Veterans Administrator Hines has estimated the Fish proposal would cost approximately $650,000,000.

The committee continued deliberation after voting down three veterans proposals.

SUBWAY WORK IS DIVIDED

AMARILLO TO EMPLOY 120 MEN INSTEAD OF 30 ON JOB

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Feb. 11—A delegation of approximately 100 unemployed men marched to the city hall early today and petitioned City Manager W. N. Durham to divide work on a $150,000 subway, started this week, into split shifts "to pass the work around."

The men had made a similar request of the foreman at the site of construction, but had been sent to the city manager.

Mr. Durham announced that beginning at noon today, the request would be granted, and that crews of 30 men each would work six-hour shifts, and that four crews would be used daily, the work continuing day and night.

The plan will give 120 men employment instead of 30.

After the request was granted, the men marched through the business district displaying a banner, "Give Us Work, We Need It." They later apologized for the counter march and the leader announced that it was not intended as a demonstrative protest.

SCHOOL GIRL'S BODY IS FOUND ON ISOLATED ROAD IN KANSAS

(By Associated Press)

NEWTON, Kas., Feb. 11.—Harvey county officers sought clues today in the slaying of Miss Lucille Price, 18-year-old high school graduate who disappeared January 24.

Her body, bruised and covered by cobwebs, was found in a ditch beside an isolated road southeast of Newton yesterday. Her clothing was torn. A set was missing from her ring. Rain had erased possible clues from the earth.

Miss Price disappeared after leaving Helen Sprigg, a chum, while walking home from the public library. Upon the expressed belief of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Price, that she might have eloped, Jack Brunker, of Wichita, Kas., was questioned here Sunday. He was not held.

Miss Sprigg told police that soon after Miss Price left her and proceeded homeward a motor which she believed contained two men and a woman passed down the street in the direction the slain girl had taken.

'The Elks Don't Even Greet Him'

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—"He used my car to hunt for deer," said Mrs. Gertrude Schuman. "But what he bagged was more like 'dear,'" resumed the angry woman. "His hunting horn was never heard beyond the crowded section. His weapon was a snappy word, like: 'bound in my direction?'

"No antlers grace our fire place; the Elks don't even greet him, and he would race for each 'deer' face on which a smile was fleeting."

Judge Scott looked down with thoughtful frown upon the nimrod Schuman. He said, "I fear your type of deer was much, oh, much too human."

"Your good wife's plea for this degree I'll grant with spirit willing, because the 'deer' you ventured near were eager for a 'killing.'" His words had force and spelled divorce and ended Schuman's "hunting."

There was no plea for custody of any baby bunting.

Some 12 years ago, Sergeant Selbert led a charge on a machine gun nest in France, routed the enemy and, though wounded himself, helped his injured comrades to safety. For this he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration.

Today, Sergeant Selbert is the only World War winner of this decoration who is still in the enlisted ranks of the army—receiving approximately $150 a month plus rations, clothing and quarters.

JACKSONVILLE MAN RECEIVES DEMAND

SUM OF $14,000 IS ASKED OR HOME TO BE BOMBED

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 11.—A. G. Adams, president of the First State Bank of Jacksonville, today revealed that he had received a blackmail letter demanding $14,000 and threating bombing of his home unless the money was paid.

Although taking receipt of the letter lightly and stating he considered it the work of "some crank." Adams said the letter was being investigated by officers and that the communication had been given to a member of the grand jury now in session at Rusk.

The letter bore only a Jacksonville postmark. Federal authorities were likely to make an investigation, county officers said.

The threat was signed "Scar Face Gang" and directed that the money be left at a point eight miles from Jacksonville not later than 10 a. m. yesterday. It said bombs would be placed under the Adams home unless the instructions were carried out.

Adams said he did not receive the letter until an hour after the time-limit on delivering the money had expired.

The banker said he had received many anonymous letters during his business career, but never had paid any attention to them.

FARM CENSUS BILL IS UP

LEGISLATURE ASKED TO PASS MEASURE TO MAKE SURVEY

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 11—Details of a plan for an annual farm census, projected by the University of Texas, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college and the state and federal departments of labor were embodied in a bill to be presented to the legislature today.

The bill was drafted by a subcommittee from the several institutions advised by W. P. Callender, chairman of the crop reporting board of the United States department of agriculture, who made a special trip here from Washington to work with the committee.

It provides that the census shall be taken by tax assessors who would be paid five cents for each farm enumerated. The state would contribute $20,000 annually to the census, on which the federal government, through its crop reporting service, expends $40,000 a year.

The plan was proposed, members of the group said, not only as a guide to farmers, but as an aid to industrial development and persons seeking information about territory in which expansion was planned.

MEETING WILL BE HELD ON THURSDAY

PUBLIC INVITED TO PRESENT CLAIMS ON RATES HERE

Marking the first step in an investigation designed to amicably settle disputes between gas consumers of Lubbock and the West Texas Gas company growing out of the issuance of current bills, a special meeting of the Lubbock City commission has been called for Thursday morning at the city hall. The session will get underway at 9 o'clock and continue until noon, according to announcement today by Mayor J. J. Clements.

Tomorrow's meeting will be a public one and every citizen who has a complaint, either on gas rates or on consumption, is urged to bring his or her evidence before the commission.

Must Have Facts

"We must have facts, however," Mayor Clements said today. "Anyone who is dissatisfied and has a complaint to make will be given a hearing by the commission. This evidence will be gathered and tabulated for further use by the commission. It is only through the gathering of tangible evidence that we will be able to accomplish any material results."

Following Thursday's session, a conference of mayors and city managers from 52 Northwest Texas cities will be held here on Friday. The conference was called by Mayor Clements and invitations issued to all towns and cities in this territory. According to local officials, all those receiving invitations have replied that they will attend and ap-

DEMOCRATS TO PLAN ACTION

MEETING IS CALLED IN WASHINGTON TO TALK OVER FUTURE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Democratic national committee will get together in Washington the day after congress adjourns to straighten up its finances and to lay plans for action during the next 15 months.

The call for the March 5 session was issued yesterday by Chairman Raskob. A comprehensive plan for soliciting funds to meet the deficit now existing and to carry on "both during and between national campaigns" will be presented at that time.

Survey Conducted

This plan, said the chairman, now is being drawn up by the John Price Jones corporation of New York, which has conducted an extensive survey of the possibilities during the past two months.

One of the first interpretations placed upon the call was that the meeting would be Raskob's answer to criticism within the party growing out of his loans which have gone far toward supporting the national committee's operations during the period since the last national campaign. There were some indications the fund raising plan would involve solicitation of small contributions from the rank and file of the party, to put an end to the borrowing which has been necessary since the democrats ended the unsuccessful 1928

BUDGET SYSTEM TEACHES CHILDREN HOW TO SPEND PSYCHOLOGIST BELIEVES

Don't let loose change lie about the house. The baby, finding it, plays with it as with toys. He discovers, by and by, that he can purchase sweets with it. Long before he learns the meaning of theft he may have been spending money which he finds so commonplace and easily obtainable.

When you buy small things like an ice cream cone for the child of four or five; give him the money and let him purchase it. Better work out with him in the early stages of his spending the day or days of each week or month when he may spend. Then see that he is held strictly to this program.

Once he gets the notion that there are only a few and certain days when he may spend, you can gradually lead him to learn to spend his money over a period of time, say a week. Such an allowance should begin only when he is ready to take responsibility for it. For the child of school age, it includes current supplies, lunches, car fares and a very small amount for luxuries. Every allowance should contain a small amount which the child can spend about as he chooses, just as soon as he has learned to spend with some discretion.

Here is a scheme we worked out with our two elder children when they were about eight and ten, respectively. They were asked to keep, during the first two weeks of school, an account of those expenditures which were likely to be constant for the term, and to make at the end of two weeks an itemized budget of what they would need each week during the half year. This was to include a specified amount as savings, school supplies (pencils, paper, etc.) school lunches, bus fares, recreation, Sunday school money, and a small amount for luxuries. Their budgets, which we found surprisingly conservative, were approved.

Each Monday morning they were given their week's allowance when right before our eyes each deposited a quarter in his metal bank. They understod they would be given no more money during the week.

When unexpected needs for money, such as subscription to the school paper, arose it was supplied. They were urged not to lend or borrow. It worked. They always got along on the allowance.

They were not asked to render an itemized report, but were urged to keep one for themselves. We did not want to tempt them to juggle their accounts. When they got the money it was theirs. Extra money which they earned they were urged to put into savings, or to lay aside to grow into a sum large enough to buy something worth while. However, they reserved the final choice of its expenditure.

Now they are operating on a budget scheme to cover six months and to include clothes and all personal expenditures. I commend these schemes to other parents, although I think we are running a few years behind a schedule which would seem ideal.

Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham Talks On Relationship Of Family And State

Discussing the relationship of the family to the state, Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, of College Station, this morning made the feature address of the women's division of the third annual Farmers and Homemakers Short Course at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Cunningham, who has long been prominent in the state, is now associate editor of the Extension Service News, Texas A. and M. college, College Station.

Today is the second day of the course, which opened Tuesday at the college, and additional women registered. Between fifty-five and sixty were in the school on Tuesday and others are coming in today. A number of different counties in this section are represented in the registration.

Miss Gilkerson Talks

In addition to Mrs. Cunningham's talk, Miss Johnnye Gilkerson, assistant professor of physical education at the college, gave a demonstrated lecture on exercises for health this morning. She was assisted by a physical education student at Tech.

The two talks this morning were delivered in the engineering building auditorium. This afternoon's lecture will be in the home economics building and will be delivered by Mrs. Dude Buster, assistant professor of clothing and textiles and Miss Mayme Twyford, associate profesor of foods, at Texas Technological college.

"It may seem strange for me to be discussing an abstract subject like the relation of the family and the home to the state at a time like this when distressed conditions on every hand cry aloud for practical, concrete methods of reconstruction. But diagnosis is as important as treatment and I think it is valuable to discuss the various factors which contributed to this dislocation," Mrs. Cunningham said this morning.

Homes Fundamental

"Homes existed before governments, as we know them, existed at all. And in countries where governments have failed, homes have continued to exist. Homes have survived tyranny, revolution, anarchy, and reconstruction. Fires, tornadoes and earthquakes have not destroyed them out of the land," she continued, "and it is fair to assume then that they are a fundamental need of the human heart."

Governments developed as service organizations for people living in groups, but people lost sight of this beginning as the centuries rolled on, so that they began to regard the government as a machine for the enforcement of laws, collection of taxes and such things, she said, offering as a panacea for some of the present distress "a painful backtracking".

Must Back-Track

"People must again draw near to their government and do some managing of their own government affairs. Bring the government back into its true relation as a service organization to the home—and keep it there," she concluded.

Mrs. Cunningham has been a leader of Texas suffragists, was an officer of the National League of Women Voters for a number of years and has been prominent in the work of the Women's National Democratic club.

Mrs. Buster's talk this afternoon is to concern the removal of stains that every housewife is confronted with. She expects to give some general rules to follow.

A discussion of vegetable cookery will be given by Miss Twyford in her talk.

The theatrical season has been particularly successful, the legitimate stage holding its own before the vigorous onslaught of "talkies", and first nights have assembled a bright bouquet of elegantes, living symbols of the ever-living charm of Paris.

Dark colors vie with white for evening, one or other of the new blues being the tints most seen. At the Ambassadeurs the other night two of the smartest gowns were blue. One in deep sapphire was worn by the young Countess de Roban, while the other, worn by Lady Furness was of the off-black satin with violet-blue high lights, with corsage of dark red and violet roses.

It is smarter, by the way, to wear one's corsage flowers at the back rather than the front of the decollete. Sometimes a wreath of stylised flowers underlines a U-shaped neckline; at others a more natural arrangement is placed low at the left side.

The clip pins which continue in fashionable favor are also worn in back for evening though they retain their position at the point of the decollete in front for the afternoon.

Jewels often strike the color note of the ensemble. With an emerald necklace, a green-eyed elegante wears an emerald velvet cape and green slippers. Another is all in white save for a parure of emeralds and long emerald green suede gloves.

A ruby velvet scarf recalls a ruby corsage clip.

For afternoon, colored velvet scarves are worn with velvet hats. Lunching at the Ritz, last Wednesday, a charming young girl wore a toreador cap of ruby velvet, with little forehead veil caught into an indentation of curls by a jeweled clip, matching a ruby velvet scarf.

Jewel tones appear also in evening wraps of velvet that are almost invariably knee-length or longer though sometimes they are worn over brief inside wraps of paillettes, satin or lace.

Two-color effects and even three are ubiquitous at smart afternoon occasions. A gray costume set off by black antelope gloves and bag, with jade bracelets to lend the piquant vivid touch, was charming on a black haired young countess tea-ing at the Ritz recently. On the same day I noticed Madame Martinez de Hoz in black and red, and Madame Revel in two tones of light gray-blue and dark slate-blue.

Carved tortoise-shell clips are being worn in the afternoon by fastidious women who reserve their costlier jewels for evening.

Pale coral jewelry is less banal than turquoise, and it is often enlivening to brown or dark red ensembles.

Sweethearts Ever Look To Valentine

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11. (AP)—Today's beautiful Valentines of lovesick swains and fair young maidens are no more sentimental than their predecessors of a century ago, in the opinion of Frank Baer, who has the world's finest collection of such art.

Girls in "pig-tails" a few years ago, blushed to receive laboriously hand-made valentines that told them:

"Roses are red, violets' blue;
"Sugar is sweet and so are you."

Today, the wording of valentine notes is just as sentimental but possibly more sophisticated. A century ago, the sentiment was the same but the expressions were more grandiose.

One century-old Valentine in Baer's collection, which he has gathered at his Cleveland home, shows a warrior on horseback, flourishing a sword with two arrow-pierced hearts above it, and bears these lines:

"Adieu until we meet again
"My valiant, brave hussar.
"As warm in your attachment as
"You're val-i-ant in war."

Baer, who is transportation director of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, has gathered Valentines from many foreign lands. The oldest in his collection is from Germany, and he believes it is the oldest Valentine in the world.

It was made in 1710, a lacy design in vellum, and bears the tender message: "Liebes voglein"—(dear little bird).

The old Valentines were mostly of paper, water-colored, and entirely hand decorated. Some of the most beautiful were made by French nuns. The gaudiest came from Austria and the funniest were from England.

EXACT METHOD OF ROASTING COFFEE PERFECTS FLAVOR

Controlled Roasting, Patented by Hills Bros., Gives Flavor No Other Coffee Has

To sip a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee after drinking other brands is a most revealing experience. There is a wealth of full-bodied, savory flavor that is almost startling. What's more, it is a different flavor.

The way Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted is responsible for this deliciously different goodness. Instead of being roasted in bulk—as most coffees are—Hills Bros.' rare blend passes through the roasters, evenly—continuously—a little at a time.

The chief factor in the success of this process is the perfect control of the flow of coffee and of the heat. This insures an even roast such as the bulk method can never equal. The ultimate result is a matchless, uniform flavor in every pound.

In order to keep their delicious coffee fresh, Hills Bros. pack it in vacuum. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely extracted from the can, and kept out by this process. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arabe—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold everywhere by grocers.

Public Given True Inside Story How Texas Lawyer Took Fingerprint Course and Brought to Justice the Murderer of His Friend!

"JOHN, I've killed a man up on the plains! What in the name of the Lord, must I do about it?"

"I don't know, Blake, I never killed a man myself," Miller replied, incredulous of his friend's statement. "What was the man's name?"

"You'll see it in the papers in a few days," Blake evaded, tensely. "If anybody asks about me, tell them I got to your house at 3 or 4 o'clock this morning."

Miller said he did not agree to do this, and later on in the day inquired about the gun which did the killing. The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive

Low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation mean a distinct saving to every purchaser

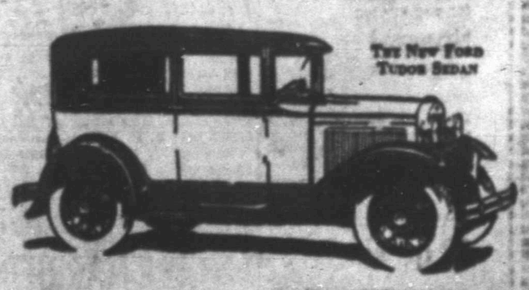

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

The reasons for this economy are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, the new Ford is an outstanding example of fine craftsmanship in automobile engineering.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

Thought For Today

He that hasteth to be rich has an 'evil eye, and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him.—Proverbs 28:22.

* * *

The heart contracts as the pocket expands.—Bovee.

Halting Progress

It is reported from Brazil that Henry Ford's great rubber plantation scheme in the Amazon jungles may eventually collapse because of the inability of the natives to get used to American rules and customs.

Native labor employed on the concession was treated just about as labor is treated on any big American construction job. The men had to punch time clocks, had to stand in line before the mess hall for meals, had to live in well-policed cabins and in other ways had to conform to the efficient, well-disciplined methods of American industry.

To be sure, they were getting good money—more, probably, than most of them had ever seen before. But they didn't like it. Things were too well regulated. The Ford commissary gave them better food than they got in their jungle huts, but the idea of standing in line with a tray wasn't appealing. The company huts were cleaner and more comfortable than the native jungle shacks — but somehow they weren't so homelike.

So the natives simply quit work; and now it is even intimated that Mr. Ford may have to give up his entire scheme for a great Brazilian rubber plantation.

All of this is very unfortunate, and Mr. Ford deserves a lot of sympathy. Nevertheless, it is hard to keep from having a sneaking little fellow-feeling for these half-wild Brazilians who refuse to so stubbornly to become civilized. For while life in the Brazilian jungle is not much better than out-and-out barbarism, it has a good deal to recommend it—just as lift in the industrial section of any big American city has plenty of drawbacks.

For progress, as we understand the term, sometimes brings with it disadvantages that come close to counter-balancing its good points. The chap in the Brazilian wild may not have the advantage of a radio set in his hut, but neither does he know the rigors of technological unemployment. He may not have a dime in the bank, but the cornet-player next door does not spoil his sleep at night. He may not have a good doctor within a thousand miles, but he is in no danger of seeing his children run down by automobiles when they go out to play.

We always take it for granted that the advantages of the industrial regime outweight its defects. But in the jungles of the Amazon, apparently, the contrary view is held; and it is very probable that the growing industrialization of the world will bump into this sort of resistance more than once in the near future. And that may be a good thing for us; for it may set us to asking questions ourselves, and so lead us to remove a few of the imperfections from a system that is very far from perfect.

The Dempsey Idea

Estelle Taylor Dempsey has announced that there are going to be no children in the family. She is too busy having a career on the stage to bother with cookie jars and bruised knees and bed-time stories and "Now-I-lay-me-down-to-sleep" and all the other features which go with little boys and girls.

And it is perfectly all right, of course. It is entirely up to Jack and Estelle Taylor Dempsey if they do, or do not, want a family. But think how proudly a small boy could tell the other fellows that his father is the former heavyweight champion! Think of the pictures he could draw while they held their breath in admiration, or found out what the son and heir of the finest zing could do with his own navis.

Jack Dempsey has had a good many admirers. It is too bad that perhaps he will never know the applause of one who would be more adoring, more applauding, than any other fan could ever be. Little boys can be so loyally worshiful when their fathers are big and strong.

"From Greenland's icy mountains
To the shores of Tripoli,
We will fight our country's battles
On the land and on the sea!"

There is something about that battle song of the United States Marine corps which shivers up and down one's spine—especially when the marines, or some of their leaders are under fire. Particularly in the case of Major General Smedley Butler have Americans everywhere rallied 'round the standard of that important branch of our service—rallied so strongly, in fact, that a pussyfooting Secretary of the Navy was forced to drop courtmartial charges filed against the famous fighter.

WHEN Smedley Butler said what he thought about the Loudspeaker of Rome and Mussolini demanded an apology, Secretary Adams immediately started doing things. But when Americans preferred to stand by Butler, instead of Adams and his dictator-boy friend things began to happen and the courtmartial was dropped.

Smedley Butler may talk too much, or too forcefully. But those who have followed his record, through blood ankle-deep all over the world, know that he is a fighting man, a military genius, if you please, whose loss to our country's arms would be a severe blow. Far more important than Mussolini's feelings is the measure of safety supplied this nation by soldiers like Smedley Butler. Secretary Adams was wise when he protected himself and his party by quietly dropping the prosecution.

THERE should be no place in the army, the navy or the marines for pink tea officers who carry their handkerchiefs in their sleeves and kowtow to foreign potentates. The diplomatic corps is the place for applesauce, for saying one thing and thinking another. Freedom of speech applies to our soldiers as well as to our citizens, it is an inherant right of American birth and station, even if Mr. Mussolini doesn't like it.

The charge has been laid against Butler's door that he 'endangered international peace' by his oratorical onslaught in Philadelphia. That's a lot of baloney, to use a trite phrase, for everyone in this enlightened age knows that wars are fought for economic gain—not for personal satisfaction. And whoever heard of Mussolini fostering peace? His very governmental setup, his every move is in the opposite direction.

The Butler episode, now that it has been concluded, may and probably will have a beneficial bearing upon the disciplining of army navy and marine officers in the future. Those with long memories will recall that in the past this nation has lost several of its military leaders through politics and discipline—men whose names and records would still look good upon the rolls of our defense forces.

THE PLAINSMAN learns from grapevine telegraph that Walter 'The Great' Hagen, who, with Joe Kirkwood entertained golf bugs with an exhibition last Thursday, played a leading role in an unscheduled exhibition at Lamesa on the way here from El Paso.

Our private detective, who in this case is George 'Jimmie' Smith, says 'The Haig' drove his 'V-16' Cadillac sport motor into the Dawson county capital—the snappy looking car attracting attention of officers as well as ordinary folks. It seems that Walter had neglected to lay the dough on the line for his 1931 Texas license plates and that's where the fun started.

At any rate, when the smoke of battle died away and 'The Haig' reached Lubbock, he had in his auto—at which many eyes were craned while here—a spanking new set of plates and the tax collector, together with a constable at Lamesa were a few shekels ahead. All of which goes to prove that even a golf star gets no leniency from guys that don't care nothing about cow-pasture pool.

At a party here the other day one of the ladies present was flaunting a new hat.

"Isn't that a new bonnet?" one of her friends inquired.

"Yes, it is", was the answer, "and I earned it myself—I taught my husband to quit smoking!"

The Wickersham report on prohibition, says a dispatch from Washington, promises to be one of the best sellers of the winter book season. Which is not bad for dry literature.

If Major General Butler Decides To Run For Senate In Pennsylvania, He Will Have Support Of Gov. Fincher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The rumor that Major General Smedley Butler of the marines plans to run for the Senate in Pennsylvania in 1932 against Senator James J. Davis, is believed by some of the general's friends, but without any confirmation from Butler himself.

It is made all the more interesting by the likelihood that he would have the enthusiastic support of Governor Gifford Pinchot. The two men have a mutual admiration and Pinchot recently offered Butler a place in his cabinet at Harrisburg, which the general declined. They also share an intense hatred of the powerful Philadelphia political machine, which put Davis over last year to fill the seat to which Boss Bill Vare had been elected only to be rejected and which Joe Grundy filled temporarily.

Pinchot has been in bitter political fights with the "gang." Butler encountered it and learned to hate it in his two years as Philadelphia's director of public safety when it thwarted his law enforcement efforts.

Some of the Davis people have been suggesting lately that Pinchot had inspired Senator Nye and his committee to try to "get" Davis on account of huge campaign expenditures. That idea is commonly deemed absurd, but emphasizes the fact that the Davis and Pinchot groups don't love each other. Pinchot naturally would rather that one of the Pennsylvania senators be a friend and sympathizer. And if Butler gets an open court-martial he is sufficiently brilliant and colorful to build up his own political possibilities.

Butler and President Hoover, who approved his court-martial, are now the world's two most conspicuous Quakers. Both are of the Hicksite sect, although the president switched to attendance at the Orthodox Friends church here, where there is less chance of commotion, soon after inauguration. Both men were in China during the Boxer rebellion, distinguishing themselves in different ways. Some of Hoover's ancestors came from Pennsylvania, which is Butler's home state.

Despite their Quaker rearing, Hoover has become commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy by virtue of election to the presidency and Butler more than 30 years ago deliberately took up military life as an avocation. Now he may follow Hoover into politics. Neither of these two illustrious Friends says "thee" and "thou," but both are capable of the strongest kind of language in private conversation.

One veteran foreign diplomat, who has seen service at Rome remarks to this writer that Premier Mussolini showed poor judgment in making a fuss to the State Department about Butler's Philadelphia speech. He says the incident and the publicity bound to attend the court-martial will make Mussolini no friends and will again call forcibly to the world's attention the Italian dictator's high-handed methods of government. . . Well everybody concerned is being accused of stupidity. Butler obviously, one would say, pulled a bloomer. . . . . Around the Navy Department one hears that the court-martial is "another Stimson blunder," that after his profuse apology to Mussolini Stimson talked the Navy heads into the trial.

You see how the gossip goes. The decision to court-martial Butler instead of letting him off with a reprimand came as a surprise to nearly everyone, so there has been a thriving market for explanations.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Hygiene of Women," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

CANNERS MAKE EFFORT TO PRESERVE VITAMINS

Raw tomatoes contain nearly 1 per cent of protein, half of 1 per cent of fat, and nearly 4 per cent of carbohydrate. They contain vitamins A (linked to the fat), B and C.

Dr. Clendening

In preparing food for commercial canning, great efforts are being made by manufacturers to prevent loss or destruction of the essential features of the product. Especially they have made elaborate precautions to preserve the vitamin content, and have undertaken studies to show whether canned foods contain vitamins or not.

The methods used to keep vitmins in canned foods are several. First the foods are processed in as fresh a state as possible. They are often in a fresher state than when cooking started on the process for canning is begun in your kitchen. There is some loss of vitamin in fruits and vegetables when they are allowed to stand, especially if they are peeled.

More important is the prevention of oxidation during the cooking process. Heating itself does not seem to destroy vitamins, but heating when air, or strictly speaking when oxygen is present, is destructive. During commercial canning processes the air is removed from the small spaces in the fruits and vegetables by putting them in a vacuum.

The result of this processing on tomatoes shows that canned tomatoes have one and two-tenths per cent of protein, two-tenths per cent of fat and four per cent of carbohydrate. Canned tomatoes have as much vitamin A as raw tomatoes less vitamin B, and as much vitamin C.

Tomato juice, lately so popular, does not apparently resist the canning process so well. Several experiments are on record, some of which show it has lost much of its vitamin C content. Others indicate that it retains a good deal, but none report that it retains as much as the raw product. It is possible to modify the process so that canned tomato juice will not lose any of its vitamin C content, and doubtless manufacturers will introduce such methods, if the habit of using it continues to grow in popularity.

The method of making these studies is feeding experiments on animals. Rats or guinea pigs are used. Every food which might contain vitamin C is eliminated from the animals' food except the canned tomatoes. A certain amount sufficient to prevent scurvy if the product were raw, is given daily over a long period of time; if no scurvy develops it is assumed no vitamin C was destroyed by the process.

These studies are convincing that canned tomatoes are as nutritious and valuable as raw tomatoes.

Other canned fruit, such as pears, peaches, etc., have also been found to retain their vitamin content under modern conditions of processing canned foods.

With proper connections, says the office sage, a live wire has a swell chance to shine brightly.

Restocking Quail In Oklahoma Is Planned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 11 (AP)—George T. Hines, game and fish commissioner, is father of a plan announced to restock state game preserves with quail from state "hatcheries."

Hines said he would initiate a move to plant several hundred acres of cane and kaffir corn, to be broken down when grown to attract quail.

Quail, he said, would be protected and allowed to reproduce without harm from hunters.

Ben Mobley, state game warden, will leave Friday for Brownsville, Texas, to close a deal for 20,000 quail, to cost $35,000, for restocking state preserves.

California Convicts Panning For Gold

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Feb. 11 (AP)—Nearly 100 convicts in the Feather river road camp are whiling away spare hours this winter panning the river sands for gold.

Captain U. A. Smith of the road detail said today convicts occasionally took sufficient flakes from the sand to supply themselves with tobacco and sweetmeats.

Cohabiting Practice To Be Under Penalty

AUSTIN, Feb. 11 (AP)—A house bill proposing to class as a felony the act of cohabiting with a husband or wife in Texas while having a living husband or wife in another state, carrying a committee amendment which would name the offense bigamy, was placed before the senate today after having been voted on favorably by the senate criminal jurisprudence committee.

A second committee amendment would make the offense carry two to five years in the penitentiary upon conviction.

With Swan

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—History fairly leaps out and bites the average wanderer on New York's thoroughfares, yet a vast proportion of the population goes through a day's work completely blind to the surroundings.

And the tourist, who runs to all the cathedrals of Europe and fairly trails Napoleon or Joan of Arc across Paris, is just as likely to have no eye for his nation's landmarks once he is set adrift in Manhattan.

Yet it is possible to track down George Washington from the Battery belt to the upper Hudson and across town to upper Harlem. Or if one has a literary urge, Edgar Allan Poe's spectral footprints could be traced from Nassau street, in the Wall Street district, to the Poe cottage at the far rim of the Bronx.

Mark Twain's residence still stands in Fifth Avenue, while loyal fans fight against its despoliation. Tom Paine's residence in the fag end of Greenwich Village has been the cause of another controversy.

And anyone who cares to follow the tracks of O. Henry has a very simple time. His park benches are still there. And the hotel where he worked for a time has his picture hanging prominently in the lobby. The room where he wrote scores of his stories may be rented in these times for $3 a night or thereabouts.

Washington Irving has a dozen landmarks. And Aaron Burr can be followed to his dueling ground by anyone with the required taxi fare. The Battery fairly reeks with tales of the early American settlers and Hoboken, just across the river, boasts of museum pieces which time has failed to destroy.

Traces of the historic Dutch West India Company are to be found rather easily in the downtown section. Almost any policeman can show you where Captain Kidd lived.

To be sure, Fraunce's Tavern is on the itinerary of almost every bus route and is rarely missed by tourists. But quite too much attention has been given to old Samuel Fraunce, and too little to his daughter Phoebe. Fraunce, by the way, was a West Indian of quite dark complexion. When Howe, of the English troops, left Boston, General Washington loked for an attack upon New York. He looked for a headquarters, and selected at first the old De Peyster mansion, then in Pearl street.

After consideration, the "father of our country" decided to move uptown to Richmond Hill district. And his housekeeper was none other than this same Phoebe Fraunce—but for whose bravery and shrewdness the entire history of this land might be re-written.

Maybe you've never heard this story. Certainly you didn't, if you depended upon high school and college histories.

Very well—this same Fraunce, with West Indian Negro blood in his veins, set up a tavern at Pearl street and Broad. And his daughter became the cook and general factotum in the household of the nation's leader. Governor Tryon decided that the best way to lick the Revolutionists was to get rid of Washington. The plot was hatched aboard a ship lying off the city. The moment selected was the occasion of a triumphal parade, when Washington was to ride up what was then Broadway.

Tryon picked a deserter, by the name of Hickey, to do the job.

But Hickey, to get up courage, stopped at Fraunce's Tavern and took a few drinks. He fell in love with Phoebe, and after his umpteith drink became confidential. After his second or third visit he was telling the story of his life and plans. The plot was allowed to drift along, after Phoebe went to Washington with the story of the plot. And when the hour struck, Hickey was arrested, confessed and hanged.

As the result of which, Washington felt himself indebted for life to the Fraunces and when he became the first president of the United States made Fraunce the first steward of his household.

And that is the story of Fraunce's Tavern—in case you've never heard it.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The lemur clung to Clowny. Gee, 'twas just as funny as could be. It seemed that it was mighty glad to find a brand new friend. Said Clowny, "Guess I'll get a rope. Then he will stay with me, I hope. I'll get a fairly long piece and then tie him to the end."

The Travel Man said, "Well, my son, I know that would be lots of fun, but still you mustn't do it. I am sure 'twould not be fair. That lemur's surely someone's pet and they would miss him lots, I'll bet. You see, folks never tie them up. They run 'round everywhere."

And then a little lad came here. Upon his face was written fear. "Say, what's the matter sonny?" asked the friendly Travel Man. "I'll bet this lemur belongs to you. It's safe and you can have it, too." The boy then grabbed the lemur and away he quickly ran.

"Oh, well," replied Clowny. "That suits me. There are some other sights to see. Come on, let's run and see them. This is quite a pretty town. We'll leave our oxen cart right here. We'd better feed the beasts, I fear. If they both get too hungry, I am sure they will break down."

And so some food was soon brought out. The oxen liked it heaps, no doubt. And while they stood there eating, Scouty said, "I see a crowd." The Travel Man replied, "My son, that is the market place. Some fun is now in store for all of us 'cause everyone's allowed."

They went to market very quick and bought some stuff that tasted slick. "What is it?" one inquired. "It's manioc," the Travel Man replied. "Eat all of it you can." And so the Tinies ate and ate until their jaws were tired.

SHERIFF MUST BILL SWITCH UNDER BILL

AUSTIN, Feb. 11. (AP)—A bill will be introduced in the house to require sheriff's of counties where a person is sentenced to death to throw the switch sending the current to the electric chair, Representative Burns of Huntsville said today. The sheriffs would carry out the death sentence under the direction of the prison warden who now is charged with the duty.

Burns said it was unjust to require one man to carry out the death sentence in every case and that the sheriff of the county where the sentence was pronounced should share in the responsibility of carrying out the judgment.

Burns said he also would introduce a bill to make it a felony for anyone to escape from the penitentiary, county jail or other authorized place of confinement. Persons aiding in escapes would come under the statute. The penalty would be from one to three years in the penitentiary.

SIX THOUSAND APPLICATIONS RECEIVED FOR LOANS ON SEED IN DROUTH AREAS

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11—The federal farmers' seed loan office here has received about 6,000 applications for loans from farmers in the drouth area of seven states in the district and has disbursed about $15,000, it was announced today.

Applications, forwarded by the various county seed loan advisory committee and county agents, are coming in at the rate of more than 2,000 a day. There are 408 counties eligible for loans in this district, including 81 in Missouri, 41 in Illinois, 26 in Kansas, 60 in Oklahoma and 39 in Texas.

SCOUT LEADERS ARE ACTIVE

FOURTEEN MEN IN AREA HAVE BEEN ENGAGED IN BOYS' WORK

Fourteen or more men now active in circles of the South Plains Area council of the Boy Scout organization have been affiliated with scouting constantly since establishment of the council, said D. T. Jennings, area executive, of Lubbock.

The observation presented a parallel in South Plains history to the records of nationally known figures who have served as valunteer leaders in the Boy Scouts of America since the organization was transplanted from England. Start of the American scout movement began 21 years ago. This is the organization's' national anniversary week.

Those Active In Work

Those who have been active in scouting in this area since the program was launched here, according to Executive Jennings, include:

T. A. White, F. A. White, George W. Dupree, J. T. Trigg, K. N. Clapp, and Dr. Paul W. Horn, all of Lubbock; Dr. J. C. Loveless and J. D. Dyer, both of Lamesa; Ben C. Coin, of O'Donnell; J. T. Herd, of Post; J. W. Hood, of Slaton; A. B. Sanders, of Ralls, and George S. Link, of Spur.

That the scout movement throughout the nation is one in which volunteer leadership predominates is indicated by the fact that of its 235,000 officials, less than 1,500 are professionals. Volunteers include more than 28,500 scoutmasters, all volunteers who give of their time without remuneration other than satisfaction which they gain from the service.

Leaders Are Prominent

Thousands who were scouts in the early days of the movement have continued their connection as scoutmasters, counselors, and in other volunteer capacities. Not a few scout executives, the professional leaders in the movement, started as Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scout movement appears to have a remarkable hold upon its leaders. It is unusual among national organizations in that it has, among its present leaders, many men who were active in its organization and in its councils 21 years ago.

Colin H. Livingstone, of Washington, D. C., its first president and now an honorary vice-president and member of the national executive board, was one of those who participated in the organization of the Boy Scouts of America.

Other founders of the Boy Scouts of America who are participating today are Daniel Carter Board, national scout commissioner; John Sherman Hoyt; William D. Murray; Frank Presbrey, of New York; G. Barrett Rich of Buffalo, and George D. Porter, of Newark, N. J. All are members of the national executive board today. With Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, and other scout leaders, they wear the badge denoting 21 years or more of active work for the Boy Scouts of America.

Each president of the United States from President Taft on, not only has been honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America but has actively contributed to progress of the movement.

ROAD BONDS ARE SOLD

ISSUE FOR $300,000 SOLD BY COUNTY ON TUESDAY

Following a meeting of the county commissioners' court, Judge E. L. Pitts announced Tuesday that a $300,000 issue of Lubbock county road bonds have been sold for immediate delivery at par and accrued interest with a premium of $3,335.

The bonds were bought by C. M. Smith, of Plainview, for two joint purchasers, Brown-Crummer Investment company and Stranahan-Harris & Co. A total of five bids for the bonds was received.

The second highest bid was for par and accrued interest with a premium of $3,000, and was made by C. E. Maedgen, of the Lubbock National bank, according to the county judge.

Sale of the road bonds was contracted for by the county commissioners last November, but the purchaser was declared bankrupt before the sale was consummated, Judge Pitts declared.

Elmer Boston was freed Tuesday on bond of $750 before Victor H. Lindsey, United States commissioner, after charges of possession of liquor and liquor manufacturing equipment had been filed against him.

Nature Produces a New Rare Flavor in Coffee

For a Real Change Taste the Rare Tang and Rich Mellow Body of Coffees from Central America . . .

(PUBLISHERS PHOTO SERVICE)

(FOLGER PHOTO)

The Second Stage in the Journey of Rare Central American Coffees to Folger. Into the hold of a Panama Mail liner for the sea voyage to San Francisco, the U. S. Port of Entry.

HERE'S a suggestion. If you want something different in coffee, try—not just another "brand"—but an utterly different KIND of coffee. Then see what happens.

We procure our coffees from tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America. A region that, experts now concede, produces probably the fullest-flavored coffees known today. Where nature leaves out the "rough" offensive oils. You taste only pure, invigorating flavor. Flavor so rich that you just can't help making the kind of coffee men can't forget.

Introduced by Folger

Years ago this coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco where it was introduced by Folger. Travelers tasting it there were captivated by its unusual flavor. Flavor produced by a peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun's rays and tropic rainfall—that is found nowhere else in the world.

Connoisseurs among the European nobility, it is said, even went to Central America to purchase private plantations, first to supply their own tables and later to exploit commercially. Thus the fame of these rare coffees spread around the world.

The Folger Test

Would you like to see for yourself just how different these coffees are—in richness and in flavor? Here's a test that is as simple as it is fair.

Tomorrow morning drink Folger's. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. In a morning or two you will decidedly favor one or the other; the best coffee wins. That's fair, isn't it?

CLUBMEN HEAR U. S. OFFICIAL

R. BRADFORD SPEAKS TO JOINT MEETING HERE TUESDAY

Ralph Bradford, assistant manager of the commercial organization department of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker before a joint gathering of the Lubbock Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary and American Business clubs, held Tuesday noon at the Hilton hotel. Mr. Bradford took as his subject that of the "New Chamber of Commerce."

Lion President S. S. McKay presided at the luncheon session which was attended by from 250 to 300 club members.

Introduction of the visiting speaker was made by A. B. Davis, manager of the local chamber of commerce, who also took occasion to tell something of the work of the local chamber.

The speaker, formerly manager of the Corpus Christi chamber and who also has been connected with a number of commercial and industrial concerns, dwelt briefly upon the subject of business conditions, but explained that too many speeches have been made upon the subject already. "Some have requested that I choose this as a subject," he said. "If I knew what was wrong and had a panacea for it, I wouldn't be here today but would be up in Washington where I would belong as the head of one of Mr. Hoover's committees. There has been lots of loose talk about business conditions, many say it is a psychological problem while others openly state that our country and all that's in it is going to the bowwows. I am of the opinion that we are merely going through a process of recouping and retrenchment, just such a process as we underwent about 10 years ago and which we will go through in years to come.

Will Solve Problem.

"There is no psychological problem, neither is the country going to the dogs—the sound business sense of America and that of other countries will solve the problem."

Hurrying from his opening remarks, Mr. Bradford plunged into his announced subject.

"There is much more to the chamber of commerce than is represented," he declared. "The big business is that of living. Life has not changed down through the ages. Business has changed, as has other material things. If the chamber of commerce were nothing more than a dollars and cents organization, we would be wasting our time. Look back upon the movement and you find both spiritual and material values growing out of it.

"Primarily, of course, the chamber is a commercial institution. But commercialism is not enough. That in itself would never move the world nor would it build cities. The chamber has a place in the American scene, it has some fine and fundamental principles. Not perfect—there are many faults — but the chamber is looking to the future of the race, to the future of our cities and country.

Looks To Needs.

"The chamber is looking to the needs of its merchants, the extension of trade, the development of its territory and the growth of industry. All of this is a part of its work. But that is not all—it must look to the building of educational institutions, it must look to the health of its city and must aid as an esthetic and cultural influence."

Difficulties face the New Chamber of Commerce just as they face any other institution, Mr. Bradford continued.

Mr. Bradford ended his address with the ancient story of the building of Athens, making a plea for the cooperation of every citizen in the work of the chamber — "Are you willing to repay your debt to your community without your signature to the masterpiece?"

FOURTEEN PRISONERS ARE REMOVED FROM JAIL HERE; START WORK SOON

Fourteen prisoners of the Lubbock county jail were removed from the structure today, eleven being en route to the state penitentiary at Huntsville while three federal prisoners will be lodged in jail at Fort Worth.

The fourteen left early this morning by bus in custody of O. B. Conley, chief deputy, and J. P. Edgar, United States deputy marshal.

The men are being transferred as the part of a general move to get the local jail empty so that work of dismantling the building can be started Thursday morning. A number of prisoners will be cared for in the Lubbock city jail while others will be confined in prisons of adjoining counties.

The three federal prisoners, J. A. Hix, Elton Brewer and Ferman Sturdivant, all will be held in the Tarrant county jail.

Prison Overcrowded.

Lubbock county authorities had been notified that the state penitentiary at Huntsville was overcrowded and permission was granted to take sentenced prisoners to the prison only because the county jail here was to be razed, according to County Judge E. L. Pitts.

Those whom Lubbock county officers said would be taken to Huntsville and respective sentences follow:

Joe Obelechner, two years for burglary; Ralph Noble, four years for forgery; Jim Harris, three years for burglary; M. E. Harrell, one year for prohibition law violation; J. B. Mincey, three years for forgery; Joe Anderson, six months for theft; Jack Smith, two years for automobile theft; Jack Frost, two years for theft exceeding $50; Curtis Taylor, three years for burglary; A. Lopez, one year for prohibition law violation, and R. B. Lester, four years for prohibition law violation.

Richard (Dick) Fitzgerald was returned to the Lynn county jail at Tahoka, Tuesday, his bondsman having surrendered him on a $7,500 bond on which he was free pending appeal from a 10-year sentence imposed upon him in a Lynn county court. Fitzgerald also faces a charge of burglary here, if wanted in several other Texas counties, and in connection with a bank robbery at Logan, N. M.

Charles Austin has been taken to the Scurry county jail at Snyder, having been wanted by authorities of that county in connection with chicken theft.

Mr. Manley is in his early 40's but has a national reputation as an authority on wheat marketing. He tells how he got into cooperative marketing." I was sowing oats ten years ago the 25th of this month," he went on, "The next morning it snowed and I couldn't work, so I attended a meeting of wheat growers. They elected me secretary. When they began to get contracts for wheat, I got into it, although I had not been in it before."

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hudson of Hale county, are among the interested spectators here. Both are active in farm organizations and are strong believers in cooperative marketing of farm products. She really was selected to this post, having held the job for some time, much to the satisfaction of her many friends.

PONIES LEAD SOUTHWEST CAGE RACE

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

With Collier Parris
Journal Sports Editor

The intramural football season at Tech has achieved its aim and when Pete Cawthon then calls the roll at spring training next month and again next September for the fall training camp a group of 30 young gridsters will answer present or otherwise accounted for.

Varsity players are not eligible for intramural athletics. The purpose is to bring out the timid souls of the institution who have had more or less experience and who love the game for the games sake. More than 250 men of Tech responded to the call for intramural material. Four teams were organized, coached by members of the 1930 Matador varsity team. A round robin schedule was played and a champion defined. From the mass, thirty-five men were chosen to play an all-star game. From this squad a group of eleven men were picked to be known as the super-all-star team. Two extra men were elected by the coaches, making thirteen who shall receive silver footballs as symbols of their prowess. Seventeen other youngsters were given honorable mention and will be invited to report for spring training in March.

Several of the players listed in the honor groups played under freshman spangles last fall. Others did not play at all, and others have only recently been admitted to the college. Among the latter we find the name of Mina Watkins, flashy little backfield ace for the Lubbock Westerners last fall. He entered school at the second semester and may be eligible for varsity competition next fall. He will be eligible if he passes his work and he was popular in high school as a brilliant student. He played with the Liberal Arts team in the intramural season and was a valuable cog in that machine, which won the intramural championship. He played on the all-star team that was defeated, 7 to 6, last Saturday, and he has been named all-intramural and all-super-star quarterback.

Greer Frizzell once an all-district tackle of Lubbock High but who forsook the gridiron for the cotton field last fall, was named on the first eleven by the coaches. He played with the Aggies, runners-up in the intramural race, and with the Blacks who defeated the Reds in the all-star game, proving one of the greatest powers in the line. He will be eligible for varsity play next fall.

Matt Hitchcock, Cameron, an end on the 1930 fish team, Ernest Nix, center, Pete Smith, fullback and Swampy Smith, end, are named on the star eleven, with the latter Smith an alternate end. The other men mentioned have never played on a Tech team prior to the intramural season. Eli Harris, a guard, was with the Picadors last season as a reserve and he is named on the mythical team. Bill Stubbs, Lacy Turner, formerly of Wayland College, Odis Holley, Lester Roberts, Elwood Potter, Luther Williams, Greer Frizzell and Mina Watkins are the others elected to the all-star team.

Five youngsters who played neat parts in the intramural season are among the seventeen named for honorable mention and who will be invited to come out for spring and fall training. They are Madden, an end, Bartley, Maddox, Oswald and Banta, backs. The others are Tate and Love, ends; Davis and Locke, tackles; Gray, Rodgers and Ross, guards; Grundy, center; and Phillips, Young, Ratcliff and Cunningham, backs.

Add those names to the returning varsity men and those rising from the freshman and reserve ranks who did not report for intramural football, and you have a pretty fair list of gridsters for the 1931 varsity squad. We've seen nearly all of them in action and they looked good. Some of them are big men, some are little but show possibilities of growing some yet. So if anybody asks you what kind of football team Tech will have next season, tell him to ask Pete Cawthon.

The next open-house night for men of Lubbock and Texas Tech will be held on the evening of February 19, a week from tomorrow night, at the Tech gymnasium. The date was formerly announced as February 18, but it became necessary to move back the time. We understand quite an extensive program is being arranged, including boxing, wrestling, machine gun firing, dancing, and acrobatics. Everybody is invited, provided they wear pants lawfully. For once a month women are barred and have no business at the gymnasium. It is men's night. It is free, and they packed the house at the last one, which was also the first one. The purpose is to create and build a better spirit among the men of the school and of the city.

France and Belgium have completed negotiations for the establishment of a co-operative air passenger and mail line from Brussels and Paris across the Sahara Desert, French Equatorial Africa, and the Belgian Congo to Elizabethville, and eventually to Madagascar.

TEXAS BEATEN OUT TUESDAY IN THRILLER

MUSTANGS NOW HAVE 5 VICTORIES TO THEIR CREDIT IN CHASE

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 11—The Mustangs of Southern Methodist university still were the undefeated leaders of the Southwest conference basketball race today with five straight victories, but they had their hands full in hanging up No. 5 here last night.

It took Coach St. Clair's pace setters an extra five-minute period to down the hard fighting University of Texas Longhorns, 41 to 33, after the score had been tied 31-all at the end of the regulation period. Only a timely decision by Referee Ziggy Sears in the closing seconds of the game saved the Mustangs from defeat.

"He Traveled"

The timekeeper had his pistol raised when Wilson Elkins, Texas forward, dribbled to the foul line and fired a field goal that would have won for the Longhorns. But Sears ruled Elkins had "traveled" in making the shot, and the score remained a deadlock.

It was all Southern Methodist in the extra period, the speedy Ponies looping four field goals, two of them by Captain Bill Skeeters from his guard position, while the Longhorns could get but one. The defeat was the fifth straight for Texas.

Rhea Williams, crack Mustang forward, became the conference's individual scoring leader when he rang up seven field goals and a free shot, running his total in five games to 87 points. Jake Reynolds, Pony center, scored 14 points last night to run his total to 76 points and go into third place.

The conference leaders will defend their clear slate again Saturday night, when they meet the Texas Aggies at Dallas.

TECH WINS IN TRIBE SERIES

LOCAL COLLEGIANS ARE GIVEN TIGHT GAME TUESDAY NIGHT

After getting off to a slow start and playing on equal terms with their weaker adversaries, the Texas Tech Matadors came out of a slump last night in the second half to come out ahead of the McMurry College Indians, 29 to 22, sweeping the Lubbock series and winning their third straight game of the season over the Abilene aggregation.

The score at the half was, 11 to 9, favoring the Matadors. Captain Clarence Hodges, after loafing about the court for the first eighteen minutes, shooting at the hoop from crip positions that should have resulted in a heavy score, waxed hot just before the half ended to drop through a pair of field goals and take a 2-point lead. Prior to his burst of energy the Indians had led all the way, getting off to a four-point start before the Matadors found themselves. Three field goals by Tad Tadlock constituted Tech's only scoring for the first twelve minutes of the game.

Hodges Shoots Handily

In the second half the Matadors had partially recovered from an attack of overconfidence and went into the fray in a more whole hearted manner. Captain Hodges found the basket more consistently and ran away with scoring honors with seven field goals and a pair of charity tosses. None of the other Tech players scored more than four points, Fisher managing to get in two field goals out of many tries and Dunn grabbing a field goal and two free shots for four points.

The work of Curry, McMurry center, and Baldridge, Indian forward, was outstanding. Their quick shooting, neat passing and good guarding drew applause from the crowd.

Tadlock and Dunn played consistent defensive games for Tech, Tadlock's work especially standing out.

Keller Chooses His Race For Saturday

NEW YORK, Feb. 11. (AP)—Paul Keller, French middle distance runner, has picked the 1,000 yard event at the Boston A. A. games Saturday for his second race in America. He notified Dan Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, yesterday that he would prefer the 1,000 to the Hunter mile, for which he also was entered.

Keller does not believe the injury he suffered Monday will hamper his running seriously, but both he and Sera Martin, partner in the French track invasion, bought larger running shoes yesterday.

Stove League Gossip

THE FIRST squawk over the major league schedules, the annual puzzles concocted by the league presidents, comes from Pittsburgh. The Pirates seem to think that the National league schedule doesn't do right by our Neil.

* * *

Pirate hopes suffered a blow when it was discovered that in order to play 77 games abroad the Bucs will have to spend 36 nights in Pullman berths, regarded as a terrible strain on the athletics.

* * *

Pittsburgh always has schedule trouble chiefly because the town is the only western major league outfit that cannot play Sunday baseball at home, which means a lot of Saturday and Sunday night railroad trips. However, Pittsburgh sympathizers say that the 1931 schedule contains features adding greatly to that already tough burden of trips.

On scanning their playing dates for July the Pirates saw more bad news. The club must play five games in four different cities in four consecutive days! These are: July 2 in Boston, July 3 in Brooklyn, July 4 in Pittsburgh, doubleheader, and July 5 in Cincinnati.

* * *

However, the St. Louis Cards have an even worse arrangement for the same period, playing six games in four towns in four consecutive games. The Champs' sked shows: July 2 in New York, July 3 in Philadelphia, double-header; July 4 in Pittsburgh, double-header, and July 5 in Chicago.

* * *

Another oddity of the schedule is that Cincinnad will have played all its 11 games in St. Louis by July 11—which is about the halfway mark for the season.

Young Ed Walsh Is Sent To The Minors

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—Big Ed Walsh's boy, Ed, Jr., is going to the minors.

The son of the distinguished White Sox pitching veteran and a pitcher himself was sent to the Louisville club of the American association in a deal completed yesterday whereby Mel Simons, a star outfielder, comes to the White Sox. Clarence Hoffman, White Sox outfielder, and a bundle of cash, also went to Louisville in the deal.

COUNTY CAGE FINALS SET

WOODROW, BECTON, MONROE TO FIGHT FOR TITLE

Finals in the county basketball tournament for Class B high schools of Lubbock County will be played here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Monroe, Woodrow and Becton emerged winners in their divisions here last week and will play at the Tech gymnasium to decide the Class B champion of the boys' group.

Woodrow and Becton meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the first elimination game. The winner will play Monroe Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

Girls To Play

The Lubbock High school gymnasium will be the scene of six girls' games Friday afternoon. Beginning at 4 o'clock, the following teams will play: County Line vs. Hurlwood; Monroe vs. Becton; McClung vs. Woodrow; Wolffarth vs. Acuff and Foster vs. Canyon. The girls tournament continues on Saturday at the Tech gym, the final rounds to be played Saturday night in both boys' and girls' divisions.

Winners of the sets will participate in the district tournament to be held here February 20 and 21. Teams from 20 schools are expected to enter the district play, which starts at 10 o'clock on Friday, February 20. Coaches and officials will meet at the Tech gymnasium at 9 o'clock to arrange an elimination schedule.

JOHN L. WOULD HAVE HAD PLENTY TO SAY ABOUT SUCH AN AFFAIR AS THIS

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11.—What would John L. Sullivan, whose speech was as ferocious as his looks and who pounded his way to pugilistic glory with bare fists in mid-west corn fields in defiance of law and order, say to this?

The metamorphosis of cauliflowers into wallflowers has been completed here. A boxing bout was staged last night in an open air patio exclusive to millionaires, their debutante daughters and grand dame aunts.

It was the first fight ever put on by a society club in this palmy playground and members and guests from points along Florida's golf coast sat at tables around the ring to watch Johnny Nebo of Key West, defeat Ice Merritt of Lakeworth, in ten rounds.

An orchestra played between stanzas to the accompaniment of stirring tea. "Hot dogs" were served.

HOWARD EHMKE AND JACK QUINN TO BE SEEN ON DIAMOND AGAIN DURING COMING SEASON; ROBINS GET QUINN

(By Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 11.—Two days ago "Old Jack" Picus Quinn, who dates his professional baseball pitching back to 1903, asserted he was not old—even in a game where much depends on such things as stamina.

And today he had a berth on the hurling staff of the Brooklyn Robins to prove there were others who believe as he does.

Is Nonchalant

The oldest active player in the major leagues was nonchalant as he talked of the contract offered him yesterday by the Robins. He expected some club to grab him up after being released during the winter by Connie Mack. And he came here to get in condition for the training camp grind, just as he has for several years.

"Yeah, I'll give 'em a fling for another year," the old master said and "I believe I've got enough stuff left to show 'em that I'm not through."

Quinn declined to reveal the terms of his new contract, but said it was "very acceptable." He said he would sign it as soon as it was sent to him.

BASKETBALL LAST NIGHT

At Abilene: Trinity 15; Simmons 41.

Austin: Southern Methodist 41; Texas U. 33 (extra period.)

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—Howard Ehmke, veteran righthander of the Athletics until last year, may upset the popular theory that "they never come back." Ehmke announced his retirement last May, but as a free agent is eligible to sign with any club desiring his services.

The hero of the opening World series game between the Athletics and Chicago in 1929 declared today that his arm felt "pretty good" and that he would go to Athletics' Florida camp under his own auspices, which means that he will pay the freight.

"I'm heading for Fort Myers about March 1." he said. "Down there I'll try out the arm. If it is anything like what I expect, I'll be tossing them up for Connie Mack. I believe the complete rest I gave my arm has fixed it."

Ehmke had 17 years of professional baseball and at the top of his career was a master pitcher. A few years ago he developed kinks in his pitching arm which made his appearance in the box infrequent.

"I have an agreement with Mack that if I return to the game it will be with the A's." Ehmke said. "My arm feels strong and say, I can make that new ball sing a song. Those raised seams will make it easy for any pitcher."

GOOD SUGGESTION

Eye Doctors Able To Aid Athletes Now

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Football and basketball coaches attention:

If you have a player who isn't scoring send for an eye doctor.

In addressing the Illinois State Society of Optometrists, Dr. William Irvine of Springfield told the value of good eyes to a football or basketball player with the following incident:

"A basketball coach at Illinois was worried because his two forwards weren't making baskets as well as they should. So he called in Dr. Coleman Griffith. Dr. Griffith found the right eye of the right forward was dominant and the left eye of the left forward dominant. So he recommended they be switched around. They were and their basket shooting was improved markedly."

"Many football players have been found to be suffering from the same trouble," Dr. Irvine said, "and were corrected by treatment. Red Grange was a great football player because the field of vision in each of his eyes was large."

Annual Tech Golf Tournament On At Meadowbrook Thursday

Texas Technological College students of golfing inclination are invited to participate in the school annual student tournament to be held at the Meadowbrook Golf Club this week. W. G. McMillan, owner and manager of the course, stated this morning that all students are invited and that no entrance fees will be charged.

Qualifying play starts tomorrow. Students may play a qualifying round this afternoon if possible and by tomorrow night all scores must be turned in at the club house. Eighteen holes of qualifying golf must be played, though all students will be eligible for the elimination contests regardless of qualifying scores.

Eliminations flights start Friday and continue through Saturday afternoon. Semi-finals and finals will be played Sunday for the championship and in the consolation division. Pairings will be made tomorrow night following the qualifying rounds, and will be posted in the rotunda of the administration building on the campus. Each player is to arrange a definite hour for match play with his opponent. Club officials will not attempt to set the time because of class conflicts.

McMillan announces that valuable prizes will be awarded winners and runners up in both the championship and consolation flights. Pictures of all entrants will be made Saturday or Sunday and the lowest scorers will have a space in the Tech yearbook, known as the Tech team.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY—Mickey Cohen, Denver, won newspaper decision over Tommy Grogan, Omaha (10); Hymie Wiseman, Des Moines, Ia., stopped Johnny Gardina, Denver (3).

INDIANAPOLIS — Eddie Anderson, Indianapolis, knocked out Augie Pisano, New York (3); Babe Keller, Toledo, outpointed Carl Johnson, Seattle (8).

PORTLAND, Ore.—George Manley, Denver, and Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., draw (10).

OPEN TENNIS TOURNEY IS FAVORED

WEAR THINKS GAME IS NEED OF PLAY SUCH AS GIVEN GOLF

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—Joseph W. Wear, retiring chairman of the United States Davis Cup committee, favors an open tennis championship in this country.

"The United States," Mr. Wear said today, "should have an open tennis championship, the same as golf, and it should be held under auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis association. I heartily endorse the necessity of a strong professional association, so that we can clearly define the difference between an amateur and a professional. Tennis players can then take their choice if they wish to earn money by using their net ability as a means."

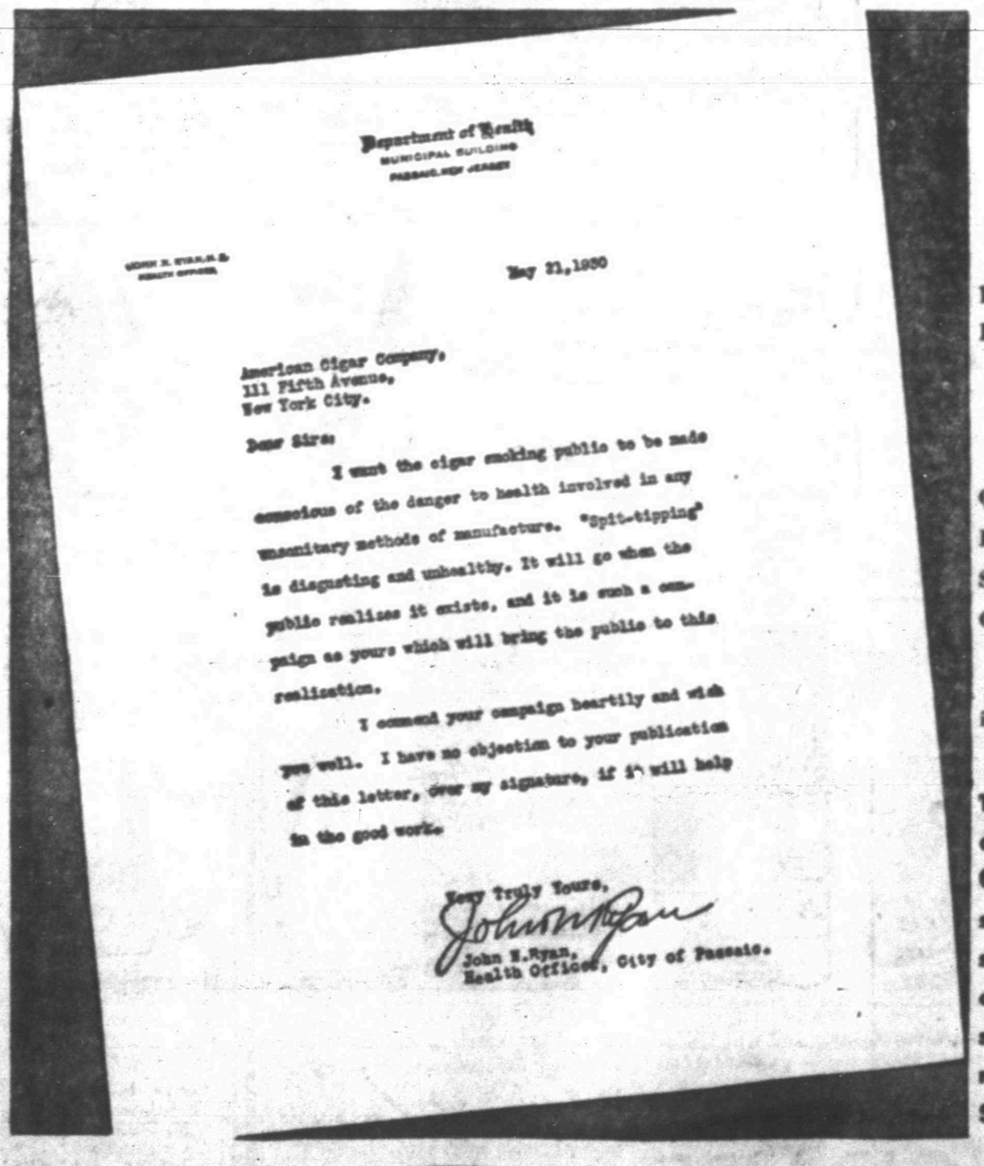

The Bishop of London now receives a salary of $30,000 a year, and four Bishops of the Church of England receive $10,000 a year.

Dear Sirs:

I want the cigar smoking public to be made conscious of the danger to health involved in any unsanitary methods of manufacture. "Spit-tipping" is disgusting and unhealthy. It will go when the public realizes it exists, and it is such a campaign as yours which will bring the public to this realization.

I commend your campaign heartily and wish you well. I have no objection to your publication of this letter, over my signature, if it will help in the good work.

Very Truly Yours,
John N. Ryan
John N. Ryan,
Health Officer, City of Passaic.

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Ryan's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Ryan writes: "'Spit-tipping' is disgusting and unhealthy."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

World War Veterans Off For Washington

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 11 (AP)—Following other Seattle World war veterans 43 ex-service men were on their way to Washington by box car today to demand cash payment for their adjusted insurance certificates. Police dispersed other veterans as they formed for an unauthorized parade yesterday. The first box car riding group arrived in Chicago yesterday.

The Bolshevic Navy now consists of four vessels, the Marat, the Paris Commune, the October Revolution and the Michael Frunte, all of which are at least 15 years old.

FOOD PROBE IS BEING HELD

BAKERS AND MILLERS ARE CALLED BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—Some of the nation's leading bakers and millers have been summoned among the first group of witnesses in the senate's investigation of food prices which opens today.

George Livingston, executive vice president of the Millers National Federation, Minneapolis, was on the list together with Sydney Anderson, vice president of General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis; Henry Stude, president of American Bakers association, Chicago; M. L. Marshall, chairman of Continental Baking company, New York, and Frederick H. Frazier, chairman of General Baking company.

In announcing the names, Chairman Capper of the agriculture sub-committee charged with the investigation, said he would seek to report to the senate before adjournment of the present session.

"If evidence of illegal combinations or price fixing should be developed by the investigation," he said, "the facts will be promptly placed before the attorney general so that the department of justice may take appropriate action.

"These hearings, which are expected to last about a week, will be directed primarily into whether the retail and wholesale prices of bread, meat and dairy products have declined in proportion to the prices paid farmers for wheat, live stock and milk or whether these prices are being artificially maintained at excessive levels, either by illegal combinations or other forms of manipulation."

NEGRO HELD FOR SHOOTING SPOUSE

Wiley Harris, negro, was still being held in the city jail today following what he described as the accidental shooting of his wife Tuesday night. The woman received wounds from a .410 guage shotgun and ends of two fingers from the right hand were shot away.

According to police, the husband surrendered voluntarily at police headquarters after the shotgun had been taken from him by employes at a cotton oil mill, to which he had gone with the gun to look for a negro man.

After receiving emergency treatment, the wounded woman, Annis May Harris, 30, was dismissed from Lubbock sanitarium. Harris accused his wife of infidelity and of attempting last Saturday to attack him with a knife. He maintained that discharge of the shotgun in his hands was accidental.

Officers stated that the shooting occurred in the Harris home in a new addition in the southeast corner of the city. The knife episode occurred when she approached him in a negro rooming house and he refused to go home with her, Harris said.

A further investigation of the affair is being made by police today.

Awed By Sudden Fame

Lyda Roberti, shown in two poses above, daughter of Roberti, the noted Polish clown, had been a circus performer since babyhood. But when she started a career on the stage, her English was so bad that directors fired her. Because her manager owned an interest in "You Said It," new musical show, she got a chance to make good. Her ability, combined with a foreign accent, have made her the new comedy sensation of Broadway. Now she can't understand why.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—After momentary hesitation at the opening, the stock market resumed its advance today, this time under leadership of the copper and utility shares. Numerous specialties were also buoyant.

Early losses of 1 to 1 1-2 in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse were quickly regained when a bullish demonstration started in the coppers. Auburn Auto, which had been down 10 1-2, made virtually full recovery and J. I. Case turned a 2 point decline into a net rise of 6. Chile Copper and Pittsburgh & West Virginia likewise rallied 4, while Columbian Carbon soared 8. Gillette and American Water Works 5, and American & Foreign Power, Jewel Tea and Goodyear 3 each.

Stocks up to 2 and 2 1-2 included American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American Power & Light, St. Joseph Lead and American Smelting. The market, which had been sluggish in the early selling, again became lively on the rally.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 9 to 14 points on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement which seemed to find additional inspiration in the firmness of Liverpool, an advance in the London silver market and reports of an increased demand for print cloths in the cloth market here yesterday.

May contracts sold up to 11.19 and October to 11.72 on the initial demand but there was enough southern selling and realizing to supply the buying at these figures and the volume of business tapered off slightly with prices showing reactions of 3 to 4 points from the best at the end of the first half hour.

The market sagged off after the early demand had been supplied, under realizing, some further southern selling and probably some selling for a pre-holiday reaction. At midday May was ruling around 11.11 and October at 11.63, or about 2 to 4 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton had an active and firm opening. Liverpool came in much higher than due and first trades showed gains of 10 to 12 points. Heavy trade buying and equally short covering developed after the start and prices gained slightly more, May advancing to 11.22 and October to 11.30, or 11 to 14 points above yesterday's close.

The market later eased off three to six points on profit-taking, but the undertone remained very firm with active business-doing.

The market continued active all morning, but prices eased off on profit-taking, May dropping to 11.08 and October to 11.60, down ten to fourteen points from the earlier highs.

Near noon, the market again rallied owing to a firm stock market, recovering four to six points.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton opened steady: Mar. 10.98; May 11.20; Jul. 11.43; Oct. 11.69; Dec. 11.88; Jan. 11.87.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton opened steady: Mar. 10.94; May 11.17; Jul. 11.42; Oct. 11.70; Dec. 11.88; Jan. 11.85.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 2 3-8 cents lower, corn 1 3-8 to 2 down, oats 3-8 to 7-8 off, and provisions varying from 33 cents decline to 10c advance.

SHORT COURSE

farmer's supper, with an expected attendance of 400 or more. Mrs. M. S. Hudson is to be toastmaster with Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham and Norman Blaney as the main speakers.

Dean Call, who as head of the agricultural school at Kansas City Agricultural College is also head of the state experiment farm at Hays City, Kan., related personal observations of his school and station in the matter of soil conservation.

"Bankers say that debts on farms accumulate during seasons of prosperity," Dean Call said in opening his talk. "They also say that it is during these adverse times that farmers dig up enough money to pay the interest and amatorization fees. During prosperity we are also inclined to forget to think about the question of soil fertility."

But Two Ways

Pointing out that there are but two ways to get "new wealth," by mining of minerals or oil and by increasing acreages and production, the speaker said that, "the soil is the primary source of new wealth. Mining and oil are only a drop in the bucket compared to agricultural increases."

Important functions of the soil are; to supply a mechanical support for the plants; to supply plant nutriments and to supply moisture.

To conserve soil is essential to insuring a permanent agriculture, he declared. Steps to be taken include; to conserve moisture supply and to take a means of stopping or preventing soil erosion.

Returning to the soil of all manure on the farm is necessary. Weeds, he pointed out, form a considerable source of supply of moisture.

Two Kinds Of Erosion

"There are two kinds of erosion, by wind and by water. Wind erosion may be stopped by the use of methods of preventing the blowing of soil. Contouring and terracing conserve the water supply."

Figures on experiments at the Spur station for experiments were given by R. E. Dickson, superintendent, in a talk on "Water Conservation and Utilization in West Texas." Mr. Dickson, known personally to many of his audience, was at the close of his talk, asked several questions by farmers.

The first eight months of 1930, he said showed 7.87 inches of rain, with 10.73 inches falling in four months, a total of 18.60 inches. "Normal rainfall is 22 inches and for the fourth consecutive year we did not have a normal rainfall in our county," he added.

Erosion on fallow land is five tons to the acre with a two percent flow; on cottor land, two tons and on milo land, one and a third tons.

"All soils don't have the ability to hold water," he pointed out. A sample of sandy land this week showed 10.8 percent water content while clay soil showed 26 percent. Wilting point for clay soil is 12 percent, he said, while in sandy soil it is from one to three percent.

Tanner Is Heard

E. L. Tanner, county agent of Dickens county, followed Mr. Dickson and discussed a county terracing program, relating his own experiences in that work. "The methods we use in terracing will determine the progress" he said, adding that the county agent was not the "hired man" of the county to run levels, but to show the farmers how to do it.

Terracing schools of two days each with practical instruction in the running of levels and machinery for terracing, is the easiest and best method of getting the work done. "First, a farmer should know how to run a level with absolute accuracy," he declared. "Second, he should know the correct placing of terraces."

In one West Texas county, surrounded by three other counties with agents, last year in four months over 100,000 acres of land were terraced, he announced.

with Palm, the Italian Croce de Guerra, and the Montenegrin Medaille pour la Bravoure Militaire.

His American citation reads:

"Sergeant Seibert of Company F, 36th Infantry, 91st Division, on Sept. 26, 1918, near Epinville, France, suffering with illness, remained with his platoon and led his men with the highest courage and leadership under heavy shell and machine-gun fire.

"With two other soldiers, he charged a machine-gun company in advance of his company, he himself killing one of the enemy with a shotgun and capturing two others.

"In this encounter he was wounded, but he nevertheless continued in action, and, when a withdrawal was ordered, he returned with the last unit, assisting a wounded comrad."

Only 90 Congressional Medals of Honor were awarded for valor during the World War. Twenty-eight awards were posthumous, so that out of approximately 60 living World War medal of honor men, Sergeant Seibert is the only one to be in the enlisted ranks of the army today. Several officers who received the award, however, are on the army rolls.

presidential campaign with a big deficit.

To Receive Reports

Raskob set out as the first purpose of the meeting "to receive reports of the splendid accomplishments secured during the past eighteen months by the fine organization in Washington built up under the able direction and leadership of Jouett Shouse, chairman of our executive committee."

The recent criticism of the Democratic chairman was voiced by Frank R. Kent, of the Baltimore Sun whose assertions Raskob in a sweeping denial summed up as: "In short, that I have bought and paid for the party."

Kent despribed him as the "first mortgage holder" of the party.

Raskob maintained he had not assumed any liabilities or debts of the committee, but that he was one of a group which endorsed the only outstanding note. He expressed confidence also that the committee would repay the loans he had made it. He also disclaimed having controlled the appointment and administration of Shouse, who has been in active charge of the party's affairs.

MRS. WALKER'S CASE UP, AUG. 31

Case of Mrs. J. Hugh Walker, of Lubbock, recently indicted for assault with intent to murder, is scheduled to be called August 31 in 100th district court at Brownfield, according to information received here today.

An operation performed on Miss Carr at Lubbock sanitarium Tuesday revealed that she still was bleeding internally. Her liver and right lung were punctured by the shot. Hospital attendants reported her "gradually improving," although her condition remained critical.

EAST AND WEST IN STRUGGLE

TULSA AND NEWARK IN FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY OF THE AIR

BY LEO RYAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP) — The new year finds the east and west struggling for air traffice supremacy of America.

Tulsa, Okla., which last year boosted the busiest airport in the United States, is finding the competition of Newark, N. J., very keen, although Newark is a newcomer in the aerial commercial field.

Newark Moves Up

Tulsa last year landed in first place among the airports of the country with a total of 178,000 passengers handled without an accident. Newark, whose airport was opened for national traffic only last autumn, has achieved the record of dispatching more than 50,000 passengers in less than four months. Officials at the aeronautical chamber of commerce, express the belief that Newark, in 1931, will take the supremacy from Tulsa.

The Washington-New York business has been a boon to Newark. Planes now leave every hour, between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. from Newark for the national capital and the trip requires less than 2 hours—three hours less than the fastest trains.

Much Money Spent

More than $20,000,000 will be spent on air terminals during 1931, the chamber reports. Last year the expenditure was $35,000,000. The terminal investment represents a major share of the total air traffic investment in the country. There are 1,655 airports in the nation, 730 of which have the ranking of air terminals.

Last year air transportation carried more than 5,000,000 passengers. Of these, 1,475,348 were regular passengers from air terminals and 3,779,999 were taken on chartered flights or short pleasure hops. The total cost of maintaining the air terminals was $7,669,570. Nearly 30,000 acres were added to the existing airport area last year. A total of 4,961,950 landings were made at the terminals, 25,577 landings for every accident.

Lighted 3,321 Miles

The United States department of commerce last year lighted 3,321 miles of airways, installing 318 standard revolving lights for the guidance of pilots after dark. Telegraph-typewriter service was installed on 3,650 miles of airways in 1930. This apparatus collects weather information for planes in flight, day and night.

This year it is planned to light 3,000 more miles of airways, to put in 2,800 more miles of telegraph-typewriter circuits and to set up 90 new radio communication stations.

Municipalities and private corporations are planning 1,053 new airports this year.

TAXES PAID IN SPITE OF BILL

COLLECTIONS COMING IN ARE ABOUT AS USUAL IN TEXAS

(By Associated Press)

The Texas legislature's split tax-payment arrangement, devised as a means of succoring property owners who were pinched for cash on account of the general depression, apparently was not generally embraced as a means of relief; a survey has determined. Whether the claim that a dearth of ready money for payment of taxes existed was exaggerated—generally speaking—or property owners were able to borrow at a more advantageous rate of interest than the 10 per cent the state would charge on past-due balance, tax collectors could not say.

Compilations made by tax collectors in larger counties showed that taxes unpaid after January 31 were not greater than normally, and indicated few "takers" of the state's proposition to carry taxpayers until October 15 (new delinquent date) at 10 per cent interest, after which a penalty of five per cent would obtain and the rate of interest taper to six per cent. Under the old arrangement all taxes delinquent on February 1 were subject to a penalty of 10 per cent.

Paid Before Bill Passed

Most collectors said that a large percentage of the taxes had been paid before the emergency bill was passed by the legislature.

Tarrant county reported that the new law had no efect on tax payments there. Dallas county officials said not more than 15 taxpayers asked the privilege of participating in the split-payment extended-time-limit arrangement. Harris county reported that officials there were unable to estimate the extent of participation in the new plan before March 1. Taylor county, in West Texas, a section where the drouth was severest, noted no appreciable falling off of payments. Galveston county officials said no one there had taken advantage of the new law and no difference in collections was noted. Nueces county's payments were normal.

THOUSANDS OF RUSSIAN WOMEN ARE TO TAKE JOBS IN SOVIET'S PLAN TO SOLVE LABOR SHORTAGE IN COUNTRY

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Feb. 11—Hundreds of thousands of Russian women, who during 1930 played an increased role in the socialization of Soviet Russia, are to be enlisted as workers in a further effort to solve the union's serious labor shortage.

With thousands of jobs open and no takers, the government is completing plans to fill vacancies with women, providing nursery facilities for children who will be brought up under the care of the state.

To Open Nurseries

Measures listed include opening of a great number of new nurseries extension of the network of social dining rooms, construction of laundries and other enterprises which will free women from domestic work.

An estimate is made of 170,000 children to be cared for during 1931 as against 70,000 in 1930. The budget for the purpose has been increased from 27,000,000 roubles (about $12,500,000) last year to 83,000,000 roubles (about $41,000,000) this year.

An official report says that 300,000 women are members of trade unions and that "conditions make them economically equal to men."

SAN FRANCISCO ARTIST IS PAINTING AND DRAWING HIS WAY TO FAME ATOP TELEGRAPH HILL; WORKS ARE PRAISED

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11—In a little studio atop Telegraph Hill, overlooking San Francisco and the bay, Otis Oldfield is drawing and painting his way to fame.

From this emcence, called by some the Montmortre of Savn Francisco, Oldfield peers through his binoculars at children at play and ships at sea and sets down his impressions on paper and canvas. And up the steep hillside trudge lovers of art to see his works.

Among those who recently toiled up this famous hill, which got its name from the days when information was wigwagged from its summit between land and ships at sea, was Walt Kuhn of New York, noted artist and connoiseur.

Amazed At Exhibit

He was amazed at what he beheld in the house of Oldfield and returned to New York with three separate exhibits of Oldfield's works which are now on display there. Another exhibit is on display in Chicago.

Ships, old and graceful ones with great spreads of canvas, are Oldfield's favorite subjects. And then come people. Irresistible, says the artist, are combinations of the two. "Landscapes?" he was asked. He dismissed it with a shrug for he has no use for them.

To Study Fishermen

In the three-masted schooner Louise, Oldfield is going to Alaska in March for a three months study of Norwegian cod fishermen toiling with the nets. Then he will return to his studio and portray on canvas something that has eluded him for years—the spirit of men of the sea at their catch.

Oldfield's career has been a checkered one. He was born in Sacramento, Calif., in 1890. His father, William D. Oldfield was a car and sign painter for a railroad. His mother was an artist of sorts. A painting by her just before his birth is one of his most treasured possessions.

Was Tramp Printer

In youth Oldfield was tramp printer, bell boy and roustabout over the west. One new year's eve at the Cliff House here he had the check room concession. After the party he scraped up $200 in small change the joyful guests had scattered around with the confetti. He took the money the next day and started to Paris to study art. He remained in France fifteen years, learned the language as well as his own and learned to paint.

Coming back to San Francisco in 1925 Oldfield yielded to the longing to see the old steamboats and the free, happy life of San Francisco Bay. Most of the artists had deserted the old hill colony. But Oldfield's persistence is bringing them back and Bohemianism is taking a new lease on life.

By teaching in an art school here Oldfield pays expenses. That is all he asks. He admits he doesn't know how much to charge for a picture. He wants to be free—free to paint and draw ships, children, men and now and then a Telegraph Hill flapper and he believes recognition will come along.

ST. MARKS HARBOR IS OPEN AGAIN FOR FIRST TIME SINCE CIVIL WAR

(By The Associated Press)

ST. MARKS, Fla., Feb. 11—For the the first time since the Civil war, the harbor here is open for navigation.

In July, 1863, two Union vessels shelled the Southern troops here, burned the light house, destroyed several buildings and carried away three prisoners.

But just as the U. S. S. Stars and Stripes with acting Master Charles L. Wilcomb in command and the U. S. S. Somerset with Lieutenant Commander A. F. Crossman in command, were ready to move up the channel to surprise the fort, capture the garrison and spike the guns, the Confederates, under cover of night, sank a barge loaded with 100 tons of stone in the middle of the channel.

Could Not Pass

A vessel drawing more than four feet of water could not pass even at high tide.

The Confederate steamer Spray and other shipping in the harbor were saved, and the Federals were prevented from moving on to Newport where there was a precious foundry and machine-shop, and to Tallahasse, state capitol, 30 miles away.

But the harbor was sealed more perfectly than her defenders suspected. The stone obstruction was not removed. And when the yellow fever visited the place in 1885 the population of St. Marks was all but wiped out.

Stone Disappeared

Several weeks ago, when the dredge Muskogee began work to clear the channel, it was expected by Harrison P. Merrill, federal resident engineer, that considerable difficulty would be found in lifting the rock dropped there in 1863. But the stone had disappeared in the muddy bottom, and not a trace was found of the rotted wooden hulk of the barge.

The channel now is clear for vessels of 12-foot draft. The harbor offers a haven for coastwise shipping playing between Apalachicola and Tampa.

Vienna, Austria, has nearly 100 talkie theatres.
