

CHIHUAHUA BOTTLED UP BY INSURRECTO FORCES

THE CITY FACES FAMINE AND WOMEN AND CHILDREN ARE LEAVING FOR HILLS.

SITUATION SEEMS SERIOUS

Renewed Activity on the Part of Rebels in Obstructing Railway Traffic.

By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, March 13.—Chihuahua City is reported bottled up by the insurrectos and is facing a famine and hundreds of women and children have fled into the hills.

Stirred by the belief that the revolutionary movement has reached a critical stage, the insurrectos in the States of Chihuahua and Sonora are reported to have resumed activity in tearing up railroads and telegraph wires.

Following the receipt of corrected details concerning the battle of Casas Grandes, a town of perhaps 500 people, about 150 miles southwest of El Paso, where eighty men were killed last Monday, news reached here of a fight at noon today at Arim Prieta, on the border across the river from Douglas, Arizona.

Five hundred insurrectos attacked 300 Federal troops, but were repulsed with a total of thirty-five dead and wounded on both sides. The fighting was short and the insurrectos, armed only with rifles, soon scattered under the fire of a machine gun.

A letter written by Madero, was received yesterday in which he denied he made another attack on the town after he was driven away. He asserts, however, that he has gathered a force of 1,000 men and is now within a few miles of the town.

His explanation of the defeat in that several scouts sent out before the attack failed to report the coming of Col. Cuellar with a Federal force. The unexpected arrival of the Federal resulted in a panic among the insurrectos. The scouts, he said, had been shot.

The news from the City of Mexico that President Diaz has decided to take advantage of provisions of the Constitution so that summary death may be imposed by the military authorities for acts of violence and that the Mexican Government has decided to wage a sharp and decisive war of extermination to speedily end hostilities has spread throughout the insurrecto ranks.

Wichita Falls got a good glimpse of Uncle Sam's soldiers Sunday. The special train carrying artillery, cavalry and infantry from Fort Russell, Wyoming to San Antonio, passed through the city yesterday and made stops of fifteen or twenty minutes. The soldiers improved the opportunity to get off the cars and stretch their legs and incidentally contribute cash to the confectionary shops and restaurants.

one restaurant alone furnished 47 gallons of Mocha for them. The first train passed through at 12:40 o'clock in the afternoon, the second train at 5:25 and the third at 8:30 p. m. PRESIDENT DIAZ HAS HIS PLANS

"BUT SINCE THEY ARE MILITARY, CAN'T DISCLOSE THEM EXCEPT AS EXECUTED."

HIS HEALTH SEEMS GOOD

Step is Firm, Walks with an Erect Military Bearing and His Voice is Strong and Deep.

City of Mexico, March 13.—Gen. Diaz, without doubt the busiest man in Mexico, took time from his duties yesterday to see a representative of the Associated Press and to reply to a number of specific queries touching upon the revolutionary situation.

He had just concluded a conference with his Minister of War. A dozen persons were still waiting to consult him on one matter or another and many more would come before the day's work was over.

He was not the sick man that in some quarters he has been made to appear. His step was firm. He walked with an erect, military bearing, which is a striking characteristic of the Executive. When he spoke his voice was strong and deep.

Lieut. Col. Porfirio Diaz, Jr., chief of the Presidential staff, was present at the interview, which occurred in a room adjoining the Executive office proper, in the National palace.

Gen. Diaz wore a black business suit, which accentuated the whiteness of his hair and mustache. In appearance he was stern and he had an air of aggressiveness, but the lines of his face stamped him as a man of determined character softened in an amused smile when one of the objects of the visit—a desire to refute stories of his illness—was mentioned.

"Some persons in the United States are persistently trying to make it appear that you are not in good health and that that fact menaces the stability of the Mexican Nation," it was suggested.

"Fifty years ago," he said, motioning his caller to a seat beside a small table and seating himself opposite, "I can remember having had typhoid fever. Since then I have passed no time on beds of sickness."

"Why," he said, seemingly pleased at the recollection of scenes that rose before his vision, "when I was in the field, leading my armies, there were months at a time during which I slept under the open sky. I never was ill. If, then, I could endure such hardships and keep my health, why should I not be able to keep it now, when I can take proper care of it?"

"I pass my days in my office," he continued seriously, "and frequently I am busy until midnight. Is that the part of a sick man? I have not been in better health in many years than at the present moment."

"Do you consider that the presence of the American troops in Texas threatens in any degree to impair the friendly relations between the two countries?" he was asked.

In reply the President said he had no right to and would not question the assurance given him personally by President Taft in that regard.

"Are conditions in Chihuahua any worse than they were, say two months ago?"

"Conditions there are improving," he replied. "They are more favorable today than they have been for many weeks."

"The operations in progress in Chihuahua," with another of those smiles which appear to lurk just beneath the stern exterior, "do not constitute warfare but hunting, making use of the English word."

"Are more vigorous repressive measures in contemplation?" he was asked.

The completion of a warrior-President became stern again.

"I have my plans," he said, "and I have faith in their results, but since they are military plans I can not disclose them except as they are executed."

"It is reported that the Government is about to suspend the personal guarantees," was suggested. "Is it true?"

"There are extraordinary infirmities which can not be cured with ordinary remedies, and anarchy is an extraordinary social infirmity."

"In further explanation of the necessity for the measure proposed," Gen. Diaz said, "many years ago the theft of railway spikes was frequent, putting in grave danger the passengers. The law of the suspension of guarantees was applied and the crimes soon ceased."

In no part of the trouble, however, was there danger to foreigners, he said, nor had Mexico made representations at any time that she was not able to control the situation.

The regular meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce is expected to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

CLEAN-UP WORK IS IN PROGRESS

MEN AND TEAMS HAVE BEEN BUSY TODAY THROUGHOUT CITY.

GENERAL INTEREST TAKEN

Older People Have Taken Up Work Where Left Off by Children Saturday.

With the good start made Saturday by the school children, effective work is being done by the grown-ups today in cleaning up the city. A number of business houses closed this morning to allow the proprietors and employees to join in the clean-up work and before noon great piles of dirt and trash were piled up in all streets.

Fifteen teams and wagons including five furnished by the city, are hauling away the dirt. It is improbable that all the dirt can be hauled away today and the city teams may be kept on the job several days.

Following the clean-up it is understood that the sanitary inspector will make an inspection of every lot in the city and will file complaints against all property owners or occupants of property upon which he discovers violations of the city sanitary ordinances.

RAYBURN ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESSMAN

Speaker of Texas House Wants to Succeed Randall, Who Seeks Senatorship.

Austin, Texas, March 13.—Most of the members of the legislature have hiked for home, and the few who remained over likewise remained in bed until late yesterday, catching up on sleep. These few foregathered in the legislative chambers, viewing the report of unpassed bills, journals, discarded stationery and what not which conceals the carpets. They were too enraptured to thrill much. But in a mild way they discussed what might have been and also what may be, also the announcement of Congressman Randall that he would be a candidate for the United States Senate, the prohibition campaign, the special session to be and the Governor's movement against clubs.

As Mr. Randall was the first to announce as a candidate for the Senatorial seat now supposed to be held by Joseph W. Bailey, so Hon. Sam T. Rayburn, Speaker of the Texas House, was the first to announce as a candidate for the seat in the lower house of the National Congress, now held by Mr. Randall. This announcement Mr. Rayburn made yesterday.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Rayburn probably would be a candidate for Congress, but in what district it could not be said, for it was not known, until Congress failed to fix the basis of apportionment, to which district Mr. Rayburn's home county (Fannin) would be assigned. Unless Congress should act in this matter before the legislature is called back here in August, Mr. Rayburn will be in the Fourth District and both has made his announcement accordingly.

Yesterday Representative Marvin H. Brown in presenting to Speaker Rayburn for the pages, a suit case, the hope was expressed that Mr. Rayburn would get to travel with it to Washington, and later, when Representative A. M. Kennedy presented for the members of the House, a fine gold watch to the Speaker, he, too, expressed the hope and belief that Mr. Rayburn would be sent to Washington.

At some time in the future Mr. Rayburn will issue a formal announcement outlining his views upon matters of government. Yesterday he simply authorized the statement that he will be a candidate. From many of the legislators still in the city, Mr. Rayburn today received assurances of pleasure because of the announcement.

While Mr. Randall in his announcement for the United States Senate made no reference to Senator Bailey, it is generally understood of course that he is putting himself against Senator Bailey, and therefore his candidacy is to be classed as "anti-Bailey."

It has been understood for some time that Mr. Randall might be a candidate but his early announcement of the fact came as a surprise to both the Bailey and anti-Bailey men, and opinions differ concerning it.

GALVESTON RESORT SCENE OF RIOTING

ARTILLERYMAN IS SHOT; ANOTHER REGULAR CHARGED WITH STABBING OFFICER.

RACE RIOT RESULTS

Match is Applied to House, Fire Department Lines Are Cut by Rioters—All Police Called Out.

Galveston, Texas, March 13.—A race riot was precipitated early Sunday by the stabbing of Winfield Joel, a soldier from the camp at Fort Crockett, by an unknown negro in the "red light" district of Galveston. One Mexican and four negroes were severely beaten and the house in front of which the stabbing occurred, was set on fire and burned to the ground. The entire police force of the city was called out to quell the disturbance.

Joel, who is a member of the 144th company of coast artillery stationed at Fort Monroe, Charleston, N. C., lies in Sealy Hospital seriously wounded with a deep knife wound in his chest just above the heart. He probably will recover.

The policeman, patrolling the beach was stabbed in the back by another soldier during the melee immediately following the wounding of Joel.

An individual remark made by Joel's companions about the color of the occupants of the house where the trouble occurred is supposed to have caused the attack upon the soldier. Joel was about to open the door of the place, it is said, when some one loaded out of an adjacent window and stabbed him. He fell into a gutter unconscious and immediately a great crowd gathered, composed of soldiers and civilians of both colors. The soldiers and white civilians attacked every negro in sight and set fire to the house. The solitary policeman who appeared and attempted to restore order likewise was set upon and wounded. Realizing his inability to cope with the situation single handed, the officer sent in a riot call and in a short time every available policeman in Galveston was on the scene.

The fire department had great difficulty in fighting the fire on account of the crowd. In the meantime another fire in the vicinity also was set on fire but the firemen were able to extinguish the blaze without much difficulty.

Several lines of hose which were being played upon the fire were cut by the mob and the fire fighters had to abandon the house to the flames and content themselves with saving the buildings adjoining.

Order finally was restored and the soldier who is supposed to have stabbed the policeman arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill. His name is Alfred Burkhalter, a private in the Fifteenth company from Fort Baranca, Florida.

Colonel Bailey, who is in command of the provisional regiment to which the soldiers are attached, is investigating the affair and a court martial probably will be ordered.

Elenora Clemens and Carrie Hutchinson, both colored who were inmates of the house, were arrested tonight charged with assault with intent to kill Joel. They were held without bail.

To prevent a recurrence of anything like tonight's rioting, Provisional Guards have been placed in the city while the soldiers are here. Winfield Joel, the soldier stabbed, is improving today but is not out of danger. Another soldier is held by the police charged with assaulting a patrolman.

Brig. Gen. Mills, who is now converting the coast artillerymen here into an infantry, regrets that there are not sufficient infantrymen in the regular army to make the drain on coast artillery unnecessary.

DECISION WAS UNANIMOUS AND DECLARES TAX CONSTITUTIONAL

FOUGHT THROUGH COURTS

Case Was Started by Woman and Has Been Contested with Energy.

By Associated Press. Washington, March 13.—The United States Supreme Court has declared the Corporation Tax law to be constitutional. The opinion of the court was a unanimous one, in which it is held that the tax is an excise tax on doing business.

The fight against the constitutionality of the corporation tax began almost immediately after the enactment of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909, of which it is a part. During the long days of wrangling in Congress over that measure, President Taft originated a plan to raise part of the revenue necessary for the running of the government by imposing a corporation tax. He is said to have made the first rough draft of the proposed law and to have asked the Department of Justice to perfect it.

Scarcely fifteen years before, the Supreme Court of the United States had declared unconstitutional the income tax measure enacted by Congress. In order to have a valid tax, the errors of that law had to be avoided. Finally the attention of members of the House and Senate was called to the proposed corporation tax as a constitutional measure. It was argued as preferable to another income tax, it was argued, probably would be declared unconstitutional and as under the circumstances better legislation than an inheritance tax. When the tariff bill was the Senate, the corporation tax provisions were inserted as an amendment to the Payne bill passed by the House. They remained there and became a part of the tariff act.

The provisions of the law stated that the tax was a "special excise tax with respect to the carrying on or doing business." It was to be paid by "every corporation, joint stock company or association, organized for profit and having a capital stock represented by shares, and every insurance company, organized under the laws of the United States or of any state or territory. It was provided that the tax should be "equivalent to one per centum upon the entire net income over and above $5,000 received from all sources," exclusive of the amounts received as dividends upon stock of other corporations, joint stock companies, or associations, or insurance companies, subject to the tax.

The law provided also that returns should be made by those taxed to the Treasury Department, to be used as a basis for assessing the tax. These were open to inspection, but in 1910 Congress enacted legislation providing that the returns should be open to inspection only upon rules and regulations approved by the President.

The first action in the courts to test the constitutionality of the law was begun in the United States Circuit Court for the District of Vermont. A woman began it. Stella P. Flint, guardian of the property of Samuel N. Stone, Jr., a stockholder in the Stone Tracy Company, of Windsor, Vt., began an action to have the tax law restrained from paying the tax. She claimed that the tax was unconstitutional. Her attorney, Maxwell Everts brought the case to the Supreme Court, after the circuit court had declined to hold the tax unconstitutional.

When the Stone Tracy case came up for argument before the Supreme Court in March 1910, fourteen other cases likewise raising the validity of the law and decisions likewise sustaining the constitutionality of the tax, had reached the court. They were advanced and heard with the original case. Because presumably of vacancies on the bench, the cases were restored to the docket for reargument. This reargument occurred in January 1911.

The constitutionality of the tax was attacked from all the points from which any tax possible of enactment by Congress could be attacked. Prominent among the objections to the law was the argument that the tax was a "special excise tax with respect to the carrying on or doing business." It was to be paid by "every corporation, joint stock company or association, organized for profit and having a capital stock represented by shares, and every insurance company, organized under the laws of the United States or of any state or territory. It was provided that the tax should be "equivalent to one per centum upon the entire net income over and above $5,000 received from all sources," exclusive of the amounts received as dividends upon stock of other corporations, joint stock companies, or associations, or insurance companies, subject to the tax.

The law provided also that returns should be made by those taxed to the Treasury Department, to be used as a basis for assessing the tax. These were open to inspection, but in 1910 Congress enacted legislation providing that the returns should be open to inspection only upon rules and regulations approved by the President.

THE MAXWELL HARDWARE COMPANY

DIAMOND EDGE IS A QUALITY PLEDGE

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW IN SOUTH

QUESTION DISCUSSED BEFORE SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL CONGRESS BY DICKINSON.

RACE PROBLEM INVOLVED

Suggests Voluntary Removal of Young Negroes to a Country of Their Own.

By Associated Press. Atlanta, Ga., March 13.—The commercial development of the South can follow only on the suppression of mob violence, in the opinion of James M. Dickinson, declared that because of frequent lawless outbreaks an unjustifiable prejudice against the Southern States existed not only in the North but in foreign countries. Such outbreaks, he declared were the result of abnormal conditions produced by the Civil War. Broadly viewed, however, he said the South would be found to be a land of law and order, and he emphatically urged the immediate necessity of establishing a reverence for and an impartial enforcement of the law as a primary step to the future greatness of the South.

As an "idealistic solution" of the race problem in the South, Mr. Dickinson suggested the possibility of the voluntary removal of the mass of young negroes to a country of their own, fostered and guarded by the United States.

"When they grow in wealth and education," said Mr. Dickinson, "and still find themselves confined in their aspirations by insurmountable barriers which bar their social and political progress and deny them the opportunities of citizenship open to all others, an ambition to free themselves from such conditions may, if sustained by a liberal governmental policy, lead to such a movement."

Secretary Dickinson called attention at the outset of his address to the fact that a parallel to his subject, "The Enforcement of Law in the South," hardly would find a place at a commercial congress in the North, or in Great Britain, but declared that "every informed person knows that the South through a widespread though not general lawlessness and the non-enforcement of law, is suffering injury—direct, at home and indirect, on account of its reputation abroad."

"Progress and the protection of persons and property under the law," said Mr. Dickinson, "are correlative terms. There can be no general and steady economic development where there is a general non-enforcement of the law. The tremendous and steady strides being made generally in the South for successive decades, in education, commerce, manufactures, mines, bank capital, railroad, agriculture, indeed in all that indicates steady progress, demonstrate that the people of the South taken generally, are peaceable and law-abiding. The great accumulation of property by the negroes, the most helpless politically and socially of all her people, so widely heralded as evidence of the industry, thrift and progress of the race, shows a general stable security under the law. Therefore, we may confidently proclaim this exponent of the general fact that the South is a land of law and order. And this we must be diligent to do, for the South has suffered, is suffering and for a long time until prejudice is removed, will suffer from a general reputation partly just in its origin, but largely unjust, and acquired under normal conditions.

"These conditions were produced by war. The demoralization from all wars is great: that of a civil war is the greatest. Civil war of long duration, fought in the country of the party suffering defeat, always brings an ill-omened shadow over the future. This followed not only by the freeing of servile millions of a different race, many hardly emerged from and all with an atavistic tendency to barbarism, but their elevation for political citizenship exploited by partisan hatred for lawless gain and revenge, and the degradation of the former master from the place of peer or to that of helpless and insulted observer of his own spoliation, and all enacted under a military rule supplanting the civil courts, incited the body politic with so much of evil as to make regeneration almost hopeless, such a condition would be fatal to any but a strong and sound people.

"It is no wonder that a state of lawlessness prevailed and that it projected its baleful influences far into the future. The wonder is that law could so soon be enthroned, and that out of such a chaos the foundations for peace and prosperity could in so short a time be re-established.

"Turning to the subject of crime, Mr. Dickinson declared that the war brought many changes and that attacks on white women by negroes had done more to evoke lawlessness in the South than all other causes combined.

"There would have been without this, for a long time," continued Mr. Dickinson, "much personal violence growing out of the hot temper of the people and the development of their fighting proclivities. But this would have subsided with greater rapidity than it has done if that one crime as a breeder of crime had not afflicted us. I say a breeder of crime, for there is no such breeder for the propagation of crime as a mob. If our people would only appreciate this, they would not be deterred by the horror and passion aroused in them, against the punishment of this, the worst of crimes, but that is wrong. The worst of crimes is a mob. It does not mean so far as the victim is concerned. I have no pity for him. It is the crime against society. In avenging one great wrong it makes a mass of criminals. The effect does not end with that one act. It is a virus of lawlessness that inevitably in greater or less degree infects the nature of all who participate.

"If mobs stopped the recurrence of any particular crime, we might for such a consummation contemplate the

Carl Morris' Manager

Seapola, Okla., March 13.—Lock the doors and close the blinds, there's a live one in the house! Meaning that F. B. Ufer, ex-plainman, miner and oil man, has bored into the fighting game, by paying W. F. Stone $25,000 for his contract with Carl Morris, a hereafter, will be director general of Oklahoma's original "white man's hope."

Ufer isn't as green as his purchase might signify to the sport followers. He wrestled a fortune from the earth in minerals and oil and although as free-hearted as the typical westerner is apt to be, he is not to be picked as a "come-on."

He went into the business of managing a fighter with both eyes open. He is willing to spend most of his fortune to make Morris a champion, but he isn't buying any yellow plated bricks, thank you.

Ufer once saw Morris climb down from his engine, when "the hope" was fingering a throttle on the Frisco rail-way, and clean up four tough negroes in a jiffy. Then and there he told Morris that if he ever decided to go into the fighting game he'd "come through with the glue." He made good now by investing $25,000 in the big fellow.

Ufer will equip a gymnasium for Morris. He says he will get the best men he can get to handle his man and send him along the heavyweight line, and he has had experience enough to make a challenge to Johnson something more than a joke. He tried to get Joe Choynski, but Joe is booked up to a vaudeville contract. He wanted Bob Armstrong, but Bob is in Europe with Tommy Langford. He may get Tommy Brown.

Ufer has employed a meteoric career. He has jumped from obscurity to a sport page feature. He is an ideal specimen of manhood, the result of clean living, and green as he is, he has shown he has a head, as well as hands and feet, in the ring.

F. B. Ufer is a typical man of the Southwest. A man who has thrown his luck with the miner and sought yellow metal in many diggings; a searcher for oil out of which he cleaned up a cool half million. Recently Ufer disposed of a small portion of his oil fields for a quarter of a million, and he has so much good territory left that he won't miss the parcel he sold.

Always a lover of clean sport, Ufer has never before had time to become actively interested. In appearance he doesn't look as big as he is, but from his square jaw to his shoes he carries 200 pounds of nervous activity. He lives well, dresses well and spends his money freely. He is a weakling in for the level and he wears a fortune in them.

Plans are under way for a carnival of the victim and even contended against the body politic on account of the moral lesson to the actors, and the evil consequences that certainly follow. But the remedy has been tried too often without effect for any one to believe that mobocracy will stop crime. If the courts work badly anywhere it is possible to reform them. It is impossible for the courts to be any more than a mere instrument of the law. If the courts are inadequate, it is our fault. There never was a time in any Southern State in the last thirty years that a negro could not be speedily and adequately punished for any offense, for the white people controlled absolutely the administration of the law. It does not help us to point out race prejudice and acts of violence to be done in the North. No respectable public sentiment justifies such violence there. If the communities there suffer on account of it, we are not thereby helped. If it is a good thing for us to have mob law, then by all means encourage, amplify and perpetuate it. Make it a recognized institution, regulate its functions by referendum or some other device to take the sense of the people in its administration. If it hurts us, then do not sustain it by pointing to the bad example of others, thus indirectly defending it.

"In my judgment, conditions have improved and are steadily improving, partly on account of our general progress and a more pronounced and vigorous condemnation from men and papers of influence and character who appreciate the magnitude of the evil, and partly because the more enlightened negroes have taken a wiser and more determined attitude toward the lawless of their own race.

"The only question is one question of law and order which differentiates the South from the other States, and that arises from having so many millions of two races so distinct in every way and especially in provisions condition, living together with the practically the same political and civil rights, and this will always involve necessary friction and grave possibilities. I formerly thought that there is no possible solution of the negro question, but I have come to believe that there is a solution in the far future by the voluntary removal of the mass of the younger members of the race to a desirable country provided by the United States, where they can live under favorable conditions, establish a society and government of their own, affording all the possibilities of citizenship. This can never be without the co-operation of the entire country and without the keen desire of the negroes themselves.

"But the time has not come to seriously consider it. Neither they nor the labor conditions of the South are ready. If it ever comes with force it will be from the negroes themselves. But whether or not it shall ever come, I am and always have been for giving the negro the same protection for persons and property under the law that we give the white man.

"If this occasion is not going to spend itself in speeches, resolutions and glorious prophecies, if it is going to be followed up by earnest and effective action, then make as a prominent feature of the propaganda you are going to urge upon the attention of the Southern people the necessity for establishing as a foundation of this plan a reverence for and an impartial enforcement of the law."

THE ARDMORE TEAM IS GETTING BUSY

The following to Gainesville parties from the manager of the Ardmore Baseball team a member of the Class D league with Wichita Falls, would indicate that that city is going to be in the game good and strong:

"I will be down Monday to start things going. I had a letter from Ed Hardy at Waco, and he wants to furnish me with about six good men. I guess I will go down and look them over next week, and while I am down there I will try to arrange a game with the White Sox.

"Ardmore is getting along fine. The subscription up to date is about eleven hundred dollars. You may expect me Monday."

Yours very truly,

MORRIS WANTS A CRACK AT MORRIS

New England Champion Would Meet Oklahoma's Premier Pugilist In the Ring.

Special to The Times.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 13.—A letter and photos have been received from Andy Morris, champion heavyweight of New England, who declares he believes he can defeat Carl Morris if the latter would agree to meet him inside the ropes.

Andy has been fighting for several years, although he is but 23 years of age. As he stands but 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighs 185 pounds, he is built admirably for a pugilist, and the record he incloses, those things considered is not to be wondered at.

Andy has met and defeated 150 opponents during his career, winning the middleweight and heavyweight championship of New England while weighing 159 pounds.

Among his recent victims are: Joe Thomas, whom he defeated in six rounds; Purky Flynn, with whom he fought a twelve-round draw in Fall River; Al Kubiak, defeated in twelve rounds at Providence and later in six rounds at Boston; Jack Fitzgerald, who lasted twelve rounds but lost the decision; Jack Twin Sullivan, who secured a draw at the end of ten rounds; Jeff Maden (who whipped Cos. G. Keating, one of the aspiring "hopes") he knocked out in four rounds at Boston; Bill McKinnon, with whom he fought a ten-round draw in Sydney; Joe Hollis, who he knocked out in three rounds at Lawrence.

Morris won the amateur championship of New England in 1908 at the present time is sparring partner of Sandy Ferguson.

As Others View It

"Bloweth Where He Listeth." Senator Chancy M. Depew says that all members of congress "follow the bell weather" in their opinions and votes.

May Need It, Next Session. What bites Ballinger, now is that he didn't grab off another vindication while the vindicating was easy.

Can't They Cut out Some Ads? Now that Mr. Lorimer has been acquitted, the muckrakers will need free white paper more than ever.

Enough to Make Angela Weep. Naturally, Senator Tillman went when Mr. Lorimer was officially handed his plated halo.

Lands Like Thousand Brick. President Taft's big stick is always used with good judgment.

This is Why He Drank. J. Ham Lewis of Chicago, the most beautiful Spanish war veteran on earth, says that Socrates also had pink whiskers.

Never Used to Bother Him. Roosevelt on a recent occasion remarked: "I am sorry I have nothing to say," but we can't see why a mere detail like that deterred him from making a column of it.

The Date For Fool Jokes. An "extra session" of congress will give Champ Clark a chance to repeat his Canadian annexation speech on April—Denver Republican.

Tough On the Rest of 'em. Senator Lorimer admits that he is about the squarest, most honest and popular statesman in public life today.

Add Sporting Editor to Record. In the reconstruction of the interior of the house of representatives it might be well to provide a prize ring.

Went to Foreign Missions. If that money was not used for Lorimer what was it used for? Illinois had better tell the country.

The Kaiser and a Few Others. The Kaiser appears conspicuously again in the census returns showing that there are 64,596,881 people in Germany.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS FAVOR CORPORATION TAX

tax was a direct tax, not apportioned, according to the constitution. Some dubbed the tax "a corporation income tax" and invalid for the same reason that the Income Tax was declared unconstitutional in 1895.

After the argument of the fifteen cases, the court took up three other cases involving the tax. In these the principal controversy was over the interpretation of the law.

THE "HEATHEN CHINEE."

And the Cards Bret Harte Wrote Into His Flowing Sleeves.

Every one who knows American poetry is familiar with Bret Harte's "Heathen Chinee," written in the early seventies at the time when the feeling on the Pacific coast ran high against the mild eyed Celestial and voicing that feeling by portraying the hero, if such a term may be applied to Ah Sin, as a crafty card cheating Chinaman who swindles the sharps of the California mining camps.

It is not generally known, however, that the poem, so unique in that it contains an error which the author failed to detect when reading the galley proofs and which survived and still survives all attempts at correction. Perhaps it is the only instance in literature where a grossly stupid error in the copy reading of an afterward famous article, whether prose or poem, has persisted through numerous editions despite all efforts of author and editor to kill it.

In his sleeves, which were long, there were twenty-four jacks, which were long, yet I state but the facts. In this form the busy Bret Harte let the proofs go down to the printer, and it was not until some time later that he recalled having overlooked an error in it.

What Bret Harte wrote was: In his sleeves, which were long, he had twenty-four jacks. Now, in the game of euchre, as all card players know, the jacks are of great value, and the stuffing of numberless jacks up his flowing sleeves, as the poet intended to do, showed great astuteness on the part of Ah Sin. The uncorrected error of the compositor who set up "jacks" instead of "jacks," still left enough of sense to pass muster when embodied between the contents.

Mule Riding in Portugal. In odd contrast to the modern rush and bang of the automobile and the clang of the trolley cars are the solos or small fairs of Portugal, who ride nonchalantly through the twentieth century hubbub on the back of the extreme back of small patient eyed mules. Though the country has progressed toward prosperity, they have consistently refused to move farther forward on the mule's back in Portugal than the last fifth of his anatomy. Perhaps the custom arose from the time when the mule carried a large load just before the rider and the habit has not been broken.

The Mystic Seven. The Rosses Islanders in New Guinea hold the number 7 in great awe. A native policeman when asked what the numerals in the local dialect were "gave them readily enough, but hesitated at the number 7. You might not always say that number, he explained—sometimes it brought on thunderstorms if you did. And you must never say it at all when you went to Adole Island to get coconuts or fish, because the most frightful results would undoubtedly follow." Miss Ozamshaw vouches for the superstition in her book on "The New New Guinea."

The Illusion. "So you are going to get married, eh?" "Yes, the longing for a little home where I can put my feet against the wall, brace my chin back and smoke my pipe in comfort got to be too much for me." "That's a beautiful dream!" "Isn't it? I mean it will be a sign for you to get married and spoil it." Atlanta Constitution.

He Was a Veteran. "He's a military looking young chap." "Ought to be. He's a veteran of nine wars." "Impossible! Why, he's only twenty-two years old." "I know, but he once spent six months in South America."—Cleveland Leader.

No man who minds his own business ever complains of having nothing to do.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Some loafers get a reputation for recklessness by their efforts to dodge work.

At the Various Theatres

George Trump, one of the most reckless and artistic wire artists on the Road at the Ruby Theatre.

"Our Honeymoon." Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cossar supply a lot of hearty laughs in a bright, snappy sketch called "Our Honeymoon." This is the famous John C. Rice and Sally Cohen sketch played with such immense success all over the big circuits, and it is a real dyed-in-the-wool mirth inciter, without resorting to horse play or slap stick methods.

"The Girl in the Taxi." "The Girl in the Taxi," a melange of melody, mirth and merry-making, comes to the Wichita Theatre for an engagement of March 22. "The Girl in the Taxi" created a sensation alike in Berlin and Paris, and upon its production in New York, Chicago and Boston last season scored an unqualified triumph, remaining in each city for a run of six months.

The American adaptation was made by Stanislaus Stange, an author as well known for his numerous successes on this side of the Atlantic as Anthony Mars, the German author, is on the other. The scenes are located in New York, but the piece still retains the flavor of the French locale.

The plot of the play deals with the escapades of Mignon, the pretty but coquette wife of a New Jersey perfume manufacturer. Mignon is fond of visiting New York and bathing in the fascinating lights of the Great White Way. She does so in this play to her heart's content. She meets an old friend from Philadelphia who is forced to come to New York twice a year to see a physician on account of a throat trouble.

Superintendent Fairchild has received a letter from the manager of Senator La Follette's speaking tour saying that the Senator's terms for his lecture "Representative Government," is $300 per lecture and that he would be in Texas about the middle of May.

The Fort Worth Record is on sale at Martin's Book store on Ohio avenue. Orders will be taken there for delivery anywhere in the city.

All But Two Regiments Arrive. By Associated Press. San Antonio, Texas, March 13.—All but two regiments of the soldiers destined for this place have arrived.

Too many men turn down the real opportunities, and hang on to what are merely slim chances.

There is a good deal of talk about supposed husbands, but did you ever really know of one?

Further, Mignon's husband comes to the same place to get a bite to eat after bidding his wife goodbye and missing his train. Also, the man from Philadelphia turns up, no sicker than anyone else and looking for a good time. The embarrassments accumulate thick and fast and culminate in the perfume man discovering that his wife is dining with young Bertie. The unexpected meeting of father and son, as performed in "The Girl in the Taxi," is said to be the funniest situation ever devised and one calling forth the greatest burst of laughter and applause.

The first and third acts of "The Girl in the Taxi" occurs in the beautifully appointed home of John Stever on Riverside Drive, New York while the second act takes place in the private dining rooms at the Cafe Riche modeled after New York's best known and most exclusive restaurant. The production is a costly one but not detail has been overlooked. The cast engaged to present "The Girl in the Taxi" in this city is composed entirely of comedians and artists selected for their special fitness in the roles portrayed.

Harry Bulger in "The Flirting Princess." The latest singer success to come to Wichita Theatre is Harry Bulger in "The Flirting Princess," by Adams, Hough and Howard, authors of many of the Princess Theatre musical shows. "The Flirting Princess" is styled a "nonsense farce" by the authors. Anything within the range of a three act piece, with a little of everything in it, is called almost any other name nowadays, but to him who wants to see a "show," a musical comedy is just as sweet. "The Flirting Princess" is a disguised American girl with just enough of an adventurous spirit to enjoy the flirtations of her would-be wooer, while she is seeking for the man she would care to kiss for the second time. Her experiences (the first kiss is disastrous to any further enchantment) she surrenders herself with an atmosphere of mystery.

Catarrh is Surely a Dangerous Disease. Thousands of people allow catarrh to slowly undermine the whole system until a serious disease develops—sometimes consumption.

People who have catarrh should use every effort to get rid of it, but should above all, adopt a sensible method.

Stomach dosing, sprays and douches won't cure catarrh because it is a germ disease, and the germs must be destroyed before the disease can be conquered.

HYOMEI is one sensible cure for catarrh because it reaches every fold, crevice and nook in the mucous membrane and gets where the germs are. You breathe HYOMEI and as it passes over the inflamed membrane its soothing influence heals the soreness and destroys the germs.

A complete HYOMEI outfit costs $1.00. This consists of a bottle of HYOMEI and a hard rubber inhaler. Pour a few drops of HYOMEI into the inhaler and breathe it a few times each day, that's all you have to do. It is guaranteed by O. F. Marchant and druggists everywhere to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, and sore throat or money back. Extra bottle of it costs 50 cents. Free trial sample on request from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Dupont Powder Company bought FIVE HUNDRED and TWENTY-ONE L. G. SMITH & BROS. Typewriters
ALL THE WRITING ALWAYS IN SIGHT
(The biggest order ever placed by any firm or corporation for typewriters for their own use) because their own mechanical experts, sitting as a jury, said it was unquestionably the best. They examined all competing makes, tested them under every condition of stress and strain, and voted unanimously in favor of the L. G. Smith & Bros. The Duponts thus rendered you an invaluable service. Lacking mechanical experts of your own you can safely rely upon the decision of these five engineers, at the height of their calling, who were willing to stake their professional reputation on the L. G. Smith & Bros. Typewriter. Many large concerns have already been guided by this expert opinion and have standardized, as the Duponts did, with the typewriter that stood the test. There could be no test more thorough, or more unbiased decisions.

EVERYBODY IN TOWN KNOWS IT and that is the reason it is making us bustle so to fill orders for that long tried and well liked Coal.
There must be a reason for this. Do you suppose that good sensible people are going to throw their money away? We have had to convince them that we could give them more heat for their money than they could get anywhere else.
We are ready to convince you, too. Will you let us?

Rohatch's Mineral Water is highly recommended by physicians and patrons who have tested its merits, for indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, kidney and bladder trouble. This water stimulates the secretions of the stomach, increases digestion and favors a more complete absorption of the food, and prevents the action of germs that cause typhoid and other infectious diseases. This water can be purchased at the well or delivered in jugs or cases.

THE NEW CITY CHARTER

Should provide that all tannal manufacturers learn English and take a bath on Tuesday after the first Monday in June each year, that the city maintain a silo gun quarantine to prevent an epidemic of the foreign rosinite artist who is out to sell the dear "peepul" a lot in Podunk on the great northern carpet bag an valise railroad from Nason to Nowhere, and give them a chance to draw one of the western counties, and that the street jewelry grafter reduce the price of his solid gold watches to eighty-nine cents the dozen in order that the unwise may get soaked with a stuffed club instead of getting laid out with a lead pipe.

And should provide in addition to the heretofore mentioned that when you get ready to unbelt and get frisky with the coin don't overlook that fussy pill plant, where you can cut from your cash with more system and less noise than any place in this beautiful world. We do different.

CRAZY

HOW THIS FAMOUS WATER GOT ITS NAME

In the year of 1880 a well was dug in what is now Mineral Wells, Texas.

The peculiar properties of the water attracted attention, and many began its use. Among the number were two ladies who were sufferers to the extent that their minds were seriously affected.

To the surprise of all, the ladies were soon restored to health, and their minds became normal, and from this circumstance this well was called the "CRAZY WELL."

Both ladies are living, and these facts can be verified by many who know these circumstances.

So much for the name. This water has since been christened "The Woman's Friend."

One of Texas' leading physicians has said: "Crazy Well Water is the best medicinal water on earth."
