Validity of Pacific Treaty Ratification Is Challenged

RAINS BRIGHTEN PROSPECTS IN STATE

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

BY H. N. F.

Chicago is the second American city in point of population and wealth. Hon. Kickham Scanlon is chief justice of the criminal court of Cooke county. Robert E. Crowe is the state's attorney for Cooke county. They are conducting the most aggressive crusade against criminals that has been launched in Chicago in years. Death threats have been made to the judge and the district attorney. "Have you become a race of yellow men?" was the question hurled at the civic leaders by the chief justice to discuss means to combat the throttle-hold crime has upon the throat of Chicago. These words of Scanlon set the civic leaders aflame. They talked. They said criminal court jurors are bribed; they said convicts take jury seats when business men dodge service; they said convicted gunmen and murderers walk the streets unmolested and flout the law; they said habeas corpus writs are prepared in advance and writs are issued even before the police can get criminals to the station; they said jurors admit they fear to render a verdict against criminals as their homes and the lives of themselves and families are jeopardized; they said certain lawyers are conspirators with murderers and felonies; they said judges turned loose known murderers and lesser criminals on writs of habeas corpus. "Have you become a race of yellow men?" was a question that started something. Chicago is an American city in the fourth state of the union speaking of population and wealth. And of course Woodrow Wilson could not recognize Mexico because the Mexicans are lawless and Warren G. Harding cannot recognize the Obregon government because the Mexicans are lacking in what Americans are proud of referring to as "reverence for constituted authority." It really is impossible for the camel to walk through the eye of a needle.

American exports of meat and meat products in 1921, as compared with 1920, showed an increase of 3 per cent in quantity but the value decreased 36 per cent. A writer for the Kansas City Star says thus far this year the 20 principal markets in the United States received 13,234,000 head of livestock, 1,200,000 less than in the same period in 1921, and nearly 4 million less than in the same time in 1919. The greatest decrease was in hogs, while cattle show an increase compared with last year, and sheep an increase compared with 1919. The decrease in hogs this year compared with the first eighty days in 1921 is 935,000, and compared with a similar period in 1919 is 3,023,000. For years and years the Daily Livestock Reporter, a trade publication, flourished in the city of Fort Worth. That is it flourished in the section given over to the stockyards, commission houses and packing houses. Ray McKinley was its guiding head and hand. Its dead now. Packers were compelled to withdraw their financial patronage owing to the A. Mitchell

GENERAL RAINS BRIGHTEN CROP AND OIL STATUS

Wheat and Cotton Acreage of Northwest and West Texas Gets Substantial Wetting.

Believed Rainfall Sufficient to Provide Drilling Water for Many Idle Rigs in Region.

West Texas crop prospects and the outlook for increased activity in the various oil districts boomed Saturday as the result of the general good wetting for this end of the state from rains early in the morning, and in some sections again Saturday afternoon.

The rains varied from sharp showers Friday night and early Saturday morning, estimated at half an inch, to hard rains of two inches and over. Rains were particularly hard along the route of the Wichita Falls & Southern south from Graham, estimated two inches and over, and on the Fort Worth & Denver from Childress clear across the Panhandle to Trinidad, Colorado. Hard rains were reported along the route of the Wichita Falls & Northwestern to its terminus Friday night and early Saturday, ranging from the same degree of precipitation as in Wichita Falls, about half an inch, up. Showers were light for the most part east of Wichita Falls. From Graham to Wichita Falls on the Southern the rains were about the same as in the immediate vicinity of Wichita Falls. The same was true of the country between Childress and Wichita Falls on the Denver, with hard rains reported from Electra and vicinity.

Still harder rains were reported from points through the Wichita valley to the local office of the Wichita Valley railroad. A hard rain was reported falling again in this region Saturday afternoon.

Most of the Northwest Texas wheat and cotton belt was covered with the rain—going a long way to assure the standing crop in the former, and promising a good season for the cotton. The wheat prospects for which had been rated as low, is particularly benefitted by the rain. The rains of a week ago has brought out much wheat which had been given up, and which will be further greatly benefitted from this rain.

Oil men are also expected to reap a big benefit from the rains, which were heavy enough, and came soon enough after recent rains and snows, it is believed, to put water in the surface tanks and in the creeks—providing drilling water for scores of rigs through Northwest Texas which have been idle for lack of water.

Reports received by local newspaper and railroad offices show that the heavy rains were not confined to North and West Texas, nor Southwestern Oklahoma, other portions of these two states getting good rains. Reports to the local Katy office reported phenomenally heavy rains in portions of the Kansas wheat belt which has been suffering with drouth for months.

SOLONS LEAVE FOR INSPECTION GOVT. PROJECTS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—More than a score of members of the senate agriculture and house military committees left tonight for a personal inspection of the government's power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals and Gorgas, Ala. Pending their return, it was announced, the investigation of the private offers for lease, purchase, completion and operation of the properties will be suspended by the house committee.

The Weather

West Texas: Sunday generally fair, warmer in the Panhandle; Monday generally fair, warmer in north portion.

Oklahoma: Sunday fair, cooler in southeast portion; Monday partly cloudy, warmer.

East Texas: Sunday generally fair, cooler; Monday partly cloudy, warmer in north portion.

DAN CUPID TAKES HAND IN VILLAGE MAYORALTY RACE

By Associated Press.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, March 25.—Dan Cupid has taken a hand with vengeance in the political affairs of this Clinton county town.

Three women are candidates for office. Mrs. James McDermott is running for mayor and Mrs. Nick Steiner and Mrs. Martin Neilson are candidates for the city council. They are being opposed by men candidates.

More than a score of the town's fairest daughters have served notice to bachelors that if the women are not elected they need not bother about visiting them any more. Wednesday evening is known as beau's night here.

PILOT IS ONLY SURVIVOR OF AIR BOAT CREW

Semi-Delirious Man Relates, Piece by Piece, Story of the Flying Boat, "Miss Miami," Tragedy.

By Associated Press.

MIAMI, Florida, March 25.—Nursed by a woman he believes to be his mother, Robert Moore, pilot and only survivor of the six persons who left for Bimini last Wednesday in the ill-fated flying boat Miss Miami, lies in a hospital more dead than alive.

A submarine chaser took Moore off the tanker William Green early today as she passed here for Tampico. Picked up by the tanker late yesterday, more than 40 miles east of the East Indian inlet as he clung to the wreckage of his flying boat, Moore was tenderly cared for during last night by Mrs. J. W. Williams, wife of an official of the Pan-American Petroleum corporation, who was a passenger on the ship. This morning when the relief boat pulled alongside the big ship, Moore refused to go without her. When reassured that she would be there, he finally permitted himself to be transferred to the smaller craft and be brought to a hospital here, where another woman took up the task of trying to calm his wandering mind.

Piece by piece during the night and day Moore has revealed the tragic story of his experiences as he clung for two days and two nights to the wreckage of the lost flying boat.

No trace had been found of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. August Bulte and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Smith, all of Kansas City, and Mrs. J. S. Dickson of Memphis, Tenn. who one by one gave up their lives as the struggle became too much for them.

The task of transferring the sick man from the tanker to the submarine chaser in a heavy sea with half a gale blowing presented difficulties, but after half an hour's work, the little chaser was finally navigated into the lee of the tanker and made fast. Before this could be done, however, the chaser was badly smashed and will have to undergo considerable repairs before it can be put to sea again.

Captain Thomas James in charge of the chaser said the task was the most difficult he had ever been called upon to accept, and under ordinary circumstances he would have launched a small boat and made the transfer in that way. The case was so urgent however ,that he decided to take a chance, and by expert seamanship managed to bring his boat alongside after three attempts.

Physicians stated after an examination of Moore that although he was in a serious condition due to exposure and lack of nourishment, he probably would recover.

RESCUERS ABANDON HOPES FOR SEVEN ENTOMBED MINERS

By Associated Press.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Mrch 25.—Ten bodies have been recovered from the Sopris No. 2 mine wrecked by an explosion of undetermined origin yesterday. According to check seven more remain in the mine and all hope has been abandoned that any are alive.

The bodies recovered so far are burned and blackened and identification is posible only by means of the brass check the men carried into the mine.

In the Training Quarters of The Donkey and the Elephant

BY H. N. F.

America is making history every day. A Republican house enacted the soldier bonus bill which calls for something like 5 billion dollars in the period of twenty years. It was practically unanimous. A small minority composed of Republicans and Democrats voted nay when the roll was called and there was a fine block of absentees.

A Republican senate voted to unite America with Great Britain, France and Japan in a pact to maintain peace in the Pacific.

This pact is an agreement that each of the four powers shall respect each other's rights on their insular possessions and dominions in the Pacific; that in event of aggression upon one of the signatory powers by an outside power there shall be a conference of the four nations party to the pact; that the treaty shall remain in effect for ten years and lastly "that the United States in ratifying the treaty understands that it contains no commitment to armed force, nor alliance nor obligation to come to any defense.

Twenty-three Democrats and four Republicans voted against ratification.

Fifty-five Republicans and a dozen Democrats voted for ratification.

It is interesting to note that Senator Culberson and Senator Sheppard voted against ratification. It is interesting to recall that Senators Culberson and Sheppard voted for the ratification of the Wilson treaty and covenant of League of Nations.

Sam Blythe has a powerful article in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post. This veteran writer on politics and economics, in a sweeping analysis of conditions, returns the verdict that the old Democratic and Republican parties are as dead as the dodo and that their leaders fail to realize it.

It isn't a question of a burning issue anymore.

There is no great principle at stake which divides these historic and hereditary political blocs of American voters.

Electing himself a funeral undertaker of the past and prophet of the future Mr. Blythe says that high taxes and bureau-cratic control resulted in the repudiation of the Democratic party by a majority of 7 million in 1920.

This for the graveyard part of the story.

He predicts that high taxes will send the Republican party to the same graveyard in the not distant future.

Regardless of this a pact of the four great powers of the world is either an alliance or the most stupendous joke ever inflicted upon the world.

Democrats who stood for the Wilson League of Nations should find it easy to endorse the ratification of the Four-Pact Alliance without making ugly faces.

Democrats and Republicans who fought and defeated ratification of the Wilson Pact or Alliance were consistent in fighting the Harding Four-Power Pact "gentlemen's agreement."

Senators Culberson and Sheppard voted to ratify Wilson's all-power pact. They voted against ratification of Harding's four-power pact. Politics is a queer as well as a fascinating game.

Speaking of the bonus there are four million former service men.

They are voters.

They are organized.

They know what they want.

They have notified the Congress to come across with it. According to the record the lower house came across in a hurry. Now what action will the Senate take? There are eighteen senators who are candidates for re-election this year.

Announcement

The Wichita Falls Record News today passes into the majority ownership and control of the Newspaper Publishing Co., of which E. S. Fentress is general manager.

Other newspapers controlled and operated by this organization are:

The Waco News-Tribune.
The Austin American
The Port Arthur News.

Associated with E. S. Fentress are C. H. Fentress and Charles E. Marsh. W. H. Bagley, of Fort Worth, negotiated the sale of The Record News.

"Wichita Falls has been an object of our ambition in a newspaper sense for several years," said E. S. Fentress, in announcing the purchase. "About four years ago and again two years ago we opened negotiations for the purchase of Wichita Falls' morning paper and our desire to become identified here has been constant from the time of our first visit.

"I am especially pleased to announce that in purchasing The Record News, this city has not lost the strong editorial service of Mr. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald. Mr. Fitzgerald has consented to remain as editor of The Record News and to become chief editorial writer for the other papers our organization controls.

"Two of the factors, other than the self-evident sound future of Wichita Falls, that caused us to enter this city are the rapid improvements of The Record News under the editorship of Mr. Fitzgerald and the sound and progressive management of Wichita Falls' evening newspaper."

SENATE TREATY ACTION MAY BE RECONSIDERED

Opponents of Pact Challenge Validity of Ratification and Suggest Reconsideration of Vote.

Controversy Hinges on Whether Supplements to Treaty May Be Considered Separately.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The four power Pacific treaty and its supplements got into such a mix-up in the senate today that the administration ratification became temporarily tied in a knot and the leaders hurried into conference to draw up a new plan for campaign.

Challenging the validity of yesterday's action by which the four-power pact itself was ratified, opponents of the treaty suggested that the vote be reconsidered so that the ratification could include the supplementary interpretative agreement, signed by the plenipotentiaries at the same time. At first the administration leaders refused to recognize any merit in the suggestion, but after several conferences they decided that some further action was advisable. Most of them opposed the reconsideration plan, proposing instead a separate ratification vote on the supplement. Such a separate vote on the ratification was in process of drafting when the senate adjourned over Sunday.

Throughout the day's debate the treaty opponents sought to give point to their arguments by emphasizing that the supplement deals with issues which long have been sources of friction between the United States and Japan. It declares it to be the understanding of the signatories that the treaty shall apply to mandated islands in the Pacific and that purely domestic questions shall be brought before the four-power conference for reconsideration and adjustment.

Many times during the day the question of Japanese immigration into the United States was mentioned as a "domestic" American question which might be a fruitful source of trouble, senators on both sides agreeing that no doubt ought to be left that the American government retains full power to deal with the subject as it sees fit. Those who asked for reconsideration contended that unless the validity of the supplement was established clearly Japan might claim the privilege of referring the whole immigration problem of the Pacific coast to a meeting of the powers.

Meantime the business actually before the senate was a second supplement to the four power Pacific pact, signed two months later than the first, and so defining the geographical scope of the pact as not to include the homeland of Japan. As soon as it was called up at the outset of the session Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, offered an amendment to exclude also the island of Sakhalin, but neither the geographical supplement nor the proposed amendment to it was mentioned in the day's debate. Late in the day when debate on the domestic issues supplement had decidedly died down, Senator Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, took the floor and occupied the remainder of the session with a speech supporting the naval treaty and advocating an efficient merchant marine.

HOUSTON HAS HEAVIEST RAIN YET RECORDED

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, March 25.—Saturday Houston became a temporary Venice when the heaviest rain on record for 12 hours fell. From 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. the United States weather bureau office guage showed a total of precipitation of 7.34 inches.

This precipitation which at times was a veritable cloudburst caused a damage of thousands of dollars. There is no way to estimate its extent. Streets became lakes and rivers, the paving being washed up on many of them. Residences were hemmed in, the transportation system made impassable, water seeped into basements in the downtown and residential sections and hundreds of automobiles were unable to run because of water soaked carburetors or becoming stuck, dotted the streets.

ORGANIZATION IN TEXAS TO COMBAT KLAN, ANNOUNCED

Associated Press.

RANGER, Texas, March 25.—The formation of "Texas brigade, No. 8, Knights of the Visible Empire, Anti-Ku Klux Klan," was announced in a letter today to a local newspaper. The organization, in the letter, addressed to the Ku Klux Klan, announces open war on that organization and makes the statement:

"If you parade here, many will fall."

The letter was not signed, but states the organization will reveal more about itself in the future and will not operate behind closed doors. It states ninety-seven organizers are at work now in Texas.

NEFF ANSWERS KLAN SUBJECT QUESTIONNAIRE

"Public Is Entitled to Know Attitude of Candidates Toward Organization," Declares Governor.

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, March 25.—Questions as to their affiliations with the Ku Klux Klan are perfectly proper demands on candidates for public office in Texas and the people are entitled to know the position of candidates if they desire, Governor Pat M. Neff said tonight at Loveridge farm, south of Dallas, where he is a week-end guest of Thomas B. Love.

Governor Neff was shown a copy of a local afternoon newspaper's editorial of Friday containing a questionnaire proposal for candidates and expressed a willingness to answer each one of the questions. The questions and his answers follow:

"Do you belong to the Ku Klux Klan?"

"I do not."

"Do you intend to become a member before or after you are elected to office?"

"No."

"What is your attitude toward masked organizations and unmasked organizations?"

"There is no occasion for any kind of masked organization in this country in connection with the enforcement of law. All our laws should be enforced through the properly organized channels of the courts."

Governor Neff said that not only is he not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but that he has never had any connection with the klan.

He said further that he has never been approached and asked to become a member of the organization.

"I do not think that I need say any more," was his only response to other questions regarding the Ku Klux Klan in connection with law enforcement.

EIGHT PERSONS IN SCOUT PARTY DROWN IN LAKE

By Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 25.—Seven persons, four boy scouts, a scout executive and two scout masters, were drowned this afternoon in Magican Lake, about ten miles northwest of Dowagiac, Mich., when a steel motor boat, which they occupied, foundered in the rough waters. The persons drowned, all of whom are residents of this city, are:

SCOUT EXECUTIVE JOSEPH TAYLOR.

JAMES TAYLOR, 10-year-old son of Joseph Taylor.

VERNON C. MURPHY, scout master.

JUDSON TAYLOR, scout master.

CLINTON MATTHEWS.

KENNETH BURROUGHS.

WILLIAM KINGSLEY.

PHILIP NEITZEL.

The fatality took place sixty rods from the shore after the party had left an island in the center of the lake, on which the boy scouts were establishing a new camp for the summer. Several trips had been made to the island in the boat earlier in the day and on the last trip there were seven persons in the boat. The coroner of Dowagiac, who is investigating, gave it as his opinion that the boat was overloaded.

SOUTH TEXAS CITIES STRUCK BY CYCLONES

Twister at Beaumont and Vicinity Kills Three, Injures 18 and Causes Much Property Damage.

Many of Injured Are Not Expected to Live; Portion of Corpus Christi Swept by Storm.

By Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 25.—The death list in the cyclone that visited this section today was increased to three dead and 18 seriously injured late tonight. Word came from Fannett, 15 miles southwest of here, that four homes were demolished there killing one and injuring ten, four of whom are seriously hurt. The known dead are:

TOM JOHNSON, age 80, at Fannett.

UNIDENTIFIED WHITE MAN at Fannett.

SALVINIA, TRAHAN, negro woman, Beaumont.

The seriously injured include: Mrs. Tom Johnson, Mrs. Ollie Johnson, Mrs. W. C. Allen and Mrs. Will Boyt, all of Fannett. It is not believed the six or seven injured here, and six others at Fannett are mortally hurt.

The property loss is roughly estimated with the city of Beaumont at $100,000. The loss at Fannett is about $10,000. Burkeville, Texas, to the north, reports $5,000 damage but no casualties.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson are residents of Bolivar, Galveston county, and because of the threatening weather fled in their automobile to Beaumont. Upon their arrival here, their son, Ollie Johnson, took them to his home at Fannett, arriving there just before the cyclone struck. He was crushed by falling timber.

HOUSE CARRIED 35 FEET BY STOR MAT CORPUS CHRISTI

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, March 25.—A small cyclone swept through the southwestern edge of Corpus Christi this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock lifting one small house from its foundation, carrying it thirty-five feet through the air, and dropping it on the ground where it broke to pieces. Several other houses were blown from their foundations. Windows were blown out of the houses and the fences levelled.

No one was injured as far as could be learned. The storm was accompanied by a heavy rainfall of brief duration and after passing through the edge of the city went out over Corpus Christi bay.

By Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Mar. 25.—A small cyclone passed through Beaumont at 5:15 this evening leveling a number of buildings and seriously damaging some business houses. So far as can be determined no one was killed within the city limits, but six seriously injured and now at the hospital. The extent of their injuries has not been determined. Two are suffering from broken legs and one from a fractured skull, three of this number are negroes.

LYNCH DAVIDSON WILL NOT ENTER RACE FOR SENATE

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, March 25.—Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson issued a statement Saturday that he would not be a candidate for United States senator at this time, but two years from now he would enter the race for governor of Texas.

Mr. Davidson said: "So that numerous friends throughout the state who have advocated my candidacy for the exalted office of governor of the state of Texas, and also that the many who have urged my candidacy for the United States senate, may know my decision, I desire to say that I will not be a candidate for any political office at the coming election."

In conclusion he said: "Inspired by many friends from all parts of the state urging my entrance into the present campaign which private affairs prevent, I wish to say that I shall respond to their desire by being a candidate for governor of the great state of Texas two years hence."

MANY TESTS OF INTEREST AT ELECTRA

Graphic Story of Activities in the Fields Surrounding the City, Covering New Extensions.

Farmers Hold Meeting and Discuss Marketing Methods; Social Chatter and Personal Mention.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 25.—A summary of the activities throughout the district for the past week reveals many interesting tests. The field has been extended in three different localities, as wells in the outskirts of the field have been brought in and placed in the production column. Considerable new territory has been added and already leasing activity has started throughout the field, one or two good deals already being reported and several others being considered.

The most important well of the week is the Haskell & D'Armont No. 1 Waggoner in the north part of section 148 just about a mile directly south of the city on the road leading out through the Southland addition. The top of the sand was found at 1460 feet and the fluid was standing about 800 feet in the hole the first of the week. At the last reports the outside casing was being pulled and arrangements for placing it on the pump being made.

This well opens a vast amount of new territory. The nearest production is the R. O. Harvey well a full mile south, which was completed only about thirty days ago and itself extended the field about a half mile. The R. O. Harvey well is reported holding up good on the pump and it is thought that the well has settled down to about thirty-five or forty barrels.

Well on Section Ten.

Fisher, Strawn Bros. et al completed a well during the latter part of last week in the middle of section 10, J. A. Fisher one mile east and slightly north of Electra that has resulted in opening up considerable new territory. This well got the top of the sand 1010 feet and is estimated good for 25 or 30 barrels since being placed on the pump. This well is nearly a mile south of the L. P. Douglas lease where the Buffalo Texas Oil company has some good production and is also nearly a mile north east of the shallow production in the west edge of the Fowlkes district. This territory has been regarded unfavorably on account of tests drilled several years ago which were reputed to be failures. However like in many other instances the shallow sands were passed up in those days of cheap oil and it remains for other operators to come along now and get the production.

A South Extension.

Great interest has been manifested in the section of the country around the Gibson survey, south and west of the old Gladiolus and Planet Districts. The Carteret well in the north part of the section is shewing considerable oil and some salt water and efforts are being made to get the water cut off. The drillers believe that this water is coming from around the casing and have hopes of getting it cut off this week. The company apparently has great confidence in their lease, as they have made three more locations and already have a machine on the ground for the second test. Valuable sands were encountered at 700, 1000 and 1400 feet, any of which would have made good wells, according to the drillers. Two spudders will also be used in developing the sands, and so confident is the company in the appearance of the four sands found, that a tower has already been built in anticipation of pulling the wells.

This territory was again the center of good news when the Griswald Oil company finished their fishing job in their well on the south end of the Gibson and after drilling only a few feet, struck a showing of oil in the time that swabbed fifty barrels Monday. This showing came from 1880-90 but was eased off and the well is being deepened to 1926 to the sand encountered by the Carteret people in their initial well.

In Shallow District.

The shallow pool in the vicinity of sections 33 and 34 has continued to occupy its portion of the lime light. The well completed by Fred Gates et al last week in reported good for around 20 barrels on the pump. Riner & Bailey have also completed their No. 1 well in the north part of 34 which is doing about 20 barrels and are on top of the sand with their No. 2. W. J. Grisham et al have also made their first completion, getting the top of the sand at 467 feet. J. J. Perkins has also completed his first well which is of about the same production as the rest of the wells in that vicinity. This makes a total of six wells that have now been completed in the south end of 33 and the north end of 34.

East of Gladiolus.

The territory adjoining the Griswald on the north and east is also attracting considerable attention. The well which was completed by Lincoln, Beasley & McDonnald last week in the 1900-foot sand has been placed on a beam and is steadily increasing its production. The well pumped 82 barrels by actual test yesterday. A location has been made by the same company for their No. 3, 50 feet east of No. 1, which will be drilled into the 900-foot sand. Over on the Jennings, E. M. Fouch et al have completed their No. 4 at 842 feet which is showing production good for around 35 barrels.

Up in Wilbarger county the Planet Petroleum company has made a location on block 2, section 43, where a test to the 2100-foot sand will be drilled with a machine. Up near Vernon the West Vernon Oil company has made arrangements to drill their well down deeper from 2900 feet.

The Fowlkes District.

Nothing of unusual interest is reported from the Fowlkes district, although many of the wells that shut down are now drilling and the Texhoma line promises to furnish all the water that is needed for all the tests now drilling in that section. The Mona Marie Oil company is reported to have struck the top of the sand at 1612 feet and have set cement preparatory to drilling in. The Gulf wells have apparently both missed the Magnolia sands and are drilling on down in search of the 2100-foot stuff.

Production Report

Very little change is manifested in the production report of the field for the week as the completions have been slowed down on account of the water shortage. The few wells completed have about offset the falling off of flush production. Following is an estimate of the runs handled by the various companies:

Texas company	3,800
Magnolia	3,350
Red River	375
Gulf	560
Miscellaneous	4,415
Total	12,500

Production from the Kemp, Munger, Allen and Iowa Park district has shown a slight decrease and the average for the past 10 days credits those fields with 3,912 barrels.

Completions

Riner and Bailey No. 1 Waggoner, section 34, completed at 480 feet, estimate production 25 barrels. No. 2 drilling in one location east of No. 1, no estimate on production given.

Haskell and D'Armont, also known as Spencer and D'Armont, also as Eureka Production company, No. 1 Waggoner, corner of section 148, has top of sand at 1,460 feet, showing up for 100 barrels.

W. J. Grisham et al., a short distance south of the Petroleum Producers lease, has sand at 467 feet, which is showing up for about 15 barrels.

Drilling Report

W. J. Grisham et al. No. 1 Waggoner, section 34, is testing sand at 467 feet.

Carteret Oil company No. 1 Waggoner on the Gibson survey, is trying to cut off salt water from sand at 1,926 feet. No. 2 is a machine on location 30 yards east and south. Nos. 3 and 4 are locations for spudders. This company is also reported to have locations in sections 33 and 34.

Griswold Oil company No. 1 Waggoner, has recovered tools and started drilling. Fifty barrels of oil were swabbed from the lime at 1,880 to 1,890, but the well is being drilled deeper to try for the 1926-foot sand found in the Carteret.

J. H. Howell No. 1 Waggoner, Gibson survey, is shut down at 600 feet for water.

John O'Neil No. 1 Rio Bravo drilling at 300 feet.

Troxel et al. No. 1 Rio Bravo drilling at 430 feet.

Lungen, Bundy and McDannell No. 3 Burnett, section 6, has spudded.

Schultz, Heyder & Richards No. 1 Waggoner, section 28, shut down for water at 180 feet.

Standard Oil Land & Leasing company No. 1 Duke is drilling at 700 feet.

Barr, Johnson & Weaver No. 1 Burnett drilling at 920 feet.

National Oil Fields company No. 1 Jennings, section 8 has rigged up and is awaiting water connections to spud.

James T. Cumley et al No. 1 Jennings, section 12, is rigging up.

Chas. Kolp No. 5 Waggoner is plugging back to 860-foot sand to complete.

Quimby et al No. 1 Burnett, section 6, has spudded.

Bridwell & Heydrick No. 10 Waggoner setting casing over 1400-foot sand.

Gulf Production company No. 1 B Jennings, section 11, drilling at 1320 feet.

Kentucky Petroleum company No. 1 Waggoner, section 13, testing sand at 880 feet.

Lomax et al No. 1 Waggoner, section 13, drilling at 750 feet.

J. J. Perkins et al No. 1 Wagganer, section 33, east of the Petroleum Producers company completing in 480-foot sand. Good for about 20 barrels.

E. M. Fouch et al No. 4 Jennings, section 12, completed at 842 feet, estimate production 35 barrels.

Farmers Hold Meeting.

At the meeting held Saturday afternoon at the chamber of commerce, representative farmers from all sections of the country met to discuss the market situation regarding the disposal of milk, butter and other farm produce. A number of interesting talks were made by members of the agriculture bureau and the farmers in attendance and the fact was revealed that Electra finds it necessary to import something like one hundred gallons of milk each day to supply her present needs.

It was pointed out that before steps were taken to greatly increase the grade of live stock in the community and to promote the dairying industry that steps should first be taken to create better market conditions.

One of the greatest factors in providing a good market is a plant for pasteurizing the milk. A committee was appointed among the farmers to investigate the advisability of establishing such a plant in this city and find the cost. H. J. Flushie, a prominent farmer residing north of the city, headed the committee.

As soon as the committee can get the information desired another meeting will be held and a method of financing the proposition presented.

Plans have practically been shaped for the April Trades Day, which is slated for April 1st. The advertising matter has been printed and appears this week, containing many snappy bargains from all the leading merchants of the city. The advertising is being sent out a little earlier this month than usual in order that it may have a wide distribution and the citizens have an opportunity to share in the values that will be offered.

Community Auction

The community auction sale will be one of the big features. Already numerous entries have been made. This sale promises to be a big one with some real offerings. Manager Johnson, of the Chamber of Commerce, is authority for the statement that the farmers have already been liberal with their listings and among the items that will be sold are some pure bred Poland China hogs and some pure strain Buff Leghorn chickens. There are also numerous other things listed.

E. V. Halton, who is chairman of the community auction committee has appointed a number of farmers to assist him in interesting the farmers from various communities in the sale. A representative has been appointed in each community who will see that his neighbors learn of the affair and list whatever stuff they may have in time that they can be advertised in the papers.

Encourage Early Listing

The committee will endeavor to get the people who may have things for sale to furnish their lists at least 10 days prior to the date of sale. Stuff that is brought in later should be held until the next auction, although the committee will not insist on this. It is pointed out that if the item is thoroughly advertised buyers will be attracted who might not otherwise attend the sale, which will result in the seller receiving a better price for his offering.

May Have Speaker

As April 1st is the anniversary of the discovery of oil in this field, the Chamber of Commerce is making efforts to secure some speaker of statewide reputation to be present and deliver a speech. It was first planned to get Lucian Parrish to deliver this address but his unfortunate accident of the past week has removed this from the realm of possibilities. There is a chance that Governor Neff may be here as he is slated to be in this section of the country about that time. However some speaker will be obtained. It had also been considered possible that an automobile show could be arranged by the cooperation of Electra and Wichita Falls dealers, but after considerable time had been spent on the matter it was finally given up as a hopeless proposition.

Personal Mention.

Among the newcomers to Electra are Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Cullum who have established their residence in the city. Mr. Cullum is local manager for the R. O. Harvey interests which consists of several wells in this field. Mr. and Mrs. Cullum were only recently married, Mrs. Cullum formerly being Miss Edith Yates, of Wichita Falls.

A. T. McDannale was in Mexia the first of the week looking after business interests.

L. L. Awtrey is here from Mexia looking after business. He expects to spend the majority of his time here in the future.

G. H. Mahlstead and R. H. Mock, of Fort Worth were here the first of the week from Fort Worth for a visit to the oil fields. These gentlemen own considerable production in the Ranger fields and are considering acquiring acreage in this section of the country for development.

J. H. Howell left Wednesday for Fort Worth and Dallas where he will spend several days on business.

D. E. Smith was transacting business in Wichita Falls Tuesday.

S. O. Wilson, proprietor of the Wilson Drug company at Harrold, was here Monday on business.

George F. Smith of Waxahachie, Texas, was here the past week looking after his oil interests.

John O'Neil, well known oil operator of Wichita Falls, was in the city the first of the week in the interest of wells which he is drilling in this field.

W. D. Oliver, of Kansas City, has been here this week transacting business.

W. P. Lincoln has returned from Mexia where he has been looking after business interests.

P. J. Flynn left the first of the week for St. Paul, after spending several days here in the interest of his oil properties.

Jack Coombs of Wichita Falls was here Wednesday on business.

William Huey, assistant manager of the Jefferson Hotel, was in Vernon Tuesday night to receive initiatory work in the Elks. He reports a "hot" time.

Mrs. Sam Summers has returned from Dallas where she has been visiting relatives for the past ten days.

Curtis Mouser left Sunday for Cisco, where he has accepted a position as linotype operator on one of the newspapers in that city.

J. L. McDavid of Abilene, has been here for several days visiting his sons, who are engaged in business.

J. R. Welsh and M. L. Bullard of the firm of Bullard & Welsh, real estate and lonas of Wichita Falls were visitors in the good city yesterday.

Sam Lantz, prominent Iowa Park merchant was visiting in the city yesterday.

D. H. Vaughn of Harrold was visiting in the city Wednesday.

The Young Married Ladies Circle of the First Baptist church meet Monday afternoon for the purpose of electing new officers as follows: President, Mrs. Earnest Ford; secretary, Mrs. Ed Smith; treasurer, Mrs. C. Pemberton; supervisor of music, Mrs. Geo. Simmons; personal service chairman, Mrs. Charlie Smith; reporter, Mrs. J. L. Clayton. The Circle welcomed two new members, Mrs. W. O. Watson and Mrs. C. Pemberton. The day of meeting was changed to Thursday instead of Monday.

Mrs. J. M. Frazier of Belton, Texas, is here this week as the guest of her son Bruce Frazier, who is deputy field supervisor of the U. S. railroad commission.

A most enjoyable visit to Wichita Falls is reported by 51 members of the local Eastern Star, who were guests of the chapter in that city Tuesday night. The Wichita Falls lodge exemplified the work on five candidates in a most beautiful manner, which won the commendation of the guests from this city. Those who made the visit reported a most enjoyable occasion.

Kiwanians to Stage a Snappy Program Monday

A snappy program for the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday is promised by the program committee. The principal speaker for the day will not be announced until later. One of the musical features of the luncheon will be the Patrician quintette. This feature was postponed from last week.

Dr. H. G. White will donate the attendance prize. J. T. Harrell, new member of the club, will be the giver of the silent boost. E. P. Williamson and Frank Collier, two new members, will be welcomed at the meeting.

Members of the club are urged to answer the questionnaires sent out in order that an immediate decision can be made as to the activities of the club for the coming year. A report on the recent show staged by the club will be made at the luncheon.

Obituary

JOHN DEPROY

John DeProy, 37, restaurant keeper of Burkburnett, died at a local hospital Saturday night following a short illness. His body will be shipped to Burkburnett Monday for burial. He is survived by a wife and by a brother living at Burkburnett.

FRANK RILL

Funeral services for Frank Rill, who died Friday at his home east of this city will be held today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. A. Callahan, 208 Lamar street. Rev. T. S. Pittinger, pastor of the First Methodist church, will have charge of the services. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

In the Training Quarters of The Donkey and the Elephant

They know what they want—votes.

They know who will toss the ballots into the boxes—four million American legionnaries.

Coming home to Texas Republicans are planing for a state campaign, educational and otherwise. They have the federal patronage this year. They have an organization that was created in 1920. Colonel W. E. Talbot is director of the state organization.

He is a former service man, won honors in France, has headquarters in the city of Dallas and reports that he has county organizations functioning in 208 out of the 250 organized counties of the state. Forty-five county organizations for women have been formed.

Republicans are to be represented by candidates for every state office and in a vast number of counties by candidates for county offices. Republicans will hold convention primaries this year.

In 1920 the Harding electors received more than 100,000 votes. Republicans will hold precinct primaries on July 22 for the selection of precinct chairman and delegates for the county conventions on July 29 when they will name county chairmen all over the state.

A leading Republican will be nominated for governor, a distinguished Republican for United States senator and there will be eighteen Republican candidates for Congress in the eighteen congressional districts.

All this in the face of the fact that Mr. Blythe has shrouded the corpse of the Democratic party and is preparing to shrive the copse of the Republican party when the elephant has followed the donkey from this vale of tears to the cemetery.

Governor John M. Parker of Lohisiana refused to die when Undertaker Blythe read the graveyard service at the bier of the donkey. Governor Parker, speaking for the democracy, of Louisiana made an issue that is certain to keep men busy in the Pelican state. This is what he said:

"There is no place in Louisiana for Ku Kluxism, Bolshevism, Radicalism or any other ism that tends to destroy peace and order * * * I now call upon all officers of the state to suppress with an iron hand the evil of Ku Kluxism wherever it raises its head at the approaching session of the legislature. I will appear to that body in the name of order and good government to enact a law making it a felony for any man to hide behind a mask to drag the good name of this state in the mire, to bring contempt for law and civilization. Where great evils exist, honest men and brave men will stand in the open fearlessly to see that they are corrected with no need of disguise."

Governor Parker is a native son and a national character. In his youth he fought the rule of the Louisiana lottery. There came a time in New Orleans when the mafia sought to terrorize that city. Its secret agents assassinated Chief of Police David Hennessey who was widely known for his courage, his integrity and his championship of law enforcement.

Five hundred sons of Louisiana met in the broad open light of the day in the city of New Orleans. Behind the barred doors and windows of the Parrish prison were the mafia assassins.

To the jail marched the champions of justice.

When they had completed the job there were twelve dead assassins in the prison yard and the Mafia died in the city of New Orleans.

Who led the champions of law and order, who were unmasked and who marched unafraid in the sunlight?

Why ask the question?

Men are not even sleeping in Texas. On the day that Governor John M. Parker blew the blast on his bugle State Senator H. B. Darwin of Paris, Lamar county, let loose an interview in which he denounced the alleged activities of the Klan and criticized Governor Neff severely because he said the governor never had taken a definite stand on the Klan.

State Senator Floyd of Red River county is said to have approved heartily of Darwin's stand and then, according to the Dallas News, Darwin received in less than three hours a hundred long distance telephone calls from all over the state urging him to announce for governor against Neff on an Anti-Klan platform.

Politics is certainly a funny as well as a fascinating game.

Governor Neff is on the road filling speaking engagements. He was in the city of Fort Worth when the Darwin denunciation appeared. Its effect was both magical and electrical. The Record-News of Saturday morning carried the following:

"FORT WORTH, Texas, March 24.—Governor Neff offered the services of State Rangers to Dallas authorities in their investigation of flogging cases. He said in his message to District Attorney Maury Hughes of Dallas County: 'THE LAWLESS ELEMENT OF TEXAS IS NOT ONLY STRUGGLING FOR POLITICAL RECOGNITION BUT IS ACTUALLY TRYING TO TAKE UNTO ITSELF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAW. I STAND FOR THE COURT HOUSE AND FOR HER OFFICERS AND AGAINST THE MOB. THE POWER OF THE STATE IS AT YOUR COMMAND.' PAT M. NEFF, Governor."

If Sam Blythe, Mr. Samuel Geronimo Blythe, will visit Louisiana and Texas later in the campaign year he may discover that the donkey is almost unmanagable and that the elephant, having noted the speeding proclivities developed by the erstwhile docile or dead brute, had decided to take upon itself new life hugging to its breast the delusion that the speed soul of an Arabian thoroughbred and entered its frame for a political race track tryout.

"What fools these mortals be."

WORK ON WATER PROJECT SHOWS GOOD PROGRESS

Usual progress was registered last week on the various portions of the irrigation project under construction, although no new work was undertaken.

The survey for the south canal, 15 miles of which are under construction, and five or six miles down about to grade, has been completed practically to Call Field. It is expected that the right of way will be igned up completely within a few days, and additional grading outfits put to work on the ditch.

Construction of camps by Davis Brothers, who have the cement subcontract for the entire project, is about complete. Rock crushers will be ready to go at their camps both at the storage and diversion dams this week, it is expected. The hauling of rock started last week.

At the diversion dam about half of the sheet steel piling in the embankment is driven. The power drag line is at work on the embankment here. At the storage dam the second power "steam shovel" got under way in excavation for the enormous conduits, and a drag line is expected to be put to work here soon. The grading subcontractor who has the lighter part of the embankment, started to work last week. Work on building the hull for the floating dredge at the storage dam proceeded rapidly during the week.

Studio Players On Program of University Club

The membership of the University club will be entertained at their regular weekly luncheon on Tuesday next at the Kemp hotel by Miss Elvia Allmen and Miss Bruce Dickson of the Studio Players and by the Patrician quintette. In announcing the above artists, the entertainment committee of the club assure the membership a most enjoyable luncheon hour.

Miss Allmen will give several readings and Miss Dickson will speak on the work of the Studio Players, who are endeavoring to establish the "Little Theater" movement in this city.

In announcing the securing of the Patrician quintette, Paul Von Allmen, chairman of the committee on music of the University club, tells the members that he has a winner

SUBPOENA FOR APPEARANCE OF ARMOUR ISSUED

By Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, March. 25.—A subpoena for the appearance here Monday of J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, to testify at the agriculture department's hearing into the suit brought by the local livestock exchange company against Armour & Company and the Fowler Packing company, was placed in the hands of District Attorney Clyne at Chicago, it was announced here today. The hearing which is expected to last a month, is the result of complaints filed with Secretary Wallace by the local exchange in conjunction with representatives of 34 livestock associations in 24 states, charging the packers with attempting to monopolize the hog market in their local yards.

More than five hundred farmers throughout the southwest have been summoned to appear, it was stated.

The suit was filed by Secretary Wallace under the packer stock yards control act.

SEVERAL UNITS OF PROHIBITION NAVY NOW IN OPERATION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—First units of the new prohibition navy are in actual operation somewhere on the Atlantic coast, it was learned today on high official authority.

Officials continue to withhold plans for the sea attack on rum smugglers by the submarine chasers operated by the prohibition bureau, but it was declared that several vessels are now on duty on Florida waters and that others are cruising farther north.

Officials indicated that as rapidly as additional subchasers obtained from the coast guard can be put into commission they will slip out to sea under sealed orders to join in the proposed rum patrol along the Atlantic coast line.

Lieutenant R. L. Jack, of the coast guard, the "admiral" of the prohibition fleet, is to have direct charge of the operation of his miniature warships, it was stated officially.

Commissioner Haynes, it was understood, was waiting until the new prohibition enforcement army was in full swing before making any statement in order to avoid the possibility of information reaching the ears of the enemy.

HAS FAIR HELEN DECIDED TO WED FOURTH HUBBY?

"Social gamblers" in New York are laying odds that Baron Fermoy will wed Countess Vlora of Roumania as soon as she divorces her present husband, the count. The countess is better known as Helen Kelly, dancer and first wife of Frank Gould. She has started her divorce action in Paris, where Fermoy is showering his attentions upon her.

JOHN N. WILLYS TO VISIT HERE WITHIN 60 DAYS

Prominent Automobile Manufacturer Promises Local Dealers Will Pay Early Visit to City.

John N. Willys, president of the Overland Motors company, and one of the best known figures in the automobile world, will visit this city during the next sixty days, according to a promise made by the manufacturing head to Al Booth and R. A. Ebner of the local Overland agency at Dallas on Thursday. Mr. Willys was the guest of honor and principal speaker at a meeting of Overland and Willys Knight dealers held at Dallas. Details in connection with Mr. Willys' visit here will be announced later.

According to reports made at the Dallas meeting the local Overland agency sold more cars than any other agency in the state with the exception of the Houston branch. Mr. Willys told the 250 dealers who attended the meeting that the sale of Willys-Knight motors has necessitated doubling the capacity of the factories and no more shipments will be made for 30 days. Mr. Booth and Mr. Ebner succeeded in obtaining four cars from the Dallas agency for local distribution. The local agency is now receiving a carload of Overlands from the factory weekly.

SHIP POUNDING TO PIECES OFF SABINE PASS

By Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 25.—The Belgian steamship Kremlin, is pounding to pieces off Sabine Pass, according to a telephone message to the coast guard station at Sabine Pass at 9:30 o'clock tonight. The tugs, Hudson and Calvert, have gone to her rescue. The Kremlin left Port Arthur Friday with a cargo of refined oil for Antwerp. Today at noon she reported by wireless that she had grounded 29 miles out. Two hours later she wirelessed that she was pumping her cargo to reduce her draft. Within a short time a wireless message for assistance came. Since then there has been no word.

The coast guard station reports a heavy sea, but very little wind. It is presumed that all of the crew will be saved. A report from the station is expected later tonight.

BANKER AND FORMER MAYOR OF BOWIE DIES

BOWIE, Texas, March 25.—C. H. Boedecker, 70 years old, president of the City National Bank, died today. He served the city as mayor for twelve years and as chief of the fire department for a like period. He also was a farmer and stockman.

The City National Bank of Commerce renders every modern banking service and undertakes to do it in the most helpful and friendly way—the way YOU want it rendered.—Adv.

Compositor Set Headlines for Own Robberies

By Associated Press.

PORT HURON, Mich., March 25.—Frank Davis, 20, compositor for a local newspaper, robbed downtown stores at night and in the daytime set headlines telling of his own exploits, he told Prosecutor Henry Baird today.

Davis, who was arrested today, admitted, according to the prosecutor, a series of 30 robberies. He said he entered the stores "for fun" and that he divided the proceeds with an unknown accomplice for whom the police are searching.

Taking 19 pennies from a cash register in which there were 50 pennies; removing Canadian money from a cash register and leaving American currency undisturbed and taking materials from a first aid kit were among the robberies Davis admitted.

PARRISH IS HOLDING OWN, SAYS REPORT

"Congressman Parrish is holding his own," was the statement from attending physicians Saturday night. The congressman has not been showing the improvement that was hoped for during the last two days, but it is stated that his condition is practically unchanged. There has been a rise in temperature in the afternoon for the past two days.

There has been no abatement during the week in the interest and concern shown by the people of this entire section in Mr. Parrish's condition, and there are still a large number of telephone calls to newspaper offices, and hospital each day.

The people of Henrietta have been particularly solicitous concerning the progress of their fellow townsman, and there are callers every day from that place, while those who do not come in person keep informed by means of long distance.

BOY TELLS OF FATAL AFFRAY WITH TEACHER

By Associated Press.

MARLIN, Texas, March 25.—Odas Spivey, 14-year-old school boy, is held here for juvenile court under $500 bond charged with killing C. W. Kannenberg, 26, principal of the Meanahan school, near here who died yesterday from being struck over the ear with pointed end of an iron bar.

At a preliminary hearing, young Spivey, son of a prominent farmer, said the teacher ordered him to stay in school after hours Thursday. He said he ran out, but was caught by Kannenberg, who carried him back to the classrooms and threatened to whip him. The lad said he again tried to run from the room and when the principal attempted to head him off, he seized the iron bar and threw it at Kannenberg. "I think I knocked him down," Spivey said. He then ran home.

Kannenberg did not regain consciousness from the blow and died the following day. He was an overseas veteran and formerly lived at Kaufman.

BARS NEGROES SHRINE NAMES AND EMBLEMS

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, March 25.—A temporary injunction of nationwide importance, restraining negro Shriners throughout the United States from wearing the Shrine emblem and from using names peculiar to the Shrine for their organizations was granted today by Judge Ewing Boyd in the fifty-fifth district court.

The writ was obtained by George H. Pruter, potentate of Arabia, temple of Houston and the temple's other officers. It is against Doris temple, Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order, Nobles of Mystic Shrine of North and South America, a local negro organization, and against the national organization of the same name, with headquarters in Chicago.

Judge Boyd enjoined them from using "any such names or colorable imitation thereof" and from "using, wearing, or displaying the emblems, insignia, badge or head covering" of the order.

John H. Crooker, attorney for Arabia temple, who filed the petition for the injunction, explained that the court obtained jurisdiction to enjoin the national negro organization as the result of an intervention filed by that organization in the original suit, fled several years ago of Arabia temple against Doris temple of Houston.

QUERY NEFF ON STAND TOWARD KU KLUX KLAN

Direct Question Propounded in Letter Dispatched Saturday and Signed by 30-Odd Wichitans.

A definite statement as to his attitude toward activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the state is asked of Governor Neff in a letter signed by 30-odd Wichitans, which was dispatched Saturday morning.

In asking this question, the letter refers to Governor Neff's recent condemnations of mob violence, and to the absence of any direct pronouncement on the Ku Klux Klan in this connection. The letter, which bears the signatures of a number of Wichitans who have taken a prominent part in politics, and several who were Neff supporters last year, follows:

"Hon. Pat M. Neff,

"Governor of the State of Texas,

"Austin, Texas.

"Dear Sir: We notice from the press dispatches of March 23 and also of March 25, that you condemn mob violence and stand for law enforcement; but you fail to state whether or not you object to the activities of the K. K. K. within the borders of the State of Texas.

"Be kind enough to advise us your attitude as to this organization.

Respectfully

(Signed)

"R. M. Waggoner, E. E. Fisher, E. M. Hughes, A. Zundelowitz, Elmer de Montel, J. R. Ogle, Edgo P. Haney, B. F. Johnson, W. R. Duke, C. A. Parker, James T. Cumley, S. I. McKee, T. B. Noble, C. M. MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

Palmer injunction against the packers; livestock commission houses were lucrative patrons of the newspaper but the slump in livestock receipts lessened their patronage. A very newsy publication was the Livestock Daily Reporter. It was one of the institutions of the Fort Worth livestock district. Gone are "the good old days."

Congressman Andrew Volstead of Minnesota is the author of the Federal Prohibition Act. Volstead is a name that will live in American history but Minnesota Republicans, like republics, are ungrateful. Volstead is a candidate for re-election from the Seventh Minnesota district. Complete returns from all the county conventions show that the man whose name made him famous has only a handfull of delegates pledged to support his nomination. Another Republican who is popular with non-partisan leaguers and the wets of the district is seeking the nomination. His name? Theodore Christianson. There are many Scandinavian voters in the Volstead district; they are staunch Republicans. Theodore is one of them and of and for them and he hopes to win the prize. All great men are pushed up the rungs of the ladder of fame until they find themselves seated on the apex of the ladder. Then the mob down below shakes the ladder and down tumbles the fame winners.

Henry Ford has an eye to business. On March 20 he began to increase employes at all plants 20 per cent with preference given to former service men. A wise man knows the value of publicity. History may be bunk but publicity of the right sort isn't. Henry knows it. He has tried it.

A wise man said in the long ago "justice and not the judge is sacred." Away down here in Texas when a milk chocolate is sold as food it is not a violation of the law to sell it on Sunday; when it is sold as a beverage on Sunday it is a violation of the law. It is well to keep up with the procession.

STOMACH TROUBLE

In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Indigestion Gases Acidity
Sourness Flatulence Palpitation

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; you belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only sixty cents for a large case at drug stores.—Adv.

McGraw Musta Saved Schupp to Lick Spuds

FERDIE STOPS SALM'S PETS, AND BLUES NOSE 'EM OUT IN TENTH. 3-1

Rabbit Dorough and George Knadler Hurl Fine Ball and Otto Knabe's Fast Kansas City Crew Is Forced to Come From Behind to Grab the Second Game of the Series.

"Yea, Bo, McGraw Is Saving Schupp for Seventh Game"
—Bugs Baer's 1917 Explanation.

By "NICK" CARTER.

There be men in our fair city, there be, who will recall from the dead past that wild wail of Baer's; men who shot the family bankroll on the New York Giants five years ago in the sixth game of the world series in the calm and certain knowledge that Ferdie Schupp would pitch—and bitter was the anguish when Ferdie didn't, and the Chicago White Sox won that sixth game and the world's championship—and bitterer still was the anguish of those men as Bugs Baer for days afterwards tossed to the world his published explanation: "Yea, Bo, McGraw is saving Schupp for the seventh game!"

That same Ferdie Schupp southpawed the Spudders into innocuous desuetude, bookworm and blind staggers yesterday afternoon. The Spudders were getting along cheerfully enough with Joe Morris, and had inserted sufficient scattered hits to be leading Kansas City 1 to 0, when Otto Knabe decided to shove that grand old Giant battery, Schupp and McCarthy, into the fray—and Ferdie broke his benders over every corner of the platter, cut a fast one loose with a hop on 'er, and in general bamboozled the Spuds until his fellow Blues had tied the score in the ninth and had tucked the game in the hot bag, 3 to 1, in the tenth.

I don't want to take any glory away from Joe Morris, who pitched a sweet brand of baseball—but I've got to hand it to Ferdie Schupp just the same. He stopped the Spudders cold in a hot finish on a cold day.

Throw the weather into the discard, and that ball game was a humdinger, leave the weather in the deck and the game was filled with shivers.

Oh, Jake, Oh, Bob!

Jakie Miller and Bob McAbee in combination sorta lost the old ball game for the Spudders, but I wouldn't criticize either of 'em. Jake declined to "git for home" with a reasonably certain chance of scoring the winning run in the last of the ninth, and by loafing slowly up the line was nipped at the plate—while McAbee, sent in by Skipper Salm to offer southpaw slants to the Blues in the tenth, couldn't find the old platter at all, walked four men and permitted the visitors to score two runs without a hit.

But when a ball player as faithful on the job as is Jake Miller refuses to run like the dickens and hit the dirt in an exhibition game played in cold, wretched weather—well, there are times when I'm in favor of him saving his legs for later use in Texas league pennant battles; we don't want to open this approaching season as we closed it last year, with a crippled outfield. As for Bob McAbee, he's just a high school youngster Salm is trying to develop and he can't be expected to face a crew of old major league sluggers and display the greatest control in the world.

The loss of a ball game to Kansas City in the tenth inning is little enough to worry about, anyway. The sweet thing is to rejoice over the grand and gallumptious array of Texas league talent Wichita Falls has today—infield, outfield, catching staff and hurling corps, the best the Spudders ever started with.

As Good As the Cats.

I asked Bunny Brief, Kansas City first sacker and a brainy, heady ball player, after the game yesterday how he considered the Spudders in comparison with Fort Worth:

"Wichita Falls has just as good a ball club as Fort Worth," he answered. "When your men have played together a little longer you'll have one of the toughest clubs in the minor league to beat; it's an unusually powerful club with the bat, and if the pitching stands up you'll deal a lot of misery to all of 'em."

I put the same question to Emmett Cronin, of the Kansas City Post:

"Wichita Falls and Fort Worth have both got great ball clubs," was the way he answered. "There's nothing for your club to worry about. You've got a fight on your hands of course, but it don't look to me after watching both the Spudders and the Cats that you fellows here will start the season under any handicap."

"If the pitching stands up," said Bunny—well, it stood up nobly again yesterday. Rabbit Dorough started on the hill for the Salmites, and labored for five innings in the course of which the best the Blues could do was to garner a lonely two-bagger and an equally lonely infield hit. George Knadler worked four innings and allowed only two singles. I don't ask much better twirling than the various Spudder flingers have dished out in these six exhibition games, do you?

With the exception of a wild heave by White, the Spuds played an errorless game in the field, every man attending strictly to his knitting. Homer Summa, in addition to dragging in four high ones, showed the fans that he also has a jo-darby of a whip when he cut the ball loose in the ninth and nailed Good at the plate attempting to bring in the winning run. Ray Schmidt handled the ball perfectly on the play, and also closed the inning with a beautiful running catch of a high foul in front of the Spudders' bench.

Here's how it all happened:

First.

Kay See: Dowd fanned. Becker crashed one against the right field fence for two bases. Bischoff negged Good out at first and Brief flied to O'Brien. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Spuds: Good made a beautiful nose dive and tail spin in right field coming up with the ball and thereby robbing Summa of a hit. White was thrown out by Morris. O'Brien singled to center, and McDonald fouled to Lutzke who made a nifty running catch in front of the bleachers. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second.

Kay See: Beck retired Zwilling, McCarthy died McDonald to Beck and White threw out Lutzke. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Beck flied to short, Miller struck out, Sorey was hit by a pitched ball and Bischoff flied to Becker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third.

Kay See: Murphy flied to Miller, Morris flied to White and Dowd popped to Sorey. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Dorough died on a deflected pellet, pitcher to second to first. Dowd threw out Summa, Murphy threw out White. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth.

Kay See: Becker flied to Summa. Sorey threw out Good and Brief went out White to Beck. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: O'Brien lined to Zwilling. Morris tossed out Tex. Beck doubled against the right field fence. Lutzke's peg beat Jake Miller to the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth.

Kay See: Zwilling popped to Sorey. McCarthy beat out a hit down the third base line, Tex making a wonderful stop. Lutzke hit to White who threw the ball to the clubhouse in attempting to start a double play, McCarthy going to third and Lutzke to second. Murphy struck out and Morris flied to O'Brien. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Spuds: Sorey was thrown out by Murphy, Bischoff flied to left and Comstock, batting for Dorough, went out to Brief unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth.

Kay See: Knadler and Schmidt now working for the Spuds. Dowd fanned. Becker flied to Summa and Goode popped to White. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Summa singled to right and White sacrificed him along to second on a roller to Morris. O'Brien singled to left, putting Summa on third. Tex hit a sacrifice fly to deep center scoring Summa. Beck singled to right, O'Brien taking third. Beck stole second, and Miller flied to center. One run, three hits, no errors.

Seventh.

Kay See: Brief died short to first, Zwilling flied to Miller and McCarthy fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Schupp now pitching for Kansas City. Sorey struck out, Schmidt followed suit and so did Knadler. Ferdie breezed 'em in! No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth.

Kay See: Lutzke fanned and fought it out with Umpire Magee. No decision. Murphy received the first base on balls of the game, and was forced at second by Schupp. McDonald to Sorey. Knadler tossed out Dowd. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Schupp made it four in a row by fanning Summa. White flied to left. O'Brien walked and Brief made a meat-hand grab of McDonald's hot grounder. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth.

Kay See: Becker walked, and scored by a foot when Good doubled down the right field line. Brief singled to right, and Good was caught at the plate on a great throw by Summa. Zwilling flied to Summa, and McCarthy fouled out to Schmidt. One run, two hits, no errors.

Spuds: Beck walked and went to second on Miller's left field single. Sorey moved 'em both up a peg, dying pitcher to first. Kitchens, batting for Schmidt, was purposely given four wide ones, filling the bases. Allen batted for Knadler and crashed a hot one at Schupp, who made a startling grab in the dirt and forced Beck at the plate. McCarthy threw over Brief's head attempting to complete the double play and Zwilling also got Miller at the plate when Jake took life too easy. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Tenth.

Kay See: McAbee pitching for the Spudders and Kitchens catching. Lutzke walked, and was sacrificed to second by Murphy, McAbee to Beck. Lutzke went to third on a passed ball and Schupp walked. Dowd hit to Sorey, all hands were safe and Lutzke scored on a fielder's choice when Sorey tried to make the play at the plate. Becker struck out. Good walked, filling the bases and Brief also received a pass, walking in Schupp with another tally. Zwilling flied to Summa. Two runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Summa walked and White whiffed. O'Brien died on a long foul to right. McDonald singled through the box and Beck fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

BATTLE NOTES

Well, that winning streak was finally broken; broken the way I break clay pigeons with a 12-guage—one piece chipped out.

How in heck is a Class A ball club going to continue forever beating major leaguers, anyway? Ever figure out that Kansas City squad? Here are a few of the former major leaguers on it: Skiff, Paskert, Schupp, Caldwell, Morris, Lutzke, McCarthy, Zwilling, Brief, Good, Becker and Dowd. Otto Knabe may have some more hanging around under cover, but those, at least, I know, have all had a fling at the game under the big tent.

There is a chance the Blues may train a few days with the Spudders. They were booked to tackle Oklahoma City next, but may lay over a while here owing to floods in Oklahoma. A wire from Jack Holland will probably decide the question today.

Salm has sent "Cowboy" Strepy to the Clovis club of the West Texas league on option. Buzz Wetzel will have a regular baby Spudder class this year; he has already collected six rookies from the skipper.

A new pitcher bobbed up yesterday—one Eugene Watt, an 18-year-old righthander from Beaumont who was recommended by Frank Kitchens.

Leland McElwee, former Spudder utility player, sat in the grandstand yesterday and watched the battle. Mac was supposed to have reported to Johnny Nee's Evansville club of the Three-Eye league, but he apparently isn't satisfied with the proffered berth. He denied he is a holdout, but just grinned when questioned pointblank about his plans.

With Zwilling at bat, Knadler pitching, Schmidt catching and Otto Knabe coaching on third—well, dogone my hide, give me another pretzel and a glass of beer!

Let's step out today, gang, and grab the final game of the "serious." Looks like Abe Bowman's turn to work.

PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN TO CITY LOOP PLAYERS

Leading Run Getter, Base Stealer, and Home Run Hitter to Be Rewarded by Local Merchants.

Players in the City league will have a number of prizes to battle for this summer, thanks to the generosity of several local merchants.

The leading run getter of the circuit will receive a hunting jacket from the Little Sporting Goods company; the leading base stealer can collect a sweater from Collier & Landon; the "Babe Ruth" of the loop will wear a Stetson lid at the expense of the Loeb-Leipold company, and the player with the highest batting average can shed his spikes later and pull on a pair of Hanan shoes offered as a prize by the P. B. M. company.

All of the prizes will be awarded at the end of the season, the awards being made from the records taken from the league secretary's books. The records will be furnished to the secretary by the various team scorers.

ROOKIE PITCHER MAKES LAUGHS FOR SUPERBAS

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Were we to plan a series entitled "Humorists I Have Known," Exhibit 2 would be Bill Bischop, recruit pitcher in the camp of the Dodgers at Jacksonville, Fla. Bill is a left-hander by nature, by instinct and apparently by preference.

Arriving at Jacksonville from the thriving metropolis of Franklin, Pa., he was greeted by the good Mr. Ebbets, who noted the young man's ample jaw and forthwith relieved himself of the following:

"They say you are a pitcher, but you look more like a fighter to me."

"I can do both," quoth the obliging Mr. Bischop and because he seemed inclined to prove it without further ado, the Squire suddenly recollected a pressing engagement elsewhere. The squire was really contrite about having neglected that appointment.

He's Sure Cocksure.

So much for Mr. Bischop's entree. It was typical of what was to follow.

Mention, with justifiable excitement, that a man in Peoria had shaved himself with a saw and immediately you were given to understand that you dealt, exclusively, in conversational bromides. Bill often shaved himself with a saw and afterward eased the roughened jowl with a file.

He could and did do everything that was ever done. And if a man specialized in doing nothing, Bill was authority for the statement that he himself could do less than that without trying at all.

A modest youth, indeed. One of those painfully self-conscious young men, the kind that you like to back into a corner and sort of draw them out.

A Blunderbus Blunders.

After listening to Bill for a week, the Dodgers arrived at the same belief. They would have liked to back him into a corner and there draw him out after the manner of Jack Dempsey drawing out a sparring partner.

But that was several weeks ago. Today his little playmates regard him as one more to be pitied than censured. An illuminating incident of several days ago had much to do with the change in sentiment.

Finding himself considerably mystified by the activities of a rotund person who seemed to be hanging on with the club for no reason at all, Mr. Bischop took his troubles to Leon Cadore.

"Who is the fat slob?" he asked.

Mr. Bischop had been with the club for two weeks and didn't even know the manager.

PAYS GOOD COIN TO TRY OUT, BUT GETS THE HOOK

CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 25.—It was with regret that Manager Pat Moran, of the Cincinnati National league baseball club, which is in training at Mineral Wells, Texas, passed an adverse judgment upon the ability of Frank Thornton to win a place as pitcher for the Reds.

Moran, after closely watching Thornton's work and although admiring him for his grit and his determination to break in the big league told the boy he was too light just yet for fast company.

The case of Thornton supplies an odd chapter to baseball annals. His home is in Pittsburgh and he is of well-to-do family. He is regarded as one of the best semi-professional pitchers of that city. Believing that he was ripe enough to travel with the big show he came to Cincinnati on the day before the Reds started for Texas. Thornton suggested that he be given a tryout with the team. He said that he would pay his fare to the training camp and all of his expenses while in Mineral Wells just for the chance of exhibiting his pitching wares.

Moran said Thornton showed that he was a quick thinker and not afraid of hard work, but in his opinion there was apparent a pitching weakness that would not pass muster with the big league batsmen.

They Built a Grandstand for the Kids, 'Cause They Once Wore Short Pants Themselves

Lower row, the building committee, left to right: Herbert Voelcker, architect; Charlie Pogenpohl, Western Union manager; J. Will Grey, secretary of the Wichita Falls Baseball Association; Charlie Reid once more, contractor; B. Frank Johnson, chairman of the committee, and Fred Elbert, who "dug up" the lumber.

After the ball season starts, that's "when a feller needs a friend." And the little "fellers" of Wichita Falls this season have found a real friend in the Rotary club which has completed for the use of the youngsters of this city a splendid grandstand at Athletic park. It is the third Rotary "Knothole Gang" grandstand in the United States, the only others being in St. Louis and in Houston, Texas. The boys who receive season passes to this grandstand entitling them to watch the Spudders battle for the Texas league pennant will constitute a gang of real American fellers, and they'll have the support of another gang of real American fellers, a little older, perhaps, but just as youthful at heart.

More power to the Rotary club of this city for its thoughtfulness and to the baseball association for its helpfulness also. Come on, you Spudders, the whole gang's with you; pour it on 'em, 'em!

MEET "HINKEY," ROOKIE PITCHER WITH THE YANKS

"Hinkey" Haines.

Penn State university has two chances of contributing a valuable addition to the roster of the American league champion Yankees Glenn Killinger and Henry Luther "Hinkey" Haines. Killinger is the famous quarter of the Penn grid team of last year. Haines starred in the backfield of the 1920 eleven. He is a pitcher.

GUN CLUB WILL HOLD REGISTERED SHOOT APRIL 20

Officials of the Wichita Falls Gun club yesterday definitely fixed April 20 next as the date for the first registered shoot of the local organization. One registered shoot will be held every month thereafter on the following dates: May 19, June 15, July 14, Aug. 18, Sept. 15 and Oct. 13.

The April event will consist of two events of 25 singles each and 12 pairs of doubles. Fifty cents will be charged for targets, while there will be optional money of $2.50 on each event of the singles, which will be divided four ways among the winning shooters, $40, $30, $20, and $10.

The entry fee in the doubles will be $3. Any shooter can shoot for targets only.

There will be a special prize of a set of silver coffee spoons, in addition to the regular weekly club prize, and also other prizes of merchandise that will be announced later.

Invitations will be sent to all the gun clubs in this section, and it is expected a big crowd of clay pigeon marksmen will be visitors at the local traps.

BURKBURNETT HIGH HOLDS LEAD IN INTERSCHOLASTIC CHAMPIONSHIP MEETING

Burkburnett high school held a 30-point lead last night at the close of the second day of Wichita county interscholastic championship meet. The athletic events scheduled for Saturday were postponed until April 1, owing to rain. The point standing of the various schools last evening were as follows:

Burkburnett	110
Electra	80
Iowa Park	80
County Line	35
Clara	25
Stringtown	20
Cashion	10
Lake View	5
Bradley Corners	4
Friberg	3
Howard	3
Cooper	3
Valley View	3

Although Burkburnett holds apparently a comfortable lead, the track and field events of next Saturday are very likely to upset the "dope" as both Electra and Iowa Park have a number of good athletes who can be counted upon to score heavily.

The results:

Tennis Finals.

Boys Doubles: Francis Felty and James Wellman, of Burkburnett, first; Robert Van Horn and Earl Denney, of Iowa Park, second.

Boys Singles: Dalton Hill of Iowa Park, first, defeating Julius Knauth, of Burk, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Girls Doubles: Lucy Cawlfield and Florence Urban, of Burkburnett, defeated Thelma Mathis and Ray Golden, of Iowa Park, 6-4, 6-3.

Girls Singles: Ray Golden, of Iowa Park, defeated Fern Morgan, Burk, 8-6, 6-3.

Volley Ball.

Burkburnett, first, Electra, second. Volley ball will be included in the district championships later if four teams are present.

Spelling.

Sub-Juniors: Zorita Studdard, Clara, first; Charlsie Mae Harding, Iowa Park, second; Belvia Hanna, Electra, third.

Juniors: Lena Autrey, Electra, first; Pauline Rush, Burk, Opal Halton, Friberg and Lucille Marc, Cashion, tied for second; Margaret Moore, County Line, third.

Seniors: Ruby Hunt, Burk, first; Dorothy Shults, Electra, second; Cora Walker, Cashion and Alice Pyeatt, Bradley Corners, tied for third.

Rural Schools Declamation.

Junior Girls: Mildred Rice, Stringtown, first; Jonnie Lou Sanders, County Line, second; Pauline Nichols, Howard, third.

Senior Girls: Lerne Taylor, County Line, first; Osa Blackwell, Cashion, second; Ella Burnam, Valley View, third.

Junior Boys: Clyde Fillmore, Stringtown, first; Ben Haynes, County Line, second; B. O. Cooper, Cooper school, third.

Senior Boys: Hobson Thomas, County Line, first; James Walker, Lake View, second.

High School Declamation.

Junior Girls: Inez Igon, Electra, first; Nora Lou Hanks, Burk, second; Katherine Ralston, Iowa Park, third.

Senior Girls: Daisy Patrick, Burk first; Jene Mitchell, Iowa Park, second; Otilla Bungard, Bradley Corners, third.

Junior Boys: Ishmael Corder, Iowa Park, first; George Brown, Electra, second; Tom Robinson, Burk third.

Senior Boys: Winfred Page, Burk, first; Marion Jordan, Clara, second; Malcolm Kelley, Electra, third.

Debate.

Girls: Lucy Cawlfield and Florence Urban, Burkburnett, defeated Mytris Williams and Olive White, Iowa Park.

Boys: Sam Blackburn and George Burns, Electra, first; Samuel Spencer and George Lake, Iowa Park, second.

SCHAEFFER AND HOPPE READY FOR 18.2 MATCH

Each Has Ended Long Session of Training for What May Be Greatest Billiard Contest Ever Staged.

CHICAGO, Mar. 25.—Jake Schaefer and Willie Hoppe tonight virtually had completed their preparations for the world's championship 18.2 balkline billiard match starting on Monday night, which promises to be one of the greatest contests in billiard history. Hoppe arrived tonight from St. Louis.

The two billiard experts have gone through a training which rivals the preliminary work for a world's championship prize fight. Road work, rubdowns, special exercises and regular rest periods were included in the program of each, although in many respects their methods of preparation have been different.

Hoppe employed a football trainer from an eastern university to take care of him physically during the two weeks just ended. The former champion explained that he is no longer the athletic young man who gained the sobriquet of "Boy Wonder" 20 years ago and that he has to make an effort to keep his weight down. He regards good physical condition as the most important factor in a billiard match because it tends to a keen eye and a steady hand.

Besides the physical work, the man who was underrated for 12 years prior to the games with Schaefer has averaged four hours a day at the billiard table and reports say that his cue work has been phenomenal. In one practice session he ran more than 40 points.

Schaefer has confined his physical training almost entirely to golf, despite the claim of his friends that the long golf swing was not helping his billiard stroke.

The young champion — 10 years Hoppe's junior — would rather play golf than billiards and has refused to quit the links. Every night, however, he has spent three hours at an especially erected table. Virtually all of this time has been given to perfecting the shots generally termed impossible. The match will be 1,500 points, 500 points a night. It will be continuous, that is, there will not be a new break the second and third nights, but the play will start with the balls in the same position as at the end of play the preceding night.

Hoppe and Schaeffer both will go through light practice tomorrow and Monday.

FIVE LEAGUES, FIGHTING DRAFT, HURT BASEBALL

So Judge Landis Declares in Public Plea to Give Players Chance to Advance in Their Profession.

DALLAS, March 25.—Kenesaw M. Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball, here today in an interview with newspapermen, declared five minor leagues refuse to permit the players the privilege of advancing in their profession.

"So long as the Pacific Coast, the American association, the New International, the Western and the Three-I leagues refuse to accept the draft, it is possible for a club-owner for any reason or for no reason at all to force a player to remain in the service of his team for all time, or quit playing. That is not right," the commissioner said.

"Refusal to accept the draft is an outrage upon sportsmanship. We call ourselves sportsmen and declare that we are conducting a sport. But we are not sportsmen when we put up a blank wall beyond which the player cannot advance. That should be the primary reason for adopting the draft, but, aside from this, failure to provide that means of player advancement endangers the legality of the business enterprise of baseball."

Commissioner Landis was guest of the University club this noon, played golf with Bill Hanna, veteran sport writer of the New York Tribune, in the afternoon, and was guest at a dinner of baseball officials tonight.

FLACK'S SKULL IS FRACTURED; MAY BE OUT 2 MONTHS

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., March 25.—Max Flack, outfielder for the Chicago Nationals, who is confined to his home here suffering from a fracture of the skull, will not be able to play for at least two months, according to the physician attending the player. Flack was struck on the head with a ball pitched during a practice game by Percy Jones at the team's training camp. An operation however, will not be necessary; the physician said.

Message From Dead of Ship Cyclops Found

By Associated Press.

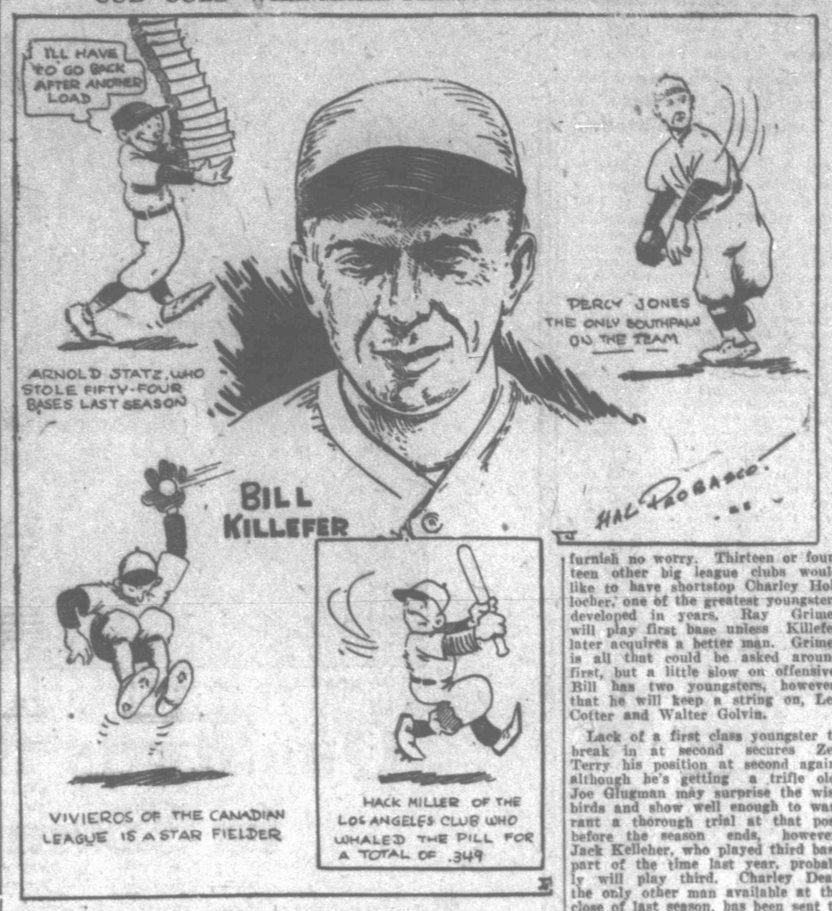

BEAUFORT, N. C., March 25.—A bottle containing a note purporting to be signed by an engineer aboard the navy collier Cyclops which disappeared at sea in 1917, was picked up today northeast of Cape Lookout lighthouse. The note stated that a German submarine was close by, that all hands had been ordered on board the U-boat and that the ship was then to be torpedoed. The note was smirched with grease and the bottle was stopped with a rubber stopper and was covered with sea bran.

The Cyclops was bound from a Chilean port for the United States with a cargo of nitrates when she disappeared. An extensive search was conducted for her but no trace ever was found. It was generally believed that she went down suddenly off the Atlantic coast in a heavy squall or storm, although no nearby ports reported any disturbance at the time and no wireless messages indicating and trouble.

CUB "CUBS" WILL MAKE THEIR DEBUT THIS YEAR

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The Chicago Cubs may not climb far from seventh place, where they finished last year, but they will look a whole lot more like the Cub machines of olden days than any outfit that has represented Chicago in the National league in years. That's what Manager Bill Killefer believes. And Bill isn't given to bragging or tooting a loud horn.

The outfit that Bill plans to put on exhibition next month might well be called the "Cub Cubs." As the team stacks up now, Killefer behind the plate, Alexander in the box and Max Flack in center field, are the only veterans booked to play day in and day out. The other positions will be assigned to youngsters.

With Flack in the outfield probably will be seen Arnold Statz, base-stealing bearcat from the Pacific Coast league, and Hack Miller, another Coast league star. Statz has been up before, but failed to stick because of his weak work with the stick. Now this fault is remedied, say scouts, and Statz is due to star. Last year with the Los Angeles team he hit from either side of the plate a .310 average. And he threw terror into the catchers' hearts by stealing fifty-four bases. How near he'll come to those marks isn't known, of course.

Miller broke no records playing with Statz last year, but he hit, fielded and ran the bases in crack styles.

Turner Barber will be ready to step in for either Miller or Statz, and it's a good bet that George Maisel will be carried along as another emergency gardener. So Killefer apparently can count on a first class outfield.

Two of Killefer's infield positions furnish no worry. Thirteen or fourteen other big league clubs would like to have shortstop Charley Hollocher, one of the greatest youngsters developed in years. Ray Grimes will play first base unless Killefer later acquires a better man. Grimes is all that could be asked around first, but a little slow on offensive. Bill has two youngsters, however, that he will keep a string on, Leo Cotter and Walter Golvin.

Lack of a first class youngster to break in at second secures Zeb Terry his position at second again, although he's getting a trifle old. Joe Glugman may surprise the wise birds and show well enough to warrant a thorough trial at that post before the season ends, however. Jack Kelleher, who played third base part of the time last year, probably will play third. Charley Deal, the only other man available at the close of last season, has been sent to the coast.

As to pitchers, Killefer has "Vic" Aldrige, a comeback, and the world's greatest aggregation (look 'em over, gents) of youngsters ever in captivity. There are "Speed" Martin, who really can't be called a newcomer; Alex Freeman, George Stueland, Percy Lee Jones, Ernest Osborne, Lefty Douglas, and a bunch of others whose names have slipped by.

Martin is set for a good season. Of the others, Stueland stands out. He has shown up well in training and his feat of winning twenty-two and losing nine games for Sioux Falls team last year stamps him as a good prospect.

Cub fans are going to look over some mighty sweet youngsters if they don't see much winning baseball from Killefer's outfit.

ROTARIANS ARE OFF TODAY FOR MINERAL WELLS

Advance Party Leaves Saturday; Auto Caravan Starts Today; After Conference Here.

President Horrace Robbins and Morris Marcus formed the vanguard of about 25 Wichita Falls Rotarians who will represent this city at the state conference at Mineral Wells, these two leaving Saturday afternoon. Former President C. R. Hartsook and Secretary John Gould left Saturday night for the convention city.

This afternoon the remainder of the local delegates and visitors will leave in automobiles for the convention. Those who will make the trip are urged to be at the meeting place, corner of Eighth and Scott, immediately after one o'clock this afternoon. The caravan will leave between one and two o'clock, and those who intend to make the trip are urged to be prompt.

The local delegation hopes to get the 1923 or 1924 conference for Wichita Falls.

MISCONDUCT OF JUROR ALLEGED IN PLANET CASE

The taking of testimony on the motion of the Planet Petroleum company for a new trial in the suit brought against them by the Gladiolus Oil company was not completed Saturday afternoon at time of adjournment and the hearing was continued until Monday morning by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court.

The Planet company introduced testimony in connection with their contentions of misconduct by the jury. They offered testimony tending to show that G. A. Moore, one of the jurors, conferred with outsiders during the trial of the case regarding the evidence that was being introduced. It is alleged that the juror said that the evidence was so complicated that he did not know what to do. According to the defendant's contentions, he asked the outsiders what they would do in such a case. There was considerable argument among the numerous attorneys interested in the case regarding the permissability of certain testimony. It is expected that the hearing can be completed Monday morning.

In the trial of the case, a jury awarded the Gladiolus company title to a lease in the south Electra pool which was being developed by the Planet company. The lease and oil concerned was worth around a half million dollars. The trial lasted nearly two weeks.

TEXAS COMPANY PUMPER MAKES 60 FROM 1600

The Texas Company's No. 213 Waggoner has been completed a 60-barrel pumper from the 1600-foot sand. The No. 214 has casing cemented a short distance above the 1900-foot sand depth, and will standardize to drill in this week, according to reports. The No. 215, which is a deep test, was drilling below 1750 feet Saturday.

In the oil field northwest of Electra the 108 Waggoner was deepened from a shallow producer to the 1800-foot sand, and was brought in a 40-barrel producer from this depth, it is reported.

The longest mail route in the world is from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, to Fort McPherson, on the Arctic Coast, a distance of 1,635 miles.

DON'T FORGET MEN ARE BUSY

TRAVELLING OLDEST ROAD IN NORTH AMERICA ABOARD FLIVVER HAS ITS THRILLS

Strange Cavalcades of Indians Pass Over Cortez Road Where Dust Makes Traps for Autoists.

By HERBERT COREY.
Article No. 18.

SANTIAGO, Nayarit, Mexico, March 24.—Today we entered upon the oldest road on the North American continent. Sixteen hundred years ago it may have been new. No one knows. It may have been an old, weary, dust-encumbered thoroughfare even then. But it is certainly 1,600 years old.

Romance clusters about it. The older roads of this world are the golden wires on which the beads of adventure are gathered. Wherever men have lived and fought and hoped roads have been built. Down the dust-fogged road we came today, blazing under the golden sun of a mid-winter tropic day, slaves have marched in chains; treasures have been carried, literally by the ton; chanting priests have led their wandering peoples; steel clad soldiers have trudged, upheld by greed and a furious courage; men have died on every foot.

Has Much Storied History.

Little enough is known of its history—thanks to the first bishop of Mexico—Juan de Zumarraga, who collected all the native records that could be found and publicly burned them in the great square at the City of Mexico. But it is at least guessed that among the early wanderers on this road were armed Chinese, who later became the fathers of the warrior tribe of Chichimecs. From the treasure house of races in the north the Toltecs followed and then the Aztecs. Later, the Spaniards moved north upon this road from the City of Mexico on the most disastrous scouting expedition these intrepid wayfarers ever attempted. Today some know it as the "Road of Cortes" because of this. Still later, Fray Junipero Serra—gentle spirit—with his skirted friars marched along its weary leagues on his mission of the Cross.

At first it was but a trail, of course, following the contours of the hills. When the subjugation of the country had been accomplished wheeled vehicles were introduced. Today we met scores of Indians, carrying loads upon their backs; others, marching upright and steady with huge burdens on their heads. Some wore flat, basket-work hats, heaped with small articles and fruits for sale. Burros pitapatted with their peculiar indifference to mundane things. Wise mules, always on the alert, their eyes shining with intelligence, hauled great two wheeled carts, ten mules to the cart. Now and then a spurred cavalier on a horse was met, but not often. The revolution has been hard on horseflesh.

Driver a Barney Oldfield.

We came to the road by the jungle trail from San Blas, which leads to the road through the overflow lands of the superb Santiago river. This is fortunately, the dry season, so that we were able to ride in a flivver. The trail wound around the great trees that here and there spot the jungle. None had ever been chopped down, for only the underbrush had been cleared away. Our driver was a Barney Oldfield of the bush, who handled his car precisely as a cowpuncher rides a horse. Under wheel were four inches of dust, hiding innumerable chuck holes, dry roots, thank-ye-ma'ams, and an occasional rock. Barney didn't worry. He kept his hand on the wheel and conversed cheerily over the right shoulder. Once we missed—at thirty-five miles an hour—a great tree by a miracle. Once a cow lying in the road did not get up and we stopped with our front wheels on her nose in a storm of dust from scraping tires. Once an ocelot lazily loped across the trail ahead.

On the Santiago bottoms the Indians guard against all contingencies. They have boats in the shadow of their wattle-sided, grass-thatched cabins, lest there come a sudden flood. The door steps are two logs high, so that the pigs cannot get in and bother the babies. Here and there are roosts in the trees where village dwellers have been marooned in fresher time.

This land would grow any sort of tropical crop if it were given a chance. Near here one can in season ride through miles of wild limes and lemons. Oranges are never cultivated, but are indigenous to the country. The cocito palm is responsible for a local soap making monopoly, for its kernels are 65 per cent oil. There are fields of sugar cane, and bananas flourish wherever planted. The best coffee in the world—with the possible exception of Mocha—comes from near this district.

But little is being done. There are the the evidences of a former prosperity visible on every side. Not a thorough-going prosperity, such as has been common to happier countries. Not one-tenth of the available land, perhaps, is under cultivation. No one has paid attention to the roads during the last ten years of revolution, except that here and there the wallows washed out in the rainy season have been filled in with the material nearest at hand. Everywhere one sees deserted haciendas and abandoned farms. But people are gradually coming home, with the growth of the conviction that an era of peace is dawning. Then this land of Nayarit will enter upon its own.

An Incredible Thoroughfare.

But in the mean time the "Old Cortes Road" is the most incredible thoroughfare that Lizzie ever bucked. Once ten-horse stages ran along this road all the way from Guadalajara to Nogales in Arizona. Now only a flivver or a mule cart can negotiate it. It is well laid out, for the old Toltecs and the Aztecs and the Spaniards, and later the Mexicans, knew something of surveying. Everywhere the views are superb, of rolling hills and deep-seated valleys and giant crests. Spots of vivid green grow where some farmer has held his own and kept the water flowing upon his fertile fields. But the dust underneath is of a talcum powder lightness and a shectop depth. Time after time the driver raced his engine to haul out of a bed of dust under which had been concealed unplumbed depths of soft, dry earth.

Our fore wheels threw up a wave of dust like that of a fast launch in smooth water. Behind us a pillar of dust rolled high to mingle with the other pillars that rose from the feet of peon and burro and mule. At Eopino, near which is an Aztec monument dating back to days when the priests led their people south by stages on their slow pilgrimage to the valley of Mexico, where the Spaniards were later to destroy their power and almost their tribe, we halted for the fourth time to empty the boiling radiator. Up the road came a swirling dust cloud. We could not see what it held in its heart until it was almost upon us.

It was a trotting, squealing pig, driven by an angry little Indian.

DRILLER HURT IN AUTO CRASH ON PAVED ROAD

H. D. Appleay, well known driller of Electra, was severely injured four miles west of this city on the Iowa Park-Electra highway last night when the automobile in which he was driving with E. M. Carey of Electra, collided with another car.

Following the collision Appleay was brought to the Park hospital. Attending physicians said that he had suffered a fracture of the skull with other injuries to the stomach and legs. It is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal. Mr. Carey, the passenger, suffered only minor injuries. The occupants of the other car, whose names could not be learned, were not injured. The collision of the two cars is said to have occurred because of poor lights.

Arrest Driver Of Service Car

In connection with a statement made by C. T. Painter to officers, Johnny Jones was arrested Saturday night by Sheriff Smith. According to officers, Painter said that Jones took approximately $5 in cash from him early Saturday evening, after he had driven him to his home on Twelfth street. According to the story told officers by Painter he and Jones had an argument regarding the fee for driving him to his home and Jones forced him at the point of a gun to give him around $5.

Jones was being held at the county jail Saturday night. He was arrested in front of a downtown hotel.

WHERE 80 PER CENT OF CRIMINALS COME FROM

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 25.—"From the ranks of neglected children come 80 per cent of the nation's criminals. Eight of every ten murders are committed by men and women who were neglected or exploited in their childhood."

This was the statement of Mark T. McKee, of Detroit, who is pushing plans for a home for motherless and fatherless children for the Brotherhood of American Yoemen.

"Four hundred thousand of the half million men, women and children who are incarcerated in our jails and penitentiaries," Mr. McKee said, "come from the same class. On one side are the riches amassed by the exploiters of child life, on the other 80 per cent of all the crimes on earth."

WEEK GIVES PROMISE TWO NEW PRODUCING LEVELS NEAR BUNGER

Promise of two distinct new producing levels in the south part of Young county, in the Bunger neighborhood, featured the week's developments in Young county. The two strikes are respectively the deepest, and the shallowest levels at which production has yet been found in the South Young area.

The Ralco Oil company's No. 1 Roark, in the south part of the Bunger pool, has a new oil lime, slightly below 3,700 feet, and during the first 82 hours of its production put approximately 5,000 barrels of oil in the tanks, according to guage reports received Saturday.

Saturday's production was at the rate of 1,800 barrels a day, with the gas pressure reported still good.

To Drill Deeper.

The second strike, the Mahlstadt Mook Oil company's No. 1 Williams, three and a half miles east of the Bunger pool, got a sand at 1,680 feet. Saturday preparations were under way to drill in. The well has been making a small amount of oil ever since the top of the sand was touched, and has a gas flow of better than a million and a half so that much is expected of the drilling in.

By way of a minor sensation and extension the Nelson Oil corporation's No. 1 Rhodes, a half mile east of the Cosden Rhodes well, and about the the same distance from the Texas company's No. 1 Stoffer, was completed for a hundred-barrel well in the sand at 2,640 feet.

Cosden Completions.

The Cosden interests had the nicest lot of completions, in number, and all of fair size, in weeks. The No. 3 Owens, lease B, is a 200 barrel well in the sand at 1870 feet, the No. 4 Owens, lease A, is a 225 barrel well sand at 1860; the No. 6 Owens M, is a 200 barrel well, 1870 feet, and the No. 8 Owens, is a 175 barrel well 1875 feet.

The Sun company's No. 4 Driver is being completed, and showing up for a nice well, perhaps better than 150 barrels.

The Ross et al No. 1 Lynn is on the sand at 2580 feet, and preparing to drill in.

In the old South Bend pool there are a couple of 200 barrel wells reported, in the 1900-foot sand on the Kellar, south of the McCluskey lease. These are the Texas Producing Syndicate's No. 5 Kellar and the M. R. Hemphill et al No. 6 Kellar.

Drilling Increases.

The new strikes in the Bunger territory have given an impetus to drilling operations, and a number of new locations, around the extension and new pool wells are expected in the next few days. Added interest is also given by these new wells to the tests now drilling in the pool.

The No. 1 Williams of Terrell et al, between the Mahlstadt Mook well and the older pool, is reported drilling around 700 feet.

The Penn Cities No. 2 Herron, offsetting the No. 1 which has been a producer for a number of weeks, is drilling around 1780 feet. The W. M. Meeks No. 1 Herron is a rig.

The No. 1 Herron of Miller, Horner & Taylor is reported drilling around 1500 feet.

The No. 1 Herron of Wells & Spelling is a new location.

The Harry Byrnes No. 1 Mehaney is shut down around 2400 feet.

The No. 1 Alford of Dalton & Bryan is drilling around 2490 feet.

The No. 1 Mehaney of Dyer et al, is a rig.

The Union Oil company has spudded in its No. 1 Parsons. The Humble Oil company's No. 1 Parsons is still a rig.

Setting Casing.

The Cosden Oil company's No. 4 Owens, M lease, is setting casing on the sand at 1850 feet. The No. 5 Owens, M lease, is drilling around 500 feet and the No. 9 Owens, M lease, is drilling around 1700 feet. The No. 10, M lease, is a rig.

The Gulf Production company's No. 1 Carmack is shut down below 3,400 feet. The No. 2 Lisle is drilling around 400 feet. The No. 1 Driver is drilling around 560 feet and the No. 1 Newby is reported spudding.

The Pomona Mutual Oil company's No. 1 Owens, is drilling below 1400 feet.

The No. 1 Whittenberg of the Mutual Oil corporation is drilling around 1760 feet.

Burton et al No. 3 Whittenberg, the Union Oil corporation's No. 1 Whittenberg and the Mann & Ashcraft No. 3 Whittenberg are new rigs.

The Godley Oil company's No. 3 Owens, is a rig.

The No. 10 Owens of the Sun company is drilling around 1500 feet.

'Clean-Up and Paint-Up' Movement Launched On Thursday of This Week

"Clean Up and Paint Up"—this is the slogan of a movement, pushed by representatives of the American Legion and the city health department, which will start in Wichita Falls on Thursday of the coming week, and which will have the double object of removal of menaces to health before the coming of the summer, and the relieving of unemployment, particularly among former soldiers, here.

The cleaning up of rubbish, hiding and breeding places for flies, rats and other disease carriers, is characterized by health officials as of prime importance at this time of the year. By doing it now, however, they point out that a double object may be attained—general betterment of local conditions through work for unemployed in addition to the betterment of health conditions.

The amount of cleaning up, of add repair work, and of general brightening up with paint, while small with each individual family, will mean a lot of work for unemployed in the aggregate and a lot toward business stimulation here, it is declared.

"Let an ex-service man do your cleaning up, repairing and painting jobs" is the slogan which the legion will push in this work.

CITY REPORT SHOWS 80 PER CENT GAS METERS COMPLAINED OF ARE REGISTERING TOO FAST, SAYS FITTS

Declares City Gas Users Are Paying for More Gas Than Used; Is to Be Brought Before Council.

Investigation of complaints of users of gas, water and electric lights by the newly created city department of weights and measures shows that 80 per cent of the gas meters investigated are running too fast—over the 2 per cent fast allowed by the franchise, and that many gas consumers are paying for more gas than is being consumed, according to a report made public Saturday by Police Commissioner Fitts.

The tests were made by the newly employed tester of the city, and were supervised and verified by Dr. A. H. Douglass, city chemist. On one complaint against the electric company the company's reader was found at fault in one, and an adjustment made, and the complainant was found at fault in another. Only one complaint was made against the city water department, a faulty meter was found, and an adjustment made. These three complaints on water and lights compare with 33 from gas users.

The report brings out in a specific way facts declared by Commissioner Fitts recently. He says that he intends to take the matter up with the city council and propose action to correct this condition, as well as looking toward a reduction in gas rates to 50 cents per thousand, as he was quoted in a recent edition of The Record News. Owing to the nearness of the municipal election, it is not believed that the matter will be formally presented until after the election.

The report follows:

"The newly created weights and measures department of the city has to date investigated a total of 33 complaints against the local gas, electric and water utilities.

Thirty of these complaints have been against the North Texas Gas company, two against the Wichita Falls Electric company and one against the city water department. Of the 30 complaints investigated against the gas company 22 resulted in finding the meters running above the 2 per cent fast allowed by ordinance, while four meters were found to be within the 2 per cent of accurate. In two of the complaints it was found that meters had been over-read 20,000 feet and in one complaint a mistake on the bill of 3,000 feet. One complaint is now under investigation.

"Of the 22 meters found to be running over 2 per cent fast, five of them were found to be running more than 10 per cent fast, and the highest found was over 13½ per cent fast. The average for the 22 fast meters was 6.26 per cent fast. Of the 26 gas meters tested over 80 per cent were found to be running too fast and while it is not absolutely known that such a percentage would hold good for the 6,000 meters this company has in service in this city still it is reasonable to suppose that they have a very great many meters in service that are running fast and that this company is charging and being paid for a large amount of gas that it does not deliver to its customers.

"In the two complaints against the electric company investigation disclosed an over-reading by the company in one case and an under reading by the complainant in the o ther.

In the one complaint against the water department there was a defective metek found and adjustment made.

"While at this time we have no check on the total amount of gas being charged for, as based on the meter readings, and do not know positively the exact condition of all the gas meters, still we think that the results of the investigations we have so far made sufficiently demonstrated to the public that there is an irregularity in this matter that needs immediate correction. From the facts we have given the public can draw its own conclusions as to how extensive this irregularity may be."

TEXAS DAREDEVIL MAY CLIMB EIFFEL TOWER

(By International News Service)

PARIS, March 25.—Unless William Strother of Houston, Texas, succeeds in pulling various political and other strings he is likely to find his attempt of scaling the Eiffel Tower about 1,000 feet high, on its outside framework nipped in the bud.

Strother, who came to Paris recently from New York, with a record of hair-raising stunts, believes he can get the necessary permits to scale the Eiffel Tower, providing he undertakes

ENGAGE RABBI FOR ORTHODOX JEW SYNAGOGUE

The engagement of Rabbi Rabinowitz, formerly of Canada, as leader of the Orthodox congregation of the House of Jacob, is announced by the congregation through D. Capland, president, and an invitation is extended to all Orthodox Jews of Wichita Falls and nearby cities to worship with the House of Jacob.

A special meeting has been called for this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the place of worship, upstairs, at 709 Ohio avenue. All members of the congregation, and all others interested are cordially invited to be present.

The regular services will be held beginning at 6:30 Friday evening and at 8:30 Saturday morning of each week, is announced.

Rabbi Rabinowitz has been with the local congregation for the past six weeks, it is stated and has proved very satisfactory. He has been engaged for two years.

A synagogue for the House of Jacob congregation is planned for the near future, it was stated in an announcement from a recent business meeting. At this time a motion was carried unanimously for a vote of thanks to be extended to the president, D. Capland, for his unusual interest and services in securing the rabbi.

MAX OSER SOON TO MEET M'CORMICKS AND ROCKEFELLERS

By Associated Press.

ZURICH, Switzerland, March 25.—Max Oser, the Swiss riding master, and fiance of Mathilde McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick, Chicago, has sold his stable to a brother officer in the Swiss army and is preparing to leave Zurich within a few days, ostensibly to visit relatives in western Switzerland. Oser personally refused to give any further information concerning his purposed movements, but neighbors asserted today that he would sail for the United States early in April to spend Easter with his bride-to-be, and be presented to the McCormick and Rockefeller families.

EXPECT ARREST TODAY IN BABY MYSTERY CASE

Negro Taken as Possible Witness Following Finding of Baby's Body in Tank; Baby Had Breathed

The baby found in the Marlow tank Friday near the west edge of the city limits, had lived at least a few hours following birth, according to Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, who examined a lung of the babe at an autopsy Saturday. According to the physician the lung gave positive indication that the baby had breathed.

Officers late Saturday had failed to make any important arrests in connection with the finding of the body. A negro was placed under arrest by the sheriff's department, but it is understood that he is being held as a possible witness in connection with one clue which as yet has failed to materialize. In addition, officers of the sheriff's department said an important development might be made known in connection with the arrest of another party. This party, it was said, is expected to return here early this morning from another point.

The body of the baby was found Friday noon by a small boy. The body had been tied to a stone for the purpose of keeping it under water.

Mass Meeting Labor Unions Monday Night

A general mass meeting of members of local labor unions has been called for Monday night, following similar meetings last Monday and Friday nights, at which a general "co-operation" organization was formed and M. H. Barwise elected president.

While it is denied that this organization is purely political, it is admitted that city and county candidates were and are to be discussed. Leaders will also make no admission of endorsement of any particular candidate, declaring themselves against anything savoring of "slate-making" but it is intimated that a pretty general understanding has been reached by the membership on its candidates. Matters of "general welfare" come before the organization, in addition to political discussion, it is stated.

PAVE 4,000 FEET ROAD LAST WEEK

Four thousand feet of concrete paving was completed during the last week on the Burkburnett road, according to information Saturday from the office of Potts & Prentice. One of two mixers at work was shut down one day and the other two days. The total for the week is 600 feet under that of last week, the largest six-day total since construction started on the Burkburnett road.

Construction work started during the last week on the Holliday creek bridge east of this city and the Buffalo creek bridge southwest of Iowa Park. The former bridge is being built to the side of the present structure so that a detour route will not be necessary during the construction period which is expected to last several weeks.

MARKET REPORTS

Cotton

NEW YORK, March 25.—A low barometer with rain over the southwest furnished a bullish factor in the cotton market at the opening today when prices were 2 to 4 points net higher, but before the day was out it had been reversed and induced selling under which the market closed barely steady at a net decline of 4 to 7 points. Early support of the market was based on expectations that the rain area would extend over Sunday into the eastern belt where it is not needed, and in fact would cause further delay to farm preparations. The subsequent change in sentiment was brought about by the arrival of numerous advices claiming that the rain in western Texas and Oklahoma had proved very beneficial and would improve the prospects of an early crop start. Outside of this influence the market was furnished with but very little news either way. Trade was small and mostly local, the public interest being restricted by prospects for a big coal strike and a further spread of the New England textile strike. The curtailment at Fall River for the week was 120,000 pieces and the sales of print cloths a similar total. An eastern belt cotton man claimed that fertilizer companies had cut credits about 40 per cent owing to the poor financial position of the farmers. There was moderate selling by New Orleans in the last half hour and reports of an earlier basis on portions of the eastern belt.

May contracts declined to 17.67, July 17.15 and October 16.70, the dullness of the market being illustrated by the fact that there was about only 10 to 13 points difference between the highest and lowest prices all day. May-July trading was done at 54 points difference this morning against fifty points at the close yesterday, reflecting the demand from spot houses.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—Slightly higher prices in the early trading in cotton today were due to the passing of the March position without any tenders of consequence. It was at first believed that no March notices at all had been issued but later on it was discovered that notices for six hundred bales had been issued but were not allowed to circulate. After advances of 2 to 5 points, the market commenced to fall off under moderate selling based on the rains in West Texas and on uneasiness over mill labor conditions both in England and in this country. Toward the end of the day, prices were 7 to 8 points under the final quotations of yesterday. The close was 6 to 7 points lower on the day with May 16.45. At its best, May traded at 16.57 and at its lowest at 16.44. According to both officials and private reports, much rain fell in Oklahoma and various points in Texas, which will result in large planting of cotton. Selling would have been smaller on this feature but for the likelihood that the rains would be felt in central and eastern portions of the belt over the week-end, where they would be highly detrimental.

Reports received here told of further spread of the New England strike ends aid that more mills would probably be affected early next week. At the same time Manchester cabled that mill owners in Lancashire would put the matter of reduction in wages up to the unions some time during the day.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Cotton seed oil was quiet but firm owing to covering of shorts on the strength displayed in hog products. Closing bids were 7 to 13 points net higher. Sales 2,000 barrels. Tenders 100 barrels. Prime crude 1,000 sales. Prime summer yellow, spot 11.65; May 11.30; July 11.58; September 11.55; all bid.

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Cotton goods were quiet today with a further weakening reported in print cloths. Sheetings held fairly steady. Yarns were irregular. Burlaps were steady. Linens were firm. Wool and silk dress goods were offered in jobbers' hands at concessions. It was announced during the day that there would be an auction sale of carpets and rugs, approximating 90,000 bales, beginning Monday, April 13, and continuing during the week. The sale comes at the advent of a new selling season.

Metals

NEW YORK, March 25.—Production of steel is steadily increasing and the percentages of operations compared with capacity are being raised in practically all directions. In consequence of the better demand prices are hardening with numerous announcements of present and prospective advances. The demand, however, is still limited largely to orders for prompt shipment and some of the buying has undeniably been inspired by the prospects of a local strike but there are unmistakable evidences of a more confident feeling relative to the future.

Copper was generally steady during the week with most producers selling electrolytic at 13 cents delivered nearby and 13 1-8c for later shipment. Demand was much less active than it has been and late in the week it was possible to get electrolytic at 12 7-8 up to May delivery, although it was felt that any material increase in demand at that figure would cause a tightening back to the 13c level. Export demand has likewise been smaller. Production is running light while purchases for wire purposes have been encouraging.

[illegible] has moved up about half a [illegible]ng the week on good buying [illegible] of dealers and consumers [illegible] tone at London and in [illegible]ge. Statistics, however bearish showing. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 25.—Investment shares were dull at nominal changes but a few selected issues registered material gains in today's brief session in the stock market. Woolworth was the spectacular feature, jumping 12 points and closing at a net gain of 10, one reports that the directors were considering declaration of a large stock dividend. Kresge, Tidewater Oil, Coca Cola and Otis Steel were among the other comparatively obscure stocks to show marked strength, averaging 2 point gains.

Steels as a group failed to fulfill recent expectation of higher quotations.

Equipments, motors, and oils also eased. The only noteworthy movement among rails was the strength of Missouri, Kansas & Texas preferred and another setback in Ann Arbor common and preferred. Sales amounted to 433,000 shares.

The foreign exchange market was listless, but British and allied rates continued to react. Dutch bills hardened and German marks held their nominal recovery from the mid-week collapse.

Differences of Professor and Edison Cleared

By Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., March 25.—Professor W. A. Scott, director in the course in commerce at the University of Wisconsin, has written a letter of apology to Thomas A. Edison, expressing regret for statements, which Mr. Edison in a letter to regents of the university termed "discourteous" it was learned today. A copy of Professor Scott's letter, which the inventor is said to have accepted as clearing away any difference that may have been created, could not be obtained here.

River Flavored With Thousands Gallons Liquor

CHICAGO, Mar. 25.—Federal prohibition agents today dumped 350,000 gallons of wine, beer and whiskey into the Chicago river while several thousand persons gathered along the bank to watch the performance. The liquor was ordered dumped into the river by Prohibition Director Gregory despite the fact that federal Prohibition Director Haynes at Washington had suggested in a long distance telephone call that it would be undesirable publicity and precedent to ostentatious a display.

Wire Flashes

FORT WORTH, Mar. 25.—The union plumbers today voluntarily reduced their daily wages from $10 to $9, effective April 1.

FORT WORTH, Mar. 25.—B. L. Anderson of Fort Worth was elected president of the Texas Cotton association and Dallas chosen as the 1923 meeting place at the closing session this afternoon. Governor N. Manning of South Carolina, addressed the convention this morning.

HOUSTON, Mar. 25.—Two brothers, lifelong residents of Harris county and comrades for fifty years, died yesterday at their homes in different parts of the county within two hours of each other. C. M. Schmidt, 61, and John Schmidt, fifty, are the brothers. They will be buried Sunday in the family burial ground on which stands the house in which they were born.

AUSTIN, March 25.—Judge John Brady of the court of civil appeals, and Sam Dickens, a local attorney, were under bond today to answer charges of intoxication. Both men were taken into custody and detained by local officers early today. The charges were filed in the city police court and the cases set for hearing Monday.

CHICAGO, Mar. 25.—"The Siamese twins," Rosa and Josefa Blazek, who were born joined together, were taken to a hospital today. One of them had just contracted yellow jaundice. The condition of the sick twin was said to be critical.

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 25.—C. M. Clayton, vice president of the Miami National bank, was discharged yesterday at the end of a three-day hearing before the United States commissioner on charges of conspiring to violate the Volstead act.

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, March 25.—Declaring chicken thieves ply their trade only on nights when there is no moon, municipal judge Beckham today sent John Adams, seventy three-year-old negro, to jail to remain "until the moon shines again."

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—In an effort to rescue a woman trapped by fire in a rooming house today, Fireman Oscar Vidal, 24 years old, lost his life. The fireman had previously carried a woman to safety and had gone back on a second trip when overcome by smoke.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 25.—The St. Louis and San Francisco railroad company today announced at the general offices here that in the future women employes of the company who marry will be expected to resign, and in the event they fail to tender their resignation their services will be discontinued by company officials.

ROME, March 25.—Pope Pius today received in audience a delegation of Rome nobility, led by Prince Colonna. During the audience the pope delivered an address urging the women of the Roman aristocracy to lead a crusade against the immodesty of present day fashions.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The market for coffee futures was quiet throughout the day and prices kept within narrow limits. Easier official cables were offset by firmer special cables, and there was a little early trade buying while commission houses sold. At the opening the market was 3 points higher to 1 point lower. Sales were estimated at about 12,000 bags. May 9.40; July 9.35; September 9.23; December 9.23. Spot coffee was quiet but firm at 9.7-8 to 10 for Rio 7s and 13 3-4 to 14 for Santos 4s.

The City National Bank of Commerce provides that assurance of absolute security for depositors' funds which is the foundation of a satisfactory banking connection.—Adv.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 25.—Livestock receipts today were small, 300 cattle, 100 calves and 600 hogs making up the supply. In addition to fresh receipts, however, were several cars of steers held over from later yesterday, the best end of which brought 7.25. The market remained quotably unchanged on cattle and was steady to 5 cents higher on hogs.

Cattle—Beeves 3.50@7.75; stockers 3.25@6.50; cows 3.00@5.75; canners 2.00@2.75; heifers 3.50@7.75; yearlings 3.50@8.35; bulls 2.25@4.25; calves 2.25@8.00.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 25.—Cattle receipts 250; for week; beef steers steady to 25c lower; top 9.00; she stock weak to 35c lower; mostly 15@25c lower; canners steady; bulls steady to weak; vealers generally 50c to $1 lower; other calves around steady; stockers, feeders, stock cows and heifers weak to 25c lower; stock calves steady.

Hogs, receipts 800; packers took all; steady to strong with yesterday's average; bulk 9.50@9.80; top 9.85; bulk mixed and weighty hogs 9.70@9.80; throw out sows and stock pigs steady with few on sale.

Sheep, receipts 2,000; today's receipts through billed. For week; sheep generally 25c lower; lambs steady; top 15.25.

Grain

CHICAGO, March 25.—A broad market with wheat prices fluctuating rapidly and the close near the low point marked the short Saturday session on the Chicago board of trade. Wheat closed with net losses of 1 1-8 to 2c, corn was off 1 to 1 3-8c, oats finished 1-4 to 1-2c lower, lard from 12 1-2 to 15c higher and ribs 3c to 32 1-2c up.

In the wheat pit eastern bears attacked the May option at the start and were helped by some local traders. There was some excellent support for July when these tactics brought the later month around 1.17 and the first and subsequent declines were checked. The May received support at around 1.31 and the local shorts generally scurried to cover when this developed. The source of the buying was obscure but it evidently had its limits for when local longs tried to unload towards the close, they found no takers and a decided slump marked the final 30 minutes.

Corn was weak from the start and May went into new low ground for the present movement. Exports bought corn at Omaha but domestic industrial demand seemed shut off and one bearish report was that plants at several mid-west points would be shut down because no feed was being sold and starch was piling up.

Oats merely fluttered up or down in the wake of corn.

Provisions were considerably higher early but realising sales checked the advance. Higher yard prices for live hogs and improved conditions in the Liverpool provisions market were the chief news factors.

VIELDS WICKED POTATO MASHER, BUT IS SUBDUED

Miss Ida Dietschi.

Shish-sh-sh! Burglars! Ida Dietschi grabbed her "trusty" potato masher from the efficiency kitchen cabinet. Stealthily the burglar entered the kitchen door. Zam! Blooie! Down came the potato masher on his head. And down he went. But his pal rushed to his assistance and though Ida flung a wicked masher she was bound with a clothes line and the burglars escaped. She is a maid in the home of Rudolph Mesquita, New York.

LEGAL FIGHT IS THREATENED BY HOLLIS WEDDING

Woman Claims to Be Wife of Former Senator Who Married in Italy During the Past Week.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Former Senator Henry F. Hollis, of New Hampshire, who married Miss Anne Hobbs in Italy this week, obtained an absolute divorce from Mrs. Grace B. Hollis in the French courts within the last three months, it was said here today by his associate in law practice, Edward Thomas Moore.

Mr. Moore said statements issued by Mrs. Grace H. Hollis yesterday through counsel at Concord, N. H., in which she declared she had not been divorced from the former senator were "nothing but attempts to belittle Senator Hollis in the minds of the people."

"If her lawyers would study international law, they would find the statements wholly unjustified," Mr. Moore added.

Mr. Hollis is a noted international counselor, practicing in New York, Paris and Washington, Mr. Moore said, and he made a thorough inquiry before his second marriage so as not to jeopardize the position of his second wife.

"The question of bigamy laws is to be determined in the state of the second marriage, for that is where the crime, if any, is committed," he added.

If a man marries in Rome the contract cannot even be questioned here unless an affected party is a resident of New York state, Mr. Moore said, adding that the first Mrs. Hollis claims Princeton as her residence. The New Jersey law, he said, recognized legal divorces granted in any state or country allowing substituted service instead of personal service.

PARIS, March 25.—John Wattawa, a law office associate here of former United States Senator Henry Hollis, said today that Mr. Hollis "obtained a divorce recently" from Mrs. Grace B. Hollis, before his marriage in Italy this week to Miss Anne White Hobbs of Concord, N. H. Mr. Wattawa added that he was not at present in a position to give the details.

RAINFALL ADDS TO BURLINGTON FLOOD VICTIMS' SUFFERING

Special to the Record News

BURLINGTON, Kan., March 25.—A steady downpour of rain and a cold wind this morning added to the suffering of the Burlington flood victims. Many houses damaged by the flood are without fuel and no coal can be found in the town.

The Neosho river fell one foot last night. At Emporia the Cottonwood river fell 11 feet during the night.

LIBERTY BONDS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Liberty bonds closed: 3½s 97.94; first 4s 98.10 bid; second 4s 97.70 bid; first 4¼s 98.20; second 4¼s 98.02; third 4¼s 90.30; fourth 4¼s 98.32; Victory 3¾s 100.02 bid; Victory 4¾s 100.76.

OPEN LETTER NO. 4

Judge J. P. Jones, County Judge
County Commissioners and J. M. Isbell, County Engineer.

It has come to our attention that some of you gentlemen are of the impression that our Open Letters No.'s 1, 2 and 3 have been incited, suggested, or written by some of your opponents, or prospective opponents in the coming election. We wish to go on record here as making an unqualified statement that such is not the case, and that our letters have no political significance whatever, without it should be that the tax payers of this county should become dissatisfied with the manner in which you are administering your duties and should govern themselves accordingly. In other words these letters were written solely by officials of this company, and were written and shall continue to be written for the one purpose, viz, that of showing to the tax payers of Wichita county the business ability, or lack of same that you are demonstrating in handling the financial affairs of this county. We feel that the tax payers are entitled to the information that you are knowingly and willfully spending large sums of money more than necessary in buying sand for the concrete roads for this county.

We have made the statement repeatedly that you can buy sand as good, or better than you are now using at a saving of 10c per ton which, according to the statement of your engineer as to the quantity that you were using, would mean a saving of approximately $1000.00 per month to the taxpayers of this county.

We are unable to understand how you gentlemen can afford to ignore our letters No.'s 1, 2 and 3, and you may be sure that the tax payers of this county are not ignoring them.

If you have an idea that these letters are not attracting the attention of your constituents we wish you would have some of your friends interview a reasonable number of tax payers so that you may get true knowledge of just how your constituents look at this proposition. And when you have this information we feel sure that you will not further ignore these letters, if there is any answer you can make.

This letter is very different from the one we had first intended publishing as Letter No. 4. After the one conforming to our original idea was written we decided for the present we would hold it up and give you an opportunity of making some defense of your attitude in the matters already suggested before we ask for an explanation of other matters that might be more embarrassing than those already suggested. In the meantime we have a few questions we would like to ask and have you answer.

Do you think there is any justification for you not giving the tax payers the information asked for, when we have offered to pay the expense of publishing any answer you might wish to make?

Is the court still of the impression that Mr. Isbell is a competent engineer on the road building work in this county?

Does the court think that Mr. Isbell has displayed sufficient interest or ability in judging the quality of material that has been used in our roads?

If you answer yes to the above questions what evidence have you that he has displayed the ability or interest that he should have displayed?

Isn't it a fact that you are paying more for other materials beside sand than the present market price justifies?

Firm Changes Name to Dixie Tire Service Co.

The Dixie Tire Service company is the new name of the concern located at 811 Tenth street which has been well known in this city as the W. W. company for several years. The change in name was made by the proprietors because the new name is more in line with the present service to the public. The former name stood for the Wichita-Wescott company. The present company handles neither the Wichita tires or the Wescott automobile at the present time.

The firm, under the new name, will continue to give all kinds of tire service to automobile owners with the usual gas, oil and free air and water service in front of the store. The company has been made the exclusive distributor for the General tires and will make a specialty in service connected with the sale of the fire. They will handle all sizes both for trucks and automobiles both in cord and fabric makes.

P. G. Putty, Pat Jarrett and Jack Hale will continue as owners of the concern under the new name. All are actively identified in the management of the company.

CITY POUND OFFICE.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Jessie I. Flick by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 89th District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Wichita Falls, on the First Monday in April, A. D. 1922, the same being the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1922. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 13370-B wherein, Franklin Flick is plaintiff and Jessie I. Flick is defendant and said petition alleges That plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married on the 26th day of April, 1880, and lived together, without the exception of short periods, until October, 1919. Plaintiff says that defendant was harsh, cruel and tyrannical, that she would accuse him of being untrue to her, would accuse him of keeping company with common prostitutes, all of which she knew was untrue. Plaintiff further says that defendant would curse him, calling him all kinds of bad names and accuse him of being a thief, and further went so far as to threaten to kill him and did on one occasion get a pistol to kill plaintiff with.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that upon final hearing hereof, he have judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony, as they now exist, for costs of suit, and for such other and further relief, both general and special to law and equity, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 21st day of February, A. D. 1922.

(SEAL) A. F. KERR, Clerk.
District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JOHNSON, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
COUNTY OF WICHITA.

By virtue of a certain Order of Sale, issued out of the Honorable Eighty Ninth District Court of Wichita County, on the 17th day of March, 1922, by A. F. Kerr, Clerk of District Court of said County, against W. A. Aggers, for the sum of Twenty Three Thousand Nine Hundred Twenty Six and 28-100 ($23,926.28) Dollars and costs of suit in cause No. 16704-C in said court, styled L. P. Hammond, W. R. Ferguson and S. E. Haddock and R. T. Couch, versus W. A. Aggers, and placed in my hands for service; I, Fred K. Smith, as sheriff of Wichita County, Texas, did on the 17th day of March, 1922, levy on certain real estate situated in Wichita County, described as follows, to-wit:

Being an oil and gas lease upon the N. E. 10 acres of the West 40 acres and the N. W. 10 acres of the East 40 acres of an 80 acre tract of land, said 80 acre tract being the south ½ of the S. E. ¼ of the Henry Hastle survey, Wichita County, Texas, together with all personal property thereon, used in connection therewith, including derricks, equipment, casing, two standard rigs and miscellaneous pipes, joints and tools, known as the Aggers Lease in the Textoma field, and levied on as the property of said W. A. Aggers.

And on Tuesday, the 4th day of April, 1922, at the County House Door of Wichita County, in the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of ten a. m. and four p. m., I will sell said real estate at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder as the property of said W. A. Aggers, by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale.

And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Record News, a newspaper published in Wichita County, said.

Witness my hand this the 17th day of March, 1922.

FRED K. SMITH,
Sheriff Wichita County, Texas.
By F. E. JOHNSON, Deputy.

Be it ordained by the board of Aldermen of the City of Wichita Falls:

Section 1. That there is hereby levied and assessed upon each dog, male and female, kept or owned within this city, an annual tax of Two Dollars ($2.00) on each male dog and Three Dollars ($3.00) on each female dog, which tax is to be payable on the first day of January of each year and it is hereby made the duty of the owner or keeper of any dog, male or female, to pay over to the Chief of Police, or his duly authorized agent the said tax on or before the first day of January of each year.

Section 2. The Chief of Police shall collect or have collected under his supervision all dog taxes, and he may employ a special officer to be known and designated as the Dog Catcher, whose duty it shall be to carry out the terms and provisions of this ordinance and the Chief of Police shall be authorized to pay unto the Dog Catcher a commission on all dog taxes collected not to exceed 25 per cent. The Chief of Police shall be responsible to the City of Wichita Falls for all money or moneys collected under this ordinance and shall make monthly reports in writing of all money or moneys collected under this ordinance to the Board of Aldermen and shall pay over into the treasury of the City all money or moneys so collected under this ordinance at least once a month.

Section 3. Upon the payment of said tax the Chief of Police or his duly authorized agent shall furnish the owner or keeper of said dog or dogs with a tag on which is stamped the number of registration with the year for which tax is paid, which tag the owner or keeper shall attach to a collar securely fastened around the neck of such dog, male or female, and while the tag is attached to the collar around the neck of said dog, said dog may run at large in the city, provided said dog or dogs shall also while running at large be securely muzzled by its owner or keeper so as to prevent it from being able to bite anyone.

Whenever any person has complied with the provisions of the preceding section and the said dog or dogs' tag is lost or otherwise destroyed, it shall be the duty of said owner or keeper of said dog to procure another tag from the Chief of Police by paying the value of said tag and all costs that may have accrued as hereinafter provided.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police or his duly authorized agent to capture and impound in a pen to be provided by the Board of Aldermen for that purpose and called the "Dog Pound," any dog, male or female, found running at large within the city limits without a tag and a muzzle as provided for under the terms of this ordinance and if such dog, male or female, is not redeemed and reclaimed and taken from said pound within the time required under the provisions of this ordinance, then the Chief of Police shall advertise said dog for sale 24 hours by posting one notice of said sale at the door of the City Hall, which notice shall give the time and place of sale and shall, if not redeemed, sell said dog, male or female, at public auction, and if no one shall bid upon the same, the amount of charges due the said dog, the said dog shall be bought by the City and at once killed by the Chief of Police or his duly authorized agent.

Section 5. (a.) The owner or keeper of any dog or dogs, male or female, captured or impounded under the provisions of this ordinance shall be permitted and allowed at any time within 48 hours after such dog or dogs, male or female, shall have been impounded, to redeem, reclaim and again receive possession of said dog or dogs, male or female, upon payment to the Chief of Police or his duly authorized agent, the sum of fifty cents (50c) for every twelve hours or fractional part thereof during which time said dog or dogs, male or female, may have been impounded, for every such dog, male or female, so impounded, which sum so paid to him shall by the Chief of Police be paid over to the City treasury for the use and benefit of the city as well as all other moneys received by him under the terms of this ordinance. A sum of One Dollar ($1.00) shall in addition thereto be paid to the Chief of Police or his duly authorized agent to recapture and impound said dog or dogs, provided, however, that the city shall in no case be held responsible for any part of the fee or any commission mentioned herein to be paid to the Chief of Police or his duly authorized Dog Catcher.

(b) Should the owner or keeper of said dog or dogs, male or female, fail to redeem the same as provided for in Paragraph (a) of this Section within the 48 hours, then said dog or dogs, male or female, shall be advertised and sold or killed in the manner provided for in this ordinance. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police and the duly authorized Dog Catcher to see that the terms of this ordinance are strictly enforced, provided, however, that the terms of this ordinance shall not be applicable to dogs following countrymen into the city.

Section 6. The Chief of Police and any policeman of this city shall have the right to shoot or kill any rabid dog or any dog in the streets which shall manifest a disposition to bite.

Section 7. That any person who shall wilfully take from any dog a collar or tag shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not to exceed Ten Dollars ($10.00.)

Section 8. That this ordinance shall become effective and be in full force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed and approved this 20th day of March, A. D. 1922.

W. D. CLINE, Mayor.
Attest:
George W. THORBURN, City Secretary.

ORDINANCE NO. 398.

An Ordinance Amending Section 9 of Ordinance No. 391, Toward the Weights and Measures Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Wichita Falls:

Section 1. That Section 9 of Ordinance No. 391 be amended by the addition of the following provisions:

That at the time of filing such complaint with the Inspector of Weight and Measures and requesting the Inspector to test a meter or meters the complainant shall deposit with the Inspector the sum of $2.00 for each such meter complained of. If then, upon testing, the Inspector finds such meter or meters to be within 3 per cent of accurate, said $2.00 shall be retained and no refund made to the complainant, but if upon testing, the Inspector finds said meter or meters to be inaccurate to a degree that either or each is operating more than 2 per cent fast then the $2 deposit per meter shall be refunded to the complainant, and for each such meter which the Inspector tests and finds to be running more than 2 per cent fast an inspection charge of $2 shall be made against the company having such meter in its service.

Section 2. That all fees derived from weights and measures work as provided for in this ordinance shall be applied to the maintenance of the Weights and Measures department.

Passed and approved this the 20th day of March, 1922.

W. D. CLINE, Mayor.
Attest:
GEORGE W. THORBURN, City Clerk.

JURIES FOR WEEK COST NEAR THOUSAND

Juries in the district and county courts last week cost the county $945 according to figures Saturday from the office of District Clerk Kerr. The total given the jurors for their service exceeded that of any week in over a year, Mr. Kerr said.

The fact that the jurymen were held most of the week and that an exceptionally large number were summoned for service accounts for the large amount.

Our National Legislators

Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher.

Duncan U. Fitcher, one of Florida's two democratic senators, entered the higher house in 1908, and has been in that body ever since. He was born in Sumter county, Ga., January 6, 1859. He gained his early education in country schools and then studied at Gordon Institute and Vanderbilt University. He began the practice of law in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1881. He served two terms as mayor of that city and also served as a member of the state legislature before going to the U. S. senate.

Sen. Park Trammell.

Park Trammell, Florida's junior senator, has climbed the ladder of politics from the mayoralty of a small town to the United States senate. He was elected mayor of Lakeland in 1899 and from that time his political star has been on the rise. In Florida he has been state senator, representative, attorney general and governor. Present term expires in 1923. He is a lawyer and married.

Sen. William J. Harris.

William J. Harris, Georgia, received his training for the U. S. senate by acting as private secretary to the late Senator A. S. Clay. He was elected to the senate without opposition in 1918 after he had served in the state legislature, as director of the United States census bureau, acting secretary of the department of commerce and chairman of the federal trade commission. He is fifty-four years old, a banker by professional, married and has one child.

Officers of Regular Army Who Courageously Faced the Enemy Fearful as Jobs Are Threatened

By HARRY L. ROGERS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—These are anxious days for the officers of the Regular Army.

The lads who polished the swivel chairs in Washington during the war, and likewise the men who led battalions, regiments, and even divisions into the face of the enemy with no visible evidence of fear and trembling today are listening nervously for any sort of a tip as to what Congress intends to do about the military forces of the United States.

The younger officers are frankly anxious about their jobs, and they will tell you earnestly how unjust it would be to ruin the career of one who has spent four of the best years of his life in such a place as West Point, only to be ruled out at a time when he seems to be in a fair way to realize upon his investment of weary weeks endured under the scourge of ruthless discipline.

Call Policy an Error.

Officers of higher rank will give you a lengthy disquisition upon the unsoundness of a policy which permits a nation to run from one extreme to the other in the matter of national defense and will quote you long figures to show how much more inexpensive the World War would have been if the Government hadn't made such errors more recently. They cite the recommendations of various chiefs of staff of illustrious fame to prove that 250,000—or is it 150,000?—men are the irreducible minimum necessary for the safety of the United States, and then they inquire anxiously whether Anthony of Kansas or Herrick of Oklahoma has said anything further in Congress recently about reducing the army to 60,000 men.

From Secretary of War Weeks on down the army is frankly worried. The higher authorities realize that, like the demand for reform, the demand for national defense comes in waves, but they are fearful that in the hysteria for reduction of armament the country will lose much of the valuable ground it gained by the experiences of the World War.

Opinion of Experts.

The following quotations from a lecture recently delivered at the Army War College by Colonel John McA. Palmer and published to the army in an official bulletin, will show what the opinion of military experts on the subject is:

"It has been the practice of the United States upon the outbreak of war to expand a small professional peace establishment into a great non-professional war army. These expansions have always been perfected without any perpetuity of doctrine or organization, through which the experience generated in one expansion could be utilized in the next. Or, to put it another way, at certain crises in our history, with a vast expenditure of treasure and human energy, we have erected a great war organization and then have demolished that organization after the emergency, without any provision for making that expenditure a permanent national investment. After being forced to militarize a whole generation we have taken no precaution to make the sacrifices of that generation a heritage of experience for the next generation that may be called upon to bear the stress of war.

"No National System."

"At the outbreak of the Civil War we had no national military system, and such military knowledge as we had was concentrated in a limited number of trained soldiers, most of them in the regular army, with a few others in civil life who had served in the Mexican War. It suddenly became the mission of these men, without preconceived plans, to impart that knowledge to vast citizen armies. Their visual experience had been limited generally to company and battalion units. I think it is fair to say that only one leader showed any conception of the practical business of troop leading in 1861. This was Stonewall Jackson, and it is interesting to remember that he had left the piddling routine of the old army shortly after the Mexican War with the deliberate object of seeking an opportunity to study military art.

"By the end of the war we were the greatest military power on earth. We had developed a powerful military organization. We had leaders and staff officers indoctrinated with the latest conceptions of strategy and tactics. Our supply officers had overcome the difficulties of Sherman's advance to Atlanta. We had a general staff in fact, though not in name.

"Remained Great Power."

"Even after the demobilization of the army we remained for a time a great military power. For a few years our armies were still potentially in being, prepared if necessary for a speedy recall to the colors. This was so fully recognized by the world that in 1867 a mere hint sufficed to cause a withdrawal of the French armies from Mexico. A little later, however, the great war organization had melted away. Its officers and professional soldiers went back to the problem of the company and the battalion, with no arrangement for transmitting their lore and experience to their younger brothers and sons. Commanders and staff officers who had practiced great war at Gettysburg and Chickamauga returned to civil life, or went back to the petty routine of the frontier post, without any means of bequeathing their priceless heritage. From being leaders of the people in a great national crisis our American professional soldiers passed again into an isolated caste, without vital contact with the body of the nation."

It is some such state of affairs as that pictured by Colonel Palmer that serious-minded officers of the army have in mind today when they note the tendency of Congress to cut down appropriations for the war department. No doubt the element of selfishness enters into the consideration in a few places, but in a majority of cases the thinking men of the regular army believe that the policy which now apparently has a dominating position is "penny wise and pound foolish."

Home Town Stuff

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culbertson and little daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, have returned from Florida, where they spent the winter.

W. S. Green and Miss Ione Mullens both from Electra, were united in marriage at noon yesterday at the Floral Heights Methodist parsonage, Dr. J. H. Groseclose, officiating. They were married in the presence of a few friends who came over to witness the ceremony.

The Chorus choir of the Floral Heights Methodist church will render an Easter Cantata on the night of Easter Sunday. The Cantata is entitled "The Greatest Love" and is by Petrie. It is said by those who have heard the rehearsals to be one of the most beautiful programs ever presented in a church in this city. Mrs. Mary B. Adams, the director of the music of the church, is in charge with Mrs. O. E. Nicholls at the organ.

Beginning Monday night, revival services will be conducted at the Factory church on Grant street. Rev. and Mrs. Estes of Jolly will assist the pastor, Rev. W. A. Betts. The public is invited to attend, and a special invitation is extended the unemployed working people.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith and daughters, Maxine and Margaret of Fort Worth are guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stewart on Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wiley of 1209 Filmore, have returned home from Dallas.

BISHOP MOUZON PREACHES FINAL SERMON OF SERIES AT FLORAL HEIGHTS M. E. CHURCH TONIGHT

The revival which has been in progress in this city for the past two weeks at Floral Heights church will come to a close with the evening service tonight. The program of the meeting is a very full one, beginning with Sunday school at 9:30 this morning and closing with a rousing song and farewell service at the union station at 10:30 tonight when Bishop Mouzon and his party will leave the city. Bishop Mouzon will preach at the 10:30 a. m. service, followed by the reception of fifty or more people into the church. There will also be baptism for adults at this service. Mrs. T. C. Bromwell will sing a solo at the morning service.

At 4:00 o'clock this afternoon there will be a Young People's Rally. Bishop Mouzon will at this time baptize infants and small children. Dr. Groseclose, the pastor of the church, announced that he would present a baptismal certificate to every child baptized today with the signature of the bishop on it. More than 25 parents have already signified their intention of bringing their babies to that service. The service will be for everybody. Mrs. Adams will sing "When Jesus Was Here Among Men."

The evening service will begin at 7:30 promptly. Bishop Mouzon will deliver his final message at that hour. There will also be reception of members and baptism. The quartet composed of Mesdames Adams and Hopkins and Messrs. Evans and Richardson will sing.

At 10:30 p. m. friends and admirers of Bishop and Mrs. Mouzon will gather at the union station to bid them farewell. There will be a Mr. Richardson, whose work here has won much favorable comment.

In spite of the stiff norther that blew up the auditorium and balcony of the church were full to hear the preacher last night on the "Cloud of Witnesses." At the conclusion several persons were received into the church.

Two Women, Separated in Position But United by Bond of Mother-Love Leave Homes to Seek Missing Sons

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A mother, cultured and refined, with all the resources at her command that immense wealth can give today combed in vain the dark, ill-smelling Bowery for her lost son, heir to a million.

At the same time another mother, worn by ill-healt hand hard work, put together her few threadbare clothes and with firm confidence prepared to start into the west to find her missing boy.

The first mother, Mrs. Graham Duffield of Chicago, has almost lost her faith. For eight days she had hunted. Today she visited the haunts of the wrecks who have failed in the battle of life and dropped out of sight into the cauldron known as the Bowery, but she failed.

The second mother, Mrs. Mary Whittaker of Henry street, is supreme in her confidence. Her boy is somewhere in the west and on Tuesday, in accordance with her announcement earlier in the week, she will start out from New York in a poor dilapidated motor car which she bought with her savings, carrying everything she wons and ready to back her belief against the hardships of the road.

Youth Telephones.

Mrs. Duffield whose 17-year-old son, Gordon, rebelled against school life in Plainfield, N. J., and fled to the Bowery let her presence be known on her arrival and the boy responded with telephone calls. But always after telling her he would come to see her, he failed to appear and to night his mother appeared on the verge of a breakdown and feared approaching illness would force her to return home tomorrow.

She picked up her search today at the point it left off last night when a telephone call from her son was traced to a drug store on First avenue.

Frail, still youthful in appearance, despite the worry she has experienced she entered squalid rooming houses, rubbing shoulders with unkept men, some of whom leered at her, but she never flinched.

She mingled with the flotsam and jetsam of Bowery life, asking if any one had seen a boy of five-foot, nine, dressed in a faded blue suit.

At one restaurant, she was told that a boy answering the general description of Gordon had washed dishes there—up to yesterday. At a squalid 25 cents a bed rooming house, not more than two blocks distant, she was informed that a youth who might have been Gordon had slept there—up to last night. At another restaurant a sleep habitue roused himself enough to tell the mother that a "kid like that guy was down ter the Cooper Union." But at Cooper Union which for eight days has been the center of her frantic search, there was no sign of the boy.

Gordon, so he told her over the telphone is trying a personally conducted experiment. He wants to experience real poverty to see what it is like.

"But he wants to be good to me, I know he does," she said. "I can't believe he wants to make me suffer. He may be starving. I know he has no money. If he would only come and see me."

And Gordon, with an air of bravado, breezes into a pay station telephone—a different one each night—calls up his mother, calls her "moms", promises to go at once to her house and see her—and each night leaves her to sit with eyes glued on a door which never opens.

Will Search "West."

In a Henry street tenement a different scene. A few days ago Mrs. Whittaker told her neighbors at last she had put away enough pennies to make possible her journey, in the west and tonight she was pushing forward with her plans just as determinedly as if the west was only as large as Central Park.

Four years ago, in Oklahoma City, she separated from her boy, Sidney, who is two years older than Gordon. The lad drifted up to the wheat belt and his mother to New York.

Seated in her dingy tenement up three flights of stairs, she told a newspaperman that when she drives out of New York on Tuesday with just a few gallons of gasoline in the tank of her car, she first is going to strike out for Kansas City.

For it was from Kansas City that Mrs. Whittaker last heard from her son. Later she received word from an employment agency in Sapulpa, Okla., that a boy resembling her son had signed from there for work in the Kansas and Missouri wheat fields. So, after Kansas City, Sapulpa.

"I can find him," she said. "I know I can, because I know it in my mother's mind. You see this picture. It is the last one I ever had of him. I am taking it with me. Somehow when I see it I feel more certain he is going to be waiting for me."

The heart of Henry street goes with her. More than that, a small purse will be given her for although the neighbors can afford only a few pennies, they are gathering those that can be spared.

BEAUMONT CITIZENS PLANNING ANTI-MOB VIOLENCE MEETING

By Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 25.—Opposition to mob violence in Beaumont crystalized today when petitions were put into circulation at noon and by 1:30 o'clock contained names of over a hundred bankers, lawyers, physicians and business men calling for a mass meeting Monday night in American Legion hall to devise plans for stopping mob violence and for the enforcement of the law. The petition recites that the time has come when all men, both high and low, must be given the protection guaranteed to them by the state and national constitutions. The petition follows the beating, tarring and feathering of Judge J. B. Pelt early this week and the beating of a negro a few days earlier.

ROBBERY CASE TO BE TRIED MONDAY

Sandy Harwell of Burkburnett charged with having robbed Dr. H. Jones of that city several months ago will go on trial in the 89th district court Monday. It is the only criminal case set for trial during the week.

WORK ON FAIR STARTS AGAIN AT EARLY DATE

W. F. Weeks and Co-Workers to Confer Early This Week on Plan of Stock Subscription Campaign.

Stock Campaign Is to Be Pushed in Order That Work at Call Field May Start Soon.

Work on subscriptions toward the capital stock of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, which has an option on the Call Field grounds, and which plans to hold the first fair this October, will be under way in a short time, according to W. F. Weeks, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Fair committee, Saturday. A conference early in the week to plan for the campaign is scheduled at which time the date for a general conference will be announced.

The campaign for a fair was started with the intention of giving one this spring, but the plans were changed through opposition on the part of many local business men to a hurried affair—belief that the time was too short to arrange for anything but a "jim crow" fair this spring and that such would not be representative of the city, being advanced.

Call Field is to be obtained for the fair at a highly favorable figure, and its buildings and other facilities have been pronounced by experts as ideal for fair purposes, as brought out in connection with former discussion.

The change to the fall plan will permit not only more deliberate execution of plans, but planning the first fair on a larger scale.

It is the intention of Mr. Weeks and other members of the committee to conduct the campaign for stock subscriptions as quickly as possible in order that repair and alteration work on the Call Field buildings may begin as soon as possible. Relieving of some unemployment in one of the objects of beginning work early.

MOVE MADE TO INCREASE ARMY MEASURE ITEMS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Restrictions in the army appropriation bill on the allowances for various national guard activities brought on a concerted movement today on the part of a bloc of house members to increase some of the items. The day was spent in debate and in the adoption of several amendments and the rejection of a number of others, with the result that a vote on passage of the bill went over until next week.

Before a final vote is reached an attempt will be made, Chairman Dempsey of the rivers and harbors committee said, to increase the amount carried in the bill for continuing work on various river and harbor improvements during the coming fiscal year. The measure provides approximately $27,000,000—slightly more than the amount recommended by the budget bureau. The army engineering corps, however, asked for $43,000,000. Mr. Dempsey said he would endeavor to have the higher figure inserted in the bill before it goes to the senate.

The house by a close vote, adopted an amendment which would make $11,000,000 instead of $9,000,000 available for armory drill pay for national guardsmen during the coming fiscal year. Another amendment approved increases from $800,000 to $1,002,800, the allowance for feeding and care of national guard horses and mules and eliminated from the bill a provision that the number of such animals could not exceed 4,000.

Clue in Baby Case Fails to Solve Mystery

Expected developments in the solution of the mystery surrounding the finding of the body of a new-born babe in the Marlow tank in the west part of the city failed to materialize late Saturday night. The man who was expected to solve the mystery, arriving here on a late train, gave a satisfactory explanation of his actions when questioned by Assistant District Attorney Holliday and Sheriff Fred Smith.

The man's name was on a tag found near the lake shortly after the discovery of the body. The name was on an American Express tag attached to a sack in which trees apparently had been shipped. It was said Saturday night that the tag and sack had been left there by police officers who were the first to arrive on the scene, and later picked up by other offifcers who did not know how it had found its way to the pasture.

The failure of this information to materialise leaves officers at present without a clue regarding the mystery.

MELLON'S SECRETARY IS TERMED "SPHINX"

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Knows all, sees all, says nothing.

That's what they say about John Kieley, private secretary to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who has been the right-hand man for many treasury chiefs.

Kieley is a veritable Sphinx. He's a live wire, but let's no one know it.

It would take a battering-ram to get by him into the busy precincts of Secretary Mellon's office, if the appointment seeker had no good reason for taking up the time of that official.

Mr. Kieley is noted as a "kid glove" artist. They may want to interview Secretary Mellon, but if they don't the astute private secretary sends them away smiling and satisfied.

News Notes For Masons

Invitations are out reading as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. J. Staley request the presence of yourself and lady, Patrol Ball, Friday evening, March thirty-first, nineteen twenty-two, nine o'clock to midnight. Kemp hotel. Formal."

The Illustrious Order of the Red Cross and the Order of Malta will be conferred on a large class of candidates at the next regular session of Wichita Falls Commandery No. 59 Knights Templar, to be held Thursday evening, April 6, at 7 p. m.

The commandery will attend divine services in a body on Easter Sunday. Several invitations have been received, but the place has not yet been designated by the committee in charge.

Hope chapter, Order of De Molay for boys, held its second meeting in the Masonic temple Thursday evening. There was a large attendance at the meeting and plans were made for a ceremonial to be held at Call Field Saturday, April 22. Several petitions were received and it is expected that a class of a hundred or more will receive the work at the special ceremonial on the 22nd.

A committee of three was appointed to form a patrol and band, to be started in a very short time.

Master Masons' sons and their chums between the ages of 16 and 21 years are eligible to membership in this new order.

Dallas Consistory No. 2, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, of Dallas, as well as the four other consistory and will meet with the exhalf of their fees for degrees to the building fund of the girls dormitory at the University of Texas, at Austin. This is one of the greatest acts of charity ever attempted by any body, or bodies, of Freemasonry, and evidences the faith of Freemasonry in public education. Most favorable comment on this project is being heard, not only by Masons of Texas, but, also, by people who are not members of any branch of the fraternity. At the Maundy Thursday banquet held in Wichita Falls last year $3,000 was subscribed to this fund.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Dallas Consistory for a large spring class for the reunion to be held May 15 to 19. At this early date several hundred new petitions have been received by the secretary, J. L. Stephens, which is very encouraging, despite the financial conditions at this time. A great many Wichita Falls Masons expect to take the work in the May class.

Dallas Consistory No. 2 has more than eight thousand members at the present time, and is one of the largest consistories in the Southern Jurisdiction.

J. D. Avis and C. O. Fritz are special representatives of Dallas consistories of Texas, will contribute ecutive committee at the Adolphus hotel on March 28. Mr. Avis received the honorary degree of Knight Commander of the Court of Honor at the last session of the supreme council held in October last year.

SAYS CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of This Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It mal s you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Adv.

DALLAS POLICE INFORMED OF NEW FLOGGING

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, March 25.—Announcement that W. J. Gilbert, operator of a cleaning and pressing establishment, was taken from his place of business to a spot beyond the city limits where he was flogged by three unmasked men several weeks ago, was the principal development made known today in the investigations of recent Dallas floggings, following receipt of Governor Pat M. Neff's offer of state rangers to protect the life of District Attorney Maury Hughes and to assist him in conducting the investigation. The offer of Governor Neff was declined by Mr. Hughes with thanks. The district attorney said he believed authorities of Dallas are fully able to cope with the situation and will succeed in ending the flogging practice without outside assistance.

Detective Captain Moffett declared evidence being obtained in four floggings, which are being investigated, indicate the same parties are probably implicated in all.

Samples' Motion For New Trial Is Overruled

Judge P. A. Martin of the 80th district court Saturday overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of F. S. Samples, convicted of automobile theft earlier in the week and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary. Misconduct of the jury was the principal allegation made by the defendant in his motion for a new trial.

Notice of appeal was given by the defendant and his bond was placed at $5,000 by Judge Martin. Late Saturday afternoon the court refused to approve a bond that was presented. Samples, who was formerly county attorney in Clay county and at one time practiced law here, had not made bond late Saturday night, and

HUBBY MUST PAY UNTIL IT HURTS, SAYS FAIR GANNA

Mme. Ganna Walska Cochran.

All Paris is guessing on the outcome of the latest effort of Alexander Smith Cochran to rid himself of his wife, Mme. Ganna Walska, opera star, as cheaply as possible. It is understood that Cochran is willing to double his first offer of a $10,000 annuity. But the diva is standing pat and insists on a fifty-fifty split of his $70,000,000 fortune. "If he wants to get rid of me he must pay until it hurts," says madame, "and that for his own good. He must be made to realize that a woman is not a toy to gratify a whim."

Hearing Renews Interest Here In Rail Groups

Notice that the interstate commerce commission will hold its first hearing next month on proposed consolidation of the railroads of the country, into a limited number of large systems has revived speculation among local railroad officials as to the ultimate alignment of the roads entering Wichita Falls. Although the first hearing will concern roads in the Southeastern group, it is expected that consideration of proposed consolidations for other sections of the country.

In the grouping affecting roads entering Wichita Falls, proposed and being considered by the commission, the Colorado Southern and the Fort Worth & Denver are placed in a group of which the Santa Fe is the dominant member—a group considered by local railroad officials as an exceptionally strong one, while the Katy lines are proposed for a group of which the Frisco would be the dominant member, with the Cotton Belt, T. & B. V., and Chicago & Alton the other members—not regarded as nearly so strong a group. The Katy is considered as optional in group 17 in which the Rock Island and Southern Pacific are the dominant members—considered a strong group.

The Kell lines, including the Wichita Falls & Southern and the line to Waurika to be built this year, as well as the C. & O. W. in Oklahoma, would be valuable lines to either of these three groups.

PERCENTAGE OF TAXES PAID THIS YEAR HOLDS OWN WITH LAST YEAR

From a tax roll of $1,233,695.83 covering school and county taxes the office of County Tax Collector Tittle collected $846,719.75 between October 1 and March 1, according to information from the office Saturday. The total represents 68.7 per cent of the total roll. The collection for the year is approximately the same as last year as to percentage of collections.

M'GRAW'S GIANTS TO GET UNEXPECTED SLICE SERIES COIN

DALLAS, Mar. 25.—An unexpected present will go along with the world's series emblems which Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis will present to the members of the New York National league baseball club, world's champions of 1921, at Marine field tomorrow afternoon in the form of a check for each member of the champion personnel. It is each player's own money, but a slice they did not expect to get.

When the series was played last year, a small amount of each player's shart, one per cent, was held out by the national commission in the belief that non-residents had to pay it into the New York state income tax fund. It has since been discovered that this is not necessary. The money is now being paid to the players. It will amount to approximately $50 per man.

The Giants and White Sox play here tomorrow.

KELL BUYS 600 TONS OF STEEL RAILS

With final agreement scheduled for this week on contracts between Frank Kell and Byers and Waurika people interested in the building of the rail extension from Byers to Waurika, purchase of material for the construction is already under way, and the material is expected to begin arriving by the time action is obtained on the application for permit to build filed with the interstate commerce commission.

Among recent purchases by Mr. Kell, it was learned Saturday, are two miles of track running into the former flying field, Barron field, near Ellsworth. This two miles includes high grade and practically new ties, rails and plates, which are already being taken up for transportation here. Whether the new material will be used by the Wichita Falls & Southern or by the new line is not known, but it is understood to be of a grade suitable for either.

LEGION TO ASK CLOSING ROADS FOR AIR MEET

Permission will be formally asked of the county commissioners court to close the county roads for an appropriate distance around the field on which the American Legion's Aerial meet, expected to draw 50 flyers and flying acrobats, at the court's regular meeting Monday. Assurance that this permission can be obtained has been given by individual members of the court.

Plans for the event, expected to be the largest and most ambitious meet of flyers and aerial dare devils ever staged in the south and one of the largest ever attempted in America, were announced in the Saturday Record News.

Panels From Shoulder to Ankle New Fashion Note

A SCARF WITH SLEEVES —A NOVEL WRAP

NEW PANEL EFFECT ON STREET FROCK

LAST season panels hung from waistline to hem line—this season they hang from shoulder ankle. The designers are evidently of the opinion that one can't have too much of a good thing.

These long panels are appearing on street frocks a great deal, on evening gowns not infrequently, and on sport clothes, in the original form of a scarf with sleeves.

This unusual arrangement is shown in the sketch to the left. The lady in the sketch wears a plaid chemise-frock, very simple, with narrow belt and short elbow sleeves. Over this she has put a matching scarf which turns back on itself forming a reverse, and which boasts of as fine a pair of sleeves as ever a top-coat had! And pockets as well! In the back this scarf comes to well below the shoulders, like a very short cape. The scarf can be worn hanging loosely with madame's hands thrust in the pockets, or it can be thrown around the neck and over the shoulders like a regulation scarf—when hanging, however, it gives the panel effect, which is the thing to be desired this season.

In the next sketch we have the panel applied to the draped satin evening gown. The panels are each of a straight piece of material with an armhole in it, and are fastened to the shoulder. They float out in a most graceful fashion.

In the photo we have the panelled street frock chosen by Gloria Swanson, the Paramount picture star. Miss Swanson chose this frock with an eye to its four fashionable points, which are its Russian blouse, shoulder-to-ankle panels, bateau neckline, and beaded band trim. She wears the dress in "Beyond the Rocks," her latest Paramount picture, in which Rodolph Valentino plays the leading male role.

The banding is of white beads, and is so placed that it accentuates the length and straightness of the panelling, incidentally lending a sense of height to the woman of short or medium stature.

The dress is of canary yellow crepe meteor, with matching hat trimmed in a waxed magnolia blossom.

Beaded Robe Is Star of Season

THE beaded robe is the shining sartorial star of the season. It leans more toward formal wear than informal, and when made along straight lines, it has a certain dignified charm that always comes from the application of rich material along simple lines.

The robe in white, of shining crystal and strass, is the last word from Paris, although robes in mauve-pink, orchid, and salmon pink are the most highly favored when color is wanted. In the photo above is a salmon pink beaded net robe over a taffeta drop. It is along the straight Greek lines so absolutely suitable to the slender woman. For this reason it was undoubtedly chosen by Miss Lois Wilson, Paramount star, to be worn in "The World's Champion," in which she appears with Wallace Reid. The robe, as it has been made up for her, suggests the ingenue most properly by the addition of a broad sash tied in a bow at the back, toward the right side. The fringing of curled ostrich along the slit at the side is another youthful touch.

Quite in contrast is the sketch of the gown at the upper right. This gown is draped to the figure, and is quite decollete, a more formal treatment of the robe. It is draped toward the left hip, and is fringed with strass; the body of the robe is of crystal and pearls. A long glittering beaded net fan is the picturesque accessory.

On the head in the sketch below, is shown a beaded band that has an almost regal look—an effect that is coming rapidly in favor. This sort of headdress is rather splendid for the woman that succesfully affects the plain black velvet evening gown, or draped, but untrimmed satin gown.

MAIDS AND MATRONS PLAY BRIDGE GAME

And Then Feast on Shrimps Wiggle in Patty Shells and Other Edibles Dear to the Palate.

Doings of the Henrietta Clubs and Schools and Societies for a Week; Personal and Minor Mention.

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 25.—The Woman's Missionary society of the Baptist church met Monday afternoon to have their "training for service" lesson, Mrs. G. P. Jones was leader. Galloway, W. H. Meyers, Simm Forrenberry, Les Bramer, E. C. Carter, J. W. Mangum, Wm. Wantland, Fred Donley, C. F. Walker, Cyrus Coleman, J. O. Gilliland, A. J. Obeim, Arch Thompson, W. K. Millsapp, P. H. Nevil'e, Ben Nutter, Henry Allen, L. Thuxton, J. W. Marberry, J. W. Walker and Miss Hart Galloway.

The Mamie Wright Walker Chapter of C. I. A. students met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Frank Bunting. The evening was spent in recounting school experiences and in planning future work for the club. A delicious two-course lunch consisting of chicken salad, bread and butter sandwiches, coffee, marshmallow pudding a la Stanley and angel food cake was served to the following: Mesdames Maude Goodman, Harold Ferriss, Misses Mamie K. Nutter, Kathryn Hall, Beulah Bradley and Ruth Palmer. The chapter will meet with Miss Mamie K. Nutter the fourth of April.

The Vanity club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. S. Culwell as leader. The subject was "Chance" by Joseph Conrad. Interesting papers were given by Mesdames Walker, McDonald and Stagg.

Representatives from the High school went to Byers the 18th for the county tryout. Our students were not allowed to enter in the athletic contests on account of our enrollment being above 500 which makes the Henrietta school rank in Class A. However, the representatives did well in oratory. First honors were given to our senior girl and boy Miss Lois Mangum and John Calloway. Junior second place went to Miss Naomi Townley of this place. These young people will go to the district contest at Iowa Park about the middle of April.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble —How to Remove Easily

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails.—Adv.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN HANDS

Press the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerin and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft clear, rosy, white complexion, because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

DYE STOCKINGS OR SWEATER IN DIAMOND DYES

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen; cotton or mixed goods. —Adv.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK,

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

IF YOU ARE SICK

PROFIT BY THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS

Consult Dr. Schultz

THE RELIABLE SPECIALIST

For scientific treatment of chronic, nervous and special diseases of both sexes, catarrh of all mucous membrane, stomach, liver, kidney complaints, blood and skin diseases. Hemorrhoids and prostatis complications treated without the knife, by a safe and humane system of scientific treatment.

If you are sick of experimenting, sick of failures, sick of being sick, come to me. I invite sick people who contemplate taking treatment to come. Special attention given in the combination of curative powers, modern electricity, vibrations, etc., with the scientific administration of selected Specific Medicines. I endeavor to do everything to promote the welfare of my patients.

IF YOU NEED A SPECIALIST WHY NOT THE BEST?

Are you a nervous wreck? Are you worn out and broken down? Are you suffering from vicious Blood and Skin Diseases, that destroy bone tissue, and disfigure for life? Backaches and kidneys give you all-gone feeling? Whether these conditions were caused by early excesses, or contracted by inoculation, it does not matter, for they will all respond to my treatment. Consult Dr. Schultz, the Reliable Specialist, who is well equipped by long experience that enables him to offer his service on a basis that no other can; his charges are lower for cures than the average physician generally charges for failure.

Those who have wasted time and money, and failed to get rid of their ailments, are especially invited to consult FREE. I am giving the benefit of over 30 years' honorable experience; some of my cures are truly wonderful, yet I do not work magic: I do not make the old younger, nor the blind see; I simply apply the knowledge my years of honorable experience have given me, and I do this honestly and intelligently.

Mule-Hours Are Only Measure Of Distance When You're Off Beaten Path in West Mexico

And They Are Awful Hours As American Travelers Can Testify; Trails Overlooking Chasms Are So Narrow That a Six Shooter Is an Encumbrance.

By HERBERT COREY
Article No. 22

LA QUEMADA, Jalisco, Mexico, March 25.—When you get off the beaten path in Mexico—well, you're off the beaten path, that's all. There does not seem to be any more.

We were at Ixtlan, which is a day's ride by mule from railhead. No one knows how many miles that may be. One counts distances by mule hours, and not by miles. I wanted to get to La Quemada because between La Quemada and Ixtlan the Southern Pacific of Mexico is to build one of the scenic routes of this continent. There seems to be no question—at least there is no question in my mind—that there is something wrong with by head. Next time I shall read about scenic routes in the railroad folders. After they have been built I may look at them through a Pullman window. Anyhow, we were at Ixtlan, which looks a good deal like it sounds.

"Is there a hotel at La Quemada?" I asked.

Every one said there was. I was also assured that the trail over which I was to ride was one of the worst in this or any other land. There were places, I was told, where, if you but looked over the mule's shoulders, you did not find any bottom at all. None at all. And at this particular point, they said, the trail was so narrow that if you were a six-shooter you had to swing it between your shoulder blades, because there was no room for it. A great many people in this particular part of the country wear six-shooters, by the way. Some of the very nicest people.

So I started. But I took every precaution that occurred to me. At Ixtlan we had been sheltered for the night in a mule meson, which is something like the caravansaries of the East. There are rooms for guests in a sort of quadrangle about the patio. In the rear are the quarters for the mules. I went out there to see the animal I was to ride next day. Arrieros, who are the dynamic forces of mules, were sleeping everywhere on the cold ground wrapped in their blankets. Arrieros care less for personal comfort than any other men I have ever known. The apparejos, which are the pack saddles and other accoutrements for the mules, were stacked about everywhere. There was a comforting sound of mules masticating hay, which persisted in my ears all night, for the wall of my room was not soundproof. There was a homey smell of leather and perspiration and mule.

Precautions as to His Mount

"Where is it" I inquired, "Bring forth the horse."

So they brought the horse and I looked at its legs. I have always understood that you get 'en rapport at once with an animal if you look at its legs. Something like grissettes. They seemed all right to me. The arriero said the little horse was of a surety a perfect specimen of his breed. It occurred to me that if the horse took up the running walk that most Mexican horses do on the trail I would look a good deal like a highboy being propelled about on casters, but I said nothing. Looks are not everything.

"I will wake you at 4 o'clock," said the arriero.

This seemed to be a statement, rather than a promise, so no exception was taken to it. At 4 o'clock a knock sounded on the door of the room in which my partner and myself had been sleeping off the effect of twelve hours in a Ford. The night was dark and lonesome. Out in the patio, right at my door, two handsome, intelligent little mules were waiting. As soon as they saw the pile of baggage they started for their quarters in the rear, which proved they were intelligent. They were headed off. A small Mexican boy came out of a room with his mother and found his mosos and started them to packing his mules and kissed the hand of the landlady. I shall always have a higher opinion of boys after having watched him. An American boy would have died of shame if he had been compelled to kiss any one's hand, especially that of the landlady of a combination mule and Christian hotel. Likely he would not have kissed it at all. This small boy came as near being a thoroughbred little gentleman, plus a very capable little man of business, as I have ever seen.

Relations Between Mule and Man

Then the electric lights went out. To those who have never listened to mules being packed in darkness I say to them in all candor, don't. Yet the arriero did not kick any mule in the stomach. He called them the most horrifying names, but in low and gentle tones. I began to get the relation that exists between the Mexican and his horse or mule. He rides them hard and he packs them heavy, but he always seems fond of them. Nor have I ever seen a Mexican mule kick at his packer. They seem as gentle as ringdoves.

"That little breakfast, now," I said. "You are forgetting it."

The muleteer said vaguely that no doubt we could get something on the road. So we started, at half past four of a dark morning. The muleteer was dressed in a high, wide sombrero and white cotton and open-toed sandals. He would have been cold if it had not been for packing the mules.

His Spurs Not Trustworthy

As soon as we got into the street he strapped a pair of large spurs on me, giving me the appearance of an old time Missouri river side-wheeler, and hit my little horse violently on the tail and we were off. The muleteer ran behind. Every now and then my spurs failed to get a good hold and he got near enough to crack the little white horse on the tail again. I objected to that, because the little white horse always leaped about 14 feet. But, as stated, sometimes my spurs failed to catch.

We trotted savagely up the long, uphill road which the Spaniards built after getting a little practice in the Inquisition. Every now and then he hit my horse on the tail. There was scenery on either side, no doubt, but my memory fails to hold it. Now and then we passed other trotting mule trains and sometimes other mule trains outtrotted us. The dawn came in rose and gold and azure. The trunk which the most intelligent mule was burdened with slipped from time to time. I took advantage of the pauses to work my way further from that flicking quirt. We came to a little Indian village.

"We eat here," said the arriero. Or he made motions to that effect. It was light enough to see things and people. The houses were little dobe huts, in and out of which chickens, pigs, cats, dogs and neighbors walked. Ariosa, our hostess, said she had no food and could not feed us. Tears sprang. The arriero put up a hot argument. She sent out to the neighbors, but none of the hens had laid yet. So we breakfasted on coffee—not the worst in the world, but near it—and delicious little loaves of brown, crusted, light, fluffy, sweetened bread.

They Keep on "Adelanting."

"Adelante," said the arriero.

We adelanted for aching hours. We came to the bad place in the trail. It wasn't bad at all. It was wide enough to have driven a wagon on, except that to get on it the wagon must have been dropped out of a dirigible, and I could see the bottom plainly. The worst of it was that the road had given up trying to be a road and was putting on a lazy imitation of a disorderly stone quarry. No wheeled vehicle has ever been over it I am sure. We kept on adelanting. My partner got off and walked because his knees were killing him, and the arriero relapsed into gloomy silence. I gathered that by that act he had lost his chance to break the bad road record with amateurs. But my partner would not get back on. He said that he could hike with any man, but that he had been so carefully reared that he did not know how to tell about the pain in his knees.

STRONG PARTS PORTRAYED BY MISS FREDERICK

A woman, loyal, true and upright, with the deep-rooted love for home and children that is the heritage of every woman; a man whose creed has been to get gold and whose highest ideal of marriage is the perpetuation of his name and race so that more gold may be gathered; a woman who has in the journey of life lost her noble instincts, and has become a sodden, wreck of humanity; a man clean, honorable and faithful who is plunged into a tragedy which threatens to leave an everlasting mark of shame.

These are the characters who carry the main thread of the story in "Salvage," Pauline Frederick's latest Robertson-Cole super-special production, to be shown at the Gem Theater Friday. A drama that is alive and throbbing in its humanness, these chacacters, each an individual of a distinct type, are thrown together by a strange destiny.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS, WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24, 1922.—The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, announce that the costs of government for the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921, amounted to $1,660,589, which was a per capita cost of $39.05, consisting of expenses of general departments, $13.91; expenses of public service enterprises, $1.13; payments for interest, $1.43, and for outlays $22.58.

The total revenue receipts for 1921 were $994,190, or $23.38 per capita. For the fiscal year the per capita excess of governmental costs over revenue receipts was, therefore, $15.67.

Property taxes constitute the greater part of the revenue of cities. In Wichita Falls they represented 64.1 per cent for 1921, the per capita property takes for that year being $14.99.

Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 8.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1921, and business and non-business licenses represented 0.4 per cent.

The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of Wichita Falls was $66.53 per capita for 1921.

OFFICERS OF "LITTLE THEATER" FOR WICHITA FALLS ANNOUNCED

Plans of Organization, Recognized by Drama League of America, Announced Saturday.

Wichita Falls' Community Theater was formally organized this past week, and with the acceptance of the citizens appointed as board members, announcement of the personnel of the organization was made Saturday by Mrs. J. T. Montgomery, the president. The organization was perfected after several meetings of representative men and women of the city from the federated clubs and the men's luncheon clubs.

The officers and committee chairman are announced as follows.

Board of Directors.

Mrs. J. T. Montgomery, president.
A. H. Britain, vice-president.
Hubert Harrison, secretary-treasurer.
Horrace Robbins.
Mrs. J. A. Richolt.
Mrs. Claude Woods.
H. S. Ford.
G. Clint Wood.
Mayor of Wichita Falls.

COMMITTEES.

Play Reading—Mrs. H. B. Patterson.
Publicity—Hubert M. Harrison.
Public Affairs—Horrace Robbins.
Director—Mrs. E. L. Fulton.
Membership—Mrs. W. S. Robertson.
Art and Scenic—Emil Hermann.
Music—Mrs. Louella Thompson.
Welfare—Dr. N. F. Grafton.
Costumes—Mrs. Luther Hoffman.
Stage Manager—George Hoggins.
Properties—H. S. Ford.
Finance—G. Clint Wood.

This organization is the result of the activity of Mrs. E. L. Fulton and Mrs. A. H. Britain, the latter chairman of extension work for the city federation, who last summer began organization of the Studio Players, with the growth into a full-fledged community theater as their aim from the beginning. To the Studio Players the Drama League of America issued the first charter, given in the State of Texas, the charter being assured through the activity of the various club women interested, as well as the members of the Studio Players. One hundred charter members are necessary for an organization wishing to become a member of the Drama League of America, and there have already been more than 100 patron members enrolled in Wichita Falls.

The purpose of the Community Theater movement is to produce wholesome, entertaining, elevating plays at a price that will allow the community in general to enjoy the enterprise. It is described as an effort on the part of a group who are interested in a return of real art to the stage without the financial necessity of catering to anything but the best taste.

The first play under the new direction, as previously announced, will be given Friday evening, April 7, at the Wichita theater.

From time to time the very best in dramatic productions approved by the Drama League of America will be presented to Wichita Falls audience.

Girl Repentant Of Joy Riding With Strangers

By Associated Press.

HACKENSACK, N. J., March 25.—By dint of incessant questioning, the police tonight had obtained a coherent story of how two 17-year-old Newark girls came to be found about midnight unconscious by the roadside in Westwood.

It was the story of a joy ride with two strange young men, whose actions were alleged to so have alarmed their companions that they jumped from the speeding car. Miss Margaret Fox was lying in the Mackensack hospital with a possible fracture of the skull, her chum, Miss Loretta Dalton, was out under a $500 bond as a material witness and the police were looking for the two men.

"This will kill my mother, she warned me a dozen times never to ride with men I did not know," Miss Dalton said after seeing a newspaper account of the affair.

POTASH MEN SEEK RELIEF FOR INDUSTRY

Forty-Six American Producers Complain of the Activities of German Producers and Government.

Seventy-Six American Plants in Operation in War Time Are Now Shut Down for Want of Buyers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—In a petition presented to Congress forty-six producers of potash in various parts of the United States, including four from Texas, ask for "prompt relief and assistance in the form of moderate protection for this American industry," which, they state, has been almost entirely crippled by German dumping policies.

The petitioners claim that "the German government, through one of its official agencies for trade expansion and domination, the Deutsches Kali Syndikat, has to all intents and purposes destroyed property owned by American citizens to the extent of about $30,000,000 during the past twelve months; that this destruction was performed deliberately with the intent to stamp out American competition with the German potash monopoly, which seeks to regain its world-wide control of a necessity of life;" that this work has been long considered and carefully carried out by the German government through prices so law as to preclude competition and by extensive propaganda.

The petition reviews the scope of the American potash industry from its birth as a wartime need until in 1919 there were seventy-seven plants in operation and others under construction, all of which, it is stated, are now shut down because the producers find they cannot sell a pound of potash on the American market at any price, owing to the terms of the German contract with the fertilizer manufacturers. This contract, the petition says, was closed on September 28 last, on the basis of the remainder of the season's supply of potash, with thirty-four American concerns dealing in potash as middlemen and fertilier manufacturers. It provided that the concerns should purchase at the minimum 75 per cent of their requirements. This contract, the petition says, was closed on September 28 last, on the basis of the remainder of the season's supply of potash, with thirty-four American concerns dealing in potash as middlemen and fertilier manufacturers. It provided that the concerns should purchase at the minimum 75 per cent of their requirements. This contract, when published, aroused a storm of protest, but it was defended on the grounds that it did not give German syndicate a monopoly, since it allowed 25 per cent of the potash requirements of the trade to be supplied from other sources. But the present petitioners state that the American producers find themselves entirely cut off from their market, because 75 per cent of the potash used here is dumped from Germany and the remaining 25 per cent from Alsace. The Texas signers were: Charles W. Dabney, Houston; J. L. Darrouzet, Galveston; J. H. Hill, Galveston, and Roscoe Wilson, Lubbock.

Postmasters Appointed.

Postmaster General Work announces the appointment of the following Texas postmasters:

Board House, Blanco county, Jessie James Upshaw, to succeed Annie Jones, resigned; Porters, Montgomery county, Walter D. Kirkland, new office.

Post office inspectors have been directed to make an investigation with a view to the appointment of a postmaster at Strecter, Texas.

Effective May 1, 1922, a rural delivery service will be establish at Dallas, Dallas county, route No. 12. The schedule is as follows: Leaves 8 a. m. and return by 3:30 p. m., daily except Sunday.

DONLEY COUNTY FARMERS ARE GREAT DIVERSIFIERS

CLARENDON, Texas, March 25.—Donley county was represented at the Texas Farm Bureau Watermelon association by W. T. McBride of Lelia Lake. Donley county will increase its acreage in melons this year, and will market through the association.

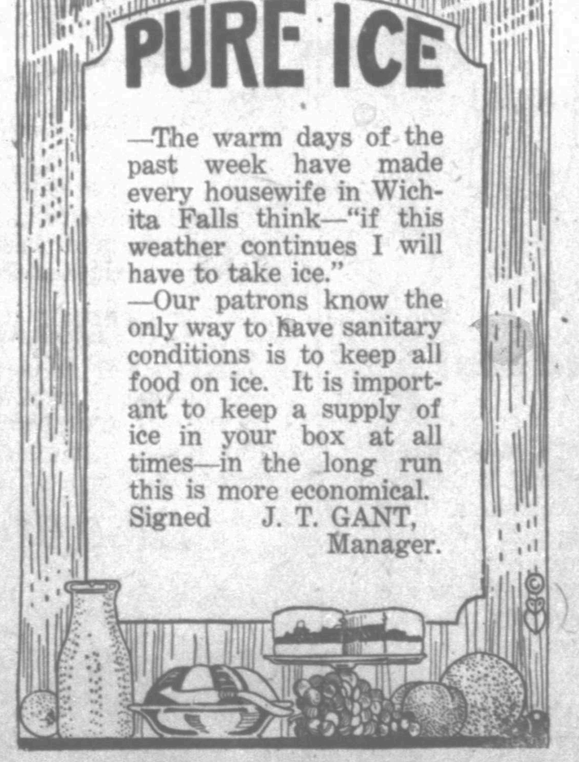

The farmers are planting white clover in large quantities this year. This will be practically a new crop for this territory.

The hog raiser finds by planting the grain sorghum seven feet apart and planting beans and peas between the rows gives them an increased feed crop, and at the same time, prevents the land from blowing. This idea will be carried out by many farmers in this locality.

Several cars of chickens have been shipped out of the county from Clarendon and Hedley and with the increased interest in standard poultry will mean much new money for Donley county this year.

FESS READY FOR CRITICS OF HIS PARTY

Republican Chairman Says the Democrats in Campaign Will Be Held to Strict Responsibilities.

Some Losses Are Enevitable, Even in Ohio, He Admits, but Only Where Normal Vote Exists.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—House Republicans, upon whom falls responsibility of meeting Democratic strategy in the forthcoming electoral battles for the control of the Sixty-eighth Congress, are not dismayed by charges of incompetency hurled at them by their Democratic adversaries.

Every challenge will be accepted by the Republicans, according to Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, who with the greatest optimism predicts continued Republican majorities in both branches of Congress.

Mr. Fess says his democratic opponents will not be permitted to shoulder the Republicans with responsibility for conditions due to the aftermath of war, in the same manner that they took to themselves credit for the abnormal war prosperity of 1914 and subsequent years until Uncle Sam was called upon to sober up from his war jag. But the Ohio member, who will direct the campaign to hold Republican control of the House, never wavers in his conviction that the G. O. P. will be the victor when the votes are counted next November. And to show his faith he intends to give up a reasonably sure thing in his Seventh Ohio district seat, for the hope of higher honors.

Meeting the Democratic leaders' sneers at "normalcy," in which they incorporate hard times, unemployment, continued high taxes and general depression, the Republican text will be to follow the argument that there has not been time for recovery and readjustment.

"The campaign must be one of education," said Mr. Fess unfolding in a general way his plan of offense and deference. "The inevitable results of this world convulsion which has so hopelessly disorganized Europe must be reflected in our own industrial life. Republicans are well aware that as the Democrats in 1914 undertook to use the war prosperity to the credit of Democratic policy, they also will at this time attempt to compare war activity as measured in the wage scale as due to Democratic policy rather than abnormal war demands.

"This economic fallacy, so apparent on its face, will not be overlooked in our plan of campaign. Republicans will not yield to the vicious propaganda of those who seek to displace them, to cure the results of war by fiat of government, such as has been proposed by the Democrats in turning the government into a socialistic and paternalistic machine to create price without value.

"Such temporary relief of unemployment is deferring the economic reality which must be sound in order to be permanent."

Fess frankly acknowledges a certain dissatisfaction which makes the collection of a necessary campaign fund difficult, if not well-nigh impossible, but in his opinion the general party record of the majority will pass muster.

"Some losses are inevitable, even in Ohio, he admits, but certain only where the normal vote may be considered Democratic or where there has been marked shortcoming in the record of the individual.

"I am safe in saying it would be too much to expect Republicans to retain the great majority they have at present," Chairman Fess says, "but there is not the slightest doubt about our controlling the House and Senate by a substantial majority.

"Persistent propaganda by the enemy has charged that this Congress has done nothing. The charge is not seriously made, and, of course not upon the responsibility of any responsible member. It is the last and only hope of a party whose tenure in office was the most costly experiment our nation has ever suffered, and we pray will never have to suffer again.

"With a record of debauch never witnessed before in the annals of time, bequeathing to the present administration a state of demoralization so hopeless that the people rebuked it by the most overwhelming majority ever cast in the history of elections. It now comes forth disarmed for any constructive proposal, and after a studied resistance to every constructive measure looking to clean up the miserable mess, complaints before the country because we have not in the short space of one year when able to give relief for the evils of eight years of Democratic mismanagement."

Reviewing the first year of the Harding administration and forecasting the future Mr. Fess thus epitomized the situation:

"Agriculture much better as it evidenced by the price current of all agricultural products.

"Transportation constantly becoming more efficient as it gradually increased in efficiency and through various economies in reducing the cost of operation. Freight rates must come down before agriculture and general business can become normal.

"Manufacturing is on the increase. Surplus goods are rapidly going, shelves are becoming less filled, which buying must again increase, which will increase the demand upon the manufacturers.

"Such basic industries as steel are increasing. Many mills until recently closed are starting up, especially in the Pittsburgh district. Auto industry, including rubber, is on the increase. Our banking system is of the first order. Rediscounts have dropped almost 50 per cent since the high water mark in time of war. Money is getting easier, interest is lower, and rents are gradually lowering in gin most places.

"Our managerial ability is first class, only somewhat distressed over the war hardships still on capital which discourages against investment.

"Our labor is in better spirit and a better relation between capital and labor is displayed by a willingness to get together and find through mutual agreement a lower level of cost of production to avoid the inevitable suffering from the slow process of economic demand, which while it is sure, is most hurtful."

The Republicans in charge of the congressional elections intend to lay stress on the alleged economy of the Harding administration as against the high cost of government under the war period of the Democratic regime nor would it be surprising to see the elections turn on the decision of the people as to wether or not economics have resulted and whether or not taxes have been reduced, as much as on the conditions of industry and employment that may prevail at voting time.

In discussing this phase of the campaign Mr. Fess argues that the cost of government during the fiscal year 1920, which he says was the last year under complete Democratic control, was $7,500,000,000 and that the year of 1921 under partial Democratic control the cost was $6,550,000,000.

The Republicans expect to bring the current fiscal year to a close with a total cost of government of $4,065,000 with the hope of cutting it to approximately $3,500,000,000 next year.

Democratic managers and spokesmen challenge the claims and the figures of the Republicans, which they will make one of the great issues. They say that full Republican responsibility came with the election of a Republican Congress in 1918, and that duty was evaded, when the Republicans refused to meet the recommendations of then President Wilson for repeal of war time legislation and reduction of expense and taxes.

The Democratic counter charge is set up also that appropriations for this year are more than three times the amounts appropriated by a Democratic administration in the last fiscal year before the war, when the total appropriations were $1,114,937,012.32. As pointed out by Representative Byrnes, the tax and expense figure shark of the House, if all deficiency appropriations are added to the total of the general bill it will be found that the alleged economy has not been present.

Gasoline Railway Car Designed at Wichita Motors Plant Proves Self Big Advance in Railway Design

Trial Trip of Car Built Here Demonstrates Great Possibilities for Railway Service.

In the development of their railroad motor car the Wichita Motors company have taken a step which will be of great benefit to railroads everywhere, both the short lines and the local service by trunk lines, Frank Kell declared following trial of the first car over the rails of the Wichita Falls & Southern.

The performance scored on this trip, Mr. Kell said, thoroughly demonstrated the practicability and serviceability of the car. Its light weight in proportion to its passenger, freight and express carrying capacity, and its ease and simplicity of operation will readily commend it, in Mr. Kell's opinion, to railroad men who have knowledge of the great expense of hauling the dead-weight of present trains in light local passenger service. An increase in its reverse speed was the only change Mr. Kell suggested following the trial trip.

This is the age of the inventive genius of man. This is the age of marvelous improvement in the vehicles of transportation and travel. This is the age when cost counts. This is the age of electricity and gas. This is the age of amazing development in the equipment of the rail for rapid and safe transit of passenger and freight. And the latest is the Wichita Gasoline Railway Car.

Now most people believe that this modern railway car is nothing but a motor truck fitted with flanged tires and a bus body of some sort. They are reminded that this is not the case with the Wichita railway car as it and the truck chassis are not alike in any respect, except that they both use the same engine, truck and springs.

All other units were designed by the engineering department of the Wichita Motors company particularly for railway service and the one-man car and trailer just completed for and shipped to the Jefferson and Northwestern railroad represents the latest development.

A description of this Wichita gasoline car is appropriate. It has a carrying capacity of 30 passengers and 3,000 pounds of baggage and a speed of 45 miles per hour. The most distinctive feature is the very low hung frame, the car floor being only 30 inches over the rail. This lowers the center of gravity and reduces all the possibilities of the light weight car leaving the rails when traveling at high speed.

Another special feature of the gasoline car is the rubber-cushioned rear wheel. The rims of the wheels are filled with a series of rubber blocks which prevents the transition of shocks such as those caused by passing over rail joints to the frame and the body. All trial trips made on the rail have demonstrated that this car rides like a pullman and is a vehicle of pleasure as well as comfort and convenience to the traveler.

The reader is reminded that the front axle is replaced by a four-wheel leading truck pivoted in the center. Wheels are cast steel twenty inches in diameter with chilled face and flange. The rear wheels are hollow spoked-steel with rolled steel flanges 30 inches in diameter. Roller bearings are used for all six wheels which makes the car very easy to propel. Brakes are fitted to all six wheels which makes it possible to stop the car very quickly.

This gasoline rail car is a beauty in design and finish. The interior is 5 to 10 minutes ahead of time at all points.

mahogany and fitted with rattan-covered seats. Operating controls are in front, to the left of the small hood, which covers the engine. Baggage and express are carried in the front end at side and rear of operatives. Passengers enter the car through side doors fitted with folding steps and pass through the baggage compartment to seats in the rear.

In addition to this the car is completely equipped with all the usual comforts found in the standard passenger railway coach—such as electric lights, heater pipes, toilets, curtains, water cooler, ventilators, and also a large electric headlight, electric horn, locomotive bell, sand feeder for rear wheels and electric starter and pilot. It is propelled by a 40-horse power engine, using either kerosene or gasoline as fuel. A car empty weights 14,300 pounds.

Special permission was obtained by its makers from the Wichita Falls & Southern railroad to drive the car to Newcastle for a trial run. On the trip the car was in charge of one of the conductors of the Wichita Falls & Southern and more than maintained the scheduled speed, reporting from

This run totaled approximately 120 miles and consumed 20 gallons of gasoline or an average of 6 miles per gallon. Assuming that the gasoline was bought at 18 cents per gallon the fuel cost for the whole 120-mile strip was only 3 cents per mile.

Ten passengers were carried on the trial run. They included Mr. F. J. Clark, president of the Jefferson & Northwestern Railway company; Mr. Miller, superintendent of the Wichita Falls & Southern Railway, and members of the Wichita Motors company's staff.

All the railroad men who witnessed the demonstrations spoke most favorably of this new type car. All were impressed with its simplicity and its low maintenance and operating cost, particularly when operated on kerosene. All felt and so expressed themselves that it could very easily do at a considerable profit the work now done at a loss by the two and three-car trains now being run on many of the Texas short line railways.

It is announced that the engineering department of the Wichita Motors company is now designing for the San Antonio, Uvalde & Gulf Railway company cars to carry 40 passengers each or to be specific for four cars and four trailers.

The car which was designed for and shipped to President Clark of the Jefferson & Northwestern Railwayline railway company.

company was shown down town to hundreds after its very successful trial trip on the Wichita Falls & Southern railroad.

Henry Ford has been telling the world for months that he is going to build a gasoline car that will put the heavy passenger and freight cars out of commission. In Wichita Falls, "the city that Faith built," there is a motors company that has already turned out a gasoline car that met all the demands of the president of a short line railway and its engineers are designing cars and trailers of the same type for another Texas short

The larger picture shows the Wichita Falls built gasoline railway car, with a capacity of 30 passengers and 3,000 pounds of baggage and express, with its freight carrying trailer.

The smaller picture shows the car at the Newcastle station, ready for the return trip, together with its crew and the officials who observed its highly successful performance.

The car was built for the Jefferson & Northwestern Railway company, an Arkansas short line. It is expected to be the first of many built at the local plant of the Wichita Motors company.

100 TRAINS CARRY GREATEST MIGRATION OF MODERN TIMES

By THOMAS WRIGLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, March 25.—"It's warm here. Is it much further to go?"

A Mennonite asked the question, one of a colony of 20,000 who are passing through Kansas City, on a hundred special trains in the greatest migration of a religious sect in modern times.

From the rich farming country around Plum Coulee, in Manitoba, Canada, still ice-bound in the grip of the northern winter, the Mennonites are journeying to a vast tract they have purchased near Torreon, Chihuahua, Mexico.

The Mennonite was one of 150 on one of the special trains and with others of his party he stood beside his car while the train was in the station. He was dressed in sombre black and dark brown, a huge man of stern face upon which a smile seldom played, but his eyes were as gentle as the blue eyes of a child.

"Worship God As We Desire."

"To Mexico, our new home, we go from Canada forever," he said. "It is there we will raise our families and worship God as we desire."

In fairly good English, but mixed with German words, he explained the reason for the exodus. The Mennonites seek greater religious freedom. They want to teach their children in schools in which German is spoken. In Canada this was not allowed—English only is spoken in the schools, and the Mennonite children were required to go to Canadian schools.

And so, in order to raise their young in the Mennonite way, free from even the slightest influence of an outside world, the elders decided to leave their prosperous colony.

Near Torreon they have purchased a tract of 200,000 acres of land in one of the most fertile tracts of Chihuahua, and on these acres the "promised land" for these 20,000, they will begin anew their agricultural pursuits.

"Sell Farms for Little."

"It will be hard," a Mennonite said, as he talked of the pilgrimage. "We were forced to sell our farms for but little. We have with us on the train horses, cows and chickens, just a few to get started. Our farm tools, too, we have taken. I have my tractor on the train to help in the hard work ahead. But we are happy. We will be by ourselves to work and worship and help each other."

By his side was a Mennonite maid, dressed, like all the women, in black or brown, with ample skirts reaching to the ankle and with a waist with long sleeves and high neck. There are no "flapper" Mennonites.

Her hair was parted in the middle and combed straight back and tightly braided. It did not cover the ears, which peeped out beneath a black bonnet tied beneath the chin.

"I mind not the long journey," she said with downcast eyes. "All my friends they are with us. We will be happy in Mexico, where, they say, it is summer all the time."

Provide Own Food.

During the stopover some of the men went to the stock cars to milk the cows and care for the stock and to gather the eggs from the hens. In their tourist cars the women cook the food and serve it and keep the cars clean. They are traveling in "stripped" Pullmans, and there are no porters or dining-car chefs.

Every morning and again at evening religious services are held on the trains. German is the only language spoken—few, in fact, can speak English, and they are generally the younger folk.

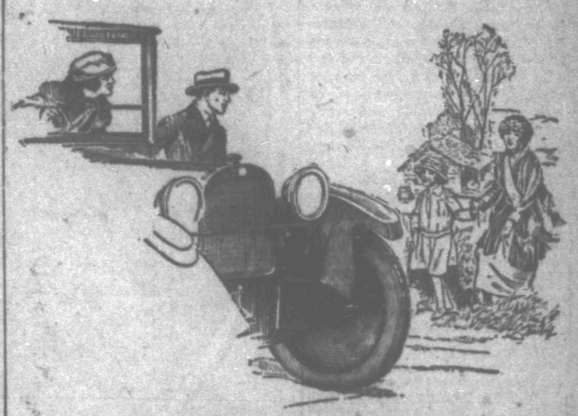

The Mennonites of the Manitoba colony settled in Canada in 1873, coming from overseas at the invitation of the Canadian government. Thrifty and intelligent, they prospered and, when the decision to move to Mexico was made, were easily able to sacrifice their rich possessions at but a fraction of their real worth and to undertake the immense problem of moving to their new lands in Mexico, purchased, it is said, at a price of $8 per acre.

They will build about twenty villages on their lands and within a few months will be completely established in their new homes.

The first hundreds have already reached the new land and are busily preparing for the arrival of the trainloads to come.

SPECTACULAR RACE FEATURES MAJESTIC PLAY

Wonderful Chariot Race in "Queen of Sheba" Brings Real Thrill to the Film Fans.

J. Gordon Edwards, who directed the great dramatic spectacle, "Queen of Sheba," the William Fox production beginning Monday at the Majestic theater, has scored a dramatic tenstrike with the wonderful chariot race in the picture. There are such extraordinary photographic effects which carried the thrill and excitement of the race to the audience that an interviewer asked Mr. Edwards "how it was done."

The chariot race between Sheba and Vashti, with 5,000 people looking on and the love of Solomon at stake, is the piece de resistance of "Queen of Sheba." Without it the picture would still be a massive and gorgeous spectacle and a love drama of gripping power; but the race, presenting as it does something altogether new in motion picture effects, is the feaure of the play that is being most talked about.

Betty Blythe's beauty as the Queen, Fritz Lieber's splendid acting as Solomon, the glories of Solomon's court and the stirring battle scenes between the armies of Solomon and Adonijah are thrilling audiences far and near; but it is the chariot race that brings them to their feet with round upon round of applause.

There are several races, with the special contest between Sheba and Vashti as the climax. At times 10 chariots and 40 horses dash abreast around the great arcana, a new photographic device making it possible for cameras to follow them all the way round, and showing all the action close-up.

The arena or hippodrome was constructed especially for this production in a natural amphitheater between [illegible] hills about eight miles out of [illegible] Angeles. The track is 150 feet wide and is in the form of a vast ellipse, 1,970 feet by 3,100 feet, surrounded by an inner and an outer wall, and a huge colonnade of 75 pillars, behind which, in the picture, 5,000 spectators, in Oriental costumes, are grouped.

The "set" for the chariot races covers altogether 130 acres. No comparative statistics are available, but the size of this scene probably establishes a record. It took 85 men six weeks to build the arena.

Cameras were placed at strategic points around the arena, and on pillars which were made to revolve at the will of the cameraman in order to keep the horses always in the photographic field. The most thrilling scenes in the race, the close-ups of the women, robes flying, driving their chariots towards the camera were made from the rear of automobiles which went round the arena in front of the chariots. In these close-ups the expression on the faces of Sheba and Vashti in the excitement of the race can be seen.

Mr. Edwards was aided in the arrangements for the races by Tom Mix, the William Fox cowboy star, who personally selected the "peppiest" horses and worked out plans for showing them to the best pictorial advantage. It was one of his best riders who, in an exciting moment of the race, was thrown from his chariot when a wheel came off. This incident put an additional "punch" in the picture, but the director would gladly have dispensed with this thrill, for the man narrowly escaped serious injury. Another chariot bore down upon his as he lay in the arena. The outside horse was almost upon him as he tried to roll away. Seeing him just in time, the horse reared, swerved over and nearly upset its own chariot—but saved the man, who was able to roll out of the way of the chariot wheels.

If "Queen of Sheba" is a motion picture banquet, the chariot race is an absolutely new and original hors d'oeuvre that stamps the chef as a genius.

NAZIMOVA HAS GREAT ROLE IN PLAY 'CAMILLE'

Nazimova's modern interpretation of "Camille" for Metro, which will be shown at the Olympic Theatre, beginning Friday, is the latest version of this famous story by Alexander Dumas, the younger, with which many noted actresses have thrilled audiences in this country.

It was just a little more than a year after its original appearance in Paris that in 1853 Jean Margaret Davenport-Lander produced her own adaptation at the old Broadway Treatre, New York, under the title of "Camille, or the Fate of a Coquette." It failed dismally, but in the following year proved a success and its popularity in this country has steadily continued.

Sarah Bernhardt gave the French version in this country with tremendous success, while Eleanora Duse found her Italian presentation received with much popularity. Madame Modjeska and Clara Morris both had it as one of the leading items of their repertoires during their stage appearances here.

But it was Matilda Heron who really popularized "La Dame aux Camelias" in this country. She was the most widely-known and conspicuous representative of "Camille" in the United States. During many of the years she appeared in this play, E. A. Sothern, father of the famous E. H. and creator of "Lord Dundreary," was her Armond.

June Mathis adapted "Camille" for the screen and Ray C. Smallwood directed it. Rudolph J. Besquist was photographer; Natacha Rambova, art director, and Joseph Calder, technical director.

TO ORGANIZE FOREIGN WAR VET POST HERE

Wichita Falls former service men with overseas service are soon to organize a post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to C. E. Frandeson, P. O. Box 1351, who has been authorized by the Texas chief of staff of the organization to organize a post here.

The organization, which has a membership of about 200,000, is open to men who have served the United States on foreign soil or in foreign waters in service for which the war or navy departments has recognized by authorizing a campaign badge. It has been in existence for 22 years, and its charter is a perpetual one, and provided for admission of men who will serve in future foreign wars, according to Frandeson.

The organization now has posts in all the larger cities of the State with the exception of Wichita Falls, Frandeson says, and the local post will be organized at an early date. A membership of 10 is required to secure a charter, but it is planned to organize in Wichita Falls with a minimum membership of 25.

GRAIN RATE CASE; DECISION IS COMING.

STAMFORD, Texas, March 25.—The Traffic Bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, through Ed P. Byars of the Fort Worth Freight Bureau, who was engaged to handle the so-called Southeastern grain case, which proposes the equalization of grain rates as between Texas and the Northwest to Southeastern States, particularly Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, and the Carolinas, is constantly working in connection with the reduction of these freight rates. Among the reductions secured to date is a total of 12c to 12 1-2c to Atlanta, 10 1-2c to Nashville, 12 1-2c to Augusta, 9c to Mobile and Penscola. According to Mr. Byars it is probable that the Interstate Commerce Commission will have these very considerable reductions in mind when it makes its final decision.

DE MILLE'S NEW PRODUCTION IS ONE OF BEAUTY

Costumes Worn in "A Fool's Paradise" Probably Most Ornate Ever Designed for Screen.

A million stitches for twelve costumes! Thats what it took to make the gorgeously bejeweled costumes of the Siamese dancing girls in one episode of Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Fool's Paradise," which will be shown at the Olympic theatre for four days beginning Monday.

These costumes, perhaps the most ornately beautiful ever designed for the screen, were created by Claire West, special costume designer for Cecil B. De Mille productions. The twelve dancers appear in reproductions of the famous Temple Dances. The weight of their costumes is considerable as each garment is decorated with at least two thousand set jewels; sapphires, emeralds, rubies and rhinestones. Counting fifty stitches to each jewel, 100,000 to the garment, it can be seen that the original estimate of one million stitches for the twelve costumes is conservative.

And these costumes were for dancers only and to gain a special effect. Going into the costumes of the principals is another story. Marvelous sable cloaks and ermine negligees, startling jeweled Javanese costumes and a succession of interesting Spanish gowns place this newest De Mille picture at an exceptional point in feminine investiture.

Playing the principal roles are Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, Theodore Kosloff, John Davidson, Julia Faye. The support is adequate.

—NOTE:—The test at Wichita Theater, was made by Harvey Hindermyer, the world-famous tenor and the charming Dann Trio. They compared their living art with its Re-Creation by the New Edison. There was no difference between the living art and the Re-Created art.

—The New Eidson stands absolutely alone in this achievement; no other phonograph has ever sustained this test of comparison.

NEW SAND AND EXTENSION IN SOUTH ELECTRA CHIEF POINT INTEREST IN WICHITA COUNTY

Eureka-Spencer-D' Yarmett Well Making 150 to 200; Rio Bravo Put on Pump; Makes 100.

With a new sand discovery and a nice extension from the nearest production to it's credit, the Eureka Producing company and Spencer and D'Yarmett's No. 1 Waggoner, in section 31, H. & T. C., is Wichita county's most interesting point this week.

The new well, estimated from the earliest showings for 100 to 200 barrels production, is in the sand at 1460 feet. It is a mile, almost due north of the Rio Bravo Oil and Harvey, Cullum et al's No. 1 H. and T. C. which opened up a producing sand around 1540 feet several weeks ago. The new well is on the hill north of the Rio Bravo well, and would have found the 1540-foot sand some deeper than in the discovery well, so that this 1460-foot sand is a distinct producing level.

The Rio Bravo well was finally put on the pump the first of the past week, and is producing at the rate of 100 barrels, approximately the same as the first estimates made. The No. 2 is drilling around 1400 feet.

To Drill Eight More

On the Eureka-Spencer-D'Yarmett lease there will be eight more wells drilled, it is stated. This lease comprises 319 acres.

This territory, besides the two sands already definitely established as productive in the semi-deep level, has a third sand, around 700 feet, practically proven. The Rio Bravo well got several feet of sand here, and oil from this sand is now coming up around the six-inch, and running over the top of the surface casing. It is also close to the 500-foot sand opened up by the Petroleum Producers company.

These developments, and those in the old South Electra shallow pool, which is now producing from sands anywhere from 400 to 1950 feet, are sufficient to insure widespread new operations whenever the water shortage is relieved.

Shallow Well Makes 25.

The J. J. Perkins et al No. 1 Waggoner, completed in the shallow sand, close to the Petroleum Producers' three shallow wells, was a 25-barrel well. The sand was first drilled here at 458 and continued, with slight shale breaks for a few feet to 475. There was about six feet of unbroken oil sand, according to reports.

The Petroleum Producers No. 5 is reported at sand depth. The No. 2 is still a location for a deep test and the Nos. 1, 3 and 4 are completions as previously reported.

The Brown & McCallister No. 1 Waggoner, south of the shallow producers, is reported down around 800 feet. This test did not get production in the shallower levels.

Throughout the Electra district there are increasing numbers of new locations, waiting on water, to start drilling. The past few weeks have brought important new developments in practically every part of the district, and all of them will be followed up.

The new 300-foot well of Parker et al on the Jennings, southeast of the town of Electric the Fisher et al well, on the J. A. Fisher, due east of the town, and the 1950-foot producer of McDaniel et al, on the Burnett, in the north edge of the original South Electra shallow pool are the important developments outside those reported above.

Fowlkes Pool.

The Fowlkes pool is also due to furnish some important news of some sort, within the next few days. The T. F. Hunter, No. 1 Mona Marie-Roberts, started rigging up a star to drill in, the latter part of the week. This well got the 1600-foot sand about two weeks ago, but has been shut down waiting for cement to harden. It is only a few hundred feet northeast of the discovery well. Since the Gulf and O'Neil tests failed to get the 1600-foot sand opened up by the Magnolia No. 1 Duke, interest has turned to this Hunter test and the developments here are of much importance. The No. 2 Roberts of Hunter et al, is drilling around 800 feet.

The Magnolia tests on the Duke have been held up for various reasons for the past two weeks, one of them in installing electrical power and another with a fishing job, but reports from the field indicate there will be important developments here within a short time.

The Texhoma Oil & Refining company's No. 1 J. C. Duke, south of the discovery well, is drilling around 750 feet. The No. 1 Throckmorton, a little over three miles south of the Duke producer is reported drilling around 1400 feet.

West of Clara.

Two new wells have been added to the little pool west of Clara on the C. Birk tract, opened up early in 1920 by Arkansas-Texas Oil Company's No. 1, in the 1800-foot sand. The Aldine Oil corporation got a small producer more than a year ago, in the same sand, and two more wells have been recently completed by W. M. Priddy. These wells, Nos. 1 and 2 are making about 45 barrels apiece, it is reported. No. 3 on this lease has started drilling.

Two more recent completions from the old Burkburnett field are reported. The Staley et al No. 1 Fee, is reported a 100-barrel producer, in the 1800-foot sand. The Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 8 Anderson, also in the 1800-foot sand, is reported a 150 barrel producer.

South Burkburnett.

Three of the tests started in the new Laning & Moninger pool, north of the original Texhoma field, are reported on the 1200-foot sand this week-end. There are the No. 3 Cropper, lease 2, and the No. 2 Cropper, lease 1 of Laning & Moninger, and the No. 1 Murdock of T. F. Hunter. All three are close to the discovery well of this pool.

The No. 1 Dodson of the Laning & Moninger interests, just north of the No. 3, lease 2, is reported drilling around 750 feet.

The O'Neil & Markham No. 1 Sides, is reported down several hundred feet, in their test in this new pool.

The Judson Oil Corporation's No. 9 Dodson, on the lease recently purchased from the Camp Oil and Gas company, drilled into the 1050-foot sand last Saturday, with a flush production estimated at 300 barrels, is still flowing and swabbing at the rate of 200 barrels a day, according to the latest report from the field. This is the Judson's first completion on the newly purchased South Burkburnett properties, since taking over the operation.

In the same 1050-foot sand the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 7 Dodson, on the property recently purchased from Staley et al, is reported a hundred barrel completion.

In Archer-Texhoma Pool

A nice extension southward from the producing area as outlined on the Texhoma's Gose lease was effected this past week by the Archer Oil company's No. 1 Gose, which made a hundred barrel well in the 1600-foot sand. The Texhoma has the derrick up for No. 12, offsetting this well.

The Texhoma also has a nice completion in this pool, the No. 15, in the south part of the lease, a hundred barrel producer. The No. 6 Gose is on the 1600-foot sand, and No. 17 is a location.

It is understood that the Archer Oil company will drill other wells.

The Markley Oil company's No. 3 Luke Wilson is reported rat holing for the 1200-foot sand, from which the No. 2 was filled with oil, after the casing was pulled and the test abandoned. This is a wildcat location, several miles east of the Texhoma pool on the Gose, and a few miles north of Archer City.

CELEBRATION TO MARK NEW WELL'S START

Special to the Record News

ALANREED, Texas, March 25.—Wednesday, March 29, will be a big day in Alanreed and Gray county, as this is the date announced for the spudding in of the Harvey Oil company's deep test a half mile north of the town. This well in addition to its unusual interest in being so close to Alanreed, has the distinction of being the first test for oil ever drilled in Gray county.

Alanreed citizens have arranged for a big barbecue for the spudding in, to which they are inviting every citizen of Gray county. Officials of the Texas, Humble, T. & P. Coal, Magnolia, Gulf and Texhoma companies, as well as a number of independent operators are expected to be present on this occasion.

The Harvey Oil company, which is headed by J. I. Harvey, formerly of Wichita Falls, where he was extensively interested during the first days of the Burkburnett and Kemp Munger Allen development, has several thousand acres blocked up in Gray county, evidencing their belief in the importance of the test. A number of big companies, as well as the independents who have been attracted to the Panhandle by the sensational gas wells that have been brought in, nd the more recent strike of oil by the Gulf in Carson county, have recently acquired acreage in Gray county, and as a result this test will be closely watched by many others as well as the citizens of Gray county.

L. C. Morgan, drilling contractor, who is associated with the Harvey company, will have the supervision of this test, it is announced.

MEXICO RANKS AS SECOND LARGEST PRODUCER OF OIL

1921 (estimated)..	———	518,000,000	180,000,000

(By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 24.—Mexico is today the second largest oil producing nation in the world, according to figures published by local oil companies. The United States has first place.

Oil production in Mexico is increasing. As against the 40,000,000 barrels produced in 1917, 163,540,000 barrels were produced in 1920. The 1921 figures, while not yet tabulated, it is estimated, will show a considerable excess over the previous year, notwithstanding the enforcement of the New Mexican tax law, which went into effect July 1, 1921.

For several years now America has been importing oil from Mexico to make up for the excess of domestic consumption over production, trade statistics show. In 1918 the United States produced 300,167,158 barrels of oil and consumed 318,599,000 barrels; in 1917 production was 335,315,601 barrels, and consumption was 377,736,000 barrels; in 1918 production was 355,927,716 barrels, as against consumption of 418,477,000 barrels; in 1920 production was 433,402,000 barrels, against consumption of 513,186,000 barrels. During 1921 it is estimated that close to 120,000,000 barrels were imported from Mexico, although the production had increased 40,000,000 barrels over the year 1920.

Oil experts believe that the United States will soon have to face a consumption demand of from 600,000,000 to 700,000,000 barrels of oil in view of the fact that battleships, merchant marine and lighting and power plants are being converted into oil burners. The extra oil, these experts say, will have to come from Mexico.

Annona Has Big Day When New Well Spuds in

Special to the Record News

ANNONA, Texas, March 25.—The spudding in ceremony of the Riggins Oil & Gas association Garland No. 1 Thursday was attended by about 2,000 people, fully 500 of whom were from Clarksville. The occasion was declared to be the biggest of its kind ever held in the county and the enthusiasm of the people of Annona was very much in keeping with the event itself.

The spudding in was preceded by a short speaking program. The speakers on this program were Charles R. Floyd of Annona, Rev. R. F. Bryant of Clarksville, who has been conducting a revival at Annona several days and Col. George F. Thompson, also of Clarksville. The spudding in ceremoney was then officially begun with the breaking of a bottle of pop against the rigging. The drill stem started turning and pretty soon could be observed sinking into the ground. Drilling operations were carried on for a few minutes and stopped for the banquet which had been prepared by the Annona people for this occasion. The crowd repaired to the banquet table a few hundred feet away, where an excellent dinner had been prepared. The drill was started again about 1 o'clock and went down several feet before being closed down.

Visitors from many towns in Northwest Texas attended this ceremony. Several oil men, who are interested in this part of the state, were present and, although, interest manifested was quite in keeping with expectations.

One of the most encouraging signs perhaps of an oil field in the vicinity of Annona is the old abandoned well above five hundred feet north of the present test, which has been flowing gas for a number of years in quantities almost sufficient for commercial purposes. Officials who have made a study of the conditions feel very positive that something worth while may result from the proper development of this field, and those in charge of this venture are expecting to make a thorough test of the field.

BARNEY GOOGLE

REGISTERED U.S. PATENT OFFICE

THE DAILY LESSON

—And it came to pass in the second year of the rule of Warren Harding that a friend of Barney Google, one Jerry Butz by name, did sit in a game of chance with Colonel Pipp and did thereby win for himself large riches.

—Also was there included in his winnings a mansion set upon a hill or drive as it was called in those days.

—But the Goddess of Chance is a fickle goddess, whose smile changeth with much suddenness into a frown.

—For behold no sooner did Barney hie himself away unto the mansion than did Colonel Pipp begin to win back all that he had lost, even unto the house upon the drive.

—So it came about that when the Colonel found Barney basking in the atmosphere of prosperity, he did forthwith prove true this saying, "All that goes up is bound to come down."

—Now the meaning of the parable is this:

—Man appreciates only those things for which he must strive with diligence.

—Homes are not to be had by reaching out into thin air, nor canst thou depend upon Fate to lay a home at thy feet as an offering from Olympus.

—Rather must your place of residence be paid for with coin of the realm, with a small cash payment and the balance like rent.

—Be ye wise in your generation, therefore, and ask of Ben Neal a bargain in real estate. Thus endeth the lesson.

Two state rangers pursued two university students round and round in Travis county, and when they bagged the game they found a pint of whiskey in the possession of the students. Corn or bond?

Six hundred thousand American coal miners threaten to vacate their jobs on April 1. An increased demand for gas and fuel oils may be anticipated. Stocks on hand are equivalent to 68 days supply. Operators and operatives agree that it is to be a fight to a finish. Consumers haven't been consulted. They pay the freight.

"If a woman marries outside her own clan or tribe she will be a slave. All history proves it." This is the conclusion of Edith Rockefeller-McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller and divorced wife of Harold McCormick. Her sixteen-year-old daughter, Mathilde, is the promised bride of Max Oser, a Swiss riding academy professor. He would be classified as a groom in England and a horse trainer in America. Now what will the harvest be?

Federal receivers have been appointed for the Island Oil and Transport corporation, with resources of 34 million dollars, with oil producing properties in Mexico and refineries and distributing plants in the United States. The company's profits in oil for 1921 were said to be 7 million dollars and its indebtedness is a little more than 5 million dollars. Lack of ready cash was said to have made an equity receivership necessary. And yet there is money in oil.

Childress county is on the map. According to a Childress newspaper the four banks of Childress show a combined deposit of $1,352,735.85, according to the statements issued recently by the institutions. The Farmers and Mechanics State Bank of Childress shows $575,641.33 on deposit; the First State Bank of Childress, $373,056.18; the City Guaranty State Bank of Childress, $362,825.80, and the First State Bank of Tell, $41,212.54. The recent rains have improved the prospect for a good crop this year, and the business interests are very hopeful for a good year. There are no growlers out there. Jupiter Pluvius came and now all are merry. They know that the harvests will be bountiful the coming fall.

Great Britain has 1,933,000 persons registered as wholly unemployed and 316,000 as being on short time. Since last fall upward of 40,000,000 pounds has been spent by the government and by local authorities on productive work. The government expenditure on the relief of unemployment is at present at the rate of $500,000,000 per annum, considered by British statesman a more generous provision than any ever made in the history of the Empire, particularly when the circumstances of the time, depressed trade and burdensome taxation are taken into account. John Bull is carrying a load that would stagger a Colussus. John may swear at times but he never whines. He staggers along and he hopes for the best. Flowers for those who stagger without emitting a grunt at every stagger.

Even the women are doing it now. At Ardmore two husky daughters of Eve invited Miss Brooksie Griffin to ride to a lonely spot several miles from the city and there whipped her with switches cut from nearby trees. They did not wear masks. They knew Miss Brooksie. She knew them. She said that the whipping was a plenty. Now the Ardmore authorities are investigating the whipping. They should have first offered a reward. This is the method employed elsewhere. Big rewards are offered. Police officers work diligently, detectives give out interviews. Sheriffs sweat and swear or swear and sweat and then along comes the next one and the other events are forgotten. And yet we point the finger of scorn at Mexico and refuse to recognize Mexico because the Mexicans are lawless. There are more crimes perpetrated in one American state in an week than are recorded in the Republic of Mexico in a year.

William Jennings Bryan is 62. His latest is that he expects to live to see the day when there will be no saloons under the flag of any civilized country. W. J. B. also says the newspapers every day in their columns are encouraging lawlessness. This is his opinion of the American editors, "They are not brave enough to violate the laws themselves but they are cowardly enough to encourage others to do it. Don't charge lawlessness on prohibition. Think what crime there would be if drunkedness were wide spread." The writer glances at many Texas newspapers on the exchange table. W. J. B. indictment of the newspapers and their editors certainly does not apply to those which come daily or weekly to the office of The Record News. Almost without exception they are for the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act. W. J. B. should be charitable; he should be fair minded; he should give praise to those who are deserving of praise; his guide is the Prince of Peace and he should walk in the footsteps of the Prince of Peace.

This is a human interest story. Abel Bennington Crawford, who died in the Los Angeles County Hospital at the age of eighty-eight, a ward of the county, was buried in the shadow of a tombstone for which he paid $2,000 eleven years ago. In 1911 he purchased in Rosedale Cemetery here a lot valued at $135, and erected upon it an imposing granite monument fifteen feet high, with a marble base five feet square. Once each month he had visited the cemetery and inspected the monument. For hours he would sit in its shadow and read. Sometimes he polished it. Then his plans enlarged. He went to an undertaker and bought a costly coffin. Next he had a steel vault embedded beside the monument in what was to be his grave. Then he drew up agreements with the cemetery officials and the undertaker, arranging for his burial. On March 8 he became ill. His money was gone. He was taken to the County Hospital, where he died. According to Crawford's wishes, there was no funeral service. His body, in the casket he bought so long ago, was lowered into the steel vault beside the granite pillar were he used to sit and dream.

It is estimated by an English journalist that one-twentieth of all China is occupied by burying grounds. That country today is estimated to have a population of 400,000,000, but these are only a few compared with the billions who have passed away, and the graves of that mighty majority have been religiously preserved through the ages by their pious descendants. This veneration of ancestors is part of their religion. It is almost impossible to make a straight road for any considerable distance without encountering a cemetery, disturbance of which is regarded with dismay and even horror. The extension of the streets of Chinese cities is rendered difficult or impossible by such obstacles. Nevertheless, the Chinese are beginning to adopt more advanced ideas and are coming to realize that the dead must give place to the living. The business of digging up the burying grounds, which in some areas occupy many square miles, has already begun. In the meantime, the walls of Tientsin and other cities, massively constructed of stone and brick for defensive purposes, are being torn down to furnish material for the roads which China—at the present time an almost roadless country—so urgently needs for her economic development.

Mexia has an afternoon newspaper, the News. A. Garland Adair is the editor of the Mexia publication. George McQuaid, widely known in newspaper circles as well as in the oil fields of Texas, was the editor of the News until early in January when he retired and the man from Hico became his successor. It was some jump from the banks of the beautiful Bosque "to magic Mexia, the city that has become notorious because of its multitudes, money, meanness, mud and martial law," but A. Garland made the journey and was city editor of the News until the retirement of McQuaid created a vacancy. Editor Adair was one of the district delegates sent by the Texas Democrats to the San Francisco convention. He was one of the young Democrats who revolted against the attempted dictatorship of the Big Four and helped by his vote to defeat the Bryan minority report which created a big commotion when the gentleman from Nebraska and Texas and Florida attempted to stampede the convention to his own way of thinking. It was a Bryanic fiasco and "the young Democrats who had been elected delegates to the National convention should be given the credit for the work accomplished. On their return to Texas they were greeted with the news industriously spread by certain leaders that they were drys when they left Texas and wets during their sojourn in the Golden Gate City. Well, they did not spit cotton.

It is a long call from the late Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania to Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota. When Penrose died McCumber became chairman of the senate finance committee. He is a candidate for re-nomination. Penrose did not believe in the farmers bloc. McCumber is coquetting with the farmers bloc. There should be established (he says) a general and competitive system of co-operative marketing of farm products, with provision for terminal markets in the great cities of the country, to the end that the producer and the ultimate consumer of farm products may be brought into as possible, and that the heavy expenses of intermediate handling, which must be borne by both producer and consumer, may, as far as possible, be eliminated. Moreover the western successor of Penrose declares that every effort should be made, "to decrease the interest charges which the people of the northwestern and western sections of the country are compelled to pay on mortgage and other indebtedness." At last the Old Alcalde is being vindicated. He said, in the long ago, "Civilization begins and ends with the plow." For the first time in American history all office-seekers, Republicans and Democrats alike, with a few notable exceptions in the Far East, are directing their remarks to the man who guides the plow. That is what organization did for the tiller of the soil.

Speaking of the former service men Editor A. Garland Adair of the Mexia News says, "Right here in Mexia many worthy heroes are without employment and what is true of this place is true of all America. This is not a plea for charity or for bonuses. The men who carried the flag to the Rhine want work, not alms." There is a drive on for jobs for the unemployed among former service men the nation over. National Adjutant Lemuel Bolles of the American Legion says as a result of the first day's drive a decrease of about 200,000 in the ranks of unemployed service men has taken place. There is a town in Maryland (Frederick) which was the first to report 100 per cent employment among the veterans. There is a manufacturing town in Indiana (South Bend) where every ex-service man found a job and the drivers said there were about 210 jobs left over. Adjutant Bolles is of the opinion that there are 500,000 former service men in America who are in need of work. If the drive of a day found jobs for 200,000 then a week's drive should reduce the number of unemployed to the very minimum . A man who is willing to fight for his country should not be compelled to beg for the bread he eats, the roof that shelters him or the garment that he wears. He should be as much a hero today in the eyes of the people as when he wore khaki and responded to the call to shoulder a rifle and go over there.

New York representatives of several of the larger oil corpotations, reviewing the part the Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing will play in their business, are unanimous in the belief that the railroads by reason of their rate increases had forced the industry to abandon their rails and consider how it might distribute its products without depending upon them. The oil industry has lost its wartime swollen proportions, officials state, while railroad freight rates have not. Considering that the industry furnished the tank cars, the tracks and the loading racks, it is maintained that the oil companies have paid and are paying a much greater part of the transportation expense than any other producer of a commodity which is widely distributed in large volume. The crux of the matter, according to Fayette B. Dow of New York, attorney for the American Petroleum Institute, who led the industry's fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission, is that the present freight rate schedules have been so high that oil producers have been forced to ship via water. The present rate schedules, Mr. Dow pointed out by way of illustration, have forced Mid-Continent oil from the Oklahoma-Kansas district to move southward to the Gulf, for refining either in that locality or in New England. According to his calculation, it is cheaper for the refiner seeking to distribute Mid-Continent production in Cleveland, for instance, to ship his products by way of pipe line to the Gulf, then by tanker to the Atlantic, and thence by rail to Cleveland, than to attempt to send it all by rail from Tulsa, Oklahoma, to Cleveland. The high all-rail rates from the Mid-Continent district, said Mr. Dow, have caused three refineries to be built in New England in the last few years, and ever since the general rate increase of August 26, 1920, the oil industry turned to other means of transportation which were cheaper. In summing up his arguments Mr. Dow said there was "every reason to believe that a substantial reduction in railroad rates on petroleum and its products, following lines of our recommendations, would stimulate rail movement in all territories and result in a direct benefit no less to the railroads than to the industry and the general public."

Watching the Parade

By JOHN PILGRIM

For the first time in my life I saw Hickey this morning. It may be for the last time in my life. I do not even know his name, except that persons who strolled by the entrance to his garage addressed him affectionately as "Hickey." Sometimes, being in a hurry, they cut it short to "Hick."

"How they comin', Hick?" they would ask.

"Rollin' high," said Hickey.

Yet, in this brief acquaintance—which was marked on my part by giving Hickey $4 to take me in his auto stage to the place to which I wished to go—I conceived an admiration for Hickey. He has high qualities. He may be a trifle messed up with the lighter form of cylinder oil just now, but the time will come when Hickey will part his hair in the middle and wear spats when he goes down town. He has more savvy than the average human being, because:

He knows when to quit, and

He doesn't whine when he is licked.

Hickey confided in me, partly in response to my questioning and partly because the human animal likes to take his troubles somewhere, and a departing stranger is about as impersonal a person as can be imagined, that he is losing money on his auto stage. So he is going to quit. It comes hard for him, he said, because the Chamber of Commerce gave him a banquet when he opened this artery of communication with an outside world, and he is employing several widow ladies' sons, and his wife is set against his quitting.

"I'd never be a quitter," said this lady. Never in her life, like most tin-horners of the same toot, had she ever been up against a situation that some one else did not decide for her. It makes it harder for Hickey, but it has not affected his judgment.

"I don't want to quit," said he. "But the truth is, that I didn't look far enough ahead when I went into this thing. Now that I know where I'm at, I'm going to pull out before I'm blown out. There is no nutriment in sending good money after bad."

If all the rest of us had savvy enough to know when we were licked—and come back to the reservation and pull the feathers out of our hair—most of us would be a lot better off.

The people who hang on after they're thoroughly licked are either heroes—oh, well, why be nasty. The people who hang on after they're licked ARE heroes.

Folks Back Home

Sketches by J. H. STRIEBEL

By Robert Quillen

UNCLE GUS

Uncle Gus shifted his quid of natural leaf, took a remarkably accurate shot at a cigar stub that lay in the sand-box beneath the stove, and invited me to draw up a chair. I did not hesitate to do so.

"I been a-settin' here," said he, "thinkin' about blades o' grass. To us folks 'way up above 'em they all look purty much alike. Grass is a mighty fine thing, too. It's mighty purty when the dew's on it, an' it covers the ugly places, an' it serves to make butter an' milk. I reckon we can profit by it, even if all the blades look alike to us. You take a little ant, though, crawlin' down there. Like as not he sees a lot o' difference. Maybe he thinks one blade is purty an' the next one ugly, I do' know.

"I got to thinkin' about it on account o' the church folks here in town a-quarrelin' about the' creeds, which one is right an' which one ain't. The's a lot o' difference between 'em if folks git right close, like the ant is; but when God looks down over the bannisters o' Heaven an' sees 'em all, I got a notion they all kind o' merge into one the way blades o' grass merge into a smooth green carpet on a hillside."

AUNT HET

"I've always thought folks would try harder to keep from goin' to the bad place if it was described as a land where there's weepin' and wailin' and pullin' of teeth."

THE GIRL ACROSS THE STREET

It has happened. The girl across the street might as well begin to select the bride's maids' and begin to embroider pillow cases. This morning she called as we were finishing breakfast, and the light in her eyes was mingled of awe and triumph. Daughter scented romance, and quit her hot cakes for the daintier morsel.

The butcher's boy, it appeared, had come a-courting the night before, and under the spell of shaded lamp and the comfort of an open fire had possessed himself of the girl's hand and bent to kiss her.

"I—I leaned to him a little bit," she confessed.

Bless her heart, they all do at the last. And apparently the value of the kiss justified a little co-operation.

"His face is scratchy," said she, "but he tastes like sweet milk."

REFORMERS

Each man's standards are in large measure the product of his environment. He believes the thing he was taught to believe. His political creed, his religious faith, and his conceptions of right and wrong are inherited. Only once in a century does the race produce a thinker to blaze new paths.

Every man is in some degree a reformer. Having absorbed certain teachings, and made certain borrowed thoughts his own, he calls them his Principles, with a capital P, and declares his willingness to fight for them.

Not only is he willing to fight to uphold them, but he is willing and eager to force them upon other people. In effect he says: "My way is the right way, and those who do not agree with me are knaves or fools." He does not express this thought clearly, for discretion is ever the better part of argument; but when contradicted he losses his temper and would, if possessed of authority, punish his adversary for the good of his stubborn soul.

We delight in the belief that the world has become more tolerant, whereas it has but learned discretion. To whip a man for his beliefs is but to confirm him in the faith and teach him a way to deal with his enemies. Tomorrow he will be a majority and his hand will hold the whip.

Only great minds are tolerant. Little minds soon exhaust their stock of argument and in baffled rage demand a crucifixion.

REALIST STANDS AFAR

Fiction fashions change. The school that wrote of sweet and simple maids of heroes with hard hands and clean hearts, of rewarded virtue and villains decently hanged—this school is falling into disrepute. And there is arising to replace it a school of realism. The school of realism scarcely believes in anything at all, and it abominates all things—but chiefly the old-fashioned and wholly unsophisticated American who works hard, pays his debts, believes in the Constitution and respectability, talks about his underwear and his neighbors, takes a bath on Saturday night, and attends church on Sunday to worship his God and drop a nickel in the collection plate.

This old-fashioned American offends the new school in many ways, but chief of his faults is his continued faith in the religion of the Man of Sorrows, and his apparent conviction that nothing else in life matters a great deal. The new school, for all its wit, cannot assemble sufficient adjectives wherewith to express its contempt for him and his mental processes.

This religion of the old-fashioned American is one of two things. Either it is the most cruel hoax in history, in which case its devotees are all a little mad; or it is the thing it purports to be, in which case only those are wholly sane who accept and teach it. Either it is an absurd superstition accepted only by the stupid; or it is the one significant fact in the universe, hidden from the stupid only.

Darwin, master thinker, once called himself a fool because he had said: "This must be the explanation for I can find no other."

A similar treason to logic persuades men to condemn the thing of which they have no knowledge or experience. It is a significant thing that those who ridicule Christianity are content to form a judgment without experimentation.

WILLIE WILLIS

Being assured by the dentist that it wouldn't hurt, little Willie Willis had a back tooth pulled Monday. He says if telling stories keeps little boys from going to Heaven, all the dentists will be where folks are gnashing their teeth.

Teachers And Pupils

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

Today I want to say something about a new book of real helpfulness to all engaged in the great business of educating the young. It is a book by a South African educator, Dr. J. E. Adamson, and its title is "The Individual and the Environment."

The special merit of this book is the emphasis it puts on the part which should be played by all teachers as aids in enabling their pupils to make a proper adjustment to their environment, rather than as mere dispensers of information to their pupils. And, as Dr. Adamson is at pains to bring out, such adjustment means much more than the gaining of intellectual proficiency and efficiency.

We live in a three-fold universe, is the way he puts it. We live in a universe of three worlds, interrelated yet each distinguishable, the world of nature, the world of the social order, the world of the moral order. The mission of teachers is to aid their pupils to adapt themselves to each of these worlds—and to contribute something to each.

To quote:

"The ultimate question is not how much knowledge can be compassed in school or in life, or which sort is ultimately of most value, but how the individual can be adjusted to the truth, beauty, and morality of the worlds he can claim membership of, so as to make them and himself the better for the process.

"Knowledge we shall want, as much of it and in such variety as we shall find necessary to adjustment. But it is adjustment, and not knowledge as such, which is the goal."

Moreover, since adjustment is the goal, care must equally be taken not to overemphasize education for "personal development." And such overemphasis can only result in giving us "platitudes about self-realization without an insight into the worlds in which the self must struggle and live." For always, Dr. Adamson insistently reiterates:

"Education is neither the mere acquisition of a body of knowledge nor the mere development of power and personality. It is adjustment; a life to be lived."

How may teachers best proceed to assist their pupils to effect the necessary adjustment? Most suggestively and informatively Dr. Adamson answers this question in the course of his long and carefully thought out book. He answers it, too, for teachers of all subjects and all grades of pupils, from little folk in primary schools to university students.

And so sound is his theory of education, so ably does he develop it, that all who have in any way to do with the young can profit from his pages. These may not always be found easy reading—some of them are fairly difficult reading—but the careful reading of them is sure to bring an ample reward in increased ability to teach and to guide to good purpose.

In fine, this book from the pen of the Transvaal's director of education impresses me as being one of the most constructive of educational treaties procurable today.

THANKS FOR SOLITUDE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

(Copyright, 1921, by Frank Crane.)

She was an old woman, if by old you mean having gray hair and a lot of good sense, neither of which things is usually picked up in the earlier years.

But her skin was fresh, her smile was quick, and a young soul leaped in her eyes.

But this is about what she said, not about how she looked.

"I am thankful for solitude," she said.

"I hear all about me, at times, complaints at being lonely. I suppose I ought to be called a lonely old woman. My husband is dead. My children are gone. And I live alone in this apartment with only a maid servant. The hours are very long and silent.

"But let me confess to you a secret. I enjoy them. I love the silence. I love to go into a room and find no one in it. Solitude, to me, is not a hateful spectre. It is my lover.

"I have had a good many lonely times in my life, and by a sort of borrowed and made-to-order opinion I have been, at times, sorry for myself. But looking back over it all now I realize the best things of my life have come to me in solitude.

"Those riches of character, those stores of contentment, those spiritual supplies which I have laid up and which constitute my inward treasures, most of them I gained in periods of solitude.

"For one thing, I am not afraid of myself. I have gotten to be quite friendly with myself and we get along very well together.

"That is a good deal, for most people are bored with themselves, and their wild efforts at amusement and intoxication are merely struggles to escape.

"I went to a jazz resort the other night and saw the poor things bopping and whirling and grinning and jabbering, and they reminded me of a lot of captive birds beating their wings against the cage.

"Everyone to his taste, I suppose, as the old woman said when she kissed the cow; but, as for me, I am not compelled to seek foolish company in order not to be lonesome.

"I suppose I am an egotist. I have always hated egotists all my life, and perhaps what we hate continuously we gradually become.

"At least, I think well enough of myself to find my own companionship interesting, and that is a good deal. For most of the foolish things people do they do because they do not like to be alone.

"Few crimes are solitary, and most virtues.

"And those forms of pleasure which are grown in solitude can be harvested in solitude. And, as we grow older, companions thin out, and more and more we walk alone, so that those who to themselves are fearsome spectres have a hard time of it.

"No, solitude is not a tragedy in my case. I have my memories, my books, and my habits. And the four of us make quite an interesting party."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

"He is not particularly well liked," we heard a citizen say of his neighbor today. None of us is.

When things go dead wrong, roll up your sleeves and go to work and try to revive them.

The man is of good stuff who can be licked in a fair fight and still not complain .

When a man falls, if one woman is not at the bottom of it, several are.

It is hard to sugar coat the pill of a passed dividend when a man is short on cigar money.

A man has no right to be satisfied unless he has done his best.

It's a rare man who can pay the fiddler without making his wife help.

Many an indulgent husband allows the indulgence to stop with himself.

Many a woman prides herself on her ability to understand things without giving them a thought.

Blessed is the man who puts his whole heart into his task, for at the end of the day his work will sing to him.

All women think they can manage any man, and so they can until they marry him.

Many a man has lost chances on a sure thing because he was afraid to take chances.

The louder a man talks—well, you know what there is in a bass drum.

When a Husband is Jealous of His Wife's Job

Wife Her Husband's

"When He Would Come Home I Would Suggest a Dance or the Theatre, and He Would Say: 'Tomorrow, Baby. Not Today!'"

"I Come in All Thrilled, to Make an Evening of It, at 3 A. M., When He Is Getting His Beauty Sleep."

No Man Forgives His Spouse for Making More Money Than He, Says Helen Lee Worthing, While Elaine Harris Inveighs Against Wall Street as Her Only Rival.

EVERY wife has a rival in her home, a rival greatly to be feared and fought against. This rival, according to W. L. George, the English novelist, and others, is her husband's business.

But if disaster lurks in a home where the husband's business threatens to overshadow his wife's affection, what of the home where the wife herself is an earner—and where she earns, as is sometimes the case, more than her husband? Mr. George hasn't answered that question yet. But his view is hardly necessary now, for the answer has been supplied by one who has qualified through personal experience. Miss Helen Lee Worthing, formerly Mrs. Charles McDonald, of Brookline, Mass., who has just been divorced from her husband, says that the main source of their double discontent was the amount of her salary.

She charged her husband with cruelty—and specified that the cruelty arose out of his intense jealousy of her earning power. "My business was my husband's rival all right, all right," she said, "for I made the mistake of earning more than he did. There were other things of course. Our working hours didn't coincide for one thing and then neither one of us was willing to give in to the other. But it all came back to my salary. He was much more jealous of that than he ever was of another man."

Helen Lee Worthing, Who Avers Her Greater Earning Power Made Her Husband Jealous and Disrupted Their Home.

The contrary of Miss Worthing's case is found in the tragic search for freedom and happiness which Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris has been making ever since she broke loose from her husband two years ago. Miss Worthing's matrimonial bark was capsized because her husband didn't make enough money; Mrs. Harris's home was wrecked because her husband made too much.

"He was all Wall street," Mrs. Harris explained. "All big business. Sometimes when he would come home from his office in the evening I would suggest that we go to a dance or to the theatre and he would always say: 'Tomorrow, Baby. Not today.'" Finally he said "tomorrow" once too often and Mrs. Harris decided that she could never find happiness in a home where there was so much money. So she started out to look for happiness in Europe—and, incidentally, to find freedom.

Above and at Right—Two Poses of Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris, Who Says Her Rich Husband Thought Only of Wall Street.

Mrs. McDonald, or Miss Worthing, became nationally known for her beauty in 1919, when she won a country-wide contest. At that time she had been married two years to Charles McDonald, though none of her friends knew anything about it. No information has been forthcoming about those first two years, but Miss Worthing has implied that everything was going well until she began to make a rather good salary as an entertainer. Mrs. McDonald, who is now Miss Worthing by an edict of the Suffolk Superior Court, tells her own story rather vividly. She says:

Recipe for Marital Bliss

"In the perfect marriage one or the other is subordinate—one or the other yields. First of all Mr. McDonald and I came to odds over my hours. I go to work at quarter of twelve midnight and am not through until after two. Mr. McDonald ordinarily goes to bed about the time I am going to work. And I come in all thrilled and ready to make an evening of it, at 3 A. M., when he is getting his beauty sleep.

"I am pretty sleepy most mornings until one in the afternoon. That means that I'm in no particularly trim condition to preside at a breakfast table, in no condition to pick hairs from a husbandly shoulder before he goes out to earn a salary about one-third less than I earn. Hours played havoc in our household.

"But the salary question loomed large and forbidding. No man ever forgives his wife for making more money than he makes. Neither did my husband forgive me. The man may not show his jealousy openly. But it's there just the same. Now the wise wife, very much in love, will give up her job if she makes more than her husband, or, at any rate, she will lop off enough salary when telling it, to make it less than his. But if she can't—then she raises up between herself and her husband a barrier, stern, cruel, forbidding. And that worst jealousy of all, the jealousy of man for woman as his economic rival, will come between them forever.

"The economic jealousy he had for me was so hot and strong that it put other things in the background. He did not mind if I went to dinner with some other man or if a thousand cavaliers sent me violets. My husband was too pleasingly platonic, in other words. If, just once, he had blackened my eye, because I thought of some other man, I could have forgiven him everything. If he had loved me enough to be jealous of me—all would have been well. But not he.

"Though I have divorced him, we still are just as friendly as two old women knitting by the fireside. We're just as friendly as two old gentlemen swapping stories. Should I ever get married again McDonald would right gladly hand the ring at the right time to my second husband. And I would gladly pin the orange blossoms to the bridal cap of his second sweetie. And that's that."

Mrs. Elaine Harris, who prior to her marriage was one of the Lees of Virginia, spurned her husband's millions and turned for happiness to other things. But the ironic hand of fate has recently inserted itself into the life of Mrs. Harris. The forbidding presence of Money had destroyed the possibility of happiness in her home, she said, but she recently suffered the indignity of having her trunks attached because she couldn't raise $3000.

It appears, from her subsequent statements, that this Virginia girl, who wed a New York banker, went into marriage expecting great love above all things. But differences occurred rather early in the game because her husband accorded her none of the affection she had been led to expect. There was never "another man" or "another woman." There was only Wall Street.

What She Most Wanted

"I had all the luxuries in the world; everything I wanted except one thing," said Mrs. Harris, "and that was love. And I wanted to be loved.

"On one occasion he even forgot my birthday, and that, too, after I had decorated the house.

"I have concluded that the ten commandments are nothing to a husband's happiness. Loyalty and devotion are passed up like a bad check. The music which soothes the savage breast is the charm of a soft voice.

"Husbands must be charmed—charmed—charmed—from breakfast to dinner. But being charming twenty-four hours a day gets to be monotonous. So I am going to Europe to lead a quiet life and be myself as I really am."

This was just after the break between Mrs. Harris and her husband. Mr. Harris, when asked to comment on his wife's statement that he had been deficient in love, replied as follows:

"The total estimated value of the domestic and foreign commerce of the United States was approximately $44,000,000,000. Of this total, approximately $20,000,000,000 is represented by manufactures. But while our financial capacity, as indicated by the figures above, has so greatly increased and billions of dollars of new capital has been employed in manufacturing lines in recent years, figures on our foreign commerce are not proportionate and are disappointing."

CAMERA RECORD OF THE DAY'S NEWS

IRENE BORDONI in one of the gowns she wears in "The French Doll," her latest play, in New York. Irene is French, of course, and is making the biggest success of her career in her present role. But there's another reason for printing her picture—it might strike a fashion note for women readers.

PRESIDENT HARDING plays a round of golf at Palm Beach, visiting the famed resort for a few hours on the last leg of his vacation in Florida. (Int.)

LOUIS JOSEPH, known on the stage as "Frisco," famous jazz dancer, is suing Constance Talmadge, screen star, for $100,000. He alleges that she used in a film some of his stage "business." If Constance stole any of Frisco's steps she can be counted as right clever.

DR. ADOLF LORENZ, Austria's ambassador of mercy, pictured after he conducted his last New York City clinic, completing his work of treating more than 1,000 children. He is shown with 'Lucky Jimmy' Maby, a six-year-old boy he saved from a lifetime of suffering as a cripple. Little Jimmy was selected from hundreds of children last December. His case seemed hopeless, but Dr. Lorenz transformed his clubbed feet into those of a normal child. (N. Y. Am Photo.)

"LUCKY JIMMY" MABY as he appeared before Dr Lorenz straightened his legs Jimmy called on the 'miracle man," as shown at left, to thank him and say good-bye (N Y Am.)

Mrs. Mary McFadden, Mayor of Magnetic Springs, O., who says mothers who wear short skirts should have daughters bob their hair to distinguish parent from child.

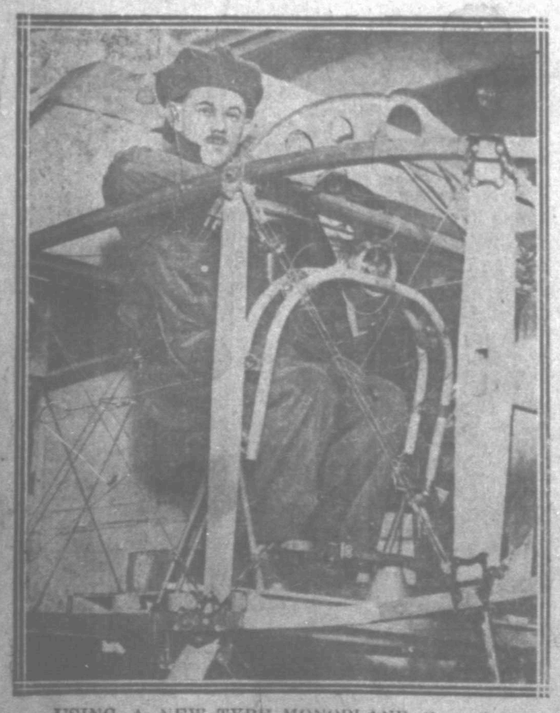

BRANDING THE FOUR-POWER treaty as an alliance and denouncing the methods used to foist it upon the United States, Senator Johnson, of California, declares "the new alliance parallels the League of Nations." (Int.)

PHOTO-DIAGRAM OF FIRE in Brooklyn, N. Y. To left, firemen are rescuing baby of Mrs. Anthony Stella. Joseph Barone, dropping from the roof, sprained a leg; but helped save others. Firemen are lowering the children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Demetra to safety. The family was overcome. Antoinette Stella, jumping to roof of adjoining house, sprained both ankles. (N. Y. Am.)

USING A NEW TYPE MONOPLANE Cuno Rheden, Chicago, hopes to fly from New York to Paris. His machine, he claims, will make 250 miles an hour, traveling 3,600 miles without a stop on 200 gallons of gas. It took him seven years to build it. (Int.)

AL DEVORMER

FRANK O'DOUL

PROMISING YANKEES—Two members of the New York Yankees are making strong bids for regular jobs. Al DeVormer, a second-string catcher, is looming up for more work than he did last season and Frank O'Doul, a pitcher purchased from the Vernon Club of the Pacific Coast League, is doing fine work at the training camp.

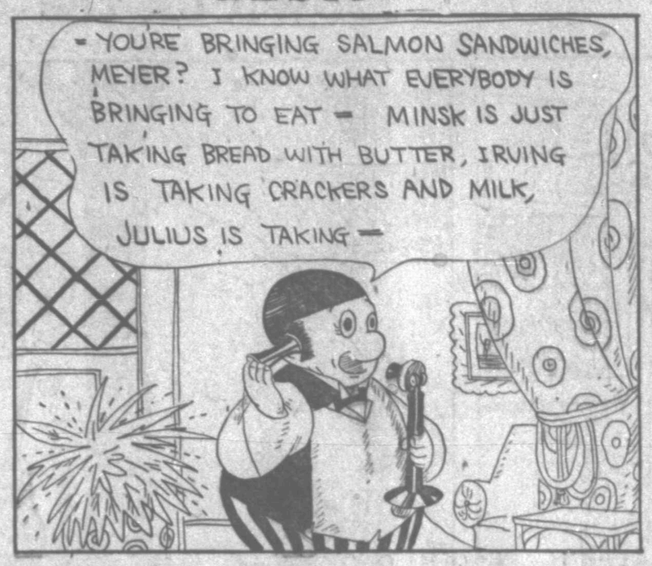

1,300 CASES OF SCOTCH WHISKEY, valued at $250,000, were seized; a two-masted schooner, the Viking, out of Gloucester, was confiscated, and twenty members of what is believed to be a powerful rum-running ring were captured in New York after a gun fight in which seven men were injured. The bootleggers resisted the several Federal agents who rushed upon them, but were subdued after much clubbing and many revolver shots, and landed in jail (N. Y. Am.)

The Comic Commentary

BY BEN NEAL

—During and since the war much has been said of our lack of courtesy; of the tendency among some people today to forget the chivalry of yesterday.

—We think of the old-fashioned Southern Gentleman with a feeling of tenderness because of his innate gallantry which has pictured to this generation as surpassing the knight- errantry of old.

—The aging philosopher will discourse as long as he has audience upon the chivalric propensities of the departed generation as contrasted with the rude inconsideration of the youth of today.

—These allegations must be backed by a modicum of justice. It must be true that in days gone by there was a more frequent evidence of courtly consideration than is seen at the present time. It seems a fact that the Sir Walter Raleighs and the old Kentucky Colonels are fast becoming extinct.

—But there's a reason.

—Chivalry is not dead. Gallantry does not belong entirely to the limbo of the past. The South is filled with men who carry with them always an unfailing respect and courtesy for womankind.

—The explanation seems to lie in the fact that the plan of existence during these modern times is in decided contrast to that of days of yesteryear. In our present civilization it is no longer the popular thing to do battle for the hand of fair maiden. No more does the owner of a plantation sit in elegant leisure as he entertains his guests, while the slave divides his time between kowtowing and mixing mint juleps.

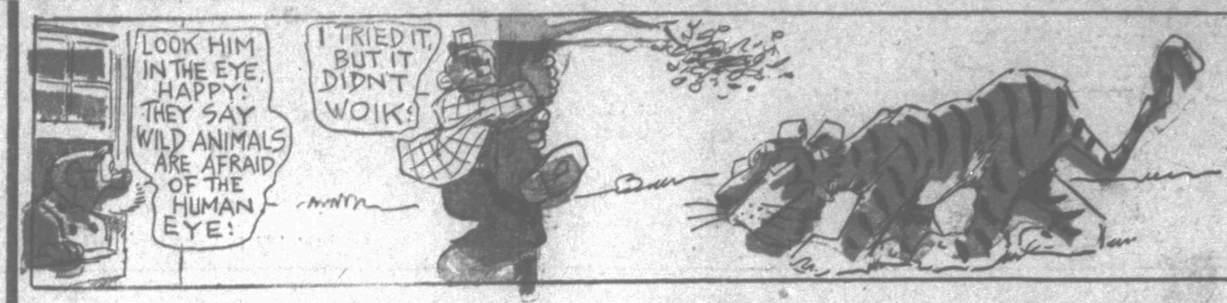

—The year of 1922 finds woman occupying a unique position. She has taken a place high in the niche of achievement. She is developing her personality and her talents along entirely new lines. But she holds the respect and love of man.

—Futher than that, man retains the conviction that it is his pleasure as well as his duty to offer her protection, although she is better able to care for herself than ever before. When opportunity offers, he shows today that he is capable of deeds of gallantry.

—From another angle, the relation of man toward man and woman toward woman is today in healthier condition than ever before in the history of the world. This is due in large degree to the recent growth of civic organizations where men and women are humanized and have an opportunity to learn of their neighbors.

—But this is a Comic Commentary. So, to the point—

—Beware of too much of this "my dear Alphonse" stuff. It can be overdone. Witness the scarred physiognomies in the picture.
