

But if Joey is to take home a fat purse it will have to be mainly on his gate-pulling attraction in his home-town area.

Promoter Jimmy Riggio optimistically forecasts a crowd of 9,000 or 10,000 and a gross gate of $150,000. If he takes in from $50,000 upwards it will prove boxing isn't dead yet.

Giardello won the 160-pound division title with an upset 15-round decision over Nigeria's Dick Tiger at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963. He has had only two non-title fights since, outpointing Argentine's Rocky Rivera twice.

He has won seven straight over a 25-month span, the most victories he has strung together since 1958.

A veteran of 16 years of pro battling, Giardello has a 95-22-11 won-lost-draw record, including 32 knockouts. He has been stopped only three times, the last by Spider Webb in the seventh round six years ago. All three were technical knockouts.

Carter, 27, started boxing in the Army, and has a 20-4 record in three years of pro battling. He has scored 13 knockouts and been stopped once—by Joe Gonzalez in six last year.

Gen. West Welcomes Army Reserve Into Guard Units

DALLAS — Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commander of Texas 49th Armored Division, said here Sunday the National Guard will gain in military stature from the recent proposed reorganization of the reserve program.

"It is now the reserve program," he said, emphasizing "the."

Gen. West, in a press conference, said the Texas National Guard is likely to increase in manpower from its present strength of 17,500 to some 25,000 — providing the state receives its share of Army reservists.

Secretary of Defense Robert

S. McNamara disclosed Saturday that he is abolishing the Army Reserve entirely, and allowing half of its strength to find a home in the National Guard.

"I have been in the reserve program for many years," said Gen. West, a veteran of 33 years service, "and I never thought I'd see the day when the Army Reserve program would be the National Guard program."

"That means, in the Guard, we will have more responsibility, more requirement for leadership of the highest order."

Gen. West also noted that his own 49th Armored Division — as well as the 36th Infantry Division — would lose its identity in name, but would be replaced by "beefed-up" brigades.

The 90th Infantry Division, which is Army Reserve, would be completely dissolved. Gen. West said he is still planning, and presuming, that the 49th will train next summer at Ft. Hood as it is today — a full division.

As for the future of the 49th, Gen. West was just as in the dark as anyone. "We just don't know," he said. Gen. West said he had not been informed as to what the brigades would consist, in the way of organization or manpower, except that they would be "beefed-up."

He interpreted this as meaning the brigades would also have supporting units, such as their own engineers, artillery, signal, quartermaster and medical units. The commander said he had no way of predicting how many brigades would be planned for Texas. He felt that the 49th would be broken up into three brigades, as it is today.

Gen. West, a Dallas insurance executive who has commanded the 49th since 1961, including a year on active duty during the Berlin crisis, noted with an ironic smile that "a 2-star general or two" will probably be lost in the reorganization. He plans to retire about March 31.

Gen. West welcomed the Army reservists to the National Guard, noting that in the Army Reserve there "are good men, and qualified officers with fine military experience."

West pointed out, however, that the proposed beefed-up brigades will be maintained at 80 per cent strength — well above the 60 per cent strength allowed the National Guard. The Army Reserve strength is about 50 per cent.

Although mildly critical of the disposing of the two National Guard divisions as divisions, Gen. West noted the effectiveness of having "combat-ready" brigades at 80 per cent strength and 100 per cent equipped.

All armories now in existence will be needed, due to the increased strength in the National Guard, Gen. West said, adding: "Chances are it will require more armories." The impact of the reorganization to units in small towns means less competition between the Guard and the Army Reserve, West said.

"No communities in Texas will lose their units if they are capable to support it," said Gen. West.

As for breaking up of old traditional namesakes, steeped in all three Texas divisions, Gen. West frankly admitted: "We don't like it. We just don't like it."

McKee Named Club Prexy

Dois McKee is the new president of the Big Spring Coin Club. He was elected at the regular meeting of the club last week.

Other new officers are M. L. Kirby, vice president; Mrs. Martin K. Britton, secretary; and Mrs. M. L. Kirby, treasurer. W. E. Wozencraft was re-elected as American Numismatic and Texas Numismatic Association representative.

Plans have been launched to order films and slides for the ANA library for use at future meetings.

Plans are being pushed to help the club win first place in the national observance of National Coin Week. The club has won third place in the nation for two successive years.

D. F. Bigony Dies Sunday

Dorsey Francis Bigony, 68, a resident of this area since 1927, died in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock at 5:30 p.m. Sunday after an illness of several months.

Following service during World War I and almost 10 years as a school teacher, Mr. Bigony moved his family to West Texas for his wife's health in 1927. He went to work at the Big Spring Post Office, from which he retired in 1947.

During the Great Depression, he purchased farmland in the Fairview area and expanded these holdings during the ensuing years.

Mr. Bigony was born at Ben Hur, Texas, Sept. 13, 1896, growing up on his father's farm. He attended East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, doing odd jobs to earn his way. After graduation, he taught school at Enloe, Tex., where he met and married another teacher, Bessie Mae McClanahan at Cooper, Tex., March 11, 1918.

Mr. Bigony was active in his church, the First Methodist, and the Masonic Bodies, including chapter, council, commandery and Suez Temple. He was a past master of Lodge No. 598.

Funeral services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include the widow; one son, Weldon D. Bigony, Taipei, Formosa; five daughters, Mrs. Rita Mae Spradling, Lubbock, Dorothy Bigony, Abilene, Mrs. Myra Lee Pierson, Lubbock, Mrs. Frances Faye Puckett, Floydada, Mrs. Mary Ella Cherry, State College, Pa.; his mother, Mrs. W. M. Bigony; three brothers, Ira James Bigony, Corsicana, Douglas A. Bigony, Klondike, Willis Bigony, Greenville; seven sisters, Mrs. Pearl Williams, Benton, Ark., Mrs. Lois Rogers, Waco, Mrs. Zella Holden, Waco, Mrs. Veta Sanders, Clanton, Mrs. Hazel Kennedy, El Paso, Mrs. Nada Landis, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Merle Kennedy, Houston.

Plans More Research Time

LUBBOCK — Dr. Ralph M. Durham has resigned the animal husbandry department headship at Texas Tech to devote full-time to teaching and research at Tech.

Agriculture Dean Gerald Thomas said the change has been made at Dr. Durham's request to provide more time for research and technical writing.

A new head of the department will be named in the next few days, Thomas said.

Since Durham became department head in 1959, enrollment has climbed from 238 to 331, placing the department among the 10 largest of its kind in the nation.

The department's research has gained national recognition in such fields as:

1. Artificial marbling of meats.
2. All-concentrate feeding — according to unofficial estimates, Texas Tech rations are being fed to more than 100,000 head of cattle in West Texas.
3. Development of cheap maintenance rations for calf, lamb and poultry production.
4. A large number of carcass studies.

Under Dr. Durham's headship, new facilities have been constructed, including one of the most extensive meat laboratories in the nation. The Tech lab is now classed as a major packer.

He has been chairman of the American Society of Animal Science and has held other key positions in national agricultural organizations. He has been a visiting lecturer at Oxford University in England and on many campuses in this nation and has presented numerous research papers at national scientific meetings.

For Sale: One College

CARTHAGE, Ill. (AP) — Write your own checks for $1.5 million and you can buy a college — 37 buildings on 44 acres. That's what the advertisement says in some newspapers around the nation.

It's the campus abandoned this year by Carthage College, a Lutheran institution, to follow a shift in the population center of its controlling synod.

The deserted campus sits southwest of Chicago in Carthage, population 3,500, the seat of Hancock County.

Youth Injured

Ralph Winterrowd Jr., grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Winterrowd, 805 Runnels, was seriously hurt in an accident at the Lofflin Drilling Co. testing grounds at Las Vegas, Nev. He is in the Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital, Room 207 West. His grandmother said one of his hands was mangled.

Band Instruments Reported Stolen

Nine band instruments with an estimated used value of some $1,600 were reported missing from Big Spring High School Saturday.

The instruments were stored in a small storage room adjoining the high school band classroom. Douglas Wiehe, band director, told police. Officers reported the storage room door was forced open.

School officials reported today the instruments were taken sometime between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday, according to police.

Mrs. Maude Waters, 2802 Cactus Drive, reported to police theft of her 1961 automobile from the basement of the Crawford Hotel Saturday morning.

Kouples Dance Klub Holds Annual Christmas Formal

The Kouples Dance Klub held its Christmas formal Saturday evening at Big Spring Country Club from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. with music by the Burl Hubbard orchestra from Lubbock.

Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jennings and Mr. and Mrs. Al Carter.

As they welcomed members and guests in the foyer, Mrs. Phillips was attired in a long black silk brocade sheath and formal-length white gloves. Mrs. Jennings chose a two-piece oriental print with long skirt in muted colors of rose and orange with an orange chiffon scarf caught with a clip at the shoulder. Mrs. Carter's short black cocktail dress featured brief sleeves and a bodice of black lace.

In the ballroom, Mrs. Joe Bunch, wearing a dancing dress of white chiffon with heavy gold metallic bodice, introduced her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Stinson. Mrs. Stinson was in a slender sheath of gold lame accented with a wide sequined belt and gold gloves. With them were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jeter; she in a beige and gold satin brocade street-length dress.

At another table were former local residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunlap of Midland. She wore a long white crepe skirt topped with wool shell sequined in a diamond pattern. In their party were Mr. and Mrs. Red Holland, her long deep red gown worn with stark white gloves and slippers, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cauble. She chose a floor-length blue-green sheath with side slits. Nearby were Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs.

Don Anderson and the R. L. Heiths. Mrs. Nicholson wore a short gown of peacock blue chiffon with a multi-strand crystal necklace; Mrs. Anderson used crystals, too, with white skirt matched with metallic overblouse, and Mrs. Heith's short formal was of green brocade.

Guests of the Joe Haydens were Mr. and Mrs. Dee Jon Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burns. The women were a contrast in black and white with Mrs. Davis wearing a short white wool costume with sequins sprinkled near the round neckline of the shell top and Mrs. Burns accenting her brunette coloring with a long black gown, black gloves and a rhinestone clip in her hair. Mrs. Hayden's blouson styled black crepe was fashioned with a softly draped neckline.

Glimpsed on the dance floor were Mrs. George Zachariah in a black wool beaded sheath, Mrs. Hack Wright in a black velvet gown and long rhinestone necklace, and Mrs. Houston Zinn, who accented her black velvet dress with a pearl pendant.

Following the dance, breakfast was served from the buffet.

John Devers Visit The J. G. Reeds

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. John Dever are spending the weekend in Snyder with her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reed.

Guests in the W. C. Phillips home have been her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Phelan, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Elliott, Colorado City.

Ruth Class Has Party At Parsons

WESTBROOK (SC) — Joyce McKenney read the Christmas story from Luke and Mrs. Rex McKenney spoke on "The Other Wise Man" as a devotion when the Ruth Class of the Baptist church met with Mrs. Herman Parsons Thursday evening.

Special music was given by Mrs. Johnny Shackelford who sang "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day." The group joined in singing carols prior to the exchange of gifts. Afterward luncheon was served at the Villa Inn.

TIME CHANGE FOR CHURCH

Methodists were reminded today that the special Christmas program of the Wesleyan Service Guild, First Methodist Church, will be at 7 p.m. tonight. The time was listed as 7:30 in the church bulletin Sunday.

Pant-Style Origin Starts Argument

Rose Golub, an American painter who was born in Lithuania and spent her babyhood in Poland, has upset the French court case of couturier Esterel vs. couturier Courreges as to which created the currently fashionable pants with ankle slits.

"Mountaineers from Tatra in the south of Poland have worn them for centuries," she reported. "This style is as old as French fashion itself."

Leaves Friday For California Trip

COAHOMA (SC) — Mrs. Ray Hall left Friday for Twenty Nine Palms, Calif., where she will be visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Hall, and their sons, Shawn and David.

End Week Of Prayer At Church

The Lottie Moon Week of Prayer for foreign missions ended Friday at First Baptist Church where special programs had been presented daily during the week. The theme was "Worship Christ, the King."

The Mary Willis Circle presented the Monday program, "Without Christ, They Have No King," with Mrs. Walter Wheat reading scripture and the call to prayer, with prayer led by Mrs. C. O. Hitt. On the program were Mrs. Glenn Faison, Mrs. Fred Clark, Mrs. Zack Gray, Mrs. Delbert Simpson, Mrs. Bill Johnson, and Mrs. Grover Shaunty who sang "Thou Didst Leave Thy Throne." The program concerned the different ways in which people worship.

The Tuesday program, "Heralds of the King," was given by the Lucille Reagan Circle with Mrs. T. K. Price reading the prayer calendar. Those on the program were Mrs. D. A. Miller, Mrs. H. H. Squyres, Mrs. Roy Phillips, Mrs. C. E. Neal, Mrs. Neal Bryant, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Shaunty.

Wednesday evening the Maye Belle Taylor Circle presented the program with Mrs. Perry Kimberling introducing the speaker, Miss Taylor, who is a missionary to Brazil.

Miss Taylor, who lives and works in the city of Aracaju, directs a Baptist elementary school and is the state GA director. She is from Haskell and has worked in Brazil for 26 years. She said that a Baptist Crusade is planned there for 1965 with the goal of 100,000 memberships for the church.

Mrs. Wheat sang "Blessed Redeemer."

"Children of the King" was presented Thursday by the Christine Coffee Circle with Miss Taylor speaking again briefly. Glenn Faison was heard in a vocal solo, and others on the program were Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. T. B. Atkins, Mrs. Eugene Turner, Mrs. Lonnie Coker and Mrs. Leonard Coker. Refreshments were served.

The last program was presented Friday by the Helen Jean Parks Circle. Taking part on "We Have Come to Worship Him" were Mrs. D. D. Dyer, who read the prayer calendar, Mrs. Lester Morton, Mrs. Julian Baird, Mrs. George Sultemeier and Mrs. R. L. Cranford.

Family Services Sets Open House

An open house for all personnel at Webb Air Force Base and their dependants will be sponsored Wednesday by the Family Services.

The holiday affair will be held in Building 105, which is the old base nursery, and calling hours will be from 1:30 to 4 p.m. A ceremony is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. when two volunteers will receive 1,000 hour plaques from the Air Force Times.

Jack Hendrix Heads Music Teacher Unit

Jack Hendrix was named president of the local chapter of the Texas Music Teachers Association during a meeting Friday evening in the Hendrix home at 2715 Lynn.

Other officers to serve with Hendrix are Mel Ivey, vice president; and Mrs. Carl Bradley, secretary-treasurer.

A program was presented by Hendrix and Miss Joan Matthews of Midland. Miss Matthews was the state winner in her division last year during the student affiliate auditions sponsored by the Texas Music Teachers Association.

The selections were "Concerto

No. 1 in C Major, Op. 15. Allegro con brio" by Beethoven and "Concerto in G Minor, Op. 25, Andanti, Presto" by Mendelssohn.

Refreshments were served to 12 members and six guests. The next meeting will be Jan. 28 with the place to be announced.

Cosden Country Club Has Holiday Festivity

The ballroom of Cosden Country Club was crowded Saturday evening as over 200 members and guests of the club enjoyed the music of the George Atwood orchestra. The club's Christmas dance was from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. with hors d'oeuvres served from a festive table. Colored lights decorated the ballroom where candledit tables were decked with greenery.

Holiday attire for the women included the new long dinner and dance gowns and the ever-popular short formal with sheath or full skirts.

Mrs. Norman Spencer was seen in a short green brocade cocktail dress, the festive color contrasting with Mrs. Tony Ta-roni's red costume.

Mrs. Warden Mayes chose a pale blue wool two-piece dress, while Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith's blue gown was in rich brocade. Mrs. Lee Thomas wore a white chiffon skirt with silver shell, and Mrs. Otto Peters Jr. was attired in a dress styled with black sequins and chiffon sleeves. Sparkling gold lame was chosen by Mrs. Bill Sneed and Zudora Peterson whose dress was of attractive print.

Black was the always-fashionable color worn by Mrs. Reg Hyer and Mrs. Garrison Walker. Mrs. Ray Thomas combined black with white, and all-white wool knit was worn by Mrs. Ray Pipes.

Mrs. Jim Marcus danced in a festive red dress as did Mrs. Lorin McDowell III, whose long velvet skirt was topped with a white fringed shell.

Sampling the refreshments were Mrs. Joe Clark in a two-piece dress of blue lame, and Mrs. Buddy Redden in a boat-necked black sheath.

Blonde Mrs. Richard Shaver was attractive in a black velvet sheath, the midriff circled with narrow gold bands, with which she wore long black satin gloves.

Capt. Margaret Wyatt was seen chatting with friends during an intermission. She wore a scooped-neck gown of bright blue sequins and elbow-length white mitts. Across the room, Mrs. J. M. Hill was wearing a two-piece white crepe with tiny tassels over the bodice, and Mrs. John R. Bizzell, at the same table, was attired in a short, full-skirted black dress with neckline forming a deep V at the back.

Doing a pretty fancy cha-cha with their husbands were Mrs. Bill C. Coleman and Mrs. Bob Terrell, both in long black sheaths.
